Helmsley Convicted On Falsehoods

3/19/2 #1 HATONN

As we attend the watch for today, I am hard-put to not attend the incredible mistreatment of one of your fellow citizens--Leona Helmsley. Queen of Mean? How do YOU know? She is a law-breaker? How do YOU know? She "cheated" on income taxes? HOW DO YOU KNOW? In other words--she is judged and convicted without any knowledge of "truth" whatsoever. How many of you realized that in the time-period in point that Helmsleys paid a quarter of a BILLION dollars in taxes? How much did YOU pay? That, however, is not in point--but rather, "queen of mean"? What mean you? For if you mean that ones said she was mean and expected them to do their work as hired to do--does this make her mean or, rather, an employer expecting service for wages? Do YOU know all the facts in point? HOW do YOU know? Where is your compassion for ones--especially ones who have had their Constitutional rights stripped from them and hired attorneys who "sold them out" before the first hearing and were, actually, a part of the conspiracy to use these ones as symbolic targets to terrify you-the-people at tax-time. Further, look what the date is--you are headed into tax-rip-off again, right now, and hence the horrendous issue of public display. Next, do you ones not realize that income taxes are VOLUNTARY?

How can you "not pay enough" if anything you pay is voluntary?

What prayer has America for survival as a nation when you feast upon the bodies of the fallen as vultures upon a carcass? As I witnessed the laughter and grunts of the swirling masses around this poor child caught in a helpless trap--I wept for her and harder did I weep for YOU. There is no compassion, no uprising against injustice--just "get 'er, that bitch-- we'll show 'er." I wonder, this day, as I watch--if mankind is worth the effort of God to allow passage of the multitudes. I would guess, however, that most will refuse shelter and passage at any rate. How low have ye fallen, Man?? Is your species worthy of salvage? You who are Godly--remain Godly and have nothing to fear in any circumstance--but you, I ask YOU--are you worthy of this work and input?

I take no note of guilt or innocence other than to state that the person in point CANNOT be guilty "as charged" because the entire set-up is without Constitutional foundation in EVERY RESPECT!

I hereby request that this case be immediately taken up through the Constitutional Law Center for all rights under protection of the Constitution have been broken.

"A Solution To World Overpopulation"

3/19/92 #1 HATONN

I simply am at a loss, often, as with the next item--do I laugh or weep? A dear reader has sent the following item for my comment and attention. It regards a:

SOLUTION TO WORLD OVER-POPULATION

There is a lengthy presentation covering this projection as a solution. Stated by the authors (Paul and Anne Ehrlich) is a synopsis of this lengthy method of solution:

World overpopulation is threatening the environment--and even human survival. Since we cannot stop the Third World from doubling its population every thirty years or so, we have produced this ultimate Liberal solution: Let the peoples of the advanced nations for the West pay for the sins of the Third World by reducing their own already falling birthrates still further!

Ah so, and soon there will be nothing save Third World population. These are "learned" and "honored experts". I leave it to you to see the ending chapter. In other words, since the Third World won't follow your instructions of birth-control then why don't you "just commit suicide"?

In view of the information you KNOW to be truth regarding the Elite leaders and conspirators--how does this suggestion strike you for "who is on whose side"? Further, it is obvious that ultimately the only intended ones remaining will be the very ones suggesting the annihilation.

POPULATION AND NUMBERS GAME

Of all of my projections regarding the impossibility of the "Holocaust" having been as projected through the Zionist "orthodox" view, there has been objection to my statement regarding numbers of "Jews" present at the time.

The stated numbers of "Jews 'alone'" killed outright in the "Death Camps" now numbers over 6-1/2 million. Note that thousands come forth baring their arms and tattoos so "some" obviously survived, if indeed they are valid survivors and not set forth to gain public sympathy as has often been the case in issue. Next, the numbers receiving annual appropriations for "damages" of having experienced the Death Camps personally--are almost as many as claimed killed. This indicates that some are cheating on fund gathering now, or some claimed to have been slain--were not. How is it that I can openly and emphatically state this? Because I want to give you information from the Nelson's Encyclopaedia regarding population of the Jews in the world on January 1, 1939: 16,696,000. (In the world).

These were distributed among all the various continents as follows: Europe (all inclusive): 9,903,000; Asia, 868,000; Africa, 609,000; Aus-

Introduction to Hatonn

1/13/92 #1 HATONN

I am Gyeorgos Ceres Hatonn, Commander in Chief, Earth Project Transition, Pleiades Sector Flight Command, Intergalactic Federation Fleet. You may call me Hatonn. I am come in service unto the ONE GOD of Lighted Creation, and as "Host" unto His people who will be brought into His places long prepared for you. My own "Captain" is Sananda, the Christed Being you have called by many names--now one totally with Creator/Creation. [Sananda: simply meaning of/with God]. We are not "mystical" nor even "mysterious" aliens. We are the "Hosts" sent in preparation for His return, bringers of Truth according to His promise and to reveal the lies foisted upon you to claim your souls for the physical evil Elite controllers. We come in total love and without intent of force, coercion or judging. "Judging" is a state of evaluation of self in the presence of Creator in which actions in the physical experience are evaluated.

The information within the documents revealing Truth, THE PHOENIX JOURNALS and LIBERATOR, are the outlays of lies and hidden facts for which you can find confirmation. If you don't know the problems and the source of the problems, you can have no solutions.

I do not "channel"; I transmit on a frequency attuned to my "receiver" who is simply a translator of the pulses into English. This is true of all receivers who receive from any of this Command come forth with God for this transition of species and planet.

The receivers mostly have no reference for material given until after the giving and then, only for their own confirmation and yours. My petition is that you pay no attention to this resource if it is confusing and uncertain unto you--LET TRUTH STAND ALONE IN ITS PRESENTATION--THE REST WILL FOLLOW IN PROPER SEQUENCE.

What's Happening in Washington?

3/21/92 #2 HATONN

There are so many "thing-watchers" today that we can hardly even touch them all.

BUSH ARROGANCE

You are looking at an arrogant stand-off between the forces of a Khazarian Zionist controlled Congress and a "Skull and Bones" President. As usual--you-the-people are the pawns. I believe you witnessed the show and tell of a President running for office--the only problem being that you don't know for which office he is REALLY running. You are, however, seeing dirty politics in full blossom and I hope you are alert so as to read "between those lines" and don't be hoodwinked by the show.

tralia, 30,000. Of the total number in Europe some 8,710,000 resided around the area of Central Europe which included many of the now called East Block Nations. Palestine had only 440,000 at the time. These numbers do not include the thousands upon thousands of Jews sent from Germany to Palestine at the time of the War.

Keep in mind that "all of Europe" is a lot of territory and considers France, England, etc. So--let us look a minute. If you have around 10 million in population and you have at least half as many claiming to be alive and getting payments for their suffering--how can you possibly reconcile over 6-1/2 million slain under any counting method utilized?

I have never even suggested there was no holocaust--I have said there "was none as projected to you". Further, I am angered at the lack of respect and reverence given unto the ones WHO WERE VICTIMS for in the lie, comes the total negating of the great sacrifice and pain suffered by those who were brought into such debased activities.

Now, whether or not you like it--many of those pictures shown to the public to gain sympathy, are actually pictures taken of prisoners within the Eisenhower Death Camps of which you never hear very much said. Also,

Yes, if you all get behind this man--IF HE TEAMS UP WITH GRITZ--YOU CAN TURN THIS NATION AROUND!! You would be able to pull in all of Brown's votes, Nader's backing and pick up a lot of disappointed Buchanan backers. Surely you would get the final backing of the Independent candidates as well.

T.H.R.O.

The above stands for: Throw the Hypocritical Rascals Out. This is the political movement which Ross projects and it seems quite beneficial in perception--if you will actually do it. Gritz will "can" the whole bunch of "appointed" goons but you ones are going to have to clean up the House and Senate.

I am amused at Bush's reference to the "House" Banking problems and their lack of ability to "run one little bank". I suggest that something stinks about a very, very large Bank utilized by ones such as Bush, Clinton, Clifford, Saddam and on and on and on--called BCCI. He must be feeling very smug and brave for some reason, to bring up the dirty laundry in the skeletons' closet--YOU HAD BEST CHECK INTO THOSE REASONS!

At present, no candidate without a bank behind him can afford to run for office. You now have "representative form of government"--i.e.: He who contributes most gets the representation.

WATCH IRAQ AND SADDAM

Sudden change and giving up of weapons? Oh, chelas, take care for that can only mean that there is coalition now, between Jordan, Syria, Libya, etc., so that no longer will Iraq's fragments be needed. If you don't get those vipers out of office soon--there will be no nation remaining.

Royalty and the Khazars

3/21/92 #1 HATONN

If you think you are weary of hearing about Khazars and other species, please forgive me but I, too, am weary of the distraction. It helps to know your enemy, however, especially when it is THE ENEMY who intends to destroy your world.

I am not going into long words about the issue even though it remains at the top of the denial list of information given. Mainly that argument revolves around the connection with the Committee of 300 and the Jewish connection and, and, and.

I would share with you a reference of fact sent to my attention for YOUR confirmation about what we bring to your table of information. This came with xeroxed copies of reference material right out of a London Library. The information came from one M.D.W. of Millikin University in Decatur, Il.

Let us break for now. Salu.

Subject: Khazars - Genealogy of British Royal Family

One of my hobbies is royal genealogy. While going through this book on ancestral lines of Prince William of Wales, I came across an interesting bloodline. (See Chart 22, etc.) Through the medieval kings of Hungary, the current Prince of Wales is related to Marot, Khagan (Khan) of the Khazars.

My interest in royal genealogy began after reading Holy Blood, Holy Grail by Michael Baigent. I believe their thesis is that Jesus survived the crucifixion, married Mary Magdalene, and had children by her. Also that the bloodline survived and continued through the Merovingian Kings of France down to our present day. Can you verify the truth of this hypothesis?

Yes, I can--but not at this writing for it is far too lengthy and will be misunderstood if not laid forth in proper sequence of events. I will suggest that all of you refer back to AND THEY CALLED HIS NAME IMMANUEL and you will find that he most certainly did not "die" on the cross and, taking some ones with him, went eventually into Tibet after traveling through India.

We of the record keepers find it difficult to equate your inquiries to that which is represented to us as "countries" for boundaries and labels change and to identify "France" without qualification would be a most foolish error on my part. Also, it is not appropriate that I simply won't answer yes or no regarding relationships with Mary Magdalene for there is NO way that in this brief reference I can adequately follow that sequence. I will most surely eagerly look forward to unfolding this story for your witness as we move out, (if we ever can), of the trap of disagreeable current events and necessary information to get you "that far".

tions which are divided and the Elite of both sides have never lost goal intent. One intends to rule the world and has infiltrated within your very nation of the U.S. and into many, many other countries under the banner of various "ideals"; and the Russian element who can be referred to as the non-atheistic Russians who intend to get rid of the Jewish Khazar Zionists at any cost. Either way, it becomes such a tangled web of intrigue that I don't wonder that you can't keep up with the changing terminology.

I suggest that you never mind the terminology but pay attention to facts as sequence unfolds them. I have told you that the CIA/KGB/Mossad are all basically one element now under direct control of their master-parent: the Committee of 300. I have told you that the KGB has more operatives in the CIA than do Americans. I have also told you that you have members of the KGB within your various cosmopolitan police academies training the forces that will enforce the New World Order Control. I have given you locations of underground installations of large size and also missile bases with targeted missiles in place. I have yet to point out the 500 major points of impact as targeted by the Soviets. I have told you of the Soviet and Communist buildup of military equipment in Mexico at your Southern Border along with the players involved from Vietnam (as in "Cong"), the Korean Communists and how all are infiltrating into your "States" and setting up points of base operations. I am appreciative when I can give you confirmation from people "in the field" which I can share with you although I'm not sure I totally share his humor regarding the inhabitants of the city in point.

From Ohio comes confirmation of a base--you will note that I didn't mark Ohio as having your own facilities as in other locations. That is because the ones set forth are no longer in the control of the U.S. For instance, as reported from Ohio (and in several other bases formerly U.S. military) the "Russians have come". The message is that a major U.S. military base is now completely in control of, and secretly used by, the Soviets--AT COLUMBUS, OHIO. The letter-writer's comment was that "perhaps Columbus deserves it!".

WHERE ARE GOD AND HOSTS?

You keep badgering me as to why we don't show up and "fix" things and why didn't we show up at such and such a time because there was promise of change as with the Kennedy Presidency. We do not play in those short-sighted games and besides, chelas, I think you forget to look at all sides of the hologram. What makes you think I am not present and that perhaps I have CONTROL OF SOME OF THE INSTALLATIONS? Do not your UFOlogists continue to tell you about all those "aliens" running around with your government in "HOSTAGE"? If we represent enemies to the governments and adversary--does that mean that we are YOUR enemy? It might be well worth pondering possibilities. You had best be checking to define whose side YOU ARE ON. Truth will stand on the final decision day--words will gain nothing. Any time you have ones who can merge with and pass through solid substance--YOU HAVE PROBLEMS IF THEY ARE NOT ON YOUR SIDE! Will an "alien" hurt you? NO--but the Men of human format will certainly try and make you believe they will.

I can give you a clue or two--why do you think the Elite Conspirators have such massive and luxurious facilities in places like Australia, etc., and are prepared to "forfeit" the Northern Hemisphere--COULD THEY REALLY KNOW SOMETHING THEY AREN'T TELLING YOU?

Wouldn't it be nice if you lovely humanoids would just get your own mess into control and reclaim your nation from your treasonist enemies? I heartily suggest you work at it and consider the potentially beneficial thrust of an open mind toward these possibilities of the Host's contribution and participation. God is not in the habit of playing silly games ON HIS PEOPLE. Those "tricks" are only of the adversary. Why do you think the church speakers and religious false teachers try to sell you lovely people on the lie that aliens and anything coming from space is of Satan and a "lie"? Where in the name of all reason do you think the Christos (by any name) and the messengers have come from since the onset of all "time keeping"? You had best get your reasoning caps upon your heads, open your minds and get out of Fantasy La-La Land and into the vision of Truth. I am a lot closer to you than you might think.

SECRET FACILITY UNDERGROUND AT PRISON

You are told so little about everything and anything and you grasp the false illusion like a lifebelt. In this very area of California there is a large prison facility called a cute name like "Correctional Facility", while most of the criminals are left outside running your government and big business. Nonetheless, Dharma said one day to a few people talking about the underground facilities that "...well, but what about that big facility under the prison!" There was silence and all turned to look at her as if to ask "...what about it?" She was stunned because she knew all about it--having even been there--and was quite sure I had spoken of it in meeting as well as in writing. No, I had not, because we have ones who are employed at the prison and I need to keep protection about them.

Not only do they have a massive facility which interlocks with the Northrop and other facilities but the inmates in various categories of "lock-up" worked on the project and some have tattled quite openly about it. It simply is NOT that which will run in your local paper when they won't even run a simple letter-to-the-Editor regarding "No" on War.

I do not wish to take more time on this now, but will get back to it as we have opportunity. I mention these things because they must be integrated into the concept of the ever outstretched coverage of the CIA and other "intelligence" groups.

Let us return to the subject of the CIA structure and spend an hour or so, before our meeting, on the subject in point.

The CIA Structure

3/21/92 #1 HATONN

HONORS TO "I AM ANONYMOUS" WHO WROTE OF THIS SUBJECT IN 1974 AND WE ARE GOING TO FILL IN THE DELETIONS MADE BY THE CIA AFTER PRESENTING THE EVIDENCE.

THE CLANDESTINE MENTALITY

The greatest dangers to liberty lurk in insidious encroachment by men of zeal, well-meaning but without understanding. Justice Brandeis, 1928.

The nation must to a degree take it on faith that we too are honorable men devoted to her service. CIA Director Helms, 1971. [H: And if you believe that one--I have some bridges to sell you!]

WILLIAM COLBY

The man who masterminded and oversaw the CIA's clandestine operations in Indochina during much of the 1960s was William Colby. He is a trim, well-groomed Princeton and Columbia Law School graduate who, if he were taller, might be mistaken for a third Bundy brother. He started in the intelligence business during World War II with the Office of Strategic Services. His field assignments included parachuting into German-occupied France and Norway to work with the anti-Nazi underground movements, during which he showed a remarkable talent for clandestine work. After the war he joined the newly formed CIA and rose rapidly through its ranks, becoming an expert on the Far East. From 1959 until 1962 he served as the CIA's chief of station in Saigon. In 1962 he was named head of the Far East Division of the Clandestine Services.

In this position Colby presided over the CIA's rapidly expanding programs in Southeast Asia. Under his leadership (but always with White House approval) the agency's "secret" war in Laos was launched, and more than 30,000 Meo and other tribal warriors were organized into the CIA's own Armee Clandestine. Colby's officers and agents directed--and on occasion participated in--the battles against the Pathet Lao, in bombing operations by the CIA's proprietary company, Air America, and in commando-type raids into China and North Vietnam, well before Congress had passed the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution.

Colby seemed to keep the secret operation always under tight control. His colleagues in the CIA marveled at his ability to run all the agency's activities in Laos with no more than forty or fifty career CIA officers in the field. There were, to be sure, several thousand other Americans supporting the CIA effort, but these were soldiers of fortune or pilots under contract to the agency, not career men. From the CIA's point of view, the war in Laos was cheap (costing the agency only $20 to $30 million a year) and well managed. The full cost of the war was actually closer to a half-billion dollars a year, but most of this was funded by other agencies--the Defense Department and

Hatonn Meeting Tapes Available

By the way, for you readers and listeners, it has gotten completely beyond Dharma's ability to write such volumes of documents as to cover all material and miscellaneous matters inappropriate to a JOURNAL in preparation. So, if you will look in the LIBERATOR there will be placed information for how to obtain audio tapes of these meetings we have--unless totally geared to local business matters. I will endeavor to respond to questions which flow into this focus and it will, in addition, give us opportunity to exchange more comfort with conversational communications. If at first you are uncomfortable with a bit of female voice tone I believe it will not even be noted as we move along in the taping. The expense for same will be kept as minimal as possible to break even and you will be given other instructions as to source of ordering for we need to relieve America West of some of the load and give separation as to this type of communication for they face enough impact from the publications. Thank you for your attention and patience while we get set up with equipment to run that many copies for circulation.

I would like as many as who would be interested to obtain the tapes from our last large meeting for I believe it was one of the more important as to information. That meeting was on the 14th of March and was some five hours in length so there will be probably some 4 tapes. (See ad elsewhere in this issue for source.) Our intent is to remove additional burden for soon the publications will be handled through Nevada and other resources for security and more efficient business operations. We will effort to set the audio tapes into some kind of format so that the cost can be utilized as a "donation" for your convenience. So be it, let us move on with our subject in point.

AID. The number of Americans involved was small enough that a relatively high degree of secrecy could be maintained. In contrast to the tens of thousands of Laotians who died in the war, few Americans were killed, and those who were casualties were not CIA career officers but rather mercenaries, contract officers, and personnel of the agency's air proprietaries. The agency considered Laos to be a very successful operation. And Colby received much of the credit for keeping things under control.

The agency's clandestine activities in Vietnam were not so well organized, concealed, or successful as its Laotian operation. In the mid-1960's the CIA was swept along with the rest of the U.S. government into launching huge programs designed to support the war effort. The agency would have preferred to run relatively small, highly secret operations (or to have had complete control of covert action), but the stiffer and stiffer demands of the Johnson Administration made this impossible. Thus, if the President wanted a larger contribution from the CIA, the CIA would contribute. In 1965 Colby, still stationed in Washington, oversaw the founding in Vietnam of the agency's Counter Terror (CT) program. In 1966 the agency became wary of adverse publicity surrounding the use of the word "terror" and changed the name of the CT teams to the Provincial Reconnaissance Units (PRUs). Wayne Cooper, a former Foreign Service officer who spent almost eighteen months as an advisor to South Vietnamese internal-security programs, described the operation: "It was a unilateral American program, never recognized by the South Vietnamese government. CIA representatives recruited, organized, supplied, and directly paid CT teams, whose function was to use Viet Cong techniques of terror--assassination, abuses, kidnappings and intimidation--against the Viet Cong leadership". Colby also supervised the establishment of a network of Provincial Interrogation Centers. One of these centers was constructed, with agency funds, in each of South Vietnam's forty-four provinces. An agency operator or contract employee directed each center's operation, much of which consisted of torture tactics against suspected Vietcong, such torture usually carried out by Vietnamese nationals.

THE PHOENIX TERRORIST PROGRAM!!

In 1967 Colby's office devised another program, eventually called Phoenix, to coordinate an attack against the Vietcong infrastructure among all Vietnamese and American police, intelligence, and military units. Again CIA money was the catalyst. According to Colby's own testimony in 1971 before a congressional committee, 20,587 suspected Vietcong were killed under Phoenix in its first two and a half years. Even Colby has admitted that serious abuses were committed under Phoenix. Former intelligence officers have come before congressional committees and elsewhere to describe repeated examples of torture and other particularly repugnant practices used by Phoenix operatives. However, according to David Wise, writing in the New York Times Magazine on July 1, 1973, "Not one of Colby's friends or neighbors, or even his critics on the Hill, would, in their wildest imagination, conceive of Bill Colby attaching electric wires to a man's genitals and personally turning on the crank. 'Not Bill Colby. . . He's a Princeton man.'" Figures provided by the South Vietnamese government credit Phoenix with 40,994 VC kills. [H: Whose side do you suppose God might have been on? You always "claim" HIM, do you not, because of your "humanitarian" approach to burying men in trenches and other cute tricks?]

Also in 1967, President Johnson sent Robert Komer, a former agency employee who had joined the White House staff, to Vietnam to head up all the civilian and military pacification programs. In November of that year, while Komer was in Washington for consultation, the President asked him if there was anything he needed to carry out his assignment. Komer responded that he certainly could use the services of Bill Colby as his deputy. The President replied that Komer could draft anybody he chose. A year later Colby succeeded Komer as head of the pacification program, with the rank of ambassador. The longtime clandestine officer had ostensibly resigned from the CIA to become a State Department employee.

WEDNESDAY

Dharma, since there is so much to write regarding other than the JOURNAL in writing, I shall simply ask that you continue with the subject for we need to sort priorities with other material and, yet, I must place this CIA information at the top for all activities of military nature (which is all activities) around your globe are now under direction of the CIA in connection with and at the direction of a Central Intelligence as set up by the Global Government.

Dear ones, I suggest you be a bit terrified right now--this is not amusing games in the information shipped back to you from an alleged "space shuttle"--they are showing you prepared pictures of electron particle beams and covering their actions with cute pictures of vapor trails, etc. These are issued as "blackmail" to us of the Command. Things are indeed serious on the International front as is exposed by what is happening in Libya (if nothing else). The Libyans are pawns of the enforcers--let me remind you for YOU ALREADY HAVE BEEN TOLD THIS--BY ME.

The British Intelligence set up the frame-up of the Libyan terrorists in connection with the Scotland air crash. The two men in point are NOT guilty of anything to do with the crash. This is a totally set-up situation to force a nation to capitulate under force of total isolation and embargo via the One World Government orchestrated under the shield of the U.S.A. (shame on you, America). This particular little plot was conjured by one Henry Kissinger. Therefore, I need to give you a bit more on Henry Kissinger as he related to this CIA head, George Bush. It is a break from the JOURNAL in point, it would seem; it is not because all the power was gained through the use of the CIA.

This portion will go back to the Kissinger clone ambassador to the United Nations (Bush) in the early seventies and we will unfold Bush's inter-relationship at that general time of sequence

Kissinger and the United Nations

3/25/92 #1 HATONN

We will take up the story of this relationship in the very early 1970's where, at that time in his career, George Bush entered into a phase of close association with both Richard Nixon and Henry Kissinger. As you will see, Bush was a member of the Nixon cabinet from the spring of 1971 until the day that Nixon resigned. You will also note Bush on a number of important occasions literally acting as Nixon's speaking conduit, especially in international crisis situations. During these years in point, Nixon was Bush's patron, providing him with appointments and urging him to look forward to bigger things in the future. On certain occasions, however, Bush was upstaged by others in his quest for Nixon's favor. You will note, today, that Nixon is right back in the gang of influencers--i.e., note association and meetings with Buchanan. Dear ones, the Buchanan you get is not what WAS. This ended up a "planted deal" as the Buchanan who was going to try for President was reprogrammed quite early on as an impact was shown and, to bring the robotoid under control, the press was given release that there would be meetings with Bush to tell Bush to resign, etc. That was only a front to cause you to believe there would be a meeting--which there was--and everything in Buchanan was reprogrammed to move right into line and steady leaning toward full support of the Republican Party. Clinton is also chosen BY THE SAME GROUP to be groomed in like manner so that control will never be in jeopardy of the Conspirators.

WAR NOW VERY CLOSE

You are so near nuclear war that all are acting under total blackmail by the Intelligence enforcer-groups. Note that today the only power plant (nuclear) to give power to Iraq (who is mostly dead with no life support systems) was destroyed by this group of United Nations "inspectors" from the United States. your planet and this pit will now deepen on a daily basis. Worse--the "news" is pre-prepared and it is ordered THAT YOU GET ONLY THE "AUTHORIZED" EDITIONS. I assure you right NOW--YOU SHALL REAP THE REWARDS OF THIS HORRENDOUS ACTIVITY--AND IT SHALL BE VERY, VERY SOON.

Besides Nixon, there was Kissinger, far and away the most powerful figure in the entire Washington regime, even then, who became Bush's boss when the latter became the U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations in New York City. Later, on the campaign trail in 1980, Bush would offer to make Kissinger Secretary of State in his administration.

Bush was now listing a net worth of over $1.3 million, but the fact is that he was actually unemployed in readiness to assume the next "official" post, to take the next step of what, in the career of a Roman Senator, was called the cursum honorum, the patrician career, for this is what he felt the world owed him. Here is just a tiny, tiny portion of Bush's portfolio:

In 1970, Bush's presented portfolio included over 30 companies in which he had an interest of more than the required-for-public-announcement of over $4,000. He had 10,000 shares of American General Insurance Co., 5,500 shares of American Standard, 200 shares of AT&T, 832 shares of CBS, and 581 shares of Industries Exchange Fund. He also held stock in the Kroger Company, Simplex Wire and Cable Co. (25,000 shares), IBM, and Allied Chemical. In addition, he had created a trust fund for his children with "pre-placement" positions arranged and guaranteed for future use.

Nixon had promised Bush an attractive and prestigious political plum in the executive branch, and it was now time for Nixon to deliver. Bush's problem was that in late 1970 Nixon was more interested in what another Texan could contribute to his administration. That other Texan was John Connally, who had played the role of Bush's nemesis in the elections just concluded, by virtue of the encouragement and decisive support which Connally had given to the Bentsen candidacy. Nixon was now fascinated by the prospect of including the right-wing Democrat Connally in his cabinet in order to provide himself with a patina of bipartisanship, while emphasizing the dissension among the Democrats, strengthening Nixon's chances of successfully executing his Southern Strategy a second time during the 1972 elections.

Now, more than ever before, political figures are groomed and practiced in selected denouncements and rhetoric to fool you-the-people. Ones come out in seeming opposition to actions of Bush and the party in power--but they are only placing the stage-set for manipulation of your emotional reactions which will guide you right into the trap set for you in the first place. The same type of biliously insipid games are being played out between you and Israel at the moment.

The word among Nixon's inner circle of that period was "The Boss is in love," and the object of his affections was Big Jawn. Nixon claimed that he was not happy with the stature of his current cabinet, telling his domestic policy advisor John Ehrlichman in the fall of 1970 that "Every cabinet should have at least one potential President in it. Mine doesn't." Nixon had tried to recruit leading Democrats before, asking Senator Henry Jackson to be Secretary of Defense and offering the post of United Nations Ambassador to Hubert Humphrey.

Within hours after the polls had closed in the Texas Senate race, Bush received a call from Charles Bartlett, a Washington columnist who was part of the Prescott Bush network. Bartlett tipped Bush to the fact that Treasury Secretary David Kennedy was leaving, and urged him to make a grab for the job. Bush called Nixon and put in his request. After that, he waited by the telephone. But it soon became clear that Nixon was about to recruit John Connally, and with him, perhaps, the important Texas electoral votes in 1972. Secretary of the Treasury! One of the three or four top posts in the cabinet! And that before Bush had been given anything for all of his tireless slogging through the 1970 campaign! But the job was about to go to Connally. Over two decades, one can almost hear Bush's whining complaint for "kinder and gentler" treatment.

This move, of course, was not unprepared. During the fall of 1970, when Connally was campaigning for Bentsen against Bush, Connally had been invited to participate in the Ash Commission, a study group on government re-organization chaired by one Roy Ash. This White House access was dangerously undermining George Bush and the Texas GOP was complaining loudly. A White House staff member named Peter Flannigan was also a close friend of Bush and he generated a memo to White House Chief of Staff H. R. Haldeman with the notation: "Connally is an implacable enemy of the Republican Party in Texas and, therefore, attractive as he may be to the President, we should avoid using him again." Nixon found Connally an attractive political property and had soon appointed him to the main White House panel for intelligence evaluations. On November 30, when Connally's appointment to the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board was announced, the senior Senator from Texas, John Tower, and George Bush were instantly in touch with the White House to express their extreme distress over the appointment. Please let me believe you ones are seeing connections with the Kennedy assassination and that which is following as outlaid herein and the players involved. This can be confirmed by a writing by James Reston, Jr., THE LONE STAR: THE LIFE OF JOHN CONNALLY, which gives you a lot of good historical data.

TOWER'S MISSING BOOK

Tower was indignant because he had been promised by Ehrlichman some time before that Connally was not going to receive an important post. Bush's personal plight was even more poignant: he was out of work, and he wanted a job. As a defeated senatorial candidate, he hoped and fully expected to get a major job in the administration. Yet the administration seemed to be paying more attention to the very Democrat who had put him on the job market. "What gives?" Bush was justified in asking, I'm sure. Do you also begin to see why Tower, scorned, would later write on these topics of interest--and be killed in an air-crash as his book was to be released-- -- -- what ever happened to that book?

The appointment of Connally to replace David Kennedy as Secretary of the Treasury was concluded during the first week of December 1970. By the way, why do you think Connally had such pull at that time? Ah so--now you are beginning to get the idea of this monster--he knew what happened and what went wrong in Dallas when Kennedy was slain and, now, you also know why he screamed, "My God, they are going to KILL US ALL!" The appointment could not be announced without causing an upheaval among the Texas Republicans until something had been done for lame duck George B. On December 7, Nixon retainer H. R. Haldeman was writing memos to himself in the White House. The first was: "Connally set." Then came: "Have to do something for Bush right away." Could Bush become the director of NASA? How about the Small Business Administration? Or the Republican National Committee? Or then again, he might like to be White House congressional liaison, or perhaps Undersecretary of Commerce. Since no job immediately came to mind, Bush was assured that he would come to the White House as a top presidential adviser on something or other, until another fitting job would open up.

BUSH GIVEN U.N. AMBASSADORSHIP UNDER KISSINGER CONTROL

Bush was called to the White House on December 9, 1970 to meet with Nixon and talk about a post as assistant to the President "with a wide range of unspecified general responsibilities", according to a White House memo initialed by H. R. Haldeman. Bush accepted such a post at one point in his haggling with the Nixon White House. But Bush also sought the United Nations job, arguing that there "was a dearth of Nixon advocacy in New York City and the general New York area and that he could fill that need in the New York social circles he would be moving in as Ambassador. Nixon's U.N. Ambassador had been Charles Yost, a Democrat who was leaving. But the White House had already offered that job to Daniel Patrick Moynihan, who had accepted. See what "tangled webs" are woven when evil placements are politically chosen? Note that these AP-POINTMENTS of politicians are the ones who run your nation--not those nice Congressmen who you place in Congress--those dupes are in turn controlled by the Political Action Committees in service to the British Zionist Israelis. You-the-people have NO say in your government whatsoever!!!

Political calls were made and other promises made and Moynihan decided that suddenly he did not want the U.N. Ambassador post after all, and with a sigh of relief publicly projected, the White House offered it to Bush. Bush's appointment was announced on December 11, Connally's on December 14. In offering the post to Bush, Haldeman had been brutally frank, telling him that the job, although of cabinet rank, would have no power attached to it. Bush, stressed Haldeman, would be taking orders directly from Kissinger. Even Bush later claimed to have replied: "...even if somebody who took the job didn't understand that, Henry Kissinger would give him a twenty-four hour crash course on the subject."

Nixon told his cabinet and the Republican congressional leadership on December 14, 1970, what had been in the works for some time: that Connally was coming not only as a Democrat but as Secretary of the Treasury for the next two full years. Even more humiliating for Bush was the fact that your hero had been on the receiving end of Connally's assistance. As Nixon told the cabinet: "Connally said he wouldn't take it until George Bush got whatever he was 'entitled to'." Connally was sure why Bush wanted the appointment to the U.N. but was certainly going to help see to it that he received it. It was this blackmail tactic by Connally that finally prompted Nixon to take care of poor little George. Nixon told Tower that he realized it was hard for him (Tower) but necessary and further told him that he really needed him back in 1972. Tower responded that "I'm a pragmatic man. John Connally is philosophically attuned to you. He is articulate and persuasive. I for one will defend him against those in our own party who will not like him."

Nixon considered Connally to be a possible successor in the presidency--or at least decided to handle him as such until some other means of getting rid of him could be established. Connally's approach to the international monetary crisis then unfolding was that "all foreigners are out to screw us and it's our job to screw them first," as he told C. Fred Bergsten of Kissinger's National Security Council staff. Nixon's bumbling management of the international monetary crisis was one of the reasons why he was Watergated, and Big Jawn was certainly seen by the financiers as a big part of the problem. Bush was humiliated in this episode, but that is nothing compared to what later happened to both Connally and Nixon. Connally would be indicted while Bush was in Beijing, and later he would face the further humiliation of personal bankruptcy. It seems everyone was to overlook the power of Bush and Kissinger. Bush maintained a smoldering, visceral dislike of Connally and it lasted well into the 1980's. As you all must have noticed during the Gulf War--Bush is no wimp but, rather, a vindictive killer who gets what he wants at whatever the cost to everyone else. He is a true goal-oriented servant of Skull and Bones unto the Evil Empire conspiracy. And, you are ready to keep him in office or give him bigger and higher power with Kissinger come election time--if you make it that far.

BUSH SENATE CONFIRMATION

Bush appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for his pro forma and perfunctory confirmation hearings on February 8, 1971. It was a free ride. Many of the Senators had known Prescott Bush, and several were still Prescott's friends. Acting like friends of the family, they gave Bush friendly advice with a tone that was congratulatory and warm, and avoided any tough questions. Stuart Symington warned Bush that he would have to deal with the "duality of authority" between his nominal boss, Secretary of State William Rogers, and his real boss, NSC chief Kissinger. There was only passing reference to Bush's service of the oil cartel during his time in the House, and Bush vehemently denied that he had ever tried to "placate" the "oil interests". Claiborne Pell said that Bush would enhance the luster of the U.N. post. Indeed, as a shining star of the morning.

On policy matters Bush said that it would "make sense" for the U.N. Security Council to conduct a debate on the wars in Laos and Cambodia, which was something that the United States had been attempting to procure for some time. Bush thought that such a debate could be used as a forum to expose the aggressive activities of the North Vietnamese. No Senator asked Bush about China, but Bush told journalists waiting in the hall that the question of China was now under intensive study. The Washington Post was apparently "impressed by Bush's lithe and youthful good looks". Bush was easily confirmed without opposition.

At Bush's swearing-in later in February, Nixon, probably anxious to calm Bush down after the strains of the Connally affair, had recalled that President William McKinley had lost an election in Ohio, but nevertheless gone on to become President. "But I'm not suggesting what office you should seek and at what time," said Nixon. The day before, Senator Adlai Stevenson III of Illinois had told the press that Bush was "totally unqualified" and that his appointment had been "an insult" to the United Nations. Bush presented his credentials on March 1.

Then Bush, "handsome and trim" at 47, moved into a suite at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in Manhattan and settled into his usual hyperkinetic, thyroid-driven lifestyle. The Washington Post marveled continually at his "whirlwind schedule" just as they still do, which seemed more suitable for a "political aspirant than one usually associated with a diplomat". He rose every morning at 7:00 A.M., and then mounted his exercycle for a twelve-minute workout while taking in a television news program that also lasted exactly twelve minutes. He ate a small breakfast and left the Waldorf at 8:00, to be driven to the U.S. mission to the U.N. at Turtle Bay where he generally arrived at 8:10. Then he would get the overnight cable traffic from his secretary, Mrs. Aleene Smith, and then went into a conference with his executive assistant, Tom Lais. Later there would be meetings with his two deputies, Ambassadors Christopher Phillips and W. Tapley Bennett of the State Department. Pete Roussel was also still with him as publicity man. No wonder you good taxpayers can't afford to pay your bills with such wondrous numbers on your payrolls.

For Bush, a 16-hour day was more the rule than the exception. You see, he was goal oriented and never lost sight of that goal--you-the-people start way behind this character out of Hell. His days were packed with one appointment after another, luncheon engagements, receptions, formal dinners--at least one reception and one dinner per day. Sometimes there were three receptions per day--quite an opportunity for networking with like-minded Freemasons from all over the world. Bush also traveled to Washington for cabinet meetings, and still did speaking engagements around the country, especially for Republican candidates. "I try to get to bed by 11:30 if possible," said Bush in 1971, "but often my calendar is so filled that I fall behind in my work and have to take it home with me." Bush bragged that he was still a "pretty tough" doubles player in tennis, good enough to team up with the pros. But he claimed to love baseball most. He joked about questions on his ping pong skills, since these were the months of ping-pong diplomacy, when the invitation for a U.S. ping-pong team to visit Beijing became a part of the preparation for Kissinger's "China card".

Mainly, Bush came on as an ultra-orthodox Nixon loyalist. Was he a liberal conservative? asked a reporter. "People in Texas used to ask me that in the campaigns," replied Bush. "Some even called me a right-wing reactionary. I like to think of myself as a pragmatist, but I have learned to defy being labeled.... What I can say is that I am a strong supporter of the President. If you can tell me what he is, I can tell you what I am." Barbara liked the Waldorf suite and was a very enthusiastic hostess.

Soon after taking up his U.N. posting, Bush received a phone call from Assistant Secretary of State for Middle Eastern Affairs, Joseph Sisco, one of Kissinger's principal henchmen. Sisco had been angered by some comments Bush had made about the Middle East situation in a press conference after presenting his credentials. Despite the fact that Bush, as a cabinet officer, ranked several levels above Sisco, Sisco was in effect the voice of Kissinger. Sisco told Bush that it was Sisco who spoke for the United States government on the Middle East, and that he would do both the on-the-record talking and the leaking about that area. Bush knuckled under, for these were the realities of the Kissinger years.

KISSINGER'S CLONE

Henry Kissinger was now Bush's boss even more than Nixon was, and later, as the Watergate scandal progressed into 1973, the dominion of Kissinger would become even more absolute. During these years Bush, serving his apprenticeship in diplomacy and world strategy under Kissinger, became a virtual Kissinger clone in two senses. First, to a significant degree, Kissinger's networks and connections merged together with Bush's own, foreshadowing a 1989 administration in which the NSC director and the number two man in the State Department were both Kissinger's business partners from his consulting and influence peddling firm, Kissinger Associates. Secondly, Bush assimilated Kissinger's characteristic British-style geopolitical mentality and approach to problems, and this is now the epistemology that dictates Bush's own dealing with the main questions of world politics.

U.S./CHINA BALANCES RUSSIA: RECIPE FOR NEW WARS

The most essential level of Kissinger was the British one. This meant that U.S. foreign policy was to be guided by British imperial geopolitics, in particular the notion of the balance of power: The United States must always ally with the second strongest land power in the world (Red China) against the strongest land power (The U.S.S.R.) in order to preserve the balance of power. I suggest you go back and read the preceding some eight or ten times. Don't believe this? Keep reading. This was clearly and succinctly expressed in the 1971-72 Nixon-Kissinger opening to Beijing, to which Bush would contribute from his U.N. post. The balance of power, since it rules out a positive engagement for the economic progress of the international community as a whole, has always been a recipe for new wars. Kissinger was in constant contact with British foreign policy operatives like Sir Eric Roll of S. G. Warburg in London, Lord Victor Rothschild, the Barings Bank and others.

On May 10, 1982, in a speech entitled "Reflections on a Partnership" given at the Royal Institute of International Affairs at Chatham House in London, Henry Kissinger openly expounded his role and philosophy as a British agent-of-influence within the U.S. government during the Nixon and Ford years:

"The British were so matter-of-fact helpful that they became a participant in internal American deliberations, to a degree probably never before practiced between sovereign nations. In my period in office, the British played a seminal part in certain American bilateral negotiations with the Soviet Union--indeed, they helped draft the key document. In my White House incarnation then, I kept the British Foreign Office better informed and more closely engaged than I did the American State Department.... In my negotiations over Rhodesia I worked from a British draft with British spelling even when I did not fully grasp the distinction between a working paper and a Cabinet-approved document."

Kissinger was also careful to point out that the United States must support colonial and neo-colonial strategies against the developing sector:

"Americans from Franklin Roosevelt onward believed that the United States, with its 'revolutionary' heritage, was the natural ally of people struggling against colonialism; we could win the allegiance of these new nations by opposing and occasionally undermining our European allies in the areas of their colonial dominance. Churchill, of course, resisted these American pressures.... In this context, the experience of Suez is instructive.... Our humiliation of Britain and France over Suez was a shattering blow to these countries' role as world powers. It accelerated their shedding of international responsibilities, some of the consequences of which we saw in succeeding decades when reality forced us to step into their shoes--in the Persian Gulf, to take one notable example. Suez thus added enormously to America's burdens."

Kissinger was the high priest of imperialism and neocolonialism, animated by an instinctive hatred for Indira Gandhi, Aldo Moro, Ali Bhutto, and other nationalist world leaders. Kissinger's British geopolitics simply accentuated Bush's own fanatically Anglophile point of view, which he had acquired from father Prescott and imbibed from the atmosphere of the family firm, Brown Brothers Harriman, originally the U.S. branch of a British counting house.

HENRY K. ZIONIST/RUSS/ BRITISH AGENT

Kissinger was and is also a Zionist, dedicated to economic, diplomatic, and military support of Israeli aggression and expansionism to keep the Middle East in turmoil, so as to prevent Arab unity and Arab economic development while using the region to mount challenges to the Soviets. In this he was a follower of British Prime Minister Benjamin Disraeli and Lord Balfour. In the 1973 Middle East war which he had connived to unleash, Kissinger would mastermind the U.S. resupply of Israel and would declare a U.S.-worldwide thermonuclear alert. In later years, Kissinger would enrich himself through speculative real estate purchases on the West Bank of the Jordan, buying up land and buildings that had been virtually confiscated from defenseless Palestinian Arabs.

Kissinger was also Soviet in a sense that went far beyond his sponsorship of the 1970's detente, SALT I, and the ABM treaty with Moscow. Polish KGB agent Michael Goleniewski is widely reported to have told the British government in 1972 that he had seen KGB documents in Poland before his 1959 defection which established that Kissinger was a Soviet asset. Kissinger had been recruited by the Soviets during his Army service in Germany after the end of World War II, when he had worked as a humble chauffeur. Now, in addition, I hope that you readers are keeping uppermost in your minds that in this new "Post Cold War" era in Russia that the first internationally MAJOR company in Moscow is KISSINGER ASSOCIATES the head of which is now Gorbachev!!! This is not only known and sanctioned by the joint "Intelligence" Services but is wholly protected and guarded at YOUR expense by your CIA operatives in Moscow. This same scenario was established fully in Red China--with Kissinger Associates.

I certainly do hope that you are beginning to suspect that you do not get NEWS! If you can keep something the size of the invasion of Pearl Harbor and the lies of a President's assassination from you-the-people, how much easier it is now to control the press and media and keep anything and everything unwanted for your eyes and ears--from you. They can tell you black is white and you don't know the difference but, rather, think there is some new food dye afoot.

Kissinger was recruited to an espionage cell called ODRA, where he received the code name of "BOR" or "COLONEL BOR". This group was largely composed of homosexuals, and homosexuality was a most important part of the way that Kissinger had been picked up by the KGB. The late James Jesus Angleton, of whom we have been extensively writing, was the CIA Counterintelligence Director for 20 years up to 1973, and was the U.S. official who was given the reports thereof by the British. Angleton later talked a lot about Kissinger being "objectively a Soviet agent". Angleton had the information investigated under a codename and found Kissinger to be everything the service could desire and was notified that Kissinger would be coming aboard whether or not it was liked by the CIA.

CHINA OBSESSION

Kissinger's Chinese side was very much in evidence during 1971-73 and beyond; during these years he was obsessed with anything remotely connected with China and sought to monopolize decisions and contacts with the highest levels of the Chinese leadership. This attitude was dictated most of all by the British mentality and geopolitical considerations indicated above, but it is also unquestionable that Kissinger felt a strong personal affinity for Chou En-lai, Mao Tse-tung, and the other Chinese leaders, who had been responsible for the genocide of 100 million of their own people after 1949.

Kissinger possessed other dimensions in addition to these, including close links to the Zionist underworld. These would also look very, very large in George Bush's career and will continue to become ever larger.

At the time in point and with all of the Kissingerian enormities, Bush became the principal spokesman. In the process, he was to become a Kissinger clone.

This is often referred to as "The China Card". The defining events in the first year of Bush's U.N. tenure reflected Kissinger's geopolitical obsession with his China card. Remember that in his 1964 campaign, Bush had stated that Red China must never be admitted to the U.N. and that if Beijing ever obtained the Chinese seat on the Security Council, the U.S.A. must depart forthwith from the world body. This statement came back to haunt him once or twice. His stock answer went like this: "That was 1964, a long time ago. There's been a awful lot of changes since... A person who is unwilling to admit that changes have taken place is out of things these days. President Nixon is not being naive in his China policy. He is recognizing the reality of today, not the realities of seven years ago." The only thing changed in this world, friends, are the lies they tell you while they wrap the bindings tighter and tighter and get you backed into a corner wherein you are TRAPPED--FOREVER!

No, no, and no, friends--do not say to me that "We" have to do something about all this as I bring it to you--"I" don't have to do anything more than what I am doing. YOU HAVE TO DO SOMETHING IF SOMETHING IS TO BE DONE. HOWEVER, IF YOU DO NOT DEMAND THAT YOUR OWN POTENTIAL LEADERS TAKE TIME

TO GET THIS INFORMATION INTO THEIR KNOWLEDGE--WHAT GOOD WILL IT DO TO CHANGE THE HORSES? HORSES ONLY PULL TOWARD THE GOAL LAID FORTH FOR THEM AND IF THE GOAL IS NOT CHANGED IT IS NO GOOD TO CHANGE THE HORSES.

I am continually asked, these days, "What about Brown and can't we support him?" Of course you can support him and it will be a grass-roots wonder--HOWEVER--he only plans to alter slightly the map--not the road. Does he know better? NO! He really thinks he has the world by the tail now and who knows, perhaps he does. He has announced that Jesse Jackson will be his running-mate. Boy, doesn't that sound good? Well, in fact, if Jackson comes in he will demand that Washington D.C. be made the 51st State--negating your CONSTITUTION instantly. Next, Jesse Jackson is a member of "the organization" of the Elite Conspiracy, The Council on Foreign Relations. Chelas, I KNOW it is bewildering and baffling--I can only ask that you study ALL the information I have given unto you for I gave these things to you over and over--long ago. I can offer the information--no more--for YOU must take the lessons. These webs are so tangled that I cannot give you a five-minute overview of the Universe and wham-bam, its done and you are in total wisdom. I remind you--"I" don't have to do anything. I have a magnificent silver ship that has every technology as is available in the Universe--"I" certainly do not need any of your headaches nor do I need to bargain with, lift off, argue or do anything else "with" or "for" you. Now that we have that clear--I assure you that I do have a mission and I shall see to it that it is done--that is to bring the Word of Truth unto you and it is strictly up to you as to what you do with it.

Ones suggest that I must continue to spoon-feed and chew your food and take your medicine for you--NO, I DO NOT! YOU DUMPED YOUR LOAD OF GUILT AND SIN ON THE CROSS OF ONE BEFORE ME--YE SHALL NOT DO THAT TO ME OR TO "MINE" AGAIN!

God gave unto you every wondrous miracle creation you could desire and you have turned and spat in His face for the effort--so, continue to do that which you will for the reward shall be solely in like-manner of actions and intent. Forgiveness has nothing to do with it for it is not even in question--intent and actions are all that merits consideration. YOU WILL NOT TELL ME WHO I HAVE TO TAKE OR WHO I SHALL LEAVE AND I SUGGEST WE UNDERSTAND THAT WITHOUT ARGUMENT RIGHT NOW. YOUR OPINION IS PERFECTLY FINE--IT SIMPLY HAPPENS TO BE FACT THAT YOUR OPINION MAKES NOT ONE IOTA OF DIFFERENCE TO ME.

NATIONALIST CHINA OUSTED FROM U.N.

One of the realities of 1971 was that the bankrupt British had declared themselves to be financially unable to maintain their military presence in the Indian Ocean and the Far East, in the area "East of Suez". Part of the timing of the Kissinger China card was dictated by the British desire to acquire China as a counterweight to India in this vast area of the world, and also to insure a U.S. military presence in the Indian Ocean, as seen later in the U.S. development of an important base on the island of Diego Garcia.

On a world tour during 1969, Nixon had told President Yahya Khan, the dictator of Pakistan, that his administration wanted to normalize relations with Red China and wanted the help of the Pakistani government in exchanging messages. Regular meetings between the United States and Beijing had gone on for many years in Warsaw, but what Nixon was talking about was a total reversal of U.S. China policy. Up until 1971, the U.S.A. had recognized the government of the Republic of China on Taiwan as the sole sovereign and legitimate authority over China. The United States, unlike Britain, France, and many other Western countries, had no diplomatic relations with the Beijing Communist regime.

The Chinese seat among the five permanent members of the United Nations Security Council was held by the government of Taipei. Every year in the early autumn there was an attempt by the non-aligned bloc to oust Taipei from the Security Council and replace them with Beijing, but the vote had always failed because of U.S. arm-twisting in Latin America and the rest of the Third World. One of the reasons that this arrangement had endured so long was the immense prestige of R.O.C. President Chiang Kai-shek and the sentimental popularity of the Kuomintang with the American electorate. There still was a very powerful China lobby, which was especially strong among right-wing Republicans of what had been the Taft and Knowland factions of the party, and which Goldwater continued. In the midst of the Vietnam non-War (officially), with U.S. strategic and economic power in decline, the Anglo-American elite decided in favor of a geopolitical alliance with China against the Soviets for the foreseeable future. This meant that the honor of U.S. commitments to the R.O.C. had to be dumped overboard as so much useless ballast, whatever the domestic political consequences might be. This was the task given to Kissinger, Nixon, and George Bush.

HATCHING "TWO CHINAS" DECEIT

The maneuver on the agenda for 1971 was to oust the R.O.C. from the U.N. Security Council and assign their seat to Beijing. Kissinger and Nixon calculated that duplicity would insulate them from domestic political damage: While they were opening to Beijing, they would call for a "two Chinas" policy, under which both Beijing and Taipei would be represented at the U.N., at least in the General Assembly, despite the fact that this was an alternative that both Chinese governments vehemently rejected. The U.S.A. would pretend to be fighting to keep Taipei in the U.N., with George Bush leading the fake charge, but this effort would be defeated. Then the Nixon Administration could claim that the vote in the U.N. was beyond its control, comfortably resign itself to Beijing in the Security Council, and pursue the China card. What was called for was a cynical, duplicitous diplomatic charade in which Bush would have the leading part.

This scenario was complicated by the rivalry between Secretary of State Rogers and NSC boss Kissinger. Rogers was an old friend of Nixon, but it was of course Kissinger who made foreign policy for Nixon and the rest of the government, and Kissinger who was incomparably the greater evil. Between Rogers and Kissinger, Bush was unhesitatingly on the side of Kissinger. In later congressional testimony, former CIA official Ray Cline tried to argue that Rogers and Bush were kept in the dark by Nixon and Kissinger about the real nature of the U.S. China policy. The implication is that Bush's efforts to keep Taiwan at the U.N. were in good faith. According to Cline's fantastic account, "Nixon and Kissinger actually 'undermined' the department's efforts in 1971 to save Taiwan." Rogers may have believed that helping Taiwan was U.S. policy, but Bush did not. Cline's version of those events is an insult to the intelligence of any serious person.

The Nixon-era China card took shape during July 1971 with Kissinger's "Operation Marco Polo I", his secret first trip to Beijing. Kissinger says in his own memoirs that Bush was considered a candidate to make this journey, along with David Bruce, Elliot Richardson, Nelson Rockefeller, and Al Haig. Kissinger first journeyed to India, and then to Pakistan. From there, with the help of Yahya Khan, Kissinger went on to Beijing for meetings with Chou En-lai and other Chinese officials. He returned by way of Paris, where he met with North Vietnamese negotiator Le Duc Tho at the Paris talks on Indo-China. Returning to Washington, Kissinger briefed Nixon on his understanding with Zhou. On July 15, 1971 Nixon announced to a huge television and radio audience that he had accepted "with pleasure" an invitation to visit China at some occasion before May of 1972. He lamely assured "old friends" (meaning Chiang Kai-shek and the R.O.C. government on Taiwan) that their interests would not be sacrificed. Later in the same year, between October 16 and 26, Kissinger undertook operation "Polo II", a second, public visit with Zhou in Beijing to decide the details of Nixon's visit and hammer out what was to become the U.S.-P.R.C. Shanghai Communique, the joint statement issued during Nixon's stay. During this visit, Zhou cautioned Kissinger not to be disoriented by the hostile Beijing propaganda line against the U.S.A., manifestations of which were everywhere to be seen. Anti-U.S. slogans on the walls, said Zhou, were meaningless, like "firing an empty cannon". Nixon and Kissinger eventually journeyed to Beijing in February of 1972.

FARCE IN THE U.N. OF "TWO CHINAS"

It was before this backdrop that Bush waged his farcical campaign to keep Taiwan in the U.N. The State Department had stated through the mouth of Rogers on August 2 that the United States would support the admission of Red China to the U.N., but would oppose the expulsion of Taiwan. This was the so-called "two Chinas" policy. In an August 12 interview, Bush told the Washington Post that he was working hard to line up the votes to keep Taiwan as a U.N. member when the time to vote came in the fall. Responding to the obvious impression that this was a fraud for domestic political purposes only, Bush pledged his honor on Nixon's commitment to "two Chinas". "I know for a fact that the President wants to see the policy implemented," said Bush, with his usual straight "lips moving" face. He added that he had discussed the matter with Nixon and Kissinger at the White House only a few days before. Bush said that he and other members of his mission had lobbied 66 countries so far, and that this figure was likely to rise to 80 by the following week. Ultimately Bush would claim to have talked personally with 94 delegations to get them to let Taiwan stay, which a fellow diplomat called "a quantitative track record".

It was noted that the U.S. activity was entirely confined to the high-profile "glass palace" of the U.N., and that virtually nothing was being done by U.S. ambassadors in capitals around the world. But Bush countered that if it were just a question of going through the motions as a gesture for Taiwan, he would not be devoting so much of his time and energy to the cause. The main effort was at the U.N. because "this is what the U.N. is for", he commented. Bush said that his optimism about keeping the Taiwan membership had increased over the past three weeks.

By late September, Bush was saying that he saw a better than 50-50 chance that the U.N. General Assembly would seat both Chinese governments. By this time, the official U.S. position as enunciated by Bush was that the Security Council seat should go to Beijing, but that Taipei ought to be allowed to remain in the General Assembly. Since 1961, the U.S. strategy for blocking the admission of Beijing had depended on a procedural defense, obtaining a simple majority of the General Assembly for a resolution defining the seating of Beijing as an important question, which required a two-thirds majority in order to be implemented. Thus, if the U.S.A. could get a simple majority on the procedural vote, one-third plus one would suffice to defeat Beijing on the second vote.

The General Assembly convened on September 21. Bush and his aides were running a ludicrous full-court press on scores of delegations. Twice a day, there was a State Department briefing on the vote tally. "Yes, Burundi is with us.... About Argentina we're not sure," etc. All this attention got Bush an appearance on Face the Nation, where he said that the two-Chinas policy should be approved regardless of the fact that both Beijing and Taipei rejected it. "I don't think we have to go through the agony of whether the Republic of China will accept or whether Beijing will accept," Bush told the interviewers. "Let the United Nations for a change do something that really does face up to reality and then let that decision be made by the parties involved," said Bush with his usual inimitable rhetorical flair.

The U.N. debate on the China seat was scheduled to open on October 18; on October 12, Nixon gave a press conference in which he totally ignored the subject, and made no appeal for support for Taiwan. On October 16, Kissinger departed with great fanfare for Beijing. Kissinger says in his memoirs that he had been encouraged to go to Beijing by Bush, who assured him that a highly publicized Kissinger trip to Beijing would have no impact whatever on the U.N. vote. On October 25, the General Assembly defeated the U.S. resolution to make the China seat an "Important Question" by a vote of 59-54, with 15 abstentions. Ninety minutes later came the vote on the Albanian resolution to seat Beijing and expel Taipei, which passed by a vote of 76 to 35. Are you beginning to recognize the tactics? Bush then cast the U.S. vote to seat Beijing, and then hurried to escort the R.O.C. delegate, Liu Chieh, out of the hall for the last time. Do you actually think it disturbs Bush to have you complain about his "lips"? The General Assembly was the scene of a jubilant demonstration led by Third World delegates over the fact that Red China had been admitted, and even more so that the United States had been defeated. The Tanzanian delegate danced a jig in the aisle. Henry Kissinger, flying back from Beijing, got the news on his teletype and praised Bush's "valiant efforts"--read their lips.

Having connived in selling Taiwan down the river, it was now an easy matter for the Nixon regime to fake a great deal of indignation for domestic political consumption about what had happened. Nixon's spokesman Ron Ziegler declared that Nixon had been outraged by the "spectacle" of the "cheering, handclapping and dancing" delegates after the vote, which Nixon had seen as a "shocking demonstration" of "undisguised glee" and "personal animosity"--oh barf!! Notice that Ziegler had nothing to say against the vote, or against Beijing, but concentrated the fire on the Third World delegates, who were also threatened with a cutoff of U.S. foreign aid.

This was the line that Bush would slavishly follow. On the last day of October, the papers quoted him as saying that the demonstration after the vote was "something ugly, something harsh that transcended normal disappointment or elation." "I really thought we were going to win," said Bush, still with that lying straight face with moving lips. "I am so...disappointed." "There wasn't just clapping and enthusiasm," after the vote, he whined. "When I went up to speak I was hissed and booed. I don't think it's good for the United Nations and that's the point I feel very strongly about." In the view of a Washington Post staff writer, "The boyish looking U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations looked considerably the worse for wear. But he still conveys the impression of an earnest fellow trying to be the class valedictorian, as he once was described."

* * *

Bush expected the Beijing delegation to arrive in New York soon, because they probably wanted to take over the presidency of the Security Council, which rotated on a monthly basis. "But why anybody would want an early case of chicken pox, I don't know," said Bush with that same indignant straight face.

When the Beijing delegation did arrive, Chinese Deputy Foreign Minister Ch'ao Kuan-hua delivered a maiden speech full of ideological bombast along the lines of passages Kissinger had convinced Zhou to cut out of the draft text of the Shanghai Communique some days before. Kissinger then telephoned Bush to say in his own speech that the United States regretted that the Chinese had elected to inaugurate their participation in the U.N. by "firing these empty cannons of rhetoric". Bush, like a ventriloquist's wooden dummy with movable lips, obediently mouthed Kissinger's one-liner as a coded message to Beijing that all the public bluster meant nothing and was right on

CIA Release of Documents Re: JFK

3/27/92 #2 HATONN

As you read along in this information you will note that clandestine activities are not new and were not new at the assassination (MURDER) of John Kennedy. To assume that such a remarkable organization will allow any incriminating evidence to slip through the sieve of operatives is as ridiculous as believing that all those evil conspirators will come forth and commit suicide having found that God disapproves of murder. There have been some thirty years to wipe all that evidence from the files. Do you not think that in that amount of time, without half trying, all documents are destroyed or reconstructed? I note that every typewriter and computer has the ability to print anything put in by any and all keystrokes. I could date this very document October 23, 1963, carry through with the timing and

YOU WOULD NEVER KNOW THE DIFFERENCE.

CHECK IT OUT: Just yesterday it was questioned of two persons on the Warren Commission about the sealing of the documents in the first place. The response? Oh, any documents "left over" when a matter is settled are authorized to be sealed for anywhere from 30 to 50 years. WELL, WHAT ABOUT 75 YEARS IF IN FACT THE STATEMENT IS TRUTH? YOU-THE-PEOPLE ARE SET UP TO BE ELABORATELY LIED TO AS NEVER BEFORE. I REMIND YOU: E. HOWARD HUNT WAS THE ONE WHO FIRED THE FIRST FATAL SHOT, THEN A TEXAN USING THE NAME OF "WHITE" (A CIA OPERATIVE) AND THE DRIVER OF THE LIMOUSINE. MOREOVER, THERE WERE OTHERS ALSO FIRING OR AVAILABLE

CIA CLANDESTINE MENTAL-ITY

One of Colby's principal functions was to strengthen the Vietnamese economy in order to improve the lot of the average Vietnamese peasant, and thereby make him less susceptible to Vietcong appeals and more loyal to the Thieu government. To win over the peasants, Colby insisted that corruption within the Saigon government had to be greatly reduced. At one point he even proposed a systematic campaign called the "Honor the Nation" program, which was to be an attack on illegal practices at all levels of Vietnamese society. At that time Colby was well aware that black-market trafficking in money was one of the biggest corruption problems in Vietnam. All U.S. personnel in Vietnam were under strict orders not to buy Vietnamese piasters on the black market, and a number of Americans had either been court-martialed by the military or fired by their civilian agencies for violating these orders. But Colby also knew that for many years the CIA had been obtaining tens of millions of dollars in piasters on the black market, either in Hong Kong or in Saigon. In this way the agency could get two to three times as much buying power for its American dollars. Additionally, the Clandestine Services claimed, black market piasters were untraceable and thus ideal for secret operations. Given more than 500,000 Americans in Vietnam all using Vietnamese piasters, and a chaotic Vietnamese banking system, the CIA could of course have obtained untraceable or "sterile" money without resorting to the black market. Although from a strict budgetary point of view the agency's currency purchases were sound fiscal policy, they directly violated both Vietnamese law and U.S. official policy. Moreover, target as planned. These two allies were already deep into the secret and increasingly public partnership.

This is why I suggest you attend that which "appears" to be happening around your globe and consider the truth of what is lying behind the lies.

LOW FREQUENCY PHASERS OUT OF CONTROL

You are run by the United Nations under the control of these Conspirators who have actually now absorbed your country and set aside your Constitution, America. You allowed this to happen the minute the treaties and agreements were set forth in the United Nations. Bush has total control of your nation according to his Executive Authority through granted resources and control set up through FEMA and he sits and laughs at you as you dangle and grumble in the winds. This bunch of Global terrorists know exactly what they are doing and the work they do this very day may well set your entire atmosphere afire. Do you actually think they are giving you a "heavenly light show" and training your children to listen FOR ELF BLASTS? Oh, indeed, the low frequency phasers are at work--and right now, out of control. It is exactly like saying to the world--"...now everyone listen and you will hear the last sound you will ever hear!" The next experience will be oblivion!

Moreover--do you actually believe the lies regarding the Russian delay on bringing their cosmonauts back? Lack of money? Come, come--you hit their craft for there is no need whatsoever to have a nearly crippled cosmonaut come off anything--the space stations allow full activities. Indeed yes, this day you have gone a bit too far and the "Bear" is ready to eat you alive. READ MY LIPS!

Allow us rest, Dharma. Thank you for service. It has been an incredibly long and tedious day of sorting and extinguishing fires and distractions but that, too, comes in the course of "living". I shall, however, withdraw you from much of it for you cannot be all unto all and ones are going to begin to take responsibility for their actions for I cannot do more to help them understand how it IS and it is not yours to handle--release it.

As readers, I suggest that to ones who can't make up their minds how they feel about "Command", God or Spiritual matters--PAY ATTENTION--FOR TRUTH IS COMING WHETHER OR NOT THEY LIKE OF IT AND RESOURCE OF TRUTH IS OF NO IMPORTANCE WHATSOEVER. SALU.

Suicidal Grid Experiments

3/27/92 #1 HATONN

"THE PHASER CANNONS HAVE BLOWN THEIR FUSES" is what the "news" reports say this day. Fuses? Brothers, you are in such terrible circumstances that I know not how to impress you with the serious plight. Neither is any of this "stuff" coming from a nice new shuttle craft launched for your visual deceit a few days past. You are basically into and within a "Space War" which will surely fall-out onto your surface. This is a war that the U.S. CANNOT WIN. So be it.

The current lies regarding "Northern Lights" and phaser beams and other excuses for the heinous experiments and testings going on through your grid system are inexcusable. A chain reaction was begun along the system and we have managed to get it stopped but the idiots simply plan to desperately try the whole experiment again. I simply cannot say whether or not your orb can stand such bombardment. In this very process, every one of your inhabitants was struck by low frequency beams which has, if nothing else, caused mass confusion in heavily targeted areas--which, of course, is exactly the plan.

There were many messages intended for the ones who know circumstances and intent but you are in serious trouble. You Americans have terminally damaged a Soviet Space Station and, fortunately for you, the Cosmonauts were brought back from one of the shuttle craft damaged by the assault. The Cosmosphere Command is in the process of deciding what to do about the attack and herein you are dealing with MEN who have great power--greater than any weapons you of the U.S. have to counter. Space Command (US) brought the reaction of the electromagnetic field under control but YOU ARE DEALING NOW WITH MEN--SOVIET MEN. I SUGGEST YOU KEEP YOUR GOGGLES HANDY AT ALL TIMES BECAUSE THEY CAN DRAIN OFF THE ELECTRONIC PLASMA SHIELD UNDER WHICH YOUR HOODLUMS WORK.

the purchases helped to keep alive the black market which the U.S. government was professedly working to stamp out.

During the mid-1960's while Colby was still in Washington, the Bureau of the Budget learned that the CIA budget for Vietnam provided for dollar expenditures figured at the legal exchange rate. Since in truth the agency was buying its piasters on the black market, it actually had two to three times more piasters to spend in Vietnam than its budget showed. The Bureau of the Budget then insisted that all figures be listed at the actual black-market rate, so at least examiners of the agency's budget in Washington would have a true idea of how much money the CIA was spending. The bureau then also tried to cut U.S. government costs by having the CIA buy piasters for other agencies on the black market. The agency was unenthusiastic about this idea and managed to avoid doing it, not because massive black-market purchases would have negated the government's avowed efforts to support the piaster, but because the agency did not want the secrecy of its money-exchange operation disturbed.

Compared to other aspects of the Vietnam war, the CIA's use of the black market is not a major issue. It simply points up the fact that the CIA is not bound by the same rules that apply to the rest of the government. The Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949 makes this clear: "The sums made available to the Agency may be expended without regard to the provisions of law and regulations relating to the expenditures of Government." The CIA in Vietnam even escaped the Johnson administration's worldwide edict that all cars purchased by the American government would be of American manufacture. While State Department and AID personnel were forced to navigate Saigon's narrow streets in giant Chevrolets and Plymouths, the agency motorpool was full of much smaller and more practical Japanese Toyotas. [H: Now I ask you, is it not fun to unravel the web and find all those tid-bits which YOU THOUGHT were new in today's concerns?]

Thus, a William Colby can, with no legal or ethical conflict, propose programs to end corruption in Vietnam while at the same time condoning the CIA's dubious money practices. And extending the concept of the agency's immunity to law and morals, a Colby can devise and direct terror tactics, secret wars and the like, all in the name of democracy. This is the clandestine mentality: a separation of personal morality and conduct from actions, no matter how debased, which are taken in the name of the United States government and, more specifically, the Central Intelligence Agency.

When Colby left his post as deputy ambassador to Vietnam in 1971, the CIA immediately "rehired" him, and Director Helms appointed him Executive Director-Comptroller, the number-three position in the agency. When James Schlesinger took over the agency in early 1973, he made Colby chief of the Clandestine Services. In May 1973, at the height of the personnel shake-ups caused by the Watergate affair, President Nixon moved Schlesinger to the Defense Department and named Colby to head the CIA. Thus, after about four months under the directorship of the outsider Schlesinger, control of the agency was again in the hands of a clandestine operator.

KENNEDY KILLERS

[H: When Watergate is under reference, it must always be remembered that the break-in was to retrieve PICTURES which were being held for blackmail which totally incriminated E. Howard Hunt, Nixon and George Bush as being present and INVOLVED INTIMATELY AND DIRECTLY WITH THE ASSASSINATION OF JFK. MOREOVER, YOU WILL FIND KISSINGER AND OTHER VERY HIGH-OPERATIVES AND POLITICIANS INVOLVED TO THEIR BLACK EVIL HEARTS.]

Senator Harold Hughes, for one, expressed grave reservations about Colby's appointment as CIA Director in a Senate speech on August 1, 1973: "I am fearful of a man whose experience has been so largely devoted to clandestine operations involving the use of force and manipulation of factions in foreign governments. Such a man may become so enamored with these techniques that he loses sight of the higher purposes and moral constraints which should guide our country's activities abroad."

* * *

Deeply embedded within the clandestine mentality is the belief that human ethics and social laws have no bearing on covert operations or their practitioners. The intelligence profession, because of its lofty "natural security" goals, is free from all moral restrictions. There is no need to wrestle with technical legalisms or judgments as to whether something is right or wrong. The determining factors in secret operations are purely pragmatic: Does the job need to be done? Can it be done? And can secrecy (or plausible denial) be maintained? [H: Do you not think that all of these questions are pretty well covered in the release of any secret documents as might be released by the CIA? The need is certainly there to make covering documents which clean the actions: it certainly needs to be done if the CIA is to be cleared and acceptance of the "fixed" Warren Commission (by the way, Earl Warren and Gerald Ford are both members of the Committee of 300!) is to be received by the "people". It also CAN BE DONE--EASILY AND WITHOUT DIVULGING ONE IOTA OF SECRECY AND ALLOW THAT PLAUSIBLE DENIAL TO BE MAINTAINED. WAKE UP, "WE-THE-PEOPLE"!]

One of the lessons learned from the Watergate experience is the scope of this amorality and its influence on the clandestine mentality. E. Howard Hunt claimed that his participation in the Watergate break-in and the other operations of the plumbers group was in "what I believed to be the...the best interest of my country." [H: Facts are that the "opposition" had pictures of Hunt with firing gun in action.] In this instance, at least, we can accept Hunt as speaking sincerely. He was merely reflecting an attitude that is shared by most CIA operators when carrying out the orders of their superiors.

Hunt expanded on this point when interrogated before a federal grand jury in April 1973 by Assistant U.S. Attorney Earl Silbert.

House, were you ever a participant or did you ever have knowledge of any other so-called "bag job" or entry operations?

HUNT: No, sir.

SILBERT: Were you aware of or did you participate in any other what might commonly be referred to as illegal activities?

HUNT: Illegal?

SILBERT: Yes, sir.

HUNT: I have no recollection of any, no sir.

SILBERT: What about clandestine activities?

HUNT: Yes, sir.

SILBERT: All right.

What about that?

HUNT: I'm not quibbling, but there's quite a difference between something that's illegal and something that's clandestine. [H: THERE IS ALSO A MASSIVE DIFFERENCE IN WHAT IS "ILLEGAL" AND WHAT IS "UNLAWFUL".]

SILBERT: Well, in your terminology, would the entry into Mr. Fielding's (Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist) office have been clandestine, illegal, neither or both?

HUNT: I would simply call it an entry operation conducted under the auspices of competent authority.

[H: So when you get released documents which are altered, reproduced, conjured, etc., you will find it all simply under "the auspices of competent authority". In the instance of release of Assassination related documents--it will be directly under the auspices of the President of the United States to cover his own assets and those of his buddies in crime. That "President" by the way, lest you forget--IS GEORGE HERBERT WALKER BUSH--who was, AT THE TIME, AN ACTIVE MEMBER AND OPERATIVE OF THE CIA.]]

Within the CIA, similar activities are undertaken with the consent of "competent authority". The Watergate conspirators, assured that "national security" was at stake, did not question the legality or the morality of their methods; nor do most CIA operators. [H: Harken back to the weeping "patriot", Oliver North, as he lied directly to the Congress and to you-the-people and you wanted to run him for President because of his criminal activities!] Hundreds if not thousands of CIA men have participated in similar operations, usually--but not always--in foreign countries; all such operations are executed in the name of "national security". The clandestine mentality not only allows it; it veritably WILLS IT.

BRAZILIAN PLANE HIJACK ALLOWED

In early October, 1969, the CIA learned through a secret agent that a group of radicals was about to hijack a plane in Brazil and escape to Cuba. This intelligence was forwarded to CIA headquarters in Langley, Virginia and from there sent on an "eyes only" basis to Henry Kissinger at the White House and top officials of the State Department, the Defense Department, and the National Security Agency. Within a few days, on October 8, the same radicals identified in the CIA report commandeered at gunpoint a Brazilian commercial airliner with 49 people aboard, and after a refueling stop in Guyana, forced the pilot to fly to Havana. Neither the CIA nor the other agencies of the U.S. government which had advance warning of the radicals' plans moved to stop the crime from being committed, although at the time the official policy of the United States--as enunciated by the President--was to take all possible measures to stamp out aerial piracy.

Afterwards, when officials of the State Department questioned their colleagues in the CIA on why preventive measures had not been taken to abort the hijacking, the agency's clandestine operators delayed more than a month before responding. During the interim, security forces in Brazil succeeded in breaking up that country's principal revolutionary group and killing its leader, Carlos Marighella. Shortly after the revolutionary leader's death on November 4, the CIA informally passed word back to the State Department noting that if any action had been taken to stop the October skyjacking, the agency's penetration of the radical movement might have been exposed and Marighella's organization could not have been destroyed. While it was never quite clear whether the agent who alerted the clandestine operators to the hijacking had also fingered Marighella, that was the impression the CIA tried to convey to the State Department. The agency implied it had not prevented the hijacking because to have done so would have lessened the chances of scoring the more important goal of "neutralizing" Marighella and his followers. To the CIA's clandestine operators, the end--wiping out the Brazilian radical movement--apparently had justified the means, thus permitting the hijacking to take place and needlessly endangering forty-nine innocent lives in the process.

During the next twenty-five years American foreign policy was to be dominated (and still is) by the concept of containing Communism; almost always the means employed in pursuit of "national security" have been justified by the end. Since the

In recent years the intensity of the struggle has been reduced as monolithic Communism has split among several centers of power; as a result, there have been tactical changes in America's conduct of foreign affairs. Yet the feeling remains strong among the nation's top officials, in the CIA and elsewhere, that America is responsible for what happens in other countries and that it has an inherent right--a sort of modern Manifest Destiny--to intervene in other countries' internal affairs. Changes may have occurred at the negotiating table, but not in the planning arena; intervention--either military or covert--is still the rule.

Dear Sandy Green;

I got a letter from Hatonn, which I am going to consider in my "RED NECK" ways to be a letter from Sandy Green. It is a lot easier for us Red Necks to relate to a Sandy Green, an Earth Bound female, than to relate to a Hatonn, Commander of the Sky Ship Enterprise, of the United Federation of Planets; Capt. Kirk at the controls.

I am a Libertarian Red Neck. What that means is this: You believe in what you want to believe in, & I'll believe in what "I" want to believe in. What I believe in, is pretty far to the RIGHT. If you want to believe in Flying Saucers then that is perfectly FINE with me, I don't mind. If you want to ACT OUT under the CODE NAME Commander Haton of the Star Ship HOST OF GOD; then that is OK with me. I am NOT going to CON YOU, into to telling you that, "YEAH, I believe in ALL that". You see, Sandy, if I were a CON, I wouldn't even BE locked up behind BARS right now. If I were a CON, I would of Conned MY way into a DISCHARGE, way back in 1978, by the latest. All that I would have to have done, is to LIE my ASS OFF to a Psychologist Sullivan, way back in 1978, & I would have been FULL DISCHARGED. Just 30 minutes of Lying, & I could have been so-called FREE 14 years ago. The only reason that that I am locked up now, is because: I DON'T LIE. Every other reason for being locked up is either:

1. A Secondary Reason such as: Poverty, No Lawyer, I Shot 3 Scum-Punks, Etc.....

2. Is a BULL SHIT Reason such as: Mental Illness, Criminal Acts, Refusal to accept Treatment, Etc....

I DO NOT believe in any Flying Saucers, I will NEVER LIE to you, by saying that, oh now I DO BELIEVE in Flying Saucers.

BUT: You may believe in Flying Saucers if you want to, it is OK with me.

Here are 2 THINGS that I must take issue with you on:

1. Do NOT send the letters c/o Bernard Mailman. I find it to be VERY INSULTING & EMBARRASSING, to have to get a letter that was sent c/o a low functioning NUT, who in fact is no longer even on the same Cell Block with me. IF YOU want to write to Bernard Mailman, then you must send him a separate letter. If you want to write to me, then you must use ONLY my name. You can NOT say, well there are 2 NUTS at this Nut House, & so I kill 2 Nuts with the same letter.

2. As far as ALL those Scum Bags are concerned who don't like my writings, I can only say, TUFF

SHIT. You see, it is ME who does NOT like THEM! So, if in turn they DO NOT LIKE ME, well then that really doesn't cut any ICE, with me. You see, I believe that GOD supports my work. My work is TRUE. The opinions of DEMONS is important to me, only in that-- DON'T WANT THEIR GOOD WILL. I am NOT in the BUSINESS to WIN the GOOD WILL of DEMONS. So I DO CARE WHAT DEMONS HAVE TO SAY, BECAUSE, I WANT TO BE SURE THAT WE ARE NOT SAYING THE SAME THING. If you were to write me a letter, & were to say that, "ALL THE DEMONS AGREE WITH YOU NOW, ROBERT MARTYR"; then I would CHANGE my MESSAGE. But when you write to me a letter, in which you say that, "ALL THE DEMONS ARE OPPOSED TO YOU", then I say, "WELL THAT IS JUST WONDERFUL"!!!!

Blessings unto you, I come in TRUTH from the land of Sodomy,

Robert R. Martyr

Oh, & that REMINDS ME: I don't want to see anymore of this: Dear Mr. Robertson a.k.a. Martyr; either pass the word onto Hatonn, too. I have given you my correct name in past letters, you have used my correct name in the past letters, and so in the future I will not read any letter that does NOT begin with the correct name, just as I use it, which is:

Robert R. Martyr-or-Robert Martyr (The R. is optional)

I don't NEED a Mr., but some people feel that they Must use a Mr., & so if you must, then you must.

Thank You, Robert R. Martyr, 348-C

END OF COPY.

* * *

Readers, I have presented this information unto you for a very good reason. You cannot make judgments nor can you discern anything accurately without knowing facts and gaining insight into the whole of an issue.

I do not use Robert Martyr as anything other than as example of explanation.

He has obviously "lied" even in his denial of same. One thing factual upon which to base this discernment is that in all his ads he has proclaimed innocence of any wrong-doing and I personally consider shooting of 3 Scum-Punks quite unacceptable. (I am told the shootings were over the smoking of cigarettes in his presence. This is hardly "self-defense". However, I have also been told the three men in point entered his home uninvited. The truth will emerge, I am sure.) Next, he has proclaimed that he is allowed NO MAIL and CANNOT WRITE LETTERS! It is quite obvious that this is a lengthy letter typed on a typewriter of some sort and therefore nullifies his (prior) objection to "short pencils".

Since there is no response to the issue of Constitutional legal assistance, I must make assumption that Mr. Robertson (his name) is not interested in anything other than pleading a distracting case to gain sympathy and attention to which I will no longer contribute to, either. My correspondence was solely to offer explanation regarding the Legal investigation by a source of respected authority--if that be considered evil and accepted as an insulting "CON JOB" by a beautiful third party totally uninvolved in any way whatsoever--then I see no measure of reasonable interaction.

I thank all of you who have responded to my request to write this poor man--for it is the Goodly thing to do and I would hope that some of you will continue to effort at some sort of communication. I do request that the Constitutional Law Center look into the treatment and justice of the institution involved to determine the level of abuse in point. If the institution is (and it is) abusing inmates, then it is THAT ISSUE IN POINT--not one Robert Robertson. Irritation and foul language is just as abusive in many circumstances--but the FACTS are that this represents a "HOSPITAL" wherein the inmates should not be considered to act with the same professional character as those of the wardens. ABUSE is not acceptable. The assumption is that the ones incarcerated in this "prison hospital" are "sick" and are there for "treatment". If the ones giving treatment act more sick than do the inmates--it MUST be brought to the attention of Constitutional LAW and set to RIGHT. So be it.

The second lie is also evident--Mr. Martyr has continually said that the "Scum-bags" and "Queers" are starving him to death. This has been a complaint for some many, many months and I believe that Mr. Martyr is still alive and very verbally aggressively functioning.

It is true that his mail is confiscated and even the "Certified" documents have been hidden in many instances so it is with regret that I withdraw from the issue. I will ask that the "ad" be placed in the LIBERATOR along with this writing. It is not for any of us to "force" anything on another--even if it be freedom and justice. It begins to appear that justice may well be served in this instance as it is not exactly public policy to allow shooting three people for smoking in your presence. It further appears that anyone efforting to assist the man in response to his pleas is simply labeled a "low functioning NUT" and/or "DEMONS".

He states that he wants nothing from us--then he shall get nothing from us. In acceptance of his own projections his attitude is "WELL THAT IS JUST WONDERFUL"!!!! Therefore I hereby withdraw all attention to the matter in response to his request.

COPY OF AD IN POINT: CHALLENGE TO MY CAPTORS & ENEMIES (And they are Numerous)

Show me where I have ever broke the Law.

Show me where I ever Created a Victim.

Show me when I have ever been allowed before a Jury.

For any of these things, just one & I will:

#1 - Pay you a $100 Reward.

#2 - Stop running my ads.

#3 - Stop my mass mailings.

#4 - Stop calling you Criminals and Degenerates.

#5 - Stop calling myself a Martyr.

My Enemies know that for 13 years I have been making these kinds of Challenges. No one who knows me, from Judge to Shyster to Drug Pusher, has been able to take me up on it.

At the Judgement Day, it will all be very simple. If I am a Criminal, then where is the Evidence? If I am not a Criminal, then I am a Martyr.

Criminals "MUST" know that I am innocent. Why else was I never allowed to have a Trial? Because they "like" me? Or because they want to Shut Me Up? Which is the most Logical?

What Is Wrong With California's Weather?

3/16/92 DR. JOHN COLEMAN

It is common knowledge that California has suffered a severe, crippling drought for the past six years. In January, February and March of this year, southern California was deluged with rain. However, the storms that brought the floods were not from the usual northern weather system, but from a sub-tropical storm belt. This left northern California with less water than it needs. Reservoirs in northern California are at approximately 50% of capacity for this time of year.

Rain falling in southern California simply runs off into the sea and is wasted. It is the northern part of the state that has all the major reservoirs. Weather maps show huge storms approaching California from the northern Pacific and Alaska regions being turned back to Oregon and Washington. WIR has studied weather maps

1% of that exposure. There are many ones of God about your place and therefore there is always the possibility of change if only ones will come into unity and clean up, I believe you call it, your act.

I would leave this communication at this point with one last petition, please see if you can come into balance with what I'm now going to suggest to you: You must attend your own judgmental attitude. For you have judged all and each and made expression of that. You may judge no-one, for that is not your right nor privilege. You may judge the actions of man and come forth with opinions regarding those actions. Also, I suggest that you not represent "what God wants" because it is obvious Man does not know what God does want. For he has broken all Laws, all rules laid forth by God for your instructions. If you are no better or higher or enlightened than are the darkest of your presumed enemy, then you have erred greatly indeed.

It is time to consider the case and your actions, regardless of what they may be, in the light of the Constitutional law to ascertain whether or not your original hearings were valid or unconstitutional. The treatment that you accuse your holders of perpetrating against you, can then be looked at in Constitutional evaluation and not in simple anger and name calling.

For the ones of you who do the mail censoring I suggest that you look very carefully at your behavior according to the higher rules of the Institution, because there is no intention of the Constitutional Law Center abandoning this man or this focus. If there is, in fact, no foundations for this man's accusations then you certainly have no worry in your actions. If in fact there has been abuse of the rights to this citizen, I suggest you begin to attend those actions presently, because we will be investigating in depth. This is as with all questions coming before mankind: Is the accusation or the actions valid and worthy in the name of justice. God is not recognized as being "fair" -- God is just.

I am not running about on your place. My communication is via direct radio signal. I have translators, I have a large ground crew, but it is not yet safe nor time to present in physical integration with you. Ones coming forth claiming that they are Messiah, Christ, etc. etc., are false. The Master Teacher is not yet returned and the time is not yet at hand for that return. We are come in preparation for that time. Our efforts and endeavors at this point are to work through the higher input, because we have that capability, to assist our people in reclaiming Constitutional nationality in the chosen place. If this is not accomplished, then your prophecies will unfold according to the schedule and the predictions laid down by your evil friends and undoers.

I hope that this will represent, to you, the extended hand of God in response to your petition and in brotherhood that you might find justice. I also hope that you will be able to accept this communication as presented without discomfort. Ours is to come in friendship, not bring discomfort. I extend my hand and I hope that we will be able to come into the discernment of the issues at hand and find justice.

Blessings unto you. I come in love from the infinite realms, for January and February and each time a huge storm mass approached California from the north, it was as if it was met with an invisible barrier it could not by-pass.

THE WEATHER WAR

In fact, this is EXACTLY what did happen. The Soviet (Tesla-copied) ELF "Woodpecker" transmitters were first brought on line on July 4, 1976. The choice of date was not unintentional. Since then, the number of ELF transmitters has risen to twenty. Targeted at the United States, the "Woodpecker" ELF grid parked a massive ridge of high-pressure over the northeast of California and another one out over the Pacific Ocean where they have remained for years. It is this artificially created barrier that has caused California's northern reservoirs to remain well below normal levels.

While our politicians tell us that we "won the Cold War" and that it is over, they seem to have overlooked the weather war that has been going on over California for the past six years. "Woodpecker" shows no signs of being lifted; on the contrary, it is now starting to affect selected areas of the Atlantic northeast coast as well. The winter of 1992 has gone into the record books as the warmest in 90 years.

THE HEALTH WAR

But it is not only our weather that "Woodpecker" is drastically affecting; it is also seriously affecting our nation's health. Soviet (now Russian) scientists working at the Academy of Medical Sciences at Novosibirsk, Alma Ata, Vladivostok and the Institute for Biological Physics at Puschino, have teamed up with the Applied Physics Institute at Gorky and Tomsk, and the Lebedev Institute in Moscow to create a program of directed electromagnetic energy that could spell real trouble for the American people.

These institutes became linked to the Soviet manned space program in 1980 and have, in the intervening years, made startling progress. Only the tiniest fraction of what goes on in these places is ever published in Russian scientific journals, and that hasn't changed since the advent of Mr.

Yeltsin, nor will it. Russian capabilities to produce a greater range of tactical and strategic electromagnetic weapons far exceed that of the West and is commensurate with their huge advances over the past ten years in the field of biophysics and electromagnetic energy. In the Soviet Union--now the Commonwealth of Independent States--biophysics, chemical and bacteriological weapons (CAB) and space medical research and production are integrated under a single command system, under the top military scientific officer, N. D. Basov.

Apart from the obvious capability of the Russians to start a major epidemic of several diseases by beaming electromagnetic energy directed at a specific group, the institutions I have mentioned have been working on internal EEG waves that, when modified, can effect DIRECT TRANSFER of information in the human brain through RF fields. (RF stands for radio frequency.) What this means is truly astounding; simply by modulating such waves, below the level of lethal effects, the thought processes of one person can be transferred to another. This is called "Direct Information Transfer by means of Modulated Electromagnetic Signals".

ELF ATTACK ON EMBASSY

The degrading of the overall health of large targeted groups is another "Woodpecker" function, this being accomplished through long exposure to low-level irradiation. Experiments involving this technique were carried out for a period of nearly ten years against employees of the American Embassy in Moscow. Using biological electromagnetic beaming, the Soviets made chronically ill, or killed, clerks and high-ranking personnel without distinction. The full story of those shocking experiments are still being kept secret from the American people, even as is the truth about California's strange weather and the widespread reappearance of diseases in the U.S., long believed vanquished.

When Robert Strauss was sent to Moscow as our ambassador, even though Yeltsin was supposed to be America's new friend, Strauss refused to occupy the official ambassador residence, citing as his reasons the fear of an attack by ELF radiation.

Strauss knew very well that sophisticated weapons such as are in the hands of the Russian military can easily use tailor-made pulsing to penetrate any and every shield known to exist. At present the West has no defense against what is called "inverse scattering self-induced transparency". Is the Cold War over?

New fears about the Russian ELF "Woodpecker" grid over North America being used as a "Faraday-type cage" to spread biologically and chemically-induced diseases come from the EPA monitoring center in Las Vegas, which found that electromagnetic pulses given off by "Woodpecker" are being absorbed and then radiated by telephone lines, water pipelines, and power lines such as those that march across the American landscape. The newest discovery is that such ELF pulses are now being absorbed and distributed by electrical wiring, telephone lines and plumbing in our homes!

This is indeed a terrifying development in the face of which we are powerless to protect ourselves. It is a disgrace that our government knows all of these things but refuses to confront the perpetrator of the crimes, fearful perhaps that if it did so, all-out ELF-biochemical-bacteriological warfare might break out.

APPALLING SPACE ADVANCES

There is mounting evidence that the Soviets developed their giant "Energiya" rocket, with five times the space lift of anything the U.S. has, to station a large solar power station in space which can relay power to Earth, using a complex high-power beam of microwaves. The purpose of such a station is obvious; it could irradiate large chosen areas-like the North American land mass, carry out weather modifications without fear of being countered, and carry out electromagnetic interference at will over a huge area.

One can imagine that such a system would render ICBM's virtually obsolete except in certain circumstances. For specific ATTACK operations, the compact nuclear reactors, MHD-pulsed mode modules presently carried by Russian radar reconnaissance satellites, provided with beefed up energy, have become phased-array EP systems in orbit capable of knocking out cities the size of

New York and Los Angeles which would kill millions of people but leave property virtually untouched. In this department, Russia is light years ahead of the United States, yet unwisely, our "leaders" still insist that the United States "is the only superpower in the world."

GROUND-BIOLOGICAL THREATS STEPPED UP

The Russians already have many such ground-based systems in operation, made possible by their fifty-year research programs in "over the horizon" phased array radars such as those at Kamchatka and Krasnoyarsk which, utilizing geophysical non-linear waves through a large aperture, can project highly lethal electromagnetic signals over thousands of miles. In fact, the entire North American Continent is in range of these land-based systems, which are also fully capable of downing every aircraft that happens to get in the way, not to mention incoming ICBM's targeted at Russia. With nothing of this nature to fight back with, can we, dare we claim to be "the world's only superpower"?

But to return to the present, there is little doubt that in spite of the Cold War being "won by America", the entire population of this country is under attack from biological elements being transmitted over thousands of miles by electromagnetic waves which deposit selected diseases, SUCH AS PULMONARY ANTHRAX, in targeted peoples.

The deadliest biological warfare weapons facilities located at Zagorsk, Penza, Pokrov, Sverdlovsk, Berdsk, Kurgan and Omutninsk are known to produce special strains of genetically-engineered viruses and bacterias for what is collectively called "Designer Biological Weapons", capable of attacking large civilian or military groups, in which is included so-called "intelligent viruses" which will attack only certain ethnic groups.

These facilities have STEPPED UP their production since Yeltsin took over from Gorbachev and recent satellite photos show construction work going on at six of these sites where special laboratories engaged in research on chemical and biological (CAB) warfare weapons are located. General Vladimir Lobov, former Chief of the Soviet General Staff, was fired after Western intelligence reports informed the U.S. that the general was selling CAB and nuclear weapons components to Iran, Syria and Pakistan, and that Iran now has an impressive stockpile of biological warfare weapons.

These biological, biochemical warheads could be launched by the new longer-range SCUD missiles being supplied by China, through North Korea, to Iran as their 300-mile range can bracket Saudi Arabia. Syria, which is also receiving the new SCUD missiles, could bracket Israel. General Lobov apparently had one hundred of his top officers working around the clock to ship these deadly items, sold for CASH (U.S.dollars), before the trade could be stopped. The military at first resisted, but agreed to Lobov's going after Yeltsin pleaded with its leaders for three days, pointing out that much-needed food and credits would be cancelled by the U.S. and Western Europe if he was not allowed to get rid of Lobov.

BIOLOGICAL WAR ATTACK ON U.S.

Intelligence sources say that the U.S. is under biological warfare attack, with strange new incorporating DNA bacteria being observed, which new strains are resistant to all presently known antibiotics. This attack is an up-dated version of the attack on the U.S. Embassy in Moscow and a direct improvement over those earlier experiments. There is no denying that the U.S. is presently experiencing a huge upsurge in "A" streptococcus, rubella, syphilis, scarlet fever, mingles, mumps, asthma, tuberculosis, meningitis, measles, rheumatic fever and whooping cough.

What is unusual about some of these diseases is that, apart from having vanished long ago, they seem to have returned with a new virulency. The Center for Disease Control and the New England Journal of Medicine say that deaths from asthma have doubled in the last ten years and a virulent strain of tuberculosis is killing thousands of people, even though patients are treated with every known drug therapy on a crisis basis. They also reported a severe new strain of toxin found in scarlet fever, which in some cases resulted in toxic shock syndrome.

Cases of so-called Chronic Fatigue Syndrome are sharply on the rise, and there is a body of medical scientists who believe that Chronic Fatigue Syndrome is induced by years of exposure to low-level electromagnetic radiation such as is given off by the "Woodpecker" grid. Other scientists have demonstrated that continual long-time exposure to such low-level ELF radiation is resulting in a frightening new ability of certain diseases to penetrate the blood-brain barrier.

In the presence of millions of HIV positive patients in whom AIDS symptoms have not yet been manifested, individuals whose immune deficiency systems have been severely weakened will fall prey to a host of reborn diseases, such as paralyzing poliomyelitis, which the Salk vaccine banished more than forty years ago. There are now THOUSANDS OF CASES IN AMERICA where people who were vaccinated with Salk vaccine as children are now, as adults, in the grip of what is called "post polio syndrome", forced to go back to leg braces and even crutches to support their strangely weakened limbs.

Electromagnetic Weapons Explained

1/4/92 #2. HATONN
TODAY'S WATCH

What I am going to reprint herein is material which can get a lot of people very "dead". I don't even see a way to acknowledge source without undue focus. For the present I will simply thank "knowing" ones. There WILL come a day of acknowledgment and appreciation unto you daring ones--but alas, it is not this day.

I have written recently regarding beams, and beam bases--flying craft and "proclaimed aliens". I have drawn pictures for you which are so outrageous that even in the local sector there is total disbelief. Well, what I have given you is true, ultra-top secret, and very much REAL.

We will first speak of the hidden hands on the switches and the military uses of the electromagnetic spectrum. I will not complicate the lives of ones herein by giving minute detail but I will give you enough to support Truth and, hopefully, cause you to think and stop hiding in the sand-bucket.

MILITARY STRATEGY

The current military strategy of the United States does not rest on nuclear weapons or elite strike forces, but is instead based on a doctrine known as 3CI or C(3)I. (This stands for command, control, communications, and intelligence.) Through 3CI, the relative strength of your forces against those of the Soviet Union is constantly assessed, and the intent of the Soviets to deploy and use their forces against you is determined. 3CI provides intelligence to accomplish this task, as well as the means to communicate with and control your forces and to command them to counter perceived and actual threats. The overall intent of this military doctrine is to know, instantaneously and at all times, the exact status of your forces and those of a particular enemy. Weapons systems are simply the instruments that are used to deter or respond to an attack.

The military group provides powerful incentives for releasing forbidden impulses, inducing the soldier to cry out formerly inhibited acts which he originally regarded as morally repugnant.

Your total military system has become an analog of a living organism, constantly sensing its environment, integrating information, and reaching decisions, and then acting on those decisions by using the appropriate weapons systems. The "central nervous system" of your nation's global military organism is based on information-carrying electrical impulses that are transmitted by electromagnetic fields. Its sensory organs are microwave scanners, satellites, and sophisticated devices designed to listen to an enemy's radio transmissions. Instead of nerves, it uses radio communications with frequencies ranging from ELF (extra low frequency) to superhigh microwaves. The muscles of the military organism range from ground troops to nuclear missile systems. There are a number of "brains" in the organism, located both in the continental United States and in various overseas locations. The organism is capable of operating on its own, with only the theoretical restraint of approval from the White House. Every aspect of 3CI depends upon the unrestricted use of all frequencies of the electromagnetic spectrum at unlimited power densities.

Now, please, realize that this is not new information and we have written extensively about this system. What is important this day is that you must realize you have now joined forces with "that enemy" and you have no control of anything you have in space. The enemy has absolute and total superior capability. The last of the network was hooked up and tested sufficiently on New Year's Day. Fortunately you are still present to ponder it for if the testing system had ignited the radioactive belt about your planet--you would really have a hot-foot by now. You-the-people will be brought into control and submission in a number of very sophisticated ways--through these systems which will send out instructions and everything from music to biological diseases.

A LITTLE PERTINENT HISTORY

This military doctrine evolved following the end of World War II and was then shaped by two factors. The first was the practical experience of using electromagnetic fields for communications and sensing (primarily radar) during the Korean War. Do you not find it interesting that Bush is in Korea this very day? The second factor was the later availability of transistorized equipment and the development of exotic electronic sensing and communication systems, which occurred during the Vietnam conflict.

Vietnam was the proving ground for the basic concepts of 3CI, and it has been characterized as the first all-electronic war--from manipulation of individual personnel to misadventures with herbicides and mass control. A number of advanced technologies were tested--for example, long-range reconnaissance patrols operating far behind Vietcong lines were equipped with solar-powered, high-frequency radios. These devices enabled members of a patrol to communicate with one another via military satellites 200 miles up in space and to be in instantaneous communication with the White House. Note that I did not say "President". The President at a given time is only a show-piece utilized by the Elite Planners and there are several replicas of the one you see moving about here and there.

Also, remember, that since that Vietnam War thousands of those Viet Cong have been shipped to Mexico, entered your U.S. nation, and stand ready, willing and able to blow every major dam and bridge in your nation--all the way to the Arctic. They are special troops trained in demolition and will blow every strategic "crossing" facility of every major city, etc., on cue. I have written extensively about this--in detail along with the Communist (Soviet) equipment and personnel already in Mexico and now crossing your borders--in full view now that you are such good "friends"--tanks and all. You are going to have to get the JOURNALS if you have any desire to get informed at all. You can "excuse" until doomsday but it won't change an iota of your circumstance. You can throw stones at Hatonn and denounce and deny--but if you want the Truth and how it IS--get the material we have furnished you! There will never again be opportunity for such investment in your survival and passage. We cannot bring the price of the material down.

any further for there is a constant deficit in production of over $20,000 a month in trying to get you informed! I can only ask that you honor and support America West and our writers for you hold the gift of life and survival as well as Truth of "passage" in your hands. So be it.

This system, the doctrine of 3CI, has matured into a global scale based on maximum utilization of electromagnetic energy and pulse systems--mostly through the sophisticated testing on the military "soldiers" (troops) in that Vietnam War. Two things happened; in the physicals and injections, etc., the soldiers were implanted with "receiver chips" whereby the instructions could be sent directly and individually as well as in group reception. As other substances were "tested" the manipulation could be studied by differing experiments and enhancement of any transmission by direct control.

The only restriction ever placed on this military doctrine since its inception was derived from the period of time immediately following World War II and during the beginning of the "Cold War". In the early 1950's, the Department of Defense recognized the need for some sort of "safe exposure standard" for microwaves. This led directly to the establishment of the Tri-Services Program, based in the Rome Air Development center in Rome, New York, which was given the task of determining this standard. However, even before the Tri-Services Program began, the military eagerly adopted the concept that only thermal effects were damaging to living organisms. Based solely in calculations, the magic figure of 10 milliwatts per square centimeter was adopted by the Air Force as the standard for safe exposure. Subsequently, the thermal-effects concept has dominated policy decisions to the complete exclusion of nonthermal bioeffects.

While the 10 mW/cm² standard was limited to microwave frequencies, the thermal concept was extended to all other parts of the electromagnetic spectrum. Unless it heated tissue, electromagnetic radiation was thought to be harmless, so there were no limits placed on exposure to frequencies below microwave.

THE CONSPIRACY

The military organism was designed on the 10-mW standard and, once in place, it had to be defended against the possibility of nonthermal bioeffects. The recognition and validation of these effects would mean the collapse of the total organism and the death of 3CI. By the early 1970's it was fully apparent that scientists and engineers involved in the program were sucked into a massive conspiracy--especially in the early programs involving electrical control systems and the bioeffects of electromagnetic fields. It was quickly seen that evidence for nonthermal effects was viewed as a total threat to national security. Safety was not a consideration, because the military mind-set of the time held that despite the lack of actual hostilities, you were in a state of war with the Soviet Union--and dear ones, it has never before or since been otherwise. It was known that your ability to prevail in that conflict required the virtually unlimited use of electromagnetic energy for all four facets of the 3CI doctrine.

This view led to the policy of denying any nonthermal effects from any electromagnetic usage, whether military or civilian. To accomplish this policy objective, several specific actions were taken, as follows:

Control over the scientific establishment was maintained by allocating research funds in such a way as to ensure that only "approved" projects--that is, projects that would not challenge the thermal-effects standard--would be undertaken. Further, the natural reactionary tendency of science was capitalized upon by enlisting the support of prominent members of the engineering and biological professions. In some instances, scientists were told that nonthermal effects did occur, but that national security objectives required that they be exceptionally well established before they became public knowledge. Many scientists' goals were subverted by unlimited grant funding from the military and by easy access to the scientific literature.

The formal scientific establishments of the United States were mobilized. When serious challenges to the thermal-effects standard were raised publicly, eminent scientific boards, associations, or foundations were provided with lucrative "contracts" to evaluate the state of knowledge of bioeffects of electromagnetic fields. These investigations resulted in the production of voluminous "reports".

All of those reports shared certain characteristics. Scientific data indicating nonthermal bioeffects were either ignored or subjected to extensive and destructive review. Those examined were required to have much higher standards of possible validity than reports indicating no such bioeffects. Scientists who reported the existence of nonthermal bioeffects were ridiculed and were portrayed as being outside of the mainstream, nuts and nit-wit troublemakers. Actual disinformation was utilized and still is, to create a false impression: for example, while a statement such as "There is no evidence for any effects of pulsed magnetic fields on humans" would have been literally true, it would have ignored the many reports of such effects on laboratory animals and the fact that no actual tests had been conducted on humans. It was common practice to include an "executive summary" with the massive report. These summaries never reflected the data that were actually hidden in the full report.

A group of "manufactured" experts was produced to serve as spokesmen and expert witnesses. Does this all sound familiar? How about a few "UFO experts" which are never backed-up and yet the public is always given the old "...there is no evidence to back up.....". Further, the reporters will give you this line immediately after giving you a report on present "evidence". It will all be mechanically "read" to you with a "new type of grasshopper found in South Africa" having just as much emphasis and importance as given a 10.6 earthquake in Indiana.

These were people with few qualifications for research in this (or any) scientific field related or otherwise, who were provided with magnificently large research grants and placed on many committees, boards, and international governmental commissions dealing with the bioeffects of electromagnetic energy. Superficially, they appeared to be prominent researchers, until one discovered that the actual number of scientific papers they had produced was minimal or nil. These "experts" were, and still are, used to testify in legal proceedings dealing with civilian installations such as power lines and microwave-relay systems.

Scientists who persisted in publicly raising the issue of harmful effects from any portion of the electromagnetic spectrum were discredited, disposed of and/or literally "taken-out" or "adjusted"--which ever better serves the ongoing purpose. An "adjusted" person can still be functionally active according to the "new programming".

WILL THE GOVERNMENT DENY ALL THIS MATERIAL I BRING?

Of course--through the UFO disinformers, conspirators, etc. But worse, they don't really mind the information now flowing to you-the-people for early on it is recognized that most of you readers will simply deny it and throw it out. Then, as proof is brought forth it will be used to show you how "trapped they were" and "had to cover it for your own good" and "after all, those nasty little aliens made us do it!" In other words, there is such a mess going on that they don't really know HOW TO BREAK THE NEWS TO YOU WITHOUT GIVING THEIR OWN "COVER" AWAY. THAT WILL NOT BE IN POINT A BIT LATER ON AFTER YOU HAVE NO GUNS! In fact, chelas, much of the confirming information comes to us via undercover operatives of the government itself--hoping we use it to set up the uncovering scenario above. It is simply one of the higher forms of deceit and insulting usage of your intelligence.

Despite the application of these measures, the question of harmful effects did not go away but instead increased in intensity. The position of the government has thus been forced to change. The government's initial complete denial of any nonthermal effects was followed by acceptance of some nonthermal effects, although these were characterized as being unimportant and transient. At present, the official position is that while there are some nonthermal effects that may be harmful, further study is required before any sudden action is taken. These studies are going on, but all are under the aegis of either the Defense Department or the industry involved. And, of course, this only includes the range of electromagnetic spectrum in point--it does not include beam weaponry as such.

The policy objective as presented has been achieved, and the exposure of both civilians and military personnel to electromagnetic radiation continues. You are not dying of cancers caused by sugar in your pop--you are a planet being radiated to death! There has not been given you an exposure safe chart like your ideal weight charts. That is because you are all in terminal contamination with no intent to change the thrust. There is ample reason, chelas, to be pretty sure that it basically remains pretty fixed at the now discredited 10 mW/cm² standard, or even higher in certain essential situations.

The reason given is the lead time needed for weapons-system development--in other words, the ends justify the means and disinformation. After all, you are only servants and intended slaves for the Elite. Also, there are too many of you anyway and that alone is a major problem--you are nothing except laboratory test animals to this group of would-be rulers. Operation at lower power levels would materially degrade system performance, allegedly producing a situation hazardous to national security. Deployment of powerful and exotic electromagnetic systems continues, with little, if any, consideration given to the potential impact of these systems on the health and safety of the public.

THE GROUND-WAVE EMERGENCY NETWORK (GWEN)

While there are many such weapons systems, the GWEN system is a particularly good example. GWEN is a communications system which has now been connected and major construction completed (putting a lot more workers in the unemployment lines). It operates in the very low frequency (VLF) range, with transmissions between 150 and 175 kHz. This VLF range was selected because its signals travel by means of ground waves--electromagnetic fields that hug the ground--rather than by radiating into the atmosphere. This is a dandy way to get across the Arctic regions and encircle the globe quite effectively and most easily--i.e., that touted "Woodpecker" system. This also accounts for the "Wormwood" code--because it can burrow like an earthworm without interference by any substance--right through rock, water, etc. It is a bit confused by large pools of oil and/or fat cells. A chubby body is not always such a bad thing to have if you are in line of direction or a target for the individual take-out beams. The only protection on Earth comes from the frequencies our Command can offer to physically disrupt the pulses. I suggest you remember that when you denounce your higher brethren. The signals drop off quite sharply with distance, and a single GWEN station transmits to a 360-degree circle radiating out from it to a distance of about 250 to 300 miles. So now you have it--a need for repetitive relay stations--a full GRID, if you will. This is now in total operation in conjunction with the Elite to every part of the globe. In addition the Elite warriors have a total blanket of Cosmospheres and Platforms to insure control of that system. These are NOT hostile "aliens" unless you call a "foreign person" an "alien".

The GWEN system consists of stations, each with a tower 300-500 feet high and you won't think anything about them other than "television", "radio", phone relays, etc. The stations are spaced from 200 to 250 miles apart, so that a signal can go from coast to coast by hopping from one station to another. The back-up is a total system which also bounces off satellites so that, as of now, 1992, the entire civilian population of the United States (and world) are exposed to these GWEN transmissions.

The rationale for the existence of this network is the government's projected concept that nuclear war is winnable if a fail-safe communications system is available for use during and following a nuclear attack. It is more deceit to make you fork up the manpower and money for the system without having to resort to the "black budget black-hole". Such a system, they will tell you, would permit the U.S. to order its nuclear-missile submarine fleet to launch an attack against the aggressor nation. The physical nature of nuclear war requires that this system operate by ground-wave transmission. Big Brother is really taking care of you little citizens!

ELECTROMAGNETIC PULSE (EMP)

One aspect of nuclear war that is not well publicized is the EMP phenomenon. This becomes VERY IMPORTANT because you WILL experience it. An electromagnetic pulse is a very short, intense burst of electromagnetic energy that is produced by the explosion of a nuclear weapon in space. If an EMP were produced by a nuclear explosion 100 miles above Kansas City, for instance, its energy would be so intense that it would shut off ALL electric-power systems, destroy all computers and magnetic disks or tape records, destroy the guidance systems of missiles and the computer and communication systems of military and commercial aircraft, and shut down all radio communications--ACROSS THE ENTIRE UNITED STATES! The military organism would be decapitated. In the military scenario, the United States would then be faced with capitulation or nuclear destruction.

Theoretically, ground-wave communications would still be possible. However, the theory is tenuous. The GWEN hardware is transistor based; even if placed in "hardened" bunkers, it would be vulnerable to an EMP. In addition, the EMP would produce major ground currents in the path of the GWEN signals that could decrease their transmission capabilities. Finally, the locations of all GWEN stations are known to the enemy and thus are vulnerable to attack. Not such a good show, is it?

Nonetheless, the military mind (whew--mutually exclusive terms) has conceived of using the GWEN network to maintain communications following such a decapitating EMP attack. This is not the place for a full argument concerning the values and options of nuclear war, but in my opinion the reason for the existence of this system is specious in itself as for between-the-lines assumptions. Dear ones, nuclear war is not "winnable". All may not perish--but the war is NOT WINNABLE. FOR THIS VERY REASON, YOU HAVE BEEN LEFT DEFENSELESS WITHOUT SHELTERS WHILE BILLIONS AND BILLIONS OF DOLLARS HAVE BEEN POURED INTO UNDERGROUND FACILITIES FOR SECURITY OF THE ELITE PUPPET-MASTERS. You WILL wake up or you WILL perish.

The potential harm to the civilian population from the operation of GWEN has not been addressed. GWEN is a superb system, in combination with cyclotron resonance, for producing behavioral alterations in the civilian population. The average strength of the steady geomagnetic field varies from place to place across the various geological areas such as the United States. Therefore, if one wished to resonate a specific ion in living things in a specific locality, one would require a specific frequency for that location. The spacing of GWEN transmitters 200 miles apart across the United States would allow such specific frequencies to be "tailored" to the geomagnetic-field strength in each GWEN area. This piece of information is well-known to the "Planners" of the network and, of course, is in full capability of operation NOW.

What of these various in-point frequencies? Why doesn't someone in your wondrous UFO community demand a bit of sharing with one frequency "expert" who is only annoyed with plagiarism (which objection will be more understandable now), etc. Why don't you check out the "frequency tables" of your beloved brother, Cathie. Does he know all this? Oh, Chelas, spare me! You have accomplished the sophistication of the newest in "killing fields".

Dharma, allow us a break so that this can be edited while we work on the next writing. We need this to the public without delay. We are making progress and ones who will hear and see deserve the best that we can offer. Salu.

1/4/92 #3 HATONN/TESLA

As we write on these subjects, especially regarding pulsing wireless forms of energy--ever comes the inquiry: "Why can't we seem to wireless transmit energy, etc., like Nikola Tesla projected?" You can--you are just not allowed to do so. Energy and transmission of electricity is the energy bondage method of a planet. Do you actually think the Elite money-mongers would allow such a thing as free energy and/or allow healing methods utilizing free energy and magnetic frequency? Grow up, chelas, the world is big and mean and most nasty indeed. A bit later after this writing I will see if there is time and energy left to simply ask Nikola to expound on the subject of wireless transmission and his own experience. I believe you who doubt our presence and resources might be interested if not totally captivated by the access to these higher beings awaiting their ability to work with you when the time becomes feasible.

Let us continue now, however, with the subject at hand and speak of the new killing fields:

ELECTROMAGNETIC WEAPONS

While the military was vigorously denying the very existence of bioeffects from electromagnetic-field exposure, such bioeffects were actually being explored as potential weapons--weapons with the enormous advantage of being totally silent and imperceptible. If you are a bit terrified at this point I suggest you are normal and quite rightful in your responses. This is a most deadly game and you are the sitting targets this very day as you are being worn away and debilitated, totally controlled and manipulated almost beyond the point of recovery.

The EMP concept has been extended through the development of devices that generate EMP pulses without the need for nuclear explosions. Such devices can be deployed for use against enemy command and control centers or against aircraft in order to produce failure of electronic equipment. This can also be directed against any civilian location and or group. A derivative of this program is HPM (high-power pulsed microwave), a system producing intense, extremely short pulses of microwave. Several types, ranging in frequency from 1200 MHz to 35 GHz with powers up to 1000 megawatts, are tested and ready for use. These are also ready for use as weapons against humans and, against these weapons, no gun can even be relatively compared.

There is a report which can (or maybe can't be) acquired which deals with the testing program of the Microwave Research Department at the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research. It states, "Microwave energy in the range of 1 to 5 GHz, a militarily important range, penetrates all organ systems of the body and thus puts all organ systems at risk." Effects on the central nervous system are considered very important. The testing program, begun in 1986, is divided into four parts: 1) prompt debilitation effects; 2) prompt stimulation through auditory effects; 3) work interference/stoppage effects; and 4) effects on stimulus-controlled behavior. The report goes on to state, "Microwave pulses appear to couple to the central nervous system and produce stimulation similar to electrical stimulation unrelated to heat." It appears that HPM is capable of altering behavior in the same fashion as Delgado's electrical stimulation (which we will not go into herein).

The production of cognitive and behavioral alterations by HPM is a sledgehammer effect in comparison to the subtle alterations produced by ELF fields. According to a 1982 Air Force review of biotechnology, ELF has a number of potential military uses, including "dealing with terrorist groups, crowd control, controlling breaches in security at military installations, and antipersonnel techniques in tactical warfare." The same report states, "Electromagnetic systems would be used to produce mild to severe physiological disruption or perceptual distortion or disorientation. They are silent, and countermeasures to them may be difficult to develop."

Just know, readers, that a whole group and class of weapons, based on electromagnetic fields, has been pretty well perfected and added to the muscles of the military organism. The 3CI doctrine is still growing and expanding. The military can and is able to completely control the minds of the civilian population.

I make no attempt here to review in any detail the relationship between military considerations and the hazards of man-made electromagnetic fields. This complex and dangerous situation lies outside the scope of this small writing and few would have any understanding regarding the details, except for an indication of how the political policies derived from it have effectively removed the public recognition of the hazards. The military establishment and government fully realize that the survival of the military organism is well worth the sacrifice of the lives, health and life function of large segments of the American population--the goal of conquest has been accomplished.

You-the-people have only ONE countering measure and THAT LIES WITH GOD AND WE THE HOSTS. WHICH WILL IT BE, AMERICA?

Dharma, appended are some maps of the area in the "Tehachapi's" of the Northrop installation (See inserts later) wherein the massive underground terminal from Edwards is located. You will note that there are numerous silos for egress and ingress of air-ships with markings of some of the saucer exit/entrance portals with all sorts of landing pods. I suggest you take this very seriously for the structures at Edwards are even more sophisticated, while covered by the rocket launch test area. By the way, these installations are directly tied underground to the JPL labs in Pasadena, California with facilities for immediate evacuation when the earthquake comes or the nuclear war. Only a few are, however, on the list for evacuation. It is totally amazing that so many of you have worked for years on portions of this killer machine and never realized you were involved. Yes, it would boggle the mind. The tunnel itself is made totally flexible at the fault zone with inconceivable strengthening to prevent rupture. In that particular evacuation tunnel connected to a massive underground installation which has radiating "arms" right to the ocean and underground sub bases, craft can travel at several times the speed of sound. Remarkable? No, someone just worked diligently toward their goal while you slept and forgot yours.

Overlook the poor quality of the pictures (maps) as you are most certainly NOT SUPPOSED TO HAVE THEM. I will not show you pictures of Edwards or other installations for it is far too risky at this time. Northrup is out in the fringes of desert and isolation and almost "unknown"--I will not endanger any by showing more recognized facilities.

There are many of these so-isolated facilities of unknown locations scattered about your landscape--this is only one and is not even particularly large, relatively. It serves a unique purpose or I would not speak of it. I just don't want any readers being shocked when the government and military start producing "little gray aliens", etc. Your very lives and freedom depend on your KNOWING THE TRUTH. I can only remind my own crew that these nerds have to get through ME to get to you--so be it, try it and make my day! Perhaps it is time for me to brush up on my target practice. Hit my people and it is classified by all Universal law as "aggression", and I have right of defense and protection. It could get pretty hot for my beam system is pretty good while leaving no evidence to tell the tale--just pure and simple evaporation! I do not mean "rendering invisible" I mean "rendering evaporated"!

I am here to inform my people and instruct them so we can bring them home--we have no intention of interference on your place and we will tolerate no interference in our mission. Mankind as a whole has pretty much decided to go with the evil influences and it is each one's right to do that, but the planet will be cleansed by her own doing and our people will not be left to the terrific holocaust.

We will summon ours from the corners of your planet. If the world decides as a whole to change its path--wondrous goodness shall take place. If not, we will gather our own and leave you to your resources.

I will step aside and welcome our old friend and comrade, Nikola. Many hours have been spent with this scribe and this rather eccentric brother and I am honored to sit quietly while there is a bit of sharing of memories--not often given since presentation in March of 1904. He is given to honoring the request to share and I bow to this brilliant personage. I salute you and you will make your own connection for I no longer leave my circuit--thank you. I shall, however, bid you good-day.

TESLA REMEMBERS

It is lonely I am for a good snow-covered day for communion as we have had in the past with sharing and visitation. It is indeed sad that ones deny the contact and choose their own mystical journeys instead of honoring their contract for service--choosing to "run away" before the cake is finished to the serving. Impatience and greed are the curse of man.

It is impossible to resist your courteous request extended on an occasion of such moment in the life of your JOURNAL. Your request has vivified the memory of our beginning friendship, of the first imperfect attempts and underserved successes, of kindnesses and misunderstandings. Always it brings painfully to mind the greatness of early expectations, the quick flight of time, and alas! the smallness of realizations. The following was given to the world but so few paid heed and then, as is the case in the human experiment--the mystery found its way into the hands of evil doers.

Let me look back toward the close of your year 1898 in which a systematic research, carried on for a number of years with the object of perfecting a method of transmission of electrical energy through the natural medium, led me to recognize three important necessities: first, to develop a transmitter of great power; second, to perfect means for individualizing and isolating the energy transmitted; and, third, to ascertain the laws of propagation of currents through the earth and the atmosphere. Various reasons, not the least of which was the help proffered by my friend Leonard E. Curtis and the Colorado Springs Electric Company, determined me to select for my experimental investigations the large plateau, two thousand meters above sea-level, in the vicinity of that delightful resort, which I reached late in May, 1899.

I take note that the general area is still a bustling center of activity, mostly underground now, for completion of that which I was not destined to finish in my sojourn--now turned to the most heinous of uses in destruction and control of the masses of civilians into imprisonment of a world.

I had not been there but a few days when I congratulated myself on the happy choice and I began the task, for which I had long trained myself, with a grateful sense and full of inspired hope. The perfect purity of the air, the unequaled beauty of the sky, the imposing sight of a high mountain range, the quiet and restfulness of the place--all around contributed to make the conditions for scientific observation ideal. To this was added the exhilarating influence of a glorious climate and a singular sharpening of the senses. In those regions the organs undergo perceptible physical changes. The eyes assume an extraordinary limpidity, improving vision; the ears dry out and become more susceptible to sound. Objects can be clearly distinguished there at distances such that I prefer to have them told by someone else, and I have heard--this I can venture to vouch for--the claps of thunder seven and eight hundred kilometers away. I might have done better still had it not been tedious to wait for the sounds to arrive, in definite intervals, as heralded precisely by an electrical indicating apparatus--nearly an hour before.

In the middle of June, while preparations for other work were going on, I arranged one of my receiving transformers with the view of determining, in a novel manner, experimentally, the electric potential of the globe and studying its periodic and casual fluctuations. This formed part of a plan carefully mapped out in advance. A highly sensitive, self-restorative device, controlling a recording instrument, was included in the secondary circuit, while the primary was connected to the ground and an elevated terminal of adjustable capacity. The variations of potential gave rise to electric surgings in the primary; these generated secondary currents, which in turn affected the sensitive device and recorder in proportion to their intensity. The earth was found to be, literally, alive with electrical vibrations, and soon I was deeply absorbed in this interesting investigation. No better opportunities for such observations as I intended to make could be found anywhere. Colorado is a country famous for the natural displays of electric force. In that dry and rarefied atmosphere the sun's rays beat the objects with fierce intensity. I raised steam, to a dangerous pressure, in barrels filled with concentrated salt solution, and the tin-foil coatings of some of my elevated terminals shriveled up in the fiery blaze. An experimental high-tension transformer, carelessly exposed to the rays of the setting sun, had most of its insulating compound melted out and was rendered useless.

Aided by the dryness and rarefaction of the air, the water evaporates as in a boiler, and static electricity is developed in abundance. Lightning discharges are, accordingly, very frequent and sometimes of inconceivable violence. On one occasion approximately twelve thousand discharges occurred in two hours, and all in a radius of certainly less than fifty kilometers from the laboratory. Many of them resembled gigantic trees of fire with the trunks up or down. I never saw fire balls, but as a compensation for my disappointment I succeeded later in determining the mode of their formation and producing them artificially. Never be dismayed or disappointed at that which is given and which at the moment seems without merit--for it can only open the way into deeper and more profound information as you allow your mind to consider the circumstance.

In the latter part of the same month I noticed several times that my instruments were affected stronger by discharges taking place at great distances than by those near by. This puzzled me very much. What was the cause? A number of observations proved that it could not be due to the differences in the intensity of the individual discharges, and I readily ascertained that the phenomenon was not the result of a varying relation between the periods of my receiving circuits and those of the terrestrial disturbances. One night, as I was walking home with an assistant, meditating over these experiences, I was suddenly staggered by a thought. Years ago, when I wrote a chapter of my lecture before the Franklin Institute and the National Electric Light Association, it had presented itself to me, but I had dismissed it as absurd and impossible. I banished it again. Nevertheless, my instinct was aroused and somehow I felt that I was nearing a great revelation.

It was on the third day of July--the date I shall never forget--when I obtained the first decisive experimental evidence of a truth of overwhelming importance for the advancement of humanity. A dense mass of strongly charged clouds gathered in the west and towards the evening a violent storm broke loose which, after spending much of its fury in the mountains, was driven away with great velocity over the plains. Heavy and long persisting arcs formed almost in regular time intervals. My observations were now greatly facilitated and rendered more accurate by the experiences already gained. I was able to handle my instruments quickly and I was prepared. You see, it is always good to be prepared and therefore be able to move on without interrupting distractions. If you are, for instance, trying to survive you certainly have no time for invention other than to the problem immediately at hand. I suggest you pay close attention to your friend, Gyeorgos, come forth to give you a hand in your tedious journey. We are not yet of that higher level of total understanding and cannot serve in the same guidance capacity. I, myself, am most limited to my realm of expertise and as of yet have no need of more general "life" knowledge in the "knowingness". I am most happy to be of assistance to you but I feel no obligation nor pressure to serve in that capacity longer. I found my journey on your place to be most disagreeable for the most part--an evil civilization filled with vile vipers.

At any rate, back to my story--the recording apparatus being properly adjusted, its indications became fainter and fainter with the increasing distance of the storm, until they ceased altogether. I was watching in eager expectation. Surely enough, in a little while the indications again began, grew stronger and stronger and, after passing through a maximum, gradually decreased and ceased once more. Many times, in regularly recurring intervals, the same actions were repeated until the storm which, as evident from simple computations, was moving with nearly constant speed, had retreated to a distance of about three hundred kilometers. Nor did these strange actions stop then, but continued to manifest themselves with undiminished force. Subsequently, similar observations were also made by my assistant, Mr. Fritz Lowenstein, and shortly afterward several admirable opportunities presented themselves which brought out, still more forcibly, and unmistakably, the true nature of the wonderful phenomenon. No doubt whatever remained: I was observing stationary waves.

As the source of disturbances moved away the receiving circuit came successively upon their nodes and loops. Impossible as it seemed, your planet, despite its vast extent, behaved like a conductor of limited dimensions. The tremendous significance of this fact in the transmission of energy by my system had already become quite clear to me. Not only was it practicable to send telegraphic messages to any distance without wires, as I recognized long before, but also to impress upon the entire globe the faint modulations of the human voice, far more still, to transmit power, in unlimited amounts, to any terrestrial distance and almost without any loss whatsoever.

With these stupendous possibilities in sight, with the experimental evidence before me that their realization was henceforth merely a question of expert knowledge, patience and skill, I attacked vigorously the development of my magnifying transmitter, now, however, not so much with the original intention of producing one of great power, as with the object of learning how to construct the best one. This is, essentially, a circuit of very high self-induction and small resistance which, in its arrangement, mode of excitation and action, may be said to be the diametrical opposite of a transmitting circuit typical of telegraphy by Hertzian or electromagnetic radiations. It is difficult to form an adequate idea of the marvelous power of this unique appliance, by the aid of which the globe will be transformed. The electromagnetic radiations being reduced to an insignificant quantity, and proper conditions of resonance maintained, the circuit acts like an immense pendulum, storing indefinitely the energy of the primary exciting impulses and impressions upon the earth and its conducting atmosphere uniform harmonic oscillations of intensities which, as actual tests have shown, may be pushed so far as to surpass those attained in the natural displays of static electricity.

Simultaneously with these endeavors, the means of individualization and isolation were gradually improved. Great importance was attached to this, for it was found that simple tuning was not sufficient to meet the vigorous practical requirements. The fundamental idea of employing a number of distinctive elements, co-operatively associated, for the purpose of isolating energy transmitted, I trace directly to my perusal of Spencer's clear and suggestive exposition of the human nerve mechanism. The influence of this principle on the transmission of intelligence, and electrical energy in general, cannot as yet be estimated, for the art is still in the embryonic stage; but many thousands of simultaneous telegraphic and telephonic messages, through one single conducting channel, natural or artificial, and without serious mutual interference, are certainly practicable, while millions are possible. On the other hand, any desired degree of individualization may be secured by the use of a great number of co-operative elements and arbitrary variation of their distinctive features and order of succession. For obvious reasons, the principle will also be valuable in the extension of the distance of transmission.

Progress, though of necessity slow, was steady and sure, for the objects aimed at were in a direction of my constant study and exercise. It is, therefore, not astonishing that before the end of 1899 I completed the task undertaken and reached the results which I announced in June, 1900, every word of which was most carefully weighed.

Much was already accomplished towards making my system commercially available, in the transmission of energy in small amounts for specific purposes, as well as on an industrial scale. You will note that even that far back in counting--facts were held from you for remember that I speak of 1900 at the turn of the century. With that thought in mind can you really be confounded and surprised to find these heinous systems for destruction so sophisticated and perfected? The results attained by me had made my scheme of intelligence transmission, for which the name of "World Telegraphy", easily realizable. It constituted, in its principle of operation, means employed and capacities of application, a radical and fruitful departure from what had been theretofore done. I had no doubt that it would prove very efficient in enlightening the masses, particularly in still uncivilized countries and less accessible regions, and that it would add materially to general safety, comfort and convenience, and maintenance of peaceful relations. You see, in all generations there are we dreamers who believe that man is generally "good" and "sharing" as of God projection--not so--for too late we learn that the adversary called evil and Satanic is always at work in the vineyards ready to steal the tanks of good wine and poison the masses with the sour brew.

My outlay involved the employment of a number of plants, all of which are capable of transmitting individualized signals to the uttermost confines of the earth. Each of them would be preferably located near some important center of civilization and the news it received through any channel would be flashed to all points of the globe. A very cheap and simple device, which could be carried in one's pocket, would then be set up somewhere on sea or land, and would record the world's news or such special messages as might be intended for it. Thus the entire earth would be converted into a huge brain, as it were, capable of response in every one of its parts. Little could I then realize that the adversary would utilize such wonders for the deceiving of an entire civilization. Since a single plant of but one hundred horse-power could operate hundreds of millions of instruments, the system would have a virtually infinite working capacity, and it could immensely facilitate and cheapen the transmission of intelligence. Man is so ungracious and cruel to his fellow-man as to astound the senses.

The first of these central plants would have been completed at that time had it not been for unforeseen delays which, fortunately, had nothing to do with its purely technical features. But this loss of time, while vexatious, was, after all, proven to be a blessing in disguise. The best design of which I knew at the time had been adopted, and the transmitter would emit a wave complex of a total maximum activity of ten million horse-power, one percent of which is amply sufficient to "girdle the globe". This enormous rate of energy delivery, approximately twice that of the combined falls of Niagara, is obtainable only by the use of certain artifices, which I was to make known in due course.

For a large part of the work which I did I was indebted to the noble generosity of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan and the world owes to this one man much of the despoiling and imprisonment of a planet. I was as deceived as any of you present personages by that contractioning viper. I found him most welcome and stimulating, as it was extended at a time when those, who had since promised most, were the greatest of doubters. Little do we see the deceit in the hand which offers assistance and means destruction and theft. I honored my friend, Stanford White, for much unselfish and valuable assistance. The work advanced, and though the results seemed to me to be tardy, they were sure to come.

Meanwhile, the transmission of energy on an industrial scale was not neglected. The Canadian Niagara Power Company offered me a splendid inducement, and I felt that, next to achieving success for the sake of the art and gift unto my fellowman, it would give me the greatest satisfaction to make their concession financially profitable to them. In this first power plant, which I worked long at the designing, I proposed to distribute ten thousand horse-power under a tension of one hundred million volts, which I was now able to produce and handle with extreme safety.

This energy would be collected all over the globe, preferably in small amounts, ranging from a fraction of one to a few horse-power. One of its chief uses would be the illumination of isolated homes. It would take very little power to light a dwelling with vacuum tubes operated by high-frequency currents and in each instance a terminal a little above the roof would be more than sufficient. Another valuable application would be the driving of clocks and other such apparatus. These clocks would be exceedingly simple, would require absolutely no attention and would indicate rigorously correct time. The idea of impressing upon the earth American time is fascinating and very likely to become popular was my thought on the matter. I was going to be able to offer a great convenience to the whole world with a plant of no more than ten thousand horse-power. How could I know that the carbon fuels would hold the entire world hostage to the thieves of the environment and the civilization? The introduction of that system would give opportunities for invention and manufacture such as have never presented themselves before and were never again presented to the people.

Knowing the far-reaching importance of this first attempt and its effect upon what would be future development, I proceeded slowly and most carefully. Experience taught me

Clinton For President?

3/27/92 DR. JOHN
COLEMAN

Concerning Governor Clinton. Governor Clinton is running his campaign on $2 million provided by Worthern National Bank through one Stephens tied to the BCCI scandal. Jackson Stephens cleared the way for BCCI to operate in the U.S. in 1987. He is a long time associate of Bert Lance and the man who got Gaith Pharaon to front for BCCI. Stephens' connection with BCCI came out BEFORE the Worthern $2 million campaign money was given to Clinton, therefore Clinton is running for President on funds linked to the biggest bank scandal in history.

Clinton did get Flowers on the state payroll and perhaps the Flowers matter is being handled low-key because Bush may fear exposure of his role in making one of his mistresses an ambassador. Clinton favors patriarchy as disclosed by Larry Nichols who was axed by Clinton from the Arkansas Development Fund Authority (ADFA). Nichols says connections with Clinton are a must for companies seeking loans through ADFA, which Clinton vastly expanded in 1985 from a small agency offering low interest construction loans for housing, ostensibly to attract capital to Arkansas for economic development.

Long term loans were financed through sale of tax-exempt bonds. Among underwriters was Jackson Stephens who, with his son Warren, raised $100,000 for the Clinton campaign. Stephens had the controlling interest in Worthern National that gave the $2 million line of credit to Clinton. Another inner-circle Clinton associate, Dan Lasater, headed the now "deceased" Lasater and Company with his brother Roger. Both Lasaters were arrested in connection with cocaine handling on very serious charges.

Hillary Clinton's law firm's name is on the ADFA-related bond issues and the loan agreement papers, and Mrs. Clinton has represented a company in litigation owned by Stephens and son Warren. Hillary Clinton's law partner, Webb Hubbel, represented POM Company who got the first loan from ADFA. POM has been frequently mentioned within the framework of Mena, the hub of drug smuggling in western Arkansas. Webb Hubbel represented Seth Ward, Jr., the president of POM in the first ADFA loan. Ward is a Clinton insider. The Worthern Bank that made $2 million available to Clinton had liens on POM.

While Clinton purports to be against drugs and says he wants to interdict drugs coming into U.S., he has done nothing about the airport at Mena, the hub of drug smuggling in Arkansas. Clinton was FULLY informed about operations at Mena by state prosecutor Charles Black in 1988. Before that, in 1983, the State Police also joined a grand jury investigation, which jury was eventually dissolved. Local press accounts at the time said members of the grand jury were prevented from seeing crucial evidence, hearing important witnesses. The panel was not even permitted to see twenty-nine draft indictments on money laundering drawn up by the Justice Department's "Operation Greenback".

In 1989 Governor Clinton was petitioned by Arkansas citizens demanding he convene a state grand jury and continue the investigation. William Bryant, now State Attorney, made drugs and Mena an issue in his election campaign. In 1990 Bryant delivered files and petitions to special prosecutor Walsh who has thus far apparently sat on them. On August 12th, 1991, Clinton got his criminal justice advisor to write to citizens who had petitioned Governor Clinton. The letter stated the governor understood that the matter of criminal goings-on in Mena was being studied by Bryant, Walsh and Rep. Bill Alexander.

Since then Clinton has done ABSOLUTELY NOTHING to further the matter. His state prosecutor has all authority to reconvene the grand jury and order a full investigation. In spite of urgent requests from Charles Black that Clinton allocate funds for such an investigation, CLINTON COMPLETELY IGNORES BLACK'S REQUESTS. Representative Alexander says the only thing holding up the investigation is lack of funding. In November 1991, Alexander got Congress to allocate $25,000 for the investigation, but the money is "lost" somewhere in Arkansas bureaucracy.

Clinton MUST be asked questions about these matters, especially about the drug matters related to Mena. We can be sure that Bush will do nothing, and we all know the reason why. It is the duty of those in the press and television media to call for a full scale investigation of Clinton, his BCCI funding and the activities of his wife's law firm. But will they? Given the fact that Clinton is Rockefeller's blue-eyed boy, it is likely that nothing will be forthcoming.

HOW ABOUT IT, MR. INTREPID JOHN CHANCELLOR AND TOM BROKAW? ANY REAL INTEGRITY BETWEEN THE TWO OF YOU?

not to assign a term to enterprises the consummation of which is not wholly dependent on my own abilities and exertions. I was hopeful that these great realizations would not be far off, and I knew that when this first work would be completed they would follow with mathematical certitude.

When the great truth seemingly accidentally revealed and experimentally confirmed would be fully recognized, the planet, with all its appalling immensity, was to electric currents virtually no more than a small metal ball and that by this fact many possibilities, each baffling imagination and of incalculable consequence, were rendered absolutely sure of accomplishment; when that first plant would be inaugurated and it would be shown that a telegraphic message, almost as secret and non-interferable as a thought, could be transmitted to any terrestrial distance, the sound of the human voice, with all its intonations and inflections, faithfully and virtually instantly reproduced at any other point of the globe--and that to be followed by instant reproductions and reflections of images and so forth, the energy of a waterfall made available for supplying light, heat or motive power, anywhere--on sea, or land, or high in the air--humanity could and would be stirred up like an active ant-hill. Oh, the excitement coming was too incredible for me to contain. Ah alas, could it really have been meant that this wondrous gift of gifts would fall into the hands of the Elite evil manipulators and withholders of goodness.

My dear old friend, I have rambled on in my memory trek and I see that you must now finger each symbol on a board when there is facility in your time for picking up the thought patterns. I wonder if your people of your time will awaken to their heritage in time to utilize any of these wondrous gifts kept to the Elite deceivers? Ah, it has ever been thus on the planets of dense immorality of experience. The lessons are great but the surge of evil is always so great and the stand with and for God so shallow. I can only wish you well and share that which I have to gift. I look forward to again welcoming you home and I shall keep the teapot at boil so that we can sip and share. How wondrous it would be to succeed in this present mission that man might experience true greatness in his own time of manifestation instead of always succumbing to the demonic thieves of expression.

I bid you peace and appreciation for allowing my sharing as our paths are destined to intertwine and for that gift I am most pleased. I bid you good-day and may insight shine upon you as you walk the path.

This is Nikola to close with my best blessings upon you who effort to change the journey into a lighted blessing for all--may it come to pass!
