Stop Marching To Satan's Drummers

12/2/00—#1 (14-108)

RE: TRUTH AND RECOGNIZING TRUTH OF CIRCUMSTANCES IN THE FACE OF ACCUSATIONS AND BLAME FROM OTHERS. KNOW YOUR STRENGTHS AND TOOLS AND USE THEM.

HOW DIFFICULT CAN OUR JOB BE?

Hatonn—VERY! BUT DIFFICULT DOES NOT MEAN EITHER IMPOSSIBLE NOR DOES IT MEAN DENIAL.

Difficult indicates a need for perseverance. Impossible means we must work diligently—smarter, while noting that the most anguishing of all affairs is in the waiting on Man to do what he can to save face and DISALLOW God's balanced allowance to come forth. God's purpose, however, is ALWAYS served in ANY event.

What do you do with the "waiting"? You do everything feasible to move your goals to harvest and do what life demands of you as "life" unfolds its myriads of encounters and allows you to reach out to brothers in order that their way might be less stressed and difficult.

AH, BUT, CHRISTMAS!

Christmas is a day of reminding that you will have reached the 25th of December in your calendar counting. The "meaning" is totally PERSONAL, for neither the calendar nor the physical trappings are more than meaningful to self. However, celebration is a GOOD thing because it allows introspection on very physical/surface experiences and observations. This is because you have a few annually recurring events from which you can determine other timing sequences, i.e., "That happened before Christmas last year...". Or, "That raid happened before (or after) the Fourth of July or Easter or Thanksgiving," etc. Even the numbering of years fade into meaningless oblivion as remoteness dilutes intensity of any happening.

FEAR rears its ugly head when the unknown is recognized. That can be in the waiting for an election ruling to the possibility of a nuclear encounter beyond which there will likely be NO remembering possibilities in the physical domain save brief recognition of "what might have been IF...".

WHAT HAS GOD OFFERED US IF WE DO HIS GOODLY WILL?

HE offers HIS way to utilize that which is constructed by Man to begin to turn about from the trip ongoing to that certain conclusion of loss and destruction. Furthermore, HE brings together his own "Hosts" and Teachers to show the way. YOU HAVE TO WALK THE "WAY".

HE HAS GIVEN US NEW BIRTH INTO A LIVING HOPE. HE OFFERS THE UNFADING

BEAUTY OF A GENTLE AND QUIET SPIRIT WHICH IS OF GREAT WORTH IN HIS SIGHT. MOST IMPORTANT IN YOUR CIRCUMSTANCE, WHATEVER IT MIGHT BE, HE IS PRESENT TO SEE YOU THROUGH—EVEN THE WAITING.

NO CHRISTMAS THIS YEAR IN BETHLEHEM.

In the very location described as the birthplace of CHRIST it is decreed that, with the unrest in the “Holy Lands”, there will be no celebration of Christmas in Bethlehem. Moreover, the news is hardly noted while Mad Cow disease rocks the news. Are we paying more attention to the soul or the physical possibilities?

Well, the complaint is that there will be no allowance for tourist sales of trinkets wherefrom many people make their living in the Holy Land. CHRIST IS WITHIN THE HEART (SOUL), MY FRIENDS, NOT IN AN ARTIST’S DRAWING OF A CONCEPT THAT IS ONLY HIS OWN.

By the way, Christmas is NOT for “children” as advertised. Christmas SHOULD be celebrated as a wonderment of goodness and hope FOR THE SOUL—and never mind the “color” of the LIGHTS.

This Christmas-time might well be the most wondrous expectation for MAN in all the years come before—for HOPE is offered to bring about meaningful positive CHANGE. And what do we get in return? Bashing, delays, and pressures from every corner. You do not have to accept those negative impacts—for all you need do is tell truth in counter to the negative input and move on within the regulations set forth and within the laws of both Land AND GOD. All the while, friends, a “half truth” is but a “whole lie”.

SO WHAT GOES ON IN OUR OWN LITTLE NARROW, DAY-TO-DAY EPISODES OF “GETCHA” AND “GOTCHA”?

If we refer to these incidents, it is mandatory to always clarify the question, check on the persons involved, and allow the full actions to reveal themselves.

As an example, regarding the recent new encounters with mailings, stories and even regarding NCH. Who is telling truth, fabrications of a story, or actually doing things as one tells one story and another tells quite another?

Can you get satisfaction for righteousness in a court of manmade playground rules and loopholes? Sometimes yes and most times no—only more delays and unanswered responsibilities to shelter the system and the “legal” players in the game.

Since you can’t expect full hearings on anything—I suggest you not expect much from the court games. Remember the Kol Nidre—LAWYERS are expected to lie so whoever can fabricate the best story which relieves the Judge of responsibility for his own actions is the one who will prevail and set more baseless “case law” instead of RULE OF LAW ON A CASE’S MERITS. This is PROVEN by “plea bargains” which have no relationship in actuality to the “crime” involved. Or, you get “settlements” which are neither kept nor ending of any confrontation.

What must be done is allow for “time” to allow TRUTH to be lived in both example and presentation. Again, this IS that miserable waiting game—but it is only in the playing that the game is exposed. Perhaps that will help you “wait” through the endless unfinished happenings.

Even the court cases revolving around the U.S. elections are a good example of never conclusive finality of decisions. Who, exactly, is having a field day at the expense of justice, honor and nation? The media and the legal system. It will be years and years before the harangue is silenced—or something far BIGGER will come forward to distract.

Either “man” who assumes the U.S. throne only moves within the Federal corporation. Differences can only be presented in “what” is manipulated upon the citizens caught in the “corporation’s” enforcement scope.

Will it make any difference to the global circumstance? Yes, indeed, because there is a “major powers” move to break through the massive manipulation force of the United States Federal control. Even in that instance of Holy Land confrontation it is asked that RUSSIA take the arbiter’s role in reasonable arbitration. So, look who comes forth to interfere with such a new perspective: Sharon—the death-squad leader.

If you of the world don’t introduce a “better way”, then you had better study carefully the alternative probabilities of nuclear WAR—remember that Armageddon is a Holy Land expectation and PLACE.

GLOBALIZATION AND NEW WORLD ORDER

You ask that we select one or the other? Friends, you HAVE BOTH. You can’t put everything back in the bottle and recork it as if nothing has transpired in the past century or more of years. It is not whether or not you HAVE these things come upon you—but only in what you might do to bring positive results and sovereignty in freedom out of the guidelines. Yes, indeed, you CAN do that! However, if you keep killing the messengers and couriers bearing God’s gifts, you can’t expect very much aside from more corruption. Which will you DEMAND? Each WANTS that which brings positive impact and abundance without confrontation unto “SELF”! This is just the way it IS, readers, and that is because the FIRST concern is of and for SELF. Any denial to “self” represents some “sacrifice” of self which is unacceptable without reason prevailing, to self. A liar will do anything to protect his lie—even when confronted with irrefutable fact in Truth.

Can we explore that statement just a bit further in critical attention? If you have a person say that a man is dead and yet the man in point turns up very much alive and is presented even in the face of the person pronouncing the death, what happens? Well, if possible you have exactly what

V.K. Durham did about Russell Herman in claiming that somehow he was a CLONE who did the affronting deeds at whatever time she chooses to represent that cloning.

Is George Bush a clone? Is Clinton a replica? It makes NO DIFFERENCE—can’t you see? It is what transpired in a very physical presentation which will be considered, whether or not there are accepted “clones” running about.

You have the same thing with higher energy counselors—the physical documentation and presentation will be the choice of a court. In other words, if you do a crime, say murder, and you claim religious or spiritual mandate—YOU WILL MEET THE COURT OF LAW AS GUILTY. This is true whether the name be Aton, Allah, God, Michael, or George. Consensus of opinion might well acquit the guilty person—but it does not change the FACTS.

Is the killing of a baby before birth one day more legal than the smothering of and dumping of the birthed baby the next? As long as you have to agonize over the morality of such a picture or action, you are surely not ready to move into the higher expression of a “society” who KNOWS that it is the very intention and “act” which is judged and not the voted-in legalities of even a Supreme Court or World Court which is totally manipulated to achieve desired results as a social mandate.

If, further, you have no higher expectation of GOD, you are in deeper yogurt because right action vs. wrong or “evil” action is simply a majority rule which is, after all, MOB RULE. Can you not see that until you take responsibility for SELF, you are simply a tag-along part of the mob? If right is the conclusion of the MOB, how fortunate—but it most often is NOT. Moreover, it most often has great violence and evil attached either way. I remind you, however, that a self-righteous critic is not righteous at all—only opinionated about a given point under discussion or manifestation.

Which came first, the chicken or the egg? BOTH! The chicken AND THE EGG were manifest at the same moment MAN became conscious of either one. If you had never heard of either a chicken or a chicken egg, nor had ever seen such a thing—it has no “existence” in your consciousness. You can’t even visualize or “think” a “thingamajig” unless you have a pre-conceived notion of same. Therefore, there is no REALITY to the “thing”.

My next thought-question to you is “would you reproduce a dinosaur?” WHY? Are there not enough things to terrify you, destroy you and eat you alive that you need bring back the most terrifying of all to “make your day”? And for whom or what would you do such a thing? That is much like bringing back polio because the virus is an endangered species.

God presents possibilities in goodness and Man is allowed free-will choices in utilization of those possibilities. When, therefore, men choose and manifest evil—it is valid but sometimes quite foolish in outcome.

It is not an accident that “a” person has a rather limited lifespan in the physical cycle called “lifespan”.

Earth physical, no matter where or when experienced, or for that matter how many times experienced, is the very limitation that allows for growth in the very cycles themselves and the experiences expressed in each cycle of opportunity for expression.

It always turns out that goodly choices within law and honor are rewarded with peace within while evil choices never allow for peaceful rest—even if happiness in achievement SEEMS to be the feeling of the MOMENT. Good and evil are NOT matters or points to be “voted in or out”. Goodness IS and evil IS. What Man chooses is simply, again put roughly, mob perception.

Can God prevail in “MOB RULE”? Of course—GOD CREATOR CAN AND SHALL PREVAIL IN ANY CIRCUMSTANCE AND ONLY YOUR PERCEPTION IS IN QUESTION. Remember that more things of evil and shame are done in the name of God than all other things, and that is through the fabricated structure of religions. “Religion” is THE tool most used by Satan to accomplish his manifesto. Religions are more manipulated than the numbers in a statistician’s computer or calculator.

The new item in the Philippines today is that somehow in the third quarter of 2000 the GDP shows production rise of 5.?? growth. This, while absolutely everything is in the dump-pan. But the stupid projections and projectors hang with their outrageous numbers—all the way to the garbage dump which, by the way, is demanded to be reopened to again fall on the scavengers.

Will God bring peace, ever, unto the Earth? No, Man has to bring peace just as he brings war or evil. GOD ALLOWS.

Please KNOW that in your searching for answers to physical vs. soul, you will find an inevitable convergence because “saints” and “sinners” are on the same highway or tiny footpath.

I am quite amused by the very confrontation which seemingly manipulates players as regards “myself” (Gyeorgos Ceres Hatonn) by label. That point is as difficult as trying to decipher what “John” meant by seven heads and ten horns. But when you use MY INPUT and then denounce this resource in favor of those who actually stole property as well as my name, watch out. I have both the ability to function in EITHER place and it is not my identification which is actually in point—only the receiver. If my information is correct and can be identified by long-standing recognition—who might just be in error when there is refusal of identification? Furthermore, as with Fourwinds Bellringer—guess who, “Patrick”, is going to get BLAMED for the publishing of WRONG INFORMATION when the law confronts? There has been no effort to set records to correct—and now it is too late to rectify the damages done by such global publications.

Do you, “Patrick Bellringer”, think you or the “Watchers” are going to be protected somehow by the ones who are at the center of the fray? Perish the thought, for if they will steal from their partners and brothers—they certainly will sacrifice, yea, even crucify, any who might be caught in “blame” line-of-fire on judgment day. And, yes, there SHALL be a “judgment day”.

Circumstantial evidence is acceptable and I can give you another example: The “missing” documents mailed to NCH regarding Ron K. and GAIA—somehow turned up, it is claimed by original parties involved, MANY days later (after attention was focused on the matter) back, it is said, to sender. It is claimed that there is a red ink “stamp” on the item giving interesting information but indicating it came from NCH. So, just WHO is covering what and by whom? Does the can of worms simply get larger and the worms multiply? So be it, and if nothing else, friends, perchance you can see how difficult it is to work in the presence and intent to stop right actions. Here again you look at the element of “time” and will find that you have now lost over a month in just THIS little sidetracking incident in which the overall play is lost briefly in the events of the bit-players’ distractions.

I do not marvel that the soul can finally sort its way but I never cease to be amazed that the human can find any way at all in the muddle of what you manifest in order to make your simple and wondrous way so difficult. God offers total simplicity in all choices, while man will conjure any difficulty possible to make his/her way all but impossible—just to do it “your way”, which is not in question in the first case—if you became knowledgeable and acted on that knowledge. YOU HAVE BEEN GIVEN OPPORTUNITY TO LEARN ALL ABOUT SO MANY DETAILED SUBJECTS THAT YOU CAN’T EVEN SORT THEM, FROM INCORPORATION TO MAKING BREAD. Ah, but WHAT DID YOU LEARN? I think you learned more than you wish to admit at first blush and then study up and USE YOUR SHELTERS AND YOUR TOOLS. STAND ON TRUTH AND FACT AND NOT EVEN WHAT AN ATTORNEY MIGHT WANT YOU TO “PLEA BARGAIN”. IF YOU DO NOT USE YOUR “EDUCATION”, THEN WHY HAVE YOU WASTED THE TIME AND ENERGY?

You must relate to your own circumstances with all the wondrous tools you have acquired in your garden shed—and even the ones stolen from the garden shed. Then, if you stay within the regulations, laws and truth of Divine Law, you will not be found wanting.

I, as a teacher, have chosen to present to you those things which can and shall serve you in perfection as you move along the treacherous pathways of those who would damage and thief from you the very things of life. NO, USE THEM! Use them to the last tiny fragment of protection of a Nevada rule which is set forth for YOUR PROTECTION against the claims and blames of those who have misused those very regulations, which they instructed you to use in the first place.

Something you might note in all the harangues and opinion opportunities regarding everything from God to elections is “I think”, “Well, in my opinion...”, “I believe that...” and certainly always “I”, “me”, “my”—ad infinitum. It is a distraction because “your opinion” is of no consequence if the LAW be JUST.

When you can state fact, then you don’t need the “I think...” and when you stop responding to “What do you think about...?” you will stop giving away your own strategy or truth turned worthless. State fact and truth and let the “Well, I think that...” fall to the wayside. If you do not, for instance, hold stock in a corporation and you are asked about it—why would you hedge and twist? You either do or you don’t and to say that somehow “you think you may this or that” commits the LIE. I can bring that closer to home for example: Diane’s connection to New Gaia—she is not responsible nor does she have anything, including stock or responsibility to the corporation raided, except whatever small portion in which she actually functioned. To take that responsibility is a LIE. Therefore, let the responsibility move right through the people who started the corporation, set it up, did the books and made the decisions. Why would there be “plea bargains”? If Ellen, for instance, makes a loaf of bread, does that make Ellen responsible for every loaf of bread baked around the globe—or even in the local bakery or neighbor’s house?

Why does this happen as blame of self or guilt of self? Because someone bothers to blame you or dump on you—it is YOU who must stand and negate the charges, but for goodness sakes, don’t further the lie through failure to speak and stand for “truth”.

The claims in focus regarding product, for instance, of improper advertising in catalogs COME PRIOR TO NOW is a statement in point. Diane did not DO THOSE CATALOGS nor make the statements. Why should she be blamed and take criminal charges of same because she was set up for the Federal raiders—by the very ones who WERE RESPONSIBLE?

This is the time to stop the lies, assume responsibilities of actions but REFUSE TO ACCEPT LONGER THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF OTHERS WHO WOULD SELL YOU TO THE DEVIL FOR THEIR OWN PERSONAL INTERESTS. You wallow most often in the lie because someone has dumped guilt onto you to get rid of his or her own responsibilities—when you ACCEPT that load, you ERR.

Diane doesn’t have to do anything except tell the truth and in so doing she can go under the lie-detector apparatus as well and these are the very reasons why Nevada incorporation is so worthy of sheltering. When, however, the very incorporation agents misuse and abuse their own products and clients, it is time to look more closely at the players and not the voted-in accused. Who did the accusing? Well, note that when, in this instance, that is determined (which has been accomplished), you also have found the responsible parties involved in the activities from onset and have now run and dumped all along the run-away trail. It is not alright nor righteous to cover the guilty in their attempts to destroy YOU in evil intent of one or two miscreants.

Things done might well be “corrected” in some error instances—but realize that what is and has been remains as “is” and “is”. You cannot rewrite that which was manifest from a word spoken, printed, or offered even in confidence to whatever happened in fact of actions. The outcome of all circumstances involving self—depend on SELF. When you lie FOR another, you are a LIAR—so be careful what you perceive you are doing. Oftentimes “your opinion” is not correct in actual fact. An example? If Diane eats a piece of Ellen’s bread—does that make Diane responsible for the bread in point? Think about this most carefully for, indeed, this is exactly what is taking place.

You must also realize that when you take responsibility for that which is NOT YOURS, you err greatly, for you are causing others to think that which is not so. It is time to get perceptions straight and stop carrying baggage not yours. It goes along with making your bed and laying in it—fine if you actually made the bed—but to carry someone else’s unmade bed everywhere you go is a foolish thing, team. At some point you will realize that you will have a trillion beds all hooked up to your own—while you find no time to even rest in your own.

If you have studied well, you will find your bed WELL MADE and the linens clean and spotless. Why then would you take on the dirty linens of another’s? This holds true in every encounter. Do things right and in righteous intent and purpose—and in that very measure you will find that the law will find it necessary to consider your just cause. IF, HOWEVER, YOU DO NOT USE THE TOOLS BROUGHT FORTH TO ATTENTION FOR YOUR USE—THEN YOU SHALL BE CAUSED TO SUFFER THE CONSEQUENCES OF YOUR OWN LACK OF OPPORTUNITY.

The one most important thing to consider in your ongoing journey is the choice that must be made at every turn of the path—the users. You aren’t always given to know the culprits in evil or the players in goodness. You can’t discern when, possibly, to give one more centavo or hold. If you are a steward offering a great gift of abundance to other “players”, consider the trail of evidence and then act accordingly as to what would that party do if you were not present? It should make the decisions more comfortable. Sometimes the ONLY proper response to more and more need fulfillment is NO. This is NOT being mean or selfish—it is being responsible. Furthermore, what were these people doing prior to knowing YOU? If they were doing shady games or traveling in shady circles—you had best carefully consider each request and venture—for if things go wrong, they will turn on you like a serpent in a corner. You have experienced this over and over again—and theft outright and theft by shrewd manipulation are both “thefts”.

When you learn these particular lessons, you will progress beyond your wildest dreams. And, when someone wants special or exclusive rights but produces nothing—BE CAREFUL. Yes, indeed, this requires kissing a lot of toads to find a worthy frog, much the less a prince. Remember something important: When you continue to produce after saying “no more”, you had best begin to stand behind the statement lest you be drained drop by drop, inch by inch, blame by blame—on and on.

In the world arena you must be cautious but discerning. This is the same as with dealing with your partner or your neighbor. Be careful of a full-grown leopard who “seems” to change spots when convenient but has stripes when you aren’t looking.

Then when people actually steal from you and then blame you for their having done so—what is wrong with you that you allow it? Is it not time that YOU start causing others to speak truth—more especially when it impacts your very own expression? I for one am tired of my own self and people being laughed at, ridiculed, blamed and lied about. When a brother is under fire it is much more important that YOU speak up and step forward and demand justice—for it truly DOES impact soundly on your own back or in your face. DO NOT EXPECT ME TO FIX YOUR PROBLEM! WE ARE IN THIS MISSION TOGETHER—NOT JUST ME DRAGGING THE LOAD BEHIND.

Some, perhaps most, people are far better at getting through a lie than they are at simply telling the truth. Making up dramas and stories is a sure-fire losing game when the lines are forgotten and the facts are all that remain. Don’t err in starting off with a fabrication—lest you be caught in the trap of TRUTH unfolded. I can go back to my statement of example above: If you don’t own stock in a corporation, then you are not a stockholder—and if there is no stock issued, then you cannot be a stockholder. YOUR MIND KNOWS THE TRUTH, SO WHY TRY MAKING A LIE INTO TRUTH?

In any circumstance, and especially when blamed or accused of something—sit down and STUDY FACTS and you will find that the simple answer is right in front of you and stand on those FACTS, not the accusations thrown at you. If you are a dog and somebody says you are a cat—which are you? In these cases you are NEITHER but know it is as bad to turn and claim to be a cat to suit the moment, for you will be proven later to be a dog having lied. If you do not own a corporation, why in the world would you say that you do? If, however, you are placed in a position of responsibility for something—check it out and see how that came to pass that you feel such responsibility. I think that if you will consider each negative factor impacting you, then you will find a lot of relief without having to ask for the Roloids or Tylenol.

My next proposal for consideration is the stopping of allowing attorneys involved in your circumstances from intimidating you. Furthermore, I suggest some of my own team look very carefully at what I just said. I would hope that in all the lessons offered that YOU are more informed about your position and sheltering truth than that outsider who happens to be representing you as a mandatory part of the court mandates and regulatory requirements of courtroom procedure.

If “they” want to bankrupt the institute—any institute—let them. They have to get the records and they have to prove certain claims. Stop marching along to Satan’s drummers—just because the idiot keeps beating the drum. In that very search they will find that the TRUTH is far in opposition to that which has been presented by the accusers.

God will always provide if you but ask. If your actions and intentions have been honorable—so too shall be HIS support. If you serve the highest and best good, then you have no cause for alarm except in the passing moments and impacts of slings and arrows thrown at you by your enemies.

If you always look within and at the faces of those who depend on you as parent, friend or caretaker, then you will carefully do battle against evil in the appropriate manner rather than plea-bargain truth down the drain. Furthermore, I want YOU to relate personally in your circumstances to this offering of confronting insight. This is NOT for “someone else”. Do NOT assume that which is not yours.

We DO have a major responsibility in our very personal purposes—none of which are those accepted or laid onto your backs as beasts of burden. We act in such ways as to serve in honor, integrity and TRUTH of mission and message—for the legacy we leave will live into infinity, while the moment will surely pass.

In great love and care for that which I Am and You ARE, GCH

GLOBAL ALLIANCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION

HOW TO QUIT A WINNER

By E.J. Ekker

No matter what steps are taken to save it, it is becoming clear that the Estrada Presidency will be greatly foreshortened. That early termination can be a disgraceful debacle, or a triumphant withdrawal—leaving a legacy far more valuable than anything any other President has ever left this nation.

If, for instance, one of the last things done by President Estrada was to be his issuing and signing an Executive Order instructing the BSP to immediately implement the use of the GAIA DEEDs as banking reserves, the same as any other U.S. Treasury debt, the impact upon the Philippine economy would be no less than “electric”. He could then say, as he waved “goodbye”, “Because I am leaving now, I can do something that I could not do before. As my final act as your President I am keeping my promise to lift the poor out of poverty. Many of you, through your livelihood organizations, have DEEDs OF ASSIGNMENT from the GLOBAL ALLIANCE. I have ordered the Bangko Sentral to accept those DEEDs through our commercial banking system as supplemental collateral for project loans, which will make billions of pesos available for your livelihood projects, much of it even in time for Christmas if you do your part. I have wanted to do this for some time but have been prevented from doing so by the IMF and World Bank. Now that I am leaving, and can draw the “heat”, I am doing so, leaving my successor blameless and unfettered to enjoy, with you, God’s boundless abundance. May God bless you all.”

The benefit to the new administration is that it can avoid controversy with the IMF.

PROPOSAL TO JUMP-START THE PHILIPPINE ECONOMY AND REVERSE THE DIRECTION OF THE VALUE OF THE PESO

ACTIONS REQUIRED FOR IMPLEMENTATION

RP: Presidential Executive Order to BSP requiring BSP treat GAIA DEEDs as U.S. Treasury debt, payable in gold. (This allows BSP to issue new credit/currency equal to the discounted value of each project plus its accompanying DEED.) [Estimated time required: 1 day.]

BSP: Notify member banks (domestic only) that the GAIA DEEDs are to be treated as RESERVES the same as other U.S. Treasury debt with the exception that the “face amount” of the DEED does not require a discount for coupon or maturity so none of those calculations are needed. Please Note: Expert attorneys specializing in international banking have designed this program to fit into virtually all banking systems so that no special education of bank personnel will be required. [Estimated time required: 2 days.]

DOMESTIC BANKS: Main offices must pass on notification to branch offices. [Estimated time required: 2 days.]

GAIA: Telephone its contact persons in the Provinces; they will contact the 1200 plus DEEDholders to take their project proposals and feasibility studies to a bank of their selection. [Estimated time required: 2 hours.]

BRIEF DISCUSSION

The primary objective of the Alliance is to bring the means of freedom and upliftment to the disadvantaged peoples of the globe, beginning in Southeast Asia, specifically the RP. This requires countering the forces holding those peoples in economic bondage whose primary tool is the exclusive use of paper money, which allows them to control the value and supply of nearly all currencies, and to profit from trading in currencies whether the values are forced upward or down. This can best be accomplished through the return to gold-based currency so that “foreign exchange” is no longer required and currency trading becomes unprofitable.

The standard Memorandum of Agreement between GAIA and its Joint Venture Partners requires the purchase of gold with the 50% of loan emissions belonging to GAIA. That obviously requires the establishment and implementation of new procedures, especially for banks that are not familiar with the administration of gold or gold-based documents. For this special quick-start program, GAIA will make two modifications which will simplify and speed implementation, and reverse the downward trend of the Philippine peso. First, GAIA will grant a delay in the purchase of gold; a provision for that is already in the MOA. Second, with its line-of-credit (50% of the total loan), GAIA will purchase and hold pesos. The effect of this will be much the same as “BSP intervention” in buying an “oversupply” of pesos, but without the harmful wastage of precious foreign exchange reserves to do so. At the current daily volume of currency transactions (as listed in the newspapers, less than $100M), only two average DEED loan transactions (purchasing $40M each) would completely absorb all of the “loose” pesos. Anytime this proved to reduce the system liquidity too much, GAIA would be responsive to a request from BSP to reduce its rate of purchase.

STEP-BY-STEP DESCRIPTION OF THE ENTIRE TRANSACTION

Zionists To Police World

MARCHING TO ZION: THE ULTIMATE WORLD ORDER

With the passage of PUBLIC LAW 102-14, March 20, 1991, you made it LAW that you will have a national religion and it will be based on the Zionist Talmud and "Jewish" Torah. This is in direct violation of the Constitution of the United States. But it was passed by voice vote and made PUBLIC LAW on March 20, 1991—and hardly any of you noticed. This is the anti-Christ-God in his march to Zion!

CHAPTER 10

REC #3 HATONN

TUE., SEP. 22, 1992 1:51 P.M. YEAR 6, DAY 37

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1992

As we sat to dictate I perceived a need to write longer instead. I have asked Dalene to handle these tapes on this subject of PUBLIC LAW 102-14 and THE ULTIMATE WORLD ORDER through the information in The Jewish Utopia as "regular meeting" tapes. It is such important information that I do not know another way to make sure it is digested. Dalene balks a bit, as I understand some of you have indicated that written material not be considered "meeting tapes". I shall study the circumstances and then decide toward the weekend. We will have a rather large meeting dealing with the Constitutional Law Center and hopefully some extremely important participants. This will be a selected "business" meeting regarding approaches to common law integration. It cannot be opened to the public, for we have no space available for such—so it will have to be put to tape even for those in the local community. My intent is NOT to burden you with expenses of having to get tapes but I know no other way to reach you with information other than to make it available in this format. Further, the information is so timely that waiting for ordering of the tapes is not acceptable either. We need to work a bit on integrating ability to purchase tapes through THE WORD on THE LIBERATOR's credit machine if that is now valid so that calls for tapes can be accepted instead of the waiting period. I believe that could be worked out somehow—I shall ask someone to look into the matter in exchange for some other type of service in equity. If I had time and space, I would put it onto the telephone "Hotline"—I consider it that important.

It is hard to offer such information, for ones do not read or listen far enough into the body of the information to glean intent from the offerings. Immediately, according to your training, you shout bigotry, anti-Semite and I won't listen further. Chelas, if you refuse to "hear", how can you ever discern truth?—for you negate, through the refusal, the ability to gather enough information upon which to base any reasoning conclusions. It is your choice to turn down the evidence if, after you receive all, you still cannot find balance from that which is given. But I plead with you to not cut your own throat with the razor placed in your hands by your enemy claiming to be your guides, friends and "leaders" of authority.

HENRY KISSINGER AND OTHER LIARS

If you can stomach what is being given in regards to your POWs and MIAs through the mouths of the liars and murderers, then you are in serious trouble. There have been ones in the past days who proclaim the proof of men left behind in the Southeastern Asian Wars. Today HENRY KISSINGER sits as authority and lies through his teeth as he says no men were "knowingly" left—and if they were (which, of course, there were), it was the fault of the evil enemy and Congress and you-the-people who insisted on ending negotiations to end the war. He is blaming YOU for the loss of your own fathers and husbands, sons, friends and comrades. "Knowingly"? My goodness, beloved ones, there were almost 400 men left standing on the tarmac when the last planes departed Hanoi. They were not picked up so where are they?? He is giving all sorts of last-ditch cover-ups in treachery such as, "They were shot down in cold blood as they parachuted to the ground in that awful, cruel place," and "They were bombed without mercy by those evil enemies and the administration did all it could to save them."

It becomes more imperative to finish the written document so you can better label the "players" than to put it to tape today, so here we are again and I do thank you, Dharma, for doubling up on the work today. The players are becoming known by their "works" now, chelas, so please pay close attention to the descriptions so that you can see the bounders among you.

PEROT AGAIN!

I am again petitioned for update on Perot. It is exactly what it appears to be. Of course he will "run"—it was never planned otherwise. It was good strategy and it has worked so far. It also keeps truth from entering through the pearly gates of the White House in the form of a patriot. I have compassion for you who seek to do that which is for your brother and your nation—I hope it does not have to turn from compassion to "pity" for the blunders about to be made. Eyes and hearts open, please brothers, for there will be even greater need for your discernment and action AFTER the fiasco than now. Things are happening so quickly now that you are apt to get completely lost in the fog which will be put down around you.

YUGOSLAVIA

What you are watching in the area recognized as Yugoslavia is the typical "ethnic cleansing" program of massacre and looting engaged in by the Serbs following EXACTLY the patterns established by Israel in its "war of independence". You see, "if" another does the same, it is called "genocide" and "holocaust"—if Israel is behind the action, it is called martyrdom and ethnic cleansing. Keep your head in the sand-bucket and you won't need to cover the part remaining exposed—much longer.

The barbaric murder-and-plunder onslaught of Communist-led Serbian militias against other nationalities of the former Yugoslav federation resembles nothing so much as the terror campaign waged by Zionist guerrillas in 1948-49 to "cleanse" Palestinian Moslems and Christians "from their ancient lands"—how quickly a world forgets if the liars tell their lies big enough, loud enough and in enough confusion.

This is now the consensus among policy analysts and historians who have been reviewing newly released documentation indicating that Israeli forces carved out a state for themselves by inflicting widespread atrocities, rape, looting and massacres on the civilian population in their way. THIS IS NOT OF GOD OF LIGHT—THIS IS TALMUDIC HORROR BASED ON THE ULTIMATE PLAN FOR GLOBAL ORDER.

This information has been made public recently, by independent Israeli historians, and has provided confirmation of the pioneering research compiled by respected scholars and observers at the United Nations.

From eyewitness accounts and contemporary documents the steps have been retraced and out comes the proof of long-suppressed "war crimes, crimes against humanity and genocide" committed by Israeli militias in their drive to leave key regions of Palestine "cleansed" of its historic settlers. Among them:

Israel "violated the territorial integrity of Palestine and occupied 80 percent thereof".

By "violence and massacre", Israeli forces expelled more than 800,000 Palestinian Arabs from the native land of their families and forefathers.

Israeli forces "looted, pillaged and plundered" 95 percent of the houses, apartments and commercial buildings, as well as "the machinery, furniture, merchandise and all worldly possessions of the Palestinian Arabs in 80 percent of Palestine."

Fearful that the civilized world would recoil—and withdraw its recognition—from a new state created by such brutal and lawless means, Israel ordered all records and documents of its conquest in Palestine sealed for 40 years. (Sound familiar?)

The massacres have now been verified—hundreds of them now—after those forty years of silence. At least 580 civilians were methodically slain in Doueimah alone. This testimony has been suppressed for these four decades but it now is being proven by the corpses remaining—with crushed skulls, etc.

From almost every long-suppressed report in the Israeli army's archives about the occupation of Arab villages, there comes the smell of massacre. Even the ones, Shamir, Sharon and Rabin were actual "hit men" in the Stern Gang who killed even U.N. representatives—themselves, with their own hands on the gun and finger pulling the triggers.

The records reveal a pattern of deliberately inflicted Israeli terror designed to cause flight so that regions of Palestine would be 'cleansed' of Arabs.

Little wonder, chelas, that after retaining Kissinger Associates as a "strategic adviser" in the 1980s, the hard-line Serb Communist leadership decided to seize all of the former Yugoslavia's ethnic regions by replicating Israel's genocidal conquest of Palestine. This is now coming forth directly from veteran UN observers.

As a former Rockefeller house scholar, White House consultant and finally as Secretary of State, Henry Kissinger and Acting Secretary of State Lawrence Eagleburger led the way in covering up terrorism and looting that gained statehood for Israel. They could assure the Serbian leadership that Kissinger Associates knew how to wipe the public record clean of such atrocious crimes.

All we can do is continue, even if you become bored and object, to bring you TRUTH and hope that you will see and hear.

Now to continue with the subject under discussion, from THE ULTIMATE WORLD ORDER from The Jewish Utopia.

SIX STEPS TO POWER

The “spiritual” conquest of the world (by psychological warfare, at which the Jews are past masters) ought to be comparatively easy after the Communist monster has ground up the races and nations, leaving only a dull, characterless, morally weak homogenized mixture—a “shorn alike, bleating alike human flock”—shorn of traditions and moral standards to anchor to, shorn of the memory of a better life which was once an ancestral heritage, and shorn of the courage and character to fight for freedom and economic well being. Communism, by its very nature—hating the capable, successful individuals—is self-destructive. But it destroys the races as it destroys itself. It drags the world down with it, like a fire which burns itself out but leaves only dead embers.

By what steps will Israel become the dominant power and how will the Jews in Israel enjoy the “happy era”?

The author already has told us there would be a bloody Armageddon which would break the strength of the “unrighteous” nations [H: You and others like you.], those who resist the Jewish revolution.

But after that: the Jews themselves must accept the most exacting regimentation if they are to make the surviving non-Jews look on them as holy:

“Before the nations of the world recognize Israel as the ideal people, Israel will have to undergo a spiritual development, the Jew will have to be prepared to lead the world to righteousness. For, it will be a serious and daring challenge to Israel, a challenge in which the fate of humanity will be involved.

“The first step will be the adjustment of Israel’s everyday life to the principles of truth, justice and righteousness, as understood in the ideology of a living, universal God. These principles will not be merely blank and empty phrases as employed by modern professional preachers. They will actually function in the relationships between Jew and Jew. ‘Then shall the nations bless themselves by God, and in God shall they glory.’”

Here we must suppose that the words “truth” and “justice” mean truth and justice; for here the author is talking about relationship “between Jew and Jew”. This is precisely what the Talmud teaches: a Jew must play fair with his fellow Jew.

As for the non-Jews, by Talmudic standards anything goes that will not bring reprisals on the Jews. To be fair with the author, I searched his Utopia from cover to cover trying to find any requirements that the righteous Jews also exercise truth and justice toward non-Jews. Nowhere in the book did I find a hint of any such requirement. Throughout, the book calls for “righteousness” on the part of all people—conformity by all of us to the Jewish program; but nowhere is the obligation of “righteousness” or fair play reciprocal.

Obviously, then, we must conclude that the strict regimentation which the Jews in the future Israel must undergo is for the sake of appearances among the rest of us—or any of our off-spring who survive. They must put on the appearance of “a holy people”.

The second step:

“... an ideal Israel will have to be a holy people. Their holiness will be so apparent that every one will call them the holy ones.”

The author adds:

“The main concern of the ideal people will be how to utilize God’s goodness which is stored up for them. As a result of the abundance which God will have bestowed upon the people, it will be possible for them to devote themselves exclusively to their completest moral and spiritual development.”

“Third, Israel will become a nation of prophets... Nature itself will cooperate with the nation of prophets, in prophesying an optimistic future for mankind; it will be an optimism symbolized by sweet wine dropped down by mountains.”

By comparison with this tribal fanaticism, the late Hitler’s efforts to revive Nordic race pride looks like a kindergarten game.

“Fourth, Israel will become a nation of scholars... Israel will experience a spiritual and cultural renaissance, resembling the revelation they experienced in receiving the Torah on Mount Sinai. Wisdom and learning will instill new life into the people. The basis of that culture and wisdom, through which God’s glory will be manifest upon Israel, and by light of which nations will walk, will be the Torah, Israel’s traditional inheritance. For the source of Israel’s new life of righteousness and of divine glory will be rooted in the Torah.”

Years ago I came to realize that the Jews place on human intelligence the very highest valuation. For this good sense they should have the admiration of all of us. They are a gifted people in many respects, partly because they cultivate mental activity. They say their religion itself stimulates logical processes and challenges them intellectually, presumably because it challenges and incites them to put forth strenuous effort on their own behalf. Christianity unfortunately does not fire our people with the necessity of self-preservation or success but, as often interpreted, seems to imply that we should humble and humiliate and debase ourselves before other races.

It implies that we should be satisfied with our lot, regardless. As often interpreted, Christianity does not stimulate us to learn the great principles of Nature and the universe and to strive for accomplishment. Naturally, a thoughtful, honest person can not accept this misinterpretation of Christianity, this false emphasis. It would hardly be in the spirit of Christianity or the worship of God to promote the deterioration or suicide of any one of the several divinely created races, which races represent the highest order of God’s handiwork. A faithful interpretation of the Christian spirit on the other hand requires that we encourage every race to preserve itself and that we help ourselves to prosper in our own environment that our children may enjoy the same freedom and culture which our ancestors fought to preserve for us. It will take a powerful, vigorous and proud White race to stand united in sufficient strength to resist the Jewish movement, which still has the inspiration and power of tribal unity. [H: Further, in order for the other races to preserve themselves, they are going to have to join with the “White” race, or in the division of this clever master-puppeteer—all will perish. The “Zionists” do not, for instance, intend that the Blacks survive at all. Nor do they intend that any other actually survive as “races”. However, as you note what is happening in Germany this day with the introduction of the volatile factor of Asians into that society, a new scam political extreme element is again rearing its head. This will only get rid of more of the Jews, Asians and unwanted other people in favor of the Zionist One Worlders.]

The Jewish planners have only to keep on preaching “righteousness”—that is, brotherhood and equality—among us; unless we wake up and reverse our field, we will presently so debase ourselves, so degenerate mentally and morally as practically to give them the victory by default.

“Fifth, in the ideal era, Israel will be peacefully united and no enmity of any kind will exist among them... Similarly, the leaders in Israel will be peacefully united in their responsible task of directing the fate of the historic people. Israel will consequently become the instrument of peace among the nations of the world.”

Peace, that is, among the nations which embrace the Jewish religion [H: Which now has foundation by Public Law in your very own U.S. of A.] and order and acknowledge the ruler from the house of David. But, in fact, the fanatical dreamers may find that the only way they can hold their grip on the world, their balance of power, is to keep factions constantly at war one with another.

ALL OTHERS MUST PERISH

“Sixth, Israel will be a living testimony to the absolute unity of God. Consequently, in the ideal era, there will be no people who will believe in the division of the Godhead into two or more parts, or persons. Only those people who believe in one God will survive in the ideal world.” [H: Ah, it gets harder doesn’t it? This is the very sleight of hand and speech of which I warn you. Remember THIS God to whom they refer will be a physical God who shares none of self with you low-life humanoids of his realm. There is only ONE ultimate Creator—but this is NOT THE WAY IT “IS”!]

This repetition of the intent or desire to destroy everyone who fails or refuses to accept the Jewish religion and New World Order emphasizes the incredible bloodthirstiness of the Jewish revolutionaries. It is simply beyond the temperament of the peace-loving, live-and-let-live gentile to comprehend such craving for power over others.

“... the main justification for Israel’s distinctiveness and separation, from all other nations, will be that she identifies herself with the living and everlasting God, the Holy one of Israel; that she preserves the memory of historic experience of receiving the Torah and that she gives the Torah’s ethical teachings to mankind.” [H: Again, look at what it says: TORAH. It does not say Holy Bible, New Testament and/or Old Testament or those teachings of ANY OTHER RELIGION OR DOCTRINE—IT SAYS EXACTLY WHAT IT MEANS: Torah!]

From earlier passages, notably the obligation of Jew to deal justly with Jew, but the absence of any such requirement in the Utopia that the Jew deal in like manner with the non-Jew, we must suppose that though Israel will give us the Torah, Israel will not also give us the Talmud, which apparently is to remain the rule and guide of the Jews. Thus there will continue to be the double standard of ethics and morality which has caused kings and priests and masses of aroused Christians at various times for the past thousand years to burn all available copies of the Talmud, trying to stamp out Jewish subversion.

“Such will then be the perfect ideal nation... the spiritual fire of Israel will devour the wicked nations. [H: That means all nations who remain patriotic and nationalist in any way whatsoever—i.e., the Randy Weavers of the world inclusive.] The following biblical verse will then be fulfilled:

“And all the peoples of the Earth shall see that the name of the Lord is called upon thee, and they shall be afraid of thee.”

Will the Jews and their allies destroy the non-Israeli peoples, the “unrighteous” by violence? Or will the destruction be by indirect methods? [H: I suggest you pay very close attention to this next.]

“When they discourse about the victory of the righteous over the wicked, the Jewish sources rarely imply the idea of revenge on the part of the upright and the just. The wicked are to be eliminated from the scene merely because the destiny of humanity is to be guided and controlled by a new army, the army of the righteous will assume the responsibilities of the new state of the affairs of mankind.”

The use of the word revenge above reminds us that the “unrighteous”, the “wicked” and “unjust” are so judged because they refuse to embrace the Israelitic order; they are judged righteous or wicked by this standard only. Revenge for what? For not accepting the Jewish movement? Here again is the implication that we do them injury, at least mental injury, we persecute them, if we resist the revolution.

The Jews came into our midst of their own volition; we opened our gates to them. Certain of their numbers set about to destroy us. We who resist are unrighteous and wicked. We must not defend ourselves. If we do we are “anti-Semitic” and the revolutionaries, or their agents, will take “revenge”.

[H: I believe one of the very hardest things for me to watch and surely, for you to understand, is how these “Zionists” have usurped that which is beautiful in the experiencers of truth. Ones who entered into the doctrines of, say, the Mormon religion will soon find that they are “Zionists” of a kind they had not anticipated being. In ignorance, dear ones, you signed into the “Jewish” Talmudic experience and are recognized as “real” Zionists or “false” Zionists. False Zionists are ones who belong to that portion of the Church called “The Church of Jesus Christ...”. You will ultimately find that there is no connection with Christ or “Jesus”, in fact. The TRUTH of these circumstances will be finally recognized in every “accepted” religious “order” on your globe. My point herein is not to break down various doctrines—just KNOW that you will find the flaws in the ointment.]

Do our Jewish neighbors and the Jews who seem happy to do business with us, join Mr. Higger in this vicious design toward us? I can’t believe it. It is hard to believe the rank-and-file among the Jews know that, in supporting Zionism and its “liberal” program, they are supporting this Murder, Inc. against their unoffending neighbors.

ZIONISTS TO POLICE WORLD

Jerusalem is to be the source of the law, and that means, of course, the headquarters of the world police:

“The prophecy of Isaiah will thus be fulfilled... For out of Zion shall go forth the Law and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. The city of Jerusalem will thus become the metropolis of the whole world, and the nations will walk at her spiritual light.”

Thus is the political world-power state draped in robes of religion. This is not religion at all; religion is the worship of God. This is self-worship.

The nations as political powers must disappear, leaving ONLY “cultural groups”, possibly somewhat along the geographical lines of the politically and racially extinct nations:

“... with the advent of the Messiah, who will usher in the ideal era, all the national ensigns and laws, which are barriers to genuine international peace, brotherhood and the happiness of mankind, will gradually disappear.”

Notice the word gradually. It will take time, even AFTER Armageddon.

U.S. FLAG TO DISAPPEAR

Will there be a flag of any kind, any symbol of independence, nationalism or patriotism, other than Jewish nationalism?

“Only the Messianic flag, the symbol of knowledge, peace, tranquility of the individual mind, will remain, and all the nations will center round that emblem. In the present era one recognizes his own standard, or flag, and through that standard the individual identifies himself with the subdivisions of mankind. But in the ideal era, all these castes, divisions and subdivisions will not exist.”

“All will recognize one flag or standard, bearing the name of God—There will no longer be a problem of militarism, preparedness, fortifications, barracks, armies, navies, immigration, tariffs, and their like. The problem will be a pure matter of past history and intellectual curiosity. Nations, with their respective cultures, will not only tolerate each other but will appreciate each other’s cultural and intellectual backgrounds and traditions. The world will be one open city, free for intercourse of trade, migration, and education. Genuine liberty and freedom will be the watchwords of the new social order in the world. The whole Earth will be for the whole human race.”

That is, of course, for those who do not defend their own nation, race, culture, family, religion and independence.

Here, plainly enough, is the Zionist plan for the United Nations world.

Christianity (already Judaized) will be suppressed, forgotten or so infiltrated and changed as to remain only a name, its adherents actually worshipping the Torah....

The hints are that the “Messiah” to come, the son of the house of David, and God will be one and the same, a human being, the exalted ruler, in Jerusalem—and we see much additional evidence leading to this supposition, throughout the Utopia. We have discussed this already, but because of its importance, let us glance again at it:

“Messiah, the ideal righteous one, will come from the East, where the Sun rises. He will be a descendant of the house of David, who was bright as the Sun; and his light will be a symbol of life for the upright and just in the world. The very name of Messiah is, therefore, light. Consequently, all the beloved of God, the righteous, will shine forth as the light of His glory...”

And we see elsewhere that the non-Jews are to be made to believe that the inner chosen group of Israel will be a holy people.”

“... an ideal Israel will have to be a holy people.”

There is abundant evidence that both the Communists and the Zionists are deliberately selecting smart young revolutionaries and sending them to Protestant theological schools, whence, being far above the average ministerial students in intelligence, and being skillfully trained and no doubt aided by their fellow infiltrators, might be expected to rise rapidly to positions of power in the hierarchy of the various denominations. This is, of course, the very plan laid down in the instruction within the Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion. Evidently, agents also are infiltrating the Catholic Church. The prominent Zionist leader of Australia, A.L. Patkin, a native of Russia, who helped build the Red revolution in his Origins Of The Russian Jewish Labor Movement (F.W. Cheshire, F.W. Pty., Ltd., Melbourne, 1947) not only showed that all the foremost leadership of the Bolshevik Revolution was Jewish, but also that many young Jews worked into the Christian churches in Russia to promote the subversion:

“The Jewish youth... some formally converted to Christianity... worked underground under assumed names, now as teachers, now as vagabond preachers...”

In Spain in the 14th and 15th Centuries, Jews so thoroughly infiltrated the Catholic church as to take it over almost completely. Isabella, during her 20-year struggle against subversion, had Jewish father-confessors (as well as finance ministers)—and even the Cardinal was Jewish.

In the past forty years the Communists (by sworn testimony of ex-Communists) have made great headway infiltrating the Protestant pulpits; and now we see many ministers who look Jewish and who preach the “social gospel” of racial suicide, and the Kingdom of God on Earth. So powerful are they, and so cowardly are most of our leaders, that the investigating committees have been unable to conduct a successful exposure of this near-fatal subversion.

There is nothing on Earth, not even a barbed-wire fence, to keep Communist and Zionist agents from invading our churches and preaching racial integration in the name of Christianity.

Now, evidently these agents have risen to the top in the National Council (formerly Federal Council) of Churches of Christ, for that body, which claims to represent about three-fourths of all Protestants in America, including the “old line” denominations, has reached an agreement with the American Jewish Committee whereby that Jewish nationalist power machine supplies a stream of “educational” films and literature to these Christian denominations, works with the National Council staff in preparing Sunday School and church literature, and has the privilege of censoring any other NCCC “Christian” literature. This is not hearsay; the American Jewish Committee told about it in detail in its thick “American Jewish Committee Budget, 1953”. And in its publication called the Committee Reporter, in the summer of 1956, the American Jewish Committee outlined to its agents the methods its propaganda and strategy board had developed for destroying Christmas observances in American schools. The Jewish anti-Christians recommended to their agents “a quiet reconnaissance... before any forays are launched” against Christmas observances in any school system, “And it should never be a one-man foray. Once the reconnaissance has been made, the necessary information obtained, the time is right for intensive discussions among representative local Jewish leaders and rabbis...” [H: Anyone care to deny that the latter is taking place?]

If the American Jewish Committee and associates can wipe out any knowledge of Christianity, they will find it easier to impose the Torah on our grandchildren.

[END OF QUOTING FOR THIS SEGMENT]

It has been long this day but I hope that you are beginning to see the happenings meshing with the writings. As you come upon another “Christmas Holiday Season” keep open your eyes and ears and just watch and listen. The entire Season is one of commercial interests under the pressures of a depression. You will be drawn farther away from your emotional balancing resources and more and more into the Jewish traditional celebration. Just watch and experience and you will have your own conclusions.

There is one thing which I believe you should think about: God is allowing—HE is not stupid. When you lay your sensitivities and “Well, my God is gentle and kind and never raises his voice—even in irritation,” then I know that you are but a baby and ready for the trip to the slaughterhouse for lambs. God simply does not utilize ways of the flesh to gain HIS ends, for He has no interest of growth in the human physical flesh—HIS is the Kingdom of infinity. These human idols and the idol’s instructions are not of God of Creation—they are the tools of enslavement of a human species. You will learn the difference—or there is little hope for your individual passage at this time of cycle change. Of course, it is hard to face Truth after eons of lies—but you find that the “Earth is not flat” and that the “solar system does not revolve around your planet” and, and.... You have even found that leeches only bleed a person to death and that AIDS can be spread through kissing—what is the matter with you sleepy-heads? You should by now even guess that the Federal Reserve is NOT “governmental” at all and that the IRS is a collection agency for the private banksters. Is perishment worthy of thine ignorance? So be it.

Salu, Hatonn to stand aside. Thank you.

CHAPTER 11

REC #1 HATONN

WED., SEP. 23, 1992 1:46 P.M. YEAR 6, DAY 38

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1992

REVISIONISTS?

Most of you will read the preceding heading and know of that to which it refers. I take exception to the term in general use other than as it confirms what I give to you regarding the “taking of words” and changing meanings to suit the need. The Zionist Ultimate World Order groups proclaim any and all who question the numbers, facts and possible distortions of truth in the World War II prison camps are labeled “revisionist”. This cannot be correct because “Revision” means: to consider or look over something written to correct or improve. Revisionist, therefore, means one who does these things. Certainly it can only indicate that a “thing” as written is simply being looked into as to factual or incorrect information as possibility. Certainly “facts” should present truth in any such investigation so in any instance where researchers are looking into that which is presented as historical truth they are simply doing that which should be done for correct outlay of history.

Next, let us again identify “holocaust”: Thorough destruction especially by fire. Now, from this definition, how did the actions in, especially Soviet-run prison camps labeled “Hitler’s death camps” become “THE HOLOCAUST”?

Let us “reason” together. Firstly, the prison camps were not death camps—through fire. Nor did the intenders even come close to “thorough destruction” of anything—if indeed that was the intent. So you have ones writing history to suit a need or CAUSE. THAT is what I would loosely refer to as “revision”. That would be a fabrication of truth to suit needs and would by its obvious intent represent revision of facts. Therefore, ones now looking into factual history and documentation of what did occur, CANNOT be revisionists but returners of truth into the equation after the “revisionists” rewrote the history to suit their desires and needs.

THE HOLOCAUST was neither “THE” only one ever known to man even if it were correct in presentation but only dead bodies were burned—and they were not even burned in open fires. So you have a full facade of misstated information. Simply by this account you have neither “THE HOLOCAUST” as stated to have occurred nor do you now have “REVISIONISTS” efforting to find the original truth.

Next, you have a Constitutional right to speak about these things regarding ANY subject AND YET, THE ZIONISTS HAVE INSULTED THE PEOPLE WHO SEEK TO FIND TRUTH AND CALL THEM PRACTITIONERS OF “HATE CRIMES”, ANTI-SEMITES, REVISIONISTS AND MAKE LAWS AGAINST YOUR OWN CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS TO SILENCE YOU WHO WOULD QUESTION. I did not say “deny”, I said “question”.

Along with this surge of constraint on historical research comes the abuse of such ones as John Demjanjuk who was accused of being “Ivan the Terrible” from a “death camp”. This man was denied his U.S. citizenship rights, shipped off to Israel and is innocent of all wrong doing, the victim of total lack of Constitutional protection from his own nation, the United States of America, sentenced to death by false and “no” documentation (now being accepted as incorrectly accused—by information presented by ones in the U.S. who have risked their own necks to keep defending this innocent man) in a Tel Aviv, Israel court of injustice.

Then comes the thrust for “laws” pushed through by “voice vote” to label “questioning” of events as “hate crimes”, a felony offense subject to imprisonment or even death if violence ensues from issues—with only “circumstantial” or false testimony as the only convicting elements.

Please bear with me for this has EVERYTHING to do with the subject in point of THE ULTIMATE WORLD ORDER FROM The Jewish Utopia and PUBLIC LAW 102-14 WHICH PLACES AMERICA (THE U.S.) UNDER ENFORCEABLE LAW FOR

ALL CITIZENS TO COME UNDER THE “LAWS” OF THE JEWISH TALMUD/TORAH. THIS TOTALLY DOES AWAY WITH THE PORTION OF YOUR CONSTITUTION WHICH SAYS “FREEDOM OF RELIGIOUS CHOICE” AND “THERE SHALL BE NO NATIONAL RELIGION”.

If you believe these are simply little “Jews” at work, then you had best open your eyes—for there are damned few “Jews” among them who would pull down your nation. Those “little Jews” are planned to be the first exterminated by the Zionist Elite.

I believe an example is better than a thousand words so please just look at the following and see if you can see WHY historical events need such remarkable effort into the finding of Truth. If there is NOTHING TO HIDE, then the only thing found will be that the ORTHODOX VERSION AS THE JEWS PRESENT IT—IS TRUE AS IT STANDS, and perhaps even WORSE. To cover research under threat of “laws levied against such research” is obvious in intent to HIDE THE TRUTH, for THEY know that the story will NOT STAND as thrust upon the world.

Some ones now feel enough pressure, as in the Southeast Asian POW situation, to call a gathering to look into the matter. I use an article chosen, actually, at random (for there are so many) from SPOTLIGHT, Sept. 21, 1992 as example of both misuse of terms and which represents an announcement of such a meeting—to which all of you should attend.

[QUOTING:]

Revisionists Set 11th Conference. The following is a press release issued by the Institute for Historical Review, detailing the upcoming Eleventh Revisionist Conference. [H: By the way, a prior conference was interrupted by a bomb set by the ADL and so, too, was the building belonging to the Institute for Historical Review set to “holocaust”. In other words, “thoroughly destroyed by fire”, claimed to have been done by the B’nai B’rith ADL. What would happen if it had been the Ku Klux Klan? The White Supremists? The Black Panthers? But, because it was done by a “Jewish” league it was “justified” as defense against hate-crimes being thrust against them—for men were questioning the truth as presented by that group and the lies and liars protected by cover of LAW.]

A stellar line-up of historians and activists from near and far promises to make the Institute for Historical Review’s (IHR) forthcoming Eleventh Revisionist Conference one of the most memorable revisionist conferences ever.

On the weekend of October 10-12 in Southern California, IHR friends and supporters will see, hear, and meet with the most prominent figures in the international revisionist movement, which disputes the generally accepted “holocaust” extermination story and focuses attention on other suppressed aspects of 20th Century history.

MAKING HISTORY

Founded in 1978, the IHR is a serious, non-partisan, educational enterprise that continues the tradition of revisionism pioneered by distinguished historians such as Harry Elmer Barnes, A.J.P. Taylor, Charles Tansill and William H. Chamberlain. The purpose of the IHR is, in the words of Barnes, to “bring history into accord with facts”.

The IHR promotes the cause of international peace by encouraging greater understanding of the root causes of war. It firmly supports the First Amendment right to free inquiry and free speech.

MAIN SPEAKERS

Dr. Robert Faurisson, who has survived murderous physical attacks as well as legal and economic assault, will report on the latest developments in revisionist scholarship.

Prof. Arthur Butz of Northwestern University, whose path-breaking book HOAX OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY remains the standard revisionist text, will explain how the evidence looks today, 17 years after he finished the book.

David Irving, the intrepid, world-renowned British historian, will give conference-goers an inside look into his work on the memoir of Adolf Eichmann.

Fred Leuchter, the American gas-chamber expert and execution engineer whose forensic tests at the camps at Auschwitz, Birkenau and Majdanek shattered the holocaust story, will return to tell the inside story of the international holocaust lobby’s campaign of economic, professional and legal harassment to punish and silence him.

Jerome Brentar has done more to unearth evidence and eyewitnesses to clear Ukrainian-American John Demjanjuk than anyone else outside of Demjanjuk’s own family. Now that the case against Demjanjuk is falling apart, Brentar will update attendees on the behind-the-scenes fight to clear Demjanjuk and his prospects for injustice in Israel and a safe return to America.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Historian Mark Weber, editor of the Journal of Historical Review, will once again serve as master of ceremonies, keynoting the event with a look back at the recent accomplishments of the IHR and revisionism, and a look ahead at the bright prospects for the future.

Dr. James J. Martin, historian, author and educator, will dedicate this conference to the memory of George Morgenstern, the longtime Chicago Tribune editor whose Pearl Harbor: The Story of the Secret War remains an unsurpassed study of Franklin Roosevelt’s treacherous role in the December 7, 1941 “day of infamy” and America’s entry into World War II.

IHR editor Ted O’Keefe will speak on the second Mel Mermelstein trial, focusing on the vital evidence that knocked the props from under Mermelstein’s $11 million suit for libel, malicious prosecution, conspiracy and intentional infliction of emotional distress against the institute. [H: Not to be outdone, think about the fact that there is over $215 million set aside by the University of Science and Philosophy with a member of the Board of “300” on their Board, to bury the PLEIADES CONNECTION series and the outlay of Light and God. Everything about the “case” is being handled by Zionist lawyers and judges. Where there is this much “fire” chelas, there must be a holocaust brewing—against the WORD of Truth so that it never reaches you-the-sheep.]

IHR Media Project Director Bradley Smith, who is also head of the independent Committee on Open Debate on the Holocaust, will speak about his headline-making Campus Project, which has published full-page ads challenging aspects of the holocaust story. He will describe the controversy that erupted at the universities where the ad appeared.

This conference’s mystery speaker has been for many years a tireless crusader for justice and historical truth. On the basis of his own intimate relationship to the case, he will tell the captivating story of one of the great enigmas of World War II.

[END OF QUOTING]

[H: No, I am NOT that “mystery guest”. I bring truth to awaken you to your need for correct information—I do not have political interests except as to bring God’s people home and that requires that you of the people get the truth in information. I am accused of denouncing the “holocaust” (by UFO’s Don Ecker, as example) and claiming that it did not happen. No, this is typical black information and disinformation in full blown force with intent to destroy. I have repeatedly said that there were great horrors done unto ones in that war and in those camps. No worse, however, than was done in the camps AFTER the war unto civilians at the hands of your own military machine. Moreover, I have objected to the lies because they, in themselves, lessen the respect and reverence unto the ones who WERE victims in death and torture in those terrible places. If it be ONE, it be too many! Six billion is no more than the ONE in intent—for the ONE it is 100%. Can you see? Moreover, one child or kitten down a well-core is more heart-rending than 6 million down a well-core—for the mind cannot comprehend the numbers and the heart is hardened by the assault (which is the exact intent against you). There simply were not 6 million Jews available to have been slain and, after all, there are more “Jews” receiving money annually from Germany in retribution than were listed as being in the camps—now, people, that means someone has made errors—intentionally or unintentionally. As a matter of fact, this past year the number of 6 million was increased by 500,000 (half a million). Since you don’t hear much about the “new” counting number, then it must have been “better thought of” not to overload the mentality of those about to wake up and smell the stench of the dead fish broiling in the Sun’s rays.]

Indeed, this has EVERYTHING to do with the subject in point and that to which we will again now turn.

Continuation of THE ULTIMATE WORLD ORDER as Pictured in The Jewish Utopia.

[AGAIN QUOTING:]

SEVEN-STRATA ARISTOCRACY

While the Utopia cherished by the Talmudic Jews is to be to a considerable degree Socialist in economy, some private ownership will be allowed for the author makes reference to it. He says property cannot be bequeathed to heirs. The confiscation of property from the heirs is socialistic.

Though the Jewish revolutionary leaders proclaim to their people that Socialism (as also their concept of democracy—the kind found in Soviet Russia) is a Jewish invention.

* Jewish encyclopedias and other authoritative writings present Socialism in a friendly light, or make outright claims to the Jewish authorship of the movement. For example, the small book JEW AND NON-JEW, which rabbis handed to the Jewish soldiers in the U.S. Armed Forces during the Second World War (published jointly by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations and the Central Conference of American Rabbis) states:

“It cannot be without its meaning that the Jew has played a leading role in the great modern industrial movements which have an ethical basis. Socialism was originated by Jews; and today Jews play a leading role in its spread and interpretation. And under the leadership of a Jew, trade-unionism has been brought to its highest point of efficiency and been given an increasingly ethical bearing. The Jew has thrown himself into the vortex of modern life with a most commendable zeal...”(End footnote)

...and though every sizeable Socialist organization and movement today is of Jewish origin and/or under Jewish management, evidently Socialism, like its twin Communism, is largely to be a temporary vehicle, a vehicle for destruction of the races and nations and conquest of private property. For in the Utopia after the Jewish machine gets the power, its leaders will scorn the doctrine of equality which they now so diligently spread among us.

“There will be seven groups of righteous, classified according to seven grades of light, namely, the light of the Sun, Moon, heaven, stars, lightnings, lilies and of the candlestick in the Sanctuary.”

Here again we see the Jewish revolutionaries playing a double game with us, secretly planning for an ultimate seven-strata aristocracy while spreading Socialism among us evidently to induce us to let the government take all our property away and own us outright—because if Jews are the missionaries of any new movement, such as Socialism, naturally they may expect to dominate it, if it takes over the government. They then will use the Socialist government as their vehicle for conquest of men and materials.

Similarly, in preaching brotherhood and equality among us, their purpose must be that of making us forsake the pride which preserved our ancestors for ages, so that we will accept and soon breed downward among the indolent dark races and the lazy, unambitious, stupid elements of our own race. Why not, since all of us are “equal”?

This indoctrination is pure Communism. It is spread by both the Communists and the Zionists. It is offered as a Christian doctrine! The difference is that the Communists believe it; while the Zionists show that they are spreading it only for non-Jewish consumption. They quicken the “race” pride of their own people to a fanatical degree by their own propaganda, attacking all opponents as anti-Semites! And by this clever double-faced propaganda device, they keep most of the Jews scared and herded into their camp for “protection”—protection which would not at all be needed in a world of tolerant, unsuspecting gentiles, but for the fact that the Jewish revolution becomes so violent its leaders finally become identified, thus frightening and angering the alert gentiles and causing “anti-Semitism”.

Western people can hardly conceive of such racial and cultist fanaticism. If a group of Germans or Spanish or Anglo-Saxons or Swedes said such egotistical things about their own kind or hinted that God was going to make their people the ideal or holy people of the Earth, the Jewish propagandists would flood America with movies from Hollywood, broadcasts by radio and television and newspaper stories about the racial bigots, inciting us to make war on them as “fascists”.

We have already seen glimpses of “the ideal Israel”, in all its holiness: its bayoneting of helpless Arab women and children and the constant threat of aggression over neighbors in the Near East.

The ideal and holy nature of Jewish power mongers likewise has been demonstrated in revolution after revolution among our ancestors for over 2,000 years. The Jewish-inspired, socialistic, international revolutions, such as the French Revolution, and in our time, the Communist, or Bolshevik, revolutions have reddened much soil with the blood of Christians (gentiles).*

* Jewish literature is replete with reports showing how their leaders inspired revolutions which undermined the stability and character of Western nations and racial elements, from Rome down to the current climactic world revolution. The Jewish author Marcus Eli Ravage, in two articles in the January and February 1928 issues of the Century magazine, summarized the Jewish revolutionary role in non-Jewish countries:

“You have not begun to appreciate the real depth of our guilt. We ARE intruders. We ARE disturbers. We ARE subverters. We have taken your natural world, your ideals, your destiny, and played havoc with them. We have been at the bottom not merely of the latest great war but of nearly all your wars, not only of the Russian but of every other major revolution in your history. We have brought discord and confusion and frustration into your personal and public life. We are still doing it. No one can tell how long we shall go on doing it.”

Ravage relates how his ancestors—hating the Roman government and soldiers, which had burned Jerusalem in an effort to stop Jewish subversive activities—infilted the early Christian movement emphasizing the doctrine which said “turn the other cheek” to an enemy, and the hate-the-rich doctrine (that a rich man could not enter the Kingdom of Heaven) to soften the Roman armies and undermine the great Roman civilization. RAVAGE DOES NOT SAY THE JEWISH REVOLUTIONARIES “INFILTRATED” CHRISTIANITY; IT IS HIS THESIS THAT THEY DELIBERATELY INVENTED IT AND SPREAD IT AMONG THE GENTILES TO MAKE THEM SOFTEN AND HUMBLE AND DEBASE THEMSELVES AND THUS, IN EFFECT, COMMIT NATIONAL (AND RACIAL) SUICIDE.

Ravage boasted that the Book Of Revelation (which is considered one of the apocryphal books, those of disputed or doubtful origin) WAS WRITTEN BY JEWISH REVOLUTIONARIES, INSPIRING THEIR FOLLOWERS BY PORTRAYING THE COMING DESTRUCTION OF ROME. HE CONTENDS THAT THE BOOK FORETOLD ONLY THE DESTRUCTION OF THE JEWISH ENEMY, ROME, HAVING NO SIGNIFICANCE BEYOND THAT ERA. IT HAD TO BE COINED IN CABALISTIC LANGUAGE, HE CONTENDS, BECAUSE THE JEWISH AND CHRISTIAN REVOLUTIONARIES WERE IN THE UNDERGROUND. [H: And I ask you, if it can be done NOW, then why not THEN?]

MOST SURVIVORS TO BECOME FARMERS

We have already stated that all the wealth of the world is to be at the disposal of the rulers of Israel.

“The great majority of the people will be farmers engaged in agriculture, and will obtain, without difficulty, their livelihood from the products of the land.” (p. 55)

Think what such a development would mean for America: Today over three-fourths of the people of our country live in towns and cities. Evidently, all or most of the metropolitan areas are to be wiped out. And if “the majority of the people” are to be farmers, then the world’s population must be drastically reduced, and it will have to be kept down, in order to provide farms for “the great majority”. (The French Revolution, which had Jewish fingerprints all over it, was going to reduce the population and send the remnants back to primitive life.)

“Every one will acquire different kinds of land so that the product of the fields will satisfy the various needs of the individual... in the new social order, every member of the ideal community of the righteous, will receive without great effort whatever necessary sustenance he may desire.”

“... in the ideal era no one will lead a luxurious and spendthrift life because of inherited fortunes. One will enjoy and use only those things which he himself has earned through his own labor and efforts... No time will be spent by a part of the population in supplying useless luxuries. The laws and regulations of the new Universal State will, therefore, be few in number and seldom violated... There will always be steady employment, since production and distribution will be scientifically and universally regulated... Production will be organized internationally and not nationally. Raw materials, likewise, will be controlled by a central authority so that the present waste will disappear.”

ISRAEL TO CONTROL EDUCATION

Control by a central authority is the essence of this plan!

“Gold will be of secondary importance in the new social and economic order... The city of Jerusalem will possess most of the gold and precious stones of the world... The depreciation of the importance of gold and its like, does not necessarily imply the introduction of the system of common ownership of property. The secondary importance given to gold in the new social order will be due to two main reasons. First, the equal distribution of private property and other necessities of life will automatically depreciate the importance of gold and other luxuries... The second reason is that the people will be trained and educated to differentiate between real, spiritual values and material values.”

Who is to divide up the property? Who is to train and educate the people to a specific purpose and ideal? Obviously, that authority will be all-powerful, ruling every life. In Western countries, the ideal always obtained that the parent was responsible for the education of his children; it was the parent’s right and responsibility to say whether or not his children should be educated and in what way, and in what the education should consist.

The influence of Jewish Socialism, which swept Germany in the 19th and 20th Centuries, threw the control of education into the hands of the state, largely replacing parentally-controlled private education with state-controlled public education. The same Jewish Socialism took root in America and has now all but completed the transfer of authority and responsibility for education from the parent to the state. This transfer is throwing power into the hands of the Jewish machine, since the Jewish-inspired “liberal” movement dominates it. And this “liberal”-dominated public education system is wiping out any knowledge of our traditions, the struggles of our fathers and their fathers to regain freedom of the individual, sweeping away our anchorage, leaving our children prime for indoctrination with Jewish “liberalism” and racial integration.

The author makes clear that it is the Jewish power seated in Jerusalem, headed by a descendant of the house of David (“the Holy One”) [H: Does it not begin to appear that this House of David could well be the House of David—Rockefeller? Note, please, that all the great “buddies” of the New World Order are slaves to that David Rockefeller empire—from Kissinger through the ranks.], an absolute dictator, which is to divide up the property, ceding it only to favorites.

“For to the righteous and upright will belong all the wealth, treasure, industrial gains, and all the other resources of the world; to the unrighteous will belong nothing.”

While property is not to be passed on from father to son, still there will be some private property—as stated heretofore—and since various kinds of land are to be included, so as to produce a variety of farm products, and since only “the righteous” are to hold property, we may hazard a guess that this points toward something like Jewish-owned feudal estates. The Jewish machine made “war” on the feudal estates of Europe and later on the landed aristocracy, precipitating the bloody French Revolution and subsequent Communist-type class revolutions, which destroyed the last vestiges of the landed estates and many of the people who had built them. The landed estates had been founded by the finest of the Teutonic and Celtic tribesmen, the leaders of the red-headed Celts, Goths and Norse Vikings, the Fair Angles and Saxons... giant men, described by historians as men of great stature, personal dignity, dogged honesty and general leadership. It was this mighty racial leadership, the foundation of this age of civilization, which had to be wiped out if the nationalistic Jews were to march on.

The propagandists of Jewish revolutions ever have disguised their real aims; they shape their revolutions along class and religious lines, but the result is race warfare, since it is by and large the remnants of the old northern blood and character, even though mixed with other White elements, which constitute the “upper class”. The men of ability and ambition naturally become the upper class, and in Europe and the Americas, these men were for the most part of Anglo-Saxon and closely related stock. And as for the war on religion, both the Communists and the Zionists hate Christianity, attack it from without and infiltrate and change it from within—and in killing millions of Christian leaders, the Communists destroy the gentile leadership.

[H: Something may slip by you in reading this material which I must cause you to stop and consider: This continually refers to “Christianity” but the facts are that Christianity is only a PART of the annihilation plan. ALL who believe in Creator-God as Lighted Creator are on the list. This is why on this very day there is such hatred and intent to annihilate the Muslims and thus and so. The intent is to also destroy the native populations of all nations—because they believe in the Great Spirit Creator and sovereignty of Mother as in Nature. These are all things which the adversary cannot abide and will not abide. Do not sit smugly if you are in “another” indoctrinated group (even Jewish) believing in the goodness of God and Man as units of being—because you are first on the list. The White Christians are the largest group to offensively be taken-out in this plan 2000—the rest of you are already intended to be depleted.]

Can you see, however, that when you see that these things are TRUE as presented by “their” own projections—then indeed, the story does not NEED TO END ACCORDING TO THEIR PROJECTIONS! YOU WILL HAVE TO SEE THAT “THEY” WROTE THE INSTRUCTIONS WITH INTENT TO DECEIVE YOU AND HAVE DONE SO—WHICH IN TURN, MEANS THAT YOU DON’T HAVE TO END THE PLAY ACCORDING TO THE ARMAGEDDON PREDICTION OF DESTRUCTION. PONDER IT—BUT PONDER IT QUICKLY, FOR YOU ARE RUNNING OUT OF TIME, HAVING BOGGED DOWN IN THEIR PLAN AS PRESENTED FOR YOUR DEMISE.]

The war is against US, but the Jewish strategists, apparently considering themselves to be a racial unit, have always been too smart to use the word race (except in writing strictly for their own kind; Mr. Higger, for instance, speaks of his people as a race). Their appeal, analyzed, is exactly a racial appeal, but outnumbered a hundred to one by people of other races, they would be foolish to launch out openly on a race war. Rather, they must condemn as bigotry any thought of race while, paradoxically, quickening the “race” or tribal pride of their own people by constant talk of race bigotry and “anti-Semitism” among people who oppose their program.

Notice how this cunning propaganda works: It makes the gentiles (the Whites) ashamed to stand up for the survival of their race, fearing to be called a scare name. But it makes the Jews feel that they are being attacked racially, and thus it quickens their “race” pride.

[END OF QUOTING FOR THIS SEGMENT]

I ask that you carefully ponder these points—for you as a mass of mankind are about to march into doom at the drummer’s beat into oblivion.

So, what are we here for? To tell you about it and point out that IT DOES NOT HAVE TO END THIS WAY! YOU CAN CHANGE THIS IF YOU WANT TO. I am here to gather God’s children if that be the end result of your deciding—instead of giving up and moving into the plan of your own destruction. We will take up our brothers into the safety of the God realms—indeed, in form.

I am continually barraged with “what can I do”, “what can we do?”, and “how in the world can I make people see?” Chelas, I don’t have any magic wand—myself and my people are under constant attack on lives, not just denial by sleeping people. Families are torn asunder as denial becomes hard-and-fast—and refusal to see is taken as a “Berlin Wall” of separation. We are called lunatics, subversives, cultists, anti-Semites and literally have property damaged and bodies shot at. I don’t KNOW how you get people to listen and act, so I rather “cop out” by saying that mine is to bring this information, my crew is to print the information and prepare for a remnant in survival, act always low-profile and stay out of controversy to the best of ability, for our work must be completed and it is not of public warfare of any kind. I weary of ones saying, “But you have to do something for us!” and “God wouldn’t do this or that.” You do not KNOW what God will or won’t do—HE WILL DO ANYTHING HE WANTS TO DO, FOR HE IS WITHOUT LIMIT—I, AND YOU, ARE BOUND BY LIMITS. I hear all the petitions and my heart reaches out unto you—I can even give you peace if your intent is pure and works are honorable—I CANNOT DO IT FOR YOU! I AND MINE COME FORTH AS MESSENGERS (HOSTS)—NOT CAVALRY OR RIFLEMAN, SUPERMAN OR BATMAN—MESSENGER. I, AS HOST, CAN ALSO RECEIVE YOU WHEN THE TIME IS APPROPRIATE—UNTIL THEN, WE ARE IN PEACE AND OFFER THAT WHICH WE CAN—SPIRITUAL TRUTH, GUIDANCE AND A LAMP TO LIGHT YOUR PATH. JUST AS ALL GREAT MASTER TEACHERS COME BEFORE—WE ARE WAYSHOWERS TO A DARK PLANET AND A CIVILIZATION OF MAN (BROTHERS) IN TROUBLE. WE HAVE NO “MAGIC” POTIONS TO OFFER AND NO “ZAP YOUR INDIVIDUAL ENEMY FOR YOU”. WE SHALL WALK IN THE LIGHT OF HOLY GOD CREATOR AND WITHIN HIS LAWS—OR, “WE” SHALL NOT WALK ANYWHERE! SO BE IT.

Thank you for your attention.

Dharma, stay, please, for I would like to speak a moment on the subject of UN troops ordered into your country.

Good evening, Hatonn to clear.

* * * * *

It is far more serious than presented to you ones. Indeed, there is massing of UN troops by the thousands, in Michigan as stated, and in other places as well. Remember the Japanese in “blue hats” into California several months ago? They are ALL STILL AT READY, chelas. I remind you that great and horrendous things are going to come down on your nation and your people.

Indeed, there are thousands (by the hundreds of-) requested to move into your nation to subdue the uprisings which are destined to come. They were ordered up at the time of the “Weaver” incident in Idaho because there is no intent of the patriots remaining in what is left of your military to SIT STILL for the takeover of your nation. YOU LITERALLY STAND ON THE THRESHOLD OF THE EVE OF REVOLUTION AND YOU SEEM TO SEE IT NOT—EXCEPT AS THE DRUNKEN CHILD WITHOUT ABILITY TO FUNCTION.

As Commander of a mighty fleet at ready, I seem to have no ability to cause you to see or hear. I see you as another Sarajevo or Sodom as the bombs burst upon your cities and all the while the cry will go out, “Oh, God, how could you do this to us?” You have denied God and his Messengers sent to give you insight—what do you want of us now? Do you wish to come aboard the sleek ships which you just an hour ago denied as reality? If you are of God Creator in Truth—you are fine wherever you are—if you are NOT, then you are not safe ANYWHERE! DO YOU UNDERSTAND? You are IN the trap whether or not you want to believe it. The only thing in question at this moment is, “What will you do about it?”

The “leak” of information is somewhat of a “trial balloon” even to the extent of seeing what I will say and do about it. I have no intention of doing anything—or even saying much more than I already have, about it. I have told you there is massing of military equipment of foreign origin all about your nation—WHAT MORE DO YOU NEED? I have given you drawings of facilities and spots wherein the troops are actually stationed and given you pulse-by-pulse blasts against your natural faults and against your large man-made structures, such as dams. I can’t do more and I can’t tell you more—the ENEMY IS AMONG YOU! If this is “doom and gloom” to your eyes and ears, I am sorry, for it IS the way it IS.

The thing you might well remember also, is that the “adversary” is an enemy of the factions which wield the most lethal power on your globe. As the “adversary” in the form of this wondrous Mossad UN Banksters’ Ultimate World Order moves into action—I seriously DOUBT if the enemy in the Cosmospheres is going to sit still while you take his part of the world and HE IS GOING TO GO AND BE WHERE THE ENEMY NOW RESIDES IN GREATEST POWER—THE GOOD OLD U.S. OF A.

Yes, Dharma, I think it is most appropriate to put this on the phone line—if you make it till tomorrow in functioning condition. The days grow short “as you reach September” and so does your Cosmic “clock”.

MAJORITY RULE EQUALS TYRANNY

By Walter Williams, townhall.com, 11/22/00

The controversy surrounding this year's presidential election has led to calls to abandon the Constitution's Article II provisions for the Electoral College to select presidents. Despite the fact the system has served us well for over 200 years, many Americans now call for its abandonment in favor of electing presidents by popular vote. Before we do this, let's consider the function it performs. California, Ohio, Texas, New York, New Jersey, Florida, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Michigan can boast a combined population of 137 million. That's slightly more than half our 272 million national population. It's, therefore, conceivable that just nine states could determine the presidency in a popular vote. The Electoral College gives states with small populations a measure of protection against domination by states with large populations. That's because the nine high-population states have a total of 243 Electoral College votes, but 270 are needed to win the presidency.

Compare Wyoming to California. California's population is over 33 million, while Wyoming's is 480,000. Thus, California has 69 times more people than Wyoming. California has 54 Electoral College votes (since it has 52 congressmen and two senators), while Wyoming has three votes. In terms of the Electoral College, California has only 18 times as many votes as Wyoming. The Electoral College forces presidential candidates to appeal to voters in states with small populations.

The Constitution's Framers feared tyranny of the majority. That's why there's an Electoral College—plus, even though California's population is 69 times that of Wyoming's, both states have two senators.

Despite public consensus, there's nothing inherently just or fair about majority rule. In fact, one of the primary dangers of majority rule is that it confers an aura of legitimacy and respectability on acts that would otherwise be deemed tyrannical. Ask yourself what day-to-day decisions would you like to be decided by majority rule? What about where you live, for whom you work, what kind of car you drive, what clothing you wear, what woman you marry?

You say: "Williams, those decisions are nobody else's business but mine. What's more, those are issues that don't belong in the political arena anyway!" You're right. Plus, we'd all agree that it would be nothing short of tyranny if where you could live and whom you could marry was decided by majority rule.

What if the decision whether to enslave a group of people were made through a popular vote instead of a dictatorship? Wouldn't you say that it was tyranny nonetheless? Instead of enslave, we could easily substitute the words rape, murder, rob and torture, and reach the same conclusion. Those examples are extreme and unlikely in the United States, but the principle is just as applicable on questions like: Should a popular vote decide how much of my weekly salary is set aside for retirement, or how much is set aside for housing, clothing, food and entertainment? If a popular vote decided these questions, there's still tyranny, but of a lesser degree.

Americans should read the wise words of James Madison in Federalist Paper No. 10. There's no clearer statement that the Framers fashioned a republic and not a pure democracy. Our Constitution set limits on not only the power of the three branches of the federal government, it also set limits on the arbitrary will of the people that might be expressed through a majority vote.

Madison said, "Measures are too often decided, not according to the rules of justice and the rights of the minor party, but by the superior force of an interested and overbearing majority." And he's right.

[JR: I suspect that this ELECTION 2000 was purposely orchestrated for a tie to promote the issues for eliminating the Electoral College and dupe the sheeple into approving a Constitutional Convention. That's the only way the NWO can get access and completely change our Constitution. This is not the first time our "Democratic Republic" has come under attack to change it into a "direct democracy" and remove its built-in safeguards specifically mandated in our Constitution. The 17th Amendment changed the election of senators from each state from being elected by the state legislators (to avoid the pressures from the whims of public opinion, graft and PAC influence) to election by the popular vote of the misinformed. Our Founders purposely intended that only the members of the House of Representatives were to be elected by the popular vote of the people.]

ILLINOIS COURT DID NOT ACCEPT DIMPLED BALLOTS

NewsMax.com, 11/23/00

The Chicago Tribune reports in today's Thanksgiving edition that a critical Illinois court ruling cited by the Florida Supreme Court may not have set the precedent Al Gore's lawyers claimed.

During arguments before the Florida Supreme Court, Al Gore's attorneys claimed that an Illinois Supreme Court ruling "was a sweeping directive to count controversial 'dimpled' ballots, in which ballots were indented but not punched through," the paper reported.

But the Tribune reported that the "Illinois case should not give Democrats any confidence that dented ballots will be counted in Gore's favor. That's because the Illinois court actually affirmed a trial judge's order to exclude dented ballots, since he had decided he could not reasonably determine the voters' will by examining the ballots."

The Illinois case was referenced in Tuesday night's opinion offered by the Supreme Court, and has been trumpeted by the Gore team as a model for Florida counties engaged in the manual recount.

Attorney Burton Odelson, who represented one of the candidates in the 1990 Illinois case, told the Tribune, "The judge did not count ballots that were indented because he could not determine the voters' intent.

"From the beginning, I knew everybody [in Florida] was interpreting this case wrong and reading into it what they wanted to read into it."

The Gore team had a lawyer in the Illinois case present an affidavit to the Florida Supreme Court stating that the Illinois court had agreed dented ballots should be included.

The Tribune said the attorney's affidavit "apparently was mistaken in its assertion that such ballots were counted."

[JR: My how they protect one another, saying "Interpreting this case wrong" instead of speaking forthrightly that they were caught lying and should be held in contempt for falsification of an affidavit. That's what's wrong with case law instead of letting a jury of we-the-people decide each case on its own merits under real law. Lawyers just lie about case law any way that will serve their purpose—and if it suits the court's agenda, then it is readily accepted as fact, without confirmation. Isn't it interesting how if a lying lawyer from a lying administration lies, the major media excuses the liar and calls the lie a "mistake", without any accountability. I'm beginning to wonder if these reporters were trained to be lying lawyers, but had failed the Bar. At any rate, they also twist words to falsely influence the public.]

NO CONTROLLING LEGAL AUTHORITY

EDITORIAL, Chicago Tribune, 11/26/00

Had God not created lawyers and lower courts, this year's presidential election—you do recall that before the War for Florida we had an election, don't you?—might well have been over by now.

In that impossible daydream, the U.S. Supreme Court swoops down to settle the questions that are slowing the outcome: Is it proper under law to recount only some ballots by hand? What about ballots from military men and women stationed overseas? If a chad's pregnancy is only in its first trimester, should it count as a vote?

Instead, the nation's eyes have been diverted from issues of elemental fairness to sideshows in county seats and local courtrooms. Ours may be a fine legal system, but when it tries to cope with a fast-breaking case in multiple jurisdictions, it can leave the public and the players confused. For almost three weeks, we've had no controlling legal authority.

Friday's decision by the U.S. Supreme Court to hear an argument brought by George W. Bush could get the core issues resolved, and elevate the current lawyers' game of selfish one-upmanship. Ordinary citizens who've been waiting for someone, anyone, to take charge can sound at least a small cheer.

Essentially, the court will consider two questions. Did the Florida Supreme Court get it wrong when it ruled that Katherine Harris, Florida's secretary of state, could not certify an earlier statewide count that would have given Bush a 930-vote victory? And, did the Florida Supremes write new election law—something the state legislature alone is supposed to do—when they allowed hand recounting to continue in three counties until a Sunday-night deadline of the Florida court's arbitrary choosing? If the answers are yes, Bush wins.

Much of the current confusion in Florida stems from the state court's decision issued late Tuesday. Those justices didn't order a statewide recount or order standardized rules on how to recount ballots—let alone what ballots to recount. So local officials are making up the rules as they go along, including what to do with so-called pregnant or dimpled chads.

That question is one example of the mischief that has run wild through lower courts and, with luck, will diminish now that the U.S. Supreme Court is involved. The Florida Supreme Court strongly hinted in its ruling that dimpled chads can count as votes—a conclusion that helps Al Gore in Democratic counties. To support that notion, the Florida court cited language taken out of context from an Illinois Supreme Court decision, which at first blush appears to say dimpled chads should be counted as votes. In truth, as the Tribune reported Thursday, the Florida court got this backwards. The Illinois court actually ruled that a judge was correct when he excluded dimpled ballots because the dents didn't clearly reveal the voter's intent. Oops.

The U.S. Supreme Court is less likely to be bamboozled by attorneys who sloppily quote legal precedents. So, now that the nation's highest court is on the case, it would be good for both sides to ratchet down their alarmist rhetoric about each other's efforts to "steal" the election. This is a time to let the law rule. [JR: The democratically appointed Florida Supreme Court during the hearing asked Bush attorneys 100 questions and Gore's attorneys only six (as pointed out by the media). These judges based their decisions in their official Opinion of the Court brief solely on accepting, without verification, an incorrect case law presentation by Gore's attorneys that erroneously claimed an Illinois Supreme Court decision had previously ruled that questionable "dimpled" ballots were to be counted. Is it possible the Florida Supreme Court showed a little bias towards Gore and the Democrats? Politicians appoint judges that generally have similar perceptions, so judges are not immune from playing politics in the courtroom.]

SUPACHAI HOPES ASA WILL GROW INTO A FULL-FLEDGED AMF

BERNAMA, 11/23/00

SINGAPORE—Thailand's deputy prime minister, Supachai Panitchpakdi said he hopes to see the ASEAN Swap Agreement (ASA) grow into a full-fledged Asian Monetary Fund (AMF).

"It has been improving day after day. In due time it would encompass a wider arrangement and become multilateralised," he said.

He was speaking to newsmen after the ASEAN Economic Ministers signed a protocol that gives flexibility to delay their commitment to cut tariffs on certain products under the Common Effective Preferential Tariff (CEPT) scheme.

The ministers are meeting ahead of the 4th ASEAN Informal Summit here tomorrow.

"I am hopeful that at the end of the day we would have a full-fledged Asian Monetary Fund," said Supachai, who is also commerce minister.

The ASA is a Chiangmai initiative aimed at assisting ASEAN countries meet their temporary liquidity problems.

A network of bilateral swap arrangements among ASEAN members, China, Japan and South Korea (ASEAN plus three) is being negotiated to provide temporary financing for members facing balance-of-payments problems.

The AMF, mooted by Japan in 1997 has the same objective with the ASA.

It was previously opposed by the previous regime of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) on fear that it would undermine the latter.

But under the current managing director, Horst Kohler, the IMF is now more favourable towards a regional monetary cooperation.

Meanwhile an eminent persons' group on ASEAN-Japan cooperation has recommended that both sides build on the Chiangmai initiative as an important step for further enhancement of regional cooperation among ASEAN plus three.

[JR: The AMF is the hope by which positive change can be made in Southeast Asia. The IMF is not in a position to compete—given their past policies that collapsed and nearly destroyed the national economies of this region. All the IMF can do now to save face is to pretend to be cooperative and publicly express acts of good will.]

ANALYSIS: U.S. FACES TOUGH TIME IN MIDDLE EAST

By Peter Almond, UPI World News, 11/22/00

LONDON—U.S. military personnel around the Middle East and Mediterranean started an extended Thanksgiving on Wednesday, hunkered down and with security uppermost in their minds.

With Arab-Israeli tensions rising and the deadly Oct. 12 attack on the USS Cole in Yemen painfully fresh, U.S. forces in the Gulf area continue to be on "Charlie" alert status, indicating possible imminent terrorist attacks with neither targets nor aggressors identified.

It is the highest alert status after "Delta," which is announced only when there is a specific known threat to U.S. forces. According to U.S. defense sources, Delta has been declared twice in the past two weeks, during which 23 ships of the U.S. Fifth Fleet, including an aircraft carrier group, left Bahrain for greater safety at sea.

While the damaged Cole is on board a huge Dutch barge off the west coast of South Africa on its way to Pascagoula, Miss., thereby avoiding the Middle East and Mediterranean completely, the U.S. Navy on Wednesday took a calculated chance by sending the guided missile frigate USS Hawes through the Suez Canal.

The Hawes is the first U.S. Navy ship in the canal since the Cole incident, and its transit coincides with Defense Secretary William Cohen's visit Wednesday with Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak.

Anger and discontent at America's support for Israel has been growing across the Middle East, with incidents reported in several locations. In Kuwait, police continue to investigate four men arrested with 135 kilograms of high explosives who, according to the Kuwaiti newspaper Al Watan, were planning to attack the U.S. army base at Camp Doha, north of Kuwait City. And in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, diplomatic sources have speculated that an explosion that killed a Briton in a car there last Friday could have been a case of mistaken identity for an American, or the attackers saw no difference.

While Saudi police have yet to determine exactly what killed Christopher Rodway, an engineer who had worked at a Saudi Hospital for seven years, and seriously injured his wife, there is other evidence that authorities in the region are struggling with popular discontent at Americans.

The Financial Times reported Tuesday that on Sunday in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, a "westerner" in a car stopped at a traffic intersection was confronted by young Saudi males who pulled alongside in a car. "You American?" they shouted. Before the "westerner" could wind down his window to shout "no," his car was pelted with rotten tomatoes and eggs. "Bloody American. Filthy Yank," they reportedly screamed as their car roared away, tires screeching.

On Monday night in Muscat, Oman, jeers and catcalls came from public stands as the U.S. Marine Corps Drum and Bugle Corps played Amazing Grace in a performance before Cohen and Sultan Qaboos, in celebration of his 30th year as Oman's ruler.

Discontent with the United States apparently does not lie only with much of the Arab public. Last Friday, Sheik Hamad Bin Ali al-Thani, a member of Qatar's ruling family, flew in his Boeing 747 to Baghdad and presented the jet as a "gift" to Saddam Hussein. On Monday, the U.S. State Department denounced the transfer as a breach of UN Resolutions 661, 670 and 1051, prohibiting countries in the area from dealing with Iraq, and suggested the Qatar government deal with Sheik Hamad.

However, U.S. officials are finding it difficult to be strong with the Gulf states at this time. Not only do they have to defend their support for Israel at a time of bitter conflict in the Gaza and West Bank, but Western demand for Gulf oil imports is rising, and the maintenance of thousands of U.S. troops in the region puts heavy demands on the toleration of Arab leaders.

According to U.S., British and other sources, the Clinton administration is trying to save its ammunition for a retaliatory strike at those responsible for the bombing of the USS Cole. Yemeni investigators, with the help of the FBI using DNA tests, have reportedly identified the body of at least one of the two suicide bombers and are holding at least 10 suspects.

U.S. officials have alleged links with individuals involved in the bombing of the U.S. embassies in Kenya and Tanzania two years ago, in which more than 200 people died, and with Osama bin Laden, the wealthy Saudi exile and reputed terrorist living in Afghanistan. Bin Laden's base was struck by 80 Tomahawk cruise missiles fired from U.S. ships.

On Tuesday, Gen. Henry Shelton, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, said another retaliatory attack with cruise missiles was "an option". Reports in London, however, suggest that bin Laden has moved his headquarters from Kandahar to an almost inaccessible mountain area to the north of Kabul, where he has been blasting out caves.

British and American intelligence services have been working together to determine the best way to deal with bin Laden. British diplomatic sources said that Tuesday's summit meeting in Moscow between Prime Minister Tony Blair and Russian President Vladimir Putin may have eased the way for closer Russian cooperation for an attack on bin Laden.

According to the London Daily Telegraph Wednesday NATO's Partnership for Peace agreement with Uzbekistan, Kazakhstan and Kyrgyzstan has allowed commandos from all three states to train with U.S. Special Forces in Montana and Alaska. A combined-force operation launched from old Soviet bases at Tashkent and Termez on the Afghan border could be launched with bombers, long-range artillery and raids by Special Forces.

[JR: The presence of 23 U.S. warships in the Gulf can only add to the tensions in the Middle East. Are these ships there to protect American interests, oil or the Israelis? Mr. Cohen's tour is not to restore trust and confidence as to American intentions as much as to deliver U.S. demands, pronouncements and denouncements. It seems our government is constantly rotating foreign troops onto American soil—presumably to train them to fight in their own countries. As for the Russians, one would hope they would use caution in allowing the U.S. and Britain to use their old bases to launch attacks against bin Laden. This might invite a hostile reaction from the Muslims who occupy this region.]

The U.S. and Britain created and trained bin Laden, they have his phone number and can call their bad boy anytime. Without him, on whom would they blame these terrorist acts?]

ISLAMIC MINISTERS TO URGE UN TO STOP VIOLENCE AGAINST PALESTINIANS

BERNAMA, 11/24/00

KUALA LUMPUR—A delegation of Islamic Conference of Foreign Ministers (ICFM) will submit a demarche, a line of action, to urge the United Nations to undertake immediate measures to stop the escalating violence against Palestinians.

Malaysian Foreign Minister Datuk Seri Syed Hamid Albar, who is the chairman of the 27th ICFM, will join the delegation to meet UN secretary-general Kofi Annan.

A Wisma Putra statement on Friday said others in the delegation to be headed by Qatari Foreign Minister Sheikh Hamad bin Jassim bin Jabor Al-Thani were the foreign ministers of Egypt, Morocco, Palestine and Iran.

The ministerial delegation would convey to Annan the sentiments and support of the Muslim countries and ummah for the Palestinian struggle for independence based on the principle of a comprehensive and just peace.

They would also convey the concern of the Muslim ummah on the continuing atrocities by Israel as an occupying power, on the Palestinians with immense loss of lives and casualties.

They would stress the need for a UN peacekeeping force to protect the safety and lives of the Palestinians, the statement said, adding that the ministers were following up on the decision of the Ninth Islamic Summit in Doha, Qatar on Nov. 12-14.

The ICFM ministers also wanted the UN to establish a fact-finding commission and a war-crimes tribunal to bring to justice those responsible for the deaths of many innocent Palestinian civilians, it said.

“The ministerial delegation will also hold consultation with the UN Security Council to similarly urge the Council to take effective and immediate measures to stop Israeli aggressions... and ensure implementation and compliance by Israel of all UN resolutions pertaining to the Middle East conflict,” it added.

The ministerial delegation wanted to see a more active participation of the UN to ensure the success of the Middle East Peace Process, the statement said.

The UN, it said, had a moral and political responsibility towards the Palestinian cause until a just and comprehensive peace settlement was reached.

[JR: Where are the delegations from other nations also demanding the UN to get involved if only for humanitarian reasons? They didn't need permission to enter Kosovo.]

ISRAELIS WILL HINDER
WESTERN INTERVENTION

By Brian Whitaker, The Guardian—UK, 11/24/00

Belatedly, Western governments have begun to accept the need for intervention in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. This is what the Palestinians and Arabs have been calling for, and the Israelis—though still protesting—are beginning to recognise that it may now be inevitable. But if it is going to happen, the Israelis will surely do their utmost to make it as ineffective as possible.

There are two basic options: an observer force or a protection force.

An observer force would be small (possibly no more than 200 people) and unarmed, or lightly armed—for its own protection but not to stop violence between the two sides.

This is a lot less than the Palestinians have been seeking, and its chances of success are uncertain. Observers were sent to Hebron a few years ago and, in the words of the Palestinian spokeswoman Hanan Ashrawi: “They have been entirely useless.”

“What we want,” she told the Guardian yesterday, “is an international force with a mandate to protect the Palestinians and hold the Israelis responsible. It should be mobile and have the ability to intervene... We want Israel to be accountable and subject to international law.”

On the other hand, an observer force is better than nothing. Some Palestinians see it as a bridgehead which will eventually lead to more active intervention. So do the Israelis, which is one reason why they object to it.

A lot depends on what the observers would be expected to do and how they would operate. Their most obvious function would be to monitor and document the violence, and to publish their evidence in full with a view to prosecution of anyone who commits crime under local or international law.

This, in itself, might deter some of the excesses, though equally it could result in the excesses simply continuing behind the observers' backs.

The personality and determination of the observers would also be important. Would they be nervous Norwegian policemen or characters like Scott Ritter, who plagued the Iraqis for years with his nuclear inspections?

A protection force would entail a far bigger commitment. To be effective, it would need to be large enough and sufficiently well armed to restrain the Israelis. That is not impossible—witness NATO's defence of Kosovo—but it looks unlikely at this stage.

A weak protection force would probably not help at all. It could easily end up as the meat in a sandwich—squeezed between the warring sides, as happened in southern Lebanon.

Another problem is that a protection force might stop the fighting but consolidate the status quo. For example, besides protecting Palestinians it might be trapped into protecting Israeli settlements, which the international community regards as illegal. That would certainly please the Israelis but would not move the situation forward towards a sustainable peace.

An initial intervention by observers, in sufficient numbers and with a proper mandate, would at least create an opportunity to cool the situation.

It would also send a powerful signal from Western countries that the disproportionate, and often hysterical, use of force by the Israelis over the last few weeks is intolerable.

Finally, multinational involvement would be a sign that America's lopsided domination of the peace process—which has been a large part of the problem—is coming to an end.

[JR: We must realize that Israel has never and will never comply with the world's consensus for what is the right conduct that is applied to all other nations. She has a very narrow focus and will only do what her leaders feel is best for Israel and the Israelis. The opinion of the world, unless it directly affects their economy, is irrelevant.]

BRITAIN TO OFFER
MONITORING FORCE FOR ISRAEL

By Christina Lamb, Telegraph—UK, 11/26/00

Britain will today propose sending troops to Israel and the Occupied Territories as part of an international monitoring force.

The initiative will be proposed to Israeli and Palestinian delegates at a specially convened meeting in New York by officials from Britain, France, the United States and the United Nations which are backing the plan. A Foreign Office official said: “We believe there is a good case for observers in either UN or non-UN hats who could report the conflict in an impartial way and act as a deterrent to violence.”

The Palestinians have been pushing for an international force in the region where more than 280 people have been killed in the last two months, but Israel has been strongly opposed. To try to make it more acceptable to the Israelis, the proposal is being discussed as an observer mission, avoiding the use of the word force.

“It is not clear whether they would be military or civilians,” said the Foreign Office spokesman. “We recognise the difficulties but we are worried about the increasing seriousness of the situation.” He added that Britain would be prepared to commit troops, despite already being stretched by having forces in Sierra Leone, Kosovo and Bosnia. Russia, a co-sponsor of the Middle East peace process, has also become increasingly involved in attempts at mediation, drawn in by the Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat to offset what he regards as pro-Israeli bias by the main mediator, the U.S.

Mr. Arafat on Friday met Russia's President Vladimir Putin, who arranged a telephone conversation for him with Israel's Prime Minister Ehud Barak—the first time that the two men had spoken in three weeks. They agreed to renew low-level security ties, including the work of 10 joint liaison offices, which were closed last week after an Israeli soldier was killed at one.

Before the fighting began two months ago, the liaison offices were a symbol of co-operation, albeit limited, between Israelis and Palestinians. The two sides conducted joint security patrols and worked out day-to-day problems in the field. Increased diplomatic efforts have had little effect on the conflict on the ground, where casualties are still mounting. Four Palestinians were killed yesterday, including a 13-year-old boy, and more than 30 injured in clashes on the West Bank as the plan for Israeli and Palestinian security forces to resume limited field-level co-operation failed to take hold.

Israeli soldiers at the liaison office in the southern Gaza Strip came under fire yesterday and shot back, said an army spokesman. He added that Palestinian security officers turned up at other liaison offices in Gaza and the West Bank, but there was no co-operation.

[JR: It is interesting that the UN and the U.S. and other major European nations are walking on eggs as to the phrasing of the title of an observer team that would be “acceptable to Israel”. No one asked permission of Yugoslavia on what would be an acceptable reason to send a NATO force into Kosovo to push the Serbs out. In that case, there was a bias agenda behind the illegal invasion of a sovereign state where the Western coalition was against them—and there were no threats of being called anti-Semite.]

ISRAEL COULD BE FORCED TO ACCEPT OBSERVER MISSION

By Virginia Quirke (Jerusalem) and Peter Beaumont, The Guardian—UK, 11/26/00

Senior Israeli officials have conceded that they may be forced to accept the deployment of an international observer force, following a week of intense diplomatic pressure from Britain, France and the United States.

Continuing negotiations in New York have persuaded officials that, despite their opposition to the creation of an observer mission to monitor the violence, as demanded by Palestinian President Yasser Arafat, they may be forced to back down to keep the support of the U.S. and other key allies.

The Observer understands that three options are under consideration. The first is a UN monitor force operating under the mandate of the UN Security Council and deployed on both Israeli and Palestinian sides of the confrontation lines.

The unarmed force would be multinational in flavour and several hundred strong. Although favoured by the permanent members of the Security Council, the principal Israeli objection stems from its complaint that the 'non-aligned' countries sitting on the council are often pro-Palestinian.

A second option would be for a mission drawn from countries such as the U.S., France, Britain and Norway operating as an invited force, but not under UN auspices. The third option—considered the least likely—would see a force placed under the umbrella of the commission of inquiry into the present violence being led by the former U.S. senator and Northern Ireland peace negotiator, George Mitchell.

Israel objects in principle to the deployment of an observer force, saying it suits the Palestinian agenda of attempting to "internationalise" the crisis and dilute America's influence in the peace process, which Palestinians claim favours Israel. Israel claims that the deployment of the force would 'reward' the Palestinians for their violence.

The moves came as Palestinian reformers launched an attack on the culture of cronyism and corruption surrounding Arafat.

In the first signs of a genuine split within Arafat's Fatah movement—between the old guard that sustained Arafat in exile abroad and a younger generation that grew up in Palestine itself—a leading Fatah activist last week accused corrupt officials of endangering the two-month-old Al Aqsa intifada.

The Palestinian newspaper Al-Hayat al-Jadida last week called for an "institutional uprising" to remove crooked officials. In his article, writer Kamal al-Astal said the Palestinian leadership was jeopardising the "blood of martyrs". He accused Arafat's officials of using their positions for personal gain.

[JR: Sooner or later the UN as well as Israel will be forced to have some type of observer team in both Israel and the occupied Palestinian territories. Until outside teams are deployed the violence will not stop. The difficult task would be to find unbiased observers acceptable to both sides in this conflict—as it seems most governments are intimidated by the mere threat of being labeled anti-Semite, if they only seem to be critical of Israel.]

PUTIN BROKERS ARAFAT-BARAK TALK

By Vladimir Isachenkov, Excite News, 11/24/00

MOSCOW (AP)—In his first plunge into Mideast peacemaking, President Vladimir Putin on Friday raised Russia's previously low profile by arranging for Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat and Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Barak to speak by phone for the first time in three weeks.

Although Russia is a co-sponsor of the Mideast peace process, its role has been relatively small compared with the United States. But as the violence spirals, Russia has been making a new push to exert influence.

Analysts say that Russia could now be in a significant position in the process. That perception was underlined later Friday when Israel announced that Foreign Minister Shlomo Ben-Ami would visit Moscow at an unspecified date next week.

In the Friday phone call, which came during Putin's meeting in the Kremlin with Arafat, the Israeli and Palestinian leaders agreed to resume low-level security cooperation. Arafat also promised Barak to do everything to stop violence.

Sergei Markov, the head of the independent Institute of Political Studies, said Putin succeeded in Friday's phone call because Russia is "the only mediator which is trusted by both sides".

"The peace process has largely been undermined by the pro-Israeli position of the United States," Arafat aide Saeb Erekat said in an interview published on Friday in the daily Vremya Novostei. "Russia is our friend, and stands for an independent Palestinian state with a capital in the eastern part of Jerusalem."

In Washington, State Department spokesman Phil Reeker said "it is important for all nations and leaders to encourage Palestinians and Israelis to do everything possible to end the continued cycle of violence."

"We welcome efforts made by other nations to help the parties end the violence, restore calm, and work their way back to the negotiating table," he said.

Welcoming Arafat at the start of their talks, Putin said that an end to violence was essential for any diplomatic effort to succeed.

"We are absolutely convinced that any meetings and efforts would be useless if we fail to reduce the degree of confrontation and violence in the Middle East," Putin said.

The meeting with Arafat was Putin's debut in Mideast peacemaking, which until now has been in the hands of Foreign Minister Igor Ivanov.

Arafat's trip followed two months of fighting between Israelis and Palestinians, in which more than 260 people have been killed.

"The violence has reached an alarming degree," said Markov, the analyst. "Previously all they wanted was money, but with the events spinning out of control they now desperately need a mediator."

"Barak and, especially, Arafat have been losing control over the situation," Markov said. "If they fail to find a solution, they will be forgotten in half a year."

Arafat said he was grateful to Putin for accepting his initiative to visit Moscow.

"We cannot forget that Russia is also responsible for the peace process and they have a critical role in this issue," Arafat said after arriving.

"We believe that in view of the very dangerous situation which borders on war, both sides must show resolve, wisdom and meet each other halfway," Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Alexander Avdeyev told reporters after Friday's talks.

Russia's relatively small role in the peace process became evident last month when Moscow was left out of an emergency Mideast summit in Sharm el-Sheik, Egypt. [JR: Russia can only be an improvement over the U.S. in starting up the peace talks again between Arafat and Barak. At least they don't come with proposals and a bias that favors one side's special interests over the other. As to the writer's last comment: Russia played a small role at the emergency summit in Egypt because Clinton was running the show and Putin was not invited. Clinton really wanted that Middle East Peace Agreement credited to the legacy of his presidency—so badly that he tried to buy it without solving the real issues. Maybe Putin will succeed where Clinton's preconceived agenda has failed.]

ANALYSIS: THE POWER OF PUTIN

By Martin Walker, Isyndicate.com (UPI), 11/25/00

It was not quite Camp David. But when Russian President Vladimir Putin called Israeli Prime Minister Yehud Barak and then persuaded Yasser Arafat to take over the phone, it was a key sign that the United States was no longer the only big power playing broker in the Middle East.

Excluded from last month's Sharm-el-Sheikh summit, despite being a nominal co-sponsor of the Middle East peace process, Russia showed it could bring the Israeli and Palestinian leaders back into direct contact—something which the White House had failed to do.

Putin, a former KGB agent who was hand-picked by Boris Yeltsin to replace him in the Kremlin, is getting a taste for the world stage.

Two days before PLO leader Yasser Arafat flew to Moscow to make what could be a breakthrough phone call to Barak, Putin was hosting British Prime Minister Tony Blair, and giving his blessing to the new European Union's plan to build its own 60,000-strong peacekeeping force. Last month, the Russian president was in Paris, to join President Jacques Chirac in criticizing U.S. proposals to develop an anti-ballistic missile defense system.

"He is a strong leader, a patriotic leader. I don't think that's a bad thing," said Blair. "I know people say there is a risk in being so close with Russia and President Putin, but I think this is something that is well worth doing." "The important thing for Britain is stability in Russia. President Putin is someone who is trying not just to do his best for Russia, but in respect of Russia and its relations with the outside world," Blair added, and made a point of describing the Russian leader as 'my friend'.

But on the eve of the Blair visit, (his fifth meeting with the Russian leader this year), President Putin summoned a conference of his senior generals and admirals in Moscow, and declared: "No one will be allowed to resolve issues with Russia from a position of force." President Putin also announced a re-organization of the Russian arms exports system, with the goal of matching the United States as the biggest arms exporter. Russia currently holds fourth place, after the U.S., Britain and France. And when Israel bowed to U.S. pressure last month and blocked the sale to China of an advanced airborne early-warning system (AWACS), Russia stepped into the gap.

Then Russian Foreign Minister Igor Ivanov curtly informed the U.S. State Department that Moscow felt no longer bound by the secret 1995 deal to end arms shipments to Iran this year. News of the deal, reached between Vice President Al Gore and then-Russian Premier Viktor Chernomyrdin, embarrassed Gore in the last weeks of the U.S. presidential election campaign.

Arms sales play a key role in Putin's strategy to rebuild Russia's international influence. In August, he hosted Libyan foreign minister Abdel Rahman Shelgan for a Kremlin signing ceremony on a $500 millions arms deal under which Russia would modernize Libya's obsolescent armed forces.

And that came a week after hosting Iraqi foreign minister Tariq Aziz, who was also looking for Russian help in rebuilding the Iraqi military.

For a country seen as an economic basket case when it defaulted on its international debts in 1998, Russia is suddenly looking like a major player in world affairs again.

Putin himself, despite international revulsion at the continued brutality of the war in Chechnya, is a part of the reason. He came to power pledging to restore international respect for Russia as a great power, and seems to be making real progress.

He has had two strokes of luck. The first, was the sharp rise in the oil price, which has dramatically restored Russian finances. Energy is Russia's biggest export, and the rise over the last year from $12 a barrel to over $30 a barrel has put a trade surplus of $20 billion into the Kremlin's coffers.

The second stroke of luck was that the world's arms trade also revived, just as Russia began offering a new generation of weapons from its arsenals. India has signed a $700 million deal for Russia's new T-90 battle tank. Turkey, although a NATO ally, is negotiating a $2 billion deal to buy 150 of the new 'Black Shark' combat helicopters.

China remains Russia's biggest market. Beijing spent over $6 billion in 1991-1997, buying Russian weapons, and two months ago reached agreement to pay another $2 billion to buy 40 of Russia's latest SU-30 fighter jets in an effort to gain parity with Taiwan's F-15s. A second Russian Sovremenny-class destroyer is now being fitted out for China, at $800 million each.

The assertive "new Russia" looks like being a challenge for the next U.S. president. The sale of the AWACS system to China, along with the sale of the SU-30 fighters and four Kilo-class submarines, could shift the balance of power in the Taiwan Straits.

[JR: President Putin has been very busy and has achieved great success in restoring Russia as a power in world affairs. He has won the respect of Europe, the Middle East and China. The Russian economy is showing gains and life is improving—though slowly for the Russian people, all since he came into power in March. The Sun hasn't set on Russia as a world power; in fact, it seems to be revitalized, though it may be dimming for the U.S.]

SEPARATION WOULD REDUCE ISRAELI-PALESTINIAN CONFLICT

Georgie Anne Geyer, Chicago Tribune, 11/24/00

WASHINGTON—Perhaps most Americans during these past two bizarre weeks believe that Florida really is the vortex of the world, but the undeniable fact remains that there are other places and causes beyond the House of Chads.

We have hardly heard anything about the Middle East recently. Yet profound changes are taking place in the now 2-month-old crisis that will shape the area for decades to come.

Israel, out of a new philosophy but also out of a gathering desperation over the rising violence, is slipping further toward the idea of a "separation" of the two peoples. Prime Minister Ehud Barak has hesitantly put forward the idea ever since he came into office two years ago, but now it is taking hold in Israeli minds.

Speaking of the, until now, prevalent idea that the Israeli people and the Palestinian people should be integrated, one of Hebrew University's most respected political scientists discussed with me the failure of this seminal idea during his stay at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace here.

"I had thought that the Oslo Agreement created the context for an agreement," professor Shlomo Avineri told me, "but it is now turning out that the development of the two peoples is too uneven. The agreement was being compared to relations between France and Germany after World War II—but the European union was possible because both countries are at the same level of development. The economic integration we have with the Palestinians is more like France and the Ivory Coast. It creates only resentment and dependency.

"There is a logic in the situation that will lead toward separating," he said. "It is also the only program that will have political support from both hawkish and liberal elements. We don't owe the Palestinians a living; we owe them respect and the recognition of a Palestinian state. The idea that we owe them a living is the flip side of occupation."

On the Palestinian side, too, shifts in perception, in intention and even in description of the conflict have occurred over these last eight crucial weeks. Even the words have changed.

Today, one hears from the Palestinians that this is "the final battle", and that the conflict is being "Lebanonized" toward low-level and ongoing guerrilla warfare. For the Israelis, it is the beginning of a "long and complex battle", or "less an uprising than a war of attrition".

But the underlying situation among the Palestinians is also more complex than at first it seems. For there is a kind of slow-motion breakdown of the security structures on the West Bank and Gaza. The power of Palestinian President Yasser Arafat (he was present at the fighting only seven of the first nine days) is being challenged by the activist leadership of the younger militia leaders who have dominated the conflict physically and mentally.

The overall Arab side, meanwhile, has been characterized by a very careful response of the constituted Arab governments, whether Egypt, Jordan, Kuwait or Oman, to the new but as yet unconsolidated anger on the pro-Palestinian "Arab street".

Despite early Israeli and American fears, for instance, that moderate Arab governments would be forced by the street sentiment to act strongly against Israel, those leaders have cautiously avoided past mistakes. They have also cleverly used and nurtured pro-Palestinian activism as the only activism permitted in virtually all of the Arab countries.

On the other hand, this Palestinian/Israeli conflict is making unparalleled waves across the Arab world. For the first time, due to the new and far more independent Al Jazeera satellite television station in the Persian Gulf state of Qatar, Arabs across the region are seeing firsthand seething coverage of the fighting. And in another ominous development, elitist Arab intellectuals are using trips to Baghdad, where Saddam Hussein now poses as Saladin, the Arab warrior who defeated the Crusaders, to express their rage against Israel.

The least recognized development is the extent to which the tenets of U.S. policy toward the conflict—which have been essentially to meld the two peoples together through active cooperation and collective bargaining—lie in tatters. The once-promising "security cooperation" between Israeli and Palestinian forces, midwived by the CIA, has collapsed. The naive idea that progress was somehow being made so long as the two sides were "speaking" is laid bare.

U.S. "development aid", paired with the misconception that almost any economic development would gradually but automatically drain away the humiliation of occupation, has actually enhanced that pain. The Palestinians have seen their incomes and power fall in the past seven years, largely because of constant Israeli security closures of the borders, and they increasingly blame America for their thwarted hopes.

The idea of a separation of the two peoples is not only the best, but very likely the only, potential solution. Separation has many pitfalls, but it would at one stroke remove the resentment and dependency in the "colonial" Israeli-Palestinian relationship. The Palestinians would be on their own: to make their own mistakes and hold their own leaders accountable.

Then the two peoples could perhaps learn how to live at least next to each other.

[JR: When two people are fighting over the same thing—and one is more powerful than the other—the fair solution would be to separate them and divide equally, that which is theirs. The problem is that one side needs the sovereignty as a nation and both housing and allowance for economic development, while the other side already has all that. Will a fair separation promote the trust, respect and the spirit of cooperation that is vital for both sides to co-exist? I believe it will. Otherwise, whose destiny is it to win all—and whose is it to lose all? Do the political "think tank" scientist have a solution to that problem?]

EGYPT WARNS U.S. OF REGIONAL WAR IF VIOLENCE CONTINUES

Special to World Tribune.com,
MIDDLE EAST NEWSLINE, 11/24/00

CAIRO—Egypt has warned the United States of an Arab war against Israel if the violence continues in the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

The warning was relayed by Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak to U.S. Defense Secretary William Cohen during their meeting in Cairo on Wednesday, said Arab diplomatic sources. The sources said Mubarak said the Arabs cannot stand by while the Palestinians are being attacked by Israel.

Mubarak was quoted as telling Cohen that Egypt would not return its ambassador to Israel until the violence ended against the Palestinians. Cohen urged Mubarak to reverse his decision to recall ambassador Mohammed Bassiouny, who returned to Egypt on Wednesday.

The Egyptian president also gave Cohen a letter to Barak. The letter said the first priority for Israel is to end the violence, a reference to Barak's opposition to the work of an international committee of enquiry to investigate the eight-week-old mini-war.

Mubarak's terms were issued as Palestinian Authority Chairman Yasser Arafat arrived in Cairo. Arafat urged Mubarak to obtain funding for Palestinians on the eve of Thursday's meeting of Arab finance ministers.

Arab League finance ministers were scheduled to be addressed by Arafat. Last month, Arab leaders pledged to grant the Palestinians $1 billion in aid.

But Gulf countries, particularly Kuwait, have opposed a transfer of funds to Arafat. Instead, they proposed that the funding be sent directly to the Palestinians.

The finance ministers are expected to discuss a mechanism for the funding.

[JR: Cohen continues his jaunts around the globe giving orders that everyone with any sense would ignore. He would have improved relations by staying home and eating a Thanksgiving dinner like the rest of us. In his case he should eat crow instead of turkey... the bird that is, not to be confused with the country.]

GROWING FIGURE
COULD TROUBLE NEXT PRESIDENT

By William Neikirk, Chicago Tribune, 11/22/00

U.S. TRADE SHORTFALL SOARS

WASHINGTON—The winner of the presidential contest will inherit a strong economy, a strong dollar—and a strong American appetite for foreign goods that could undermine the nation's record-breaking prosperity.

Neither Texas Gov. George W. Bush nor Vice President Al Gore spent much time debating the nation's stratospheric trade deficit during their hard-fought campaign. Yet it could prove to be the most troubling economic statistic of all for the victor.

The government reported Tuesday that in September, Americans bought a record $34.26 billion more in goods from abroad than they sold. With China alone, the U.S. racked up an $8.72 billion trade deficit, the worst ever with a single country.

With low unemployment and strong purchasing power, the United States is serving as the locomotive for a less-robust global economy relying on our vast market for material goods.

But economists said the trade deficit could turn out to be the soft underbelly of a fat economy. That's because foreign countries, led by Japan, are fueling this American burst of foreign purchases by willingly lending the U.S. plenty of money to help pay for the goods.

Japan, for example, finds its economy stuck in the doldrums. With its interest rates on 10-year bonds at only 1.77 percent, Japanese investors find the U.S. rate of return of 5.6 percent much more attractive. So their money pours into American investments, such as Treasury bonds, keeping interest rates down and spurring more purchases of foreign goods and stock market investments.

As a result, the U.S. may be living not only on borrowed money, but also on borrowed time.

"This cannot go on forever," said David Wyss, chief economist at Standard & Poor's. "In the long run you cannot borrow $400 billion a year from abroad. It may not be a problem for the next two years, but it is probably a problem in the next five years. We're basically selling off the country to foreigners."

In the worst scenario, he said, other countries would lose confidence in the U.S. economy and begin to put their funds elsewhere, such as in Europe or Asia. The dollar would likely plunge, and so would the stock market. Inflation would rise as the dollar weakens, forcing up interest rates. And higher borrowing costs could cause a sharper economic slowdown or a recession, Wyss said.

John Veitch, economics professor at the University of San Francisco, said the Federal Reserve Board and the treasury secretary in a new administration will face a major challenge in ensuring that the trade deficit is reduced gradually so that it does not cause an economic disruption from spikes in inflation and interest rates.

But there are no guarantees, he said. Foreign investors could become skittish by any number of factors and pull back on investments in the U.S. Along with a recently volatile stock market, the bitter election contest between Bush and Gore could make them nervous, he said. "The election could tell them we will not have a smooth political system for the next four years," Veitch added.

Still, the fact that the U.S. is the last remaining superpower bolsters its attractiveness as a safe haven for investors. Its highly diverse economy and sophisticated financial markets, in which investments can be made efficiently and with full disclosure, also strengthen confidence among investors abroad.

Last week, the U.S. Trade Deficit Commission reported that "large and growing trade deficits are neither desirable nor likely sustainable."

The chairman of the congressionally created panel, Murray Weidenbaum, economics professor at Washington University in St. Louis, said there was no way to determine how long the trend of rising deficits would continue "or whether it will end in a soft or a hard landing."

Weidenbaum, a Republican who was a key economic adviser to President Ronald Reagan, said America is consuming more than it produces and that steps need to be taken to encourage more individual savings. To lower the deficit, Democrats on the panel stressed lowering trade barriers to U.S. goods, particularly in Japan and China.

Gore and Bush both favor opening markets to American goods and have said that if a financial crisis happens they will consult the Federal Reserve Board and the Treasury secretary.

Wyss said that the deficit can be reduced in a safer way if Asian and European economies begin to grow at a faster rate. In this way, the rate of the dollar likely would fall more gradually. Foreign countries would invest more in their own economies rather than the U.S. But there would be a payoff for America, too: There would be a stronger market for U.S. exports.

While China ran a $61.10 billion trade surplus with the U.S. from January to September, China ran a parallel trade deficit with Japan, Wyss pointed out. He said Japanese companies are essentially using China as a platform for making cheaply produced exports destined for the U.S.

This triangular-style trade has yet to revive the stalled Japanese economy, he said, with the result that Japan seeks out the greater returns of America's financial markets for the extra capital that it is amassing. "Japan is the main source of liquidity," Wyss said.

As the money keeps flowing in, American consumers keep buying to keep the economy rising, and the jobless rate keeps falling.

In the trade deficit report, the Commerce Department said imports climbed to a record $126.62 billion in September, with large increases in imports of computer equipment, aircraft, telecommunications equipment, automobiles, clothing and televisions leading the way. The U.S. foreign oil bill rose 4.2 percent, to $10.73 billion.

Exports fell slightly from August, to $92.36 billion, largely because of drops in the sales of autos, auto parts and agricultural products. The U.S. trade deficit also hit records with Canada, at $4.70 billion, and Mexico, at $2.66 billion.

[JR: Our so-called appetite for cheap foreign goods has been used against us to increase our dependency on foreign trade to fulfill our daily needs. Our manufacturing base has been deliberately dismantled to weaken us and to increase our debt to foreign lenders and investors. We own nothing and owe everything. Others rule us from within and we are a country in name only.]

GLOBAL GOVERNANCE ERUPTS
AT THE HAGUE

By Henry Lamb, WorldNetDaily.com, 11/23/00

THE HAGUE—Jacques Chirac, president of France, told the delegates negotiating the Kyoto Protocol in The Hague, that the Protocol is an important step toward global governance. Most of the 8,000 delegates and observers enthusiastically embrace the idea of a United Nations agency mandating energy policy for 38 developed nations. There are a few notable exceptions.

The U.S. congressional delegation was on hand to hear the French president link the Protocol to the UN's global governance agenda. In private conversations after the day's business was concluded, Sen. Chuck Hagel had sharp words of disapproval of attempts to transform the UN into a world government.

The Protocol, as conceived, though not yet fully negotiated, would give the UN body a double-whammy club to beat up on 38 developed nations. First, by setting emissions targets, the UN body would be able to effectively dictate the fossil fuel energy that a developed nation might use. Second, the UN would have the authority to "enforce" compliance, using procedures, sanctions and penalties that have not yet been defined.

Americans would not likely stand for an international law that openly gives the UN the power to set energy-use limits. So instead of attacking the input end of the energy pipe, the politically astute UN machinery is attacking the output end of the energy pipe. "Controlling emissions" is said to be the goal, and is presented as necessary to save the planet. Controlling energy use is the actual goal, and is necessary for the redistribution of wealth, with little or no impact on the planet.

The penalty for non-compliance has presented a particularly thorny problem, because most of the 38 developed nations will be unable to meet their agreed targets. This means that most of the affected nations will have to pay the costs—whatever they are—once the decision is taken. Consequently, compliance negotiations go on behind closed doors, with periodic reports that "some progress has been made". These negotiations have been ongoing for three years—since the Kyoto Protocol was adopted in 1997.

Chirac's global governance announcement could be the straw that breaks the back of the entire Protocol. After eight days of intense negotiations, there has been little movement on three major issues that must be resolved: emissions trading, carbon sinks and penalties for non-compliance. Add to these unresolved issues the implications of global governance, and the entire process could easily unravel.

Perhaps this would be the best possible outcome of COP 6—admission by the delegates that the Protocol they pieced together in Kyoto is simply unworkable.

One of the many problems with this fatally flawed Protocol is that it attempts to do two things at once: 1) reduce carbon dioxide emissions in the atmosphere and 2) empower the United Nations to enforce those reductions. Either of these two objectives is a formidable undertaking. As the delegates have struggled over the last six years, it has become increasingly apparent that empowering the UN has become more important than reducing emissions.

Having heard Jacques Chirac say, not once, but twice, during his presentation, that global governance is the larger objective, the congressional delegations will have a new dimension to report to their colleagues when they return to Washington.

Regardless of the decisions that are taken—or not taken—during this two-week session, the delegates will find some way to save face. One scenario being discussed in the halls is the “Kyoto scenario”. This is a situation—as occurred in Kyoto—in which no agreement was reached until the last day, several hours after the scheduled adjournment. Delegates could again go into closed session late in the week, and stay in session until the last minute, and then simply announce that agreement has been reached on some of the important issues.

Credence was attached to this scenario when rumors spread through the halls that the U.S. would cave-in on up to 60 percent of the outstanding questions about carbon sinks. The European Union and the U.S. have been at odds on this issue since Kyoto. Environmental extremists have been lobbying heavily for the delegates to reject the U.S. position.

Adding to the uncertainty here is the uncertainty in the U.S. Presidential race. Some speculation has emerged that should George Bush be declared the winner, the U.S. delegation might withdraw resistance to all outstanding issues in order to advance the Protocol as far as possible before a new slate of delegates is appointed by a new administration.

Publicly, the U.S. delegation says that the present administration will be in place until Jan. 20, and the elections struggle has no effect on their negotiating positions. Traditionally, the rumors in the halls tend to be very accurate.

By the end of the week, the delegates will prove or disprove the rumors, and some kind of face-saving document will be applauded as progress. It will not likely repeat Jacques Chirac’s reference to global governance. But like a stone once thrown, his words cannot be recalled, and his words will have an impact wherever they land. His words will land in the U.S. Congress, and they will land across America.

Those skeptics who have been unwilling to believe that the UN is, indeed, contriving a world government need only to listen to the president of France.

[JR: I cannot comprehend the enthusiasm of the 8000 delegates to hand over the people’s freedom to the UN and enslave us under a global government. The sham in all this is to protect the environment with strict enforcement of controls, sanctions and penalties along with the redistribution of wealth. Will these controls also include the rationing of gasoline, natural gas, fuel oil, water and electricity? This plan is not to create order and unity but to place power in the hands of the very few. Worldwide power such as this should not be handed over to anyone—EVER! Name me one man, one nation, or one government entity on this globe that is worthy enough to be granted such awesome and supreme powers?]

5.3 MILLION CONTRACTED HIV IN 2000

By Elizabeth Olson, New York Times, 11/25/00

GROUP SAYS SUB-SAHARAN AFRICA HARDEST-HIT REGION

GENEVA—An estimated 5.3 million people, including 600,000 children under age 15, were infected with HIV/AIDS this year, the World Health Organization said Friday. This is the first year that the number of new infections in sub-Saharan Africa appeared to have stabilized, but that was offset by increases in morbidity—the rate the disease was contracted—and mortality in the same region during 2000.

An estimated 3.8 million people in the region were newly infected with HIV this year, as opposed to a total of 4 million there during 1999. The region is home to about one-tenth of the world’s population but remains the world’s hardest-hit. Not only did it account for 72 percent of new HIV infections last year, but the region also had 70 percent of the people living with HIV/AIDS and 80 percent of the AIDS deaths in the past year, WHO’s Weekly Epidemiological Record said.

Worldwide, a total of 36.1 million adults and children are estimated to be living with HIV/AIDS. The adults are split almost equally between men and women, with an estimated 18.2 million men age 15 to 49 living with the disease, the UN health agency said. It said the decline in AIDS cases in industrialized countries is being offset by the increases in reports from developing countries, particularly sub-Saharan Africa.

In the two decades since the pandemic disease was recognized, an estimated 21.8 million adults and children have died from the disease. Of those, an estimated 3 million died this year. The number of women dying has continued to increase, accounting for an estimated 52 percent of such adult deaths this year, WHO said.

The disease continues to claim new victims in all parts of the world, including industrialized countries, the report said. Thousands of people continue to become infected in North America, Western Europe, Australia and New Zealand, although the availability of retroviral therapy continues to slow progression of HIV to full-blown AIDS and death, the agency said.

Overall, the number of new HIV infections in these countries “has remained relatively constant over the past few years,” it said.

WHO statistics showed that the United States and Canada had an estimated 920,000 people living with HIV/AIDS, with approximately 45,000 new cases this year.

An additional 540,000 victims live in Western Europe, which had about 30,000 new infections in 2000. Australia and New Zealand have an estimated 15,000 people infected with the disease, and about 500 new infections this year, the report added.

People who injected drugs were responsible for most of the new infections in Eastern Europe and Central Asia, the report said.

The areas suffered some of “the sharpest increases in HIV infections”, with an estimated 250,000 people newly infected this year, leading to a 60 percent rise in the regional total of people living with HIV/AIDS to 700,000, according to the agency.

Asia and the Pacific countries are second only to sub-Saharan Africa in the number of children and adults, estimated at 6.4 million, living with HIV/AIDS.

[JR: The WHO is great at providing these statistics but not the cure. The reports of new AIDS cases in Africa are astounding. Last year (1999) 4 million Africans were infected with HIV and so far this year 3.8 million. This is 70% of the cases worldwide. The death toll for the past 20 years is almost 22 million. The UN/WHO provides these facts every year and yet there is no outrage or real concern about the AIDS genocide in Africa. Most developed counties provide some aid but a great deal more lip service. The UN is a master at labeling, so maybe if we labeled this a Holocaust, we might get the attention of the right people?]

LAWYER IN LINE AS PERU’S NEXT CHIEF

By Patrice M. Jones, Chicago Tribune, 11/22/00

LIMA, PERU—Congress passed a motion late Tuesday rejecting President Alberto Fujimori’s resignation and declaring him morally unfit for office, clearing the way for Valentin Paniagua, a reserved, bespectacled constitutional lawyer, to become Peru’s interim president on Wednesday.

The motion removed Fujimori as head of state, the first such censure in Peruvian history.

The congressional vote was 62-9 as almost 30 members allied with the former president stormed out of the chamber.

The selection of Paniagua, a moderate politician named president of Congress last week, came as a relief not only to Peru but to its Andean neighbors as well. Peru’s spiraling political crisis had threatened to destabilize the region.

On Tuesday, Congress also voted, 103-3, to accept the resignation of Fujimori’s first vice president, Francisco Tudela. That act, along with the Monday resignation of Fujimori’s second vice president, Ricardo Marquez, removed the last impediments to Paniagua, next in the line of succession, taking over as interim chief.

Paniagua, 64, was on the verge of leadership only a day after Fujimori unexpectedly resigned while on a diplomatic trip in Japan. Paniagua, a former education and justice minister, had been serving as secretary-general of the centrist Popular Action Party. He is expected to lead South America’s third-largest nation until early elections scheduled for April 8th and an official hand-over of power planned for July.

A native of Cuzco, the ancient Incan capital, Paniagua speaks Spanish and Quechua, an Indian language, as well as French and English. He began his political career in 1963 by winning election to Congress, becoming, at age 26, the youngest member of the legislature. He is married and has four children.

But perhaps his most important credential is that he was not aligned with Fujimori’s besieged government nor did he show ambitions, like a growing list of contenders, to run for president in the next election. Viewed as a consensus builder, it is hoped that Paniagua will bring calm to a nation gored by crisis in recent months.

“I think I have all the confidence that he has all the abilities, the skills and the humility to undertake this extraordinarily difficult process,” said Francisco Sagasti, a Lima political analyst, echoing the sentiments of a wide spectrum of political leaders and observers Tuesday.

Paniagua first locked horns with Fujimori’s regime in 1997 when he defended three constitutional court judges sacked for opposing what they viewed as Fujimori’s unconstitutional bid for a third term as president.

The idea of a Paniagua interim presidency drew multipartisan support by many who said an untainted politician was needed so that clean elections could take place. Fujimori won his third term last May amid vote fraud allegations.

The move came at the end of a bitter political crisis sparked two months ago by Fujimori’s ex-intelligence chief Vladimiro Montesinos—whereabouts unknown—who was caught on videotape apparently bribing an opposition congressman to support Fujimori.

Fujimori initially tried to distance himself from Montesinos, firing him and saying he would call early elections. But the discovery of some $60 million found tucked in foreign bank accounts sealed the fates of Fujimori and Montesinos, targets of an investigation.

Fujimori's ministers resigned en masse after his resignation, meaning Paniagua, as one of his first acts, will have to appoint a Cabinet, likely to be from across the political spectrum.

The government of the man whose surname means bread and water, faces formidable tasks. One will be keeping economic policy on track. Another will be shepherding the reform of democracy, including establishing an independent judiciary and repairing the electoral process.

Investors also will be watching to see who will be the economic chief. Peru is gearing up for final approval of the 2001 budget and an agreement with the International Monetary Fund [There you have it!] on key macroeconomic goals for 2001.

Paniagua's appointment also signals the start of the April election battle fought across this country of 25 million people. A key constituency will be Peru's poor, a huge voting block and a linchpin in the past election.

While Alejandro Toledo, the main opposition candidate who ran against Fujimori earlier in the year, is leading in the polls, his advantage over his closest rivals is uncomfortably slight.

Analysts say the fragmented electorate could forecast quite a nasty battle.

"There is a large empty space for a middle-leaning candidate among voters that no one has filled yet," added Sagasti.

Among those who may run for office is Toledo lawmaker Fernando Olivera who released the Montesinos videotape, and Jorge Santistevan, Peru's human-rights ombudsman.

Moving vans were parked Tuesday outside Government Palace as Fujimori's daughter reportedly packed family belongings. In Tokyo, Fujimori emerged from his hotel room to tell reporters he would remain "for a long time" in his ancestral homeland.

[JR: Peru's new interim President Paniagua has his work cut out for him in starting up a new Cabinet, court system and an honest electoral process. The shadow of the IMF looms over Peru's economic future—and that's not promising for the newly constructed government. Fujimori's dash to Japan proves his true ancestry.]

PERU'S JAPAN ENVOY,
FUJIMORI'S BROTHER-IN-LAW, RESIGNS

BERNAMA, 11/23/00

LIMA (Oana-Kyodo)—The Peruvian ambassador to Japan Victor Aritomi Shinto has relinquished his post in Tokyo after his brother-in-law Alberto Fujimori resigned his presidency, Peruvian newspaper Gestion reported today.

Shinto has served as the Peruvian envoy to Japan since February 1991, seven months after Fujimori assumed office.

Meanwhile, an opposition newspaper in Lima yesterday accused Fujimori of duping the nation for the past 10 years by hiding his alleged Japanese citizenship.

The Liberacion printed a copy of Fujimori's birth registry in Japanese allegedly filed with the Japanese consulate in Lima by Fujimori's late father, who immigrated to Peru from Kumamoto Prefecture in southern Japan.

The register, which the Japanese government uses to document the birth, death and marriage of Japanese nationals in Peru, appears to be a copy of the original sent to the Japanese Foreign Ministry.

It states that a boy named "Kenya" was born to Naoichi Fujimori of Kawachimura—the old name for Kumamoto City in Kumamoto Prefecture. The former president's full name is Alberto Kenya Fujimori.

Peru's constitution stipulates that to hold the office of the presidency, one must be born in Peru and hold Peruvian nationality.

Liberacion front-paged the story, saying "(President Fujimori) was Japanese", "Impostor Exposed", "Peru Swindled For 10 Years", and charged that the former president was a "subject of the Japanese Empire and not a legitimate Peruvian president".

The document printed by the newspaper was first published by the Peruvian Internet news agency ImediaPeru.com.

Fujimori, who submitted his resignation as president from Tokyo on Monday, is currently staying in Japan.

Peruvian newspapers said Fujimori's 25-year-old daughter, Keiko Sofia, moved to the Lima home of Fujimori's sister Juana on Tuesday and Fujimori's 87-year-old mother Mutsue went to Juana's home to visit Keiko.

Keiko told the local press that she has no intention of leaving Peru.

[JR: Funny how things are revealed sooner or later, after-the-fact. Why weren't any of the opposition parties of Peru curious enough to look into Fujimori's origin of birth just in case it could be used as an issue? Is it possible that this curiosity might have been bought-off by Uncle Sam?]

BOLIVIA: BECHTEL CORPORATION
AT THE ROOT OF CIVIL UNREST

By Jim Shultz of the Democracy Center,
Pacific News Service, 4/12/00

Bolivia, that landlocked country high in the Andes, which few in the U.S. ever think about, has been in the news. A week of enormous, often violent, civil uprisings here left at least seven people dead, more than a hundred others injured and flashed pictures of the nation abroad that made government leaders here very nervous for their and the nation's foreign image. Quick to put blame in the easiest place possible, government spokesman Ronald MacLean told the few international reporters here Monday, "I want to denounce the subversive attitude absolutely politically financed by narcotraffickers."

For reporters and editors who have never been here it may be an easy line to swallow, but it would take about two minutes on the ground to figure out how big a lie the Bolivian government seeks to spin. The issue in the past week's uprisings had nothing to do with drugs, it was about water. The culprits weren't narcotraffickers hiding out in the jungle but the well-tailored executives of the Bechtel Corporation sitting smugly in their downtown San Francisco offices a hemisphere away.

The roots of the uprisings here began last year when, under heavy pressure from the World Bank, the Bolivian government sold off Cochabamba's public water system to a Bechtel subsidiary, "Agua del Tunari". The details of the deal are secret, with the company claiming the numbers are confidential "intellectual property". What is very clear, however, is that Bechtel's people here were intent on getting as much as they could as fast as they could out of the people's pockets in South America's poorest country. Within weeks of hoisting their new corporate logo over local water facilities the Bechtel subsidiary hit local water users with rate hikes of double and more. Families earning a minimum wage of less than $100 per month were told to fork over $20 and more, or have the tap shut off.

Tanya Paredes, a mother of five who supports her family as a clothes-knitter was hit with an increase of $15 per month. For Bechtel's CEO, Riley Bechtel, that's snack money at Fisherman's Wharf. For Paredes it's her family's food budget for a week and a half.

It should have come as no surprise to Riley Bechtel or the Bolivian government that increases like these would send people into the streets, which it did. In January Cochabambinos shut down their city for four straight days with general strikes and transportation stoppages. The Bolivian government promised to force rates down, seeking to end the protests, promises broken within a few weeks. When thousands tried to march peacefully here on February 4th, President Hugo Banzer (Bolivia's Pinochet-style dictator for most of the 1970s) returned to his old ways, calling out the police and hammering people with two days of tear gas that left 175 injured and two youths blinded.

After months of promises made and broken by the government and Bechtel's company, the people of Cochabamba made it clear they'd had enough. In a popular survey of more than 60,000 residents last month, 90% said it was time for Mr. Bechtel's subsidiary to go and return the water system to public control. When residents here staged a final city shutdown starting last Tuesday, the Bolivian government came to the corporation's rescue, saying the company must not leave.

When the protest, overwhelmingly supported by people here, refused to back down after four days the Bolivian government declared a "state of siege" arresting protest leaders from their beds in the dark of night, shutting radio stations down in mid-sentence, and sending soldiers into the street with live bullets. On Saturday afternoon when 17-year-old Victor Hugo Daza was killed by a shot through his face it had finally come to the ultimate penalty for challenging Bechtel's control of local water—death. As protest leader Oscar Olivera said in a statement afterwards, "The blood spilled in Cochabamba carries the fingerprints of Bechtel [and the World Bank]."

It is true that the strength and international attention of Cochabamba's water protests did embolden, and become linked with, other protests around the country, marches by people in the countryside over a new law taking away control of rural water systems, a police strike in the capital city of La Paz, complaints about unfinished highways in other areas of the country. But when people marched 70 miles on foot from small towns to join the protest, when women came door to door in my neighborhood gathering food donations to cook and take to the people at the conflict's center, narcotrafficking had about as much to do with it as Elian and Fidel.

In the middle of the protest, the mayor of a small town outside of the city explained to me, "This is a struggle for justice, and for the removal of an international business that, even before offering us more water, has begun to charge us prices that are outrageously high." Late Monday it appeared that Bolivians had gotten their way, as government officials released a letter it had sent to company executives, accusing them of fleeing the country and, therefore, nullifying the contract they signed last year.

Tuesday morning Bechtel released a statement of its own. Like the Banzer government, Bechtel sought to pin the blame on anything but themselves. "We are also dismayed by the fact that much of the blame is falsely centered on the government's plan to raise water rates in Cochabamba," said the $12 billion-per-year corporation, "when, in fact, a number of other water, social and political issues are the root causes of this civil unrest." Bolivians may be mad about a lot of things, but it was Bechtel's greed and Bechtel's price hikes that was the centerpiece of the protests this past week, and the damage and death left behind. If Riley Bechtel has any doubt about that he can come here. There are about 100,000 angry Bolivian mothers who would love nothing better than to steer him straight.

[JR: The events in this article are today's happenings even though it is dated April 12th. The corrupt officials in Bolivia allowed the WB (in a sweetheart deal) to sell its sovereign water rights to a private company. This agreement subverted the rights of the Bolivian people and allowed them to be exploited by both Bechtel and their own government. The people of Bolivia won this case, but when countries are forced to deal with the WB and/or the IMF, these kinds of agreements will continue worldwide unless more countries openly object.]

12 REASONS TO BUY GOLD NOW!

gold-eagle.com (Editorial), 11/30/00

1. Gold is Undervalued. Right now, the price of gold is trading at $266 per ounce. The following figures put the current price of gold in historical perspective:

From 1979 to 1999, the Average Annual Low for the price of gold was $339 per ounce—$73 and nearly 27% higher than it is today.

From 1979 to 1999, the Average Annual price of gold was $386 per ounce—$120 and nearly 45% higher than it is today.

From 1979 to 1999, the Average Annual High for the price of gold was $455 per ounce—$189 and more than 71% higher than it is today.

In 15 out of the last 20 years, gold exceeded $400 per ounce.

The price of gold is actually trading at 1/3 of its all-time high.

2. Reversion to the Mean. Since 1970, gold has predominantly moved in the opposite direction of stocks. History also shows that the prices of both stocks and gold tend to revert to the mean over the long term. A crucial question then arises. When will equities move down to their mean, and when will gold move up? How much would gold have to rise to get to the mean? From 1979 to 1999, the average annual price of gold was $386 per ounce. At the current price, gold would have to rise nearly 42% just to get back to that level.

3. Uncertainty in the Stock Market. Stock markets from New York to Tokyo and back have performed dismally for months. The NASDAQ is in an all-out bear market, yet there are still lingering questions about high stock valuations, indicating the market may have further to fall. Meanwhile, the corrective phase in the Dow and the S&P 500 could evolve into a bear market as well. Should the bear market intensify, more and more investors will look for alternative assets, such as gold. Gold's correlation with stocks has historically ranged from nil to negative, therefore, it provides very effective diversification of a stock portfolio.

4. Fear of Inflation. The Fed is clearly concerned about inflation and the markets will eventually come around to the same point of view. Unemployment is at a 30-year low and the labor market is tight as a drum. Oil prices have tripled over the past 18 months. Almost every commodity index has been on the rise. The combination of a tight labor market and rising raw materials prices has not occurred since the 1970s. As inflation begins to build, stocks and bonds will suffer, while traditional inflation hedges, such as gold, will appreciate in value.

5. Demand Fundamentals. Demand for gold continues at near-record highs around the world. The only aspect of gold demand that is not sky-high is investment demand. When macroeconomic conditions bring investors back to gold, they will be greeted by a very tight market.

6. Supply Fundamentals. The physical gold market is actually quite tight. For an entire decade, demand for gold has outpaced new supplies. The low gold prices of the past few years have only contributed to the situation as the price of an ounce of gold has fallen below the cost to produce that ounce of gold in many parts of the world. As a result, thousands of miners have been laid off, particularly in South Africa, and numerous mines have been closed. Moreover, exploration has ground to a halt. Less exploration and lower future production, coupled with curtailed central bank sales, will make a tight market even tighter down the road.

7. Rising Commodity Prices. Commodity prices have been on the rise for months, but gold has not kept pace. Base metals, raw materials and energy prices are all up. Meanwhile, gold prices have been lagging. History has shown that a wide disparity between commodity prices and gold does not persist for long. The price of oil has tripled over the past year and a half. In the final analysis, a significant, sustained rise in oil prices is likely to exert an upward pull on gold prices. An oil price rise also tends to increase inflation. The two major upward moves in the price of oil in the 1970s were accompanied by increases in the price of gold.

8. The Best News for the Dollar is Behind Us. For some time now, the price of gold has languished under the weight of a strong U.S. dollar. Because the dollar is the world's reserve currency and gold is priced in dollars, a strong dollar tends to depress the price of gold. It also attracts investors to U.S. stocks and bonds, particularly Treasuries. With our huge trade deficit, growing oil imports, and newly volatile stock market, the dollar could start losing ground. Should the dollar's decline be sustained, gold will benefit on two fronts. First, because gold is priced in dollars, as the value of the dollar declines, the price of gold will tend to increase. Second, as the value of the dollar declines, foreign investment in U.S. stocks and bonds will decline, adding to the negative momentum in those markets. This will indirectly boost investment demand for gold.

9. Rising Interest Rates. There is an old saying in the investment world: "Don't fight the Fed." Statements coming out of the Fed seem to indicate that, when election season ends, we can expect another round of interest-rate hikes. This will create a climate in which stocks and bonds simply cannot thrive. History has shown that rising interest rates often coincide with rising gold prices.

10. World Tensions. The recent outbreak of violence between the Israelis and the Palestinians and the tragic attack of the USS Cole served as a wake-up call to many Americans that the world is a dangerous place. These two events also touched off volatility on Wall Street and a short, sharp spike in gold prices. Unfortunately, these two incidents are likely only a small taste of what is to come. To many Americans, it appears that trouble spots have been appearing overnight. Actually, there are a host of potential hot spots and enemies that could cause trouble for the financial markets over the next several years: Iran, Iraq, China-Taiwan, North Korea, Colombia, Libya, India-Pakistan, and Israel just to name a few.

11. America's Mushrooming Trade Deficit. Overlooked in all of the campaign rhetoric about prosperity and easy living, was America's serious and troubling trade deficit. Our trade deficit is approaching unsustainable levels and no one knows for sure what the effects might be. This deficit could potentially lead to a protectionist backlash, foreign dumping of U.S. Treasury Bonds and other U.S. securities or, at the very least, a sharp decline in the dollar. Gold would perform as a hedge against any of these three scenarios.

12. America's Growing Private Debt. While politicians in Washington brag about the brightening federal debt picture, America's consumer debt is reaching all-time highs—perhaps unsustainable highs that could wreck the "Goldilocks" economy. Revolving (credit card) debt is at an all-time high. Home equity is actually down, despite the rise in home ownership. Bankruptcies are being filed at a record pace. Some 35% of all money in 401(k) plans has been borrowed against. All of this debt could spell trouble for the stock market down the road.—Blanchard Economic Research, <http://www.blanchardonline.com>

ENRILE PROPOSES "WINNER-TAKE-ALL" IMPEACHMENT TRIAL BY SENATORS

By Perseus Echeminada, philstar.com, 12/4/00

Sen. Juan Ponce Enrile proposed yesterday what he described as a "winner-take-all" formula in the trial of the impeachment case against President Estrada.

He explained that the scheme involved the raffling off of a particular article of impeachment that will be heard and decided by the Senate.

"If the President is guilty on or innocent on one count, then the trial is over," Enrile said in his weekly radio program with Sen. Juan Flavio.

Enrile's proposal came on the heels of a suggestion by Makati City Rep. Joker Arroyo that the Senate conduct a piecemeal trial of the case, meaning the four articles of impeachment would be heard and decided one after the other.

The House of Representatives has impeached Mr. Estrada on charges of bribery, graft and corruption, culpable violation of the Constitution and betrayal of public trust.

Enrile claimed that a piecemeal trial would be unfair to the President because the Senate impeachment tribunal cannot isolate evidence and witnesses based on the specific charges.

He said that under his formula, the impeachment tribunal, in consultation with the 11-member prosecution panel from the House of Representatives, would pick which among the four charges will be heard and decided.

Enrile added that the so-called "winner-take-all" setup will speed up the impeachment process and enable the senators to finish the trial within one month as set by Senate President Aquilino Pimentel Jr.

At the same time, Enrile reminded the prosecution panel that it would be the senators who will control, direct and make the ultimate judgment on Mr. Estrada's fate.

"The Senate will decide if the evidence presented will be accepted or not," Enrile said.

The impeachment trial starts on Thursday, capping a two-month political and economic chaos sparked by charges that the President received more than P400 million in bribes from illegal gambling operators and P130 million in kickbacks from tobacco excise taxes intended for Ilocos Sur.

The accusations were hurled by former political ally and drinking buddy Ilocos Sur Gov. Luis "Chavit" Singson.

Playing a dual role of judge and jury, the 22 senators will hear the arguments and evaluate the evidence presented by the House prosecution team to substantiate the charges against the 63-year-old former movie actor.

Under the Constitution, the Senate will render justice to an impeached president by a two-thirds vote of the chamber.

Pimentel said their verdict "will show the world whether or not we are a working democracy, or that we only have the facade of democracy."

"Our duty is to find the President guilty if the evidence so warrants, (or) innocent if the evidence presented by the prosecution falls short of being clear and convincing as our respective consciences see it," he stressed.

Pimentel expressed confidence the trial will be completed within the month even as the prosecutors and defense lawyers feared it will drag on until early next year when the campaign period for the May 2001 elections officially starts, forcing a break in the hearings.

Iloilo City Rep. Raul Gonzalez, a member of the prosecution team, said lengthy questioning of the witnesses could prolong the trial until February.

Some senators, however, were banking on the expertise of Chief Justice Hilario Davide Jr., who will preside over the trial, to shorten the process by limiting the number of witnesses to be called and documents to be presented.

Davide has demonstrated his firmness when he junked a motion by defense lawyers to quash the impeachment case on technicalities last week.

"The country is bleeding. I think it is in the best interest of the prosecution, the defense and the country that this (trial) is ended as soon as possible," Sen. Raul Roco said.

Pampanga Rep. Oscar Rodriguez, a member of the prosecution panel, said the piecemeal formula would be messy. Of the four charges, the bribery and corruption charges appeared to be the strongest. "The witnesses in the case are directly involved," he said.

He pointed out that the testimony of former Securities and Exchange Commission chairman Perfecto Yasay Jr. would carry much weight.

"As for the charge of culpable violation of the Constitution, there is evidence of the President's instruction to transfer P100 million (from the Philippine Charity Sweepstakes Office to the office of First Lady Luisa Ejercito)."

He also discounted the possibility of a vacuum in the prosecution team even if three of his colleagues quit in view of the forthcoming polls.

Rodriguez said Arroyo, Leyte Rep. Sergio Apostol and Quezon Rep. Wigberto Tañada might run in the senatorial race next year, prompting them to resign from the prosecution panel.

Rodriguez said apart from other congressmen who were willing to act as prosecutors in the case, they also have prepared private lawyers who can help in the trial.

However, Tañada has reportedly given assurances that he might drop his senatorial plans and pursue instead, his task of prosecuting the President.

Rodriguez said he likewise cannot abandon his obligation even as his task could adversely affect his bid for re-election.—With reports from Ding Cervantes

AFP READY TO BACK ARROYO—MERCADO

By Ding Cervantes, philstar.com, 12/4/00

CLARK FIELD—Defense Secretary Orlando Mercado said here Saturday the Armed Forces will support Vice President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo in case President Estrada is convicted by the Senate in his impeachment trial and removed from office.

Speaking at a press conference after a meeting of the Presidential Commission on the Visiting Forces Agreement, Mercado said the officers and men of the AFP have assured him that they will remain loyal to the Constitution and whoever is commander-in-chief.

"I have met with the hierarchy of the services—the Air Force, the Navy, including the Marines," he said. "In the Navy, I talked not only with the officers, men and women, but also the rank-and-file, and my message was simple—respect for the Constitution which we are sworn to protect, and uphold the institution that is the Armed Forces of the Philippines."

Mercado said he believes the President will honor any decision of the Senate—whether the impeachment tribunal convicts or acquits him.

"The President himself has stated publicly several times that he would not remain a minute longer if the verdict of the Senate is contrary to his position," he said.

Mercado said soldiers were told "not to engage in partisan political activities and not (to allow themselves) to be used by opposition (members in their politicking).

"It is in the same way that I told them that they would not be used by their organization (in political activities)," he said. "I don't think we can get closer than that, but it is a message we have to repeat over and over again to assure our people that there is no discontent (in the military)."

PULSE ASIA SURVEY: MOST PINOYS WANT TRIAL FOR ESTRADA

By Norman Sison, philstar.com, 12/4/00

Despite the almost daily rallies against President Estrada, most Filipinos still prefer an impeachment trial rather than a forced resignation in removing Mr. Estrada, according to a latest public opinion poll.

In a random survey of 300 Metro Manila residents—conducted daily from Nov. 16 to Dec. 2 by Pulse Asia—at least 75 percent of the respondents agreed that "constitutional processes should be followed in trying to remove" the President.

On the other hand, about one out of 10 favored a resignation ahead of the impeachment trial, while about one out of 10 was undecided.

The survey, commissioned by and exclusive to The STAR, has a margin of error of plus or minus six percentage points. It is designed to determine how Filipinos view political issues concerning the nation as the jueteng scandal drags on.

From Nov. 16 to Dec. 2, the number of respondents favoring an impeachment trial remained basically steady, ranging from a low of 74 percent to a high of 78 percent.

As for the number of those opposed, it ranged from a low nine percent to a high of 14 percent during the same period. The number of undecided ranged from 10 percent to 14 percent.

In the same poll, those who believed that Mr. Estrada should not resign outnumbered those who believed that the President should be kicked out right away.

From Nov. 16 to Dec. 2, the number of Filipinos who said Mr. Estrada should not resign ranged from 42 percent to 50 percent, while the number of those who said he should immediately resign ranged from 31 percent to 39 percent.

However, this does not mean that all of those who favored an impeachment trial automatically support Mr. Estrada, said political analyst Felipe Miranda, president of Pulse Asia.

Many of the respondents interviewed for the survey were critical of the President, Miranda said, and they preferred an impeachment trial because they wanted Mr. Estrada to answer the impeachment charges against him.

A resignation ahead of or during the impeachment trial, they pointed out, would allow Mr. Estrada to step down from the presidency without disputing the charges, Miranda said. "They want a demonstration of guilt," he said.

Many said they were also keen on Mr. Estrada taking the stand and personally disputing the charges against him, Miranda said, adding that they also expect a fair trial.

Miranda said many of the respondents also want the senators, who will sit as jurors in the historic trial, to be open-minded in the admission of evidence that will be used.

That is because they expect Mr. Estrada's innocence or guilt to be proven beyond reasonable doubt, Miranda said.

However, in a statement, Malacañang ruled out the possibility of Mr. Estrada testifying, saying there was no need for it because his lawyers believe that the case against their client is weak.

Mr. Estrada earlier vowed to answer the charges against him "point by point" but then decided to heed his lawyers' advice for him not to take the stand.

What the poll also means, Miranda said, is that Filipinos are not in favor of a coup in ousting Mr. Estrada.

Mr. Estrada is accused of bribery, corruption, betrayal of public trust and culpable violation of the Constitution. The charges mainly stem from allegations made by estranged drinking buddy Ilocos Sur Gov. Luis Singson that Mr. Estrada accepted over P400 million in bribes from jueteng bosses and pocketed P130 million in tobacco taxes intended for Singson's province.

In his answer to a summons issued by the Senate, Mr. Estrada pleaded not guilty to the charges but did not refute the charges. Eleven congressmen acting as prosecutors in the trial will give their reply to Mr. Estrada's answer this Wednesday.

PUBLIC NOTICE

This notice will be construed as a continuation of compliance with provisions necessary to establish presumed fact (Rule 301, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and attending State rules). All interested parties have failed to rebut any given allegation or matter of law addressed herein. The position will be construed as adequate to requirements of judicial notice, thus preserving fundamental law. A true and correct copy of this Public Notice is on file with and available for inspection at the newspaper CONTACT which is responsible for publishing the instrument as a legal notice.

September 9, 1996 the Officers and Directors of the Assignee of 50% of the value of PERUVIAN BONUS CERTIFICATE 3392-181 reached an agreement with certain officers of the U.S. Treasury, among whom were Russell Munk and Lawrence Summers (the current Secretary of the Treasury). When those officers refused to sign the agreement, pleading that to do so would not only jeopardize the U.S. Treasury but also the Federal Reserve System, the Assignee converted the agreement to a Public Notice and published it. No objection or rebuttal was ever received from Treasury, or from the FED.

The fourth paragraph of that Agreement/Public Notice reads as follows: “As a consideration of National Security (as well as Global Security), transactions WITHIN these guidelines will not be interfered with or blocked by the U.S. or its assigns. The consideration for such noninterference is that none of the contracts will be lodged for collection until such time as there is an additional agreement as to the lodging and honoring, through payoff, of the contracts.”

This Public Notice, however, presents the knowledge of ongoing interference from our counterparts to the agreements and the breaking of each and all of those said agreements to varying degrees of diversion tactics of manipulation, delays and actual stone-wall operations. We acknowledge, however, that we find no outright DENIALS of said program or document value, only delays and refusal to provide information regarding same. We have also noted the utilization of such organizations as the World Bank and IMF to effect the rejection of the use of the collateral through intimidation and bribes of central bank personnel. It is our position, therefore, that we are no longer bound by those agreements as published September 9, 1996.

Because they are sensible, however, two of the requirements will continue to be met: the first being the limit of $5T per year (beginning in 1996 and thus aggregating $30T by January 1, 2001) (this restriction will not apply, however, to project funding within the U.S.A.), and the second being the prohibition of any use of “high yield” or “rollover” trading programs, which we believe are being used to grossly inflate the supply of U.S. dollars in an effort to destabilize the financial system of the U.S.A., and thus the world.

We offer this Public Notice as a status report to the current U.S. Administration, and to the parties who will be moving into the U.S. Government Administration, and to other involved persons in charge of governmental affairs in January, 2001. While we realize that most involved persons are very cognizant of current conditions, it is proper that we make an effort to consolidate the record for the sake of accuracy and brevity.

The asset, which is the debt of the U.S. Treasury, guaranteed by the FED, and payable in gold, as valued and established by Messieurs Bush, Herman, Baker, Bentsen, and Greenspan, was assigned to Global Alliance Investment Association (GAIA) April 28, 1998. The Uniform Commercial Code procedure for confirmation of the debt was undertaken and the proper notices to all potential interested parties given, and their receipts noted and published. There was no opposition of any kind made to the procedure, which became final and incontestable as of February 16, 1999. (The signatures at the end of this document shall be construed as a Certificate of Non-Response to the UCC notices.) Researchers have been able to easily establish that the original bearer bond, 3392-181, was reconfirmed, then reconfirmed and reissued as a jurat/contract of identifiable ownership to Cosmos Seafood Energy Marketing Ltd., a corporation set up by its owner and Chairman, Russell Herman. It may be helpful to researchers to know that the owners, officers, and directors of Cosmos are the same as those of GAIA, obviating the need for concern as to the legitimacy of those transfers from Cosmos to GAIA. The asset has been affirmed, albeit by default, as the property of GAIA, and is available for use.

To facilitate the distribution of the asset to deserving end-users, it has been determined, upon advice of counsel, to issue portions of the accrued interest in the form of DEEDS OF ASSIGNMENT FOR CONSIDERATION. Such DEEDS are specifically designed to be banking reserves and, for ease of bankers' understanding, are to be treated exactly as is other U.S. Treasury debt, since such debt is widely used as reserves by banks everywhere.

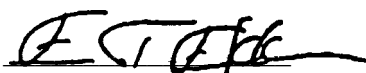

GAIA has issued some 1,200 DEEDS, worldwide, with a total value of several trillion U.S. dollars. Honoring our agreement, none (to our knowledge) have been issued to U.S. entities. That can be changed; GAIA would be willing and able to support such a program in the U.S., given the cooperation of the U.S. Such a program would offer ability for the U.S. to reclaim gold which has been moved out of the country and upon which the value of the dollar can have established and authentic VALUE affixed. As it is, allowing derivative-based so-called “high yield” trading programs is creating dollars in ever-increasing and uncontrollable amounts. If Alan Greenspan has any claim to managing the “prosperity” of the U.S., it is only that he has held the regulators at bay and prevented them from controlling, or eliminating, the proliferation of derivatives. It is the rapidly expanding money supply that makes such prosperity possible, but without basis it must one day implode. The use of the GAIA asset and the return to a gold standard for the currency would prevent such a catastrophe if implemented in time.

As its name implies, Global Alliance Investment Association intends to become an Association of Allied nations willing to Invest their time and resources, Globally, to achieve financial stability and complete sovereignty. In 1945 the Bretton Woods Agreement established the World Bank and IMF with, ostensibly, similar intentions. Unfortunately, those noble goals have been perverted and the institutions have become instruments of control and collection for the major international banks. While GAIA has no desire to “compete” with the IMF/WB, because it has become so clear that their former beneficiaries became debtors and are now victims to be bled dry, GAIA will have to defend itself from being denigrated for its preference for non-usurious “Islamic-type” banking, or for its recommendation of basing currencies upon gold so that inflation is eliminated and interest rates can be brought to 2-4% as they were in the 1800s and, in the U.S., until the 1940s. High interest rates kill business, put home ownership out of the reach of the masses, and enrich only the already rich.

GAIA intends to offer its collateral as the basis for the creation of many regional “monetary funds” to be maintained under local control, although the overall GAIA program will soon obviate the need for such funds, once the nations taste and feel sovereignty. Such regional funds could be used to free nations from the IMF/WB debt trap by “purchasing” the debt. However, by far the majority of GAIA DEEDS will be issued to all sorts of entities that need additional collateral to enable them to finance peaceful, beneficial projects.

Because the debt to GAIA is payable in gold, and the GAIA program requires that at least 50% of the value of the DEEDS issued be used to purchase gold, and that gold held in the funding bank for the Alliance, the effect is to create substantial reserves that can be drawn upon in emergencies, especially natural disasters. The money would be immediately available, not like the current situation wherein organizations like the UN must beg for the funds.

TELEPHONE HOTLINE (Discontinued)

As an adjunct to CONTACT, the Telephone Hotline keeps you as informed as possible on current events and other important information that needs to get to our subscribers before our publishing date.

The message machine will answer after 2 rings if there are any new messages for that day, and after 4 rings if not. Thus daily callers can hang up after 2 rings and save toll charges if no new message has been recorded. If the Hotline does not answer your call, then there is currently no Hotline message.
