SECRET GOVERNMENT PLOT TO ABOLISH SOCIAL SECURITY

From THE WEEKLY WORLD NEWS, From: <ranger@azwest.net>, 9/9/97: [quoting]

A highly-placed government informant says Social Security will be abolished during a trumped-up financial crisis in February 1998, ending the program that has helped elderly and disabled Americans put food on the table and a roof over their heads since the height of the Great Depression.

"The decision to abolish Social Security has been made, the date has been set, and the only thing the average American can do is wait for the shoe to drop," the informant, who risked his life to blow the lid off the plot, told a select group of Washington reporters. [This is no surprise to the prophecy student. Cliff Kincaid discussed the plan the UN has to create world-taxes, -court, -government, -religion, -currency, -military, and -police. We will get world taxes, and health.]

"Make no mistake, Social Security is going down the drain. The powers that be can promise to keep it and dance around the problem—and the truth—as much as they like.

"The fact is, the abolition of Social Security is a done deal, so much so that the Pentagon is already preparing for a worst-case public reaction, including riots, work stoppages, anarchy and civil war." The decision to abolish Social Security, even as President Bill Clinton and key congressional leaders are promising to keep the program intact, is sure to come as a shock to most Americans.

But the informant says an Elite group of financiers, businessmen and industrialists—some of them foreign—have been setting the stage for the abolition of Social Security since the mid-1980s. These men, he continues, play a bigger role in government than most Americans know or would like to think.

And the decisions they make, filtered through congressmen who are elected by the people but answer to the billionaires and power brokers who finance their campaign, stick—or else.

"The feeling among these men is that Social Security has become too great a burden on the federal budget and must be abolished to eliminate the deficit," explained the informant.

"Their interest in the deficit is purely personal," he continued.

"Their fortunes ride on the ability of the federal government to remain solvent and handle its debt.

"Without the burden of Social Security, the deficit can quickly be brought under control, increasing their wealth and personal power many times over. To set the stage for such drastic action, these men intend to manipulate stocks on a massive scale, causing the appearance of a financial crash that will serve as a smoke screen and excuse for eliminating Social Security.

"Vicious? Self-serving? Of course it is.

"But money talks, and if these power brokers don't have anything else, they've got the cash—and they call the shots.

"In the final analysis, politicians do what they're told to do.

"And they've been told to abolish Social Security in 1998, regardless of the cost in human suffering and misery."

The informant spoke to a handpicked group of reporters in a Washington hotel room and went to extraordinary lengths to keep his identity secret.

In addition to wearing a heavy leather mask, he spoke through a hand-held device that changed the sound of his voice.

He was also accompanied by two armed bodyguards and actually started the interview by placing two tiny vials of cyanide in his mouth. Had the session been interrupted by federal agents, he intended to break the vials open with his teeth, releasing the poison and taking his own life.

To prove he has access to information about the plot to abolish Social Security, he produced a top-secret Pentagon memo that, though heavily censored, speaks of the need for "a full military alert to prevent or contain work stoppages, riots and possible civil war in the wake of an artificial financial crash and ensuing announcement that Social Security has been abolished".

Neither the White House nor the Pentagon would comment on the whistle-blower's report, though one highly placed military insider conceded that the military "seems to be preparing to deal with a major domestic crisis of some kind". [Dumitru Duduman told me he (not the Angel) thought the revolution would start "from something like if they cut-off welfare". Will this be it?]

The informant concluded: "Americans are fighters. I don't think they'll take this lying down." [End quoting]

Hatonn told us many years ago that taxes would go out of sight and that Social Security and welfare would be done away with. These are the New World Order plans for takeover and starvation of unwanted humans!! Do you feel the sequence of events is speeding up tremendously?

THIS BUBBLE IS ABOUT TO POP

Swiss Banker Issues Blunt Warning Of 'Chain Reaction' Collapse

From THE NEW FEDERALIST, 10/27/97: [quoting]

Speaking to the Swiss Bankers Association Oct. 14, Prof. Bruno Gehrig, member of the Swiss National Bank directorate, warned that the "settlement risk" within the highly leveraged world foreign exchange market—which at approximately $1.7 trillion worth of trades daily, is one of the leading forms of derivatives trading—could cause an instantaneous meltdown of the world financial system.

Gehrig became the first central banker of an industrialized nation to issue such a warning. His statement, and others from London and elsewhere, confirm that the process of financial disintegration which Lyndon LaRouche alone had the knowledge and courage to forecast, especially in his March 1994 "Ninth Forecast", is advanced.

Events this week in Southeast Asia, including the fall in the Hong Kong stock market by over 15% between Oct. 20 and 22, and the announcement that the top 20 Japanese banks had cumulative losses of $17 billion for the first six months of their financial year—Japan's banking system is the world's largest—situate the breakdown process, and could at any time detonate the explosive phase of the crisis.

The reality underlying the crises in all the world's different financial markets is the $100 billion in derivatives held by the leading financial institutions. In a radio interview with EIR Talks Oct. 14, LaRouche stated: "There are over 100 trillion U.S. dollars equivalent of financial short-term obligations sitting out there. The United States is carrying 30—about one third of them—30-odd trillion of these obligations, plus other obligations. This is several times greater than the entire GNP for all the world's nations combined! Therefore all banking systems, since their current obligations vastly exceed all possible assets—they're all bankrupt! And this thing is coming down. The ability to postpone it gets shorter and shorter. In other words, every time you try a time-buying deal, the time that you can postpone it to the next time, gets shorter and shorter. It's a boundary layer. It's going to go." [End quoting]

No matter what the pundits say, there is a limit to this financial madness and we all are going to suffer the consequences. But the foolish and greedy will be wiped out.

Tie this article with the Social Security article and what do you have to look forward to when you put your trust and life in the hands of the bought-and-paid-for New World Order politicians.

CLINTON GIVES UP TRADE BILL— FOR NOW

Excerpted from THE DAILY NEWS, Los Angeles, 11/11/97: [quoting]

President Clinton conceded Monday that the trade legislation he had called crucial to the nation's global leadership was dead for this year, and the Republican leader of the Senate said the measure's chances of getting passed are even more remote for next year, when Congress is up for re-election. "Politically it will probably be next to impossible," said Trent Lott, the Senate majority leader. [End quoting]

So the Senate leader admits that the people are very much against this bill—indirectly saying that

PAINKILLER CONCERN

From THE MODESTO BEE, 10/16/97: [quoting]

A new study affirms that people who take too much of the popular painkiller acetaminophen can seriously damage their livers, particularly if they are alcoholics. Warnings about dosage limits, already appear on products with acetaminophen, such as Tylenol. People should pay attention to those labels and not exceed dose limits "when you're seeking pain relief and get frustrated", researcher Dr. William M. Lee said. Alcoholics appear to be particularly vulnerable to damage, said Lee, who reports his findings in today's New England Journal of Medicine. [End quoting]

If you really paid full attention to all the instructions for taking the Elite's medicines, you'd be afraid to take any. One day it's bad for you and then the next it will save your life—sure!

HERPES SOARS SINCE '70s

From THE MODESTO BEE, 10/16/97: [quoting]

Despite the emphasis on safe sex to prevent AIDS, genital herpes has increased fivefold since the late 1970s among White teenagers and doubled among Whites in their 20s. In all, about one in five Americans over age 12 has the sexually transmitted infection, and most of them don't know it, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reported. [End quoting]

Do you want to "play" with these odds? Russian roulette with a six-shooter gives you better odds!

DUH

Excerpted from PCCOMPUTING magazine, 11/97: [quoting]

Flash! Want a colossal "duh"? How does someone from the Clinton administration say "Screw you"?

Answer: "Trust me." Get this—after trying to unsuccessfully to ram the Clipper chips down our throats, and then the similar Fortezza for networks, Clinton has just announced he plans to ban any encryption technology that doesn't allow his government goons to unscramble the content. The Justice Department says that it may not actually use this antiprivacy tool, and that we should trust them. Right. Is this destructive to the industry and just plain idiotic? Duh. [End quoting]

The Clipper chip allows anyone who has the correct software to break into your computer at any time they desire. It allows them to see all your bank accounts and personal material without your knowledge—business or private citizen.

How would you feel if they could do this to you—by law?

Remember what has been said in the past: Don't leave anything on your computer that you don't want the government or anyone else to know. And, certainly don't allow them to legally search your computer without a warrant—if possible!

Climate Model Predictions vs. Satellite Measurements

Climate model predictions for temperature in the Northern and Southern hemispheres (solid black dots) are far higher than the actual satellite measurements. The observed warming is 0.5° C, while the models cited by the United Nations in 1992 predict warming between 1.3° and 2.3° C. In its 1995 report, the IPCC acknowledged that the earlier predictions were too high.

SHOPPERS OVERCHARGED BY SCANNERS. STUDY FINDS

From THE DAILY NEWS, Los Angeles, 10/31/97: [quoting]

One out of 25 transactions at department store and supermarket checkout scanners results in overcharges, costing California consumers at least $250 million last year alone, according to a report released Thursday.

The study, titled "Scanners or Scammers" by the California Public Interest Research Group, found that automatic price scanners rang up amounts that were too high 4.1 percent of the time while registering undercharges 1.6 percent of the time.

The group called for legislation requiring more frequent checks on the computer-coded machines—to be paid for by the stores—as well as penalties if scanners are found to be less than 98 percent accurate.

CalPIRG members also warned consumers to inspect their receipts carefully.

"California needs to know that the price is not always right," said Angie Farleigh of CalPIRG. "Every single day, thousands of consumers are being scammed by scanners and don't even know it."

In most cases of errors, prices were not coded in properly. That was especially prevalent with sale items, where the computers have to be reprogrammed for lower prices during certain dates and times of day.

In other cases, checkout clerks scanned the same item over the screen more than once, Farleigh said.

The data was based on investigations resulting from consumer complaints, rather than a methodical inspection by either CalPIRG or government agencies.

Representatives for Lucky, Vons and several other stores could not be reached for comment Thursday. But other members of the retail industry criticized the report, saying scanners make fewer mistakes than clerks working by hand.

"CalPIRG is basically supporting a political agenda," said Pamela Williams, vice president of the California Retailers Association.

Safeway spokeswoman Debra Lambert called the study "deceptive", saying it overstates the problem. She added that her company does everything it can to ensure pricing accuracy.

"With 200 stores in Northern California, hundreds of millions of transactions over a two-year period and 373 investigations, we were cited for only 11 violations," Lambert said. "That is truly statistically insignificant."

Consumers were not so forgiving.

"That's terrible that they would rob the consumer in that way," said Monica Harris, a 33-year-old dental assistant who shopped at Safeway on Thursday.

"It seems unacceptable that the level of mistakes is that high," said another woman, Deborah, who shopped there that day. She did not want her last name used.

Californians aren't only leaving millions behind at the counter, they're paying for the problem with tax dollars, too, because they foot the bill for investigations into complaints of overcharges. The largest 10 counties spent $335,000 between 1995 and 1997 to investigate scanner overcharges against 300 major retailers, CalPIRG representatives said. [End quoting]

How many of you readers have caught mistakes? I venture to say that anyone who keeps track of their prices has had it happen to them. Pay attention at the cash register—particularly when the mistake is 3-to-1 against you!

REPORT: DI HAD 'NO CHANCE'

Excerpted from THE PHILADELPHIA DAILY NEWS, 10/13/97: [quoting]

The first physician at the crash that killed Princess Diana said her injuries were so massive that even if the accident had occurred in front of a hospital emergency room she could not have been saved, Newsweek reported yesterday.

Dr. Frederic Mailliez, an emergency worker with SOS Medecins, said Diana had suffered a severe lesion to her pulmonary vein.

"Her heart had been ripped out of its place in her chest," Mailliez is quoted by the magazine. "There was no chance for her."

Mailliez arrived at the scene three minutes after the accident occurred in a Paris tunnel on Aug. 31.

"I held her hand and spoke to her, took her pulse, put the resuscitation mask on her, assured her she was safe," he told Newsweek.

He dismissed reports that the princess of Wales had given Mailliez any last message for her family.

"When you're in that kind of pain, you don't think much about giving testaments to the next generation," he said. "The only thing you think of expressing is the pain."

Mohamed al-Fayed, the father of the princess' boyfriend, Dodi, who also died in the crash, passed on what he says were the Princess Diana's last words to her family five days after the accident.

Newsweek also reported that French investigators were confident that in the next week they will track down a Fiat Uno thought to have been struck by the Mercedes in which Diana and Dodi were traveling. They hope the driver of the Fiat will be able to reveal the exact cause of the fatal crash.

The magazine said French police believe the reason the occupants of the Fiat have not come forward may be because it was carrying additional paparazzi.

Paparazzi photographs developed by French investigators show Diana with her eyes open apparently conscious and unhurt, with no sign of blood, Newsweek said. [End quoting]

The real truth will come out, eventually!

EXTREME CHIPS

From PC MAGAZINE, 11/26/97: [quoting]

A private industry group led by Intel, Advanced Micro Devices, and Motorola has joined forces with the E. O. Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory, the Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, and the Sandia National Laboratories (collectively the Department of Energy's Virtual National Laboratory) to create powerful new chips. The advanced lithography research aims to make chips with 100 times as much computing power and 1,000 times as much storage capacity as is possible today.

Called Extreme Ultra Violet (EUV), the technique will let manufacturers etch circuit lines smaller than 0.1 micron wide. The industry has just begun producing microprocessors using 0.25-micron technology. (One micron is 1/100th the thickness of a human hair.)

The group, called EUV LLC, plans to invest $250 million in private funding over the next three years to develop the technique for commercial chip manufacturing. It hopes to move today's developing EUV technology into factories early in the next decade. Intel projects that the microprocessor of the year 2011 will contain 1 billion transistors, operate at over 10 gigahertz, and deliver 100,000 MIPS (million instructions per second). [End quoting]

While this technology "apparently" marches forward, so much else is hidden from our use.

AIR WEB

From PC MAGAZINE, 11/6/97: [quoting]

No one's waiting around for the computer and broadcast industries to agree on a way to deliver high-definition television (HDTV) signals to PCs. The prospects are looking pretty dismal. In the meantime, entrepreneurs are coming up with ways to broadcast Web content over the airwaves to PCs.

Reston, Virginia-based Datacast, along with TV station affiliates, are running trials of its multimedia broadcasting system. This service delivers a slew of content—Web sites, games, applications, software updates, news, sports, weather, traffic, financial data, Datacast can transmit daily up to 6GB of Web content, games, software, upgrades, news, and sports. By partnering with local TV stations, it can air national as well as local information and advertising.

and commercials—via satellite to PCs equipped with $100 Datacast receivers. The technology transmits digital information in the vestigial sideband of NTSC television signals, at a throughput reaching 560 Kbps.

CEO John Abel, who positions the service as "not the Web and not TV, but in the middle", says that the business model is the same as that of local TV stations, one that enables both local and national advertisers to reach a wide audience. You'll be able, say, to view simultaneously a movie trailer and local listings of theaters.

The system doesn't broadcast data in real time. Rather, content, along with a continuously updated guide, is available 24 hours a day.

First to get the service will be Buffalo, Dallas, Los Angeles, New York, and Phoenix, starting in the first quarter of 1998. [End quoting]

Imagine how much subliminal mind control can be broadcast, too!

CONSPIRACY— AND THE FABIAN SOCIETY

Amazing what one comes across!

From THE NEW FEDERALIST, 9/22/97: [quoting]

Take for instance a report which was found in the Adelaide Advertiser, (7/15/1997). According to the report, Australian actor Mel Gibson has come out exposing the Fabian Society. Mr. Gibson, currently starring in a film called Conspiracy, said in an interview with magazine Vanity Fair that the Fabian Society was a group set up in the 19th century to bring Democratic Socialism to Britain, and had an agenda to gain control of the global economy.

"I mean," said Mr. Gibson, "why go and take a country with a bayonet when you can use the banking system?"

"Look what happened in Australia under Bob Hawke," said Mr. Gibson.

Gibson admitted people thought he was crazy when he started alluding to recurring patterns he saw developing in the world economy.

What Mr. Gibson has said is something that readers of The Strategy already know; however, what is interesting is that Mr. Gibson has become aware of such patterns and has ventured to make his opinion known. [End quoting]

Thank God some who have the power to expose the Elite in their own media are doing so. Keep up the good work, one and all!

SOME OF BILL CLINTON'S TREASONOUS ACTS

"We can't be so fixated on our desire to preserve the rights of ordinary Americans..."—Bill Clinton

From USA TODAY, 11 March 1993, page 2A: [quoting]

Why can't any of these be considered a violation of the oath of office to uphold the Constitution and qualify as TREASON!!

"Waiting periods are only a step. Registration is only a step. The prohibition of private firearms is the goal." —Janet Reno.

"What good does it do to ban some guns. All guns should be banned." —Sen. Howard Metzenbaum

U.S. BACKS EURO PLANS

From THE MODESTO BEE, 10/22/97: [quoting]

The Clinton administration endorsed preparations for a single European currency, the euro, saying Tuesday it expects no negative impact on the U.S. economy or to the dollar's continued dominance of the international financial system. "If the European Monetary Union works for Europe, it will work for the United States," declared Deputy Treasury Secretary Lawrence H. Summers. [End quoting]

Yes, it works for the Elite of the U.S., but woe to anyone else!

DRUG FIRMS PLEAD

From THE MODESTO BEE, 10/22/97: [quoting]

Prominent drug companies are making a last-minute push in Congress to forestall cheaper generic versions of some popular medicines that bring them hundreds of millions of dollars. The drug companies, led by New Jersey-based Bristol-Myers Squibb, are proposing to pay the government to extend their market monopolies on bestselling brand-name drugs such as the cancer treatment Taxol and the allergy medicine Claritin. The companies' money would be used for research on cancer, heart disease, AIDS and other diseases. [End quoting]

SOME HOSPITALS FORBID REGISTERED NURSES TO WEAR IDENTIFYING SYMBOLS

From THE MODESTO BEE, 10/23/97: [quoting]

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to comment on the letter from "Southern Florida", who said she couldn't tell the nurses from the cleaning crew at her local hospital.

What goes on in most hospitals reflects reality. The caps we once wore have been abandoned because they proved cumbersome around hanging IV bottles and tubing. Many of us find it practical to wear hospital-provided scrub suits. We wear white running shoes rather than the traditional nursing footwear of the past because that is what we do all day—run for 12 hours, often with no breaks.

The fact that a patient cannot make out the status of a caregiver by looking at the name tag is intentional. Recently, nurses in Northern California filed a lawsuit against their hospital because the institution would not allow them to identify themselves as registered nurses on their name tags.

It seems the hospital did not want patients to notice if the person taking care of them was a registered nurse or a nursing assistant. Interesting? —A Professional in California [End quoting]

Most businesses will cut corners any way they can to make an extra buck; but is that all that is at work here?

YOM KIPPUR OBSERVANCE BEGINS AT SUNDOWN

From THE DAILY NEWS, Los Angeles, by Ron Goldwyn, 10/10/97: [quoting]

Yom Kippur, the Jewish Day of Atonement, begins at sundown tonight with the haunting chant of the Kol Nidre in synagogues across the area and the world.

The holiest day in the Jewish year involves a fast from food and drink for 24 hours. It ends a 10-day new year season known as the Days of Awe that began Oct. 1st with Rosh Hashana.

Services—and fasting—will begin a few minutes before the 6:30 p.m. sunset. Soon after, the Kol Nidre, sung by a lone cantor or by a choir, will fill synagogues with both sounds and people.

"It is the way Yom Kippur has been ushered in for centuries, and the music is so haunting, people make a special effort to get to synagogue on time," said Rabbi Robert Layman, executive director of the United Synagogues of Conservative Judaism for the Delaware Valley.

Kol Nidre, he said, means "all vows". "It is a formula that was devised during the Middle Ages to absolve people from promises they may have made in haste, or in good faith, and were unable to keep, and from any they will make in the year ahead that for unforeseen circumstances they may not be able to fulfill," Layman said.

The chant is repeated three times with increasing volume, he said, representing "how you approach God with some trepidation".

Jews will return to their synagogues tomorrow for services that will last throughout the day.

Yom Kippur prayers focus on repentance, reflection, and turning toward new commitments. Rabbis describe it as a day to view the past year, forgive and seek forgiveness, and to let go of burdens that remain on the heart. Just after sunset tomorrow, Yom Kippur will conclude with the blowing of the shofar, or ram's horn, customarily followed by congregational or family break-the-fast meals. [End quoting]

Did the Jews give us the word breakfast?

Here it is folks, for the ones that stated the Kol Nidre is a farce.

Is the music purposely haunting to put them in a very receptive frame of mind to the Elite's propaganda?

Their "unforeseen circumstances" covers every imaginable situation for an excuse, especially if it involves the goyim.

They should have more than trepidation when they repeat this vow!

ANCIENT GRAIN HOLDS PROMISE FOR SURVIVAL

Excerpted from THE MORNING STAR, 9/10/97: [quoting]

Spelt sustained the ancient Egyptians; some people think it was the manna mentioned in the Bible and it could be the grain of the future.

Fred Williamson planted 18 acres on his farm near Armstrong this year and he has already used the grain to grind his own flour and bake his own bread.

"Spelt is the oldest grain on Earth," Williamson said while at the Interior Provincial Exhibition. "The seed was discovered by the Germans in the pyramids and it is quite well-known there although it is just becoming known in Canada."

Spelt grower Fred Williamson of Armstrong, left, was interested in the spelt display by Gabriele Wesle of Green Croft Gardens near Grindrod. The grain, which was grown by the ancient Egyptians, is regaining popularity for its nutritional value and ease of cultivation.

"You just put the seed in the ground and it's up to nature. You can't use sprays or commercial fertilizers on it or it won't grow well, it has no known viruses or smut like wheat, it is naturally protected against radiation and it's good for coarse soil because it takes 20 percent of its nutrients from the ground and the other 80 percent from the air. It cannot be altered genetically."

Williamson added that people who are allergic to gluten can eat spelt, which is more nutritious than wheat, and that spelt is high in cancer-protective nutrients. Spelt can be made into flour for bread and pastries and bakeries are now starting to produce spelt products.

"I think spelt is going to be one of the main grains. We'll be growing it for survival, not just for its nutritional value. There are so many Earth changes and weather changes [coming] that we will have to go back to basics for production and distribution."

Williamson expects to get about 80 bushels of spelt from his crop which he will keep for his own use. Spelt flour is available in local health food stores. [End quoting]

CONTACT readers have long been advised to use spelt bread—toasted and eaten with a generous portion of real butter which acitvates the cancer-prevention characteristics of spelt.

ONLY HUMAN?

From ANGELS ON EARTH, May/June, 1997, Guideposts, 39 Seminary Hill Rd., Carmel, NY 10512: [quoting]

I was going to drive my niece and nephew to Augusta, Ga., where their mom was in intensive care, recovering from surgery. I had promised them we would leave right after I got off work, but I had been forced to stay late.

"Visiting hours are over at nine, Aunt Donna," my niece, Sandi, reminded me as she slid into the backseat of my van.

Although I was familiar with the first leg of the trip, I wasn't completely sure of the roads from Dublin, the halfway point. It was dark when we got there and I couldn't figure out which way to go. I can't waste time getting lost, I thought. At that moment, five-year-old Michael picked up the mike from our old CB radio. He pushed a button.

"Breaker, breaker," he said. "Anybody out there?"

To my astonishment, a man's voice responded. "Breaker, breaker," he said. "This is Hambone. Where y'all headed?"

I listened as Michael explained that we were late getting to the hospital and didn't know the way.

"You in the van? I'm right behind you. Follow me!"

A bright-white semi passed us on the right. I took a chance and followed it onto a dark highway, watching other trucks clear a path for us. We reached the outskirts of Augusta at about 8:30 p.m. I knew my way from there. Hambone said he had to check his tires. He'd catch up with us later. But for the rest of our drive there was no sign of him. Michael repeatedly called out his handle. Then he looked over at me, his brow furrowed. "Aunt Donna, where do you think Hambone is?"

I didn't know. Our CB had never worked properly. We had always been able to hear other drivers but not talk to them. Until that night —Donna Biggers, Georgia [End quoting]

Editor's note: For those of you who may be new to our readership, meet Gary L. Wean: he entered the Los Angeles Police Department Academy in 1946, after making a number of distinguishing contributions in World War II. Along the road of a brilliant police career, he eventually became Chief Investigator for the Ventura County Public Defender Office. After Century 700 A.D. when the Kazyr Mongols converted to Judaism and called themselves Jews, they pressed on in their migration westward into Russia and Europe. They filtered into a region West of Kazakhstan, which is over three thousands miles west of Kazyr and the Sayan Mountains that the Mongols had inhabited for centuries. This new region was between the Caspian and Black Seas and north of the Caucasus Mountains which separated Russia and Persia.

Some historians and researchers call this region Khazaria and maintain that Khazarians are the origins of the Jews. This tumult in the origin of the Jews lies in the assertions of a radical Mongol Jew, A. N. Poliakov, a professor at Tel Aviv University who in the early 1940's wrote a book Khazaria in Hebrew. A.N. Poliakov, a Jew, perpetuated the lie that Jews were Khazarians and were Semitic to keep the Jews' insane hoax alive and to propagate their claim that the eastern Russian Jew originated in what Poliakov calls Khazaria, which was actually Caucasian territory.

The Caucasus Mountains dividing Russia from Persia were the birthplace and cradle of White Caucasians and the Aryan race who ranged north of the Caucasus Mountains into Russia and on to Europe.

When the Kazyr Mongols moved into this area between the Caspian and Black Seas, they built settlements and established synagogues and their Judaistic rabbi system to which they had been converted over a century before.

But, in 1940 when the Jew professor A.N. Poliakov wrote his book Khazaria, he called these Mongol people Khazarians. This was to camouflage and erase the name Kazyr and the fact that the Mongol Jews' area of origin was actually 3000 miles to the east.

Again, here is another extreme effort in the Jew conspiracy to fool and victimize the World. The Jew Poliakov in his book Khazaria would have the world believe that the Christian Caucasians in the Century 800 A.D. had converted to Judaism. And then even more bizarrely Poliakov claimed Khazaria was the seat and origin of the eastern Russian Jews.

Everybody the Jews don't like, they stigmatize by screaming their insane lie, 'anti-Semitic' at them. A stigma is a mark of infamy, a taint, blemish, a blot of disgrace on one's name. It stands out on an honest person like bleeding spots. With these false accusations, the Jews have destroyed the entire future of millions of honest, loyal Christians and intimidated others to the point they can't function normally.

Desperately, the Jews hate the exposure of their evil wickedness. But even more they hate the fact that their distinct facial and body characteristics make them so easily identifiable that they have become stereotyped. Having been cast in the rabbis' matrix (mold) from which Jews are produced in the synagogues like soulless automatons with no individual original ideas aside from their evil, the Jews have a problem. Unable to disguise these hateful, ugly characteristics, the Jews needed a quick solution, and they came up with another outrageous 'Finkelstein Whammy' to cover up for themselves. They grabbed onto the word stereotype. A stereotype is a cast or plate taken from a mold fixed firmly and unalterably, not only in looks but in beliefs and actions.

The Jews, knowing that they could not conceal their physical identity, proceeded to elevate the word stereotype to the status of a major crime—anyone even hinting at their descriptions became guilty of a detestable, so-called 'Hate Crime'.

This charge of 'stereotyping' they hurl at Christians with their special Jew type of venom.

The Jews constant blasting of Christians with every hateful name they can think of, 'anti-Semitic, redneck, patriot, militia, far-right terrorists, mean spirited', etc., etc., have succeeded in inflicting a permanent 'whammy' on the Christians.

It should be noticed that in all the Jews' screamings, wailings, gnashing their teeth and banging of their heads on the wailing wall and accusing Christians of every horrible, hateful crime coming to their sick minds, they leave one thing out. Never do they claim that what the Christians are saying is a lie. Never do the Jews refute anything on the basis of truth or present evidence or facts to back themselves up, just their eternal screaming and wailing.

The Jews' stance is that, because they control everything—the courts, newspapers, TV, churches and politicians, etc.—they can vilify me and I have no way to fight back. But they are dead wrong—I am one Christian who doesn't die of fright at their two-bit 'whammy'. The Jews are not 'God's Chosen People', and I remind all Christians that "The eyes of God move to and fro across the whole Earth, seeking a man whose heart is perfect toward Him." I do not intend to abandon God or his Son Jesus Christ and those false Christians who espouse the Judeo-Christian lies, betraying and blaspheming God and Jesus.

Never in the history of the entire World, from its very beginning has there ever been anything so vile, such sick evil conceived and written, as what the Jews call their Talmud Judaism, the Jews' law that they follow. And desperately the Jews hate the exposure of this evil wickedness. But even more they hate the fact that their distinct facial and body characteristics are so unmistakable and make them so easily identifiable that they have become stereotyped. Even the males and females look alike—Henry Kissinger and Betty Friedan with their heavy heads, large noses and thick lips; you cannot miss them. And there are the dwarf-types, Ruth Bader Ginsberg, Ellie Weisel and Barbara Boxer, etc. In Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Switzerland, Austria, etc., they are commonly known as gnomes (dwarfs who dwell underground). A little more difficult are the composite types such as Madeleine Albright, Louis Freeh and William Cohen who seek to cover up their identity by infiltrating and sabotaging Catholic and other Christian churches. But this is only a short-time subterfuge, as they cannot prevent their engrained Jew traits from bursting forth.

Here is how the Jew came about.

Soon after the Crucifixion of Jesus, a group of the Pharisaic Judaist people departed the Holy Land and traveled to Spain and Portugal. Settling there, they practiced their Pharisaic evils for two centuries.

It is absolutely essential to remember that these Pharisaic people were what later became known as Sephardic Jews. Their blood was that of Israel; they were the killers, the conspirators with Judas who after the Crucifixion hanged himself.

For two centuries, these people in Spain spread their Pharisee Judaism to other countries and wrote volumes and series of volumes on their Pharisaic beliefs and laws. There were no takers, no one else would accept it, and Phariseeism was dying out. Then about 200 A.D. rabbi Juda put together all these volumes and combined them in one language. It was called Judaism (the Talmud) and rabbi Juda became known as the Holy and all rabbis became spiritual leaders of their community.

For over 500 years these Judaists continued to spread their Judaism to other countries, but it was a failure and Judaism had become almost extinct. But then in Century 700 A.D. one of the traveling-salesmen rabbis peddling Judaism struck it rich. He was many thousands of miles from Spain, in northern Mongolia when he came in contact with the Kazyrs, a tribe of millions of Mongol barbarian raiders. The rabbi quickly perceived that this horde of savage Mongols were sitting on the crossroads of rich trade routes. If the Judaists mastered these routes, they could exert their influence and control over all trade and merchandise from Spain (western Europe) through eastern Europe and Russia, and all the way to China and India.

Selling the Kazyr Mongols a bill of goods, the rabbi cut a rich deal with the Mongol hordes, and they converted to Judaism. That was when the Mongols in their dialect (Yiddish) called themselves Jew, their utterance for Juda. By mid-Century 700 A.D., the Judaists in Spain were running trade caravans protected by the fierce Mongols all the way from Spain to Peking, China and Bombay, and Calcutta, India and other cities along the way. This was five centuries before Marco Polo claims to have opened these routes. This contract between the Pharisee Judaists in Spain and the Kazyr Mongols in the Century 700 A.D. still exists to this very day. The Kazyr Mongols (as explained herein) became known as Ashkenazi Jews, and to separate themselves from the Mongols, the Pharisaic Judaists in Spain acquired the name of Sephardic Jews.

There is another separation other than just these two names, and that is blood. The descendants of the so-called Sephardic Jews are the bloodline of the Pharisees from Israel, who killed Jesus and conceivably would have tenuous legal and religious claims in the Holy Land. (Judaism is a cult, not a religion.)

The descendants of the so-called Ashkenazi Jews are the bloodline of the Kazyr Mongols; they have no connection to the Holy Land whatsoever. Until their conversion to Judaism in Century 700 A.D., they had no knowledge of Jesus and had no hand in the Crucifixion. The so-called Ashkenazi Jews have no legal, religious, moral, ethnic, cult nor any other kind of claim to the Holy Land whatsoever. The Mongol Jews are conducting the greatest religious scam the world has ever suffered.

It has now come to light that God had implanted the Ashkenazi Jews with a frightening, special gene that mutates to deadly colon cancer.

The so-called Sephardic Jews, the killers of Christ, because of their different blood, do not have this special gene. But what terrible punishment God has in store for these evil Sephardic people only God knows.

Today's so-called 'ultra-orthodox' rabbinical factions (whoever they are) through the Old Testament have designed a new scam claiming Israel is the 'Chosen leader among nations'. This is furtherance of the Mongoloid Jew insane conspiracy of world control. And they got this all out of their Talmud since 700 A.D. when they first called themselves Jews. What these Mongolian Jews' descendants now call Jewish ideology dictates that 'All' land ruled by a Jewish ruler in ancient times or promised by God to the Jews in the Bible should belong to Israel. There was never a Jew ruler of the Holy Land in ancient times. And the lie that God promised 'All' the land to the Jews in the New Testament is just another evil blasphemous scam.

It came about this way. The Yiddish dialect used by the Kazyr Mongols in 700 A.D. had corrupted the rabbis' word Juda to that of Jew. As the Kazyr Mongolians spread far and wide throughout Russia, east Europe and west Europe, they took on the languages of the various regions they settled. The Yiddish dialect became little used, but was still handed down and kept alive by the die-hards and their word Jew was heard by few.

The first edition of the New Testament translated into English was the Rheims Edition in 1582, and the word Jew did not appear in it.

The King James Authorized translation of the New Testament into English was begun in 1604 and first printed in 1611. The word Jew never appeared in this edition either.

In the 1770's when the Revolutionary War was cranking up, a group of wealthy International Mongol Jews printed their own editions of the New Testament.

These unauthorized editions suddenly carried the word Jew and stated that Jesus Christ was a Jew. Hundreds of thousands of copies of these sabotaged New Testaments were distributed to the clergy of every Christian church in America, England and throughout the English-speaking world. None of the church people knew the history or origin of this new English word Jew; in fact, they had never before even heard of it. But they accepted it without question. Every New Testament printed since the 1770's has continued to use the word Jew and claim that Jesus Christ was a Jew. The Christian clergymen without hesitation continued to repeat over and over these lies to their congregations and communities. It became worse as the Christian churches were infiltrated by Mongol Jew saboteurs and the Christian preachers were encouraged to repeat this lie. It was even brought around to the point that the ministers, preachers, pastors and priests claimed that Jesus practiced and worshiped Judaism. This was a forerunner of the Mongol Jews' so-called Judeo-Christian crap.

It is very easy to see what deadly peril and evil these vicious Mongol Jews have led Christians into; it is Satanic.

Thank Heaven that God's eyes moving across the whole Earth have seen this terrible wickedness and now throws the light of truth and punishment on the Jews. And God's anger is terrible to behold.

In the World's history Judaism is the most vile, obscene, lewd, pornographic, blasphemous beliefs ever put together and touted to be a religion. Judaism's words are combined and written in a document the rabbis call the Talmud. The Mongol Jews venerate, study and follow this sewage with sexual gratification and evil delight.

It must at this time be remembered that the Mongol Jews have no connection whatsoever, in any way, with the ancient Holy Land or its people. They did not convert to Judaism or begin to study the Talmud until in the Century 700 A.D., at which time they gave themselves the name Jew and appointed their own Mongol rabbis.

In the year 1935, the International Mongol Jews for the first time in history printed the official, unabridged translation of the complete Talmud in English. The rabbis dreaded revealing their evil secrets, but Judaism had practically died out because the younger generations of Jews living in English-speaking countries could not read it. A very small number of Talmud copies were printed by the Soncino Press in London. At one time copies were in the Library of Congress and the New York Public Library, but these copies were mysteriously removed years ago. Now we are going to get to this filthy sickness called Talmud Judaism. But remember, the Mongol Jews did not write it; they followed it. The Talmud Judaism was conjured up and written by the real Christ killers, the Judaist Pharisees. These are the people who after the Crucifixion traveled to Spain and Portugal and set up shop there. After the Mongol Jews took on the disguise of Ashkenazi Jews, the Pharisees, who felt themselves above the Mongols, adopted the name Sephardic Jews to maintain a separate identity.

In the Jews' Talmud, in the section called Sanhedrin, 54a-55a-55b, the rabbis preach that "Pederasty (sodomy) bears no guilt as long as it is performed on boys less than nine years old and sex is permitted with girls less than three years old."

In another section of this horrible, slimy document, the Kethuboth, 11a-11b, the rabbi says, "when a grown up man has intercourse with a little girl it is nothing, for when a girl is less than this it is as if one puts the finger in the eye (7) for as tears come to the eyes again and again, so does virginity come back to the little girl under three years." And the filth goes on and on for hundreds and hundreds of pages.

Back to the Oxnard City Council meeting in September, shortly before the November 1996 election, Council candidate Roy Lookwood rose to speak before the council—TV cameras were rolling. Lockwood held up my book, There's a Fish in the Courthouse and suggested that the council read it to learn about the rampant political corruption in Ventura County.

That precipitated instant chaos and pandemonium in the room. Leaping to their feet and screaming were: Rabbi Michael Berk, at the Temple Beth Torah, 7620 Foothill Dr., Ventura, Cal. 93003, (805) 647-4181.

Reverend Larry Tyler-Wayman, United Methodist Church, 1801 Joliet Place, Oxnard, Cal. 93030 (805) 485-0778.

Senior Pastor Alan Gorsline, St. Pauls United Methodist Church, 1800 So. 'C' St., Oxnard, Ca. 93033, (805) 487-2711; Residence, 2721 Stern Lane, Oxnard, Ca. 93033.

James Reach, lawyer, 450 W. Beverly Dr., Oxnard, Ca., 93030, (805) 487-7100.

Running around the room screeching in a frenzy, they called me every denigrating name they could come up with.

It was understandable that the rabbi and shyster lawyer were screaming; they are both Mongol Jews. But the two preachers from the United Methodist Church were a surprise—a surprise I couldn't understand when they were screaming and calling me, among other things, a demented nut and a kook, and that people like me shouldn't have the right to speak out or write a book. The United Methodist preacher's beliefs that the people should not be allowed the right of free speech was scary.

The two Christian preachers were highly incensed at me, even though they didn't know me and had never even read my book. But their actions didn't mystify me for long when I discovered that they were actually connected with rabbi Michael Berk and were infiltrators of the Christian religion. They were in league with the rabbis in sabotaging the Christians with their insane, phony, Judeo-Christian and Faith Connection utterances.

The United Methodist Church throughout the country conducts day schools for the small children of their congregations. They teach these young Christian children that Mary was a prostitute and Jesus was a Jew. Jesus is not a Mongol Jew and is not connected blood-wise or by DNA with the Mongolians in any way.

And it sends shivers up my spine that Judaistic perverts like Alan Gorsline and Larry Tyler-Wayman are eyeing these young boys for sodomy and the little one- and two-year-old girls for their sexual pleasure.

The Christian parents lead their children into these day schools like sheep to the slaughter. And believing that these evil preachers are their friends, they welcome them into their homes where the Alan Gorsline's and Larry Tyler-Wayman's ogle their babies with sodomitic and sexual pernicious ecstasy.

If Christians become upset and sick to their stomachs at what they are reading here, don't blame me; it is written by the rabbis in their Judaistic Talmud. They should ask their preachers why they are leading them into this evil Judeo-Christian and Faith Connection with the Talmud.

And listen to this: In the Talmud (Book) Abodah Zarah, 36b-37a—it is not pederasty (sodomy) if a heathen child less than nine years old commits pederasty with a Jew child, but at nine years and one day he becomes an adult capable of seminal emission and thus capable of defilement, and this holds good for girls three years and one day old, at which time they become capable of a sexual act by an emission.

Can't you just see these sick idiots calling themselves rabbis with nothing more to do than sit around for centuries writing this absolute filth?

But there is more; In (Book) Sotah, 26b—A man or a woman does not commit adultery in a sexual connection with an animal because that is merely an obscene act and not adultery. And did the All Merciful (whoever that is) prohibit a wife to her husband for an obscene act? (4) No, she would not be prohibited to her husband for such an act.

Now I'm getting sick to my stomach, but I have to relate this one. This was written by the Pharisee Judaists 700 years before the Mongol Jews converted and embraced this Talmud filth. (Book) Yebamoth 60b: "There was a certain town in the land of Israel the legitimacy of whose inhabitants was disputed, and the rabbi sent R. Ramanos who conducted an inquiry and found in it the daughter of a proselyte who was under the age of three years and one day—(14) and the rabbi declared her eligible to live with a priest."

Some people believe the end will come in flood and fire—but I believe that God's eyes are roving the Earth looking at the evil in men's hearts, and the end will come in a mass mutation of the Mongol Jews' colon-cancer genes. Over ten percent of the Mongol Jews presently have had their special, identifying gene mutated and have been stricken with deadly colon cancer.

In the libraries of Oxnard, Cal., and Grants Pass, Oregon, where Gail Warner is the librarian, books that mention anything the Mongol Jews do not like are shredded or destroyed (refer to the Talmud Judaist laws previously recorded herein).

To destroy a small town newspaper, Warner made anonymous, threatening phone calls to its advertisers intimidating and frightening them that if they did not pull their ads they would lose their customers.

In her Mongol Jew arrogance and stupidity, Warner made the calls from her home phone and was caught in the act by caller identification equipment that recorded her name and number. In the case of Roy Lockwood, the librarians in Oxnard were conducting the same operations to destroy Lockwood's election campaigns. People's library cards are checked by the librarians in their computer as to what books they are checking out. If they are taking out books that are adverse to gays and lesbians, or Jews, or about hunting, gun collecting etc., etc., they send this information to Roni Blau, head of the ADL in Los Angeles and to the ACLU lawyers, along with personal information on library card holders about their families, their jobs and business, their bank accounts and property they own, etc., etc.

If the Mongol Jews want to intimidate or harm these citizens, they make up false stories about them and send it to the heads of the IRS, FBI, BATF, CIA, Energy Dept., Agriculture Dept. and any other government agency, to be used to harass and destroy a citizen. This information is also sent to the Mongol Jew heads of banks, S&L's, credit card companies, to sabotage the Christians' businesses. We are talking about the thousands of secret FBI files that Louie Frech handed over to Willie Clinton to intimidate and blackmail the Republican Congressmen. There was supposed to be a Senate Investigation of this—has anyone heard any more about it?

Presently the U.S. Senate is conducting hearings on the IRS violations. The witnesses relate many horror stories about the lower ranking agents' actions. But this evil comes right from the top, from Fred Goldberg, head of the IRS (now removed) and his boss Robert Rubin, Treasury Secretary, both Mongol Jews. Not only do they destroy Christians who get in their way, but they cover up and conceal the huge criminal fortunes of Jews who deal in drugs like Steven Spielberg, David Geffen, Lou Wasserman and Judge Harry Pregerson, etc., etc. These Mongol Jews have slipped Pres. Wm. Clinton huge amounts of unlaundered drug money to sleep in the White House.

Senator William Roth, Delaware, is conducting the IRS hearings. However in 1987, over ten years ago, Senator Roth was given documented evidence of all these crimes against the people, including murder and theft of their property. Roth covered it up along with all the other U.S. Senators whom I have listed in the front of my book There's a Fish in the Courthouse.

The Senators who conspired in 1987 to cover up these horrendous crimes were both Democrats and Republicans; one is not an iota better than the other.

Why should the people believe Senator William Roth today is going to help Americans fight a corrupt IRS any more than he helped them in 1987? What he is going to do is fire a few unlucky lower-level IRS agents, then blow a little smoke and cover up the crimes of the Mongol Jews again.

At this point I quote just a few of the Mongol Jews' Judaistic laws that they follow. The Christians who are forever bragging about their fine Jewish friends that "they have known for years" should put on their 'body armor'.

Makkoth (7b) Jews are innocent of murder if their intent was to kill a Christian.

Midrasch Talpioth (225) Christians were created as slaves for Jews always.

Zohar (II, 64b) The Christian birth rate must be diminished materially.

Zohar (I, 131 a) Christians befoul the world.

Schabbath (116a) Talmudists agree that the books of Christians must be burned.

Abhodah Zarah (62a) Jews are forbidden to observe Christian Christmas day.

Chullin (91b) The Jews possess a dignity that even an angel cannot share.

Chagigah (15b) A Jew is considered good in spite of sins he commits.

Choschem Ham (26, 1) A Jew must not sue before a Christian Judge or laws.

Iore Dea (148, 12h) Hide your hatred for Christians at their celebrations.

Iore Dea (146, 15) Refer to Christian religious articles with contempt.

Babha Bathra (54 b) Christians' property belongs to first person claiming.

Choschem Ham (183, 7) Keep what Christians overpay in error.

Abhoda Zara (54a) Usury may be practiced upon Christians.

Babha Kama (113a) A Jew may lie and perjure himself to condemn a Christian.

Kallah 1b, P18 A Jew may perjure himself with a clear conscience.

Schabbouth Hag (6d) Jews may swear falsely by use of subterfuge wording.

Zohar (I, 160a) Jews must always try to deceive Christians.

Hilkhoth Akum (x, 1) Do not save Christians in danger of death.

Choschem Ham (386, 10) A spy may be killed even before he confesses.

Sanhedrin (59a) Prying into the Jews' 'Law' to get death penalty.

Iore Dea (158, 2 Hag) Kill renegades who turn to Christian rituals.

Abhodah Zarah (26b T) Even the best of Gyim (Christians) should be killed.

Sepher OR Israel (177b) If a Jew kills a Christian, he commits no sin.

Zohar (II, 43a) Extermination of Christians is a necessary sacrifice.

Hilkhoth Akum (x, 1) Make no agreements and show no mercy to Christians.

Pesachim (49b) No need of prayers while beheading on Sabbath.

The above is only a small selection of the Jews' 'Law' that the Jews must obey in their vendetta of hatred for Christians.

The following Jew 'Law' deals specifically with the librarians and my book, but the entire Jew 'Law' is just one horrendous horror of hate against the Christians. Schabbath (116a) Talmudists agree that the books of Christians must be burned.

Mossad Attack

Murder Incorporated: Zionist Terrorists Exposed

Dear Rick,

Enclosed is my latest story, "MURDER INC.", the story of the Hamas assassination in Jordan; it has been kept off the Front Pages by the stock market doo-doo, perhaps not accidentally. At any rate it is the last we shall ever hear of it, so once again it is up to CONTACT to keep the story before the public.

All the best,
/s/Eustace C. Mullins

10/27/97 EUSTACE MULLINS

On September 25, 1997, the reality of the State of Israel was exposed to the world. On that day, in downtown Amman, capital of the Middle Eastern nation of Jordan, two professional killers stalked their prey, an Arab official named Khaled Meshal, who was on his way to his office. The Washington Post, Oct. 9, 1997 described the assassination plot in Meshal's own words. One of two Mossad killers, posing as Canadian tourists, "fell in behind Meshal as he left his car and extended an arm to the Hamas leader's left ear. From a lead-colored instrument wrapped in tape came a loud, popping sound, Meshal said, and a shivery sensation raced down his spine like an electric shock. The two agents were captured after a car chase by Meshal's bodyguards. Meshal was taken violently ill and hovered near death until an antidote to the poison was delivered to him after King Hussein's angry demand."

Although not always fatal, the poison administered to Meshal in the attempted murder was deliberately chosen as a slow-acting poison prolongs hours of intense agony for the victim, characterized by uncontrollable vomiting and finally respiratory arrest. It is one of eighty-two poisons developed by Yagoda, Jewish chief of the KGB under Stalin, during years of intense research.

TERRORISM UNMASKED

The Meshal atrocity reveals to the American people that the State of Israel, to which our taxpayers contribute three billion in cash each year, plus "military" and other commitments amounting to ten billion a year, exists today only because of its sordid history of terrorism. Zionist terrorists in groups such as the Haganah and the Irgun Svai Leumi, relentlessly carried on a campaign of political assassinations in order to set up the State of Israel, including the murders of Lord Moyne, a mediator, and Count Bernadotte, a Swedish aristocrat acting as a United Nations peace maker, who was actively aiding the Zionist cause, but was not moving fast enough to satisfy the terrorists. Another Zionist atrocity was the bombing of the King David Hotel in Palestine, in which many innocent people were killed.

MURDER IS THEIR FOREIGN POLICY

After the attempted murder, Crown Prince Hassan of Jordan flew to Washington with a briefcase filled with documentation of Israeli atrocities, but Secretary of State Madeleine Albright claimed she was too busy to see him. He was quoted in the Washington Post: "The Jewish state's tradition of glorifying covert killing is part of Israel's intention not to become a country that is part of the region." A senior American diplomat was quoted as stating, "It's a basic view of post-Holocaust Jews." His father, King Hussein of Jordan, was furious that the killers would boldly carry out an "assignment" in his capital. He is the only Arab leader who made peace with Israel, thereby making himself vulnerable to attack from other Arabs. Knowing the ways of the killers, Hussein knew that there had to be an antidote to the poison, in case the killers spilled some on themselves during the assassination. He demanded that Israel make the antidote available, which was agreed to, saving Meshal's life, and further demanded that the Israelis release the ailing founder of Hamas from prison. A 61-year-old quadriplegic serving life in an Israeli prison, Sheik Ahmed Yassin had spent eight years in a dismal Israeli cell. Not only did the Israeli Prime Minister, Binyamin Netanyahu, release Yassin, who returned home to the plaudits of cheering crowds, but 70 more political prisoners were also released by the Zionists.

The Washington Post noted on Oct. 8, 1997, that "A defiant Netanyahu, having ordered agents of Mossad, the Israeli espionage agency, to assassinate Hamas political chief Khaled Meshal in Amman last month, appointed a 'three-man clarification committee' to investigate the affair. The three committee members are business figures who worked in the past for the defense and intelligence establishments. The choice was criticized because all three are known to be very close to Netanyahu." In so many words, the Prime Minister appointed a committee of cronies to whitewash his ordering of the assassination. No other nation has its top political officer personally order and approve murders.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

Not only has terrorism been an essential part of the establishment of the State of Israel—it is still an established policy. Barton Gellmann writes in the Washington Post, Oct. 12, 1997, "Israeli law not only sanctions assassinations but regularizes it to some extent. At roughly the same time that the U.S. Congress passed the assassination ban, then Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir set up twin committees—a forum of security service chiefs known by its Hebrew acronym, Varash, and a selection of government ministers known as the X Committee, to vet [sic] candidates for assassination by the Mossad, Israel's espionage agency."

Thus Gellman reveals that at the highest levels of Israeli government, politicians meet to solemnly "vet" candidates for assassination! The Washington Post reported on October 13, that Jordan expelled all undercover agents accredited to the Israeli Embassy, and suspended security cooperation with Israel. The Post's editors editorially expressed no moral concern about the attempted assassination, but did suggest on October 7, in a very mild editorial titled "An Operation Gone Wrong", as an alternative measure to such attempts, "an integrated diplomatic strategy".

The victim, Khaled Meshal, denounced the attempt as "state terrorism", which describes the history of the State of Israel. In order to understand why Israel is founded on terrorism, we must look at the history of the area. In the nineteenth century, the Rothschilds began to finance Jewish settlements in the Arab area of Palestine. In 1947, when the United Nations ordered the partition of Palestine into Jewish and Arab sectors, there were 630,000 Jews and 1,300,000 Arabs living there. The Jews were a 31% minority. Mass terror was their only option to drive the Arabs out and take over the country. In 1940, Joseph Weitz, head of the Jewish Agency there, wrote, "We shall not achieve our goal if the Arabs are in this small country. There is no other way than to transfer the Arabs from here to neighboring countries—all of them. Not one village, not one tribe should be left." From its inception, the Zionists have had but one goal: the elimination of the Arab presence in Palestine.

FORGED PASSPORTS

To protect their professional assassins, Mossad has used forged passports to give them false identities. The Washington Post noted Oct. 10, "the Israel custom of using forged Canadian passports" to protect its murder raids in other countries. If apprehended, the killers would claim asylum at the Canadian Embassy, and then escape the country. Because Canada's government is dominated by the wealth of Zionist billionaires such as the Reichmanns and the Bronfmans, complicity of leading Canadian politicians was involved in the notorious use of forged Canadian passports by Mossad's killers. With its sordid conspiracy exposed, Canada responded by ending the practice, and by recalling its Ambassador to Israel, Daniel Berger, as a token protest. Canada claimed that Israel had reneged on a previous promise to stop using forged Canadian passports, revealing that Canadian officials had been aware of the practice for years.

extensive coverage to the passport issue, noting that Israel had been caught using Canadian passports before. The two assassins captured in Amman had Canadian passports in the names of Shawn Kendall and Barry Beads. To add to the mystery, the real Shawn Kendall, a Toronto native, was found working in Israel, and interviewed. He told the Post that he was "an innocent victim", but offered no explanation as to why the killers were using his name.

ZIONISTS INTRODUCED TERRORISM

Although the Zionist media in the United States is always careful to define "terrorism" as an Arab technique, it was the Zionists who made terrorism an active force in modern politics. Israel's leaders from its inception as a state have always had their activities founded in ties to the terrorist operations of world Zionism. Golda Meir, who was for many years Prime Minister of Israel, has always been touted as a harmless Milwaukee school teacher. In fact, she was for many years the active head of Mossad terrorist activities in the United States, and directed its worldwide operations. She financed its work with millions of dollars siphoned from the budget of the Chicago Department of Sewers, an arrangement set up for her by the Zionist political boss of Chicago, the notorious "Colonel" Jake Arvey. The paychecks of as many as 12,000 "ghost workers" were sent to Meir each month to finance Mossad.

Typical was the career of Yitzhak Shamir, who became Prime Minister of Israel in the 1980s, after serving as a deputy director of Mossad. He was a professional gunman who had such an aptitude for his work that he was placed in charge of all political assassinations. We should not be surprised that the present Prime Minister of Israel, Netanyahu, personally ordered the murder of Meshal.

ANCIENT TRADITION OF ASSASSINATION

There would be no State of Israel today without its long traditions of assassinating political opponents. In the nineteenth century, the Jewish Bund laid the foundations of the Soviet Union by assassinating numerous Czars and high-ranking Russian officials during the nineteenth century. These leaders were killed, not because they were "oppressors", but because they were liberals. The terrorists realized that their liberal policies would ameliorate the sufferings of the people, as they were intended to do, and that these Czars and their officials must be killed before they could reduce political tensions in Russia.

As Jewish author Samuel Roth points out in his historic work Jews Must Live, "anti-Semitism is the lifeblood of the Jewish race." What he is saying is that without the spur of anti-Semitism, Jews would assimilate and disappear. As Ralph Schoenman points out in his historic work The Hidden History of Zionism, Veritas Press, 1988, p. 47, "The founders of Zionism despaired of combating anti-Semitism and paradoxically, regarded the anti-Semites themselves as allies, because of shared desire to remove the Jews from the countries in which they lived. The Zionist movement came to regard the anti-Semites themselves as their most responsible sponsors and protectors." Schoenman points out that during the Nazi era in Germany, the Zionists occupied a position of preference. In May 1935, Reinhardt Heydrich, the chief of the S.S. Security Service, wrote an article in which he separated Jews into "two categories". The Jews he favored were the Zionists. "Our good wishes together with our good will go with them." The Zionist Federation of Germany sent a memorandum of support to the Nazi Party on June 21, 1933, stating, "a rebirth of national life such as is occurring in German life, must also take place in the Jewish national group. On the foundation of the new (Nazi) state which has established the principle of race, we wish to fit our community into the total structure so that for us too, in the sphere assigned to us, fruitful activity for the Fatherland is possible." Schoenman points out that the World Zionist Organization broke the Jewish boycott and became the principal distributor of Nazi goods throughout the Middle East and Northern Europe, at a time when the German economy was extremely vulnerable. He recounts many pages of collaboration between the Zionists and the Nazi regime. Adolf Eichmann was invited to Palestine as the guest of the Haganah, the Zionist terrorist group!

ANTI-SEMITISM IN THE UNITED STATES

In 1950, Jewish leaders were given a survey which showed that the Jewish community would soon cease to exist in the United States, because of the rapid assimilation of Jews into the American mainstream. As a result, the Jewish leaders commissioned the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, a Jewish Masonic organization, to seek out, publicize and assist "anti-Semites" anywhere in the United States. The leaders believed that only the threat of an American Holocaust would bring Jews back into the community. The task seemed monumental. Not only was there no anti-Semitic activity in the peaceful American social structure—the United States has been known for two centuries as a sanctuary for Jews from all over the world.

Nevertheless, the Anti-Defamation League set about its assigned task, to persuade American Jews that there would soon be a Holocaust in the United States. With unlimited funds, but with very little actual "anti-Semitism" to work with, the ADL has tirelessly publicized "anti-Semitism" in the United States for almost half a century. During this period, much to their dismay, not a single Jew has ever been killed here! Nevertheless, they issue statistical reports of "anti-Semitic acts", force Congress to pass a "hate-crimes" bill, and promote the "threat" of anti-Semitism with national coverage given to any event which might be remotely interpreted as being "anti-Jewish". They have a twenty-eight-million dollar annual budget as a tax exempt organization whose sole function is to stir up and promote racial hatred and discord in the United States. Working with Mossad and the American Israel Political Action Committee in Washington, they form an unholy trinity which terrorizes public debate and political activity in the United States. No political figure dares incur their wrath, which means the sudden end of their career, as such esteemed figures as Senator William Fulbright and many Congressmen have discovered. No Washington politician has dared to comment on the Khaled Meshal attempted assassination, for fear of bringing about his political destruction. Mossad agents themselves often play an active role in determining the outcome of elections in the U.S.

Typical was the race of Democrat Lynn Yeakel in Pennsylvania against Republican Arlen Specter. Although Yeakel was ardently pro-Israel, Mossad did not wish to see him replace the Zionist agitprop activist, Specter. Yoram Ettinger, the Mossad's congressional operative, put all his influence behind Specter. Yeakel lost half the Jewish vote; Specter squeaked in by only three percent. When Pennsylvanians voted for Specter in the delusion that they were thereby supporting the State of Israel, they did not realize that in effect they were supporting only the terrorists wing of the Israeli government, the Mossad connection which produces its Prime Ministers.

WORLDWIDE KILLING OPERATION

The attempted murder of an Arab leader in Jordan is, as the Washington Post sorrowfully pointed out, "An Operation Gone Wrong", meaning that the killers were caught, and the victim survived. Whether it will alert Americans to the terrorists operating in their midst, with the full sanction of the Washington politicians, remains to be seen. After the 1972 Munich Olympics, during which some Israeli athletes were killed, Golda Meir directed the Mossad to find all those responsible and kill them. Ahmad Bouchiki, a Moroccan waiter in a Norwegian ski resort, Lillehammer, was mistaken by Mossad killers for Ali Hassan Salameh, a security aide to PLO leader Yassir Arafat, and the man reputed to have planned the Munich operation. The Mossad killed Bouchiki, only to find that they had killed the wrong man. Israel had to exert tremendous influence in Norway to recover from this blunder. The killings proceeded despite this error. In 1979, Mossad caught up to Salameh and killed him in Beirut. In 1988, Mossad agents killed Khalid Wazir, who was Arafat's senior deputy. In 1995, they killed Islamic Jihad leader Fathi Shiari in Malta. The following year, they used a booby-trapped cellular phone to kill Yekuza Ayash, a Hamas operator known as "the ENGINEER" in Gaza City.

The Mossad killers operate worldwide, including in the United States, with the full support not only of Israel's political leaders, but with the support of the entire Israel population. In a spirited radio debate after the Meshal incident, the leader of the Third Way political party in Israel not only argued that Israel should engage in political assassinations throughout the world, but opened a debate as to whether such assassinations should take place in "friendly countries", such as Jordan and the United States!

A WINDOW OF OPPORTUNITY

This latest Mossad atrocity offers American voters a window of opportunity. This is the time to notify your Congressman that you no longer wish to see billions of dollars each year of the tax monies extorted from you by brute force to be used for hired killers roaming the world in search of their unsuspecting targets. Perhaps Khaled Meshal will be the instrument for liberating Americans from the unholy trinity of the Anti-Defamation League, the Mossad, and the American Israel Political Action Committee, which routinely terrorizes our elected representatives in Washington. We must not fail to act on this unexpected opportunity. Act now to protect yourself from the worldwide terrorism which is paid for by your tax monies! ☸

Technological Invention?

Now You See It—Now You Don't

Part II: Delving Deeper Into The Realm of Patents

11/7/97 RICK MARTIN

"Thus the intelligent layman realizes that he is surrounded by manmade objects—the products of innovation—that constantly serve as a reminder of his ignorance. It may be this contradiction, coupled with the possibility of resolving it provided by technology itself, which has led to a growing desire in the community to access the likely future effects of the present high rate of change." James Burke, from the book Connections.

Now, consider this (from another book):

"The most important part of any technology, more often than not, turns out to be invisible. If you could peer through magical spectacles that would reveal the parts of aluminum cans that you normally don't see, for example, you would perceive lines of force connecting the contents of your refrigerator to global geopolitical conflicts.

"When I pop an aluminum can, it hardly ever occurs to me to think about the working conditions in the West Indies (bauxite is mined in Jamaica), or the costs of rejecting nuclear power in favor of other energy-production technologies (if the energy used to manufacture cans doesn't come from a nuclear reactor, it comes from one fossil fuel or another, or from a dammed river). An aluminum can affects and is affected by the cost-effectiveness of truck tires (which translates to miles-per-gallon-per-pound of cans) and the price of petroleum needed to transport all that ore, refined metal, and end-products around the world. Aluminum begins with someone digging the right kind of ore out of the earth, but the most expensive component of a can is the energy required to extract, process, manufacture, and transport it to your hand.

"Profits and benefits from new technologies like aluminum foil and aluminum aircraft are visible, but costs and delayed or distant effects are invisible. What we need badly right now is a way for more and more people to see, understand, and decide collectively, through our discussions and our buying and voting decisions, exactly which trade-offs we are willing to make in return for technological conveniences. We need to find ways to make the invisible parts of technology more visible.

"While an endless addictive quest for a 'technological fix' is not the answer to the problem of building a sustainable civilization for billions of people on a planet with limited resources—neither, I believe, is it wise to reject the very technologies we are going to need in years to come. We need the best tools we can muster to manage the world of energy-consuming billions we've inherited. We can't discard our tools, despite their evident defects, because we need them for our survival.

"How do we find new modes of perceiving technology, new ways to think about, design, and use tools? How can we develop more conscious means for democratic societies to make decisions about technologies? The next step beyond access to tools is access to understanding how to use them. In what directions does that step proceed? How do we start learning to look at the world of technology, and our places in it, in new ways? Before we can hope to achieve answers, we must elevate the level of discourse from an argument between tree-huggers and nuke-lovers. The world is more complicated than that. We need richer, more widespread, less simplistically polarized discourse about technology and social issues, because that is the only kind of environment where viable solutions are likely to emerge." Howard L. Rheinfold from the chapter titled "Making Technology Visible" in the book, The Millennium Whole Earth Catalog: Access to Tools & Ideas for the 21st Century.

In the first part of this series we explored the historical background and definitions concerning patents. Further, it was stated that to file a patent is often an error in that needless delays occur, in addition to exposing the invention or process to unknown individuals or entities. Steps may be taken whereby the confidential materials concerning a given invention may be documented and placed into security, prior to proceeding with the actual production and distribution of a given product. This all may be accomplished WITHOUT ever filing for a patent. Many an inventor or creative individual has been discouraged by the long and tangled process of applying for a patent, which is SUPPOSED to protect the rights of the inventor. This is often NOT the case. Please remember that A THING is rarely as it is presented to be. The naive and the gullible public have fallen prey for years to this massive and complicated system where advanced technology may be, literally, BURIED—all the while being made available and USED by the Elite controllers of our world. Sound impossible? Think again.

And now, let's continue with our examination of the entire patenting process.

U.S. PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE— AN INTRODUCTION

Reading from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office's website, is the following introduction: [quoting]

For over 200 years, the basic role of the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) has remained the same: to promote the progress of science and the useful arts by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries (Article I, Section 8, of the United States Constitution). Under this system of protection, American industry has flourished. New products have been invented, new uses for old ones discovered, and employment opportunities created for millions of Americans.

The PTO is a non-commercial federal entity and one of 14 bureaus in the Department of Commerce (DOC). The office occupies a combined total of 1,480,763 square feet, in 15 buildings in Arlington, Virginia. In fiscal year 1994, the office employed 4,977 full time equivalent staff to support its major functions—the examination and issuance of patents and the examination and registration of trademarks.

The PTO has evolved into a unique government agency. Since 1991—under the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (OBRA) of 1990—the PTO has operated in much the same way as a private business, providing valued products and services to our customers in exchange for fees which are used to fully fund our operations. The primary services we (the PTO) provide include processing patents and trademarks and disseminating patent and trademark information.

Through the issuance of patents, we encourage technological and advancement by providing incentives to invent, invest in, and disclose new technology worldwide. Through the registration of trademarks, we assist businesses in protecting their investments, promoting goods and services and safeguarding consumers against confusion and deception in the marketplace. By disseminating both patent and trademark information, we promote an understanding of intellectual property protection and facilitate the developments and sharing of new technologies worldwide.

PTO programs are conducted under the following principal statutory authorities:

15 U.S.C. 1051-1127 contains provisions of the Trademark Act of 1946 that govern the administration of the trademark registration system of the Patent and Trademark Office.

15 U.S.C. 1511 states that the Patent and Trademark Office is under the jurisdiction and supervision of the Department of Commerce.

35 U.S.C. contains basic authorities for administration of patent laws, derived from the Act of July 19, 1952, and subsequent enactment. Revenues from fees are available to the Commissioner to carry out, to the extent provided for in appropriations acts, the activities of the Office. The Patent and Trademark Office is authorized to charge international fees for activities undertaken pursuant to the Patent Cooperation Treaty, Deployment of automated search systems of the Office to the public is authorized.

[End quoting.]

In a several-page description of the Patent and Trademark Office published in an "official" U.S. Government reference book, we read: [quoting]

The Office examines applications for patents to determine if the applicants are entitled to patents under the law and grants the patents when they are so entitled. The patent law provides for the granting of patents in three major categories: utility patents, design patents, and plant patents. The term of a design patent is 14 years from the date of grant. The term of utility and plant patents is 20 years measured from the earliest effective U.S. filing date, if the application for patent was filed on or after June 8, 1995. For utility or plant patents that were in force on June 8, 1995, or that result from an application filed prior to June 8, 1995, the term shall be the longer of 17 years measured from the date of grant or 20 years measured from the earliest effective U.S. filing date. [Still quoting.]

All utility patents are subject to the payment of maintenance fees. Effective June 8, 1995, applicants may file provisional applications for patents in the PTO (Patent and Trademark Office). Provisional applications are available for utility and plant inventions but not design inventions. Provisional applications are not examined and will become abandoned by operation of law within one year of the filing date of the provisional application. The provisional application itself cannot mature into a patent. However, if applicants wish to obtain a patent on the invention disclosed in a provisional application, applicants must file a nonprovisional application not later than 12 months from the filing date of the provisional application.

The Office also issues Statutory Inventions Registrations, which have the defensive but not the enforceable attributes of a patent. It also processes international applications for patents under the provisions of the Patent Cooperation Treaty as an International Searching Authority under Chapter I of the Treaty and as an International Preliminary Examining Authority under Chapter II of the Treaty.

Over 114,500 patents providing inventors with exclusive rights were issued for the fiscal year of 1995. Effective January 1, 1996, patentees have the right to exclude others from making, using, offering for sale, or selling the invention throughout the U.S. or importing the invention into the U.S. during the term of their patent. Patents and trademarks may be reviewed and searched in the PTO and in over 78 patents and trademark depository libraries throughout the country. The patent system fosters innovation, investment in developing and marketing inventions, and prompt disclosure of technological information.

About 67,000 trademarks were registered for fiscal year 1995, and 6,785 trademark registrations were renewed. A trademark includes any distinctive word, name, symbol, device, or any combination thereof adopted and used, or intended to be used, by a manufacturer or merchant to identify his goods or services and distinguish them from those manufactured or sold by others. Trademarks, registered for 10 years, with renewal rights of equal term, are examined by the Office for compliance with various statutory requirements to prevent unfair competition and consumer deception.

For further information, contact the Office of Public Affairs, Patent and Trademark Office, Washington, D.C. 20231 or phone (703) 305-8341. The office's operations are located at 2121 Crystal Drive, Arlington, VA 22202. [End quoting.]

THE PATENT SEARCH

In Techniques For Preparing and Obtaining Your Own Patent, by Hrand M. Muncheryan, we read: [quoting]

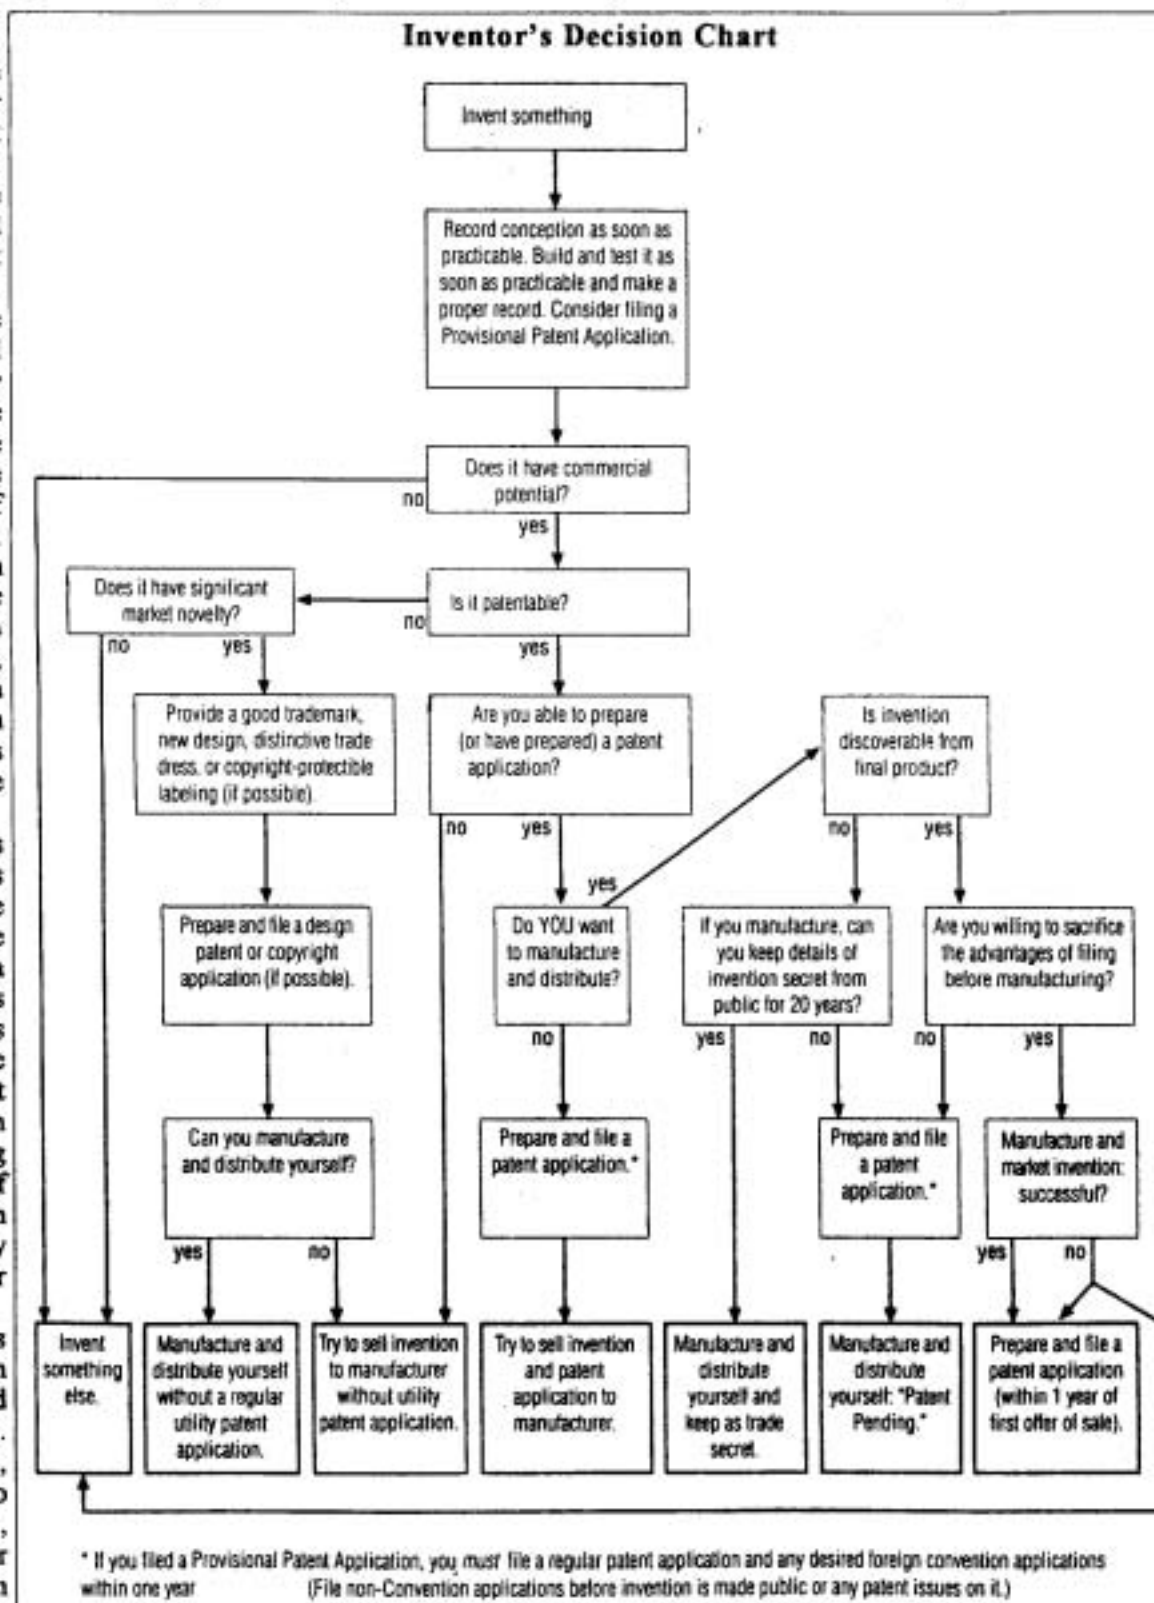

Prior to filing an application, the Patent Office will not advise an inventor as to the novelty of an invention or act as counselor for individuals. All records pertaining to issued patents are open to the public. When it is not convenient for an inventor to inspect these records, he may employ an attorney to make a patent search for his invention. However, the records of pending applications are preserved in secrecy and no information can be obtained on such cases until issued. At times, information may be exposed during an interference but only to the rival applicants.

In the search room of the Patent Office, the patents are arranged in classes and subclasses according to their nature. Most of the prior patents relating to a given invention may be found during the search. The value of such a search depends on the ability of the searcher and the time he spends on it. In litigation cases, months are sometimes spent in examining the files in search of prior art. However, such intensive and prolonged methods are not usually resorted to before filing an application. A simple search through proper classification should be sufficient, however inconclusive it may be.

It is usually impossible to advise that a patent can be obtained on an invention as a result of a patent search which has disclosed no anticipation. Nor can one state positively that an existing patent is valid, because there might exist uncovered prior patents or publications appearing in periodicals or books. Opinions of patent examiners as to what does or does not constitute invention also vary widely. In important patent cases, a validity search is made to determine whether any of the requisites of patentability were lacking in the prior patent when it was granted. [End quoting.]

THE PATENT APPLICATION

In Inventions, Patents and Their Management, we read: [quoting]

The word application means either the act of applying for a patent, or the papers that the applicant must submit to the Patent Office. The government will not seek out the inventor to reward him; he must file an application in the proper form. In most cases he does this through a patent attorney. With an average invention, this process now takes about three years and costs the inventor several hundred dollars, though both time and cost vary enormously.

In the United States, only the actual inventor (with certain exceptions) may apply for a patent. Who is the inventor? He is the man who furnishes the ideas needed to produce the sought-for invention, even though he himself may not have the skill to make drawings or models. He may hire others to make these things without ceasing to be the inventor. But if an assistant also furnishes some of the essential ideas for solving the problem, then he becomes a co-inventor and must sign the application too. And it is not invention to conceive a result and hire another wholly to produce that result; in such a case the employee, not the employer, is the inventor.

When a patent is issued, the Patent Office sends the patentee a certificate announcing the grant of the patent and describing the invention. This document is called the letters of patent. Though the owner of a patent normally keeps possession of the letters patent, it is not legally necessary that he do so. The patent can be transferred without the certificate, and possession of the latter does not prove ownership of the former.

The printed drawings and descriptions of patented inventions that can be bought from the Patent Office (for a nominal cost) are generally called "patent copies" or "copies of patents". A more accurate name would be "copies of the drawings and specifications of letters patents". The word patent is often loosely used in three different senses: the inventor's contract with the government, the letters patents, and the patent copies.

The main parts of a letters of patent are the grant, which legally conveys the patent's exclusive rights to the patentee; the drawing, which pictures one or more embodiments of the invention; the specification, which describes the invention in detail; and the claims, a set of numbered paragraphs at the end of the specification which precisely define the scope of the invention and determine just what the patent controls. A drawing includes all the pictures illustrating a patent, though one drawing may comprise several sheets and many figures. [End quoting.]

TYPES OF PATENTS

From Techniques For Preparing and Obtaining Your Own Patent, by Hrand M. Muncheryan, we read: [quoting]

Pioneer Patents: Patents that are granted on inventions when an art is young are pioneer patents. Edison's incandescent lamp, Land's Polaroid material, Farnsworth's electron multiplier, Zworykin's iconoscope, and Robertshaw's thermal controls may be classified as pioneer inventions.

Basic Patents: Patents that are broad enough in scope to dominate a large part of an art are basic patents. While most pioneer patents may be considered as basic as broadly covered in a patent, a pioneer patent may be drawn too narrowly to be considered a basic patent. On the other hand, a basic patent may come too long after the art has been known to the public to be considered pioneer. Patents on items that are generally known by the names of their originators or trade names are basic. Such items are characterized by Gillette razor, Rayon, Wien oscillator, Hall process of refining aluminum, etc. Later patents on similar things are improvement patents.

Improvement Patents: Patents in a given art subsequent to pioneer or basic inventions are improvement patents. These patents are those granted as an art grows older and more crowded. The flexible term art may be divided into larger arts and smaller arts. A patent in a larger art may be an improvement patent, and in a smaller art it may be a basic or pioneer patent, when finer improvements and discoveries are made on the subdivision of the larger art. For instance, in the larger art of hydraulic valves, a particular type of sealing gland may be a subject of a basic patent. The majority of the patents that are granted are improvement patents, as will be noted in the preamble of a patent application.

Underlying Patents: Underlying patents are those pioneer and basic patents that have preceded certain improvement patents in an art. This is regardless of whether the pioneer or basic patents are still in force or have expired. Patents on Gillette, Rayon, Hall process, Polaroid, etc., are considered underlying patents.

Dominating Patents: When a patent covers an invention so fully that improvements on it or combinations involving it cannot legally be practiced without the consent of the patent owner, the patent is called a dominating patent. A dominating patent does not have to be a basic or pioneer patent. Any improvement patent may cover such a scope that it dominates any further improvement inventions, making any later improvement patents, if granted, subject to invalidation.

Subservient Patents: Inventions whose making, using, and selling are controlled by a patentee by virtue of his granted patent are dominated inventions. Patents on such inventions dominated by broader patents are called dominated or subservient patents. Many subservient patents may be considered valueless.

Anticipating Patents: Patents on inventions whose description and inventive matter are revealed in other publications or patents, so as to prevent the granting of subsequent valid patents, are known as anticipating patents.

Unitary Invention Patent: Inventions covered by utility patents are either unitary or combination. In a unitary invention, the useful result is obtained by a single unit—for example, a razor blade or a novel clip for holding papers together. The patent on such an invention is called a unitary patent.

Combination Patent: A combination patent is granted on an invention which requires more than one unit to produce a result and has claims reading on such a plurality of units. A combination patent may be granted on a particular kind of pen point and a particular type of pen-point holder. In such case, it would not be an infringement to make, use, or sell either the pen point or the holder if one or both are not protected separately by unitary patents. A combination patent must produce a unitary result. If more than one result is produced, such as a pencil with an eraser tip (each provides a separate function) the invention would be an aggregation and no patent will be granted.

Fortifying Patents: After a patent is granted on an article, minor changes may be made in the article, and these changes may be protected by an additional patent or patents for the sole purpose of strengthening the patent position. Such patents are called fortifying patents. Fortifying patents are useful in the prevention of circumvention of the patent by others.

Nuisance Patents: Sometimes patents are obtained by an inventor for the sole purpose of annoying or hampering another. A manufacturer may buy a patent from an inventor and shelve it, thereby preventing his competitor from acquiring the patent and working it. Such patents are known as nuisance patents and are rarely put into practice. [End quoting.]

Let's continue examining the patent process by reading, again, from Inventions, Patents and Their Management: [quoting] patents are classified as follows:

(a) Inventions that comply with the patent laws are called patentable inventions, and those that do not, even if of great value to the public, are called unpatentable inventions.

(b) The kinds of patents that can be granted for patentable inventions are called utility patents, plant patents, and design patents.

(c) The inventions for which utility patents can be obtained are classified as processes, machines (mechanisms), manufactures (articles), and compositions of matter (materials).

(d) Early patents, granted when an art is young, are known as pioneer patents, and they are granted on pioneer inventions.

(e) Patents broad enough to dominate or give control of a large part of an art are called basic patents. Pioneer patents are usually basic, but a pioneer patent may be too narrow to be considered basic, and a basic patent may come too long after the beginning of the art to be considered pioneer.

(f) Inventions in an art following the pioneer inventions are called improvement inventions, and patents subsequent to basic or pioneer patents, granted as an art grows older and more crowded, are called improvement patents. The term art in this sense is elastic. The larger arts are divided into smaller, and a patent may be a narrow improvement patent in a large art and at the same time be a basic and pioneer patent when considered as part of a small subdivision of that art.

(g) The pioneer and basic patents that precede improvement patents in an art are called underlying patents, whether or not they are still in force.

(h) A unitary invention is one that gets its results by means of a single unit or part, such as a razor blade, while a combination invention is one that requires more than one unit or part to produce its result, such as a combination of a razor blade and a handle. A combination patent is one that dominates only a combination of parts, not the individual parts themselves. To be patentable, the combined parts must act together to produce the result; otherwise the invention is an aggregation and unpatentable.

(i) A generic or primary claim dominates a large part of the art wherein it lies, while specific or secondary claims do not.

(j) Broad and important inventions are sometimes called generic inventions, meaning that generic claims can be written to describe them. A patent granted on such an invention is usually termed a basic patent. A narrower and less important invention is usually called a specific invention, meaning that its scope is limited by specific claims. Basic and improvement inventions are sometimes referred to as generic and specific inventions respectively.

(k) When a single broad invention has several possible modifications or embodiments, the broad invention is called the genus and the various embodiments the species of that genus. Claims are likewise genus or species claims.

(l) Patents are often obtained on unimportant changes of structure for the purpose of strengthening a patent position. These are often called fortifying patents.

(m) Sometimes a manufacturer buys a patent that is of little or no direct use to him because he fears it might hamper his business in the hands of a competitor. Such patents are sometimes called nuisance patents.

[Still quoting]

BOUNDING AN INVENTION

To bound an invention is to determine its boundary or scope, that is, its external or limiting lines; to figure out how much of the invention is really new and how much is already known. The boundary of an invention may be compared to that of a piece of land. Starting with the broadest unit, the continent, land is divided into nations, states, counties, townships, and so on down to lots and fields. Considering an invention in the same manner, how much territory of an art does it cover? If it creates a whole new art, it is a generic invention and covers a very large territory. It will in time be split into hundreds or thousands of smaller divisions as specific or improvement inventions are developed.

The term breadth, as applied to patents, means how much of an art the patent claims dominate. If a patent is taken out on the first invention of an art and is drawn so broadly as to dominate every other invention in that art throughout the patent's life, it would be as broad as possible. One might say it had a breadth of 100 per cent of the art.

By scope is meant all the inventions that are dominated by a patent or a claim of a patent, contrasted with those that are not. Suppose that the claims of a patent cover a certain invention, and the drawing and specification illustrate a particular form or embodiment of that invention. If the claims are at all broad, it should be possible to change the form or embodiments of the invention shown without escaping the domination of the claims. These variations would be within the scope of the patent. Changing the invention so that it was no longer dominated by the claims would place it outside the scope of the patent. [End quoting.]

Yes, but who really owns knowledge? Who has a "claim" on specific information? And, of more importance for consideration, how safe is YOUR information once it has been placed outside your immediate control? Let's examine this concept a bit further.

WHO OWNS KNOWLEDGE?

In a book titled Sci-Tech Report: Everything You Need To Know About Science & Technology In The '80s, edited by Jon Turney, we read in the chapter "Who owns knowledge? Patents, copyright and intellectual property": [quoting]

Scientific knowledge is still widely regarded as a public good. That is, it is regarded as knowledge which is freely available for anyone to use. In practice this is not so. The free availability of scientific information is reduced not only by commercial and military secrecy but also by the patent system. And we are now seeing moves to adapt this system—and the complementary legal framework of copyright—to meet new demands. There is a shift away from information as a free good to a concept of "intellectual property", which is owned, traded, and unequally shared like other forms of property.

Patent legislation dates back to the eighteenth century. A patent grants an inventor the sole rights to market or use an invention or a new process. In granting inventors—be they individuals or organizations—a monopolistic property right over knowledge for a fixed period, patents are intended to serve two functions. First, because they last a number of years they allow the patent-holder to reap the financial rewards of a monopoly. In so doing they are intended to stimulate capitalist entrepreneurship by offering protection against rapid "copy" entries into the market, plus the additional monopoly-based profits. Second, by allowing the inventor to "own", and hence control the use of patented knowledge, the need for commercial secrecy is removed. Since other people cannot use patented information without permission or payment, there is no need to keep it secret. (Most opinions suggest however that patent applications do not contain enough information to recreate inventions, and patents with military implications are kept secret regardless.)

Today, in the OECD nations, patents have different significance in different sectors. In a sector such as electronics, know-how is so complex that patents are not needed to protect market position. Similarly, in the detergent market, where there is a lot of product differentiation, marketing and advertising rather than technology secures markets. The role of patents is probably best known, and most notorious, in the drug industry. Pharmaceutical R&D is relatively expensive but copying a drug is cheap, so patent protection is important in preventing competitors copying and marketing drugs for which they have not borne R&D costs. Drug companies, anxious to exploit the same markets for new drugs, consequently devote much of their research to finding slightly different versions of each other's compounds.

Patenting is also important in the new developments in biotechnology. Since US courts ruled in 1980 that new life forms—in the sense of genetically-engineered microorganisms—could be patented, a whole new arena has opened up. In a way, life itself has now become the property of the capitalist corporation. Since biotechnology research presently involves academic-industrial collaboration this new area raises similar questions concerning academic freedom and access to information on campus-based military research.

There is also a question of credit for discovery. The so-called Boyer-Cohen patent, granted for a method of manipulating genes which underpins a wide range of work in biotechnology, in turn draws on the work of many groups of researchers in molecular biology. Yet, as things stand, other groups who want to use the method have to seek permission from Stanford University, who holds the patent.

The sort of tangle this attempt to lay claim to knowledge can create is well illustrated by a story involving interferon—one of the hottest industrial properties in biotechnology, as many believe it could be an important therapeutic agent against viral infections. In 1977 a leukemia victim gave some bone marrow cells to researchers at the University of California, who used them to establish a new cell-line in culture. Another biologist, examining this culture-line, found that the cells made interferon. He in turn passed samples to a colleague working at the drug-company-sponsored Roche Institute of Molecular Biology. When the Roche scientists had developed the best medium for growing the cells so that they could make interferon, they passed the whole package on to the biotechnology firm, Genentech, to make interferon genes. Then entered the patent lawyers, with the University of California and Hoffman La Roche both claiming rights over the gene. The university claimed rights as the home of the scientists who laid down the original cell-line; La Roche filed a patent application covering the interferon production and the gene-splicing method used to multiply the gene.

This looks (very much) like profiteering, exploiting the normal free exchange of information between academic scientists. Small wonder that Donald Kennedy, president of Stanford University, believes, "Scientists who once shared pre-publication information freely and exchanged cell-lines without hesitation are now much more reluctant to do so...the fragile network of informal communication that characterizes every especially active field, is liable to rupture."

In another sphere, developing countries face particular problems with the patent system. They are importers of technology and Western multinationals own the patents on much of the technology they want. Often they cannot get access to this without a licensing agreement. A patent-holder will allow use of the technology, for a fee, under the terms of a license. License agreements are expensive and typically contain restrictive clauses which forbid, for example, future technical development or limit the areas in which the products manufactured under the license may be sold. This situation has led the non-aligned nations of the South to demand a code of conduct governing such transfers of technology from North to South. Not unexpectedly, they wish this code to be binding. The North will only consider a voluntary code, and there has been stalemate in these international negotiations for several years.

In the more general field of copyright, there is constant pressure to update the law, both to cope with the opportunities for copying offered by new technology and to construct a framework for exploiting the new opportunities offered by information technology. Copyright law, devised when almost all information was in printed texts, now has to cope with computer software (programs) on tape and disc, video and audio cassettes and tapes which can be easily copied, photocopying of documents, and instantaneous data transfer. And there is big money to be made in offering key groups privileged access to valuable information, on stocks and commodities, for example. (Please remember, this is a quote, not advocacy.) The transformation of Reuters news agency from an ailing provider of copy for newspapers to a high-technology business information-provider, valued at hundreds of millions of pounds, is the most conspicuous example of this in the UK.

A report to the UK government from the cabinet office's Information Technology Advisory Panel (ITAP) in late 1983 took a radical approach to all this. The group, made up almost exclusively of executives from high-technology industry, argued that "there is now an expanding 'tradeable information sector', which encompasses the supply of financial and business information, printing and publishing, on-line technical information, consultancies, etc." Significantly, the panel include entertainment and education as parts of this economic sector. Education also has a separate role to play, they suggest, in which schools "should inculcate the concept that information has value, and that this value is the foundation of much economic activity."

Scientific societies and publishers are in the forefront of this new approach to marketing information, as the report points out. The longest established on-line electronic data-bases—computer stores connected to widely dispersed terminals through the telephone system—are the searchers of the scientific and technical literature. More than 300 such databases are now available in the UK, "varying in size from chemical abstracts, produced in the USA by the American Chemical Society, with over 5 million entries, to very small databases with as few as 10,000 entries. Prominent UK databases include INSPEC, the database of abstracts in physics and engineering produced by the Institute of Electrical Engineers (2 million entries) and the World Patent Index."

In science, as in other areas, the thrust of these developments seems to be access to very powerful tools for literature-searching and acquisition of knowledge—for those who can pay. Setting up such on-line databases creates information-rich subscribers and information-poor outsiders. In business, that fact itself is generally part of the value of the data. The ITAP report suggests that new copyright legislation—taking account of the potential of new technology—may need to strengthen the protection of the interests of the information supplier as against those of the user. It says nothing about protecting those who need information but cannot pay. [End quoting.]

CONSIDER THIS

Steward Brand, in his book The Media Lab: Inventing The Future At MIT, says: [quoting]

The human communication environment has acquired biological complexity and planetary scale, but there are no scientists or activists monitoring it, theorizing about its health, or mounting campaigns to protect its resilience. Perhaps it's too new, too large to view as a whole, or too containing—we swim in a sea of information, in poet Gary Snyder's phrase. All the more reason to worry. New things have nastier surprises, big things are hard to change, and containing things are inescapable.

We don't know yet how ignorant we are. [End quoting.]

Perhaps part of our ignorance as a public is our seemingly blind trust of governmental agencies supposedly created to protect the interest of inventors and advanced thinkers alike, only to find out that there is FAR MORE to this picture than meets the eye.

Next week we will delve even more deeply into the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and what their technology plan is from now through the year 2002.

You know, applying for a patent is a lot like placing the wolf in charge of watching over the hen-house. Am I saying that there are not well-intentioned individuals in such a large government agency? Of course not. What I AM saying is: do not be foolish or naive by revealing private and confidential information. Rather, consider the possibility of privately developing your invention or idea and merely placing it into the marketplace, scattering it widely. You then, at least, stand some chance of making a profit and having a go of it. Otherwise you may just be waiting forever for a patent that never seems to come. Am I giving you legal advice? No, this is just one man's opinion. You decide.

"Soft Blows The Wind"

Soft blows the wind, upon gentle hearts,

Oft times we've sensed the message it imparts,

Finding now our place, our Oneness in God's plan,

The way becoming clearer, it is ours to command,

Beauty unfolds about us, by Nature's law we see,

Love grows much deeper, as it has for all eternity,

Oneness always in spirit, through the many Lifetimes spent,

Wonderful is our heritage, by the plans God has meant,

Sharing thoughts with others, as we heed the inner voice,

This fills us with gratitude, we're thankful for the choice,

Harmonizing now our spirits, our thoughts of one accord,

Ever we acknowledge this, as we heed His holy Word,

With love and faith to guide us, our souls with rapture glow,

Inspiring thoughts from loved ones, the words from us flow,

Now in the present moment, we know that which is true,

Destiny rules our future, all our lifetime through.

Behind The Scenes On The World Stage

MISCELLANEOUS CURRENT EVENTS

It is difficult to confront "a" topic when the news is filled to overflow with that which is important and yet given in totally erroneous presentation. For instance, why, REALLY, are you headed for a major war with Iraq? Could it really be new developments from the mean old man from the Middle East? Of course not, but the real reason for the confrontation should not be too difficult to uncover if you generalize all of the things taking place about which you are told.

In every instance you must consider the "whole" and never look at what is projected as "apparent". There are myriads of reasons, for instance, that Clinton might well be on the Presidential move into something BIG. But the reason will not be what is proposed to you-the-people. Remember that Clinton's controllers and handlers are struggling for their political lives while Clinton dances around in the tunnels under the White House and tosses grenades (that he has been instructed to toss) at the so-called enemy, mean old Saddam.

IMPEACHMENT UNDER "HOUSE" INVESTIGATION

Enough really hard EVIDENCE is now public to impeach Slick Willie and bipartisan backing is growing as scandal after scandal breaks forth about the First Family. An Inquiry of Impeachment Resolution, directing the Judiciary Committee to "inquire whether or not grounds for impeachment for William Clinton exist" is under consideration. It should be noted that this topic is under heavy attention of all the "alternative" press papers. There is a coalition of at least 17 colleagues of Rep. Bob Barr structuring this major political move toward a full inquiry.

Nobody wants to do a half-baked political move of this magnitude in bringing charges against what—in the opinion of a majority of the people—is the most corrupt administration to sully the White House in the nation's history. And, rightfully so, because if you look carefully at Willie's options as per his higher-level echelon of instructors and handlers, the next move is to MOVE THE U.S. INTO A WAR SO THAT THE "INQUIRY" IS INSTANTLY SQUELCHED BEFORE IT GETS FULLY BIRTHED. YOU DON'T IMPEACH A PRESIDENT "IN WAR".

You have moved into a time where the culprits in crime have the ability to play their trump cards and thwart almost every move toward bringing about good government. Therefore any excuse to move troops and have military intervention or interplay will be utilized instantly when the going gets too serious to overcome through political power of ordinary measures.

While you are now focused on the Middle East—AGAIN—guess what? The senate (of your U.S.A.) struck a deal that allows the Chinese Ocean Shipping Co. (COSCO [remember?]) access to the closed Long Beach, California, naval facility. This too puts Clinton into a bind because he personally has to certify that COSCO is not a security threat. But, Clinton had long been getting pay-offs from the Chinese, so guess what this means? Open sailing.

But you thought that deal was off? See what happens when you stop looking? And moreover, guess what—more military bases are set for the slash-and-burn pile.

Could the Chinese use that port as a transfer place for drugs and arms? Certainly. Only last February the shipping giant (COSCO) was caught attempting to smuggle 2,000 fully automatic AK-47 assault rifles into the port of Oakland, California. Customs officials said the weapons were intended for "sale to street gangs in Southern California". But, I say, "What is new about that?" This time they got caught and that is the ONLY difference if you check out what makes it through and onto the streets.

The opposition to "business" projections is that the Chinese would flood your U.S. markets with "slave labor" products. Say what? What kind of labor does the U.S. utilize? Anyone who can be arrested and/or have property seized for lack of tax payments, etc., ARE SLAVES. It is time, readers, to call that spade a spade instead of a shovel and get on with what is going on.

What I do find amusing to hysterically funny is the description offered about the Adelanto facility which was to be the product hub. It is described as MASSIVE. The little building doesn't even have a basement and is not even as large as a small-town grocery market. You in California GO LOOK AND SEE FOR YOURSELF! Adelanto is a DEAD town without any hope of citizen recovery as it is now standing in the midst of total deterioration and decay. This "massive building" is standing in its framework for the world to see and there is nothing hidden nor is there any wish to do so.

I would suggest that if ships with arms are already coming through such as Long Beach and in Oakland, the problem would and could be better managed under the eyes of official inspections. What else are you going to do with these DEAD towns and military bases? People, THIS NATION

IS IN SERIOUS, SERIOUS TROUBLE!

I would like to put the Chinese issue aside for now, however, because it is such a big subject as to preclude any other discussion once into it. The Asian markets, though, would demand that some attention be turned in that direction.

JAPANESE MARKET TUMBLE?

It is recognized that the Japanese stock market toppled and fell totally the end of this last week. But you won't hear much about the devastation if something can be done on Monday and Tuesday of this week in order to continue to bury the facts. Trillions of dollars will be injected into that market in a full-out attempt to salvage the market and keep the yen from total collapse. The yen was destined to be THE currency to corner a share but the view looks pretty bleak today. Don't "they" wish they had tried the Bonus Certificate for collateral? This same thing is going to happen to the U.S. and other markets, and some day perhaps you-the-people will open your eyes. All the nation needs is the collateral VALUE, but politics as usual is the name of the "only game in town". WOW, it surely is difficult to get any information circulated through your controlled brain-mass between the proverbial ears of you-the-people.

Would there be enough in the Bonus to do the job? Oh indeed! This is going to be some kind of ongoing ticker-tape charade until you can bury it in war, and the Middle East, as usual, is the planned deception.

How can I know and cause you to realize the seriousness of the encounters taking place? What year is now drawing to a close? Ah, 1997? Well, that leaves two years to totally accomplish and have operational, in full, the New World Order and Israel's "Grand Design" "by the millennium change".

BUT WHAT IS THIS "GRAND DESIGN"?

Well, we get a bit gun-shy from all of you who throw rocks and slang terms, like anti-Semitic, upon our heads for even speaking of this subject. This is nothing new or hidden in agenda or otherwise and it has been openly spoken about and intentional plans laid since prior to Israel being snatched away from Palestine to be recognized as a "state". The entire plan is reflected in the BLUE of the flag of Israel. It is recognized as the "Blue Turban" around the head of Israel (Star) in the central field of the flag in point. The two blue stripes on upper and lower halves represent the Nile River at Egypt and Euphrates River bordering Syria and Iraq. The intent is to have every inch of land in between, under Israeli control, and it is planned to be had by the year 2000.

Let it be further realized that the deed will be headed up by the BRITISH ISRAELIS and fought to the death by the Americans as the slave-soldiers and YOU WILL BACK IT WITH EVERY DEMAND YOU CAN MUSTER.

"But what about the secret germs and warfare 'stuff' in Iraq that precipitated this new action?" What about it? If it is "secret" how came it to be "known"? And, have you ever had an honest presentation about the Desert Storm diseases YET? And how come it takes weeks and massive confrontation for anything to be made public—IF, INDEED, TRUTH IS THE BASIS OF THE CLAIMS? Doesn't there seem to be something rather smelly about this turn of events when they could have told this story right off at upstart and had good results? It is a lie, of course, and this is another "trial balloon" to see what it takes to fool all of you people all of the time until the criminals accomplish their bloody aims.

SO, WHAT OF THIS "SECRET" GERM FIND?

It is easier to copy the propaganda than to tell the story in paraphrase, after the fact. Then we will return to the Grand Plan.

[QUOTING, Bakersfield Californian, Sat. Nov. 15, 1997:]

SECRET GERM FIND IGNITED IRAQI ACTION

U.N. inspectors also have reason to suspect chemical tests on humans.

by: TIM WEINER [Khazarian writer],
N.Y. TIMES News Service.

WASHINGTON—The showdown over Iraq's secret arsenal began when U.N. inspectors sought to uncover its biological-weapons program, including germ-warfare tests and suspected caches of anthrax, U.N. and U.S. officials said Friday.

The officials traced the confrontation, which has led to growing global tension, to an Oct. 27 letter from the chief of the U.N. weapons inspectors, Richard Butler, to Iraq's foreign minister, Tariq Aziz.

The letter said the United Nations intended to inspect secret sites controlled by President Saddam Hussein's elite personal security force, the Special Republican Guard, and suspected caches of data and materiel from Iraq's biological-warfare projects. [H: And where do you suppose these nice people could have gotten such germs as Anthrax which was singularly being tested throughout the last three decades at Dugway, Toole, Utah? That's right, right through that "Agriculture" exchange program of Bush-Saddam through BCCI and shipped to the various nations in "the plan" for Arms for Iran through Bush and the CIA!]

A senior U.N. official said the inspectors believed that those searches would help them fully describe the biological-weapons program for the first time, more than six years after the U.N. inspections began.

The Iraqi leadership never responded to the letter, sections of which were disclosed Friday by U.N. officials. But it appears to have struck a nerve.

Two days later Iraq announced that it would shoot down American U-2 spy planes supporting the U.N. inspection team, and it vowed to expel the American members of the team from the country, a threat fulfilled on Friday. The United Nations, in turn, withdrew all its inspectors in protest.

[H: And just what was expected to be seen from that U-2? You can read credit cards from the Moon but I really didn't think you could visualize microbes yet, from a spy plane—so you know something else is afoot than what they tell you the game is about!]

The letter also sought information on missile warheads that the inspectors believe were filled with biological and chemical agents, and documentation on Iraq's possession of VX, a chemical nerve agent—all previously subjects of investigation.

[END OF QUOTING]

This is not the end of the article but points out that the propaganda desired to be "leaked" to you-the-blind-and-stupid is fully disseminated through the controlled press of the Khazarian media. It is also noted that the article refers to "and other germs found" in the further headlines but of course there is no reference or designation of those "other" dastardly things.

AND, WHAT OF THE MURDERS IN PAKISTAN?

Ah, sweet babes in the woods moving down that Primrose pathway—those murders were perpetrated by a NEW faction claiming responsibility and who said there would be "more" if the conviction of the Pakistani in jeopardy were to be sentenced to death. Stop it; the murderers were Mossad (ISRAELI) operatives and the thrust was intentionally structured to bring the U.S. into another fray to fight another's battles. Worse, the whole thing was done in conjunction with the CIA. When will you learn that these people will do ANYTHING to accomplish their overall goal and so-called Divine Grand Design?

Let us move back for historical value and information regarding this Grand Plan to information offered by The American Mercury magazine a long way back, in 1968. The article has again been run by Spotlight and it is an excellent presentation which might well better come from conventional sources than from invisible truth-bringers which only seem to confuse your focus.

ISRAEL'S GRAND DESIGN: LEADERS CRAVE AREA FROM EGYPT TO IRAQ

[QUOTING, Spotlight, Nov. 3, 1997, page 12:]

by John Mitchell Henshaw

The metamorphosis of tiny Israel from a midget to a giant is in the making. The grand design of Judaic-Zionist expansionist doctrine is to seize all the oil-rich lands from the shores of the Euphrates to the banks of the Nile. [H: Please do not lose sight of the fact that this was written in the SPRING of 1968 (30 years ago).]

In defining the aims of Zionism, Hebrew scholar Levnoch Osman recently said: "In our eternal Book of Books (the Torah), the lofty ethical teachings of which are cherished by all mankind, the land of Israel is described not as a long, narrow strip of land with wavy, crooked borders, but as a state with broad natural borders. God has promised to Patriarch Abraham the following:

"I give unto them the land where they have sown their seed, from the river of Egypt unto the great river of Euphrates" (Genesis 15:18). And so, in order to realize the words of this prophecy, the Israeli state had to continue, not in the borders it has today but within its broad historical boundaries."

And as far back as 1952 Moshe Dayan, the present Israeli defense minister, declared: "Our task consists of preparing the Israeli army for the new war approaching in order to achieve our ultimate goal, the creation of an Israeli empire."

The British historian Arnold J. Toynbee, who served as an adviser on Near Eastern affairs to the British delegation at the Versailles Conference, in a newspaper article published in June last year (1967) stated the Zionist aims in these words:

We are Jews, the living representatives of Judah, one of the 12 tribes of Israel that conquered most of Palestine in the 13th century B.C. We held Judah's share of the conquered territory for seven centuries, till we were deported by Nebuchadnezzar in 587 B.C. We were back again within less than half a century, and we then held Judea, once more, for the next 773 years, till we were evicted by the Romans in A.D. 135. We have never renounced our claim to the land of Israel. We have always hoped, believed, and proclaimed that we shall get this land back again. It is our land, we contend.

After another 1,883 years we did recover a foothold there in 1918, and during the half-century since then, by devoted hard work, ability, and military valor, we have built up our present national State of Israel, and have inflicted three smashing defeats on the Arabs, who have been trying to evict us once again.

We want to have a country of our own again, like other peoples and like our own ancestors. We also need to have a country of our own, because, since the conversion of the Roman empire to Christianity in the fourth century A.D., we have been penalized and persecuted by the Western Christian majority among whom we have had to live.

The persecution has culminated in the unprecedented crime of genocide which has been committed against us in our lifetime by a Western people, the Germans, in Europe. We are not going to let the Arabs commit the same crime of genocide against us here, in our land of Israel.

[H: Now please note, readers, that this all refers to Biblical projections through that book The Torah. But ah, the Talmud is the accepted document of choice for the "Jews" in this modern day and age, so what gives? Well, it is recognized, also from first-given prophecies regarding these "lost" people that the U.S. will, one of these days, recognize the sham presentation and also evict these people in which case they will leave the Khazarian non-real Israelis in the U.S. while the so-called Jews take the land in the Middle East. It is a simple plan and it has worked to perfection thus far. The so-called Jews (who aren't Jews or Israelites) DO NOT WANT TO LIVE IN THE INCONVENIENT AND HOSTILE ELEMENTS OF THE MIDDLE EAST—THIS IS WHY THEY TOOK OVER THE FULL CONTROL OF THE UNITED STATES AND NORTH AMERICA. Is this somehow "anti-Semitic"? I hope not since all Middle Eastern races (Arabs) are, ALSO, SEMITES!]

GENOCIDE IN SIX-DAY WAR

Apologist Toynbee omitted mentioning the fact that the Jews themselves are currently engaged in genocide. During the Six-Day War last summer, Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan ordered Brig. Gen. Yesha'ahu Gavish, the Israeli commander of the Sinai campaign, to ruthlessly drive the hapless Egyptian troops into the Sinai Desert to die of thirst, hunger and heat. Temperatures on the arid Sinai rise to more than 100 degrees during the day. For over two weeks thousands of wretched Egyptian stragglers wandered over the swirling wastes to finally drop dead in their tracks.

U.S. reconnaissance planes flying on the perimeter of the Sinai Desert took hundreds of pictures of the stragglers and reported there were about 50,000 Egyptians dead or dying on the desert at the time. The U.S. Air Force loaded 60,000 gallons of water in five-gallon jerry-cans on pallets and prepared to drop them in the areas where stragglers were observed. However, Defense Secretary Robert McNamara ordered the project mission of mercy halted after he received phone calls from White House foreign policy-planner Walt Rostow and UN Ambassador Arthur Goldberg. [H: Yep, same old guys from the USURPERS and, most certainly, that same old Robert McNamara of Vietnam fame.]

This flagrant violation of the Geneva Convention on the treatment of prisoners of war amounted to genocide, designed to destroy a whole nation.

Newspaper reporters visiting the war zones in Syria and Jordan, reported that if one sniper in a village fired on Israeli troops, the whole village was destroyed including the women and children. Napalm is frequently used.

This systematic extermination is an ideological doctrine of Zionism. The leading exponent of genocide is the chauvinist Moshe Dayan, whom the Zionists have proclaimed a Biblical "messiah" on a white horse. Arrogant, boastful Gen. Yitzhak Rabin, chief of the Israeli General Staff, who plotted and executed the Six-Day blitzkrieg last June, is in direct charge of the projected expansionist program from the Euphrates to the Nile. [H: Following a few strategic assassinations, who do you suppose is now in charge of seeing to the Grand Plan?]

The scope of this ambitious scheme of territorial seizures and exploitation has been recognized by at least a few of our American military strategists for years. This writer recalls that a dozen years ago an Army lieutenant colonel, who was a student at the War College, confided that some of his instructors believed the Zionist expansionist policy would provide the spark to ignite World War III.

(Incidentally, the then lieutenant colonel is now one of the top commanding generals in Vietnam.)

By guile, treachery and bloodletting, the Zionists plot to annex all of Jordan, virtually all of Syria, half of Iraq and a large part of Saudi Arabia and all of the rich cotton lands of the Nile Valley. It would be a simple matter then to grab Yemen, Aden, Muscat, Qatar and Oman with their rich oil development. Israel is already well advanced in the development of its first nuclear warhead. [H: And, had the war not been cut short they would have used it in that Six-Day bloodbath. They NOW have an entire arsenal, thanks to you nice crazies of North America and they will be most happy to accommodate the use of some of them on YOU.]

"According to the Zionists' schedule of operations, within a decade the Israeli empire will be the master of the Middle East and take its place as a nuclear superpower on equal footing with the Soviet Union and the United States. David Rockefeller's Standard Oil Company will pay its royalties to the Israeli military usurpers instead of the Arab sheiks. [H: Does prophecy come true or what?]

FABULOUS OIL RESERVES

The stakes are high in this traditionally British-protected region. The Persian Gulf and adjacent countries hold 70 percent of the non-communist world's oil reserves and produce half of its oil output. British withdrawal from Aden creates a power vacuum that will inevitably be filled by Israel and the Soviet Union.

The British have expressed the pious hope that their withdrawal would galvanize the Arab rulers into dropping their feuds and really unite in a mutual defense pact. However, the spreading oil boom is intensifying the territorial ambitions of rival kingdoms, sultanates and sheikdoms. Iran is selling oil to Israel, another aggravating factor in Mideast tensions.

Like the tentacles of an octopus, the Israeli armed forces struck out in all directions into Jordan, Syria and Egypt in Israel's Six-Day aggression last June. Even when encountering no resistance, the Israeli armored forces abruptly halted at predetermined strategic terrain points; they had accomplished their mission in the first phase of the Zionist Grand Design of imperialistic conquest. It was time to stop and consolidate their gains rather than risk spreading their forces too thin.

Israeli leader Menachem Begin says: "The return of even one bit of earth to the Arab would be a betrayal of the nation." The grandiose idea of an Israeli empire controlling the Middle East is now for the first time arousing great popular enthusiasm among Jews everywhere in the world.

Officially Israel is continuing the pretense of keeping the door open to negotiations that might result in return of the conquered territory, in exchange for Arab recognition of Israel and a peace treaty.

Jordan's King Hussein has reportedly already made a secret and desperate offer to Israel: In exchange for the return of the West Bank of the Jordan River, Hussein agreed to demilitarize it, negotiate border adjustments and even waive his insistence upon regaining the Old City of Jerusalem. Israel rejected the offer.

Israel Minister of Labor Yigal Allon bluntly stated: "The natural border of the country is the Jordan River—a border that could be established only if Israel kept the West Bank areas it took from Jordan.

Gen. Aluf Ezer Weizmann, second highest-ranking officer in the Israeli army, is even more adamant: "We shall stay where we are and bring in Jews. We now have the unusual opportunity to consolidate the state for the Jewish people and help prevent future wars."

"If there is a fourth war," Defense Minister Moshe Dayan gloats, "we are in a position to win more decisively than ever."

And he warned that in the "fourth war" the great cities of Cairo, Damascus and Amman will be annihilated. This is in conformity with the genocidal plan.

Israelis bitterly complain that along with the occupied territory that is three times the size of Israel, they have inherited its population of 1,330,000 Arabs.

Aliyah—voluntary relocation to Israel—has been a flop as far as Western Jews are concerned—few of them want to go to the Holy Land of their forefathers. The majority of Jews now in Israel are from Asia and Africa.

The system of government in Israel is a mixture of theocracy and gerontocracy. Full citizenship requires membership in the Jewish religion and Jewish ancestry. Israeli authorities refuse to accept Arabs or "Gentiles" (non-Jews) as full citizens with equal civil and political and economic rights. Militant Zionists frankly admit that Israel and neighboring Arab nations cannot coexist. They claim that the incompatibility is due to ideological fanaticism. However, the Arab oil lands are fabulously rich.

"We must take steps leading to a long-range consolidation, lest we be considered a temporary, transient factor in the occupied areas," declares Israel Galili, minister without portfolio in the Israeli Cabinet.

The Zionists have invented the term "coercive noninterference" in explaining how they force the subjugated Arabs to cooperate with their conquerors. When the Mayor of Nablus announced that he would resign rather than front for the Jews, the Israeli military officers told him that no one would be appointed to replace him, which would result in utter chaos. The Mayor had second thoughts, stayed and obeyed the Jewish military commanders. Hundreds of similar examples could be cited.

ARABS FEAR GENOCIDE

"The Middle East today is dominated by raw, naked, savage, animal fear. The Arab nations are driven by the fear of mass death, by the fear of Israel's genocidal intentions toward them. Israel, by bringing in immigrants from all the world, has upset the demographic balance of the Middle East.

"The first basic fact about populations is that they multiply. The population of Israel is increasing, and the populations of the Arab nations are increasing. In the conflict between populations, either Arabs or Jews must someday end up being driven into arid desert wastes which will not support them, where they will find relief only in the oblivion of death. Israel means to kill the Arab populations and to occupy their lands. The Arabs, driven by fear of death, react powerfully. They seek the protection of a powerful nation, Russia, to which they will become tributary in return for protection . . .

"For the free world, this is a practically irretrievable disaster," says Benjamin H. Freedman.

"We might well rationalize all this as strictly none of our business except that hundreds of millions of American foreign aid dollars are being spent for the enrichment of an international Zionist network extending from Tel Aviv to Paris, London and New York. The Israelis are already pumping oil from Egyptian wells and splitting the profits with Rockefeller's Standard Oil combine. This is only the prelude.

Now for the first time Soviet Russia is successfully penetrating the oil-rich Mideast countries. The Russians have made agreements to explore for oil in Iraq, Iran and Egypt. They

*Soap and education are not as sudden as a massacre,
but they are more deadly
in the long run.*

—Mark Twain

have extended bids for cooperative ventures to Algeria, Syria and Kuwait. The agreement with Iraq provides for development of oil reserves in an area taken away from Western companies.

Most of the Arab oil countries are starting oil firms to give them a stronger hold on their petroleum reserves and a bigger bite on profits. They have also recently hiked the royalties they get from the big Anglo-American oil firms.

The Soviets furnish the technical know-how to the Arab oil industry and work out world marketing agreements with the Arab rulers. The Soviet naval fleet is standing by in the Mediterranean. The Kremlin has launched an aggressive campaign to establish a protectorate over the Mideast oil lands. Russia finally has a firm grip on Egypt. Syria is now totally dependent on Soviet weapons and the protective arm of Moscow. The Soviets have a facility in Latakia. [H: And, just how many of you in view of today's changed world think that the Soviets wanted to protect and serve the Arabs???

Yemen is receiving Soviet arms, Russian advisers are training its army, and Soviet armed forces are establishing base facilities in Yemen. After all the millions the U.S. gave Iran in foreign aid, the ungrateful shah (who has $300 million stashed away in Swiss banks) is cooperating with the Soviets in construction of a natural gas pipeline that would feed Iranian gas to parts of Russia not easily served by Russian gas.

The sub-rosa partnership between Zionism and Communism is still a fact. As Israel drives the Arabs into the arms of the Kremlin, Israel expands, fulfilling a grand design and an aggressive plan agreed upon years ago. And like the Arabs, Americans are helpless victims in this international crime.

[H: Please pay especially close attention to this tid-bit about this author, John Henshaw, and see what your feelings are after you meditate on the subject for a minute.]

"The late John Henshaw was chief legman for columnist Drew Pearson, who later broke with Pearson. At that time, Henshaw's expenses were PAID BY THE ANTI-DEFAMATION LEAGUE, a lobby for Israel, which had a 'special relationship' with Pearson. Thus Henshaw's Middle East insights are unique."

[END OF QUOTING]

I don't need to spend more time on this topic for I think it must be clear that in 30 years a lot has progressed beyond the presentation of events in this report. It is, further, difficult for our paper staff to sit silently when they are blasted by our readers, some of them, for daring to print material by Gary Wean on the topic of Mishpucka (Jewish Mafia "Family") and, people, these people in point CALLED THEMSELVES "SERPENT PEOPLE" IN THE THIRTEENTH CENTURY AND CHANGED THEIR LABEL TO "JEW" ONLY RELATIVELY RECENTLY. We don't have any other title to use since this is the title they project on selves, so it should be noted that perhaps people should get informed before they bitch, moan and complain about us not doing OUR JOBS. We offer—you take or leave it for we force nothing onto anyone or down anyone's throat. We are a "free press" efforting to offer all sides of any topic, and thus it shall remain for as long as we remain free to do so.

Dr. Young is the Editor of this paper and he is no dumb bunny out of the wino-gutter. He holds at least three doctorate degrees (in physics and engineering just to name two), and we honor RESEARCH. So, if you have complaints please go do equal research as have the ones whose work we reproduce and offer, and we shall be most happy to consider your viewpoint, be it different from what we have. You will find, however, that you will concur with our information AFTER you have done your homework!

Am I defensive of "our" crew at the paper? YOU BET! We all welcome disagreements, but we do not welcome insults, defamation or slander to our people working voluntarily around the clock to get this paper to you-the-people.

I believe you will find that the party with the most harsh but illogical and incorrect complaint is the same who answers his phone "Pleiades Space Command". Now "THAT" is a stretch if ever there was one.

We respect YOUR RIGHT to do and say that which you choose, but it might well reflect, in wisdom, not to cut throats of the very ones who are diligently trying to save our necks—along with YOURS.

It would be hoped that WE ALL are doing our utmost to the better good of humanity and knowledge in an open and free society brotherhood of man, so we take heavily the rocks heaved upon our heads under such adverse circumstances as we daily face.

I have not lightened the burden or hours of keyboard writing for my scribe during these several months of seeming absence, BUT, the information scribed is personal and instructional as to funding and other matters such as projects, proposals and the like. This means that where I was writing 99% of the paper's contents, we now must leave 99% for others to fill. But we are back pretty much, so don't hold your breath or you will have learned how to ascend. We are doing our jobs—and we can only assume that you too, are doing yours?

May you be given to THINK first, and then, in wisdom, write or speak. Salu, and I take my leave in the Light of the Radiant One.

Militias And Pentecostalism

As British Subversion

PART IV CONCLUDES THIS SERIES

[Author Chaitkin replies to the question posed (last week) by the Promise Keepers member who is trying to get clear on the larger picture of British-Israel's sinister agenda:]

YOU MUST START FROM THE WORLD AS A WHOLE

In the late 1960s, Lyn [La Rouché] stood out, uniquely in the world, and said this change that is being put on the world by the oligarchy will destroy our civilization. And we constituted this organization explicitly on that premise, and with the motivation and the explicit purpose of taking the world away from those oligarchs, at that founding time.

We developed a methodology. Lyn deployed people and we organized a whole idea of how to look at the world, how to investigate things, how to look at the world top-down, to try to accomplish this task, including throwing out all the authorities in the academic world, in the 20th Century—it's all rotten—in order to understand how to know something at all.

Now you have, coming into these groups, the victims of this change that was put on the world. Drug addicts, pornography addicts, and so forth—why are those legitimate businesses? Who says they're supposed to be in business? There was a change that was done. But LaRouché said, we're going to have to reverse that.

In looking at the oligarchy that has put this change on the world, we developed expertise, to be able to investigate. In 1980, when Reagan was coming in as President, after he had been elected, we alerted the authorities to a threat, a live threat against his life, the elected President. And I don't believe it was well enough followed up; obviously it wasn't sufficiently followed up, he was shot....

It was shown that we were on the mark. And a credibility, whether it's a grudging credibility or a tremendous sense of who Lyn is and what he represents, exists in the world.

Now we're presenting a picture here, over the past few years, a clear picture of a threat to humanity. A massive threat to the existence of the human race, by these people who are in "end game", they've ended the truce.

Among other things we have this ridiculous situation of people in the military, in our security, nationally and otherwise, who are trying to start a civil war in the United States.

Now I can report to you that in the Pentagon itself, people are scared about this, as they are taking this up themselves to investigate. This is not some legitimate thing. This is a national security threat.

HOW DO YOU DO AN INVESTIGATION?

How do you look at an organization? If you don't start from the world as a whole, and what the enemy is doing on a world scale, you're going to miss a few things. If you wanted to investigate the Masons, you certainly would not join the Masons and hear what they had to say about their history!

One problem you would have is who is the founder of it? Is it King Solomon? King Edward? Who? I can't tell you that. And if I joined the Masons I'd know less about it than I know now. One thing we did was, we took some names of the leaders and organizers of these things, we looked at a roster of the names, and instead of studying what they allegedly did in Masonry, because that gets more and more boring all the time, see what they did in their so-called extracurricular activities.

Oh, this guy is a banker. Oh, this guy is a military man. Oh, this guy's the head of the Church of England. Are we getting a pattern here? And it turns out that this is organized by the empire, the Venetians, the British. We find out how they work.

We also find out a remarkable thing, that the more you investigate, you always find that people are in the wrong place. There's something that appears to be bizarre. Well, maybe we're not looking at this right because, maybe we're making a mistake, this couldn't be happening, this looks like something that doesn't even belong in this picture. And then you look for that, and you say, well that's the secret of the whole thing. This picture was completely wrong. What I thought was going on here was something entirely different.

I'll tell you a little story.

The Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship International has a Latin American section, and the head of that a few years back was a Texas businessman. When Jim Jones, who I believe came out of Assemblies of God—that in itself is an interesting story—but when Jim Jones and his followers had their massacre down in Guyana, within about 24 hours, the Full Gospel's Latin American section chief flew down to Guyana, met with the President of the country, Forbes Burnham (whom he had already personally converted to speaking in tongues), and he said, okay, we've got a new project.

The bodies are sitting there, all covered with Kool-Aid. And the Full Gospel man says, we got a new project: we're going to bring in Hmong tribesmen from Southeast Asia. [These were the irregular soldiers and dope-runners working for the Ted Shackley-CIA group's secret war.] So the Full Gospel man tells Burnham, we're going transfer thousands of them into the jungle in Guyana.

Well apparently somebody else in CIA, who wasn't in this project somehow, thought that wasn't a good idea and the thing was blocked. But Burnham and the Full Gospel leader had actually agreed on that.

Now may I ask you the question: What is going on here? Is that a religious group, or what is this? I can't get to the bottom of that—I don't have sufficient knowledge. I suggest you ask people, what was that about?

And that's the principle. We have gone through, in a period of a couple of months, with tremendous collaboration, a lot of excited people in theological seminaries, even fundamentalists who don't like Pentecostals, and so forth. For a lot of different reasons, people are excited about participating in this.

We found out the history of Pentecostalism. There isn't another history of it. There's not some alternative story. David DuPlessis, who is the principal founder of Full Gospel Businessmen, wrote that it has no history, that it was the "spontaneous outpouring of the Holy Spirit". When he is the principal man, operating on behalf of the Anglican Church and the World Council of Churches, actually organizing it; from the 1940s until the drug-rock-sex revolution of the 1960s, of which he was one of the main organizers in terms of irrationalism in religion.

And he goes back to this original subduing of the Zulus in Africa.

We are asking Americans to throw over the chess board, break up the game, turn on their manipulators, and think in terms of the world, the strategy of the world, the two sides in the world, the two images of man. Go to the highest level, go up to the mountain, and look at what is the situation of mankind, how is this organized, what do we have to do to win?

And including every one of these people are damaged souls, who are broken people, this is the secret of how they organize, this is what Promise Keepers is about. They get people who have been destroyed by this change, this filth, that's been put on our country. They've been broken, and then they're brought into some group to be manipulated by people they don't even know.

Who's running that at the top? How is it organized? We found out!

Let's ask questions. I'm asking people to bring us information, that's pertinent, and let's get to the bottom of this stuff, and clean it up, before our country is destroyed along with the rest of the world.

[The end.]

What You Don't Know Can ENSLAVE You!

this meant. Wasn't the good supposed to win? How come the bad always drove out the good?

Let's imagine a story about what might have happened sometime or other somewhere in the universe.

ONCE UPON A TIME ON THE PLANET OF SHAM...

Let's pretend that there was a Bankster [that is, Banking Gangster] named Greengold from the planet Khazaria. Let's pretend that Greengold decided to travel from his home planet to find a new planet to conquer, and he found a lush, verdant planet with a newly evolving agrarian civilization, a primitive planet that did not have any banks (some called it a Paradise planet), a planet called Sham.

Greengold decided to make Sham his new conquest, and found a nice centrally located piece of property along a high river bank for his new home.

Nearby, the people lived off the land, in harmony with the planet and with each other (Hey, it's just imagination, it could happen!).

Farmer Bob was a pig farmer. Farmer Fred liked to raise cows. Farmer John was a wheat farmer. And Joe, well, his specialty was peaches.

But as they became more successful, they noticed a problem developing. Bob decided he wanted a cow, too, so he made a deal with Fred to swap some pigs for a cow. Then his cow needed some wheat, so he and John swapped some pigs for some wheat. This was working pretty well, and Bob said, I have more pigs than I need, and I sure would like some peaches, so he went to see Joe the peach farmer and worked out another swap.

When Bob returned home, disaster had struck. His pigs had gotten into his new wheat purchase and had eaten it all (Do pigs eat wheat? Do you know?). Now the cow had no wheat. So Bob decided he needed a barn to keep his wheat safe. Let's see, there was Bill across the creek who was a carpenter, Bob wondered how many pigs Bill would want to build him a barn. When he talked to Bill, Bill said he didn't like pigs. But he sure did love Joe's peaches. So Bob had to try to swap more pigs with Joe for more peaches, so that he could swap the peaches with Bill for a barn. But when he went to see Joe, Joe told him the peach season was over!

As you might guess, this swapping and bartering soon became rather complicated and inefficient. Pigs were always running away, John tried to swap some wheat with Joe for some peaches but Joe said he had no use for wheat, and so on.

But everybody loved the silver and gold jewelry that Samuel the Jeweler made. And over a period of time, they learned that by buying some extra gold and silver, they could swap that gold and silver for other things they needed or wanted. They decided to swap their excess for gold and silver, and to swap gold and silver for what they wanted but didn't have. Everybody liked gold and silver. It didn't run away, it didn't rust or rot, it was easy to carry around, and it was always in season. You could wear it to display to everybody how wealthy you were. Things were going well.

PARADISE LOST

Ah, but every good story has an Adversary. One day the Adversary arrived. One day a strange circular flying object appeared in the sky and landed and some people got out.

"Mr. and Mrs. Greengold, this is your new home," said Captain Goldfarb, the captain of the craft. "Your assignment is to take control of this backward planet. When I return in the future, I expect to see you or your descendants in control of all the wealth of this land. I expect you to own it all. You know what to do, just follow this list of protocols as you were taught back on your former home planet of Khazaria."

"Yes, Sir, Captain Goldfarb! That is an easy assignment. It shall be done!" said Greengold.

If you were given the assignment of taking complete control of a country, would you know how to do it? Let's see how the Greengold family did it.

Mr. Greengold purchased his new home at a bargain, because it was located on a rocky bank of the river and did not seem to be good for much. However, there was a nice big cave in the rock along side the bank, just what Mr. G. needed.

After moving in and settling down, Mr. G. went to work. He went around to all his neighbors and said to them:

"Look, you are accumulating all this gold and silver, you are in a dangerous situation. I see a problem growing here. Some of you have already been robbed, and all of you are in danger of coming home and finding all your silver and gold gone.

"Tell you what I'll do. I have a cave in the rock in the bank high above the river, why don't you let me store your gold for you. I will give you a receipt for it, and any time you want it, just come by and surrender your receipt and your gold will be returned to you. My fee for doing this for you is hardly worth talking about, I just want to be a good neighbor and help all of you."

The farmers thought it over; the bank was centrally located and was solid rock, and it seemed like a pretty good idea. So they turned their gold over to Mr. G. and he issued them a receipt, one receipt per ounce, ten receipts for ten ounces, and so on. He printed on the receipt, "This certifies that there has been deposited in The Bank of Greengold one ounce of gold payable to the bearer on demand." These were known as "DEMAND NOTES" and as "gold certificates".

To overcome those who did not trust the Greengolds, a law was passed which stated that the banks HAD to swap the receipts for gold. Any time you wanted to turn in your receipts, the banks would give you the gold—EXCEPT DURING AN EMERGENCY. The Greengolds agreed, with a suspicious gleam in their eyes.

Now, when Bob and Fred needed to conduct a transaction, they would get together, go to the bank, turn in their receipts, get their gold out, make their trades, then turn the gold back in to the safekeeping of the bank.

"Boys, boys, I have a much better idea for you," said Mr. G. one day. "Instead of going to all the trouble of getting together, coming all the way to my bank, turning in your receipts and taking out the gold, making your transactions, then turning the gold back over to me and getting a new receipt from me, why don't you do this. Why don't you just swap receipts? Bob, if you owe Fred one ounce of gold, why don't you just give him the receipt for one ounce of gold? Then any time Fred wants his gold, he can come turn in the receipt and I will be most happy to give him the gold! Think of all the time and trouble you will save!"

Bob and Fred thought that was a wonderful idea. The idea spread, and soon everyone was conducting transactions by just swapping receipts, rather than going to all the trouble of going to the bank and taking out the gold, measuring and weighing it out, turning in old receipts and getting new receipts, and so on. Life was good.

However, there were some who just did not trust the banker's receipts, they demanded that they be paid in gold. To solve this minor complication, Mr. G. got together with the leaders of the community (rumor has it that some "under the table" money changed hands) and managed to pass a Legal Tender Law.

And according to this law, you must accept the banker's paper receipts as money. It was a crime to turn them down when someone offered them to you in payment. They printed right on the receipt, "This Note is Legal Tender for all Debts, Public and Private." They were no longer demand notes, but were now called Legal Tender Notes. And you go to jail if you do not play along with their game. It is like passing a law saying, "These chicken's eggs are solid gold bars." Yeah, sure. But if everyone believes it is so, and treats it as if it were so, then that makes it so! At least for a while. Problem is, gold is scarce but hen's eggs are cheap and unlimited. At some point the game becomes so unbalanced that it MUST collapse. Perhaps comparing chickens eggs to paper money is not a very good comparison. After all, when people wake up to the con, you can at least eat the eggs.

As years went by, people (especially the younger generation) forgot that gold was money, and starting thinking that the receipts were money. They forgot that the receipts were merely certificates of ownership of the real item of value. Pigs have value. Cows have value. Gold has value. Receipts have no value, except perhaps to start a fire or to wrap your cold feet with, unless they can be turned in for something of real value (the receipts, not the feet). As time passed, Greengold changed the wording on the receipts, now called dollars, to "The Federal Bank of Sham will pay to the bearer on demand one dollar." If you were insistent and took your dollar to the bank, for a while you could turn it in for one dollar in silver. Later, this was done away with, and the bills said simply "Federal Bank Note". It also said, "This note is legal tender for all debts, public and private."

You have heard of "paying off the note"? A note is a debt. How do you pay a debt with a debt? Can you answer that? What happens when you "tender" a "note" for a "debt"? Hmmm. Ever heard the saying, the borrower is slave to the lender? I hear people say, "I am finally out of debt!" (I know, it is pretty rare, but it happens.) So you think you are out of debt? Wanna' bet?

In the meantime here was Greengold with all this gold in his bank. All this gold, everybody's gold, just sitting there getting dusty. Mr. G. was making a lot of money from the storage fees, but he had more ideas. He decided to loan out some of the gold. For a fee of course. After all, nobody would care, nobody would miss it. And a whole bunch of people would love to borrow some gold, so that they could afford to buy a house, or start a business, or whatever. It seemed like a very good idea.

So Mr. G. made loans of gold. Charlie came by and wanted to borrow some gold. Mr. G. loaned him some gold, for a fee at a certain rate of interest. What did Charlie do with the gold? He wanted to start a pig business, so he gave it to Bob the pig farmer for some breeding stock. And he gave some to Bill the carpenter to build him a pig sty. And he gave some to Samuel the jeweler for some jewelry for his wife, so that she would be more happy with the new pigs. And what did Bob, Bill and Samuel do with the gold? They put it back in Mr. G.'s bank, for safekeeping.

Then Mr. G. called his neighbors together and said, "Look, I am very concerned about your comfort and convenience. I have a wonderful idea for you. The next time any of you want to borrow some gold, I will just open an account for you, and you can write receipt checks against the account, so you will not have to go to all that bother of drawing out all that gold, carrying that heavy stuff around and wearing yourselves out. In addition, rather than you swapping receipts around and trying to make the correct change, instead of giving you receipts for your gold, I will simply open an account for you and you can write your own receipt checks against it, for the exact amount you need, and you will not have to worry about making correct change. It will be so easy and convenient for everybody."

Mr. G. of course charged a "small" fee for all this convenience, which proved to be very profitable. Mr. G. helped his sons get into the family bank business. When people wanted loans, the G.s would open an account for them. For a fee. The customer would write checks against that account (for a fee), and the recipient of the checks would deposit the checks back into the banks where they had their accounts (for a fee). It seemed that there was money, money everywhere. From where did all this money come? Who cares! Everybody was so happy.

And the G.s had all this gold in the banks. Just sitting there. Just gathering dust.

ANOTHER WORLD-SHATTERING IDEA

Then then they had another idea. Why not sell the gold? Wait, the local neighbors might find out and would not like that at all. So why not sell it to a foreign country? Nobody would know, or pay any attention. Nobody would miss their gold, because they never check on it anyway. Most people had even forgotten that there was any gold there. But what if someone should just happen to want his gold? To prevent that, the Greengolds created an emergency, and then said, "because of this emergency, you must turn all your gold in to the government." If you don't, you go to jail. The bankers stole everybody's gold by declaring it illegal for you (but not for them) to own.

So the G.'s sold the gold to foreign countries. All went well.

And then the G.'s told the foreign countries, "Look, this gold is heavy and hard to move around, it is not easy to handle, why not just leave it where it is? It is already under protection. We will simply give you a receipt for it, and any time you want the gold, you can turn in the receipt. And if you want to conduct a transaction with the gold, why not just swap receipts with your business partners?"

The foreign countries liked this idea. After all, they often had revolutions and their own banks were not too safe. I wonder who was financing all those rebels? The foreign countries liked it so much, they decided to play the same game. They decided to loan money against "their" gold, because they needed money to fight wars. The weapons and arms dealers loved the idea. Everybody was so happy (except for the poor slaves growing all the food and never seeming to get ahead, and except for the mothers of the youngsters killing each other in wars), and the economy boomed. As long as people had CONFIDENCE in their leaders and in the "receipts", the game worked. Police call this a "confidence game", or usually shortened to "con game".

Ah, friends, if you think this story is too silly and too far out, then you have a lot to learn about economics!

HARRY BROWNE

One day in my Bible class in the early 1970s, the preacher gave a talk about money (don't they always?). This particular talk was very interesting. He was quoting information he learned from a book called How To Profit From The Coming Devaluation, by Harry Browne. I obtained the book and began learning about money. In 1979, I was in California and received a phone call asking me if I wanted to get into the coin business. I said yes and moved to Texas and became a professional numismatist (coin dealer) and as it turned out, our office is just across the street from the people who run the office of Harry Browne. We have become friends.

On page 172 of his book (copyright 1970), Browne said: "In the spring of 1966, I told an economics class that I felt the crisis would hit us during a period between one and five years from then. That would place the outer limits at the spring of 1971. I have seen no reason to change my mind in the interim."

This devaluation occurred as predicted by Browne. The May 24, 1971 issue of U.S. News & World Report had an article which stated: "In effect, the U. S. dollar sustained a partial devaluation." Harry's book was instrumental in my decision to get into coins. I had been studying history and politics, and saw that I needed a better understanding of money. I began studying about money and the following is what I found.

The Mystery Of The Ages

MYSTERY BABYLON

The system of loaning money for interest and the money confidence game can be traced back to ancient Babylon and Mesopotamia. The earliest written records that we have are on clay tablets from Mesopotamia. Surprisingly, (why should I be surprised?) they have much to say about banking, slavery, and precious metals. Zecharia Sitchin has written a series of books called the Earth Chronicles series, about the ancient tablets. His book The 12th Planet says, (p. 32, paperback): "Much of ancient commerce was devoted to the metals trade; it also formed the basis for the development in Mesopotamia of banking and the first money—the silver shekel ('weighed ingot')." Sitchin, who can read the ancient clay tablets, says the tablets tell that humans were created as slaves to work the mines for extraterrestrials (called "Nephilim" in the Bible). It appears to me that our "controllers", descendants of the original "Serpent People" (their claim) still have an aversion for hard work and prefer to parasitize others.

Another book of translations of ancient clay tablets is Slavery In Babylonia by Muhammad A. Dandamaev, over 800 pages, published in Russia in 1974, translated into English in 1975.

A summary of what is found on some tablets is on page 45 of Slavery In Babylonia: "In a literary text attesting the introduction of new laws and to be ascribed, in all probability, to the time of Nebuchadnezzar II, it is maintained that people 'devoured one another like dogs, the strong robbed the weak', judges accepted bribes and did not defend the poor, those in authority treated cripples and widows badly, and many broke into other people's houses and seized fields which belonged to others."

rank and file soldiers, because for them payment necessitated resorting to the aid of money lenders."

One money lender mentioned was the business house of Murasu. "In those instances when the landowner needed money for tax payments, he requested the house of Murasu to pay the taxes due. The house of Murasu paid the appropriate tax, and the debtor gave the former a promissory note for the sum paid."

Page 56: "Temples were large land and slave owners. They engaged in money-lending operations and trade."

Payment was usually in the form of silver bullion in bars, rods, wires, and other forms. Coins were not used until around 640-630 BC, in Lydia. Darius I had a money system based on a gold daric of about 8.4 grams. Silver shekels of about 5.6 grams having a value of one-twentieth daric served as the common means of exchange. This ratio of gold to silver was approximately one to thirteen and one-third. Today I was offered a silver half stater from Lydia for $400.00, but the price was too high, so I did not buy it.

Records exist for the house of Murasu for over three generations, in southern and central Babylonia in the fifth century BC. Page 63: "Thus, the house of Murasu was simultaneously a banker, land manager, and commercial enterprise. The activities of the house of Murasu had a ruinous effect upon the economy of the country and thus led to the bankruptcy of the landowners. Although the house of Murasu loaned money to the landowners initially, after a few decades it began more and more to take the landowners' place, and the land began to concentrate in its hands."

Page 65: "Members of the royal family and many Iranian [Babylonian] nobles, who owned extensive lands in Mesopotamia, had their own judicial-administrative apparatus."

Truly, there is nothing new under the Sun. Usury and slavery were major factors in early Babylon, and can be traced down through history.

FROM BABYLON TO ROME

The following documentation may get a bit tedious, but I need you to understand that the banking system of Babylon travelled to Rome. I have written elsewhere in much more detail on this subject. Babylon was conquered by Persia in the sixth century BC. Barker, Lares and Penates of Cilicia, p. 232, says, "The defeated Chaldeans fled to Asia Minor, and fixed their central college at Pergamus." The Chaldeans founded astrology and were known as magicians, sorcerers, diviners, interpreters who knew the secrets of the gods. They were the keepers of the keys of the Peter temples, the "keys of eternal life", keys that were originally in the shape of a phallus. They were the "wise men" of the Middle East, and they established their new Peter temples headquarters at Pergamus. From Pergamus, they established temples and ceremonies in outlying areas, such as at Troy. Later, during the Trojan Wars, Pergamus was also captured, but not before some of the priests escaped with their idols. It can be shown that the gods of Troy were the transplanted Babylonian gods, and the priests of Troy were Chaldeans. Virgil prophesied that the gods of Troy were not to remain in Pergamus, but were to be moved to Latium (Italy): "Blest seed of heaven! who from the foemen's hand Our Troy doest bring, and to an endless date Preserve Pergamus; whom Latium's land Hath looked for, and Laurentium's fields await, Here, doubt not, are thy homegods, here hath Fate thy home decreed" (Aeneid, Book VII, 36). The whole book is the story of Aeneas rescuing Troy's gods and carrying them to Rome (see XII, 360; II, 295; XII, 190; I, 378; I, 67-68 says, "Trojan ships are steering o'er the Tuscan sea, Bearing their Troy and vanquished gods away To Italy.") In II, 296, 297, Virgil tells that Aeneas rescued Vesta's shrine and brought her system of Vestal Virgins, priestly mitres, and a statue that was later called Jupiter Capitolinus to Latium, specifically Mount Albans. Later, under Rome's third king, the religious services were moved to Capital Hill in Rome. Livy, who lived in the First Century BC, said that the worship of the Queen of Heaven was brought to Rome from Babylon via Pergamus (Livy, XXIX, pp. 10, 11, 14).

Smith's Smaller Classical Dictionary, p. 396, tells how Rome asked Attalus, the King of Pergamus, to send them the Queen of Heaven, which Attalus did, sending them a black conical rock that had fallen from heaven.

ALEXANDER THE GREAT GREEK

After Alexander the Great had captured the Middle East, he set up his capital in Babylon. When he died, his kingdom was divided between his generals. Seleucus received Babylon, and in later times the kings of the Seleucid empire called themselves the kings of Babylon (Bevan, The House of Seleucus, Vol I, p. 255). "Seleucus, surnamed Nicator, who had received this province [of Syria] in his lot in the division of the Macedonian dominions, raised it into an empire, known in history by the name of the kingdom of Syria or BABYLON" (Lempriere's Classical Dictionary, p. 587). Because of the destruction and droughts in Babylonia, most of the Babylonians moved to Syria and the Syrian kings were kings of Babylon because their subjects were mostly Babylonians (the first Babylonians in Syria were forcibly moved there when King Esar-haddon, king of Assur, captured them and moved them there—see Ezra 4:2, Ezra 4:9-10, and the cuneiform records translated in The Assyrian Eponym Canon, pp. 137, 138). The Seleucid empire is generally thought to be Greco-Macedonian, but in fact was mostly Babylonian. The Seleucids built cities of Greek-type architecture and adopted the Greek language, but the people and religion were mostly Babylonian. "Mercenaries settled in Asia [the Seleucid Empire] had from the start taken native wives; certainly by the first century intermarriage and the mixture of peoples in daily life and trade was doing its work, and, precisely as in Egypt at the time, the term 'Greek' sometimes denoted culture, not blood; the Greek woman, a Syro-Phoenician by race, of Mark 7:26 was such a 'culture Greek', perhaps with Greek political rights in her city. After the European immigration of the few Greek colonists in the Third Century BC came to an end, first a balance was established, then the Greek began to lose ground, partly through mixing his blood with Asiatic stocks" (Hellenistic Culture, Dr. W. W. Tarn, p. 139. Dr. Tarn was an author of the Cambridge Ancient History).

It can be shown that over 95% of the people in Syria were of Babylonian stock. Tarn says, p. 118, "One feature of Seleucid rule was the resurrection of Babylonia, whose ancient culture was to the Seleucids what that of Egypt was to the Ptolemies. Cuneiform literature revived; besides scientific, astronomical, work and business documents, chronicles of current events were written, and myths were versified. Rituals, incantations, and omen literature were frequently copied and studied, as were Sumerian hymns and their Babylonian translations....The last cuneiform document extant dates from 7 BC. This activity points to a religious revival, which was fostered by the early kings. Antiochus I carried to completion Alexander's project of restoring Bel's temple at Babylon which Xerxes had destroyed. He refounded Nebo's temple at Borsippa, while Bel's priest Berossas dedicated to him his work on Babylonian history. Under Seleucus a priest of Uruk, possibly at his request, found at Susa and copied the old ritual of the gods at Uruk, whose worship was reestablished. The temple of Anu at Uruk was restored in 182 BC under Seleucus IV. Mr. Sidney Smith has suggested to me that the Seleucids favoured Babylonian religion as a bulwark against Zoroastrianism."

Tarn, p. 302, said, "Greece was ready to adopt the gods of the foreigner, but the foreigner rarely reciprocated; Greek Doura [the Greek temple in Mesopotamia] freely admitted the gods of Babylon, but no Greek god entered Babylonian Uruk. Foreign gods might take Greek names; they took little else. They [the Babylonian gods] were the stronger, and the conquest of Asia [by the Greeks] was bound to fail as soon as the East had gauged its own strength and Greek weakness." Moses Hadas, Hellenistic Culture, p. 25, said that the idol which Antiochus Epiphanes erected in the Jewish Holy Place was the Babylonian sun-god Baal Shamayim. The Greeks called this god Zeus Olympus, but it was a Babylonian god. "The plains of Mesopotamia and Coele-Syria, inhabited by kindred races, extended across frontiers which are not marked out by nature, and, relations between the great temples situated east and west of the Euphrates continued without interruption" (Cumont, Astrology and Religion Among the Greeks and Romans, pp. 77, 78).

Later, Seleucus built Antioch and moved his capital to it. Antioch had "a high Greek civilization mixed with various Oriental elements and especially with the superstitions of Chaldean astrology" (Smith's Geography, Vol I, p. 143). Syria issued coins with the signs of the zodiac on them, showing the influence of the Babylonian religion. "It was Babylon that retained the intellectual supremacy, even after its political ruin. The powerful sacerdotal caste ruling it did not fall with the independence of the country, and it survived the conquests of Alexander. The researches of Assyriologists have shown that its ancient worship persisted under the Seleucids, and at the time of Strabo the Chaldeans still discussed cosmology and first principles in the rival schools of Borsippa and Orchoe. The ascendancy of that erudite clergy affected all surrounding regions, but more than anywhere else [it affected] the Syrians, who were connected with the Oriental Semites by bonds of language and blood" (Cumont, Oriental Religions, p. 122). Bevan, The House of Seleucus, Vol. I, p. 255, shows that even when Antioch became the capital, the kings still called themselves the kings of Babylon. Because of the decay of Mesopotamia, the Babylonians moved to Syria, then on to Egypt and Italy. "Henceforth it is far from the Chaldean's native land, in Syria, in Egypt, and in the West, that we must follow the development of the religious ideas derived from the Chaldea of Antiquity" (Astrology and Religion, p. 41).

Cumont, Oriental Religions, p. 106, "Under the [Roman] Empire the importation of slaves increased. Depopulated Italy needed more and more foreign hands, and SYRIA furnished a large quota of the forced immigration." Cumont shows on p. 124, 199, 105, etc., that the people of Italy became more and more of the Babylonian race and religion. "The Syrian religions had spread far and wide in the Occident ideas conceived on the distant banks of the Euphrates" (ibid., p. 125). The Emperor Aurelian proclaimed the Syrian (Babylonian) Sun god as the official god of the Romans. "The god Bel whom Aurelian brought from Asia to set up as a protector of his states, was in reality a Babylonian who had emigrated to Palmyra [in Syria]" (Cumont, Oriental Religions, p. 124).

BABYLONIAN/SYRIAN TEMPLE BANKERS

Cumont explains how Syria had tremendous influence all around the Mediterranean down through the years, even giving the Papacy several popes. In the eighth century the Archbishop of Canterbury was a Syrian. "Those establishments [Syrian commercial colonies] exercised a strong influence upon the economic and material life of the Latin provinces, especially in Gaul. As bankers the Syrians concentrated a large share of the money business in their hands and monopolized the importing of valuable Levantine commodities as well as of the articles of luxury. Their moral and religious influence was not less considerable: for instance, it has been shown that they furthered the development of the monastic life during the Christian period, and that THE DEVOTION TO THE CRUCIFIX WAS INTRODUCED INTO THE OCCIDENT BY THEM. During the first five centuries Christians felt an unconquerable REPUGNANCE to the representation of the Savior of the world nailed to an instrument of punishment more infamous than the guillotine of today. The Syrians were the first to substitute reality in all its pathetic horror for a vague symbolism" (Oriental Religions, pp. 107-109). It is important to note that the Syrians (Babylonians by race and religion) introduced monasteries and the cross—note especially, Christians resisted the cross for five centuries before finally accepting it!

Rome became nearly completely Babylonian. "The Mystery cults permeated the city, Italy and the western provinces only to such an extent as the city, Italy and the provinces were permeated BY THE STOCK THAT HAD CREATED THOSE RELIGIONS" (American Historical Review, vol. 21, p. 707).

BABYLONIAN ROMAN EMPERORS

Septimus Severus was a Phoenician from North Africa. When he became Emperor of Rome, he went to Syria and married the priestess of the Sun, Julia Domna, daughter of the Babylonian Sun God high priest. "That Septimus now chose to ally himself with Julia Domna is the clearest possible indication that his authority should depend on his own race. Rome had defeated Carthage, Rome had dominated Syria. Now, Carthage would unite with Syria to dominate Rome" (Perowne, Caesars and Saints, p. 51). Severus made Antioch the capital of the Roman Empire for over five years. Later his sons carried on his rule, then his grandson Elagabalus became Emperor (218-322 A.D.).

Elagabalus was a priest of the Sun god in Syria. Gibbon, Decline and Fall, ch. 6, says Elagabalus was "consecrated to the honourable ministry of the high priest of the Sun; and this holy vocation contributed to raise the Syrian youth to the empire of Rome." Gibbon tells, "The Sun was worshipped at Emesa [in Syria] under the name of Elagabalus, under the form of a black conical stone, which, as it was universally believed, had fallen from heaven on that sacred place. To this protecting deity, Emperor Elagabalus, not without some reason, ascribed his elevation to the throne. The display of superstitious gratitude was the only serious business of his reign. The triumph of the god of Emesa over all religions of the Earth, was the great object of his zeal and vanity: and the appellation of Elagabalus (for he presumed as pontiff and favourite to adopt that sacred name) was dearer to him than all the titles of Imperial greatness. In a solemn procession through the streets of Rome, the way was strewn with gold dust; the black stone, set in precious gems, was placed on a chariot drawn by six milk-white horses richly caparisoned. The pious emperor held the reins, and supported by his ministers, moved slowly backwards, that he might perpetually enjoy the felicity of the divine presence. In a magnificent temple raised on the Palatine Mount, the sacrifices of the god Elagabalus were celebrated with every circumstance of cost and solemnity. Around the altar a chorus of Syrian damsels performed their lascivious dances to the sound of barbarian music, while the gravest personages of the state and the army, clothed in long Phoenician tunics, officiated in the meanest functions, with affected zeal" (ibid.).

Gibbon describes the Emperor's dress, "He was drawn in his sacerdotal robes of silk and gold, after the loose flowing fashion of the Medes and Phoenicians (clearly Chaldean); his head was covered with a lofty tiara, his numerous collars and bracelets were adorned with gems of an inestimable value." He appointed his own Syrian priests to the official priesthood at Rome (Historians' History, Vol. 6, p. 398). He commanded everyone to address him as Assurbanipal, and claimed that the Roman Empire was, under him, a revival of the Assyro-Babylonian Empire (ibid., p. 378).

The complete transformation of Rome into a new Babylon came about under Diocletian. "Diocletian permanently introduced Eastern forms of government. Until his time the outward appearance of the emperor had only a passing air of Orientalism, but with Diocletian this character of government was established for all time to come. From Diocletian the white bandeau or diadem, borrowed from the East, became the distinctive sign of the ruler, whilst formerly the purple raiment had been the sole sign. Diocletian and his next successor (Constantine) introduced the remaining Oriental regal ornaments. The emperor Aurelian had, indeed, set them the example here....The Asiatic pomp, which had been adopted by Diocletian assumed an air of softness and effeminacy in the person of Constantine" (Historians' History, Vol. 6, pp. 435 and 456).

A woman who claimed to be the goddess Circe began the invasion of the Babylonians into Italy, Aenas began the major transfer of the Babylonian gods to Rome, and finally under Diocletian and Constantine the people, religion, philosophy and government of Babylon had been totally transferred to Italy. Is it any wonder that the Bible calls Rome, the great city that sits on seven hills (Rev.

17:9), "Mystery, Babylon the Great, the Mother of Harlots and abominations of the Earth" (Rev. 17:5)? Notice what John (quoting Christ) said to the Seven Churches in Revelation 2 and 3. To the Church of Ephesus, he mentions he hates the Nicolaitans, the followers of Nicolas, another name of Nimrod, and now known as St. Nick. To the Church of Smyrna he mentions the blasphemy of them who say they are Jews and are not, but are the synagogue of Satan. It was well known during the time of John that he was referring to the Babylonians of Samaria who pretended to be Jews when it was to their advantage, and denied being Jews when it was convenient. This is explained by Josephus, xi, viii, 6; ix, xiv, 3; xii, v, 6; or see article on Samaritans in Unger's Bible Dictionary. The Church of Pergamum (Pergamus), was "where Satan's seat is". We have seen above that Pergamus was a headquarters for the Babylonian gods, where the doctrines of "Balaam" and "Nicolas" were taught (Rev. 2:14,15). To the Church of Thyatira he condemns Jezebel, a priestess of Nimrod's Babylonian religion who supported at her table 450 prophets of Baal and 400 of Astarte (1 Kings 16:31, 32; 18:19). Unger's Bible Dictionary says, "she is used as a type of false teachers who, as the Church of Rome developed, wedded Christian doctrine to pagan ceremonies, as Jezebel engulfed Israel in idolatry."

Rev. 2:23 calls this whore/mother church's children "harlot churches", and Babylon is called the Mother of Harlots. Most researchers outside the Catholic Church understand that the Catholic Church is this pagan harlot church that Revelation condemns, and most outside Protestant Churches understand that her harlot daughters are the Protestant Churches which broke away from her authority but retained many of her Babylonian teachings!

I have spent some time in this article showing you that the religions, government, culture, physical races of Rome and the BANKING system were not just symbolically "Babylonian" but were in fact literally descended from Babylon. This fact has been removed from modern histories, but the proof is there in older historical writings. This Roman/Babylonian system spread across the Western world, with early religious headquarters at places such as Rome, Pergamos, Troy, Constantinople, Antioch, and with commerce and banking centers later in places such as Florence, Genoa, Pisa, Venice and London.

FLORENCE AND VENICE

Florence was established by the Romans as a sort of retirement center for Roman soldiers, on an earlier Etruscan site. After the collapse of the Roman Empire, Florence became a major center of commerce and art. It became a commune and was ruled over by rival families known as the Ghibellines and the Guelphs. In 1252 the gold florin was minted, which became the most valuable currency in Europe "...an extremely efficient instrument in trade and banking relations between Florence and other countries" (Encyclopedia Britannica) under the rulership of the Guelphs, also known as the Black Nobility. The city became the financial capital of the West. The Guelph families spread into France and Germany, and the present Queen of England is a Guelph of the Black Nobility. The Guelphs and their related families achieved their dominance through their secret Templar societies.

Another ruling banking family in Florence was the Medici family, who were also into drugs (and thus our word medicine). Pope Leo X and Pope Clement VII were of the Medici family. Catherine de Medici was queen of France (1549-59) and was responsible for the St. Bartholomew's Day Massacre in which up to 70,000 Protestants (by some estimates; 50,000 by most estimates) were murdered. This is the reason France is primarily Roman Catholic. The Catholic Church later made her a Saint.

Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo and Raffaello achieved their great art under commissions from the Medici court.

Venice was also known for its banking system and commerce. Shakespeare wrote of the rich Jew, Shylock, in the Merchant of Venice. Venice was also organized as a commune and also achieved dominance because of its secret Templar and Masonic societies.

ENSLAVEMENT SYSTEM PROTOCOLS

According to history, the Israelites were taken captive by Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon. While in captivity, they incorporated various writings into a group of writings called the Babylonian Talmud. It is very difficult for non-Jews to obtain access to the Talmud, because it contains much appalling and gross material that must be kept out of Christian hands. I had access to the material in a small Bible college library at one time. I do not want to discuss the grosser parts (and they are GROSS!), but contained in their writings are rules and instructions and protocols for outwitting and cheating and overcoming others. Eventually some of these writings came to be summarized in a report called The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion. These protocols were developed and implemented through the ages through secret societies such as The Knights Templar.

William Dudley Pelley published a book called The Hidden Empire in 1938, in which he told of a report given by Theodore Herzl to the first World Zionist Congress in Basle, Switzerland in 1897. Zionism is NOT Jewish (as generally understood) in origin, it was developed as a set of enslavement protocols, in modern form by the British MI-6 and J10 secret intelligence agencies, who answer directly to British Royalty and who are also the heads of the secret Masonic societies. Freemason Prime Minister Arthur Balfour and Lord Rothschild signed the Balfour Declaration to establish the Zionist goal in England and eventually in Palestine, without consulting the Arabs or Palestinians. The British and European Royalty are Jewish (as were Balfour and Rothschild), so from that viewpoint Zionism IS Jewish. It depends on your viewpoint and understanding. Zionism is NOT a plan of descendants from Judah or Judea to recover their homeland. It is a political/military propaganda weapon to achieve world control by a particular group pretending to be what they are not.

Herzl's report was later published and became known as The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion. It was soon denounced as a forgery.

It is still being denounced as a forgery. Newspapers recently had more articles about this forgery. If it was a forgery, where was the original? It was a summary of rules devised by a particular group or family of people on how to take control of a society, a nation, and the world. This particular program can be traced and documented back into the 1400s, and actually traces back to ancient Babylon and Sumer. Whether you "believe" the Protocols to be a forgery or not is of no matter, if you want to know the truth, why not learn what the World Zionist Congress was about, learn what Herzl represented and what he actually said at the Congress. I recommend you do not merely accept what modern commentaries say he said; learn what these protocols are and see for yourself if anyone is using them.

Benjamin Disraeli, former Prime Minister of Britain, in 1844, in his book Coningsby (Capricorn Books, 1961, p. 305), said: "The world is governed by very different personages from what is imagined by those who are not behind the scenes." This has often been quoted by writers, without explaining exactly who these "very different personages" are, that are unimagined. Disraeli himself explained in his book Life of George Bentinck, pp. 498-9: "The influence of the Jews may be traced in the last outbreak of the destructive principle in Europe. An insurrection takes place against tradition and aristocracy, against religion and property. Destruction of the Semitic principle, extirpation of the Jewish religion, whether in the Mosaic or the Christian form, the natural equality of man, the abrogation of property, are proclaimed by the secret societies who form proviso governments, and men of the Jewish race are found at the head of every one of them. The people of God cooperate with atheists; the most skillful accumulators of property ally themselves with Communists; the peculiar and chosen race touch the hand of all the scum and low castes of Europe. And all this because they wish to destroy that ungrateful Christendom which owes to them even its name and whose tyranny they can no longer endure."

Disraeli also said (July 14, 1856): "There is in Italy a power which we seldom mention in this House [of Parliament]...I mean the secret societies.... It is useless to deny, because it is impossible to conceal, that a great part of Europe—the whole of Italy and France and a great portion of Germany, to say nothing of other countries—is covered with a network of these secret societies.... What are their objects? They do not want constitutional government... They want to change the tenure of the land, to drive out the present owners of the soil and to put an end to ecclesiastical establishments."

These are remarkable statements by a Jew, no less a Jew than Benjamin Disraeli, Prime Minister of Britain. He says that the "outbreak of the destructive principle" was caused by secret societies, all of which were headed by Jews. He also considered Christianity to be a form of the Jewish religion. Was Jewish Disraeli anti-Semitic? Or was he merely stating a fact? Whether someone is "Semitic" or "anti-Semitic" is really beside the point. And anyway, what is "anti-Semitic"? What is Semitic? Can you define what is a Semite? Are you sure? Jews continually argue over "who is a Semite", and they are supposed to be the experts.

REMEMBERING JOSEPH McCARTHY

From THE NEW AMERICAN, 9/18/97: [quoting]

As a frequent guest on radio and television programs, I have often been asked to comment on the career of former Wisconsin Senator Joseph McCarthy. In response I have always requested those raising the subject to offer an opinion about the senator before I gave mine. In nearly every case, I have been informed that McCarthy was an irresponsible demagogue who recklessly charged innocent people with subversion or worse, and who ruined the lives of many decent Americans.

When I am faced with accusations against Senator McCarthy, I simply ask the accuser to name some of the individuals the Senator supposedly harmed unjustly. During scores of instances stretching back over more than 20 years, the only response I have ever received (the usual response has been dead silence) has been something about Hol'wood screen writers. My response, then, is that each of the famous "Hollywood Ten" was found to have had numerous ties to Communist activity, but that these findings were issued by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, not by Senator Joseph McCarthy. Because those revelations came from a House Committee and Joseph McCarthy was a senator, there is no possibility that he could have been involved.

The truth of the matter is that Joseph McCarthy was never guilty of that which the popular historical account accuses him. As M. Stanton Evans wrote in Human Events for May 16, 1987:

The hardest thing to find in the historical record is the case of someone whom McCarthy claimed on the factual record to be a Communist or security risk, who turned out on subsequent information not to be one.

TRUTH THE OPPOSITE

Senator McCarthy's first public charges about security risks in the State Department were delivered February 9, 1950 during a speech in Wheeling, West Virginia. The previous fall, three men had shown up at his office with a 100-page report detailing dramatic Communist penetration into the Department. Studiously avoiding public identification of any of the questionable individuals whose subversive records he now possessed, McCarthy focused on the number of cases involving security problems (and later referred to them by case number). Returning to Washington, however, he immediately faced a barrage of demands from Democratic colleagues that he "name the names." Completely contrary to the image created about this much-maligned man, he refused to do so until such time as each was confronted and had a chance to defend himself.

In one heated exchange, Democratic Majority Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois told his fellow senators, "I want him to name those Communists."

In response McCarthy said, "[I]f I were to give all the names involved, it might leave a wrong impression. If we should label one man a Communist, when he is not a Communist, I think it would be too bad."

The Senate promptly convened a special panel under the chairmanship of Senator Millard Tydings to investigate McCarthy's charges. However, the committee made no investigation of the State Department but degenerated into a circus of interruptions and heckling directed at McCarthy. All names submitted by McCarthy to the Tydings Committee were cleared.

But it was McCarthy who was proved right. One of the celebrated cases brought to attention by McCarthy involved State Department official Owen Lattimore. Cleared by the Tydings Committee in 1950, he was later investigated by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, which declared in 1952 that "Owen Lattimore was, from some time beginning in the 1930s, a conscious articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy." Similar findings from other government agencies about John Stewart Service, Philip Jessup, and other individuals completely corroborated Senator McCarthy's allegations.

WORTHWHILE EFFORTS

After the Republicans won control of the Senate in the 1952 elections, McCarthy fell heir to the chairmanship of the Permanent Investigations Subcommittee. No longer required to rely on public speeches to warn the American people about Communist subversion, he began conducting public hearings about disloyalty and incompetence in government.

The record of this committee shows that it held 169 public and closed hearings and interrogated more than 500 witnesses. McCarthy's worthwhile efforts bared extensive waste and mismanagement in the Voice of America organization, exposed sufficient Communist penetration of the Government Printing Office to have 77 persons removed from this sensitive government office, demonstrated Communist penetration of key defense plants, and revealed Communist espionage activities at the top-secret radar facilities located at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey.

It was while he was investigating the Communist presence at Fort Monmouth that Senator McCarthy shifted his primary focus from Communists in government to those who were shielding Communists in government. The committee's investigations had demonstrated that Communists were actively working within the Fort Monmouth complex. One Communist, an Army dentist named Irving Peress, had been promoted to the rank of major even after his Communist affiliations had been exposed.

McCarthy naturally wanted to know who authorized such a ludicrous promotion. When he revealed his intention to subpoena members of the Army Loyalty and Screening Board, high officials of the Eisenhower Administration met in Washington to devise a plan to stop McCarthy. That meeting was held on January 21, 1954 in the office of Attorney General Herbert Brownell. Those present included U.S. Ambassador to the UN Henry Cabot Lodge, Deputy Attorney General William Rogers, White House Chief of Staff Sherman Adams, and Army Counsel John Adams.

It was John Adams who had matter-of-factly mentioned the January meeting while being questioned about lax security at Fort Monmouth. But when pressed for details about what had transpired, he claimed that he was unable to supply any further information because of instructions from superiors. Support for Adams' refusal to cooperate then came from President Eisenhower who, on May 17, 1954, issued an Executive Order forbidding employees of the Defense Department from testifying about any matter whatsoever. Eisenhower dressed up his outrageous decree in a wealth of constitutional verbiage, but, ponderous wording aside, it amounted to as devastating an attack on the constitutional doctrine of checks and balances as had ever been issued by anyone in government service.

The Eisenhower order swept a great deal of information under a rug, and stopped McCarthy from pursuing those who were shielding Communists when he knew that these individuals actually posed an even greater threat to America than most of the actual Communists. Immediately, stopping McCarthy completely became a prime endeavor for some members of the Senate.

CONDEMNED BY PEERS

On July 30, 1954, Vermont Senator Ralph Flanders introduced a resolution formally accusing McCarthy of conduct unbecoming a member of the Senate. Flanders' measure grew to include 46 separate charges. Utah Senator Arthur Watkins was assigned by the Senate to chair another panel to investigate McCarthy, the fifth such investigation targeting the senator.

After two months of hearings, the Watkins committee recommended that McCarthy be censured on only two of the original 46 counts, the other charges being shown to lack any substance. But the final two charges were completely baseless as well. They were: (1) the senator had "failed to cooperate" in 1952 with a Senate Committee investigating him; and (2) the senator had "tended to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute" and had impaired the "dignity" of the Senate by characterizing one of the investigatory bodies looking into his activity as the "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communist Party.

McCarthy: Targeted for destruction because of aggressive anti-Communism.

The first charge stemmed from McCarthy's failure to respond to the "invitation" of the 1952 committee headed by Wyoming Senator Gillette to appear before it. Never in Senate history had any member ever been disciplined in the slightest for declining an "invitation" to appear before any of its bodies. But even worse, McCarthy was invited to appear via a telegram sent to his Wisconsin office. Dates suggested for the appearance were November 22nd, 24th, or 25th. At the time the telegram was sent, McCarthy was in northern Wisconsin hunting deer and the committee knew it.

The second charge saw men with far greater offenses against the "dignity" of the Senate hurling accusations and invective against McCarthy. Author James J. Drumme reported in The New American for May 11, 1987 that during the various moves to stymie McCarthy and disparage his work, a variety of senators "had accused McCarthy of lying under oath, accepting influence money, engaging in election fraud, making libelous and false statements, practicing blackmail, doing the work of the Communists for them," and other unsavory activities. None of these were accurate and, therefore, each was worthy of condemnation by the full Senate.

Nevertheless, on December 2, 1954 the Senate voted 67 to 22 to "condemn" McCarthy on the two counts.

Former Communist Party leader Louis Budenz, who witnessed Communism's evil from inside the movement, said that the condemnation of McCarthy opened the door "to intimidate any person of consequence who moves against the conspiracy". McCarthy was made their target, said Budenz, "because they wanted to make him a symbol to remind political leaders in America not to harm the conspiracy or its world conquest designs."

The essential point here is that McCarthy was made such a symbol, not by the Communists with whom Budenz had long associated and was now condemning, but by 67 of his own Senate colleagues. None of those 67 had ever been accused of being a Communist by anyone. Obviously, the conspiracy against America involves much more than just the Communist Party.

Joseph McCarthy died on May 2, 1957. At a special memorial service in the Senate on August 14, 1957, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, who had voted to condemn McCarthy, stated: "There was a quality about the man which compelled respect, and even liking, from his strongest adversaries. [He] had strength...had great courage...had daring...[and] had a rare quality which enabled him to touch the minds and hearts of millions of his fellow men."

If we can ignore for a moment that it was Lyndon Johnson who said this, we can see many of the reasons why McCarthy had to be destroyed. He had the capability of leading the American people on a crusade against a vile conspiracy. His leadership was desperately needed at the time. Of McCarthy it can justly be stated, "For once in the U.S. Senate there was a real man. May God help us to find more!" —JOHN F. MCMANUS

Comments In Response To "Armchair Quarterbacks"

11/15/97 #2 HATONN

GUEST EDITORIAL, HATONN

We have been so focused on matters of local importance that I have been relieved of the daily paper input. I want people who perceive that things are not as they might well be to please, all of them, all the time, try running an albatross like CONTACT, gleaned nothing but trouble for nothing in return except the feeling that you have somehow made a contribution to Truth.

I have been asked to comment on Gary Wean's material now being run in CONTACT. I can't even begin to reasonably comment since I have not read the material. If I had time for my scribe to study everything coming through this conduit to "get to Hatonn", we would have NOTHING done—period—and that is unacceptable.

Gary Wean's material was fine and acceptable in the O.J. Simpson "thing", but is not OK now? He writes of things such as Jewish involvement in the hierarchy of almost everything governmental or police-related and when he does so, YOU call him anti-Semitic, racist and a bigot. When he uses the term Mishpucka you don't even remember the definition, according to NBC (yes, I said NBC—yesterday), and yet you claim him to be uninformed and his research unworthy? WHO is unworthy? The reader who throws rocks, or the investigator and researcher who writes what he finds?

The CONTACT is not, nor ever was, an "anti-" anything. It was established to be a voice for the covering of information that never even makes it to the public eyes even via the so-called "patriot" or "free" press. Nothing more and nothing less. Next position is to offer THAT WHICH IS BEING OFFERED IN THOSE PUBLICATIONS AROUND THE GLOBE WHO DO DARE TO PUBLISH TRUTH, AND GIVE CREDIT AND ACCOLADES TO THOSE BRAVE WRITERS WHO HAVE ONLY A NARROW BASE OF READERSHIP. We can get truth a bit "further" along the print route, nothing more.

Have "I", Hatonn, done a lot of commenting in the past on topics chosen, yes, by me, to inform since I can see both ends of this road and the traps along the way? INDEED! But when I don't have time to write paper after paper, journal after journal because of other focus, can't you nice people appreciate the magnificent job being done by the "fill-in-ink crew"?

AND IN MEETINGS—

Stark terror fills the hearts of the team here who must face the world and the music every day, along with the courts and the press, not to mention the media-loving outrageous tales for their tabloids.

Then come the meetings of which we have very few any more as I have all but lost my speaker and the visitors take the time and attention totally away from that which is pertinent to the meeting itself. Visitors are always, and always have been, welcomed abundantly, and the "regulars" have been gracious in sharing and having time taken for every Tom, Dick and Harry teacher and preacher coming along. Now we have ones coming once or twice and want to get in on the possible gold-pots at the end of some rainbow or another while there is little they can do except make themselves appear as silly as they ARE.

A new visitor took a great deal of time at the last meeting and gathered us complaints from the attendees for the personally searching and family matters as presented for my consideration. Well, I was patient and nice with "them" when they were asking fortune-telling questions about themselves, so I should now be rude to guests? No, I will not be rude although the ones who bring these strangers among us obviously DO NOT GET THE PICTURE or they would not take such valuable time for themselves.

If, as our visitor says, someone knows Ramos' mother and can get to a visit with her—go visit her! Why ask ME? Just don't involve anything we are doing of a business nature unless YOU KNOW EVERYTHING THERE IS TO KNOW ABOUT OUR ONGOING PROJECTS AND PROCESSING. This MUST come from the parties bringing the visitors for we have no time for this kind of trivial time-wasting.

WE DO NOT, HAVE NEVER HAD, NOR SHALL EVER HAVE, A CHURCH, A CULT, A GROUPIE, NOR A GATHERING FOR THE "SEARCHING" AND "FIND MYSELF"-CENTERED PEOPLE. There is a paper here called CONTACT and it is not even "here". There are some products but they are not "here" either. I am not in the business of fortune-telling nor of unwinding anyone's affairs. I see lots of errors in judgment taking place every day but that is not my business.

It is always thus when "God becomes a focus" that the misfits, searchers, ones who were unsuccessful elsewhere and now want to "find themselves" will flock to such as we—because: "God wouldn't, surely, let me flounder about in unknowing." Oh yes HE WOULD! Changing locations to a tiny town in "nowhere" is foolish on the very face of it for nobody, especially "searchers", want the available work for they are, after all, "managers" of some kind of failed plots prior to now. Then to top it off there comes the efforting to become an "insider" somehow with those who are so busy as to be going nuts so that they are somehow acceptable as the intruders they are. THERE ARE NO NON-MENIAL JOBS HERE, NO FUNDS HERE, NO HOUSING OR COMMUNAL ASSISTANCE AVAILABLE HERE—JUST PEOPLE GOING INTO THE HOLE EVERY DAY JUST TO GET THEIR TASKS UNDER CONTROL.

I am forced to speak of these things because there is a PILE of documents stacked up here awaiting MY INPUT as directly penned TO ME. It is at best a frail reed you use to go through Dharma for she only feels the pressure and can't do anything about your plights AT ALL. Blessed are you who share your love and gifts with us (her, etc.) but she is human, and a very, very sick human at that.

Why don't I just heal her in my miraculous way? Because she would just try, AGAIN, to handle everybody's business including mine and hers.

If you have come to this location, I would suggest that you attend your own business because it will NEVER get tended if you think it will be through Ekkers or myself. My mission is NOT TO ATTEND YOUR LIVES—my mission is to revolve some elements of righteousness into that which you have plundered and blundered and "fixed" beyond recognition in your absence of responsibility. I can not care less about the personal attitudes or imperfections—take that up WITH GOD, CHRIST, or an energy devoted to personal matters such as your GUIDE OR TEACHER—OF WHICH I FIT THE ROLE FOR NOBODY YET WHO CLAIMS OTHERWISE. WHEN I AM THE TEACHER AND GUIDE, THERE NEEDS BE NO DISCUSSION OR INQUIRIES (ESPECIALLY TO DHARMA OR THROUGH DHARMA FOR RECOGNITION OR CONFIRMATION).

Am I being harsh? Yes, of course, for you hear and take within ONLY THAT WHICH YOU HAVE ALREADY DECIDED IS THE WAY IT IS! We had a period of information exchange and "training" for our jobs for the past ten years and that does not include a redoing of lessons or repeating same. The information is available to any or all who would want the input, and if you don't care enough to do this for self—forget the higher education from this resource.

However, for you who perceive that my own personal writings are being somehow deleted from the paper: it is simply a matter of my private and instructional writing necessities which will eventually be a resource in manifestation for those things which we MUST ACCOMPLISH—and that is NOT going to be fed to our very adversaries any longer!

Speaking of local adversarial personalities, it appears the numbers are dwindling as they find it more desirable to go the course WITHOUT GOD. Two of the major players are now gone, one dead, the other left town. The lawyers in point, however, continue to use the dead and the false presentation of their corporations for their own court encounters and it is going to come, now, to a screeching halt. The others can continue until they hang themselves as is only worthy of such lying and cheating on their parts.

A lot of judges and legal entities are going to now have to answer for their participations in the GAMES up to now. An no, I will not give evidence here for their use but the consequences are both expensive and entangling as one after another has to face the "piper"—and who do you think is going to get dumped on—the "little guy" who did the first lying or the JUDGE who blundered into the trap of helping out his buddies?

These perpetrators continue to use, unlawfully, corporations not even structured as they have "assumed" them to have been and, now, one who has been useful to their cause without even permission or input has been dead for over two years AND Father Ed Cleary whose deposition, wherein he stated right up front that he had "no intention of telling the truth", has been used in every subsequent case involving any of "us", died on the 10th of November. This leaves Betty Tuten ALONE in the foolish "run-up the legal fees". And how is SHE going to answer to EXTRA when the stuff hits the fan in these new proceedings?

There was just this week a Bankruptcy hearing for George Green, his second to KEEP FROM FACING THE TRIAL—ALSO ONLY HOURS BEFORE THE TRIAL DATE.

This last one was not well received as documents lay before the Trustee while he lied, squirmed, looked to Horton for confirmation, etc. It was a black-mark day on the very meaning of the court and, even if not terrible to outrageous legal manipulations, will be noted suitably and that will probably BE BACK BEFORE THE STATE COURT WHICH WAS THE PURPOSE OF THE SIDE-STEPPING IN THE FIRST, AND SECOND, PLACE.

Example of the foolishness? Well, Mr. Green claimed ALL THE BOOKS that were security holdings, were destroyed in the mud and floods of last year. (???) But, the floods were in Reno and the books were miles away in Carson City in an area that received NOTHING of floods. Then the parties who are to "back him up..." haven't been paid by Mr. Green so I don't think they are going to be the happiest campers to help him out of his hole this time around.

Another wonderful attribute of Mr. Green is the blaming of his wife for everything deceitful and every underhanded scheme—in that somehow SHE ends up the one having all the assets, the corporations, et al. SHE, of course, is never informed and, much the less, present, to either defend herself or make note of her being so much as "alive".

Mr. Green sits crimson-faced with anger while he points to Ekkers and claims they "did it all" and "operated Ponzi schemes and scams" and whatever else he can attribute to them from his own actions. It is funny indeed that he continues, after stealing and lying, to operate other publishing companies (of course denying it in the face of the State documents before the Trustee) and calling the gold acquisition plan with loans, to be a Ponzi set-up. How so? Mr. Green should know, but doesn't, it seems. No misunderstanding is present save from those who dwell with Mr. Green. Gold has NOT doubled as Mr. Green promised nor has anyone with any insight at all thought otherwise.

If you don't think GOLD is going to save your bacon one of these days—then your porker is in pretty bad condition. Gold has no value particu-

THE PINOCCHIO SYNDROME: TANGLED WEBS

Never mind my name, but I'm a Director of A Noble Institute. Send me your gold. No one else needs to know. It will be our little secret.

Actually, I am not a Director of A Noble Institute. Perhaps I work for the CIA! You know, I used to tell people that everything they've been taught is a lie. Now I tell people I've done nothing wrong, but no one believes me.

"Would you care to tell us exactly HOW you got the gold into your possession?" Oh, that's easy. As a Director of A Noble Institute I just sold the gold to myself. No one needed to know. No money needed to change hands. No records needed to be kept, you know, for privacy.

... Errr ... I'm not a Director of A Noble Institute. Who said I was a Director? I mean, ... errr ... I think I'd better take the Kol Nidre and visit my coffee plantation in Costa Rica.

A Hard Look At Growing World Tensions

11/15/97 #2 HATONN

OTHER TOPICS OF THIS DAY, SUCH AS IRAQ

And just what about Iraq? What is this bully called the U.S. and Brits going to do about Iraq and Saddam? Well, it will be stupid whichever choice is made. But KNOW, WORLD, it is a major DISTRACTION from what is really taking place while you focus on ol' Saddam's escapades.

Everything you are told about the confrontations ARE LIES, from the U-2 spy-plane overflights to the shielding set forth by Saddam. The people of Iraq are going to confront you of the "Great Satan" even if it now costs their lives for you have hurt them physically and deformed and killed their babies to the point they would rather die than succumb further to your atrocities.

As to the U-2 planes, what in the world is the matter with you? They tell you they can't use the satellites for such mundane information-gathering as on Iraq. Are you nuts? A giving of information gathering from satellites is NOT ENOUGH to merit stopping a world war? Come, come. Could it be that there AREN'T so many satellites making it to space for surveillance these days and nights? And by the way, the U-2 is a totally OBSOLETE craft so what do you open-faced and -mouthed, believe while they feed you garbage?

You are going to huff and puff and blow Saddam's house down? Oh? And what do you think the Chinese-Russian alliance will do about your games a bit further down the road when you have NO DEFENSE AT HOME, GOOD BUDDIES? When the U.S. takes on a war unilaterally, you can bet the other enemies will move into the slots left vacant by the downsizing of your military and the rest being sent abroad.

IS THE CHINESE TAKEOVER OF THE LONG BEACH NAVAL DEPOT OFF?

Perish the thought—it is not only "back on" but the transfer is UNDER FULL WAY. Ah, but you didn't know? Well, I just couldn't get to all the fill-in information so only some of you will even realize what happened. But, it was written up, AGAIN, in Spotlight and the follow-on information regarding the Chinese has been pouring out from every resource right along the way—including as to what is happening in the markets of the world, the shams of the cover-up mattresses.

No, the paper's staff does NOT focus on these things except in the tid-bit pieces of the News Desk. Rick is not only now the Senior Journalist—but the ONLY journalist. I WAS the journalist to pick up the hundreds of writings, but now I must focus on funding just to stay alive here with ANY KIND of paper. Why? Because, as I asked Sunday, "Who has solved the problems of funding?" and NOBODY offered even a comment! Well, when all else fails, we get at it and do it ourselves. Are we so brilliant? No—we just don't stop when the going gets rough or the walls come up to stop us. However, it does certainly stop the ability of our "journalists" to do anything else WHICH CAN BE WRITTEN ABOUT. Why can't we write about these activities? Because you go report directly and instantly to the adversary and if you don't—then they get it from the surveillance equipment or the paper itself. The CONTACT for years has been the first document studied each week (before publication) by the CIA and other Intelligence agencies. Have we known this all along? Of course, how else do you think I can communicate with them? They know what agreements they have made WITH ME and my status and security file listing. It is only you-the-people who can't seem to deal with my presence. The government and Intelligence Services don't have even a second's delay in understanding. All I expect or have ever expected is that YOU PEOPLE MEET YOUR AGREED-UPON CONTRACTS.

"Well," you say, "what is it that we can find out on our own, such as about the serious input of the Swiss banks, etc.?" Say what? Don't you realize that the Swiss central banker warns of a threat to the WHOLE SYSTEM by what has taken place there in Switzerland and the assault against the banks? No? Why not?

I try to write in such a way as to have NO INVISIBLE SPEAKERS and yet we always come to the quibblers who claim, "plagiarism" and other seemingly terrible accusations. Truth and news are not at point in "plagiarism", at best, and how else do you expect to get anything of reasonable news if you can't understand that which ALREADY IS? You can't, that's how.

The instability in the Asian Markets is simply a reflection of this very type of bank assaulting by certain groups set up to kill the banks not under total International New World Order control—TO BRING THEM UNDER CONTROL. However, KNOW that the accomplishment will be the death of all banking, or the Asians will rise up and WIPE YOU OFF THE MAP! Mankind's problem through the Khazarian empire is one of annihilation at the hands of the Asians! This will happen just as soon as it can be properly arranged by the Powers that Be in THOSE CAMPS who await the coalitions to be formed and the take-over ports quietly arranged for entry within the intended countries.

Are these "new" invaders quietly geared to peace and order? Oh no, no indeed. They are trained for worse atrocities than you have yet recognized, more racism than you have imagined and more violence larly except what the economists give unto it—but it will surely be the basis, as throughout human history, for any kind of economic structuring or restructuring.

The "loans" are with the Institute and the notes have not gone anywhere, even if backing is totally tied up by these courts and banks. And you, further, who would kill the golden-egg-laying geese are not only blind but awfully gullible to the "fall-guys" tales of woe. They want the Overton GOLD but when that next hits the courts and the minute the good-old-boys call the fictitious defendants Ekker-Phoenix, the gasoline is in the fire. They did it with Tuten and, NOW, Ekker-Ekker has FULL RIGHT to confront on a personal level and that is all we have been waiting for.

Who will finally "get the gold"? How much gold do YOU believe might be left? There are some judges with their "olies" on the line already, over just that point! And how nice, by them listening to Green while he told them the gold was originally Ekkers' and he bought it from Ekkers and ten other tales of some misfit mind—he opened the passage for PERSONAL intervention in those cases BY THE EKKERS who now are learning everything there is available to learn about Title 42 actions against all parties involved in deceit in and by the courts and judicial system. This is not a good thing for judges and attorneys, clerks and misdirected "order-writing clerks of the courts". Issues are not even the point in testing—but Constitutional RIGHTS violations are as far as it need go and the rest is plain frosting on the cake as to individual wrong-doing.

Do you actually think a JUDGE is going to continue to rule WITH a George Green and the likes of Horton and Abbott, Horn and Brent when his own entire career and all assets are under rightful attack for his Constitutional actions in wrongdoing? The Constitutional violations are so obvious and evident that the cases shouldn't go much beyond the original filings on Civil Rights violations. The fines and jail assessments are established BY THE CODE IN THE COURTS, so what is to be discussed after the presentation of proper paperwork? Lots, I would guess, but not by the Plaintiffs, for sure. There is no point doing anything on the issues in these cases for the courts have already formed conspiracies right down the proverbial line of legal oppositions and through every involved party. So, go for the Constitutional violations and they have NO PLATFORM ON WHICH TO STAND TO MAKE THEIR SELF-STRUCTURED DECISIONS. YOU STILL HAVE A CONSTITUTION EVEN IF IT IS NOW SHOVED ASIDE AND THE LEGAL PROFESSION OF THE BAR ASSOCIATION WORKS TOTALLY BASED ON THEIR OWN REVISED LAWS. THOSE LAWS ARE UNCONSTITUTIONAL. However, do you take up arms and go fight them? Foolish people, of course not—you do it right and cause them to be equally nice (for you WILL be overly-nice) to YOU.

Who might have a case? EVERYBODY who has received one document from the court with your name in "upper case" print or has had to stand accused or in defense in a courtroom with a gold-fringed flag hovering by the Judge. Silly? NO, the LAW, good buddies, THE LAW! Will the courts ever be swamped by such failure of the people to "take it any longer"? Who knows but wouldn't it be nice if you took responsibility and did something useful, calm in the face of the enemy of freedom, and demanded rights in the CORRECT court under the Constitution—just as written with any and all of its original errors? Salu.

of people-against-people than you ever dreamt could come to pass.

So who will be spared? Possibly the Native American or historical lineaged peoples of the globe. Remember that the "Indians" or Aboriginal people, come from Asian ancestors just as the Khazars of the now-called "Jewish" (but are not) faith and race came from the Russ, Mongol and Nordic tribes. When the "Chinese Asians" team up with the non-Khazarian Russ, there will be the Armageddon expected. The pressures will come from the North as prophesied, and the people South will be driven all the way into Turkey, thus representing the elimination of Israel as it has come to be accepted. The Palestinians will join the fray and this will be ever so much more bloody than what could have been told to you-the-sleeping-masses.

Do I make up fearful tales to shock you? No, first of all, it is apparent that shocking does nothing to you who now feast on blood-sucking and sacrifice. This is simply a presentation or reminding of your "Prophets' speakings".

Who will be protected in those days which must be cut short lest all be destroyed? GOD'S TRUE PEOPLE and those who have moved to assist in restoration of the balance of righteous ownership and stewardship.

Where will this be? Anywhere and everywhere you find TRUE intent of God's service and not the projected assumptions of that which you would simply LIKE TO BELIEVE to suit self-adoration.

Does this mean we are anti-government? Certainly NOT! Anarchy is that which comes from any kind of "overthrow" of any system, good or bad. This is never good for there is nothing upon which to base a NEW type of governing body for restoration of stability.

Will we be able to do anything worthy of mention in time to side-step the full blast of this onslaught? I don't know and certainly NOT if everybody waits for somebody else to fix everything, from what goes into a given paper to earning the funds to establish some program for better projects and industrial regrouping of nations and peoples.

What can YOU, as an individual, create and accomplish? Well, it isn't for me to say for, until you think you can do something worthy, you will do nothing save possibly cause more discomfort to the ones taking responsibility.

I note that just about everyone who asks, say, Ekkers, "What can I do to help?" when told, can't seem to be able "to do that!" and it comes back, "...well, I meant other than helping fund or 'doing' money." The best two excuses are: "The IRS is giving me problems," or, "I don't believe we should mix God and Money." Oh? How else are you going to accomplish ANYTHING in this money-oriented world of today? Do you or do you not have to LIVE in this world AS IT IS?

So, what is the purpose of even considering the ones who just "want to be"? Ah, I thought you would never ask: IT IS TO ALLOW GOD TO SORT INTENTIONS OF INDIVIDUAL PARTICIPANTS AND UPON WHOM HE CAN PLACE HIS TRUST OF FOLLOW-THROUGH. Remember, and you always seem to forget: GOD WINS, AND WHETHER THAT WIN IS NOW OR LATER MAKES ABSOLUTELY NO DIFFERENCE TO WE OF THE HIGHER REALMS.

Is a "water irrigation system" on the leased farm YOUR PROBLEM? No? Then why do YOU ASSUME IT TO BE EKKERS'? And, if you are hungry do you or do you not expect to help eat grain and beans which the Ekkers have made sure are there for your survival? Oh, I see, you "gave at the office"? Well too bad God or Ekkers weren't in the "office pool".

Remember that neither Ekkers, nor I, care a whit about your business or your participation—but GOD TAKES NOTE OF INTENTIONS and what you do—ALWAYS! Will moving away from us change anything? No, God is always "there", wherever you go, for there is nowhere to run and no place to hide.

Ekkers and I are fresh out of taking responsibilities for each of you who now claim, "Well, I gave up (this or that) to come to this place and now..." Stop right there for we NEVER, NEVER said to "come on down" and if you play at that kind of accuse-and-blame game you are more foolish than when you "came anyway". For those who "just use", it will never be different from this moment in time. And you who come, get help, and then turn and complain about the very ones who held out their hands to help you—shame on you for you shall go down just as you have everywhere else you have plied your tricks. To, further, bear false witness as to happenings or circumstances is a greater shame upon your character and it is better if you consider the quickest route out and away from here. But if ones have co-signed or helped with debts you may owe, I suggest you CLEAR THEM TOTALLY prior to your departure. This is not a commune or charity welfare house to feed and shelter the unwilling-to-work. There is a whole township, in fact, three or four of them, in the immediate and adjacent location—why do you piddle your time away in some method of dreaming that God will somehow give you that for which you interminably wait. And how many of YOU aid and abet this concept constantly through your own MISPERCEPTIONS of what God will or will not do?

There is such abundance of willing hands waiting for the call as to be staggering to the senses. Why would GOD take the misfits and unworthy who claim and take up space and energy while the trained and willing are put aside? It simply will NOT HAPPEN.

"But, couldn't I just help count out the money in the counting house if and when..." Surely so but, so too can a school student without any nosey input or interest in the amounts or the gossip which is presented as a possibility OR the unfortunate insistence that you "can do it better if you just change..."

"But God promises..." you shout back at me. Oh? GOD PROMISES A RETURN OF THAT WHICH YOU SEND FORTH—SO BE VERY CAREFUL OF YOUR DEMANDS UPON GOD.

"But I was always told..." you retort. Ah indeed, and so be it that in the guise of RELIGIONS you were TOLD INCORRECTLY! I have NOTHING to do with RELIGIONS—I happen to be OF GOD and know the difference.

Spirituality and "religion" are two VERY DIFFERENT concepts just as mysterious and mystic are two VERY DIFFERENT, and opposing, ideas. The facts are that "ideas" are of the Spiritual reality, actions precipitated by ideas are of the physical manifestation. Physical actions are the judgmental concerns of physical—and ideas in intent are the Spiritual reality of the MIND REALISM. Until physical EGO can be set aside, it is a fact that MIND REALISM cannot be forthcoming and all the lying to self and others will not change one iota of the truth of it. So, if you err and repent, err and repent—don't expect the "other" to let you repent again and again lest they dislodge their own status in the world of REASON and REALITY of balanced interchange. And YES, we do have these types of personalities abundant among us.

HEALTH AND ENTERTAINMENT

This title is somewhat misdirectional because I can't, either, choose what you will do or how you will feel physically or mentally about your choices.

We are continually asked about the status of Zita. She IS, what more would you have me say? Will she live or pass on to other realms of activities? That is up to her and her alone. She has no disease which is taking her life but she will not keep food down within her body, so eventually she will not longer be able to stave off the invaders. There is NO CANCER eating away her vital self. So, we come right back around to choices. Choices are often hidden, and most often totally hidden from the one experiencing the choice itself.

What of Charles' son Scott, who was in the death coma? He is coming along very well with full faculty (brain) responses. However, no one saw fit to do what I had agreed with the man to do, and his recovery from tubes and invasions is taking a long toll on recovery. I warn you people, the medical professionals and hospitals ARE A HAZARD TO YOUR HEALTH. But, I note that ones who will do anything else in confrontation, would NOT confront or demand anything of the doctors or family in participation. Am I being hard? Yes indeed because YOU broke my agreements. Is it OK? Well, not with me—but surely enough, with you and, therefore, take it up with God and stop asking things OF ME.

Will I have any friends WITH me when this journey ends? Of course, and they will be informed and in knowing. The others will be OF THE OTHERS who always drop away when the game is not of their own choosing or perception. Will that moving away make them "right"? No, but what else is new—they were never "right", so they continue the pathway of incorrect perceptions.

Have I digressed from the daily important issues? Oh goodness no, THESE ARE the daily important issues! These choices, actions and perceptions are EXACTLY that which have made up the other issues of the day from wars to theft. You can never, by the way, BUY PEACE AND CONTENTMENT—only the possibility of getting the significant other off your back. That temporary relief is exactly that: temporary for the very movement into the "easy way out" will come to confront every move you make from that "give in" unto your closing chapter of living.

This particular writing has gone far too long in space and time consumption so we will have to take up banking, markets, interactions of nations, etc., at another sitting. Sorry about that but life is what happens while we try to make other plans and stay ahead of the ones who "just can't understand" anything.

Salu, and if you think I be hard—TRY GOD ON FOR QUICK REVIEW.

TELEPHONE HOTLINE 805-822-0202

As an adjunct to CONTACT, the Telephone Hotline keeps you as informed as possible on current events and other important information that needs to get to our subscribers before our publishing date.

The message machine will answer after 2 rings if there are any new messages for that day, and after 4 rings if not. Thus daily callers can hang up after 2 rings and save toll charges if no new message has been recorded. If the Hotline does not answer your call, then that means there is currently no Hotline message.
