RE: PROTOCOLS OF THE ELDERS OF ZION TO ACCOMPLISH WORLD CONTROL [QUOTING:]

(PART 7)

PROTOCOL NO. 13

The need for daily bread forces the goyim to keep silence and be our humble servants. Agents taken on to our press from among the goyim will at our order discuss anything which it is inconvenient for us to issue directly in official documents, and we meanwhile, quietly amid the din of the discussion so raised, shall simply take and carry through such measures as we wish and then offer them to the public as an accomplished fact. No one will dare to demand the abrogation of a matter once settled, all the more so as it will be represented as an improvement... And immediately the press will distract the current of thought towards new questions (have we not trained people always to be seeking something new?). Into the discussions of these new questions will throw themselves those of the brainless dispensers of fortunes who are not able even now to understand that they have not the remotest conception about the matters which they undertake to discuss. Questions of the political are unattainable for any save those who have guided it already for many ages, the creators.

From all this you will see that in securing the opinion of the mob we are only facilitating the working of our machinery, and you may remark that it is not for actions but for words issued on this or that question that we seem to seek approval. We are constantly making public declaration that we are guided in all our undertakings by the hope, joined to the conviction, that we are serving the commonweal.

In order to distract people who may be too troublesome from discussions of questions of the political we are now putting forward what we allege to be new questions of the political, namely, questions of industry. In this sphere let them discuss themselves silly! The masses are agreed to remain inactive, to take a rest from what they suppose to be political activity (which we trained them to in order to use them as a means of combating the goy governments) only on condition of being found new employments, in which we are prescribing them something that looks like the same political object. In order that the masses themselves may not guess what they are about we further distract them with amusements, games, pastimes, passions, people's palaces... Soon we shall begin through the press to propose competitions in art, in sport of all kinds: these interests will finally distract their minds from questions in which we should find ourselves compelled to oppose them. Growing more and more disaccustomed to reflect and form any opinions of their own, people will begin to talk in the same tone as we, because we alone shall be offering them new directions for thought... of course through such persons as will not be suspected of solidarity with us.

The part played by the liberals, utopian dreamers, will be finally played out when our government is acknowledged. Till such time they will continue to do us good service. Therefore we shall continue to direct their minds to all sorts of vain conceptions of fantastic theories, new and apparently progressive, for have we not with complete success turned the brainless heads of the goyim with progress, till there is not among the goyim one mind able to perceive that under this word lies a departure from truth in all cases where it is not a question of material inventions, for truth is one, and in it there is no place for progress. Progress, like a fallacious idea, serves to obscure truth so that none may know it except us, the Chosen of God, its guardians.

When we come into our kingdom our orators will expound great problems which have turned humanity upside down in order to bring it at the end under our beneficent rule.

Who will ever suspect then that ALL THESE PEOPLES WERE STAGE-MANAGED BY US ACCORDING TO A POLITICAL PLAN WHICH NO ONE HAS SO MUCH AS GUESSED AT IN THE COURSE OF MANY CENTURIES?

PROTOCOL NO. 14

When we come into our kingdom it will be undesirable for us that there should exist any other religion than ours of the One God with whom our destiny is bound up by our position as the Chosen People and through whom our same destiny is united with the destinies of the world. We must therefore sweep away all other forms of belief. If this gives birth to the atheists whom we see today, it will not, being only a transitional stage, interfere with our views, but will serve as a warning for those generations which will hearken to our preaching of the religion of Moses, that, by its stable and thoroughly elaborated system, has brought all the peoples of the world into subjection to us. Therein we shall emphasize its mystical right, on which, as we shall say, all its educative power is based... Then at every possible opportunity we shall publish articles in which we shall make comparisons between our beneficent rule and those of past ages. The blessings of tranquillity, though it be a tranquillity forcibly brought about by centuries of agitation, with throw into higher relief the benefits to which we shall point.

The errors of the goyim governments will be depicted by us in the most vivid hues. We shall implant such an abhorrence of them that the peoples will prefer tranquillity in a state of serfdom to those rights of vaunted freedom which have tortured humanity and exhausted the very sources of human existence, sources which have been exploited by a mob of rascally adventurers who know not what they do... Useless changes of forms of government to which we instigated the goyim when we were undermining their state structures, will have so wearied the peoples by that time that they will prefer to suffer anything under us rather than run the risk of enduring again all the agitations and miseries they have gone through.

At the same time we shall not omit to emphasize the historical mistakes of the goy governments which have tormented humanity for so many centuries by their lack of understanding of everything that constitutes the true good of humanity in their chase after fantastic schemes of social blessings, and have never noticed that these schemes kept on producing a worse and never a better state of the universal relations which are the basis of human life.

The whole force of our principles and methods will lie in the fact that we shall present them and expound them as a splendid contrast to the dead and decomposed old order of things in social life.

Our philosophers will discuss all the shortcomings of the various beliefs of the goyim, BUT NO ONE WILL EVER BRING UNDER DISCUSSION OUR FAITH FROM ITS TRUE POINT OF VIEW SINCE THIS WILL BE FULLY LEARNED BY NONE SAVE OURS WHO WILL NEVER DARE TO BETRAY ITS SECRETS.

In countries known as progressive and enlightened we have created a senseless, filthy, abominable literature. For some time after our entrance to power we shall continue to encourage its existence in order to provide a telling relief by contrast to the speeches, party programme, which will be distributed from exalted quarters of ours... Our wise men, trained to become leaders of the goyim, will compose speeches, projects, memoirs, articles, which will be used by us to influence the minds of the goyim, directing them towards such understanding and forms of knowledge as have been determined by us.

PROTOCOL NO. 15

When we at last definitely come into our kingdom by the aid of coups d'etat prepared everywhere for one and the same day, after the worthlessness of all existing forms of government has been definitely acknowledged (and not a little time will pass before that comes about, perhaps even a whole century) we shall make it our task to see that against us such things as plots shall no longer exist. With this purpose we shall slay without mercy all who take arms (in hand) to oppose our coming into our kingdom. Every kind of new institution of anything like a secret society will also be punished with death; those of them which are now in existence, are known to us, serve us and have served us, we shall disband and send into exile to continents far removed from Europe. In this way we shall proceed with those goy Masons who know too much; such of these as we may for some reason spare will be kept in constant fear of exile. We shall promulgate a law making all former members of secret societies liable to exile from Europe as the centre of our rule.

Resolutions of our government will be final, without appeal.

In the goy societies, in which we have planted and deeply rooted discord and protestantism, the only possible way of restoring order is to employ merciless measures that prove the direct force of authority; no regard must be paid to the victims who fall, they suffer for the well-being of the future. The attainment of that well-being, even at the expense of sacrifices, is the duty of any kind of government that acknowledges as justification for its existence not only its privileges but its obligations. The principal guarantee of stability of rule is to confirm the aureole of power, and this aureole is attained only by such as majestic inflexibility of might as shall carry on its face the emblems of inviolability from mystical causes—from the choice of God. Such was, until recent times, the Russian autocracy, the one and only serious foe we had in the world, without counting the Papacy. Bear in mind the example when Italy, drenched with blood, never touched a hair of the head of Sulla (Some versions of the “Protocols” followed Joly’s “Dialogues” so closely that Joly’s mistaken spelling of Sulla’s name as “Sylla” was also copied. In the translation of the “Protocols” here used, however, the mistake was rectified.), who had poured forth that blood. Sulla enjoyed an apotheosis for his might in the eyes of the people, though they had been torn in pieces by him, but his intrepid return to Italy ringed him round with inviolability. The people do not lay a finger on him who hypnotizes them by his daring and strength of mind.

Meantime, however, until we come into our kingdom, we shall act in the contrary way; we shall create and multiply free Masonic lodges in all the countries of the world, absorb into them all who may become or who are prominent in public activity, for in these lodges we shall find our principal intelligence office and means of influence. All these lodges we shall bring under one central administration, known to us alone and to all others absolutely unknown, which will be composed of our learned elders. The lodges will have their representatives who will serve to screen the above-mentioned administration of masonry and from whom will issue the watchword and programme. In these lodges we shall tie together the knot which binds together all revolutionary and liberal elements. Their composition will be made up of all strata of society. The most secret political plots will be known to us and will fall under our guiding hands on the very day of their conception. Among the members of these lodges will be almost all the agents of international and national police since their service is for us irreplaceable in the respect that the police is in a position not only to use its own particular measures with the insubordinate, but also to screen our activities and provide pretexts for discontents, et cetera.

The class of people who most willingly enter into secret societies are those who live by their wits, careerists, and in general people, mostly light-minded with whom we shall have no difficulty in dealing and in using to wind up the mechanism of the machine devised by us. If this world grows agitated the meaning of that will be that we have had to stir it up in order to break up its too great solidarity. But if there should arise in its midst a plot, then at the head of that plot will be no other than one of our most trusted servants. It is natural that we and no other should lead Masonic activities, for we know whither we are leading; we know the final goal of every form of activity where as the goyim have knowledge of nothing, not even of the immediate effect of action; they put before themselves, usually, the momentary reckoning of the satisfaction of their self-opinion in the accomplishment of their thought without even remarking that the very conception never belonged to their initiative but to our instigation of their thought...

The goyim enter the lodges out of curiosity or in the hope by their means to get a nibble at the public pie, and some of them in order to obtain a hearing before the public for their impracticable and groundless fantasies; they thirst for the emotion of success and applause, of which we are remarkably generous. And the reason why we give them this success is to make use of the high conceit of themselves to which it gives birth, for that insensibly disposes them to assimilate our suggestions without being on their guard against them in the fullness of their confidence that it is their own infallibility which is giving utterance to their own thoughts and that it is impossible for them to borrow those of others. You cannot imagine to what extent the wisest of the goyim can be brought to a state of unconscious naivete in the presence of this condition of high conceit of themselves, and at the same time how easy it is to take the heart out of them by the slightest ill-success, though it be nothing more than the stoppage of the applause they had, and to reduce them to a slavish submission for the sake of winning a renewal of success.

By so much as ours disregard success if only they can carry through their plans, by so much the GOYIM are willing to sacrifice any plans only to have success. This psychology of theirs materially facilitates for us the task of setting them in the required direction. These tigers in appearance have the souls of sheep and the wind blows freely through their heads. We have set them on the hobby-horse of an idea about the absorption of individuality by the symbolic unit of collectivism... They have never yet and they never will have the sense to reflect that this hobby-horse is a manifest violation of the most important law of nature, which has established from the very creation of the world one unit unlike another and precisely for the purpose of instituting individuality.

If we have been able to bring them to such a pitch of stupid blindness, is it not a proof, and an amazingly clear proof, of the degree to which the mind of the goyim is undeveloped in comparison with our mind? This it is, mainly, which guarantees our success.

And how far-seeing were our learned elders in ancient times when they said that to attain a serious end it behooves not to stop at any means or to count the victims sacrificed for the sake of that end... We have not counted the victims of the seed of the goy cattle, though we have sacrificed many of our own, but for that we have now already given them such a position on the earth as they could not even have dreamed of. The comparatively small numbers of the victims from the number of ours have preserved our nationality from destruction.

Death is the inevitable end for all. It is better to bring that end nearer to those who hinder our affairs than to ourselves, to the founders of this affair. We execute Masons in such a wise that none save the brotherhood can ever have a suspicion of it, not even the victims themselves of our death sentence, they all die when required as if from a normal kind of illness. Knowing this, even the brotherhood in its turn dare not protest. By such methods we have plucked out of the midst of Masonry the very root of protest against our disposition.

While preaching liberalism to the goyim we at the same time keep our own people and our agents in a state of unquestioning submission.

Under our influence the execution of the laws of the goyim has been reduced to a minimum. The prestige of the law has been exploded by the liberal interpretations introduced into this sphere. In the most important and fundamental affairs and questions judges decide as we dictate to them, see matters in the light wherewith we enfold them for the administration of the goyim; of course, through persons who are our tools though we do not appear to have anything in common with them—by newspaper opinion or by other means. Even senators and the higher administration accept our counsels. The purely brute mind of the goyim is incapable of use for analysis and observation, and still more for the foreseeing whither a certain manner of setting a question may tend.

In this difference in capacity for thought between the goyim and ourselves may be clearly discerned the seal of our position on the Chosen People and of our higher quality of humanness, in contradistinction to the brute mind of the goyim. Their eyes are open, but see nothing before them and do not invent (unless, perhaps, material things). From this it is plain that nature herself has destined us to guide and rule the world.

When comes the time of our overt rule, the time to manifest its blessings, we shall remake all legislatures, all our laws will be brief, plain, stable, without any kind of interpretations, so that anyone will be in a position to know them perfectly. The main feature which will run right through them is submission to orders, and this principle will be carried to a grandiose height. Every abuse will then disappear in consequence of the responsibility of all down to the lowest unit before the higher authority of the representative of power. Abuse of power subordinate to this last instance will be so mercilessly punished that none will be found anxious to try experiments with their own powers. We shall fillip up jealously every action of the administration on which depends the smooth running of the machinery of the State, for slackness in this produces slackness everywhere; not a single case of illegality or abuse of power will be left without exemplary punishment.

Concealment of guilt, connivance between those in the service of the administration—all this kind of evil will disappear after the very first examples of severe punishment. The aureole of our power demands suitable, that is, cruel, punishments for the slightest infringement, for the sake of gain, of its supreme prestige. The sufferer, though his punishment may exceed his fault, will count as a soldier falling on the administrative field of battle in the interest of authority, principle and law, which do not permit that any of those who hold the reins of the public coach should turn aside from the public highway to their own private paths. For example: our judges will know that whenever they feel disposed to plume themselves on foolish clemency they are violating the law of justice which is instituted for the exemplary edification of men by penalties for lapses and not for display of the spiritual qualities of the judge. Such qualities it is proper to show in private life, but not in a public square which is the educational basis of human life.

Our legal staff will serve not beyond the age of 55, firstly because old men more obstinately hold to prejudiced opinions, and are less capable of submitting to new directions, and second because this will give us the possibility by this measure of securing elasticity in the changing of staff, which will thus the more easily bend under our pressure; he who wishes to keep his place will have to give blind obedience to deserve it. In general, our judges will be elected by us only from among those who thoroughly understand that the part they have to play is to punish and apply laws and not to dream about the manifestations of liberalism at the expense of the educational scheme of the State, as the goyim in these days imagine it to be. This method of shuffling the staff will serve also to explode any collective solidarity of those in the same service and will bind all to the interests of the government upon which their fate will depend. The young generation of judges will be trained in certain views regarding the inadmissibility of any abuses that might disturb the established order of our subjects among themselves.

In these days the judges of the goyim create indulgences to every kind of crime, not having a just understanding of their office, because the rulers of the present age in appointing judges to office take no care to inculcate in them a sense of duty and consciousness of the matter which is demanded of them. As a brute beast lets out its young in search of prey, so do the goyim give their objects places of profit without thinking to make clear to them for what purpose such place was created. This is the reason why their governments are being ruined by their own forces through the acts of their own administration.

Let us borrow from the example of the results of these actions yet another lesson for our government.

We shall root out liberalism from all the important strategic posts of our government on which depends the training of subordinates for our State structure. Such posts will fall exclusively to those who have been trained by us for administrative rule. To the possible objection that the retirement of old servants will cost the Treasury heavily, I reply, firstly, they will be provided with some private service in place of what they lose, and, secondly, I have to remark that all the money in the world will be concentrated in our hands, consequently it is not our government that has to fear expense.

Our absolutism will in all things be logically consecutive and therefore in each one of its decrees our supreme will will be respected and unquestionably fulfilled; it will ignore all murmurs, all discontents of every kind and will destroy to the root every kind of manifestation of them in act by punishment of an exemplary character.

We shall abolish the right of cassation, which will be transferred exclusively to our disposal—to the cognisance of him who rules, for we must not allow the conception among the people of a thought that there could be such a thing as a decision that is not right of judges set up by us. If, however, anything like this should occur, we shall ourselves cassate the decision, but inflict therewith such exemplary punishment on the judge for lack of understanding of his duty and the purpose of his appointment as will prevent a repetition of such cases. I repeat that it must be borne in mind that we shall know every step of our administration which only needs to be closely watched for the people to be content with us, for it has the right to demand from a good government a good official.

Our government will have the appearance of a patriarchal guardianship on the part of the ruler. Our own nation and our subjects will discern in his person a father caring for their every need, their every act, their every inter-relation as subjects one with another, as well as their relations to the ruler. They will then be so thoroughly imbued with the thought that it is impossible for them to dispense with this wardship and guidance, if they wish to live in peace and quiet, that they will acknowledge the autocracy of our ruler with a devotion bordering on APOTHEOSIS, especially when they are convinced that those whom we set up do not put their own in place of authority, but only blindly execute his dictates. They will be rejoiced that we have regulated everything in their lives as is done by wise parents who desire to train their children in the cause of duty and submission. For the peoples of the world in regard to the secrets of our polity are ever through the ages only children under age, precisely as are also their governments.

As you see, I found our despotism on right and duty: the right to compel the execution of duty is the direct obligation of a government which is a father for its subjects. It has the right of the strong that it may use it for the benefit of directing humanity towards that order which is defined by nature, namely, submission. Everything in the world is in a state of submission, if not to man, then to circumstances or its own inner character, in all cases, to what is stronger. And so shall we be this something stronger for the sake of good.

We are obliged without hesitation to sacrifice individuals, who commit a breach of established order, for in the exemplary punishment of evil lies a great educational problem.

When the King of Israel sets upon his sacred head the crown offered him by Europe he will become patriarch of the world. The indispensable victims offered by him in consequence of their suitability will never reach the number of victims offered in the course of centuries by the mania of magnificence, the emulation between the goy governments.

Our King will be in constant communion with the peoples, making to them from the tribune speeches which fame will in that same hour distribute over all the world.

PROTOCOL NO. 16

In order to effect the destruction of all collective forces except ours we shall emasculate the first stage of collectivism—the universities, by re-educating them in a new direction. Their officials and professors will be prepared for their business by detailed secret programmes of action from which they will not with immunity diverge, not by one iota. They will be appointed with especial precaution, and will be so placed as to be wholly dependent upon the government.

We shall exclude from the course of instruction State Law as also all that concerns the political question. These subjects will be taught to a few dozens of persons chosen for their pre-eminent capacities from among the number of the initiated. The universities must no longer send out from their halls milksops concocting plans for a constitution, like a comedy or a tragedy, busying themselves with questions of policy in which even their own fathers never had any power of thought.

The ill-guided acquaintance of a large number of persons with question of polity creates utopian dreamers and bad subjects, as you can see for yourselves from the example of the universal education in this direction of the goyim. We must introduce into their education all those principles which have so brilliantly broken up their order. But when we are in power we shall remove every kind of disturbing subject from the course of education and shall make out of the youth obedient children of authority, loving him who rules as the support and hope of peace and quiet.

Classicism, as also any form of study of ancient history, in which there are more bad than good examples, we shall erase from the memory of men all facts of previous centuries which are undesirable to us, and leave only those which depict all the errors of the government of the goyim. The study of practical life, of the obligations of order, of the relations of people one to another, of avoiding bad and selfish examples, which spread the infection of evil, and similar questions of an educative nature, will stand in the forefront of the teaching programme, which will be drawn up on a separate plan for each calling or state of life, in no wise generalising the teaching. This treatment of the question has special importance.

Each state of life must be trained within strict limits corresponding to its destination and work in life. The occasional genius has always managed and always will manage to slip through into our states of life, but it is the perfect folly for the sake of this rare occasional genius to let through into ranks foreign to them the untalented who thus rob of their places those who belong to those ranks by birth or employment. You know yourselves in what all this has ended for the goyim who allow the crying absurdity.

In order that he who rules may be seated firmly in the hearts and minds of subjects it is necessary for the time of his activity to instruct the whole nation in the schools and in the market places about his meaning and his acts and all his beneficent initiatives.

We shall abolish every kind of freedom of instruction. Learners of all ages will have the right to assemble together with their parents in the educational establishments as if it were in a club. During these assemblies, on holidays teachers will read what will pass as free lectures on questions of human relations, of the laws of examples, of the limitations which are born of unconscious relations, and finally, of the philosophy of new theories not yet declared to the world. These theories will be raised by us to the stage of a dogma of faith as a transitional stage towards our faith. On the completions of this exposition of our programme of action in the present and the future I will read you the principles of these theories.

In a word, knowing by the experience of many centuries that people live and are guided by ideas, that these ideas are imbibed by people only by the aid of education provided with equal success for all ages of growth, but of course by varying methods, we shall swallow up and confiscate to our own use the last scintilla of independence of thought, which we have for long past been directing towards subjects and ideas useful for us. The system of bridling thought is already at work in the so-called system of teaching by object lessons, the purpose of which is to turn the goyim into unthinking submissive brutes waiting for things to be presented before their eyes in order to form an idea of them. In France, one of our best agents, Bourgeois, has already made public a new programme of teaching by object lessons.

[END OF QUOTING PROTOCOL NO. 16, PART 7]

So, as a reminder, if you are already too confused to remember: who and what is a GOYIM? ANYONE AND EVERYONE WHO IS NOT A “JEW” BY THEIR DEFINITION AND THAT WILL LEAVE OUT ALMOST ALL WHO “THOUGHT” THEMSELVES TO BE A “JEW”. IN THIS CONTEXT THE “JEWISH” PERSON MAY WELL NOT BE INCLUDED AND THUS IS ALSO A GOY.

Many research scholars will refer to this as “those who are ‘false’ Jews or ‘non-Jew’ but Judean or ‘Zionists’ and even ‘non-Hebrew’ Jews.” Complicated? Yes and intentionally so. Nobody can identify the manipulators in this kind of confusion. I suggest you be very careful about your attitudes toward a fellow traveler unless you KNOW of that which you speak.

These “tribes”, remember, were of the Khazars (many spellings of that tribe) which was often called the “13th Tribe” but in fact the Khazars were a tribe (or a semi-race) of those of Nordic, Mongolian and Russ lineage.

They called themselves the Serpent People right up through the time of the 13th Century, so this is well within historic reference—although almost all references have now been removed to the secret places of libraries or destroyed as is much of your own ongoing historical references. You are fed what you are wanted to know and has little to do with actual happenings of historical fact.

By the way, “Judeo-Christian” has no meaning, for you are either one OR the other—you cannot be both simply because that is the way it was established at onset and that was at the time of the “Christ” acceptance.

To you who wish to offer the Talmud as a contradiction (which you won’t if you know anything about the religion itself) to whatever is considered “Jewish”, fine, contradict. However, the teaching of the Judeans was from the Torah. The Talmud was developed by Jewish rabbis and offers very interesting instructions regarding you “Cattle” as both chattel and to be enslaved. Most people who think of themselves as “Jews” will have no more idea of these facts than any babe in southern tribal Mindanao-Sulu or Borneo.

Everybody just thinks they are “getting ahead in business” and trying to individually succeed and that is the way you are captured (trapped).

Again: If you find these sensitive and objectionable—I did not write these protocols, so you had best look more carefully at the New World of Globalization planned for ALL OF YOU. THIS IS WHAT IS MEANT BY SUCH CATASTROPHIC TERMS AS APOCALYPSE, ARMAGEDDON, ETC. IT HAS BEEN PROPHESED SINCE THE BEGINNING OF YOUR EXPERIENCE. THE CHANGES OF CIVILIZATIONS AND EVEN PHYSICAL STRUCTURE OF THE GEOGRAPHIC PRESENTATION OF THE PLANET HAVE BEEN MANY THROUGHOUT THE EONS (AGES) OF MANKIND. YOU CAN ARGUE UNTIL YOU FALL ON YOUR FACE AND WILL MAKE NO DIFFERENCE.

We will offer the rest as we can get them recorded; there are 24 recognized Protocols here. There are many more individual additions and addendums and they are constantly updated so that the orchestra doesn’t lose the instructions.

There are prophets in all times and if you wish to gain confirmation of your time in evolvment ask a few of your more gifted seers and then go right back to this list of protocols and see what you think and where you ARE. And, when you stop killing the messengers you may move ahead more quickly to positive opportunities. Moreover, when you start using the message you shall have glory.

Good evening, GCH

[H: I SET THIS NOTICE APART AS BEST WE CAN IN THIS COMPUTER SYSTEM SO THAT YOU CAN REMAIN AWARE OF ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT MIND-TRAINING METHODS AROUND THE GLOBE.

ANYONE WITH PROBABILITY OF COMING INTO POWER POLITICALLY OR IN ECONOMICS OR THE OTHER ORCHESTRATED "PROFESSIONS" IS INTENTIONALLY SENT, EVEN IF NECESSARY THROUGH SCHOLARSHIPS, TO TOTALLY CONTROLLED UNIVERSITIES "FOR TRAINING". HARVARD IS AN EXCELLENT EXAMPLE, AS ARE YALE, SOME ENGLISH UNIVERSITIES AND STANFORD.

THE GUIDELINES FOR THE "SUBJECTS" IN WHICH THERE WILL BE SUBSTITUTED INSTRUCTIONS, SUCH AS BITS OF LAW WHILE THE STUDENT IS OPEN AND TOTALLY FLEXIBLE AS TO "HOW TO SUCCEED", THE DOCTRINE OF THE LIE IS INSTILLED CAREFULLY, PROFESSIONALLY AND WITHOUT EXCEPTION SO THAT THE STUDENT, WHEN IN PRACTICE, BE IT FROM A LEGAL COUNSELOR TO THE PRESIDENT OF A NATION, IS WITHOUT NOTICE OF THE FACT THEY ARE NOT PRACTICING FACT OR TRUTH—BUT TRAINED ROBOTIC RESPONSES.

THE UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES, ALONG WITH TEACHERS IN THE LOWER GRADES, WILL FAIL A STUDENT IF HE DEVIATES FROM THE PLANNED PERCEPTION OF ANY LAW OR TOPIC IN CONSIDERATION. THE MASSES WHO ARE UNTRAINED AT ALL ARE FORCED TO LIVE UNDER THE NEW REGULATIONS "AS IF" THEY ARE TRUE AND LAWFUL.

THE PREDOMINANT RELIGION(S) WILL MAKE THE GUIDELINES FOR MEMBERSHIP EVEN MORE STRINGENT THAN ALREADY ESTABLISHED UNDER THEIR "OWN" KINGS—BUT—OTHER SECTS AND CULTS WILL SET FORTH TO ACCEPT ANY WHO PULL AWAY FROM THE TRADITIONALLY ESTABLISHED PROGRAMME. PEOPLE HAVE TO BE PRODDED INTO ACCEPTING CHANGE. NOTE THE ROMAN CATHOLIC POPE MOVING ABOUT TODAY AMONG THE "VERY ENEMY" OF LAST ACTIVITIES. THIS IS BOTH CONFUSING BUT WELL PROGRAMMED FOR ACCEPTANCE OF THE ZIONIST PROGRAMME VS. THE TRADITIONAL DIFFERENCE-ORIENTED CULTURE. NOTE THE "APOLOGIZING" TO GROUPS WHO WERE SET UPON BY THE OFFENDING KINGS. THIS IS DELUSION IN ITS MOST OBVIOUS FORM.

THIS IS TO BRING ABOUT ONE RELIGION—ONE WORLD—GOVERNMENT, STATE AND RELIGION AND THE "TIME" IS NOW, FRIENDS. YOU CAN SET YOUR CLOCKS BY THE TIMING.

DO WE WANT TO OVERTHROW SOMETHING OR ANOTHER? NO, WE SIMPLY WISH TO AS QUIETLY AS POSSIBLE BEGIN TO ALLOW FOR POSSIBILITY OF CHANGE. WARS AND OVERTHROW THROUGH FORCE BRING NO

POSITIVE RESPONSE—QUIET INTRODUCTION OF "BETTER WAYS" IS WHAT BRINGS CHANGE AND THAT CHANGE, IN INTEGRITY AND HONOR AND "CHOICE", SHALL CHANGE THE PERCEPTION OF THE GLOBAL COMMUNITIES. THIS IS CALLED "GLOBAL FREEDOM" AS AN ULTIMATE GOAL WITHIN ACTUAL PRACTICE.

PLEASE KEEP THESE POINTS IN MIND AS YOU FIND ANGER BUILDING AGAINST THE OFFENDERS AND POWER-GRABBERS. LEARN FROM THE LESSONS OFFERED BY THE OFFENDERS (ENEMIES); USE THAT WHICH IS GOODLY AND BYPASS THAT WHICH IS OF FORCE OR MANIPULATION.]

(PART 8)

The practice of advocacy produces men cold, cruel, persistent, unprincipled, who in all cases take up an impersonal, purely legal standpoint. They have the inveterate habit to refer everything to its value for the defence and not to the public welfare of its results. They do not usually decline to undertake any defence whatever, they strive for an acquittal at all costs, caviling over every petty crux of jurisprudence and thereby they demoralise justice. For this reason we shall set this profession into narrow frames which will keep it inside this sphere of executive public service. Advocates, equally with judges, will be deprived of the right of communication with litigants; they will receive business only from the court and will study it by notes of report and documents, defending their clients after they have been interrogated in court on facts that have appeared. They will receive an honorarium without regard to the quality of the defence.

This will render them mere reporters on law-business in the interests of justice and as counterpoise to the proctor who will be the reporter in the interests of prosecution; this will shorten business before the court. In this way will be established a practice of honest unprejudiced defence conducted not from personal interest but by conviction. This will also, by the way, remove the present practice of corrupt bargain between advocates to agree only to let that side win which pays most.

We have long past taken care to credit the priesthood of the goyim, and thereby to ruin their mission on earth which in these days might still be a great hindrance to us. Day by day its influence on the peoples of the world is falling lower. Freedom of conscience has been declared everywhere, so that now only years divide us from the moment of the complete wrecking of that Christian religion; as to other religions we shall have still less difficulty in dealing with them, but it would be premature to speak of this now. We shall set clericalism and clericals into such narrow frames as to make their influence move in retrogressive proportion to its former progress.

[H: Remember that these Zionists have the mechanism built right into their law and code, i.e., Kol Nidre (vow of all vows), which nulls and voids from one year to the next (retroactive and proactive) and negates "lawfully" vows of all kinds and covers false statements in all instances. It is the FIRST vow taken at the annual start of their new year. This also allows open use of false identification, false locations and all agreements. THIS, FURTHER, IS ONLY FOR THE USE OF THE ZIONISTS BUT HAS SLOPPED OVER INTO THE GENERAL GENTILE (GOYIM) USAGE. You will find, however, that ONLY the "Zionist" will be allowed use of this and in, for instance, a court of law—any discussions of the matter will take place in "closed chambers" or side-bars. THIS is exactly what a sting operation IS. Only the target, right or wrong, is disallowed recourse. This is very good to remember in any dealings: political, business or otherwise. Lying has become an accepted mode of operation in, for example, the Philippines BUT at least there should always be documentation available for your own shelter and protection.]

When the time comes finally to destroy the papal court the finger of an invisible hand will point the nations towards this court. When, however, the nations fling themselves upon it, we shall come forward in the guise of its defenders as if to save excessive bloodshed. By this diversion we shall penetrate to its very bowels and be sure we shall never come out again until we have gnawed through the entire strength of this place.

The King of the Jews will be the real Pope of the Universe, the patriarch of an international Church.

But, in the meantime, while we are re-educating youth in new tradition religions and afterwards in ours, we shall not overtly lay a finger on existing churches, but we shall fight against them by criticism calculated to produce schism.

In general, then, our contemporary press will continue to convict State affairs, religions, incapacities of the goyim, always using the most unprincipled expressions in order by every means to lower their prestige in the manner which can only be practised by the genius of our gifted tribe.

Our kingdom will be an apologia of the divinity Vishnu [GOD OF THE MANY ARMS], in whom is found its personification—in our hundred hands will be, one in each, the springs of the machinery of Social life. We shall see everything without the aid of official police which, in that scope of its rights which we elaborated for the use of the goyim, hinders governments from seeing. In our programme one third of our subjects will keep the rest under observation from a sense of duty, on the principle of volunteer service to the State. It will then be no disgrace to be a spy and informer, but a merit; unfounded denunciations, however, will be cruelly punished that there may be no development of abuses of this right.

Our agents will be taken from the higher as well as the lower ranks of society, from among the administrative class who spend their time in amusements, editors, printers and publishers, booksellers, clerks, and salesmen, workmen, coachmen, lackeys, et cetera. This body, having no rights and not being empowered to take any action on their own account, and consequently a police without any power, will only witness and report; verification of their reports and arrests will depend upon a responsible group of controllers of police affairs while the actual act of arrest will be performed by the gendarmerie and the municipal police. Any person not denouncing anything seen or heard concerning questions of polity will also be charged with and made responsible for concealment, if it be proved that he is guilty of this crime.

Just as nowadays our brethren are obliged at their own risk to denounce to the kabal apostates of their own family or members who have been noticed doing anything in opposition to the kabal, so in our kingdom over all the world it will be obligatory for all our subjects to observe the duty of service to the State in this direction.

Such an organisation will extirpate abuses of authority, of force, of bribery, everything in fact which we by our counsels, by our theories of the superhuman rights of man, have introduced into the customs of the goyim. But how else midst of their administration? Among the number of those methods one of the most important is—agents for the restoration of order, so placed to have the opportunity in their disintegrating activity of developing and displaying their evil inclinations—obstinate self-conceit, irresponsible exercise of authority, and, first and foremost, venality.

PROTOCOL NO. 18

When it becomes necessary for us to strengthen the strict measures of secret defence (the most fatal poison for the prestige of authority) we shall arrange as simulation of disorders or some manifestation of discontents finding expression through the co-operation of good speakers. Round these speakers will assemble all who are sympathetic to his utterances. This will give us the pretext for domiciliary perquisitions and surveillance on the part of our servants from among the number of the goyim police.

As the majority of conspirators act out of love for the game, for the sake of talking, so, until they commit some overt act we shall not lay a finger on them but only introduce into their midst observation elements. It must be remembered that the prestige of authority is lessened if it frequently discovers conspiracies against itself; this implies a presumption of consciousness of weakness, or, what is still worse, of injustice. You are aware that we have broken the prestige of the goy kings by frequent attempts upon their lives through our agents, blind sheep of our flock, who are easily moved by a few liberal phrases to crimes provided only they be painted in political colours. We have compelled the rulers to acknowledge their weakness in advertising overt measures of secret defence and thereby we shall bring the promise of authority to destruction.

Our ruler will be secretly protected only by the most insignificant guard, because we shall not admit so much as a thought that there could exist against him any sedition with which he is not strong enough to contend and is compelled to hide from it.

If we should admit this thought, as the goyim have done and are doing, we should ipso facto be signing a death sentence, if not for our ruler, at any rate for his dynasty, at no distant date.

According to strictly enforced outward appearances our ruler will employ his power only for the advantage of the nation and in no wise for his own or domestic profits. Therefore, with the observance of this decorum, his authority will be respected and guarded by the subjects themselves; it will receive an apotheosis in the admission that with it is bound up the well-being of every citizen of the State, for upon it will depend all order in the common life of the pack.

Overt defence of the king argues weakness in the organisation of his strength.

Our ruler will always among the people be surrounded by a mob of apparently curious men and women, who will occupy the front ranks about him, to all appearance by chance, and will restrain the ranks of the rest out of respect as it will appear for good order. This will sow an example of restraint also in others. If a petitioner appears among the people trying to hand a petition and forcing his way through the ranks, the first ranks must receive the petition and before the eyes of the petitioner pass it to the ruler, so that all may know that what is handed in reaches its destination, that, consequently, there exists a control of the ruler himself. The aureole of power requires for its existence that the people may be able to say: "If the king knew of this," or: "the king will hear of it."

With the establishment of official secret defence the mystical prestige authority disappears; given a certain audacity, and everyone counts him master of it, the sedition-monger is conscious of his strength, and when occasion serves watches for the moment to make an attempt upon authority. For the goyim we have been preaching something else, but by the very fact we are enabled to see what measures of overt defence have brought them to.

Criminals with us will be arrested at the first more or less well-grounded suspicion; it cannot be allowed that out of fear of a possible mistake an opportunity should be given of escape to persons suspected of a political lapse in crime, for in these matters we shall be literally merciless. If it is still possible by stretching a point, to admit a reconsideration of the motive causes in simple crimes, there is no possibility of excuse for persons occupying themselves with questions in which nobody except the government can understand anything. And it is not all governments that understand true policy.

PROTOCOL NO. 19

If we do not permit any independent dabbling in the political we shall on the other hand encourage every kind of report or petition with proposals for the government to examine into all kinds of projects for the amelioration of the condition of the people; this will reveal to us the defects or else the fantasies of our subjects, to which we shall respond either by accomplishing them or by a wise rebutment to prove the short-sightedness of one who judges wrongly.

Sedition-mongering is nothing more than the yapping of a lap-dog at an elephant. For a government well organised, not from the police but from the public point of view, the lap-dog yaps at the elephant in entire unconsciousness of its strength and importance. It needs no more than to take a good example to show the relative importance of both and the lap-dogs will cease to yap and will wag their tails the moment they set eyes on an elephant.

In order to destroy the prestige of heroism for political crime we shall send it for trial in the category of thieving, murder, and every kind of abominable and filthy crime. Public opinion will then confuse in its conception this category of crime with the disgrace attaching to every other and will brand it with the same contempt.

We have done our best, and I hope we have succeeded, to obtain that the goyim should not arrive at this means of contending with sedition. It was for this reason that through the press and in speeches, indirectly—in cleverly compiled schoolbooks on history, we have advertised the martyrdom alleged to have been accepted by sedition-mongers for the idea of the commonweal. This advertisement has increased the contingent of liberals and has brought thousands of goyim into the ranks of our livestock cattle.

PROTOCOL NO. 20

Today we shall touch upon the financial programme, which I put off to the end of my report as being the most difficult, the crowning and the decisive point of our plans. Before entering upon it I will remind you that I have already spoken before by way of a hint when I said that the sum total of our actions is settled by the question of figures.

When we come into our kingdom our autocratic government will avoid, from a principle of self-preservation, sensibly burdening the masses of the people with taxes, remembering that it plays the part of father and protector. But as State organisation costs dear it is necessary nevertheless to obtain the funds required for it. I will, therefore, elaborate with particular precaution the question of equilibrium in this matter.

Our rule, in which the king will enjoy the legal fiction that everything in his State belongs to him (which may easily be translated into fact), will be enabled to resort to the lawful confiscation of all sums of every kind for the regulation of their circulation in the State. From this follows that taxation will best be covered by a progressive tax on property. In this manner the dues will be paid without straitening or ruining anybody in the form of a percentage of the amount of property. The rich must be aware that it is their duty to place a part of their superfluities at the disposal of the State since the State guarantees them security of possession of the rest of their property and the right of honest gains, I say honest, for the control over property will do away with robbery on a legal basis.

This social reform must come from above, for the time is ripe for it—it is indispensable as a pledge of peace.

The tax upon the poor man is a seed of revolution and works to the detriment of the State which in hunting after the trifling is missing the big. Quite apart from this, a tax on capitalists diminishes the growth of wealth in private hands in which we have in these days concentrated it as a counterpoise to the government strength of the goyim—their State finances.

A tax increasing in a percentage ratio to capital will give a much larger revenue than the present individual or property tax, which is useful to us now for the sole reason that it excites trouble and discontent among the goyim.

The force upon which our king will rest consists in the equilibrium and the guarantee of peace, for the sake of which things it is indispensable that the capitalists should yield up a portion of their incomes for the sake of the secure working of the machinery of the State. State needs must be paid by those who will not feel the burden and have enough to take from.

Such a measure will destroy the hatred of the poor man for the rich, in whom he will see a necessary financial support for the State, will see in him the organiser of peace and well-being since he will see that it is the rich man who is paying the necessary means to attain these things.

In order that payers of the educated classes should not too much distress themselves over the new payments they will have full accounts given them of the destination of those payments, with the exception of such sums as will be appropriated for the needs of the throne and the administrative institutions.

He who reigns will not have any properties of his own once all in the State represents his patrimony, or else the one would be in contradiction to the other, the fact of holding private means would destroy the right of property in the common possessions of all.

Relatives of him who reigns, his heirs excepted, who will be maintained by the resources of the State, must enter the ranks of servants of the State or must work to obtain the right of property; the privilege of royal blood must not serve for the spoiling of the treasury.

Purchase, receipt of money or inheritance will be subject to the payment of a stamp progressive tax. Any transfer of property, whether money or other, without evidence of payment of this tax which will be strictly registered by names, will render the former holder liable to pay interest on the tax from the moment of transfer of these sums up to the discovery of his evasion or declaration of the transfer. Transfer documents must be presented weekly at the local treasury office with notification of the name, surname and permanent place of residence of the former and the new holder of the property. This transfer with register of names must begin from a definite sum which exceeds the ordinary expenses of buying and selling of necessaries, and these will be subject to payment only by a stamp impost of a definite percentage of the unit.

Just strike an estimate of how many times such taxes as these will cover the revenue of the goyim States.

The State exchequer will have to maintain a definite complement of reserve sums, and all that is collected above that complement must be returned into circulation. On these sums will be organised public works. The initiative in works of this kind, proceeding from State sources, will bind the working class firmly to the interests of the State and to those who reign. From these same sums also a part will be set aside as rewards of inventiveness and productiveness.

On no account should so much as a single unit above the definite and freely estimated sums be retained in the State treasuries, for money exists to be circulated and any kind of stagnation of money acts ruinously on the running of the State machinery, for which it is the lubricant; a stagnation of the lubricant may stop the regular working of the mechanism.

The substitution of interest-bearing paper for a part of the token of exchange has produced exactly this stagnation. The consequences of this circumstance are already sufficiently noticeable.

A court of account will also be instituted by us and in it the ruler will find at any moment a full accounting for State income and expenditure, with the exception of the current monthly account, not yet made up, and that of the preceding month, which will not yet have been delivered.

The one and only person who will have no interest in robbing the State is its owner, the ruler. This is why his personal control will remove the possibility of leakages or extravagances.

The representative function of the ruler at receptions for the sake of etiquette, which absorbs so much invaluable time, will be abolished in order that the ruler may have time for control and consideration. His power will not then be split up into fractional parts among time-serving favourites who surround the throne for its pomp and splendour, and are interested only in their own and not in the common interests of the State.

Economic crises have been produced by us for the goyim by no other means than the withdrawal of money from circulation. Huge capitals have stagnated, withdrawing money from States, which were constantly obliged to apply to those same stagnant capitals for loans. These loans burdened the finances of the State with the payment of interest and made them the bond slaves of these capitals. The concentration of industry in the hands of capitalists out of the hands of small masters has drained away all the juices of the peoples and with them also of the states.

The present issue of money in general does not correspond with the requirements per head, and cannot therefore satisfy all the needs of the workers. The issue of money ought to correspond with the growth of population and thereby children also must absolutely be reckoned as consumers of currency from the day of their birth. The revision of issue is a material question for the whole world.

YOU ARE AWARE THAT THE GOLD STANDARD HAS BEEN THE RUIN OF THE STATES WHICH ADOPTED IT, FOR IT HAS NOT BEEN ABLE TO SATISFY THE DEMANDS FOR MONEY, THE MORE SO THAT WE HAVE REMOVED GOLD FROM CIRCULATION AS FAR AS POSSIBLE.

With us the standard that must be introduced is the cost of working manpower, whether it be reckoned in paper or wood. We shall make the issue of money in accordance with the normal requirements of each subject, adding to the quantity with every birth and subtracting with every death.

The accounts will be managed by each department (the French administrative division), each circle.

In order that there may be no delays in the paying out of money for State needs the sums and terms of such payments will be fixed by decree of the ruler; this will do away with the protection by a ministry of one institution to the detriment of others.

The budgets of income and expenditure will be carried out side by side that they may not be obscured by distance one to another.

The reforms projected by us in the financial institutions and principles of the goyim will be closed by us in such forms as will alarm nobody. We shall point out the necessity of reforms in consequence of the disorderly darkness into which the goyim by their irregularities have plunged the finances. The first irregularity, as we shall point out, consists in their beginning with drawing up a single budget which year after year grows owing to the following cause: this budget is dragged out to half the year, then they demand a budget to put things right, and this they expend in three months, after which they ask for a supplementary budget, and all this ends with a liquidation budget. But, as the budget of the following year is drawn up in accordance with the sum of the total addition, the annual departure from the normal reaches as much as 50 per cent in a year, and so the annual budget is trebled in ten years. Thanks to such methods, allowed by the carelessness of the goy States, their treasuries are empty. The period of loans supervenes, and that has swallowed up remainders and brought all the goy States to bankruptcy.

You understand perfectly that economic arrangements of this kind, which have been suggested to the goyim by us, cannot be carried on by us.

Every kind of loan proves infirmity in the State and a want of understanding of the rights of the State. Loans hang like a sword of Damocles over the heads of rulers, who, instead of taking from their subjects by temporary tax, come begging with outstretched palm of our bankers. Foreign loans are leeches which there is no possibility of removing from the body of the State until they fall off of themselves or the State flings them off. But the goy States do not tear them off; they go on in persisting in putting more on to themselves so that they must inevitably perish, drained by voluntary bloodletting.

What also indeed is, in substance, a loan, especially a foreign loan? A loan is—an issue of government bills of exchange containing a percentage obligation commensurate to the sum of the loan capital. If the loan bears a charge of 5 per cent, then in twenty years the State vainly pays away in interest a sum equal to the loan borrowed, in forty years it is paying a double sum, in sixty—treble, and all the while the debt remains an unpaid debt.

From this calculation it is obvious that with any form of taxation per head the State is bailing out the last coppers of the poor taxpayers in order to settle accounts with wealthy foreigners, from whom it has borrowed money instead of collecting these coppers for its own needs without the additional interest.

So long as loans were internal the goyim only shuffled their money from the pockets of the poor to those of the rich, but when we bought up the necessary person in order to transfer loans into the external sphere all the wealth of States flowed into our cash-boxes and all the goyim began to pay us the tribute of subjects.

If the superficiality of goy kings on their thrones in regard to State affairs and the venality of ministers or the want of understanding of financial matters on the part of other ruling persons have made their countries debtors to our treasuries to amounts quite impossible to pay, it has not been accomplished without on our part heavy expenditure of trouble and money.

Stagnation of money will not be allowed by us and therefore there will be no State interest-bearing paper, except a one per cent series, so that there will be no payment of interest to leeches that suck all the strength out of the State. The right to issue interest-bearing paper will be given exclusively to industrial companies who will find no difficulty in paying interest out of profits, whereas the State does not make interest on borrowed money like these companies, for the State borrows to spend and not to use in operations.

Industrial papers will be bought also by the government which from being as now a payer of tribute by loan operations will be transformed into a lender of money at a profit. This measure will stop the stagnation of money, parasitic profits and idleness, all of which were useful for us among the goyim so long as they were independent but are not desirable under our rule.

How clear is the undeveloped power of thought of the purely brute brains of the goyim, as expressed in the fact that they have been borrowing from us with payment of interest without ever thinking that all the same these very moneys plus an addition for payment of interest must be got by them from their own State pockets in order to settle up with us. What could have been simpler than to take the money they wanted from their own people?

But it is a proof of the genius of our chosen mind that we have contrived to present the matter of loans to them in such a light that they have even seen in them an advantage for themselves.

Our accounts, which we shall present when the time comes, in the light of centuries of experience gained by experiments made by us on the goy States, will be distinguished by clearness and definiteness and will show at a glance to all men the advantage of our innovations. They will put an end to those abuses to which we owe our mastery over the goyim, but which cannot be allowed in our kingdom.

We shall so hedge about our system of accounting that neither the ruler nor the most insignificant public servant will be in a position to divert even the smallest sum from its destination without detection or to direct it in another direction except that which will be once fixed in a definite plan of action.

And without a definite plan it is impossible to rule. Marching along an undetermined road and with undetermined resources brings to ruin by the way heroes and demi-gods.

The goy rulers, whom we once upon a time advised should be distracted from State occupations by representative receptions, observances of etiquette, entertainments, were only screens for our rule. The accounts of favourite courtiers who replaced them in the sphere of affairs were drawn up for them by our agents, and every time gave satisfaction short-sighted minds by promises that in the future economies and improvements were foreseen. Economies from what? From new taxes?—were questions that might have been but were not asked by those who read our accounts and projects.

You know to what they have been brought by this carelessness, to what a pitch of financial disorder they have arrived, notwithstanding the astonishing industry of their peoples.

[END OF QUOTING PROTOCOL NO. 20, PART 8]

Now readers, please go back and reread No. 20 UNTIL YOU UNDERSTAND IT. This is the basis of the IMF/WB and the whole of the International Banking Cartel (IBC) in full glory of their heinous deceit and activities. If you like what you HAVE as they have established it against the possibility of freedom, then you have it in place.

If you would have a bit of a better chance at change, I suggest you support our team at its work of sharing and building a foundation for a better way.

We have no intent to war or force in ANY measure. If it doesn't work because of force against it, so be it, for you can begin the countdown to your demise as a goodly planetary society—for you will end up in devastation just as have other such societies long gone.

I will now remind the Philippine people that there is a consideration before the leaders of the United States to put you in the hot-seat once again to fight their wars especially with China and YOU CAN'T WIN. AS WELL AS NOT WINNING, WHAT WILL YOU DO WITH ALL THE CHINESE BUSINESSES AND TAIWANS WHO HAVE BUILT YOUR COUNTRY? YOU HAD BEST THINK ABOUT IT CAREFULLY, FOR IT IS UNDER WAY AS WE WRITE HERE TODAY. Just one excerpt from a news publication TODAY: New York TIMES.

The article is captioned: "EU plans to establish ties with North Korea." However, this following reference might well chill your tropical blood: "Meanwhile, a Pentagon-sponsored study said the United States should shift the focus of ITS MILITARY PRESENCE IN ASIA TOWARD THE PHILIPPINES and other nations closer to TAIWAN.

"Citing the potential for armed conflict between Taiwan and mainland China as a key U.S. security concern, the study recommends creating arrangements in Southeast Asia to give the U.S. military access to ports and airfields that could be used to support Taiwan if China attacked. It recommends maintaining traditional military ties to Japan and South Korea [as well].

"In recent days, North Korea has lashed out at South Korea and the United States saying the United States' plans for a missile-defense system would bring only death and destruction."

This would certainly seem to be the critical TIME for consideration of your allegiance to your sovereign nation or become again a battlefield NOT OF YOUR MAKING.

No, this is not of our business, readers, for our people are U.S. citizens and shall do nothing to damage their home State (nation).

What will be promised to you Filipinos in exchange for being gun-fodder or bomb targets? Will it be annexation to the U.S.A.? NO! That very act would then cause the U.S. to ADMIT to its tactics—and war would actually be declared betwixt these major powers just as it would be if China raided or bombed California, U.S.A. or frankly, again, someone dumped on Hawaii.

Again it is suggested that you stop to read the handwriting across the walls of your land(s). OR MORE LIKELY YOU WILL SIMPLY BE, ALONG WITH TAIWAN, SACRIFICED TO THE DRAGON.

You have been brought to your economic knees, friends, to accomplish the planned demise of your sovereignty.

So be it—and may you choose the peaceful avenues to renewal, stability, growth and majesty.

By the way, it is now noted and being presented in a major National Press Club conference on May 9, 2001 THAT THERE ARE SHIPS FROM OTHER PLANETS AND VISITING EXRATERRESTRIALS AMONG YOU.

I bring this up because the ones who present testimony are among the astronauts who MET US out there in space over and over again. I am particularly smiling about this because I, Hatonn, happen to be one of the most recognized commanders among those VISITORS. There is a major connection between astronaut Gordon Cooper (a long time ago, readers) and myself.

The puppet-masters say you will not stand up for goodly change or truth. I say you shall.

They retort that they will frighten you with terror and poverty—while training you to believe your world faces inter-galactic WAR. That is total nonsense, for there is not one extraterrestrial fleet that couldn't totally contain your planet. But you can expect the attempts to fool you. They do not hesitate to blow up their own people to make a point of terror—they do it every day, all over the globe.

I want you to remember that Satan is the Prince of confusion, deceit and GAMES. Facts are: There is no honor among thieves and liars.

I will write far more on this topic but you are not going to longer be able to deny the connections, my good citizens and, yes, indeed, the precious pearl of the Philippines is a blessed and embraced place. You are also in direct connection with the constellation, Pleiades.

Do you find this difficult to "believe"? Well, the Master-Controllers don't, so why should you? You have played the puppet to these deceitful masters long enough—haven't you? YOU HAVE BECOME PEOPLE OF THE LIE AND YOU ARE WORTHY OF SO MUCH BETTER.

THERE IS NO THREAT FROM OUTER SPACE, BROTHERS, YOUR THREATS ARE RIGHT ON YOUR DOORSTEPS. STUDY THESE PROTOCOLS OF THE ELDERS OF ZION—AND I THINK YOU WILL SEE YOUR PREDICAMENT OF THE MOMENT.

If you do not change, the globe will be cleansed but it WILL NOT BE BY GOD CREATOR—it will be at the hands of terrestrial man as he plays his insane games.

The Protocols offered are the actual steps in the plan to take control of your globe, hook, line and up to your ears.

Good afternoon, Hatonn

Dharma

RE: SECRET SOCIETIES. Jan van Helsing (EWERTVERLAG)

Hatonn—Dharma will attempt to conclude the copy of the Protocols themselves this morning, please. We want to be able to assemble them for use as a realization tool of "where we are" TODAY.

The last few protocols serve as accomplishment guide for those who have perpetrated the manipulations and power takeovers.

As you look at the global circumstances, you will see that accomplishments have been thus far followed as to the game-plan and will be especially and EASILY SEEN in this very Protocol upcoming, No. 21. If the previous instructions and plans for takeover didn't impress you, I do believe the remainder will. In fact, you may well wish to change a few reference names and titles. Of some which immediately come to mind are International Monetary Fund, World Bank, Federal Reserve, International Banking Cartel (IBC) and thus and so as substitution for that which is offered in these ancient guidelines and expressions.

There is nothing accidental in politics, readers. It is also a fact that "good" or "bad" is in the experience.

Prince Andrew (Duke of York) of the House of Windsor is in the Philippines today along with all the ritual involved. There is a lot of humming and hawing taking place as the manipulators try to wrap up a lot of shifts and position manipulations.

The International Bankers are also playing and shifting in an effort to stop the hemorrhage as the Philippines Central Bank follows the Federal Reserve as to interest rates and another tranche of funds from the "helpers" is written off as "default" status, while two of the largest corporations are being merged and this under the House of Ayala. Is this good or bad? Neither or either that YOU choose, for it just IS. It does, however, bring more and more control into the hands of the manipulators.

WORLD, YOU ARE IN FORECLOSURE! However, a few of the "greater" warlords will not go silently or meekly to the guillotine. And where will YOU be as civilization is caught between the warring dragons seeking supremacy? I remind you that the Chinese consider this year as that of the SERPENT! This is filled with possibilities as to meaning which all participants might well consider seriously.

The British Empire and China have been as enemies since as long as you can remember—hence the very outcome of the Opium Wars which brought Hong Kong into the realm of the Empire. The play for the THRONE shall be, indeed, a meeting of giants AS INCH BY PAINFUL INCH YOU-THE-PEOPLE ARE ABSORBED INTO THE PASSIONS OF THE CONTROLLERS.

I want ALL of you to remember something very BIG: The BRITISH EMPIRE is recognized in the higher circles as "BRITISH ISRAEL"; every individual citizen on the face of Earth had best consider that very, very carefully.

You will note that THREE so-called "World" Wars are prophesied—before the end of "this" segment of the play. CAN YOUR WORLD SURVIVE IT, THAT THIRD ONE, AS A SPECIES OR SOCIAL CIVILIZATION?

ONLY AS LONG AS GOD CREATOR CHOOSES IT TO BE SO, FOR YOU ARE BUT PLAYERS ON A STAGE WITH ONLY FLEETING

GLIMPSSES OF THE TRUTH OF IT—IT IS “YOUR” PLAY! YOU’VE GONE ABOUT AS FAR OFF CENTER AS YOU CAN GO IN THE SILLY “KING OF THE HILL” GAMES.

RE: PROTOCOLS OF THE ELDERS OF ZION TO ACCOMPLISH WORLD CONTROL [QUOTING:]

(PART 9)

PROTOCOL NO. 21

To what I reported to you at the last meeting I shall now add a detailed explanation of internal loans. Of foreign loans I shall say nothing more, because they have fed us with the national moneys of the goyim, but for our State there will be no foreigners, that is, nothing external.

We have taken advantage of the venality of administrators and the slackness of rulers to get our moneys twice, thrice and more times over, by lending to the goy governments moneys which were not at all needed by the States. Could anyone do the like in regard to us? Therefore, I shall only deal with the details of internal loans.

States announce that such a loan is to be concluded and open subscriptions for their own bills of exchange, that is, for their interest-bearing paper. That they may be within the reach of all the price is determined at from a hundred to a thousand; and a discount is made for the earliest subscribers. Next day by artificial means the price of them goes up, the alleged reason being that everyone is rushing to buy them. In a few days the treasury safes are as they say overflowing and there’s more money than they can do with (why then take it?). The subscription, it is alleged, covers many times over the issue total of the loan; in this lies the whole state effect—look you, they say, what confidence is shown in the government’s bills of exchange.

But when the comedy is played out there emerges the fact that a debit and an exceedingly burdensome debit has been created. For the payment of interest it becomes necessary to have recourse to new loans, which do not swallow up but only add to the capital debt. And when this credit is exhausted it becomes necessary by new taxes to cover, not the loan, but only the interest on it. These taxes are a debit employed to cover a debit.

Later comes the time for conversions, but they diminish the payment of interest without covering the debt, and besides they cannot be made without the consent of the lenders; on announcing a conversion a proposal is made to return the money to those who are not willing to convert their paper. If everybody expressed his unwillingness and demanded his money back, the government would be hooked on their own flies and would be found insolvent and unable to pay the proposed sums. By good luck the subjects of the goy governments, knowing nothing about financial affairs, have always preferred losses on exchange and diminution of interest to the risk of new investments of their moneys, and have thereby many a time enabled these governments to throw off their shoulders a debit of several millions.

Nowadays, with external loans, these tricks cannot be played by the goyim for they know that we shall demand all our moneys back.

In this way an acknowledged bankruptcy will best prove to the various countries the absence of any means between the interests of the peoples of those who rule them.

I beg you to concentrate your particular attention upon this point and upon the following: nowadays all internal loans are consolidated by so-called flying loans, that is, such as have terms of payment more or less near. These debts consist of moneys paid into the savings banks and reserve funds. If left for long at the disposition of a government these funds evaporate in the payment of interest on foreign loans, and are replaced by the deposit of equivalent amount of rentes.

When we ascend the throne of the world all these financial and similar shifts, as being not in accord with our interests, will be swept away so as not to leave a trace, as also will be destroyed all money markets, since we shall not allow the prestige of our power to be shaken by fluctuations of prices set upon our values, which we shall announce by law at the price which represents their full worth without any possibility of lowering or raising. (Raising gives the pretext for lowering, which indeed was where we made a beginning in relation to the values of the goyim.)

We shall replace the money markets by grandiose government credit institutions, the object of which will be to fix the price of industrial values in accordance with government views. These institutions will be in a position to fling upon the market five hundred millions of industrial paper in one day, or to buy up for the same amount. In this way all industrial undertakings will come into dependence upon us.

You may imagine for yourselves what immense power we shall thereby secure for ourselves.

[H: If you readers aren’t, by now, weeping—you don’t get the point. There is a cute saying that goes something like: “If you aren’t about to panic, then you don’t understand your circumstances.”]

This particular presentation of the STATUS OF THE PROTOCOLS in accomplishment was made many years before this day and actually laid forth centuries prior to now. Isn’t it time you people paid attention to what has taken place and check as to what kind of a steel cage in which you are kept? So be it!]

PROTOCOL NO. 22

In all that has so far been reported by me to you, I have endeavoured to depict with care the secret of what is coming, of what is past, and of what is going on now, rushing into the flood of the great events coming already in the near future, the secret of our relations to the goyim and of financial operations. On this subject there remains still a little for me to add.

In our hands is the greatest power of our day—gold; in two days we can procure from our storehouses any quantity we may please.

Surely there is no need to seek further proof that our role is predestined by God? Surely we shall not fail with such wealth to prove that all that evil which for so many centuries we have had to commit has served at the end of ends the case of true well-being—the bringing of everything into order? Though it be even by the exercise of some violence, yet all the same it will be established. We shall contrive to prove that we are benefactors who have restored to the rent and mangled earth the true good and also freedom of the person, and therewith we shall enable it to be enjoyed in peace and quiet, with proper dignity of relations, on the condition, of course, of strict observance of the laws established by us. We shall make plain therewith that freedom does not consist in dissipation and in the right of unbridled license any more than the dignity and force of a man do not consist in the right for everyone to promulgate destructive principles in the nature of freedom of conscience, equality and the like; that freedom of the person in no wise consists in the right to agitate oneself and others by abominable speeches before disorderly mobs, and that true freedom consists in the inviolability of the person who honourably and strictly observes all the laws of life in common; that human dignity is wrapped up in consciousness of the rights and also of the absence of rights of each, and not wholly and solely in fantastic imaginings about the subject of one’s ego.

Our authority will be glorious because it will be all-powerful, will rule and guide, and not muddle along after leaders and orators shrieking themselves hoarse with senseless words which they call great principles and which are nothing else, to speak honestly, but utopian. Our authority will be the crown of order, and in that is included the whole happiness of man. The aureole of this authority will inspire a mystical bowing of the knee before it and a reverent fear before it of all the peoples. True force makes no terms with any right, not even with that of God: none dare come near to it so as to take so much as a span from it away.

PROTOCOL NO. 23

That the peoples may become accustomed to obedience it is necessary to inculcate lessons of humility and therefore to reduce the production of articles of luxury. By this we shall improve morals which have been debased by emulation in the sphere of luxury. We shall re-establish small master production which will mean laying a mine under the private capital of manufacturers. This is indispensable also for the reason that manufacturers on the grand scale often move, though not always consciously, the thoughts of the masses in directions against the government. A people of small masters knows nothing of unemployment and this binds him closely with existing order, and consequently with the firmness of authority. Unemployment is a most perilous thing for a government. For us its part will have been played out the moment authority is transferred into our hands. Drunkenness also will be prohibited by law and punishable as a crime against the humanness of man who is turned into a brute under the influence of alcohol.

Subjects, I repeat once more, give blind obedience only to the strong hand which is absolutely independent of them, for in it they feel the sword of defence and support against social scourges. What do they want with an angelic spirit in a king? What they have to see in him is the personification of force and power.

The supreme lord who will replace all now existing rulers, dragging on their existence among societies, though he should drench them with his own blood, that he may resurrect them again in the form of regularly organised troops fighting consciously with every kind of infection that may cover the body of the State with sores.

This Chosen One of God is chosen from above to demolish the senseless forces moved by instinct and not reason, by brutishness and not humanness. These forces now triumph in manifestations of robbery and every kind of violence under the mask of principles of freedom and rights. They have overthrown all forms of social order to erect on the ruins the throne of the King of the Jews; but their part will be played out the moment he enters into his kingdom. Then it will be necessary to sweep them away from his path, on which must be left no knot, no splinter.

Then will it be possible for us to say to the peoples of the world: "Give thanks to God and bow the knee before him who bears on this front the seal of the predestination of man, to which God Himself has led his star that none other but He might free us from all the before-mentioned forces and evils."

PROTOCOL NO. 24

[H: READ THIS LAST PROTOCOL WITH MIND AND EYES OPEN, READERS, FOR IF YOU CAN FIND GOD CREATOR OF LIGHT—YOU ARE A REMARKABLE INDIVIDUAL. THE PRINCE OF DARKNESS, CALLING HIMSELF THE BRIGHT AND MORNING STAR, HAS "HAD" YOU, FRIENDS. YOU SERVE THE MORTAL IMPOSTOR WHO RULES THROUGH THE MORTAL AND PHYSICAL BONDAGE OF SPIRIT. THE "BATTLE" IS TRULY FOR THE SOULS OF MAN—NOT WHO WILL PLAY IN THE NEXT DIMENSION OF SPIRITUAL EXPRESSION. YOU WHO SERVE THAT MASTER DECEIVER ARE DOOMED TO EXPERIENCE WITHIN THE HELL OF EXPERIENCE AS DEEMED APPROPRIATE FOR YOU BY THE RULERS OF THE DOMAIN OF PHYSICAL/MORTAL EXPRESSION. BONDAGE OF SOUL (SPIRIT) IS THE ULTIMATE BONDAGE, STUDENTS. THE CLUES ARE ALL THERE AS TO JUST "WHO AND WHAT" IS PLACING YOU IN BONDAGE, AND YET ONLY THE FEW ARE REMAINING THAT HAVE OPPORTUNITY TO DECIPHER THE PUZZLE AND MYSTERY OF THE HIDDEN MANIPULATORS. THE GLOBAL SOCIETY HAS BEEN DUMBED DOWN INTO IGNORANCE AND UNKNOWING TO KEEP YOU SILENT AND DOCILE WHILE YOU HAVE BEEN RAPED, RAVAGED AND PILLAGED AND HAVE LOST YOUR WAY. GOD PROVIDES—YOU DECIDE!

I REMIND YOU THAT THE BIBLE(S) HAVE BEEN SCRIBED BY "MAN" FOR THE WRITING ITSELF IS A PHYSICAL-MORTAL EXPRESSION.]

I pass now to the method of confirming the dynastic roots of KING DAVID to the last strata of the earth. [H: Wow, if you START out with misinformation—see what a mess you have in the end.]

This confirmation will first and foremost be included in that in which to this day has rested the force of conservatism by our learned elders of the conduct of all the affairs of the world, in the directing of the education of thought of all humanity.

Certain members of the seed of David will prepare the kings and their heirs, selecting not by right of heritage but by eminent capacities, inducting them into the most secret mysteries of the political, into schemes of government, but providing always that none may come to knowledge of the secrets. The object of this mode of action is that all may know that government cannot be entrusted to those who have not been inducted into the secret places of its art.

To these persons only will be taught the practical application of the afore-named plans by comparison of the experiences of many centuries, all the observations on the politico-economic moves and social sciences—in a word, all the spirit of laws which have been unshakably established by nature herself for the regulation of the relations of humanity.

Direct heirs will often be set aside from ascending the throne if in their time of training they exhibit frivolity, softness and other qualities that are the ruin of authority, which render them incapable of governing and in themselves dangerous for kingly office.

Only those who are unconditionally capable for firm, even if it be to cruelty, direct rule will receive the reins of rule from our learned elders.

In case of falling sick with weakness of will or other form of incapacity, kings must by law hand over the reins of rule to new and capable hands.

The king's plans of action for the current moment, and all the more so for the future, will be unknown, even to those who are called his closest counselors.

Only the king and the three who stood sponsor for him will know what is coming.

In the person of the king who with unbending will is master of himself and of humanity all will discern as it were fate with its mysterious ways. None will know what the king wishes to attain by his dispositions, and therefore none will dare to stand across an unknown path.

It is understood that the brain reservoir of the king must correspond in capacity to the plan of government it has to contain. It is for this reason that he will ascend the throne not otherwise than after examination of his mind by the aforesaid learned elders.

That the people may know and love their king it is indispensable for him to converse in the market-places with his people. This ensures the necessary clinching of the two forces which are now divided one from another by us by the terror.

This terror was indispensable for us till the time comes for both these forces separately to fall under our influence.

The King of the Jews must not be at the mercy of his passions, and especially of sensuality; on no side of his character must he give brute instincts power over his mind. Sensuality worse than all else disorganises the capacities of the mind and clearness of views, distracting the thoughts to the worst and most brutal side of human activity.

The prop of humanity in the person of the supreme lord of all the world of the holy seed of David must sacrifice to his people all personal inclinations.

Our supreme lord must be of an exemplary irreproachability!

[END OF QUOTING PROTOCOLS]

The ROTHSCHILD BANK is said to have asked the Bavarian Jew ADAM WEISHAUP to establish the "SECRET ORDER OF THE BAVARIAN ILLUMINATI" after this plan for world power ("Novus Ordo Seclorum" = New World Order) had been worked out.

Author's Comment:

A further means towards this goal is the separation of the world into a slave society in the East and a race of lords in the West. As Rudolf Steiner wrote in his book The Social Prerequisites of Our Time this is helped by the fact that the belief systems of the East and the science of the West cannot come to a synthesis. The atheist scientists don't care for the religions of the East; the faithful of the East reject the science of the West.

I cannot urge you strongly enough to continue to receive this information. My own suggestion is to get a subscription to CONTACT, the newspaper and see how and who manages your existence in this manifest world of sensing human.

If you are going to be within the circle of change, you must know your own role on the stage of LIFE.

If you don't know where you've been or where you are—how can you expect to reach a goal which offers no destination? Have you not traveled the path of "no destination" long enough?

Just as your grade-school teacher has no way, ability or right to pronounce your goals upon you—neither so, do I. But to be locked into slavery as a destiny is NOT OF GOD FOR THE ULTIMATE DESTINY OF HIS CREATIONS. MAN'S SPIRIT GUIDES—MAN DERIVES AND DECIDES—HIS CHOSEN DESTINY!

May your thoughts become as WISDOM.

CREATOR BLESSES YOU ABUNDANTLY—BUT YOU MUST ACCEPT THE GIFT, FOR THAT SIMPLY IS THE WAY IT "IS".

Good morning, Hatonn

Learning that God's delays are not denials, we who give our time and effort to help GAIA's wondrous program unfold, practice our patience in nursing income to cover out-go.

We again ask you of the "away" crew to help if you can, as you can. Whatever you can spare to share when accumulated here helps.

Please know God's investment repays abundantly.

Thank you so very much,

RE: JOHN & JEAN RAY AND "NEWS DESK-TYPE" NOTES: PHILIPPINES, ISRAEL, NEPAL, Peru

A LOOK AROUND AND THE VIEW IS SHOCKING

As we continue to consider the UNKNOWING of John Ray's condition and the helplessness of that which we have in ability to take the load of another, we will turn to the work at hand.

I will dedicate today's typing to finish this SECRET SOCIETIES document [not likely, there are nearly 50 more pages] so that if we would be somehow interrupted in our own work, that is assured completion enough for conclusions in the paper—IF MARK REMAINS FUNCTIONAL (THIS FOR MARK!).

I think it is so that we fail to note or "stroke" those around us who are working with us, support us, share what they have, etc., while we might bring joy and happiness. But when "that" or "those" parties are out of the loop for a while or forever, we focus on our own perceptions and take stock of larger possibilities.

John and Jean Ray have been such dear friends for so long that since our work began some many years ago, even being across the miles in different states, that an interruption in their lives is a major interruption in our own. We will be awaiting updates and will depend on Mark to keep you-the-readers, family and friends, posted.

Ellen, please, let Debbie know about John because Jean has been such a good friend to her and she would want to send a card or note.

Friends, knowing what I know about the heart—had that heart ruptured this would be an academic notation. However, the chances of survival moved from 5% following surgery to 50% today, so perhaps the woods are not so dark today. I look forward to having John describe his incredible journey where the "rubber really hits the road" so to speak. My "hope factor" is so much better right now that we just hope he is back in harness soon and stronger than before. We still have lots to "celebrate" directly ahead of us.

IN THE PHILIPPINES

We are in a U.S. warning "lock-down"—no running around, especially for U.S. citizens. Hostages, 20 of them, were snatched a few days ago and the war is on.

This morning it was reported that some of the hostages were shot by "rescue soldiers". Geeze, what kind of a world do we have? Then a bunch of soldiers (rescuers) were "wounded" while at least two were slain. I don't think much inconvenience has even been inflicted on the hostage-takers (people snatchers). In the night the PSs (people snatchers) snatched another 200 hostages. Now they have more hostages than snatchers.

Meanwhile, the Philippine soldiers are outfitted in Civil War (U.S.) equipment while the PSs have the latest in arms, ammunition, grenades, launchers—AND LAUNCHES (boats) available through the arms dealers (CIA), in exchange for the bunches and bunches of payoff money from the big snatch last year.

People, I'm really TIRED of this job.

I realize, however, that it is no better, even worse, elsewhere, and one can witness the "final" efforts of this bunch of "controllers" to finish off the globe in a grand manner. Worse, we seem to be able to only scrunch along with the snail-blobs, left behind by even the turtles. BUT, WE DO KEEP SCRUNCHING AND WE DO GAIN GROUND. WE WOULD BE "THERE" LIVING BETTER EVER-AFTER IF THERE WERE DECENT "LAWS"—BUT AGAIN, OH, WELL. THIS IS GOD'S PLAN AND THERE IS THE TRUTH OF IT—TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT.

ISRAEL

Wow, my sources tell me that we have an old Jewish trick in play in Israel—especially seen in this last "nightclub area" suicide bombing. False information is flowing about it being a Palestinian "thing" when no Jihad "person from Palestine" would have been able to get even near that crowd of nightclub visitors who were on "vacation" to the seaside. This has been the modus operandi since we have known the Elite Zionists—to do themselves in for the sake of their "cause" which is obviously Armageddon and a new Temple instead of the Mosque on Temple Mount. THAT REQUIRES A WAR.

And doesn't that "Jewish Israeli" temporary "unilateral cease fire" tell it all as to "look how hard we tried..."? The obvious is that it could have only been "a Jew" who did this atrocious and heinous act. Neither the Hezbollah nor the Palestinians said they "did it"—THE JEWS ANNOUNCED THAT THEY HAD HAD SOME KIND OF A CALL INDICATING THE PALESTINIANS. ALWAYS THE LIE—NO MATTER WHAT THE HAPPENING.

So my prayer and my cry unto God and John Ray: PLEASE DON'T LEAVE US, FOR THERE ARE SO FEW OF US TO MAKE A LOUD ENOUGH NOISE TO BE HEARD. GOD, PLEASE ALLOW US THE GRACE AND COURAGE TO KEEP ON KEEPING ON.

NEPAL

Well, there is a good one for you to consider. When the news first broke of the "...Crown Prince killing dead the King and Queen...", before there were facts (and who and where is Nepal, anyway) the mind rushed to England upon whose empire the Sun would never set—and the immediate perception offered was "My goodness, the House of Windsor has collapsed, this time for real."

Then came the "Nepal" part of the tale where the Crown Prince wiped out about nine of his "royal" family and finally himself. This was a bit harsh I would think—just because Mom and Dad didn't approve of his love life. I would think he might be relieved to have not survived the attempts to save his life after shooting himself.

Well, I josh because we certainly do know where Nepal is and what a mess this can make of presenting further chaos in an area of already massive chaos.

MOVING ON TO PERU

Oh where, oh where are the ones who can help Peru? And just why is it important in this election under way now? Well, Peru, for one thing, has several "bases" for friends. Furthermore, the very original documents, certificates and Los Angeles Consul records of that which we HOLD, are THERE.

Mr. Fujimori's departure from Peru and back to asylum in Japan rests far more heavily on the GAIA project than on Mr. Fujimori's supposed "bad intentions and naughty actions".

How do we KNOW? Because of Madeleine Albright. She has no reason to be asked or consulted about the Peruvian election BUT THERE SHE IS BIG AS LIFE WITH HER "UPLE" INPUT. (Uple is that which follows any number above 3 as in quadr-uple, quint-uple, etc. on a scale of one to ten. Ten-uple is far greater exponentially than double as in "speak". This was very definitely a "speak" of greater than double.) Yes, indeed, Maddie's output was at least a ten-uple. A better measure might be in the fog factor of 1-10 as a measurement of "fog-speak" about 14. She spoke and said NOTHING which is even more of a concern, since there is no earthly reason she would even be consulted for comment in the first place.

What does this indicate to US? That we are making progress! When the Elite World Order mattoids (an EIR term) are involved, you know it is a purposeful and important take-over place under siege. After all, Mr. Fujimori said he had to destroy what was there in Peru so he could "save democracy", i.e., Peru. Commander wishes to look into that a bit more closely when we have opportunity to turn our attention in that direction.

OTHER THINGS IN THE PHILIPPINES

I note a question arising about nothing new from ESJ for a while and, no, there are no negatives in relationships but a difficult time of keeping connections as in personal affiliation on any kind of a regular basis.

ESJ has been appointed as a Deputy Director of National Security, and it is just better judgment to keep us "both" out of the confusion factor.

It is more and more obvious that former Pres. Ramos is THE controlling entity of this Arroyo administration and we certainly don't want anyone else in confrontation with him. That is especially true now that there is a public uproar to indict Ramos for his own crimes of graft, plunder and other crimes while he was in office.

My gosh, the central bank is having headaches enough over what to actually do about GAIA—as thousands of petitions are pouring into the government to USE GAIA.

The CB is working from a three-year-old possibility of GAIA being a “possible-to-probable sham” of some kind unrecognized, etc., dating back to the person, Rady Conrado of pre-Manila days (for us) who also ran for President in 1998, had a heart attack (mild) and dropped out of the race in which Erap Estrada WON.

Imelda Marcos put her voters behind Erap and thus Erap won by a LANDSLIDE. Now, it appears Imelda and family are somehow again backing Erap in his plight.

Anyway, I mention this because ESJ’s book was certainly about the Marcos circumstances.

The point is, however, that what we don’t know can’t hurt ESJ and what he knows, in this instance, can’t hurt us.

It is that plan of Marcos/Reagan (snatched by Bush’s New World Order) that holds the interest, I would guess.

It is obvious that much of the wealth (currency and gold) scattered into Switzerland and such NWO places, has been squandered—as in stolen—and is GONE.

However, in many places where the NWO is just now making tremendous inroads, as in Indonesia via Mr. Kissinger (and Associates), there is still a possibility of the “storage” being intact. Hence the immediate impeachment and overthrow of Wahid and the incredible scramble and confusion in Indonesia. My goodness, what a show-and-tell—worse than in the Philippines. However, if it gets too bad, Indonesia being a Muslim state, I think it will be far more bloody as to confrontation.

Then there is Papua New Guinea where there is impending capability of salvaging what is there and structuring some security for PNG, we are too short of financing to even help the party make the trip to present the paperwork agreements.

It costs as much to fly from Manila to PNG (one way) as it does to go to the U.S.

We KNOW that some of that “stored” material is still there in storage because the World Bank has and is trying everything they can conjure and manipulate to get that Bank privatized for nothing more than a small loan from the IMF with the bank as the “private” purchase prize—with the statement being that the Bank of PNG is “worthless” and this would be a good token of good intent and would be managed out of Australia where we already know the NWO controls it all as well as in New Zealand. Ah, the queen and her court! Not to mention her “Knights” in full-blown flag and bugle-blowing.

I often hearken to Green’s friend who stated, about my work: “Crazy ramblings from an INSANE MIND! My gosh, that was at least 12 years ago. I do often wish this: That there were no truths to the FACTS as have come to pass.

Oh, golly, John, PLEASE don’t leave us! If nothing else, you present some reality to this program.

E.J. has the final proposal done for PNG, the next presentation of it, for Mr. Genewa has worked with them constantly through the Parliament and is ready to go, except for funds to make the trip. He is hoping, however, for some relief in a few days and we can pray for that as well.

I can’t speak of other possibilities, for we are monitored and I don’t mind the NWO monitors—but I don’t like our old buddies who send anonymous faxes and nasties on the Internet to suit their egotistic self-interests.

I will say, however, that the publicity of Bellringer’s interviews with Rick and Ed—along with the follow-up—has ended up as more of a support tool than an atomic bomb attack. This is not because it “helped” but that we have outstayed, in integrity and honor, the blasts against us. Are/were those things COSTLY? Outrageously, for we had several full-blown programs ready to start.

This “Phoenix” has had so many fires to put out as to be all buried in the ash overload.

We note that Peru’s situation is being “a real task for the Phoenix!” (to get out of those ashes). You know, like the likes of all the help from Maddy Albright.

We also pray for a long and durable life for Mr. Mahathir of Malaysia (another Muslim country) almost done-in by Maddy Albright and here co-puppets. And, YES, people, we (including Rick and Charles) were in Malaysia at APEC to witness that fiasco and embarrassment. The U.S. delegation was one hotel from ours, as a matter of fact, and the entourage of armored vehicles was a total wipeout embarrassment to us as U.S. citizens. Al Gore was so insulting as to cause us to hide our faces in shame.

The New World Order MUST HAVE SOUTHEAST ASIA to pull off its full takeover.

I would guess, however, that surely when the stuff hits the big fan down South that other Muslim (Islamic) people and nations will offer a hand.

I figure Indonesia’s ongoing plight is the reason there are U.S. Marines by the thousands in these local waters for “joint training” and NOT some CIA-directed PSs. And, yes, indeed, we are very grateful that that (U.S.) couple snatched was not us—although Palawan is about the only place we would have considered safe enough to visit for a weekend. This is a very good reminder to follow instructions and STAY PUT.

I can hardly wait for people back home to have a report of our “visit to the Philippines”. We do not even have a camera, not one picture and our only sightseeing is from the hotel window and am amazed at HOW MUCH that actually has been. It is not tourist sightseeing—but it certainly has been a picture of life in the Third World mixed with Makati’s U.S. Island called a “mall”.

I will say that the arrival of Year 2000 was a sight to behold, where one of the major displays of fireworks was less than a full block from us. So “out of the window” was good. Nothing to breathe on New Year’s Day, however, but hours of gunpowder from the fireworks. 2001 was very subdued, as a nation was in government overthrow and an Impeachment trial under way while the nation was mourning as if bankruptcy had struck. It was a sad Christmas as well.

But, this being a Catholic country, by majority in this Northern Island, Christmas is wondrous. In addition, the mall across our street is owned by a very rich “Jewish” family so decorations are beautiful—even to the avenue in front, Ayala. The name of the owners of this entire Makati area is Ayala/Zobel.

They are, however, talking about shifting a lot of their investments to Singapore as things get ever worse here. The other major businessmen are Chinese who will not go down easily. Taipan Tan, however, seems to keep control of his empire—which is partially the empire of one, Ferdinand Marcos. It was ALL Marcos at start-up and perhaps still is, depending on the position of Mr. Tan (Marcos’ business partner).

I guess I must admit that it will be interesting to see how this preposterous play ends! God wins—but when?

I sit here in front of the next section of Secret Societies and in bold print it reads: “In politics nothing ever happens accidentally! If something occurs, you can be sure that it had been planned that way!” This is attributed to Franklin D. Roosevelt—and what does that tell us about Pearl Harbor that is getting all the motion picture play lately? It is sure that they have had a plan to wipe us all out—for a very, very long time.

We also note that the push of the Holocaust is in full swing again by the Hallmark Channel and that even the 1.5 million Jews of the slave-labor movement are going to be paid.

I guess my own question is that if 6 millions Jews were killed (gassed) and so many more have had prior reparations in compensation over the years and now we have ANOTHER 1.5 million to receive “slave labor” back pay—HOW MANY OF THEM ARE THERE?

I am reminded of Col. “Bo” Gritz in a phone call to E.J. for Hatonn right after he had spoken with George Green after Green went to Carson City, Nevada and CLAIMED HATONN WENT WITH HIM. Bo wanted Hatonn on that phone which was obliged promptly on the speaker phone: Bo: “How the hell many of you are there out there?” Cmdr.: “ONE—just one! And, I am not with George Green, friend!” Bo: “Well, thank God, Sir!”

My, there have been some heavy-duty things along this journey.

I need to go now, for E.J. will be back shortly from the E-mail trip and Erick is here to pick up some things, including a cell phone that he had loaned us to use. Erick has always had an earlier morning meeting in Makati on Saturdays—and we had gotten used to having him stop off for a hello around lunchtime. I HATE POLITICS! It seems to ruin like a poison blotch on everything it touches.

We are fine and I suppose it is obvious that we have not had time for a vacation, although it reminds me of our last 12 years for holidays—triple up on the hours! I’m confident I can “blame” John Ray’s plight onto time in front of that computer! I may well be serious now that I think of it. We find that low frequencies do come from the monitors of regular computer setups, while none shows on the laptops—according to readings on the measuring instrument sent by Two-by.

I remember that John Coleman brought me “his” “extra jacket” to wear while writing, to protect me from the high-level blast. I gave it back to him when he left but I’m sure there is something to it—having been knocked out for some 45 minutes by a burst from the one back home one day when Father Cleary was there to put me back together again. Yes, indeed, this has probably been a far more interesting journey than we realize—EVEN in hindsight of some incidents. I think John said the copper-infused wires in the coat were like a “Faraday” cage or something which means nothing to me then or now.

I won’t get started on that topic for which I’m sure you are ALL grateful.

Love and our very best to each of you, E-E

MEDICAL EDITOR RIPS INTO FDA

Wired News, 5/17/01

LONDON (Reuters)—The editor of a top medical journal on Friday accused the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, the world's most powerful drug watchdog, of endangering people's lives.

Richard Horton of The Lancet said the FDA, which safeguards the health of 274 million people and regulates over $1 trillion worth of products, was compromised by funding from the drugs industry and pressure from Congress.

In an editorial, he slammed the FDA for its handling of GlaxoSmithKline Plc's controversial bowel drug Lotronex.

The FDA approved Lotronex in February 2000, but the company voluntarily withdrew it from the market nine months later after the deaths of five patients who had been taking it.

Senior FDA officials are now trying to reintroduce it, Horton said.

"This story reveals not only dangerous failings in a single drug's approval and review process but also the extent to which the FDA, its Center for Drug Evaluation and Research (CDER) in particular, has become a servant of the industry," he wrote in an editorial in the journal.

According to Horton, serious side effects were evident during the pre-approval process and shortly afterwards but the FDA kept the product on the market. "The decision was to prove fatal," said Horton.

The Lancet said scientists within the FDA who raised concerns about the drug's safety were sidelined and excluded from future discussions. An independent review of research found serious flaws but calls for more studies were ignored.

"That is where there has been a terrible failure in evaluating the safety of this drug," Horton told Reuters.

"The FDA is not only compromised because it receives so much funding from industry, but because it comes under incredible congressional pressure to be favorable to industry. That has led to deaths," he added.

A spokesman at the FDA said he could not comment on the editorial but added that the agency was formulating a response to the allegations.

The agency monitors the safety, labeling, import, transport, storage and sale of food ingredients, drugs, cosmetics and surgical supplies.

GlaxoSmithKline confirmed the company was in discussions with the FDA but refused to discuss the timing of any decision.

"We are in discussions with the FDA over Lotronex," spokesman Martin Sutton said. "Both the FDA and ourselves are trying to find a resolution that will benefit and protect patients."

Lotronex was developed to treat irritable bowel syndrome which can cause disabling bouts of constipation, diarrhea, abdominal pain and bloating.

But soon after its launch reports of side effects such as severe constipation and ischaemic colitis, a restriction of blood flow to the colon, began to surface.

"It is an impossible conflict for safety issues to be overseen by a center that receives funding from industry to review and approve new drugs," Horton added.

[JR: The drug companies are a favorite on Wall Street and among investors. Good profits are assured for all, given the influence the drug companies have over Congress. The FDA's approval process has to be one of compromise since many drugs approved are not researched independently. It is an unholy partnership between government and the drug manufacturers that overrides the safety issues for patients. There are so many side effects with these new drugs, one wonders if the cure is worse than the ailment.]

NATO PLANS FOR KOSOVO HANDOVER

CNN News, 5/20/01

PRISTINA, YUGOSLAVIA—NATO-led peacekeepers said they will boost their presence near a volatile Kosovo buffer zone before the final part of the sector is handed back to Yugoslav forces.

The deployment, announced on Sunday, was made in an effort to reassure residents and prevent an exodus of up to 20,000 people.

NATO would not say how many soldiers would be moved to the border of the buffer zone known as Sector B on the Kosovo border.

But a UN refugee agency warned last week that without effective confidence-building measures before and during the Yugoslav troop deployment up to 20,000 people might flee from the zone.

The handover had been approved at NATO headquarters in Brussels last week and is due to take place on Thursday.

Details of the change were signed on Sunday in the village of Merdare near the Kosovo border by both Serbian officials and Lieutenant General Thorstein Skiaker, the commander of the NATO-led peacekeeping force.

Brigadier General Kenneth Quinlan, the head of the U.S.-run sector of Kosovo, urged the families who live in the five-kilometre (three-mile) buffer zone to remain in their houses when Yugoslav army and Serbian police forces start moving into the last 20 percent of the zone.

Quinlan said the handover marked a "significant step toward regional normalcy once completed," the Associated Press reported.

A Yugoslav military source said that more than 4,000 government troops have been deployed in the zone so far, and up to 2,000 more are planned to take up positions and patrol the last sector.

Serbia's Deputy Prime Minister Nebojsa Covic was reported by AP as saying: "The entry of our security forces into the Sector B (of the buffer zone) is seen as a peaceful operation with full protection of all citizens in the area."

He warned that any hostility by local ethnic Albanian rebels would be met with "adequate response" and offered any amnesty for those handing over weapons.

More than 3,000 ethnic Albanians have already fled the Presevo Valley in southern Serbia for Kosovo amid fighting last week.

The agency, UNHCR, has warned that an exodus will grow if the return of Yugoslav forces to the sensitive area next to the Kosovo border is botched.

The area was demilitarised and NATO-peacekeepers moved in as part of a peace deal at the end of NATO's bombing campaign in 1999 against Serb-dominated Yugoslavia.

The zone was created to keep Yugoslav and Serbian troops away from Kosovo.

NATO has been handing back parts of the five kilometre (three mile) wide buffer zone to Yugoslav forces in the past few months and all that remains is 20 percent. [JR: When it appeared to the Macedonians that the UN and NATO were unresponsive to the crisis growing in Macedonia they acted quickly to take action on their own. They formed an alliance with the Serbs and created a coalition government to fight the Albanian rebels and let it be known that they would not become another victim for the Eurocrats in Brussels. Had they not acted decisively Macedonia would have been overrun and become another Albanian territory run by the West. The UN has to pull back into Kosovo to contain the rebel factions if only to protect their image as a stabilizing force to maintain the peace in that region. It also highlights the EU's inability to act responsibly to protect the smaller countries that make up the Balkans.]

HIV'S INSIDIOUS PERSISTENCE

By Daniel Q. Haney, Associated Press, 5/6/01

Although drugs can stave off the virus that causes AIDS, the virus can play a deadly waiting game inside the human body.

Will AIDS ever be cured?

The latest research on the resourceful HIV virus that causes the disease suggests a disheartening answer: Probably not.

Just a few years ago, even some of the most sober-minded researchers wondered if the end of AIDS might be near. Perhaps the pills that miraculously changed HIV from a death sentence to a chronic infection would go the final step, they thought, eventually curing the infection by purging every trace of the virus from the body.

Such talk quickly faded. The new drug cocktails, amazing as they were, could not get rid of the virus. Even if all signs of it vanished for years, HIV was still lurking somewhere. Inevitably, it roared back as soon as people stopped taking their medicines.

Ever since that realization sank in, finding HIV's hiding places has been the goal of a small group of researchers.

The fact that HIV is an insidious and resourceful parasite is hardly a surprise. After all, AIDS researchers already understand in lavish detail how HIV latches onto human blood cells, how it oozes inside and kills them.

But no basic AIDS discovery in recent times has proved so disturbing as the way HIV burrows in for the long haul.

It has shifted the ultimate goal of AIDS treatment toward something less ambitious. Since eradicating HIV now seems so unlikely—although not everyone has given up—many contend the next best thing will be somehow training the body to control the virus.

Many of the insights come from the work of Dr. Robert Siliciano of Johns Hopkins University, who regularly tests the blood of about 50 Baltimore AIDS patients, measuring the virus' persistence despite the best treatments.

"What HIV has done is tap into the most fundamental aspect of the immune system, and that is its immunological memory," he says. "It's the perfect mechanism for the virus to ensure its survival."

Perfect because the virus lies silent inside cells that are programmed to do nothing but sit and wait. They are called resting memory T cells. Their only job is to store a record of the germs they encounter, keeping the body prepared for the next time it sees them.

These cells literally are the immune system's memory, so they must survive for a long time. Otherwise, we would catch the same diseases over and over. HIV lies inside these sleeping cells, dormant but dangerous. Siliciano believes this means HIV infection will last a lifetime.

The memory cells do die off but ever so slowly. At the rate he sees in his Baltimore patients, it will take 73 years for them to go away completely. He cannot imagine a way to speed up the process, certainly not with the drugs now available. This latently infected reservoir, as scientists call it, is the single biggest obstacle to getting rid of AIDS. None of this was obvious in 1996, the dawn of the modern age of AIDS treatment. Doctors watched AIDS patients literally get up from their deathbeds after taking the newly available drug combinations. Anything seemed possible.

Dr. David Ho of the Aaron Diamond AIDS Research Center in New York City cautiously speculated about eradicating HIV. If the drugs stopped the virus from infecting more blood cells, then the ones already loaded with virus would eventually die off naturally, leaving the body virus free. Perhaps this would take two or three years, he thought.

But in late 1997, another discovery made that seem unlikely. Siliciano and two other teams independently found the virus inside memory T cells. They checked people who had seemingly been free of virus for two years. Every time, they found fully potent copies of virus inside their memory cells.

No one understood then how long these cells would stay alive, although it was assumed it would almost certainly be more than a couple of years.

"It was a sobering realization about the recalcitrant nature of this reservoir," said Dr. Anthony Fauci, head of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases.

The next obvious approach was to try to destroy these Trojan Horses.

Fauci's team tried to "flush out the reservoir", as they put it. The idea: Intermittently feed the body interleukin-2, a growth hormone that would make these dormant memory cells awaken and then die.

The experiment seemed to go well. Doctors biopsied patients' lymph nodes and found nothing. They grew hundreds of millions of their cells in cultures. Still nothing. Finally, they stopped all treatment and waited. Within three or four weeks, they had their answer. The virus came back in every patient.

"We are not going to be eliminating this reservoir," Fauci now says.

"Whether you can measure it or not, doesn't seem to have a significant impact on the clinically relevant phenomenon of what happens when you stop the drug."

Nevertheless, scientists have learned much about how the virus hides. HIV's primary target in the body is a kind of white blood cell known as a cd4 T helper cell. The virus infects them, hijacks their machinery so they manufacture more virus, then kills them.

After they get infected, though, a few of these helper cells become memory cells. HIV has already stitched its genes into the cells' genetic code in preparation for making more virus. But nothing happens. The cells go to sleep, virus and all.

All of this happens within the first days of an HIV infection, even before the body begins to make antibodies against the Virus. The number of cells involved is relatively small, perhaps 1 million scattered through the blood stream, the lymph glands and perhaps elsewhere.

Normally, the body kills HIV-infected cells. But it misses these, because they look perfectly normal. "The only difference between a latently infected cell and its uninfected counterparts is a little bit of HIV DNA," says Siliciano.

This similarity also makes the infected cells almost impossible to kill with any kind of targeted drugs. There is simply no easy way to sort out the good from the bad.

Siliciano has been counting these cells in his Baltimore volunteers for five years. The number he finds in their bodies now "is essentially exactly the same as they started with".

MARKET BRACES FOR GOLD STOCKS FEVER

By John Synnott, The Sun-Herald, 5/20/01

The price of gold surged in the United States yesterday, boosting the Australian dollar and setting the stage for a local run by gold stocks when our sharemarket opens tomorrow.

The precious metal leapt $U.S.13.80 to $U.S.287.80 an ounce, pushing the Australian dollar above U.S.53¢, which will further attract overseas investors to buy local gold stocks.

Oil rose $U.S.1 to nudge $U.S.30, which will give an added lift to the newly merged BHP Billiton, following U.S. oil and gas share rises.

Gold's 5 percent rise, its biggest gain in 15 months, came as buying by speculators extended a rally fuelled by reduced supplies. Production cuts in America and South Africa have reduced fears about oversupply of the metal.

But nothing prepared the market for the explosion yesterday after the London market had closed.

"After 27 years in the industry, it doesn't quite smell right," fund manager Leonard Kaplan said. He said there was no similar activity in silver, platinum, the U.S. dollar or interest rates.

Macquarie Bank gold analyst Paul Carter, who predicted gold stocks were coming back to favour after four years in the wilderness, said futures trading was behind the rally.

"If the rally holds it will flow through to price rises for gold stocks," he said.

Macquarie expects gold giant Normandy Mining (now $1.18) to move up to $1.50, Newcrest ($4.46) to $5.50 and Lihir (88¢) to $1.20. However, the higher gold price is unlikely to dramatically fuel further foreign takeover activity, according to John Reynolds, an associate director at Johnson Taylor Potter stockbrokers.

Experts predict the sharemarket tomorrow should rise around 15 points, but say it could rise 40 points if international investors chase Australian gold and cyclical stocks.

Macquarie Funds Management's Peter Mouatt said the gold sector was a much less influential part of the sharemarket now, comprising only about 1pc of the benchmark All Ordinaries index.

"This is a bounce back after the gold price was weakened by central banks selling off their reserves, and speculation over the prospect of slightly higher inflation," Mr. Mouatt said.

The Australian gold industry accounts for 65,000 jobs, plus $4billion a year in export revenue.

COMMENTARY ON THE NEW WORLD ORDER

By Doug McIntosh, gold-eagle.com, 4/23/01

It's only fair since the term is tossed around so much I tell you what I think it is. My explanation may not be the one you expect, but then I'm eccentric and proud of it. The idea of the New World Order goes back, way back into the mists of history. The idea is simple: a few people get together and figure out a way to screw the rest of the people on the planet. Now is that a great definition or not? OK, the modern term comes from that bastion of mental stability called Adolf Hitler. In fact, the terms "The Third Reich" and "The New World Order" are simply extensions of the same idea. The Third Reich was Germany; the New World Order was the rest of the world ruled by Germany. Now, no member of the Trilateral Commission or whatever will admit any linkage with Nazi Germany, but those are the recent historical facts.

I have no intention of being derailed into discussions about ancient history, the Masons, Illuminati and the like. I don't care. I'm merely interested in the current expression of an old idea that has been carefully planned and executed for generations. If you argue there has been a systematic effort, conspiracy if you like, to gain global control, I won't argue with you. Certainly, one can look at the history of America and see the pawprint of the globalists in specific acts, laws and situations. No doubt the Federal Reserve, Income Tax, United Nations and numerous unconstitutional foreign treaties all represent the New World Order in action. However, my main focus is the year 2000. What are the global oligarchs up to right now?

First, exactly who are these oligarchs who would reestablish the middle ages and turn us all into serfs and slaves? I have no idea. Lenin once commented he would only need 300 people to overthrow Russia, and I think he was right. The oligarchs at the top are very, very few and we have no idea who they are. Nor do we even suspect who they are. The people in the Trilateral Commission, The Council on Foreign Relations and those who go to Davos, Switzerland are high and mighty to us peons. However, they are mid-level flunkies and toadies to the real leaders who are never seen in public and are content to pull the strings from behind the curtain. In fact, there may only be a dozen of them at the top of the food chain. Maybe even fewer than that I think. At any rate, the people we associate with the New World Order: the Kissingers, Powells, Soros and the like are mid-level managers of a global enterprise bent on dominating everyone and everything on Earth. Well paid flunkies to be sure, but flunkies just the same.

If I don't have any idea who the real Wizard of Oz is behind the New World Order curtain, I'm more sure of what they plan for us and why they plan it. Actually, I do know who is the real power behind the New World Order is. His name is Satan and the New World Order is simply the physical expression of his original spiritual rebellion. Fundamentally, this is why I'm not worried about the New World Order. It will be crushed by what we call God in our finite language. Anyway, the reason the New World Order wants control is because they are dedicated to a single idea. The idea being it is their right to rule us peons. It used to be called Divine Right and was claimed by kings and monarchs. Why is it their right to make us slaves you ask? Silly, silly serf: it's their right to rule us because they say it is and have the power to do it. They have planned their eventual triumph for many, many generations. Like the famous quote about climbing mountains, "because it's there", they want us slaves because that's what they do.

The New World Order is the logical result of evolution and Darwin's theory: survival of the fittest. Personally, I call it survival of the sneakiest, but I'm biased. Morality has no function in the New World Order you see. The idea is they rule us for their benefit. They screw us because they can. They screw us because it's their birthright. They are predators and we are the prey. The why of the New World Order is brutally simple. It's about power. It's about who can accumulate the most toys during their tenure on planet Earth. And if innocent people get hurt or killed in their power-mad games to gain power, fame, wealth and status, what do they care? It's about them and not about the rest of us.

Now that we have some idea of why the New World Order wants to make us slaves, exactly what will they do and how will they do it? The what is also very simple. The NWO is an oligarchic (rule of the few) group which means to control all spheres of human conduct with two, three or four dominant corporations, groups, parties or entities beholden to the system which put them in charge of their individual area. A pretty simple idea really. Fleece the sheep with the help of the sheepdog and then send a large portion of the profits to the corrupt shepherd. The current system is rigged to provide payoff to the elite in the form of status, money, power and fame. The mere fact the Elite rules us is a form of payoff for their depraved egos. There is a certain type of human being who derives pleasure from controlling other human beings. This control of others is their sexual orgasm and reward for playing the game. I imagine at the very highest levels of the New World Order this power orgasm must be quite intense. At least this is my opinion after having come in contact with numerous junior-level power-mad flunkies. A free thinker like myself really, really enrages them since they can't control me. People in charge hate a smart aleck, but they really despise a smart, smart aleck.

A common mistake is to confuse the New World Order with a specific political system, say Capitalism or Communism. In reality, the NWO is apolitical and is merely interested in looting a country using whatever political system in place. This fact is verified using what I call the limo test. No matter what country, political system or continent involved, the top one percent elite is recruited by the global NWO and given fancy cars to drive around in. The goal of the NWO is to loot whatever natural or human resources a country has for the economic benefit of the global economic elite. Isn't it interesting that Russia, the so called "worker's paradise" and America, a capitalist country; both South American and African military dictatorships all have one thing in common? Regardless of their supposed political and economic differences, all of these countries' rulers have allowed all political, economic and cultural power to be seized by the top 1% of the people. Whether we are talking about a military dictatorship, a Western democracy or a communist state, the results are the same worldwide. The local elite is bought off by the global Elite. The local elite screws their own people in return for the crumbs the global NWO sends their way. It's really the medieval feudal system perfected and modernized for the 21st century. The NWO global Elite gets access to a specific country's natural resources and buys off the locals. If the locals aren't willing to be bought off, they are killed and replaced with someone more pliable. The global NWO gets the loot and the local leaders get the Mercedes Benz limos, the IMF loans, Swiss Bank accounts et al. As for the common people, they get very little. A brilliant and effective system for those at the very top.

Understanding the medieval feudal system gives us an overview of the NWO. You have the few kings at the top along with their court hangers-on. The court hangers-on correspond to the government, military and corporate blob used to maintain control. Followed by the Lords and Nobles and their retainers, corresponding to our media, educational and corporate elite. Then there is the guild and crafts, which correspond to our middle class and skilled workers. And finally, there is the rest of us, the vast majority of people who are serfs and affectionately called "human resources" in NWO lingo. The more things change, the more they stay the same. If you get nothing else out of this essay get this: The New World Order seeks to reestablish the Middle Ages with its various classifications of people permanently locked into their place. Their place is at the top and our place is at the bottom. They get the wheat and we get the chaff. The NWO simply seeks to reverse the Magna Carta, American Constitution and all labor, health, environmental and religious law. The recent Senate Bankruptcy Reform is a prime example of this. The Senate in all their corrupt glory decided to reestablish the debtor prison system made famous by Charles Dickens.

It should be obvious the NWO needs to maintain belief in the status quo among the world populace, otherwise the 95% would rise up against the 5%. Now, there are all kinds of theories about how they do this: ranging from mind control, brainwashing, implanted chips, biological or chemical agents. Hmmm. I'll pass on all those and stick with the simple ones of mass communications and propaganda. Maybe they are beaming high frequency waves at us with subliminal instructions. I just don't think they need to do that when they control all the radio and television stations, magazines and newspapers. The only communications the NWO doesn't control is the Internet and the talk radio, yet. For a while longer anyway. But enough for one essay on the New World Order. Next time I will explore propaganda and cultural control and how the NWO uses it to maintain the status quo.

DOOMED DOLLAR LOOMING

By Jay Taylor, gold-eagle.com, 5/29/01

Watch the Dollar for an Indication of Doom

On March 6th and 7th there was a meeting of top Russian Politicians, Bankers, Economists held in Moscow. Sponsored by an agency of the Russian government, its focus was entirely on the U.S. economy. The conference attracted some 200 investment bankers, scholars, diplomats, economists and members of the Russian Parliament. The two main concerns addressed at the conference were the following:

1) If the U.S. economy crashes, how does the rest of the world keep from crashing too?

2) Given the ever more obvious weaknesses in the U.S. economy, what can Europe and the industrialized world do proactively to achieve a measure of independence?

The Russian conference, which of course was not even mentioned in the U.S. press, is just another example of a growing awareness around the world that something is terribly wrong with the global economy and that an overvalued U.S. dollar is at the heart of "this something".

Interestingly, the manipulation of the U.S. gold markets by the Fed and Goldman Sachs, and Robert Rubin was openly discussed at the Russian conference by the distinguished scholars who participated in the conference. Ironically, the scholars at the Russian conference appear to have a more clear idea that the U.S. economy is in trouble and why, than do establishment U.S. analysts who seem to know less about free markets than do the Russians. Someone is telling our media not to cover the Gold-manipulation story. After Ron Insana covered it initially when Bill Murphy launched GATA, the U.S. press has marginalized any of us who stand up for GATA on the merits of its arguments. I think that may be about to change, but for now, the merits of the GATA case are simply not being given the light of day in America, though it is being given growing levels of credibility overseas.

The problem is that the U.S. dollar is by DESIGNED DEFAULT, the only currency in which international reserves are allowed to flow. And the sicker the currency and the American economy gets, for now at least, the stronger the dollar gets. That the dollar has gotten so far overvalued has, of course, enabled the bubble economy to develop, which I believe has only just begun to unwind. The stock market in my view has miles and miles to descend before this bear market is over. This could all have been avoided if the U.S. had followed an honest monetary policy constrained by some adherence to the discipline of a Gold Standard or at least a quasi Gold Standard. Such a quasi Gold Standard may have worked to a great extent, if Clinton folks had not sought short-term political and economic gains by rigging the price of gold. But they did, and now because of the enormous amount of credit/debt expansion during the Clinton years, we face the gravest economic downturn since the Great Depression.

The Euro, is a political currency rather than a currency that sprung into being from spontaneous market forces, so in my view, its future is very doubtful. The Japanese Yen is not suitable for a reserve currency because the Japanese economy remains in depression. (By the way, printing money did not do a thing to lift the Japanese out of depression.) Some other currencies like the Swiss Frank might be a good alternative except that it is simply too small to act as a world reserve currency. If gold were traded in a free market, gold would be the best option for an international currency, but since powerful forces who want to print money for their own benefit are in control, namely the U.S. government and more significantly the banking industry that owns and controls our government have trashed gold, we are left with the U.S. dollar.

Had gold been permitted to rise vis-à-vis the U.S. dollar, that would have taken away the ability of the Clinton Administration to pro-actively manipulate markets for their short-term economic and political gain. So, given the pro-activist ideological bent of the Democratic Party, when the international economy was threatened by the Mexican, Asian, Russian, Long Term Capital Management and Y2K problems, they acted through the Exchange Stabilization Fund to rig the price of gold to lower and lower levels, and thus remove the only currency that could have kept the bubble economy from developing—and thus the catastrophic decline that we now face taking place. So now we face a global Kondratieff winter which Ian Gordon believes will be as great or greater than the economic downturn of the 1930s. But the longer and further out of equilibrium the global economy spins, the scarier it gets to allow the markets to self adjust. So how the Bush Administration, which is ideologically more pro-free market comes out on this matter remains to be seen. Perhaps we may learn more soon depending on how Reginald Howe's anti-gold price fixing lawsuit is handled by a Boston Federal court.

In theory, an overvalued currency should self adjust because its overvaluation will price its exports out of the world market. The currency should then decline to the equilibrium point. But strangely enough, as the U.S. trade deficit has gotten worse and worse, to the point now where it is over $1 billion per day, the dollar has gotten stronger and stronger. This has been the case for at least three reasons including: 1) An absence of any viable alternative to the dollar except gold, 2) The concerted and clandestine effort on the part of the Clinton Treasury and powerful banking interests to trash gold by manipulating its price lower and lower vis-à-vis gold and 3) by massaging productivity numbers to lead the world to think investments in the U.S. were far more profitable than they in fact were and are. All three of these factors have resulted in an enormous flow of foreign investment into the U.S. such that this demand for dollars created to buy U.S. investments has more than offset downward pressure resulting from declining exports.

The bankers do not care that declining exports are resulting in a declining manufacturing, mining and farming industry in the U.S., because they are making tons of money via their investment and funding activities which grow as long as dollars are being created out of thin air. And the ability to continue printing dollars without an adverse repercussion has been dependent on the false premise about the strength of the dollar that the Clinton Administration pro-actively fostered.

THE DOLLAR DILEMMA AND PEERING OVER THE ABYSS

But now, with declining profitability for American companies, it is becoming increasingly obvious to the world that Emperor Clinton was wearing no clothes, not only literally when with Monica in the Oval office, but also figuratively in the sense of productivity numbers. How can it be, if U.S. industry was so enormously productive and with American consumers still spending like mad, that corporate profits are plunging? The answer in part is that as a result of mountains of printing-press money, mal investment has taken place such that huge investments were made in foolish endeavors, the dot-com companies being the best example. But also, As Richard Russell noted, we have simply produced too much of everything. This was made possible only by creating the illusion of a strong dollar by the manipulative practices of the Clinton Administration as discussed above and by printing money under the pretense that doing so creates wealth.

If Greenspan were to do what he should, namely return to an honest monetary policy by switching off the printing presses, and allowing gold to rise, the stock market would spin out of control on the downside. So predictably, he has responded by speeding up the printing presses while at the same time, investor attitudes about gold are being manipulated by the arranged (bogus) announcement of Putin's gold sale last week.

But printing money only creates a bigger problem, because it is at the very heart of the mal investment and oversupply problems that have gotten us in this mess in the first place. Printing-press money has resulted in the most overvalued stock market since 1929.

The bankers could get away with printing money and profiting from that activity as long as they could convince the world that somehow the U.S. had an ability to produce things more efficiently than other countries and that what we produced was desperately needed around the world. But now that that myth of American investment superiority is being laid to rest, running the printing presses at overtime may begin to bring the same results printing money has brought every other country throughout history, namely 1) rising levels of price inflation or 2) lost confidence in a currency, depression and debt repudiation or 3) a combination of 1 and 2.

Economic forces can be defied for a while by manipulative forces, but at great cost. The Clinton Administration has really mucked up our markets for its own political gain. We are now going to pay a huge price when the enormous amount of debt created during the Clinton years, is unwound during the next Kondratieff winter. Speaking of the Kondratieff winter, in our June 2001 issue, we will be conducting an update interview with Canaccord broker Ian Gordon. He will tell us where he thinks we are now in the 60 to 70 year Kondratieff cycle. Be sure to keep your subscription so you don't miss Ian's latest view. Not only is it fascinating material, but it could be life sustaining not to mention highly profitable. If Ian and others like Ravi Batra are correct, we are now peering over the abyss into an economic decline that will be at least as severe as that of the 1930s.

So you have not heard anything of a doom-and-gloom nature on CNBC lately right? I am assuming as a subscriber to J. Taylor's Gold & Technology Stocks you will not wonder why this gloom-and-doom view is not expressed in the major media, and I assume you will not believe it can't be true BECAUSE it is not being addressed in the major media.—Jay Taylor, Editor of *J. THE FED AND GOLD

By Craig Harris, gold-eagle.com (Editorial), 5/25/01

There has been much speculation lately and allegations levied by GATA and others that the Central Banks have been involved in a scheme to suppress the price of gold. To date, the mainstream financial press has written this off as an absurd idea generated by a group of pro-gold extremists. One of the biggest criticisms from the financial press has been motivation... why would the FED conspire to suppress the price of gold?

I'd like to address that criticism in simple understandable terms, so that anyone will be able to comprehend what is occurring in the market...

So... Why would the U.S. FED and other Central Banks conspire to suppress the price of gold?

George Soros, one of the most revered investors of all-time has generated many interesting and insightful quotes... one that I always think of is "markets influence events they anticipate". What does that mean though? What it means is that when the market anticipates a future event, it causes movements in the market that ultimately affect the outcome of the future event. I could cite many many examples of this behavior but the one close at hand is inflation and gold. After last Friday's 5% rise in the gold price, guess what the buzz was from the financial news media? "Gold is up... people must be worried about inflation." When gold rises, the expectation of inflation rises and ultimately inflation itself will rise to fulfill this expectation. An example of how this might happen would be that if the price of gold rose, investors would take positions that they expected to do well in an inflationary environment. One such action might be to buy the CRB index... the result of this action? A higher CRB index and higher commodity prices, then higher future inflation. So, that's motivation number one. A low gold price reduces the expectation of inflation and thus actual future inflation.

Reason number two involves our fiat currency system. Our current money evolved from trading something of value for something else of equal value. Over time, confidence in this system has allowed the Central Banks to take something of value (a paper currency backed by a tangible asset... i.e. gold) and slowly and deliberately reduce its value. It's a Central Bankers dream to be able to print all the paper money they want, without affecting the price of real tangible assets. If the Central Banks can print money with reckless abandon and the price of some benchmark tangible value... say... gold... were to stay low, wow, that would be great wouldn't it? So, this is motivation number two.

To artificially inflate the value of an intrinsically worthless product (paper money) vis-a-vis tangible valuable assets.

Motivation number three is very straightforward. For many years now the Central Banks have been selling their holdings of gold. Everyone knows about that. The reason they are doing that is reportedly because gold is no longer of any value as money. It is imperative that the Central Banks have widespread acceptance of this idea in order to effectively float a fiat money system. If gold was rising as the Central Banks dishoarded, well then that wouldn't inspire much confidence in the Central Banks or in the fiat money system. On the other hand, if the price of gold stays low as the Central Banks sell, it's much easier for the public at large to accept the notion that a fiat money system will work just fine and that they are, in fact, doing the right thing by selling gold reserves. So, that's motivation number three.

Motivation number four is a higher order motivation. In order for the success of the fiat currency system, there must be no real alternative to paper money for the storage of wealth. If you can create that environment, then as a Central Banker you can create all the money you want just for the cost of paper, ink and electricity and it will be just as valuable after you ship the next truckload of it as it was when the last truckload went out. By suppressing the price of gold, which historically has been the benchmark of value between paper assets and real assets, you can perpetuate a global fiat money scheme where the Central Banks can create as much money as they want without serious repercussions.

This essay wouldn't be complete without discussing the tremendous motivation of the Central Banks to understate inflation. The U.S. government uses the CPI index to keep track of inflation. The higher the inflation level, the more money they pay out in interest on bonds and in cost-of-living increases for government recipients of all types that are indexed to inflation. Fractions of a percentage point are worth billions in this arena. There is a tremendous motivation to not only keep inflation low, but to have low levels of inflation show up in government statistics.—Craig Harris, President, Harris Capital Management, Inc. SO WHY BUY GOLD?

By Craig Harris, gold-eagle.com, 5/30/01

During my previous essay, "The FED and Gold" I outlined the Central Banks motivation to suppress the price of gold. Since that time I have received a lot of email, many of which ask the question, "So why buy gold?"... which is an excellent and obvious follow up question.

I'm going to try and answer that question here, and I will attempt to explain it in easy to understand terms as I did in the previous essay.

So why buy gold?

Ultimately, in a "free market", supply/demand forces determine the price of an asset. Markets can be (and are) manipulated for periods of time, but ultimately the price will seek its natural level. You can think of it as markets constantly seeking this natural price... manipulation defeats this natural price-seeking mechanism. A good recent example of that was the Sumitomo Copper Scandal. In the end, market forces and not a market manipulator won, and that has been the case with manipulated markets throughout history.

Now obviously the Central Banks are in a different league than Sumitomo, but it doesn't matter... the point is that manipulation becomes harder and harder to pull off the longer it lasts, because you (the manipulators) are swimming against the tide, fighting harder and harder against market forces.

Many factors enter into the price-seeking equation including perception, market psychology and the herd mentality. It may be difficult to convince people that gold is a good opportunity now, but after the price rises investors will become more and more anxious to buy. Market psychology is a funny thing. We've all heard that you're supposed to buy low and sell high, yet that is the exact opposite of the herd mentality. The herd sells low and buys high... it's always been that way and it likely always will, unless we can fundamentally change human nature. As an investor, if you are selling low and buying high you better put some money aside for the tent you're going to be living in.

Now I've thought a lot about the question: "Why would you buy gold if you believe that the Central Banks are keeping the price artificially low?" I mean there are no bigger forces than these guys. The answer lies in the fact that the majority of traded gold is derivative gold. There is only so much "real" gold available, and most of that gold is already spoken for in that it has already been sold forward or leased out. The claims to physical gold are finite; the claims to gold via derivatives are not. So with that I'll expand on why I like gold.

As I said above, Central banks cannot create gold. The fact is that there is only so much physical gold in the world. Central banks have been large net sellers for several years. At some point, Central banks gold reserves will not be a significant force in the gold market because they won't have enough to make a difference. They can however, trade in gold derivatives, and they can sell and lease gold they don't physically possess in the derivative markets, but ultimately they have to buy it back... which reminds me of the old Wall Street short sellers axiom: "He who sells what isn't his'n must buy it back or go to prison." In other words, short sellers in the derivatives markets eventually have to buy to offset their short positions. We might find ourselves in a situation where the "longs" in the derivatives want physical delivery of gold, but the "shorts" do not have the physical metal to deliver. That is the making of a short squeeze. Panicked sellers buy back their short positions, while the counter parties (the longs) do not sell because they want physical delivery (of something that doesn't exist). The last major metals' short squeeze occurred in the silver market during the infamous Hunt brothers fiasco. You'll see that very clearly on the 100-year silver chart. (Editor's Note: On January 17, 1980 silver soared to $50/oz.)

While I don't know for sure when the Central Banks will lose control of the gold market, I am convinced that it will happen eventually... it has to. This could happen tomorrow or it could happen years from now—and it wouldn't surprise me either way.

Another interesting aspect of this equation is that the entire physical gold market is now extremely small (and getting smaller) in comparison to the money markets and currency in circulation. (Editor's Note: $1.2 Trillion trades daily in the FOREX.) A small shift in market psychology would overwhelm the gold market with more dollars chasing gold than there is physical gold to buy.

The cost of production of gold acts as a price floor. Below the cost of production, smart producers don't hedge (producer hedging is accomplished by selling forward anticipated future production at a specific price, and then covering the position by delivery of physical metal). Also, below the cost of production, output tends to drop off dramatically. Marginal producers go out of business or shut down. With the cost of production of many mines around $265 an ounce, just recently we saw this level act as a strong base... producer hedges were unwound (by buying), etc. So, the Central banks have forced gold close to the cost of production—and I would contend that the price can't be sustained below the cost of production for any length of time.

Recently, we have heard reports of China buying gold with their massive hoard of U.S. dollars which accumulates monthly due to the huge U.S. trade Deficit with China. If China alone were to adopt a policy of trading their U.S. dollars for gold, first of all there wouldn't be enough physical gold for them to do that, consequently it would cause a huge jump in the price of gold, putting tremendous pressure on the U.S. dollar. So, China could be an important part of this equation—and personally I can tell you that I think it would be imminently wise for China to do just that. If they are smart, they are quietly doing this and these reports we've been reading are true.

Gold lease rates have been tightening and the contango in the futures markets is narrowing. This behavior is just what we saw as the white metals (platinum and palladium) took off. In modern times, lease rates have become a proxy for price. Until the pressure becomes severe, often we see lease rates rise to absorb the pressure due to the shortage. These are the signs that professionals use to tell them that something is changing... the infamous gold carry trade is becoming a lot less profitable and more dangerous.

I'll end by saying that I'm not a technician and I don't claim to have any magical forecasting ability. I don't claim to know that gold is imminently about to rise in price... furthermore, I'm not a "goldbug" or a gold-obsessed person, as I trade many markets. I do however feel that the gold market is very interesting at this time... the price is low, and in my opinion the market is being manipulated. Indubitably, we have all the right ingredients in place for gold to seek its natural free market price, valued as a commodity, as an industrial material, and most importantly as a store of wealth (i.e., money).

Sooner or later CBs are going to have a big problem on their hands. Artificial price manipulation of any kind ALWAYS has an ugly ending.—Craig Harris, President, Harris Capital Management, Inc. CTA; <http://www.harriscapitalmanagement.com>; bcharris@gate.net

THE LAST TRAIN OUT

By Reg Howe, gold-eagle.com (Editorial), 5/31/01

Because Rick made the last train out of Paris, he lived to fight another day, and in the interim provided grist for a great movie, Casablanca. Those were years when prescient men and women all over Europe were running for the proverbial last train out, sometimes just a few steps ahead of the Gestapo. Some made it, as in The Sound of Music. Some did not, among them Natalie Jastram Henry in Herman Wouk's The Winds of War. Some chose to stay in place and await their fate. But most only dimly understood, if at all, the historic currents about to redirect their lives. Only later did they appreciate that of all the trains then chugging over the Continent, some were vehicles of escape to freedom and life while others bore their passengers to unbelievable depravity and death.

It is human nature to think that tomorrow will be much like today, that history progresses in a more or less linear fashion. Great discontinuities boggle the mind. My friend Adam Hamilton has just written a piece, "Gold Prepares to Erupt", comparing the current monetary and investment climate to ancient Pompeii just before its immolation by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius. Adam concludes: "We are now observing initial pressure-blowoff warning signs in gold, and the great financial lessons of history coupled with the immutable laws of free-market economics ensure gold is preparing for a spectacular price eruption."

Market or volcanic eruptions are notoriously difficult to predict. The forces that lead to them, however, are somewhat easier to observe. Anyone interested in gold who has not yet read Frank Veneroso's presentation at the GATA conference in Durban on May 10, 2001, should do so at once. Gold speaks primarily through flows of physical metal, gold prices in various world markets, lease rates, and general conditions in the gold mining industry. Frank is almost certainly the world's leading authority on gold flows, including the huge amount of gold that central banks have recklessly loaned out over the past decade and that now represents an alarmingly large short physical position overhanging the world financial system.

In recent months my commentaries have been limited by the demands of my litigation against the gold-price-fixing cabal. Last Friday government lawyers for Paul O'Neill, Secretary of the Treasury, and Alan Greenspan, Chairman of the Federal Reserve, dropped on me some weekend reading consisting of reply briefs they want to file in response to the opposition that I filed to their motions to dismiss. I understand that the Bank for International Settlements may also move for leave to file a reply brief. These reply briefs, which are not allowed as of right, come more than five weeks after I filed my opposition. In the appellate courts, reply briefs that are allowed as of right must usually be filed within two weeks of the principal brief to which they respond. So I ask myself: What has suddenly prompted this urge to file reply briefs? Is it just the government moving at its typical glacial pace, or is something else going on?

On Saturday, May 26, GATA chairman Bill Murphy received a second letter from Lawrence B. Lindsay, Assistant to the President for Economic Policy, and generally regarded as President Bush's top economic adviser. While Bill has not revealed publicly the exact contents of the letter, he has revealed its date: May 30, 2001. A postdated letter from the White House strikes me as a bit unusual.

These strange emanations from Washington may be nothing more than government doing what it does best: chasing its own tail. But they could reflect some more rational purpose that cannot yet be fully discerned. Over the past few weeks, amidst talk of a Gold Syndicate taking on the Gold Cabal, the gold market has displayed a decidedly different and more bullish tone. Rumor has it that the Gold Syndicate includes the Chinese, Middle Eastern interests and George Soros, who apparently plans to make another billion dollars at the expense of the Bank of England. Certainly, there has been increased media coverage of GATA, much but not all of it generated by the conference in Durban. Lease rates have displayed unusual volatility and inversions. The possibility of a delivery squeeze on the COMEX June gold contract looms ever larger.

Given the fundamentals of the current international financial picture, gold looks ready to resume its historic role as the financial asset of last resort, the only financial asset that is not another's liability. All these recent straws in the wind sound like the gold train blowing its whistle and preparing to leave the station. When it does, the dollar-dominated financial world we have come to assume will change forever. Its great hero, Alan Greenspan, will take his rightful place in history alongside John Law. Don't miss the gold train. It is one train that even my FJ1200 superbike can't catch.—Reg Howe; <http://www.goldsextant.com>; row@ix.netcom.com

SATAN'S DRUMMERS

THE SECRET BEAT OF EVIL—
"SATAN IS ALIVE AND WELL"

PHOENIX JOURNAL #9 (1989)

CHAPTER 13

REC. #1 SANANDA

TUE., NOV. 7, 1989 7:00 A.M. YEAR 3, DAY 083

Let there be peace, for I am with you. Esu Sananda present to finalize this portion. Satan's drummers? Oh, yes, there is a drum-beat, a cadence, a pulse rhythm to Satan's march. It is loud to the extreme, chaotic to total confusion, repetitious and absolutely geared to the mind acceptance. The physical will turn from the cacophony of chaos into the inner subconscious state of shocked withdrawal—then, the words, suggestions and instructions are poured forth in unclouded clarity. Just as severe physical trauma causes a body to withdraw into shock and memory loss, so does terror and pain cause the same withdrawal. Evil is practiced in all methods and manners of destruction to a being.

SOME OF SATAN'S DRUMMERS

VENOM, JUDAS PRIEST, MEGADEATH, KISS, SLAYER, KING DIAMOND, OZZIE OSBOURNE, ROLLING STONES, BLACK SABBATH, IRON MAIDEN, MERCIFUL FATE, AC/DC, METALLICA, LED ZEPPELIN, DEADROCKERS AND ETC., ETC., ETC. (Your babies and children can finish the above list for you.) Oh, you don't know what I mean? GO TO YOUR LOCAL MUSIC ALBUM DISTRIBUTION CENTER AND YOUR MUSIC VIDEO OFFERING PLACES.

It is most interesting to note that some public persons and some parents went to battle over the lewd filth and degradation of this music and what resulted is as follows: Anything with pornographic, criminal or whatever else "mundane" material accepted as undesirable, must now be labeled as dangerous. All of your above groups who call themselves Heavy Metal or Acid Rock "musicians" fell into this classification.

What has happened? As of five days ago the announcement came forth in the casual manner that only news broadcasters can perform: "The labeling has had a dual effect—the labels must be printed on the album cover but record sales are being recorded by purchasers who have never before purchased this type of music."

IN OTHER WORDS, GET THIS BOOK BANNED AND TWO-THIRDS OF YOUR POPULATION WILL GO UNDERGROUND AND THROUGH ILLEGAL MEASURES TO OBTAIN IT! IT IS THE SAME WITH

MAKING A LAW AGAINST BURNING OF A NATION'S FLAG—IT TAKES ON FAR MORE IMPORTANCE TO THE ONES WHO WILL BURN THE FLAG ANYWAY. YOUR LEADERS KNOW THIS TO BE TRUE BUT THEY CAN "APPEAR" SO PURE AND WHOLESOME, WHILE THEY BIND YOU A BIT TIGHTER. AND FURTHER, YOU DEMAND, MARCH AND GO TO ALL LENGTHS TO FURNISH THEM WITH THE BINDINGS. SO BE IT.

Let us look at something for a moment—hopefully, without judgmental impact prior to reading. I shall ask Dharma to bear with me while I repeat a news item from a major news press journal. Dharma had never heard of this entity until we began this Journal and she has some nine children and nine grandchildren. HOW MANY OTHER PARENTS ARE IN THE SAME EMBARRASSING SITUATION AS SHE? THE FATHER IN THIS INSTANCE KNOWS EVEN LESS!

Headline: SATANIST OZZY OSBOURNE BACK IN THE U.S.S.R.

This will be a direct quote, please, so do whatever you need to do with your little " "s.

"In 1968-69, in the United States and other Western countries, the institution of large-scale 'outdoor rock concerts' was invented, to siphon off growing ferment among youth angered by the Vietnam War, into a direction that would be favorable to the Aquarian/New Age movement and not threatening to the power of the liberal Establishment. Woodstock was the paradigm of this. Now, in 1989, with mass ferment growing throughout the East bloc, in reaction to the collapse of the economies and the shortage of food and the moral-political bankruptcy of the Communist system, the highest circles of the Soviet KGB are repeating this operation.

"The most recent example, was an Aug. 11-12 weekend extravaganza in Moscow's Lenin Stadium, attended by 100,000 'rock fans', and watched by a reported 'tens of millions' on Soviet television. Throughout Western Europe, newspaper headlines of the event read, 'WOODSTOCK 1969—MOSCOW 1989'.

"As astonishing as the sheer numbers, was the identity of the performers. They represented the dregs drawn from Western 'heavy metal' rock groups, typified by the burnt-out alcoholic, druggie, and Satanist Ozzy Osbourne, who is famous for having bitten the head off a bat on stage.

"Preposterously, the Lenin Stadium event was advertised as a benefit to raise money to fight drug and alcohol abuse in the Soviet Union and the United States. The deranged Osbourne even gave a 'press conference' in Moscow, a photograph of which was published in the U.S. Army's Stars and Stripes daily.

"Some of the proceeds of Ozzy's benefit are already earmarked for organizations that are known fronts for the Soviet KGB.

"It is a convenient fiction, nurtured by the CIA, the KGB, and the British intelligence, that the 'outdoor rock concerts' are a form of 'Western cultural penetration' of the U.S.S.R. encouraged by Gorbachev's 'glasnost' and 'reform' policies. And, indeed, for many years, the Soviet Communist Party maintained the propaganda line that rock n' roll was the 'imperialist' equivalent to 'moral AIDS'; now, this propaganda has been dropped.

"But the truth is, the drug-rock counterculture is and always has been an operation against Western civilization, run by the same Establishment crowd cozying up to the Soviets—and, as such, its principal beneficiary is the Kremlin.

"Embracing 'heavy metal' rock gives the KGB new possibilities of 'play-back' into the West.

"As for Ozzy Osbourne, the aim is also to rehabilitate him after the damage done by the Schiller Institute's attacks on him in Western Europe and the United States. In Sweden, Switzerland and elsewhere, Osbourne concerts this year have been disrupted by anti-Satanist citizens' groups. At least one Osbourne concert was cancelled. More recently, until Aug. 6, 1989, Osbourne was in the United States, on a national tour that included the states of Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Iowa, Minnesota, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and others.

"On Aug. 13, speaking in Moscow, 'heavy metal' rock promoter Doc McGhee complained that, 'Tipper Gore (Senator Albert Gore's wife) and everybody else (sic) said Motley Crue and Ozzy Osbourne were these Satanic-cult bands. We want to show the world how concerned they are.'

"McGhee himself promotes 'heavy metal' rock concerts as 'anti-drug' events, as one of the conditions for probation for his past role in a marijuana-importing scheme. Evidently, McGhee is himself hooked on some powerful mind-altering substance, perhaps provided by friends in Communist China. On Aug. 14, after the Moscow concert was concluded, he exclaimed: "The next rock concert will be in Tiananmen Square. We know a million people fit in there—if you take out the tanks."

"The Lenin Stadium extravaganza was introduced by Genrikh A. Borovic, head of the official Committee for the Defense of Peace and the brother-in-law of General Valdimir Kryuchkov, head of the KGB. In the week that the Lenin Stadium event was taking place, the latest edition of the Soviets' international New Times publication was reaching the West, featuring an interview with General Kryuchkov. He called for closer collaboration between the KGB and Western intelligence services in the areas of drugs, nuclear proliferation and nuclear terrorism.

"Another top promoter of the event was Anastas Mikoyan, a scion of the powerful Mikoyan family, and name-sake of the late Soviet Foreign Trade Minister Anastas Mikoyan, one of the crucial Soviet power-brokers of this century.

"Several other rock stars have been in Moscow during August. According to the International Herald Tribune, one important visitor to Moscow in the days preceding 'heavy metal' weekend, was top 'Trust' agent Armand Hammer of Occidental Petroleum.

"Whether Hammer was involved in financing (or performing in?) the Lenin Stadium extravaganza, there is no question the Satanic festival has to be seen in the context of U.S.-Britain-U.S.S.R. 'condominium' arrangements. One publicized 'surprise guest' was Jack Matlock, the American ambassador in Moscow, who drew considerable publicity some months back when he had an unprecedented private meeting with KGB head Kryuchkov. According to press reports, Matlock was wearing a shirt, with the words, 'Just Say No' written on it." [S: This last statement I desire you look at most closely, since this article originated in Russia.] "That is the insipid 'anti-drug' message invented by Nancy Reagan, a believer in magic and astrology—and a close friend of Armand Hammer."

Oh, you who become picky; I suggest you RUSH to the nearest lyric counter and get the words to the noise and drum-beat of these “songs” these groups sing. Further, pay attention—your own children will tell you, “KISS is not a Satanic Group; they have that name because one of the group, Paul Stanley, likes to kiss everybody”. Nay, it, K.I.S.S., stands for KNIGHTS IN THE SERVICE OF SATAN!... The “kissing” statement came from a teenaged child (K.W.) in Toledo, Ohio. He continued with some enlightening information: “O.K. Look, you say that Satanists sacrifice people and animals, right? Well, what do you think the ancient ones did, and what about the Aztecs? They all worshipped GOD—and they also made sacrifices. Humans and animals. Now, you tell me the differences of today. As it says in the Bible, we are all brothers.”

I have no wish to be more advertising of one group than another, but here is another article from a “trade” paper regarding the ones you refer to as the Rolling Stones. This was with pictures and a great deal of wondrous hype and honor unto this group:

“SATANIC ROLLING STONES
BEGIN U.S. TOUR”

Again, understand that I only quote, for this scribe is just about sick of this document—and I will not allow personal responsibility of this projection to be dumped upon my scribes and publishers. I judge not—perhaps you might become a bit discerning, however.

“Philadelphia: The Philadelphia appearance was the first in a tour that will hit 29 cities in the United States and Canada between now and January 1990.

“This group, more than any other, pioneered the overt Satanism which pervades today’s rock concerts by introducing such songs as Sympathy for the Devil in the 60s and the hit album, Their Satanic Majesties Request. The Stones are equally well known for headlining the mass concert in Altamont, California in the late 1960s in which it is well remembered that a man was murdered by the Hell’s Angels motorcycle gang during a performance of Sympathy for the Devil.

“The media buildup for the concert (Philadelphia) overshadowed anything devoted to a presidential campaign in the week before the election. Print media has devoted tens of thousands of words to the Stones, referring to them constantly as ‘Their Satanic Majesties’.

“The New York Daily News tabloid accorded the Stones a ten-page spread in their weekend edition, and 4-5 pages daily. TV and Radio blasted Stones songs for weeks—indicating no lack of enthusiasm after two decades.

“56,000 people piled into Philadelphia Veterans Stadium for opening night. Two-and-a-half-million watts of sound shattered the air as the Stones appeared on a 150-foot-high set designed to resemble a crumbling city.

“According to Stones production manager, Michele Ahern, the set is designed as an indictment of contemporary society, presenting a scene of industrial decay with catwalks, gray girders and black nets towering over the stage. The Stones’ performance was designed to satisfy the multi-generational audience, with songs from every period of its history and a featured performance of the notorious Sympathy for the Devil.

“A lot of the members of the audience at this concert were between the ages of 40 and 50—a testament to the hold which the cultural hedonism of the sixties still has on the population. Law enforcement authorities termed the crowd well behaved, since no murders were committed during the performance, and only 40 people were injured in fights and other mishaps.”

THE ABOVE WAS PRINTED AS A ‘RAVE’ REVIEW!

JUDAS PRIEST

Dateline Sept. 1, 1989:

“(Aug. 24): The British heavy-metal rock group Judas Priest, and its distributor, CBS Records, are being sued in Reno, Nevada, for their role in the suicides of Raymond Belknap, 18, and his friend, James Vance, 20, on Dec. 23, 1985. (Belknap died shortly after shooting himself, while a badly-disfigured Vance lingered on for three years.)

“The two young men, after spending six hours listening to Judas Priest’s Stained Class album, went to a church yard to commit suicide. The album contains the repetitive subliminal message, ‘Do it. Do it.’”

Here is a letter sent in to a “personal column”:

“Hello. My name is XXX. I’m 13, and I’ll be 14 in October (’89). I’m very, very interested in a magazine which was passed out at our school about Satan being in the schoolyards. I’m from a small town called Argos, Ind.

“I used to be really interested in Satanic worshippers until I read this magazine. I listened to very heavy acid rock music all the time, like Metallica, Led Zeppelin and Ozzy. I used to pray to Satan to get raped and other things. The only reason why is because I’m still a virgin, and I thought that was the only reason to lose my virginity and if I got pregnant, I wouldn’t get into trouble. It would be nice if lots of schools would pass out this magazine because I know a lot of kids my age who don’t know what to do.

“Thank you if you would print this letter or send me a reply...”

NO COMMENT!

Dharma, please now print the letter from the R.N. in Wisconsin. This portion is a reply to an editorial in a rather small Wisconsin publication called Wisconsin Report. These quotes can all be verified at your library.

LETTER OF SUPPORT TO EDITORIAL: “ROCK MUSIC, ESPECIALLY HEAVY METAL, CONTRIBUTES TO POISONING THE MINDS OF OUR YOUNG PEOPLE”

“Dear Virginia,

“After reading your editorial comments in the September 28 issue of the Wisconsin Report as well as Peggy Cuddy’s letter regarding rock music, I am writing to add support to the view that rock music, especially ‘heavy metal’, contributes to poisoning the minds of our young people. As a registered nurse working in a treatment center for disturbed adolescents, I see first-hand the damage this music and lifestyle does. Not only is the loud discordant rebellious beat objectionable but the music forms an addiction so the young person desires to continually listen to it. This causes them to gravitate toward the philosophy of the music—a philosophy of hate, rebelliousness toward authority, anarchy, violence, sex, death and drugs. This music listened to by a depressed teen is like pouring gasoline on a fire as it makes the depression worse. Some of this music involves occultic themes, and promotes suicide and Satanism.

“I urge everyone reading this to go to various record shops and ask the salesperson to direct you to the ‘heavy metal’ section of the store. The grotesque images, death, blood, gore, sex, occult images, and desecration of Christian symbols is predominant.” [S: Please allow me to add, however, lest there be confusion—the desecration is toward all accepted sects of “goodness”—the Jewish faith is most hard hit of all, in actuality.] “How can anyone not know, even after viewing the record jackets alone that, something is wrong? The same goes for videos, movies and TV. Take a good look at the selection of “thriller” films available for rent, showing rape, mutilation, gruesome murder, satanic and occultic rituals and every barbaric practice known. What does it take for people to wake up and see the damage this is doing? Many of the young people I work with will never be mentally healthy. It’s too late. The damage has been done. Most of the other mental health professionals I work with do not even address these issues as contributing factors. I’ve heard them tell concerned parents, ‘Don’t over-react.’ They look at the rock music as a means of expression and it would be wrong to deny teens this mode of venting their feelings! We read the police reports showing evidence of satanic involvement they see as they go into the bedrooms of teens who have attempted suicide. Reports of walls plastered with favorite heavy metal rock stars, books on the occult and satanic paraphernalia are found—but nothing is done about it because many do not take it seriously, calling it ‘just a phase’. Trying to educate these kids to the dangers of this activity often just makes them retreat into further secrecy. Even after sharing the lyrics of the music—and the lifestyle and philosophy of these rock stars—often parents will remark, ‘What does it hurt? We had our music when we were young!’ There is such a profound blindness!

“When we shop for food to nourish the body we want the best. We reject rotting produce, moldy bread and spoiled meat, because common sense tells us that contaminated food can cause illness or poisoning, yet when it comes to feeding the mind, so often choices made for entertainment involve illicit and violent sex, profanity, murders, crime, blood and gore. As a result, people’s minds become ill and so does society.

“Many buy rock music tapes and concert tickets for their children with these demonic themes filled with hate and rebellion or turn a deaf ear to the music and pretend not to see! There are often no restrictions on what is viewed on videos, movies or TV. When kids end up with emotional problems parents wonder why and spend a fortune for a ‘cure’.” [S: I would insert here that I suggest you really look carefully at the predominance of advertising on your TV—it deals with hospital and projected “cures” for alcoholism, drugs etc., etc.!—So be it.]

“Not all parents can be blamed. Some do care and teach their children right from wrong. Peer and social influences can be intense. There are those strong-willed children who are more difficult to raise than others. Even in the best family environment there can be problems, but without loving, consistent parental involvement and without strong family values, there is little hope.

“Mental hospitals are filled with young people who are a lost generation because so many have not cared enough to protect them from feeding on mental garbage. Now society must pay the price while many continue to wonder why!”

This was signed: A WISCONSIN R.N. I am a bit sorry, for I would like to give her great credit, however, that would be most unsafe for her well-being. I do, however, honor her greatly and make acknowledgement herein.

One more on this subject, Dharma, and we shall move on.

AMA LINKS ROCK MUSIC TO SATANISM AND DRUGS

The following is self-obvious:

“Titled Adolescents and Their Music and produced by the AMA’s Group on Science and Technology, a report counsels physicians who treat teens to be aware of the connection between rock music, especially heavy metal, and anti-social behavior. The study was published in the Sept. 22-29, 1989 Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA).

“One aspect of the adolescent environment that has been a source of concern... has been the role of rock music, specifically its lyrics’, says the report. This concern has been enhanced by the ‘violent and sexual content' of rock videos. Heavy metal, which 'features a loud pulsating rhythm and abounds with lyrics that glorify hatred, abuse, sexual deviancy and occasionally Satanism', is especially disturbing.

"Although extremely conservative—it concludes that there is no scientific proof that rock has deleterious effects on behavior—the AMA report performs a useful function by citing numerous studies which have implied a causal relationship between teen fascination with rock music, and participation in drug use and other destructive behavior.

"The study warns that 'evidence, although anecdotal', exists which suggests that teenagers heavily immersed in the heavy metal subculture, 'may be at risk for drug abuse or even participation in Satanic activities.'

"As evidence, it cites several murders which 'have been correlated with a fascination for heavy metal music', including the case of the 'Night Stalker', serial murderer Richard Ramirez who left Satanic slogans and symbols at the site of his crimes, and 'was said to be obsessed with the heavy metal band AC/DC'.

"It also refers to a number of studies which link rock to drug abuse and pre-marital sex. One such study found that 60% of drug-dependent teens named heavy metal as their first choice of music, 'leading the author to suggest that such music is associated with and may promote destructive behavior in susceptible teenagers'.

"Another, on the effect of music television (MTV), found that 7th- and 10th-graders, after watching more than one hour of certain music videos, 'were more likely to approve of premarital sex'.... Another concluded that violent music videos 'desensitized viewers to violence immediately after viewing'.

"Perhaps the AMA's most shocking finding is that, between the 7th and the 12th grades, the average teenager listens to 10,500 hours of rock music. This is just 'slightly less than the entire number of hours spent in the classroom from kindergarten through high school'. No wonder there has been such an explosion of Satanism, drug use and suicide among adolescents!"

No, Dharma, I am not going to answer your questions in this segment. First you ones must face that which is already projected for your attention. We can only touch on a piddling few and even at that, most ones will bore and lay aside or move onward to something less accusative or titillating. This hits on every person alive and on all your children. Perhaps all I shall ever do is show you how it is, that you might better understand "how it will be"! Amen.

I request a break at this point. I wish to discuss and project a thought on a most popular little game you have running around your children's playroom, DUNGEONS & DRAGONS, before we turn to the "beyond games and into reality of practice" games man now seems to enjoy so very much. It seems most illusive for parents to be able to face that which has entered the lives of all, especially the young. It is banned to give a child in a crib a toy with buttons and yet you have no restrictions what-so-ever on the choking bits and pieces which poison the only thing your child has in reality—his mind! So be it. A break, please.

REC. #2 SANANDA

TUE., NOV. 7, 1989 1:00 P.M. YEAR 3, DAY 083

Dharma, let us make it clear from the onset of this chapter that we are singling out this particular game, for it carries with it such obvious messages. There are others which could be discussed in depth but this will suffice for our needs. You ones must learn to look within even your games for hidden content and impact. The game of "DUNGEONS & DRAGONS" is especially good for critique, for it is noted as a Satanic game.

This, too, will be quoted in full that it can be verified. I give appreciation to ones A. Chaitkin and E. Corpus. Dateline: August 11, 1989.

I. A LOOK AT THE GAME

"Remember... that goodness has no absolute values. Although many things are commonly accepted as good (helping those in need, protecting the weak), different cultures impose their own interpretations on what is good and what is evil...."

"Remember that evil, like good, is interpreted differently in different societies...."

"Curative and healing spells can have no effect on a dead character—he can only be returned to life with a raise dead or resurrection spell...."

"A spook spell enables the wizard to play upon natural fears to cause the target creature to perceive the spellcaster as someone or something inimical...."

"Animate Dead (Necromancy)... This spell creates the lowest of the undead monsters—skeletons or zombies—usually from the bones or bodies of dead humans, demi-humans, or humanoids. The spell causes existing remains to become animated and obey the simple verbal commands of the caster...."

"A geas spell places a magical command upon a creature (usually human or humanoid) to carry out some service, or to refrain from some action or course of activity, as desired by the spellcaster.... While a geas cannot compel a creature to kill itself or to perform acts that are likely to result in certain death, it can cause almost any other course of action. The geased creature must follow the given instructions until the geas is completed. Failure to do so will cause the creature to grow sick and die within 1d4 weeks (sic)."

"Control Undead (Necromancy)... At the end of the spell, the controlled undead revert to their normal behaviors. Those not mindless will remember the control exerted by the wizard...."

"The finger of death spell snuffs out the victim's life force. If successful, the victim can be neither raised nor resurrected. In addition, in human subjects the spell initiates changes to the body such that after three days the caster can... animate the corpse as a ju-ju zombie under the control of the caster...."

"Trap the Soul (Conjuration/Summoning)... This spell forces the creature's life force (and its material body) into a special prison gem enchanted by the spellcaster...."

"When a power word, kill spell is uttered, one or more creatures of any type within the spell range and area of effect are slain...."

You have just read some of the rules in the Advanced Dungeons and Dragons Player's Handbook, 2nd Edition (1989). The book's cover invites "players, ages 10 and up" to "enter a world of fantastic role-playing adventure".

The publisher, TSR Inc. of Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, producer of the game Dungeons and Dragons, will stage a kind of Satanic games fair in the Mecca arena in Milwaukee, August 10-13. Approximately 10,000 participants, aged 10 years and up, are expected at the event, known as Gen Con.

Some players will appear in occult or pornographic costumes—a prize will be awarded. Some will be stoned on drugs. From 8 a.m. to midnight, for four days, the "D&Ders" will play fantasy roles under the control of Game Masters. The elements of the fantasy scenarios date back as far as the occult fakirs of ancient Babylon, with added new technologies of manipulative mind control developed during the post-World War II period. The object: to strip participants of their human sympathies and human identity.

The formal logic of Dungeons & Dragons, played by over three million in the U.S.A. and Europe, is as follows: Any number of persons (with fantasy character identities) enter a "dungeon" (predetermined group of rooms and corridors) that contains a treasure, there to duel against monsters, hostile inferior races, and other characters to retrieve the treasure and emerge alive. Equipment ranges from simply paper and pencil, up through elaborate computer software.

Players, typically beginning involvement in their early teens, must align their emotions with fear and degradation, violence, sadistic sex, torture and pain, and suicide and death. As the game consumes more of their time, they are isolated from contact with family and peers. The family's loyalties and values, and the child's self-control are attacked and altered in favor of allegiance to the "Dungeon Master"—often a schoolteacher or older teen—who rules over the multiple deities and gods, necromancy, magical spells, incantations and curses, the sorcery and mysticism of the ages.

As more and more deranged child-players have died from suicide and have murdered family members and friends, Dungeons & Dragons has been banned from a number of schools and has come under increasing attack from concerned religious and child-welfare groups.

Beyond these shattered lives, perhaps the community's gravest immediate concern should be whether the Dungeons & Dragons game could be used as an entrance point into hard-core Satanist groups, such as the OTO, or "Ordo Templi Orientis". D&D game clubs intertwine everywhere with proselytizing Satanist and witchcraft organizations, linked together by occultists' computer networks such as BaphoNet and Wierdbase. If only one in 10,000 young people per week are successfully recruited to criminal pedophile circles, that is 300 minds lost, and countless children abused and murdered.

II. THE ORIGIN

In preparing for a battle—whether it is to stop the brainwashing of children or to repel an armed invasion—it makes sense to know who the enemy is, and why he is attacking you. Despite the growing controversy about Dungeons and Dragons, no one has yet printed a real history of the game, or even the smallest biography of the mysterious E. Gary Gygax, D&D's original promoter.

Published sources say that Gary Gygax, assisted by personal friends, invented the game and first sold it in 1974, through his TSR Hobbies, Inc. Gygax is no longer with TSR; in a 1985 power struggle, he lost control of the company to Lorraine Williams, granddaughter of newspaper syndicate boss, John Flint Dille.

In his 1987 book, Roll Playing Mastery (Putnam, New York), Gygax tells of three separate sources for the idea of Dungeons & Dragons:

* * The use of role-playing in clinical psychotherapy, a widespread practice in the "Aquarian Revolution" of the 1960s.

* * Military conflict-simulation—through which think tanks such as the Rand Corporation helped direct the Pentagon away from "traditional" to "utopian" military thinking of the Robert McNamara variety.

* * Military miniatures gaming, i.e., playing with toy soldiers. Gygax credits British author H.G. Wells as the ultimate father of D&D—through Wells' 1913 book Little Wars—describing an elaborate game world with fights between tin figures.

There is no biographical data in Role Playing Mastery, not even the usual blurb on the author. Magazine articles about Gyax call him a retired insurance salesman and shoe peddler, simply an enthusiastic hobbyist, dreaming up spells, racial archetypes and elaborate modes of murder.

In his Mastery book, Gyax describes his work in a sophisticated mid-1960's Stanford University project: "of the conflict simulation sort, and with a bit of military miniatures. As I recall, it was labeled the Ad Hoc Committee for the Reconstruction of WWII—a massive, fairly chaotic effort using the energies of several people plus computer assistance. I participated in the role of the Chinese Communist commander."

"... I proceeded to acquire books on the history, culture, agriculture, politics, and literature of China.... Of course, I bought maps, military histories, and even writings of Chairman Mao—the person I played in the game. At the same time, I tried to learn about the economy and who and what the so-called Nationalists, my opponents, were and their resources in thinking, manpower, weapons, and what have you."

In a recent telephone interview, Gary Gyax told us that the Stanford war-game simulation was run by six people, none of whose names he remembers; that he doesn't remember what agency sponsored the Stanford affair; and that all records relating to it are lost.

He did recollect that he founded the International Federation of War Gaming in 1967, several years before the invention of D&D. This involved some 600 computer war-game specialists nationally. He could not remember anyone who worked with him in that organization!!

While Gyax played Mao, another Stanford University experiment developed theories and methods of thought control which would aid the game designers of the 1970s and 1980s. "Artificial intelligence" researcher K.M. Colby created several models of computer-simulated paranoid neurosis, the "Artificial Belief System" for which he was named Research Scientist in 1967 by the National Institute of Mental Health, with Pentagon agency backing. The idea of the Colby-Stanford project was to imitate human insanity, in order to induce it, or manipulate it, for military or "social" purposes. Expert judges from the American Psychiatric Association could not distinguish between teletyped dialogue with actual human paranoid patients, and dialogue with Colby's program.

The artificial intelligence work has been applied to the study of both robotics and brainwashing by Pentagon sub-agencies, including the Office of Naval Research, and "linguistics" experts at the University of Wisconsin.

In our exclusive interview, Gary Gyax boasted of a family background of more interest than that of most Midwestern insurance underwriters. He claimed that the Gyax family moved in 200 B.C. from Thessalonika, Greece to Switzerland, where today there are four Gyax castles centered around Berne. As our discussion ranged across time to the magicians of the Persian empire, Egypt, etc., it became clear that the lore and practice of the occult could well be a living family tradition with Mr. Gyax.

Frederick Gyax was the Swiss consul general from the end of World War II until the mid 1950s, while the Swiss- and New York-based Allen Dulles was forming the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. Consul Gyax was extremely guarded in a recent telephone interview with us on the Gyax family, but he acknowledged the fame of a cousin of Gary Gyax, U.S. Admiral Felix Gyax—who held the curious position of naval attaché in Switzerland before World War I.

Another political curiosity in the family is Gary's uncle, Eugene Burdick, the author of the anti-war thriller Fail-Safe and The Ugly American. Burdick taught at the University of California until 1965, after lecturing for a time at the Naval War College. Here is the leftist Military Expert, teaching rules of "little wars".

 * * * [S: I AM TRULY DISAPPOINTED IF YOUR MIND IS NOT RACING 500 MILES PER HOUR. WHY WOULD YOUR MILITARY HEADQUARTERS BE A "PENTAGON"? WASN'T YOUR CURRENT PRESIDENT HEAD OF THE C.I.A.? ISN'T YOUR PRESIDENT A MEMBER OF THE SKULL AND BONES SOCIETY? AH, SO—'TIS A GOOD GAME OF QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS AFTER ALL.]

III. WAR AS A GAME

Gary Gyax confirmed our tip, from a former TSR executive, that Gyax was deeply involved with another firm, the Avalon Hill Game Company of Baltimore, Md., before he set up TSR for Dungeons and Dragons. Gyax says he designed a game called Alexander the Great for Avalon Hill; perhaps this was simply family history.

According to the Avalon Hill chairman, Eric Dott, his game company has done military-simulation exercises for "colonels and up" in the defense Department. Mr. Dott absolutely refused to be specific about the nature of these exercises, or if they were of a classified nature.

Sources close to TSR say that, "The government was suspicious of Avalon Hill—they saw them as knowing things they weren't supposed to know." Eric Dott explained that "The FBI and the Secret Service have come around asking questions several times."

There are a number of reasons for counter-intelligence inquiries about Avalon Hill:

The games they produce, played at popular weekend gaming conventions, involve large numbers of U.S. military personnel, both officers and enlisted men. What are they being recruited to do?

Even apart from Dungeons and Dragons, the typical role-playing game seen in current hobby shops involves an unbelievably horrible post-nuclear holocaust nightmare world. The mental life of the gaming genre is a perfect conduit into OTO and Satanism generally.

Asked about the political-military outlook of Avalon Hill, Chairman Dott said, "We're pretty much all conscientious objectors here." Here, the "peacenik" who brings young people into fantasy race-wars and every-man-for-himself bloodbaths, gives conflict-simulation exercises to the Defense Department!

When H.G. wrote Little Wars in 1913, humanity faced a New Dark Age in the impending world war. Wells proposed that strategic planners engage in fantasy war games as a healthy alternative to a major conflict. Wells—called the real father of Dungeons & Dragons by inventor Gary Gyax—placed no value on human life. He merely proposed a more expedient route to the New Dark Age.

A recent article by a top Pentagon "expert" illustrates how deeply New Age delusions have penetrated American strategic thinking. Charles A. Whitehouse, now Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special Operations and Low Intensity Conflict, was formerly U.S. Ambassador to Laos, Undersecretary of State for Henry Kissinger, a regional chief of the Operation Phoenix assassination program in Viet Nam, and founder and chairman of the "preservationist" Piedmont Environmental Council in northern Virginia. He once directed a State Department project to guide public opinion away from blaming either Communist China or the CIA for dope sales in Viet Nam.

Writing in the newsletter of the Reserve Officers Association, Whitehouse lays down the rules for the new era of "U.S.-Soviet reapproachment". The "distortion" of the U.S.-Soviet rivalry is now over, he claims, allowing us to see clearly the "threat" the U.S.A. faces in the Third World. Those poor countries, not the Communists, should occupy our strategic planning. He proposed an increased emphasis of "deception, stealth and guile" to win the new-type wars.

Whitehouse, like Gary Gyax, would teach from the Communist Chinese model: "Mao had only three rules that governed relations between his guerrillas and the Chinese people: All actions are subject to command. Do not steal from the people. Be neither selfish nor unjust. Simple, yet effective, and the kind of 'art' that makes low-intensity conflict work.... We forgot these lessons as we focused our attention on 'big' wars. It has been nearly 50 years since the Marine Corps issued the Small Wars Manual.... Perhaps it is time... for a new Small Wars Manual."

Ambassador Whitehouse executed countless persons in Operation Phoenix, and is fascinated by the honesty and selflessness of the Communists. Rest easy. The conduct of national affairs is in the hands of the fantasy game masters.

* * * * *

I will ask that you please take note of recurring persons, i.e., Henry Kissinger, etc. It might be good if you went back and reviewed SPACE-GATE and SPIRAL TO ECONOMIC DISASTER.

I am not going to linger longer on the foregoing subject. It speaks for itself. Further, I hear the protests coming forth: "Well, everyone doesn't fall prey to the darkness of this game, or the metal music—you have no right to go on in this manner or quote such antiquated material." True—very true; however, look around at your society and determine how long you can go on in this manner of existence! So be it and Selah.

Dharma, just add one last thing—quote from the notice posted regarding the August 10-13, 1989 Gen Con games fair:

"Be advised: This is not simply some mindless amusement, such as a Space Invaders video game. Dungeons & Dragons, the fantasy role-playing game, has already resulted in numerous child suicides and related murders.

"This is brainwashing, carried out under the control of "Game Masters". It is designed to break a person's self-control, loyalty to family, and sympathy for human life.

"Further warning: Dungeons & Dragons clubs function in an environment of computer interlock with groups practicing Satanism and witchcraft, whose objectives include the recruitment of children as sex objects."

So, come on in and see if you can outwit Gen Con!

I guess my case rests regarding this "silly" little child's game. I knew that all you good adults and parents knew all about these things.... Dharma just needed typing practice!

Close this portion, that we might move on into the really wondrous world of Satanic games and secrets for you ones who are now mumbling about the boring stupidity of this book. Unfortunately, there is no way to really shock any of your society any longer. Unfortunate, indeed! However, perhaps a few of you will blink a bit and raise up off your comfortable places of resting and self-indulgence and see a bit farther.

Multiple-Corporation Strategies For Tax Savings, Asset Protection

By Ron Kirzinger, 6/2/01

SB51 EFFECTIVE OCTOBER 1

For those of you following Senate Bill 51 with some interest, it's final. Having passed the Senate by a vote of 27-0 and the Assembly by a vote of 41-0, the provisions of SB51 have been approved by the Governor and are set to become law effective October 1, 2001.

Thereafter, C corporations will go into revoked status after 2 years instead of 9 months and LLCs will be enabled by special provisions allowing for private "noneconomic members" and various classes of members with privately definable responsibilities and authorities. We will be developing some strategies to share with you for the use of the "new look" LLCs in the not-too-distant future.

In addition, beginning October 1, 2001, any foreign entity may "clone" itself as any type of Nevada entity. Additional merger provisions will be in place to enhance this fundamental change. An offshore corporation formed in 1980 in the Caymans, for instance, will be able to establish itself here in Nevada under a name of its choosing—and lawfully be able to claim that it has been in business since 1980, whether or not it chooses to continue to exist in the Caymans. Such a business could transfer all of its assets at any time and then dissolve itself in the foreign jurisdiction, without running afoul of the $10,000 limit on money transfers that at present could cause problems with "money laundering" provisions of the federal law. As of October 1, such transfers will be able to be made "intra-company", literally from one pocket to another. It seems that there should be no tax consequences, either, as the money transferred could be considered initial capitalization of the Nevada corporation so formed.

But offshore shelters are not the only non-Nevada entities that should be able to benefit from the new regulations. Any business anywhere in the world could take advantage of these new provisions to establish its "home office" in the haven of Nevada and immediately begin to enjoy the benefits of Nevada's sheltering statutes. Most especially, all of the new Internet-based businesses, which don't really need much in the way of a physical presence but which might have been formed elsewhere initially—in time, we believe, will find their home in the Silver State.

Nevada offers unparalleled liability protection to the officers, directors, agents and employees of its corporations, something sorely lacking in other jurisdictions. It bears repeating that there has only been one case in the last quarter-century here in Nevada where the courts allowed piercing of the corporate veil and that was a case of outright and unabashed fraud. In contrast, right "next door" in California assessment of liability against a corporation's personnel has become very, very common. So, what's to prevent a California corporation from re-establishing its home office in Nevada? After October 1—nothing. And the same applies to all other jurisdictions in the world where liability protection is less than it is here. Perhaps it is becoming obvious why we perceive a "corporation rush" coming soon?

VALUE-BASED CURRENCY

A previous article pointed out that Budget Corporate Renewals has registered to do business as the LAS VEGAS LIBERTY REDEMPTION CENTER for the new, silver-backed, American Liberty Dollar currency. I got my first look at the new currency just today—and it is beautiful. The $10, one-ounce silver coin, in particular, has a very nice look and feel to it. With what appear to be artificially low prices for the precious metals, these coins stand to appreciate significantly as the price of silver rises. The $10 silver certificate—which states right on it that it is a "warehouse receipt" for one ounce of silver—is also quite striking and would also appreciate in value with rising precious-metals prices. The $1 denominations are also warehouse receipts, for one-tenth of an ounce of silver.

With the growth that NORFED has experienced in less than 3 years of operation, don't be surprised if you encounter some of this currency in your daily life sometime soon. When we checked a little more than a year ago there wasn't a single redemption center in Las Vegas but today there are more than a dozen. And the number of merchants who will accept the currency continues to grow exponentially as well. Now you can count Budget Corporate Renewals among them.

We know that value-based currency is "the way to go"—and now the American Liberty Dollar currency is available to everyone. It's hard to see how the "powers that be" could move to stop the use of this currency without exposing their own impostures further than they already have. And as use of this currency grows, it won't get any easier for them to block it, will it? Why not get a sample package of $100 worth of this beautiful currency and put it away for a "rainy day"?

MULTIPLE-CORPORATION STRATEGIES

It's a little surprising—perhaps because of my own personal involvement with Nevada corporations over many years—but many people still seem to stop short of understanding how two or more corporations can work together to accomplish otherwise "impossible" strategies.

The key to understanding the process rests in the fact that Nevada corporations are inherently PRIVATE entities. Even without—but especially with—the use of nominee service, it is very difficult for anyone on the outside to determine who actually owns or controls a Nevada corporation. Privacy makes possible the ability to have "another pocket" with which to work but which is operated independently of you and any other business involvement.

Accountants don't generally seem to understand but in many cases that is because it hasn't been explained to them either well or properly. If you tell your accountant that a private Nevada corporation is your corporation—as in, you own it outright—then of course he is going to have some problems with issues like the key IRS designations of "controlled group", "personal service corporation" or "personal holding company". On the other hand, if you handle the corporation's affairs properly and tell the accountant truthfully that there are 6 or more stockholders—then none of the above designations apply and he can happily do the work for which he has been trained.

Let's say that you operate a small business in another state and that business does business with a private Nevada corporation in such a way that the home-state business earns no profit and thus pays no taxes. The accountant for your home-state business might show some concern for the lack of profitability of the home-state business—but then, he doesn't know everything that you know about the situation. The accountant might advise you to do business differently, to which you might respond that you know you could be more profitable doing things differently but you really like the people behind that private Nevada corporation with which you are doing business.

Meanwhile, the accountant for the private Nevada corporation—who could be but doesn't necessarily have to be a different party altogether—would be entitled to know the truth of the situation: that there are 6 (or more) stockholders of that corporation, of which you might identify yourself as one.

Handled this way, either accountant (who may, again, be one and the same) knows what he needs to know, even if he doesn't know everything about everything. He just does his job as he has been trained to do—and seeing that there are 6 or more stockholders, he is sure NOT to apply the penalty rules for IRS designations that do not apply to the situation.

"Fine," you say, "But I don't have 6 stockholders, there's just me. Now what do I do?" Perhaps you just forgot or never got to it—but you probably meant to and maybe you did issue some stock shortly after that corporation was formed. Often, people will issue 6 sets of 100 shares made payable to the "bearer", "for services rendered". Look again and you might find a notation to this effect in your corporate records. If it's not there, what happened? Did you lose it? Ta da—you have the answer to your own question.

Keep in mind that ownership of a Nevada corporation is PRIVATE. All the accountant needs to know is that there are 6 or more stockholders and you should never again hear any objections relating to "controlled group", or "personal service corporation" or "personal holding company" designations. They simply don't apply.

Because those designations don't apply, there's really no reason to ever pay more than 15% in taxes (the basic federal rate on the first $50,000 of net income, after expenses). So, while others promote the idea of a 15% "flat tax"—you could have been experiencing it, along with significant other tax breaks, for a long time. Any time one "pocket" starts to bulge a little, take something out of it and put it in another "pocket". And if you don't have another "pocket", get one. Stay small and keep a low profile in this way and you might actually be able to enjoy some of your hard-earned money instead of willingly feeding it to the vampires.

There are other situations where it can be helpful to use more than one corporation. Sometimes, for instance, it can be quite helpful to "layer" your protection. Let's say that you transferred some money or other assets into a "private" Nevada corporation but are concerned that someone could too easily connect you to the corporation through or even because of the flow of money. Is there anything to say that the private Nevada corporation cannot invest that money with or in another private Nevada corporation? Of course not.

Following this strategy, when someone gets around to searching the corporation where they "know" you stashed your money, what do they find? Perhaps very little, perhaps only an empty shell. Of course they could extend their search to the second entity—but by the time they did, who is to say how it might have fared with its own investments, or where they might be? And who knows who actually owns or controls that entity anyway? You get the idea. This strategy of "layering" protection can make it exceedingly difficult for anyone to get at your nest egg.

There are many other multiple-corporation strategies that could be discussed and perhaps we will look at some more in the future. Meanwhile, we encourage you to contact us to discuss your personal situation—at no charge—to see if you are doing all you can to take advantage of the marvelous financial tool that is a Nevada corporation.

As a final note for anyone reading this article who did not make the deadline for the special introductory pricing on The Nevada Corporation Manual—we will extend that pricing if you mention the special offer presented here. We really do want you all to have the manual as a reference for the times of abundance that are surely coming (if somewhat too slowly for our own liking at times).

NEVADA CORPORATIONS:

When Is A Corporation NOT "Doing Business"?

Budget's "Tip of the Week" #15:

Operating in a Foreign Jurisdiction Without Having to Qualify the Corporation

Since most people who form Nevada corporations reside in jurisdictions other than Nevada, one of the first questions that needs to be addressed is how to properly use the corporation while they themselves operate from within their home state (or country). Is it necessary to register or qualify the Nevada corporation to do business within their jurisdiction? Often it is—especially if there is a physical presence involving employees—but there are often many useful exceptions to the rule.

Let's look at the exemptions from qualification in the State of California—which is generally known for both its stringent regulations and its repressive taxation—to see what "loopholes" exist. You should look up the regulations in your own particular jurisdiction but as a general rule they tend to be quite similar.

Business Exempt from Qualification in the State of California

Without excluding other activities which may constitute transacting business, a foreign corporation shall not be considered to be transacting business solely by reason of carrying on any one or more of the following activities:

- 1) A foreign corporation shall not be considered to be transacting intrastate business merely because its subsidiary transacts intrastate business.
- 2) Maintaining or defending any action or suit or administrative action.
- 3) Holding meetings of its board or shareholders or carrying out other activities concerning its internal affairs.
- 4) Maintaining bank accounts.
- 5) Maintaining offices or agencies for the transfer, exchange or registration of its securities.
- 6) Effecting sales through independent contractors.
- 7) Soliciting or procuring orders either by mail or through employees or agents or otherwise where such orders require acceptance without this state before becoming binding contracts.
- 8) Creating evidences of debt or mortgages on real property.
- 9) Conducting an isolated transaction within a period of 180 days and not in the course of a number of repeated transactions of like nature.

We have highlighted number 6 because this provision is used by an increasing number of businesses in the area of consulting. When the consultant is an independent contractor and the income is earned by a Nevada corporation, the corporation has no presence in the foreign jurisdiction, only the contractor does. So, the contractor must pay home-state tax on his income but the corporation earns its income in Nevada. There can be tremendous tax savings if the contractor lives modestly and draws only what is needed to meet living expenses.

Where the business is more product-related rather than service-related, provision number 7 can come into play. Just ensure that the orders generated require acceptance from Nevada before becoming binding contracts!

WORDS OF WISDOM FROM HATONN

CONTACT OR SPECTRUM?

I want to briefly respond to a most unusual question from a totally "out of the blue" person: "It appears Spectrum will fail, possibly close, so will you go back to writing for CONTACT or what?"

I have never stopped writing for CONTACT—but I have NOT written, nor have my compatriots written for Spectrum. Tails wag a lot of dogs, my friends. Therefore, "or what" has no meaning.
