Elite Controllers/IBC MUST HAVE A WAR

9/22/01—#2 (15-037)

RE: LEGAL RAMIFICATIONS OF CARELESSNESS

Hatonn—Let me first acknowledge a few people and things: starting with Lester K, New Zealand. Know, son, that we hear your petitions and your best wishes. Remember that it is always better for MAN to stop the insanity and not simply have God to somehow interrupt evil.

Good comes out of everything—even if you cannot always see it instantly, and the evil of Sept. 11 will be no exception.

Yes, indeed, you want to heal the world and put things to right. However, until we have better interchange it would all be to naught, as the snatchers of bodies and souls would grab more quickly than any can provide. I know that “patience” has become the dirty word of our goodly company but must remain our motto.

Can't you see it now, “THE GOODLY COMPANY, LTD., We serve patience.”?

And, yes, Lester, YOU need rest. When Mother gets to the point of inability to function, both of you will be far better off if she is cared for in a nice home where her comfort can be assured. We (that means YOU) must be prepared for “departure”—for when the systems begin to shut down, especially the mind, know that that mind has already made its decisions for self.) There will be plenty of work left waiting for you.

We have to work around the brotherhood of Great Britain and that simply is the way of it. Evil can only impact our beings as we ALLOW it to do so. We have no right to, nor can we, make choices for another.

TAKING THE LEGAL POSITION

Now to Jerry C.: Thank you for sharing the more recent receivings from the organization I will leave unnamed. I do that for a very good reason of which YOU may very well be aware.

There is so much threatening language involved in the document shared that I would not even wish it run in order to protect the paper itself. It has no identification of “sender” as such and promises good things beyond which there is no program which can produce such return—as is structured at present. Moreover, to threaten any with negative outcome “if they don't, per the White Knights” is legal fodder. WE would not be of any such White Knights or other such organizations. Ours is possibly a “white brotherhood” but this smacks of things fomenting with V.K. Durham's flock of “Doves”. You see, it is based on something for nothing, basically, and it SHOULD NOT work well.

I have warned you over and over again about getting listed with any groupie, readers. And THIS is why you will be very glad that anything with us was legal and never other than a lending circumstances of a non-personal nature. We have not now, or ever, had any cult, group, church or other club.

The party writing the threats is recognized as “Dove of Oneness”? Is that identification? People, wake up and be very careful. The subject we have not named is not even viable for reference.

Mainly, however, I caution EVERYONE to be very careful about being in ANY organization which cannot produce according to a well-planned and supported program.

This certainly is NOT to put down ANYONE; I just ask that everyone be very cautious for, as structured, it can't and won't work out very well. Sorry.

Moreover, WE must work our way through this maze of terror, clean, clear, and with totally workable, transparent, interchange and flow. This is why we WELCOME all anti-laundering of money laws—the more stringent the better!

Let's look at a few items of the day and you will find the confusion frothing over the cuptop.

The FBI has again blown their jobs and arrested people, blamed people internationally, who frankly are still very much alive and totally uninvolved in any attack of any kind.

Next let us look to just the news floating on CNN: There was obviously INSIDER knowledge and trading in the brokerage houses—PROVEN as to some like Morgan Stanley.

The tracing of these so-called terrorists accounts and money-flow systems will uncover a lot more than the Elite are going to enjoy being made public. There was heavy selling of Airline stocks freeing up a LOT of money BEFORE there was a bombing—like a couple of days before. And again I ask: Where are all those Elite bodies which should have housed themselves during office hours in the Twin Towers?

By the way, those towers would have come down on the 11th EVEN HAD THERE BEEN NO AIR STRIKES TO HIDE BEHIND, AND THAT COULD NOT HAVE BEEN THE WORK OF ARAB ALIENS.

The Elite controllers and IBC HAVE TO HAVE A WAR—as is always the case when things are too bad to fix otherwise. FOLLOW THE MONEY!

Bush said all the right things—for Americans. His speech did not go over very big otherwise. Revenge is not OF GOD! Be careful what you put into your own heart and soul, lest it destroy you in your lack of self-discipline and lack of self-guidance while claiming Godliness and things in “God's” name. God doesn't go around deading or aliving anyone, including Osama bin Laden. This time YOU are the invaders—again.

But America was bombed? Really? By whom were you bombed? Are you SURE? Who do you go kill, kill, kill? Well, let's start with the sure kills—YOUR MILITARY CHILDREN!

Which ones of you parents want the target drawn on your child's back, front and sideways—while Kissinger sits on the King's throne directing traffic?

The one in highest charge is THE one who managed the drug trade in the Golden Triangle (for the Bush CIA) and then moved to the Golden Crescent to oversee those operations—and now he is second only to “Sir” Colin Powell. Oh, my.

Yes, indeed, continue to pray and who knows, wisdom may yet strike, for you who pray in sincerity are heard while the false and pious lies are considered equally carefully if not so positively received. GOD TOO HAS A PLAN 2000 AND THAT MEANS HE HAS A THOUSAND YEARS TO ACCOMPLISH IT. THE “OTHER” GUYS ONLY GAVE THEMSELVES TO 2002.

Some other pending things may well yet get accomplished for which some of our own people have prayed, waited and invested self and funds—as the Elite start to clean up more of the trails and try to cover their dirty deeds and soiled underwear.

The biggest money launderers are, in fact, the most outspoken BANKS. People doing honest business don't mind money-protection laws—but the IBC certainly does. I suggest you go watch Mr. Gramm in any circumstance where money-laundering laws are in play in Congress.

And lack of privacy of even your own person? Are you SURE you don't like a crackdown of hijackers on your airliners—especially the one you plan to fly? Basically, if you have no plans for “beating the system” somehow, you are going to find personal security a most welcome feeling.

If you plan to stand on your stoop with two oozies, I suggest you get ready for problems. The Big Boys can terrorize beyond belief—even if they are only there to check on your vitamin shelf. And if you think the speed laws are too tight—change the laws, not increase your speed.

If a type of smoke or snort is unlawfull—DON'T DO IT! It's really not very good for you anyway.

Now, for selfish grabbers—they deserve to lose that which they intended to grab. Greed is not of God and admits corruption in some places and absolute corruption in others.

Why would I even refer to the sham above as in the Dove as possibly being somehow associated with V.K. Durham? Because, if it isn't, it is even WORSE. The “asset” is the only thing around big enough to even consider a possible good outcome.

We LIMIT that which is available—AND IT IS WITHIN REASON, LOGIC AND HONORABLE. There is nothing worthy about trying to grab the pot of gold at the end of any rainbow. It IS not only honorable but feasible to USE the gold in the pot for the rainbow of people around the globe who do not claim the “rays” of that rainbow as their own possession of some kind but as their claim to God.

Satan must have a lot of bedfellows—GOD CAN STAND ALONE, FOR HE ENCOMPASSES US EACH AND ALL.

By the way, my friends will remember, the song Amazing Grace is a lovely tune but the second line is “... saved a wretch like me...”. I objected then and I object now: YOU ARE NOT A WRETCH, FOR YOU ARE THE PERFECT CREATION OF GOD. STOP THE INSULTING OF GOD.

God is amazing in Grace, but so too are YOU. HE has gifted you with that wondrous miracle.

Can we make it through these dark days lit only by the fires of shattered buildings? Of course, we are just getting started. You are far greater than you seem to think.

I do suggest you stock up on some products that you might wish to store for that rainy day. They won't go away but you are going to find something happening as economically things worsen and drop out the bottom. When the money supply dries up, you will have less NEEDS for hospitalization, surgeries of various types—and doctors will find themselves, along with the health care administrators, needing funds to pay their Mercedes bills. It happens every time there is a recession and certainly every time there is a major depression.

My medical input? No, for goodness sakes—NO. You might wish to consider a little stock of vitamins perhaps for the days when the diet may not be quite balanced.

And what will you do when the chemtrails drop viruses? Pray, I suppose, and hope God has answered your earlier prayers.

Terror? World Trade Center? How about a young mother coming out of her bathroom with a towel on her just washed hair and two babies still asleep to a gun in her face from Federal Troops brought there by our own associates—so-claimed? That same terror happened to at least four places as those same miscreants had it all advance alerted for publication. The crime? Distributing vitamin food-supplements without a sign on the label that read “No approved therapeutic value” or words to that effect. And the ongoing terror? Oh, for years while the lawyers play. So be it for this too, Diane, shall pass.

Terror, my friends, comes in all sizes and shapes. And that is not from Osama bin Laden. Well, God doesn't have to consider forgiveness, for it has no meaning—but HE never forgets even the smallest sparrow.

Even the Elite approach to this new terror crashed upon you is but MORE TERROR. You are just to go back to your life as normal—if you have one—because everything the Government(s) do to the world will be top secret and you won't even know where your sons and daughters, et al., are headed—other than “East”, of course. Well, from Manila that means “WEST”.

You are watching, yea, experiencing, a magnificent Shakespearean Greek Tragedy-Comedy and you have yet to realize whether you should laugh or weep. Try both and see which makes you feel better and then we will move right on forward while there are so few other alternatives than what God as offered.

What really concerns the Elite controllers and thieves is that when they are found-out, the workers will find the new managers to be ever so much more pleasant and fair. Oh, indeed, there are good days ahead if you keep your eyes on the prize.

There are many that have served through decades and have stayed the course against all odds. We honor and salute you this day and pray that the continuing days may produce the outcome for which you have held the course. You are blessed now in the lessons shared and learned so that you may now trim the sails and pilot this ship. And you will have done it without false identification or taking from another that which was not yours.

This may all come down to retribution, restitution and return of that which was sent forth. Aren't we glad that we have sent out goodness even in the face of seeming desolation? It is THAT which gives freedom in the face of terror.

Is this a “leap of faith”? No, for that would indicate a lack of KNOWING. Think about it. And know also that just around that corner unseen, unknown, will be THE one, THE time and THE space.

I don't want to write more right now. There is too much input for the paper this week and I wanted to acknowledge a couple of things, not the least of which is Lester and his driving want to work with Rife equipment. Son, there is so much beyond that apparatus and there are other ways to see and hear frequencies at work. It shall come to pass so that it and you are safe and there will not be confiscation.

With love, light and peace unto each heart and joy unto each soul I sign off now. Know, my little birdlett hatchlings—YOU WILL FLY, so let's keep growing our feathers.—Ancient old Dad

RE: NESARA (The National Economic Stabilization and Recovery Act), MEMORY, ALL IS ENDLESS, NOSTRADAMUS (Nostradame)

FALSE SPEAKERS OF MYSELF AND MY COMPATRIOTS

Hatonn—Watch out, readers, for those FALSE prophets, christs and speakers.

Notable ones in my name, Gyeorgos Ceres Hatonn will come forth and put to press things like: “Good morning my scribe, be at peace.”

NO, I COME IN THE LIGHT OF TRUTH AND ACTION TO DO SOMETHING WITH YOU—AND I WANT MY SCRIBE IN BALANCE, RECEIVING CLEARANCE, AND NOT “RESTING IN PEACE” WHICH INDICATES NO CONTROL OF SELF, MIND OR ABILITY TO REASON OR THINK—JUST GET AT PEACE WHEN YOU NEED TO BE GETTING INTO CONTRIBUTION IN ACTION. THIS IS WHY WE WORKED SO HARD FOR WELL OVER A DECADE—SPECIFICALLY, SO OUR RECEIVERS WOULD NOT BE AT SUCH “PEACE” AS TO OFFER MUSH WHEN YOU MUST HAVE STAMINA TO PERFORM IN A BUSY WORLD.

Ah, BUT, most people do not want Truth, they demand MUSH and, therefore, you become easily fed on everything from garbage to Mad Cow feed.

(No, I jest not, in Japan the cow with Mad Cow was used to make other feed for livestock. You would know as much if you had anything other than chaos on CNN. Now, what do you think of that? Oh, I see, “That’s Japan’s problem, for today we must riot over terrorists.” WHAT IS, EXACTLY, A TERRORIST ACT? Hummmnn.

IDENTIFICATION AND MISIDENTIFICATION

I only want to bring to your attention some very nasty realizations.

The FBI brought forth pain and agony on innocent families in MISidentification of players in the bombings raids. This is known because it could not be longer HIDDEN.

Next, look at this one: “Five Israelis detained...”. These five were already set and photographing the Twin Trade Towers when the planes HIT. And by golly they had “stuff” which caused them to be arrested beyond just having “puzzling behavior”. They had detonation equipment in their satchel of photographic equipment.

The five were taken into custody by the FBI but on Saturday were transferred to two prisons—in New Jersey. What do YOU know about this?

What is known is that the five were in the States without permits and were “illegally” residing in the U.S.

How is it that WRONG identifications can be set forth for innocent citizens while these things are BURIED? People, the consensus of all witnesses who are engineers is that those towers were brought down in a very sophisticated demolition project. Moreover, the owner of the buildings is laughing and plans to rebuild four towers—after he collects the insurance and can structure, as soon and as quickly as possible, architectural plans. You saw it for yourself—DIDN’T YOU? And what is this wealthy man’s name? Silverstein.

You had better get with it. It is said that from 40,000 to 50,000 people worked in the towers. Even though there is a large questionmark between 40,000 and 50,000, perhaps it is no worse than the number between 6,333 and even 20,000. (???) And out of 6,333 only some 300 have been actually presented in body form?

And readers, WITH THIS IDIOTIC REASONING you have sent your military OUT OF THE COUNTRY, to a barren land yet, to kill “somebody”—if you can figure out “who” to kill.

It is the “out of the country” that should catch your attention. WHY HAS YOUR U.S. MILITARY POWER BEEN REMOVED HALF A WORLD AWAY FOR SOME KIND OF EMPTY REVENGE MANEUVER? IS IT POSSIBLE, AT ALL, THAT THIS MAY WELL BE FAR BIGGER THAN YOU ARE TOLD? WHO, EXACTLY, SEEMS TO BE SET UP FOR THE DUCK-SHOOT? “Can you Quack like a duck?” asks Mr. Rodgers in your neighborhood. “I knew you could...”.

CAN WE MAKE A DIFFERENCE?

Better question is: Does anyone really give a damn?

And, no, I am NOT picking on Israel but some things are now circulating and is it not pretty, readers. Out of LONDON, Sept. 17 came: “Mossad officials traveled to Washington last month TO WARN THE CIA AND THE FBI THAT A CELL OF UP TO 200 TERRORISTS WAS PLANNING A MAJOR OPERATION, ACCORDING TO A REPORT IN THE SUNDAY TELEGRAPH here yesterday.

“The paper said the Israeli officials specifically warned their counterparts in Washington that ‘large-scale terrorist attacks on highly visible targets on the American mainland were imminent.’ They offered no specific information about targets, but they did link the plot to Afghanistan-based terrorist Osama bin Laden, and they told the Americans there were ‘strong grounds’ for suspecting Iraqi involvement.”

“A U.S. administration official told the paper that it was ‘quite credible’ that the CIA did not heed the Mossad warning: ‘It has a history of being overcautious about Israeli information.’ But the official noted that ‘if this is true, then the refusal to take it seriously will mean heads will roll.’”

[H: Anyone want to bet?]

DOES ANYONE FEEL LIKE A WIND-UP TOY ROBOT?

Of course you do. It is intended, however, that you not recognize it though you ARE.

What you have going here are two facets of Satan squaring off in Angel costumes. They don’t dare other than call on God as a sham in their games. Satan can proclaim himself God Creator of Light, Love and Truth—until Hell actually freezes like an Arctic Winter and it changes not the facts of the hoax itself. Moreover, he will fool almost all of the people some of the time while they plead to serve his cause. He will do this in THE NAME OF GOD while failing to IDENTIFY HIMSELF and will certainly say to his scribes: “Be at peace, my scribe.”

There are great and hidden dangers in the rainbow (spectrum of rays), my children. Blindness and deafness are among them.

Do you FEAR the reptilians from Orion? WHY? How many have YOU met today? Yesterday? How about tomorrow? How about those confounded “shape-shifters”?

Are there such things? You demand that I somehow tell you the secrets and solve your mysteries. THERE IS ANYTHING YOU CHOOSE TO CREATE! MEANWHILE, you let the guilty and dastardly culprits escape behind the shroud of your ignorance while chasing ghosts, real or imagined.

And, yes, indeed, YOU DO WANT ME TO BE AS ELUSIVE. Well, I’m not and therein lays the perhaps boredom of it all. It is but a time of reminding you that you KNOW what is going on here. Worse yet, you can only conjure that which is REMEMBERED.

NO FUN?

You want to say to me that there is no fun in this dull realization. Really? TRUTH is still so much more incredibly outrageous than anything you have yet come up with in your primitive experience. You haven’t even made it past your agony and misery at the hands of the negative manipulators. But you have delivered yourselves into the manipulative tentacles of the MIND CONTROLLERS.

Now PLEASE, think about this one for a minute, even two if possible. How do you measure God’s presence in such as the Trade Center where so many perished, are missing, jumped or whatever happened that day in New York City?

WHERE WAS GOD?

It is all in YOUR perception and perspective—every time. YOU have to come to grips with the impact ON YOU. If your loved one escaped, is that not a wondrous act of God? How about you if yours did not survive? Is that a heinously unfair act of God? Neither, either or whatever YOU choose. Why do you blame God for everything? And, if a fireman saved someone that day—is that God? Is that NOT God? See what conclusions you draw.

I will tell you one thing: A man will not go save anyone in a burning holocaust fire where he is likely to die IF HE DOES NOT HAVE GOODNESS IN HIS HEART WHICH IS CONSIDERED GODLY. An evil man, at soul, will not risk anything except FOR himself.

Satan showed HIS FACE—perhaps God has yet to be recognized.

GOD, NOT RELIGION, is a great topic of the day where each speaker espouses on his own perception of cause and effect and some do very well, UNTIL they get to war. Is your imagination so limited as to see no alternatives to WAR? War is ONLY of man against other men. So, if YOUR side wins, then surely God was with You. If your side doesn’t win, then somehow God is blamed for not being on the job and the other side must be some kind of radical scoundrels.

How DO you sort it? Well, let me offer just an opener from a columnist offering his own perception today in the paper: “God’s Word Today”, by Fr. Ruben M. Tanseco, S.J.

“No servant can serve two masters. He will either hate one and love the other, or be devoted to one and despise the other. You cannot serve both God and mammon.” (From today’s Gospel message, Luke 16: 1-13.)

“Mammon is defined by the dictionary as ‘riches regarded as an object of worship and greedy pursuit.’ Riches can mean material, political, and military riches. Whatever money can buy. And all this can become a ‘religion’ in itself. God is set aside in the name of religion! It is in this context that we clearly recognize the religion of the global terrorists, as well as the religion of the World Trade Center and Pentagon.

“RELIGION OF THE TERRORISTS. In the name of religion, fanatic terrorists indiscriminately kill innocent people, destroy property, and kill themselves in the process. Their leaders fiercely indoctrinate them to believe that such insidious, protracted 'holy war' is Allah's will and design for them and their national interests...".

This goes on at length and certainly is worthy of sharing but I want to point out something.

WHAT IF...?

Now, let us assume that this is true, which is not established at all, and said fanatics killed in the name of religion, even themselves.

How do you know that Bellringer and V.K. Durham might not be correct, and clones and replicas are guilty. Are the original people—whose documents and labels were stolen—to end up guilty? How can you judge?

In your haste to revenge these "innocent" deaths you plan now to go forth and kill even more innocent people—who simply don't LOOK like you. Facts are, however, they are EXACTLY LIKE YOU. Now, whose side should God abide and favor, death of the innocent or death of the innocent? YOU WOULD HAVE GOD SPILL BLOOD ON THE ALTAR OF MAMMON AND, YES, INDEED, THAT IS EXACTLY WHAT I MEAN.

Worse yet, YOU allow the ones who ARE MAMMON to make the decision for YOU to go kill the innocents and, yes, indeed, on the basis of conjured CIRCUMSTANTIAL "maybe so and maybe not" evidence. Certainly, Osama bin Laden is not supernatural in that he could be in a cave in Afghanistan AND in all four planes dive-bombing innocent bystanders. YOU ARE BY YOUR IRRATIONALITY TURNING THE MAN INTO A SPIRITUAL ENTITY OF EXCEPTIONAL POWERS. YOU WILL BE VERY SORRY FOR THAT ASSUMPTION. Bin Laden is NOT supernatural but he is filled with love AND HATE. He CLAIMS to love his people but hates with blindness everything goodly. He is simply a life-sized reflection of YOU. BUT HE IS THE ONE WHO BECAME THE RECOGNIZED REFLECTION THROUGH YOUR ACTIVITIES AS BIRTHED, TRAINED AND THEN MANIPULATED AS YOUR TOOLS AGAINST OTHER NATIONS. First you call him Godly when he fought WITH YOU against the Russians. Then you called him TERRORIST of the worst kind when he fought for his own people to rid him of your presence in HIS LANDS.

People, this IS the basis of HATE, not love. Now you come forth and call them terrorists over something he COULD NOT HAVE ACCOMPLISHED and it is alright to murder him and ALL WITH HIM—IN ANY NATION ANYWHERE ON THE GLOBE.

Is there something WRONG with this picture? Well, MAMMON has served up a poison dish for your suppy—again. It is based on BLOOD SACRIFICE, my chelas. YOURS.

Can you not even see the humor in this tail-wagging posturing? You have just set up a scenario in which you have sent your troops away and now anything can be bombed, blown, burned or holocausted and you will blame terrorists, specifically bin Laden, because it sold the first time the absurd scene was run past your waiting, tear-filled eyes. The gods of MAMMON have served you a near-death blow—and perhaps you had best start watching for that light at the end of this very dark tunnel covered over with flags.

You have to understand that the buildings must all come down to hide evidence and your reaction had to be instant while you were still in mourning robes in hate and need for revenge. They had to do you in while you were in shock and could not respond in sanity.

NESARA (The National Economic Stabilization and Recover Act.)

I only wish to comment on this topic at this time, lest this writing go on for a thousand hours. The "concept" of the offering itself is superb, excellent, basic, and a structure of "money" built on such concept would be exceptionally positive. The FACTS are, however, that it is still a "concept". My hesitation to speak on the matter prior to now is that there always come assumptions—by people who wish to interpret, as I will refer to Nostradamus as example—and then to jump both the gun and misrepresent the facts.

I have no exception to be taken with one, "Dove of Oneness" other than the information offered on the subject is INCORRECT and leaves an assumption that due to NESARA the Twin Trade Towers were incinerated.

This would thus of necessity refer back to the commercial controllers and thus would not (could not) be the ones in the caves in Afghanistan—no matter how "important" the man in point might be. Osama bin Laden COULD NOT have done the deed.

America, with world in tow, will now bomb or let blood of the most put-upon people on the globe—yea, yet in the name of RELIGION, and a FALSE religion at that. The "religion" of Osama bin Laden's people is NOT ISLAM—but a FALSE version as interpreted in the most heinous of all wrongdoing. That does not, however, give RIGHT into oppression, murder or REVENGE upon what will be found to be: innocent people who have had no real choices but to do or die.

We are working as diligently as pressures allow to place that foundation under such a program as "a" type of "NESARA". If you can't have the sound value upon which to proclaim your value in currency, you still have nothing. YOUR GOLD HAS BEEN STOLEN, AMERICANS! YOUR RECOGNIZED GOLD HAS BEEN STOLEN, FILIPINOS! YOU GOLD HAS BEEN STOLEN, WORLD!

GOD'S gold, set against THIS day (and never mind the END IS COMING propaganda) is still waiting honorable USE. Will the holders (guardians in reality) bring it forth? Not until the false claimants are set aside so that there can be honor in exchange IN A CIRCUMSTANCE THAT EXISTS AND NOT ONLY IN SOME DREAM OF LEVEL-0 grabber.

And, no, nobody has taken your gold off to some distant Arcturas or Pleiades or fifth dimensional planet from the Sun. A great abundance of it rests in facilities in the Negeve Desert of Palestine, now Israel.

BASIS OF MONEY

The foundation upon which currency is today based, get ready, is drugs. The method of pay-off is through money laundering and banking interests which can shift all that loot around the globe while exchanges were allowed in payoffs or aid to such as Israel—IN CASH WHICH LITERALLY MEANS "IN GOLD". The U.S. DOLLAR WAS SET AS THE BASIS OF EXCHANGE. Now this is easy to understand. Therefore, with the major industrial players, the elite controllers, the International Bankers (in trouble now)—who do YOU think really blew up the Twin Trade Towers in New York?

FOLLOW THE MONEY. THE ELITE WILL NOT LOSE, EVEN THE PRICE OF THE BUILDINGS IN POINT. THEN THE ELITE-OWNED INDUSTRIES FROM AIRLINES TO HOTELS, INSURANCE TO HEALTH CARE WILL BE SHORED UP ENOUGH THAT THE BASTARDS IN GUILT WILL "MAKE" MORE MONEY.

There is no LIMIT to that which the Fed can PRINT, so don't fall prey to silly announcements that somehow things are really BAD for the Stock Market crowd. It is only bad for YOU, little citizen.

When the flags stop waving and your tears stop flowing for New York and start flowing for the carnage of your own sons and daughters in a foreign land—killing innocent people—you will awaken to find that you WILL PERCEIVE that GOD has betrayed you. No, you have betrayed—to the best of your ability—GOD.

Americans, KNOW, that your rendition of "God" as a deity was labeled "Allah" and even before that, "Aton", just to name three (names, that is), for there is only ONE.

What you want and will get undoubtedly is another Lawrence of Arabia. So be it, I'm sure that someone will accommodate you.

FAIR WAR?

War is never "fair" and today is less "fair" than ever yet in the history of MAN. For a quarter century or more, you have in the Elite warehouses that which can see through the ground and right into caves. Only the ones DESIGNATED TO DIE will die—and note who that IS. In other words "The Crown" will prevail if man doesn't awaken and start setting your world to order. And, no, NESARA won't do a thing—for who shall enforce such an "Act"? So far, there is not even a co-sponsor for the "Act" itself.

Will you go back to the dark ages? That depends on what you accomplish as to knocking out technology. You cannot function as a society without your TOYS. You can't even adequately add or subtract your bank account statements. Furthermore, take out electricity and you have NOTHING. You have done it before and so help you, you appear to be hell-bent on doing it again.

I only hope you will study well the concepts of this "NESARA" but watch your backsides and just HOW are you going to fund such programs? When you confront that, then perhaps you will look more gently upon our humble beings.

Yes, paper CAN "represent" something else, for it is certainly a benign and neutral thing for use. However, if you have no solid value upon which to BASE a "certificate", you have nothing better than the bits of paper upon which someone puts symbols and ink.

Where are you going to get THAT wealth? From the middle of the Negeve Desert now protected with ATOMIC warheads? Do you really wonder where and what is the Arc for which you search and the Pandora's box of civilization—try that facility in the Negeve Desert—for when that is opened a thousand plagues will dump on you.

Why can't we open the gifts of GOD wherein a thousand goodnesses will pass unto you? Ponder it.

NOTHING ENDS, FOR THERE IS ONLY PERCEPTION

No thing and nothing can end once experienced in mind or expression.

MEMORY

Everything is placed into memory and thus even if there is a recognized conclusion to a given "thing", it is never erased from the record journals of whatever method you use for scribing events.

With that in mind may we please look at the hype of the moment (today) where the only thing you can see is the RESULTS of some thought placed into action or physical event.

Let us look deeper into prophets and perceptions in which there is one getting big play today: Nostradamus.

Nostradamus was born in December (14th) 1503. Now, in your irrational counting, that would be near the beginning of your 14th or 16th Century, depending on who is doing the counting. Either one, you will see is accurate enough even if you are a century "off".

By the way, this person was born in France of "Christianized Jewish" parents. How might this differ from Judeo-Christian? Well, in France in 1503 it made almost insurmountable differences.

Let's call this Michel de Nostredame (MdN)(oops!). Oh, well, not to be intimidated by reason, this MdN, after his family died of plague, lost his position as "physician". He observed a sculptor sculpting a statue, of the Virgin Mary yet, and commented in such a way as to be considered an insult to same (Virgin Mary that is). This was bad enough that he removed himself to Italy where he assumed the Italian counterpart of Nostradame to Nostradamus.

Now people, this MdN was, for a while after another marriage and six children, quite successful in the cosmetic business. He also wrote some cookbooks—and prospered.

With a family of eight he needed to prosper.

Then in 1550, MdN started writing his ALMANACS which were short books containing his 12 monthly predictions for the coming year. His predictions seemed to be accurate enough that he branched off into astrology and gave individual readings.

In 1554 came the biggy: the CENTURIES began. This was a collection of some 10 books with each containing 100 predictions.

The prophecies covered prediction UP TO, and we must suppose through, 3797.

Let us pause here a minute. You people always, as with John's prophecies from, supposedly, God in REVELATION seem to demand that everything begins and ends in YOUR TIME FRAME.

What, therefore, happens in the next two millennia? So, what am I suggesting?

I am not suggesting; I am stating that each self-proclaimed interpreter of the work of one, Nostradamus can ONLY be a self-inspired interpreter/translator AT BEST.

Some have come along and say they receive directly from Sir Nostradamus and perchance they do so. Even MdN would be hard-put to interpret and translate into modern language and more especially about things NOT YET IN YOUR SPHERE OF EXPERIENCE.

Let us take "twin brothers ripped apart by chaos..." No, that was NOT a MdN speaking, reading or writing. THAT is an interpretation of something which may or may not have any meaning to events AT ALL. But, yes, I do propose that you stay informed—for these are things upon which you WILL base your uninformed conclusions. The Age of Reason is certainly NOT upon you, manipulated people. At this moment in time, as a matter of fact, you base everything you perceive on CNN.

ASTROLOGY

Check out Astrology and its speakings from charts of stars and heavenly movements. Is this right or wrong? Neither. Every student TODAY who studies this focus WILL BE TAUGHT BY A TEACHER OR TEACHERS OF THAT WHICH CAME BEFORE. EVEN IF THE STUDENT HAS "REVELATIONS", HE WILL BASE THOSE ON THAT WHICH WAS TAUGHT TO HIM BY THOSE COMING BEFORE. Even Sir Newton said: "If I have seen further, it is because I stood on the shoulders of giants who came before me."

Do I poo-poo either training, Astrology and/or revelations? Of course NOT, it is the mind of MAN at work and play. Moreover, it is the mind of man trying to figure out the puzzles and great mysteries of LIFE and experience.

BE STILL AND KNOW THAT I AM

That is a good idea for each of you. BE STILL AND KNOW—THAT I AM. Am what? Am you the last word? Am you the only "one"? Am your opinions the last word? Am you going off in every direction as scattered as the winds RIGHT NOW? Am your governments foisting off onto you more irrational garbage? What, exactly AM YOU? Am you considering that the only killing of innocents was in some commercial towers in New York City, U.S.A.? Am you so blind as to not see that the war itself is now taken to other shores where damage can't be done to your wealth centers? Am you nuts? ONCE AGAIN, THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA IS OFF ON A KILLING EXCURSION IN BEHALF OF THE ELITE BANKERS OF THE WORLD. AND ONCE AGAIN YOU STRIKE AT THE LEAST ABLE TO DEFEND SELVES—AND YOU WILL CALL IT RIGHTEOUS VICTORY AFTER YOU MURDER EVERY LAST LIVING THING, INCLUDING LIZARDS AND BUSHES IN AN ALREADY BARREN LAND. SO BE IT. Oh, you certainly ARE AM.—GCH (Dad)

Records-Keeping System Collapse Can Now Be Attributed To "Terrorism"

9/25/01—#1 (15-040)

RE: MONEY, TERRORISM, WAR; WHERE ARE WE AND WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO? SOME INFORMED THOUGHTS

FAMILIARITY AND CONTEMPT

Hatonn—First I want to address the observations of mankind and how emotions function.

In every circumstance as we share, there are various realizations, recognitions and yes, OPINIONS, about that which may or may not have any consideration at all in a focused or topical matter.

Let us speak about that later when we discuss a book called TELOS and a man's opinion regarding that book while others recognize almost opposing observations.

And, please, readers, EACH one of you realize that I am not focusing on ANYONE. I am stating an observation which I hope all readers individually recognize.

You will not always agree on any topic and you must question EVERY speaker, writer and topic. For instance, a receiver, if I may get personal, can be no better or worse than his/her connection accepted as same.

Number two: Unless you have walked in those shoes and experienced for self, you cannot judge another man's thoughts or perceptions—only actions.

The MINUTE that our newspaper refuses to run something based solely on "opinion", we are destined, rightfully so, to the dumpster. We always identify source and RESOURCE by whatever symbol or logo or letters identify same.

Do not ever expect me to validate anything supposedly spoken by myself or a compatriot and especially GOD HIMSELF when the receiver is not even willing to identify HIMSELF/HERSELF.

The material offered on Mt. Shasta, as already put to press, is exactly what I requested of Princeton—HIS OPINION.

He praises the book in point. That does not mean that perchance NO ONE ELSE MAY SHARE HIS OPINION.

I will note, however, that there is discussion as to the presentation being a review of some type in the first such writing which it was not. It was only an opinion of the book and a copy of Princeton's letter to the author.

If you have experienced remarkable instances at Mt. Shasta, then you find more confirmation of YOUR perceptions. If you have not, you will check out the more noticeable things which discount the full extent of the information itself.

AH, BUT: As you even begin the book for yourself, check out the inconsistencies.

Those of Telos are "terrestrial", supposedly coming from Lemuria. They further claim to be under the authority of the Galactic Command. The Speaker for the author (channel) is called Adama and is a HIGH PRIEST. That is a bit much as is someone who is NOW living with a twin flame in New Mexico at 175 years of age.

The author? A beautiful Jewish girl with a New York City [from the book: Rochester, NY] address.

This does NOT mean that there aren't truths in the presentation nor that there are NOT living facilities within Mt. Shasta.

The people around Mt. Shasta, California have always known there was something Spiritual and far beyond that of everyday life taking place there.

What is unfortunate, however, is that "humans" as are presented here would be foolish to live secretly in the depths, even shallow depth, of that volcano which is again due to ERUPT. That includes 12,000-year-old Lemurians under Galactic Command. I DO have things to say regarding Galactic Command. By the way, Ashtar is not a singular being. "Ashtar" is a "command" which is basically incredible data systems. "Ashtar" is the label of whomever holds "command" simply as identification and field of "authority".

Do I have objection to the book itself? No, for you must make your own evaluations of everything. I guess if there is an objection, it is that anyone would pay $15.00-plus for the book.

I suggested that CONTACT get ONE book, possibly two to share, because reference came forth from a very old and close friend IN MT. SHASTA.

We respect and honor this LONG-TIME friend who lives in Mt. Shasta and has a very close association with Germain.

Now what has happened is that this has become a focus of unworthy attention and, no, I do ask that the book NOT be serialized. The book is NOT "controversial"; it is simply a book supposedly received by a channel from a supposedly terrestrial person. This person, in fact, HAS NO RIGHT TO SPEAK FOR EXTRATERRESTRIALS.

I asked Princeton to speak on his experiences and perhaps that request was mostly missed. He is taken with the book because it matches some of his own experiences and it is THAT which we honor. Certainly, the tale goes very much along with a Star Trek series segment. You are grown up children, now. Please evaluate everything by that which you have carefully BALANCED in the research. A fairy-tale, for instance, only evaluated alongside other fairy-tales is still a fairy-tale. Moreover, you need to sometimes question the original tale which started the many tales in different versions of the same "let's pretend".

This is a book worth perhaps (as a book) some $3.00 and if I have objection, I repeat, it is to paying over $15.00 for same.

The bottom line is, yes, there are Lemurians (Atmospherians) on your planet. Lemuria, however, was a terrestrial place on the planet to which energies have come and gone just like you terrestrial repeats of today.

What I DO respect in a major way is full acceptance of identification and responsibility for the receiver, Dianne Robbins, for there is little doubt, or much doubt as you so choose, but she claims she got information from "a speaker". So be it—BE CAREFUL.

Will you find the book under Historical Reviews? No, you will find it, if you can, under New-Age Channeling.

The full title: TELOS: The Call Goes Out from THE HOLLOW EARTH and the UNDERGROUND CITIES. And that is perhaps enough to consider a bit more carefully your own attitudes regarding the book.

YOU MUST FUNCTION ON THE SURFACE IN A WORLD GONE QUITE NUTS. YOU CAN PRETEND TO DWELL IN THE UNDERGROUND BUT OBVIOUSLY IF YOU ARE ON THE SURFACE, YOU MUST DEAL WITH SURFACE MATTERS. YOU CAN HAVE FUN WITH THE QUEEN MUM BEING A SATANIST AND/OR A SHAPE-SHIFTER AND ON INTO INFINITY—BUT YOU WILL HAVE TO DEAL WITH WHAT IS—IN YOUR ENVIRONMENT OF WHATEVER AND WHEREVER YOU “ARE” AND WITH THAT WHICH “IS”.

We have covered these topics in thousands of pages over a dozen years—you will find nothing NEW, except the voice or pen of someone else.

By the way, is it LOGICAL to live IN a volcano in a shallow “city”? Are terrestrial beings vulnerable, at the least, to heat annihilation and especially earthquake activities—or the gasses produced from volcanic activity? So, perhaps you have Atmospherians aboard—that is NOT terrestrial life-form. So the dilemma—AND—what’s it all about, Alpie?

They, me, we, them, us can’t do a thing except inform—about YOU.

Do I want you to STOP reading? No. Do I want you to STOP, look and listen? Yes. Mainly, however, I ask you to STOP the nonsense.

Princeton and John S. are my FRIENDS and I honor them for that which they ARE and that which they have experienced. We, too, have walked a great part of the last decade with the teacher Germain and Dharma did, in fact, have to face the Federal Court over the encounter with same.

Germain, which is not what this book is about AT ALL, is a Master who has PARTICULAR care and nurturing to the United States of America, just as Lord Michael has a great love and affinity to the affairs and that which is Earth “Shan”.

By the way, Spectrum’s writers “in my name” wish to continue to push that the Hosts and Angels, as example, are the same thing. No, that is not so. It is a way to try to explain the similarities but, no, there is very large difference and frankly I would not now wish to express it as the same—for YOU have outgrown the ABCs and must move on to realization. This in no way whatsoever puts down either. And, indeed, MIRACLES ARE! There is a bit of a saying: “Ye are me and I am thee—can we then not say that we are we?”

I will leave this with a very good thought as presented by a very beloved and goodly teacher, Sananda: “What is the Purpose of Life? The Purpose of Life is to Grow in Knowledge of the ONE Creator.”

“What is the Essence of Life? The Essence of Life is to know the Creator as Yourself.”

“What is Life? Life is the Supreme Joy and Delight of experiencing ALL THAT IS.”

And when you understand all that there is, you will have achieved what already IS.

LET’S TALK PLANS AND BANKS

May we now move from what some might claim as “sublime” to that which is considered mundane or absurd—what IS in your immediate experience and what is expected if the plan unfolds as the adversaries present.

I got Dharma up at 4:00 A.M. this morning to suffer through the reality of what is planned next on the agenda against you-the-people. She was still not ready to write at 5:00 or when we sat to the keyboard at 8:00 this morning. We have been through all this before, she exclaims and, “I am chicken, Dad, I just don’t want to do this any longer.” Well, do you serve when called or do you serve when your own druthers are first in recognition?

Most of you KNOW what is being done to and around you but you want to discuss it with someone and without having to deal with hollow-earth possibilities.

And THIS is what our mission is about—purpose—if you will. We MUST present that which allows us to grow out of and beyond that which takes freedom and goodness from the face of the Earth.

Many things are coming down all around you while you wave your flag, let blood, and listen to the war-mongers. The world economy is ready to implode. It is exactly as the Trade Center—once catastrophe was set into motion. Without detailed input about that event or those events and lies being spread about for your atrocities in the name of God, let us consider the next planned moves.

MONEY LAUNDERING

What is happening? Well, for one thing, if the money laundering is stopped to hide from the bin Laden lies, some big bankers and banking cartels are going to be caught, for no large funds CAN be shifted without the banking Cartel involved. It just can’t be. Are they going to get caught? Perhaps.

Worse though, if you can’t do something to hide longer, the workers FOR the IBC will be exposed and the empty dealings “found out”. So rocks and hard places are the sitting places of the day.

What, therefore, has to come next in order to totally protect the Elite System of business? A collapse of the records keeping—a total systems FAILURE which can be attributed to “terrorism”, of course. That means that bin Laden is going to have to be a global whiz at computer infections as well as having managed arms dealing around the globe where there are U.S., Israeli and even, yea, Soviet arms being used. There are good excuses for the weapons as such—but from whence comes the tons of ammunition, missiles, etc.? And, yes, who pays for them?

You will note that the thrust is now a global “get the groupies”. Well, what about the massive numbers of arms smuggled through sales, for instance, of Israel into China? Whose bank accounts reflect those transactions?

Well, beloved readers, YOU ARE GOING TO FIND OUT. You won’t find out or, at the least, no one will “own-up” to the offenses—but the plans are to bring down the banking accounting systems, transfers (electronic), lose the programs, lose the records and “too bad, citizen—bin Laden made us do it.”

Recourse? I ask you, please don’t ask me!

When can you expect this to come down? Well, you got your clue one week after the bombings in NY—with the silly backward names. IT IS VERY HANDY FOR THE BANKS TO BE OFF LINE WHEN YOU TRY TO GET YOUR FUNDS. THE ONLY BETTER THING IS SIMPLY TO CLOSE THE BANKS JUST LIKE THE STOCK MARKET. UNTIL, OF COURSE, A NEW FARCE CAN BE ESTABLISHED TO BLOW YOU AWAY FROM SOME OTHER DIRECTION.

LONG TIME COMING, FUNDS

Seems a lot of the people who had invested heavily and for a very long time “ago” are suddenly, several of them, now thinking they have funds transferred into their accounts for use. Pray that to be so and act IMMEDIATELY if this be true. Make an effort to beat the shut-down confusion of systems collapse. In other words get it into use and by all means get some transferred into hard yellow value and a lot of it into tiny representation—that if necessary can buy bread and milk for the babies if it comes to emergency. Then, put, if you have enough, your banking needs into small banks which also have hand recordings. KEEP YOUR RECEIPTS.

To most this will not be a major operation but for others it does require a bit of special arrangements. NOW IS THE TIME TO CONSIDER WHAT THOSE MIGHT BE. To my people it will simply be a run through of possibilities as we have “practiced” in the past when this same problem was presented.

This may well require that some of you who prefer to interchange with others, get your heads together and see what you can do in a unified effort of best advantage.

Everybody is tired and feeling LACK. Why? Because you lack much in worldly exchange. We are all working toward changing that condition BUT if the banks are simply going to grab all the return, it is hardly a wise thing to act in foolishness. Neither may we give information directly into the “enemy’s” ears and eyes.

While everyone focuses on spray planes and bin Laden, you overlook the chemtrails which have been in your skies for a decade now. THIS IS EVIL AT WORK, READERS. GET OFF YOUR SOAPBOX AND LOOK AT WHAT “IS”. Are you really DEFENDING the U.S. by bombing Afghanistan? Come on, babies.

You are rendering your home turf DEFENSELESS as you send out your troops—JUST LIKE YOU KNEW IT WOULD BE. HAVE WE WASTED ALL THESE YEARS OF BREATH AND FINGER-WORK?

Now, what property they can’t steal, they will simply foreclose on while there are NO RECORDS and you will have enforcement—AGAINST you in the regaining process. Unless, of course, you use your years of LESSONS, wisely. Well, if they have lost all the records—FIND YOURS.

Or with my people, for instance, the lost records thieved and destroyed are only going to be more useful in the chaos of what is planned to shower down on everyone. What are the banks going to do with all that foreclosed property—and do you really think that unless something changes, even real estate is going to dump?

Can the Elite pull off their plan? Of course. It may not work—but it will be YOU THE PEOPLE that pay, as usual.

Why would I suggest you tie up anything in gold if it is going to be confiscated? Because you have to get from here to there. And I really don’t care that you do nothing with same. You will simply need some assets to see you through—for even Social Security will get thoroughly botched in the confusion of even a few days of systems breakdown.

Some things will get back “on-line” more quickly than others to prevent riots which can’t be controlled by more mayhem. There is going to be need for massive unemployment claims, compensations needs, insurance claims, welfare payments and, indeed, social security payments for the elderly and disabled. Furthermore, surprise from old Dad, go get help from those resources if your other support is missing. And, if rent is unavailable, so be it, for if it works out as your controllers plan, it will be a time of creeping through—and until the foreclosure on the World is accomplished so the Big Brothers can get it ALL FOR FREE. It is far better to have a tenant in or on property or expect vandals, squatters and other destructive things taking place.

And if you lose your property, it is very likely it can be repurchased by someone else at those good prices, say holding corporations which can then own the property itself. Nothing says YOU can’t benefit from the plan of that which is thrust off onto your backs. Just know that there are ALWAYS alternatives and possibilities available—the problem is usually lack of imagination and realization. FEAR is what immobilizes, so don’t bite on their FEAR GAMES from the Trade Center’s deliberate demolition to your loss of property.

The way the Federal Reserve functions—there is no such thing as “no money”, for all they have to do is print it and that has been since 1913. All the rest is manipulation.

Next I am asked if what is taking place is LEGAL or CONSTITUTIONAL? No, neither. Does that stop it? Look around and answer for yourself.

I do note that a very fine Jewish lawyer has presented one of the best and most direct responses to this “legal” topic—and since you like to hear it from two-legged mouths, fine, we will just share and stop the bickering.

All the information you could possibly use pro or con is on that electronic monster brain without which you ARE going to be pretty much in shock. But, like the banks, use it while you can—BUT BE DISCERNING, FOR THERE ARE MORE LIES ON THAT NETWORKING FACILITY THAN TRUTH.

Even Bellringer did an excellent write-up on what is taking place and then ruined it by reference to “Ruby Ridge/Dennis Weaver”. Well, I’m sure that both Randy and Dennis might object, so viewers—USE YOUR INTELLIGENCE.

Do we misspeak? Of course, but habitual misspeakings, when correct information is at your fingertips, are somewhat questionable. This is especially true if you are offering your own presentation as THE factual exhibit. And if you are using another’s observations—give them credit and thus the responsibility for their presentation along with your non-claim to material in reference.

Example? Yes, indeed, we do this constantly, for it is your confirmation and keeps us from presenting as some kind of guru which would place us in the position of being some kind of psychic fortune-tellers.

I can example closer to home than that: If Princeton is asked to comment and does so, it is his right to say whatever he wishes and that does not mean that it is my—or your—opinion other than our opinion that it is worthy of attention—in “our” opinion.

[QUOTING EMPEROR’S CLOTHES, (War: Metaphor into Reality) by Peter Weiss, posted 24 September 2001:]

Peter Weiss is President of the Lawyers Committee on Nuclear Policy and of the International Association of Lawyers Against Nuclear Arms.

Inter arma silent leges. When force speaks, the laws are silent. And the more brutal the force, the more complete the silence of law.

This is what most people believe, and after the events of September 11 (2001) it is hard to blame them. But law, particularly the law of war and peace, does not march solely to the drumbeat of daily life. If it cannot keep pace with extraordinary events in the worst of daily life or if it cannot keep pace with extraordinary events in the worst of times, it loses its capacity to govern, to provide the order that is associated with law.

Lawyers must therefore, at times, swim against the tide of public opinion and REMIND an outraged populace that even “a war to rid the world of evil” is subject to the laws of war, both us ad bellum, which governs the right to go to war, and us in bello, which governs the conduct of war.

The first question, then, is, what is war? According to Lassa Oppenheim, one of the giants of international law, “War is a contention between two or more States through their armed forces, for the purpose of overpowering each other, and imposing such conditions of peace as the victor pleases.” A terrorist attack, no matter how heinous, committed by non-state actors, is NOT a casus belli, an “act of war”, except in a metaphorical sense. It therefore cannot justify a state resorting to war against another state in response to the attack, unless the other state’s responsibility for the attack has been unambiguously established.

But, as is clear from the statements of the President and other high officials, no such responsibility has been proved, except again in a metaphorical sense. They speak of making war against countries that “support”, “tolerate” or “harbor” terrorists.

Saudi Arabia refuses to this day to extradite the eleven men indicted in the 1996 attack on the Khobar Towers, in which 19 U.S. airmen were killed and 370 injured. Does this mean that Saudi Arabia is supporting terrorists and that we are or will be at war with Saudi Arabia?

A recent study by the Congressional Research Service alleges that Osama bin Laden’s organization has bases or tentacles in 37 countries. Are we, or will we be, at war with all of them?

Nor is it possible to declare war against an unidentified enemy, which is essentially what the President and the Congress have done in the aftermath of the attacks on the Twin Towers and the Pentagon. Yet, both psychologically and legally, the use of war terminology has grave consequences. Psychologically, as shown by the WAR banner headlines in the days following September 11, it creates a mood of “follow the leader, wherever he may lead” and makes bloodthirsty monsters of normally decent citizens. As one correspondent said in the Letters column of the New York Times on September 18, “It is not enough to wipe out Afghanistan. I will be satisfied with nothing short of a sweeping and devastating assault on all those countries that train, finance and protect those whose stated goal is the slaughter of Americans.”

Legally, a state of war triggers all sorts of undesirable consequences. At the level of international law, the proclamation of a state of emergency, which is normally less than a state of war, allows a state party to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, such as the United States, to “derogate” from its obligations under the Covenant in respect of several basic human rights, including freedom from forced labor, the right to bring habeas corpus proceedings, freedom of movement, equality before the law and freedom from arbitrary arrest.

A de facto, or functionally equivalent, declaration of war, followed by acts of war, naturally triggers the right of self-defense by any state affected. The Taliban has already prepared the Afghan people to fight a holy war against the United States, once the U.S. makes good on its promise to “end” that state. Every other state against which military action is taken by the global anti-terrorist coalition in the making will consider itself entitled to respond with armed force against any member of the coalition. The U.S., with its far-flung global outposts, military and otherwise, and its long list of potential target states, is particularly vulnerable in this respect. Thus conducting the impending—and necessary—anti-terrorist operation under the banner of war legitimates the cycle of violence, which it is sure to spark.

Proceeding under a flag of war will of course also have, indeed has already had, grave consequences in terms of domestic constitutional law. While President Bush has not formally invoked the War Powers Act—Presidents hardly ever do—Congress has made it unnecessary for him to do so and has approved in advance the uncharted voyage on which he and the armed forces are about to embark. Thus, while a few courageous members of Congress may be heard to say that the joint resolution they passed on September 14 does not give the President a blank check for any type of military operation, it does in fact do so for at least sixty days and judging from past experience, as well as the ambiguous language of the resolution, well beyond that time. To the extent that the resolution authorizes “the use of United States armed forces” against “nations” (as well as “organizations or persons”) it is a green light for war. Its only saving grace is that it is limited to the use of force against those nations, organizations or persons which the President “determines planned, authorized, committed or aided the terrorist acts that occurred on September 11, 2001”. Thus it is not—not yet—an authorization to use force for the extirpation of every kind of terrorism from every part of the globe.

It remains to be seen what emergency powers the administration will seek to arrogate to itself and to what extent these will impinge on the very democratic freedoms in whose name this “war” is going to be fought.

In one respect the President has already exceeded his powers. His call for “Osama bin Laden dead or alive” violates Section 2.11 of Executive Order 12333, which states in plain English: “No person employed by or acting on behalf of the United States Government shall engage in, or conspire to engage on behalf of the United States Government, assassination.” No doubt the vast majority of Americans would like to see Osama bin Laden dead, but that is not the point. The point is that if the prohibition against assassination, enacted at the request of Congress in 1981 by none other than President Reagan is to be ignored, it must first be repealed by this President in consultation with this Congress. Repeal by Presidential speechwriters is not in the best American tradition and sets a most dangerous precedent.

A crime against humanity of unimaginable proportions has been committed on our territory. The perpetrators of this crime, and those who may be planning similar atrocities, must be hunted down and brought to justice with every resource of the world community—short of war. To embark on a course leading to what Thomas Friedman has already called World War III would be compounding the tragedy and giving the Osama bin Ladens and their ilk exactly what they want: A Holy war, with vastly greater numbers of innocent victims than those who suffered horrible deaths in New York and Washington on September 11, and, if not the end of democracy as we know it, at least its diminution. Civil society must not allow this to happen.

[END OF QUOTING]

Well, too late isn’t it? And YOU get to your feet and sing to the “Land of the Free and home of the BRAVE”. No, you are doing cowardly things, unconstitutional things. You want pride? Well, citizens, the opposite of pride is not “humility”, IT IS SHAME. And, moreover, SHAME BE UPON YOU.

Worse for all, you do these things in the NAME OF GOD and call it amazing Grace? Perhaps we now know from whence that verse came. You are dressed in God’s cloak while going about Satan’s work. You shall not, in the end, prevail in such evil. Your realization about this that you do is far more important than all the cities underground than you can conjure.

By the way, about those underground places, wow—take a look at Northrop, Edwards, Area 51, China Lake and others at Long Beach—and these are just a tiny few to name them. They are real; they are inhabited; amazing things take place there; they are all attached by tunnels; and it is the “inner” Earth.

You don’t have to take brain-rides to KNOW TRUTH.

God has blessed you above all, chelas, and you are about to embark on pure evil in the name of God. NO, IT IS NOT “OK”.

May you be given the Light in which you find your way.—GCH

New World Zionist Order: Most Harbored Terrorists

9/26/01—#1 (15-041)

WHERE DO YOU TURN WHEN YOU FEEL LIKE A TOP?

Hatonn—First STOP! Then find your codependent, form a conspiracy against the whiplash taking place, and BE STILL. When the pressure is on, it is time for KNOWLEDGE through intelligent confrontation of the problem, not necessarily any person. Always leave room, time and space to RESPOND, NOT REACT. There are times to immediately react but not when your entire future rides on a reasoned RESPONSE built of/from intelligence.

Reaction itself is necessary at the time of, or before, an instant event. This is, of course, if there is danger in the moment in which you must decide to run, fight or drop out.

Everyone is willing, for instance, to disclaim or put-down terrorism. No one should be willing, because of unnecessary reaction, to put lives or nation on the line because of foolishness and hasty reactions. There can, in these instances taking place today, be a fully reasoned, informed RESPONSE.

It must be recognized by now, after the insanity of reaction, that there are myriads of QUESTIONS about what happened on the 11th of Sept. in New York City. Moreover, who GAINED from such “attacks”? It begins to form up to be an inside job, doesn’t it? It also is obvious that the United States of America has become a totally Zionist State, however you wish to call the label.

You can see that just by the spin on the label to call the operation, you have gone through several trial balloons which did not work and now, today, it is Operation Enduring Freedom. FOR WHOM? Freedom for whom? YOU? Perish the thought! You can get arrested and carted off to prison for having 3-4 box openers, even if you are in the box-cutter business.

The airlines are receiving exactly what they wanted: bail out! Even PAL airlines in the Philippines is going to get some help while the nation dies and nothing much has happened to the airline in point. This is a good trick if you can pull it off.

First, they will raise rates to cover new insurance costs so as to not damage either the airline or the insurance companies. In the Philippines it will be an over-the-counter cost of probably between 8 to 10 dollars. That, however, is two day’s pay for an “average” Filipino in Manila. More days than that outside the city.

Then, probably, they will eventually (depending on traffic) offer some choice, two for one in the upper-class seating or something similar to draw passengers. It is all part of the game. The Elite never lose anything for very long and then gain it all back, with more, from you the citizens.

Well, it is a fact, however, that small businesses can’t even break even if they don’t get help paying for increased security, insurance protection and postage hikes. And YOU can’t do anything about it anyway because those rates are decided at a much higher level than your next-door neighbor who IS one of the “average” citizens. These things don’t even require orders or legislation for it is built into the system for manipulation.

It is the same thing as Alan Greenspan’s manipulation of the Federal Reserve, i.e., interest rates. It is simply announced.

People, your economy, globally, was in the dumpster and something HAD TO BE DONE, to cover the facts of what has happened. And money laundering comes up as the necessary coverall. No, it is not. We, for instance, have to refuse to go into business with the Central Bank until there is transparency and accounting in our program. You are totally brainwashed; you must have law and you must have accountability and order in which to HAVE FREEDOM.

CAN’T FEED THE STARVING

Look at Afghanistan and what YOU OF THE U.S. ARE DOING. By the U.S. rules there CAN BE NO assistance to any Taliban citizen—man, woman or child. Moreover, there is total dependence of humanitarian aid which will be used up in a week. If YOU bring food or aid YOU will be arrested and incarcerated for the “humanitarian” gift. IS THIS GODLY? And yet, you are proud today to be an American? Really? The Zionists and New World Order are setting the U.S. rules even while breaking all your constitutional laws having removed the CONSTITUTION through the War Powers Act and National Emergency—not even formally presented.

YOU HAVE SENT YOUR TROOPS, FRIENDS. THAT IS AN ACT OF WAR! Whether or not you LIKE it, YOU ARE UNDER MARTIAL LAW IN THE LAND OF THE FREE! Moreover, YOU demanded that it be done. Please do not whine to God to fix your circumstances. You made your choices even if you thought otherwise—remember the democratic vote of the majority—when neither party is a whit different but, rather, all of the same New World Order.

Now the U.S. demands of all other nations adherence to the U.S. rule of order OR FACE TOTAL FORECLOSURE and probably war for “harboring” some terrorist. Well, the most harbored terrorists are those of the New World Zionist Order.

RADICAL RELIGION

You want to call the Muslims wicked? Try again, all you OTHER religious citizens. There are now more Muslims or “Islamic” people than so-called Christians because true Christians could not longer stand the hypocrisy.

Certainly, there are incredibly larger numbers of Muslims than of the Talmudic religion or even the Torahan doctrine. Even the Torah was written first in a mixture of Hebrew-Arabic from ancient Aramaic.

Is Taliban religion true Muslim? NO. But neither were the Crusaders true Christians—and certainly the Inquisition bore no resemblance to either civilized behavior or Christianity. It was horror and hell all in itself.

THE ONLY TRUE “RELIGION” IS THAT WHICH IS BETWEEN YOU AND GOD AND BEARS NO LABEL. YOU ARE EITHER GOODLY OR YOU ARE NOT. You may well be “in-between”, so don’t jump to “my” conclusions—and, no, if you aren’t ACTIVELY with the U.S. in this new “war”, then somehow it is assumed you are FOR the terrorists. A Giant B.S.

And what is happening really? Well, for one thing a lot of nations are getting debts resolved in exchange for serving EVIL. And the ones who haven’t had the cut-rate for participation, like the Philippines, are building a case to get same. Quid pro quo it is called.

But, ah, the more recent slam against the day is the headline that at least 50 Filipinos have joined the Taliban. Oh? Well over a month ago it was KNOWN and also headlined that there were over 50 Filipinos in training with the Taliban-bin Laden. So, what is new TODAY? Nasty leverage against a very little nation already in her death throes.

I remind you that the world was in foreclosure and now is the time of taking possession. Oh, you very definitely entered World War III and, as Cohen has said, you are doing so in SECRET, without any knowledge of what is taking place to end bad publicity, and you are to go about your “normal” lives—if you still have a job, that is. You don’t even know where your troops and hardware ARE. And you do it with flags waving and singing Amazing Grace as if God somehow planned this atrocity taking place. Spare me, please!

What is your EX-SECRETARY of Defense, Cohen, doing totally entangled in this current mess? You are not asleep, people, you are in a coma.

LET’S TURN TO CONTACT—ALL KINDS

There are calls, we understand in Manila, about books and comments made by Princeton W. regarding his recent trip to Mt. Shasta and the three consecutive writings on that topic. Why? Has everyone forgotten your own birthing? If you have, then it is time to refresh a LOT of memories.

We can start, however, with this focus in point.

I asked Princeton to do something which equates to a very large hardship. He had to construct, then somebody had to set to type, print and layout the little series. I am in great appreciation, for unless you must do these tasks day after day after day you have no idea what this entails. This, however, is what we are all about.

I can remind you again that at one time we were able to offer many books on everything from UFOs to Puff the Magic Dragon. And guess what! We fully plan to do so again. The only thing stopping us is funds.

In this focus, we will try to, as well, offer books which readers find interesting and authors cannot find outlet and have to starve to death because of lack of support and inability to offer anything if it goes to Internet or Websites.

An excellent example is Rodney Stich who has written several of the most important books on Airlines, Defrauding America, etc., and he can’t even pay his rent at 78 years of age. YOU NEED THESE BOOKS! YOU NEED THE INFORMATION! If there are errors, you need to have that as well, for balance, so that you can RECOGNIZE the errors and better JUDGE content.

Every one of Mullins' books needs heavy distribution; he has had such excellent references regarding such as Medicine, Federal Reserve, etc., as to be considered the Dean of Researchers. He is banned by the Zionists from Canada and that is rather interesting credentials in my own opinion.

BUT THESE AUTHORS MUST HAVE HELP. Rodney, for instance, has had speaking engagements by demand in over 50 instances just since the terror-attacks in New York. He says that the airliner use was just a bomb waiting detonation. He is considered an authority on the topic. If he writes anything and chooses to share it, we will be grateful to run it.

Now, back to Mt. Shasta. This area was a major focus of MYSELF and my compatriots in this particular segment of experience and perhaps lots of readers should be reminded of that and how it was and why there was ever anything even like the Phoenix Institute and any type of SHARING experience.

I also remind you all that we are geared to work with the Native Americans in a very sovereign way and their "religious" expression is different from others—except native in origin. The experiences need sharing on a very human exchange basis and I personally arranged to hit Princeton pretty hard because of his past experiences of which he has spoken almost nothing.

There is a lot of communication taking place—some is foolishness and sets the New Age into a ridiculous light. However, there has to be a recognition of that which is truly honorable and only the experience can be revealing and discernments made through interchange.

I didn't care about Princeton meeting the "author" of the book which has come into discussion—I needed him to meet the OTHER parties—which he did. These experiences bring new and refueled support when the mind and body is weary of the labors and decisions regarding presumed future status and placement. There have been many years of service and as Rodney expresses it: "Just hang it up... nobody cares...". We confront that DAILY!

It is a bit worse here because our people have to concern about Federal Raids precipitated by PARTNERS who "just got mad", and also to cover their own CRIMINAL activities.

In Manila, we have to concern about just staying alive and never crossing the line of giving any reason to other than love our presence—even within the United States Treasury or Federal Reserve.

My most painful observation is that there SHOULD be many and varied disagreements within the circles of service—but there is no need for insults or disallowance for another. These are ego-clashes and nothing more. There always seems to be a few who can't rest without stirring the killer bees which then don't stop stinging to their own dying day.

And, if we can't offer such as a distributor would offer, we will simply have to turn to others who will do so. WE NEVER DO ANYTHING TO CAUSE ANYONE TO LOOK AT US AS SOME CULT—INCLUDING THE PAPER ITSELF. WE HAVE TO HAVE OTHER AUTHORS, OTHER OBSERVATIONS AND, YES, AS WE CAN GET TO IT, FULL SECTIONS ON HEALTH, HEALING AND HELP—FROM CLEANING TIPS TO SPELT COOKIES.

And my goodness, Bruce T. is going to buried absolutely when he is able to get the "library" in order and the publishing back under control. He holds a doctorate in English, as I recall, and people—WE WILL GET THERE.

This does NOT mean that such as Bruce has to do the labor, for we certainly do plan to eventually get his job done and then our people need a rest, including Fingers here. Bruce can know people who can fill JOBS—and we will have means to pay people for their services. We also will catch up, hopefully, the services given. I repeat, we have NO COMMUNE or anything even remotely like same. We do have people who have helped, served, assisted and volunteered because we have a similar goal intent. That, whether it be just to eventually get some extra income or more-hoped-for job is immaterial.

When you try to identify our association with one another it perhaps should be recognized as a "fellowship" of those with mutual, but diversified, interests.

If you have, for instance, a sewing club, you will find some interested in quilting, costume making, embroidery, knitting, crochet or making curtains. Each will be far better at one aspect, even teaching capability, but certainly no one is lesser, even the new stitchers.

We have certainly proven why we will only function in a business setting and why it has been so imperative that it has never been different, even if some wish to espouse otherwise. We have shared, in some instances EVERYTHING—as Doris, for instance, feels there has been no single THOUGHT unspread or wish spared viewing and/or gossip. But then, when the raids come, as they do if you are DOING anything, for even your neighbor having a bad day can silently turn you in FOR ANYTHING CHOSEN—without recourse.

I remind all of you, however, if you can't share together and "get along", who will stand WITH YOU when the raiders come? [MM: God, ATON—so there truly is NOTHING to fear, except lack of FAITH in same.] And in the process, the miscreants will surely reveal themselves. People have lost the closeness of what was once COMMUNITY. This is NOT "COMMUNAL" anything—it is helping one another, appreciating one another and certainly sharing with one another.

If you are working at a given business or project, you must be even more open to interchange, and certainly communication, without necessity of liaison routing on a "personal" level of discourse. Please be careful what you do, for it always reflects back onto others no matter how isolated you might presume self to be.

And, indeed—a lot of things will come out of Mt. Shasta, California and Cebu, Philippines as with major connections. No, I am NOT ready to discuss this further. We live in the moment—we presume to have a tomorrow, for there is no other way to effectively function. We LEARN from our past and especially, it seems, through trials and errors. This in turn certainly does make it appear there are more trials and errors than success and success. None of the above represent "failure". It seems "we old people" don't even recognize that we have been insulted, especially as the eyes and ears go south for whatever season. So, if anyone wants to insult us or offer sarcasm upon our beings—speak right up or it will be missed somewhere in the null zone.

LIFE IS AN ILLUSION?

Then the next question is: "Why does my head hurt so bad if it is but an illusion?" It is in the illusion that all is experienced, for where the mind is, there too will be the headache!

My question to you is: "Why do you always want so badly to live in someone else's dream (illusion)?"

Can you yet see that you are experiencing while allowing God to share, be within, or put Him out of your mental experience. He never goes away because that part of YOU that IS HIM, cannot separate from the LIFE SOURCE. That doesn't keep the human, experiencing person from trying.

Yes, indeed, it is hard to keep focus on higher intent when all seems to be falling apart around your head or feet. THAT is when you need to take stock of all your Spiritual (all that is not physical) resources to build that bridge to the next step available and, yes, you CAN do that. When you remain steady then you become the balance possibility of those who are vacillating in their own moment of inability to secure stability. They will get their turn to contribute when YOU might be unable to find a center in your ongoing journey.

YOU LIVE IN FEAR

It is often very hard to walk a pathway alone when, especially, through no fault of your own, except existing, you are required to face the powers over your freedom which is life itself.

How few come to sit with you in that garden and leave you to stand naked while others hide, gossip, deny and desert. I suggest if anything fits, wear it! For when the flak is stilled it is often then that the shoes want to again walk on the same person put down. Do not be shocked when that person asks you to go back to your rock and creep under it to make sure your security is not at risk.

Who will walk with me, asked the Lord? Who will tarry with me, asked the Teacher? Who will not deny me? Who will sell me for 30 pieces of silver?

Oh, yes, you DO have opportunity upon opportunity to act and you do not because it might just be a bit risky. Oh, well. What do YOU do to avoid discomfort or even, yea, to take a stand for that which is "right"? These things are present in every life—and "reasons" for failures are scarce but excuses many. And, yes, indeed, God will leave you to your own choices—EVERY TIME.

May you always stand in the Light but without the Sun in your eyes that leaves you quite blinded. And a good rule of thumb, experiencers: Expect nothing from those to whom you give nothing—except perchance a bit of gossip and put-down. They end up owing you NOTHING.

We who walk this road strewn with rocks and traps will make it through but the tag-alongs may well find the depot quite old and wobbly when they pull into the parking lot. The ship awaited may well have flown the port. Oh, indeed, God tests at every turn! There is, however, no failure—only recognition.

You want what you want and you want it now? Well, doesn't everyone else as well? And, furthermore, a lot of those "wanters" are on the other side.

Life seems short? Oh, no, life is an eternity; this is but a blink which is rarely witnessed for what it IS.

In love and great respect for each of you as you move on and we bear witness to that which is, I take leave.—GCH

Bin Laden: Creation Of CIA-MOSSAD

BLINK

By Cathy O'Brien (c)

9/28/01—#1 (15-043)

THIS IS NEW-AGE WARFARE

RE: SLEEPERS, TALIBAN-ABU SAYYAF-BIN LADEN, IT'S ALL IN THE MIND

SLEEPERS

Hatonn—The totally naive patter on NEWS FIRST this morning started with a discussion about “sleepers”, “triggers”, “awakening sleepers for a mission or schtick (gig)” and how these Trade Tower suicide missions were accomplished.

Thus, it appears that CIA-Mossad activities have no longer escaped the general morning-coffee gossip of even the international circuits.

What is uppermost in the Philippines, however, is that there remains a bunch of Abu Sayyaf, bin Laden sponsored and TRAINED, still functioning in the Philippines WITH input from the CIA-Mossad. This is not under question, readers, this is a FACT.

So, what's the problem? Well, with seeming inability to get the rogues, there is talk of sending troops to Afghanistan from the Armed Forces of the Philippines—when the troops can't seem year after year to shut down a handful of renegades in their dooryard.

Therefore, the President says that the Philippines will only send doctors and intelligence personnel instead of fighting troops.

Oh? What might those be? What in the world are you doing, Children of the world?

The United States of America BIRTHED (CREATED) bin Laden by the CIA with Mossad input. That is not under question or dispute. Now, it would appear the creation has gone bonkers and the disease spread throughout the global landscape.

I'm confident it seemed like the thing to do at the time of this creation—against the Russians—but is no longer “contained” (another typical CIA term). The “handlers” (again, another CIA term) got out of control and now do the “handling”.

Am I suggesting that terrorists be left to roam the streets? No, but they already do roam the streets and shooting one another is not a very good solution—especially for the citizen who gets between the machine guns and worse for a visitor (tourist) who just came to see paradise or the Liberty Bell.

Now, after only a couple of weeks since the suicide raid in New York, people are saturated and don't care what the governments decide to do. The viewing public wants to get back to the gossip shows and Larry King Live with the Levy-Condit distraction.

Remember, please, that in Mindanao, Philippines, there are three U.S. citizens in hostage by the Abu Sayyaf. One is presumed to have been beheaded since that is the news released by the ASG (Abu Sayyaf Group) and the other two are a beautiful couple who are missionaries yet.

There is news that someone is negotiating, finally, to ransom the pair.

Of course, the programming is pretty much perfected, readers. These suicide bombers, etc., are trained and brain-warped to only needing a “trigger” awakening call to action. It is, further, planned to be only just begun. But WHO are the handlers (trainers)? Are there enough Arab-Americans or Taliban sophisticated enough to train and brain-change a whole army of participants IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA? Don't be foolish.

The point is to start and hold a religious war of heinous proportion and do it without the real orchestrators being revealed. The instigators walk away scott-free.

All the guards and inspectors can't stop this idiocy. If a man is bent on suicide, then when he is probed or searched he can blow up. In a busy mall, that is incredibly destructive to life and property. Blow someone up on an airliner and you have at least as many dead as there are crew and passengers.

Why does it require Special Forces, Green Berets and Delta Force troops to rout out these terrorists? Because they are the ones THAT TRAINED THEM. Only they know the game!

These men of these special forces are equally trained TO DO A JOB—period. Remember Col. “Bo” Gritz from which RAMBO became a copy? Well, the man himself is a Godly man having claimed to have found Jesus the Christ or at least the offspring of the hierarchy of the Jewish religion, Jehovah, Isaac and Jacob. But then, when his “bride” left him he tried to commit suicide over inability to cope with the separation and which is an act of cowardice in its ultimate form. And this man ran for President of the United States and, yes, indeed, I backed him. I know him and the heart-mind-soul can only handle so much before it breaks, especially the heart.

When conscience (always made of soul) is overridden and put aside, there is nothing to buffer actions; as the mind will do what it is trained to do when the “trigger” action or terms are put into play.

I would suggest that every person reading this would again get TRANCE-FORMATION OF AMERICA by Mark Phillips and Cathy O'Brien and never mind the sensational parts of obscenity but READ WELL the application of MIND-CONTROL.

It has required years of love and work for Cathy to rise out of that pit of Hell and function. That by continually FACING the truth, the realization of experiencing and remaining in constant LOVE and A BUBBLE OF SECURITY—just to get through. She is still vulnerable and a bit bent but is no longer “broken”. Moreover, she still has MUCH to remember—and we will share that as she is ready to bring it forth. [Mark and I would appreciate it if you would post this wherever and whenever appropriate. Lots of folks are requesting this info. Thanks!—Cathy O'Brien]

* * * * *

But, yes, indeed, the “sleepers” are everywhere and to the extent that they stupidly call others sleepers in their own warped condition.

I can name a dozen in your own recognition who are STILL used as resources for information scattering even though you have KNOWN they are frauds and set-ups.

It is, however, when you experience for yourself that which is a lie about self that you fully become aware of the unlimited scourge of these people upon the searching/seeking masses. They become self-appointed authorities and holders of some title of “truthbringer”, owner of untold wealth without any backup or support to any program other than “it's mine”, and surely you recognize the ones who take, lie, present story after story only to have insanity presented upon the heads of the ones who believed them in the first place. Moreover, the bigger the lie, the easier it seems to make it believed.

There are at least five different parties right in the Philippines who claim sole “ownership” of the Philippines. There are hundreds who claim blood relations with “father” Marcos and claim to have signature rights (sole) to accounts around the globe.

One claimed rights to Marcos' deposit in Papua New Guinea and frankly, it may well have been so—BUT, THE GOLD AND ASSETS HAD BEEN MOVED TO AUSTRALIA. THIS IS NOW BEING TRACKED TO SEE WHO DECEIVED THE COUNTRY AND THE MAJOR BANK INVOLVED!

And, NO, that does not involve us AT ALL, except as if it appears it can be utilized to support to get gold back into the nation in point. But, you see, the major gold holdings have been “GONED”.

Even in the Philippines the very Central Bank shipped off over 96% of its authorized holdings of gold to such as London to exchange for credit and backup for trading programs. It too is GONE!

Now, worse perhaps, as to “slippage”, is that the CIA has never stopped work here and neither has the Mossad. Certainly, the gold takers have not even slowed and tonnes of gold are still being shipped out on U.S. military vessels and stray ships as we speak.

Does the U.S. know this? Of course, it was Mr. Bush’s plan to start with as Reagan-Marcos and, yes, with participation of one now recognized as Russell Herman, planned and orchestrated the program. Russell just happened to have had the certificate which V.K. claimed ownership in at least five differing tales.

First she said she found it in an old Bible she purchased at a garage sale; then she said it was an old thing she had framed as of interest and hung on her wall; then she has said recently that the certificate had been in her family since its issuance in the 1800s.

Facts are—none of those stories are true. And even if so, it matters not, for the certificate itself has no value at all any longer since it was changed out to identifiable ownership through jurat/contract. That was legally accomplished in 1989.

It is important, however, to not jump to conclusions, readers. There is no intent of GAIA to utilize anything without full coverage of hard collateral. The agreements we have made cover that which insures accounting, banking records in accuracy and gives identifiable assets in holding to secure and be used in a funding nation. It is as simple as rain.

We have had to wait until someone would finally push through some banking laws which would secure holdings in transparency and accountability.

With good hope and ability to place into use, the Congress here just passed an anti-laundering bill which was announced this morning. Is it REAL? No, and it is indeed weak—but the deadline of September 30 was haphazardly met as set forth through the new events in play.

There is now the search and finger-point at anything which would connect anything with the ASG or even the MILF. Sorry, seekers: NOTHING. WE DO NOT DEAL WITH TERRORISTS—IF WE KNOW AND WE HAVE CONTRACTS SIGNED, SEALED AND DELIVERED THAT NO THING FROM GAIA WILL BE USED IN ANY WAY FOR OTHER THAN HUMANITARIAN AND MORAL PURPOSES—PERIOD. So far, except if there is outright theft and racketeering taking place, which is against the law, not GAIA, there is nothing yet in use at all. However, the GAIA program is now well known, recognized as honorable and valid and there is coming a lessening of fear of what can be done by the IMF/WB if their activities are revealed in this anti-laundering uncovering. WE ARE NOT AT WAR WITH ANYONE. WAR IS NOT OF GOD! ONLY THOSE WITH NO IMAGINATION OR CREATIVITY GO TO WAR TO SOLVE ANYTHING.

And, no, the bin Laden Taliban is NOT OF ISLAM. Terror in exchange for terror is never a solution to anything except to ensure WAR.

Neither are the “Judean Hebrew Torahns” of Zionist Jewish Talmudists. These are the ones who were the Serpent People who chose a new label to suit their commercial and Phariseedic posturing.

You had the same thing happening with Christians who were certainly NOT in much of any way, Christ-ians.

It is the time of recognition of these imposters for that which they ARE. But, no, I do not need to do that—for if you wish to know TRUTH, you will have to FIND TRUTH.

I would again share with you something out of AND THEY CALLED HIS NAME IMMANUEL, a Phoenix Journal. By the way, the first version of the Talmud, Immanuel published. Here is another clue for you with reference to SPECTRUM—THEY OFTEN QUOTE FROM THIS BUT CALL IT BY ONE OF THE FOLLOW-ON BOOKS. Don’t you find that somewhat interesting? Oh, clues abound, readers!

[QUOTING And They Called His Name Immanuel, a Phoenix Journal, pages 143-148:]

MOHAMMAD PROPHESED

Immanuel (Immanuel) was silent. And they hit him again on the head and he moaned in pain and started to speak, “Verily I say to you, as you beat and mock me, you, too, shall be beaten and mocked. The time will come in five times one hundred years when you shall have to atone for this day. A new man will rise up in this land and whip and persecute you, and you shall have to pay with your blood.

“He will create a new cult and have people call him a prophet, and he shall persecute you through all times. Even though he will be a false prophet and bring you a new false doctrine, he has great power and will have your race persecuted throughout all time to come.

“His name will be Mohammed, and his name will be, for your kind, horror, misery and death, which will be of your deserving. Verily, verily I say to you, his name will be written with blood and his hatred against your kind will be endless. But since he will be a false prophet and bring you a false doctrine, so will his cult eventually be finished, when your kind and his kind will put down the foundation for a bloody ending for this world.”

These words caused such fury that they got extremely excited and beat him so brutally that Immanuel collapsed. When he had aroused somewhat, they pulled the purple coat from him and put his own garments back on his body and led him away to crucify him.

[END OF QUOTING]

Now, please, do not jump the gun and decide that somehow Mohammad came along and lied, cheated and created some kind of false “religion” and do not think somehow that “cult” means some far-out occult mysticism racket.

No, Mohammad did arrive right on schedule about 500 years later and brought BACK the truth of God and Man. He was a prophet and brought the WORD. He honored God (ALLAH).

Others came along and as with the other “religions” pronounced their own doctrines, including letting of blood, violence and now, “terrorism” as a part of expected behavior. That is NOT ISLAM.

As these ancient scrolls are deciphered and translated it is impossible to NOT use words which no longer mean what they meant when first presented.

Cult, for instance, simply means group, church, or any bunch of anyone(s) with a common belief or doctrine. If, for example, you have a gaggle of ladies interested in nothing but quilting and gather for same, you have a “cult”. When you make more of the meaning—YOU ERR and then you go rewrite the dictionary.

Mohammad could not bring fourth “a new false doctrine”. The most he could do in that arena is bring fourth “a new doctrine” for “false” has absolutely no meaning in such a context.

Now you have a cult of Taliban you want to call the cult of Osama bin Laden. Well, do you see that even THAT is impossible? People may well wish to follow “a” leader, and they may wish to follow their own doctrine but it makes it neither a religion nor a cult. It simply, as it turns out, is a DEVELOPED evil organization AT BEST. And THIS one, readers, was birthed by the Central Intelligence Agency by the United States of America and the Mossad of Israel. That hardly qualifies as Islam or Muslim.

You will find that hardly any “original thought” is in any “religion” relative to one “CHRIST”—so let us stop the nonsense and take a good hard look at WHAT IS instead of blaming someone else for your own need for revenge for something that didn’t even touch ALMOST ALL of you on the globe or even in the U.S.A.

You have reported only 300 (approx.) deaths (for sure) in the Trade Center “attacks”. There have been far worse atrocities elsewhere that you in the U.S. failed to even REMEMBER today. Where are those other 20,000 people that were supposed to have been in those buildings that day of Sept. 11? And I repeat: Where are they? It is said that up to 50,000 people worked in those towers and it was, after all, the start of a typical Tuesday morning. Are you going to “just declare” over 6,000 dead and never mind further inspection?

Now, as you listen and watch, the other major “in trouble” businesses are all but defunct because of this one incident? I don’t think so and neither should you. They were already in irreversible disaster mode and THIS IS THE EXCUSE to let you-the-people pay the bill, turn on military control and line you up into marching order to the chicken-plucking station.

I suggest that you who love the macabre side of story-telling, watch a few of these mind-control movies being offered—and then turn to the scientific version of each of these capabilities. Moreover, if you believe that putting a few armed guards in plain clothes aboard airlines will end the problem, you are incorrect. This is whistling in the dark where the odds are very great that there will not be a replication of this act just passed.

This is why revenge never ends. If you cannot grow in PEACE, then you shall never have Peace gained through violence or revenge.

Most of you can’t even get beyond the ego-walls of individual assumptions of insult, somehow, to self. And, by the way, you too do that in the name of God and service unto God. Ponder it and perhaps you will look at your brother differently, as the song goes.

You even go a bit further and decide you have lost everything just because God can see better sequence than can you and acts on that information. How much have you LOST just to follow the capricious piper right down primrose lane? Probably more than you even realize at any given moment of experiencing.

Propaganda turns you the masses into a swarm of “killer bees” with no intent other than kill. Kill is “murder”, my friends, and that is without thought of consequences. How many times can you murder

Osama bin Laden and might that very act of vengeance start an incredible and global WAR?

Why isn't someone chasing after the culprits in the U.S. intelligence services that allowed this recent atrocity to evolve—they are far more guilty than someone in a cave in the outback of desolate Afghanistan who never saw New York City.

Everybody knows that New York City, in the financial district, is the very HEART and body of the Elite Banking Cartel and IS THE PLACE laughingly called, around the globe, Little Israel. Moreover, such as Mr. Dershowitz of Legal Fame and a devout Jew calls the U.S. and is the accepted word: The Jewish Homeland. He doesn't even refer to it in connection to "Israel".

Who else on the globe gets an annual 3 Billion dollars IN CASH FROM THE U.S. other than Israel, along with billions of $$ in other ways and means? Most of the citizens of the U.S., even though this has been years and years in the service as the same, have no idea of this hand-out of their assets to the point that the U.S. is the biggest debtor nation on the face of the globe—to the International Banksters.

Taxes in the U.S. go to pay the debt—not expenses and not the principal of any debt—just interest payments. The Internal Revenue Service is a collection service of the Banks. It sure must be a good game if you can get it. NOTHING backs the currency—absolutely nothing but guns.

Am I against Israel? No, as a matter of fact I even liked it when it was Palestine; before the United Nations security council decided to make it "Israel". When will they give away YOUR country and all your assets? "They" already have done so—while you napped. Now all that is left to do is cause you to stop your whining and be good little slaves.

The question might well be NOW, however: What is happening now and who is doing what to whom?

Perhaps there are, after all, more facets to the CIA than you were given to know. It has been said to be. Surely, the viper isn't eating its master—is it?

But what of the U.S.A. FBI? You find the agents just about everywhere and yet, thing after thing gets hidden or missed, from records to terrorists in airlines. Moreover, apparently nobody could get fighters in the sky in time to avert even one of the hits. That seems quite serious to me.

Well, there is so much to learn and know and so little time, it seems.

By the way, I might remind you that when you hear the term Sananda in the context of Christness, please realize that the term is Egyptian and means "One WITH God", or, "Christed". And "Jammanual" is a pronunciation of Immanuel. This is usually in reference to the one labeled "Jesus" by Saul of Tarsus in Greece AFTER Emanuel (just another spelling) was long gone. The Bible was not compiled as to the New Bible, for some 3 centuries later. Perhaps this puts some seemingly mysterious and occult things into a bit more historical order for your consideration. And, if your people, as tribal realizations come to be, had/have never heard of any of these people—so be it, for it doesn't mean Great Spirit is not alive and well on Planet Earth.

Only the tamperings of man bring imperfections as he dwells in his own importance of ego-demands.

Thank you for sharing your time.

Salu, and know that God blesses YOU if you but receive.—GCH

Armageddon, my good friends, looms ahead like a beacon of things to come in the Arab-Holy Lands.

By John & Jean Ray

AS U.S. LOOKS FOR BALANCE BETWEEN FREEDOMS AND SAFETY FROM TERROR, AMERICANS MAY BE READY TO LOSE LUXURIES, NOT LIBERTIES

By Tim Jones, Tribune, 9/23/01

No more breezing past the security desk at work, casually waving your ID card. No more e-tickets or curbside check-ins at airports. No more coolers at ballgames. Even the Goodyear blimp, the weekend eye in the sky hovering above sporting events, is grounded.

That's only the opening chapter of the national mobilization against terrorism. On the docket in Washington and state legislatures around the country are new anti-terrorism proposals that include the expansion of electronic-surveillance authority and stronger search-and-seizure powers for law enforcement.

The sacrifice of personal convenience is moving into the territory of civil liberties, raising the question of how much Americans will forfeit to achieve a new balance between long-enjoyed freedoms and security from the menace of terrorism. Several public opinion surveys conducted in the week after the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks suggest a tolerance—with limits—for sacrifice.

An NBC News/Wall Street Journal poll, for instance, said 78 percent would support reducing some privacy protections, including those that restrict government searches and wiretapping. A Gallup poll said most Americans will put up with the inconvenience of checking in up to three hours before flights.

"America will have to get used to it," said Ingrid Barnes, a university administrator from Tuckahoe, N.Y. "We have no choice but to get used to it."

Looking down the road, public opinion polls even reflect support for a national identity card, long anathema to civil libertarians and most Americans.

For now, though, security efforts are based heavily in manpower and precautions that are restricting access to public areas. In Los Angeles, security has been stepped up at Dodger Stadium, as it has at most athletic venues, said Derrick Hall, senior vice president for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Specially trained dogs now check every corner of the stadium for explosives before each game. Backpacks and oversize bags have been banned, and more police and security staff have been added. Cars may not be parked within 100 yards of the stadium, and ID badges are being more closely scrutinized. Blimps and small planes trailing banners are no longer allowed to fly over during games.

Stricter precautions are being taken at other national tourist landmarks, including Mt. Rushmore, the St. Louis Gateway Arch, Philadelphia's Independence Hall and Disney World.

At Seattle's Space Needle, workers are checking every backpack, purse and gift.

"Three weeks ago, that would have been unacceptable," said Dean Nelson, president and chief executive officer of the Space Needle Corporation in Seattle. "But most guests now are grateful. 'Search me, please!' is the comment we're getting from a lot of people."

After the terrorist attacks, management transformed the Waldorf Towers and the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York into a fortified block of midtown Manhattan. Under normal circumstances, there were seven ways to get into and out of the hotels. Now there are two, as many checkpoints as entrances.

Purses and briefcases are checked by hand or passed through a machine. Reservations at hotel restaurants are required to enter the building. Guests must show their room keys before they can enter the hotel. Hotel employees must show ID before they are allowed into elevators.

How long people will tolerate the measures is anyone's guess.

"I don't think people will bristle at the added measures," said Thomas Morgan, a construction worker in downtown Los Angeles. "We have a very big problem on our hands and Americans will do whatever it takes to deal with it."

Americans, according to the Gallup poll, do have their limits. They are not willing to allow police to stop people for random searches, nor do they support making it easier for authorities to read mail and e-mail. However, 58 percent said they would back additional airport security checks of Arabs, even if they were American citizens.

Frank Newport, editor in chief of the Gallup Poll, said there is no question that the public level of acceptance of much tighter security has changed. "What would not have been acceptable two weeks ago they are now willing to consider. It is wartime footing," Newport said. "The devil, though, is in the details."

It is not clear where the support for increased security will lead, nor is it known how long this public tolerance will last. Support for measures that seem imperative in the wake of the terrorist attacks may not hold up three months from now. As Newport said, "everything has kind of changed."

Atty. Gen. John Ashcroft wants the law regarding phone taps to be widened, allowing surveillance to be directed at individuals rather than specific phone numbers. Changes in telecommunications—particularly the huge growth in the number of cell phones—made old rules obsolete, Ashcroft said. Ashcroft also is pressing for new search powers for police as part of the administration's anti-terrorism package.

Former U.S. Sen. Paul Simon of Illinois said he would advise Congress and the White House to move slowly.

"When it comes to basic civil liberties and laws regarding wiretapping and holding immigrants indefinitely, I think we have to move cautiously because once you give up these freedoms, even after the initial danger disappears, you don't get those freedoms back," Simon said.

"In times of stress we sometimes do things that we later regret," he said.

During times of conflict the nation has produced a blemished record on the protection of civil liberties. President Abraham Lincoln allowed people to be held without being charged with a crime. President Woodrow Wilson targeted dissidents and immigrants who he believed were advocating Bolshevik-inspired anarchy. President Franklin Roosevelt authorized the internment of Japanese-Americans. Loyalty oaths became common amid the growing communist worries during the administration of President Harry Truman. Courts, whose rulings effectively bowed to the government's desire to protect security, rejected most legal challenges to those moves.

With that in mind, an unusually diverse political coalition including the American Civil Liberties Union, the American Conservative Union and Phyllis Schlafly's Eagle Forum last week urged U.S. leaders to "resist the temptation... that anything that may be called anti-terrorist will necessarily provide greater security."

The terrorism crisis has spawned an increasing debate over steps that should be taken through legislation and technology. Some of the proposed solutions are drawn from heavy airport security measures in Europe, where terrorism has been a problem for decades.

Andreas Carleton-Smith, vice president of North American operations for London-based Control Risks Group, said that generally law-enforcement officials should be given greater leeway in their work against terrorists. He said U.S. cities might come to imitate measures taken in London and cities in Northern Ireland.

"They can put a ring of steel around those cities," he said, referring to the cordon that police can throw around cities when there is a terrorist threat.

Carleton-Smith said these actions cause huge disruptions in traffic and anger commuters who encounter long delays. "But beside each of those checkpoints they have signs that say, 'Don't blame us, blame the terrorists,'" he said.

"People, I think, will put up with the measures because they seem relevant to the situation right now," Carleton-Smith said. "Down the road people may start to get annoyed."

Bill Randle, chairman of the Smart Card Alliance, a technology industry trade group, said airports could resolve many problems by embracing ID cards imbedded with a computer chip. The card would contain personal information, such as a fingerprint, that could be checked against records kept by the U.S. government, state motor vehicles departments and others. [Emphasis JR]

"That kind of system could be implemented within a six-month time period at a much lower cost than some of the other measures being talked about," Randle said. "We don't have to be hunkered down and worried about terrorists for the next 10 years."

Carleton-Smith said he has his doubts about new technology solutions. "There are those kinds of technical products out there, but I don't know if we are going to see wide use of such things. These are suicide bombers, and smart cards are not going to stop suicide bombers."

Gary Hart, co-chairman of the U.S. Commission on National Security/21st Century, a bipartisan panel appointed to study the nation's readiness to withstand attacks, said public reaction to security efforts is going to depend on government response.

"My sense of the American people is that they're resilient, that if the rules make sense... people will do whatever it takes," said Hart, a former U.S. senator from Colorado.

"Now if it slips over into nonsense, that's when Americans kind of dig in their heels. But who's to know when that happens?" he said. "If the president's rhetoric is right about this being a war and if I'm right about there being other attacks, then, yes, we're going to have to change lifestyle up to a point that's reasonable."

BUSH SUBMITS HIS LAWS FOR WAR

By Declan McCullagh, Wired News, 9/20/01

WASHINGTON—President Bush sent his anti-terrorism bill to Congress late Wednesday, launching an emotional debate that will force U.S. politicians to choose between continued freedom for Americans or greater security.

Created in response to last week's bloody attacks, the draft "Mobilization Against Terrorism Act" (MATA) rewrites laws dealing with wiretapping, eavesdropping and immigration. The draft, intended to increase prosecutors' courtroom authority, also unleashes the government's Echelon and Carnivore spy systems.

"We will call upon the Congress of the United States to enact these important anti-terrorism measures," Attorney General John Ashcroft said this week. "We need these tools to fight the terrorism threat which exists in the United States, and we must meet that growing threat."

At a press conference Thursday in Washington, scores of organizations from across the political spectrum urged politicians to tread carefully and protect civil liberties during wartime. The In Defense of Freedom coalition says it hopes to prevent a repetition of earlier wars that heralded greater government powers and sharply curtailed freedoms.

During the Civil War, President Lincoln suspended the writ of habeas corpus, interfered with freedom of speech and of the press and ordered that suspected political criminals be tried before military tribunals. After declaring war in 1917, Congress banned using the U.S. mail to send any material urging "treason, insurrection or forcible resistance to any law".

President Wilson asked Congress to go even further: His draft of the Espionage Act included a $10,000 fine and 10 years imprisonment for anyone publishing information that could be useful to the enemy. The House of Representatives narrowly defeated it by a vote of 184-144.

This is the inevitable result of war: In national emergencies, even in liberal democracies, the uneasy relationship between freedom and order edges toward greater government power and control.

"There is no reason to think that future wartime presidents will act differently from Lincoln, Wilson or Roosevelt, or that future justices of the Supreme Court will decide questions differently from their predecessors," William Rehnquist, chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, wrote in a book published in 1998.

"It is neither desirable nor is it remotely likely that civil liberty will occupy as favored a position in wartime as it does in peacetime," Rehnquist wrote in All the Laws But One.

This time, there seems to be little interest in enacting laws against free expression—but the draft version of MATA would curtail privacy in hopes of thwarting future terrorist attacks. It says:

- Police wiretap powers would be expanded, and Carnivore's utility increased. Any U.S. attorney or state attorney general could order the installation of the FBI's Carnivore Net-surveillance system in emergency situations without obtaining a court order first.
- Voicemail messages would be easier for law enforcement investigators to obtain. A search warrant would be required, instead of a wiretap order that brings with it a higher level of court scrutiny.
- Wiretapping would become easier. Currently, police are required to perform "normal investigative procedures" before tapping, a requirement that would no longer apply.
- Echelon, the National Security Agency's shadowy data-collection system operated in conjunction with friendly nations, could be used against Americans. Information gathered from Echelon and other electronic surveillance by foreign governments could be used against Americans "even if the collection would have violated the Fourth Amendment", according to the Justice Department's analysis of MATA.

- The Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act (FISA), a law that created a secret court to approve spy investigations, would be broadened and made more powerful. Searches and surveillance under FISA would become permissible for one year, instead of the current limit of 45 to 90 days.
- Using this new version of FISA, prosecutors could look through the records of any business, credit card company or Internet provider with an "administrative subpoena" that does not require a judge's approval.
- A non-U.S. citizen suspected of being a terrorist could be detained immediately by federal authorities without a court order.
- The statute of limitations for terrorism-related crimes would be eliminated.
- Nobody would be able to possess certain chemicals or biological agents unless they can prove they have a "peaceful purpose" for doing so.
- State bar associations' ethics rules—that may limit the ability of Justice Department attorneys to approve undercover investigations—would no longer apply.
- DNA samples would be taken from all convicted felons.

In a statement, the San Francisco-based Electronic Frontier Foundation said that this "broad legislation would radically tip the United States' system of checks and balances, giving the government unprecedented authority to surveil American citizens with little judicial or other oversight".

The American Civil Liberties Union said Wednesday: "Under the proposed legislation, legal and non-legal immigrants alike would be denied a hearing or any way to contest the accusations against them. This is an unprecedented move inconsistent with the pledge of our leaders not to respond to the terrorist attacks in a way that degrades our system of justice."

[JR: I have to ask why Americans seem so eager to hand their freedom and their liberties over to the powers in Washington D.C. If you really look over these security measures, it appears that Washington is more afraid of us than the terrorists. President Bush and Company—Cheney, Powell, Rumsfeld, Rice, the CIA and FBI, etc. are the ones who should be held accountable for the tragedy that struck the U.S. I question why known terrorists had such easy access in and out of the U.S. and were able to move about freely to plan and plot their terror. Why do we have unlimited immigration with little or no oversight? A terrorist act was committed in the U.S., so why are our troops and reservists being sent overseas—and why aren't they committed here to secure our borders and coastlines? Where are our shelters to protect us against predicted future attacks? Face it—power, control, finance, and the economy mean more to Washington than the people! Demand answers or face a future without hope or promise.]

DEFINING 'HOMELAND DEFENSE'

By M.E. Sprengelmeyer,
Scripps Howard News Service, 9/21/01

Two years ago this week, the U.S. Commission on National Security issued an ominous warning.

"We should expect conflicts in which adversaries, because of cultural affinities different from our own, will resort to forms and levels of violence shocking to our sensitivities," the commission said in its report, "New World Coming".

The report was looking ahead 25 years. Few people imagined it would happen this soon.

It took the Sept. 11 attacks on the World Trade Center and Pentagon to make the commission's focus, "homeland defense", a national catch phrase. Now, underneath public statements about bipartisan unity, there is disagreement about how to interpret it into a meaningful counter-terrorism strategy on the home front.

On Thursday, President Bush announced he will appoint Pennsylvania Gov. Tom Ridge, a Republican, to a new Cabinet-level position overseeing the Office of Homeland Security.

Ridge's job, White House officials explained Friday, is to develop a comprehensive national strategy to strengthen "homeland preparedness and security". That means coordinating existing efforts now scattered among federal, state and local agencies.

It would mean taking information about terrorists supplied by the FBI or others, piecing it together with other information, and turning it into defensive actions, such as increased airport security, or beefed-up protection of everything from computer networks to water supplies.

"The key here, when it comes to homeland defense, is to have one very effective person at the pinnacle of it who can help coordinate it," White House spokesman Ari Fleischer told reporters Friday.

Ridge's selection was praised by both Republicans and Democrats, but exactly how much authority he will have is still a murky question.

"Nobody knows what it is," said John Tagami, spokesman for the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, which held a hearing on "homeland defense" Friday.

Former Sens. Gary Hart and Warren Rudman, who co-chaired the Commission on National Security, said they want to go a step further than Bush, folding the U.S. Customs Service, Border Patrol, Coast Guard and Federal Emergency Management Agency into a new department headed by Ridge.

"As of today, literally, these people can't talk to each other," said Rep. Mac Thornberry, R-Texas, who introduced a bill in March to create an umbrella National Homeland Security Agency.

Thornberry and others worry that Ridge's power to shift budget priorities and issue directives could be limited if he is not given a separate agency to oversee.

As a side effect, Thornberry's plan would accomplish something many immigration reformers want: separating the law-enforcement powers of the Border Patrol from the Immigration and Naturalization Service, which could then focus on helping people become citizens legally.

Whatever shape it takes, "homeland defense" is not entirely new.

Claire Rubin, an emergency management consultant in Arlington, Va., who has studied natural and human-caused disasters going back to the 1960s, noted that the federal government has repeatedly reorganized civil defense in the wake of major events.

"I have been worried for several years that the demands of counterterrorism planning being placed on state and local emergency officials was too heavy," Rubin said. "We've had a problem drawing the lines between crisis management, dealing with the threat, and consequence management, handling the aftermath when the threat materializes."

In particular, while they appreciate the terrorism training provided through the Justice Department, the FBI has not been the easiest partner to work with and there has been concern that the Federal Emergency Management Agency was being pushed to a secondary role.

"We really haven't had a national assessment of the risks and capacity that we need to respond to these incidents," Rubin said, "and there's a lot that needs to be fixed at the national level, and hopefully this new office will be able to make that happen."

[JR: This new agency is just another bureaucracy that duplicates what FEMA, NSA, FBI, CIA and the Justice Department were—or supposed to be—doing. How many agencies will have to be "coordinated" to get things done in this country? We have a lot of rhetoric but damn little in direct action to protect our "homeland" and its people. We as a people are relinquishing our responsibilities to officials in D.C. whose prime directive is to entrap us in their prison of power and control.]

NEW PEACE MOVEMENT FOR A NEW WAR

By Marc Berley, Scripps Howard News Service, Capitol Hill Blue, 9/24/01

Just as America must fight a "new kind of war", so it must deal with a new kind of peace movement, one that blames American foreign policy for the recent terrorist attack. Blame the hateful mass murderers seeking martyrdom in their radical holy war against America? Not the new peace movement—it's a part of a global war against America.

Those who opposed U.S. military action in the past questioned the right of America to protect its interests in other countries. That questioning centered on two issues: the definition of American interests and our right to impose our interests on others. These have always been reasonable questions, whatever one's view in particular cases.

The new peace movement has nothing to do with reasonable questions. "Where is the acknowledgment that this was not a 'cowardly' attack on 'civilization' or 'liberty' or 'humanity' or 'the free world' but an attack on the world's self-proclaimed superpower, undertaken as a consequence of specific American alliances and actions?" So asked Susan Sontag in The New Yorker.

Never before have so many Americans been killed on American soil. But the new self-proclaimed peaceniks are anti-American cultural warriors willing to sink to unimaginable moral equivalencies.

Whereas the old peace movement questioned America's right to kill people in other countries when no attack on American soil had occurred, the new peace movement defends the brutal killing of thousands of Americans on the grounds that America got what it had coming.

The new peace movement doubtless recalls the old. The latter began with communist sympathizers who excused the Soviet Union its innumerable crimes against humanity, seeing capitalism as the world's great evil. Having adjusted to the end of the Cold War, the new peace movement hates America for being the world's sole remaining superpower. And it wants that power eviscerated.

Unmoved to anger against the perpetrators of the atrocious violence of September 11th, the new peaceniks merely heat up their longstanding anger against America. Deplorably, they turn the death of thousands of innocent lives into an opportunity to point a cold ideological finger at America.

In its extremism, the new peace movement has something in common with Jerry Falwell: the refusal to blame those responsible for the September 11th atrocity, choosing instead to blame America. Falwell blames America for harboring heretics. The peaceniks blame America for harboring Americans. Put the two together and you get the holy war of Osama bin Laden, the jihad declared against the U.S. by the Taliban.

So far the percentage of Americans who blame America is small. But those who do blame America congregate in places that shape the future of American culture: our nation's college and university campuses.

Anyone who thought that the loss of more than 6,000 lives on American soil might have led to unanimous patriotic compassion even at America's campuses was too hopeful. The Sontag sentiment is highly audible on campus. The day after the September 11th attack, one of my Columbia students voiced this representative reaction: "I hope it will cause America to examine its foreign policy decisions."

Like the old one, the new peace movement is rooted in our universities. Thus, it is ruled by political correctness, which, after expunging America's virtues and exaggerating its crimes, credits America's most vicious enemies with political and moral validity.

As part of its anti-American campaign, political correctness teaches young Americans to identify their country as a global oppressor and to regard the rest of the world as blameless victims. It not only urges identification with such victims but also encourages students to see themselves as victims too. Thus they can simultaneously identify with the victims of the September 11th attack and blame the oppressive United States. Off campus, Americans are united, and their present unity is a beauty to behold. A New York Times/CBS poll shows 85 percent supporting military action against whoever is responsible for the recent attacks. But once America starts fighting, opposition will grow. The same poll shows there is already less support for a protracted war than for a short one. And this "new kind of war" is likely to be a very long one.

If we are to win this long war against terrorism, the next generation will have to be another great generation. Lines at recruitment offices for America's armed forces suggest it just might be exactly that. But courageous, patriotic young Americans will find their peers using the cloak of a new "peace" movement to make a war against them.

[JR: Perhaps the few that are informed can say: America, you have done wrong through your foreign policies and wrongs have been done to you. Will a long, extended and protracted war bring peace to anyone?]

WHAT KORAN SAYS ABOUT WARFARE

By Stephen Franklin and Noreen Ahmed-Ullah, Perspective, 9/23/01

In the early years of Islam's founding, when the religion was under siege, the Prophet Muhammad issued a critical message to his followers.

Having just returned from a minor struggle, Muslims now face a larger struggle, he said. The minor struggle was the battle just fought. But the more important struggle was ahead: the struggle against evil and temptation, the struggle to make a good and just society.

The word in Arabic for struggle is jihad—a word that has haunted Islam for centuries.

Because of horrible deeds done in the name of Islam and the misunderstanding of the concept of jihad, Islam has often been branded as a fierce religion forever poised on the edge of a holy war instead of one that exhorts its followers to live just and tolerant lives.

But confusion about the concept of jihad is just one of many that have left non-Muslims as well as Muslims with different views of Islam from that provided in the Koran, Muslim's holy book, in Muhammad's sayings, or in the teachings of Muslim scholars.

How this came about is not hard to understand.

"There is no Islamic pope, no single authority in Islam that can excommunicate people," said Matthew Cener, coordinator of Northwestern University's Institute for the Study of Islamic Thought in Africa.

That doesn't mean Islam has been racked by divisive and dissenting views. The religion has largely been grounded on ideas held by the majority of Muslim leaders and scholars. Nonetheless, there have been hard-liners, as in almost every religion, who have stood their ground on the fringes of society. To many Islamic scholars, master terrorist Osama bin Laden is one of them.

These are people who pin their lives on literal readings of the Koran. They identify with the Wahhabi sect that took root a century ago in Saudi Arabia, instilling a Puritanism there, and with today's militants who see the world in black and white. But that is not the way to understand Islam, experts say.

The Koran is a complex, somewhat cryptic and sometimes seemingly contradictory text that can be hard to understand, they say. Only by combining the Koran with Muhammad's sayings and scholars' works can the religion be understood, they say.

Even then the message has been lost.

"The reality is that every single person that reads the text reads through his or her lenses," said Farid Esack, an Islamic studies professor at the Union Theological Seminary in New York City who studied with some of the leaders of the Taliban, Afghanistan's rulers, in Pakistan. "It is not helpful, in the case of religious radicalism, to say or to ask where do they get justification for the text, because the reality is they find in the text what they want to find."

The problem is, the militants' message finds resonance among angry and frustrated Muslims who do not find the same solace in scholarly wisdom.

Muslim militants say, for example, that they become martyrs if they commit suicide when carrying out violence. And they expect God to welcome them into heaven.

A few Muslim scholars have agreed with them, but Ebrahim Moosa, a South African-born Muslim scholar and religion professor at Duke University, strongly disagrees.

"The whole idea of a martyr or shahid is that you fight until death and you give your life for God and community. But you don't go into battle saying 'I will die,'" he said. As proof, he recounts one of Muhammad's sayings about a martyr, who is rejected by God when he arrives in heaven. God tells him: "You gave your life so people could remember you as a cause. You didn't do it to satisfy me," Moosa said.

As Moosa and others point out, Islam condones a "just" war and sets down rules on when and how to fight one.

Thus, Muslims can wage war only after all else has failed and they are fighting against injustice, oppression and on behalf of those expelled from their homes.

"If the enemy says, 'Let's make peace,' then you must make peace with them. You don't start killing them," said Aminah McCloud, a Muslim and professor of Islamic studies at DePaul University.

"The Koran says: 'Fight those who fight you, but don't transgress. Do not let the injustice of others lead you to injustice,'" said Khaled Abou El Fadl, an Islamic law scholar at UCLA.

"The prophet says do not kill a woman or a child, or a hermit, a farmer plowing his field, do not kill a person who is not carrying a weapon against you, do not poison the water wells, do not set fire to the enemy's camp and do not cut down trees," he said. "This is not unrestrained, open warfare, this is a notion of proportional warfare."

Islam allows only heads of nations to declare war, and they must rely on the advice of religious scholars, said Osman Bakar, a Malaysian-born professor of Islam at Georgetown University in Washington. When people cannot overcome persecution, they are allowed to rise up, he added.

"But it must be based on consensus. It cannot be just the opinions of one man or group," he said.

When it comes to tolerance, Moosa's favorite verse from the Koran is about the bee that gathers from all of the world's fruit to create a rich new blend.

"To me, that says that humans are allowed to take form and create new things," he said. "How else could Islam have survived for 1,400 years if it wasn't open to change, creativity and adoption?"

[JR: The main point is that a jihad is a struggle against evil and temptation and to make a good and just society. Have the Muslim and Arab people been given the right to do that and to assist those who have been made homeless? The Koran is open to interpretation to justify causes, just as the Bible has been. Knowing truth and becoming informed makes all the difference.]

U.S. MAY SEE ISRAEL AS OBSTACLE TO COALITION

By Herb Keinon, Jerusalem Post, 9/21/01

JERUSALEM—Foreign Ministry officials are concerned that Israel is increasingly being perceived as an obstacle to American attempts to build its anti-terror coalition, something that could have dangerous diplomatic ramifications for Israel.

An Israeli diplomat in the U.S. sent a cable to the ministry recently warning that "if Israel will find itself on the wrong side of the equation the U.S. is trying to present, the diplomatic damage will be tremendous, and I am not exaggerating in estimating that there will be real ramifications for U.S.-Israeli relations".

Diplomatic officials maintain that one of the reasons Foreign Minister Shimon Peres is so keen on meeting Palestinian Authority Chairman Yasser Arafat now is because U.S. President George W. Bush has requested it, and Peres does not want Israel to appear as the country at this time saying "no" to the U.S. president.

Both the Washington Post and the Los Angeles Times have in recent days run editorials criticizing Prime Minister Ariel Sharon for saying no to Bush and canceling a planned Arafat-Peres meeting last week.

This train of thought is not limited to these two papers, but also was in ample evidence at a couple of telling press conferences held in Washington this week.

At the White House, for instance, spokesman Ari Fleischer was asked: "Does the president have some indication now whether Israel will be a willing partner or a hindrance to this coalition that's being assembled?" Fleischer responded: "Well, the president hopes that all nations around the world will help to resolve this matter. And he's going to have continued conversations with Israel and with the government of Israel.

"But it's also important for Israel and for the Palestinian Authority to do all they can to seize this opportunity to move forward on peace in the Middle East which will, in and of itself, be a major contribution to reducing terrorism and violence around the world."

In another press conference, this time at the State Department, U.S. Secretary of State Colin Powell was asked point blank: "Ariel Sharon has not been terribly helpful, it seems, in this [coalition building]. A lot of Arab countries are saying we have to do something about this conflict and we have to restrain Sharon or a coalition isn't going to fly."

Powell's response: "I think we do have to do something about the situation in the Middle East. And I never lose sight of the fact that one of the underlying continuing problems we will have—we had it before 11 September, we're going to have it for the foreseeable future—is that we have to get into the Mitchell Plan and we have to get back to negotiations in due course. And so I can assure you, I haven't taken the United States' eye off that ball."

In the cable to the Foreign Ministry from the senior diplomat, the official wrote that there are nascent signs in the U.S. media linking the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, and Israel's policies in the Middle East, to the attacks in New York and Washington.

The diplomat argued that this topic will gain currency on the U.S. agenda as the U.S. attempts to build an anti-terror coalition, and it becomes clear that Israeli and U.S. interests on the matter are not identical.

"The basic support for Israel will not be replaced by support for the Palestinians, but a rethinking of basic American position is conceivable as long as the conflict in the Middle East is seen as hindering the building of a coalition, holding up American policy, and even damaging wider American interests," the cable read.

[JR: The pressure is on Israel to negotiate (for now) with Arafat and those meetings are forthcoming. Is this a sincere effort on Israel's part or are they just biding their time until other events (planned) divert world attention and rally to another crusade?]

WILL CONVENTIONAL WEAPONS BE ENOUGH?

By Paul Sperry, WorldNetDaily.com, 9/16/01

WASHINGTON—Ten years ago, foreign enemies watched, slack-jawed, as U.S. armed forces put on a high-tech show in the Persian Gulf.

They previously had no idea what U.S. military capabilities were, especially in the areas of night vision, sensors and weapons technology. And everyone from China to Iran to Syria were shocked at the ease with which the U.S. smashed Saddam Hussein's vaunted army.

"They said, 'Gee, we didn't know we could get our clocks cleaned like that,'" said Dave Klimaj, a former Defense Department engineer who worked on night-vision and sensors technology. "So they spent the next 10 years stealing our technology—that is, when [former President] Clinton wasn't handing it to them on a silver platter."

"During the Clinton years," he said, "military-defense technologies were shipped overseas in a giant fire sale."

Peter Leitner, a Pentagon export-control officer, agrees that the previous administration's relaxation of controls on dual-use exports has given U.S. enemies—namely China and the anti-American terrorist states it re-exports U.S. military-related technology to—an unnecessary leg-up in conventional warfare.

"Clinton effectively dismantled the military-related export controls regime," said Leitner, who reviews dual-use export license applications for the Defense Threat Reduction Agency.

“And now, that technology is gone,” said Klimaj, who retired from the Pentagon last year. “You can’t pull it back. It’s overseas.”

In the new war against terrorism, expected to start any day now, Klimaj predicts that American forces will “see our technologies being shot back at us”.

He also suspects the ruling Taliban militia of Afghanistan, with whom China has unusually close ties, may use American sensors and other technology to track and target American forces.

“We’ll use that to shoot at them, but you don’t think they’ll be so stupid that they won’t see us coming with our technology?” he said. “The cat’s out of the bag.”

“That’s the worst thing,” he added. “When we go to war, we’re fighting our own technology now, because it’s all gone. And they’re all laughing at us.”

Klimaj doubts missile strikes or carpet-bombing will do the job in Afghanistan, where the terrain is so rugged, and soldiers so dug in, that the invading Soviet army eventually gave up and retreated. In 1998, U.S. forces pumped some 60 Tomahawk cruise missiles into Osama bin Laden’s terrorist training camps in Khost, Afghanistan, and they didn’t touch bin Laden.

Enter the “n”-word. Klimaj thinks, regrettably, that the U.S. may have to resort to using low-grade tactical nuclear weapons this time.

“I don’t think the conventional weapons will work,” he said. “I think we may have to use little nukes.”

“Nobody likes to see that word [nuke], but you can’t carpet-bomb Afghanistan,” Klimaj argued. “It didn’t do any good in Vietnam. It really didn’t work that well in the Gulf. And it’s not going to do anything now.”

[JR: It’s been hinted that this war against terrorists will be a secret one, so who can say what weapons of destruction we are prepared to use. Nukes could be on the top of the list or the ominous neutron bomb that only kills people.]

PAKISTAN’S EX-SPY CHIEF BLAMES MOSSAD

By Arnaud De Borchgrave, Virtual New York, 10/26/01

RAWALPINDI, PAKISTAN (UPI)—The Sept. 11 terrorist attacks on the United States were perpetrated by renegade U.S. Air Force elements working in conjunction with Mossad, the Israeli intelligence service, according to the retired Pakistani general who is closest to the Taliban and Osama bin Laden.

Gen. Hameed Gul, head of Inter Services Intelligence, the equivalent of a CIA-cum-FBI combination, during the war against the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan, spent two weeks in the war-torn country immediately prior to Sept. 11. He has been acting as “strategic adviser” to Pakistan’s extremist religious political parties.

Four religious leaders left his house in the army’s principal garrison town as this reporter arrived at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday. The interview lasted 90 minutes. Already countless millions of Muslims believe that the World Trade Center and Pentagon suicide attacks were part of a Mossad plot to force the United States into confrontation with the Muslim world.

Now Gul has added a new disinformation wrinkle to the plot. And what Gul says or writes is taken at face value by religious leaders and is repeated in thousands of mosques at Friday prayers.

In an exclusive interview with United Press International, the fundamentalist general said it is now clear that there was also a plot by U.S. Air Force officers against the Pentagon. “The twin towers were first attacked at 8:45 a.m.,” he said, “and four flights were diverted from their assigned air space, and yet Air Force jets didn’t scramble until 10 a.m. That smacks of a small-scale Air Force rebellion, a coup attempt against the Pentagon perhaps?”

Radars are jammed, transponders fail. No IFF—friend or foe identification—challenge... This was clearly an inside job. (President) Bush was afraid and rushed to the shelter of a nuclear bunker. “(Bush) clearly feared a nuclear situation. Who could that have been? Will that also be hushed up in the investigation, like the Warren Report after the Kennedy assassination?”

Gul said that his friend bin Laden had sworn to him on the Koran that he was not involved. “From a cave inside a mountain or a peasant’s hovel,” Gul asked, how could bin Laden mount such a sophisticated operation? “Let’s be serious,” he said with a smile. “Mossad and its American associates are the obvious culprits,” he added by asking, “Who benefits from the crime?” Asked why Israel would benefit, Gul replied, “Israel knows it has a short shelf-life before it is overwhelmed by demographics (and it) has now handed the (Bush administration) the opportunity it has been waiting for to consolidate America’s imperial grip on the Gulf and acquire control of the Caspian basin by extending its military presence in Central Asia.”

Gul said the U.S. plan was “the destabilization of Pakistan because it is a Muslim nuclear state. The U.S. wants to isolate Pakistan from China as part of its containment policy.”

President Nixon’s book The Real War said China would be the superpower of the 21st Century. The U.S. is also creating hostility between Pakistan and Afghanistan, two Muslim states, to reverse the perception that the Islamic world now has its own nuclear weapons.

“‘Bush 43’ doesn’t realize he is being manipulated by people who understand geopolitics. He is not leading but being led. All he can do is think in terms of the wanted-dead-or-alive culture which is how Hollywood conditions the masses to think and act.”

“‘Bush 43’ is actually Washington shorthand for distinguishing President George W. Bush from his father. President George W. Bush is the 43rd president: George Bush Sr. was the 41st.

Gul admitted that he turned against America when the United States walked away from Afghanistan following the Soviet withdrawal in 1989. “We were all pro-American (during the war) but then America left us in the lurch and everything went to pieces, including Afghanistan.”

Asked if the United States was now his enemy, Gul replied, “Is the U.S. national interest in contradiction with the Muslim world?”

“The U.S. needs oil, as do its European allies. You have between 6 and 8 million American Muslims and their ranks are growing. About the same number in Europe. Israel aside, we are America’s natural allies.”

Professor Sam Huntington in his book Clash of Civilizations puts Confucius and Judeo-Christians in one corner, and us in the other. His prescription is wrong but is being adopted by Bush 43 who has now put 60 countries on his hit list. This is the diabolical school that wants to launch an anti-Muslim ‘crusade’. Muslims understood what Bush meant when he used that word.

We need a meeting, not a clash, of civilizations. “If Pakistan gives the U.S. base facilities,” Gul warned, “we will have a national upheaval” and if the United States attacks Afghanistan, there will be “a general jihad (holy war)... and Pakistan will be engulfed in the firestorm. So I can only hope that cooler heads will prevail in Washington.”

Asked to consider the possibility that bin Laden—or OBL as he is referred to in Pakistani conversations—was lying to him and is indeed guilty as charged by the United States, Gul said, “If Taliban are given irrefutable evidence of his guilt, I am in favor of a fair trial. In America one is entitled to a jury of peers. But he has no American peers. The Taliban would not object, in the event of a prima face case, to an international Islamic court meeting in The Hague. They would extradite Osama to the Netherlands.”

[JR: Some important points to ponder here. Prior to the attack on our soil the U.S. had made minimal effort to take a positive position on the Muslim issues. Did the Air Force delay ordering jet fighters into action? Is our “secret war” to gain a foothold in Central Asia to contain China? In persuading Pakistan to cooperate with the U.S. is this to trigger a confrontation between Muslims and save Israel from doing it? Bush W. as well as our past presidents have been led to serve those who not only understand geopolitics but they create it. They manipulate the events that impact us all.]

EGYPT REJECTS U.S. COALITION, UPGRADES TIES WITH IRAQ

WORLD TRIBUNE.COM, 9/21/01

CAIRO—As a policy debate rages at top levels in the Bush administration over attacking the regime of President Saddam Hussein, Egypt is moving to improve relations with Iraq.

Egyptian diplomats said President Hosni Mubarak plans to raise the level of representation between Baghdad and Cairo to the level of ambassador. They said diplomatic ties would be raised commensurate to the level of trade relations.

Egypt has refused to participate in a U.S.-led military coalition against Saudi billionaire fugitive Osama bin Laden or any of his government sponsors. Instead, Mubarak has called for a United Nations-sponsored conference on international terrorism, Middle East Newslines reports.

Egypt has sent a new charge d’affaires to Baghdad. He is Hussein Zoghbi, a 59-year-old former ambassador to Eritrea.

In an interview to the Egyptian official Middle East News Agency, Zoghbi said Egyptian-Iraqi relations would soon be renewed at the level of full diplomatic ties. He said such relations are developing in cooperation with Iraq.

Egypt and Iraq have agreed to increase trade relations, including the establishment of a free trade zone. Iraq has also agreed to increase the number of Egyptian laborers in the country.

Zoghbi said his job would focus on representing Egyptian nationals in Iraq.

[JR: Egypt is distancing itself from the longstanding and “presumed” partnership with the U.S. and Israel. Seems like the lines are being drawn in the sands of the Middle East.]

SENATORS SUPPORT BASE CLOSINGS

USA TODAY, 9/26/01

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate narrowly endorsed a new round of base closings Tuesday, supporting the Bush administration's bid to shed unneeded facilities and use the money to fight the war against terrorism. The vote was 53-47, with Democrats giving greater support to President Bush's initiative than he got from his fellow Republicans, many of whom contended the nation shouldn't mothball bases just as it gears up for an extended battle. It was the first roll call vote taken as the Senate opened debate on the $343 billion defense authorization bill for the next fiscal year, which begins Oct. 1.

Just before the vote, Sen. John Warner, R-Va., the top Republican on the Armed Services Committee, read part of a letter from Gen. Henry H. Shelton, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, seeking support for a new round of closings.

"The authority to eliminate excess infrastructure will be an important tool our forces will need to become more efficient and serve as better custodians of the taxpayers' money," Shelton wrote. "We cannot afford the costs associated with carrying this excess infrastructure."

Opponents of more base closings included Senate Minority Leader Trent Lott, R-Miss., who said it was the wrong time for such upheavals "when our reserves are being called up, our National Guard is being called up, our communities are being told, 'Support our military.'"

Sen. Jim Bunning, R-Ky., who offered the amendment to cut a base-closings provision from the measure, argued: "Now, more than ever, we should hold off further downsizing... until we have analyzed how to fight the first war of the 21st Century."

The Bush administration's February budget said the nation had a 23% surplus of bases, and Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld reiterated the need to close them in letters to committee Chairman Carl Levin, D-Mich., and Warner on Friday.

"In the wake of the terrible events of September 11, the imperative to convert excess capacity into warfighting ability is enhanced, not diminished," Rumsfeld wrote. "We simply must have the freedom to maximize the efficient use of our resources."

Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., a longtime base-closing supporter, argued: "This vote is really all about whether we're going to do business as usual, and preserve our bases in our states whether they're necessary or not, or whether we're going to have... the most efficient military machine to fight this long, protracted struggle."

The Senate Armed Services Committee approved a single round of base closings in 2003 by a bipartisan vote of 17-8 on Sept. 7—four days before the attacks—as part of the bill authorizing spending for military work by the Defense and Energy departments.

The House Armed Services Committee tried to derail base closures by omitting them from its version of the bill, which the House was starting to debate Tuesday.

There have been four rounds of base-closings, in 1988, 1991, 1993 and 1995. A total of 451 installations, including 97 major ones, were ordered closed or realigned.

Lawmakers dislike base closures because the upheavals can hurt communities. They also question whether the nation has realized the massive savings touted as a reason to shutter facilities.

[JR: With so many base closings and more are sure to come, it looks as though our future wars in the 21st Century will be fought with hi-tech weapons manned by mechanical armies or robots or even clones. We'll need warehouses and not bases for that.]

RUSSIA LOOKING OUT FOR 'NATIONAL INTERESTS'

By Toby Westerman, WorldNetDaily.com, 9/21/01

Moscow is demanding that Washington recognize Russia's "national interests" in Central Asia if the U.S. is to acquire strategically valuable bases of operation against terrorists in Afghanistan, according to official Russian sources.

"Before planning to use Central Asian territories to carry out its retaliatory attack, Washington should consult Moscow—for the region is a traditional area of Russian influence," Moscow said, describing the former Soviet republics of Central Asia as "partners and allies".

The remarks were carried by the Voice of Russia World Service, the official broadcasting service of the Russian government.

Central Asia, a vast land mass with both enormous mineral wealth and a high level of severe poverty, was once an important element of the former Soviet Union. They obtained their independence when the USSR collapsed.

When the Soviet Union disintegrated, Western interests, including U.S. oil and gas companies, attempted to expand their influence in Central Asia at the expense of their Russian competitors.

NATO also sought to establish its presence in the Central Asian region and displace Russia as the dominant military presence there.

The former Soviet republics are governed by rulers with close ties to Moscow and who retain their power by virtue of highly questionable elections.

Several of the former Central Asian Soviet republics are troubled with rising militant Islamic revolutionary movements, and two of the republics—Tajikistan and Uzbekistan—find themselves on the front line in the U.S.'s newly declared war against Osama bin Laden's terrorists.

The United States has approached both Tajikistan and Uzbekistan regarding the possibility of hosting bases of operation against the terrorist bases in Afghanistan. Both republics have regarded the offer with varying degrees of uncertainty.

The Russian defense minister, Sergei Ivanov, ruled out the possibility of a U.S.-led coalition using Central Asian territory "even in theory".

Ivanov's position "appears to meet with understanding on the part of Central Asian capitals", because, according to Moscow, these former Soviet republics "are fully aware how vital the region is in terms of Russia's national interests".

In the face of the new energetic American initiatives against the Islamic extremists in Afghanistan, Russia tasked its Security Council secretary, Vladimir Rushailo, with working out "a common strategy for... acts of retaliation against the Taliban and Osama bin Laden."

In an apparent sudden change of policy, Russian Foreign Minister Igor Ivanov assured U.S. Secretary of State Colin Powell Wednesday that Russia would not object to U.S. attempts to secure cooperation from the Central Asian states.

The abrupt change in Moscow's policy does not alter a constant in Russian foreign policy—recognition of Russian hegemony in former Soviet Central Asia.

Voice of Russia quotes the prominent scholar, Anatol Lieven, a senior associate at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, as stating that "the price of genuinely close cooperation" between Moscow and Washington is for the U.S. to recognize the "prevalence of Russian interests" in Central Asia. Recognition of Moscow's continued domination of the territory of Central Asia—a decade after the collapse of the Soviet Union—is the apparent price demanded for assistance in the U.S. campaign against world terrorism. [JR: It was a given that Putin would allow Tajikistan and Uzbekistan to be used as bases of operation in our war against the Taliban and bin Laden. The U.S. and Russia had previously agreed in January to a joint effort to attack the Taliban because of their growing influence in that region. There are no surprises in how well laid plans are made.]

BUSH EFFIGY BURNED IN INDONESIA RALLY

By Slobodan Lekic, Associated Press, 10/27/01

JAKARTA, INDONESIA—More than 1,000 protesters burned U.S. flags and an effigy of President Bush outside the U.S. Embassy on Thursday as some of its diplomats prepared to leave the world's most populous Muslim nation.

The exodus of many embassy staffers and their families came after extremist Islamic groups threatened to round up and attack Americans even though Indonesia's government supports Washington's war against terrorism.

After a week of protests across Indonesia, Thursday's rally was by far the largest, swelling to about 1,000 protesters at one point.

Chanting "go to hell, America", they set fire to U.S. and Israeli flags and burned an effigy of Bush. Hundreds of heavily armed riot police stood guard, but did not intervene.

U.S. Ambassador Robert Gelbard criticized Indonesia's police for not moving against activists who have vowed to kill him and attack the embassy if Washington launches strikes against Afghanistan or other Islamic nations.

"They have not been prepared to act, to warn or to arrest people who break the law when there are threats against the lives of Americans," the ambassador said Thursday.

Jakarta Police Chief Sofyan Jacob said his officers had met several Islamic activists, but had not made arrests, as none of them had broken the law.

Gelbard spoke to reporters after he and the commander of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, Adm. Thomas Fargo, held talks with Indonesian security minister Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono.

Australian military commander Adm. Chris Barrie was also in the capital for talks.

The U.S. Embassy did not say how many diplomats were leaving.

"The Department of State has authorized the voluntary departure of all U.S. government personnel in non-emergency positions and family members in Indonesia," said an embassy statement.

On Wednesday, the department warned Americans to stay away from Indonesia, saying the terrorist attacks on the United States had "significantly" raised safety concerns.

The department has said "extremist elements may be planning to target U.S. interests in Indonesia."

During the past week, there have been daily demonstrations by small groups of Muslims in front of the embassy as well as outside the U.S. Consulate in the port city of Surabaya.

An organizer of Thursday's demonstration in Jakarta called on the government to abandon its support of the U.S. anti-terror campaign.

"We call on the Indonesian government to sever all ties—diplomatic, and economic—with the United States and its allies such as Britain and Australia. To close their embassies, expel their diplomats and to take over their companies and assets," said Muhammad Ismail Yusanto.

Another 100 people demonstrated in the city of Medan, on Sumatra Island, and burned U.S. flags.

Fringe Islamic groups have vowed to attack the U.S. embassy and recruit volunteers to go to Afghanistan to fight with the Taliban. A group calling itself the Islamic Youth Movement threatened to kill Ambassador Gelbard if U.S. forces take action.

About 85 percent of Indonesia's 210 million people are Muslims. But the country has a secular government which adheres to a state philosophy proclaiming the equality of all religions.

[JR: Well, Americans are once again targeted along with Israel as being the instigators who use their influence to turn world opinion against the Muslim people. Americans must realize we are considered to be an evil aggressor and a dangerous enemy who targets countries that do not share the American viewpoint.]

GREENSPAN, RUBIN AGREE
STIMULUS COULD REACH $100 BILLION

USA TODAY, 10/25/01

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan and former Treasury Secretary Robert Rubin told tax-writing senators Tuesday that any plan using tax cuts to stimulate the struggling economy should be large enough to be effective, possibly as much as $100 billion. Meeting privately with the Senate Finance Committee, Greenspan and Rubin agreed that a stimulus amounting to 1% of the nation's gross domestic product would be a proper benchmark, according to senators and aides who attended the meeting.

There was also general agreement among the Democrats and Republicans that any stimulus should be temporary, perhaps limited to two or three years, to guard against negative long-term effects such as federal budget deficits and higher home mortgage rates.

"I think it has to be temporary but significant enough to make a difference," said Sen. Charles Grassley of Iowa, ranking Republican on the Finance Committee.

No decisions were made about which specific tax breaks to pursue or even whether to proceed with a stimulus plan at all. But the $100 billion figure is much higher than lawmakers had been suggesting last week, when Greenspan first urged Congress not to rush out a proposal in the aftermath of the terrorist attacks that might have uncertain consequences.

Sen. Max Baucus, chairman of the Finance Committee, said the $100 billion would be in addition to spending or tax actions that Congress has already taken, including a $15 billion aid plan for the nation's airlines, $40 billion in emergency spending related to the attacks and $40 billion in tax rebate checks from the 10-year, $1.35 trillion tax cut enacted this year.

"There's a lot of economic stimulus already in the pipeline," said Baucus, D-Mont.

Baucus and Grassley said Greenspan also repeated that lawmakers should wait for more economic data before deciding on whether a tax cut is needed to either boost consumer confidence or spur investment and business activity. Both senators agreed with the go-slow approach.

"These are different times," Baucus said. "We have to think a little more deeply here."

IMF WARNS ATTACKS COULD TRIGGER
GLOBAL RECESSION

USA TODAY, 9/26/01

WASHINGTON (AP)—The International Monetary Fund warned Wednesday that severe fallout from the terrorist attacks in the United States could trigger a growth recession worldwide. But the 183-nation lending agency insisted that this outcome could still be avoided by aggressive government policy actions to stimulate growth.

IMF chief economist Kenneth Rogoff called a recession in the United States a "done deal". However, later in his briefing he sought to soften that comment by saying it was still too early to tell whether the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks would push the already weak U.S. economy into a full-blown recession.

Rogoff said the real question is whether the United States had entered a sustained recession or would bounce back quickly.

Rogoff said there was "every reason" to believe the U.S. Economy would enjoy a quick rebound next year, noting that the Federal Reserve has been cutting interest rates aggressively all year and Congress has approved billions of dollars in increased funding for reconstruction and to help cushion the economic fallout at U.S. airlines.

The global economy was already flirting with recession because of a longer-than-expected slowdown in the United States and spreading weakness around the world, the IMF said in its latest "World Economic Outlook" forecast.

Even before the Sept. 11 attacks, the IMF had slashed its global growth forecast to just 2.6% for this year. That would be the poorest showing since 1993 and down 0.6 percentage points from a May forecast of 3.2% growth for 2001.

In the view of economists, global growth below 2.5% constitutes a growth recession because economic activity at that pace is not strong enough to keep unemployment from rising substantially in parts of the world with high population growth.

The IMF said even its reduced figure of 2.6% may not be realized depending on the severity of the fallout from the terrorist attack which Rogoff said was having "a negative effect on activity now in many regions of the globe".

Rogoff, however, said that there are reasons to be optimistic that a global recession can be avoided. He cited the sizable government stimulus that has been injected through interest rate cuts in the United States and many other countries and large increases in U.S. spending for reconstruction and increased security.

For that reason, Rogoff said, the IMF would not be changing its reduced 2.6% growth forecast for this year or its projection of 3.5% growth for 2002.

However, he conceded that actual growth in 2002 is likely to be rather lower than 3.5%.

The IMF compared the attacks to the costliest natural disaster in modern history, the 1995 earthquake in Kobe, Japan. That quake caused more than 6,400 deaths, 35,000 injuries and property damage of $120 billion, or about 2.5% of Japan's gross domestic product.

The direct impact of the Kobe quake on the Japanese economy was larger than that of the attacks on the American economy, the IMF said. However, the total effect of the terrorist attacks on the U.S. economy could be more far-reaching, particularly if shaken consumer confidence does not rebound, it said.

"Since the terrorist attack was a deliberate action with long-term security implications, the effects on consumer psychology may well not be comparable," the IMF said.

The IMF's latest "World Economic Outlook" described unusually large uncertainties and risks facing industrialized countries and the developing world.

"There is now no major region providing support to global activity," the IMF said. "This has increased the vulnerability of the global economy to shocks and heightened the risk of a self-reinforcing downturn whose consequences could prove difficult to predict."

For the United States, the IMF projected the GDP would grow a weak 1.3% this year, 0.2 percentage points lower than its May forecast. For 2002, the IMF forecast U.S. growth would rebound slightly to 2.2%. The U.S. Economy grew 4.1% in 2000.

The IMF's outlook for Japan, the world's second-largest economy, was even gloomier. Japan is probably already in its fourth recession of the decade, the IMF said in projecting Japan's GDP would shrink 0.5% this year and manage only a tiny 0.2% gain in 2002.

For Germany, the largest economy in Europe, the IMF put growth this year at 0.8%, 1.1 percentage points below its May projection. It forecast Germany would grow 1.8% next year.

The 12 European nations that have adopted the euro as a joint currency will see growth of 1.8% this year and 2.2% in 2002, the IMF estimated.

In one of its few upward revisions, the IMF said it expected China's economy would grow 7.5% this year, up 0.5 percentage points from the May forecast, and by 7.1% in 2002.

Growth in developing countries was expected to be 4.3% this year and 5.3% in 2002. Last year, the developing world managed growth of 5.8%.

[MM: Yes, indeed, it's time to celebrate another of God's miracles—the RAYS are definitely back!]

ALLIANCE WITH AMERICA IS A GREAT CRIME
FORBIDDEN BY ISLAM

autopost@mail.nahdah.org, 9/24/01

Bismillah ar-Rahmanir ar-Raheem

From The Media [Saudi Arabia] Office Of Hizb-ut-Tahrir

(TMQ: Translation of the Meaning of Quran)

"This is a Message for mankind, in order that they may take heed" [TMQ 14:52]

Alliance with America is a great crime
forbidden by Islam

In the Gulf War against Iraq in 1991 America set up an alliance to enter that war. After this she established what's known as the 'New World Order' as an attempt to impose her dominance over the world. Now America is striving to set up a new international alliance claiming that it is for the fight against terrorism. In reality she aims to develop the 'New World Order' so as to strengthen her hold over the world, especially the Islamic world, which includes the states not under her control in Central Asia and the states which form a threat to her influence like China.

We, at this point, are not concerned about looking into who undertook the attack in New York and Washington on 9/11/2001. However we assert that America has directed an allegation against bin Laden without providing any evidence. Not one American official dared to say that he had a single evidence or proof against Bin Laden. All they have claimed is that he is a prime suspect. He has issued a statement categorically denying that he had anything to do with the attack. Likewise, the Taliban government has unequivocally denied that it has anything to do with it. It has demanded evidence for this accusation in order to try him, should it be proven, but America is unable to present any evidence. Furthermore, those who are well informed of the matters, know that the American secret service has infiltrated the Taliban through Pakistan and consequently it has infiltrated the al- Qa'idah organisation led by Bin Laden. If Bin Laden was responsible for this attack America would have known about it, especially as such an attack requires a great number of people to execute it and long period of time to prepare for it.

We are used to Americas' lies and willful deception in such situations. In the attack on the FBI building in Oklahoma in 1995 the blame was immediately pointed at the Arabs and Muslims, then a short while afterwards it appeared that the perpetrator was an American. When she destroyed a pharmaceutical factory in Sudan she claimed that it was a weapons factory whilst she knew with certainty that it was a medicine factory. This is because she knows about every issue in Sudan whether it is big or small. She attacked the factory in order to absorb the anger against her at home. After pacifying her own people she apologised to Sudan for the air strike. She did something similar when her planes bombed Libya. Now, one expects that America had known who was behind this attack, but deliberately ignores them and directs the blame in a different direction to realise a number of targets: to appease the public opinion of her people and absorb the anger after the strong shock they felt; to extend her influence in the world, especially in Central Asia; to plunder funds from the states in the world not least from the oil producing states so as to gain twice as much as she lost during the destruction that took place; and to create Islam as an opponent to the Western civilisation so that the followers of this (Islamic) civilisation stay in a constant state of fear.

On Friday 9/14/2001 the assistant to the American Secretary of State William Burns summoned the Arab ambassadors and explained the terms of the alliance which his government was forming. They are the following: First, to declare support for the American initiative in a forceful and public manner. Second, to undertake executive steps on the ground such as stopping individuals, closing offices and pursuing the sources of funding. Third, to work with the United States in the field of exchanging intelligence and being prepared to join the operations of the American military response and providing assistance when the American response is decided. The American foreign department distributed a document to a number of Arab and European states, Latin America and states in Asia regarding the general principles Washington will follow in its so-called war against terrorism. It reported that dealing with the Europeans will be classified under 'co-operation'. As for what relates to the Arab group and some Asian states, including Pakistan, that will be classified under 'demands' or orders'. America will not negotiate with these states, rather she will say categorically, "Are you with America or with terrorism?"

O Muslims! The Shari'ah obliges you to reject this American demand, which looks down upon you with disdain and contempt. America has no high values so as to lecture you on who you should support and who you should fight. You are the people who have a divine Message. You are the ones who carry the Guidance and Light to mankind. Allah (subhana wa ta ala) has described you with His words (to the nearest meaning):

"You are the best of peoples ever raised up for mankind; you enjoin the Good (ma'roof) and forbid the Evil (munkar), and you believe in Allah..." [TMQ 3:110]

The rules of this Message forbids any aggression against civilian non-combatants. They forbid killing of children, the elderly and non-combatant women even in the battlefield. They forbid the hijacking of civilian aeroplanes carrying innocent civilians and forbid the destruction of homes and offices which contain innocent civilians. All of these actions are types of aggression which Islam forbids and Muslims should not undertake such actions. As for Jihad to fight the enemy who commits aggression against Muslims, usurps their land, plunders their resources and attempts to control them; not only is this a legitimate matter but it is an obligation (fard). It is the highest peak of Islam. Allah (subhana wa ta ala) said (to the nearest meaning):

"And make ready against them all you can of power, including steeds of war to put fear into the hearts of the enemy of Allah and your enemy." [TMQ 8:60]. The Messenger of Allah (sallallahu Alaihi Was sallam) said (to the nearest meaning):

"The head of the matter is Islam, its pillar is the prayer and its highest peak is Jihad."

O Muslims! Shar'a does not permit you to give America anything that she tries to impose upon you, It is not allowed for you to submit to America's orders or give any form of assistance to her whether it is security information or facilitates for passage through land, air or regional waters. It is not allowed to give America fixed bases. It is not allowed to co-ordinate or cooperate with her in any military issue. It is not allowed to enter her alliance or seek her friendship because America is an enemy to Islam and the Muslims. He (subhana wa ta ala) said (to the nearest meaning):

"O you who believe! Take not My enemies and your enemies as friends, showing affection towards them, while they have disbelieved in what has come to you of the truth." [TMQ 60:1].

Allah (subhana wa ta ala) has alerted us to what they conceal (in their hearts) for Islam and the Muslims. He (subhana wa ta ala) said (to the nearest meaning):

"Hatred has already appeared from their mouths, but what their breasts conceal is far worse.... Lo! You are the ones who love them but they love you not, and you believe in all the scriptures." [TMQ 3:118].

We have noticed the hatred in the actions of the officials, even in the actions of ordinary people after being incited by the malicious Jews who made them think that Muslims are terrorists. Thus, they began to attack mosques and Muslim women in the streets. As for the president of America, Bush, he has described the war he will launch as a revenge for the attack of 11 September on New York and Washington as: "A crusade". He said this on 9/16/2001. How can America demand that the Muslims join their ranks while their president announces without shame that he will wage a crusade on all Muslims who do not bow before America, and not only on bin Laden and Afghanistan. This is humiliation, servitude and absolute control of the future of the peoples. Indeed, this haughtiness and arrogance is what gave rise to the hatred for America in the hearts of people and made them sacrifice their lives in order to harm America and seek revenge on her. America is reaping what she has sown.

O Muslims! You are one Ummah. He (subhana wa ta ala) said (to the nearest meaning):

"The believers are nothing else than brothers" [TMQ 49:10]. The Messenger of Allah (sallallahu Alaihi Was sallam) said (to the nearest meaning):

"The Muslim is the brother of another Muslim, he does not do injustice to him nor desert him." And he (sallallahu Alaihi Was sallam) said (to the nearest meaning):

"The Muslim is the brother of another Muslim, he does not oppress him, forsake him nor hate him." He (subhana wa ta ala) said (to the nearest meaning):

"The believers to one another are like one solid structure where one part strengthens another." And he (sallallahu Alaihi Was sallam) said (to the nearest meaning):

"The similitude of the believers in their mutual love, compassion and sympathy is like that of a body: when one part hurts then the rest of the body calls out in sleeplessness and fever." And he (sallallahu Alaihi Was sallam) said (to the nearest meaning):

"The blood of the Muslims is one. The nearest as well as the furthest of them gives pledge of protection (to anyone) in their name. And they are one hand against the rest."

The Messenger of Allah (sallallahu Alaihi Was sallam) wrote the constitution of Madinah shortly after the Hijrah which describes the state of the Muslims:

"They are one Ummah to the exclusion of other people...the believers are helpers to each other to the exclusion of other people...the peace of the believers is one, a believer does not make peace excluding another believer in (the process of) fighting in the path of Allah."

There we see America mobilising her garbage, setting up her alliance, making her preparations, and issuing her ultimatum to Afghanistan wishing unjustly and aggressively to humiliate her. She threatens all the Muslim lands and warns that her war will continue for many years. Your rulers, O Muslims, are agents and cowards who have neglected their Deen, lost their dignity and began to behave like slaves before the haughty America. There is no hope left in them. So will you allow these rulers to enter the American alliance and take you with them, to kill your Muslim brothers? Will you leave your rulers to permit America to use your airports, seaports, land and airspace so as to take off for the occupation of a Muslim land? Do you allow them to turn your army into slaves used by America to kill your believing brothers? By Allah, the action of those rulers is indeed an abominable crime which is one of the biggest crimes. It is by Allah a great shame and great sin upon you if you allow them to execute for America whatever she wishes. The immediate and rapid action, which you are obliged to do, is to prevent the rulers from opening the doors to America and forcing them to expel America from the Muslim lands. As for the radical work which will solve the problems of the Islamic Ummah, it is the establishment of the righteous Khilafah which will unite the Islamic lands and peoples in one state and convey the Message of Islam to the rest of the world. He (subhana wa ta ala) said (to the nearest meaning):

"And hold fast, all of you together, to the rope of Allah, and do not be divided." [TMQ 3:103].

So if you, O Muslims, were one Ummah under the banner of one Khaleefah, holding onto the Book of Allah and Sunnah of His Messenger (sallallahu Alaihi Was sallam), would then America or any other kufr states have ambitions over you? Would they have the courage to do anything against you or enslave your rulers without taking any account of you? By Allah, no! So rise up towards the radical work which will save your Ummah and the whole world. He (subhana wa ta ala) said (to the nearest meaning):

"Allah is with you, and will never decrease the reward of your good deeds." [TMQ 47:35].

WORDS OF WISDOM FROM HATONN

CONTACT OR SPECTRUM?

I want to briefly respond to a most unusual question from a totally "out of the blue" person: "It appears Spectrum will fail, possibly close, so will you go back to writing for CONTACT or what?"

I have never stopped writing for CONTACT—but I have NOT written, nor have my compatriots written for Spectrum. Tails wag a lot of dogs, my friends. Therefore, "or what" has no meaning.
