WARNINGS DON'T SEEM TO BE ENOUGH

When we publish a topic in the paper, or more especially, if we run something on the phone line, we get all sorts of responses, like, "Fear again, CONTACT?" and "...yeah sure!". Well, right here and now I am ASKING PLEASE get something new on that phone line EVERY DAY OR SO. You do not need ME to tell YOU what is important and then, if we have something whopping, we will add another. The problem is that you get bored with the information—UNTIL WHATEVER WE SPEAK OF, HAPPENS.

An Introduction to the Third and Fourth Horsemen, The Black Horseman and the Emerging Food Crises

Article V, Section 1

The purpose of this series of articles on the biblical symbolism of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse has been to provide a historical sketch of events which, in my view, help to explain the symbolism of John's Book of Revelation, Chapter 6 and show its message for us today. It cannot be more than a sketch, and certainly does not cover all of the aspects of the symbolism. The aggression, theft, malice, treason, greed, pride, murder, deceit and immorality already revealed in the descriptions of the first two Horsemen continue. Today we have reached a time when there is not much left to rob—the cupboard is almost bare. It is the time when the Black and the Green Horsemen of the Apocalypse become all too apparent to all people, although they represent powerful movements and purposes which have been part of the New World Order (NWO) plans from the start.

While John's vision, as revealed in the biblical Book of Revelation, has been interpreted by some psychiatrists and interpreters of dreams today as simply a personal message to John, I see it as a warning to all of us; although, I don't discount the possibility that it has been tampered with or that there may be more than one interpretation. It certainly is a "big dream" and it appears to be of importance to us today. Perhaps the importance could have been lessened if people had stirred themselves and tried to change things.

According to Hatonn, it is the Adversary who has written the script, and we are following right along with it! My hope is that the terrible things we are "following right along with" can and will be modified or changed by those who quickly acquire a better vision.

Horseman is Black, and it is the Fourth Horseman who is Green, according to some biblical translations, and "Pale", according to others. According to George M. Lamsa, in his translation of the Holy Bible from the Ancient Eastern Text, the Peshitta (quote:),

Rev. 6:5 through 8

5. And when he had opened the third seal, I heard the third animal say, Come and see. And behold, I saw a black horse; and he who sat on him had a pair of balances in his hand.

6. And I heard a voice in the midst of the four animals say, A measure of wheat for a penny and three measures of barley for a penny; and see that you do not damage the oil and the wine.

7. And when he had opened the fourth seal, I heard the fourth animal saying, Come and see.

8. And I looked and beheld a green horse; and the name of him who sat on him was Death, and Sheol followed after him. And power was given him over the fourth part of the Earth, to kill with the sword and with famine and with death and with the wild beasts of the Earth. (End quote.)

There are seven "seals" to this part of the Book of Revelation.

George M. Lamsa's translation is from the Aramaic language of the ancient Eastern Bible called the Peshitta. Aramaic was the common language used in Palestine when Esu Immanuel lived there. He spoke Aramaic.

I have several other Bibles and a large book titled The Six Version Parallel New Testament, which lists and compares the texts of the King James Version, Living Bible, Revised Standard Version, New English Bible, Phillips' Modern English, and Jerusalem Bible. All of these together with the Geneva Bible and the Kingdom Interlinear Translation of the Greek Scriptures, translate the Fourth Horseman as "Pale" except for Phillips' Modern English translation. Phillips, an expert in Greek, translated the Fourth Horseman as "sickly green". (The Six Version Parallel New Testament was a gift from a friend, CGD; thank you.)

In reading through the introductions and comparing the various interpretations of Chapter 6 in the Book of Revelation, I am provided with some likely reasons for the changes in words appearing in the various translations of the "Six Versions". The committees doing the work all had their separate rules and goals to follow, although the primary one was that of creating a clear, literary English translation, which could be easily understood. For example, if one recalls the old phrase "he looks green", meaning: "he is pale or looks ill", then we have a possible understanding of how the word "pale" entered the situation as a possible and preferable, literary choice. This is not certain. However, Mr. Lamsa does not translate the color as "sickly green", and the other translators, with the exception of Phillips', have now eliminated or not used the word "green" at all. Therefore, it seems to me that the translation problem may be between the Aramaic and the Greek languages. None of the translators of the various newer Bible versions are identified as being experts in the Aramaic language, and this aspect of the translations was not listed as a purpose of the committees. With the exception of the King James Version, all of the others in the Six Parallel Version of the New Testament were done between the years 1940 and 1970. Lamsa's translation from the Aramaic was first published in 1933, but not widely known.

William Tyndale first translated the Greek New Testament into English in 1525. In less than a century Tyndale's translation, intended for the "plain people", was followed by Coverdale's Bible, the Great Bible, the Geneva Bible, the Bishop's Bible, the Douay-Reims Version and the King James Version. Mr. Tyndale invited future translators to "ponder his work and correct it where needed". (Ref.: pg. XV, Six Parallel Versions of the New Testament.) Many scholars have tried to do just that.

With hindsight and the present, world-wide emphasis on environmental issues, I am inclined to agree with Lamsa and believe the Fourth Horseman was originally described in the Aramaic language as green, meaning a powerful, historical and global movement connected to environmental issues which brings us to the major disaster described in Revelation, Chapter 6, verses 7 and 8. Mr. Lamsa, in the introduction to his translation tells us that his work was also compared with several other ancient texts from the Aramaic, as well as current "authorized" translations of the Bible. However, this does not really explain how this "green horse" got overlooked in the comparisons except that I believe it must have been true to the Aramaic version or it would never have appeared at all. Further, if you read Lamsa's introduction to his translation of the Peshitta, you will also learn that the Jews held a day of mourning when the Greek version of the Old Testament (the Septuagint) was completed—it was so full of errors they cried! Therefore, in spite of the preference for the original versions in the Greek among many scholars, I believe it a mistake to accept them as the whole truth, or only truth, but rather as several persons' consensus of that truth involving particular language problems at a particular time.

It is a fact that many words in Aramaic are not to be found in the Greek language; therefore, we often find instead a "reasonable" interpretation. Good examples of this are the words for cross and crucifixion. The Greek dictionary does not have words for these terms. It has a word for the equal-armed Greek cross, but not for the Christian cross, and consequently no word for crucifixion. Those of you who have visited with Jehovah's Witnesses may already know that they believe, due to their Greek translation of the New Testament, that Jesus was "tortured at the stake". (!) It is as good a description of what happened as could be provided in the Greek language, and they have been sold on their translation! You can check this at the library. Most of the larger libraries have an English/Greek dictionary in their reference sections. Of course, not all translators of the Greek always follow its literal meaning, but use historical facts to help interpret the words. Nevertheless, you see in this example another reason why the Bible as we know it cannot be the unadorned truth, much less the exact Word of God, regardless of who states otherwise. This does not mean there is no truth in it, nor that it does not hold many wonderful instructions for living.

THE BLACK HORSEMAN— POVERTY, INFLATION, FAMINE, SLAVERY AND CONTROL

The meaning of "black" is totally without light, and one needs to keep this in mind when they consider the instigators, perpetrators and fellow travelers who have given their energies to the international marketing movement and its related monopolistic businesses—the precursors of the Black Horseman. In my opinion, the results of their totally evil work will soon be apparent: poverty, inflation, famine, slavery and control.

For now I would like to compare with you the several versions of the Book of Revelation as presented in The Six Version Parallel New Testament regarding this Black Horseman. You will see the liberties taken herein among the various translators. Quote:

King James Version, Rev. 6:5 & 6

And when he had opened the third seal; I heard the third beast say, come and see. And I beheld, and lo a Black Horse; and he that sat on him had a pair of balances in his hand. And I heard a voice in the midst of the four beasts say, A measure of wheat for a penny, and three measures of barley for a penny, and see thou hurt not the oil and the wine.

Living Bible, Rev. 6:5 & 6

And when he had broken the third seal I heard the third Living Being say, "Come"! And I saw a black horse, with its rider holding a pair of balances in his hand. And a voice from among the four living beings said, "A loaf of bread for $20.00, or three pounds of barley flour, but there is no olive oil or wine". (End quote.)

The other four versions are practically the same throughout for verse five, but vary in verse six. Therefore, I shall quote only those dissimilar parts of verse six from them:

Revised Standard Version, Rev. 6:6

A quart of wheat for a denarius, and three quarts of barley for a denarius, but do not harm oil and wine.

New English Bible, Rev. 6:6

A whole days wage for a quart of flour, a whole days wage for three quarts of barley meal! But, spare the olive and the vine.

Phillips' Modern English, Rev. 6:6

A quart of wheat for a shilling and three quarts of barley for a shilling—but no tampering with the oil or the wine!

Jerusalem Bible, Rev. 6:6

A ration of corn for a day's wages, and three rations of barley for a day's wages, but do not tamper with the oil or the wine. (End quote.)

It seems obvious that the above verses, in spite of the various translations and interpretations mean a time of FAMINE wherein there will be no opportunity to obtain food items considered luxuries, and no food except for those who can do a day's work to pay for it! (The denarius was a wage for a day's labor when this was written.)

The world has already experienced famines in local areas, and on a large scale in some countries, but not before on a global scale. It is almost impossible for today's baby-boomers and their offspring in the United States to consider the possibility of a world-wide famine—it couldn't happen here! Everything still looks okay for the most part and most of them have not experienced scarcity. In fact, when walking down Main Street and visiting the shopping malls it is hard to accept the idea that, yes, it can happen here, and is starting to happen here.

Donald S. McAlvany, Editor of The McAlvany Intelligence Advisor newsletter, June, 1996 issue, has written a comprehensive report on our present U.S. and Global food situation. The statistics are sufficient to convince anyone reading the report that the time is now to quietly and earnestly start a garden and food conservation. Following is a quote from Mr. McAlvany's conclusion to his report which he titled: "THE EMERGING AMERICAN AND GLOBAL FOOD CRISIS" (quote):

Over the past decade or so, world food supply/demand has become very finely balanced with very little room for error. Now a number of factors have come into play to throw the system into imbalance and deficit on a global basis, and perhaps even here in America. Global (and perhaps U.S.) food shortages are likely to be a reality for the balance of the decade and well into the next decade.

On 2/15/96. USA Today carried a front page article entitled: 1996 Turning Into A Year of Disasters, which said: "Floods, snows, winds and ice have contributed to making 1996 a record year for disaster declarations, the largest number so early that anyone can recall". And the blizzards, freezes, floods, droughts, winds, and extreme heat have compounded dramatically both in America and around the world since February.

In its 169-page Vital Signs 1996 publication (released in late May). Worldwatch Institute wrote: "In an era of high technology, humanity is suddenly struggling in 1996 with one of the most ancient of challenges: how to make it to the next harvest. Key weather related indicators show a world in trouble."

Twenty to thirty years ago. America had several years of food surpluses or reserves (two to four years at any given time) set aside for times of emergency, famine, drought, or war, much as our strategic metals stockpile used to be set aside for times of national emergency. Over the past decade or so, these food surpluses have been sold off or given as aid to other countries—especially to Russia.

Today, our food reserves in America are down to 40-45 days, while certain people in the intelligence community believe that the KGB and Red Army in Russia have tucked away almost five years of food surpluses, certainly not for the Russian people but for a "rainy day" or the next war—to feed the KGB and the Russian Army.

Another phenomenon has been the bankruptcy or closure of over three-fourths of America's family farms over the past few decades—due to financial difficulties, low farm commodity prices, or government regulations such as the Draconian environmental laws. Over a million acres per year of prime agricultural land has been taken out of production each year for the past 40 years. Most of this farm land has been taken out of production forever with much of it being incorporated into U.S. government lands. So with a burgeoning population (265 million not counting tens of millions of illegals). America is now experiencing the sharpest decline in food surpluses in history.

Today, a combination of drought in the central states, the southern plains and the southwest; weird and unusual weather patterns all over the country and around the world; increased demand for grains in Russia, China and various Third World countries is setting the stage for the greatest food shortages domestically and globally since the 1930s and perhaps in this entire century. The stage is now being set for famine in many areas of the world.

It should also be understood that over 90% of America's food production today is controlled by five or six multinational food giants which comprise an "unofficial" multinational food cartel which controls U.S. (and global) food production, supplies, deliveries, and prices. This group of food giants works closely with the U.S. Department of Agriculture and is closely tied to the New World Order and the Liberal Eastern Establishment, which control America's financial system, media, educational system and much of the government. The power to control food supplies will be the ultimate in people and population control in the emerging New World Order!

WHAT TO DO

It seems to this writer that it is essential that families move toward greater food self-sufficiency and that they do so with great haste. The food shortages are not coming—they have begun, on a national and global basis and they are likely to accelerate from this point forward. The crisis is just beginning to be reported in the press, but has not yet begun to be felt in the U.S. food distribution chain or in retail food outlets. (End quote.)

Forty-five days of grain supplies will not last long when you realize, due to severe weather, drought and diseases that many grain producing states in the U.S. are down 50% to 80% below normal production this year, and corn prices have soared to their highest levels in U.S. history. In addition the plant disease problem and weather predictions indicate there will be several years before we can expect a recovery. Farmers cannot afford to feed their livestock now even when they are able to locate the feed, and our government keeps shipping the grain out at record levels! Many jobs in food production, processing and distribution will be lost. Further, those countries which are also affected, and which have turned to the U.S. in the past, will be in as severe or worse situation. World-wide unrest must follow very swiftly when the world is hungry. (For McAlvany's full report please see address in bibliography.)

It is not possible, with all the government staff doing analyses of the situation, that those in control are unaware of the situation. This is undoubtedly one of the reasons for Clinton's anti-crime bill, which will go into effect by default the latter part of August this year, just in time for possible food riots when the awareness of and first impact of the harvest short-fall hits the nation. As Mr. McAlvany and many other investigators have reported, this bill gives the Federal Government authority over State and local police forces, among other anti-constitutional measures. By the end of August 1996, everything is in place for a police-state in the U.S. of A. The pending food crises threatens at some time to be an excuse to implement that police-state, martial law.

The sell-off and depletion of our national reserves of grain has proceeded over a number of years. I had written my congressman from Oregon in the late 1980s regarding my concern over this practice. Congressman DeFazio was then on a committee which was charged with the oversight of our grain reserves. I wrote several times to him, to no avail. Now, learning about the crises in our farming states, I went to the library to see if I could locate an address for that oversight committee. Apparently, NAFTA and GATT "Secretariats" have usurped these national concerns. The book: 1995-1996 Official Congressional Directory, 104th Congress, does not list such a committee. Mr. DeFazio is now a Senator from Oregon and no longer directly connected with food reserves. A newer congressman from Oregon sits on the Agricultural Committee. It is quite possible that these jobs are given to the newer, inexperienced legislators. By the time they realize what is happening, they are bumped to other jobs. No one is watching over the best interests of the American people, not even their vital food supply. I copied for your information from this directory the list of representatives on the Agricultural Committee in the House, and also President Clinton's Export Council, set up by Executive Order. The Export Council is composed of international merchants and government officials. Both of these lists should provide you with names to contact regarding the food crises.

It was a revelation to read the 1995-1996 Congressional Directory. It will confirm to anyone that the organizational structure of our government has been set up and working along international lines for some time, and that the ten regions of the World Government Federation, regions of "economic and environmental cohesion", are already being viewed by our government as if they were a fact. The Administration has largely divided staff and services according to these ten regions. Prominent among the departments are those of International Financing, Import and Export, Marketing, Commerce, etc. Amazingly, there is also an office for International Forestry. (!!) This can only be the start of the international land grabs planned by the World Government Federation under the Wilderness and Earth First programs, the subject of upcoming articles.

I do not know all of the prophecies in the Book of Revelation which pertain only to this time on Earth. There is a division in the book which tells us Satan and his troops will be locked up after the tribulation, and then that he will be loosed again for a short while after a thousand years. According to Hatonn, it is the latter period that we are experiencing today. (Quote:)

Rev. 20:7-9, (King James Version)

And when the thousand years are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison, and shall go to the four quarters of the Earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle: the number of whom is as the sand of the sea. And they went up on the breadth of the Earth and compassed the camp of the saints about, and the beloved city: and fire came down from God out of heaven and devoured them. (End quote.)

The above verses are connected to the prophecies found in Ezekiel Chapters 38 and 39. According to George M. Lamsa, Gog and Magog are China and Mongolia (now part of Russia). According to Hatonn, the nation being attacked is the United States, which is the only country in the world established under God! If you read Ezekiel Chapters 38 and 39 you will learn that Gog and Magog, and the Chief Princes of Meshech and Tubal, come up from over the North (pole) to attack Israel (meaning God's people—not the State of Israel). Meshech and Tubal are merchants originating from the Black Sea area (land of the Khazars).

I thought it important to restate the above at this time because, with the expected very large harvest shortfall this year other nations will be drastically affected, not the least of which is China. In addition, the "time" for the "Soviets" to strike us is when we are hungry and they are full of our food. I put "Soviets" in quotes because, according to Hatonn, George Bush is all set to seat the throne of the NWO at the United Nations, presently a combination of Great Britain, the U.S., the U.S.S.R. and parts of China and France. Therefore, you will know that if any of these attack the U.S. it is an operation decided in advance by the leaders of the NWO, following Lucifer's code (i.e., instigate wars whereby the goyim will destroy themselves). In connection to the joining together of these particular nations under a one world government, it would be well to also re-read Chapter 13 in the Book of Revelation. Those nations are described therein. England and the U.S. are the two horns of a lamb (supposedly peaceful nations), who give their power to the beast, "whose deadly wound was healed"—Soviet Russia/Communism, a promotion of the Committee of 300. Soviet Russia, who now has several years of our grain surpluses stored against this day, and whose "U.N." troops are now in the U.S. to help along its takeover. This exceedingly black situation has been long in the planning, which is not yet fully revealed. Keep in mind that the people of these nations are not the perpetrators of the situation. They have had no vote regarding it. They, like the citizens of the U.S., are considered merely slaves by these would-be Controllers, cannon-fodder and useless eaters.

My next article will take up again the subject of the Green Horseman. Most of the changes planned under the environmental movement also have a direct connection to food shortages. Both movements represent major parts of the NWO plan for world depopulation. Consider, if you are elderly or disabled you cannot do a day's labor and will therefore go hungry, according to John's vision and according to the plans of the NWO. All these persons (useless eaters) will be "dispatched", according to Mensa member and former Judge Jason Brent of Tehachapi, California. Unfortunately, Judge Brent is part of a large group of like minded "people"—having the highest I.Q.s in the nation, but obviously lacking in heart and wisdom, much less a belief in God and the Laws of Creation. They will reap what they sow.

The Untold History Of America

Part 1 of a Series

8/8/96 RAY BILGER

In attempting to do justice to the matters addressed herein, it must be understood by the reader that this work is by no means intended to be construed as the definitive work on such a broad subject. The work draws on as many sources of information as the author has access to, but he does not have access to all information. As well, the interpretation of this information is from the point of view of the author, and his views will most likely not be shared by all. Nonetheless, the purpose of this exposition is to provide a clear picture of what has really transpired to bring us to the point where we are now, because if we are to do anything to correct our future course as a nation, it is of absolute necessity that we know from whence our problems have arisen. Thus, this may not be a pleasant story, but it is a story that must be told.

More and more Americans are waking up every day to the realization that what we have been told is the history of this nation is not necessarily true. It is these waking ones who may find this work as somewhat satisfying food for thought for their hungry minds.

Prior to the "discovery" of this continent by the Europeans, it was the navigators who were among the most prominent of personages. These pioneering individuals knew the ocean currents and the stars, the trade winds and the sailing routes around Europe, Africa and Asia, and were in a very central way responsible for maintaining commerce.

Christopher Columbus, who sailed from Spain, was such a navigator. (Although he was Italian, it was the Spanish Queen Isabella who sponsored his trip to America.) He set sail to the west, toward India and China, and came ashore in 1492 in what we now call the West Indies, in the Caribbean, where he was greeted by a generally hospitable native population. For this, Columbus is credited with "discovering" America, and has been rewarded with a holiday in his name. Although the islands had long existed, and had long been inhabited, Columbus claimed the newly "discovered" lands for Spain.

Columbus is not remembered in our grade-school history books for his barbaric and brutal ways because those history books lie. Columbus saw that the native peoples had a considerable quantity of gold, and, being a greedy conqueror, he took all their gold and then demanded they bring him even more. When they were no longer able to bring him any more gold, Columbus had their hands cut off.

Most people today are of the understanding that the slave trade in America began when Africans were brought here to work against their will. This actually came later, as the American Continent was "settled" and farmed. The first slave trade was begun by Columbus and went in the opposite direction. He took people from the West Indies native population as slaves back to Spain, against their will. The American Continental was named after another Italian navigator, Amerigo Vespucci, who lived from 1451-1512.

Once the American continents were "discovered", and the globe was circumnavigated, conquest of lands by the Europeans was the way of the world until things were pretty much divided up. Those in power now knew that the world was a finite sphere, and that there was only so much land, and only so much gold, and only so much tin, and other resources. So the race was on to see who would get what. Surveyors then slowly became more important than the navigators, as these newly acquired lands needed to be mapped so that each conquering country would know exactly what lands they had, and also for selling parcels of this new land to interested buyers. George Washington was himself a surveyor. But we're getting a bit ahead of ourselves.

For thousands of years before today, this continent was inhabited by native peoples who were later named (most unaffectionately) as Indians, and because these native peoples did not practice the sort of barbarism that their neighbors in Europe were so fond of, they were considered "savages" (in retrospect, who do you suppose were the real savages?).

Consequently, once Europeans entered the picture here, our history became one of man's inhumanity to man. The native peoples may have had differences among themselves, but they were able to live in general harmony with all of the natural world, presumably since their very beginnings. Had they been able to continue to live today as they always had, we may safely expect that there would now be no contaminated air, water or land.

What the European White man did to the native population here in America is one of the saddest stories ever told. And there is scarcely to be found in any history book the fact that the White man took an entire continent away from the rightful original owners and killed almost all of them and then pushed the remaining ones into tiny reservations, and called this practice civilizing and settling the continent.

The native peoples here in America first welcomed the White men who were only seeking refuge from political and religious persecution they had experienced in Europe. The native peoples felt compassion for the White men and showed them how to hunt deer and plant corn, that they might sustain themselves and their families. The Pilgrims, who had initially reached America in 1620, celebrated what would become an American tradition, Thanksgiving Day, where they had a great feast with the Indians. Things changed as the entrepreneurs and conquerors saw this land as ripe for exploitation.

One of the most notable Indian councils in the history of this country was held at Medicine Lodge in Kansas. The Medicine Lodge peace council brought together well over 4,000 Indians, including Arapahos, Cheyennes, Kiowas, Comanches and Prairie Apaches. A peace plan put forth by the White man's government was seeking to place all five tribes into one great reservation. Ten Bears, a very eloquent Comanche Chief, made the following speech at the council: (quoting)

My heart is filled with joy when I see you here, as the brooks fill with water when the snow melts in the spring; and I feel glad as the ponies do when the fresh grass starts in the beginning of the year...

My people have never first drawn a bow or fired a gun against the Whites. There has been trouble on the line between us, and my young men have danced the war dance. But it was not begun by us. It was you who sent the first soldier and we who sent out the second. Two years ago I came upon this road, following the buffalo, that my wives and children might have their cheeks plump and their bodies warm. But the soldiers fired on us, and since that time, there has been a noise like that of a thunderstorm, and we have not known which way to go...

Nor have we been made to cry once alone. The blue-dressed soldiers and the Utes came from out of the night when it was dark and still, and for campfires they lit our lodges. Instead of hunting game they killed my braves, and the warriors of the tribe cut their hair for the dead... They made sorrow come into our camps, and we went out like the buffalo bulls when their cows are attacked. When we found them, we killed them and their scalps hang in our lodges.

The Comanches are not weak and blind, like the pups of the dog when seven sleeps old. They are strong and far-sighted, like grown horses...

But there are things which you have said to me which I do not like. They were not sweet like sugar, but bitter like gourds. You said that you wanted to put us upon a reservation, to build us houses and make us medicine lodges. I do not want them. I was born upon the prairie where the wind blew free and there was nothing to break the light of the sun. I was born where there were no enclosures and where everything drew a free breath. I want to die there and not within walls. I know every stream and every wood between the Rio Grande and the Arkansas; I have hunted and lived over that country. I lived like my fathers before me, and, like them, I lived happily.

When I was at Washington, the Great Father told me that all the Comanche land was ours and that no one should hinder us in living upon it. So why do you ask us to leave the rivers and the sun and the wind and

"Throughout history the names of tyrants change, but not their methods."

live in houses? Do not ask us to give up the buffalo for the sheep. The young men have heard talk of this, and it has made them sad and angry...

(You) have taken away the places where the grass grew the thickest and the timber was the best. Had we kept that, we might have done the things you ask. But it is too late. The White man has the country which we loved, and we only wish to wander on the prairies until we die. (end quoting)

Ten Bears died five years later.

At a certain point the White man realized that if he would get rid of the buffalos, he could get rid of the Indians. This would involve, essentially, the elimination of an entire species of animals. The buffalo became fair game for anyone, and were even used for target practice from passing trains traveling out west. The White man would also stampede the buffalos over the edge of a high cliff. And when the Indians became cold in the winter because they had no buffalo furs to keep them warm, the White man gave the Indians malaria-infested blankets. Many Indians died a horrible death from this practice.

And so it went with the native peoples, but it is said that their day will come, when they will again be able to move freely over the land of their forefathers. That day may be close at hand as the White man has all but destroyed himself.

During this time, the White Europeans established themselves on this land, cultivating and farming it, and in the southern part of the new America, great plantations were set up. To do the physical work, the Europeans brought black-skinned people from Africa. Because these people were black, and not white like the Europeans, they must have been considered as less than human and therefore suitable to work as slaves.

England had set herself up as the prominent controller on the American Continent, and maintained a series of colonies on the Eastern Seaboard. Commerce and industry began to grow and flourish on the American Continent, as the land was rich and fertile, with no shortage of resources. England maintained strict control over her colonies, but did not accord the colonists the same rights and representation as was accorded to the people in England. This disparity eventually grew to intolerable proportions, and the colonists began to entertain the idea of separation from the Motherland.

King George (of England) made no attempt to rectify his abusive treatment of the colonists, but only did things to aggravate the already untenable situation. Thus, in July of 1776, after they could no longer accept their plight, the colonists declared independence from England. Understandably, this infuriated King George, who began a long war to regain control in America.

Others in Europe were not so blind as King George and saw the opportunities for considerable and extensive exploitation of this new land. Leading among these interested parties were the bankers. The bankers had learned that whoever controlled the purse-strings of a nation could ultimately control the nation itself. Remember, it was Baron Edmund de Rothschild, born in 1744, who once said, "Give me control of a nation's currency and I care not who makes its laws." As you will see, the remainder of this story revolves around the control of both money and laws, and the absolute power they can bring.

Readers can draw their own conclusions regarding the connections between the bankers and secret societies as they had long functioned as behind-the-scenes controlling elements in Europe, but, suffice it to say that the Illuminati established their American branch one month before the colonists declared independence in 1776. The degree to which this society (and others) took advantage of the mistakes made by King George may be debated, but there can be no argument that the Illuminists knew a good opportunity when they saw it.

With help from friends in Europe, most notably France, the American colonists won their War for Independence. The Founders of America, full of high ideals, set out to make this new nation like none other known on Earth, and established a Constitution to embody what they considered to be the very best principles of government they could imagine. That Constitution was based on an earlier one made by the Iroquois Indians. Many consider the work of the Framers of our Constitution to have been divinely inspired. Thoughtful and intelligent researchers would be hardpressed to dispute this claim.

What most Americans today do not realize is the fact that that Constitution was a blueprint for a just government and society. It is now 1996 and the tenets set forth in that great document have yet to be implemented. It was as though the framers drafted the document and then put it before the people and said, "There, now see if you can live up to it". Americans need to realize it has never been implemented because we are part of an ongoing experiment to actualize the dreams of our nation's founders.

We stand today, however, in a much worse position than the colonists did with King George. The King was far away on a distant shore, and we were firmly established on a land we would never give up. Today, the insidious means of control come from levels much higher than our government in Washington, D.C., and reach like the tentacles of an octopus into every aspect and facet of our lives. Sophisticated technologies (like TV) control our minds in ways that the average person cannot even begin to comprehend and there is hardly a home in America that doesn't have one of these devices. The more modern of these devices have many mind-control channels to choose from. Anyway, back to our story.

The Constitution made it quite clear that the new government, through the Treasury, would issue and control money. The founders were well aware of the European bankers and their intentions and wanted nothing to do with them. Thomas Jefferson warned quite often against allowing a Central Bank to be established here: (quoting)

This institution (Central Bank) is one of the most deadly hostilities existing, against the principles and form of our Constitution.... Suppose a series of untoward events should occur, sufficient to bring into doubt the competency of a republican government to meet a crisis of great danger; an institution like this, penetrating by its branches every part of the Union, acting by command and in (unison), may, in a critical moment, upset the government.... I deem no government safe which is under the vassalage of any self-constituted authorities, or any other authority than that of the nation (i.e., The People)....

If the American people ever allow private banks to control the issue of currency, first by inflation, then by deflation, the banks and corporations that will grow up around them will deprive the people of all property until their children will wake up homeless on the continent their fathers conquered. (end quoting)

Jefferson's words could not have been more true had they been spoken today. But Jefferson also saw the absolute fascination people had with the thought of making easy money through banking: (quoting)

(We) still expect to find in juggling tricks and banking dreams, that money can be made out of nothing.... The misfortune is... we shall plunge ourselves into unextinguishable debt, and entail on our posterity an inheritance of external taxes, which will bring our government and people into the condition of those of England...

Turn Your Tap Into A Fountain Of Wellness.

The Microwater™ Series One machine produces a healthful and refreshing high-altitude, electron-rich, free radical scavenging, alkaline water. It also breaks up larger-clustered water. It is actually "wetter", and therefore able to go to more places in the body, nurturing the organs, while removing acid wastes, one of the causes of numerous diseases. This type of water is usually found only in high-altitude mountain streams, twisting and turning, bubbling over rocks, where it picks up its electrons. Microwater is alive, and it functions as a powerful antioxidant. In Japan, this water has been successfully used to treat high blood pressure, diabetes mellitus, constipation and diarrhea, acidosis, and a wide variety of skin conditions. Although we make no medical claims, try the water for yourself and see what happens.

selves to the ruin of our country.... But our whole country is so fascinated by this Jack-lantern wealth, that they will not stop short of its total and fatal explosion. (end quoting)

The international bankers were able to get Alexander Hamilton (then Secretary of the Treasury under President George Washington) on their side, and he fought in Congress for the establishment of a Central Bank. In 1791, Congress granted a charter for 20 years to the First Bank of the United States.

It seems rather certain that at the moment that England realized she had lost the Revolutionary War where America won her independence, England immediately began the effort to achieve by more subtle means what she could not achieve by force, that is, the regaining of control of her former colonies. And in 1801, the British-based Freemasonic Lodge opened up shop in America, in South Carolina.

The CONTACT newspaper, in the July 9, 1996 issue, on page 7, published an article by this author entitled "A History of Judicial Corruption in America". That article explained how and why America's founders and first citizens were strongly opposed to lawyers as a class. Thus, the framers of the Constitution, at Art. I, Sec. 9, cl. 8, forbid anyone holding any title of nobility from holding any office of trust in the United States. This did not, however, deter the lawyers from working in government. After all, lawyers should be able to craft the most insidious and subtly deceitful laws. But the title of Esquire behind their name meant they were connected to the English monarchy, just what England wanted.

As there was some question as to the exact meaning and applicability of the above referenced constitutional provision, in 1810 an amendment (the 13th) was proposed to the Constitution that clearly spelled out the restriction against any title of nobility. Thirteen states were required to ratify the amendment to make it law. Just before the final state necessary could ratify, the War of 1812 broke out with England. Also, the charter of the First Bank of the United States expired in 1811 and Congress did not renew it. Something had to be done immediately.

Whatever the history books may say regarding the War of 1812 between the United States of America and England, the real purpose was for England to regain control of her lost colonies. The international banking houses, including the Rothschilds, happily financed England in the War. In fact, Eustace Mullins says that the War of 1812 was instigated by the Rothschilds to force the renewal of the charter of the First Bank of the United States. It is a fact that the bankers had drained almost all of the gold out of the U.S. Treasury, thereby creating an economic panic.

During the War, the British burned the Capitol

Building in Washington, and the Library of Congress, and destroyed most of the records of our first 38 years of government. And although it appeared that England lost her military effort to regain control of America, she had won the real war of control, and we have been under British rule ever since, as we moved right back under English Admiralty Law. After the war, America was in bad economic condition, and Congress turned our apparent victory into defeat by chartering the Second Bank of the United States which was a virtual clone of the First Bank of the United States. The international bankers were once again happy.

The Thirteenth Amendment was finally ratified in 1819 but ultimately ignored, and, as we shall later see, was swept away in the activities surrounding the corrupt Civil War. The Monroe Doctrine was issued in 1823, and let the European countries know that the U.S. considered Latin America to be in its sphere of influence. Andrew Jackson became President in 1829 and declared war on the international bankers. In 1833 he removed the government funds from the Second Bank of the United States, eliminated the national debt, and in 1836 when the Bank's 20-year charter expired he did not renew it. Jackson told the international bankers in no uncertain terms: (quoting)

You are a den of vipers and thieves and I intend to rout you out, and by the Eternal God, I will rout you out. (end quoting)

And in a message to Congress, Jackson said: (quoting) The bold efforts that the present bank has made to control the government, the distress it has wantonly caused, are but premonitions of the fate which awaits the American people should they be deluded into a perpetuation of this institution or the establishment of another like it. (I)f the people only understood the rank injustice of our money and banking system there would be a revolution before morning. (end quoting)

An assassination attempt was made on President Jackson on January 30, 1835, by a man named Richard Lawrence (who do you think paid him to do it?). Lawrence had 2 pistols, both of which misfired (coincidence?). Lawrence was tried and found innocent by reason of insanity. He later boasted about his contact with international bankers who had supposedly promised to protect him if he were ever caught.

The international bankers were unable to establish another Central Bank in America, but did create chaos and confusion in our monetary system through the state-chartered banks.

When we continue, we will see how the international bankers planned the Civil War to divide the United States of America into 2 nations, and how Abraham Lincoln became our first American Dictator. to be continued...

ECSTASY TO AGONY THROUGH THE PLAN 2000

In the course of men's lives comes the opportunity to do that which is ungodly or that which epitomizes the intent of GOD. Through the ages of man's experience he has often been brilliant and often become as evil creatures of manufactured robotic actors on the stage called physical life in expression. As unbalance has occurred so has the very planet brought ending to civilizations--some at the hands of the very men who would have rule and kingdomship over all things physical--wistfully efforting to capture the very God-soul of each and all beings. The cycle has come full circle--the time is at hand and YOU must know that which has brought you down. Herein is presented "THE PLAN" for capture by the adversary of God--and that which could have saved your world--had you borne God-Truth as your shield. Where shall YOU go from here?

The News Desk

Editor's note: Change is a natural result of the choices we make at each moment in our lives. Change is thus an integral part of living life to the fullest. Our lives then grow in richness and wisdom from the measure of experience derived from this choice-change process.

With that in mind, CONTACT this week introduces a change in authorship of The News Desk from Phyllis Lynn to Dr. Al Overholt.

When Rick Martin finally got too busy to handle this job, Phyllis took it on and, for many months now, set an incredibly high standard of insight and wit and, again, choices in what has been shared with all of us through this column. However, once again the process of change and growth through choices is nudging Phyllis down a new path.

We wish her continued success and fulfillment and, in this same flurry of change, likewise welcome aboard Dr. Al Overholt to steer this most important column. Al brings to the party not only an innate, infectious enthusiasm, but also the trained eye of a "news hound"—one who never misses those little news gems tucked away in inconspicuous corners of the media's tricky presentations. Moreover, as an aside, some of you will know that Al carries much of the responsibility, through computer-aided processing, of turning Commander Hatonn's writings into what are compiled and published as the Phoenix Journals.

So, do keep your cards, letters, and news clippings coming our way, and know that The News Desk continues in good hands. — E.Y.

It would be appreciated very much if I had your prayers as I take on this assignment. Please pray that I hear, comprehend and follow guidance from our Heavenly Father and the Hosts of Heaven as I put together The News Desk.

I thank you in advance, knowing that many of you will answer my request in helping these words to be the ones that will do you the most good. — Al.

HAWAIIAN QUAKES COULD MEAN VOLCANIC ERUPTIONS

Excerpted from the Bakersfield CALIFORNIAN, 8/7/96, [quoting:]

A string of more than 4,200 earthquakes since July 16 off Hawaii may signal the latest in a series of undersea volcanic eruptions that could one day add a new island to the vacation paradise.

More immediately, Hawaii officials have feared the activity at the Loihi seamount, 3,200 feet under the Pacific surface, 20 miles south of the "big island" of Hawaii, could trigger a huge, sudden tidal wave that could inundate the nearby coastline with as little as 15 minutes' warning.

As of late Tuesday, the burst of ocean-floor movement—the most intense swarm of earthquakes in Hawaii's recorded history—seemed to be slowing. "We're down considerably from last week, but it's not over yet." Jennifer Nakata, a technician at the U.S. Geological Survey's volcano observatory near Hilo, said in a telephone interview. "There have been only a few earthquakes a day recently compared to a few hundred a day" in late July, Nakata said. More than 40 of the quakes have exceeded 4.0 on the Richter scale. [End quoting]

AMERICAN HISTORY

From THE MODESTO BEE of 7/19/96, [quoting:]

In the July 4 edition of The Bee an article was published, "A look at what really happened in 1776" (Viewpoints) by Pamela Warrick of the Los Angeles Times. A quote by John Adams was used. It stated "The second day of July will be the most memorable day in American history....celebrated by succeeding generations with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations."

By editing out a section with a dot, dot, dot, the spirit of the quote was lost. The complete quote was: "It will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires, and illuminations."

One exception to the above statement: I'm sure God would be pleased if guns were left out of the text.

TRADER STASH REPORTED

From THE MODESTO BEE, 7/21/96, [quoting:]

FRANKFURT, Germany—Nick Leeson, the financial trader who broke Barings investment bank and is imprisoned in Singapore, has more than $35 million stashed in German bank accounts, a newspaper said Saturday. The Bonn-based Welt am Sonntag said investigators were working with Interpol and the Barings family to track down the money. [End quoting]

CLINTONIAN MATH

From THE WASHINGTON TIMES of 7/21/96, [quoting:]

If this is the best economy in 30 years as the Clinton Administration states (with a rate of growth just over 2 percent)—and in 1992 then-Gov. Clinton was saying the economy (with a growth rate of 3.6 percent) was the worst in 30 years—that must mean that 2 percent is more than 3.6 percent.

This must be the logic that brings us the administration's statements (and the AFL-CIO's misleading ads) claiming that Republicans are cutting Medicare, when in fact the Republican plan is to increase Medicare over a seven-year period—from $4,800 to $7,100.

They would have you believe 2 percent is more than 3.6 percent and $7,100 is less than $4,800. It must be a new math.

And President Bush was ridiculed for his claims that the economy was growing, saying he was out of touch with reality.

What is wrong with our elected officials and judges? No matter how clear the Constitution or the voice of the people, they still find some pretext to circumvent them.

Take the Second Amendment. What part of "the right of the people" or "shall not infringe" can't they understand?

Our wonderful Sen. Dianne Feinstein asked during the debate on the Crime Bill, "Are we going to let the Constitution get in the way of doing what's right?" She doesn't care that if the Constitution says you can't, that means it's wrong! [End quoting]

NATIVE HAWAIIANS VOTE

From CHICAGO SUNTIMES NEWS, 7/29/96, [quoting:]

About 85,000 people of Hawaiian descent—living on the Hawaiian islands and elsewhere—are nearly halfway through a monthlong mail-in vote to elect delegates to a council to create a native government for Hawaii. The Hawaii Sovereignty Elections Council said the plebiscite is the first step in an effort to give indigenous Hawaiians more economic and political control. It will be some time before any new form of

LINE CAUSED BLACKOUT

From THE MODESTO BEE, 7/21/96, [quoting:]

Salt Lake City—A power failure that blackened the West, affecting 2 million people began with an Idaho transmission line that short-circuited when electricity jumped to a tree that had grown too close, officials said Saturday. The failure in that line, combined with record power demands in hot weather caused a ripple effect July 2 that cut power to 15 Western states and parts of Canada and Mexico, officials said. You know that "bad" tree got cut down pronto! Now we need a new array of absurd excuses for the blackout of Saturday 8/10/96. See Front Page story.

POLICE STORM OPPOSITION OFFICES IN INDONESIA; RIOTS BREAK OUT

From THE ORLANDO SENTINEL, 7/28/96, [quoting:]
JAKARTA, Indonesia—Police stormed the headquarters of Indonesia's pro-democracy forces Saturday in a pre-dawn raid that sparked the worst anti-government violence in three decades.

Thousands rampaged through Jakarta, the capital, after police raided an opposition party's offices to crack down on supporters of pro-democracy leader Megawati Sukarnoputri.

Protesters threw stones at police and burned cars. Fire gutted an Agriculture Department building.

President Suharto's autocratic grip on the country of 200 million people is fueling frustrations. He has rejected appeals for greater political freedom in Indonesia, where he has ruled for 30 years.

Though Suharto has presided over dramatic economic growth, many Indonesians remain extremely poor. Corruption is rampant, and resentment of the wealth of Suharto's children is widespread.

Sukarnoputri's popularity is a further challenge to this authority. The daughter of the late President Sukarno, who was deposed by Suharto in 1966, has little political experience but has the backing of many of her father's admirers. [End quoting]

CLINTON SET TO SIGN TAXPAYER BILL OF RIGHTS TODAY

From a FAX sent by L. Gersic & M. Backman, [quoting:]

WASHINGTON—July 30, 1996 UPI—President Clinton was poised to sign today the so-called Taxpayer Bill of Rights, which will allow taxpayers to have more rights in their battles with the Internal Revenue Service. Clinton is expected to sign the bill at 1:30 p.m. CDT.

Clinton invited several members of Congress to be on hand in the Roosevelt Room when he signs the legislation, designed to answer some of the perennial complaints of taxpayers.

Taxpayers currently have the burden of proving their innocence to the IRS, and the new law will bring the rules closer [really??] to those granted to individuals under the Constitution. [What's the matter with giving us all of our Constitutional rights as you promised us with your oath of office?]

Specifically, the Taxpayer Bill of Rights will allow taxpayers to enter into installment agreements with the agency if they encounter difficulty forwarding the full amount of tax owed to the agency for a calendar-year reporting period and provides for independent review of the installment agreement if a taxpayer requests one.

Under current law, the IRS may initiate installment plans with individuals, but the agency is allowed to opt out of those agreements at any time. It would now be required to give the taxpayer 30 days notice in writing.

In addition, the bill authorizes the IRS to waive interest penalties charged to delinquent taxpayers if the IRS has made a "ministerial" error, and it requires the IRS to revoke public notices of liens if the notice was filed in error.

Any property confiscated by the IRS under similar lien circumstances must also be returned, regardless of whether the taxpayer has met his or her full obligations.

The measure requires the agency to pay the legal costs of individuals who may have been wrongfully dragged to court for the resolution of a tax dispute, and allows individuals damaged by someone who may have filed a fraudulent tax return in their name to sue the filer. [End quoting]

WHEAT FUTURES PRICES DIP TO 11-MONTH LOW

Rumours persist that U.S. grain is infected. Wheat futures generally drop during harvest, which ends in August, but prices are falling very quickly because of rumours that vomitoxin has infected wheat from Ohio and Indiana.

Vomitoxin, which can cause animals to vomit if they ingest just a small amount, is not uncommon but it is believed to be severe this year because of the wet, overcast May. [End quoting]

Pardon me if I question a statement that says because there is going to be a shortage of wheat the future price of wheat is dropping. Have you ever heard the statement that the enemy takes everything and turns it upside down or 180°?

HIS MYSTERIOUS WAYS

Sophomore year of high school wasn't easy. One night I got into bed worrying about the next day's work. "Prepare me for tomorrow," I prayed.

But I couldn't sleep. I tossed and turned under the covers, and finally snapped the lamp back on. I thumbed through an old yearbook, then picked up a magazine. Still restless, I reached for something else and found the emergency medical manual for a course I had taken two years earlier. Boring, I thought. If anything can put me to sleep, this will. I had forgotten the fine points, but one emergency procedure in particular came back to me as I read. At the end, I let the manual thump to the floor and I fell sound asleep.

In the hallway at school the next morning, I yawned as I glanced into the biology classroom. The teacher was sprawled on the floor. "Mr. Heuschkel?" I asked, going in. His face was almost purple. I dropped down and put my ear to his face. He wasn't breathing. "Call 911!" I yelled. The instructions for CPR were fresh in my mind. I gave him a breath and checked again. Nothing. I couldn't find a pulse either. I repeated the steps, working alone until the chemistry teacher rushed in and took over cardiac compression while I continued mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. By the time paramedics took Mr. Heuschkel to the hospital, his pulse was back Roger Samuels, owner of a Connecticut printing business, was driving home from work one evening in the fall of 1988. He flicked on the radio and learned about Moms In Touch, a group of mothers who pray on behalf of their children and schools. Roger immediately wanted to do something to help them. The next day he offered to print a newsletter for the Poway, Calif. organization—at no charge.

At the time, there were only about 200 women on the mailing list, but with each newsletter their numbers grew. Today Roger prints more than 20,000 copies for Moms In Touch, still at no charge.

And there's been an unexpected result. "We haven't advertised, we haven't changed our prices, we haven't offered new products", he says. "There is no earthly reason our business increased twenty percent last year." —From the Moms In Touch newsletter. [End quoting]

Eustace Mullins:

Twilight Of The FBI?

The Clinton Connection

8/1/96 EUSTACE MULLINS

For more than forty years, I have been a lone voice calling for the abolition of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. I have never ceased to oppose the criminal activities of this Federal agency, which for almost ninety years has committed atrocities against the people of America. When the sinister Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith ordered the FBI to massacre the Weaver family in Idaho, as a crucial part of its plan to exterminate all American patriots, I believed that at last the FBI had gone too far. I was wrong.

When the ADL then ordered the FBI to exterminate the congregation of a Christian church in Waco, Texas, the famed Waco Holocaust, again I was certain that they had gone too far. However, neither the Ruby Ridge Massacre nor the Waco Holocaust caused any reaction throughout the United States. Most Christian ministers cheered the burning alive of babies in the Waco church as a fitting end for anyone who had been designated a victim by the ADL.

CLOSING THE DOOR ON THE FBI

Certainly I could not have predicted that President Bill Clinton, with his gift for destruction, would prove to be the instrument of dismantling the FBI. Clinton's reckless misuse of FBI files in the White House seems certain to ensure the end of the FBI, even if it does not bring down Clinton himself. Although Filegate is still the sword of Damocles hanging over Clinton's head at the White House, it is even more certain that it is the weapon which will write the finish to the long and sordid history of the FBI. Why is this? For the first time, the American people realize that there is something wrong with a federal agency which diligently compiles dirt on millions of innocent, law-abiding citizens, and then uses that ill-gotten information as the ultimate weapon of government tyranny. J. Edgar Hoover's masterful campaign of deceit successfully persuaded the American people that the FBI stood as their bastion against the forces of crime and Communism. That charade was interred with the corpse of J. Edgar Hoover. We now know that each year, J. Edgar Hoover, the fabled Director of the FBI, held an annual press conference at which he denied that there was a Mafia, a Cosa Nostra, or an organized crime problem in the United States. We also know that, despite his vaunted stand against Communism, he catered to the desires of a succession of pro-Communist, left-wing presidents who depended on Communist votes, from Roosevelt to Lyndon B. Johnson.

THE LATEST REVELATION

On July 14, 1996, the Washington Post, the organ of the Establishment, headlined: "Giving White House Counsel FBI Files Is Illegal, Expert Says". Carrying the byline of George Lardner Jr., Lardner tells us that "The FBI has been violating the law, at least technically, for more than 20 years in providing the White House with sensitive background reports on the people who work there, according to an expert on the Privacy Act."

Lardner ignores the fact that the FBI files requisitioned by the White House were on Republicans who were ex-employees of the White House, not "people who worked there—" present tense. More than one thousand files of Republican opponents were illegally obtained by the White House, and illegally released by the FBI. Washington's leading expert on privacy law, the prominent Washington lawyer Robert Gellman, told Lardner that "the FBI is entitled to share the information only with a bona fide federal 'agency'."

And under the law, the White House counsel's office is not an 'agency', as Gellman points out. In response to Gellman, FBI General Counsel Howard M. Shapiro, told the Post: "There is no question that Gellman is right in that the definition of 'agency' in the Privacy Act has been interpreted by the courts not to apply to units of the White House that are involved in just advising the President, and, specifically, the White House counsel's office." However, Shapiro claimed that the requisition of the FBI files by the White House is "routine use", a response which Gellman said was ridiculous but not surprising. Lardner tells us that Gellman spent 17 years dealing with the Privacy Act as a lawyer and staff director for the House government information subcommittee. He is now Washington's leading consultant on privacy issues.

THE DAM IS ABOUT TO BREAK

Gellman's revelation means that the dam is about to break. Soon we will see indictments of White House officials and FBI officials for illegal use of FBI files. Remember, President Nixon's staff advisor, Charles Colson, was indicted, convicted and sent to federal prison for illegal use of one FBI file. What will be the sentence for illegal use of one thousand FBI files? There will also be lawsuits alleging violations of the Privacy Act of 1974 by Republican officials whose files were illegally requisitioned by the White House for political purposes. When these lawsuits make national news, the role of the FBI will come under re-examination. The American people will realize that FBI files were not gathered on criminals and Communists, but on innocent, law-abiding American citizens for purposes of terrorism. I have never been arrested or indicted for any offense, yet the FBI gathered some eight hundred pages on my personal activities and writings over forty-three years. I was only one victim of Hoover's vicious COINTELPRO program, which had been set up by the ADL to exterminate American individuals who professed a love for God and country. By repeatedly having me fired from well-paying jobs, the ADL/FBI conspiracy intended to drive me to suicide. It was nothing less than a murder campaign. Now my fellow Americans will understand that I was only one of millions of decent Americans victimized by this vicious terrorist campaign, and they will demand an end to it. Within the year, the FBI will cease to exist. Its collapse will pave the way to dismantle other illegal agencies which function only for the program of the State of Israel; the Internal Revenue Service, also known as the Israeli Revenue Service, which annually collects from American workers funds to pay 96% of the entire national budget of the State of Israel since 1948; the State Department, which is the Foreign Ministry of the State of Israel; the Central Intelligence Agency, which functions as a subsidiary of the world wide Israeli terrorists operating as Mossad, or Israeli Intelligence; and many, many others.

The abolition of these terrorist networks robbing the American people will not come from the Israel Democrats or the Israel Republican parties, but from the American people as a mass uprising. We have the example of the Berlin Wall, blessed by President Kennedy and all succeeding American presidents as a proper tool of tyranny against the people of Germany, which was torn down, brick by brick, by the outraged German people themselves. Look not to Government; look to God for the will to free yourselves.

CLINTON'S FOLLY

How did President Bill Clinton get himself into such a mess? As an astute politician, he was merely following the road of former Democratic presidents: Roosevelt, Truman, Kennedy, Johnson and Carter. After decades in power in the Byzantine bureaucracy of Washington, J. Edgar Hoover found that not only was he hated and feared by everyone during the Franklin D. Roosevelt regime, but also that his post was a prime piece of patronage which a sitting president might well wish to award to his cronies. Hoover grimly determined to survive, by catering to the basest whims of the Democratic presidents. He fed them titillating items, complete with photos of the sexual peccadilloes of their friends as well as their enemies. He also furnished them with incriminating financial information about bribes, illegal deals and other crooked maneuvers of political rivals, which allowed these presidents to dispose of them by sending them to prison.

The aging mulatto eunuch, J. Edgar Hoover, knew that he was merely buying time. He was now committed for the remainder of his career to be a fawning toady of the Democratic regimes. Denounced by former Public Enemy Number One, Alvin Karpis, in his autobiography, as "that nigger fairy", Hoover's predilections were now the gossip of everyone who frequented the National Press Club. The nation's most prominent journalists could not mention Hoover's name, often in my presence, without a snicker. Nevertheless, they still would not print one word exposing the "Nation's Number One Policeman", a term which he had invented for himself as part of his ongoing public relations campaign.

The practice of furnishing the White House with FBI tidbits about our nation's political leaders had become so well entrenched that by the time Clinton came to Washington, it was accepted by everyone. For Lyndon B. Johnson's titillation, Hoover had begun a nightly routine of calling Johnson for "bedtime sex", in which he recited explicit sexual descriptions of his closest Washington associates. LBJ loved it. He indignantly dismissed frequent suggestions that it was time for Hoover to go.

FROM WATERGATE TO FILEGATE

Clinton had been in the White House only a few days before he was informed that the FBI would continue that time-honored practice of furnishing their files to him for his political operations. Like a child in a candy store, Clinton went berserk, and ordered one thousand political files. His loyal toadies at the J. Edgar Hoover Building gulped, knowing that each of the one thousand requests was absolutely illegal. Someone at the Bureau, perhaps Director Freeh himself, suggested that the requests not be signed, but that they bear only a typewritten signature. This would provide cover for the White House end, but it left the FBI totally exposed, participating knowingly in a criminal operation. No one at the FBI sensed any danger in this, because they had been committing crimes against American citizens for many years, with impunity. FBI employees who could shoot a little boy in the back at Ruby Ridge and burn babies alive in the Waco Holocaust, would not see the slightest danger in forwarding their files to the White House.

HISTORY OF THE FBI

Americans may well wonder how the FBI has been allowed to commit crimes against Americans for almost ninety years. The fact is that they led a very circumspect existence until the 1950s, when Hoover's mind began to go. By 1960, he was considered hopelessly insane by those in the know in Washington. His heir apparent, William Sullivan, believed that Hoover would retire, as he had promised, and that Sullivan would move into the coveted Director's office.

On June 22, 1870, Congress created the "Department of Justice", providing for a national attorney general. In 1908, in answer to inaudible demands from the American people for a team of "national investigators". The Sundry Appropriations Bill for 1909 provided funding for a "Bureau of Investigation". The force behind this demand was a small group of Masonic Canaanites, who had become enormously wealthy through criminal combinations since the Civil War, and who now wished to protect their ill-gotten gains by government tyranny against all possible competitors to prevent future competition. It has worked admirably ever since. Potential competitors to the monopolists are arrested, fined and closed down.

Attorney General Joseph Bonaparte himself had testified against this funding at hearings on April 2, 1908. He warned that there was a strong possibility that "agents provocateurs" would develop in the proposed Bureau of Investigation. This prediction required no great prescience on the part of Bonaparte. It was inevitable that any national police force, such as the French Surete, the Gestapo and the KGB, must degenerate into a choir of self-seeking paid provocateurs and informants.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST THE PEOPLE

Despite Attorney General Bonaparte's warnings, congress approved the funding of a "Bureau of Investigation". The conspirators ensured their plan by putting one of their own in charge. Wall Street lawyer George Wickersham, of the firm of Wickersham and Taft, became Attorney General, and supervised the expansion of the new bureau. Congressman Walter J. Smith of Iowa had strongly opposed this bureau. He declared, "No general system of spying upon and espionage of the people, such as has prevailed in Russia, in France under the Empire, and at one time in Ireland, should be allowed to grow up".

President Theodore Roosevelt, always a fervent believer in "big government", and a former police commissioner of New York, threw his support behind the Bureau of Investigation. He declared that detectives who had sworn to uphold the law would never violate it. Today's collection of conspirators, child murderers, and paid provocateurs at the FBI gives the lie to Roosevelt's confident prediction.

Congressman Shirley had also expressed his fear of the new organization, declaring at the hearings, "In my reading of history I recall no instance where a government perished because of the absence of a secret service force, but many there are that perished as a result of the spy system. If Anglo-Saxon civilization stands for anything, it is for a government where the humblest citizen is safeguarded against the secret activities of the execution of government....Not in vain did our forefathers read the history of the Magna Carta and the Bill of Rights....The Fourth Amendment declares: 'The right of the people to be secure in their persons, homes, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated.'"

Loyal Congressmen had sought to prevent the establishment of the Bureau of Investigation by passing a bill on May 30, 1908 forbidding the Department of Justice from borrowing detectives from the Secret Service or from any other government agencies. The Department of Justice then covertly set up the Bureau of Investigation to circumvent this law. Thus the FBI, from its very inception, was marked with deceit and treachery. As for the Fourth Amendment guaranteeing the people to be secure in their persons, papers, homes

Vortex Kit

WATER—THE MOST AMAZING SUBSTANCE ON EARTH

Water is alive. The discovery made by Henry Coanda in the 1920s showed that water flowing over any surface tends to cling to that surface. As the rivers flow, the water clings to rocks and soil picking up the minerals on its way down. As the water picks up speed and goes around and over rocks spinning in different directions, millions of vortices are formed. The swirling vortices produce electricity which has been measured in lab tests and reveals that this motion colloidalized the minerals making them easily absorbable by the body.

Patrick Flanagan carried on the research only to discover that these vortices can be duplicated by stirring or agitating the water. Dealing with a 4" diameter vortex, Flannigan lowered a thin, specially shielded wire electrode into the center of its vortical throat, being careful not to allow the wire to touch the water. By means of another electrode touching the water, he was able to record a charge of more than ten thousand volts emitted from its swirling water when the vortex was moving at approximately one thousand revolutions per minute. By drinking this water, it is said that the body's cells gain a charge that can prevent them from clumping and aging quickly.

New Gaia offers a way to duplicate this vortex in your own home with the use of a simple inexpensive process. The kit they present contains two bottles, the vortex coupling with magnets and the simple instructions on how to create the vortex. The Rare Earth minerals offered by New Gaia in capsule form [see box on p. 13], would be a potent addition to break open and put into the water before the vortex procedure. The electrical energy created by the vortex action will thus colloidalize the minerals making them easy to assimilate. The colloidal minerals and electrically charged water potential make even the most common of waters alive with youth-offering properties. Order the Vortex Kit from New Gaia for $8.

and effects, the Constitution further guaranteed against a secret police, feared by our Founding Fathers, by writing into the Constitution, Article One Section Eight, "Congress shall have Power... to provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States." This language is quite clear. It means that Congress can only provide for the entity United States. It has no power to enact laws controlling the individual citizens, who are citizens of the several states. This reveals the intent of the Founding Fathers, that a central or federal government should not tyrannize its citizens as the European tyrants had tyrannized the future colonists of America. Furthermore, no federal agent had or has any jurisdiction over a citizen, this jurisdiction being reserved to the states. Nor can any federal agent set foot in any state without the express invitation of the legislature, or in times of armed insurrection.

Then how are the covens of the FBI agents fanning out over all of the states, shooting and burning children? Not by the Constitution, certainly, but by lex talionis, the ancient law of tooth and claw, by brute force and by brute force alone. Thus they can only be opposed by brute force, since there is not even any Constitutional issue to be argued. One legal pretext is by unstated claim of martial law; we have been under martial law since the declaration of war in the First World War. There has been no peace treaty signed after World War II, for the sole intent of continuing martial law's brutal reign in the United States.

A DEMURE YOUTH

John Edgar Hoover, who built a small government agency into a national power, was himself a small student at his Washington, D.C. high school. He was the smallest boy in his class, weighing a mere 119 pounds. His classmates later described him with such adjectives as "demure" and "petite", words not usually used to describe a boy. They also mentioned that he was never known to date a girl, but that he had formed a close friendship with the burly captain of the high school football team, who carried his books home for him each afternoon. None of his classmates ventured to comment on this relationship, either then or later.

While working at the Library of Congress, young Hoover studied law at night, and continued to reside with his parents. He also developed an active social life, which remained secret from his parents. He had learned the secret of making powerful friends in Washington. This demure and petite youth had attracted the attention of several prominent politicians who later proved to be very useful in promoting his career. One of these strange alliances was with the politician Harlan Fiske Stone. As soon as Hoover attained his law degree, Stone found a position for him at the Bureau of Investigation which at that time employed only eight investigators.

One of young Hoover's first important assignments was to attack the home of Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh. The team had been ordered to seize and destroy all the copies of Lindbergh's book, Your Country at War, which exposed the bankers' plot to involve us in the First World War. When young Charles Jr. rushed out to defend his father, Hoover kicked him in his stomach. It was the future aviator's first experience with big government. Congressman Lindbergh had been marked for destruction because he had led the recent fight in Congress to stop the passage of the Federal Reserve Act, which he correctly predicted would establish the greatest trust in history.

THE MYTH OF HOOVER'S ANTI-COMMUNISM

William J. Burns was Chief of the Bureau of Investigation. It was he who had averted a possible Communist coup in Washington. His reward was to be called in by his superior, Harlan Fiske Stone, who fired him and replaced him with someone whose views were closer to his own, his friend and protégé J. Edgar Hoover. Burns immediately sought help from friends on Capitol Hill, complaining to them that young Hoover had gotten his job "by the back door". Hoover was not averse to the liberal sympathies of Harlan Fiske Stone, and the Bureau's anti-Communist operations came to a sudden halt. The American Civil Liberties Union would have no further cause to complain. The Bureau's voluminous files on Communist subversion were packed away, never to be seen again. Priceless documentation on such Communist agitators as Felix Frankfurter, then at Harvard University, were quietly disposed of. To make certain that there would be no further "anti-Communist" campaigns, the Harding Administration was wiped out by a massive counterattack, the Teapot Dome operation, which is too lengthy a story to be detailed here.

A FRIEND AT THE BUREAU

During his first four years as head of the Bureau of Investigation, J. Edgar Hoover had an inseparable companion, T. Frank Baughman, whom Hoover had placed in charge of the headquarters staff, and second highest paid man at the bureau. Baughman committed the unpardonable offense of getting married, and Hoover acquired a new companion, who would remain with him the rest of his life. Clyde Tolson, five years younger than Hoover, was also a single, handsome young man about Washington, who had no interest in the opposite sex, but who had never lacked for powerful friends. He had been the private secretary for the Secretary of War, Newton Baker, and often worked late at night for his demanding employer. Baker had retired from Washington, his political career ended and Tolson was available when Hoover had been disappointed by his second in command. Tolson came to the Bureau of Investigation as J. Edgar Hoover's personal confidant, the same role he had filled with Baker. Soon he was the new Number Two Man at the Bureau, a position he held until Hoover's death.

Another Hoover protégé at the Bureau was Louis Nichols, who not only got married, with Hoover's blessing, but who produced a son whom he named after his boss. Nichols also set up the J. Edgar Hoover Foundation, whose financing and expenditures remain murky. He found a number of prominent Jewish millionaires who advanced millions of dollars for the foundation.

One tycoon was Louis Marx, founder of the Marx Toy Co., whose son-in-law, Daniel Ellsberg, stole the Pentagon Papers and turned them over to the New York Times. Another benefactor was Lou Rosenstiel, head of Schenley Liquor Company. Nichols then left the FBI to become public relations director for the liquor tycoons. These were the heirs of the old Reinfeld Syndicate, described by Henry Messick, on p. 197, Secret File: "Reinfeld had headed the Reinfeld Syndicate in the great days of the Big Seven, in partnership with the Bronfman brothers in Canada and Longie Zwillman, 'the Al Capone of New Jersey'. Much of the liquor brought to Rum Row off the East Coast was transported there by the Reinfeld Syndicate." On p. 277, Messick writes: "The Reinfeld Syndicate was divided into two parts; the Canadian end was headed by the four Bronfman brothers, Samuel, Abraham, Harry and Allen. They began as owners of a small hotel and ended as the richest men in Canada and head of Distillers-Seagram. It was the Bronfmans' duty to buy Canadian booze and ship it around the East Coast to the Rum Rows of Boston and New York."

These gangsters also provided much of the financial support for the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, which exerted pressure to keep journalists from commenting that the rum-runners operated as a Jewish syndicate.

BREAD CAST UPON THE WATERS

Rosenstiel and the Bronfmans were richly rewarded for their donations to the J. Edgar Hoover Foundation, when its director, Louis Nichols, as the now-powerful Washington lobbyist for their liquor interests, pushed through bills which saved them many millions of dollars. In 1958, Nichols lobbied an excise tax bill through Congress which saved Schenley $50 million in taxes. He sponsored the Forand Bill, which extended the storage period for whiskey from eight-to-twenty years. As soon as this bill was passed, Schenley's stock increased 67% in value, giving Lou Rosenstiel a windfall of $30 million in a single day! Nichols was well paid for his efforts; he acquired large estates in Virginia and New Jersey.

Lewis (Lou) Rosenstiel and J. Edgar Hoover became close friends. Schenley's firm was believed to represent Mafia investments in liquor production, principally for his closest associate, Meyer Lansky, known as the banker for the mob. Rosenstiel gave $100 million to Brandeis University and other pet charities. He contributed millions to the J. Edgar Hoover Foundation and bought 25,000 copies of Hoover's book, Masters Of Deceit, distributing them to schools throughout the country. At one social occasion Rosenstiel's wife Susan described J. Edgar Hoover appearing at their Plaza suite in a fluffy black dress. He was introduced to her by Roy Cohn as "Mary". A year later Susan Rosenstiel again encountered Hoover at their Plaza suite, wearing a red dress with a black feather boa around his neck. (Anthony Summers, The Secret Life Of J. Edgar Hoover.)

As Director of the FBI, J. Edgar Hoover developed close connections with the Mafia. At the famed Stork Club in Manhattan, a special table was reserved for him where he could sit with Sherman Billingsley, the owner, Walter Winchell, and Frank Costello who was then the boss of the New York Syndicate. In Miami, J. Edgar Hoover and Tolson were special guests each winter season at the headquarters of the mob, the Roney Plaza Hotel. Here the Mafia dons could gather in absolute safety. The Roney Plaza was the showplace of the Schine Hotel chain. I met longtime residents of the Middletown New York area who remembered when J. Meyer Schine was an itinerant peddler, peddling household supplies to farmers wives from a pack which he carried on his back. When New York's Murder Inc., needed a quiet place in the country to torture and kill their victims without interference, they bought a hotel and asked J. Meyer Schine to run it for them. Soon he became president of a nationwide chain of lavish hotels and theaters. When Robert F. Kennedy was assassinated, it was in the Ambassador Hotel, a Schine hotel, which even Kennedy's biographer, Arthur J. Schlesinger found somewhat curious.

It was at the Roney Plaza Hotel that Meyer Lansky claimed he had had Hoover and Tolson photographed together with a hidden overhead camera. He boasted that he now owned Hoover. Soon afterwards, Hoover began his annual press conferences at which he denied that there was a Mafia, or a crime syndicate, operating in the United States.

THE "HOMINTERN"

After the Second World War, occasional charges were made in Washington that there was a "Homintern": an international homosexual and pro-Communist network of officials in Washington and in other national capitals. After swimming nude each day with President Lyndon Johnson in the White House pool, his intimate assistant, Walter Jenkins, whom Johnson had brought with him from Texas, would wander off to the YMCA down the street while ribald White House guards made comments about his going to "have lunch at the Y." He was arrested there in January 1959, but the officers had no idea who he was. A second arrest October 7, 1964 exposed his White House connection. He was rushed to a hospital, allegedly suffering from "fatigue". J. Edgar Hoover sent him flowers, and dispatched a horde of FBI agents into the Washington streets to counteract the ensuing publicity.

ALL BASES ARE COVERED

From the onset of his Washington career, J. Edgar Hoover seemed to know instinctively how to get ahead. After obtaining his office through the patronage of men like Harlan Fiske Stone, Hoover cemented his position with diplomatic alliances with the Mafia, New York's wealthiest Jews, and the Masons. On November 9, 1920, Hoover was raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason in Federal Lodge Number 1. In April, 1921, he obtained the various degrees of Royal Arch Mason. When Clyde Tolson became his consort in 1928, his first requirement was that Tolson join the Masons. Hoover's only business connection in his career was that for many years he served as a director of the official Masonic insurance company, Acacia Mutual Life Insurance. Hoover also joined the University Club, the National Geographic Society, and became a reserve officer of the Army's Military Intelligence Division.

THE RAVAGES OF AGE

Although J. Edgar Hoover lived out his remaining years as the most powerful individual in Washington, the only American who had his own private army, subject only to his whims, the strain of living his double life, the least kept secret in Washington, and the knowledge that each day the number of his enemies increased, now took his toll. His heir apparent at the Bureau, William Sullivan, had been promised for eight consecutive years that Hoover would retire, relinquishing the Bureau to his successor. Sullivan finally asked him to announce a date for retirement. The next morning, Sullivan arrived at FBI headquarters to find that the locks had been changed on his door, his parking place and secretary were gone. He was never allowed to enter the FBI building again.

In a revealing book, The Bureau, which had a very brief sale, Sullivan records on p. 248 a conversation with then Attorney General William Kleindienst. While Sullivan was in his office, Kleindienst received a call from Hoover. "Kleindienst held the receiver away from his ear, looked at me and pointed to his head with his finger." Kleindienst told Sullivan that Hoover had been out of his mind for at least three years. Sullivan agreed that he was out of touch with reality.

Kleindienst responded, "That's the legal definition of insanity." Another prominent FBI agent, Arthur Murtagh, stated in an interview on national television, "Those of us who were in touch with J. Edgar Hoover concluded that during the last three years of his life he was insane."

Insanity, like degeneracy, is an accepted fact of life in Washington. No politician dared complain that the nation's security was in the hands of a madman. Sullivan himself, forcibly retired, was shot and killed in a mysterious hunting accident, silencing him forever.

THE LAST BLACKMAIL

J. Edgar Hoover, at the height of the Watergate imbroglio, learned that the money for the historic break-in at Democratic National Headquarters had come from Dwayne Andreas and was laundered through Mexico. Andreas had been the principal financial backer of Nixon's rival, Humphrey. It was interesting that he provided the funds which led to Nixon's downfall, and the repudiation of Nixon's re-election. Hoover's findings were promptly relayed to the conspirators. That evening as he entered his bulletproof limousine, he was quickly strangled. The body was taken to his home where he was dumped in his bedroom. It was discovered at 8:30 a.m. on May 2, 1972, by his longtime maid Annie Fields. An era had ended.

HOOVER'S LEGACY

Despite his untimely removal, Hoover left intact that vast espionage and terror network of the ADL-Mafia. It continued to be used. Faithful to his consort to the last, Hoover cut all of his relatives out of his will leaving everything to Clyde Tolson, with bequests to a few of his flunkies at the FBI. He was succeeded by a covey of clowns, the latest being Clinton appointee Louis Freeh. The FBI staggered from one outrage to another, insisting upon carrying out the requirement of the ancient Cult of Baal, that small children should be ritually sacrificed to appease their demonic gods. This is the real story behind the atrocities at Ruby Ridge and the Waco Holocaust. Of course none of the well paid Washington journalists has ever explained it to the public. Although Clinton and his protégé Freeh, inherited the best of the FBI, its enormous political power, they also inherited the worst, Hoover's well known insanity. Today, as in Hoover's heyday, the FBI is an agency gone berserk, run by madmen to promote the diabolic program of other madmen.

LEGAL SUMMATION

We have presented this evidence about the criminal acts committed by the President of the United States and his loyal henchmen at the FBI. These documented details of crime and misrule do not mean that these events are in themselves earthshaking or of permanent importance, but that this is a time of judgment. You are placed on notice that you are to judge. From what I have presented to you, you must judge. What is your role as an American? These events require that you make a statement, that you tell us who you are and what you believe in. Are you an American whose passion is for justice, whose only love is for liberty and whose dedication is to life? Or, are you one of those others? One of the Unbidden Ones, who have come upon us with their vileness to poison and destroy us? It is no longer possible to go both ways, to be of more than one kind or to evade our loyalty to our land. Think on these things, and render your answer, not to us but to yourself.

Serapis Bey: The Ultimate 3-D Virtual Reality Game

Editor's note: The following writing is by balance bar. I encompass all of the Aspects of the Ascended Master known as Serapis Bey, of Creator and I coordinate and direct, in a the Fourth Ray or Aspect of Creator's balancing capacity, the natural flow of spectrum, among the seven great "Rainbow Creator's energies. Masters" communicating at this time to help us get through Earth-Shan's planetary transition and rebalancing.

In Journal #7, called THE RAINBOW MASTERS, Serapis Bey humorously reveals: "I am often referred to as the Commander Hatonn of the Seven Rays! I represent the disciplinarian, taskmaster, lion — 'shout loudly and push around a big stick'... I shall always give thee directness — 'bottom line' thee calls it. I shall effort at relieving thee of the 'mush' of thy self indulgence... I am often referred to as the lion — not so much from ferocious terror that I bring forth, but I suspect 'tis more that I 'growl' a lot. At any rate, I chose (and choose yet) the direct path. Purity reflects the crystal light — direct fragment of Father-Mother Source." WHAT IS REAL AND WHAT IS NOT

I am Serapis Bey. Greetings, my brother. You know me. I am around you quite frequently these past few years. I come within the Light of the Totality of Light.

I represent the Fourth Aspect of Creator's spectrum. I represent purity and balance. The Fourth Aspect is balanced by three on each side, thus making up the seven. Picture me as the stabilizing fulcrum at the center of the

Your perceived reality is based upon and limited to your current experience in the physical dimension. Part of the conditions that you ones agree to PRIOR to going down there is that you must enter the game or play without conscious memories of your past experiences.

This is for a reason: This makes the experience of illusion more real. IT IS THE ULTIMATE 3-D VIRTUAL REALITY GAME that your computer programmers envision but cannot quite reproduce in your physical domain.

agree to PRIOR to going down there is that you must enter the game or play without conscious memories of your past experiences.

This is for a reason: This makes the experience of illusion more real. IT IS THE ULTIMATE 3-D VIRTUAL REALITY GAME that your computer programmers envision but cannot quite reproduce in your physical domain.

The relative reality you ones experience is but a reflection of mirrors. The reflection is of holographic nature, and two or more holograms interacting within a holographic environment (universe) have similar rules by which to operate—thus similar realities.

But—are these realities really real?

Relatively speaking, they are real to the ones experiencing them. Especially when ones have not awakened enough to realize that there has to be something greater—a Source or Creator.

Once ones realize that they are a soul operating a body, and that there is a direct connection to this Higher Source, then and only then can they realize that there must be more to the experience than just existing.

This is when you ones start asking the questions: "What is really real?" and "Why am I here?" and "What is my purpose?". Only a souled being will have this inner curiosity that drives them to seek out the answers to these questions.

Know, please, that this is not an easy path. The adversary does not want you to wake up, and will try his hardest to keep you ones doubting what your heart knows to be true.

This is the reason for all the inner confusion you ones feel. As the final scenes of this current play unfold, chaos shall increase exponentially, and only those who are well grounded in the Higher Reality of Creator shall be able to function without the emotional trauma of the impacting "reality" of change.

The reason for experiencing down there in that compressed existence is so that you, as an individual fragment of Creator, may more closely examine and unfold your inner purpose, that is, your unique Aspect of Creator's thought. The experience allows you to focus on personal growth within the whole. You have an opportunity to fine-tune certain aspects of your being, and thus learn lessons that would otherwise only be a conjecture of thoughts and theories.

There are many reasons ones choose to enter the third-dimensional experience. You can be assured they are all growth-related. Ones expand their awareness or the awareness of others.

Many enter the "game" as young souls and get trapped in the experience, and must continue, lifetime after lifetime, to play out their karmic debts until they grow to the point that they consciously realize (remember) the greater reality.

Ones are always sent as Guides and Wayshowers so that those souls who are ready can have the clues they need in order to see the Higher True Reality.

GAMES

Ones are often offended by the term "game". Life in the third-dimensional expression is often referred to as a game of strategy, such as chess.

And rightfully so. When you can take a larger viewpoint, the experience is very much a game.

For example, ones may argue: "Well, life is serious and this is not a game! What about all the people being murdered and children being abused?"

Do you ones not have video games that your children play which show animated characters being blown up and, in a sense, killed?

And you say: "Well, that's different. Those are just games and are not real!"

Oh?!

You ones must realize that what you are experiencing down there is very much like a video game. Your soul-you is the only REAL part of the game.

Your soul-you is what registers the emotional trauma and frustrations—AND THOSE FEELINGS ARE REAL! Your heart area on the body may very well ache when you experience these things, but in reality it is the soul that feels the pain.

You ones must realize, please, that when dark ones blow airplanes full of people out of the sky, they are playing their own war games. Realize also that the darkened ones consider YOU as pawns, thus very dispensable.

These dark ones do not have any trouble viewing life as a game, for they cannot feel what you ones feel. They do not care about how their actions impact others. They can only see their own ego desires and will do whatever they can to fulfill these self-centered desires.

Wake up and realize that YOU are a valid player in this game, for in as much as you wake up and take your active role in this play, you will wake up others—and thus do your part to awaken the masses.

The adversary knows that his only hope is to keep the masses asleep long enough to enslave them to a point where they cannot change anything. In REALITY, the only thing he is doing, at best, is buying the illusion of a little more time—for he knows that he has lost and that God and God's people will win.

So, when you ask: "What is really real?" know that the soul-you is REAL, for it is the expression of Creator's thinking and thus is Creator Himself. The God-force within is that which draws you to these messages of Lighted Truth.

So, when you ask: "What is really real?" know that the soul-you is REAL, for it is the expression of Creator's thinking and thus is Creator Himself. The God-force within is that which draws you to these messages of Lighted Truth.

We of the Hosts (and this includes Ground Crew) come to wake up our sleeping brothers so that they may grow—and thus we all shall grow.

The true value of the efforts that make all of this worthwhile is only recognized when the individual fragment returns home with the gifts of experienced knowledge, within the Oneness of Creator.

This is one way Creator chooses to expand in subtle but infinite ways. Expansion of the whole is the TRUE value of the experience.

There is nothing of physical matter that has any true lasting value. It is an illusion that will, in time, disappear—only to cycle around again later with different players.

And the old players will then be the Guides and Wayshowers for the newer players and slow learners. This is the upward spiral of Infinity, the spiral of growth that fulfills the heart of the soul.

Be at peace. And may you create that which fulfills the inner desire of the heart within the Light of Creator and Creation.

I am Serapis Bey, Teacher and Wayshower. In the Light of the Infinite Source, blessings to you all.

Acquiring the Lord's attitude requires listening to His inner voice.

Power Failures & Flu Bugs

AND PURIFICATION SUPPLIES AT READY? ARE YOU READY TO BE WITHOUT POWER (ELECTRIC) FOR DAYS ON END AND PERHAPS EVEN FOR MONTHS, YEARS—FOREVER?

We put out the suggestions about the possibility of getting a generator and a supply of fuel if you possibly can do so, and I got back "Yeah, sure!—as if we have a place to store that in an apartment!" Well, readers, EVERYONE is not in an apartment and they want information ALSO. Try being kind! YOU are NOT "everyone".

Yesterday the power went down all the way across the Western states—for no reason. [Editor's note: The electrical power interconnection grid was reported to have collapsed for 3 hours, between about 3:45 PM and 6:45 PM West Coast time on Saturday 8/10/96 in 7 Western states (Oregon, Idaho, California, Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada and Texas) plus parts of Canada and Mexico. The official excuses offered so far for the collapse varied from state to state and ranged from the ridiculous to the truly laughable.] In one place in Kansas there were five inches of rain from a summer thunderstorm in one afternoon—yesterday. In China the water devastation is massive with what are now called 500-year rains—and it's still raining! It is happening ALL OVER THE GLOBE.

The power shut-down had all the same qualities as the one which happened earlier in the past few weeks—A FULL SURGE of power, then DEAD. The difference yesterday is that the power was off for several hours—during weekend shopping & errands and everything was shut down: gas pumping capability, restaurants who cook on gas couldn't because of smoke and heat and no blowers; traffic lights were out; electric signs were OFF; computers and registers were shut off in grocery markets and the markets had to close—the list goes on and on as to what happens when your power grids go DOWN. In Tehachapi, for instance, which is the "wind capital" of the States, the windmill turbines were churning away less than 5 miles from town without a single kilowatt being pumped into the town for electricity. YOU ARE NOT READY!

IT'S IN THE WATER

Next, what about the water supply? Reports of flu are BACK. The first reports of strange illness are cropping up here and there as "Atlantian" visitors are returning from their gladiator show-and-tell. The first few days of illness are accounted to fatigue and "let-down" from the end of the games. No, the people are experiencing the first pass of the viral-bacteria cross which is fairly easily treated. It is so easily treated, in fact, that the people don't even bother to finish their course of miracle cures. This, in turn, simply causes resistance in the organisms and they MUTE.

I do not ever mean to infer that all people are still sleeping and I do realize that a confirmation surely helps the attention span—but how bad does it have to be to get that attention? If it interferes with a ballgame on TV, I fear that most will go down in the "Big One" if it doesn't happen in commercial interlude.

We heard from R. Schulz, State of New York, who sent an article (current) which he had captured from a periodical of regular publication. He says: "Thought you would be interested in this story.... I regard this as a cover story for the release of the epidemic.... All have a damaged immune system and are ripe for the plague. Now comes the harvest..." And the article:

[QUOTING, from "Sun", August 6, Vol. 14-No. 32, 1996.:]

DEADLY FLU VIRUS IS BACK

Millions to die from research screw-up. Millions AND millions of people may die this winter from a devastating flu that first struck 78 years ago!

Doctors fear an imminent global disaster because a scientific bungle accidentally re-released into the atmosphere the deadly virus that wiped out over 20 million people during the Spanish Flu epidemic of 1918.

"I'm afraid we could have the worst health disaster since that terrible epidemic of nearly 80 years ago," says Dr. Thomas Gleeber.

"Government health officials all over the world are scrambling to take precautions so that their darkest fears are not realized. But a tragedy of great magnitude seems inevitable."

According to Dr. Gleeber, the deadly flu virus of 1918 accidentally re-entered the Earth's atmosphere during the first week in July (1996) when a team of British scientists traveled to the Norwegian island of Svalbard in the Arctic Circle and dug up the graves of five victims of the great flu epidemic.

They are hoping to find conclusive answers to what still remains as the world's deadliest health disaster.

ACCIDENTAL SPILL

Using new DNA techniques, they planned to extract answers from the bodies of the flu victims which had been naturally preserved by the permafrost conditions of the Arctic Circle.

But one of the young grave-diggers accidentally spilled a huge container filled with the flu virus that had been extracted from the DNA of one of the corpses. [H: Of course, you know, it is always that a selected container of DNA "extracted from" would be just sitting around where a grave-DIGGER would spill it! So what is the REAL story? We inquiring minds want to know!]

"The worst fears of the researchers came true," says Dr. Gleeber. "They all knew in the moment that the vial of influenza virus was exposed to the air. Once that happened there was no turning back. The damage had been done—and the blueprint for global disaster was in place."

The story was subsequently hushed up in a conspiracy by world governments to prevent global panic.

Since news of the fatal foul-up slipped out, health officials all over the world have been huddled with scientists to see how a repeat of the Spanish Flu epidemic of 1918 can possibly be averted.

●A DEADLY virus was re-released into the atmosphere

LETHAL COMBINATION

In just two years, the epidemic claimed more lives than World War I, which ended the same year as the beginning of the flu outbreak.

"We know that the flu virus of 1918 carried a GENETIC MUTATION THAT MADE IT SUPER DEADLY," says Dr. Gleeber.

"It was a lethal combination of influenza and a pneumonia-causing bacteria that simply overpowered the human body. Millions of people literally drowned in their own lung fluid. Of course now we have powerful antibiotics that can stave off most infections. But we don't yet have the proper antidote to fight the powerful 1918 flu virus. We have a deadly time bomb on our hands with this situation. If scientists don't find the right vaccine by late October or November, we could be in for a tragedy of horrible proportions.

"We know that the flu virus of 1918 carried a GENETIC MUTATION THAT MADE IT SUPER DEADLY," says Dr. Gleeber.

[END OF QUOTING]

So, get ready, World—this is telling you that you are going to get very, very sick and millions will probably DIE because of this microbe! This is actually a cross of a customized VIRUS and a strain of microbe which develops from a Bubonic-type Plague into a Pneumonic-type Plague. This is already proven to be unresponsive and sometimes even THRIVES on the only known remaining treatment modality, Vancomycin.

Yes indeed, the Titanium, and especially if taken in conjunction with the GaiaCol (Silver with Titanium-Gold electrolysis colloidalization) and some Copper colloid WILL KNOCK IT OUT—usually within 24 to 36 hours. The body does NOT build up a resistance to these colloids and therefore if your immune system is strengthened prior to infection spread you will probably not even get the disease to symptomatic stage other than to let you know you have been "hit" with "something". You need the "bug" to "hit" so that the immune system can adjust to the specific organism and target the invaders.

Now readers, you can go with all the garlic and hot pepper your body and nose can stand—along with all the exuding smells and tastes—but it will not do what a good jolt of these colloids will do when the microbes strike.

A picture in this article offers a view of the organism in point and also there is a picture of a costumed "scientist" at his work. This caption reads "Scientists NOW working to find right vaccine by this Fall." GOOD LUCK!

R. Schulz shared another item with us and it also can serve as a reminder to WATCH WHAT IS GOING ON. The markets are only a show-and-tell of manipulation but you can WATCH THE NEWS and get some very good ideas of what is probably pending in the "wings" before taking center stage.

R. Schulz: "...On July 3 at 4 PM the merger of UP and SP railroads was given approval by the Feds. I immediately remembered the previous use of a similar code in December '94 to signal the financial collapse of Mexico. At that time the code might have meant either the crash of the US or Mexican financial system. This time, it could only mean the collapse of the US markets which had long been rotten ripe for a crash. I bet accordingly and made a nice sum of money. Thanks. Your (d)readability [H: Perhaps he meant it this way instead of (c)readability?] jumped quite a bit with me after that." Thank you. He also adds a P.S.: "I hope you're wrong about the plague being released at the Olympics but they are the perfect venue for such an event and this article may be part of the cover-story to distract attention from the real criminals."

Some Special Moments Of Giving And Receiving

8/10/96 #1 HATONN

GIVING AND RECEIVING

Being disinclined to give our adversaries opportunity to know our business with each click of a key on a keyboard, I can't always tell everything I know or everything that is under way. This being in mind I can't, however, think of anything I haven't told you and, as well, written for publication. Most things written for private communication also get sent forth and the things I wrote to our legal staff got taken, copied and dispersed to the very enemy within the courtroom—so, what else is new? If you wanted "Planned Leakage" you have to consider that the world is a sieve, a colander, and we are all but transmitters and receivers. You can "whisper to ear" a message but as long as the ear also has a whispering tongue—you have troubled possibilities.

When man comes forth in his growth that his works are ONLY for that which is LIGHTED and GOODLY we shall have "arrived" and Father can say to us: "Well done, children."

SPECIAL MOMENTS

In the wonder of each moment we must look for something to GIVE, that in the next there can be a reward and we have given and regiven as are our instructions. Moreover, GOD has shown us the way to those who can help us along even further. It may not be yet visible but we must wait upon the perfect moment and then, readers, we must seize that moment and take wise action.

Our work, CONTACT the paper, and other things that we bring in written format are NOT for the value of some kind of "revelation" or "prophecy" within its own context—but to SHARE that which is already known, prophesied, happened or secreted away—ON YOUR PLACE. We can speak of ancient ones, brotherhood with those among the stars, history of journeys in the cosmos, and a million other things—but those are only of interest and there are OTHERS who do that far better than do I. We are going to have a couple of wonderful experiences this coming weekend if plans don't get changed because of emergency happenings. We have many team mates dropping through to share a couple of days of friendship. I will go on record today to tell you that we will set aside as many days during that following week as you might wish to spend with us and listen to me waggle the microphone and, surely, I will participate—but you have something so wonderful expected that you DO NOT NEED ME to make this SPECIAL.

Little Crow plans to be here near noon on Saturday and will spend the rest of the day in discussion and sharing of things such as Native Prophecy—which simply means, the TRUTH about what is coming down. We will get it onto THE WORD tapes so that all can have access.

We also understand that one of the most recent writers who has, once again, winnowed-down a lot of our writings, teachings, current events, etc., and mel- lowed that information with Spiritual TRUTH, is trying to change some plans to be with us as well. That is David Icke.

I would suggest that as much space be made available in the meeting room as is possible. Perhaps you will want to stack the boxes and use those as the tables for whatever you wish to have at tea-time breaks because you need seating. Perhaps you who have extra portable chairs might wish to share, but please label them.

We have asked Norio Hayakawa to also join us but he has other commitments as well. Perhaps you might wish to ask him for Monday. Let us utilize those who wish to share with us because the things taking place at such as Area-51 are now REALLY "out of sight".

No, this is not some kind of a seminar or lecture series. We are going to have these visitors and we intend to make them welcome—nothing more. What they have to share will go onto tape so we can pass it along—nothing more. Further, I don't lean much to great and wondrous seminars for we can, at present, leave those to others. When there is need and the sequence is right—we will get on with whatever is appropriate. The time is of such importance NOW, as to wish to share in FOCUS on the speakers who have put it all together—and number one on that gifted list is LITTLE CROW. I can tell you already that if you were going to attend his series of lectures you would need his set of tapes for the course. We will give you details for obtaining them AFTER we find out what he wishes done in that regard. Because the days grow short, he is going to henceforth, my friends, spend much of his time in teaching YOU. This means you will have to support him for he has already given up his means of income to turn to this call to serve. What a blessing to be counted among his friends.

In recognition of that visit, and knowing the subject, I am going to stretch a bit also and include RIGHT HERE another message from a GREAT Man. When you read parts of my presentation you will, again, think, "What goes on?" By that comment I mean that we have had terrible differences with the former President of the University of Science and Philosophy, thanks to George Green, but our relationship for getting truth to PEOPLE is never stronger—with this, their new President, Dr. Melford Okilo.

DR. MELFORD OKILO

Just to remind you of whom I speak, this is Dr. Melford Okilo who replaced Dr. Binder in February, of the University of Science and Philosophy (formerly The Russell Foundation). I do not mix religious ritual or specific human teachings or education with Spiritual Truth as to OUR SOURCE so I don't have anything to say about the methods or principles taught at that "school". I GIVE HONOR TO THE MAN, OKILO, WHO NOW HEADS THAT PORTION OF TEACHING AS HONORS WALTER RUSSELL AND HIS REALIZATION OF LIGHT, TONES, OCTAVES AND MYRI-

ADS OF OTHER TOTALLY INSIGHTFUL INFORMATION. MELFORD OKILO UNDERSTANDS THE CONCEPT BETTER THAN ANY OTHER I HAVE ENCOUNTERED, SAVE POSSIBLY TOM ASTLEY OF SOUTH AFRICA. Tom is able to reflect HIS realization to artistic concepts onto paper; Melford paints with his words.

Please recall that Melford Okilo is a "Chief" and the former Governor of Rivers State in Nigeria. He is also the former Minister of Commerce and Tourism of Nigeria. Chief Okilo has written some very insightful books, The Law of Life and Love Creates Balance.

My hope is that through him we can both offer help TO HIM as well as to fledgling Nigeria as it tries to come into some kind of political balance. When you learn the lesson that we are to SHARE with our brothers—and not KEEP our brothers, we shall have learned a major secret of the Universe.

So, with great gratitude I will ask that we share Melford Okilo's "President's Message" from the Vol. XIII, 1996 "Light Waves" newsletter.

By the way, readers, Walter Russell was a contemporary and compatriot of Nikola Tesla and both were men "before their time" but there always must be the "pioneers" who DARE. Walter was sometimes referred to as "The American Leonardo Da Vinci" and perhaps, who knows, he might well have been THE Leonardo Da Vinci. When we have "time" some day, we will speak of Leonardo Da Vinci and present the "answers" which were as valid THEN as they remain today in art, human systems, community balance, water and sewer systems, levers, perspective and yes, BUILDING with arches, domes, and the like.

For now we will share the concept of the Law of Love, or the Law of Balance. Little Crow will certainly take up this requirement before the day is finished.

[QUOTING:]

THE LAW OF GIVING

by Melford Okilo, CFR, President,
University of Science and Philosophy,
Swannanoa, P.O. Box 520,
Waynesboro, VA 22980

"All that ye give shall be given back a hundredfold."
[from The Divine Iliad]

Giving means to present voluntarily without expecting compensation. Love means giving, and giving means love. Giving alone does not fulfill the Law of Love. To comply with the Law of Love there must be a giving and an equal regiving. It is the giving and equal regiving that make up the Law of Love, or the Law of Balance.

In this world, every idea or thing is paired or divided into two. So the universe is composed of twos or pairs of opposites. For example, the idea of giving is divided into giving and regiving; action is divided into action and reaction; man-idea into man and woman; temperature into cold and heat; business into selling and buying; and so on.

What each unit in each pair does to the other is governed or controlled by the Law of Love, which is also the Law of Balance. The Law says that each unit borrows the other. In other words, in the pair of giving and regiving, each giving will borrow its own regiving. What you give will be returned to you in kind. The Law of Love compels the regiving for whatever you give to another person or to the world in general.

To fulfill the Law of Love, the giving and the receiving must be equal and balanced. If the giving and regiving are not equal, they cannot unite or balance, and the result shall be unbalance or a violation of the Law of Love. Every unbalance violates the Law of Love and spells disaster.

Balance means unity, oneness, satisfaction, ecstasy, joy, equilibrium, equality, stillness, peace, Love, Truth, happiness or any action or giving which is capable of good results. Unbalance is the basis of what we call evil, bad or sin: for example, anger, fear, gossip, cheating, lying, disharmony, inequality, violence, fighting, war and so on.

Giving is the first great law of the universe. The only thing life can give to you is that which you first give to it. When you give, you are fulfilling God's first Law.

Giving is the secret of love. Even the secret of man's power lies in giving with love. To live love means having no thought of what you are going to get from whatever you may do, but only to think what you can give.

God's new Law of Love from The Message of the Divine Iliad says: "All that ye give shall be given back a hundredfold." Try it, by giving or serving the world with love, and you will tell others this universal Truth. God thinks Love and gives only Love to all His creations. It is man's duty and only key to happiness to emulate God his Creator and do likewise. The basic law of giving is the key to love, peace, unity and inner joyousness. Anyone who practices this law fulfills the Law of Love. Balanced giving is giving motivated by love, or one meant to benefit the receiver, or all men, including the giver. By giving love from the soul, one insulates himself from bad influences such as hatreds and fears.

EQUAL GIVING AND REGIVING

The love cycle of giving and regiving is the expression of love in the visible universe of motion. If both expressions of the love cycle are equal and balanced with each other, the result is what we call GOOD. If they are not balanced, all of those things which we call ills, diseases, frustrations, failures, hatreds and enmities arise from that unbalance.

The secret of life is to learn how to balance one's transactions with all other men so that our givings and regivings are equal and in balance with each other. The more you give, the more God gives you.

The law of equal giving for regiving is absolute. You must give equally for what is given you. An effort on your part must pay for the effort on God's part. If you stop giving you will shut off your supply. If the heavens cease giving rains to Earth, the Earth ceases giving crops and forests which would return moisture to the heavens.

God's law will never give you anything without an equivalent repayment in return. Love means exchange of service for service—and God's law demands that service given must equal service rendered.

If man gives more than is expected, God's law will balance it in promotion or increased salary. If that is not a person's motive, and if an increase is not given him, he has enriched himself by experience and better judgment in the management of his life.

The genius who gives his all of great value for less than a materialist has ten thousand times more reward of the kind he wants than the materialist. He has the ecstasy of living in the high heavens; he knows the joy of self-expression, of hearing heavenly rhythms which do not exist for the materialist—and his immortality lives forever in the memory of man, while the materialist is forgotten.

The genius never counts reward for service in terms of money values. His reward is a satisfaction that all the money in the world could not equal. He will win the gratitude of the world. The world will still be regiving love for the love he gave to mankind. There are other values than money values, and money values have no meaning whatsoever unless they manifest love.

Love action or giving something to others with love is a balanced action, which will return to bless the giver. Once you give with love, the law of love itself compels the regiving of more love from God to you. The more you give, the more you are regiven.

God first gives us all the good things of life—parents, children, brothers, sisters, relatives, wealth, employment, health, life. Plants, flowers, rivers, oceans, air and countless things necessary for our existence. This is love given and God awaits us to regive Him through His children or creatures on Earth. We must now regive all of them to others so that He will continue to regive us more and more in order that we may continue to give forever.

In this respect, every man and woman is a debtor to the world. We all owe the world. If we fail to give, it is debited against us in the universal balance sheet. If we give love, it is credited in our favor in the same balance sheet. There is a spiritual bank for everyone. The moment something is credited or debited in your spiritual bank, it will eventually materialize in your physical world in your lifetime.

The moment we give, the Law of Love automatically fulfills its part without more prayer. In fact, the act of giving something with love is prayer.

If the giving and regiving are not equal, the two halves cannot balance. The result will be unbalanced which violates the Law of Love, and this always brings trouble in man's life or in Nature.

Giving is a spiritual quality of mind. The man whose God-awareness has been awakened in him knows how to give selfless service to mankind. He does not take. He does not hoard. He gives or regives.

The material man in his greed for money, material possessions and power knows nothing but taking from others. He takes violently or fraudulently. He cheats, lies, gossips, envies and deceives others to take something from them. The law states: "The exercise of might-over-right by the strong over the weak will strengthen the weak to destroy the strong."

The same Law of Love further states: "What one gives he always has—whether or not he is regiven in kind."

The fruits of conforming to the giving principle are love, peace, happiness, inspiration and exultation which come only to those who have become aware of the inner light in them.

You either take or give. If you take, you are expressing primitive practices which will react against you. If you give, you are storing up the most valuable attribute anyone can acquire—Character—and you are on the spiritual path to self-discovery.

Those who give can never be impoverished. "They are like unto wells of living waters." The more they have to give, the more God's law of Love regives them and works for them as it works for the plants and animals.

SELF-PRESERVATION AND TAKING

The great deterrent to the peace, happiness and prosperity of any man is the remaining influence of man's primitive trait—the preoccupation with self-preservation. His keynote of primitive existence was self-preservation. The method he used was "taking"—and taking anything he wanted from the other man for himself. His desire was for self alone and that desire is still predominant in most of us.

UNIVERSAL SERVICE

The basis of cosmic man's desire is to give of himself for the universal self. In him, the individual self is lost in the desire to give service for the whole of mankind to the exclusion of self—in fact, giving service with utter forgetfulness of self.

The keynote of the unfolding cosmic man is the universal self, which means a full realization of the brotherhood of man as ONE and of unity with God as ONE. Man should now learn to lose his own self to find the universal self. Individualists believe they can acquire by TAKING; universalists know they can acquire only by GIVING.

Man must emulate his Creator to give. God always regives many times more than that which has been given. All those great events which happen to selfless persons are God sent. God sends to compensate them for the self-less service they have been rendering to mankind. This is God in action. This is what He meant when He said: "Of a verity I say, no man shall know love nor peace nor rest until he giveth love of himself to all men." (from The Divine Iliad)

The giving of good (love) for mutual cooperation must now be the world thought keynote of the new humanism if man is to survive. If you seek anything for yourself for your personal enjoyment, you prevent yourself from getting it; but if you seek it selflessly for the universal self or the public good, then it is given to you at the proper time and place when you are ready or mature enough to handle what you want. It is said that that which is yours will always find you. This is the Truth of Life.

Selfless service leads to self-purification. In the search for the Light within, there should be no trace of self interest. In such a search, no one can lose his bearing for long. Immediately, if he takes to the wrong path, he stumbles. He may even fall before he is raised and redirected to the original path of Truth. Selfless service for the Universal Self as a whole is the only way to man's personal success.

Love put into any product regives love from happy purchasers. Work worthily done in service given to all the world, and all the world regives it in like measure. The world beats a path to the door of every man who excels in the giving of loving service to his neighbor. Excellence, worthiness, selflessness and joyfulness given out by any man echoes in the hearts of all men. The world will find a way to your door if you attract it to you by working with the Law. When you LOVE and see GOODNESS and beauty in all things, what is yours will come to you when you are ready for it.

George Washington Carver—the man who talked with the flowers—was described thus: "He asked nothing, sought nothing from any man. He lived only to give, to serve, to enrich mankind with his excellence. NO one could have been more lowly and obscure, yet the world beat a path to his door and laid garlands of love at his feet."

CONCLUSION

Every person is a fount of living waters which must ever flow to keep him ever living. He who shuts off the fountains of his abundant self stagnates the living waters of his living self and contaminates all things with his very breathing. He who withholds his giving deprives himself alone of the gifts of his desiring.

The great lesson of life is the need of giving out from the abundance of one's self in order to be ever abundant within one's self. He who gives abundantly will be served with abundance, and he who gives more of service than has been asked of him will multiply within himself that which he has ever-given by increasing his capacity for giving.

Love cannot be possessed: therefore, ask not for love, but give it. When you give, do not give grudgingly. Give with love. "He who giveth love prospereth mightily, but he who taketh ought gaineth naught."

The love principle of Giving which dominates the God-Mind will rule the world in the coming Cosmic Age, instead of the hate principle of taking. We are finding that the seed sown through our practice of taking is reaped in the harvest of lust and hate from which all crime springs.

We are also going to find that the practice of the Love principle gives us intense happiness and a power that we never dreamed of before. The practice of the Love principle is seeping into the world, and we shall see much of the effects of it in our civilization.

SPEAK TO US OF GIVING

Then said a rich man: "Speak to us of giving." And he answered:

"You give but little when you give of your possessions.

It is when you give of yourself that you truly give.

There are those who give with joy, and that joy is their reward.

And there are those who give with pain, and that pain is their baptism.

And there are those who have little and give it all.

There are believers in life and the bounty of life,

And their coffers are never empty;

They give that they may live, for to withhold is to perish.

It is well to give when asked, but it is better to give unasked through UNDERSTANDING.

And to the open-handed the search for one who shall receive is joy greater than giving.

Therefore, give now, that the season of giving may be yours and not your inheritors."

From: The Prophet, by Kahlil Gibran

"Only actual practice of Faith, Hope and Love, seven days in the week, backed by the Ten Commandments, will enable man and his world to rise above the clouds of self-created fears, reaching for the light of understanding among all races and creeds." — Anonymous

DR. MELFORD OKILO, CFR

[END OF QUOTING]

I would add to this last "Anonymous" speaking: "Charity" might well come after Love, for in fact, Charity is the ACTION which reflects Faith, Hope and Love. I would also recognize that several of the "Ten Commandments" are totally without merit. You should treat others as you would wish to be treated by those others. As well, you should attend all those things of SOUL goodness and UNIVERSAL LAW of Creator/Creation. Then it will be to never-mind those bits put into the numbers of instructions BY MAN to further his income, his position, his greed and keep control over you. For instance: "Remember the Sabbath to keep it Holy." What means such a regulation? What is "Sabbath"? What is HOLY? What means to "keep it"? Is this possibly a "thing" set forth by a bunch of "elders" who wish to gain from your dependence upon THEM? Is it unholy to say, work on Sunday? And what of those who recognize not "Sunday" as a "Sabbath"? Until you begin to THINK as regards all the myriads of instructions and tree-huggings—you are NOT going to get anywhere near BALANCE and HARMONY, for you are just playing the game whatever it might be of the moment.

And "creed"? Take care: creed = a reflection of what you believe and what you are.

The WAY can only be straight and narrow and

"accomplished" if you KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE GOAL WHILE MAKING SURE YOUR GOAL IS OF THAT OF WHICH TRUTH, JUSTICE, GOODNESS AND LOVE ARE THE CENTRAL DESIRE. The way becomes very crooked indeed when you are off in every direction presented to you. You may well experience that which attracts you, participate, pass on or whatever becomes your way—but unless that GOAL is of GOD CREATOR and GOODLY IN INTENT—you will miss the "boat", friends, for there are many paths to God and GROWTH but only one focus on GOAL if you are to achieve ONENESS WITH GOD.

Man will measure himself by his own SOUL intent as surely as there is a perceived manifestation of self. It will not be the actions, yet man is measured through his actions for they project the thought and intent of man; but rather, the response to "cause" and your "effects" which will be weighed in the balance scales of your experience upon a stage of dimensional life as you recognize it to be. Remember this when you decide to do harm, insult or injury to a fellow-traveler, or damage that which is loaned into your use, and put into your care, by Creator.

I remain your humble servant, Hatonn.

Let it be known forever more that I am humble, honored and Graced to wear the name as presented unto me by my Father, OUR Father, that I might reflect HIS perfection in all things. I AM, AS YOU "ARE" and therefore because I AM, you CAN be. I am but a HOST to welcome you home—if your pathway is unto God of LIGHT. In the meanwhile, my "mission" is to tell you how it is, teach and bring, as a messenger, TRUTH of LIFE. I care not for your silly games of three-dimensional organisms—I care only about SOUL INTENT and that which you plan to bring into the COSMOS when you depart such as "Earth". I fully and humbly respect those who become what THEY will call, my "enemies", for they are the TEACHERS of our journey and I can pity or have compassion for their struggles as they too search their way. This does not mean that I "become" them nor agree with that which they speak and do. When all learn the "difference" we will be able to accomplish the remainder of the mission quite nicely. I have NO PROBLEMS with any other entities in THE UNIVERSE. YOU have manufactured and built those things which bring disharmony, chaos and wars—NOT US OF THE UNIVERSAL EXPRESSION.

May you carefully consider and think on these things as you move ever more quickly and certainly into the changing CYCLES of your own manifestation. The prophecies are YOUR BUSINESS and you can change them if you want to do so. IT IS UP TO YOU—YOUR CHOICE! IT IS MY BUSINESS TO FULFILL MY MISSION AND MAKE PASSAGE WITH A REMNANT. I KNOW "THE WAY"—YOU DO NOT—SO IT WILL BEHOVE ALL OF YOU TO LISTEN TO THOSE WHO KNOW! Your light which you stash "under the bushel" is of no value to anyone, even self. Ponder it.

Thank you and good morning.

8/11/96 #1 HATONN

Let me now turn to our ongoing tale, so sporadic in publication as to embarrass us, Fire From The Sky VI: The Killing Continues. Ah, but once again Mary Snell and Cal Burgin have come to my rescue for you who don't want to WAIT for the series to finally unfold. Mary has taken the manuscript and has done as she did with Judeo-Christian Hoax and had it copied and bound in a ring book. It is now available and you can obtain a copy from Mary Snell [see box on this page].

Even though these books may well be published in fine form and covers—there is never again the value as is offered an original edition in this format.

But for us who trip lightly, making typo-errors all along the way, we will continue as we can find time and space for a continuation of the series here in CONTACT. It is TIMELY information and links the whole corrupted mess of politicians and Elite to one another in the horrendous game of take-over and wipe-out.

We had at last writing on this series, Part 7 [CONTACT's part 37], been speaking about the "Gold Pool" and John Tarullo who was murdered in August, 1995. Remember also that Vincent Foster was a member of that "team". Tarullo had failed in his assignment, which was to completely control those involved in the 50-million-dollar secret transfer of federal funds from Chicago to Little Rock. The funds, held in custody for the federal S&L bail-out agency, Resolution Trust Corporation, were misappropriated to make good the purported embezzlement of 47 million dollars from a federally-insured S&L, namely Madison Guaranty Savings & Loan, done reportedly by Hillary Rodham Clinton, with the aid of her husband—that is, the subject of one part of the sealed indictment of April 17, 1995. So we take up Part 8 at the point where Burgin had stated that Tarullo had failed to protect Household International and Household Bank, which had custody of the funds, part of a profound series of scandals known as the Joseph Andreucetti Affair. Household was the successor to the CIA-money laundry, the Nugan-Hand Bank of Australia.

[QUOTING, PART 38:]

FIRE FROM THE SKY VI—The Killing Continues

by Calvin Burgin

Apparently implicated in the events of the 50-million-dollar transfer reportedly was Lawrence W. Myers. He was reportedly part of a project of a clandestine nature with the Little Rock office of RTC. Did operatives of Delta Force, with the aid of Myers, snuff out Tarullo? It is a fair presumption. Myers has sought to block publication of stories related to Foster, Pollard, Weinberger, Bush, Hillary, Household International and CIA, as well as the Gold Poll member, [and] the Andreucetti Affair.

The counter-intelligence operation, of which Myers is reportedly an integral part, interfaces with highly secret units of MIG (Military Intelligence Groups). (They were known for violence and dirty tricks going back to 1970 and before, as documented in Sherman H. Skolnick vs. 113th Military Intelligence Group, also known [as a cover] as Midwest Audio-Visual News, U.S. District Court, Chicago, 1970.)

A London newspaper uncovered Congressional documents tending to show MIG were involved in stripping Foster's office or nearby offices after his murder as well as part of a vast cover-up of his manner of death. (Riddle of Spooks in the White House, by Ambrose Evans-Pritchard, London Daily Telegraph 1/27/96; Electronic version 1/29/96).

The apparent penetration and infiltration of Media Bypass Magazine seems to be just one of several happenings of a secret team of which Lawrence W. Myers appears to be a part. Their efforts started prior to the Oklahoma bombings. This, by itself, tends to prove or support charges that there is a high-level U.S. Government complicity in the bloodshed of the federal office building calculated to be blamed onto dissidents.

Some months ago, upon the suspicions and complaints of some connected to Media Bypass Magazine, Myers was fired, but then rehired reportedly on the same day, upon his representations that he could boost circulation with an exclusive interview with the accused, so-called "lone bomber", Timothy McVeigh (published in the February, 1996 issue of the magazine). Left unpublished and unmentioned is the reported method Myers used to get into the prison with the blessings of the Warden and the U.S. Prison system: Myers reportedly used his espionage agency "muscle" to have the prison door swing open so he could enter and get an exclusive interview with McVeigh.

The exclusive interview enabled Myers to keep his job and continue his reported penetration and infiltration of Media Bypass Magazine for the apparent purpose of eventually destroying them and damaging and discrediting various categories of dissidents nationwide.

As of the time of this article [03/03/96], various persons are planning to attend an urgent meeting for the purpose of seeking to remove Myers from the magazine. For example, the top official of Jeremiah Films (1-800-828-2290) reportedly has accused Lawrence W. Myers of being a counter-intelligence operative. This official has to be considered since his firm regularly runs a full-color advertisement on the back cover of the magazine bringing in approximately $3,000.00 per month. With current estimated circulation of 45,000, the magazine might be justified in charging a lot more soon for the same type of back cover ad.

Why it may be difficult to remove Myers and/or expose him:

(a) He is reportedly part of the most secret, super-powerful secret espionage operation in the U.S. They have apparently penetrated and infiltrated various dissident groups, entities, publications, and movements. The espionage community has invested tremendous dollars and manpower in this undertaking.

(b) To reportedly expose the Delta Force, MIG, and Lawrence W. Myers would unravel the cover up—done supposedly for reasons of "national security"—of the clandestine gold transactions, billions of dollars, involving the London Gold Pool, various money center banks in the U.S., Europe, and Japan, and the Caymans, and Hong Kong; and

(c) would reportedly expose the interface between Delta Force, MIG, and Myers, and the extremely secret units of DISC (Defense Industrial Security Command) guarding plutonium and other nuclear facilities nationwide; they have the apparent authority to murder "trouble-makers" and, if necessary, throw their dead body near one of the security fences and claim they had to shoot said person who was trying to climb over the fence. Units of DISC, together with security units of NASA, combined with Delta Force and MIG, are reportedly implicated in the murder of Foster, the handling of his body by a mortuary linked to CIA, and creation of entities and news items as disinformation to cover up the murder.

(d) This could topple the central government in a high-level scandal involving the murder of the highest level U.S. Government official to be assassinated since President Kennedy, namely Foster; and cover up of the same.

(e) This would reportedly disrupt banking connections worldwide, since Foster headed the secret bank spying project, using a "trap door" in the stolen Inslaw software, called PROMIS, to spy on banks, including the central banks of supposed allies and friendly trading partners of the United States;

(f) And could reportedly expose the 200 million [dollar] swindle in high-level Reagan and Bush administration officials stealing PROMIS and selling it to various espionage agencies, using the "trap door" to spy on our allies;

(g) And George Bush and Caspar Weinberger would have to be prosecuted for treason in the Jonathan Pollard Affair as well as the "October Surprise";

(h) And reportedly would cause the collapse of Household International and Household Bank, one of the largest credit card and loan operations in the world. The major owner of Household is Wells Fargo of which Warren Buffet is a major stockholder. Buffet is one of the largest stockholders in Disney, now owners of ABC News, of Coca Cola, and GEICO. Buffet is also one of the largest stockholders of Washington Post Co. as well as the bond house, Salomon Brothers.

[H: Readers, it should be noted right here that both "Household" AND Salomon Brothers had financial interests in the property of Ekkers! Small world, is it not?]

(i) This would tend to prove high-level complicity in the Oklahoma bombings.

(j) And would publicly expose the efforts to arrest Commander-in-Chief Clinton by a military coup, like Seven Days in May; a coup aborted by murdering high level military officers in Alabama, April 17, 1995.

More than one book would have to be written to set this all forth with all the details. Are Myers' reported team members known? The answer is YES. By the way, this writer [Skolnick] has over 30 years of experience in identifying spies, counter-spies, and agents-provocateurs. END OF QUOTE

The April 29, 1996 issue of Newsweek had a rather curious article:

"Exclusive HIDDEN FLEET. The Air Force CT-43 that crashed and killed Secretary Ron Brown and 34 others was part of a fleet of VIP transports. But the planes, military versions of 737s, have another, secret role: covert ops. After the crash, air force officials at first said there were 14 CT-43s in the fleet. Finally, they acknowledged that there were five more based at Hill Air Force Base in Utah. Military sources say these planes, painted white with a red stripe to disguise the AF connection, are used for "black missions" such as flying mystery men from Las Vegas's McCarran Airport to the top-secret Groom Lake facility [Area 51]. 'They're assigned to Hill, but they're always off somewhere else,' says an Air Force spokesperson."

[END QUOTING OF PART 38]

As we walk through the storms borne upon the winds of change it is now that we must look more deeply into possibilities. You are no longer an age of people of the darkness—unless that is where YOU CHOOSE to remain. As quickly as possible we will have opportunity to share some of the lectures from very capable researchers. I am told that David Icke was unable to change plans to be in attendance on the 17th and 18th but that Little Crow would definitely plan to be with us on the 17th.

Another special friend and colleague, Norio Hayakawa, also plans to arrange to make a visit to us soon. Norio has just released a video presentation, Secrets of Dreamland. This is about Groom Lake (Area 51) in Nevada. We will try to get the information for obtaining that video for you readers. We have been honored with his presence several times prior to now and once he came with a group of Japanese who were also visiting areas such as Groom Lake, Tehachapi, etc. We are honored to know him. As with all researchers truly interested in the evolvement of mankind the thrust is being pushed more and more into the SPIRITUAL aspects of Man's relationship with God and Universe.

FOREWORD

It seems that every time we turn about there is a note saying there needs to be a title and "Foreword" to a journal. We finish number 178; Dharma claims it is a miscount; I remind her that we have worn out several keyboards and life goes on... and on, while we make plans for doing other great and wondrous things.

As we think for a minute on past beginnings the mind runs back to mid-August, 1987. Some people came to visit because of Sipapu Odyssey—others because it was the "Harmonic Convergence"—others because of BOTH. It was our time of getting acquainted and laying a brief foundation of our needs and work before us. It was a remarkable time and many changes and much growth has happened since those days of non-realization of journey or duty.

Today we think on some who have gone, as with Sister Thedra, others who have turned from us because "Hatonn couldn't be 'my' Hatonn," others who SHOULD be asked to this little gathering such as Ormly, Gabriel, etc., and the mind is stymied because the "hostess and host" are too busy to breathe, so much the less to entertain, run the hotel and board duties—and then, the heart is overflowed with the accomplishments and, frankly, 178 journals. If you would know everything presented in those 178 journals—you would no longer be in doubt or supposition—you would be in KNOWING!

As we move into the tenth year of our CYCLE work we can expect the most remarkable things to be happening. One of the more major happenings is the opening up of POSSIBILITIES of rebuttal to the adversary. If you people put down your swords, your allegiances to Party, a recognition that God too can have a Plan—and come to work within possibilities for change, you can accomplish great things. You watched, or perhaps you didn't, the "loser" Pat Buchanan close his campaign in Escondido, California with a speech which would do God proud. You might also have waded through the garbage presented by the Republican Party (where they tossed footballs, bowed to a Quarterback "hero" and spouted the platform goodies of Pat Buchanan (who isn't allowed to participate at the convention)) and perhaps your heart skipped a beat as you "could have if you didn't" listen to Lamm and Perot (also in California). They both spoke on the same NETWORK (C-SPAN) and I wonder at how many did NOT watch. (??)

This is NOT a "New Age"-type of approach nor is it a "religious" experience or suggestion—the point is getting right with GOD because you are running out of time in which mental stability is available to you as individual "thinkers". Physical capabilities in technology are now so great as to be able to control the mental perceptions of millions, yea billions, of people at any given moment day or night.

This is YOUR LIFE, citizen—may you live to enjoy it.

Thank you.

If you married those two pushers, Buchanan and Perot, to our available funding resources from "Grandma" and our own contracts—the world would be brought back within ONE YEAR to a REPUBLIC UPON WHICH TO STAND—UNDER GOD, ONE NATION INDIVISIBLE WITH LIBERTY AND JUSTICE, AND THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS COULD AGAIN BE YOURS.

Oh yes indeed, we offer the same opportunity to the leaders of each of the "Parties"—to stay alive and hopefully guide some of the parties involved—even if it would only be to save their own asses. Dole and Kemp have both played in the big leagues wherein money was used and yes, taken by the "Fifth" and shoved in their faces. Why? Because they are POLITICIANS feeding off the nation—not leading the nation because of Integrity and need for GOOD LEADERSHIP.

You are going to have to have an overwhelming push to overcome the computer tampering, for vote-scam will again decide the results. I offered this same probability in 1992 and what did I gain? I gained the animosity and selective title of reptilian chameleon from candidate Bo Gritz. If you can't see further than your opinionated ego, readers, you CANNOT turn around a whole country already under the control of the BEAST.

How can I be sure that there will not be good leadership in either major party? Many things tell the tale but one thing is SURE: if you are PRO-CHOICE in abortions you are actually PRO-CHOICE IN MURDER—THAT IS NOT OF GOD. I don't make judgments—I simply state that GOD IS LOVE AND LIFE—and to kill (abort) a life-form which YOU HAVE CREATED is murder and all the nice names you wish to call it—are the same thing, A LIE. But you might say, "Well, the Republicans are PRO-LIFE and don't want to allow those nasty abortions." Oh really? You can't even get the "Party" consolidated because of that very issue. Moreover, you show me a politician who hasn't told you EXACTLY WHAT YOU WANTED TO HEAR—and I will show you a LIAR. Remember that there are "politicians" and then there are honest people working in the "political arena". The "SYSTEM" gets almost all of them in the end—or they retire from the struggle and go on back home.

YOU AGAIN THIS YEAR HAVE A POSSIBILITY OF OVERSHADOWING THE SET-UP AND BOTCHING THE ELITE PLAN—BUT NOT IF YOU DON'T EVEN ATTEND THE "CONTRACT" AND/OR CHANGE YOUR ATTITUDES AND ACTIONS. THERE IS NO DIFFERENCE IN THE REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS—THEY ARE BOTH RUN BY THE SAME ELITE CONTROLLERS!!

You might well ask me if it wasn't true that Ross Perot was a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and a close friend of David Rockefeller? Indeed, but he is NOT any longer on the roster. He LIVES what he preaches and he can show you exactly how things ARE and eagerly does so at every opportunity. You are going to have to bite some bullets to accomplish life as America might be again in greatness. The easy part, however, is the opportunity afforded BY GOD to get rid of the horrendous debts. WE can do that for you through our teamwork—but somebody has to come down off the pedestals and LISTEN TO US. SO FAR THE RESPONSE SILENCE IS DEAFENING AS NOBODY WHO IS CONTACTED CAN (1) BELIEVE IT, (2) DARE TO RESPOND OR CONSIDER SUCH AN OFFERING, AND (3) DARE TO BELIEVE IT CAN BE DONE!

You don't have to share "E.T.s", people, which turn almost every thinking person into embarrassed muddled tongue-tie. All you have to do is suggest GOD GAVE YOU A VISION! GOD IS AN E.T., CHRIST IS AN E.T. (ETERNAL TRANSIENT)—DWELLERS ON MANY PLANETS AT THE SAME TIME AND IN THE ETHERS OF THE COSMIC DIMENSIONS. When a great person comes forth and says, "I have a dream," or, "I had/have a vision..."—and it is of goodness aimed at freedom, equality, and love—you HAVE GOD in full view. FIRST MUST COME THE IDEA!

And now, as to the Rockefellers they were "taken out" and replaced for their puppet-value many, many years ago—murdered by the very bunch of thugs, i.e., Kissinger et al., as the hit men. Kissinger was also "taken out" and was actually missing for some three months right after he gave the funeral speech for Nelson Rockefeller. His "double" was so badly trained that the thought of using the duplicate was outrageous. There was not time for the genetic alteration thugs to even down-load the new wife, Nancy. So, a vibrant woman was basically silenced for she was "too different" to use publicly for a very long time. Far-out? Think again! You have genetically and DNA-altered EVERYTHING from tomatoes to pigs. Humans are EASY to duplicate because you don't need to CROSS-GENE ANYTHING. Cloning becomes the easiest part of replication—as you take one thing to duplicate identical particulate conglomeration. It is then only a matter of down-loading the brain-computer for KNOWLEDGE and MEMORY. GOD DOESN'T CREATE DUPLICATES EXCEPT IN THE INSTANCE OF SUCH AS TWINS—AND EVEN THEY ARE INDIVIDUAL IN PERSONALITY. Even a flower is never IDENTICAL to its sibling seed from the same plant.

When the original or replica gets out of control, as in the case of a Reagan—they simply announce he has Alzheimers or amnesia or cancer or something—and get him out of sight. They don't have to kill off other than the dangerous ones who TELL THE TRUTH ON THE OTHER PARTICIPANTS IN THE DIRTY GAMES AND TRICKS.

MARS ROCKS

I am asked about the rock from Mars and life on Mars and what about Mars? What about it? Do you actually think a planet can simply FLING-OFF a rock, travel it to Earth, and there it is, full of fossils for YOU TO FIND millions of years later? Come off it, readers, how "stupid" can they get in their brainwashing of you? They play with your electric grid like you turn off a local light-switch and feed you total B.S. and you gobble it up like candy to the starving child. Of course there was LIFE ON MARS! Where the "hell" do you think YOU CAME FROM if not from such as MARS? YOU ARE ETERNAL BEINGS WITH OR WITHOUT SOULS AND YOU ARE CERTAINLY A "STREAM OF CONSCIOUSNESS" THAT HAD TO BE SOMEWHERE! You build "authorities" and "experts" and name them Carl Sagan, et al., and place them in awe and bow to their great knowledge and never consider the POSSIBILITY OF WHAT THEY TELL YOU BEING FALSE. The scientists DO NOT have anything from Mars unless there have been probes, etc., which, AGAIN, they have lied to you ABOUT! Get with reality and sanity, readers—BOTH COME FROM GOD! Lies and magic illusion come directly from the Adversary of God to keep you trapped in the human physical format—even after your flesh dies and passes. A game? Well, what difference does it make if you are trapped within it as a playing piece?

The Elite are getting ready to bomb you with everything from false aliens TO BOMBS. YOU CAN DO THAT WHICH YOU CHOOSE—BUT ISN'T IT EMBARRASSING TO YOUR EGO TO BE SO ABUSED?

Why is the assumption of aliens being ugly, monstrous and blood-sucking so acceptable? Isn't it far more likely that beings advanced enough to GET TO YOUR PLANET UNDER THEIR OWN THOUGHT-STREAM are going to be quite MORAL? Further, if they be of HUMAN-KIND, as GOD would send to ease your fear and trepidation—they'd be quite like you and indeed be quite genetically correct and more nearly "perfect" in presentation than even you. WHERE IS YOUR ABILITY TO THINK? You have not LOST it—you have set it aside and when you decide to accept responsibility for your own directions and quit the "welfare" system of letting others do your "thing" and "thinking"—you will, as a species, recover your power and your incredible greatness.

YOU ARE A SPIRITUAL BEING HAVING A HUMAN EXPERIENCE.

Now, since you are a Spiritual being having YOUR human experience—is it not YOUR capability of changing things if you don't like the way things ARE? The facts are that you 'THINK' you like things the way they are so you don't have to assume any responsibility for change. When there is no reward for that inaction—i.e., welfare, unemployment pay, disability pay and the belly is empty and your children starving—you might well WISH YOU HAD "THOUGHT" OTHERWISE.

Invariably when people OBJECT TO ME AND MY TEACHINGS, they are living in a DARK WORLD of ignorance and SELF-CENTERED FOCUS WHILE HEARING ONLY THAT WHICH ENABLES THEM TO REMAIN "TRAPPED" IN THAT INTERNAL FOCUS AND PERCEPTION OF WRONG BEING DONE UNTO "ONLY THEM" AND THEIR "PATHETIC ATTACHMENTS". When you look to the WHOLE of the experience and accept the responsibility of your ignorance—and LEARN TRUTH—you will cease to have those self-focused attitudes. When you ONLY ask and listen to the ones who are against the TRUTH and serve only themselves—how CAN you learn anything in wisdom?

I remind you of something important: If you love to hug trees, for example—pick one you can get your arms all the way around! In addition, if it be sickly and spindly—see how healthy you can make it from hugging it. Then go try some healing solutions, some water enhanced with minerals and vitamins and that which kills the parasites—and then lovingly TREAT that sapling. Love may be all there IS for SOUL—but LOVE AND ACTION WITHIN THAT LOVE will heal the manifest body, whatever it might be. YOU ARE HUMAN SUBSTANCE AND SPIRITUAL BEING. YOU ARE YOUR OWN PRISON WARDEN! When you get out of your own way and take away the trash over which your children must stumble, take responsibility and LEAD YOUR CHILDREN—you will become greater than you ever imagined self to achieve.

So, all the way back to the subject of abortions: IF YOU TAKE RESPONSIBILITY FOR YOUR SEXUAL ACTIVITIES—you will have no problems over ABORTIONS. IT ALWAYS COMES RIGHT BACK TO YOU. THINK ABOUT IT! HARD!

Title:

YOU

You are great; you are small; you are in-between. You are all that is which determines YOUR universe. You are your best friend/your worst enemy! You are that enemy which you find confronting you in every pathway—or, you are that ally which is capable of creating anything chosen—by YOU. You are God—You are Adversary! All else is at your disposal for use as you choose to accept or deny. You WILL one day meet your enemy and/or your friend—AND IT WILL BE YOU. YOU can change the world if you choose to do so—AND WANT TO.

WE NEED YOUR HELP!

PLEASE CONSIDER SPONSORING A PHOENIX JOURNAL

The cost for printing the PHOENIX JOURNALS in sufficient quantities to offer them at rock bottom prices is always a serious challenge to our financial resources. At this time we need financial assistance to help cover the printing costs of the JOURNALS. If you are in a position to assist, please call PHOENIX SOURCE DISTRIBUTORS, INC. at (800)800-5565 and ask for Brent.

We would like to extend our thanks once again to those of you who have helped us so greatly in the past. Without your assistance we would not have come this far.
