All Things Of GOD Can Be Accomplished

1/18/01—#1 (14-155)

RE: BREATH "IS" LIFE—EVEN IN THE PHILIPPINES

A WORD FROM "CROW'S CORNER"

Hatonn—There is no such thing as "distance", in reality. "When life gets tough, the tough get going." This is a type of proverbial expression—but when you have no BREATH, there is no physical way to "get going".

In Manila today there is chaos in the streets because of a stoppage of the presidential impeachment trial. The Senate is split into balanced fragments; the private prosecutors walked out of the court, and the Senate President resigned over the fact of a "damaged institution" where, as was, there was not justice nor a way to demand it. The manipulators took the day BUT LOST THE WAR in so doing. Then, the House of Representatives legal team doing the trial itself resigned irrevocably.

This, over the refusal to open an envelope containing documents which PROVE without any doubt the unlawful dealings of the President. This goes into the heart of the matter—where you have manipulation and distortion of the very law set forth to protect you, you have NOTHING IN FREEDOM.

The people have taken to the streets, thus far, however, in relative "order" and respect for law. The government is to a standstill, the "garbage" of the nation is well descriptive, as put forth by former President F.V. Ramos, in that the garbage people (Senators who broke their oath to act in Truth and honor, broke their oath before the world) "stink worse than the mountains of garbage polluting the very streets of Manila, spreading disease and corruption."

Today, frankly, the nation is in mourning over the LOSS OF ITSELF.

Ah, but—have they lost? NO, THEY, THE PEOPLE, HAVE WON A VICTORY BEYOND THEIR IMAGINATION. FOR WHEN ALL IS LOST IT APPEARS, PEOPLE TURN TO GOD AND ALWAYS THERE IS A RESPONSE AND A SUITABLE SOLUTION TO EVERY PROBLEM.

That potential WE PRESENT will begin to unfold this very afternoon. This means that holding your breath is not good but perhaps a distraction into the truth of life itself can give support to the players on stage—who are in front of the machine guns—literally. GOD SHALL PREVAIL. MAN SIMPLY HAS TO SEE HIS DIVINE PURPOSE.

Let us turn, therefore, to the meaning of "stayin' alive" and the very basic element of that process of "living" in a physical manifestation.

GOD IS THE BREATH OF LIFE ITSELF AND WITHOUT THAT BREATH THE SOUL MUST MOVE ON AND THE BODY PHYSICAL WILL FALL INTO A "DEATH" TRANSITION.

God speaks in ALL ways and through all THINGS and BEINGS. Until you understand that—you only have games of "let's pretend on the telephone lines".

Why won't "receivers" identify themselves, as with the Spectrum producers of "the so-called word"? BECAUSE THEY REFUSE TO TAKE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THEIR OWN PARTICIPATION. They are no different than a quack speaker on a stage or podium presenting their interpretation of what has been presented in TRUTH—OR THE LIE! THERE CAN BE NO CREDIBILITY IF THERE IS NO IDENTIFICATION OF THE PRESENTER—PERIOD.

I remind Dharma/Doris of this fact as long, long ago Little Crow sat and said of Sipapu Odyssey writing: YOU must take your responsibility and the sooner you do that the faster we can accomplish our purpose.

Several years later he sat again in what we can literally call "council" and said: "You must take responsibility for that which you present, for source is ALL there is—but what 'we' present is on our heads and shoulders." Wisdom? Perhaps the whole of everything resides in such as the Wisdom of Little Crow or within the Sacred Hill Within.

What IS the expression of that which is life? It is, by its very reality, the BREATH of life. And, furthermore, when the breathing is difficult it is wondrous to have some support from the brother who KNOWS all things OF GOD can be accomplished and that "next breath" determines "life" or "death" of the body and passage of the soul.

So, with bombs bursting on the streets below and the pressures of the adversary to destroy, stop or maim the very flow of goodness, we must take stock of that which IS. If there is a word of wisdom, here it is: "Keep on breathin'."

When you KNOW your purpose and your goal, if you just "keep on breathin'" you SHALL get that job in focus, accomplished.

As always, when the heart is heavy and lonely and the tears are welling from the heart to the eyes and overspilling—the Eagle delivers.

I ask to share because you all try to escape reality and Truth while you go about your maze called living. Please see if you can sit quietly and read this, or record it—AND GET YOUR BALANCE IN REALITY.

I am asked why I don't better identify "Little Crow" as to his real name? His REAL name is Little Crow! That which WAS a "Carl Bryant" no longer is. Little Crow bears the teachings of the Oral Tradition of your ancient selves, good readers. A man in some physical format is inconsequential—except that he, too, must live and BREATHE just as do YOU.

Why isn't Little Crow, then, doing THIS task? Why should he? IT IS NOT IN HIS JOB DESCRIPTION; IT IS IN "YOURS".

[QUOTING The Gathering, November/December 2000, Little Crow:]

CROW'S CORNER

It is funny how we as human beings have been conditioned to put labels on everything we think, say and do. What follows, of course, are the pat answers that have been created in the same manner to explain the same. Now if you didn't get that, go back and read it again.

It seems that the need to go back and read it again, or go back and say it again, has been our solution to the attempts to define what our lives are about, or even more so, what and who God is.

So is it any wonder that as I write this, it becomes apparent that what I have come to believe becomes more focused with every breath? I think not.

As we enter the year 2001, consider these possibilities:

God is breath.

God enters all things of creation with every breath.

With each gift of breath given by God there is a choice as to how to use the same breath.

We must be accountable for the choices we make as to how we use the breath: acts, words, deeds, thoughts, etc.

To be accountable is also to be responsible for our choices.

The choices we have made have brought our lives to the point we find them at this very moment. NOW FOR THE BIG ONES!

All things are of God, by God, for God!

What that means is that God's predatory self-interest (PSI) runs in all things of creation, from the seen to the unseen.

God's PSI dictates that everything that God does is out of "the need" to feel good about itself.

And I ask, "What's wrong in feeling good about oneself?" Isn't that what this is all about anyway?

We search for power because we believe that power will bring us freedom. And when we can't find power in one place we will look somewhere else, which often means trying something new.

So for 2001, why not consider something really new and yet as old as dirt. That like God, everything we do is out of our need to feel the very best we can about what it is we have done or are doing.

So is power freedom or is freedom power? Or are they the same thing only in a different form? Either way, the next time you say you are doing something for someone, just what limits are you placing on your efforts? Think about the unlimited effort you put into things that you consider "just for me" things.

These are not new questions, but rather questions that have come around again in the hoop.

MITAK, Little Crow

[END OF QUOTING]

"EVERY TIME I BREATHE, I'M IN THE PRESENCE OF GOD."—Little Crow

SO, WHERE ARE YOU EVERY TIME YOU BREATHE?

WHY DO I NOW SPEAK OF "LITTLE CROW"?

Because when the dust settles and we achieve our goals, we must move on in the Truth of WISDOM and, yes, in such as Sipapu Odyssey, and what follows on after the "deaths" of such as Wally Gentleman and A.C. Ekker, comes the picking up of the baton to see to it that the play is produced.

It is integrally Native American in its very title. "Sipapu" is a term used for the road or entry/exit into the Spirit world. It is perhaps more a Hopi word in itself but it is within all original people's recognition. By the way, "people" or "human people" ARE GIVEN FORTH BY THESE ANCIENT "PEOPLE".

If you think the Native Tribesmen are "uncivilized"—you had best take a good long, hard look at yourselves TODAY in your "civilized" world of distraction and destruction. Remember that the natives have also come a long way from the perfection they once represented—thanks, mostly, to you "civilizers".

Sipapu Odyssey needs, yea, is intended, to be made right where it was originally planned and will be adequately staffed when the time is appropriate—and it would appear to me today, even more than in 1986, that it would be pretty much a "major" Native American project. Oh, yes, indeed, there will be resources and placements of sovereign industries and capability. Is it not time to close down the monopoly of mind-warping industries held tightly in the manipulative control of the adversary himself?

The other major holders of rights to Sipapu Odyssey are still around and, yes, right within the family itself, called Ekkers.

Little Crow is also a proprietary contributor to the very story itself and perhaps all have grown in realization enough to find the point in this little dissertation here and now.

All prior and appropriate parties to the ongoing preparations can be shifted satisfactorily to allow a joint venture of inconceivable (perhaps at the moment) magnitude and brotherhood.

Oh, yes, indeed, these things shall come to pass into reality of manifestation. It is time to break the bindings of the monopolists and manipulators.

Do you realize that all you actually need to accomplish this deed is "funding"? Should the adversary have all that funding? WHY MUST GOD ALWAYS BE SHORT BECAUSE YOU GIVE ALL YOUR ALLEGIANCE AND FUNDING TO THE ENEMY?

You HAVE "the" way, chelas, but as the old saying goes: "You kill the goose who bears the golden eggs." Furthermore, you EAT the SEED grain in the moment and have no crops to sustain life. Is this the "way of man"? No, it has BECOME the way of manipulated enslaved man who has no mind longer for thought and creativity—only zombies staggering down a path to nowhere.

A MESSAGE TO DR. JOHN COLEMAN

I only have this method to get a message to both my team and to John.

Your plight is recognized. Inability to assist in the moment is NOT DENIAL OF GOD for assistance. The hospital BILL "can" wait and we shall break through the barriers into accomplishment.

I am sorry for the staggering necessity of "concern"—for each and every responsible "man" must attend that which IS. However, there is no ability to assist from the source as asked, at this time. We must not damage "the goose" at egg-laying time and the old laying "goose and gander" are unable to respond in the moment. The chick (gosling?) is ready to hatch and it is going to look exactly like a “Phoenix”. CREATOR BLESSES OUR WAY! And, yes, gives breath sufficient to make the race possible.

I remind everyone to treasure that “breath”, even to that which is used for speaking—for your speech is reflective of breath itself and the words presented by that very breath can save or destroy. The tongue is ever more destructive an organ through the lungs with breath itself than all the damning wars fought on the fields of ignorance.

Ah, but the words are now formed without breath—just fingers. So how do you realize when the transition was flawed, as in that which came to pass against my “speaker-translator”? When the ones who stole the paper, claimed “the word” and, yea, even my own presence—without audible speaking. I SPEAK! I PRESENT! And those such as John Coleman have experienced WITH ME through my communication resource. I remind you that when you turn into and within the LIE, you are trapped until you realize your errors.

Will you damage the “testors” who turned you away from Truth? No, for they might well have opportunity to awaken themselves.

Will our people be able to carry the load? Well, what are the alternatives? You ARE “our people”! Therefore, the answer rests upon YOUR shoulders, not ours.

NOW TO RON K.

Son, you are in the right ball game, just a caution about the ball park.

GAIA needs the focus of international capability in a place such as a city, i.e., Las Vegas where travel is easy and offices are available.

This does NOT mean that interim connections can’t be worked out or bargaining put underway. The reference you consider is IDEAL. We have spoken with Harley and Louis about opening a major hub in Las Vegas and they even chuckled and said, “and in Laughlin [NV]”.

You have all the qualifications needed and could serve in any location—if you get support NOW, the building can be accomplished from and through the relationship established now.

I don’t wish to discuss this in this open forum but we too need ways of connecting to establish recognition of our ongoing ideals and manifestation.

I honor the very basic establishment brought through Laughlin & Associates of years ago as being right up front in the use of corporations and Nevada business resources. And, progressive growth is always a good foundation upon which to build if there are visionary people aboard.

Please understand, you who feel pressured and with no way out or no solutions to those problems—you are incorrect, for THERE ARE! WE WANT GOOD “BUSINESS”, NOT SPACE-CADET FOCUS OF SOME KIND. GOOD BUSINESS REFLECTS SPIRITUAL GOODNESS—AND, THEREFORE, RELIGION ENTERS NOT THE EQUATION.

Eventually, you must understand that wherever you are located, you will need a branch in Las Vegas (even preferable to Reno) whereat you can have corporate facilities. That means facilities for temporary office staffing, computer centers and you name it, for international corporations who have need of travel to their corporate offices.

There will need be, eventually, whole office structures to relieve the individual corporations of the incredible load of governmental and local requirements to see to needs and requirements. It will be an entire “industry” in itself. Moreover, where there is the agent/agency, there often needs to be more than just an office package—as business people need actual offices and staff to service their necessities, legal needs and typical office requirements. Dream BIG because in “reality” it will be much bigger. The point is to “find the need and fill it”, and that begins and ends with the ideas, ideals and manifestation of the THOUGHT.

AMUSING THINGS STILL HAPPEN

Ekkers just got an offer to buy a building FOR a group to the South of here. They will give us offices for GAIA “if you will pay the rent, Sir.”

Number one, we may well need help but we neither need nor want, at this time, an office, a building or a new expense. But, this is the perception of any who want the task done FOR them. No thank you. We are NOT “doing business” in this place—we have our corporate home in Las Vegas, Nevada, U.S.A.—in good standing. We are no-profile there in Nevada at this time to stop the mishandling of our very corporation through poor management of our business presentation by the lack of ethical management of our corporation placement itself. We will never have such disadvantage again, having learned the hardest and most painful way possible to the experiencing human, of betrayal—still ongoing. We still have the loss of some $12 million which had to be cancelled and has subsequently been rendered “useless”—through the games of NCH, corporate agent/agency, along with carelessness of participants who failed to send to the correct address. Is this sad? Well, sad is perchance an understatement compared to say, “devastating”, but it IS a lesson learned—perhaps the hard way, which brings notice to any of the ones playing foolish games. Many such strange things will continue to happen; it is the mystery of God and Life.

I can only remind you, friends, that a walking journey is made one step at a time—and as one is taken, the things of that moment are confronted as in the “now”. When you try to cross all the bridges before reaching them—you will often find there is no bridge left to cross the river. It also bears reminding that if you always conduct yourself and that which you do in such an open and honorable manner in integrity that you can stand before the confronters with Truth instead of Fear of the assault itself, you shall overcome the negative experience quite nicely WITHIN.

What do I suggest as an attitude? “Hey, I CAN do this!” And if you wobble a bit: “Hey up there, I need help down here.” Then stop, look and LISTEN. I also suggest you grab a tight hold on that “Christness” within and present in the KNOWING radiance—to give you “the needed words” or shut the mouth if appropriate.

What might I mean in that observation? Let us look a “Christmas” message penned by Peggy Shackelton to share with our crew.

[QUOTING Christmas, December 2000:]

CHRISTMAS

Radiant,
shining in true innocence earned through eons
of painful journey,
Our Christ Self faces us
assures us, welcomes us.
The once-cradled Christ,
now perfected Light,
stands before us,
the Promise Fulfilled.
Out of the cave
of the heart
Mind emerges
permeated with compassion, empowered with divinity.
This is Who We ARE,
Christed in this One-ness.

We gaze at this ONE, awed.
Trembling with recognition, pulled beyond resistance,
for resistance and separation have done their required work, we rush into the offered embrace and merge, at last,
into dynamic peace.
Faith transmutes to JOY.
Evidence incontrovertible!

WE ARE THAT!
For this we have journeyed here.
For this HOME exists.

And so,
in the arena of space and time,
where we labored and waited,
hoped and doubted,
gathering essential experiences toward our birth in TRUTH AND LOVE, Christmas celebrates the Reality of our identity, and we serve...
wise, loving, Will-empowered...
as Sons of God.

Peggy Shackelton, December 2000

[END OF QUOTING]

Do you see that to celebrate the Christmas of Self, there is no special day required, no wrong birthdates or meanings and no space or time required?

This requires no shame, for there is no pride as recognized by the living beings. There is self-worth, value and expression both within and without—extended into eternity by the very breath of life itself.

Are YOU alone? Oh, no, WE are many and all ONE in the same. All fragments contribute to the whole, even though there appears to be negative impact and presentation. Without that “whole”, there could be no purpose or attainment. This is why you are suggested to honor another as self and love and appreciate even your worst enemy—for through that cause to grow and survive, you grow in strength beyond the adversary’s ability to do more than “annoy”. Without the interchange and experiences as ARE, you would fail to meet that “other” who is necessary to the success of mission.

When you are caused to walk through the fires of hell by the assaults against you, I suggest you take a long, hard look about you. Why might you need to grow in strength to move beyond the moment and stand the storms? Perhaps you hold a great purpose beyond the moment? (???) You are a PART of the WHOLE—so I remind you—LOOK AROUND YOU. WHAT ARE THE GIFTS LEFT IN YOUR STEWARDSHIP, FROM CHILD TO VISION? It will help you, perhaps, to realize that there is CAUSE to expect the protection you hold—IF you maintain your Truth. YOU must make the way for those children placed in YOUR CARE, for they shall have to guide this world after you pass your way. This often requires choices of mammoth decisions.

WHAT WE DO HERE SHALL DETERMINE HOW THINGS WILL BE FOR THOSE WHO COME AFTER US. LET US NOT FAINT ALONG THE WAY BUT BE SUSTAINED BY THE VERY LIGHT AND TRUTH THAT WILL LIGHT OUR CHILDREN’S WAY. IN THIS REALIZATION YOU CAN BE SUSTAINED THROUGH ALL STORMS AND IN THE FACE OF ANY CRISIS.

I just have to keep rewriting the verses already presented: [QUOTING:]

If you can live the life that you believe in you will have everything you need to reach your dream.

Just look into your heart and you’ll find confidence in yourself that will make each challenge easier to face...

You’ll discover the hope that will keep you believing...
you’ll find an inner strength that will help you past obstacles... and you’ll see the happiness that’s waiting for you if you keep trying...

The struggle for any dream is always worth the effort, for in the struggle lies its strength and fulfillment...

If you listen to your heart
you will reach your dream.

[Larry S. Chengges—shared by Lester Kieler, New Zealand.]
[END OF QUOTING]

Please recognize a difference in the terms “mystery” and “mystical”. Mysticism may well delve into the mysterious at a level of magical expectation or puzzling incomprehension.

However, a “mystery” is only “mysterious” until revealed, as in “answer” (to the mystery). Therefore, God may well be “mysterious” and his wonders equally “mysterious”—but they are not ACTUALLY mystic nor of mysticism.

Have fun with your mystics, psychics and astrologers but KNOW that in ALL CASES, YOU ARE THE ONE WHO DETERMINES AND/OR CREATES YOUR JOURNEY. Use tools provided but know that YOU ARE THE MIRACLE, not a star, not a god, not the illusion. Magic by its very definition IS AN ILLUSION. We do not need “magic”—we need to unravel the mysteries and find the reality of our expression.

Dharma claims no selective ownership of one, Hatonn, my friends. There are thousands who have served even my continued journey and participation from the onset of your accounting. Some are valid, other presenters are perchance pretenders—TAKE THE MESSAGE, THE MESSENGER AND DISCERN USEFUL INFORMATION.

In more specific causes, I and my compatriots use very specific defining identification so that there is no real misperception as to who I am and what I am “about”, nor lack of realization of what is a specific focus or project. Those who use those labels specific to this mission as their own presentation, err and mislead as they are manipulated by the dark brotherhood of mind-mechanics.

There are thousands of years of my direct teachings reaching down from the thousands of years past—and there is no need to steal from another to have your own connection. If you do so, you have only stolen a lie—of and representing yourself. Is it not time that some of the children demanding to be in the negative game of “getcha”—GROW UP AND GET THEIR OWN LIFE? PARASITES ARE THOSE WHICH LIVE OFF THE BLOOD-SOURCE OF ANOTHER. SOME GRAB THE VERY BREATH OF ANOTHER IN AN ATTEMPT TO BOTH DESTROY THE OTHER AND CLING TO SOME KIND OF HUMAN EXPERIENCE FOR SELF. These guilty parasites even have to exist in the same place as the genuine beings—because they have no place nor strength to even function elsewhere. They continue to live off the ROOT which is now severed, for the TREE has moved while the suckers remain suctioned to the dying shell. This IS, however, the way of cowards and thieves. And, yes, look around you and you will recognize a LOT of these mistletoe flukes hanging around trying to kill the TREE upon which they have lived and now die. The facts are that they are NOT WANTED anywhere, much the less, else-where.

They don’t seem to realize that there is actually no blood in a tree—ONLY SAP.

So, what will YOU do or how will YOU live?
“God will always do what you ask of it—in order to get you to do what God asks.”—Little Crow, 10/20/00

Could I refer to Tehachapi, California, U.S.A.? Well, look around and you will find the focus of THIS MISSION—in Manila, Philippines and our address in the U.S. is in Nevada as always. The participation places are even empty today with a house which has vacant eyes and no heart—remaining as symbols of the dirty ticks, lies and deception of OTHERS, whom also have been damaged through the antics and claims of a few.

Now, consider this: Until YOU stop this very type of parasitism as is presented by the greed-grabbers, you shall find unrest—for the soul knows the WRONGS it allows even if the heart hardens itself in its efforts to hide from TRUTH. And when you start thieving MY very being, you might wish to reconsider. I do not bless those who break the very word or laws of GOD. I will, however, allow their antics for the value of the learning experience of those who must carry this GIFT OF LIGHT DOWN THIS CHOSEN PATHWAY. GOD ALLOWS! Man avows—usually incorrectly.

It is much like the participants in the impeachment trial of Estrada—the ones who thought they pulled off a skirmish win—LOST THE WAR. They are now “finished” as the light turns upon their antics and their own pay-offs and kick-backs. They have to [try to] keep Erap in power because he is THE SOURCE OF THEIR VERY LIFE-STYLES AND PAYOFFS. Oh, WOW! But there is now a bigger problem—the game is over either way (in power or out of office). The game masters don’t like the game players to win—just as Satan operates!

Will there be leaders with strength enough to move forward? YES.

Appreciation to Little Crow can be routed to: American Indian Church, 13671 Glendora, Garden Grove, California 92643, U.S.A.

Satan has pretty much had a “field-day” for a couple of eons—so we enter the TIME OF GOD. Let us grow and stand tall in the evolvement of a better species of souled mankind. And no, do not talk “Human” which indicates “humane” and “honorable”—for human has been the most destructive, dastardly species ever to run rampant across the perfection of the universe. What man does now is destroy himself and that upon which has birthed him. So be it, but it is now OUR turn at play. This in itself indicates that it will be established and brought forth in a very oriented physical manifestation, so that man can understand and find his way in dignity and participation.

Make an effort to reach beyond the moment of whatever might distress the senses and gain the LIGHT of KNOWING that this shall be accomplished because this time GOD AVOWS and we must allow that wondrous unfolding. Those who disagree and think you can dump the load of “what’s wrong” while destroying those with the wherewithal in truth to “fix the wrongs”, woe be unto you—for you shall not long flourish in your ignorant antics.

And to Diane and Jack: Hold strong, for the “sapsuckers” will poison themselves—they already have done so.

Do we want to destroy, say, NCH? No, indeed, justice shall be noted and perhaps we will simply purchase the company and make that the Las Vegas “branch” to be established—sans the parasites.

Walk in beauty that the things of life might flow and flourish and that you will have left a legacy worthy of the perfection of God for having passed your way. You have strength you haven’t even begun to tap. Love one another that you do not isolate self from the wonders which lay ahead. Our journey must be in Truth and in honor and the other which dwells in the shadows and dark passages will pass away.

Can we “save” those “passing” away? WHY?

In love and understanding in the THOUGHT OF GOD.

Salu, Old Hatonn

You see, it matters not what I call myself! You KNOW who I AM and I do not have to sell you a line of silly hogwash to prove my Lighted presence or message. Ponder it. A lie told a thousand times or ways changes it NOT. All must be ready at the starting gate, my friends, lest the horses be disqualified. And if you can study this a bit, you will find that “the basis of recognition is acceptance”. This is another wise word from L.C. for your realization. And, you’ll walk alone—only if you choose to do so.

RE: PUBLIC NOTICE & INSTRUCTIONS FOR BEST OUTCOME

IN THIS MOMENT OF CHAOS
CAN COME ORDER AND POSITIVE CHANGE

Hatonn—There is reluctance of finger-tapping this morning as events unfold on the streets throughout the Philippines. What happens when the shouting stops? Who will be “in”? Who will be “out”? Who are the losers? Who wins?

There is no win or lose in a circumstance where energies have blown to massive expansion in what was first considered a game, still is considered some kind of activity game, but who are now building to a “mass trance formation” (thank you, Cathy O’B.).

Today the push will begin to grow even louder to March in a showing of numbers to Malacañang (the “White House”) Palace to confront the “King”. What will be confronted are the pro-President demonstrators, police, and backup military “guards”.

Why do you have to do these things? Because the people do not know what ELSE to do or who to follow to salve the wounds and rebuild a dying or dead nation.

The people are spending days in the humid heat of the streets of Manila in now new piles of garbage from their own hands dumped where the person stands or marches as they leave it to the “cleaners” to attend the rubbish. No, people, there simply are not enough rubbish containers to longer hold it all.

This is getting to already be a pending problem looming before you for facilities are absent to handle hundreds of thousands of hungry and defecating humans. And, yes, there are thousands more people to descend on the city today! Tired, dirty and hungry people are going to be difficult to “contain”.

Or, will the masses simply wear themselves out and go back to their palaces or hovels (depending) while “Oh, welling...”?

IT DOES NOT NEED BE THIS WAY!

NO NEED FOR GAIA PUBLICITY

E.J., I ask that you present to any leadership callers the fact that we not only ask privacy—but, yea, demand it. In this privacy there is POWER for the PEOPLE themselves and security for our “messengers”. There is already enough contest and confusion.

When the people out there learn that, in addition to hidden evidence, THE VERY GAIA SUPPORT HAS BEEN DELIBERATELY DENIED THEM, THIS WILL EXPLODE AS THE WORD SPREADS—YES, EVEN THROUGH THOSE TEXT PHONES.

Senator Tatad MET PERSONALLY with GAIA personnel two-and-a-half years ago and chose to deprive the people of that which would have negated the terrible poverty today present.

This can be good if handled in an organized manner offering solutions and hope while the ones who have hidden the assets are put into the spotlight. But THIS must be done by Filipinos FOR FILIPINOS!

Briefly, to the leadership and how to use our supporting assets: “Don’t ask and don’t tell,” is the very approach. Just USE, demand respect and use of the assets immediately and TELL THE PEOPLE “THE CAVALRY HAS ARRIVED!”

There need be no further notice to the U.S.—for notice has been served and we will lodge another NOTICE immediately. How can this be done? USE the assets immediately and as are. There is no call on the U.S. FOR ANYTHING. With the program in whole, there is no need to even consider lodging said deeds but simply utilized as reserves as in ANY U.S. Treasury paper. There is no call for cash-out.

The United States of America, however, is SUPPOSED TO HAVE FULL COVERAGE OF ALL OUTSTANDING DEBT HERE PRESENTED, IN GOLD RESERVES. THERE NEED BE NO COLLAPSE OF ANY CURRENCY OR ECONOMY—ONLY ENHANCEMENT THEREOF.

Put the deeds in the banks, use them as reserves and run them through the Central Bank who uses the new reserves to dispatch currency, and loans. The commitment is instantly to back the new reserves with GOLD and, therefore, the bank is totally secured without moving a finger on a phone dial.

Every banking institution can instantly be brought into security and the reserves will allow the monetary currency to be presented WITHOUT INFLATION OF ANY KIND.

Would there need be some upfront support FUNDS? Yes, of course, especially in the interim of the PEOPLE being able to use their own backup project funds. You must STABILIZE before you can settle to present full plans for restructuring. And THIS can be with or without the entities hanging about in limbo—such as Erap Estrada.

Erap has been in holding of GAIA assets for two-and-a-half years and so has the Central Bank.

I further suggest that Senator Legarda-Leviste be reminded that GAIA persons met with her husband and herself when calling on the Palestinian consulate under the direction of Mr. Leviste. This too was over two years past. However, it should be noted that in that very meeting Mr. Leviste spoke with then-Central Bank Governor, Singson, and reported: “Singson said, use it and you don’t need me involved unless it gets so big as to be out of control.” GAIA has structured outlay of use to never be “out of control” unless in an intentional demand for collection—should that become necessary.

There are a lot of “sealed” envelopes regarding this GAIA fund as established and USED by the highest leadership of the U.S. Government. Perhaps a lot of “sealed envelopes” should be opened around the globe. A good place to start would be the hidden documents, signed, sealed and used, of referenced certificate turned contract: Bonus 3392-181. It IS! It cannot be denied even should it be stonewalled or efforts made to negate same.

There is no intent nor suggestion of doing anything to upset the stability of the U.S. or to do anything other than bring about more stability for same. The new administration in the United States SHOULD REALIZE THIS ASSET MORE THAN ANY OTHER, SINCE “FATHER” GEORGE BUSH, BENTSEN AND OTHERS INSIDE THE LOOP OF NEW ORGANIZERS AND DIRECTORS OF THE GOVERNMENT FIRST VALUED IT AND AUTHORIZED IT. ALAN GREENSPAN OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE WAS INTEGRALLY INVOLVED AND DID, IN FACT, ACTUALLY MEET WITH THE THEN OWNER OF THIS ASSET, RUSSELL HERMAN.

When I call for “privacy”, I mean that for “our people”—not the asset. The asset stands alone and we don’t need any alien dancers on the stage to distract the people from their mission in progress. You do not need bloodshed—YOU NEED JOBS. And yes indeed, you CAN simply bypass the impeached leadership and settle the accounts later as the people are fed, clothed and mended.

There doesn’t need to be any big flourish other than “we have it under control” as to budgets and financial support. You can call it “from foreign sources” or whatever is chosen—BUT THE PEOPLE WILL BUILD THEIR OWN RECOVERY. Try it and you will like it!

Now, for a sample “Notice”. I ask that it be signed and sealed as have been the prior Public Notices so that there are meetings of the regulations and legal requirements.

Thank you, GCH

GLOBAL ALLIANCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION

PUBLIC NOTICE

January 19, 2001

This notice will be construed as a continuation of compliance with provisions necessary to establish presumed fact (Rule 301, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and attending State rules). All interested parties have failed to rebut any given allegation or matter of law addressed herein. The position will be construed as adequate to requirements of judicial notice, thus preserving fundamental law. A true and correct copy of this Public Notice is on file with and available for inspection at the newspaper CONTACT which is responsible for publishing the instrument as a legal notice.

This document is to notify interested parties to Global Alliance Investment Association (GAIA) of intent to immediately render assistance to the Philippine PEOPLE adequate funds through GAIA for stabilizing the financial institutions and businesses that they might recover from circumstantial losses through international political interference and intervention.

GAIA assets have been duly validated and have been presented and notice accepted by the international parties who OWE the DEBT thereof.

This notice is being run as a courtesy and public notice of intent to use said assets, becoming recognized this day, January 19, in the Year of the Lord, 2001.

GAIA demands the right of privacy to all involved persons or institutions, but will serve, equally, any authorities or valid representatives of any nation, people or valid business projects.

GAIA is an alliance association, ready, willing and able to serve the global community. GAIA holds rights to claim immediate use of funds from this debt unpaid to date against interest accrued and based on hard commodity: gold bullion, coin, or any derivative physical thereof.

GAIA stands, further, ready, willing and able, to make concessions and offer "time" allowance to acquire collateral and will seek all avenues available to establish the gathering in of said hard assets so as not to extend the pain and misery of the people.

We have offered to support the nation of the Philippines and, furthermore, to not interfere with such institutions as the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank operations, or the Federal Reserve or U.S. Treasury.

While the Filipino people have slept, massive sums of funds have been paid as kickbacks from the International cartels, bankers and, yes, the IMF, directly and indirectly to the President of the Philippines and as well through laundering money on criminal (under the shelter of law) activities of drug trafficking, smuggling of goods and arms and other widespread kickback operations.

We have NO INPUT to these dealings and make no claim or offer to interact on those activities. These things must be left to the national systems and people of any specific nation or people.

We make this offer at the request of the former holder of these assets as documented and validated, at the owner's last bequest.

This very offering shall be offered and can be recognized as an international resource with allowance credit to the United States of America now making some restitution to those damaged through untoward activities prior to now.

There is a continuing commitment on the part of GAIA to maintain and respect all agreements. However, there will now be a further attempt to negotiate use for domestic U.S.A. through the various states thereof.

FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of the stamped document returned by the Recorder of Clark County, Nevada will be included as a part of each information package provided to DEEDholders.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the undersigned have executed and sealed this authorization as of the date hereof.

DATED and signed AT Makati, Manila, the Philippines and at Las Vegas, Nevada by Ron Kirzinger, this 19th day of January 2001.

RE: POSSIBILITIES IN “EVERYTHING”; ONLY IDEAS SEEM TO BE MISSING

WORKING IN THE DARK

Hatonn—I want to stop having my people work in the dark, for YOU ALL must do this job. I want you people who are on my teams to keep us informed about every tid-bit you find in the adversary’s court. You want answers and you want them from HEAVEN? No thank you. We need to know the status of every member of the adversary’s crew, including the status of such as Cort and Jenny, Brent and Theresa. This is NOT gossip, people, this is intelligent wisdom in KNOWING. How can you possibly confront your enemies (self-proclaimed against you) if you don’t bother to find out anything? I can promise you that they KNOW ALL ABOUT YOU AND FREELY MAKE UP WHAT THEY CHOOSE TO USE AGAINST YOU. IF YOU ACT UNWISELY YOU ARE AT DISADVANTAGE, FOR SATAN’S CREW DOES NOT SLEEP. But, that is their very downfall—IF YOU WAKE UP.

Further, if errors appear in anything, we need to know but not on the basis of one against another but on FACTS presented. If my people are to base a conclusion on incorrect data—there is no way to reach a correct conclusion and most “arguments” actually have NOTHING to do with this Manila team. And yet, they are often treated as the ones to take the ultimate load of responsibility when they actually are often not given even the proper numbers in discussion but then are considered somehow as the higher-up “hierarchy” as one is played “against” another.

I, Hatonn, am NOT going to be your fortuneteller, your solution-master and jack-of-all-trades or input. If you don’t want to work with us, then all you have to do is say so and we will either let it go or seek other relief—we FORCE NO ONE TO ANYTHING, FOR THAT IS NOT OF GOD. Some of you people alienate selves to the extent that you have no resources for finding out anything taking place, while what you DON’T KNOW is hurting you terribly.

I know that ultimately none of you have THE job you think you want—but remember that the JOB YOU WANT must have a training period and that often takes “time” and “space” statesmanship. Stop being self-centered but rather be in “love of self”. When you stop demanding that someone ELSE present your needs—you will learn what is meant by true “self-esteem” and “self-love”.

I want all of you to think of something and really look at what has come about on your world—for the aeons past. Satan and his troopers NEVER LOSE SIGHT OF THEIR GOALS OR THEIR CUNNING, SHREWD MANIPULATIONS—GOD’S PEOPLE JUST GIVE UP AND JOIN THE RANKS OF THE VERY OPPOSITION ITSELF—OH, WELL... The movement is often so subtle as to be a misunderstanding or dislike of another’s personality that affronts you. Please, in my defense: I must deal with all such nasty personalities—even if they be yours—to achieve balance and successful conclusions to our tasks—AND, YES, INDEED, I DO EXPECT AS MUCH OF YOU. Insulting the “other” at every opportunity is certainly NOT a solution and neither is sarcastic sparring over that which is but a distraction at best. We are all TRYING (a very good word here) and yet we go in circles instead of solving the problems. I will get more laid forth as we go, here in this very writing.

Now friends, YOU are going to have to sort ideas. Let’s make an effort to get over that first hurdle. However, I am not going to write a whole bunch of individual possibilities, for the world is very, very large, my friends. Therefore, I must refer to specific people just to get a point across.

I will start with Sipapu Odyssey. NO, it is not suitable to take that story and start shifting it off to South Africa or lower Borneo—until we have decided how to overcome the demise of the Producer-Director, Wally Gentleman and the logistics manager, A.C. Ekker. It is simply not up for distribution. This does NOT mean that the backup facilities are cast aside, for it is fully expected to bring forth new resources for what is fed to the people instead of the garbage-load dumped on the public NOW. Certainly, you can note that garbage in, garbage out is the final result of conditioned training through the tri-media.

Remember that we had/have Little Crow, Van Noy, and even the “arranger” of such productions as Shaka Zulu where thousands of players (indigenous) had to be brought together for that incredible motion picture.

I am, however, very pleased to see that our team has come up with Alceone’s downstream potential. Since funding seems to be planned to come from this same source, however, I find that we need to retain control of the original Sipapu Odyssey. As the “world turns” there will be such a flood of possibilities as to be staggering, so let us not push the river as to that which is already under proposal while overlooking possibilities which are ever present as new realizations. In this it simply means that production must come from a place where our other resources can have full support. We don’t want another Star Trek and the very basic reason for U.S. location was exactly THAT, the location where the story ACTUALLY took place. The MIND can only perceive what it already knows and if you need more lessons on that—go ask Little Crow. The impact will NOT be the same for THIS story—coming out of Africa or anywhere else—AT THIS TIME OF INTEGRATION. The reasons might well be self-evident. WE HAVE SPENT WELL OVER A DECADE BUILDING, SORTING, STRUCTURING AND MAKING A LIST AND CHECKING IT TWICE!

The point is NOT the story itself; it is the potential in independent building and development of facilities and JOBS which becomes the important application to MANKIND. A picture speaks louder than a thousand words, perhaps, but you must have something to write “with” and “upon”. This means that you have to have a foundation through which and upon which the message can be presented.

Just as a “for example”, let us look at the story Sipapu Odyssey. It has a copyright, movie rights, etc. If you find that that Journal is on someone’s Internet offering—it is UNLAWFUL—for no permission has ever been given for reproduction of that storyline to anyone except Wally Gentleman. Does anyone hear me? It has even been claimed in threat and writing and in U.S. interstate mailings that George Green stated himself, in his own handwriting, that he “owned copyright to Sipapu Odyssey”. Oh, how so? That story was copyrighted PROPERLY in 1986 and later in full “book” copyright. Dorushka Maerd IS a pen name for Doris Ekker.

As a matter of fact, so too is Gyeorgos Ceres Hatonn and several other messengers certified and legally registered as “property of”—so that we would not have all the receiver claimants who have no connection whatsoever to these resources. THIS IS WHY SUCH AS NOREY LATONA AND ED YOUNG, ALONG WITH RICK MARTIN WILL NOT IDENTIFY THEMSELVES—NOT EVEN LONGER AS THROUGH “THOMAS”.

The Wisdom of the Rays books are simply plagiarisms of the “Rainbow Masters” and that acknowledgement is made in the first volume of same. Proof of the takeover is in those very publications that Spectrum continually advertises as information against us. It is ALL right there in their own misinformation, INCLUSIVE of such as Commander Hatonn supposedly dumping a receiver of many, many years and giving full authority to Dr. Ed Young who had, of his own presentation, reached the level of the same authority as the Teachers on that “other dimensional plane” as in “direct discourse” and AUTHORITY.

Do YOU want your God to be so fickle as to dump and discredit a faithful friend to change to other receivers who STOLE THE PAPER ITSELF WITHIN WHICH THE DISGRACE IS PROJECTED? Dark energies? I suggest you consider very carefully what you do and accept, readers, or you are going to get warped into “The Queen of England is a Blood-Guzzling Devil Worshiper”. You cannot see the lie when you ARE the lie.

Meanwhile, WE HAVE A JOB TO GET DONE and the irritations continue as in a cocklebur under the horse’s saddle as the lies grow into ulcers and finally infections.

Then comes the whining and tearful moaning of being persecuted as Rick has written when the floodlight makes its circle and finds the light shining on the original presenter. How long can one deceive another? Depends on the deceived, doesn’t it? Facts are, however, that the liars KNOW and, therefore, we now find DELIBERATE actions taking place which are both against the law and the accepted morality of both the deceiver and the deceived.

DO NOT ASK ME TO REATTACH, FOR INSTANCE, YOUR ARM WHEN YOU CONTINUE TO CUT OFF THE NECK. YOU CAN LOSE AN ARM—YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO LOSE YOUR HEAD WHEN THE NECK IS HACKED THROUGH.

AH, BUT—ON AN INDIVIDUAL LEVEL...?

Come on, team(s), you have everything you need to build from WHAT YOU HAVE—but you hesitate because of insecurity and lack of, yes, IDEAS.

Ron, you were hurt badly by what happened at NCH while the culprits continued to gain OFF OF YOUR LABORS. Why would you allow the opportunity of that recognition to pass you by? You can, yes, begin to build a small operation to serve your needs but you can’t do that instantly nor is THAT what you want to do or how you want to participate in the “long-run”.

So, simplify your considerations. You need someone who perhaps already has a system in play and is perhaps interested in future growth—which potential you DO HAVE.

Contact those who had falling-outs or even suits with or against NCH and FIND OUT ABOUT THE “FACTS” AND “WHY” THINGS HAPPENED AS THEY DID. There are always two sides to any confrontation or there is no confrontation. And, yes, I have waited for “time limitations” to expire before even mentioning these potentials.

We are going to have international incorporation services and somebody is going to make a major business venture of this very asset. But we must have proper “control” so that games and trust are NOT broken “just to make a buck”, as the saying goes.

Let us look at revelations that have come out of just the miserable mischief of property sheltered in corporate care. Errors were made but literally unethical hiring, firing and deceitful dealings were shoved off onto CLIENTS. This is WRONG and certainly means that we will NOT make that mistake a second time.

We quarrel over two or three “immediate” corporation problems and, yes, I did write on the matter because people DO HAVE OPTIONS... but if people want to keep their corporations and expect future use—but there is no tangible gain in the present—then put them on hold. No one needs TO DOWNDEAL or even bargain. If you can make your own arrangements—do so, but if it serves not our own present needs, which you claim to ultimately assist in larger programs of participation, we cannot, (nor can an agent) sustain you—put it aside for the moment—and LEARN ABOUT INCORPORATION. When you are in business, you need the backup of an agency certified and dependable for all the RIGHT REASONS.

To give total credibility and “transparent” functionality in ALL governmental and banking systems, we will insist on proper incorporation, registration and all of the mandated things within the laws of every nation and every business we involve—period.

We will also need all the backup laws and regulations for both starting facilities, on-shore or offshore in capability, and right on down the line of cross interchange.

But, whoever assists, say, Ron, right now will be guaranteed of future business of major account and potential possibilities—while building a substantial service staff, learning and sharing information, and writing a manual for services and instructions, etc.

We, as I said, must have ability to incorporate ourselves in the U.S. in Nevada to shelter every separate venture undertaken—so that there are NO hidden traps. That will, in turn, allow the venture partner to also have set up individual corporations under the same laws and in Nevada—for their own freedom of movement and security of business incorporation.

You will note that right now the banksters are making every effort to gain regulation and control of all the tax-sheltering offshore service countries and shelters of any kind.

Our program will not involve ability to money-launder, etc., because every ounce of gold and every “dollar” is accounted and money is borrowed against assets as needed.

This will be as true of “a” government and central bank as of John Doe slave. In fact, there won’t be many John Doe slaves locked into the prison of the slave-masters. That may take a very long time but once the model is established, it will move rapidly, indeed.

However, MANKIND is going to have to have patience, first with his brother, stop the outrageous bickering and fear of someone getting more of “you name it” than you seem to have. EVERYONE HAS 100% PURE POTENTIAL. That is a FACT.

However, team, if you kill the goose who holds the key to the golden egg—you have very narrow perceptions and, when it all comes from the SAME place—what think ye? REACH OUT AND TOUCH SOMEONE AND SEE THAT YOU CAN HAVE MORE ENLARGING. A lot of people will simply want to “come home” where they first had HOPE of expanding their own circles, businesses and goals.

Go find and talk to people, even right in Las Vegas as a good example, who once were brothers but have for one reason or another been deceived, misled or are actually, perhaps, in a position of joining ranks and moving forward.

Now, what about products? What about them?

If you will get New Gaia “set free”, you don’t even need to go back to anything questionable as sold before—but you do have to now restructure while USING THE FACTS AS ESTABLISHED. CORT CHRISTIE INCORPORATED THAT LITTLE COMPANY AND BRENT MOORHEAD WAS THE ACCOUNTING-BOOKKEEPER, TAX PREPARER, ETC., UNTIL THE RIFT, “AFTER” EKKERS WERE NO LONGER EVEN IN THE UNITED STATES. LAY IT OUT AND LET THE DECEIVERS FIND THEMSELVES ON THE LIST OF PARTICIPANTS AND MANAGERS AND YOU WILL SEE HOW “TRUTH” WORKS.

If the corporation was not managed well, that is NOT Diane’s fault nor surely is it Ekkers’, who had nothing to do with that corporation itself. Even use of flow was structured by incorporation persons—including Cort Christie and Brent Moorhead.

I use this as an example because I watch you getting all pushed out of shape by accusations. TRUTH WILL SERVE “EVERY” TIME. Cause those prior participants to testify in a court. Everyone was willing to “take” from but not even willing to step forward and acknowledge the FACT that they were responsible for things—just run away, run away and try to hide behind resignations, movements without forwarding addresses, etc. Are the ones who have gone nowhere except to continue pursuing our programs and projects and now caught doing the best they can, somehow to be cleared of responsibilities?

Hard lessons for you “bag holders”? No, they are THE lessons to be learned and never, NEVER, do other than transparent business in any dealings—even with friends you trust as your own breath. You will find that most often that “breath” is polluted when that other breather wants to gain in selfish matters.

Furthermore, you who want to threaten or bargain along the way and suggest that things were surely better where you “were” than where you “are”, be very careful. Look in TRUTH at where you were and see if that is REALLY where you would prefer to be! Anyone can quit anywhere or any time. The void may well be, indeed, great but you will find that NO-ONE is totally indispensable when the Grim Reaper Comes. Each is crucial or critical to the moment, perhaps, but not in the overall projection of a manifest global system. Furthermore, if there is no brotherhood in the “office”, there is no brotherhood in the world—ponder it, please.

“If a man says, I love God, but says I hate my brother, HE IS A LIAR.” John 4:20 (Thank you, Two-by.) Moreover, the first thing pertinent here in this is to

NOT LIE TO SELF.

Now, as to products and potentials. I can note right now, even before I give Doris a chance to enter her thank-you, a perfect example of possibilities and potential.

You have in your reading circle one known as Will Park (Idaho). Will says the following: “I am willing to buy a ticket and come to Makati City [Manila] and help if you need me! If not, I’m saving money now to try and open a health food store.”

Will is a gifted person. He just sent Ekkers a resupply of the best tea mix available anywhere and from that base mix, anything can be added for special needs. Indeed, he has been friends a LONG time and sent this very essential mix to, yes, Tehachapi. That is not the point other than to thank Will for staying aboard because we need him more in that health business than in Makati, for sure!

Now, if everyone would help settle down New Gaia’s problems, we could move right into those resources offered by one such as Will Park. Will also sent a supply of several other things, including cookies which are EXCELLENT for the digestive-nervous system. Used with the ginger tea over here added in small amounts to Will’s basic tea mix in herbal form, you have that which is so healing and soothing to the system as to be quite remarkable. And no, I am not going to “just share it up” with everyone because it becomes just another thing to bring us trouble and misery. However, there is no reason that with outlets and distribution systems such as we HAD available before the deceivers did their betraying and lying—we could package and distribute FROM HIM from his own resource. I further had Dharma add simple “green tea” and Charantia (Balsam Pear in the U.S.) because both are needed EVERY DAY, especially in circumstances where you people live off devastating junk and caffeine. Caffeine is actually quite good for you in moderate use but you do need some buffers (as we presented in the “blocker” solutions which built in Drias coded with that which you want to “block” and a base solution as provided by Wendell Hoffman). (So, if you have forgotten, go get a supply from Wendell, please.) And yes, LOOK ON THE BOTTLE IN USE AND STOP PLAYING GAMES. THAT PRODUCT is the very most basic part of the products themselves—period—and yet I have not heard of anyone either “running out” or “getting more”, although Jack Tulanian was the one in charge. Where have all the responsible parties flown?

Wendell also has his own label of Gaiandriana and, yes, indeed, it is valid and good. However, we changed over the product because George Green had brought charges against the product which was, in fact, a product of George Merkle called “Crystal Life”—CONTAMINATED DELIBERATELY by George Green. What a backfire that was!

So, can you go back to Crystal Life? Of course, but Dr. Merkle came to us asking for “live cell structure” because he had to move into “living cells” rather than attenuated cell crystals. He didn’t have to go far because they were already present in one of his products. But EXPENSIVE beyond ability to use properly. In fact, it was his demand for market pricing that caused Gaiandriana to have pricing as presented. NEVER AGAIN.

Next, when you consider “advantage” deals, realize WHO and how things were misused and abused.

You HAVE the very trail of events that tells more than anything else around—the activities of the Spectrum leadership in the misuse of their corporations—either along the way, intentionally, or at the “split” “quite unintentionally”, it would be assumed.

Structure of contracts, clearly understood, gave ability it seems to avoid taxes, etc., which later came to be an act of intentional “evasion”. There were no “games” played except as were totally ethical, legal and fully substantiated. Then what happened? When the split came ONE of the demands was to get their “corporations” back. Say what? It turned out that Young, Rick and Charles and perhaps others had left their corporations in with the other corporations so that the fees were paid each year by the Institute—or at the least, by someone else! The demand to identify and claim through law those certain corporations PROVES OWNERSHIP, AND THUS EVERY CENT THROUGH THOSE CORPORATIONS SHOULD BE ACCOUNTED BY THE INDIVIDUALS IN POINT, IF FOR NOTHING OTHER THAN TAX REASONS. EVEN “PERKS” MUST BE ACCOUNTED!

The very reason for using corporations in Nevada was to do BUSINESS IN NEVADA—and thus no operations or local business was accepted or presented. There were/are NO EMPLOYEES and everything pertaining to California was attended through corporate structures fully approved and functional in California. This is just an example—because we want to know how the now-known corporation owners, i.e., Plowshares and Spectrum, are registered and what tax arrangements have been disclosed for, I repeat, if they owned those corporations as Dr. Young said, he didn’t ever get paid—only “the” corporation—BUT HE NOW OWNS SAME—WHAT OF ALL THOSE YEARS WHERE IT WAS CONTRACTED TO PAY CORPORATIONS WHEN, IN FACT, IT WAS TO SHELTER THE TAKERS OF INCOME? [501 © 3 for SPECTRUM? They must have lied about its history.]

Oh, I see—Ekkers somehow did it to you? To them? Who? (???) What did Ekkers have to do with any of it other than in the beginning to support and fund Nevada Corporate Headquarters itself—and that was a “business” of the Phoenix Institute. There was no hanky panky—it was a business PROJECT.

No wonder, onlookers, that so many of THE FILES and RECORDS were actually STOLEN along with other odds and ends such as CONTACT and the money out of the bank accounts.

And now? Well, a lot of people wait until these same assaulted parties are expected to somehow work out solutions for everyone’s problems, financial and otherwise. NO, it is no longer acceptable, friends. WE ARE NOT GOING TO JEOPARDIZE THE GOAL PRODUCT TO STRUGGLE TO KEEP ALLOWING THE “RUNNERS” TO HAVE NO INCONVENIENCE. Several people associated got handsomely PAID for their work, overpaid in many instances considering “time” involved and, in addition, got their educations paid for while even having their “sick” days end up on their part-time work days. I repeat, NO; it is NOT acceptable. And, therefore, you have missing parts of Nixon’s tapes, shredded files, destroyed files, thieved records, tampered records and conspiracy among the guilty to blackmail anyone in the office itself so they wouldn’t ever “tell”. Do you actually think the big world is any more definitive than the little office crew?

And, please realize, that when you demand that the only leadership you will accept is from this keyboard because you can’t work something out with your coworkers or participating parties—YOU NEGATE TIME NEEDED TO GET THIS JOB CONCLUDED PROPERLY,

IN THE PHILIPPINES OR ANYWHERE ELSE.

Yes, each of you should hear me and gain input directly—but you CANNOT DO THAT WHILE YOU ARE PLAYING NASTY AND SARCASTIC GAMES WITH YOUR BROTHER. I certainly will NOT interrupt your interchanges.

The point is not to gather dirt—but to GATHER FACTS IN TRUTH. I ASK EACH TO CONSIDER THAT MUDSLINGING IS A SLIME-GAME WHILE TRUTH IS UPON WHICH ALL THINGS MUST BE BASED IN LIVING OR IN A COURT OF LAW. Further, the betrayal of business trust is so unethical as to be astounding that any businessman would indulge in the risks of abuse of that trust.

Is this to teach you to TRUST NO ONE? Perhaps it is a good place to stop, look and listen—but no, IT IS TO REMIND YOU TO ALWAYS ACT IN SUCH A WAY, AND IN TRUTH WITH BACKUP DOCUMENTATION, THAT YOU DON’T EVEN HAVE TO CONSIDER “TRUST”, FOR IT SIMPLY “IS”.

Do I want to see any business or person destructed? NO, just to expose the ones which have prevailed in false intentions and unethical business practices and yes, that includes them all who are guilty of such behaviors and activities. Sometimes that truth confrontation is painful to those caught in the trap of the deceivers—but freedom can only come from TRUTH BROUGHT TO LIGHT SHOWN UPON THE PERPETRATORS.

GETTING THIS JOB DONE

Yes, we shall get this job accomplished. How much do YOU know about “this” job? Many of you only know enough to ensure getting into trouble. That is a frightening thing to those who must keep those necks on the chop-block with the axe raised.

Our whole thrust is to allow people to rise beyond “blood-guzzling” Devil worshipers and move into positive living and growth. But, I think you can see which is the more popular.

Is this some kind of a “misery” writing? OH, NO, THIS IS SIMPLY AN “IDEA” OFFERING. You will be surprised at the positive potential herein.

YOU WILL CREATE EXACTLY WHAT YOU CHOOSE TO ACCOMPLISH! IT IS A UNIVERSAL LAW.

Now as a final observation: How can you continue to load on to New Gaia that which is not even feasible? There are none to create the products, for those are the things under assault, in “reality”. No one is willing to take the responsibility, do the work or do anything to change the predicament of which you all complain. And, yes, indeed, there must be the HIGHEST of standards met in all production of anything. Perhaps it just wasn’t worth it after all—and God always watches to see who and how his gifts will be received.

Sometimes the orchestra dwindles to a Friday-night band—but the music can be as sweet—if the players are willing to face the conductor.

The elderly are exhausted and the young are filled with FEAR and lack of responsibility in most instances. No one will walk into the fray without being pushed—if you have any intelligence at all. However, the examples we set NOW must be in perfection of intent and offering and the rest of goodness shall follow in the new pattern presented. That doesn’t preclude cleaning up and clearing the debris from the old patterns of rot and decay.

NOTHING was “fair” or “just” about Ron Carlson’s circumstances—but it had to take its flow and those are the FACTS, not the “druthers”.

I have noted that positive people who are totally dedicated come to consider the “happenings” as simply having no alternative. No, there is always a choice and always an alternative—you just simply GROW to make those choices which are positive and RIGHT even in the face of the easier way and it is simply so a part of your growth as to assume to self that you had no choice. Blessings upon you! Perhaps Ron can even get close to those hundreds of thousands of Filipinos in Hawaii??? That is, in fact, where old Philippine Presidents go into exile—in the best places the U.S. has to offer.

Will Estrada get that kind of wondrous treatment? Well, perhaps, but when you have simple Mafia-type criminals at work it is unlikely because the dealings have been pretty much unsuitable to the bigger “handlers”, be they Chinese or Americans—or genuine Mafia.

Now get it quite straight, friends, as I have witnessed people committing adultery, theft, lying and cheating—ALL IN THE NAME OF GOD—WHILE USING GOD’S NAME. Yes, it IS my disappointment but not my right to force—NOR APPROVE. Those games will come back around to hurt dearly—but usually when it is TOO LATE.

However, God does not judge and yet he is overjoyed when those who erred come back into Truth—and he allows a man to be whatever he WAS—the point in FACT and TRUTH is what the man is NOW. And don’t forget that here “man” means generic.

I don’t like to leave you with the assumption of some kind of “salvation”—for if you want change, you MAKE CHANGE and if you want to save yourself—then you just said it—YOU MUST DO THE SAVING. Also realize that what you want to dump onto someone else is your salvation—while the term should be redemption possibilities presented by those who went before. YOU MAKE THE RULES TO SUIT SELVES AND THEN WHEN YOU GET DOWN AND OUT—YOU WANT TO CLAIM SALVATION THROUGH SOME MAGIC FORM. NO, IT DIDN’T WORK THEN AND IT WILL NOT WORK NOW. PRETENDING DOES NOT MAKE REALITY.

I remind you people that it is wise to keep your friends close—but keep your enemies even closer. That doesn’t mean that you become either—or hop into bed with either. For goodness sakes, be aware of the miracle and perfection which YOU “ARE”.

I would remind those who “turned away” from some foisted-off disbelief—YOU DIDN’T “BELIEVE” IN THE FIRST PLACE. “Belief” here is not in some “people” or “space cadets” or even Cosmic Teachers—it is: WHERE IS YOUR BELIEF IN GOD CREATOR? Please don’t wait until God cuts the strings and leaves you to your consequences—for that is TRUTH in FACT and REALITY. The operative word in Truth is spelled GRACE. Grace is not present nor presented if the soul INTENT is a lie. “Let’s pretend and fool all the people” is not the key to the kingdom. Truth in right intent is that which opens the doors to that wondrous Kingdom to which all aspire but few want to earn.

So, “Life is the pits and then you die”? (Or some such saying...) NO. Life in a body is what you live in an experience and then you FACE LIFE. What then is YOUR perception?

Salu, DAD

Shall you run this or not? What do YOU think? Perhaps you need to discuss it? Fine, conference and get the TEAM working, please. Adonai dharm

ISRAEL, PALESTINIAN AUTHORITY NOW IN "ARMED CONFLICT"

By Arieh O'Sullivan, The Jerusalem Post, 1/11/01

JERUSALEM—Israeli officials have confirmed that Israel has raised the legal designation of the conflict with the Palestinians to one short of all-out war.

According to senior officials in the IDF and the Foreign Ministry, Israel has unilaterally declared the situation with the Palestinians as an "armed conflict", up from a "formal state of peace".

The redefinition eases open-fire restrictions for soldiers and absolves Israel of legal responsibility for damage and injuries.

The confirmation came as a senior army commander told Israel Radio that soldiers in the territories are "feeling fatigued and trigger happy".

The IDF, currently examining a number of shooting incidents involving soldiers, has concluded that there are increasing instances of soldiers firing against regulations. This includes the fatal shooting of a 24-year-old woman by a sniper as the car she was traveling in ran a road block near Nablus, and the shooting death of a retarded man who approached a Gaza Strip outpost.

By declaring the situation an armed conflict, Israel is open to take more offensive actions. It allows, for example, the designation of a combatant as a legitimate target. This fits the current IDF policy of tracking key Palestinian gunmen and commanders, some of whom are killed in the attempt.

"International law prefers targeting specific people rather than a general area to prevent collateral damage," said one government official.

The current situation from a legal point of view is not the same as during the initial intifada a decade ago. Then, it was a popular, mostly unarmed, insurrection against occupation. Israel was responsible for the administration of the area.

Today the Palestinian Authority controls 97% of the Palestinian population, 95% of the territory in the Gaza Strip, and 40% of the West Bank. The current intifada is one of organized attacks aimed mostly at military and civilian targets which are instigated or supported by the PA and backed by paramilitary forces.

"When we examined the facts we realized, 'We are no longer in Kansas,'" said a senior defense source. "We realized we were in a legal situation of armed conflict."

The status allows a freer hand to destroy property on the grounds of a military necessity. This has allowed the IDF to uproot trees and demolish structures used by Palestinian gunmen without first going to court. Israel abides by the principle of "proportionality in warfare", officials said.

The decision to change the status was taken unilaterally over the course of a few weeks and was in effect about a month ago when the conflict changed from mass demonstrations to armed attacks.

According to the defense source, there were hesitations in the IDF about raising the legal level of the conflict.

"We understood that this decision has serious ramifications and we were not blind to the fact that it could lead to changes in the way we acted," said a defense source. "But then again we are not ostriches. The facts are not controversial: We are in an armed conflict. This is not a civilian uprising. The Palestinians are attacking civilian and military targets. This is called warfare."

Further, "If we had tried to control the situation only using the amount of force allowed in peace time, we couldn't have done so," he said.

The situation cannot develop to a true war in the legal sense since that would require an armed conflict by armies of two states or more and require a certain totality. A tank battle, for example, would only be a skirmish and not necessarily a war.

Israel maintains that once it transferred authority to the Palestinians under the Oslo accords, the bulk of the territories were no longer under the status of "belligerent occupation".

Defense officials said the upgraded legal status could be reversed if and when the level of violence decreases.

[JR: It looks as though Israel is moving into stage II in her one-sided war against the rock-throwing Palestinians. She is now free to move against the Palestinians in any manner she sees fit to secure her position in Arab territories. The PA controls nothing, as they have no say as to the conditions their people have to live in under Israeli occupation, the destruction of Arab villages or the assaults by the Israeli military. They only get what Israel is willing to temporarily grant them at the time. How clever of the Israelis to retroactively legitimize their armed conflicts (abuses and excesses) to justify their actions in response to several UN resolutions charging Israel with abuse and excessive force against the Palestinians. The only "principles" Israel abides by is their supreme, G_d-given rights of (chosen people) Israelis over confiscated Arab lands.]

EXPERTS FEAR JEWISH PLOT AGAINST HOLY SITE

Dawn News, 1/9/01

TEL AVIV—Israeli experts say they fear Jewish fundamentalists are plotting to blow up mosques at Al Quds's Haram Sharif, at the heart of the Israeli-Arab conflict, and could spark an apocalyptic holy war if they succeed.

In a letter to Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Barak made public this week, former Shin Bet secret service chief Carmi Gillon and former police commissioner Assaf Hefetz warned that an extremist strike "would likely lead to all-out war and unleash destructive forces that would imperil Israel's existence".

Control of the site, known to Jews as the Temple Mount, lies at the core of tensions between Israelis and Palestinians and is one of the most divisive elements in a new U.S. peace plan.

The blueprint forwarded by U.S. President Bill Clinton would reportedly give Palestinians control over the upper section of the compound and its mosques, while Israel would retain control over the Western Wall below and the underground section.

Fears that Israel is on the brink of ceding sovereignty over Judaism's holiest site is galvanizing extremists, according to the Keshev Centre for the Protection of Democracy in Israel.

A new report by the centre found tens of thousands of people, many with convictions for "violent, ultranationalist activity", had recently been active in Temple Mount groups.

"These Temple Mount lovers want ideologically and practically to build the third Jewish Temple where the mosques now stand," Keshev director Yizhar Be'er said.

"The result would be a total apocalypse because if a Jewish group bombed the mosques, the Muslim world would declare a war on Israel," he said, adding that Jewish extremists had been helped with financial backing from fundamentalist Christians.

King Solomon built the first temple at the site 3,000 years ago. A second temple was built on its ruins centuries later and was destroyed by the Romans in 70AD. Some Jewish extremists maintain only a third temple on the spot will herald the "kingdom of God".

Keshev said there are at least 10 groups working to bring about the third temple, including the "Small Sanhedrin" organization.

Keshev maintains the group meets regularly in Al Quds's old quarter, where it plans how to bring about a religious state. He says that activists practise sacrificial slaughter in a West Bank settlement as part of preparations for a new temple.

A spokeswoman from the Mitzpe Yericho settlement rejected the accusation. "People here study theory about Temple practices. They are not doing anything and they are not sacrificing. (The claim) is funny," she said.

[JR: The extremist Zionist groups want to trigger a holy war with the Muslim world and they mean to have it at any cost, to us all. Israel has the best security and spy system with the help of the U.S., so why are these known radicals allowed so much freedom to meet, plan and plot? The extreme element of the Likud Party under Sharon has ties to these groups as well as Netanyahu. To deny or lie (Kol Nidre) about such claims is not funny—it's evil.]

WHY SO LITTLE ON ISRAEL'S BRUTALITY?

By Sami A. Halaby, Raleigh News & Observer, 12/27/00

RALEIGH—During this holiday season, diplomats continue to do their work while Palestinian civilian casualties increase and Bethlehem has been under siege. Public attention shifts to other matters. Those of us who celebrate the birth of Christ and who have family in this traditional Christian community wish peace and goodwill to all—and regret the absence of public discussion about the siege in Bethlehem. We are outraged that apathy allows our government to make policy which serves the few who can bring undue lobbying influence on our elected U.S. representatives.

Some of the underlying issues:

- Amnesty International reports that Israel has demolished 2,650 Palestinian homes and confiscated some 750,000 of the available 1.5 million acres in the West Bank since Israel occupied it by military force. Confiscated land is used for illegal settlements, usually built on hilltops interspersed between Palestinian villages. Many settlements discharge their untreated sewage on Palestinian land. The settlements are made possible by some $10 billion in loans guaranteed by our U.S. government.

- Israel implemented draconian regulations and military orders that severely restrict Palestinian movement between cities and which affect Palestinian quality of life at the most basic level. These include deportation, unequal allowances on water usage, building permits and the availability of essential services. Daily life is interrupted by numerous army checkpoints, which harass the population and make travel uncertain. All this in the name of security, but with the real nefarious design, confirmed by Israeli historians as state policy, to encourage Palestinians to leave.

- Currently, there are 300,000 Jewish settlers, about 70,000 of them moved in since the start of the Oslo peace process. The Israeli Peace Now movement recently called attention to increases in the budget for additional settlements. These activities together with the failure of the Palestine Authority to improve living conditions resulted in spontaneous street demonstrations that escalated to an independence resistance movement.

The Israeli response to the demonstrations has been swift and predictable. It proceeds on two fronts.

The first is brutal and military. More than 300 Palestinians have been murdered and 10,000 injured since last October. The casualties are lightly-armed civilians and stone-throwing citizens, many of whom are children. The military uses tanks, assault helicopters and heavy firepower against civilian targets. Much heavy armament and munitions are supplied to the Israeli Army by our government. This comes from some $84 billion in U.S. aid supplied since 1947 and continues unabated.

Accompanying these assaults has been an acceleration in house demolition and destruction of agricultural land. Thousands of olive trees on which villagers depend for their livelihoods have been destroyed. This has been widely documented by UN Human Rights Organization, Amnesty International, the Israeli Peace Now movement and the Christian Peacemaker Team, to name a few. The Peacemaker Team is sponsored by American Mennonite and Quaker communities.

The whole world has condemned Israel's excessive use of force, and Amnesty International charges that some Israeli government actions rise to the level of war crimes. Our government has shamefully prevented the United Nations from acting more forcefully by using its veto and/or actively lobbying on behalf of Israel.

The second response is an attempt to silence the world press—although curiously the Israeli press openly discusses the army's brutality. The silence is most acute in U.S. media. Open discussion is not readily presented; instead we see the all-too-familiar sound bites uncritically repeated. For example, children throwing stones are accused of placing Israel under siege, rather than the other way around. Commentators censure Palestinian parents for sending their children to the front lines and never questioning Israeli settlers who send theirs through the same front lines in armored buses—or for that matter the kind of society that allows its army to target children.

Israel is portrayed as a victim/democracy surrounded by hostile dictatorships rather than as an aggressive nuclear power that expands its territory at the expense of its neighbors and the native population. One reads about the generosity of Prime Minister Ehud Barak in offering the Palestinians part of what is theirs, and not about his brutal attacks on Beirut. Jerusalem is described as the eternal undivided capital of Israel and not one word about the UN resolution to internationalize it.

My U.S. passport says my place of birth is Jerusalem, period. It does not say Jerusalem, Israel or Jerusalem, Palestine. This is in keeping with the UN resolution. After all, we are still governed by laws and not by political expediency, political spin or sound bites. [JR: We can fault the Western media for glossing over or eliminating such facts about the Israeli occupation in Palestine. The big question is if we truly are a Christian people, why do we allow Israel or any other nation to confiscate lands, disfranchise the people or genocide them, all because of their claim that their G_d says they are his chosen ones? If that is true, aren't Christians next on this list? Come to think of it, isn't that what our Zionist-controlled U.S. government has been doing the past eight years?]

HUNDREDS DIED OF CANCER
AFTER "DU" BOMBING—DOCTOR

ABC News, 1/13/01

BELGRADE (Reuters)—A Yugoslav pathologist said on Saturday about 400 Bosnian Serbs from an area bombarded by NATO with depleted uranium (DU) shells in 1994 later died of various forms of cancer.

Doctor Zoran Stankovic, head of the Department of Forensic Medicine of the Yugoslav Military-Medical Academy in Belgrade, linked the deaths—which totalled about 10 percent of the community—to radioactive weapons.

Some of the victims had worn flak jackets made from shells with depleted uranium (DU), he told Reuters in an interview.

"Four hundred people died of various forms of cancer in the past five years.

They were part of a community of some 4,000 Serbs from Hadzici (near Sarajevo) who moved to Bratunac north-east of Sarajevo," Stankovic said.

"The death pattern was easy to follow in an isolated population, particularly with an increased occurrence of malignant diseases and deaths," Stankovic, who performed some 4,000 autopsies, said. Many of the Serbs from Hadzici had worked in a factory repairing tanks and armoured vehicles that was heavily bombed by NATO in 1994. At the time, DU shells found on the ground were recycled and used to produce flak jackets. "Some of these Serbs wore the jackets and died," Stankovic said.

He said no organised multi-disciplinary study had been launched to establish links between DU and health hazards. But he said he strongly felt the link existed.

He was commenting on reports by experts from some Western countries that denied any link between radioactive weaponry and cancers after a renewed DU scare swept many European states whose soldiers serve in Kosovo, where NATO fired thousands of missiles containing the radioactive substance.

"If it is so harmless as some people say, I would like them to collect all the remainders of the DU shells, take them to a nice house somewhere in Brussels, store the shells in the cellar and have their children playing in the house," Stankovic said.

Cases of cancer have been reported among Italian, Belgian, French, Dutch, Spanish and Portuguese soldiers who served as peacekeepers in Bosnia and Kosovo.

NATO faces a potential split over the long-lasting health impact of using the armour-piercing depleted uranium shells which critics blame for cancer among the troops.

Britain, NATO and the United States insist there is no evidence of a link between DU weapons and cases of leukemia among Italian soldiers.

But Italy has demanded a probe into the deaths of at least seven of its soldiers from leukemia after duty in Bosnia and Kosovo.

Stankovic said DU munitions were inflicting physical and thermal damage on human beings, while exposure to their ionising radiation was seen as affecting bone marrow and the reproductive tract and causing congenital anomalies.

Particles from DU explosions were contaminating the soil and underground waters, posing threat to plants and animals, he added.

"The Americans have studied effects of the Gulf War on their soldiers. Their study showed that 76 percent of their descendants were born with physical anomalies. Some were born with six fingers, some without an arm or a leg," he said.

Stankovic said the United Nations had to organise a study of possible links between DU weapons and health hazards, as the world organisation was directly responsible for the use of the depleted uranium weapons. But the study should take time because an illness takes time to develop, he said.

"NATO will have to finance the research. NATO will have to pay for regular medical screening of the local population. If we want to help the people, they must be screened every six months.

"NATO must also send its experts to collect the leftover DU shells, because we don't need them," Stankovic said.

NATO says it had fired 31,000 shells containing DU during its 1999 three-month bombing of Yugoslavia to halt Belgrade's repression in Kosovo. Most hit Kosovo, southern Serbia and Montenegro.

The Yugoslav Army has so far reported no cases of cancer among its members who served in Kosovo during the air strikes

It says screening of 1,000 soldiers had negative results. But Stankovic said the 1,000 soldiers represented less than one percent of some 150,000 troops deployed in Kosovo.

He also said he had received reports of two cases of eyeball cancers. "These two soldiers had served in the area where thousands of shells fell. My question to international medical experts is, how does the surface of the eye-ball react when exposed to the DU dust and does the dust cause the cancer."

[JR: I'd really be skeptical as to the assurances by NATO, the U.S. and Britain that there is no link to cancers and the DU weapons sites. All types of weapons are used in wars now: chemical, biological, laser technology and even weather systems. It is all part of the UN program to depopulate the world. To ask NATO to clean up the sites or do the research on cancer-related cases is like asking a serial killer to investigate his own murders.]

ICC CHARADE: THE NEXT PHASE

The New American, 1/29/01

As predicted in these pages in our last issue, Bill Clinton agreed to sign the UN's International Criminal Court (ICC) treaty just a few hours before the UN's deadline. (The actual honor, such as it was, of signing the document was given to David Scheffer, the Clinton administration's ambassador-at-large for war-crimes issues.) The treaty will go into effect once it is ratified by 60 national governments (a development that is expected by mid-2002), providing the UN with a standing tribunal that will claim universal jurisdiction—including the authority to arrest, detain, and try citizens [even] of nations not party to the treaty.

The ICC treaty has been opposed by the Pentagon, which is justifiably concerned that the UN's court would have the means to arrest and try U.S. military personnel. In announcing his decision to sign the treaty, Mr. Clinton acknowledged such concerns and stated that he would "not recommend that my successor... submit the treaty to the Senate for advice and consent until our fundamental concerns are satisfied." (Emphasis added.) By signing the treaty, continued Clinton, "we will be in a position to influence the evolution of the Court. Without signature, we will not."

George W. Bush transition team spokesman Ari Fleischer was on the same page. Speaking just hours after the Clinton administration signed the treaty, Fleischer declared: "We will review it when we come into office. But we are concerned it is a flawed treaty." For this reason, he specified, George W. Bush would not send the treaty to the Senate for ratification "in its current form". (Emphasis added.) Thus both Bill Clinton and his Republican successor have expressed acceptance of the ICC in concept, with the details to be worked out in due time.

But, in concept, the ICC represents a revocation of U.S. independence. It recreates the circumstances described in the Declaration of Independence by making Americans "subject... to Jurisdiction foreign to our Constitution, and unacknowledged by our Laws...." This is why it is not enough to defeat ratification of the ICC treaty by the Senate (which could be accomplished by an unrecorded voice vote, as happened with ratification of the previous two UN treaties); the U.S. must extricate itself from the UN, and then the world body itself must be de-funded and abolished.

[JR: In signing the ICC Treaty, our leaders are hoping to determine (to our advantage) the power and jurisdiction of this court. This is but another nail in the coffin of our Constitution. The UN is a foreign intruder into our sovereignty and internal affairs that our Founding Fathers warned us about in the Declaration of Independence. We should make this point very clear to our misguided and misinformed Senate and demand public hearings and a recorded individual vote count on this issue. We have already succeeded in removing any justice from our own unjust system. The bottom line is that any treaty that is in conflict with our Constitution is null and void, although our presidents and Congress don't seem to understand this fact. The only way to stop this international invasion is to get out of the UN and stop funding it. When will we take notice of this strangling of our sovereign rights... when the rope is around our necks?] [PW: This entire scenario demands, cries for the ongoing attention of an alert citizenry. It's a biggie.]

HOW DEPLETED URANIUM ERODED U.S.-EUROPEAN DEFENSE COOPERATION

By Tomas Valasek, Senior Analyst,
Center for Defense Information, 01/11/01

There is never a good time for a fight but the timing of the latest row between the United States and Europe over the use of depleted uranium ammunition (DU) in the Balkans could prove to be disastrous. Coming at the time when the European Union (EU) is building its own defense apparatus, the depleted uranium controversy could push European countries away from NATO and possibly lead to competition between the new European defense identity and the North Atlantic alliance.

The European defense identity is a train that cannot be stopped. The EU is already an economic giant with a GDP comparable to that of the United States. It is also inching ever closer to becoming an actual state rather than a loose group of states. At the latest summit in Nice, EU leaders included 30 more policy areas under the rubric of "enhanced cooperation" which require a qualified majority, rather than unanimity. This means that on a whole range of issues, from EU budget to regulation of financial services, a collective decision by a majority of EU members can overrule an individual country's opposition, much as the U.S. federal government can, in many areas, overrule states' legislation and impose federal laws. Germany's Foreign Minister, Joschka Fischer, was only stating the inevitable when he called on the European nations to create within the next decade a functioning European government on a federalist model, presumably similar to the federal government in Washington, D.C.

As an emerging actor on the international scene, the EU naturally demands a say in defense and security policies. Hence the recent effort to establish a 60,000-strong EU Rapid Reaction Force and the necessary political and military bodies to guide it. What is not clear yet, however, is the relation between the emerging European superstate and the United States. In the defense realm, this translates into uncertainty about the European defense identity's relation to NATO.

Some in Europe, most notably France, have sought to keep the EU completely separate from NATO. Although Europe and the United States see eye-to-eye on most defense issues, creation of a separate EU force carries the seeds of a conflict. The EU and NATO may find themselves unable to conduct joint operations as they used to for the past five decades. Moreover, should Brussels and Washington disagree on a security issue, there will be less incentive to seek common ground as Europe will have the ability to act independently. All decisions in NATO have to be made unanimously, thus forcing the allies to hear each other out and compromise.

Making a virtue out of necessity, the United States has publicly endorsed the European defense efforts. At the same time, Washington has sought to steer the EU's defense institution closer to NATO. The NATO alliance's involvement in EU defense decisions would guarantee that Washington is at least consulted on, if not actually asked to approve, EU's military plans. To this end, U.S. officials have successfully worked with their close allies in Europe—Great Britain and Germany—to make sure that EU any defense agreements provided for close NATO involvement.

But proving once again that it is the little details that usually derail grand plans, the depleted uranium (DU) controversy is destroying much of the will in Europe to trust and work with the Americans. U.S. planes fired all of the controversial DU-coated rounds, which Italy, Spain, Portugal and other states now suspect of causing cancer in members of their peacekeeping forces. The European press has been merciless. "What kind of military alliance do we have where [we] must beg for information from the superpower?" wrote the Frankfurter Rundschau. "Confidence in the alliance has been shaken," wrote the respected French daily, Le Figaro. "It looks likely that a clash between the Americans and the Europeans cannot be avoided," wrote Italian daily La Repubblica.

Never mind that Washington maintains that it informed its allies of the DU hazard back in 1999, that a link between DU and cancer has not been convincingly proven, and that the number of cases of cancer among peacekeepers may be well within the statistical average for the population at large. "The controversy about an alleged Balkan syndrome carries the traits of a panic," wrote the Sueddeutsche Zeitung. Next time the European leaders discuss how closely to anchor the EU defense institution to NATO, the public will no doubt ask whether they want to be linked to an alliance which many Europeans are now convinced is killing its own soldiers.

But something positive may come out of the controversy. Washington has indeed at times treated its European allies with a cavalier attitude. Until recently, nobody has bothered to ask the allies what they think of the proposed U.S. national missile defense system, even though the program will not work without installations on the territory of European countries. U.S. pundits and officials routinely accuse Europe of not pulling its weight in the Balkans even though the EU pays 80% of non-military aid to Bosnia and Kosovo, and contributes two thirds of the peacekeeping troops (the U.S. share is 15%).

One way to ensure continued European defense cooperation with the United States is to make NATO a more palatable choice for the Europeans. This need not be complicated. Washington needs to be more forthright with its allies, more willing to hear their views on issues of common interest, and more careful to check the facts before accusing Europe of not pulling its weight.

[JR: The lack of communication and information regarding our use of DU ammunitions seems to be a major issue among the EU states. Europe regards our lack of cooperation as indifference and will in accordance ignore any suggestions we may have in regards to the new European Defense Force. Europe can be an equal competitor economically and a united Europe could go it alone sans the U.S. Losing our influence in Europe could cause a domino effect worldwide.]

NEW U.S.-MEXICO RELATIONS PLEDGED

By Lisa J. Adams, Daily News—Yahoo, 1/10/01

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A group of U.S. senators promised a new era in U.S.-Mexico relations Wednesday, pledging to forge a guest-worker program to bring Mexican workers legally into the United States.

The five senators also showered praise on Vicente Fox, saying his new presidency will end decades of stagnation in the countries' relations.

The delegation of four Republicans and one Democrat, led by Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, also said they would work to eliminate a U.S. drug-certification law that has created years of tension between the two countries.

Under the program, the State Department annually evaluates the drug-fighting performance of other countries and imposes economic sanctions if they don't pass.

"It was a bad idea to begin with," Gramm said. "It's made everybody unhappy."

"President Fox wants to get rid of it," Gramm said. "We want to get rid of it, and we believe our president (Bush) wants to get rid of it. We're going to get rid of it."

The senators met for 90 minutes with Fox on Tuesday in a session that touched on everything from the North American Free Trade Agreement to congestion at border checkpoints.

Their most significant achievement, they said, was unanimous support for a new guest-worker program for Mexicans that would have the effect of granting amnesty to those currently working illegally in the country—up to 7 million people—while allowing others to apply for work from Mexico in the future.

Gramm said he believes the program could be up and running within a year and that he has no doubt President-elect Bush supports it.

"We're very serious about moving ahead on this," he said. "I think we have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to get this done."

The senators said the program could grant legal permits to Mexican workers that could be renewed annually—first to those already in the country illegally and then to Mexicans interested in coming to the United States.

The program would issue work permits to those outside the country based on variables such as the U.S. unemployment rate.

Benefits for Mexican workers could include fair wages, protection under U.S. labor laws, medical care and health insurance, Gramm said.

Companies would be more willing to provide training for legal workers they knew were going to stick around and the workers themselves would no longer have to pay the middlemen who make millions of dollars each year by helping them cross the border and find jobs, Gramm said.

Gramm said with a pool of legal Mexican workers in the United States, employers would be less willing to hire illegal workers, significantly reducing the flow from Mexico.

"Mexico stands to gain equitable treatment for its citizens who work in America. That's going to mean human capital and financial capital to help build Mexico," Gramm said.

"What does the United States get? We get control of our borders. We get the ability to stop illegal immigration."

The senators said they would encourage Bush to meet as soon as possible with Fox so that the two can come to terms on the guest-worker program.

The senators predicted strong and improved relations between the United States and Mexico because of what they described as Fox's willingness to move forward.

For 50 years, "Mexican officials were insulted if you wanted to talk to them about this and we were in such denial that we wanted to pretend like it didn't exist," Gramm said. "Then suddenly you got people who really want to fix the problem."

"I've never dealt with a gentleman or any head of state that was as anxious to get going right away," said Sen. Jim Bunning (R-Ky). "Most people just sit and listen or hand it off to someone else."

Republican Sen. Pete Domenici of New Mexico, said: "I've been a senator 28 years. ... I've never been privileged to sit with a chief executive of a foreign country that impressed me more."

[JR: It seems President Fox of Mexico is succeeding in his pledge to open U.S. borders to Mexican workers. To get back control of our borders it will become necessary to relieve Mexico of its economic and unemployment problems and help build industry in Mexico. The real solution is not as simplistic as they make it sound. We will most likely have to create a whole new federal agency to oversee this new "guest-worker program" for Mexicans to protect their rights, their wages and their benefits. And what about the new influx of illegal Chinese coming in through Mexico, Central America and Canada? In long-term reality, prices on U.S. farm products will soar and no longer be competitive with Mexican or other foreign imports. The plan is defined in the finer details of the NAFTA Treaty we signed and Congress ratified, but didn't bother to read. Mr. Gramm and his fellow liberator/Senators think it's a great deal for Mexico but make no mention of how these altruistic plans will affect our U.S. workers. I guess when our economy goes down, we'll get to decide whether we want to be called unemployed or disadvantaged. Perhaps through NAFTA some Americans could even become migrant workers in Mexico.]

FOX FLOATS EZLN DISARMAMENT IDEA

The News—Mexico City, 1/14/01

Wants Weapons Put Aside Before Talks Are Renewed

President Vicente Fox on Saturday turned the tables on rebels in Chiapas by asking the Zapatista Army of National Liberation (EZLN) to lay down its arms before he fully meets their demands.

Fox said in his weekly radio show his government is willing to comply with the three basic EZLN demands for returning to the negotiating table "if weapons are put aside and agreement is reached" regarding the basis of talks, news agency AFP reported.

Peace talks in the seven-year conflict came to an abrupt halt in September 1996 after the Zapatistas accused the administration of former President Ernesto Zedillo of failing to enact agreed-upon accords.

In a letter published in newspapers on Saturday, EZLN Subcomandante Marcos warned there will no peace in Chiapas if rebel demands are not met.

Marcos, who has been the most recognizable spokesperson for the EZLN since the uprising on Jan. 1, 1994, is seeking the dismantling of seven military bases near rebel strongholds, the release of more than 100 political prisoners and congressional approval of a law on indigenous rights and culture.

In what has been seen as a goodwill gesture, Fox has ordered the closure of three bases and sent Congress an initiative seeking more benefits for indigenous communities.

The Chiapas government also has done its share in pushing peace efforts by releasing 18 EZLN supporters.

"We should eliminate the pretensions," Fox said. "I invite the Zapatistas to sit down and renew dialogue. We will take them up on their word and accept their three basic demands in exchange for peace."

Fox reiterated that dialogue is the key to a possible solution to the seven-year conflict in Chiapas, one of the nation's poorest states.

"We want to integrate the indigenous vision, give them autonomy and demonstrate that we respect their dignity," Fox said. We want to support our indigenous brothers, and we want to do it soon. We are doing this in other parts of the nation. So, why not in Chiapas?"

Marcos has not talked about disarmament, or about accepting a new truce. In his most recent letter, he questioned the government's will to negotiate.

Marcos said dialogue can be renewed "only if government meets our demands".

The rebel leader warned that "there cannot be dialogue nor peace if Fox just wants to make public noise to muffle the sound of war."

[JR: The pretensions are on the government side and the Zapatistas know it and have experienced it for decades. President Fox wants concessions before he guarantees anything—the favorite ploy of the Elite. The ruling class of Mexico has ignored the rights of the indigenous people and never intend to "integrate" their indigenous visions for the future. If Mexico is meeting the needs of its people, why is there such an increase of illegals risking their lives crossing our U.S. borders?]

MI-6 SPY FINDS PRESS HAVEN IN RUSSIA

By Kevin O'Flynn, Moscow Times, 1/17/01

A rogue former British intelligence agent on the run for three years will publish his banned memoirs in Moscow next week amid reports that the publisher is linked to the Russian secret services.

Richard Tomlinson said Tuesday that his book, The Big Breach: From Top Secret to Maximum Security, will be published in English and describe in detail the workings of one of Britain's most secretive organizations, the MI-6, as well as insights into his time as an agent in Moscow.

"I published in Moscow because MI-6 spent a fortune of taxpayers' money taking out injunctions just about everywhere else in the world," Tomlinson said in an e-mail interview. "Ironically, Russia was the only country which offered me freedom of speech."

"Britain has the most arcane secrecy laws of any country now—Russia is far more accountable and open than Britain," Tomlinson said, adding that even the color of the carpets in the MI-6 building are "classified".

Tomlinson joined the MI-6 in 1991 after studying aeronautical science at Cambridge University and serving in the Territorial SAS, an elite branch of the British armed forces. Initially seen as an agent with good prospects, he was sacked by the MI-6, the British foreign intelligence service, in 1995 after serving in Bosnia.

Feeling mistreated, Tomlinson attempted to appeal to an employment tribunal only to be blocked by the MI-6, which cited national security concerns.

Tomlinson then claims, in extracts from the book published in this week's Sunday Times, that he was forced into signing an agreement that provided him with a $25,000 loan and a new job in exchange for agreeing not to write about his service in the MI-6.

Dissatisfied, Tomlinson left the job and was subsequently arrested and sentenced to a year in prison under the Official Secrets Act for sending a synopsis of the book to an Australian publisher.

After serving six months in jail, Tomlinson fled abroad in 1998 and has been moving from country to country ever since.

Much of the book describes the lengths to which MI-6 has gone in pursuing him around the world. Tomlinson says he has been continually followed, arrested 10 times and banned from France, Switzerland, Australia and the United States since leaving England. He currently lives in Rimini in northern Italy.

Other parts describe his mission in Bosnia and Moscow, according to The Sunday Times, but much of the material in the book is not likely to be new. The Observer last year reported Tomlinson's revelations that as an agent he helped sell chemical weapon materials to Iran in the early 1990s despite Britain's own ban on such sales. Other Tomlinson revelations include an attempt to assassinate Yugoslav leader Slobodan Milosevic as well as an allegation that the chauffeur who died with Princess Diana was an MI-6 agent.

Last year, British Foreign Secretary Robin Cook accused Tomlinson of putting a list of active MI-6 agents on a Website. Tomlinson denied the charge saying it was an MI-6 slur although he did admit threatening to do it.

"He has a long track record of sensational material," said a British Foreign Office spokesman on Tuesday. "That he has gone to the lengths of publishing in Moscow makes his credibility less than zero."

MI-6 accused Tomlinson of doing a deal with the Russian secret services to publish his memoirs according to The Sunday Times. They said that the publisher, which both The Sunday Times and Tomlinson refuse to name, is a frontman for one of three intelligence services and is operating under a false name.

Tomlinson denied the allegations Tuesday.

"The publisher has no connections with Russian intelligence, despite MI-6's ridiculous claims," Tomlinson said in an e-mail interview. "He is just a businessman."

The Russian Foreign Intelligence Service, or SVR, also denied the report.

"This is completely absurd," said Boris Labursov, the head of the SVR's press office, adding that they had only heard of the memoir's publications through the media.

Anything that shows the workings of the intelligence services is not in national interests, said a British foreign office spokesman.

"If it is harmless and doesn't put lives at risk, then why publish it in Moscow?" said the spokesman.

He said there are so far no plans to take court action against the book.

The unknown publisher has printed 10,000 copies for worldwide distribution.

Moscow book lovers, however, will not get to see Tomlinson at the book launch.

"I don't think I'll come over for it—it will just give MI-6 ammunition against me," Tomlinson said.

[JR: Mr. Tomlinson's revelation connecting MI-6 to the death of Princess Di is enough to cause great concern and trepidation at MI-6 headquarters right up to Foreign Secretary Robin Cook. It is imperative that Mr. Tomlinson is discredited and his whereabouts be made known to protect Britain's national interest and the Queen. May truth serve Mr. Tomlinson well and protect him from his detractors, stalkers etc. You'll be lucky to get a copy of his book.]

HISTORY LOOKS AT THE NSA

By Declan McCullagh, Wired News, 1/9/01

WASHINGTON—As anyone who watched Enemy of the State knows, the National Security Agency is a rapacious beast with an appetite for data surpassed only by its disregard for Americans' privacy.

Or is the opposite true, and the ex-No Such Agency staffed by ardent civil libertarians?

To the NSA, of course, its devilish reputation is merely an unfortunate Hollywood fiction. Its director, Lt. Gen. Michael Hayden, has taken every opportunity to say so, most recently on a History Channel documentary....

“It’s absolutely critical that (Americans) don’t fear the power that we have,” Hayden said on the show.

He dismissed concerns about eavesdropping over-eagerness and all but said the NSA, far from being one of the most feared agencies, has become one of the most handicapped.

One reason, long cited by agency officials: Encryption. The show’s producers obligingly included stock footage of Saddam Hussein, saying that the dictator-for-life has been spotted chatting on a 900-channel encrypted cell phone.

That’s no surprise. The NSA, as Steven Levy documents in his new Crypto book (which the documentary overlooks), has spent the last 30 years trying to suppress data-scrambling technology through export regulations, court battles, and even personal threats.

Instead of exploring that controversial and timely subject that’s tied to the ongoing debate over privacy online, “America’s Most Secret Agency” instead spends the bulk of an hour on a history of cryptography starting in World War II. Most of the documentary could have aired two decades ago, and no critics are interviewed.

One of the few surprises in the otherwise bland show is the NSA’s new raison d’etre—infowar.

Since its inception in the dark days of the Cold War, the NSA has had two missions, protecting the government’s communications while tunneling through the ciphers that guard the enemy’s. (Occasionally the two have conflicted.)

“The business we’re in is to counter the effectiveness of cyberwar against our infrastructure,” said Michael Jacobs, the NSA’s deputy director for information systems security.

Jacobs cited [electrical] power grids, transportation, air traffic, energy and health services as examples of industries “which have information that is critical to some segment of our society” and must be protected from terrorists, criminals and hackers.

In the agency’s National Cryptologic Strategy for the 21st Century document, the NSA says it will “develop applications to leverage emerging technologies and sustain both our offensive and defensive information warfare capabilities.”

One part of the NSA, the Information Systems Security Organization, is devoted to just that. The group even has an outreach program to take advantage of the “talents of government and industry partners” in secure system design, evaluation, and testing. Another program (call 800-688-6115) even offers two-day training classes.

If all this sounds like a tremendously geeky community college, the NSA doesn’t seem to mind. “I’m here to tell you we don’t get close to the Fourth Amendment,” says the NSA’s Lt. Gen. Hayden.

The Fourth Amendment, as we learned in civics classes, explicitly prohibits “unreasonable” searches and seizures, and implicitly allows reasonable ones. What that means in practice is that the NSA is not permitted by law to spy on American citizens.

But that broad prohibition, codified in the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act, hasn’t stopped fears of NSA overzealousness, fueled by persistent reports of the Echelon data-reporting system.

In early 2000, the House Intelligence committee held hearings after an outcry over a reported NSA global surveillance system called Echelon. Few legislators asked tough questions.

In fact, the National Commission on Terrorism recommended last summer that Congress should give federal police more eavesdropping abilities and increase the budgets of spy agencies.

[JR: NSA’s Lt. Gen. Hayden has tried to make the NSA benign to the thought of spying on American citizens protected by the Fourth Amendment. The problem is the ultimate power delegated to those who determine what are “reasonable” searches and seizures. For him to say “that the NSA is not permitted by law to spy on American citizens” is an outright public-relations lie. They interpret the law to suit their needs and operate on technicalities; and only when they are caught abusing it, as with Echelon, do they invoke National Security authority or conduct an internal investigation which is then sealed. True, the CIA and the NSA cannot legally spy on American citizens without “reasonable” cause but the joint venture between the U.S. and Britain allows cross-spying on citizens of both countries and the exchange of data. The result is that the U.S. can spy on the British and Britain can spy on Americans and that is how they technically comply with the Fourth Amendment to our Constitution.]

WHITE HOUSE “WIPING CLEAN” COMPUTER HARD DRIVES

By Paul Sperry, WorldNetDaily.com, 1/14/01

Judicial Watch gets tip

Clinton aides ‘destroying’ evidence before Jan. 20

The White House is rushing to “wipe clean” the hard drives of computers used by President Clinton’s aides before the Jan. 20 changeover, a public-interest law firm claims.

Normally, when employees leave the White House, computer workers take a snapshot on tape of the contents of their hard drives and store the tape cartridges as part of official records, as required by law. Then they reformat the hard drives for the next users.

But according to Judicial Watch, Inc., political aides have ordered computer workers to first run the hard drives through a software program by the firm Jetico, called BC (Best Crypt) Wipe, which “wipes clean the drives so the next administration can’t retrieve any files”.

“They’re starting with [the hard drives of] the most important people first—the [White House] lawyers—and working their way down,” said Judicial Watch President Tom Fitton. “And they’re working through the weekend.”

He added: “It’s the equivalent of burning records, according to our sources,” who are White House employees.

The records are key to Judicial Watch’s Filegate lawsuit against the White House. General counsel Larry Klayman said he passed the tip on to U.S. District Judge Royce Lamberth late Friday.

Calls to the White House were not returned by deadline.

Fitton said Clinton aides Mark Lindsay and Michael Lyle are heading up the project—which is being carried out by Charles Nash, a supervisor in the White House’s records management unit.

[JR: It has been the hallmark of the Clinton administration to “misplace” or inadvertently destroy all files and records that might be questionable, unethical or illegal. What else can be assumed by the public, with such a frenzy to wipe clean all past activities. Where is Bush’s Transition Team to protest such actions? Guess they condone such practices and intend to do likewise.]

ANCIENT CRYSTAL QUESTIONS EARTH’S HISTORY

By Dr. David Whitehouse (Online Science Editor),
BBC News, 1/11/01

A tiny crystal, little thicker than two human hairs, is the oldest Earth material ever found and it may force a reappraisal of what our planet was like early in its history.

The grain, technically known as a zircon, has been dated to be 100 million years older than any solid sample previously discovered.

It casts doubt on the accepted state of the Earth over four billion years ago: a boiling ocean of molten magma, devoid of life.

The new picture emerging is of a world cool enough to support water and continents, and possibly the first stirrings of life.

Zircon is a durable crystal made of silicon, oxygen and zirconium, among other elements. The record-breaking sample was one of a dozen specimens extracted from the Jack Hills section of northwestern Australia. It was dated in two separate studies at 4.4 and 4.3 billion years old.

One of the researchers involved, Professor John Valley, from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, U.S., said: “This is an astounding thing to find from 4.4 billion years ago. At that time, the Earth’s surface should have been a magma ocean. Conventional wisdom could not have predicted a low-temperature environment.”

The conditions prevalent at the time the zircon grain formed suggest that the Earth cooled faster than anyone thought.

“Previously, the oldest evidence for liquid water on Earth, considered by most to be a precondition for life, was from a rock estimated to be 3.8 billion years old,” said Professor Valley.

Both research teams dated the zircon grains by analyzing their uranium isotopes—types of uranium atoms with different masses.

Uranium decays into lead. By calculating the ratio of uranium to lead, they determined that a dozen of the grains in their possession were very old indeed.

The zircon analysis also involved looking at the ratio of oxygen isotopes. This showed the crystals could only have originated in a wet, low-temperature environment. This does not fit in with the accepted view that shortly after the Earth formed 4.5 to 4.6 billion years ago, the planet was a ball of molten rock.

Scientists had thought that it took several hundred million years for the Earth to cool enough for oceans to condense out of a thick atmosphere.

Evidence from the Moon also suggests that about 500-600 million years after formation, Earth was subjected to intense bombardment from meteoroids.

An intriguing question the new research raises is whether or not life could have arisen so early in the Earth’s history.

Professor Valley said that the zircon analysis was consistent with the suggested idea that life began but was completely extinguished in catastrophic impacts that melted the Earth’s surface.

Both research papers are published in the journal Nature. Commenting on the work, Professor Alex Halliday, of the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology in Zurich, said: “It represents a significant advance in reconstructing Earth’s Dark Ages.”

[JR: This speculation on the findings of these ancient crystals, little thicker than two human hairs, seem to raise more questions as to Earth’s age and history than it answers. It also effectively changes scientific thinking that has evolved over hundreds of years that had been built upon inaccurate data from compounded research. It opens up the possibilities that there could have been even more civilizations than is thought. Earth could have gone through several rebirths or “New Genesis”, since everything in our universe is cyclical and there are even other dimensions beyond our physical universe. Also, who can say for sure our known scientific methods of measurement are truly accurate. Science may attempt to fool Mother Nature but Mother Nature certainly does make fools of scientists.]
