Bin Laden Will Not Be Killed Until He's No Longer Needed

Remember: Oil and drugs power the New World Order

10/13/01—#1 (15-058)

RE: OIL, DRUGS, GOLD, CASPIAN SEA AND POINTS EAST, WEST, AND AROUND THE HORN

WHEN THE HEART SCREAMS OUT "NO" BUT YOU MUST KEEP GOING

Hatonn—Oh my goodness, when the bombs start bursting it's: "Oh, Dod oh, Dod, what I do now?"

You get YOURSELF "together" and LOOK AT THE OPTIONS. This is prudent in any circumstance. Then my dear friends, look at THE circumstance and act WISELY and not just react—the way your enemy hopes you will.

There are, yes, several examples I can offer in these days of thorns and terror. IT IS EXACTLY THE WAY IT IS—AND HAS BEEN WORKING TOWARD FOR CENTURIES. SR. BUSH NAMED IT THE NEW WORLD ORDER AND THAT IS CLOSE ENOUGH FOR STARTERS.

The Truth in circumstances such as these is buried as deeply as is possible by the ones in control. However, things slip OUT before all leaks can be plugged.

The problem, for instance, was not with Saddam Hussein in "the Gulf War" and is not with "a" bin Laden in this current "terrorist" shroud.

Use your brains; don't be fooled. I offer this because I want to offer information which will be quite opposite of that which you would expect "patriots" to do and function. I REMIND YOU THAT YOU HAVE NO MERIT IN "FIGHTING" ANYBODY—THEY HAVE BIG GUNS, CUTE LASERS AND CAN UTILIZE EVERY MILITARY AND GUARD ASSET TO CONTROL YOU—OR KILL YOU.

My point, perhaps surprisingly enough, is to USE YOUR HEADS. You can KNOW truth and in THAT wisdom, survive nicely in most instances.

Look at what is happening and see if you can read the codes encrypted in the "operation this or that".

Anthrax! This anthrax turned up in a place where TABLOIDS are published—on a keyboard yet. It NOW turns out to be exactly what I told you—man-tampered. The anthrax microbe planted in that company IS A MANMADE MICROBE MADE UP OF THREE STRAINS HYBRIDIZED. That is in the NEWS, people—THEY have told you so. They tell you so that they can blame terrorist groupies attached to some incredible enemy somewhere—while they take out the most desirable victims. And YES INDEED, THIS is terrorism. But, bin Laden, you see, could not have planted it there, for even if there are five of him—he was not in that office of that publisher-printer. A FOCUS is placed on "a man" somewhere, somehow to get your attention to kill the dude. Ah but—THEY do not want to kill bin Laden until his usefulness is no longer needed. Who will you blame if bin Laden no longer is around?

So, what is to be learned by all this measured intrigue? Move across the seas and LOOK.

Afghanistan sits on MAJOR petroleum reserves as does the whole of the Caspian Sea (geographical location), gold, rhodium and more importantly: From Afghanistan comes the most heroin in the surrounding territories. Heroin comes from OPIUM and that is about the only crop grown in the region: Opium Poppies.

The King of manipulators is involved AGAIN because of this very purpose: get back control. It is published by UN Drug Officials that this is so and that some of the funding for "terrorism" has flowed to bin Laden (maybe) from sale of those DRUGS. That is not acceptable and Armitage is involved to ferret out possibilities—and since it is oil and drugs that run the New World Order, it is unacceptable to allow any such thing as a Taliban regime to take anything from the Jackals.

I think that if you look back and specifically read Col. Bo Gritz' (James) book, Called to Serve, you will see things differently.

Do "I" want to be the one to predict these events? No; we tell you what IS. You can read the prophecies and KNOW that things are right on schedule and directly according to PLAN.

So WHY Israel? Because of the same general focus—the installations and desert, actually, of the Negev.

Turkey is a point of real interest as well, for now under basic Bush control (Dad—which of necessity includes Jr.), they control the sweet crude out of Turkey and hold a "mountain" of gold. This has been known and written about over and over again. The entry port for management is Bahrain where the Bushes totally control. And no, it won't read "Bush"—for it will never be under direct identification processing.

Do "I" object to this form of management? No, I am just magnificently saddened that the world has to pay for another's stolen greed.

But readers, this New World Order comprised of a, yes, conspiracy, among certain groups of powerful and rich people is simply doing what they want to achieve their ends. One END expected and fomented until it happens, is a major Middle Eastern WAR—and surprise? "Armageddon".

Well, you know what? In the Bible, which has been the Plan through the eons for this "end time" (after all, no more Bible came forth after, supposedly, Revelation), it is time to close this BOOK.

Has there been more since Revelation? Of course, but those writings are called occult, cult presentations and LIES. Remember that in Revelation it is stated that any who change or add to the Plan as presented (yea, even as a dream no less) is damned to Hell of the worst kind. And you all "bought it".

Mr. Bush is "born again" through the wondrous input of Dr. Billy Graham? No, not "IN GOD", for he could NOT BE. His actions, taken in glee and great joy, are bloody, deadly and in the lie. Does he believe otherwise? No, I can assure you he is doing exactly what he is supposed to do and lying through his teeth when he speaks, in the name of goodness and righteousness. Killing children is NEVER "OK" under ANY circumstances. BUT IT IS HIS HUMAN RIGHT TO DO THIS TRICK IF HE CAN PULL IT OFF—FOR GOD ALLOWS.

Why don't WE have more problems from that bunch? Well, they know ME and they simply believe that "this team" will not be allowed to function—and if we do, it will be small enough to only make them look good. It is better to not bring focus onto our doings, for we threaten no one, not even the darkest of their kind.

WHAT DO I SUGGEST WHEN THE BAD-MAN COMES?

Ask him to lunch if it is mealtime. Give them what they want or demand—if they hold a gun. Ask your "rights"—but you will find now that YOU HAVE NONE. So, be intelligent and wise, and STAY ALIVE and "free" as long as possible. YOU ARE ALREADY SLAVES, SO WHY ROCK THE BOAT NOW? ALL THE ROCKING AND POKING HOLES IN THE BOAT WILL ONLY DROWN YOU MORE QUICKLY.

If you have computers which are important to your input or trade, back up your information brains and storage discs frequently and try to store them wrapped in inert metal covers or plastic wrap to protect from moisture—and put them in as safe a place as you can—separate and away from source. This is not to hide anything, it is simply like the Big Boys have done, so you have backup secured as best you can. If they demand and then take your things—you are simply stuck with it, readers. YOU WILL NEVER HAVE FREEDOM BY FIGHTING. "THEY" will simply TAKE your guns and shoot you in the process.

And no, you cannot depend on your neighbor—for the minute he changes his mind, he will rape, ravage and pillage YOU. Give him no reason to do so. Keep your activities within and to the letter of the law. That way you can finally prevail because you have had no "intent" to break even the most ridiculous laws. Then, you don't just "promise" to do good according to their rules—you don't break those rules. Even if a thing is unconstitutional—it becomes LEGAL as they choose to make the rules and regulations.

You may well be able to scrape through on "didn't know"—ONCE, but a second time is not acceptable and a third time will put you away for life.

So, the question comes forth about such as signing papers in a type of "plea bargain" if you think it will just relieve you of further problems. No it will not! If you sign a document that is untrue, under oath, expect that very lie to come to destroy you to your dying day. Demand your rights, get an appointed lawyer and a JURY so that you can at least tell your story and get the evidence provided. Unless you do this you will never have any "secret" revealed and therefore no way to know even who lied or reported. By the way, a conviction on the lie of capitulation PAYS OFF MONETARILY to the "informers" upon "conviction". Worse yet, even that signed "plea bargain" represents the "win" and the very liar himself gets paid for ratting. I don't think my friends really want that kind of reward to the evil little devils at play.

So, THIS is what the world has come to? YES.

And friends, in lots of instances around the globe, let us take Dr. Clarke and her "parasite"-vanquishing program NOW CONSIDERED A "DRUG" PROGRAM UNDER FALSE ADVERTISING (unapproved by the FDA), she has no choice except to STOP—and that is such a loss to THE PEOPLE as to be staggering.

New drugs? They have taken even the old remedies and "wives" regimes and now call them unrecognized "cure claims" and "treatment programs" and hang anyone who even suggests such a thing.

Well, we won't play in that game. THEY keep everything a SECRET and then nail the unsuspecting at gunpoint and claim FELONY crime of some kind. The people on the deadly end of those guns are then threatened and coerced into signing something which also swears there was no pressure, no coercion and certainly no abuse in the gaining of those signatures. Wow, and then they have it worded in such a way as to be able "after the fact" to send you to prison for life on a NOTHING charge—twenty-five years later.

Better to face the jury and STOP whatever it is that annoys the Big Boys.

Why would they want to make such an issue of such as a silver colloid? Because silver will "neutralize", for instance, that Anthrax now introduced.

They know what they are doing but the foolish little Federal tools haven't any idea what they are about.

I have written at length on some of the items and I have also told you about corporations in Nevada. I HAVE ALSO TOLD YOU THAT YOU SHOULD ONLY USE THESE THINGS UNTIL THEY ARE NO LONGER ALLOWED. That, my friends, goes for colloids as well. If a person is told by the law that vitamin C is no longer legal to exchange—then don't further exchange it in a public or commercial manner. And yes, "THEY" are working as rapidly as is possible to take all vitamins off the market. "THEY" are after even the fiber offering—which is a simple part of, say, the parasite elimination process. It only speeds the processing and rids the body of the dead parasites which might accumulate and cause side-annoyances.

I use this simply to note that when you find out something is not acceptable—STOP doing it.

When you can, you certainly need to stock up on anything that you feel will be of help to you because the carriers of such newly-banned products will certainly be wise enough to stop offering anything questionable. I'm guessing, though, that you might be very glad you put some stock away against that rainy day ahead.

Now, the miscreants of SPECTRUM tell the Feds that "Diane is back in 'the' business." No, that is not so. As things unfold, she becomes a very good CONSULTANT as to the secret codes and will be quite valuable to any little company who might blindly blunder into the traps set by the rats. And, you will be aware of what is now legal or somehow silently against the hidden laws.

CAN "THEY" do this? Oh yes. You have no Constitution in play NOW. You are fully under GLOBAL MARTIAL LAW. "WAR" on terror is all it takes; a public announcement of "war" does it for the president of any place—even the Philippines. Announce a "war" and you come under the exceptional allowances of the "War Power Acts". Moreover, observe what is happening with NATO: You will have NATO surveillance planes all over America—TO PROTECT YOU FROM TERRORISTS. No, it is a necessary "game" to act within the "letter" of the rules.

Now, let me give you some insight you may well have overlooked in your confusion. In November come the Muslim HOLY DAYS. People make pilgrimages by the millions to the Saudi Arabian holy sites of Mecca, etc. How safe do you think they MIGHT BE?

Will the people go where the Angels would not tread? Oh yes, in the name of some Religion—NOT GOD or ALLAH. Even ISLAM is based on Peace and WISDOM—for that is the teaching of ALLAH.

What am "I" saying? Keep your head and your rear DOWN. Act in intelligence-based WISDOM while this firestorm plays-out itself.

But, will we get killed in the process? People, the intent is to kill you anyway, so give them opportunity to martyr you—and they will surely do so to make it convenient for you and hide them.

Is this ACTUALLY a war between good and evil? No, on two counts: Good declares no "wars" and 2) it is between forces in the grab/control mode. The ultimate battle may well be between evil and goodness—as in the soul arena—but you are STILL FUNCTIONING IN A VERY MANIFEST WORLD OF PHYSICAL BEINGNESS. ALL THESE THINGS ARE IN THE NAME OF GREED AND AVARICE. "Terror" is moving, however, over into the "soul" side of the game but that too is for show-and-tell to better MANIPULATE human mankind.

I note that the phrase of yesterday, and likely today (haven't checked) is leaving "NO PLACE TO RUN AND NO PLACE TO HIDE". Come on, Cathy O., share with us. That is nothing but evil programming tactics for brain-warped humanity—not a bin Laden in his cave. It is to warn YOU that you have no place to run and nowhere to hide. It simply has come to pass and that simply is the way it IS.

You concern about a monetary collapse of the U.S. as touted to give you fear and terror? No, the currency (dollar) is BASED ON NOTHING and that means UNLIMITED. You already owe your very beings to the "Company store"—take the definition of “company” any way you choose. It is a label for CIA, Mossad and British Intelligence, as well as a term meaning you owe to the ones who now OWN you. And yes, I do want you informed—but I do not want you dead on some misinformed pretext of “fighting”. Know Truth and ACT in Truth and you will prevail.

Another thing being shouted about by Bush is a phrase: “They took part of our very souls in New York.” No, they CANNOT take anything of your SOUL—that is something you have to “give away”. Force is NOT the same thing as “giving”.

Do “THEY” want to stop our work? Not really because as things are going, they believe that they can eventually just move in and legally TAKE whatever we get done. This is why we present USE FOR COLLATERAL and borrow to encumber the value assets. They have a bit more trouble stealing from themselves. Now it is that “then” is when there are great decisions to make. Therefore, everything has to be put into security under THEIR own programs to allow it to grow. They are going, they plan, to take all the assets which are already mapped—before the people have an opportunity to bring it forth for value. That is why all the delays piled on one another in the terror campaign. Fear immobilizes. Note the U.S. military is ALREADY HERE IN THE PHILIPPINES and they are “going to only train and supply equipment to help ‘get’ the Abu Sayyaf”. This is just “Brotherly Love”, please understand. In fact there is probably already an “Operation Brotherly Love” in action. EVIL NEVER HAS TO CHANGE ITS PROGRAM; YOU ALWAYS FALL FOR THE SAME OLD PLAY PRESENTED OVER AND OVER AGAIN AND YET AGAIN.

LET’S HAVE AN “OPEN” LOOK

In today’s brief announcements it comes forth that your Vice-President Cheney has returned from a SECRET location. How many of you missed him? Moreover, what have they told you—AGAIN? They have told you that everything they choose to do is SECRET and you may not ask, run or hide. But then, how can the planned secrets be leaked to control you if there aren’t any secrets?

Then, Mr. Greenspan comes forth with the “open up” and remove the “cloak” FROM “SOMETHING”—but it certainly is not what goes on in economic games or that Federal Reserve. (The epitome of transparency.)

It is also now coming public that the Israelis KNEW IN ADVANCE about the upcoming Trade Center escapade. Does anyone notice? No, it is said, “It is so obscene as to not be worthy of response.” So, don’t worry, and don’t expect so much as a response to your questions. By the way, it is only the “anti-Semites” who ask, don’t you know! Is it just possible that hardly anybody was left in that World Trade Center building complex? Where were the cars that were SUPPOSED to have been in the parking lots—BUT WERE NOT?

You can question but the answers are “secret” and would endanger “national security”. You will NOT question more than once if they decide your question is “on target”.

And of course we are again being “set up” in Manila. But we aren’t doing anything that isn’t welcome to be shared. In fact, we have tried for three years to get some interest returned. But no, I don’t think we should PAY for a thing—and I hope that our people are listening. Once scorched, it is certainly not wise to turn up the burner under the toaster. And, know, when people “come back” who for any “political” reason have stopped seeing you except on just a stop-by visit, you must not allow yourself or THEM to be placed in possible jeopardy by any kind of financial exchange.

Walk ever in the light so that ALL may see—and those in the dark corners reveal themselves by their own dark missions, hate and avarice. The point is possibly to reveal EVERYTHING and yet, nothing. We must certainly never get a brother into trouble—and remember that we are not at war with anyone—we, of all people around, are at total peace with honor. We will do NO “clandestine” shadowy business nor will we bribe, bend rules and regulations, or coerce. PRIVACY will be honored in press, under the journalistic RULES of privacy as to source—and privacy will be honored in all business interchanges as stated right up front.

Our portion of this GAIA program is fully explained right up to the limits of the “joint venture” and the other party’s business is NOT GAIA’s business past the meeting of the agreements as thoroughly outlined in the Memorandum of Agreement. GOD DOES NOT PRODUCE MAGIC—GOD PRODUCES MIRACLES.

“But, how do we stop this insanity short of going to war?” By NOT going to war. You can only have wars if everybody agrees to do so. If nobody comes to the war, you don’t have any, do you?

There is no “war” going on in Afghanistan—there are the aggressors killing and blowing up everything in their path while bragging of their supremacy. Over what? They are bombing-out buildings already bombed into rubble. They are killing at random innocent people and blaming the people for not getting out of the way. How can they “get out of the way”? They have no food, shelter, clothes, transportation or any way to even move out of the way. Big brave masters of the world? SHAME ON YOU! You cannot hide SHAME under a flag—the lumps show AND TELL.

This kind of “living” seems to be that which man prefers and has lied to himself beyond all reason or logic. Now, you pay for your choices and they have told you how it will be—THROUGH TERROR, and friends, it won’t be bin Laden—look ever so much closer to HOME.

Another question comes up now, to me: “Why don’t those Arabs do something?” What do you have in mind? When the World War III blasts off, it will blast off with NUCLEAR warheads—and those first will come directly from Israel. Then, readers, the new “holocaust” is under way. The responses are not simple in any way, shape or form. One point is to terrorize the Jewish Homeland—now dubbed America—but to take that vaporizing play of fire and brimstone off shore where the central headquarters of the MONEY beast is protected.

Already the UN, who just won the Nobel Peace Prize, is talking “recovery” and taxing all people to pay for reconstruction. This is headed up by the other winner, Head of the UN, Annan. Oh well. All of THOSE things only work on empty paper and transfer of NUMBERS. Only the unsuspecting and helpless have to actually PAY anything. It is called “Operation Master and Slave”.

What I think about it has no importance and frankly what you think about it has no importance—to the Masters. We only, in the words of George Bush, Sr., annoy them and very little at that. They have pretty much kept us “contained” in their “intelligence” language. Again—oh well...

What you can KNOW is that these evil children will finally come to blows. First they will lay the stage to make all of YOU think there is some disagreement between the Big players. No, there is no disagreement between them—YET. There will come the overplay, however, and somebody is going to do something unacceptable and both dragons will react. That will be an apocalypse of some kind while never mind Armageddon (which is a geographic location if you didn’t know). It is located in the Middle East—like right there “at” Israel. Please don’t confuse the catastrophes prophesied. Cataclysm is a very good descriptive term and the various ones prophesied are already underway across the globe. It is a good time to reread Revelation—BUT—know that interpretation is pretty difficult at best, for you are experiencing a “vision” of ANOTHER.

One I like now being tossed about is called “Angelic Rapture”. Have you ever heard of a more oxymoronic term? Rapture in this instance means ascension. Aren’t angels already ascended? What possible good could come of non-ascended “real” Angels?

So, all of you are “angels” (messengers, guardians) sent from God. Therefore, what has KEPT YOU FROM DOING YOUR JOB? Oh, indeed, “the Devil made you do it”. Facts are you forgot what your job is and also your purpose. So the evil tarbaby waited until you stuck in both hands and he nabbed you.

This has all happened before and certainly the “Ancients” warned you about it—and it will happen again. The only thing up for discussion is what will you allow to happen THIS time?

How many of you hearken back to the visitor to Tehachapi and to a meeting with ME after which he became a close friend but was totally bewildered at what to even call such an expression. He is a professor of highest ranking at a MAJOR well-known university. He shook his head and said, “It is not a religion; it is certainly not a cult; it is truth in presentation and yet, I have no idea even as to what to call it.”

Oh dear ones, some of you had the very secret of the universe IN YOUR HANDS, and you blew it! You, with God in your presence, turned to evil in its most obvious forms of lies, theft and literally criminal activities. Most of this was not to “get more” but simply in its most evil presentation—to destroy others. Then, you come forth and claim “Light and Love”. So be it—for God knows better and SO DO YOU.

I didn’t come to tell you what you WANT to hear, students. I came to tell you HOW IT IS and offer possibilities for restructuring and reclaiming that which is God’s. Strong ego-centered know-it-all will not bother to learn anything—and therein lies the problems of mankind. You will sell out for the human ego demands rather than to the SOUL COMMANDS. It is simple and, for the adversary—always works.

The truth is coming forth all over you—and you miss it. We will not jeopardize our program by falling into a trap which mucks up our program in the swamp of mud or the desert of quicksand.

There is a massive amount of incredibly good information to share in the paper without my touching it. We are big kids now and we can go this route and get informed while being good little slaves in the game of this living dead. Just remember always: AFTER DEATH COMES LIFE! The opposite has been foisted off onto your heads to once again immobilize or, at the least, cripple you.

I would like to leave this now, please. There are many articles worthy of print, so please pass them on to Mark [or John Ray] at CONTACT and let’s run as many as possible.

You need the spiritual support and direction as all the information pours in onto and about you. We serve best to remind you that you ARE THE MIRACLE. WE SHALL DO THIS JOB, FOR IT IS ORDAINED THAT IT BE SO.

Salu, DAD (Deity of Advanced Dimensions) (???)

See how silly it can get if you aren’t careful? I am reminded of a statement by a very wise seer: “Go hug a tree and mingle your sap!” When you get “real”, we’ll make it, beloved friends.

Survival-Mode Time Is Here

10/17/01—#1 (15-062)

RE: SURVIVAL CARE IN POTENTIAL TERRORIST FALLOUT

WHEN TERROR FEAR TURNS INTO PANIC— WATCH OUT

Hatonn—What I am going to speak about is in response to the current recognition of PROBABLE “fallout” onto your heads from anything from nuclear strike, fallout, natural disaster or bio-chemical dump-and-run. But, before you PANIC—know that you have been promised a very LONG-TERM “war”. That means, of course, terror on your heads for a very long-term period of time.

We can speak of several things which we have to note are taking place and rightfully SO, but also with careless considerations of “home turf”.

While we consider potential damages at “home base” the individuals in questioning, of course, have been from the California area where some preparations have been made in a sort-of community setting. But, what I see now happening is something that is not a main focus. The big disaster shelter areas are one facet of immediate need for cleaning, sorting, arranging and needs-listing, a plan developed, etc.

But, the main thing to consider is NOT a shelter which can only hold a minimum number of persons BUT consideration of self-care in your own dwelling, be it apartment or house.

YOU NEED TO GET YOUR SURVIVAL “STUFF” TOGETHER. It can be camping equipment which can be used if necessary—and quickly snatched if, for instance, evacuation of a city or town becomes necessary. In earthquakes, for instance, roads become rubble and you may well be caught for several days without fresh water, food or other necessities. It is time to think about these things very, very seriously.

What do I feel is MOST IMPORTANT?

Well, I don’t want to reach too far afield while some of our people are literally under Federal attack for offering my information prior to now. BUT, without telling you anything beyond what is acceptable for the FDA, I suggest that anthrax HAS BEEN FOUND to be susceptible to expiration by applications of even topical silver solutions, as tested with the colloidal form.

If you have available said silver colloid, then even without suggesting any such terrible offense as to possibly taking a few drops internally, if you simply spray it in your nose (for topical use) and/or using as a mouthwash for a few seconds of topical contact and then finally, mix it with a lotion of some kind and/or simply spray it on the skin so that any scratches are attended without ability of any microbe to get a HOLD in the system.

If you have air cleaners, spray down the clean filters with colloid spray or a mixture of several so that you have less exposure to “quantity” of microbes.

Brita filters for water filtering used to be available with silver. (If you add silver to the water to be filtered, use only 7-10 drops with plenty of water, else the silver will react with the charcoal and ruin the filter.) My guess is that those are no longer accessible—but don’t know. Certainly charcoal filter might be and surely you can still get 35% hydrogen peroxide in food grade, to purify water—and/or—keep several gallons of bottled water on hand. I hate to tell you, however, that you would still need to treat that bottled water if at all possible. That can include simply boiling the water.

Now to any of you who want to feel safer, I would guess that you might store aside any colloids yet available and just keep them on hand. They are totally harmless but are under pressure, because they work, by the Big Boys.

The facts are that even with chemical assault, many of the burns, etc., can be soothed with spray of, especially, silver mixed with aloe vera juice. This basically aids healing and acts as an antibacterial should there be burns, etc., presented. Silver has forever been noted as a burn treatment to help keep infections from traumatized areas. KNOW THAT WE DO NOT STATE THAT IT “CURES” ANYTHING.

I do go a bit further out on a limb and note that a few drops of silver into milk will keep it fresh for quite a long time, while eggs will stay fresher and “safer” by simply wiping them with silver colloid. These are all considered as SAFE and suitable for animal use and plant soil treatment. Note that even the pilgrims without refrigeration always immediately placed a silver piece and stored said milk in a silver or pewter container to preserve the milk. In fact, the milk would have to then be intentionally soured with vinegar or other processes for making cheese and on down the line. Now radiation serves the purpose and radiated milk will last indefinitely (until up to a year) after opening. THERE IS NO HARM IN THIS BUT IT DOES KILL THE BACTERIA INCLUDING THAT WHICH YOU NEED. In areas where this is the predominate milk source, along with only powdered milk products, there is a booming business in Lactobacillus Acidophilus and many supplements which contain a whole plethora of intestinal microbes which are necessary for good body function. Any antibiotic such as what is given now as in penicillin or the Anthrax-specific “drugs” will kill off your good flora. This is just part of the negative impact of the chemical drug houses’ presentations. Heavy intake of even harmless silver colloid will unbalance your system, however, so you need to consider keeping a supply of appropriate supplements on hand.

It is strictly up to you, readers, what you do, for I always told you that when a “thing” or “process” would not be allowed, we would be unable to even recommend any given product.

Certainly I do hope and expect that any available product be utilized and placed as backup in storage. When you are dying and there are no medicines or physicians to prescribe same, I would guess that a bit of something unapproved by the FDA might be considered. You may even “wish” it would kill you—BUT IT WON’T, no matter how much you guzzle. Too many aspirin will, but not a colloid of any type we have EVER endorsed.

These are now called “new unapproved drugs”. And, the point is to get them OFF the market—not attend your health except to make very sure you don’t have any backup when THEIR antibiotics are gone and unavailable.

Now I would also remind you that “carriers” are most beneficial for any medicinal substance. “Normal Saline” is one; Gaiandriana is another. This allows for cellular exchange just as a surfactant allows for water absorption. But that is a lesson I won’t cover again—for in trying to meet your needs, my people end up in trouble and yea, even in prison. It is certainly not acceptable.

BEWARE YOUR NEIGHBOR

In the case of New Gaia it was the very ones who benefited from the products as to income, etc., who literally buried notices regarding product—right through NCH where the mail was handled and forwarded and through “affidavits” provided by people working in the same offices at, no less, CONTACT.

This has been an ongoing case of Hell, so we don’t feel great about participating to any great extent. They get the paper and the writings off the e-mail, take everything out of context and set up their own families and co-workers. Then it is printed on such as the Bellringer Internet sites and goes International in total false information. All this under the guise that they have “Commander Gyeorgos Ceres Hatonn” after he gave everything to “them”. No thank you, we have a job to do—and the stupid games are for their choices.

It is noted in the local paper that the house seized from Ekkers is now going to auction for non-payment of taxes and is up for auction in November (5th). Millers were responsible for those taxes and the assumption is that this must be a game to clear, somehow, the title. It has been a few years of very difficult wading through the swamps as we continue to do our work.

What will Ekkers do? Ekkers can’t do anything but this will increase the “cause” of action—but lawyers don’t work without constant fuel called money.

How do you know, as with the house, that something is afoot? The minimum bid for the property as listed for public auction is $22,000, while at the same time the house itself is being offered at $310,000 which is at minimum $100,000 above original cost.

The cost to those who have served this task have paid dearly, readers, and that is just the way it IS. And yes, most would have just quit. Now it is painful to consider that those same miscreants will surely pile on or in as things get rough and expect to be housed and fed if a spate of survival time is necessary. Well, THAT HOUSE was a major place of survival-mode necessities—and after the generators, battery system, fuel and the actual house and all storage items were snatched, it is difficult to consider much help to these people who did it.

And indeed, “they” surely don’t like me speaking of it, especially in this paper. But you know what? This is OUR paper to communicate with our friends and yes, colleagues—along with the United States Government, for consideration of agreements, for the U.S. Government will not work in the open or with identification, so we have all those cute notices of understanding to consider. Like the information in the new “war”, it is classified top secret for national security. And oh indeed, I am considered above top secret—in national-security-classified documents. Fine with me, for they have provided us with a way to clear everything very nicely without fighting with them or them having to make a public stand against us.

Here in the Philippines if anyone, like a Senator, inquires of the Central Bank, the banker just laughs and says something like, “Oh that is just rubbish gossip.... There is nothing to that...”. This Central Bank, you see, houses the IMF while the World Bank has its own building. EVERYTHING IS MONITORED AND MANIPULATED TOTALLY BY THE IMF—AT THIS TIME.

This is not an easy job for our team but we have laid a widespread blanket of recognition which cannot be denied.

We offer a plan that makes everyone, especially the U.S., look very good and supplies good things and tidings of great joy. That can never be removed or denied—and the product can’t be discarded at whim of Congress.

War simply buries everyone deeper and deeper into debt and pain. However, there are millions of wonderfully good-intentioned citizens right in the U.S.A. who will grow into recognizing the wrongness of activities afoot. And, perhaps some of those blind Congressmen will begin to see that they, too, are considered expendable by the very traitors within the U.S. and allied States.

BACK TO EMERGENCIES

I like this term better than “survival” because it certainly presents a better definition of FACT and endeavor. Make sure your true “survival” areas are outfitted for immediate use as well as having a plan and emergency supplies at ready. Anytime they warn you as they are now doing as to probable need for protection, then know that you can expect it “somewhere” in “some way”. They have chemtrails and indeed all of it is not damaging but a trial program to see how far and how wide anti-bacterial or neutralizing sprays can be distributed.

Tests of systems will usually be in the form as has been known for many decades of testing with something that will make people sick but hopefully, not dead them all as in the San Francisco-area trial spraying of a typical flu-type microbe. Some will, yes, perish because of these tests but those are considered “acceptable losses”. This is fine if you are not the acceptable lost. And yes indeed, that is your own Government at work.

In the Philippines, however, at present nobody takes much note of “anthrax” because the garbage in the streets presents a far deadlier form of immediate problems—like plague (Bubonic and otherwise), Dengue and Malaria fevers, and general diseases carried by mosquitoes, rats, fleas and simply from spoiled garbage, flies and simple airborne infections. What the garbage doesn’t get the sewage will, along with the spittle EVERYWHERE from those already infected. My goodness, Silver Colloid might just be too much of a health risk???? Frankly, good Americans, you are very little better off. Remember that this “anthrax” going around is a MAN-MADE MICROBE. They tell you that right up front.

Of course, over here where kidnapping is the mode of income production, a worse disease is head-whacking, as in “off”. It turns out that many of the gangs for such activities are headed by or protected by, guess what, the military and police.

The Abu Sayyaf has announced a plan to behead the nice U.S. missionary couple they have abused for over six months and send the bodies (and separate heads) to the U.S. when President Gloria goes to Washington to meet with Bush in November. Wow, and how is your November stacking up in that direct path to Christmas celebration? These nice guys just don’t play nice games and yes indeed, are trained and supported by that nice Taliban and indeed, bin Laden. But, directly trained and maintained by the CIA-Mossad who laugh all the way to the next ARMS DEAL.

Will there be Divine Intervention? My, who can choose from all the claiming of “goodness” while NONE are good? Perhaps that might be why God is known NOT TO INTERFERE.

American Rumsfeld just keeps on saying that “we will prevail” because “we are good” and “they are bad”. Well, how about that bomb strike on the U.N. facility “there” and last night a hit on the Red Cross facility which even though it was only damaged minimally, the people destroyed the incredibly needed goods. Oops, the gentleman says: “We just have to expect a few errors...”. God just purely dislikes helping ANYONE who in turn yells, “Kill, kill, kill”. You have made bin Laden an ICON, silly people; it will be misery beyond your reckoning.

And again, in speaking of “survival” and/or “emergency” circumstances—look WHERE you ARE and check probabilities as to what damages can occur and work from there. Make sure you have family-sustaining supplies while power is restored if it has failed. Recognize that probably if you have a biological scare, it probably WON’T cut your power.

The big one coming ahead now is the terror of some “photon” blast which is induced to produce magnificently intense LIGHT blasts which will BLIND, at least temporarily. If the radiation belt in your atmosphere is ignited by this insanity you must be prepared for at least three days, inclusive of your pets, of inside, window blinds closed and generally necessity of goggles of the welder’s variety and the darkest sun-glasses available. You will need to tape blackout curtains over your windows as well. These will be highly damaging and dangerous light waves which will penetrate almost anything. They have already told you they plan to use this one on you ASAP. They already use it for crowd control, along with heat lasers for the same purpose. Beats water-cannons, readers.

And yes, if you have any warning at all and are prepared with blackout material and tape, you can get that level of light “reduction” to get through nicely. You would hit the floor, even in a nuclear-type blast, face down, eyes shut and STAY THERE to get past that first LIGHT blast.

Terror is upon you and yet, if you have read your lessons, we alone have covered every one of the possibilities and also your best method of protection. Readers, we cannot do more. It is up to you—and you will have to protect SELF. Primarily you will have to do so IN YOUR HOME because with many things possible, running to a hole is simply not feasible and you will have to function AFTER THE FACT—which will require more community unity than during a disaster.

You must attend these things in PREPARATION because after the fact of a major disaster, you will not have deliveries and we were, even in Tehachapi where plans were made for a warehouse operation against this very possible event, the greedy destroyed the ability to get it done. It takes a while to get relief supplies in and out when the entire country is in like circumstances and all transportation is shut down.

How much stress can a body or mind accept? Incredible amounts if indeed it is “accepted”. It is in the “fighting” that the body and mind react in a negative and massive way. Take an event for what it presents and see what GOOD you can conjure from the circumstance and let that which you can’t impact—GO ITS WAY.

I can example that in Ekkers’ position and the house on Adam Drive. There is NOTHING really that they CAN do, so it can destroy the rest of your functioning nerves, pop your stress bubble—or deal with it if there is anything to do and let the rest GO ITS WAY.

You all knew that the adversary would make your way in this job just as miserable as possible. What hurts, however, and that with which you have to deal on a daily basis, is that your so-called brothers and friends will be the actual ones to make every effort possible to “do you in”. If you can make it through that event, you can most certainly deal with the other hurdles put in your pathway. Stay alive and as free as is possible, keep your heads down, and abide by their rules and regulations, for guns will not save you anything but will get you killed or incarcerated. LIVE that you might serve another day, please.

By the way, why did Dr. Nostradamus not die of “plague” while before the end of the epidemic even his wife died? He only drank water which he called “purified” by SILVER and did in fact feel so strongly about it that he bathed in it as well.

And yes, to the friend who inquired: I would appreciate an apparatus for Ekkers which is both AC-DC and some extra electrodes of both of the precious metals. It takes heavier current than the DC to adequately handle the higher elements.

The bath treatment is of no value here as such because the tubs do not hold water and the heaters are too small to make a bath in a tub feasible, so only showers are used. Friends have kept them supplied with needs but the minute shipping is stopped for any reason, due to any of these new designs on humanity, the ability to get same will stop.

Note that even the electronics companies such as Internet businesses are dying like proverbial flies—and thus get yourselves protected as well as possible.

It is already open season on U.S. citizens in the Philippines. The government objected and the President cried in protest to the U.S. Government and the Ambassador to lift the warnings and bans on travel—to no avail. The threat is REAL, immediate and serious. Every step terrifies the Filipinos a bit more and everything STOPS but indeed, we make progress and in the process a lot of scammers are weeded out. This, to the point of making the team feel hopeless or helpless from time to time. No, the right ones will be coming along and so the frog-toad game remains, for you can never recognize the prince before the fact. The serious parties will be very QUIET in their approach and “dealings”. You always must insist on upstart with that third party, E.J., to protect all involved—including that “third party”.

To try to separate a nation as was hoped to be achieved in the Philippines will not be allowed to happen as the door of opportunity is gone. You can’t even just begin a new banking system because it will not be allowed. Leave the major asset in security and deal with paper—after enough is used in the correct “third party” transaction, and then paper-trail the rest to prevent seizure or usurpation of the program itself.

Everything possible is being done to get the full U.S. contingency into the South as we write. They want the assets and will put everything, if necessary, under military shutdown while they do whatever is necessary to get at any assets. Those people need to immediately make an arrangement with others, i.e. Malaysia, ASAP because the invaders will stop at nothing, including simply BLOWING away the defenses or security places. This will NOT require any on-site troops—it can all be accomplished through the air power, even to hauling the commodity OUT.

The Philippines have now opened the bases—and the U.S. is already present and ready. It is serious time and no, I don’t know how quickly this will take place—but very soon is the plan.

You, E.J., keep explicitly to the program as is structured. There is going to be no game playing. Limit your own “contacts” or “authorization” for representation to very limited structure. Do not take up too much time with some who “just come to see ‘what’s up’”. Some of them are “watchers”, so let us give them NOTHING to report but good clean, clear circumstances. Remember that we WANT the truth to get back to anyone and everyone. Therefore, we give nothing else for even gossip fodder. There is now a plan/program and that is simply the way it IS.

Also to E.J.: There is indeed substance up north. However, it is not you that is not trusted, it is the go-between. Be aware and the games will stop or at least show themselves. Holders will come back when the intervenors are out of the loop. Sorry. I can only tell you what IS and not that which is pleasant to hear.

Three years is a long time? I suppose. However, how many of you have changed a global system against all odds in less? No, I do NOT think 3 years is anything but incredibly quick. In fact, I might even call it Divine speed and yet the miracle awaits. Do you actually believe you could accomplish this in the good old U.S.A.? These days? Come on, people.

When the Pharisees are caused to stop operating your U.S. Government, there is hope for change—even with the bunch you have in the high spots. Fighting them will do nothing but make things far worse and we don’t need any such distractions. Keep your livelihoods going as long as possible and take one PEACEFUL step at a time, please.

This writing has rambled all over the map and I apologize but things boil right down to necessity for personal input and discussions. It is as simple (or as complicated, as the case may be) as making sure that, periodically, in the shelter, the fans can be run to circulate air and pull in outside air. That requires air and it requires probable filtering protection if the problem afoot is airborne anything. It also, obviously, requires scheduled electric power. AND, above all, it requires unified participation and communication to work it out suitably. There can be no “dump it on another” and expect to participate on “your” terms. It is a time of overcoming self, at least for the job at hand, and contributing in a major way to make the systems WORK.

And no, you certainly are NOT required to invite any adversary into your shelter. Those who have deliberately acted intentionally against us have simply cut their ticket in half and tossed it. We do not fight our “enemies” as in war, but neither do we help them to further damage and destroy us. They have their right to dig their own holes for shelter, my friends, and take care of their own. THAT IS, AND HAS ALWAYS BEEN, THEIR CHOICE. Our team has a job to accomplish and being a martyr is NOT among the approved choices. People drag their own baggage with them and make their own choices. When they turn and try to destroy—they have gone too far to be acceptable, for you can never again have trust for them. There is no reason at all that anyone should not have prepared their place just as have we for our family and friends. That is simply the way it IS—we did not set the stage nor coerce the actors thereon.

“In the fields two may stand; one will be taken and the other will be left...” “You are known by your works.” Check out Noah’s Ark. Then check out the Ark of the Covenant. How nice that YOU do not have to “play” at being God. A man is known for his actions and that is the basis of discernment.

And no, people, do not accept this as simply a little message to my team—my job is to write for some 7 billion humans on your globe. What I offer is as valid for Nigeria as for Tehachapi. The only difference is that it is easier to acquire safety for self in Tehachapi than in Nigeria. Or, actually, it may NOT be so easy. This is called equal opportunity and RESPONSIBILITY for self and those under your care. It is not a time of judgment—it may well be a time of “selection” on the basis of commitment and actions presented.

It is through the times of harsh circumstances where choices are the most difficult. Selfishness has no place but responsibility IS.

It is foolish indeed to sacrifice life if you carry a great responsibility to our goodly cause, to serve your enemy who works constantly to stop you. It is unwise to even consider such a thing. Choices are made—and consequences for those choices are always coming back to haunt the stage of life. You must live to “serve” not just “save” something or other.

We build our own security facilities in great care and almost all of it has gone to theft and graft within intended evil assaults. It is not all right, for these things were set forth that we might survive to again SERVE.

We build our own security facilities in great care and almost all of it has gone to theft and graft within intended evil assaults. It is not all right, for these things were set forth that we might survive to again SERVE.

I told you on many occasions, friends, that one of the most difficult things you will ever face is the inability to move on as you witness calamity. You agreed that you could do it and yes indeed, I hold you to your commitment. You may always turn away—that is your choice—but we in turn have to allow that choice to be made—and move on.

YOU are obligated to “SAVE” nothing, my friend, except self if “saving” is your goal. You can perhaps keep another from death by drowning by pulling him from the river—but unless unconscious, he has to at the least help you paddle.

When you consider alternatives and actions—please ponder the very soul within, for that is eternal while all else is a passing moment.

May we leave this now and give time for thought, for we will take opportunities to revisit this topic of survival, passages, and times of change.

No job is always the most important and that only at a given task; ALL jobs are important and, in fact, ONLY “different”. Without those who read there is no need for writing. If there are none who sew, there would be no clothes. Moreover, there are no “lowly” jobs, for most often that “little-appreciated task” is the very task that saves lives. There is no use for a faucet if there is no water! Ponder it please. And by the way: if the power is OFF, no water will long flow through the faucet anyway—so get some water stored, it is about the least you can do.

Salu, and please treat this seriously for your enemy certainly does as Evil winds its way across the nations.—DAD

(Yes indeed, you are going to want that closeness of recognition. You will rejoice that you have stayed the course.)

Learn To Evaluate That Which Passes Your Way

10/18/01—#1 (15-063)

RE: BE INFORMED, PNG INPUT ALONG WITH WORLD BANK REFERENCE, MISSIONARIES IN MINDANAO, AND UNMARRIED COUPLES GET A BREAK, AND YES, I AGREE THAT IT HAS MERIT

DATA OUT IS ONLY AS GOOD AS DATA IN;
GOOD CONCLUSIONS DEMAND IT.

Hatonn—Those shadows in the valley have to move around, my chelas, just as the Sun passes the various paths in the heavens. If the entire valley is covered in shadow, then know that God is offering clouds from which you might get shade or rain—and there is neither good nor bad involved.

If you live in a place where there might be flooding from those clouds that drip upon you—dig a trench to drain the water. You do not need be a victim.

It is good to know from where come your troubles but if you are dwelling with goodness within, you can discern enough to move forward from any location—or—rest a bit to gain your balance. First evaluate your position so that actions are taken with consideration of pros and cons, impact on self, and very definitely impact on others.

When you KNOW that “every” life has shadows to experience and yet sunlight to bring life, the way becomes a bit more acceptable to your being, for you will learn to EVALUATE that which passes your way.

When we learn something which has been hidden prior to the moment, is anything changed other than your KNOWING? Yes indeed, now you can address the impacting fragments which have shed from the nucleus action itself.

Example: Over here in Manila, we have had many people who have come, promised to produce and then uncovered their games and cons. However, those have become pretty interesting but far more quickly addressed, for the games players always play some form of the SAME game.

Why, we just had someone from a recent contact write frantically wanting return mail FUNDS to bring six people for several days to Manila to discuss some gold somewhere, etc., etc., etc. The game is the same but the recognized knowledge is that, at worst, he knows NOTHING of our program. WE do not buy or sell gold but we surely could honorably handle a bundle of it.

The next thing is that when our friend went to Papua New Guinea there were several things ready to burst forth and then dead-silence. We were told that “Mr. So and So” wouldn’t do business until Mr. X returned. Meanwhile a significant other was telling that GAIA would not do business until Mr. X got back. The story is out, but the hurt is accomplished and many weeks have been wasted while we reconnect.

We will NOT do shady transactions and this is the end of the game. It doesn’t stop the drama-creators but the childishness of the plays themselves is more comedic than serious. No one ever anticipates that there could be trouble, legal trouble, from the lies and scams.

But the entire country is tied in knots here because of the games and scams, graft and corruption.

The only way through these games and quicksand is simply to keep moving, never bend the rules, stay apart from the ones always trying to give the impression of your being “their” special property, etc.

People are simply struggling for their place in the sun—and it appears the only way to gain is to pretend and hope there is something coming from the game to allow for living until the next day. The loss is always far more costly but human beings can’t seem to weather the pressures very well.

As we write, the Prime Minister of PNG is actually in the process of selling out the rest of the country that hasn’t already succumbed to the IMF/WB mass exodus of funds and product. And here is a good story to pass the time:

Charges were brought against this very Prime Minister for graft and corruption and a “confidence vote” was to take place, yea today, BUT, the one making the charges was found to have been even more grafted and corrupted—so everything is off while the IMF is chosen as the hub upon which all things must flow.

How much more time will we give to PNG? Well, it hasn’t required much of anything from us—but after three years it certainly continues to look pretty hopeless, as it seems no one wants to bother to help themselves except to the loot if any can be found.

Is this some kind of “Tribal” mentality? NO, it is “welfare” mentality and the disease is rampantly out of control, globally. Note that even in Afghanistan YOU DEAL WITH WELFARE DISPENSATIONS. And, all participating players demand a quid pro quo and unfortunately it usually is based on something promised by the IMF for “later”, postponements of debts, larger borrowing and better collections of residual debts.

Mr. Rumsfeld of the U.S. exclaims that the Taliban are professional and practiced liars to beat them all. Oh? And what of Mr. Rumsfeld himself? KNOWING this you can pretty much know what is taking place. If a Moslem is named for some heinous crime—you can guess that it is truly an Israeli behind the mischief and the opposite is true—just look at who is BLAMING who.

So a Fax, for instance, is sent to a public office taking credit for some shooting or bombing. ANYONE can send a Fax to anyone, or self—all it takes is a co-player.

How many of bin Laden’s men, for instance, could work in a lab sophisticated enough to genetically perfect Anthrax, have ability to grind the “whatever” and ship it? Come on, people, WHO runs most medical and legal operations? The Arabs blamed for the Tower crashes were not intelligent enough, it has been said by the U.S. investigators, to even learn to fly a Cessna trainer plane. Perhaps you have not looked at a 737 cockpit array.

And now, you are going to dead-bolt the crew into the cockpit? Wow, and just how do they get out if necessary? And if one of those pilots is a bad dude, how is anyone going to get IN?

And about that Anthrax, how is it that somebody knew just how the microbe would be tampered to have the first go-around of antibiotics ready? Boy, this should be a real boon to the chemical drug houses. I would suggest that if studies would be carefully made of the person that died, it would be found a mutated strain had developed.

Well, perhaps President Gloria here in Manila had the best solution of all, FOR GOODNESS SAKES, JUST TAKE A BATH. That is front-page advice. I have asked my team to take it a step further and with an atomizer “spray” bottle, mix up a bunch of colloids. In the last rinse for your hair, spray the hair and rub it into the scalp. Then spray the exposed areas of the body and just rub it around, it takes very little. I wrote about this back in the time of Hantavirus, students, and you didn’t remember.

Get a little nasal spray bottle and frequently spray a bit of this mixture, or simply silver colloid, into the nasal passages and frankly, squirt a bit in the mouth. This has two good results; it will also moisturize the nasal passages and sinus areas. You may well even note a great relief if you suffer from sinus congestion.

Dharma has already noticed, in less than three full days, a resolving of the “plaques” which appear to be dry skin patches, a bit like “the heartbreak of” problems.

Use the spray and then use whatever lotion you wish for comfort of dry skin. Try it, you will really like it.

The intent, probably, of the terrorists is to hopefully get these airborne particles onto the skin or up the nose or mouth and find a break in the membranes, a nick from a razor, or even a fresh blackhead pore—to gain entrance. If you have some silver particulate in those places, you are going to be in good shape. And this is all that you can do for “non-internal” use product. This is all just topical application solutions and I believe they will even pass the barrier of the Food and Drug Police. CHECK IT OUT, PLEASE.

I would like to leave this topic now, for I certainly DO believe that an ounce of prevention, be it a silver-colloid spray or even aloe vera for nice soft skin, is far better than having to enter hospital or perish. Remember, “One stitch in time saves nine.” It is time to recover the wisdom of the “old wives”, kiddies.

Now for some other precautions as you move along. You will surely need some such thing as water purification. Especially where water is DIFFERENT from your regular intake source, you need a few drops of something, for as you travel you will find all sorts of things in the water that hits hard a new drinker. A few drops of 35% food-grade hydrogen peroxide will do it; commercial products may do it and surely liquid oxygen will serve well. Frankly a few drops of colloidal silver will do it and be so minute as to probably be acceptable if in emergency. USE YOUR BRAINS!

Your government is at war, readers: AGAINST YOU.

TRY A BIT OF PNG PROVERBS

Comes now a bit of wisdom, even if you can’t really recognize the source from your copy of Proverbs, from Pastor Joseph Walters of Papua New Guinea. There are good lessons here nonetheless.

[QUOTING IMPACT NOW, circa Oct. 2001:]

PNG—RICH YET POOR

Why is our precious nation—made of gold, flowing with rich deposits of oil, emitting volumes of gas, feeding on barramunda and the endless supplies of our waters and land and yet classified as a poor nation?

It is not right for us to live like beggars in our own land, becoming dependent on others to ‘survive’. What has gone wrong?

The truth of the matter is that anyone who strives for prosperity without closing the door to poverty is only deceiving himself. This is true of any nation.

Ancient wisdom from Proverbs gives us at least six (6) causes that open the door to poverty. Please study these carefully.

1. A lustful evil eye that goes after riches even if it means breaking rules, laws, principles and ethics (Proverbs 28:22.) (End result is poverty.)

2. A selfish nature that leaves God out and does not recognize or acknowledge His hand or blessings (Proverbs 11:24).

3. A lazy careless and slothful attitude invites poverty (Proverbs 6: 9-11). (Lack of honesty in work attitudes and conducts.)

4. Having an arrogant, prideful and “don’t care” attitude that refuses to learn from mistakes and failures of others, self and the past. Such ignorant people will repeat the mistakes of others to their own detriment, destruction and downfall (Proverbs 13:18).

5. A hasty and frivolous attitude that seeks to accumulate wealth, material and possessions and pleasures; a profound misuse of wealth. God will only bless us individually, or as a nation, if we learn to be honest and diligent stewards or managers of little or much God Almighty has blessed us with (Proverbs 28:19,20; Proverbs 20:21).

6. Hidden sins of greed, bribery, corruption, and stealing which lead to much poverty. These totally corrode our very foundation. Rottenness gets to the core. People seem to think that they can get away with this sinful conduct, but judgement will fall upon them in the end and they will be “clothed” and overtaken by poverty itself (Proverbs 28:13).

“Righteousness exalts a nation but sin brings it down.” (Proverbs 14:34)

PAPUA NEW GUINEA KINAS—WORLD BANK

This article showed up with the just-offered article above and the reference material is missing but it comes from Pt. Moresby, PNG.

[QUOTING Article received 10/14/01:]

INFLUENTIAL JOURNAL SLAMS WORLD BANK’S WOLFENSOHN

The influential US Foreign Policy journal is carrying a “scathing” article on the Australian-born but naturalised American president of the World Bank, James Wolfensohn, in its forthcoming issue next month.

Washington correspondent Gay Alcorn disclosed this in articles carried by the Sydney Morning Herald and Melbourne Age last Friday.

The article started off by describing the World Bank boss as: “Hopelessly insecure. A phenomenal temper. Threatened by people who challenge his ideas. Mesmerized by the latest fad. The boss who has overseen the tragic decline of one of the world’s most important institutions.”

The author of the Foreign Policy article, the American diplomatic editor of London’s Financial Times, Stephen Fidler, researched the article for six months.

“His critique of Mr. Wolfensohn, normally presented as the charismatic moderniser of the World Bank, is so scathing it all but calls for his resignation,” Mr. Alcorn reported.

The article was titled, “The Man Who Broke the Bank” and ascribed many of the bank’s failings to Mr. Wolfensohn’s style with critics having slammed it for “incompetence, inefficiency and irrelevance”.

It said Mr. Wolfensohn, who completes his second term as president in 2005, bristles at suggestions that his political donations of U.S.$138,000 (K460,000) over 10 years and his famous connections with Federal Reserve chairman Alan Greenspan, Bill Clinton and others had “got him the job despite his inexperience in the field of Third World development”.

The article quoted U.S. Treasury Secretary Paul O’Neill as saying: “The World Bank Group alone has lent U.S.$470 billion (K1,566.7 billion) since its inception and U.S.$225 billion (K750 billion) in just the last decade. Visit some of the poorest nations in the world and you’ll see that we have little to show for it.”

Brian Gomez comments:

The article follows criticisms a few years ago that solutions imposed on Indonesia by the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund in the wake of the 1997 Asian economic crisis had worsened the plight of millions of people in that country.

The Bank has also taken a tough stance in dealing with the Papua New Guinea government especially in the release of funding for structural adjustment policies that have been linked to an overly ambitious privatization program. The World Bank has paid little or no attention to promotion of foreign investment into this country, focusing its entire efforts on institutional reforms. Policies of the bank have directly led to disinvestments in the forestry sector where some 5,000 rural jobs have been lost in the past four years.

The Age and SMH article noted that the Foreign Policy article accused Mr. Wolfensohn “of capitulating to the demands of non-governmental organisations”.

This criticism appears to ring very true of the bank’s approach in PNG where it works closely with NGO groups, for example in the controversial forestry and logging debate. Yet bank representatives have very little direct dealings with logging industry representatives, showing a great reluctance to visit forestry projects in order to obtain a balanced picture of the industry.

Many reforms have been implemented in PNG’s forest sector since the mid-1990s, including the surveillance of export shipments of the renowned SGS group, but World Bank representatives continue to suggest they would like to see the industry shut down in its present form.

In pursuit of this goal the World Bank has forced the PNG government to adopt a moratorium on new logging projects and encouraged a huge export tax system that is crippling the industry.

This is despite the fact that the forestry industry is one of the biggest generators of employment in rural areas in a country where living standards have been declining for many years.

[END OF QUOTING]

We have another article from PNG but I don't want to take time to address it today. However, I would certainly like to pull a sentence from the final paragraph: "Citizens of PNG, we should wake up and do something." Oh well....!

PEOPLE: YOU WAKE UP AFTER THE CLOCK, INCLUDING THE ALARM HAS RUN DOWN. THIS MEANS AFTER THE NATURAL RESOURCES ARE GONE AND RECOVERY IS ALL BUT IMPOSSIBLE. THEN GUESS WHAT: YOU TURN TO GOD TO SAVE YOUR ASSETS. INDEED IT DOES GET OLD, DOESN'T IT?

PARADISE VACATIONS IN THE PHILIPPINES

If you think this experience is somehow unforgettable while beating your brains out trying to get something done, join the crowd. Especially in the "trying" department.

To put this place in perspective I will share, with gratitude to Two-by, the following article on the hostages in Mindanao—and you will get a picture why U.S. citizens are kept in non-travel mode. It takes nerves of steel to just walk across the street to the market.

In the hostage tale coming up, you will note that these people have been hostaged quite a while and guess what: The very Abu Sayyaf PAID OFF the military and police units that could have gotten these hostages released. It appears, therefore, that this is certainly the coalition of choice and it is also obvious that the Abu Sayyaf continues to get arms and funds by the barrel.

God blesses you beloved friends who allow us to keep going here. The prize is large and most worthy to the world as a whole and immediately to these suffering people in these lands of total poverty where dark politics extract the blood of its citizen victims. I repeat something I asked you some time back: God has mercy—DO YOU?

NEW TRIBES' PRAYS FOR MISSIONARIES' LIVES By Gary Taylor, Sentinel staff writer.

SANFORD—More than four months after they were kidnapped from a Philippines resort, two missionaries affiliated with the Sanford-based New Tribes Mission are suddenly pawns in a life-and-death struggle between extremist rebels and the Philippine military.

The Abu Sayyaf rebels who have been linked to terrorist Osama bin Laden, have threatened to behead Martin and Gracia Burnham if the Philippine government goes not halt its offensive against the group.

The group already killed another American, Guillermo Sobero, who was kidnapped with the Burnhams. The original threat to kill Sobero, a Californian, also was coupled with a demand for the army to call off its offensive. Sobero's skeletal remains were found more than a week ago.

Half a world away, at New Tribes' headquarters on Lake Monroe, officials were busy working the phones Monday, trying to learn anything they can from their associates in the Philippines. And they pray.

Officials are reluctant to discuss the latest turn of events. They fear making a misstatement that could further endanger the Burnhams. Less than a month ago, they were encouraged by reports that the Burnhams were being held by another group, the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF), which has signed a peace agreement with the Philippine government. Now, it is obvious those reports were wrong.

Since the three Americans were captured along with 17 Filipinos on May 27 from a beach resort in the western Philippines, most of the information about the Burnhams has come from hostages who escaped or were released by the rebels.

But in a telephone call Monday to a Philippine radio station, Martin Burnham was allowed to speak for the first time since his capture.

"I'm always tied or kicked," said Burnham, his voice quavering. "I'm always in the center of the group. I am always chained so I cannot escape. I am very tired, weak and frightened."

Burnham said his wife is also weak, suffering from traveling through the mountainous jungles of the southern island of Basilan as the guerrillas flee pursuing troops.

Sobbing, Burnham worried aloud that "our children would be orphaned" if the military doesn't heed the threats that they will be killed before Philippine President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo's planned Nov. 20 trip to meet with President Bush.

"It would be embarrassing if President Arroyo goes to the U.S. with the bodies of Martin and Gracia," rebel leader Abu Sabaya told Radio Mindanao Network by telephone.

Sabaya also said that any attempt to rescue the Burnhams could lead to their death.

"In a rescue operation, we might release the Filipino hostages since they don't mean anything to us," Sabaya said. "The two Americans might be executed before being released." The rebels hold at least 10 Filipinos.

The rebels say they are fighting for an Islamic state in the predominantly Roman Catholic Philippines. [H: Well, that is total Balder-Squash.]

Despite the threats against the Burnhams, the Philippine military said it would not halt the offensive against the Muslim-extremist group.

"Now that we have them cornered and their end is near, under no conditions are we going to stop our military operations," Brig. General Edilberto Adan said. "Our desire is to conduct a safe rescue of the hostages and destroy the Abu Sayyaf. They want the government to kneel, but that will not happen."

Just in case you think this is just a tiny little place in the Jungle, just yesterday a bunch of kidnappers came into a Church and took an Italian Father right in front of the congregation. So far, the PNP can't even find a trail or hint of "how to catch the snatchers".

Lawlessness? Well, a prime top-echelon City Mayor and his buddies were caught pushing drugs and with the stuff on them yet. Ah but—the politicians are looking to give him a break already for turning State's evidence even if he lies. Now, how about that for a statement of lawful consideration of the facts?

Is it any better back home, say, in Little Tehachapi, U.S.A.? Not that the Ekkers have noticed. And how is your sojourn among "Ali Baba and his forty thieves"?

I am going to close this off with an article that most of you will just misinterpret the value. You will have a tendency to check out just the implications for same-sex partners. That, however, is not necessarily "homosexual" partners but rather just two people who want to share expenses, caretaking, etc. Read it carefully, for it could impact a lot of you.

[QUOTING Orlando Sentinel, October 16, 2001:]

UNWED CALIFORNIA COUPLES WIN RIGHTS

"This bill is about responsibility, respect and, most of all, about family, and it's about time."—California Governor Gray Davis

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—California Gov. Gray Davis has signed legislation, boosting benefits for unmarried couples including same-sex domestic partners, making it easier for them to adopt children and receive health coverage and tax benefits.

Davis signed the measure late Sunday, handing unmarried California couples some of the strongest domestic-partner rights in the United States, bringing it close to Vermont and Hawaii for legal acceptance of same-sex couples.

The new measure expands on legislation Davis signed in 1999 that included establishing a statewide registry for domestic partnerships among elderly people—both gay and straight—and providing hospital visitation rights and health benefits for the domestic partners of state employees.

"This bill is about responsibility, respect and most of all, about family, and it's about time," Davis said in a statement.

The measure also extends inheritance rights, allows partners to make medical decisions for each other and, for the first time, permits surviving partners to file wrongful-death lawsuits.

The new law, which takes effect Jan. 1, applies to same-sex couples of any age and to male/female couples who include at least one partner older than 62.

It also makes it easier for same-sex couples to adopt by allowing them to become the legal guardian for the child of their partner.

"This bill makes a stellar advance for lesbians and gays in California," said Assemblywoman Carole Miggeden, the Democratic lawmaker who wrote the bill, "It recognizes important everyday rights under the law that affect all individuals and their families."

Davis also signed twin handgun bills that would require gun buyers to pass a written test and demonstrate to a safety instructor that they know how to operate the weapon.

The identical Senate and Assembly bills require handgun buyers to provide a thumb print, proof of residency, identification and handgun-safety certificate. The bills' requirements take effect Jan. 1, 2003.

[END OF QUOTING]

This may perhaps appear to be a Sodom and Gomorrah action but I would remind you readers that many elderly people CANNOT AFFORD to get married. I also suggest that two elderly ladies can live together where needs can be mutually met. As well, there are many other reasons that people simply live together rather than sign the bondage licenses.

Frankly, people, even in the homosexual community there is a good reason why this makes sense both expensewise and caretaking ease if there is disease present. This is whether it might be AIDS or heart trouble. Being "alone" is not always the best way to go.

This may well reflect my attitude regarding marriage LICENSES which have nothing to do with responsibility, love, or anything more than eventual shackles. Responsibility and COMMITMENT are the point, not a piece of paper in some clerk's office. A "marriage" is made in the heart and soul, not in a courtroom.

Why Bushes Are Really After Osama Bin Laden

10/19/01—#1 (15-064)

RE: CONFIRMATIONS; READ AND WEEP. BUSH GARDENS, BIN LADEN, SPECTRUM 7, ANTHRAX AND CELL STRUCTURE, AND YOU'VE BEEN "HAD"

Hatonn—CAN YOU BELIEVE? BUSH FORTUNE TIED TO BIN LADEN! WELL, BELIEVE IT, FOR IT IS NOT NEARLY AS SHOCKING AS THE REST OF YOUR LIFE'S SURPRISES YET TO COME.

Thank you for making sure we get hard copy as quickly as is possible for evaluation when something pops loose of such importance as what we will offer here.

The article comes from AMERICAN FREE PRESS (formerly SPOTLIGHT) but we wrote about these things years and years ago, right down to the role of Spectrum 7, BCCI, and you name it with the Bush family. I can even remind you that it was from this recognition that GAIA was birthed—because it was through these very hands that it was KNOWN we were the only ones who could handle, if anyone could, the assets established with 3392-181.

I also sat with witnesses and said to Ekkers, "You may well lose everything you hold to accomplish our job—but we can do it if we stay the course." Nearly all the ones in that room have turned away and run, tearing down and stealing what they could and destroying that which they could not take. Even the property is AGAIN at total risk because of insidious games, thefts, and legal counsel who just couldn't seem to get interested in anything but the money—already in his bank.

Dharma was pondering and bewildered when the following article arrived by Fax. She was once accused by one of George Green's buddies as having crazy rantings from an insane mind. Well, today you get confirmation on many stages and topics that the insane mind is not hers—nor mine.

This may well come to mind as we offer the "latest" on Anthrax, cellular structure and why some things work, including Gaiandriana and the nice old colloids. However, it will also be more easily recognized why the FDA has arbitrarily and without testing, questioning or "by your leave" classified some of the things as "New drugs, untested".

It is why the SPECTRUM "team" turned-in Diane to face the Guns of July—and everyone with us had to endure embarrassment, harassment, and raids at gunpoint. They are filled with hate and vengeance from the position they chose for themselves and at their own hands.

But isn't Bush a born-again? A what? Check it out.

You may very well get confused as you read this upcoming information because of senior and junior and what is where and who is on first, second and third. Well, "They've got you covered, Baby." Now they are all meeting in China to gain some dance practice and "all fall down". The crude remarks about this little lady President today leaving for that infamous meeting and a U.S. "State" visit next month is leaving the Filipinos quite terrified as she gives away the nation at the behest of what is said, former President Ramos. The U.S. military is already in place in Mindanao to fight those terrible terrorists while the place falls apart in terror of Anthrax of which they have no notion whatsoever. You can't walk through the garbage in Manila and there is garbage as far as the eye can see in Manila Bay—and the politicians still argue over who gets the graft payoffs.

This is not a very nice foreign assignment which prevents even tending the most personal of all things back on home turf. Your world is not a nice place, readers, and in that recognition perhaps you are getting more able to accept knowledge.

There is little we can do to assist right now except to push it a bit further along the public eye-lines. Everyone forgets, shrugs off the sleep and says: "Oh I remember that...". Perhaps hearing or seeing under your nose will get your attention?

BUSH & BIN LADEN

By Roger Miller

[H: Yes indeed, that's exactly what it says! You will also please note that many of the players are the same now as they were in the same kind of "war" against Saddam Hussein who did in fact, have joint bank accounts in BCCI, no less, WITH SENIOR BUSH. Does this upset me? Why should it upset ME? It's your money and your life, person.]

George W. Bush Had Ties to Billionaire bin Laden Brood.

The unexplained death of Salem, Osama bin Laden's oldest brother, in 1988, brought to an abrupt end a long and intriguing relationship between President Bush and the head of the bin Laden family fortune.

The world now associates the bin Laden name with Osama bin Laden, the prime suspect behind the terror atrocities of Sept. 11. As President George W. Bush leads an intense international manhunt for Osama, few Americans realize that Osama's eldest brother, Salem, was one of Bush's first business partners.

A photograph from 1971 has surfaced and been printed in English papers showing Osama, age 14, and his brother Salem, age 19, enjoying a summer holiday at the Astoria Hotel in Fahun, Sweden. Christina Akerblad, the hotel owner, told the Daily Mail, "They were beautiful boys, so elegantly dressed. Everybody loved them."

Osama embraced Islamic fundamentalism and is now the world's most wanted man. "Salem went on to become a business partner of the man who is leading the hunt for his brother," the Daily Mail's Peter Allen said. "In the 1970s, he and George W. Bush were founders of the Arbusto Energy oil company in Mr. Bush's home state of Texas."

President Bush and the bin Laden family have been connected through dubious business deals since 1977, when Salem, the head of the bin Laden family business, one of the biggest construction companies in the world, invested in Bush's start-up oil company, Arbusto Energy, Inc.

James R. Bath, a friend and neighbor, was used to funnel money from Osama bin Laden's brother, Salem bin Laden, to set up George W. Bush in the oil business, according to The Wall Street Journal and other reputable sources.

Through a tangled web of Saudi multi-millionaires, Texas oilmen, and the infamous BANK OF CREDIT AND COMMERCE INTERNATIONAL (BCCI), Bush was financially linked with the bin Laden family until Salem met AN UNTIMELY END in a freak flying accident near San Antonio in 1988.

The infamous BCCI was shut down in 1991 with some $10 billion in losses. [H: Most of the banks involved in Sir Bush's escapades lost lumps in sums around $2.4 billion, the amount approved to loan on the 3392-181 gold certificate. BCCI was by far a bigger plum for the boys, for it was their own structured bank. President Bush Sr. did, according to V.K. Durham, call her from his "my office at BCCP" on one occasion, as he wanted backing for a joint venture with Saddam Hussein. It's a small world after all, isn't it? He was calling Russell Herman to get that backing from the 3392-181 ASSET. Golly gee... whiz!]

In June 1977, George W. Bush formed his own oil drilling company, Arbusto Energy, in Midland, Tex.

"Arbusto" actually means "shrub" in Spanish, but the Bush family interpreted it as "Bush". [H: Cute, say what? Now, I wonder why they aren't bombing the depths of those oil fields, for bin Laden may well be hiding in the "bushes" there near his investment.]

Salem bin Laden, a close friend of the Saudi King Fahd had "invested heavily in Bush's first business venture," according to The Daily Mail (U.K.)

Arbusto later became Bush Exploration, when Bush's father became vice president. As the company neared financial collapse in September 1984, it was MERGED WITH SPECTRUM 7 ENERGY CORP. in an effort to stay afloat. [H: This was also the start of something big with connections to (using Reagan) Ferdinand Marcos and all that gold that glittered and blinded everyone around. Also, it was a time when the Certificate in point was brought to the forefront to BACK the whole caboodle and around the globe through banks and start-up scams, etc. Try Nugan Hand Bank in Australia, InterAmerican Investment Bank, and many other DEVELOPMENT banks around the globe—even in Southeast Asia. Former Sec. of the U.S. Treasury, Rubin, was the very Bank Governor of that InterAmerican Bank. That was most especially to handle money flow out of Inter-American Investment Corporation. Hummmmm, where HAVE we heard of that one before? The intrigue is almost too much, isn't it?]

The 50 investors who propped up the Bush company with $4.7 million were "mainly friends of my uncle" who "did pretty good" in Bush's words, although they lost most of the money they invested in the company. Jon Bush, George's uncle, raised money for Arbusto from POLITICAL SUPPORTERS OF THE REAGAN-BUSH ADMINISTRATION.

"These were all the Bushes' pals," family friend Russell Reynolds told the Dallas Morning News in 1998. "This is the A-Team."

The "A-Team" limited partners contributed $4.67 million in various Bush funds through 1984 but got only $1.55 million back in profit distribution, and $3.9 million in tax write-offs.

William DeWitt and Mercer Reynolds, two staunch Reagan-Bush supporters, OWNED SPECTRUM 7.

Despite his poor track record, the owners made Bush president of the company and gave him 13.6 percent of the parent company's stock.

SURPRISE DEAL

As the hard times continued, SPECTRUM merged with Harken Energy in 1986. In 1990, Harken received a contract from the GOVERNMENT OF BAHRAIN to drill for offshore oil although Harken Energy had never drilled a well overseas or anywhere in water.

"Knowledgeable oil company sources believe that the Bahrain oil concession was indeed an oblique favor to the President of the United States but say that Saudi Arabia (home of bin Laden) was behind the decision," according to The Outlaw Bank: A Wild Ride Into the Secret Heart of the BCCI, by Jonathan Beaty and S.C. Gwynne.

It raised oil-industry eyebrows when the Persian Gulf state announced it had chosen tiny Harken to explore an offshore site for gas and oil. Bahrain officials said they had no idea President Bush's son was associated with Harken, a claim oil-industry sources ridicule.

The Bahrain deal was brokered in part by Arkansas investment banker David Edwards, one of BILL CLINTON'S closest friends. The Bahrain oil project resulted in two dry holes and Harken energy abandoned the project.

Two months before Iraq invaded Kuwait, on June 20, 1990, the younger Bush sold two-thirds of his Harken stock, 212,140 shares at $4 a share—for a total of $848,560.

[H: There were other really big problems for Bush, as well. He was trying to use the Bonus Certificate but Russell Herman had converted it to a contract in 1989. Things were definitely NOT going well with relationships with Marcos who had had to be removed from the Philippines to shut him up.]

That circumstance brought Ramos to the top of the heap as well, and something had to be done about the Kuwait mess and Saddam Hussein in Iraq. Saddam was sick and tired of losing the oil being siphoned from under Iraq's very nose. Things were pretty ugly, friends.]

"That was $318,430 more than it was worth," Dr. Arthur F. Ide, author of George W. Bush: Portrait of a Compassionate Conservative, said. "George W. broke the law to do this since the transaction was an insider stock sale."

Eight days later, Harken finished the second quarter with losses of $23 million and the stock went "into a nosedive" losing 75 percent of its value, finishing the year at a little over $1 a share.

"Like his father who made his fortune in the oil business with the money of others, George W. founded Arbusto with the financial backing of investors, including James R. Bath," said the late James Howard Hatfield, author of a "controversial biography", Fortunate Son: George W. Bush and the Making of an American President.

Hatfield, 43, WAS FOUND DEAD of an apparent prescription drug overdose in a hotel room in Springdale, Ark. on July 18, 2001. POLICE DECLINED TO INVESTIGATE.

Bath became friends with George W. during their days together in the Texas Air National Guard. Bath "confided that he was an original investor in George Bush Jr.'s oil exploration company," according to The Outlaw Bank.

Bath found investors for Arbusto and "made his fortune" by investing the money of two BCCI-connected Saudi sheiks, Khalid bin Mahfouz and Salem bin Laden. Mahfouz was one of the richest men in the world and a controlling shareholder in BCCI.

Bill White, a former real estate business partner of Bath, said: "He had put up $50,000 to help George, Jr. get started in the oil business" at a time when "Bath had no substantial money of his own," according to The Outlaw Bank.

Bath received a 5-percent interest in two Arbusto-related limited partnerships controlled by Bush, although Bush told The Houston Post in 1990 that he had "never done any business" with Bath. However, Bush said Bath was "a lot of fun".

Bath told White that he was in the CIA and that he had been recruited by George Bush himself in 1976 when Bush was director of the agency... he said Bush wanted him involved with the Arabs, and to get into the aviation business.

White contends that the Saudis were using Bath and their huge financial resources to influence U.S. policy during the Reagan and Bush administrations, according to the Houston Chronicle of June 4, 1992. Such representation by Bath would require that he be registered as a foreign agent with the Department of Justice, which he was not.

Shortly after Bush's father was appointed Director of the CIA, Salem bin Laden appointed Bath as his business representative in Texas. According to the Houston Chronicle Salem bin Laden, heir to one of the largest building companies in the Middle East, signed a trust agreement appointing Bath as his Houston representative in 1976.

In 1978 Bath purchased Houston Gulf Airport on behalf of Salem bin Laden. When bin Laden died in 1988, his interest in the airfield passed to bin Mahfouz.

There was also a political aspect to Salem bin Laden's financial activities, which played a role in U.S. operations in the Middle East and Central America during the 1980s, according to Public Broadcasting's Frontline report.

As head of Binladen Brothers Construction (now the Binladen Group), a company that later helped build U.S. airfields during Operation Desert Storm, bin Laden was close to King Fahd of Saudi Arabia and "a good friend of the U.S. government", a San Antonio attorney, Wayne Fagan, who represented Salem bin Laden from 1982 to 1988, told the San Antonio Express-News.

When the family patriarch, Sheik Mohammed bin Laden, died in 1968, he left an industrial and financial empire and a progeny of 54 sons and daughters, the fruit of a number of wives. In 1972, Salem bin Laden, the oldest son, took over the estate as his father's successor, with the assistance of several brothers.

With over 40,000 employees, the Bin Laden Group is represented in the major cities of Saudi Arabia and the Arab capitals of Beirut, Cairo, Amman, and Dubai. The company builds highways, housing units, factories, hangars, and military bases, some of which are part of the U.S.-Saudi "Peace Shield" agreement.

The story of the Bush involvement with bin Laden and the BCCI scandal involves "trails that branched, crossed one another, or came to unexpected dead ends," according to The Outlaw Bank.

FREAK ACCIDENT

Salem bin Laden came to an "UNEXPECTED DEAD END" in a Texas pasture, 11 years after investing in Arbusto, when the ultralight aircraft he was flying crashed into power lines near San Antonio on Memorial Day, 1988.

On the morning of May 29, 1988, almost immediately after takeoff, Salem bin Laden's aircraft struck and became entangled in power lines 150-feet high before plunging to the ground.

"He was a very experienced pilot. He was a good pilot. We just can't understand why he decided to go right instead of left," recalled airstrip owner and former Marine Earl Mayfield, who cradled bin Laden, bleeding from the ears.

That day, bin Laden took off in a southeasterly direction into the wind. He surprised onlookers by turning west toward power lines less than a quarter-mile away.

"Nobody could figure out why he tried to fly over the power lines," said Gerry Auerbach, 77, of Braunsfels, a retired pilot.

Bin Laden had more than 15,000 hours of flight experience. The police report concluded "freak accident".

[END OF QUOTING]

NOW, READERS, WHY DO YOU REALLY THINK BUSH IS AFTER OSAMA BIN LADEN? WHY ARE THEY BOMBING THE HECK OUT OF INNOCENT WOMEN AND BABIES? DO YOU "REALLY" THINK IT IS TO SAVE THEM FROM THE HARD LIFE WITH THAT MISFIT ISLAMIC FUNDAMENTALIST? And, how many flags do you wave at their feet?

Where are you headed, World?

Now, while you are paused, thinking we are somehow all gone nuts, please think just a moment of a company up North of the U.S. called Barrick Gold. That is a Bush company, along with many other Yahoo-type operations. It's nice to have your own phony gold company (even salted mines in Southeast Asia)—and at least one executive about to blow the whistle somehow slipped out of a helicopter and met an untimely "freak accident".

Oh, Mr. Bush doesn't show as anything in that gold company other than an advisor—he is far smarter than that, students. He knows the ropes and he ran the CIA, for goodness sakes. And, furthermore, his bunch of chums and scalawag-rascals have captured most of that Philippine GOLD and they want the rest.

What do YOU see in that mirror when you FACE SELF, reader? Isn't it frightening, even terrifying when you realize to where you have come? It sure gives a bit more reality to the "Plan", doesn't it?

Now you are being terrified with Anthrax, Smallpox and threat of Plague. I will offer you one more little epitome.

TALK ABOUT THE BUGS AND GAIANDRIANA-SILVER, CELLS AND IMMUNE SYSTEMS.

I have given you so many lectures on HOW things work and why you need to attend some rather special things to get any type of, say, drug INTO a cell to attack anything.

Remember, a virus can even parasitize a bacteria (inside). It is truly frightening but you had best look after selves—for it is quite sure that Father Bush is not going to do it for you.

When you read this you will probably come to realize why it is so desirable to shut down anything we touch—from the paper to any connection to products. I would guess you have already gotten some most UNCOMFORTABLE connections which shouldn't have to be explained to you.

I will offer you one short article which could include all three, OR MORE, of the disease weapons presented. And readers, you are going to have to be a bit shrewd in your own behalf if you want to survive this Balder Squash assault on your senses. The games are rough, for the stakes are very high—yea, even unto the soul in some places. I hope, readers, that you can generalize a bit and recognize what lies ahead, why AIDS, and how mutation of cells works in that immune system which, after all, keeps you alive.

[QUOTING The Philippine STAR, October 19, 2001:]

ANTHRAX TARGETS IMMUNE CELLS TO KILL

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Reuters)—Anthrax targets immune-system cells, grappling them, sneaking INSIDE and then multiplying until the cell bursts.

The newborn swarms of anthrax bacteria spill out and look for other cells to infest.

"We don't entirely understand how anthrax kills," Darrell Galloway, a molecular biologist at Ohio State University who is trying to make new anthrax vaccines, said in a telephone interview.

The Bacillus anthracis bacteria starts out as a spore, which is a microbe's way of shutting down and surviving hard times. It has been shown to persist for as long as 100 years, and can survive being freeze-dried, buried, and shot through a nozzle as an aerosol.

The spores wait until they find a congenial environment, which for this bacterium is a warm, wet place—like deep inside a lung.

There, they seek out a place to replicate. For as-yet-unknown reasons, they look for immune-system cells known as phagocytes, a type of cells that include macrophages. These are the cells that sweep the body for invaders, usually engulfing and destroying the enemy.

But when they encounter anthrax bacteria, the anthrax uses a molecular doorway to get into the cells and do what bacteria do best—multiply.

So many of the rod-shaped bacteria are produced that eventually the phagocyte stretches to its limits and bursts. Scores of rod-shaped anthrax bacilli spill out into the blood or lymph, and seek other cells to infect.

As they grow, the bacteria produce a waste byproduct of poisons. One of these is known as lethal factor.

"Like a killer who cuts the telephone line before entering the house, the poisons will move throughout the body and slice up a protein called MAPKK," bioterrorism and public health expert Michael Osterholm of the University of Minnesota writes in his book Living Terrors.

This particular protein is vital to cell function.

[END OF QUOTING]

We have tried every way sensible to keep you with ability to get things which can help you make it through—but people, YOU are going to have to now HELP.

While the drug companies make billions and billions of $$, you are going to be put through the wringer while this insanity persists.

You have been warned as far back as 1990 as to this being the "Mother of All Wars" and you waved your flags and killed people who could not even fight back. You are doing it again and worse yet, NOW you don't even know your enemy—for these dudes will do-in themselves to make you think it to be the opposition. You are very definitely arrived at the gates of Armageddon.

This is quite enough to ruin your day, I'm sure—BUT—look at the confirmation of what you have had over these years upon which to build your knowledge banks and it may look quite a bit different to you.

We can do this job, my friends—just hold that line.—GCH

PHOENIX JOURNAL #13 (1990)

CHAPTER 6

REC #1 SANANDA

SUN., MAR. 11, 1990 8:00 A.M. YEAR 3 DAY 207

Esu Sananda to visit with you ones for a while. The path is filled with confusion and you are not given to see. It is to ensure your security that causes you ones of my faculty to be kept in the “semi-knowing”. You shall prevail in the challenge, for man, armed with truth, can come into his own inheritance and march unto his goal. You ones who are in the writing and printing of the word are experiencing the efforts to stop you—even unto the most absurd of manners. This is not of psychic fortune-telling—ye will make of your own fortunes and ye can be in the fore-knowing if ye will but face what it is ye seek and do. No more and no less.

Ones who have been in communication with astral beings are finding, very often, that the beings were not truly of the Lighted Realms but rather, perpetuators of the false myths. These ones are compelled to do all in their power to dissuade you from your work. As the example with the dear ones from New Mexico. It does not work well to simply denounce—that has proven to gain even more attention to the truth—so, let us stop the writer, is the next (as well as the first) thrust.

As in the instance with the effort at rest and separation from the resource of truth—i.e., sever communications for fourteen days at the advice of some “unknown” entity who calls himself a Master. These energies already know you receive from God and THE Master Teacher, so who would have authority to require you to speak not with us? The hope is to pull down confidence within your conscious selves that your contacts are not valid. The facts are, however, that if anyone suggests such a thing—you can be quite positive that your resources are indeed truth and valid and the thrust is to cause you to turn away in doubts.

As the truth becomes more similar to super science-fiction, you ones will become more questioning of your own sense of disbelief—therefore, you must have come into your foundation of stability upon the rock, which I am, that you do not break in the confrontation of truth.

I am most humbly grateful for the participation of ones who share the beginning journey with resources upon which the foundation of our work can be begun. I give great appreciation unto one who has allowed the setting up of the institute which can be the heartcell of our work and the receiving placement of the Journals' rewards to be distributed in ever widening circles. It will allow ones who hold the “keys” of knowledge regarding apparatus to begin to function again, in properness.

The projects already planned shall find fruition, for it must come to be in its proper sequence—for we plan no communes for ones to sit and twiddle and indulge selfish “me-ness”. Rewards shall be great and sharing shall be the central focus but not as other “communes” have structured the socio-political systems. We are about our Father's work and the system must function in a most human physical world. To mentally dwell with God is indeed fine—but you ones tend to forget—God dwells within thee! That means that as long as you dwell in the human format—God must also function in the physical format, for that is His chosen experience.

You need not concern yourselves with the building of anything in the etheric realms—there are billions of energies who construct in perfection in the etheric planes. Why would you appoint yourselves in the density of physical format to presume to build in realms of your total ignorance? You must build and perform in action to impact and requalify the truth of your own experience—in a most physical manifestation. It is through your works upon your own placement that determines your progress through the schools of perceived passage of soul journey.

Beware of those who preach “mystery schools” and “having keys to the magic or mystery realms”—God is no secret and God does not give keys unto a selected few—He gives forth and those, who are willing, pick up of the key and open the locks. You have mastered life when the “how-tos” are irrelevant. You will move forward and the “how” will become evident, but you must be in motion lest the goal be too big or too distant.

Beware of all “secret” so-called truths, given only unto the few—for you must realize, chelas, that the “few” have given their own wishes and desires unto self that they might hold of their lofty positions as self-proclaimed. This is why you do not know of this scribe—there are no secrets and she holds them not unto herself but pens the words and they can then go forth unclouded by need for physical ego hoarding. All ones must come into balance with that which we give forth—for you have been trained by human ego projections upon you to be tended and ordered about, governed and manipulated by ones who have “assumed” their placement of power, for they have convinced you that you are not capable. Therefore, you do not study nor even object as your very “knowledge” and education capabilities are removed from you—you sit and wait for “them” to tell you what you must do—at the point of a gun. You forget that if you do not start of a journey, it is certain that you shall not arrive. Yes, making “no” decision is already having made a decision. And, giving your decision into the hands of another will not be an accepted “reason” at the point of “judgment” of YOUR journey. Excuses will not count when confronting thine own God within on passage day! You will always get exactly that which you expect—good or bad, consciously or unconsciously. OTHERS CAN STOP YOU TEMPORARILY, ONLY YOU CAN DO OF IT PERMANENTLY! It is, however, indeed truth that most ones are willing to work, only if they can start at the top and work up! Little do they realize that from the willingness to start at the very bottom—they are already in achievement of the top.

Heed not those who try and try and try—trying and “effort at”, are not the same. Trying provides two excuses—an excuse for not doing and an excuse for not having. There are actually only two things which you have in life—“reasons” or “results”—reasons are most often excuses and therefore reasons are not counted in the ending—only the results and you have no way to measure your success or failure according to the rule-stick of God. If you hold back because somehow you feel constantly misled or mistreated, you must know that you are fully cooperating with the treatment and have given over control unto another to do that which they will with you. Further, if you worry constantly about that which might be and wonder and worry over that which might have been—you will ignore that which IS. To break out of your prison, you must first realize that you are incarcerated. The latter is the purpose of the Journals thus far—to show unto you that you are indeed, incarcerated, and begin to allow you to understand that you have the power to escape the bindings.

You can worry until the ending trumpet but you will have missed the point of experience—worry comes directly from the belief that you are powerless instead of all-powerful. If you grow into maturity, then you will have come into the realization that you are no longer being deceived nor taken in by one's self. You will come into honesty with self for the sake and morality of honesty and not because honesty is the “best policy”, for if you base honesty upon being the best policy—then your honesty is corrupt. If you worship at another's truth, then you shall always be separated from the glory of self wherein God dwells. Harken unto the ones who share truth and show the way—pay not heed to those who tell you it IS the way through anything other than the glorious self. The Laws of God and The Creation are perfection, therefore, if you abide by those laws ye shall have perfection, for God is within—not without—and therefore truth is brought into balance from within—not without! Listen to teachings always from within thine own heartcell, for another's truth is his—only that which is yours, is yours! YOU ARE THE ONLY TEACHER YOU WILL EVER HAVE—PONDER THE TRUTH OF IT. If you do not know what direction to take, you have not acknowledged where you are!

Since YOU are the cause of everything that happens to you—be most careful of that which you cause, for in fact, there is no actual right or wrong—only consequences. You can have everything in life that you want—if you will help enough other people get that which they want. At any time in your journey that you care not for the games people play—turn away and make up thine own games—for the winning or losing will be yours to hold, not another's. Strange things occur during a journey of truth unto balanced passage, one is to realize that you have no choice but to feel what you are feeling—the choice comes in changing the mind regarding it. If you have lived to simply make yourself important—notice how unimportant you have actually become!

If your life is not working the way you perceive you want it to be—look carefully and you will see that you are lying. There are but three kinds of people in the ending: those who make things happen, those who simply watch things happen—and the ones who haven't the slightest idea what is happening. Learn that which is truly happening and you can change of it. As you go about thine searching be cautious indeed—for if you think something outside of yourself is the cause of your problems, you will err in looking outside of yourself for the answers. Dear ones, in the physical life journey you will never “have it all”—that would be like trying to eat once and for all. Can you not realize that all unhappiness is caused by perception and comparison? Ye can only be that which ye perceive yourself to be. Your success is measured only by your ability to complete things and the more clear you are on that which you want, the more power you will have—and you must hold uppermost in all thy senses—GOD DOES NOT MAKE FAULTY PRODUCTS. If you have problems, so what, solve them so that they no longer annoy you—confront them in truth, sanity and reason and solve them—they, too, shall pass. Hold my hand and walk with me—for I am sent as the wayshower to heal of thine life through showing you the way of truth. I come again as Sananda—healing life-source, that you can be lifted up and walk in wholeness and perfection—you dawdle in the mud puddles when you could traverse the heavens to touch of the stars. Can ye not accept of your perfection?

This scribe nor these bringers of the word of truth set not themselves above or beyond any other—they simply are the couriers of Aton Creator to remind you of your perfection. Ye need of no interpreters nor mediators—your soul knows of that which is truth if ye will but harken. Share of the truth of the word—and your heart will blossom into glory, for thine brother knows he is sick and weary. You who turn to substances to change and shroud of the mind—when you find that life is destroyed and you can no longer face the addictions or the drugs which you depend upon to hide you from yourself—you will change back into “reality” and remove yourself from the ranks of the walking dead. There is a fine solution and a “bad” solution to every problem—you just don’t keep enough reserves of good solutions in your larder. The choice is always yours! What kind of choices do you make?

If you cling unto the security that you perceive you have, if it be not of God-ness—then ye shall doubtlessly miss the journey into abundance and success—ye shall simply remain clinging to that which might have been, for from the cradle unto the grave of physical man—THERE IS NOT SECURITY SAVE THAT WHICH IS OF THE SOUL DESTINATION. ALL ELSE IS BUT A FLEETING MOMENT OF PERCEPTION OF CHANCE—AND YOU MUST MAKE OF YOUR CHANCES.

I do not plan to speak in riddles—I do plan to speak in thoughtful truth. I am come to bring my Father’s people home unto Him—are you one of mine family or not? The eleventh hour approaches—what is your “happiness” level of measure this day? If it be not full and filled with peace, I suggest you give the Lighted path a chance—what possible loss could you sustain therefrom? Perhaps ye shall gain of the Kingdom!

Beware the secret orders, for they are filled with people who lay the rules and limits and then keep the rules from you by their own pronouncements. You need no priests, ministers, lawyers, judges nor go-between interpreters to be with truth and God—YOU CAN HAVE NO GO-BETWEEN BETWEEN SELF AND SELF—PONDER IT! YOU HAVE BECOME PEOPLE OF THE LIE—AND ’TIS TIME YOU COME INTO THE TRUTH OF THE WAY IT IS AND NOT AS YOU ARE TOLD IT MUST BE!

Your journey will be as good or as bad as you make of it, for God Creator has granted that reasoning free-will gift unto you—thy measure of the journey is what ye have done with the gift. If ye send out bigotry—ye shall reap of bigotry against thine self. If you send out love and giving—it shall flow a hundred fold back unto self—it is the law of the universe. If ye plant of corn—ye will reap of corn, sow peace and ye must reap of peace—ye have been about sowing of the lie and now comes the harvest thereof—but it can be of the last crop of thistles if ye refuse to further plant of the beast’s seeds. The harvest is at hand—YE CAN CHANGE OF THE CROP. But first, you must recognize of that which has been planted in your fields—did you plant it? Did you allow use of your fields and allow another to plant his own crops in your garden? Perhaps you need to take control of the planting within your own fields, lest there be naught to reap at harvest but abundant weeds. Look unto thy European neighbors this day—the larders are bare and half a planet is in starvation of body and soul—what is that YOU sow in your fields—or, do you wait for another to tend of it for you? If you deny truth, then you are thereby denying thine own talents—no decision is having made a decision—unfortunately! So be it—will ye miss of the lifeboat whilst ye await the helicopter? ’Tis not likely thine salvation will come from the ones who have perpetrated the slavery upon you. The slavemaster and trader are not likely to set the slaves free! So be it and selah, for the Word of God is the sword of freedom—I AM THE WORD AND THE WORD SHALL GO FORTH UPON THE WINDS AND WATERS OF THE PLANET THAT MAN CAN CHOOSE!

I release now, this scribe, that she might have rest. I bring the benediction of the Totality of God that you ones might find clarity and sort away the confusion—ask and ye shall receive—seek unto me and ye shall find of the way, for I am the Way, The Truth and The Light!

I AM SANANDA, ONE WITH GOD, ATON OF LIGHT, MOTHER/FATHER CREATOR/CREATION. WHO MIGHT YE BE?

CHAPTER 7

REC #1 HATONN

THUR., MAR. 15, 1990 7:00 A.M. YEAR 3 DAY 211

Hatonn in the service of the Christos, God and you, of our Creator’s people.

As we write in the coming days, our subject material will be a bit confusing and even more difficult to believe by most of you dear ones. Some have needed shocking into receiving the Journals. Most still desire to play around in the typical UFO stories and follow the exciting circuit lectures of the current UFO Community speakers. As with all things in existence, there are always at least two sides to every story—most often, more. Some will believe each until proven to be otherwise. I come to “prove” of nothing—I will tell you how it is so that you can understand and come into some kind of comfort.

Sometimes the telling must begin in the past and be connected to the present so that your vision trail can have proper perception. There will be very little “new”, just a lot of hidden secrets brought forth. Very few upon your placement know of truth in actuality—for you have been trained to believe that which is fed unto you by careful planning.

You can look around you and see that something has gone terribly wrong with your society. I place no judgment upon anything—I can only bring those hidden things into light and petition you to look very closely at them and go within and come into balance therewith. Ones do research and uncover tid-bits, draw conclusions, get sanctioned by the government and go forth to tell you ones tainted “truth” and worse, half truths.

LOCKED WITHIN EARTH SYSTEM

The “little grey men”, the “big grey men”, the Satanic workers—all are basically locked within your galactic system—most are locked within your very planetary orbital sector. As with all circumstances, there are the good aspects and that recognized as “bad”. In actual total perception nothing can be classified as good or bad, for from each negative springs total positive experience. This is what makes a journey into the third-dimensional “illusion” experience so valuable to a soul journey through the schools of lifestream. The being is presented with all varying sets of circumstances and the experience is to sort of the circumstance, act and perceive the content of the lesson within the soul maturing process.

Since somnolent “man” uses only less than 10% of his capacity to reason or think, seek or search diligently, the information must sometimes be integrated into volumes such as these and presented in whole-cloth for his perception—that he might gain an overall introspection and arrive at choices worthy of remaining deliberately ignorant or come into truthful knowledge. There are always the cycle closings which require decisions of one direction or another—you cannot sit forever at a “Y” in the pathway, for eventually you must go one way or the other or perish in the stagnation.

THE JOURNALS

If you hold the Journals in your possession, even though they be thrust upon you, and you look within the pages—you are curious, or nice to your friend or something. If you work diligently to discount them prior to “KNOWING” ALL the material contained within—you are foolish indeed and you will show thine ignorance unto the world and will further show thine choices toward God or unto the Evil teachers. This is truth because you will find within the Journals that God never forces—He only allows! You will be told how it is—and that which ye do with the information is totally and 100% up to you.

We get angry, and humble, responses to the teachings and commandments of God and The Creation as laid forth in AND THEY CALLED HIS NAME IMMANUEL. We of the fleet, nor even the Christos made the laws—and, man has been breaking them from the day of first experience—and look at the mess your planet is now undergoing. It is strictly up to you as to that which you do—the book was brought forth to bring truth into your hands and bring clearance unto Judas Iscariot, for JUSTICE IS GOD’S. If you partake of all of the Journals and other messages brought from this source and you cannot see God within, I pity you but I bless you and suggest you put to the side the material. Read all that even the darkest of dark writers bring forth—study it all (I did say STUDY) in the presence of asking in the Highest Source by whatever name and then, only then, make thine final decision. If you cannot find thine path with God, then go thy way in peace—for the things unfolding upon thine placement shall come to pass whether or not YOU like of it—it is already well under way, my friends and brothers. WELL UNDER WAY!

UNIDENTIFIED FLYING OBJECTS

The term means exactly that which it says. It does NOT mean little, or big, space aliens—it means not identified. Well, there are few, indeed, unidentified flying objects—your world governments and military establishments have almost all of them totally and completely identified—they just keep it a secret from you, the sleeping public—especially you ones in the wondrous United States of America. Books are banned and kept from within your borders which tell the story in whole—books which have been in the “proving” of these things I tell you, for decades past.

Today we shall outline the UFO connections—both alien (space) and earthbound entity participation. I shall have to begin the story of flying discs, etc., back before your Second World War to connect them with current activities. The craft from space have been around for far longer than your history or biblical books portray. But you are only interested in the NOW. Since you would not believe the NOW scenario, I have to paint the recent past activities which you can go out and confirm and prove unto self.

You are also going to have to face the facts that heinous elements are at work in your current situation which may well portray me as a bigot simply for the telling. Nay, I participate not in any of it—I only tell you how it IS. I have no need to mislead you in the least measure—we are come to awaken God's children and bring you home. We fight no one nor any government—our enemy is Satan himself and we shall endeavor to extricate God's people from his clutches but no one shall be forced or coerced in any manner what-so-ever. The Earth planet will be cleansed and healed and God shall meet Satan—for the Satanic forces shall attempt to totally annihilate the planet which ye have manifested. This sends shock waves throughout the universe and the impact is grievous indeed, to the orderly function of the universal system—God being Creator and Satan being Created, God shall ultimately prevail. Not even Satan shall be destroyed—he shall be “bound” and removed from the place of Radiance so that healing and renewal can transpire.

You ones wish to find all to be mysterious and mystical—nay, precious ones, it is only that you have not grown in knowledge. All that is unknown is mystery. God is only a mystery, for you know not ALL about that entity that dwells within thineself to experience in the reflection of you. Ye know not of energy and frequencies, electricity and finally the ultimate gift of God—the breath of life called soul. Ye ones “fear” all that is unknown—nay—RESPECT that which is unknown but “fear” not. It is not the unknown of God which ye should fear—it is the KNOWN which is all about you that you should “fear” mightily, for that is that which is in your destruction—not God or God's Hosts come to bring of you home to safety and security.

CHRISTIAN VS. “CHRISTIAN” VS. CHRIST-NESS

Just because a man claims he is a Christian, makes him nothing but a speaker. Actions define a “Christian” and Christ-ness. Satan always calls himself Christ or whomever he chooses to work through. He knows all the weaknesses of man and toys with him as does a cat with a tiny mouse—letting you go almost unto your freedom and then tempting you back into the trap by promises which ultimately destroy—“have one more drink and you will feel fine”—he fails to tell you that it might also well destroy your life, another's life and be your total destruction. That is only one example of billions until you have accepted the very lie of the broken commandments in all measures—'tis a hard journey back indeed.

The other side of the coin, however, is that in his rampant proliferation he has overpopulated, exhausted resources necessary for survival of his people and now must sacrifice some 6 billion physical beings to survive in his high-density, third-dimensional experience. He and his henchmen will ensure your demise; nothing more and nothing less and it will be done in any manner of expeditiousness—believe me—the intended survivors of the Elite are numbered just as are you who will become the slaves. Do you really believe the “Promised Land” of the Zionists is a little strip of dry land along a desert in Palestine? Come now—the Zionist Promised Land is the whole of the World! There is no intention what-so-ever of living in Peace—the intent is Global Control and the entities will stop at nothing to achieve that power. It will be insidious indeed and covered in secrecy and hidden actions—all over your planet. They have even infiltrated to the maximum extent, the very Global 2000 Banker Cartel who “thought” they would Control the World. The only thing that saves you on a daily basis at the present time—is that friction between those two factions. Very few people know what is going on—perhaps you ones will be the first of a large group to know—AND THAT, FRIENDS, GIVES YOU POWER BEYOND COMPREHENSION. ONCE SATAN'S ACTIVITIES ARE BROUGHT INTO THE LIGHT HE WILL MAKE ALL EFFORTS POSSIBLE TO RETREAT INTO THE SECRET PLACES. HE WILL MAKE HIS STAND AND DESTROY, DESTROY AND DESTROY THROUGH HIS DUPES, BUT HE WILL ULTIMATELY WITHDRAW, FOR THAT IS THE NATURE OF SATAN—HE CANNOT ENDURE IN THE LIGHT OF TRUTH AND GOD-NESS, FOR THOSE WHO COME INTO THE PRACTICE OF GOD'S LAWS HAVE ALL THE POWER OF CREATION AND HE HAS NONE BUT TO DESTROY. HE FOOLS MAN WITH PHYSICAL LUST, GREED AND ALL MANNER OF DECEIT BUT MAN FINDS NO PEACE AND ONCE THE DUPE HAS BEEN DISCOVERED AND COURSE CORRECTIONS MADE—SATAN HAS NO WAY TO PREVAIL—HE CANNOT ENDURE AGAINST THE PRACTICE OF SIMPLY ABIDING BY THE TEN COMMANDMENTS LAID FORTH FOR MAN. THAT IS WHY EVIL MUST REWRITE THE COMMANDMENTS AND REVERSE THEM—FOR SATAN IS THE OPPOSITE OF SANANDA.

He creeps upon you in a most insidious manner: Let us take abortion, for instance. It is through some act of lustful fleshly desire that an unwanted pregnancy happens, for obviously the act of sexual intercourse was not utilized for the creation of an offspring—then, Satan tells you that it is “human right” to think of self first (more greed) and to disallow the bother of rearing a child—so the next subtle step is to simply abort the baby egg and call it “woman's right”—the human perception is that the forming child has no right—therefore “murder” becomes legal and “voted-in” ethical. It does not follow God's Law of thou shalt not kill, nor keep from “lustful fornication” and/or adultery. Friends, I make no judgment other than that you follow not the Commandments—good? bad?—that, dear ones, is strictly up to YOU AND GOD! Obviously murder in ignorance is not murder but rather, error! Satan knows that God is total forgiveness of errors—therefore he pushes and pushes until you no longer truly know what is right and what is wrong in the sight of God—you will have rewritten the Commandments to suit “modern” conditions. In other words, you will have allowed Satan to write God's Commandments. Then you vote them into the traditional books of the Churches and end up in total service and practice of Satanic Law. You ones had better ponder these things most carefully, for choices are at hand to be made.

If you go back to the Laws of God which state that the sexual union is for the procreation of offspring—how can you justify homosexual or promiscuous behavior? You can justify it in any way you choose—it does not make it OK WITH GOD! Further, it causes ones to fall into the trap of activities which Satan sanctions and you become a part of a group destined for Satan's annihilation. God does not perpetrate these things upon man—He has given you a set of guidelines and you rewrite them to suit thineselves—so be it—place the blame wherein it belongs—upon self and not that wondrously pure Source within—give it unto the physical expression which is of human body/conscious mind—and bring not that blame within upon the Godhead. Do you not see? It is the “action” and not the “love” “emotion”! Emotion is spiritual—physical expression is just that—physical! In a sojourn you experience the physical for, let us average—75 years. How long is that relative to infinity?? So be it—I trust I have made my point! There need be no judgment involved—it is time you discern the differences and improve your ability to choose a more positive experience. If you prefer the company and love of thine own gender—so be it, love that one and commit unto that one—refrain from the physical behavior that in this day and age—kills the physical—intentionally by the evil conspirators. CONDOMS DO NOT PREVENT AIDS! THE AIDS VIRUS PASSES THROUGH THE MANUFACTURED SUBSTANCE HOLES LIKE A GOLF BALL THROUGH A BASKETBALL HOOP! PONDER IT SERIOUSLY DEAR ONES, FOR YOU ARE GETTING THE BIGGEST LIES OF ALL FOSTERED UPON YOU! “THEY” WILL TELL YOU HOW TO HAVE SAFE SEX; YOU BET THEY WILL—GO RIGHT ON OUT THERE AND PRACTICE YOUR LUST AND YOU ARE DOOMED! I CANNOT EVEN TELL OF YOU NOT TO DO THESE THINGS ANY MORE THAN SIMPLY TELLING YOU—IT IS UP TO YOU WHAT YOU DO WITH THE INFORMATION. I DO DOUBT, HOWEVER, THAT GOD WILL GIVE YOU ALL THE INFORMATION FOR THE CURING OF THE DISEASE IF ALL YOU DESIRE IS TO CONTINUE WITH YOUR ACTIVITIES UNCHANGED. SO BE IT. THE CURE FOR AIDS WILL BE TO SAVE THE SPECIES OF MAN—NOT ANY SELECT GROUP OF THE MAINSTREAM DEVIATION OF BEHAVIOR. SATAN HAS SET OUT TO KILL OFF A WHOLE BUNCH OF HUMANS AND HE IS DOING VERY WELL INDEED—BECAUSE YOU HAVE BOUGHT INTO HIS LIES. IT IS HIS RULES YOU PRACTICE IF THEY DEVIATE IN THE LEAST FROM THE TEN COMMANDMENTS! GOD PUNISHING YOU FOR SINS IF YOU COME DOWN WITH THE DREADED DISEASE? NO—JUST SATAN BLESSING YOU WITH HIS FALSE PROMISE OF PLEASURE AND SATISFACTION. YOU MADE YOUR CHOICE TO ABIDE BY HIS RULES—AND HE IS THE PRINCE OF DECEPTION. GOD SAYS, “TAKE MINE HAND AND COME BACK FROM THINE WAYS OF ERROR AND I SHALL MAKE THEE WHOLE.” SO BE IT AND SELAH!

BACK TO UFOs AND WEAPONS OF THE SKY; TERRESTRIAL OR INTERPLANETARY?

I would suggest that if you want details, that you have a world atlas handy for reference, for we will name names and locations and allow you to follow-up with confirmation of the facts which will be shared herein.

UFOs do come from other planets; however, they are also man-made and we are going to first examine some “possibilities” and finally integrate the possibilities into probabilities and then we can draw some reasonable conclusions as to positive or negative influence (or danger) unto planetary man.

Let us go back to the time of Adolf Hitler in Germany. It is not my intention to give you a history of the Second World War. References will be made but basically you can just accept that the war was fought and Nazi Germany did surrender.

Hitler will always be proven in Earth history, to have been and always will be, an enigma. He has been labeled by some as a total madman and hailed by some as a genius. He did manage to bring the State of Germany out of virtual bankruptcy into a state of being a major, major world power.

Much of Hitler's views and attitudes can be well summed up in works which actually fit the picture as it is being unfolded in your current day—you see, nothing is “new”.

Hitler felt, based on his studies and an enormous amount of reading, that there existed a very definite plan by a small, but immensely powerful group of Jewish bankers, financiers, industrialists and others, to take control of the entire world. It is important to remember that he lived in Vienna during a time when a very noisy battle was raging between Zionist Jews (who wanted to be a separate race, religion, nation and culture with their own state, Israel), and the assimilated elements amongst the Jews (who wanted to be part of the cosmopolitan establishment of the Austrian Empire), with all the privileges and power their immense wealth bestowed on them. Hitler's appraisal of the Jews can best be summed up as contained in a document called The Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion. This is a very important aspect of the whole UFO story because, in it, you find the seeds for many far-reaching decisions made some three decades later. Hitler saw in this actual or imagined Jewish drive for world domination, a very definite danger to his own work and plan. My intention herein is not to judge the man but only to clarify points which impact later events.

To better understand intent let us look at the 24 points of the Party Programme as listed in the book NAZI SECRET WEAPON? and see how Hitler reflected them:

[QUOTING:]

THE PROGRAM OF THE PARTY

The Programme of the German Workers' Party is limited as to period. The leaders have no intention, once the aims announced in it have been achieved, of setting up fresh ones, in order to ensure the continued existence of the Party by the artificially increased discontent of the masses.

1. We demand the union of all Germans, on the basis of the right of the self-determination of peoples, to form a Great Germany.

2. We demand equality of rights for the German People in its dealings with other nations, and abolition of the Peace Treaties of Versailles and St. Germain.

3. We demand land and territory (colonies) for the nourishment of our people and for settling our surplus population.

4. None but members of the nation may be citizens of the State. None but those of German blood, whatever their creed, may be members of the nation. No Jew, therefore, may be a member of the nation.

5. Anyone who is not a citizen of the State may live in Germany only as a guest and must be regarded as being subject to the Alien laws.

6. The right of voting on the leadership and legislation is to be enjoyed by the citizens of the State alone.

We demand, therefore, that all official appointments, of whatever kind, whether in the Reich, the provinces, or the small communities, shall be granted to citizens of the State alone.

We oppose the corrupt Parliamentary custom of the State of filling posts merely with a view to Party considerations, and without reference to character or capacity.

7. We demand that the State shall make it its first duty to promote the industry and livelihood of the citizens of the State. If it is not possible to nourish the entire population of the State, foreign nationals (non-citizens of the State) must be excluded from the Reich.

8. All further non-German immigration must be prevented. We demand that all non-Germans who entered Germany subsequently to August 2, 1914, shall be required forthwith to depart from the Reich.

9. All citizens of the State shall possess equal rights and duties.

10. It must be the first duty of every citizen of the State to perform mental or physical work. The activities of the individual must not clash with the interests of the whole, but must proceed within the framework of the community and must be for the general good.

We demand therefore:

11. Abolition of incomes unearned by work. Abolition of the thralldom of interest.

12. In view of the enormous sacrifice of life and property demanded of a nation by every war, personal enrichment through war must be regarded as a crime against the nation. We demand therefore the ruthless confiscation of all war profits.

13. We demand nationalization of all businesses which have (hitherto) been amalgamated (into Trusts).

14. We demand that there shall be profit-sharing in the great industries.

15. We demand a generous development of provision for old age.

16. We demand the creation and maintenance of a healthy middle class, immediate communalization of wholesale warehouses, and their lease at a low rate to small traders, and that the most careful consideration shall be shown to all small purveyors to the State, the provinces, or smaller communities.

17. We demand a land reform suitable to our national requirements, the passing of a law for the confiscation without compensation of land for communal purposes, the abolition of interest on mortgages, and prohibition of all speculation in land.

On 13 April 1928, Adolf Hitler made the following declaration:

‘It is necessary to reply to the false interpretation on the part of our opponents of Point 17 of the Programme of the NSDAP (National Sozialistische Deutsche Arbeiter Partei).

‘Since the NSDAP admits the principle of private property, it is obvious that the expression “confiscation without compensation” refers merely to the creation of possible legal means of confiscating, when necessary, land illegally acquired, or not administered in accordance with the national welfare. It is therefore directed in the first instance against the Jewish companies which speculate in land.—(signed) Adolf Hitler—Munich, April 13, 1928’

18. We demand ruthless war upon all those whose activities are injurious to the common interest. Common criminals against the nation, usurers, profiteers, & etc., must be punished with death, whatever their creed or race.

19. We demand that the Roman Law, which serves the materialistic world order, shall be replaced by a German common law.

20. With the aim of opening to every capable and industrious German the possibility of higher education and consequent advancement to leading positions, the State must consider a thorough reconstruction of our national system of education. The curriculum of all educational establishments must be brought into line with the requirements of practical life. Directly the mind begins to develop, the schools must aim at teaching the pupil to understand the idea of the State (State sociology). We demand the education of specially gifted children of poor parents, whatever their class or occupation, at the expense of the State.

21. The State must apply itself to raising the standard health in the nation by protecting mothers and infants, prohibiting child labour, and increasing bodily efficiency by legally obligatory gymnastics and sports, and by extensive support of clubs engaged in the physical training of the young.

22. We demand the abolition of mercenary troops and the formation of a national army.

23. We demand legal warfare against conscious political lies and their dissemination in the Press. In order to facilitate the creation of a German national Press we demand:

a.) That all editors and contributors to newspapers employing the German language must be members of the nation;

b.) That special permission from the State shall be necessary before non-German newspapers may appear. These need not necessarily be printed in the German language;

c.) That non-Germans shall be prohibited by law from participating financially in or influencing German newspapers, and that the penalty for contravention of the law shall be suppression of any such newspaper, and immediate deportation of the non-German involved.

It must be forbidden to publish newspapers which do not conduce to the national welfare. We demand the legal prosecution of all tendencies in art and literature of a kind likely to disintegrate our life as a nation, and the suppression of institutions which militate against the above-mentioned requirements.

24. We demand liberty for all religious denominations in the State, so far as they are not a danger to it and do not militate against the morality and moral sense of the German race.

The Party, as such, stands for positive Christianity, but does not bind itself in the matter of creed to any particular confession. It combats the Jewish-materialist spirit within and without us, and is convinced that our nation can achieve permanent health from within only on the principle: the common interest before self-interest.

That all the foregoing requirements may be realized we demand the creation of a strong central power of the Reich. Unconditional authority of the politically central Parliament over the entire Reich and its organization in general.

The formation of Diets and vocational Chambers for the purpose of executing the general laws promulgated by the Reich in the various States of the Confederation.

The leaders of the Party swear to proceed regardless of consequences—if necessary at the sacrifice of their lives—towards the fulfillment of the foregoing Points. Munich, February 24, 1920

Before you throw up your hands in horror, I suggest you go back and re-look at each of the 24 items very carefully. If I left out names and locations—would it not indeed be quite familiar? Ask the American Indian! Ask the incarcerated Japanese!—ask the ones who attack this scribe daily to BAN THESE JOURNALS!

Dharma, allow us a break and then we will give you a better comparison: the “Emergency Banking Regulation” of the United States of America—under which you squarely fall—it is but an example. Your papers are completely controlled, as is your television media and radio—the news is identical, even unto scripting, from channel to channel—even your call-in radio talk programs are completely controlled—even unto the button which fades out the opinions of ones unlike that of the M.C.! Check out the radio program of Nevada's Billy Goodman when our publisher was set-up for batterment and the people are left with distorted and set-up lies. Read carefully, these things, for this is the way destruction begins! So be it.

Hatonn to stand-by. Salu.

Problem-Reaction-Solution: Implementation Of NWO

ALICE IN WONDERLAND AND THE WTC DISASTER

By David Icke, davidicke.com, 9/13/01

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR THE FORCE BEHIND THE U.S. ATROCITIES JUST ASK: WHO BENEFITS?

“Nothing would be what it is, Because everything would be what it isn’t. And contrary-wise—what it is, it wouldn’t be. And what it wouldn’t be, it would. You see?”—Alice in Wonderland.

The force that seeks to control this world and introduce its global fascist state, the network I call the Illuminati, is nothing if not predictable.

The unbelievable horror perpetrated on the cities of New York and Washington is a problem-reaction-solution sting on the collective mind of all humanity and I have been expecting an event of this magnitude for some years. I thought it could be a war or a nuclear “terrorist” device, but something fantastic was always going to happen during the years of the Bush presidency when, as I wrote on inauguration day, the agenda would be pressed forward with a gathering pace.

Fast as the world was being moved towards global centralised fascism, it was still not fast enough to match the timescale demanded by the Illuminati agenda. And the opposition to their globalisation plans and their assaults on freedom, was gathering by the day. It was clear that something of enormous magnitude was being orchestrated that would so devastate the collective human mind with fear, horror, and insecurity, that “solutions” could be offered that would advance the agenda in a colossal leap almost overnight. This is what we saw in America on the ritually-significant eleventh day of the ninth month—911 is the number for emergencies in the United States. Ritual and esoteric codes are at the heart of everything the Illuminati undertakes.

And, mind-numbing as these atrocities are, this is the start, not the end, of the next cycle of the Illuminati agenda for the mental, emotional, spiritual, and physical imprisonment of humankind. More and more death and destruction will unfold as the “Free World” unites as an (in effect) world army and world government to use the threat of “terrorism” (their own) to justify a war against the people and countries they choose to take the rap for what the very forces WITHIN the “free world” are themselves responsible for. Even war with the Islamic peoples is not the end, but the means to an end—a conflict with the remaining forces of communism, which they also control. Remember that the Illuminati operate through every country and within “terrorist” organisations and those agencies which “oppose” such terrorism. Only by having agents within all “sides” can they be sure of controlling the game and knowing the outcome before it starts. The Illuminati have operatives within the Islamic world, just as they have them in the so-called “free world”, as we shall see in the months to come. Saddam Hussein is every bit as much a knowing Illuminati pawn as Father George and Boy George Bush in America, for example (see And The Truth Shall Set You Free).

The predictability of the ritualistic, emotionless, reptilian mind can be seen in the news management that has followed this U.S. disaster. Look at what always happens in these circumstances and you will see that the blueprint is the same in almost every case. Before the event happens the fall-guy or “patsy” is already set up to take the blame, thus steering the public mind away from dangerous speculation and onto a pre-ordained target. After the Kennedy assassination it was Lee Harvey Oswald; after Oklahoma it was Timothy McVeigh; now it is Osama bin Laden.

Bin Laden, deeply misguided as he may be, is no more responsible for what happened this week than I am. His name was introduced with the most obvious co-ordination immediately after the disaster unfolded in the same way that the background to Lee Harvey Oswald was being circulated BEFORE President Kennedy was even dead.

The idea that this guy from the mountains of Afghanistan with far more mouth than substance could be the “Mr. Big” of this enormous operation is utterly insulting to anyone of even basic intelligence (see the article by journalist Robert Fisk, who has met him). We are not talking a parcel bomb here, nor even some mind-controlled fanatic driving a car bomb into a restaurant in Jerusalem. Four commercial airliners had to be simultaneously hijacked in American air space via American airports and flown into highly specific targets within 45 minutes of each other. How was this possible? Because it was an inside job, that’s how, orchestrated by forces WITHIN the United States and planned by the highest levels of U.S. “Intelligence” in co-ordination with other strands of the Illuminati spider’s web worldwide.

With an army now of mind-controlled assets at their disposal, it is possible to get them to do anything they require once the mind is programmed and the trigger given to activate them. Those responsible for hi-jacking those planes and flying them into buildings will, in their conscious mind, have believed in the “cause” they were programmed to believe in. But in truth they were not hi-jacking and flying those planes, their programming was. Mind control is now so sophisticated that such programming is almost child’s play.

This terror was not a failure of U.S. Intelligence for God’s sake. They were not supposed to uncover the plot and getting weapons onto planes is so much easier if you have support from those who control the system. I have heard that this is another “Pearl Harbor” and yes it is. You can read in And The Truth Shall Set You Free and other books and studies how the American government knew the Japanese were going to attack Pearl Harbor, but they did nothing about it. Why? Because they wanted it to happen for a specific reason—to justify the U.S. entry into the Second World War, which President Roosevelt (a blood relative of the Bushes) had said, just to get elected, that America would not be involved in. Problem-reaction-solution—and it’s the same with the terrible events of this week. (Press here for an explanation of Problem-Reaction-Solution (PRS) if you are new to this technique.)

In the immediate aftermath of the attacks, the “pin it on bin Laden” campaign was launched as per pre-arranged plan. The Republican Senator and Illuminati stooge, Orrin Hatch, for example, told CNN that he had high-level information from the FBI that bin Laden was behind the unprecedented attacks. “I do have some information,” Hatch said in reference to his FBI briefing. “They’ve come to the conclusion that this looks like it may be the signature of Osama bin Laden, that he may be the one behind this.” It’s OK, don’t go on, Orrin, we get the message and you have done your job.

Then we had the story of the hire car found so conveniently at Boston airport, where two planes were hijacked, which contained... yes... wait for it... a copy of the Koran and an instruction video for how to fly commercial jets!!! Am I in fairyland or what? I am surprised they did not claim to have discovered a letter from bin Laden in the car wishing the occupants the best of luck with their task. Maybe they plan to “find” that tomorrow, eh? It’s unbelievable nonsense, of course it is, but most will believe it. And you will see more and more manufactured “evidence” of the “bin Laden connection” systematically revealed in the days and weeks ahead.

So, the question: Who benefits? Well, the Illuminati want a world government and army, a world currency and centralised global financial dictatorship and control. They want micro-chipped people and a society based on constant surveillance of all kinds at all times. And they want a frightened, docile, subservient, people who give their power away to the “authorities” who can save them from what they have been manipulated to fear.

Funnily enough the question “who benefits from these horrific events in America?” can be answered very simply: Anyone who wants to introduce the above. The disaster of 9-11, means that:

*The Illuminati now have the excuse to retaliate against anyone their propaganda machine can manipulate the population to believe was to blame. Attacks against Islamic targets have the potential to be the trigger for massive conflict and upheaval across the world and especially in the Middle and Near East. The opportunities to then widen the conflict to involve Russia and China are endless. A third world war is part of the agenda and this can open the way for that as the dominoes fall.

*The “free world united with America” rhetoric from Blair and other “world leaders” is code for coming together as a world army and police force to fight a “war against terrorism”. Already the Bilderberg-controlled NATO (the world army in waiting) has pledged such support and the collective consciousness is being manipulated so comprehensively at this time that most people will support American and NATO terrorist attacks on unsubstantiated targets in the name of fighting terrorism. The stunning contradiction in this policy will be lost on the majority blinded by the blatant and intense mind manipulation that has followed the outrages in those U.S. cities.

*As conflict escalates as a result of such calculated “retaliation” the pressure for centralisation of military power and the willingness to concede that power by the populations of America and elsewhere will gather until the world army is in place, a world army with the power to attack and take over any country that their propaganda machine can demonise.

*The collective mind of humanity, and particularly that of America, is understandably now in a deeply traumatised state. They have been subjected to collective trauma-based mind control and, as any mind-controller or researcher can tell you, a traumatised mind is a suggestible mind. So in the wake of the trauma comes the programming to manipulate the population to see events in the desired fashion.

*One of the biggest potential obstacles to the “New World Order”, the centrally-controlled fascist global state, is the psyche of most American people. When faced with the prospect of giving up their right of self-determination to global military, political, and financial control, most would be vehemently opposed once they realised what was happening. Their collective sense of security, confidence, and pride in their nation and system has been built on the foundations of immense military and financial strength. It is a collective version of the John Wayne mentality—“don’t mess with us—this is America.” From that has come their collective confidence in themselves as a nation. Now that very sense of who they are, and their belief that they have the power to stand alone, is in danger of being devastated.

*It is absolutely no co-incidence that the targets of those hi-jacked planes were the very symbols of America’s sense of itself and its own security—the Pentagon, symbol of their military might, and the World Trade Centre, twin pillars of their financial might. This is not primarily an attack on America, it is an attack on America’s image and imagination of itself. Break their spirit and their sense of being “American”; break America’s confidence in itself; put it in fear and fundamental insecurity; and you have overcome the most significant opposition to America allowing itself to be absorbed into the Illuminati’s global and centrally-dictated society. The American psyche will now be bombarded with more and more shocks to its security and sense of self, as with Oklahoma and the school shootings in the past. But from now on everything will be increased dramatically. It is vital that Americans refuse to submit to this and realise that those who are condemning the terrorism in their midst are those who are responsible for it.

*When I first travelled America in 1996, I was staggered at what a controlled society the “Land of the Free” really was (though still not as bad as Canada). Now in the wake of this tragedy, the United States, and other countries, are set to become a fortress of invasive surveillance and, what’s more, because of what has happened, the American people will not utter a significant word of protest at the rapid expansion of this Big Brother society. Problem-reaction-solution. Watch for micro-chipping of people to be suggested to “stop the terrorists”.

*An economic disaster has long been predicted by those who have exposed and studied the Illuminati agenda. To overcome resistance to single currencies and central control of global finance, they need a world economic crash that will destroy the present system and kid the people into accepting centralised global control as the only way to overcome the crash. Problem-reaction-solution. This is another reason why these attacks struck in the very heart of America’s economic system—and why in the days before the carnage the talk of a global economic recession was plastered across the world media. Now they have a blank sheet of paper with the chance to justify such a collapse and you will see global economic bodies brought in to “co-ordinate a response to the economic crisis”. Indeed the G7 (Illuminati) grouping of nations has already begun this process.

*These are just a few of the “benefits” to the agenda from the death and destruction in New York and Washington that was, I repeat, co-ordinated by forces within U.S. borders. Those responsible are possessed by non-human entities and have no regard for human life any more than most humans have regard for the death and suffering of cattle. The reptilian mind has an undeveloped emotional level and therefore there is no emotional consequence for them no matter to what depths of horror and depravity they may sink. You only had to watch the emotionless, going-through-the-motions, reading the script, responses of George W. Bush and Tony Blair, the UK Prime Minister, in the face of such immense suffering to see an example of this. It was in the class of the Queen of England after the murder of Princess Diana. At least Reagan was a professional actor. Bush and Blair wouldn’t get in a school play.

Did George W. Bush know that these devastating disasters were going to happen that day? What do you think?? Did Tony Blair? What do you think?? But even they are only pawns in a game controlled by far greater powers and they are as expendable as anyone once they have served their purpose. Personally I would not be surprised in the least if Bush was sacrificed eventually to advance the “global terrorism” scenario, and perhaps someone very close to Blair also. And, of course, if Bush does go, the new President would be the serial killer, Dick Cheney (see The Biggest Secret). The stakes are going to be stacked very high indeed from this point because the final push to global fascism has begun.

The world will never be the same again, that’s true, but within every danger there is opportunity. And for those of us, the vast majority, who seek peace not conflict, freedom-for-all, not dictatorship-by-the-few, now have to look ourselves in the mirror and ask what we are going to do to stop these lunatics from taking over their asylum.

Complaining is not good enough any more. Running is no longer an option because soon there will be nowhere to run. It is time to lift the arse (that’s “ass” or “Bush” to Americans) from the chair and let’s stop sitting down and taking this shit. People can bombard the radio phone-ins with another version of reality and when they cut you off get back again and again; tell everyone you know where they can get information to give them another fix on what is really happening; send this and other articles on these subjects to everyone you know through e-mail, fax, or post; organise PEACEFUL protests against the fascist state whenever freedoms are threatened; get people together at meetings to discuss and assimilate information the media will not tell you; LOSE FEAR AND BE IRREVERENT IN THE FACE OF THIS ARROGANT DICTATORSHIP. IT CAN ONLY SURVIVE IF WE ARE FRIGHTENED OF IT AND INTIMIDATED BY IT.

There is so much we can do if only we first decide that we want to dedicate our lives to this with an unbreakable determination that will not concede to any level of intimidation or consequences.

The Dragon is nothing like as powerful as they want us to believe it is.

Come on, what are we waiting for?—LET’S GO. Remember: NO FEAR!!

HOW IT IS POSSIBLE TO ORCHESTRATE
AND MASTERMIND A TERRORIST ATTACK
WITHOUT THE TERRORISTS THEMSELVES
EVEN KNOWING WHO IS REALLY BEHIND IT

By David Icke, davidicke.com, 9/29/01

One of the crucial elements in the Illuminati global network is, as I have been emphasising in my books for years, the technique of “compartmentalisation”.

The Illuminati structure is one of pyramids within bigger pyramids within still bigger pyramids until you reach the one that encompasses all the others. It is like Russian dolls, one inside the other.

Look at any organisation today, a bank, business, university, government, whatever, and you will see that it is structured as a compartmentalised pyramid. The person who sits behind the counter in a bank will not know what their branch manager is deciding or planning, and the manager, in turn, will not know what is happening at regional level, and they will not know what is being planned at national level, and on it goes.

The only people who know the true plans and agenda of that bank are the handful at the top of the pyramid who know how all the innocent, individual, contributions by people employed by the bank fit together. The overwhelming majority of employees, including those in agencies like the CIA and FBI, have no idea what the big picture is because they are compartmentalised from what is going on elsewhere at their own level, let alone at higher and higher levels.

What can seem matter-of-fact and innocent to an individual within the pyramid can be very much more sinister when put together with everyone else’s compartmentalised contributions.

A “bank” pyramid, for instance, is encompassed by bigger pyramids until you have one that includes the whole global banking system and at the top of that are a handful of interbreeding families going back to the far ancient world who pull the strings of global finance to suit and manipulate their own agenda.

It is the same with governments, transnational corporations, the global media empires, the secret society network, national “security” agencies like the CIA, and so on. They are each compartmentalised on a “need to know” basis and imprisoned by bigger pyramids and at these higher levels these apparently unconnected institutions, businesses, and agencies are all the SAME organisation controlled by the SAME people.

This Illuminati structure of compartmentalised pyramids allows them to organise horrendous attacks like those in New York and Washington while those who actually hi-jacked the planes have no idea who the ultimate “Mr. Big” really is. For instance, the CIA (a mere tool and often fall guy for higher agencies) provided money and other support to the Afghan rebels and terrorist networks that eventually became the Taliban during the Soviet Union invasion.

But the money and support was channelled through Pakistan and elsewhere and while some in Afghanistan would have known where it was coming from, the vast majority would not have known the true source, nor the nature of the global game in which they were being used as mere pawns.

The Illuminati don’t control everyone or even nearly everyone in these various organisations, they control those who control the organisation. It is through these few key positions of decision-making that everyone else in the organisation, the pyramid, is told what they will and will not do. It does not take many people to control the actions and policy of an organisation, whatever it may be, if you control the key decision-making positions.

So in terms of the atrocities in the United States, let’s start with those who actually hi-jacked the planes. These could have been directly mind-controlled and programmed to do it, or they could have genuinely believed they were serving their religion. Probably a combination of the two. It matters not to the Illuminati, it is the outcome they are interested in.

The hi-jackers would have answered to a network or what they believed were the actual organisers. But from that point they would have lost track of the power game that was playing them like a violin. Who controlled what the hi-jackers believed was their support and organisational network? They have no idea.

The Illuminati do not represent a “side” or a “faction”. They CREATE the “sides” and the “factions” and they use them to manipulate the game of divide and rule and centralisation of global power. They operate within the Islamic world as they operate within the “Western world”.

So as the bigger pyramids envelope the smaller pyramids you reach a point in the structure where the same force is manipulating and organising the horrors in America while also manipulating and organising the RESPONSE to those horrors through their puppets such as Bush, Cheney, Powell, and Blair.

This is how they can work their problem-reaction-solution scams. One of their strands creates the problem (in this case the U.S. atrocities) another strand (the media) tells the people the Illuminati version of the problem (98% of journalists do this unknowingly), and yet another strand offers the “solutions” to the problem, “solutions” which advance their global agenda (in this case a massive erosion of freedoms to “fight terrorism”).

NEXT STAGE: SPECIAL OPERATIONS

By Dave Moniz, Andrea Stone and Kirk Spitzer,
USA TODAY, 10/11/01

Here's what's expected next: In the deepest hours of a cold, moonless night over the bare mountains of Afghanistan, specially equipped Army Blackhawk helicopters packed with infrared sensors and satellite navigation gear will swoop in low and hover over a well-studied landing zone. In less than a minute, teams of U.S. commandos will descend by rope to begin their grisly work: capturing or killing Osama bin Laden's foot soldiers. They'll use non-lethal grenades to stun them, coordinate their stealthy movements with "whisper" microphones and pin their quarry down with laser-sighted machine guns.

For now, these are likely scenarios, described in hypothetical fashion by experts in commando tactics. Even when the actual operations unfold, they might not show up on CNN or in the nation's newspapers—at least not right away. And some covert actions of the new U.S. war on terrorism may never be revealed.

That's because the warriors waging the conflict are the stealth soldiers of the U.S. military: elite special operations forces. The daunting task for several thousand of these commandos is to root out the terrorists in Afghanistan, and possibly elsewhere.

A military source says commando raids in Afghanistan likely will begin soon.

"Clearly, it's going to be dangerous. It's going to be secret," predicts Dave Wilberding, a former team leader with the 1st Special Forces Group in Okinawa, Japan.

Who are these fighters?

They are a collection of seasoned intelligence specialists, deadly snipers, linguists, explosives experts and "snatch and grab" pros who are so secretive about their work that even their wives and parents don't know what they do. They are known by many names: Army Rangers, Green Berets and Delta Force; Navy SEALs and Air Force special ops.

Some almost certainly will die. Others will fight in the kind of fierce ground combat last seen in Somalia, in 1993, when U.S. Army Rangers and Delta Force soldiers killed more than 500 Somalis but lost 18 of their own in a failed effort to capture aides to warlord Mohamed Farrah Aidid.

"These people could go out and drop out of the night with no warning, spend an hour or two on the ground, leaving nothing behind but smoking holes and screams," says John Gresham, a military researcher who co-wrote the non-fiction book Special Forces with Tom Clancy. "Special operations was made" for this war, he adds.

The battle already has been joined. Defense sources say that a dozen Army Green Berets—aided by British special forces—are now operating incognito in Afghanistan, and more are on the way. They are probing the landscape and providing intelligence on the movements of bin Laden's forces and the Taliban troops protecting them.

The commandos also are training anti-Taliban rebels to launch an offensive, possibly within days, against the ruling regime as U.S. bombing raids taper off.

In the weeks ahead, the Green Berets will be followed by helicopter-borne assault troops. Military officials and former Special Forces officers say they will fight a lightning war with strikes from bases in neighboring countries and forays of just a few hours at most on the ground.

Those who have read the history of past armies that have regretted invading Afghanistan say American forces are determined to avoid the mistakes of the British and Soviets, who fought large-scale wars with conventional troops—and lost.

"This is going to be a bunch of guys in black helicopters, flying around at night, jumping off and shooting people," says John Pike, director of GlobalSecurity.Org, a defense research group.

The Pentagon never divulges details about missions involving the 45,000 special ops troops. The Army's Delta Force is so secretive that its compound at Fort Bragg, N.C., is off-limits even to other groups of commandos. Some Army soldiers won't dare speak Delta's name, choosing instead to identify them by euphemisms such as "D Boys," "dark ops" or "the dark side".

Each special ops branch has its own specialties:

- Army: The Delta Force, Green Berets and Rangers do everything from rescuing hostages to training rebels to parachuting into hostile territory from high altitudes.

- Air Force: Special ops airmen are expert in rescuing downed aircrews and coordinating airstrikes.

- Navy: SEALs (which stands for sea, air and land) are experts at tasks ranging from demolition to secret beach landings. They are not expected to play a major role in landlocked Afghanistan.

The Marines have troops with similar skills but no separate unit dedicated to special ops.

The elite of the elite warriors are members of Delta Force, just 360 strong. They, along with hundreds of Army Rangers, are most likely to be sent to hunt down terrorists hiding in caves and bunkers. These teams would be supported by the Green Berets, who are advising and training the rebel Northern Alliance troops fighting the Taliban.

The Green Berets—who trace their roots to the Kennedy administration and were popularized in Barry Sadler's Vietnam-era song, The Ballad of the Green Berets—are divided into five groups of 1,200 soldiers each. They operate in small teams that include specialists in reconnaissance, communications, demolition and weapons.

The 5th Special Operations Group, based at Fort Campbell, Ky., specializes in Central Asia. Some of the troops speak Afghan languages and know the local culture. The 10th Special Forces, based at Fort Carson, Colo., and Germany, specializes in cold weather missions, which is good training for Afghanistan's fall climate.

America's elite forces are older and more experienced than other combat forces and are selected for physical skills and mental toughness. Fewer than half those who try to become Green Berets make it.

Prospective Green Berets must pass a 3-week assessment course just to become serious candidates. The course involves team problem-solving and grueling daylong maneuvers in mountainous terrain. Those who pass then must take a 5-month qualifying course. All Green Berets are required to become "expert marksmen," the highest shooting rating.

Stan Florer, a retired Army colonel whose last tour was as chief of staff for Army Special Operations Command at Fort Bragg, says many myths about commandos persist. "The guys who will go after the terrorists have mental endurance. They are guys who can deal with ambiguous situations," he says. "They would laugh at the image of Rambo."

Most prefer their unofficial nickname, "the quiet professionals".

Some special operations forces don't look like elite soldiers. Members of Delta Force and some Green Berets, Florer says, would be impossible to pick out of a lineup.

They might not be muscle bound or sport military haircuts. They might, in fact, have beards and be fluent in obscure languages. They have to be quick thinkers and resourceful problem-solvers. "Their best protection is their brain," Gresham says. They are an exclusive club of men—except for a few women allowed to fly in airplanes.

"They have got to handle the pressure of ambiguous orders and still think clearly," Florer says.

Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld says many commando victories won't be announced. Failures, especially if Americans die, will no doubt be broadcast to the world by the enemy.

After the Somalis dragged the body of a dead Ranger through the streets of the capital, Mogadishu, in 1993, the Clinton administration withdrew forces from the country.

Special ops have left their footprints on several battlefields in recent years, sometimes with disastrous results. A mission in 1980 to rescue American hostages in Iran resulted in the deaths of 8 special ops troops when a C-130 cargo plane and a helicopter collided.

In 1984, poor coordination during an invasion of Grenada to rescue American students on the Caribbean island left 18 regular troops and commandos dead. Five years later in Panama, Delta Force troops rescued an American from a prison during a U.S. invasion. During the 1991 Gulf War, Green Berets sneaked into Iraq to locate targets and direct airstrikes.

The deaths of some forces involved in super-secret operations are never made public. In Special Forces, Gresham lists 14 Green Berets killed in 1998-99 alone. Pat Traeger, a former Green Beret and spokesman for the Special Operations Warrior Foundation, says the casualty rate for special operations forces is nine times that of conventional forces.

Special operations forces, well funded at nearly $4 billion a year, are a world apart from much of America's military. The Pentagon also has its own regional headquarters for the nation's elite soldiers, Special Operations Command, at MacDill Air Force Base in Tampa. Gen. Hugh Shelton, the just-retired chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, headed Special Operations Command before he was picked to lead the U.S. military.

Experts say there are encouraging signs that America's shadow warriors can succeed in what is expected to be brutal, face-to-face encounters in Afghanistan.

Although the Soviets retreated from the country in 1989, they had some success fighting rebel forces there in the mid-1980s by using commandos. Former Green Beret commander Florer says that the Soviets were routing mujahedin soldiers with nighttime helicopter raids to hunt down their hideouts.

"They had completely taken apart the mujahedin," Florer says. Experts say only American-provided Stinger anti-aircraft missiles helped turn the tide for the Afghan rebels. The shoulder-fired missiles forced Soviet aircraft to fly above 10,000 feet, which reduced their effectiveness.

The question now: How will U.S. commandos fare?

One of the last U.S. military officers to spend time in Afghanistan believes they could do well. Former Army captain Richard Kidd, who worked in Afghanistan for a United Nations program in 1998-99, says the Taliban fighters are not invincible. Many come from feuding clans who may be tireless fighters but are not well trained and could be bribed into defecting.

In an e-mail distributed on the Internet, Kidd says Taliban troops aren't a great military force, but "Osama bin Laden and others do not think the U.S. has the will or the stomach for a fight."

Michael O'Hanlon, a military analyst at the Brookings Institution in Washington, counters that this time the public is prepared for casualties. "We keep going," he says. "If we are making progress toward getting people and we lose 10 helicopters, I think the country has the stomach for it." JR: These "shadow warriors" are called up when there is a tough enemy to face or for highly sensitive covert operations. Their special training is as extreme as the conditions they fight in. Their MK/ULTRA mental conditioning and programming is what turns these men into the elite fighters they are. One wonders what, if anything, is left of conscience after they have successfully completed their training.]

PRESSURE ON INS
TO PUT MORE FOCUS ON SECURITY

By Monica Davey and Andrew Zajac, Tribune, 10/14/01

The discovery that 19 hijackers lived and trained for their suicide missions in the United States has sparked a fundamental question about the agency charged with securing the nation's borders.

Can the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service protect the country from terrorists?

Without a significant shift in the agency's priorities, interviews with experts and former INS officials suggest, the answer is no.

Faced with huge increases in visitors, INS has placed growing emphasis on smooth, speedy service through international airports and across borders, key to American business interests.

In recent years INS measured itself in large part by how quickly it managed its work. The agency boasts on its Web site, for instance, that it cleared nearly 80 percent of all plane flights "within 30 minutes or less" in 2000.

Left behind, critics say, were other priorities: security and investigations inside the country.

"The focus was on making it easy: don't bother to track people, disregard wholesale violations of immigration laws unless they're horribly egregious," said Jim Dorcy, a former INS worker who consults for the Federation for American Immigration Reform, an INS critic. "We didn't want to do anything to impede international commerce. INS, to hold up a businessman, that was asking for trouble."

To create an adequate first line of protection against terrorism, the INS would need to change its philosophy, placing far greater emphasis on tracking visitors here, with more funds, more investigators and better technology.

In Washington the pressure to do that since Sept. 11 has been mounting. Bipartisan Senate legislation calls for INS to ramp up its investigative capability. Still, with the concerns of business interests and immigrant advocates at stake as well as a long history of being steered by pressure from special interests, the question of INS' long-term priorities is far from answered....

The sheer scope of INS' task is enormous, and has grown exponentially since the late 1980s, when an amnesty transformed roughly 3 million illegal immigrants into legal residents, making them eligible for INS services including, eventually, citizenship. Through the 1990s a prosperous global economy fueled travel as never before, nearly doubling the number of legal visitors entering the U.S. to 31 million in 1999, up from 17.5 million in 1990.

Every year 4,775 inspectors, out of a total INS workforce of 30,500, process about 550 million border crossings. The agency has only about 2,000 agents to conduct investigations once visitors clear a port of entry.

INS spokeswoman Nicole Chulick denied that the agency has focused on processing visitors to the detriment of enforcement. "There has been an emphasis on facilitation as well as on enforcement," she said....

From 1994 until 2000, the INS budget tripled to $4.8 billion from $1.6 billion, with more than half of the growth devoted to services for people from other countries, such as processing work-permit and citizenship applications and quickly clearing visitors at ports of entry, and a massive expansion of efforts to staunch the flow of illegal immigrants, primarily at the Mexican border.

In that span, INS increased spending for border management by more than $1.1 billion and for services to immigrants by nearly $500 million. Meanwhile, funding for "interior enforcement"—investigations of visa holders and potential threats inside the country—increased by only $146 million.

Though patrolling the border is designed to keep illegal immigrants out, recent history suggests it does little to filter out terrorists, who generally find their way into the country using legal or phony documents....

Many of the questions raised since the attacks about interior enforcement have centered on the visa system, which many of the hijackers used to their advantage. Thirteen of the 19 obtained legal visas to come to the U.S., INS commissioner James W. Ziglar said last week. A month after the terror attacks, the agency said it cannot find records on the rest.

Although four hijackers had visa statuses that might have drawn attention—they stayed longer than allowed or never showed up at the school listed on a visa—none drew notice from the INS or other federal investigators until a few weeks before the attacks. By then, two whose names came up on a law-enforcement "watch list" could not be located.

What happened during the terrorists' stays in the U.S. is not unusual. The INS does not track the whereabouts of most visitors once they get here. It rarely knows when a student fails to turn up for school. It does not look for most people who overstay their visas.

"The terrorists did something that's not uncommon—either they didn't proceed to where they were supposed to go or they came and stayed longer," said Ira Kurzban, an immigration lawyer in Miami. "INS is the only enforcement agency that doesn't do enforcement."

The attacks have prompted lawmakers in Washington to weigh dramatic shifts in INS' priorities that would turn unprecedented attention and new funds to interior enforcement.

One proposal calls for tracking all visa recipients while they are in the country and when they leave. The bill would require development of an automated system, including digitized fingerprints, with up-to-date addresses and other information on visa holders.

The bill also aims to improve screening for visas by forcing the FBI, INS and other federal agencies to share more intelligence.

Measures mandated by the legislation would cost between $350 million and $500 million, according to Ernest Blazar, a spokesman for co-sponsor Sen. Christopher Bond (R-Mo.).

Before Congress last week, Ziglar endorsed many of the proposals. He conceded that the INS is playing catchup in the terror war: "The structure of the organization and the management systems we have in place are outdated and, in many respects, inadequate for the challenges we face."

INS technology is in an especially woeful state. A General Accounting Office investigator told the same congressional hearing that INS, despite spending $300 million a year, does not have the information technology to do its job....

Others cautioned against letting fear push lawmakers too far in enacting measures that unduly crimp commerce and sap immigrant vitality....

In the aftermath of bombings at the World Trade Center and in Oklahoma City in the 1990s, Congress authorized the INS to set up one computerized system to monitor the entry and exit of visa recipients and a second one specifically to track student visa holders. Neither system was fully funded because of complaints that they were overly burdensome to administer....

[JR: During the '90s the Clinton administration had our borders open wide which allowed the influx of millions of immigrants. Just before the presidential elections were held, thousands of illegals were "fast tracked" to citizenship so they could vote for democratic candidates. Our INS policies or lack thereof fit right into the plans of the globalists whose aim was to eliminate national borders to move populations and assimilate them around the globe. How many immigrants here know enough about our American history except what is put forth by the media. In 50 years loyal Americans may become an endangered species.]

NATO SENDS RADAR SURVEILLANCE PLANES TO PROTECT UNITED STATES

By Gerry J. Gilmore and Rudi Williams,
American Forces Press, 10/10/01

WASHINGTON—NATO has sent five of its Airborne Warning and Control Systems aircraft from Germany to Oklahoma in a historic first.

The action will free America's own AWACS radar aircraft for operations against terrorism elsewhere, according to Air Force Gen. Joseph W. Ralston, supreme allied commander, Europe. This marks the first time in NATO's 52-year history that the alliance's assets are being used to help protect the United States, NATO officials noted.

The AWACS planes, plus a support aircraft, will assist U.S. continental defense operations in the wake of the Sept. 11 terror attacks in New York City and Washington, said Air Force Capt. Ed Thomas, spokesman for the North American Aerospace Defense Command, Peterson Air Force Base, Colo.

The NATO aircraft began deploying Oct. 9 from Geilenkirchen, Germany, and the last of the five are expected to be in place at Tinker Air Force Base, Okla., by Oct. 11, Thomas said.

The aircraft, under NORAD command, will be flown by multinational crews from 12 NATO nations, he noted. NORAD is responsible for air defense and early air warning for North American airspace.

The aircraft feature high-tech airborne surveillance, command and control, and communications systems and a crew of up to 19, depending on the mission, he remarked. The NATO AWACS planes, he said, will be providing radar coverage and surveillance operations for NORAD combat air patrols.

"They'll augment what our U.S. resources were doing... and provide an enhanced situational awareness to NORAD," he remarked, adding that the planes would "be here as long as we need them."

After the terror attacks on America, NATO invoked Article 5 of its charter, which states that a foreign attack on one member is considered an attack on the other 18 members.

Thomas said the United States requested the assistance. NATO ambassadors, who expressed their full support for the United States and the United Kingdom's global campaign against terrorism, approved the U.S. request.

Ralston said NATO naval assets taking part in an exercise off the coast of Spain have been reassigned to the Standing Naval Force Mediterranean, consisting of nine ships from eight NATO countries.

"They've set sail to provide an allied military presence in the eastern Mediterranean and to demonstrate our resolve," the general said.

"These two actions underline the unwavering commitment of the 19 NATO nations to fight terrorism," Ralston said. "We stand ready to provide any additional support requested by the United States, on order of the North Atlantic Council."

[JR: This assistance from NATO (at our request) is to get Americans used to the idea of having foreign troops in our country. Our 30 AWACS are conveniently in use overseas so that NATO's AWACS and crews can be stationed here to "guard our homeland". Next will be for NATO to send foreign ground troops, not to protect us but to be our jailers. In the meantime our troops will be kept overseas securing nations for the globalists to rule over. That's the big picture and has nothing to do with protecting America or its citizens. We had exchange programs for students and professionals for years and now we openly have a military exchange program, which is supposed to be unconstitutional.]

SUNSET LAWS SAFEGUARD TERRORISM BILLBy Mark Fitzgibbons, FOX NEWS, 10/13/01

This Friday, the House pulled its version of the anti-terrorism legislation and rammed through the version that the Senate had passed the day before—holding on, however, to the key provision of the House bill that the law would expire in two years.

That sunset provision is a compromise of sorts between the need for speed versus protection against potential long-term mistakes. The House and Senate will now go to conference to determine whether the sunset provision will stay or go.

Rhetoric from Attorney General Ashcroft, who proposed most of the Senate version which would permanently damage certain liberties of innocent citizens, should not dissuade supporters of a sunset provision. The fact that the war on terrorism will last longer than two years is no reason not to sunset the anti-terrorism legislation. With a sunset provision, Congress must review in two years not only whether the law has detrimental affects on our freedoms, but whether it is effective or not at actually reducing terrorism.

The United States must take security measures given the apparent certainty of retaliatory strikes. The two-year sunset simply ensures that mistakes made in the current climate do not become institutionalized.

History has shown that in times of crisis, Americans lose liberties that would not otherwise be lost and are never quite taken back from the government. Therefore, our Constitution needs its greatest protection in times of crisis, and the two-year sunset would, if nothing else, be wise. The Constitution, created by people who experienced great crises on American soil, establishes both the means to deal with threats of attack and checks on power to maintain our freedoms. Viewed in its entirety and as stated in its Preamble, the Constitution was designed for both the common defense and to secure the blessings of liberty for posterity. Those purposes are not incompatible, and the framers warned against eschewing liberty for safety because liberty makes us stronger.

While certain members of Congress have tried to ensure protections of our liberties, sunset legislation would provide an added safeguard against unintended consequences of legislation reactive to Sept. 11. It allows for speedy legislation. Although speed appears to be warranted, panic is not.

While we are in uncharted territory, Sept. 11 must nonetheless be viewed in context. United States officials were aware of the potential for terrorist attacks even more calamitous than what happened. We needed better security before September 11, as all of us now know in hindsight. But on Sept. 10, who would have been willing to sacrifice our liberties for more security?

A sunset provision will help ensure that laws passed in response to Sept. 11 are not so disruptive to our liberties, commerce and way of life—even if such disruptions are unintended—that we are better off without them. We may now see the need to take steps that we should have taken before September 11, but let's not cede our ways of life in a panic to enact legislation. Congress should force itself to review in two years what it has done so that the public can later support the good laws—and reject the bad ones—after some experience of living with them.

[JR: If Congress rejects the sunset provision in this Anti-terrorist legislation they will have abjured or disavowed our U.S. Constitution. We will have no rights as citizens because our President and not Congress has declared war against terrorism. He has attained that privilege under Executive Orders that are renewed regularly without the consent of Congress. This may be legal though not lawful. It is the new, though undeclared, UN Constitution by which our President and our Congress derive their power. Check it out!]

GERMANY SUPPLIED CHEMICAL,
BIO WEAPONS AGENTS TO U.S.By Agence France-Presse, INQUIRER—RP, 10/15/01

BERLIN—Germany supplied the U.S. military in 1999 with chemical and biological agents for use in weapons, the economy ministry said on Sunday, confirming a report in the Welt am Sonntag newspaper.

The shipments were “completely in agreement” with national export laws, a ministry spokeswoman said, without giving further detail.

Welt am Sonntag quoted a government report saying the exports had included “biological agents and radioactive materials for use in war—to disable people and animals, to impair the function of equipment or to destroy harvests and the environment—and chemical weapons.”

The chemical weapons included nerve, skin and psychological agents as well as defoliation chemicals, all of which had been prepared in German laboratories, it said.

The shipments were worth 39.5 million euros (35.6 million dollars), or 12 percent of German military exports to the United States, according to the report.

[JR: With this secret war we are waging, only God will know by what means and weapons we will have won our victories. How can we or our allies in good conscience engage in such actions against our fellow human beings? No wonder Bush said this first war of the new millennium will be a new kind of war, one we've never fought before. It's no improvement over the old wars, is it? It will be worse than we, or Hollywood, could ever imagine.]

U.S. DEPLOYS CONTROVERSIAL WEAPONBy Richard Norton-Taylor, The Guardian—UK, 10/12/01

United States aircraft are dropping cluster bombs on Afghanistan for the first time as pilots begin to look for moving targets, including armoured vehicles and troop convoys.

The weapons—which scatter about 150 small “bomblets” over a large area and whose use has been condemned by the Red Cross and other humanitarian agencies—can be dropped by B-52 bombers.

B-52 bombers engaged in air strikes on Afghanistan are based on the British Indian Ocean territory of Diego Garcia.

“The prime focus was garrisons, bivouac areas, maintenance sites, troop-type facilities,” a U.S. defence official said yesterday. The official described the latest round of round-the-clock bombing as “substantial”. U.S. officials hope the cluster bomb attacks on troops may persuade some Taliban commanders to change sides.

The attacks involved about 10 B-52 and B-1 bombers, which took off from Diego Garcia. The Pentagon said they dropped “area munitions”, including CBU-89 Gators, which are 1,000-pound cluster bombs.

The Red Cross last year called for a ban on cluster bombs.

In a report sent to the UN it said some 30,000 unexploded bomblets remained in Kosovo after the conflict ended. They are estimated to have caused up to 150 casualties, including the death of two Gurkha soldiers.

“Unlike anti-personnel mines, incidents involving these sub-munitions usually result in death or injury to several people as a result of their greater explosive power,” the Red Cross said.

Cluster bombs are used to cover a broad area rather than a single specific target. The bomblets, or “sub-munitions”, contain higher explosive than landmines and their normally brightly-coloured casings make them attractive to children.

An internal Ministry of Defence report estimated that 60% of the 531 cluster bombs dropped by the RAF during the conflict in Kosovo missed their intended target or remain unaccounted for. Cluster bombs were dropped from medium and high altitudes during the Kosovo conflict despite official U.S. assessments after the 1991 Gulf War that they were likely to miss their targets.

On average, between 5% and 12% of the bomblets fail to explode, according to UN estimates.

In its report on the lessons from Kosovo, the MoD last year described cluster bombs as “an effective weapon against area targets such as a group of soft-skinned military vehicles”....

[JR: What kind of hell is raining down on Afghanistan we can only guess. It should bother and be troublesome to those who still have a conscience. The Red Cross may be for banning the use of “cluster” bombs but it hasn't done much if anything to stop its use since the Gulf War. We accept war as a means to an end and never give a thought as to the evil that motivates such actions. Wars are fought to attain dominance, control and acquisitions. It's never about peace!]

PENTAGON SEARCHES FOR
IRAQI CONNECTION IN ATTACKSBy Barbara Slavin, USA TODAY, 10/11/01

WASHINGTON—Pentagon officials, frustrated by the anti-terrorism campaign's focus on Afghanistan, have quietly gone around the intelligence establishment and asked a former CIA director to look for an Iraqi connection to the Sept. 11 attacks, government sources say. The sources say James Woolsey, CIA director under President Clinton from 1993 through 1994, is seeking evidence that would justify U.S. attacks on Iraq, an action some appointed Pentagon officials have been advocating without success.

Woolsey, who quit his CIA post amid charges of poor performance, would not confirm or deny the report. “I am on record as saying that I believe the U.S. government should look into the issue of Iraqi government involvement in terrorism,” he said Wednesday. He added, “I do not work for the U.S. government for pay.”

The unorthodox role assigned to Woolsey is the latest salvo in a policy battle between the Pentagon and State Department since Sept. 11. Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul Wolfowitz and Undersecretary Douglas Feith, among others, have argued that the anti-terrorism campaign should target the regime of Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein.

The administration has not ruled out broadening the war but has confined retaliation so far to Afghanistan, which harbors Osama bin Laden and his al-Qa'eda network. Arab allies have warned that hitting Iraq would arouse anti-U.S. public opinion.

There has been a heated debate over whether Iraq had a hand in the attacks on New York and Washington. Mohamed Atta, pilot of the first jet to hit the World Trade Center, met with an Iraqi intelligence operative in June 2000, shortly before coming to the U.S.A. Pentagon officials leaked that information to news media within an hour of it crossing their desks.

The CIA and FBI have not reported any other evidence implicating Iraq, but the Pentagon officials don't accept that. Meanwhile, a fatal case of anthrax in Florida has raised new suspicions. Iraq made biological and chemical weapons before the 1991 Persian Gulf War. Other signs of tense U.S.-Iraqi relations:

- * John Negroponte, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, warned Iraq's UN ambassador this week not to take advantage of the U.S. strikes on Afghanistan to assist the Taliban regime or to move against Iraqi domestic opponents.
- * Iraq said on Wednesday that it shot down a pilotless U.S. surveillance plane. The Pentagon said a drone was missing.

Saddam and bin Laden could do a lot for each other. Vince Cannistraro, a former chief of counterterrorism for the CIA, says Iraq's ambassador to Turkey, Farouk Hijazi, went to Afghanistan in December 1998. He was impressed by the bombings that year of two U.S. embassies in Africa, in which 224 people died, including 12 Americans. Cannistraro says Hijazi offered to bring bin Laden and his network to Iraq, but bin Laden refused.

Cannistraro says bin Laden doesn't want to become a tool of Saddam, who has killed many Muslim fundamentalists and is seen by them as a secular thug. [JR: We have not bothered to produce any sustainable evidence against bin Laden which would satisfy Muslim countries and yet we have succeeded in declaring an "instant war" against strategically located Afghanistan. Next in our sights is Iraq. Any evidence against Iraq regarding its chemical and biological capabilities has to be gleaned from the business deals made by Saddam with ex-partner, CIA boss and President George Bush Sr. prior to the Gulf War. How is that "reliable source" for information and connections?]

U.S. VISION FOR KABUL
INCLUDES VITAL UN ROLE

By Nicholas Kravlev, The Washington Times, 10/11/01

The United States yesterday outlined a vision for a post-Taliban Afghanistan with a pivotal role for the United Nations, as China and Russia endorsed the concept of a coalition government to replace the hard-line militia...

The Bush administration until now has said that toppling the Taliban and installing a new government in Kabul is not among its objectives. But Mr. Powell said yesterday the United States will be involved in rebuilding Afghanistan as part of a broad multinational effort.

"The United Nations might well have to play a very, very important role in a post-Taliban world," he said in an NBC interview.

"We want to see eventually arise in Afghanistan a government that represents all the people," he said.

"It's important for all of us to recognize that, in a post-Taliban Afghanistan, we will have important work to do—humanitarian work, economic development, helping the people of Afghanistan and putting in place some level of stability that has so far eluded Afghanistan in recent years."

Washington has been reluctant to designate the opposition Northern Alliance as the Taliban's successor, even though it is still recognized as Afghanistan's legitimate government by the United Nations. U.S. officials have also been in contact with the former Afghan King Mohammed Zahir Shah, who now lives in Rome.

In a major blow to the Taliban, China and Russia said yesterday they support the formation of a coalition government in Afghanistan. Their positions became clear during a telephone conversation between the two foreign ministers, Tang Jiaxuan and Igor Ivanov, Chinese state media reported.

Mr. Ivanov told Mr. Tang that the international community should support the establishment of "a coalition government with a wide-ranging basis," according to the People's Daily newspaper.

Mr. Tang said in turn that a coalition government that was "able to cooperate with neighboring countries in a friendly manner" would benefit the Afghan people and regional peace and stability.

China has closed its short stretch of border with Afghanistan.

Both Beijing and Moscow back Washington's campaign against terrorism, but they have also sought Western support for their own troubles with groups they view as terrorist...

Terrorism will be high on the agenda during President Bush's visit to Shanghai next week for the annual Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) summit, a senior State Department official said yesterday at the end of a two-day trip to Beijing...

In an effort to smooth out frictions between India and Pakistan, which could potentially weaken the anti-terrorist coalition, Mr. Powell said he will urge both countries to more vigorously pursue their dialogue on the disputed Himalayan region of Kashmir and other issues.

The Indian Foreign Ministry said New Delhi will tell Mr. Powell during his visit that the United States "has made the problem a part of its solution" by including Pakistan in the coalition, "which we will not accept as long as Pakistan supports cross-border terrorism in Kashmir."

India accuses Pakistan of arming and training Islamic guerrillas in Kashmir.

Islamabad rejects the accusations but backs what it calls a legitimate struggle for self-rule....

In the NBC interview, Mr. Powell also dismissed fresh threats against the United States by Osama bin Laden's al Qaeda network and said a statement by the group televised Tuesday may have contained "some kind of message," adding, "That's why analysts are looking at it."

The al Qaeda spokesman, Sulaiman Bu Ghaith, said on Qatar's Al Jazeera television network that there would be more attacks on the United States until it "exits our land", stops supporting Israel and lifts sanctions on Iraq.

"It's a chilling challenge, but I assure you we will meet that challenge," Mr. Powell said.

"We will pursue that campaign until that spokesman will no longer have any reason to make such boasts," he said.

[JR: Are you ready to buy into the spin that the U.S. (and Britain in particular) is bombing the hell out of Afghanistan so that the UN could play an "important role" in forming a new government? The prize is to set up a puppet government who will rule in Afghanistan to protect the oil czars' vital interest. This new war isn't to fight terrorism as much as it is to promote globalism. I can't figure why China and Russia are in agreement to such a coalition government set up by the UN or U.S. Russia and China spent all last year signing pacts and agreements in South and Central Asia to checkmate the U.S.'s influence in those regions. I suspect a dangerous game of diplomatic cat and mouse going on here.]

BRITISH PREMIER USES ARAB MEDIA TO SPREAD MESSAGE

By E.A. Torriero, Tribune, 10/12/01

CAIRO—Alternating as a newspaper columnist, television talk-show guest and diplomat, British Prime Minister Tony Blair on Thursday continued his information offensive, trying to sway mainstream Arab opinion that is strongly against the U.S.-led bombing of Afghanistan.

"One thing becoming increasingly clear to me is the need to upgrade our media and public opinion operations in the Arab and Muslim world," Blair told reporters on his plane from Oman after he appeared on the pan-Arab satellite television station Al-Jazeera. "There is a need for us to communicate effectively."

But Blair apparently will not get that opportunity in Saudi Arabia, one of the key Arab countries in the coalition against terrorism. A Saudi-owned newspaper reported Thursday that the British leader was asked to cancel his trip to the tightly run kingdom.

Blair aides discounted the story, saying they only had "discussions" about including Saudi Arabia in the diplomatic mission that includes trips to Oman and Egypt. They said schedule conflicts prevented a meeting between Blair and Saudi Crown Prince Abdullah.

British Foreign Secretary Jack Straw told BBC Radio 4's Today program that "the government of Saudi Arabia has made it clear that it would welcome a visit with the prime minister; but as ever with these things, it is a matter of sorting out a convenient time for both sides."

Still, the purported Saudi rebuff is indicative of the increasingly uneasy feelings in the Arab world over the U.S.-led attacks on Afghanistan.

Arab governments are in a bind. They feel bound to fight terrorism and the Taliban regime harboring the alleged mastermind of the Sept. 11 hijacking attacks, Osama bin Laden. But they must keep in check the growing anti-American feelings among their people.

Blair's trip to the region is part of a Western campaign to convince Arabs that the military action against Afghanistan is not a war against Islam.

"Many of you have your own opinions on whether this move is right or wrong. But I would like to persuade you of one thing; our dispute is not with Islam but with terrorism and with those who support it," Blair wrote in a column translated into Arabic in the London-based al-Hayat newspaper.

"Osama bin Laden knows this war is not against Islam. He knows this war is against him and his like—the terrorists who kill thousands of innocents. He knows we are committed to cooperating with Muslim countries as equal partners in the fight against terrorism," Blair wrote.

In his column, an unusual venue for a British senior statesman, Blair used Islamic words to invoke the memory of the Prophet Muhammad and to compare the allied offensive to Islamic wartime traditions.

"Prophet Muhammad, peace be upon him, used to tell his troops not to kill women, children, noncombatants, elderly people and monks," Blair wrote. "He even prohibited the cutting of fruit-bearing trees or poisoning water wells of the enemy."

Blair appeared Thursday morning on Al-Jazeera, the network criticized by the Bush administration for running videotaped speeches from bin Laden. The British leader spoke to millions of Arabs, aiming to counter bin Laden's media savvy and the Saudi exile's mention of the Palestinian conflict.

"All the moderate, sensible parts of Arab opinion know it's right that we're taking action in Afghanistan and support that," Blair said. "But they point out that they have a genuine problem with their own people, who believe we have lost interest in the Middle East peace process. It's a perception we must contest."

Blair also joined Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak before reporters in Cairo after discussing ways to hold the U.S.-led coalition together.

"We will stand united in our fight to see the international terrorism defeated," Blair said.

Mubarak again called for a worldwide summit to find ways to halt terrorism.

[JR: It has to be insulting to the Muslim people to have P.M. Blair lecture them about what their Prophet Muhammad says regarding war. Do the U.S. and Britain think that we are being benevolent with our enemy when we are bombing Afghanistan to rubble while supposedly feeding Afghan refugees? Are we being as fair as required by the laws set forth in the Koran? The West has made bin Laden their number-one enemy but many Muslims, who are not all extremist, feel he is fighting for their cause and righting the injustices against them. We can't win the hearts and minds of these people by lethal force. They will not bend. Iraq is still in our gun-sights as well as Syria, Iran and Libya for now.]

NEW YORK JOURNALIST
RECOMMENDS MILITARY ACTION
AGAINST ARAB NEWS STATION, AL JAZEERA

By Hatem Anwar, Middle East News Online, 10/15/01

New York, U.S.A.—A writer openly advocated shutting down Al Jazeera, one of the most objective news stations in the Arab world, using military action.

Zev Chafets said that the news station propagates hate and should not be allowed to broadcast its programming.

Al Jazeera is unique in the Middle East for being the only news station that allows both competing opinions to openly debate sensitive issues, which were tabooed by state-controlled media for decades.

Al Jazeera was applauded by the United States for years and seen as a center of democracy in the Middle East. However, the station's objectiveness while covering the war against Afghanistan has provoked angry comments by top American diplomats who demanded that Al Jazeera should "tone it down".

Using the New York Daily News as a medium to spread his ideas about military action against Al-Jazeera, Chafets claimed that "Al Jazeera is the favorite network of bin Laden. It provides him with an unedited forum for his calls to jihad." He stated "Al Jazeera is far from legitimate. It is an Arab propaganda outfit controlled by the medieval government of Qatar that masquerades as a real media company.

For years, it has inflamed the Arab world against the United States and its allies. Its occasional interviews with Western statesmen, such as Secretary of State Powell, are designed to provide it with a fig leaf of objectivity." The writer expressed his concerns that by allowing Al Jazeera to freely broadcast from Afghanistan as fighting intensifies would hurt the U.S. image.

"Since the start of the American bombing, Al Jazeera has transmitted grainy pictures of the Afghan sky. But that will change. Soon the actual fighting will intensify, and we will be shown scenes of death and destruction and hear the cries of children. Men on the street will deplore the terrorism the Great Satan is visiting on innocent civilians. The suffering will be real." "America cannot conceivably win the kind of war being waged against it without removing the threat of mass destruction. That means defeating and disarming the Islamic Axis. A struggle of this size inevitably will bring about major casualties." Although freedom of press in the United States allowed for free broadcasting of the war in Vietnam, the idea of having an Arab station carrying out such a task is a troublesome for the writer, who used dramatic terminology to express his views. "Al Jazeera's role is to present that killing as an unjustified slaughter, to bring the war into American living rooms as a horror show of satanic cruelty, starring President Bush as Dracula." He lamented "A couple weeks ago, the State Department politely asked the government of Qatar to tone down Al Jazeera. The United States can't expect favors from moderate Arab states whose leaders are terrified by their immoderate citizens." He recommended that "dealing with Al Jazeera is a job for the military. Shutting it down should be an immediate priority because, left alone, it has the power to poison the air more efficiently and lethally than anthrax ever could." A news analyst told Middle East Wire in response to the vacuous attack on Al Jazeera, "this is rather disturbing. When there is no freedom of the press in a country, that country is vilified and accused of being oppressive and undemocratic. Yet when a particular country makes a great efforts toward freedom of expression and democracy, you find those who advocate military action to have it silenced." He added, "it's even more disturbing that the writer uses American media to promote his hate-filled ideas, while objective news station that have never failed to present both sides of the coin is harshly criticized by American diplomats and constantly attacked by Israel."

[JR: How many of the world's victims of U.S. foreign policies would like to shut down our news outlets for propagandizing and lying about the issues that affect their countries and their peoples. I'm sure Zev Chafets' proposal to silence Al Jazeera is to serve the interest of Israel and not so much the U.S. The Muslim people may be conditioned, as are we, by their media but many are allowed to view opinions of both opposing sides. When was the last time we allowed a forum to air the views and issues as the Arab or Palestinian people see them? We certainly hear the Israeli point of view. Why is it that when Arabs or Muslims make statements we either feel insulted or threatened. Bottom line—it's our biased propaganda.]

SHARON ISSUES TERMS FOR PALESTINIAN STATE

The STRAITS TIMES, 10/17/01

JERUSALEM (AFP)—Prime Minister Ariel Sharon warned late on Tuesday that the creation of a Palestinian state would have to meet Israel's security needs and must be demilitarised, Israeli state television reported.

A future Palestinian state must not be able to sign treaties or agreements with countries hostile to Israel and Israeli armed forces must control its borders, Mr. Sharon told militants of his Likud Party in a Haifa suburb.

The Israeli prime minister is to put a peace plan to U.S. President George W. Bush that agrees to an eventual independent Palestinian state, according to the Foreign Report publication from the respected Jane's defence analysis group.

Quoting unidentified sources, the British-based publication said earlier on Tuesday Mr. Sharon would agree to 'certain withdrawals from the West Bank', a complete pull-out from the Gaza Strip and the dismantling of all settlements there.

According to Israeli television, Mr. Sharon insisted that Israel must be able to freely use Palestinian airspace and that Jerusalem remain the undivided capital of Israel.

Palestinians want to turn the eastern sector of Jerusalem, which was occupied and annexed by Israel after the 1967 Middle East war, into the capital of their own state and demand that the Omar and Al-Aqsa mosque compound, the third holiest place in Islam, come under their control.

Jews regard the site as their holiest place, believing the remains of the first and second Jewish temples lie beneath it. [JR: The latest requirements stipulated by Sharon exceeds previously unacceptable conditions that were immediately rejected by the PLO. Sharon implies he will accept a Palestinian state but proposes conditions he already knows are unacceptable. This is nothing but rhetoric for public consumption to make it look like Israel really wants peace (but only on her terms). Things changed (drastically) all in a matter of hours. No new plans to President Bush on peace negotiations will be forthcoming. (See following articles)]

ISRAELI MINISTER ASSASSINATED

The Guardian—UK, 10/17/01

A rightwing Israeli minister was shot dead in a Jerusalem hotel today by a suspected Palestinian gunman, prompting fresh fears for the shaky truce between Palestinians and Israelis that was agreed only three weeks ago.

The Syria-based Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine immediately claimed responsibility for murder of the far-right tourism minister, Rehavam Ze'evi.

Mr. Ze'evi was shot three times in the head and neck at close range in the Hyatt Hotel, which is close to Palestinian areas in east Jerusalem, police said.

He arrived at Hadassa hospital without a heartbeat and doctors attempted to revive him, hospital spokeswoman Yael Bossem-Levy said.

In statements to Arab television stations, the group said the shooting was in retaliation for the death of the PFLP leader, Mustafa Zibri, who died in an Israeli rocket attack on August 27.

Israel said it killed Zibri because he had organised a series of car bombings carried out by the PFLP.

The Israeli prime minister, Ariel Sharon, said that after Ze'evi's assassination "everything had changed", and he held the Palestinian leader, Yasser Arafat, personally responsible for the murder.

He told a special session of parliament: "The responsibility is Arafat's alone, as someone who has carried out and is carrying out acts of terrorism and never took steps against it."

Mr. Sharon promised to "carry out a war to the bitter end against the terrorists", and he reimposed some travel restrictions in the West Bank that had been lifted earlier this week as part of an agreed ceasefire deal.

The Palestinian Authority condemned the assassination, but laced the statement with a call for Israel to call off its policy of assassinating Palestinian leaders that Israel believes are responsible for terrorist attacks.

"We feel sorry about this assassination. We reject all forms of political assassinations," the Palestinian Authority's cabinet minister, Yasser Abed Rabbo, told Reuters news agency.

He added: "We want to put an end to this vicious cycle of killings, although Mr. Ze'evi had adopted hostile positions and policies against our people. But we still consider that political assassination should not be the answer."

The United States was firm in its response to the assassination, insisting that it was not enough for the Palestinian authority merely to condemn the murder. "It is time for the Palestinian Authority to take vigorous action against terrorists," the White House spokesman, Ari Fleischer, said. "Words are not enough."

The President, George Bush, also condemned the assassination "in the strongest terms" and called it a "despicable act", Fleischer said.

The prime minister, Tony Blair, condemned the assassination. "We condemn utterly this contemptible act of violence," a spokesman for No. 10 said. "I urge restraint on all sides in response to the men of violence who only want to wreck any proposals for peace.

"I called on Monday for courage and leadership and for a new start. Never was that more needed than now."

In the past year of fighting, Israel has killed more than 50 Palestinians, including several bystanders, as part of its assassination policy.

Despite his job title, Mr. Ze'evi rarely commented on tourism and was known for his hardline positions against the Palestinians. He had called for the "transfer" of all Arabs and Palestinians from Israel and had sparked controversy in July for referring to Palestinians working and living illegally in Israel as "lice" and a "cancer".

The EU's external relations commissioner, Chris Patten, also condemned the attack, saying: "The murderers no doubt aimed to undermine, once again, the efforts to bring new momentum to the peace process in the Middle East. We must not allow them to succeed in their wicked aims."

[JR: Let's play James Bond here and assume the Mossad made a hit on one of their own. What better way to create yet another crisis and to halt the negotiations with the Palestinians. Mr. Ze'evi's hard-line position on Palestinian issues made him a perfect target for assassination. How is it that a Palestinian gets access into a Jewish Hyatt hotel in Jerusalem which is a heavily guarded city? Somehow this Palestinian, who under tight security, gets near the room where Mr. Ze'evi is and shoots him with a gun equipped with a silencer. The only weapons Palestinians are allowed are rocks. The assassination is exactly like the operation the Mossad used to assassinate Gerald Bull, an arms developer and dealer in Sweden. Now why would Syrian Popular Front claim credit for the deed and risk being made a target in our war on terrorism? Lastly, why does White House spokesman Ari Fleischer's statements regarding the assassination sound more like an official policy statement rather than a comment. Israel is winning on Palestinian assassinations. She has 50 to 1—so far. So what's their excuse for not continuing the peace talks?]

SHARON STRUGGLES TO SHORE UP COALITION

By Ewen MacAskill, diplomatic editor,
The Guardian—UK, 10/17/01

The Israeli prime minister, Ariel Sharon, was last night trying to shore up his coalition government after the resignation of two rightwing ministers.

Approaches to two groups, the National Religious party and the Geshar faction, asking them to join the government, were rebuffed.

The defections led to speculation in the Israeli press of an early election. An election is not scheduled until 2003.

Mr. Sharon retains a comfortable majority in the Knesset but the resignations could be the first sign that his government of national unity is beginning to crumble.

The defections leave him dependent on the support of the religious Shas party. His arch-rival, Binyamin Netanyahu, is waiting in the wings should he falter.

The Labour party, which is also in Mr. Sharon's unwieldy coalition, leans towards an early resumption of peace negotiations with the Palestinians. If Mr. Sharon were to resist U.S. pressure to re-engage with the Palestinians, the Labour party, whose most prominent member is the foreign minister, Shimon Peres, could carry out its threat to jump.

In an indication of the internal tensions, the environment minister, Tsahi Hanegbi, a member of Mr. Sharon's rightwing Likud party, said far-reaching concessions to the Palestinians would be unacceptable to the Israeli government.

"It all depends on one man, the president of the United States," Mr. Hanegbi told Israel army radio. "If the U.S. president decides to bring about [early] elections in Israel, this is what we will have."

The U.S. is pressing for a reduction in tension in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict and helped to push the two into accepting a truce two weeks ago. Although that appears to be holding, a third member of Hamas, the Islamic fundamentalist group, was killed yesterday. One was killed on Sunday, for which Israel admitted responsibility, and the second on Monday.

Palestinian security officials said the latest Hamas fatality appeared to be the result of a blast when a bomb he was preparing exploded.

In a further development, government figures quoted yesterday by the Peace Now group, which supports initiatives to bridge the gap between Israelis and Palestinians, showed a sharp decline in Jewish settlement on the West Bank and Gaza.

Peace Now said there were 832 housing starts in the first half of the year, compared with nearly 4,500 last year, and contractors reported an "almost total drop-off of demand". Settlers often claim that their population on the West Bank and Gaza is increasing.

However, in a letter to the U.S. consul, Ron Schlicher, the Palestinian information minister, Yasser Abed Rabbo, condemned the continuation of settlement building, saying it has "always sent a message to the Palestinian people that Israel is not really interested in ending its illegal occupation".

[JR: Although others have claimed responsibility, do you really think it is a coincidence that after two "Right Wing" ministers resign from Sharon's coalition government that suddenly a third one is assassinated?]

NEW YORK MAYOR REJECTS
SAUDI PRINCE'S $10 MILLION CHECK

FOX NEWS, 10/11/01

NEW YORK—New York City Mayor Rudolph Giuliani Thursday refused to accept a $10 million charity donation from a Saudi prince after the prince criticized U.S. policy in the Middle East.

Following a Thursday-morning visit to the World Trade Center site in New York, Prince Alwaleed bin Talal al-Saud offered a check for recovery efforts as a gift to the city and characterized the attacks as crimes. But later, he released a statement saying the American government "should re-examine its policies in the Middle East and adopt a more balanced stance toward the Palestinian cause."

The comments incensed Giuliani, who held a news conference where he sharply denounced the prince's viewpoint—and then rejected the $10 million donation.

"There is no moral equivalent for this attack," the mayor said. "The people who did it lost any right to ask for justification when they slaughtered 5,000, 6,000 innocent people. ... Not only are those statements wrong, they're part of the problem."

The prince, a member of the Saudi royal family, is a major investor in American companies.

After his tour of ground zero Thursday morning, the prince first called the attack "a tremendous crime".

"It's just unbelievable," he said initially. "We are here to tell America and to tell New York that Saudi Arabia is with the United States wholeheartedly."

But in the statement later distributed by an aide, the prince said that "at times like this one we must address some of the issues that led to such a criminal attack."

"I believe the government of the United States of America should re-examine its policies in the Middle East and adopt a more balanced stance toward the Palestinian cause," Alwaleed said. "Our Palestinian brethren continue to be slaughtered at the hands of Israelis while the world turns the other cheek."

It is rare for Alwaleed to make such a political statement. He is a serious business-oriented investor with more than $12 billion invested in major U.S. companies including Citigroup, AOL Time Warner and Apple Computer. His support for the Palestinian cause is reflected in investments, particularly in hotel development, in Palestinian-ruled areas.

Alwaleed is chairman of Kingdom Holding Co. and was sixth on Forbes magazine's list of the world's richest men for 2001.

Alwaleed said prime terrorism suspect Usama bin Laden, a Saudi, does not represent the Wahabi sect of Islam, which is officially practiced in Saudi Arabia.

"This guy does not belong to Wahabis," he said. "He does not belong to Islam or any religion in the whole world."

[JR: Mayor (now Sir) Giuliani's public rejection of Prince Alwaleed's $10M donation to the NY WTC fund was not the way to win friends and good will among the Muslim nations. I'm sure he made points with his Israeli constituency though. I guess those top Wall Street corporations that Prince Alwaleed has invested his $12B in don't have a problem with his political views as does Sir Giuliani. Me thinks Giuliani could be planning to run for Mayor of London with the Queen's blessing.]

SAUDI PRINCE REFUSES TO BACK DOWN FROM COMMENTS ON ISRAELI-PALESTINIAN CONFLICT

Boston Globe, 10/12/01

RIYADH, SAUDI ARABIA (AP)—A Saudi prince on Friday refused to back down from comments on the Israel-Palestinian conflict that led to his $10 million donation to a New York City relief fund being rejected by New York's mayor.

Billionaire Saudi investor Prince Alwaleed Bin Talal said it was a misunderstanding to interpret his statements during a visit to New York on Thursday as offering a justification for the Sept. 11 attacks on New York and Washington.

Rather, the prince said he felt obliged to speak on what is needed to solve the problem of terrorism.

"To do that, we have to look at its roots. An important factor destabilizing the region is the Israeli attacks on Palestinians," he said in a telephone interview from his palace in Riyadh.

The view is widely held by Arabs in the region, who accuse the United States of unfairly siding with Israel in the Israeli-Arab conflict.

During his visit to the wreckage of the World Trade Center on Thursday, Alwaleed called the terrorist attack "a tremendous crime". In a written statement, the prince added: "At times like this one, we must address some of the issues that led to such a criminal attack. I believe the government of the United States of America should re-examine its policies in the Middle East and adopt a more balanced stance toward the Palestinian cause."

New York Mayor Rudolph Giuliani, who had accepted Alwaleed's $10 million donation, ordered the money returned when he learned about the statement.

"There is no moral equivalent for this attack," Giuliani said. "The people who did it lost any right to ask for justification when they slaughtered 5,000, 6,000 innocent people. Not only are those statements wrong, they're part of the problem."

[JR: Mayor Giuliani's intolerance to the Muslim point of view reflects the prejudices many Americans hold toward the Arab people and the Palestinians in particular. That is the result of the biased news media in this country. Prince Alwaleed wouldn't have become a successful investor and businessman if he didn't know how to be accommodating and diplomatic in his dealings with those who are considered an enemy to his people. So who needs to reconsider their position and their policies in the Middle East—Prince Alwaleed or Mayor Giuliani?]

N. KOREAN TUNNEL TECHNOLOGY IS HOT ITEM FOR MIDEAST ROGUE STATES

WORLD TRIBUNE.COM, 10/16/01

WASHINGTON—North Korea has built a network of tunnels in several countries in the Middle East designed to conceal weapons of mass destruction and ballistic missiles. The technology is believed to have been used by Saudi fugitive Osama bin Laden in protecting his secret hideouts in the Afghan mountains.

The demilitarized zone between North and South Korea is famous for the tunnels dug from the North to infiltrate spies and to serve as invasion routes to the South.

U.S. officials said Pyongyang has provided technology and equipment for such tunnels in countries such as Iran, Iraq, Libya and Syria. Egypt has also engaged in the construction of tunnels, particularly under the Suez Canal, Middle East Newslines reported. The tunnels, including the ones built in North Korea, are believed to be concealing medium- and intermediate-range missiles as well as biological and chemical weapons.

The tunnels have posed a technological challenge to the U.S. military. The officials said this could provide obstacles in destroying terrorist headquarters and WMD assets. "It is one of the interesting things that, given the end of the Cold War and the relaxation of tension and the increase in proliferation and the availability of dual-use capabilities, that a lot of countries have done a lot of digging underground," U.S. Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld said in a Thursday briefing. "And it is not unique to Afghanistan. It does make much more complicated the task of dealing with targets because, as you've known from photographs you've seen of North Korea, it is perfectly possible to dig into the side of a mountain and put a large ballistic missile in there and erect it and fire it out of the mountain from an underground post."

The officials said North Korea is regarded as a leader in the construction of tunnels. They said Pyongyang has equipment and know-how to quickly build tunnels such as that tunnel which crosses underneath the English Channel.

Rumsfeld said the dual-use equipment provided to Middle East countries can dig 50-foot diameter circles 200 feet deep in a day. Bin Laden and the ruling Afghan Taliban movement, he said, have built many of these tunnels.

Officials said U.S. Air Force B-1, B-2 and B-52 bombers have been dropping a range of weapons, including the GBU-28 5,000-pound bunk-busters as well as earth-penetrating charges in Afghanistan in an effort to destroy the tunnels.

Planned Terroristic Attacks Against American Citizens

U.S. OFFICIALS PROPOSED STAGING TERROR ATTACKS

[MM: From the American Free Press of 10/8/01, page 17. To subscribe to same, call 1-888-NEWS (6397) toll free.]

Would the U.S. government stage a terrorist attack on its own citizens on American soil? Yes, according to shocking once-secret documents unveiled by a respected mainstream journalist.

EXCLUSIVE TO AMERICAN FREE PRESS

By Michael Collins Piper

In the wake of the tragic Oklahoma City bombing, media pundits raised voices of horror at the suggestion by some that U.S. government operatives might have played a part in orchestrating the bombing for some geopolitical purpose or purposes unknown.

However, in 2001, six years after the Oklahoma tragedy, best-selling author James Bamford, a veteran journalist, released Body of Secrets which revealed that in January 1961, top U.S. policy makers were considering a horrific scheme to launch terrorist attacks on American citizens—and point the finger of blame at Fidel Castro's communist Cuba.

Here's what Bamford wrote:

According to documents obtained for Body of Secrets, [then-Joint Chiefs of Staff Chairman, Army General Lyman] Lemnitzer and the Joint Chiefs proposed secretly to stage an attack on the American naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba—and then blame the violent action on Castro. Convinced that Cuba had launched an unprovoked attack on the United States, the unwitting American public would then support the Joint Chief's bloody Caribbean war. After all, who would believe Castro's denials over the word of the Pentagon's top military commanders? The nation's most senior military leadership was proposing to launch a war—which would no doubt kill many American servicemen, based solely on a fabric of lies. On January 19, just hours before [then-President Dwight] Eisenhower left office, Lemnitzer gave his approval to the proposal. As events progressed, the plan would become only the tip of a very large and secret iceberg.

Lemnitzer, a self-described "imaginative planner", kept his initial plan in cold storage. However, after the new Kennedy administration's Bay of Pigs fiasco, which left Fidel Castro stronger than ever before, Lemnitzer reinvigorated his scheme under the name "Operation Northwoods". Bamford reports that:

The plan, which had the written approval of the chairman and every member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, called for innocent people to be shot on American streets; for boats carrying refugees fleeing Cuba to be sunk on the high seas; for a wave of violent terrorism to be launched in Washington, D.C., Miami and elsewhere. People would be framed for bombings they did not commit; planes would be hijacked. Using phony evidence, all of it would be blamed on Castro, thus giving Lemnitzer and his cabal the excuse, as well as the public and international backing, they needed to launch their war.

What makes this so additionally disturbing is that this was not some wild scheme by only some "mad bombers" inside the military. In Bamford's estimation, "the idea may actually have originated with President Eisenhower in the last days of his administration."

Bamford reports that Eisenhower was determined to invade Cuba and that if Castro did not provide an excuse prior to the inauguration of newly-elected President John F. Kennedy—Eisenhower suggested that the United States "could think of manufacturing something that would be generally acceptable".

What Eisenhower was suggesting, writes Bamford, was "a bombing, an attack, an act of sabotage carried out secretly against the United States by the United States. Its purpose would be to justify the launching of a war. It was a dangerous suggestion by a desperate president." Lemnitzer, Eisenhower's protégé since World War II days, was eager to carry out the plan.

Although a direct proposal for the assassination of then-astronaut (and future U.S. Senator) John Glenn was never formally put in writing, Lemnitzer did propose that "IF" Glenn's historic Earth-orbiting journey of 1962 should happen to be interrupted by an explosion of his rocket, the U.S. government should:

Provide irrevocable proof that... the fault lies with the Communists et al. Cuba... by manufacturing various pieces of evidence which would prove electronic interference on the part of the Cuba...

Lemnitzer also had in mind the possibility of a dramatic scenario recalling the 1898 disaster which befell the USS Maine in Havana harbor, sparking the Spanish-American War:

We could blow up a U.S. ship in Guantanamo Bay and blame Cuba. Casualty lists in U.S. newspapers would cause a helpful wave of national indignation.

Terrorism on American soil by Americans against Americans—but blamed on Castro—was also offered up by Lemnitzer and his advisors:

We could develop a Communist Cuban terror campaign in the Miami area, in other Florida cities—and even in Washington. The terror campaign could be pointed at Cuban refugees seeking haven in the United States....

We could sink a boatload of Cubans en route to Florida (real or simulated)... We could foster attempts on lives of Cuban refugees in the United States—even to the extent of wounding in instances to be widely publicized.

Among the proposals cited by Bamford, quoting the original documents:

Exploding a few plastic bombs in carefully chosen spots, the arrest of Cuban agents and the release of prepared documents substantiating Cuban involvement also would be helpful in projecting the idea of an irresponsible government.

Hijacking attempts against civil air and surface craft could appear to continue as harassing measures condoned by the Government of Cuba.

Following in Lemnitzer's tradition, like-minded "intellectuals" in the defense establishment continued to formulate plans passed on to the military leadership that were designed to provoke a war through a staged terrorist attack. One proposal, cited by Bamford, read:

A contrived "Cuban" attack on an OAS [Organization of American States] member could be set up and the attacked state could be urged to "take measures of self-defense and request assistance from the U.S. and OAS; the U.S. could almost certainly obtain the necessary two-thirds support among OAS members for collective action against Cuba."

This same proposal made the suggestion that the United States should bribe someone in the Castro regime to launch an attack on an American military installation. This, Bamford points out, constituted treason.

Bamford also reveals that one of the defense department's civilian "intellectuals", Paul H. Nitze—then an assistant secretary of defense—came up with a plan sent to the White House in May 1963. Nitze proposed—in Nitze's own chilling words:

A possible scenario whereby an attack on a United States reconnaissance aircraft could be exploited toward the end of effecting the removal of the Castro regime.

In the event Cuba attacked a U-2, Nitze proposed sending in additional American pilots, this time on dangerous, unnecessary low-level reconnaissance missions with the expectation that they would also be shot down, thus provoking a war. "[T]he U.S. could undertake various measures designed to stimulate the Cubans to provoke a new incident," said Nitze. Bamford adds wryly that "Nitze, however, did not volunteer to be one of the pilots."

In later years, Nitze—along with his ally Lemnitzer—would emerge as one of the Israeli lobby's key contacts inside the defense establishment in official Washington. Nitze and Lemnitzer, who shared ethnic ties to Israel, worked relentlessly through a variety of venues to advance Israel's cause, manipulating American policy to benefit their favorite foreign nation.
