Know Truth Of Being And Being Of SOUL

11/23/01—#1 (15-099)

RE: WHO "CAN" YOU BELIEVE? CONFUSION AND CHAOS IS SATAN'S BEST GAME. LIVE IN GOODNESS AND TRUTH AND KEEP RIGHT ON GOING. TRUTH IS EVENTUALLY "FOUND OUT" BUT BACKUP AND PATIENCE ARE CERTAINLY REQUIRED AT EVERY TURN

HAPPY THANKSGIVING!?

D—just a report on Thanksgiving. We missed it, as everything is different in the Philippines. By the time we realized it was a wondrous Holiday, mud and blood were already flowing. Cmdr. asks, "Where are the bodies?" We don't know but we do note the number has already dropped in speculation by over 2,000 (in the Trade Center adventure).

Now, unfortunately, the Philippines has their own scapegoat as pronounced by former President Ramos, who made the treaties and agreements and then broke them all with the MNLF. Today, however, he calls

Nur Misuari "Philippines' own bin Laden".

We do note and have now received word that the media is in the hands of the military (administration) so is fabricated to suit the needs for the election for an ARMM on Tuesday.

Along with the push and shove the "rumors" are for "terrorist" incidents in Manila to ruin the holidays. Isn't poverty despicable and abject enough?

We did have lunch across the street and were thankful for the break—and missed the calls that somehow were to call off the other meetings scheduled for later with lawyers, etc. Oh well. It seems now that nobody can be around until mid-week next.

Then on the thankful list came an earthquake at around five in the evening. Then at nine the refrigerator died. Then E.J. was still sleeping at the computer at three a.m. or so, for the second nap of the night—so this morning? We don't yet know how to feel or how thankful to be today. We are thankful and grateful to share and KNOW that we have you, family, and promise that we do that which is right and will be done.

That is sufficient, if not always exactly what we want to hear.

We have heard, this morning, from our friend down in Mindanao and the family is safe at home.

It is said that Nur Misuari fled to Sabah (Borneo), Malaysia but we suspect that is also a lie.

We never did meet Misuari although he danced around us a few times. I think he never was told about GAIA nor do we think he was too keen on anything except remaining in leadership in a separated State. Sad, for up to now the MNLF and ARMM have been the PEACEFUL stability of the Moro area.

I am confident that Ramadan has quickly taken on a serious meaning that is not of usual spiritual intent. So, who is God? What is God? Where and When is God, and perhaps bigger is "Why" is God?

Things are busy, busy in Papua New Guinea and there is genuine excitement there, for Parliament convenes next week and things are so bad with those members of parliament that they actually can't even open their offices because funds ran out about year before last.

E.J. and I laughed at the papers sent to us until the tears rolled down our faces. Please remember that PNG is basically a nation where the tribal people wear only fantastic headgear and penis shields while some of the more isolated tribes eat their deceased—as an honor of course, but do get Mad Cow Disease from the practice.

The “modern” parts are as uncivilized as the rest of the modern world of insanity. Thank God that God has to make decisions and we just have to facilitate whatever comes next. Insanity comes in many forms!

Mr. Bush says we are in for a long, hard haul through this time. Well, I rather hope that some of those CAUSING this long, hard haul might recognize their own position in this world mess. The Philippines, for instance, is expecting hell through Christmas as the street crimes are already the “gift” of the day.

However, the Makati decorations are going up and they are totally wonderful, typically Philippines in presentation as colorful, lighted, and remind us that there is hope at the end of the rainbow if we stay the course.

One more Christmas away from home is not wonderful but then things are not the same back home either. So, we do what needs to be done and we note that YOU do what must be done and rejoice that we actually are alive and well enough to get this job done, tighten our belts (well, some do) and plan on a big Christmas sharing NEXT year. Let’s see now, that makes about the fifteenth year, doesn’t it, since Christmas was like wonderland at K-Mart and Costco? It truly IS better to stay out of “memory lane” and realize that here in Manila there are no sleigh-bells or snow for a white Christmas. It did get down to 82 recently (a record low).

Lester keeps sending wonderful things from New Zealand along with many calendars and THAT appears to be closer to my idea of “Paradise” than the jungle of Papua New Guinea where you have insects for lunch and YOU are the lunch. That is bad enough but what really ticks me off is that we got full “no-see-em” net suits for head-to-toe protection of we ancient travelers “to South Africa, yet” and they ended in the attic in Tehachapi and now to nobody-knows-where.

Do we need them for lazing in paradise somewhere? No, for the walk across the street in Manila.

We take this opportunity to be Thankful and to Thank all of you for which there are no words strong enough to express our gratitude. And, we also take this opportunity to humbly THANK our teacher and “producer” for including us ALL in this wondrous experience that few will ever know. If that is not being blessed, then we have surely missed something along our way. He is always there with the strength and the way when we can’t see beyond the moment through our clouded eyes. I am caused to go about humming Amazing Grace as well as those in New York.

I remember one meeting when Dr. Bart suggested to Hatonn that we should look at that song. Cmdr. agreed and even belted out a couple of lines (a strange thing to me) and then gave us a lecture on us NOT TO BE WRETCHED as the song presents as “a wretch like me”. I have never felt the same again, for we are blessed; we are incredible in our presentation. Thank you, Father.

In Love, Light and sincere Thanks and Appreciation, D&E

THANKS AND APPRECIATION

DAD—And may all your days, if not holy, be SACRED, for the gift of LIFE is beyond all else. May you also come to KNOW truth of being and being of SOUL that you learn and understand that which IS LIFE and not the prattlings of those who speculate for their own benefit or gain.

I DO know the way, students, and my own joy is in watching you grow and KNOW. Life happens while you make other plans—however, that is but the lessons becoming EXPERIENCE. What do you do with the wonderful SURPRISES unexpected along the way? There is neither good nor bad in those expressions of living, chelas—only gaining knowledge and on-the-job experience.

When people can come to realize that Esu’s name was not Christ nor was it Jesus, you have come a long way in REALITY OF TRUTH. The TRUTH is that there WAS a man who came and was outstanding enough to be murdered for his Truth. However, Jesus meant “the anointed one” as established by Saul of Tarsus—and CHRIST is a state of being. When you understand the beauty in the Truth instead of another lie for man’s greed and graft, you have received a gift beyond the physical expression.

The “man” in point was not more than THEE, traveler, and HE TOLD YOU SO. Why do you listen to the greedy evangelistas instead of the voice of TRUTH? Anyone who expresses CHRIST in being is CHRIST INDEED. Christ, by the way, is a STATE OF SOUL—for INTENT is of soul. That which you think in mind is that which you ARE. It is not a man nor woman in anywhere, world. It is the SPIRITUAL realization of BEING and no, you nor I am a “wretch”, for God only presents perfection. You may well feel “wretched” but that is YOUR problem, not God’s. So be it. God has given you life; what have you done with it?

SHARING WITH FRIENDS

I realize that a copy of this next document went to Mark for the paper but I perceive that it isn’t yet utilized [MM: This excellent letter—from a spiritually-awakened individual who, religion-wise, truly has “been there and done that”—has been ready to run when and where appropriate (NOW!) and should be required reading for all “Christians”, “born-again” or otherwise.], so let us consider a letter from a friend who thought, at least, that CONTACT was not longer around. No, people, we never missed a beat nor an issue except for the usurped-hijacked editions by Dr. Young’s group who had to change their names to protect their guilt for stealing the paper in the first place. SPECTRUM is the name of the stolen publication as is the name of Dr. Young’s personal corporation and through which he received thousands of dollars for services from CONTACT.

I want to honor the man who sent this letter, but I don’t want to start a barrage of anything other than that which he CHOOSES for himself. We just appreciate that one man’s opinion and perception has been entrusted to our awareness.

The man is a Chiropractor of 25 years and lives in Michigan. He went through the Vietnam War and has a good grip on reality beyond that which most are able to achieve for themselves. The letter shared is written to a close relative whose name we will refer to as “Mary” to further protect privacy. Thank you.

[QUOTING letter to a Sister. Sept. 2001:]

Mary:

You are good, you are really good. I won’t read your letter so you send postcards. That is good, Mary. See, I told you you were smart.

Well, let’s see what we can deduce from the exchange of letters. One thing for sure, we won’t see each other after we die. I will be in hell, you will be in heaven. Although I’ve spent the last 20 some years in hell, I guess that doesn’t count.

Look, Mary, I did the whole Born-again Christian thing. It didn’t work for me. I guess it doesn’t work for Agent Orange and parasites. What do you think?

I bet I’ve read the Bible at least 6-7 times. But you know what screwed me up on that? One of my good Christian friends gave me a Bible from circa 1840. It wasn’t the same book I’d been studying. It wasn’t even close. Then I got a hold of a Bible written way back in the 1500s. That was different than the other two. What’s going on here? Of course that led to Constantine back in 325 AD coalescing all the religions of the time into one politically acceptable religion. Used to be over 150 “Holy” books of the Bible. Now there’s 66. Interesting number, huh? Gee, I wonder who did that? 666. Number of man, frequency of man, Teslov, early 20th Century. The evil empire’s number. Takes wisdom, Mary. Watch the symbols. Doesn’t matter if it’s the inspired words of God. They’ve been changed. They leave their mark on everything they touch. They start all the wars. They do all the incurable disease. Evil, Mary, I’ve lived right in the middle of it for years. Would they change the Bible? You bet. Been doing so since the beginning of time. Oh, by the way, Ecclesiastics was added so you wouldn’t question them. Romans was also added along with most of the New Testament.

So, don’t quote scripture to me. Just be thankful that your evil brother doesn’t want anything to do with you. And know that you don’t want anything to do with him.

By the way, His name isn’t Jesus Christ. If you insist on His name be Jesus it should be Jesus the Christ NOT Jesus Christ. But his name isn’t even Jesus so it’s a mute point. Someday you’ll learn. And he’s your lord and savior not mine. Jesus Christ doesn’t exist. Christ does.

Study the connection between British Intelligence and the Moody Institute down in Texas. Even British Intelligence and what is going on right now in the Middle East. It’s all by design, Mary. It’s a lie. You are being used to usher in the vilest bunch of criminals on the planet. The people the real Christ warned us about. They want to kill 4 billion people, Mary. Six billion people are too much for them to manage. They figure they can effectively manage about 2 billion people on the planet. And your phony Christianity is being used to make that happen.

They keep using the word righteous, making you think that its something you would want. Righteousness to them means you cannot have a personal relationship with God and there can be no such thing as a sovereign nation or freedom. Righteousness to them means you better do what they say, otherwise you are out of here. They kill you. I’m sorry but I can’t worship that. And that is indeed what you are worshiping with this phony Christianity. They created it so they could make a slave out of you. So they could bring about this New World Order. Is that really what you want, Mary? Scriptures say it doesn’t have to happen.

There will be no ownership of land; there will be nothing to pass on to your children (inheritance). You will worship them (not Christ) or you will die. I’m sorry but that’s not the God I know and serve.

I know you probably feel sorry for me for being so “lost” and so hopelessly evil but believe me, dear, you are the one who is lost and totally brainwashed. I’ve already lived in hell so perhaps that’s why I can challenge you like I do. I don’t fear it. Christ was right there by my side all the way. It’s the only way I made it.

I truly do know Him and if you were on the front lines you would get to know Him just as well.

By the way, why aren't you healthy? The parasympathetic neurological response to the act of giving is indeed healing. The act of giving stimulates the parasympathetic nervous system. This is scientifically viable and indeed true. The parasympathetic nervous system controls the health of the organs. It's the nerve supply to the internal organs. All of them. The act of giving stimulates this system. Stimulation of this system will heal you. That's why Christ taught giving. Plus, if you look at the atomic and subatomic anatomy of how the world and life really work, you have to come to the conclusion that there is a God and He really does love you. So why aren't you healthy?

Any act of giving will heal, it's not specific to Jesus. Usually what happens when someone gets healed by Jesus is it doesn't last that long. It's only temporary. Now, you can delude yourself into thinking that it's permanent but if you do any research or follow up on these cases that supposedly got healed you'll find that it's only temporary. Unless they were totally void of any concept of God. It's always nice to know you're loved.

Maybe that's the only difference between you and I. I don't have to believe in God. I KNOW He exists. You seem to have to believe in Him and build all this ritual around Him. It's not all that complicated, Mary. The truth will save people, not phony saviors. Otherwise why even have truth?

And as far as answering to God. That is indeed true. Everybody will have to answer. I am unconcerned about that. I KNOW where I stand. I only hope you continue your research and get out of the make-believe world you live in. If you do, you will end up at the same place I'm at. It ain't an easy road. Good luck.

By the way, I knew how you would respond. You're so predictable. Can't be wrong, can you? Well, you are wrong. Won't even let go of "the lie" just because your ego can't be wrong. Pathetic isn't it?

Blasphemer (?), gee, that's what they called Christ. I'm in good company.

But, you know, Mary, if you are right, then my conclusion HAS to be that your God doesn't like me. Jesus doesn't like me. I did the Born-again Christian thing. I mean, I did the whole thing. I did it right too. Studied everything I could get my hands on. I became it. For years. I remained sick. So I had to ask myself some tough questions.

This Christian thing seemed to work for other people, why didn't it work for me? I was getting sicker and I knew I was getting pretty close to checking out. When my liver would plug up my heart would actually stop beating. I could feel my bowels start to let go, then my heart would start up again. In other words I was dying and coming back to life 10-12 times a day. That's scary. That went on for years. I did everything the Born-again Christians said to do to get my health back. All of it.

During this time I went for a physical to get some life insurance. I flunked the physical. Liver cancer. They wouldn't insure me. I saw the blood test results. Sure enough, liver cancer. Well, I renewed my efforts on the spiritual front hoping to get it cured. Nothing happened, matter of fact it was getting worse.

Of course, when you're looking for answers in one area of life you tend to run into answers for other areas of life. The truth was all I wanted. I was sure the truth would get me healthy again.

I gave my life to "Jesus" back in 1977. I was sitting at my desk here at the office when I said the prayer and signed my name. No one coerced me into doing it. I did it of my own free will. Having seen God in action over in Vietnam and having been saved by Him on three different occasions over there I was glad to do it. So, I gave my soul to Jesus.

In the summer of 1994 I took it back. By 1994 I was very sick. I knew I didn't have much time left and every "Christian" thing I had tried failed. And every Christian Church I went to was more interested in Doc's money than they were in me. Plus, I couldn't understand how the preachers didn't know as much as I knew about the Bible. They weren't very accurate on their historical facts and most of them were seriously over weight and taking a variety of prescription drugs. I didn't understand it, Mary. How can you be a spokesman for God and yet subscribe to all this worldly stuff? Especially drugs. "Have no other Gods before me," you know. Plus at the time I was studying the archeological digs of the ancient Sumarians and the Dead Sea Scrolls and a variety of other related historical stuff and it just didn't jell. Someone was lying about something.

By then, I was so sick my office hours were down to 18 a week. I was ashen gray. I had to lay down and rest between patients. I needed help and I needed it quick. So, in the summer of '94 I turned my back on the Born-again Christian "Jesus" and went back to the God that saved me in Vietnam. I thought they were the same God. Turns out they aren't. One is real, the other one a creation of man to control and manipulate his fellow man. One works, the other one doesn't. And you know what? Things changed immediately. Within 4 months I was on my way to getting my health back. Plus, the whole puzzle came together. Religion, science, history, HealthCare, energy, politics, everything just fell right together. It all made sense now.

Of course there's a whole lot more to my story. But the bottom line on the whole thing is: The truth has saved me, not your phony Jesus. The only thing the phony Jesus does is enslave you. So, I was right. Your God doesn't like me. He went to great lengths to kill me. He is a creation of the people on this planet that want total control of all aspects of your life. No freedom, No God within, No peace, No knowledge, No wisdom, No love, No fun. They want chaos, war, money, power, fame, they want your very soul. They use the old tried-and-true, bait-and-switch technique to get you.

There's just enough truth and workable knowledge in the scriptures to get you hooked on it because it does work when applied, then they switch it and create this phony savior who's supposed to have the ability to save you. Throw in a little fire and brimstone to scare you. A little prophecy to intimidate you and keep you from questioning them. And then add all this emotional, feel-good stuff and next thing you know they own you.

The only reason you're so stubborn in letting go of it is your fear. You're scared to. That's by design; that's what they want. That's what they put in the Bible. I remember, because I was scared too when I first turned my back on it. But I had no choice. It was either that or totally deny the God I knew from Vietnam and lay down and die. I figured I had been through too much to just give up and quit. And besides, if living in the hell I was living in was a requirement of this Jesus for him to save my soul, I had had enough. It ain't worth it. It didn't make sense, and it wasn't the God I saw working in the jungles of Vietnam. If I was to go to hell for eternity I was very familiar with it and it couldn't be any worse than what I had been living for the past 20-some years. So, I turned my back on it. And lo and behold, the next thing I know everything makes sense; I'm getting healthy, I'm getting productive, I'm NOT in hell anymore.

So, I set to finding out how and why. Well, you can't give your soul away. You don't have a soul, you ARE THE soul. It's impossible to give it to another (Physics). It comes down to what you embrace. If you embrace the lies, your life doesn't go very well. Oh, on a worldly level it might, but on a personal level, at home, where you live, the you, it doesn't work. "The lie" permeates the mind and body to the extent that it's impossible to be totally healthy on either one of those fronts. Mental and physical. If you embrace the truth, life seems to work for you. It's not easy, but it does work. You have peace inside. You know that you know. Life's challenging and exciting and you can spread that around so people are uplifted by it. The truth does that to people. They don't even have to try to change, getting truth and wisdom changes them. It's much easier and IT WORKS.

Man has been divided into three parts. Body, mind and soul. Physical, mental and spiritual. They have convinced you that you are not smart enough to understand the operating of the body, mind and soul. So, you've given the physical to the doctors, the mental to the shrinks, and your soul to the preachers. What's left? There's nothing left of you. The doctors drug you, cut you and kill you. The shrinks do the same with the brain. And the preachers nullify any ability to get control of the other two parts of you.

The preachers keep you in fear and mystery and they massage your ego with feel-good stuff. Playing directly on your emotions and superiority complex. Lifting you above the rest of us mere mortals.

Don't you see, Mary? There's nothing left of the original you. You gave it all away. They own you, spiritually, mentally and physically. And that is NOT what Christ taught. That's why you can't get healthy. You are no longer responsible for any part of you. Body, mind or soul. I couldn't get healthy either as long as I embraced "the lie". But as soon as I let go of it I started to get healthy. I regained control of my mind and body. I let the God within do the healing. And it worked.

And it's all over the place in scripture. You can't read very far at all in the scriptures without running into some references to the Kingdom within. Being responsible, discipline, knowledge. Ten Commandments, Proverbs. The parables Christ taught are nothing more than teaching you how to think for yourself and being responsible. Trusting and indeed relying on the Kingdom within, the God within. So it just doesn't go together that on the one hand He teaches self responsibility, truth and knowledge and on the other no responsibility, let go and let God. Plus, it doesn't work. At least it didn't work for me.

There are three parts to man. Body, mind and soul. The soul, the real you, the one that's reading this right now is supposed to be in authority over the other two. Now, these NWO boys, the phony Jews, know how powerful and good the soul is. It IS the spark of God within. They know its power, they know its strength, and they know its capabilities. They fear it. So they have to bring you into submission so they can be in authority over you. Because they are scared of you. Because they have committed serious crimes against you. They know all this. And they also know how simple life really is. It's just not that complicated at all. How the body works, how the mind works, what the soul really is.

They also know that the easiest way to get to the soul is through the body and mind. So they have suppressed the truth about health. Both mental and physical. They have taken all the nutrients out of the food and made it mandatory for what I call the "big three". Vaccinations, chlorine and fluoride. Vaccinations ruin the nervous system, chlorine ruins the intestinal flora and fluoride gets rid of your self-determination. Of course with those three in place the medics are assured of patients the rest of the patient's life. You can't be healthy unless you do some serious cleaning and rebuilding.

From there it's just a matter of playing out the play. The only problem they really have is keeping the lid on the lie. Suppressing the truth. On the mental front they take a full 1/3rd of your life and turn it into a "belief" state. You have to "believe" this. You have to "believe" that. When in truth "belief" should be only a transitory phase you go through until you "know". Until you get the truth either way. If you're wrong, you learn your lesson and get on with it (you still win) and if you're right you gained some wisdom by application of truth. "My children suffer from lack of knowledge." Knowledge, Mary, not "belief". So, with the body weak and depleted from the big three and the mind caught in this "belief" state, getting your soul is easy pickings. They just take it away from you, make you give it to some mystery somewhere. That's the quickest way to entrap someone. Give them a mystery.

They know all this, Mary. That's how they got to own you. Physically, mentally and spiritually. You are the product of "the lie". Once they own your soul, the real you, the game is over; they win. You are helpless to even know how you got to be owned by another—and [by then], you rather like being owned. It takes the responsibility for living life out of your hands. We all like to be told what to do but in the long run it doesn't work. You end up being owned by another. Person, not God.

The only way to be owned by God is to make sure you aren't owned by someone else. Gods dwells within. That's the only place you're going to find him.

You've always been great at book learning. It massages your ego or something. National Honor Society, straight "A"s in highschool and college. I think that's why you can quote scripture with the best of them. You are good at being a follower. Good at knowing the words. Even good at getting the message. It's an ego trip for you to be able to do these things. But, you missed the message behind the message, between the lines. The why and how of the whole thing. What are the words saying? Are they setting you free or leading you into bondage? Can you see what you are looking at without being told what you are looking at?

Serious questions, Mary. Not to be taken lightly. Don't you have any concept of what freedom really is? When I was in Vietnam we had a saying. "For those of us that fight for it, freedom is something the protected will never understand." I didn't really understand that at the time. I understand it completely now.

The Bible has been changed. The teachings of Christ are valid but most of the rest of it is suspect at best. What I did is test it. If it worked when applied, I accepted it; if it didn't, I know it was added by the evil bunch. Plus I studied the phony Jews. And I studied the real Jews. And I find it fascinating that the real Jews don't subscribe to this National Homeland of Israel. They say that America is the promised land.

And the phony Jews are easy to spot. They commit the crime then manipulate the evidence. They control the press and all the distribution centers. What do you think the '30s was all about? That's when they took control of this country. Yeah, Roosevelt was a 33rd-degree Mason. Masons [at the top] worship Satan. Roosevelt was a Khazarian Jew.

There's only one reason this Born-again Christian movement was invented and made to prosper. To give the phony Jews control over the rest of us. To make it seem legitimate. The "Jews" have been kicked out of every place they have ever been. They didn't flee Egypt. They were kicked out. The Egyptians had had enough of them. I know you think that is blasphemy but it IS historical fact. Again these people control the distribution of everything so when it comes to religion you're going to hear and see what they want you to do. Fortunately for us truth-seekers there are cracks in their armor. The truth will ultimately win. It ALWAYS does.

Judeo-Christian is an oxymoron. They are diametrically opposed to each other. They have infiltrated the real Christian teachings and nullified a bunch of them and added to the rest of it. They can't run the world without the support of the Christians to put them in power. Once they are in power, guess what happens. Remember after the Bolshevik Revolution? Financed by the phony Jews. They killed over 66 million Christians in Russia (I don't see you getting mad about that; you'd rather call me a blasphemer). Karl Marx was a Khazarian Jew. They want to run the world. They invented the phony savior and 1,000-year millennium and turned around and sold it to the Christians. It's a lie. And you embrace that lie and that's why you can't get healthy and productive in fighting these bastards and really finding peace within.

They will run the world and you will have helped put them in power. And some magical, mystical rapture. That's all a fabrication of the evil people. How else could they sell it to you? They have to make you believe that you win. Did the Russian Christians win? Did I win going to Vietnam?

The teachings of Christ, true Christianity, is the valid way to run your life. Only because it works. It does set you free. It expands your beingness. It negates your fears. It makes you healthy and productive. It gives you true peace inside. It makes you strong spiritually. It does lead to God.

"They" know this. "They" fear this. Therefore "they" must negate it. The Born-again Christian movement, and all its trappings, were put here so they could be lord over you. So they could neutralize the opponent. So they could win and be masters of the planet. They can't do it without you and they know it. And in your case it has worked to perfection. You simply will not open your eyes. You like being blind and indeed rely on being blind.

Christ took them on head-to-head. And he beat them. Proving the immortality of the spirit. The Christ I met in Vietnam is NOT the Jesus you worship. The Christ I met in Vietnam knows how to get the job done. Even against incredible odds. He's the one that has saved me countless times. He's the one who speaks the truth and has real answers for the troubles of life. Indeed, for the troubles of the world. He's the one I hold in great reverence and awe. He's the one I bow to and serve daily.

I'm truly sorry that this doesn't meet with your approval. But, as you can tell, I really don't care what you think. I am far beyond your lying immorality. I hate lies; you embrace them. I only hope your research brings you through all this and you can someday see.

I strongly suggest you stop worshiping your pastor and start asking him some real questions. Start challenging authority wherever you find it. Ask "why" of everything. Sit down and watch the movie Apocalypse Now a few times and you'll see a little bit of what I went through and understand why I hate lies. Study the Jewish Utopia by Higger. Get ahold of The Barnes Review, The Spotlight newspaper, even the Phoenix Journals or the Executive Intelligence Review. Take a real close look at the Bible. The TRUTH is out there. And the "truth" will set you free. No savior required.

But, you won't do it, Mary. You like being a puppet. You like not thinking for yourself. You are owned by the Antichrist himself and you dare not question him. You're scared to.

I trust I will not hear from you again. You now know how I see things and I will not embrace your phony religion. You are wrong. It's too bad your ego is such that you cannot accept that. (It's a typical trait with firstborns.)

If you ever decide to stop living in fear, the fear that was given to you by these people, you're on your way. The real God is not a God of fear. You should know that. Ask for your soul back. You'll get it. Turn your back on this phony religion. Embrace the real Christ. The one that saved your brother in Vietnam.

Most of Christianity is true. The rest is invented to enslave you. Figure it out, Mary, you're smarter than you think. "They" know that. "They" are counting on you to put them in power. "They" are counting on you to stay blinded by their lies. "They" have enslaved you.

It comes down to: Who owns you? You, with the real God inside of you, or them with their phony God? You cannot give your soul away. The real God, that dwells within, wants you back. He already owns you. He's waiting.

It's in your hands.

RE: STAR SHOWER; DO NOT CONFUSE WITH STAR CHAMBER. NEW, STRANGE MEASLES, NUR MISUARI WANTED: DEAD OR ALIVE (SHADES OF BUSH COWBOYS), IMF GOOD DEEDS AND LOANS

BEAUTY FROM THE HEAVENS

Hatonn—So, the world just experienced a “star shower” which occurs annually as Earth passes through meteoric (it is claimed) comet or meteor dust trails. It’s a dangerous world out there in the cosmos.

Well, it was viewed all over the world in its glory—except, of course, “only in the Philippines” (OIP) where even the telescopes were not focused properly and got no historical recordings. Oh well. It is truly sad when pollution levels are so high in Paradise as to obscure the very heavens. But then again, that was NOT the cause, either, just the drama for the blunders of incompetence—while clouds obscured the view.

Will history ever have right recordings? Not if the going leadership can prevent it.

I wonder what the view was from Afghanistan? How about Southern Mindanao? Who cares? No, you don’t!

WHAT OF PRESIDENT ARROYO’S VISIT TO WASHINGTON?

Well, it is advertised that she got a Santa bag full of goodies. Want to bet? It is said that she comes home with billions of dollars promised to enhance the government in the form of agreements and loans. We will talk about that nice IMF package a bit later, for I WANT YOU TO PAY ATTENTION. These LOANS are NOT goodie gifts and the promises for business investments and co-ventures are in “failing” industries. There truly is more than one sucker born every minute.

Now you know what the going rate of “low” interest is on these loans—15% compounded annually.

People, wake up: IF YOU GET A HELD TRANCHE OF WHAT HAS BEEN SAID “WILL PROBABLY BE RELEASED” FOR THE PHILIPPINES FROM THE MAJOR AMOUNT STILL BEING HELD TO PUNISH THE KIDS FOR BAD BEHAVIOR, IT WILL BE $30 MILLION. THAT LITTLE BIT, ALONE, WILL ADD THE $30 MILLION PLUS 15% IMMEDIATELY. THE TERMS ARE ALREADY PUBLISHED SO THAT IS $30 MILLION AT 15% INTEREST COMPOUNDED FOR 15 YEARS. Now readers, just you in the fourth grade can KNOW right off that this is going to produce some debt of $240 million when finally due without recourse. Moreover, that is just added to the rest which is also compounding at mostly MORE than 15%.

So, if you borrow because you have no way to meet bills, etc., you HAVE TO TAKE THE MONEY. That means that as things spiral downward there is less and less ability to actually pay anything and more and more is borrowed to just meet the obligations accrued and indeed, considering that the U.S. IS basically the IMF/WB’s property (YES, YOU), such as Argentina and Philippines and rest of the world—are the BOND SLAVES, owned body AND YES, SOUL, by the wicked beast of the four winds. Remember that the Big Boys just “bailed out” Argentina a few short weeks ago and already the nation is in worse shape than at that time. Goodbye Argentina and perhaps now is the time to start “crying for her”. (???)

Therefore, this morning as you look around, consider circumstances AS THEY ARE. Can you live this way? YOU ALREADY DO, CHELAS, and beg for more of everything which limits your freedoms. In the U.S. you have martial law and dictatorial rule under, faint now, a fascist regime.

The Afghan rebels would “rather die than go down to the U.S.”? Well, I’m sure the U.S., et al., will accommodate that wish.

It is claimed that this leader or that leader is an “economist” trained in the best deceitful school on the globe and can’t even begin to compete with a FIRST-grade child who has to give away 15% of his apple without any apple input—and he is hungry while the fat monkey has all the apples.

I also love the theory of high economist projections where textbook costs are cut 10% along with getting a loan to buy the books, at 32% interest from a bank which borrows at 15% from the World Bank. Great. It is, after all, exactly like romping down that yellow brick road to Oz. Cathy O’Brien can tell you about that yellow brick road to Oz—AND WHO is waiting for you there. YOU HAD BEST RE-READ, OR READ WITH ATTENTION, TRANCE-FORMATION OF AMERICA.

So, will anyone DARE to ever use God’s Plan? Of course. What a lot of people who pronounce control and death to all who disagree with them—the facts are that the very component parts needed to start God’s plan are waiting right in that same area of Mindanao now under siege. And THAT is why they want the leader of the objectors “dead or alive”, as the news spewed this morning. At this point of confrontation earlier this week, there was no realization in the higher leadership that there was or is even a possibility. Our demands have been FOR PEACE—and “dead or alive”, per the nation’s directors, is not among the plans. The bullies are going to overstep their use of cattle-prods.

The tales don’t look too good coming out of the area, either. Where Nur Misuari is blamed for starting rebellion it does seem strange, doesn’t it, where 113 are killed and yet it is claimed only 4 serious casualties happened to the military?

Okay, students, God too has a book in which records are kept and I would remind all of you New Age friends who recognize such as old Hatonn—who was and is the RECORD KEEPER and that, my friends, has never been quarreled as to status or stature.

Now, every country is in default who ever took an IMF/WB gift loan so not one country can even pay back the interest, so every year the debts loom exponentially larger and larger—with any signs of recovery or ability to do anything except be owned by the malignant “pseudo gifters”. ALL THE SMILES AND HANDSHAKING ARE NOTHING BUT

PHOTO-OPS TO MAKE SURE THE WORLD KNOWS THAT THE LITTLE KIDS ARE PATIENTLY RECEIVED BY THE GREAT SATAN CLAWS.

Even the Governor of the Philippines Central Bank is in the U.S. with the President of same—shaking hands and laughing with Mr. O’Neill of the Treasury Department WHO IS PAID DIRECTLY FROM THE IMF/WB. YOU ARE THE RECOGNIZED DUPES.

Funny thing, in addition, is that the head of the World Bank can’t seem to be “nice enough” to her ladyship from Paradise when a few months ago the SAME MAN was badgering and promising doom and gloom upon her economy.

Oh indeed, God’s Plan will ultimately serve well its cause. And yes, there certainly is a lot of praying goin’ on while each “side” prays for the total destruction of the other.

And about that World Trade Center; WHERE ARE THE BODIES? And by the way, can’t anyone get the story straight? We are told that there are over 6,000 dead but Mr. Dole says 5,000. Is it always the principle not the accuracy that counts? Well, this time the “principle” STINKS!

SO ON TO THE HEALTH SCENE AND “DOWN WITH SILVER”

Want to handle one more shocker of the week—somewhere else besides Anthrax in the U.S. house of uncommons?

Try this little daily information tid-bit:

[QUOTING The Philippine STAR, November 21, 2001 (that is just yesterday). And yes, silver ionized “stuff” would knock it in less than 24 hours with nothing except recovery to wait for in the healing. Why? Because you are dealing with something that is not ordinary “measles”, Dr. Watson:]

RARE MEASLES VIRUS DOWNS N’SAMAR KIDS

Health Secretary Manuel Dayrit warned Filipinos yesterday on the spread of measles as he confirmed that a measles epidemic had hit Northern Samar, where at least 500 cases had been reported.

Dayrit said parents of young children, who have not received anti-measles vaccine, are advised to go to the nearest health center for vaccination.

If the vaccine is not available, Dayrit said parents should make sure their children get adequate Vitamin A to strengthen their resistance against the disease.

Dayrit revealed that a Department of Health team has been sent to help the DOH field office in Northern Samar in administering treatment to measles victims.

Another team has been sent to Saranggari providence to check reports of a measles outbreak there.

Measles is caused by a virus that does not have a cure. It is not a deadly disease, and in normal cases, a patient can recover within several days. However, some children suffer complications like pneumonia and diarrhea which may lead to death.

Dayrit said malnourished children who get sick of measles have the most difficulty in fighting the virus and commonly succumb to complications.

Dayrit stressed that government has a yearly measles vaccination program, but he lamented that the vaccine does not reach far-flung areas.

As of this writing, at least 35 children have died of measles in Northern Samar while some 445 others have been hospitalized.

Provincial Health Officer Dr. Ignacio Pacho

described the situation as “alarming”. He noted that at least nine of the 24 municipalities of the province have been affected.

“THIS IS NOT JUST AN ORDINARY VIRUS. THIS STRAIN OF MEASLES OR FEVER WHICH HIT OUR PLACE IS TOTALLY UNFAMILIAR TO US BECAUSE WE EASILY CURED ORDINARY CASES IN THE PAST,” Pacho said.

A DOH team is now investigating the “STRANGE” virus in the province.

The office of Gov. Raul Daza, meanwhile, is also exerting all efforts to stop the epidemic.

Last Nov. 16, a 14-man fact-finding team braved the strong winds, heavy rains, and the flooded river of Pambujan to visit the remote town of Silvino Lobos, where the epidemic is believed to have started.

The team, which included nurses, medical technologists and sanitary engineers, has yet to establish what caused the rapid spread of the disease.

Observers theorized that the frequent changing in weather condition in the province may have contributed to the measles outbreak.—Rainier Allan Ronda

[END OF QUOTING]

Vitamin A? (???) Well, for you inquiring minds who want to know, let it be recognized that a PUSH of vitamin A always comes along with something that brings hazard to the eyes.

There is a disease caused by a virus/microbe WHICH IS CALLED RIVER BLINDNESS in Africa. It is also prevalent in dirty water and contaminated field water which ends up with many affects but the worst is BLINDNESS. So does this “strange” new virus presented above. Measles itself can result in severe eye damage if you “old folk” remember that you had to stay down and in a darkened room to prevent the light from damaging your eyes in the throes of measles—a rather routine childhood disease.

Well, that same measles in the first trimester of pregnancy can, and often does, present a malformed child and is reason enough for a medical abortion. THIS IS SERIOUS, PEOPLE, and hardly anyone notices.

NO CURE! (???) May Satan forbid that any suggestions be forthcoming from we the restrained. Neither measles virus nor this “STRANGE” virus can last 4 minutes in a silver colloidal solution. But for goodness sakes, let’s put everyone in jail who mentions such an outrageous possibility, proven to be so over hundreds of years. Perhaps we should give all those children this new “bullet” radioactive treatment which we now, since day before yesterday are “monoclonal antibodies” which latch onto and block the action of receptors, proteins that jut outside cells.

Oh darn, didn’t I just overlook the fact that there is no left-over toxic radioactive material to be had in the Philippines, from nuclear plants and arms production? Except, of course, the wrong kind at CLARK FIELD to maim and deform the people unfortunate to walk through. Thank you, U.S., for your care packages to the poor and destitute of the world.

The Philippines actually got as far as spending on Nuclear Power—and the going joke: “The only place in the world where graft and corruption paid 2-to-one. One for the price of two.” Oh well.

Lester Keiler in New Zealand says that not only is silver colloid available in any old store but is advertised on media with all its “curative” properties openly presented. My gosh, and New Zealand is owned by the British Empire’s Queen. You know, that Empire which has joined at the brain level the operation against terror, the old U.S.A.—also a colony of same.

Oh well, only in FREE-AMERICA? Certainly seems that way, doesn’t it?

I would note that the Taliban in Afghanistan held a news conference last evening—to counter the outright lies of the media, inclusive of named CNN.

People, I’m sorry, but you have been HAD again and again and again. Truth, as touted, is the first to be sacrificed in war. This is, however, totally absurd. Perhaps this, coming from a CHRISTIAN country, is WHY Islam is the fastest-growing “religion” on Earth.

God has mercy—but HE also “allows” you on the Free-Will place to do that which you will, and my goodness, you certainly do, don’t you? You have become brain-dead zombies as a majority of humanity.

Where will it end? It won’t. You may well “end” in your perception of “end” but “it” will not. Unfortunately for some of you—it will never end and you can count on it. This journey is but an experience in manifest expression. The best (or worst) is yet to come.

What is good and what is bad? Certainly it does depend on your perspective regarding your own position.

To my team in the field—be extremely cautious while checking the egg-shells around your feet. We must not even appear to be political in these issues abounding. We have a program and whatever else is attended, it DOES NOT INCLUDE US.

The people will be wanting us to PAY for everything, or anything, and that is the biggest NO of all. Hear me well: If you step beyond our limitations as outlined, you WILL be making an incorrect assumption of assistance. So, keep right on doing what you ARE, try to finalize some of the alternative objectives and keep including old acquaintances on the new possibilities as the case is being joined regarding the Bank Sentral. A LOT of people will want to rejoin the backup brigade. THAT MAY NOT BE OUR THRUST. Just don’t bite on their “changed attitudes” in order to get inside and close to you—again. Do not even think about allowing this place to be central headquarters for inquiries or planning other than as you are included in the planning leadership information circle. THIS MUST BE A FILIPINO ACTION—PERIOD.

There is already foolishness taking place to disallow you privacy in your own meetings as some feel far more welcome than others—AT ANY TIME and into anyone else’s business, even if just in eavesdropping. So, consider yourselves warned. These people walk all over one another as part of acceptable game-playing but it is WRONG and it is “costly” indeed. I remind you that it is imperative to maintain friendship but arms-length associations. We offer a JOINT venture—not a “we do it” and “you get it”. The program is mandatory for both to participate but our limitations are exact, explicit and mandatory to stay with the agreements. This will become ever more increasingly important.

THIS IS NOT “OUR” MANDATE—IT IS OF THIS SOVEREIGN NATION AND PEOPLE WHERE YOU ARE BUT VISITORS. YOU DON’T EVEN GO UP THE DOWN ESCALATOR, SHOOT OFF A FIRECRACKER OR YOUR MOUTH, PLEASE. WE WILL CRAWL OUR WAY THROUGH THE HOLIDAYS AS BEST WE CAN WITH AS MUCH ACCOMPLISHED AS IS POSSIBLE. THINGS ARE SERIOUSLY TROUBLED IN SOUTHEAST ASIA—FOR WHAT HAPPENS IN MINDANAO NOW, HAPPENS TO ALL OF THE ISLAMIC STATES AROUND THE AREA.

To mistreat the Muslims in Ramadan is not wise on the government’s part and will worsen as you work toward Christmas holidays in which you now find selves.

This is worse than that “clash of cultures” you hear so much about these days—for CHRIST is not “up for grabs” for any “select” or “elect” groupie who claims same with evil in his heart and mouth.

As this year passes on KNOW it is truly a “big event” both in close and beginning. Be that as it may, we have our work to do. This was to be a transition period and I believe, by watching the games afoot, it is truly a rather desperate time for the grabbers, in addition to trying to get rid of any spiritual truth remaining.

I hope that there will be opportunity to share the “letter to a sister” just received in “copy” form. It is truly sad when those of great preaching and misinformation seal their minds as if Truth will destroy whatever they have become in the eyes of themselves. Ego is a master of deceit to match its teacher/trainer. It isn’t even subtle, readers, so you must hold to your own strength and KNOWING and allow. If “allowing” is good enough for Creator who dwells within each soul, it must be acceptable to all who will seek Truth that it not be missed in the passing.

Man is given to interpret and repeat—most often incorrectly in either repeating something or actual realization. Go down that wrong-way street and often there is no way OUT. The worst though is to go over a bridge to that one-way street while burning that bridge in the crossing. You often find a DEAD END and no way back. Just always KNOW that unless a man’s name is “Mr. Christ”, “CHRIST” is a “state of being”, not a label.

Until YOU can accept the responsibility of LEARNING TRUTH, you will wallow in confusion and usually pronounce your misperceptions unmercifully onto the heads of others.

You cannot “BELIEVE” in God, friends—you must KNOW God.

So be it, for as it is that God is WITHIN “and” without, you can never be free of same. You can push, turn away and do what you will but you cannot remove your Creator from self. It is like trying to change your DNA—you CANNOT!

You indeed do “need” God and therein lies the unfortunate push and pull of having SO MANY of them. Usually, you can truly just follow the money trail at the weekly gathering. And yet, one needs to have responsibility for himself if we are to achieve a better way. Man, like the physician, often needs to “heal self”. Man asks for miracles but expects magic and thus misses most miracles. The birth of a baby or a tree is equally miraculous. Both are seeds in God’s garden of Creation. Once birthed in manifest form—MAN must nurture and take care—while God watches and “allows”.

Why does “MAN” become of the lie? Because he wants to be and that wanting is through, finally, choosing.

Thank you who have responded so generously to back Diane, for in the doing so you have made a statement for Truth and Freedom and one step more in a stand against evil that would enslave you.

You do not need to “believe” on someone’s preaching, people—BOTHER TO GO RESEARCH AND FIND OUT FOR YOURSELF THAT YOU MIGHT KNOW TRUTH.

Even in the greatest storm there is always the TRUTH that beyond the clouds there are stars or, the Sun itself.

I will only offer to show you the way, for that is what I AM. I will not drag you in chains, anywhere. You can learn and KNOW or you can believe and probably remain quite ignorant to the end of “your” days but not, as the case may be, until the end of days.—GCH

RE: SILVER COLLOID SUSPENSION: HOW IT WORKS AND WHAT IT IS

Hatonn—NOTATION: To be more explicit about what is called “Silver Colloid”, or any elemental solution, we have to call it what it is: a suspension of elemental ions which remain in suspension due to their positive charge. In the case of silver, elemental or metallic mineral is used for the positive electrode in the processing which determines both the charge AND the presence of elemental ions (minute submicroscopic particles).

The extent of impact on a bio-organism is due to the “charge” and “frequency” of the particulate. Further, the color will not match the coloration of the metal when charged electrically. The solution will, however, attain the “frequency” of its basic elemental state. Example: silver in charged ionic suspension (colloid) will be a golden color in solution and, depending on the content, will vary from transparent to deep amber-gold. Any fallout will be either ashen grey or very dark particulate. Gold will produce a lavender-purple solution when ionically charged.

These minute charged particles are totally harmless and no side-effects have ever been noted from a pure suspension (colloid) of any metallic electrode that is pure and has no alloy present and is in its natural format.

We will only offer that which is public knowledge as presented for supplemental use and that which research scientists and physicians have found to be factual reference.

HOW DOES COLLOIDAL SUSPENSION SILVER ACTUALLY WORK?

This will refer only to the actual physical properties in use. These references will not cover the basic action or properties involved in the solution itself, as referenced above.

[QUOTING excerpt from information developed by an AP search as to “drugs” for various uses:]

Another supplement under serious academic study as an all-purpose drug is silver. It has been hawked for decades as a popular remedy for a variety of ailments, so microbiologist Ron Leavitt at Brigham Young University balked three years ago when a company first asked him to test its solution scientifically.

“I said, ‘Go away!’” he recalled in an interview. “I fully expected it not to do a thing.”

Reluctantly agreeing, he compared the silver compound to the common antibiotic tetracycline in action against 11 germs. In each case, he says, the silver compound worked as well or better. Leavitt says he doubted his own findings, so he did the experiments again; and again. The results were the same against those strains and nine others. One was E. coli, another potential agent of terrorism.

The interested company, American Biotech Labs of Alpine, Utah, has begun to test the solution for anthrax and ear infections, says spokesman Keith Moeller.

Leavitt says silver, at the levels used in the solution, appears to be toxic to germs but safe for people. He plans to extend his experiments to animals. He suspects the silver acts as a catalyst, perhaps promoting a reaction that short-circuits a germ’s energy metabolism

One potential drawback, he said, is the danger of killing desirable germs, like those that protect the skin and mouth against disease microbes. Immune-regulating drugs are less likely to show this disadvantage, because the immune system knows pretty well how to tell friendly forces from those of the enemy.

[H: This is not usually a problem at all because the “friendly” flora is at a FREQUENCY compatible with the host body. This is why you are dealing here with something easily compared to an immune-system-enhancing supplement. When your immune system is rendered useless, you are going to be unable to withstand any assault of magnitude to present dis-ease.] [END OF QUOTING]

WHAT IS COLLOIDAL (SUSPENSION) SILVER?

This comes from Marvin Robey, one of the premier “expert” researchers in the field of Colloidal Silver.

What EXACTLY is Colloidal Silver?

So, what is this “silver ion”? Well, it’s really more commonly known as “colloidal silver”. It is presently available in health food stores and by mail order suppliers. Simply put, it is extremely minute-sized silver particles suspended in water, with a positive electrical charge. The smaller the silver particles, the more effective it has been proven to be. The best colloidal silver is produced at the molecular level. A small D.C. current is passed through an electrolyte with silver electrodes. Minute, molecular sized particles are drawn off of the positive electrode, having a positive electrical charge. This electrical charge is of primary importance to healing and anti-bacterial qualities....

[H: The charge will remain intact indefinitely unless electromagnetically discharged. Therefore, any suspension holding its “color” is “good” and will remain indefinitely “good” for use.

We only suggest use of “pure” colloidal suspension because all other electrolyte “mixes” present some chlorides and salts. Some producers use stabilizers such as a protein. This may well stabilize the solution but CAN introduce problems in rare cases. Some even add food coloring to produce the color desired but this hides the true quality of the colloid produced.]

Silver has been known to be a bactericide for at least 1200 years (documented). Even in ancient times, it was known to prevent disease and it was said that disease could not be transmitted by drinking from a silver cup. Silver coins were commonly dropped into a jar to prevent the spoilage of milk and other drink, and silver containers were used to prolong the freshness of foods in general. Even today, we commonly call all tableware “silverware” although today it is more commonly stainless steel. Until almost 1970 it was common usage for scientists to put a silver dime in a petri dish to sterilize the dish. Silver was long used for plates for the surgical repair of bones.

In the 1920s, 30s and 40s, silver was ground very fine like flour, suspended in water and was used orally for many infections and disease conditions, topically on burns, and for fungal infections. OVER 650 BACTERIA, VIRUS, AND FUNGI WERE CONSIDERED TREATABLE WITH THIS SILVER IN 1938. With the development of the patented antibiotics, silver was forgotten in the United States and most other places, although the antibiotics are only effective against bacteria, not viruses, yeast, or fungi, as is silver. Now, with the greatly improved modern colloids, the tables are turning and silver may be the most effective treatment.

The 1994 issue of Newsweek featured a six-page article, “Antibiotics, the End of Miracle Drugs?” as the cover story. “The rise of drug-resistant germs is unparalleled in recorded history,” according to the article. “Penicillin and tetracycline lost their power over staph back in the 1950s and 60s. Another antibiotic, methicillin, provided a backup for a while, but methicillin-resistant staph is now common in hospitals and nursing homes worldwide. Trying to cripple bacteria’s defenses will not do much more than buy us five to ten years. A better strategy might be to abandon antibiotics altogether in favor of different kinds of drugs.” Not a very pretty picture.

The September, 1995 issue of Time magazine featured an article titled “Revenge of the Killer Microbes”. Sounds like a science-fiction thriller, doesn’t it? But Time was serious. “Faced with AIDS, and with an ever increasing number of antibiotic-resistant bacteria, doctors were forced to admit that the medical profession was actually retreating in the battle against germs. The question ceased to be, ‘When will infectious disease be wiped out?’ and became ‘Where will the next deadly new plague appear?’ Humanity once had the hubris to think it could control or even conquer all these microbes but anyone who reads today’s headlines knows how vain that hope turned out to be. New scourges are emerging—AIDS is not the only one—and older diseases like TUBERCULOSIS are rapidly evolving into forms that are RESISTANT TO ANTIBIOTICS. In 1992, 13,300 hospital patients died of infections that resisted every drug doctors tried.”

The basic problem is simply that bacteria have a tremendous ability to adapt to substances. They can and do mutate to overcome antibiotics. When the antibiotics destroy the bacteria which are susceptible to them, they can clear the way for the resistant bacteria to move in uninhibited.

Still another problem that has plagued the medical profession from the beginning with modern antibiotics has been that beneficial bacteria and organisms play various important, natural functions in the body. Antibiotics often play havoc with some of these friendly organisms, producing long-lasting side effects that may be difficult to correct. Science Digest suggested an answer to all of these catastrophic problems back in March of 1978 in an article titled “Our Mightiest Germ Fighter”. This article by Jim Powell stated: “THANKS TO EYE-OPENING RESEARCH, SILVER IS EMERGING AS A WONDER OF MODERN MEDICINE. AN ANTIBIOTIC KILLS PERHAPS A HALF-DOZEN DIFFERENT DISEASE ORGANISMS, BUT SILVER KILLS SOME 650. RESISTANT STRAINS FAIL TO DEVELOP. MOREOVER, SILVER IS VIRTUALLY NON-TOXIC.”

One reason that the antibiotics have been so popular in the medical field is due to the fact that they can be patented. Therefore, the pharmaceutical companies find it financially worthwhile to keep the doctors educated in their medicines, while other products go unnoticed. Silver, on the other hand, is not patentable and there are no huge profits in it, so it is not worth heavy promotion. The high-priced products run over the low cost products, simply because they are more profitable.

All of this is happening at the same time that disease bacteria are developing immunity to modern antibiotics. Furthermore, the immunity to the antibiotics seems to be developing all over the world, even in isolated areas. The medical profession is alarmed. Can silver save us? Many authorities think so.

In Use of Colloids in Health and Disease, author Dr. Henry Crooks says that colloidal silver is highly germicidal. In laboratory tests he found that "all fungus, virus, bacterium, streptococcus, staphylococcus, and other pathogenic organisms are killed in three or four minutes. In fact, there is no microbe known that is not killed by colloidal silver in six minutes or less in a dilution as little as 5 parts per million. Dr. Crooks found colloidal silver particularly effective in intestinal problems, and tells us there are no serious effects whatsoever from high concentrations.

In Colloidal Silver by The Association for Colloidal Research, it is reported that: "Medical Journal Reports and documented studies spanning 100 years indicate NO KNOWN SIDE EFFECTS FROM ORAL OR I.V. ADMINISTRATION OF PROPERLY MANUFACTURED COLLOIDAL SILVER IN ANIMAL OR HUMAN TESTING." ... "THERE HAS NEVER BEEN A REPORTED REACTION WITH COLLOIDAL SILVER AND ANY PRESCRIPTION MEDICATION..."

[H: This is because there "cannot" be, for we are talking electromagnetic FREQUENCY and not, in this reference, particulate.]

In Perceptions magazine of May/June 1996, Mark Metcalf states: "I made a 16 ounce solution of well over 250 ppm and drank it. I repeated this procedure four days in a row, daily ingesting at least the equivalent of a 5-ppm solution! I did not eat yogurt or acidophilus or compensate for friendly bacteria loss in any way. The only side effect was that I seemed to feel better!"

Some other researchers do tell us, however, that in prolonged, very heavy doses, some silver compounds will leave gray deposits in the heavier skin folds such as the knuckles. This condition is known as "Argyria". The only problem to these deposits is said to be the cosmetic appearance and the condition is said TO BE RARE. Some experts say THIS CONDITION HAS NEVER BEEN KNOWN TO OCCUR FROM SILVER IN THE COLLOIDAL STATE. Other experts say this condition has never been known to occur from silver in high, prolonged dosages. The very small particle size in the colloidal silver would seem to make this possibility remote and this very small particle size is by far the most effective form of silver. Argyria is correctable with laser treatment, like a tattoo.

[H: Moreover, the rare individual who reports such problems always has other MAJOR health problems that caused the use of the silver in the first place, AND

LIVED TO COMPLAIN OF THE SILVER INSTEAD OF FUNERAL EXPENSES.]

Furthermore, colloidal silver should not be used along with intravenous EDTA chelation, as silver is a metal and EDTA works by absorbing and removing metals from the blood. For this reason, the two work against each other.

[H: In this instance as well, however, you only have a neutralizing effect and NOT detrimental reactions. Silver will itself bond heavy metals and it too will cleanse the system of the toxic metal particles.]

The evidence appears to support the theory that colloidal silver is highly effective against all strains of pathogenic bacteria, while any one antibiotic is only effective against a few certain bacterial strains. Furthermore, antibiotics have never been effective against viruses, yeast, or fungi. Yet, researchers are telling us that colloidal silver has produced phenomenal results in tissue healing and reconstruction as well as reducing scar tissue in clinical tests. Severe cuts and wounds have healed in much less time.

RE: COLLOIDAL SILVER AND THE FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION, U.S.A.

CAN THE FDA DO THIS?
YES, THEY CAN AND APPARENTLY HAVE!

Hatonn—The following will contain information regarding limitations on such as Colloidal Silver and that literally means, any colloidal elements.

This is the very type of "news" and rulings that would have of necessity been sent by the FDA to any manufacturers or distributors of any such substances. So, this is directly relevant to the Federal Case now pending against Diane Kunick.

She was given NO INFORMATION on the subject and on July 14 or so of 2000 the agents raided her home in the early morning at gunpoint and were IN HER HOME before she was aware of entry.

Obviously, it turns out by affidavits entered with said FDA, the other parties who actually held and ran the corporation which was the "Mother" of the little distributorship, KNEW and did in fact set up the raids, made it public in two States and splashed the news around the world.

Interestingly enough the same substances can simply be labeled "Supplement" and be fine—but you can't even talk about any other benefits.

There is nothing that says a paper, i.e., CONTACT, can't print the information for informational and educational purposes. In fact, this might well save the FDA from having to blunder against some other unsuspecting citizen. There is no sender's information on the document, so we can only reprint it with full appreciation and recognition of the original resource. THIS is how we scatter the information, readers, for you have no open press, media or freedoms under your Constitution.

Well, these laws do not hold, yet, in the Philippines and so this information is also targeted at those people of the Philippines and elsewhere so that they do not have to suffer the same limited fate as the old U.S.A. who no longer offers freedom of anything to anyone.

THE COLLOIDAL SILVER CONSPIRACY

[QUOTING the LIFE & HEALTH RESEARCH GROUP, 25277 W. Main St., Dept. J, Lynwood, CA 92311:]

INTRODUCING THE POWERFUL
NATURAL ANTIBIOTIC
THEY WANT TO TAKE AWAY FROM YOU!

WHY IS THE FDA WORKING TO KEEP
THIS VITAL LIFE-SAVING KNOWLEDGE
A SECRET FROM YOU?

Incredibly, the Food & Drug Administration (FDA) has now ruled that you cannot be told about the amazing and potentially life-saving, infection-fighting properties of colloidal silver. Yet, since its discovery over 90 years ago, colloidal silver has saved more lives from deadly infections than any other natural substance in existence. Hundreds of studies conducted over the past 90 years at top medical universities in both Europe and America have confirmed the phenomenal infection-fighting powers of this safe, proven, all-natural antibiotic substance.

In fact, at Syracuse Medical University it was demonstrated by Dr. Robert O. Becker, M.D. and his colleagues that colloidal silver ions can kill many of the deadly infectious microorganisms that no longer respond to prescription antibiotic drugs! And in laboratory tests colloidal silver has been demonstrated to kill over 650 different disease-causing pathogens—amazingly, most of them die within six minutes of direct contact!

FDA ACTS TO RESTRICT INFORMATION ABOUT COLLOIDAL SILVER'S POWERFUL
INFECTION-FIGHTING PROPERTIES!

Yet the heavy-handed goons at the FDA don't want you to ever discover this vital and potentially life-saving information about colloidal silver. In fact, late last year they passed a brand new "Final Ruling" that effectively restricts the American public from learning the full truth about the powerful infection-fighting properties of colloidal silver!

The new FDA ruling places severe restrictions on what can be said about colloidal silver in advertising and labeling. In fact, in spite of its medically documented 90-year history of safe and effective use, the FDA has now ruled that colloidal silver can no longer be sold in the United States if it is described as an infection-fighting agent! Instead, it can now only be described as a "mineral supplement". If it is described as anything else in the advertising and labeling, the FDA can shut down the offending company and confiscate its inventory!

In essence, the FDA has ruled that the American public no longer has the right to know what a powerful and medically proven infection-fighting agent colloidal silver is!

(But as you'll see, we're going head-to-head with the FDA in order to bring to you the comprehensive and potentially life-saving knowledge they've been working so feverishly to keep secret from you. In fact, we've arranged for you to receive a significant 50% discount on a comprehensive new manual that will not only teach you how to use colloidal silver to protect yourself and your family against serious, life-threatening pathogens, but will also teach you how to make your own safe, pure, therapeutic-quality colloidal silver in just minutes, for only pennies per batch! More on that in just a moment...)

HOW COULD SUCH A THING HAPPEN IN AMERICA?

Over the past decade thousands of Americans have quietly abandoned the use of prescription antibiotic drugs and have turned instead to the use of safe, natural colloidal silver. In fact, when people discovered they could cure the vast majority of their own infections—quickly, safely and effectively—with a few dollars' worth of colloidal silver, word began to spread rapidly among the American public. The giant pharmaceutical companies quickly realized they would soon be losing tens of millions of dollars annually in sales of their expensive prescription antibiotic drugs if they didn't do something about it. Initially, they demanded that the FDA ban the sale of colloidal silver altogether. But try as they might, the FDA couldn't find sufficient grounds for a ban. After all, colloidal silver has a fully documented 90-year medical history of safety and effectiveness!

Not to be stopped, the big drug firms rapidly switched gears: They began pressuring the FDA to restrict the public's access to information about colloidal silver. They simply didn't want any more people to learn how powerful and effective colloidal silver really is against infectious microorganisms and the deadly diseases they can cause. And in a move that has stunned the medical community, the FDA promptly bowed to the wishes of the global pharmaceutical giants, placing into law the infamous new "Final Ruling" on colloidal silver in July 1999.

How could this happen in America today? Unfortunately, it has become abundantly clear that the FDA is now little more than the enforcement arm of the major drug companies! Literally billions of dollars in profits are pocketed annually by these pharmaceutical giants thanks to the monopoly they hold on the sale of expensive prescription antibiotic drugs. And colloidal silver is considered to be the biggest threat to that multi-billion dollar annual monopoly on prescription antibiotics. Of course, anything that threatens those kinds of profits—and promises to put the power to heal serious infections back into the hands of average Americans—must be regulated into oblivion. And the FDA's perverse "medical gestapo" has now attempted to do just that!

WE SIMPLY CAN'T LET THE FDA GET AWAY WITH THIS ANY LONGER!

By restricting the American public's access to information about colloidal silver at the point of sale the FDA is effectively pronouncing a death sentence on thousands, perhaps even millions of Americans over time who will die of infectious illness because they did not know about the powerful life-saving, infection-fighting properties of this safe, natural substance.

It is well known that many of today's prescription antibiotic drugs are simply no longer effective against pathogenic microorganisms and the deadly infections they can cause. Even the major news media have documented the fact that infectious microorganisms are growing more and more resistant to modern antibiotic drugs. Some pathogens are now even resistant to vancomycin, long considered by doctors to be the antibiotic drug of last resort. And the numbers of these drug-resistant pathogens are growing higher and higher every year, killing more and more Americans—particularly the elderly and the very young who are the least able to withstand the onslaught of infectious disease!

Yet laboratory tests have demonstrated that a few cents worth of colloidal silver can kill hundreds of infectious microorganisms—including many of the antibiotic-resistant super pathogens—dead in their tracks! And, because colloidal silver is not a poison like modern antibiotics, the deadly microorganisms cannot grow resistant to it. Instead, science tells us that colloidal silver is a safe, natural substance that attaches itself to an enzyme receptor site on the outer shell of pathogenic microorganisms in the human body, and kills them by preventing them from "respiring". In essence, colloidal silver smothers the deadly little critters!

[H: Because it is at this type of discussion that there are always questions about other colloidal solutions such as gold, copper, etc., that I have to remind you of prior information. AS MICROBES ARE PRESENTED IN TAMPERED-ALTERED FORM, THE "FREQUENCY" OF THE MICROBE CHANGES. IT IS NOT "RESISTANCE" TO THE COLLOID; IT IS THAT THE GENETICALLY- OR DNA-ALTERED MICROBE IS "DIFFERENT" AND OFTEN NEEDS A HIGHER, OR SOMETIMES A LOWER, FREQUENCY SOLUTION TO NEUTRALIZE THE MICROBE ITSELF. SILVER ITSELF IS STILL SUITABLE FOR MOST INVADERS BUT FOR THE ONES ON THEIR WAY AND SOME THAT ARE ALREADY PRESENT, YOU WILL NEED A HIGHER-FREQUENCY SUSPENSION.]

We cannot let the global pharmaceutical conglomerates and their cronies in the FDA restrict this vital and potentially life-saving information from the American public any longer—particularly at this crucial point in time when America is faced with an unprecedented infectious-disease crisis that is growing rapidly out of control. That's why we have commissioned a brand new publication specifically designed to blow the lid off the FDA's conspiracy to keep you in the dark about colloidal silver. It is called...

THE COLLOIDAL SILVER MANUAL: INTRODUCING THE POWERFUL NATURAL ANTIBIOTIC THEY WANT TO TAKE AWAY FROM YOU

[H: What do I think about this manual? I don't. This is the way these people choose to bring public their information. We have the benefit of being a public newspaper where journalistic rights are standing, if not honored by the government. We also have a right to publish all the same information for educational and public interest, the Phoenix Journals AND YES, THIS WILL ALL BE PUBLISHED IN

BOOK FORM as we can get around to doing so. Mr. Bruce Tracy is keeping track so that the Journals can be printed in proper sequence and importance of topics with indexing for convenience of our readers. Ours is but to share where we can, the work of others and their presentations. This is certainly not the only information book on the market and is relatively expensive compared to several other very good resources. However, this is information and we honor these people for this valuable resource. We will offer the contact information at the end of the copy. Thank you.]

Unfortunately, to bring this vital life-saving information to the American public we have no choice but to go head-to-head with the FDA and their global pharmaceutical masters. But we stand firmly—without fear—on our First Amendment right to free speech. We absolutely refuse to back down. This vital and potentially life-saving information must be brought to the attention of the American public before it is too late!

[END OF QUOTING]

They say you can get this book which is listed as $129 but it is here slashed to the price of $47. There are indeed other far-less-expensive informational books available, so I do not suggest you go out and get one. You already have been offered the information up the gazoo from such as our own presentations, so it certainly seems expensive and out of range for the information included. But, we honor the daring ones willing to confront the FDA at this level. I suggest, however, that writing about the Silver Colloid is not the problem—but it's using the information along with sales of the product itself.

I therefore offer the ordering information and you can follow up as you choose: LIFE & HEALTH RESEARCH GROUP, 252 W. Main St., Dept. J, Lynwood, CA 92311.

This has basically been an advertisement for the Manual but the FDA information is valuable to know—for the FDA obviously has a very nasty, dirty game underway. When your government wants to put away—for nine years in Federal Prison with a fine of $250,000 per count charged—a young Mother who simply worked for a small company with a branch distributing vitamins and supplements, YOU ARE IN SERIOUS TROUBLE, CITIZENS.

Yes, we will keep offering information as it comes to our attention. Thank you alert citizens who share with us.

If you want freedom, people, you are going to have to demand it and stop signing lies on plea bargains just to get the beast out of your hair. Nobody else has the cause to make sure you have colloidal silver or anything else—EXCEPT YOU. Nobody else OWES you, friends. Moreover, the longer you SUPPORT and fund the very ones who claim to be your source of Truth and Righteousness and actually are thieves, liars and cheats, the more you will get what you demand—trouble.

I cannot ask our friends and staff to bear this burden FOR you. We will do whatever we can to give you resource information and welcome your calls and letters, but you have serious problems when you support and play with the already declared "enemy".

So be it.

RE: WAR IN MINDANAO. SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY AND PURE IDIOCY—DJE-EE/D (AND ANYONE ELSE WITH 2 CENTS)

MINDANAO: A WORLD AWAY OR IN OUR LIVING ROOM?

In the living room—very definitely, in our soul—TODAY.

We got a “text message” last evening from Mindanao which stated there were skirmishes in Sulu (Jolo town).

This morning the headlines scream: “Misuari declares war...”.

So, many are killed, more are wounded, the government military is dropping bombs and the President visiting in the U.S. doesn't even think it important enough to send her own national defense or security people home from their begging trip. Or, consider it what it is—a trip to sell out the Philippines.

Over three years here makes you care too much? Perhaps.

However, praise be to God, Allah, Aton, Joe Smith or whoever, that it IS off its dime and not festering further. This really puts all the Moros and Muslims in a very, very bad position.

As nearly as we can tell Elly Pamatong has been, and probably still is, with Misuari—except that Misuari is out in front of the troops of haphazard rebels while I'm confident Elly is quite secure behind the lines.

I just pray that our friends stay home and live long enough to offer A BETTER WAY to those poor, poverty-stricken survivors.

We don't know anything about it EXCEPT there is now just reason to call in the death squads to “help maintain order” in the region. Blindness seems to afflict us all as well as deafness where you need to hear the most.

And who got caught in the bombs and crossfire? The innocent, of course, while they celebrate the Holy month of Ramadan.

People: I DON'T LIKE THIS JOB ANY MORE.

E.J. remains practical and suggests we “don't like it any less...”, to soften the edges. But no, I like it a LOT LESS today! How personal can war be? In your dooryard with the people you love—it is right in your face.

Will what we are doing make a difference? Oh indeed, eventually it will save the nation and perhaps as the focus always seems to have impact on the mind and heart FIRST, it requires a bit of time to sort possibilities.

AND YES, EVERYBODY CLAIMS GOD IS ON THEIR SIDE! HOW CAN WE CONTINUE TO DO THESE AWFUL THINGS IN THE NAME OF GOD?

So, back in the highrise, we waited until very late (well, all night) as we were told some commodity was being brought to “here” for security for the night to be handled today as business—and that didn't happen either. PERHAPS TODAY? In the overall scheme of life itself I wonder this morning if it even matters a whit.

Most of everything we watch unfold deals with POWER and individuals wanting to have THE BIG STICK and indeed, as with others we have experienced, speak for and AS God, or who knows what else.

Well, as I wrote that last paragraph, a text came about the people due last night—they couldn't “get out” or “in” or something so will do it Wednesday. What the heck? God must be back in Heaven because NOTHING MUCH is right with the world. This referring to the old saw: “God is in His heaven and all's right with the world!” I think, however, I begin to have more sympathy for poor old Pontius Pilote for what was the poor idiot to do? Sometimes washing one's hands is about all you CAN do, it seems—AND WAIT. It is just a “test transfer” but that always comes “first”, it appears.

We have warts all over us from kissing toads, but again: oh well.

CHANGE OF TOPICS

Happy B'day Debbie—but yes indeed, the fountain of youth has been offered in the paper yesterday, right here in Vanilaville—I gather from the U.S., so not to worry.

Diane: Do not sign that plea bargain! Please!

There is help arriving and hopefully not on Philippine Time, but lots is coming forth on the errors of such dealings as the FDA has dumped on YOU. Those idiots offered you plea bargains BEFORE, it appears, there are even charges. This is not unusual, just totally UNLAWFUL UNDER THE CONSTITUTION OR RULES OF JUSTICE.

We are so grateful for you who have written and demanded input from the Feds—the letters are excellent and, if nothing else, this is one hot potato and I, for one, want to know in a court of law—who did those affidavits, because if it was only “Mr. Watcher”, we have to have access and that comes by having the case brought forth.

I know that Cmdr. wants to point out some interesting things so we won't waste time on my speculations.

The last things sent by Dr. Carlson's friend seem to be an incredible gold mine in about every front going in confrontation, from property to the “authority” to act as any of these institutions have done.

Unlawful LAWS are piled on the books only to find that the original creation of the heinous divisions and departments were not LEGAL in the first place, not just “unconstitutional” but outright illegal.

Can we fight such wrongs? No, I don't really think so, to any extent, but we certainly CAN stand on the “facts” of the laws.

Diane is not the only point in this hideous game of evil intentions. A whole plethora of “causes” hit just yesterday in the case we will simply refer to as the Spectrum miscreants which, at the least, restarts the time limitation.

And yes, in the case of Diane being the ONLY charged party she can have the backing of the system even more fairly brought forth than the prosecution which already looks pretty bad from their activities.

Being brought as a “criminal”/“felony” charge, Diane, if “convicted” would have access to the entire system all the way through appeals to the U.S. Supreme Court.

It is VERY difficult to PROVE (especially beyond a reasonable/shadow of doubt), intentional fraud and intentional misleading of customers—under ANY circumstances.

The armed jackboot raids topped the no-no operation and left the miscreants hanging out and the agents embarrassed. Remember that in two States THE PRESS WAS WAITING AND WAS DIRECTED BY MISCREANT ASSOCIATES. Agents said they notified NO ONE.

The top four framers made sure they were SEEN and recognized elsewhere that fateful day—but such as Bilgers were seen right in full view directing traffic and communing with the agents and press. In Las Vegas it was even MORE interesting—so, I think a day or so in court is worthy of the effort and I can't believe Diane is too shy to accommodate that “cause”, however difficult it appears today. The “probation” regulations are enough to not settle for that insane “bargain” the Feds have presented.

COLLOIDS

What this has done, beyond the moment of terror and shock, is to present opportunity to really question the FDA. There is so much EXPERT PROOF of Silver colloid's VALUE as to shock anyone.

Further, there is now a statement FROM THE FDA that Silver Colloids (all of the colloids) can be and still are LEGAL and can be sold as supplements—TODAY.

The FDA law states that “experts” determine... Oh indeed? Just WHO are “those experts”?

Facts are that the description “colloid” is not even exactly correct in the description. The solution of which we speak is pure water ionized with positive charge using electrodes which we identify so that the ionization charge is able to be identified clearly and without doubt as to the substance involved.

Now, students of physics, if our ionized solution is dangerous or something, how is it that both silver and gold are used extensively in dental fillings which remain in the person's mouth indefinitely? The nerds even approve “mercury” for that use when silver and gold have NO known detrimental qualities and mercury is DEADLY. So, please tell me again about those “experts”. I like the definition of “expert” which states: “Expert: a has-been drip under pressure.” Just decide what you want accomplished and pay off an “expert” to make sure you win your case. And then, hold your breath for it always gets worse.

In addition, Diane did NOT write the information in the “catalog” which seems to be a focus while “Catalog” in itself is about the most “far-out” definition of the product list. When the mice all ran, the truth was left dangling for the world to see. There certainly has been no suggestion that the products were and/or are not other than great.

Moreover, it works out that Diane has almost nothing to do with any part of the New Gaia “corporation”.

People, it is important to note these things because this is why you have opportunity to manage things well and secure yourselves against your “turned enemies”. They catch themselves in their own traps of hatred. Let's please just make sure it happens!

Now to turn to some rather amusing, if not totally humorous, items in the Science & Technology section of “Business” in The Philippine STAR (Monday, Nov. 19, 2001). I hope you will all read these things with “silver colloid suspension” in mind and see what the FDA can do about such things as “sweat”.

HUMAN SWEAT CONTAINS VERSATILE ANTIBIOTIC

NEW YORK (AP)—Your sweat might help you fight germs.

Researchers have found that human sweat contains a versatile antibiotic that might be on the front lines against disease-causing bacteria.

Scientists already knew that skin contains germ-fighting substances that go to work after skin injury and during wound healing. The new work found a protein in sweat that was much different chemically.

The work, published online by the journal Nature Immunology, is presented by scientists at Eberhard Karls University in Turbingen, Germany.

They call the newfound substance dermicidin. They found it in samples of human sweat and determined that the gene for it is active in sweat glands.

They also showed that it was effective against several disease-causing bacteria, including those that cause skin infections like impetigo.

Dermicidin “probably plays a key role in the innate immune responses of the skin,” the researchers wrote.

[For you net-addicts: Nature Immunology: <http://immunol.nature.com>]

[H: I would suggest you might find even more interesting stuff if you look and certainly you all should look, because I believe you might want to build a good case as more of you are set to die at the hands of the King Drug-Chemical industries.]

Here's another good one which we can relate to correspondence from Dr. Edwin Young to E.J. Ekker:

[QUOTING:]

SCIENTISTS SAY MUSICIANS' BRAINS WIRED DIFFERENTLY

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The brain waves of professional musicians respond to music in a way that suggests they have an intuitive sense of the notes that amateurs lack, researchers said.

Neuroscientists, using brain-scanning MRI machines to peer inside the minds of professional German violinists...

[H: STOP RIGHT THERE. No MRI machine can peer INSIDE THE "MIND" OF ANYONE. Even if you can look at the brain—it is NOT the mind.] [END OF QUOTING]

I don't even want to go further on this one because I recall in the heat of professing his great genius qualifications in preparation of stealing the paper, Ed wrote that he had the qualifications for deciphering just about all things. He equated his expertise to himself having "perfect tonal pitch" while E.J. did NOT. My goodness, now the "experts" have somehow peered inside the mind and call the shots.

Next is another good one here on the same page:
[QUOTING excerpts:]

TINY 'SMART BOMB' CAN KILL CANCER CELLS WITH RADIATION.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A single atom of radioactive material in a microscopic cage can be injected into the body and act like a cancer "smart bomb", finding, invading and zapping tumor cells, according to laboratory studies that may lead soon to human trials, researchers say.

Dr. David Scheinberg of Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York said tests of the smart-bomb technique in mice showed that it selectively kills cancer cells and substantially prolongs the life of lab animals with tumors.

"You could inject several million of these molecules and they would circulate around, find their target cells, be taken inside and then kill the cells," said Scheinberg. "These are extraordinarily potent drugs."

A report on the research appears in the journal Science. In their study, Scheinberg and his associates created a cancer smart bomb putting a SINGLE ATOM OF ACTINIUM-WW5, A RADIOACTIVE ISOTOPE, INSIDE A MICROSCOPIC CAGE MADE BY DOW CHEMICAL CO. IN FREEPORT, TEXAS.

The isotope is a byproduct of nuclear power plants and nuclear weapons manufacturing. It radiates a low-level dose of alpha particles. As it decays, Actinium-225 produces three daughter atoms, each of which also gives out alpha particles.

Scheinberg said the cage, made of carbon and nitrogen, is shaped like a ring with the actinium-225 atom inside. They are held together in the same way that magnets can stick together—the isotope has a positive charge and the molecular cage has a negative charge.

"The ring holds the atom in the center like a hula hoop containing a basketball," said Scheinberg.

Attached to the cage and atom is an antibody, a protein that will lock onto a corresponding protein on the surface of a cell. Scheinberg calls the couples a "nanogenerator" because it is small, but still gives off atomic radiation.

When the nanogenerator is injected into the body, it travels through the bloodstream until the antibody locks onto a cell and the entire complex moves inside the cell.

Once inside, the alpha particles radiated from the Actinium-225 will kill the cell. The additional alpha particles from the daughter atoms can be deadly to nearby cells.

"Each of the daughters can release an alpha particle that can kill a cell," said Scheinberg. "So you get four punches for the same delivery."

Tests exposing the caged atom to laboratory cultures showed that it could kill a variety of cancers, including cells of leukemia, lymphoma, breast, ovarian and prostate cancer. HE SAID THE MEMORIAL SLOAN-KETTERING GROUP PLANS EARLY NEXT YEAR TO FILE FOR FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION APPROVAL TO TEST THE CANCER TREATMENT ON HUMANS. [D: Now THAT makes me feel safe and secure.]

But he cautioned that years of study remain before the technique can become routine therapy. [D: Well, there goes the cancer cure and billions of dollars...]

One UNKNOWN, Scheinberg said, IS THE EFFECT THE NANOGENERATOR MIGHT HAVE ON NORMAL TISSUE....

[QUOTING same source, same page, same day, same paper:]

THE MIRACLES OF ANTI-AGING

By Dr. Arnold De Vera.

No one is immune to death. But at the least, we can challenge it and deprive it of an early victory by prolonging our lives as humanely as possible. Life is like chess, you have to study the ending to succeed, and to live life to the fullest, you have to study death and dying. A paradox? No, it is reality at its best. My colleagues have accused me of being an immortalist but, in truth, I'm just a hard-nosed realist who knows his genetic limitations and also believes that these limitations can be manipulated genetically and homeostatically to one's own advantage.

What is DEATH? You have to define it to combat it effectively. Decrease oxygen, effective circulation down, antioxidant and homeostasis lack. Toxin accumulation. Hormonal imbalance.

What is anti-aging medicine? It is an art and science of prolonging life, delaying and reversing the aging process and attempting to combat or delay death. And how exactly do we propose to do that: by exactly reversing decrease in oxygen by giving oxygen and assuring there is no block in the airway; effective circulation down by securing an open line to the cardiovascular system using dextrose, blood or plasma expanders; solving antioxidant lack by infusing antioxidants, vitamins and minerals; and treating toxin accumulation by detoxification using dialysis, EDTA for heavy-metal poisoning, etc. Hormonal imbalance is treated by giving HGH, thyroid extract, testosterone, estrogen, progesterone, insulin, etc., as the case warrants.

THEORIES OF AGING

[D: Now if any of you can explain the NEXT, God bless you.]

Theories of aging abound but I propose and advocate a universal theory of aging to unify age-old concepts and new ones. I call this theory "BIOSTASIS-KINESIS" which means that homo sapiens (man) interacts with his internal as well as his external milieu, producing a balance distinct to homeostasis which deals only with the internal environment or milieu.

What this theory proposes is to combine all the most feasible and plausible theories like the wear and tear, calorie restriction, free radical, genetic control, neuro endocrine and telomerase theories of aging into one and treat the patient accordingly.

The mainstay of anti-aging medicine in the use of human growth hormone (HGH) injection to counteract SDA (Somatotropin Deficiency Syndrome or Somatopausde), which produces most of the so-called miracles, to wit:

- * Younger, thicker skin,
- * Stronger bones,
- * Increase in muscle mass,
- * Decrease of body fat,
- * A stronger immune system,
- * Tissue regeneration/wound healing, recovery in surgery.
- * Higher energy level,
- * Enhanced sexual performance, including growth of penis size,
- * Regrowth of heart, livers, spleen, kidneys and other organs that shrink with age,
- * Greater cardiac output,
- * Better exercise performance,
- * Improved kidney function,

- * Lower cholesterol,
- * Fewer wrinkles,
- * Elimination of cellulite,
- * Sharper vision,
- * Improved mood, and
- * Better retention memory.

Now that we know that aging is a treatable medical condition, we can now convert a hyposomatotrophic patient into a eusomatotrophic one to combat old age. This is all backed up by solid evidence and double blind studies. There is no longer a reason to wait until you are very old to start your own rejuvenation because it is most beneficial to start at the age of 21 when HGH begins to decline. I started when I was 25.

HGH MECHANISMS

There is a new world to conquer since we have discovered a "new fountain of youth" which is enough to bridge the gap to immortality until such time that medical advances are complete to take on old age and dying. For now, we are content to be semi-immortalists (up to 180 years old) a far cry to Methuselah's 969.

HGH stops aging in the cells probably through these mechanisms: stopping wear and tear on the cellular level and stopping apoptosis which is programmed cell death by stimulating the cells to produce protease inhibitors. HGH also reverses heart disease and heart failure, prevents strokes and heart attacks, lowers cholesterol and instead of aggravating diabetes may actually help it according to studies, reverses atherosclerosis and osteoporosis, lessens obesity, helps in sexual rejuvenation, increases zest for life, enhances memory, reverses brain shrinkage and Alzheimer, and fights wasting in AIDS.

It is apparent from my anti-aging lectures to other doctors in Cebu, Davao and Manila that there is a dearth in the learning curve among doctors regarding anti-aging. So we really have to educate the public about the benefits of anti-aging medicine.

There is an abundance of charlatans and quacks who even advertises "free anti-aging lectures" but who are actually selling herbs. Herbs are good but up to a certain extent only because it is very hard to give in their optimum dose and they lack quality that sometimes they contain contaminants and hard metals like lead and mercury which could be fatal and cause death.

I advise the general public to beware of these con men. If you need help, call the secretariat of the Philippine Academy of Anti-Aging Medicine Inc. at 721-2592, and it will refer you to reputable, authentic and certified anti-aging specialist. [D: Yes indeed, right to Dr. Arnold De Vera!]

(The author is a noted cosmetic plastic surgeon who toured the United States and Asia for new techniques and technologies in anti-aging medicine and cosmetic plastic surgery. He can be reached at St. Luke's Medical Center, Room 533, MAB, or at his private Anti-Aging and Beauty Surgery Center at 1823 E. Rodriguez Sr. Avenue.)

[END OF QUOTING]

This could go on all day with JUST TODAY'S SEGMENT. I don't know what to say about it, just want to share. I don't have any idea what kind of a DOCTOR this might be or anything about it—but wow, where is that FDA when you need it for information? And "some kinds of silver salts MIGHT turn you a tinge of blue?" Okay, people, how many of you knew about what I just wrote before this information? Why not? We expect a distributor of vitamins to know all the rules, all the surprise "new" regulations and my goodness most only suggest some products can perhaps bump off a few bacteria. THERE IS SOMETHING VERY DEFINITELY WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE.

Of course we have known about HGH for a long, long time and some of you readers have even sent us source information. Life is just simply a perplexity. A lot more of us listened to the intelligence regarding wild yams and progesterone and know that the stuff makes you feel better—but oh my, forget sharing such information or product lest you be thrown into Federal prison.

Can the U.S. survive what is happening? No, not as it WAS. What will it become? Heartbreaking. Can we “live” with this new Order? I suppose, unless they kill us one way or another. Somebody is going to have to be the “slave” in their program.

How do “I” feel about the numbers of illegal immigrants which have surfaced just at the Trade Center Towers? I guess I don’t think about it because I know suffering multitudes of farm workers, etc., who just wanted to LIVE and risked it to come to the Land of Opportunity. But let me tell you right off the top, there are thousands of illegal Filipinos in the U.S. just to name one nation without even mentioning Canada or Mexico.

Moreover, it appears to my untrained eye that we get closer to Armageddon every day that passes—while never minding bin Laden.

I am much like most everyone else who begins to see a bit further down the road and into realizing that the more we learn the less we seem to know about the overall universe; what it holds and how it works.

Well, I need to go for I need to study some of the new documents in from Papua New Guinea’s National Gas Company, what is taking place since morning in Mindanao, study the things regarding Diane’s case and frankly, “our” property confrontations of recent note. All those shenanigans over that house, property, taxes and auction set-up seems to work out to be totally unlawful AND illegal. And, whoever all stole the property off that Adam Drive lot is in for some hard questions and answers while Millers hold the bag and “pockets” for the games and looting. And people, the culprits were seen there in the act of taking, dumping and “guarding” while looting. Millers actually hired the very thieves to GUARD the place as in “hired guards”. The guards lived in the house, used the firewood and gave the finger to the neighbors. Wow, what a bunch of wondrous “friends” we somehow attracted through the assumption of some kind of “commune” type of “easy living” at other’s expense.

Lesson learned? Well, lessons. Do we ever really learn?

And now, again, in the interim between when I started this and now, came more people with even better “news” and “hopes”. We just keep right on and when it happens we share it up and move right on ahead. Until then we just keep kissing toads and frogs while knowing that some Princes are waiting for us just as we wait for them—to serve properly. These people in point here had just been to Imelda Marcos’ place next door to leave documents with her so after three years the circle begins again? Who knows—but the TRUTH is all entangled within that web. We were not told what to like or get—but to handle whatever it IS that comes. Some things are harder on the heart than others.

We have been blessed in the midst of hard knocks just about everywhere. Our children, family and friends have taken “our” load in so many places and that desolate ranch in Utah’s high country is one major point. I marvel at the “pile on” but also at the ones who step in to take some of the weight.

We just do the best we can and let God, friends. The other alternatives are not acceptable—to just dump and run or sell-out to just get rid of the headaches.

A NATION of people are now really starting to rally behind GAIA, and that without note of “Ekkers”. This way we really see God at work—in the unfolding.

I am truly beginning to realize that what we don’t know often is truly the best position.

When we all are pulling together, the thought of dropping our pull-string becomes unacceptable because if everyone is doing their thing—the void is hurtful. We WILL get this done and by golly I do believe, in our lifetime.

Again, no words adequate to express that appreciation to each and all of YOU.

And to Berends as a last word: You spoke of silver-plating a crystal stein? Well, our friend and partner in Athens, Greece, silver-plated the inside of a plastic jug of distilled water and the hoot of all was that he called us to find out what to do about it! Laugh, is what the intelligent response can only be.

In love and please, God, allow us space in the Light.—E-E

MUBARAK LINKS U.S. AID TO ISRAEL WITH ARAB NUCLEAR ARMS RACE

International Herald Tribune, 11/16/01

CAIRO—Continued U.S. military aid to Israel may prompt Arab governments to seek nuclear, chemical and biological weapons, according to President Hosni Mubarak of Egypt.

“Israel is in the process of amassing weapons, and America is supplying it with these weapons,” Mr. Mubarak said Wednesday at a ceremony inaugurating a bridge from mainland Egypt to the Sinai Peninsula, a project the president said marked Egypt’s commitment to progress and peace.

But “for how long will countries around Israel stand with their arms folded?” the Egyptian president continued. “These countries can acquire nuclear, biological and chemical weapons.” This is why the United States “must stop aiding Israel blindly”.

“I am for peace and security,” he said, adding, however, that it would be “illogical” to leave the Palestinian question “unsolved for many more years while Israel receives arms and pressures America not to supply them to countries around it.” He said, “Countries will be able to obtain these weapons from other sources and could acquire very powerful weapons, which would amount to a threat for the entire region and for those with interests here.”

The Egyptian president has long warned that continuing Palestinian-Israeli violence could lead to a widening regional conflict. But his remarks Wednesday are the first time he has moved beyond concern over Palestinian deaths, and directly linked U.S. military aid to Israel with the possibility of a strategic arms race between surrounding Arab nations and Israel.

The Egyptian government spokesman, Nabil Osman, said that Mr. Mubarak’s comments were not meant to suggest that the United States was directly supplying Israel with nuclear, chemical, or biological weapons technology.

Israel receives about $2 billion annually in conventional military aid from the United States, a fact that has led many Arabs to hold America responsible for Palestinian casualties during more than a year of renewed violence. Egypt also receives substantial military assistance that has averaged $1.2 billion annually since the signing of the Camp David accords in 1979.

Rather, Mr. Osman said, the president’s comments were meant as a warning that continued militarization in Israel, Palestinian deaths, and Israel’s own possession of nuclear weapons force Arab states to keep open their defense options.

Mr. Mubarak’s remarks come at a sensitive time, with concern over the efforts by Osama bin Laden’s al-Qaida network to buy or develop weapons of mass destruction.

[JR: How long did we think the Arabs would stand by and allow us to arm, aid and abet Israel so that she could indefinitely dominate and control militarily the events in the Middle East? Now who besides Russia, China, Pakistan or India could assist the Arab countries to amass their own nuclear, chemical and biological weapons?

I didn’t include Iraq or bin Laden because they are and always will be the U.S. and Israel’s “usual suspects” along with Syria and Libya.]

ZIONIST REGIME RESTRICTS PALESTINIAN ACCESS TO AL-AQSA

TEHRAN TIMES, 11/17/01

TEHRAN—On the threshold of the Muslim holy month of Ramadan, the Zionist regime, in an insult to Islamic sanctities, has restricted Palestinian access to the holy Al-Aqsa Mosque.

According to the report carried by Iranian news agencies, Palestinians living in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip have to obtain permission from the Israeli police in order to enter the mosque, which is the third holiest site in Islam.

Also, the Zionist authorities have adopted new security measures, such as allowing Zionist police forces to patrol the site of the mosque.

The move is a direct insult to Islam, since during the month of Ramadan almost all Islamic rituals are carried out in mosques. This action restricts the religious freedom of Muslims.

Israeli police were on alert Friday in case of violence in Bait-ul-Moqaddas, on the first day of Ramadan.

Two thousand police, including reinforcements from other cities, were deployed around the Al-Aqsa Mosque and other areas of the city, a police spokesman said.

Palestinians who live outside mainly Arab Bait-ul-Moqaddas are not allowed into the areas because of a general blockade amid the 14-month uprising against Israel.

Israeli police shot dead a Palestinian from the Gaza Strip and wounded another Friday near Lod, east of Tel Aviv and not far from Ben Gurion International Airport, Israeli Army Radio said.

A police spokesman said the police were “acting on information concerning the risks of an attack.”

The death brought to 972 the number of people killed as a result of the Intifada, or Palestinian uprising, which broke out in September 2000. They include 761 Palestinians and 189 Israelis.

[JR: The Israeli restrictions of Muslim access to the Al-Aqsa Mosque during Ramadan is their way of showing their disdain for the rights of Palestinians to practice their faith. It is also a blatant demonstration of their control over every aspect of Palestinian life. This is an act of Anti-Semitism in its highest form. ONLY FORCIBLE SEPARATION CAN SOLVE ARAB-ISRAELI CONFLICT, SAYS DR. MAHATHIR

BERNAMA, 11/16/01

KUALA LUMPUR—The Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr. Mahathir Mohamad said the Arab-Israeli conflict, which has become the principal cause of terrorism, must be solved by forcible separation of the Palestinians and Israelis by a strong United Nations (UN) force.

Retaliations between the Arabs and Israelis would not solve the conflict and there was no sign yet of the fighting coming to an end, he said.

“Only forcible separation of the two people by a strong UN force can do this. The Palestinians are willing to have the UN peacekeeping force but the Israelis object.

“The world panders to the wishes of the Israelis and so the killings and terror goes on,” Dr. Mahathir said opening a conference on terrorism at the Putra World Trade Centre (PWTC) here.

In his keynote address, Dr. Mahathir said in the fight against terrorists and terrorism, the causes of the anger and frustration of the terrorists must be studied and action taken to remove these causes.

“I believe that the principal cause is the Palestine issue,” he said.

Dr. Mahathir said applying international pressure on the warring sides to cease fighting was not practical.

“Even if Arafat (Palestinian president Yasser Arafat) agrees to a ceasefire, he cannot possibly stop his people, individuals, bitter at having lost their children or members of their family or their friends from continuing to attack and kill the Israelis.

“Each attack by Arabs invariably resulted in more Arabs than Israelis being killed and the Israelis would attack the Arabs with deadly accuracy and the Arabs would retaliate ineffectively,” Dr. Mahathir said.

There was a great deal of anger in the Muslim world which the West could not understand, he said.

The prime minister said the Muslim world, weak and unable to be of any help to the Palestinians, saw the West’s unwillingness to stop the Israelis as a sign that “the West is anti-Palestine, anti-Arab and anti-Muslim.”

Dr. Mahathir said most Muslims only felt the anger and would talk but would do nothing.

“But among the billion Muslims there must be those whose anger cannot be contained. These are the people who will resort to terror tactics,” he said.

It was reasonable to believe that if there was no Palestinian issue and the Palestinians were not being oppressed and no children were being killed, the anger of the Arabs and the Muslims would not be there or would be much less, he said.

“Certainly there would not be those who would be willing to kill themselves in the horrible fashion on 11th September,” he said referring to the Sept. 11 attacks by terrorists who used hijacked jetliners to plough into the World Trade Centre in New York and the Pentagon in Washington.

Dr. Mahathir said the belief that those terrorists acted in that manner because of poverty or jealousy for the good life and freedom of other people did not reflect a deep knowledge of the terrorist mind.

“Those who hijacked and crashed the aircraft are not fanatically illiterate who only see heaven in after-life.

“These people came from the richer Muslim countries, countries where generous governments give allowances and subsidised the life of the people,” Dr. Mahathir said.

Dr. Mahathir said there was a need to understand their minds and mentality so as not to glorify them but to understand why they had resorted to terrorism.

“We need to do this if we want to understand the reason why they did this and if we don’t then we will not be able to remove the causes and reduce the incidence of terrorism,” he added.

“Revenge is sweet. But if we are going to liquidate the culprits almost completely as is likely to happen if we simply bomb and rocket Afghanistan then we won’t even achieve the revenge that we are after,” he said.

He said the terrorists would probably feel sorry that they had brought death and destruction to their host but they were likely to feel angrier and be more determined to continue with their acts of terror.

“So there is no revenge,” he said.

Dr. Mahathir said if the world, including the Muslim world were to be asked to participate in the elimination of terrorists and terrorism, then all terrorists irrespective of their race and religion or the particular acts of terrorism that they were involved in must be the target for elimination.

“And these must include state terrorists as well, including the Israeli Government of Ariel Sharon, the man responsible for the massacre of thousands of Palestinians in Shabra and Shatila and is still the man behind the systematic killings of the Palestinians today,” he added.

Dr. Mahathir said the world must be serious about the fight against terrorists.

He said that it would never be completely wiped out but it certainly could be reduced and rendered less frightening for the world.

He said terrorists should not be identified by race, religion and country but by their acts.

Dr. Mahathir said removing the cause of terrorism would be the better and immediate solution rather than hunting them down which would be very difficult and take a long time.

He said once the causes had been removed, support for the terrorists would very much be reduced if not cease altogether as in the case of Malaysia, once the terrorists lost their support base, sooner or later they gave up their activity.

[JR: Israel won’t allow UN forces to patrol her occupied territories or its people to defuse the terrorism. The UN won’t act aggressively towards that end because it validates the Israel/U.S./Britain interests which are definitely anti-Palestinian, Arab and Muslim in nature. Yes, Sharon should be held accountable and face trial in the Hague World Court for the massacres he planned at Shabra and Shatila during Israeli occupation in Lebanon. It certainly would be a major first step to reduce terrorism. If the intellectuals in the West continue to ignore the frustrations, sense of hopelessness and injustices that feed terrorism, we will all live in a violent world. Maybe terrorism is the means by which the Elite keep us all under their control. That’s good enough reason for them to allow the chaos to continue.]

SHARON ‘SUMMONED’ BY BELGIAN COURT

BBC NEWS, 11/19/01

Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon is being summoned to a Belgian court to answer questions over his role in the 1982 Shabra and Shatila massacres, say Belgian media reports.

Two separate claims against Mr. Sharon are being brought under a 1993 Belgian law, which allows war crimes and genocide to be tried in Belgium, even if the events took place elsewhere, and even if none of the victims was Belgian.

A hearing has been set for 28 November, and Mr. Sharon is expected to be issued with summons documents by the Belgian ambassador to Israel, says Le Soir newspaper.

Belgian magistrate Patrick Collignon has been investigating the two cases, initially to determine whether he has jurisdiction in the case.

The first case, charging Mr. Sharon with responsibility for the deaths, was lodged by a group of Palestinian, Lebanese, Moroccan and Belgian nationals.

The second suit, which alleges crimes against humanity, genocide and war crimes, was filed by 23 survivors of the massacres and five eyewitnesses.

The massacres took place in two refugee camps in Lebanon which were home to thousands of Palestinians.

Three months after Israeli troops invaded Lebanon in 1982, the camps were stormed by Christian militiamen.

They shot and killed an estimated 800-1,500 of the refugees.

Mr. Sharon was Israeli defence minister at the time. An Israeli investigation in 1983 found him indirectly but “personally” responsible for the deaths, and he was forced to resign.

Le Soir says the two separate summonses have been left with the Belgian ambassador, Wilfried Green, but are expected to be delivered shortly.

The case has left the Belgian administration walking on eggshells, the paper says.

At the same time as preparing to serve the summonses, Belgium—as European Union president—is spearheading a new diplomatic effort to restore the peace process.

Belgian Prime Minister Guy Verhofstadt is heading a senior EU delegation on a Middle East tour which has included top-level talks in Israel.

The delegation, which left Israel on Monday, has held separate talks with Mr. Sharon and Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat.

At the court hearing on 28 November, a Belgian grand jury is scheduled to decide whether the court has jurisdiction in the case.

Mr. Sharon’s Belgian lawyer is challenging the court’s right to be involved, and the Belgian investigation has been suspended in the meantime.

The Mayor of Jerusalem, Ehud Olmert, has angrily attacked the Belgian Government over the affair, accusing Mr. Verhofstadt of heading a “government of bastards”.

[JR: How many shekels do you want to bet that Sharon ignores the summons and hearing set for November 28th and accuses the World Court of anti-Semitism. Sharon will create an incident implicating the Palestinians that will cause endless deferments. Will this be a dog-and-pony show until the rest of the world loses interest?]

CAN THE NORTHERN ALLIANCE CONTROL KABUL?

By Tony Karon, TIME, 11/12/01

Afghanistan’s Northern Alliance is in the capital. But the U.S. doesn’t want the anti-Taliban forces to take over governing just yet.

The Taliban no longer rule Afghanistan. But neither the fundamentalist militia, nor their al-Qaeda guests, have yet been beaten. Rather than put up a fight to hold onto the capital, Taliban forces retreated from Kabul overnight Monday, and by Tuesday morning a Northern Alliance advanced guard had entered the city. Initial reports suggested the Alliance had simply sent in a policing force to prevent an outbreak of chaos in the vacuum left by the Taliban’s departure—Washington has repeatedly urged the Alliance to keep its forces out of Kabul, to avoid antagonizing the Pashtun Afghans who predominate in the south and their key regional ally, Pakistan. The Alliance ostensibly remains committed to allowing a UN-mandated international force to assume control over the capital, although some factions will certainly be tempted to make the best of the opportunity to seize power presented by the Taliban retreat.

The Alliance’s lightning offensive, which began at Mazar-e-Sharif late last week, has changed the strategic equation in Afghanistan over a matter of days. Where American pundits had been fretting over the ability of U.S. air power to dislodge the Taliban, the Northern Alliance finally stepped up to their role as the all-important infantry component of the campaign. Before September 11, they’d been the beleaguered remnants of the first post-Soviet government, outnumbered and outgunned by the Taliban and fighting simply to survive in a tiny sliver of land along Afghanistan’s northeastern border. Two months later, thanks largely to U.S. air and logistical support, it controls half the country and appears to have effectively ended Taliban rule.

But despite suffering heavy losses in various battles in the north, the Taliban appear to have retreated from Kabul rather than having been routed. That leaves the rump of the movement now heading for its Pashtun heartland, where the political-military equation is somewhat reversed—while the Northern Alliance was on home ground clearing the Taliban out of the north (and even, to some extent, Kabul itself), the south may be beyond its reach. The Alliance is composed primarily of ethnic Uzbeks, Tajiks and Hazaras, and is viewed with hostility even among anti-Taliban Pashtuns.

Taliban officials insist they have simply made a tactical withdrawal from those parts of the country they are least able to defend from the twin onslaught of the Northern Alliance and the U.S. air power. That's certainly a plausible defensive strategy in light of the strength of the forces ranged against them, but some correspondents close to the action have described a chaotic collapse, in which many Taliban commanders and troops simply fled their positions, leaving the more ideologically-motivated Pakistani, Arab and Chechen volunteers to fight and die—some of them reported after surrendering. Indeed, Western audiences may wince a little as firsthand tales from the battle front paint many of the proxy warriors of the Northern Alliance as no less brutal than their Taliban enemies. But in Afghanistan, neither locals nor foreigners have ever fought by the Queensberry rules.

The tide has turned on the Taliban, and turned quickly. U.S. air support has helped the Northern Alliance reclaim half of the country in less than a week, opening the way for Russian logistical support that will likely prevent a Taliban comeback in the north for the foreseeable future. And now that they're no longer the masters of all Afghanistan, many local warlords and even Pashtun tribal leaders currently aligned with the Taliban may be inclined to switch sides.

And yet the turning of the tide raises new political dangers, most evident in the fact that the U.S. is working very hard to restrain the Alliance from actually capturing Kabul. Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld said Sunday the U.S. could not stop the Alliance seizing the capital because it did not have sufficient troops on the ground to do that—but there was no question of the desirability of keeping them out. Foreign observers agree that the one thing Kabul residents fear more than the totalitarian Taliban is the return of the Northern Alliance—tens of thousands of civilians died there in the crossfire of factional battles the last time elements of the Alliance controlled the capital. Fear of the Northern Alliance storming the capital might actually rally Pashtuns behind the Taliban, potentially creating a protracted civil war in which the international community would be obliged to keep the peace.

President Bush himself has personally pleaded with the Alliance not to advance on Kabul, and Alliance spokesmen insist that they'll stay out of the capital. Some spokesmen for Local commanders have been quoted as saying quite the opposite, and the truth is that the Alliance remains deeply divided within its own ranks. Many of its Tajik elements on the Kabul front support the return to power of President Barnharuddin Rabbani, ousted by the Taliban in 1996—a scenario repugnant not only to the Pashtuns and their Pakistani backers, but even to other factions of the Northern Alliance. But Russia, set to become the quartermaster-in-chief to the Alliance, has already pledged to back Rabbani's return, and it may yet take some furious geopolitical horse trading to prevent a seizure of Kabul.

If the Afghan war is a chess game, then even Kabul is not the king—while ceding control of the capital signals the end of Taliban control of the country, the movement is not yet destroyed. For that to happen, anti-Taliban forces would have to capture Kandahar, too. Washington had feared that if Kabul fell to the Northern Alliance before a viable anti-Taliban coalition had support in the south, the retreating Taliban might find considerable support for fighting on. Much now depends on efforts by the U.S. and other international powers to broker an agreement on a post-Taliban regime—efforts that have so far produced little consensus among either the Afghan combatants or their regional sponsors. The military campaign to replace the Taliban has suddenly raced ahead of its political dimension. And that means the most important battles of the coming weeks may be fought quietly on the diplomatic and political fronts.

[JR: The following quotes convey what is in the future for Afghanistan and its people. 1. Sec. Of Defense Rumsfeld stated Oct. 16th, "We're going to make sure that as things happen in the next days, weeks and months in Afghanistan that the people forming the new government don't get in our way of our finishing that job and have their activities become in various ways adversely affecting the effort to get at the Taliban and al-Qaida leadership." 2. Rear Admiral Stufflebeen has stated that the President's mission is to find al-Qaida worldwide and dismantle it." By these statements we'd have to assume we are in for a long protracted war. 3. The French forces are set to take over the air field at Mazar-e-Sherif. The giveaways have now begun by the British, French and now the U.S. as portrayed in the movie Lawrence of Arabia. U.S. LOOKING TO NEXT MISSION:
HELPING STRICKEN AFGHANS

By Tim Weiner, New York Times, 11/16/01

The collapse of the Taliban has opened the next crucial phase of the American campaign in Afghanistan: joining the effort to deliver relief for millions of hungry, cold, sick, war-weary Afghans, thousands of them at death's door.

In the end, the war against famine, disease and misery may prove as important as the military campaign in ending a generation of misrule and chaos.

The military will be a full partner in the mobilization getting under way. NATO allies will ship food, clothing, shelter and medicine to the nations surrounding Afghanistan for UN relief organizations, private aid groups and intrepid Afghan truckers to deliver to people in ruined cities and shattered villages.

The United States is buying millions of tons of wheat, much of it delivered in red, white and blue bags stamped U.S.A., to help keep Afghans from starving this winter.

This is not pure charity. It is basic strategy, part of the West's campaign to show Afghans that the American-led coalition can help them live new lives....

There are other problems, some caused by America's allies in Afghanistan.

In the few days since the Northern Alliance seized half the country and local warlords claimed their old fiefs, the humanitarian effort has been slowed by their thievery.

Like the Taliban before them, Northern Alliance commanders have been stealing aid. This week, a convoy of UNICEF trucks carrying 200 tons of relief supplies was seized, UN warehouses were looted of 89 tons of food, and aid offices were ransacked by armed men outside Mazar-e-Sherif, where the Northern Alliance had just seized power.

In addition, a surge of food deliveries that was under way in the past few weeks screeched to a halt as relief agencies recognized that bombing and fighting on the ground meant that it was, for the moment, far too risky to rush in.

Even so, foreign workers who had been ejected by the Taliban are now starting to return in a mood of optimism tempered by grim experience.

Before their work resumes, the American-led military coalition must help pave the way for aid to reach about 6 million starving people inside Afghanistan and the stark refugee camps on its borders.

The aid workers may soon be protected, and to some extent assisted, by military forces sent on humanitarian missions by NATO, France, Britain, Canada and Jordan.

The military will not take over the aid operation, commanders are quick to say. But its role will be essential, both in speeding food and other supplies immediately into the country by air and in securing the supply routes and logistical hubs so that civilian relief agencies can move much larger amounts overland.

"We intend to continue to provide support to agencies, non-governmental agencies, international organizations, other nations who are working humanitarian assistance," Gen. Tommy Franks, the commander of U.S. forces in the region, said Thursday.

"It's important to note that we certainly will not be giving them instructions. What we will be doing is giving them information, upon which they can base their decisions about where to move the humanitarian assistance."

NATO is drafting a plan to fly aid to surrounding countries, just as other organizations are doing. It would handle air traffic control, protecting relief planes from any danger from military patrols. In some cases, military trucks might move supplies around and military escorts might accompany some convoys.

The push for a NATO role in Afghan relief is politically important. First, it associates the 17 other countries in the alliance with the Afghan campaign waged entirely by American and British forces. Second, it helps deflect war criticism in Europe that has focused on the harm to civilians.

NATO Secretary General Lord George Robertson, a Briton, and the American ambassador to NATO, Nicholas Burns, helped propel the new strategy through the alliance's bureaucracy.

There was a delay of a few days in issuing the order to plan the operation when the French became concerned about the alliance taking on missions outside Europe. But as a humanitarian mission developed, that objection faded away.

The Pentagon's highly publicized air drops of rations represent less than 1 percent of what is needed to get the Afghans through this winter. About a quarter of a million tons of wheat is needed, along with clothing, shelter and medicine for Afghan civilians.

The United States is paying for much of the food that the aid coalition of UN agencies and non-governmental organizations is moving into Afghanistan with trucks, river barges and thousands of mules as winter sets in....

[JR: Some things just don't change and that's why the questions remain. Just who can guarantee that all the grains, food, clothing, blankets and shelter actually reach the people in need. Most of these types of supplies always wind up on the "Black Market" and not with the people, especially with Afghanistan's regional tribal conflicts. And as usual, the U.S. will pick up the tab for the aid coming from the coalition of countries contributing through UN agencies.]

DISASTER FOR MUSHARRAF

By Arnaud de Borchgrave, Insight Magazine, 11/14/01

For Pakistani President Pervez Musharraf it was an unmitigated disaster. Already the Pakistani media are accusing the United States of betrayal and Musharraf of being rolled by President Bush. Pakistan's enemies are now in Kabul.

Hours after Sept. 11, Bush called Musharraf in Islamabad and asked him point blank whether he was ready to join the U.S.-led war against transnational terrorism, that is, against the Taliban regime and Osama bin Laden's al-Qaida network. First Musharraf wanted to know whether this meant the United States was turning a new page in relations with Pakistan. Bush assured him he was not wedded to the anti-Pakistani positions of previous administrations and that relations would be restored to the close alliance that existed prior to Pakistan's nuclear buildup. Economic and military sanctions were to be lifted and a generous package of debt relief measures and other assistance would be put together as a matter of top priority. Musharraf then agreed to join Bush's coalition as a full partner without reservations.

The acid test of a new military relationship was to be the delivery of 28 F-16 fighter-bomber that Pakistan paid for in the 1980s, but that were impounded and mothballed in Arizona when Congress cut off all aid and military sales in 1990. Pakistan's secret nuclear weapons program, a response to India's similar program that began in 1974, was cited as the reason.

Musharraf brought up the matter last week in his talks in New York with both Bush and Secretary of State Colin Powell. He was turned down, which was interpreted in Pakistan as a victory for the Indian lobby in Washington. Adding insult to injury, another U.S. assurance was also violated. Bush told him that Afghanistan's Northern Alliance forces, backed by Russia, Iran and India, and more recently by the United States, would not enter Kabul pending the formation of a broad-based coalition.

Not only did victorious Northern Alliance forces roll into Kabul Tuesday, but they began executing Pakistani volunteers who did not realize that Taliban forces had suddenly decided to fall back on Kandahar, their religious capital. Musharraf arrested Pakistan's extremist religious leaders who had called for tribesmen to join the war against the American infidel. But now his domestic enemies have fresh political ammunition to undermine him.

Pakistani newspapers are also filled with speculation that the United States deliberately dragged its feet on the creation of a post-Taliban coalition. Key tribal leaders in both the Baluchistan region and the Northwest Frontier Province, including some who had sent secret messages to U.S. intermediaries that they were ready to turn against Taliban, are yet to be contacted by U.S. representatives.

Pashtun tribal leaders who command anywhere from 100,000 to 400,000 fiercely loyal subjects are angry with Musharraf. Taliban followers are equally at home on both sides of the border. They have used both Quetta and Peshawar as centers to rest and relax. Many Taliban leaders also have homes in these cities where they have kept their families during the U.S. bombing of Afghanistan. Pakistani authorities have faced Baluchi secessionist movements ever since independence half a century ago. If Taliban is pushed out of Kandahar, Baluchistan could quickly become Taliban territory, thus fracturing Pakistan. Without a UN peacekeeping force of "blue helmets" drawn from Muslim nations in charge in Kabul, tribal leaders can only assume that Pakistan has been stabbed in the back by the United States—yet again.

While Musharraf was traveling in France, Britain and the United States last week, the Inter-Services Intelligence agency continued to undermine him. Despite Musharraf's denials in last weekend's interviews, the ISI remains powerful and arrayed against him. The dismissal of Gen. Mahmood Ahmad as ISI director two days before the U.S. bombing started in early October has not changed the agency's anti-American mentality. The ISI has overseen Taliban's Pakistani supply line since the early 1990s.

More recently, the ISI has been encouraging extremist religious groups to send heavily armed Pakistani tribesmen and religious militants into Afghanistan through a variety of mountain passes. ISI's key man for the operation was Mullah Sufi Mohammad, head of Tanzeem Nifaz Shariat-i-Mohammadi (Organization for the Implementation of the Prophet's Teachings). He has been directing the operation from Kunarh province. Most of the volunteers proceeded to Jalalabad, the Afghan city closest to the Khyber Pass and a one-time al-Qaida stronghold.

Some 15,000 armed jihadis (holy warriors) have crossed the border via the Mohmand and Bajaur tribal agencies that are controlled by the ISI.

Pakistani newspapers are still supporting the Taliban, Osama bin Laden and religious groups while condemning U.S. policies. And Musharraf is the leader who got snookered by the United States with an aid package worth about $1 billion. Pakistan's annual foreign debt servicing charges run $3 billion.

The failure to obtain the release of Pakistan's 28 F-16s is seen as Musharraf's military donnybrook.

Even Pakistan's moderate political cognoscente, in telephone conversations with this writer, talk about Washington's ulterior motives in the region. They see the Bush Administration seizing the Sept. 11 attacks as an opportunity to establish a land route from the Indian Ocean to the Caspian Sea in order to control the future of the world's oil supplies from Central Asia. In Pakistan, when you offer some pols a penny for their geopolitical thoughts, you get change.

[JR: Bush has hedged on his promises and reneged on agreements made for the Pakistani alliance. The U.S. not only stabbed Musharraf in the back, they did it several times and have set him up for the fall. Bush used and abused Musharraf and now the ISI accuses him of turning against his own people for empty promises from the U.S. We can expect a civil war or a coup in the near future and the U.S. and Israel are just waiting to step in and take Pakistan's nuclear weapons. Remember when we were the good guys...? If you can't trust the U.S., who can you trust?]

MILITARY MAY TRY TERRORISM CASES BUSH CITES 'EMERGENCY'

By George Lardner Jr. and Peter Slevin,
Washington Post, 11/14/01

President Bush declared an "extraordinary emergency" yesterday that empowers him to order military trials for suspected international terrorists and their collaborators, bypassing the American criminal justice system, its rules of evidence and its constitutional guarantees.

The presidential directive, signed by Bush as commander in chief, applies to non-U.S. citizens arrested in the United States or abroad. The president himself will decide which defendants will be tried by military tribunals. Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld will appoint each panel and set its rules and procedures, including the level of proof needed for a conviction. There will be no judicial review.

By setting up military tribunals, administration officials said, Bush hopes to ensure that terrorists captured in Afghanistan or around the world are brought swiftly and surely to justice. But the order drew immediate criticism from civil libertarians and could alienate European allies who oppose the U.S. death penalty and favor international courts.

Bush said the tribunals are needed because "mass deaths, mass injuries and massive destruction of property" from future terrorism could "place at risk the continuity of the operations of the United States government." It is "not practicable," he said, to require the tribunals to abide by the "principles of law and the rules of evidence" that govern U.S. criminal prosecutions.

Legal scholars said the measure is highly unusual, but not unprecedented.

During World War II, President Franklin D. Roosevelt ordered a secret military trial for eight Nazi saboteurs who had landed in Florida and New York with explosives they intended to use against such targets as factories, bridges, railroads and department stores. The Supreme Court declared the trial constitutional, and six of the eight defendants were executed.

The decision is the latest in a series of legal steps taken by the government to combat terrorism. Last week, the Justice Department authorized the wiretapping of conversations between some jailed suspects and their lawyers. Congress has also passed legislation making it easier to conduct searches, detain and deport suspects, wiretap multiple telephones and obtain electronic records on individuals.

Bush's order promises "a full and fair trial" and access to lawyers, but there is no provision for an appeal to U.S. civil courts or international tribunals. Only Bush or the secretary of defense, if the president so chooses, will have the authority to overturn a decision.

White House communications director Dan Bartlett said the military courts would reduce the danger to jurors and other court personnel, protect confidential sources needed to build investigations and help uncover plans for future attacks. He cited national security interests and the need for swift justice as reasons for the presidential order.

Laura Murphy, director of the Washington office of the American Civil Liberties Union, said Bush needs to explain why the criminal justice system could not deliver "the timely prosecution" of terrorism suspects.

"Absent such a compelling justification," she said, "today's order is deeply disturbing and further evidence that the administration is totally unwilling to abide by the checks and balances that are so central to our democracy."

For weeks, White House and Justice Department officials have debated how to try any accused terrorists who may be apprehended in the hunt for members of Osama bin Laden's al-Qaida organization, which the U.S. government holds responsible for the Sept. 11 attacks in New York and Washington.

The issue took on urgency this week as the U.S.-backed Northern Alliance advanced rapidly across a broad swath of Afghanistan, pushing back the Taliban militia that has harbored bin Laden and sweeping into the capital, Kabul.

"Everyone's struggling with what happens next," a U.S. official involved in the discussions had said before Bush signed the order yesterday afternoon. "It's likely we'll end up with someone in custody and not know what to do with him."

The order says defendants could include past or present members of al-Qaida or anyone involved in acts of international terrorism intended to have "adverse effects on the United States, its citizens, national security or economy". It also targets anyone who has "knowingly harbored" such terrorists.

The tribunals could meet in this country or abroad. Bush's order specifies that a two-thirds vote is needed to convict a defendant and impose a sentence, which could include life imprisonment or death. But it does not say how many judges are to sit on a tribunal. Nor does it define their qualifications.

The step Bush took yesterday has been urged on him for weeks by conservative lawyers from past administrations and other experts who cited precedents dating back to the Civil War. One of them, George Terwilliger, a former high-ranking Justice Department official, said a military tribunal would be appropriate for anyone who commits an act of war against the United States.

If U.S. forces should capture a Taliban or al-Qaida leader, said Terwilliger, a criminal trial in a U.S. court would not be appropriate. "The notion that we would bring him back for a trial cloaked with a full panoply of constitutional rights—bring him to the dock in New York—to me is absurd."

Some legal scholars such as John Norton Moore, director of the Center for National Security Law, had favored the creation of an international tribunal by the United Nations Security Council to deal with the Sept. 11 attacks and their aftermath, but others said such tribunals typically drag on for years and lose impact.

"This was an armed attack on the United States, not just a mass murder or a serial killing," said Philip A. Lacovara, a former deputy solicitor general. "It is appropriate to deal with it as a crime against humanity." He also noted that international tribunals created by the United Nations do not authorize the death penalty.

[JR: President Bush's declaration to bypass the American justice system puts the noose around all our necks. Britain's Blair (Nov. 19th) ordered similar measures to fight their own terrorism. Just what will keep the government from broadening such measures to include U.S. citizens who criticize or voice their dissent? With a war

(hell) raging in Afghanistan and flags waving here, we are all basically under martial law and subject (if by a whim) to trial by a military tribunal. Bush, as Commander in Chief, smooths all this over by stating it will protect jurors, our lives, property, investments and most importantly our government will be able to function without resistance. Now, doesn't that make us all sleep better at night?]

GATA: HOWE LAWSUIT SURVIVES HEARING ON DISMISSAL MOTIONS

CHRIS POWELL, Secretary/Treasurer,
Gold Anti-Trust Action Committee Inc., GATA, 11/6/01

MANCHESTER, Conn. (BUSINESS WIRE)—The following statement was released today by Chris Powell, Secretary/Treasurer, Gold Anti-Trust Action Committee Inc.:

“The case of Howe vs. Bank for International Settlements et al.—I like to call it Howe vs. All the Money in the World—was roughed up a little today but survived its first day of hearing in federal court in Boston.

“During 2½ hours of oral argument, U.S. District Judge Reginald C. Lindsay dismissed two counts of the lawsuit involving securities fraud charges against defendant J.P. Morgan/Chase, and ruled that the plaintiff’s method of serving lawsuit notice papers against the BIS—by mail in English instead of by personal service in German—was insufficient.

“But the two dismissed securities fraud counts were secondary to the lawsuit’s substance, and the problem with the lawsuit notice probably can be fixed by a pricey translator if the lawsuit is allowed to proceed.

“The judge took the remainder of the case back to his chambers for drafting a written decision on the plaintiffs’ motions to dismiss the rest of the lawsuit. That could take weeks or months.

“The case was called at 2:30 p.m. in a beautiful and huge courtroom in the opulent new U.S. courthouse just across Fort Point Channel from gleaming downtown Boston. About 30 people sat in the audience section at the back of the courtroom, some of them GATA supporters, including a few who had come quite a long way to watch.

“Plaintiff Howe sat alone at the counsel’s table on the audience’s left. At the counsel’s table on the right sat his opponents, nine lawyers representing the BIS, Goldman Sachs, Deutsche Bank, J.P. Morgan/Chase, Citigroup, the U.S. Treasury Department, the Federal Reserve Board, and the New York Federal Reserve Bank. Behind them in the gallery were still a few more defendants’ lawyers. The defendants’ lawyers seemed to be smirking over their having had to come all this way just to confront a mere pro-se litigant, but they seemed to be smirking less when it was over.

“About two-thirds of the hearing consisted of Judge Lindsay’s questioning Howe about the case and its likely weaknesses. The judge was exceptionally well-informed about both the legal technicalities and the broader issues behind them. While he sought to move the hearing along, he also was pretty indulgent in letting Howe explain things.

“The hearing wasn’t really about whether the gold market is manipulated. It was about whether there is any basis in law for the suit. Thus it turns on legal issues and technicalities that will interest few of the partisans of gold and free markets—issues like the very limited circumstances under which the government and government officials may be sued for official acts. But a few observations from this partisan may be of interest:

* “The judge had trouble seeing in the lawsuit’s claims possible evidence that the bullion banks had conspired with each other rather than with the federal government, other than what was called “parallel conduct”—their doing the same things in the market at the same times. I thought Howe answered this well by noting that the bullion bank defendants had issued the overwhelming majority of gold and interest rate derivatives and essentially were themselves the markets for those instruments.

* “The judge seemed almost obtuse in not understanding Howe’s claim that there was fraud in the BIS’ forcibly redeeming the shares of its private shareholders at less than fair value when there had never been any indication to the private shareholders that their shares could be taken this way.

* “One of the lawyers for the government asserted the government’s right, under the laws establishing the Federal Reserve Board and the U.S. Treasury Department’s Exchange Stabilization Fund, to trade in gold in a way affecting gold’s price. That is, he almost seemed to be claiming, on behalf of the government, the right to do exactly what the lawsuit complains of, without actually admitting that this was happening. (Whether he is right is exactly the legal issue the suit seeks to settle.) Howe was excellent in rebutting this claim. He argued that prior to 1974 Congress had fixed the gold price, but since then has left gold’s price to the market. Thus, Howe said, any government trading in gold cannot constitutionally aim to fix the price, and certainly not surreptitiously. (I thought Howe got by far the better of this exchange, at least establishing a point worth litigating. Unfortunately I was sitting on the wrong side of the courtroom. We’ll just have to wait to find out what the judge thinks.)

* “Howe was just as effective in describing the unfairness of the BIS’ liquidating its private shareholders without recourse and without arbitration. While the judge at first had wanted to skip argument on the arbitration issue, considering it examined adequately in the legal briefs, Howe managed to get his approval to make one point and then another and another, and the effect was very strong politically—it gave the impression of ordinary small investors getting screwed by arrogant and powerful people. This happened to be the last issue discussed, so Howe finished strong, the other side weak.

“When it was over, the courtroom cleared out quickly, and Howe was left alone at the counsel table packing his books and papers into his briefcases. Forgive the editorializing, but I couldn’t help but think of the scene at the end of the trial in that wonderful movie, To Kill a Mockingbird, when Gregory Peck, playing the quietly heroic defense lawyer, Atticus Finch, does the same thing, seemingly alone—and yet he is not alone, but rather watched by the oppressed people in the gallery with awe, admiration, and respect for standing up against the most hateful and vicious power. What I saw today was really not so different.

“I won’t guess what will happen with this case; anything can. Maybe the essence of what has happened today is that we could have lost the whole case but didn’t. (I spent some time later with Howe and his business associate, Bob Landis, and, analyzing the day clinically, almost as a sport, they seemed ready to be hopeful.)

“We still may lose the case on the technicalities in a few weeks and should be prepared for that.

“But two things:

*“Enough of the cursed cynicism that the courts are as rigged as the markets, that there is no fighting the power. We know some things about market rigging but there is no evidence that anything in court today was rigged. We got a day in court if not quite yet OUR day in court. And for all its faults this remains a country where one brave man pleading his own case can summon the representatives of all the money in the world and put the bastards in danger of having to answer for themselves.

*“The lawsuit is an important front in our struggle for free markets and honest dealing but it is not the only front, and, win or lose here, our strategy and plan will be, in Churchill’s words, KBO: Keep buggering on. Thanks to GATA Chairman Bill Murphy and Howe and those who have come to their assistance, we have discovered that the scheme against gold is only part of a bigger scheme involving interest rates and currencies to deprive the financial markets of any standards of value and to expropriate the world for the benefit of certain Wall Street interests and to make the world the slave of the U.S. dollar.

“This deeply shames Americans who understand it. That is why they will continue to oppose it as best they can regardless of what happens in court. It is an anti-imperialist cause and thus a great cause. And, as Churchill said, ‘When great causes are on the move in the world, we find that we are spirits, not animals, and that something is going on in space and time, and beyond space and time, which, whether we like it or not, spells duty.’”

[JR: Yes, Reg Howe is one brave, well-informed man who is armed with the facts and the truth to challenge those who “control all the money in the world”. We can say we are all with Reg Howe in spirit moving forward in the positive to bring change and balance back into this world.]

COUNTRIES AGREE TO KYOTO RULES
U.S. WON'T SIGN DEAL
TO REDUCE GLOBAL WARMING

Daily News, 11/11/01

MARRAKECH, Morocco (AP)—From insulation hidden behind walls at home to highly visible power plants outdoors, the first international treaty to fight global warming is poised to change landscapes, and lives, around the world—except in the United States.

In the final moments of a two-week conference in Morocco, negotiators from 165 countries agreed on hard-fought rules for implementing the 1997 Kyoto Protocol, which calls on about 40 industrialized nations to limit carbon emissions or cut them to less than 1990 levels.

Carbon dioxide—which we exhale with every breath—will be a controlled gas and a marketable commodity with a price.

“This is the first multinational environment agreement with teeth. It’s a historic step forward and it will make an enormous difference in reducing greenhouse emissions,” British Environment Secretary Margaret Beckett said.

Delegates said the agreement opened the way for ratification by enough countries to bring the treaty into force, probably before a global environment summit next September.

The treaty requires ratification by 55 countries, including those that produced 55 percent of greenhouse gas emissions in 1990. Without the U.S., the world’s biggest polluter, virtually every other industrial country would have to endorse the agreement to reach that goal.

If that happens, the world is likely to witness profound changes. Mountain ridges and coastlines are likely to sprout plantations of steel windmills. With nations under pressure to cut pollution, new cars, household appliances and even the simple light bulb will have to be designed to save energy.

Scientists believe the carbon that human beings let loose in the atmosphere, mostly from factories and vehicles, has upset the natural balance, sending temperatures up and changing the climate. Already, glaciers are melting, sea levels rising and severe storms becoming more frequent.

In Washington, White House spokesman Ari Fleischer said Saturday that President Bush took note of the rules agreed upon in Morocco.

“He agrees with the need to reduce greenhouse gas emissions. His Cabinet review is under way, to determine a way that can be done without forcing America into a deep recession,” Fleischer said.

The Kyoto Protocol sets tough targets for slashing carbon emissions. Japan, for example, agreed to cut them 6 percent from the 1990 level—but its emissions have grown 17 percent since 1990, making that task far more formidable.

To ease the burden, the protocol establishes mechanisms to let countries partly offset their targets. They can earn credits for proper management of forests and farmlands that absorb carbon dioxide and for helping developing countries avoid emissions.

The accord also allows for emissions trading, letting countries that cannot meet their targets buy the right to pollute from those that come in under their quota.

The mechanisms adopted by the protocol were designed by U.S. negotiators under the Clinton administration. But Bush rejected the treaty in part because of its mandatory nature, preferring a voluntary regime.

However, negotiators agreed that such mechanisms can only supplement—not replace—real emissions cuts. Countries will have to adopt energy-saving measures to meet their targets.

That means old houses should have their electrical wiring redone, their windows triple glazed and their walls insulated to conserve energy. Solar panels may appear on more rooftops, and refrigerators will be made to run on one-tenth the energy of old ones.

The rules could lead to more public transportation and changes in city planning to scale back the use of cars. At the same time, hybrid autos using fuel cells already are on the roads, and car companies are researching engines that use less fuel and emit less carbon.

Many countries will set up domestic carbon trading markets where companies can buy and sell carbon credits. A similar U.S. market for sulfur dioxide was credited with helping reduce acid rain in the 1990s.

Though welcoming the agreement, many environmentalists say mechanisms like emissions trading are loopholes that have diluted the goal of Kyoto: to clean up polluting industries and reduce actual emissions.

[JR: Some of the Kyoto rules place the burden on the people to upgrade and improve the efficiency of their homes and the appliances they use. As for transportation, the U.S. has no broad transportation plan outside the major cities. Americans will have to be convinced that using public transportation or car-pooling or even riding a bike to work is beneficial for the environment. Curious that industries such as mining and drilling operations have not been given mention in these meetings. Why? Also why didn't the delegates address the issues of the chemtrails that are scarring the skies worldwide. Also too, why hasn't the HAARP system in Alaska come under discussion? The HAARP system changes and manipulates the weather patterns which can prolong droughts, increase flooding and pulse fault lines in earthquake areas. And last but not least, why is the military immune from scrutiny from the environmentalist? As I commented before, war is bad for the environment. Let's stop playing the game of "let's pretend" when it comes to who or what is responsible for the imbalance in our environment.]

U.S. PLANS REFORM OF INDIAN TRUST FUNDS NEW AGENCY WOULD SUPERVISE MONEY

By Michael Kilian, Washington Bureau, 11/16/01

WASHINGTON—In response to court pressure, Interior Secretary Gale Norton on Thursday announced sweeping changes that would take mismanaged Indian trust funds away from the control of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and create a new agency to supervise them.

Native American tribal leaders have charged that the bureau and other Interior Department agencies have squandered more than $10 billion in Indian royalty funds that had been held in trust under a government system created in 1887.

The money came from lumber, mining, grazing, oil drilling and other commercial development on territory set aside as Indian lands.

"This administration is committed to taking action now that will chart a new course for positive, productive trust reform that will work to benefit American Indian tribes," Norton said.

A class-action lawsuit filed in 1996 on behalf of 300,000 Native Americans prompted the federal courts to order the Interior Department to reform the trust system.

In 1999, U.S. District Judge Royce Lamberth ordered the department to make a full accounting of what the Indians were owed.

He subsequently held Clinton administration Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt and Treasury Secretary Robert

Rubin in contempt and fined them $600,000 for failing to produce documents relating to the management of the funds.

Lawyers for the Indians have asked the court to hold current Interior Department officials in contempt for failure to make progress.

The new plan calls for all Indian trust functions to be removed from other agencies and organized as a separate Bureau of Indian Trust Assets Management reporting directly to Norton.

"The Bureau of Indian Affairs will continue to be focused on providing services to the tribes," Norton said. "It will continue to handle law enforcement, education, economic development and social services to the tribes. This [plan] will let them focus very clearly on that area and let the separate organization have an undivided focus on trust asset management."

Norton said there may be personnel changes in the future but that her intent was to reorganize existing personnel.

Norton, who earlier described the Indian problems as "the hardest part" of her job, said she took the action announced Thursday because of a recent management study and the scrutiny of the court.

"We commissioned a study by Electronic Data Systems... and they recommended to us that we needed to have a unified management," Norton said. "It's also important for us to take action with all the scrutiny that's been focused on trust reform over the last few months by the [Indians'] litigation."

She said Electronic Data Systems found fault mostly with "a lack of communications, a lack of a business plan and a lack of coordination".

"Those are the problems we are focusing on" she said.

Ron Allen, vice president of the National Congress of American Indians, objected that Indians were not involved in the preparation of Norton's plan.

"They're trying to appear as if they're trying to do something responsible when they have not even consulted with the tribes about this proposal," he said.

Norton said the reform is in the proposal stage although she intends to move ahead with it as a formal plan.

"We are going to provide an opportunity for the tribes to be consulted and for coordination with Congress," Norton said. "We'll seek the input of a wide variety of tribes."

The Interior Department has spent more than $600 million trying to reform the Indian trust fund system, which is administered through more than 300 local offices across the country.

[JR: The federal system is always going to fix or improve services by spending more money and adding new agencies. Sec. of Interior Ms. Norton's proposal to allow tribal participation after her plan is finalized doesn't assure them that their input will have any bearing as to how this new agency will be managed. Her comment that the "fault lies in the system because of lack of communication, a business plan and coordination," is an excuse for incompetence. Isn't this the standard by which our federal government operates? We will have another bureaucracy mismanaging Indian affairs for the next 100-plus years.]

FEDS DOWNPLAY FLIGHT 587 EXPLOSION REPORTS

By Carl Limbacher, NewsMax.com, 11/15/01

Just two days after the FBI said it was investigating witness accounts that American Airlines Flight 587 exploded in midair before it broke apart over New York's Jamaica Bay on Monday, NTSB investigators are pushing the theory that air turbulence from another jetliner—and not any explosion—caused the crash that scattered wreckage covering a half-mile-wide area.

"We are consistently looking for any sign of sabotage and not finding any," said NTSB spokeswoman Marion Blakely on Wednesday. "There is no evidence of any bomb, of any sabotage, at this point."

That's not what the investigators were saying just hours after the crash, as reported in an Associated Press alert that flashed into newsrooms across the country.

"The Associated Press [is] saying the Bush administration says the FBI believes there was an explosion aboard the plane, and they are investigating its source," reported CNN's Paula Zahn around midday.

"Senior administration officials tell CNN that the FBI is trying to find out the source of that explosion on the American Airlines flight," echoed the news network's Major Garrett.

As what sounded like an official confirmation that Flight 587 had exploded ricocheted around the world, Bush spokesman Ari Fleischer denied the report, saying no administration official had made that statement—but that the FBI would not dismiss what eyewitnesses had seen.

And what nearly every witness to Flight 587's ascent over Jamaica Bay said they saw was an explosion and/or a fire, something not likely cause by "wind turbulence".

CNN's Zahn reported that morning, "We got five eyewitnesses to describe what they saw as an explosion coming, most of them believed, from the right wing."

On WABC Radio in New York, vivid accounts of a midair explosion poured in from callers who saw Flight 587 from both sides of Jamaica Bay.

"I saw an enormous flash where the wing meets the plane," a woman who was out walking her dog told host John Gambling. "I don't know if it was fire or an explosion. It appeared that debris fell from the left side [of the plane]."

Another eyewitness who called into the radio station said, "The right wing seemed to catch fire and explode. The wing was on fire with a trail of smoke behind it."

"I saw the plane going across Jamaica Bay," a third witness told WABC. "It was trying to ascend and then it just exploded."

By Tuesday, some already suspected a cover-up.

"I keep hearing the authorities talk about an engine falling off the plane and [then] an explosion," eyewitness Rod McHale told the New York Post. "That's not what I heard and saw. There was an explosion and then the engine fell off. ... I'm convinced it's terrorism."

Before the NTSB mounted its full court press on the air turbulence theory, ABC News aviation expert John Nance told WABC Radio's Gambling that probers were grasping at straws.

GAMBLING: The theory that this plane, Flight 587, was going through the wash of a 747 ahead of it—that really seems to be sort of a bogus theory.

NANCE: It really is. I think a lot of folks jumped on that last night, I think, misunderstanding the reality that these aircraft fly through severe turbulence. It could be the initiating event of something that was about to happen, but it would not be the cause itself.

[JR: The eyewitness accounts are more reliable than the Fed's lame theory that turbulence from another jetliner caused the crash of American flight 587. Jetliners are designed and built to fly through severe turbulence which is generally weather related. They are however vulnerable to weapons fired from the ground, guided missiles, pulse waves or laser beams directed at them, or bombs planted with remotes and timers. Who has the authority to determine which type of these technologies would be best suited to fulfill their purposes? Inquiring minds want to know!]

FALL OF TOWERS WAS LIKE EARTHQUAKE

Daily News, 11/16/01

WASHINGTON (AP)—The collapse of the twin towers of the World Trade Center on Sept. 11 shook the ground like a pair of small earthquakes.

The collapse of the south tower generated shaking of a magnitude of 2.1. When the north tower fell, the shaking reached a magnitude of 2.3, according to researchers at Columbia University.

The vibrations were similar to those generated by a small earthquake that occurred beneath the east side of Manhattan on Jan. 17. Earthquakes of this magnitude can be felt but they rarely cause damage to structures.

The researchers, reporting in Eos, the weekly journal of the American Geophysical Union, said the collapse of nearby buildings was probably not caused by the shaking that resulted from the fall of the twin towers after they were struck by hijacked airliners.

Instead, damage to other buildings was most likely caused by falling material from the towers striking them and by the great blast of air pressure and debris that burst outward when the towers fell, according to the research team at Columbia's Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory in Palisades, N.Y.

The collapse of the towers was measured by several seismographs, one 266 miles away in Lisbon, N.H., according to the 12-member research team, led by Won-Young Kim, Lynn Sykes, Klaus Jacob, Paul Richards and Arthur Lerner-Lam.

They said the type of seismic waves generated by the collapse was similar to that caused by the collapse of a salt mine in western New York in 1994.

The Lamont-Doherty observatory, 21 miles from the towers, was also able to record the two aircraft striking the huge buildings.

The impacts measured 0.7 and 0.9 in magnitude.

"The energy contained in the amount of fuel combusted was equivalent to the energy released by 240 tons of TNT," Lerner-Lam said.

"This energy was absorbed by the buildings and produced the observed fireballs but did not immediately cause the collapse."

[JR: There were numerous seismic reports of the impacts and the collapse. The "official" cause of the collapse of the WTC was claimed to be the tremendous heat generated by the burning jet fuel that melted the interior steel girders. I can not accept this reasoning as the bulk of the fuel was consumed in the initial fireballs and the burning of the interior combustible contents for almost an hour would not have generated enough heat to melt steel girders covered with concrete. Both buildings were struck and damaged to one side and if anything, the tops would have collapsed and fell to the side, never straight down. The only way both buildings could have imploded identically straight down and not topple to one side would have required strategically located charges by an expert demolition team. It was very humane of "them" to allow an hour for all but 6000(??) of the 50,000 inhabitants to evacuate the buildings before they set off the demolition charges causing the buildings to collapse straight down. The purpose was to generate enough fear in the general public for Congress to pass their unconstitutional terrorist legislation for final control by the NWO.]

HOW DOES YOUR GARDEN GROW?

By Reuters, Internet, 11/4/01

"If people would only realize that if one leads a life in cooperation with Nature and not against it, then nobody in the world need die of starvation."

RAMINGSTEIN, Austria—In the coldest part of Austria, a farmer is turning conventional wisdom on its head by growing a veritable Garden of Eden full of tropical plants in the open on his steep Alpine pastures.

Amid average annual temperatures of a mere 39.5 Fahrenheit, Sepp Holzer grows everything from apricots to eucalyptus, figs to kiwi fruit, peaches to wheat at an altitude of between 3,300 and 4,900 feet.

Once branded a fool, fined and threatened with imprisonment for defying Austrian regulations that dictate what is planted where, he is now feted worldwide for creating the only functioning "permaculture" farm in Europe.

Permaculture, an abbreviation of permanent culture, is the development of agricultural ecosystems which are complete and self-sustaining.

"Once planted, I do absolutely nothing," Holzer told Reuters. "It really is just Nature working for itself—no weeding, no pruning, no watering, no fertilizer, no pesticides."

His 110 acres of land in the mountainous Lungau region in the province of Salzburg are classed by European Union directives as unfit for agricultural cultivation due to the steep gradient and poor soil.

When Holzer inherited the farm (then 44.5 acres) 39 years ago, it was only used for the grazing of the family's cows and sheep. He carved terraces out of the steep inclines (like the ancient Incas and Maya of South and Central America) to stop erosion and trap rainfall.

He rejected the use of pesticides and fertilizers, which he considered poisonous, and the concept of monoculture—the cultivation of just one plant type over an expanse of land—because he believed it sapped the soil of all nutrients.

Instead, he began growing a host of timber and fruit trees, shrubs and grasses all mixed up together.

"Everyone said I was mad, and I had to pay numerous fines because the authorities said that it was illegal to plant such a combination," Holzer said.

"When I bought this patch of land off a farmer, it was not fit for the cows and sheep grazing on it. People scoffed that I was neglecting my land, but now they come to harvest cherries from June to October."

"This is the worst type of soil, which just goes to prove that there is no bad soil, just bad farmers," he added.

Most of the plants Holzer and his wife Vroni grow at his "Krameterhof" holding are not meant to flourish in Alpine conditions, according to experts.

In winter, the temperature can fall to below minus 22 degrees Fahrenheit, and a blanket of snow lingers into May. Snow can even fall in the height of summer.

Holzer said he found agricultural textbooks and his own years at agricultural college virtually useless. "I followed their advice initially, but my trees started dying off. I then realized that I had to eradicate from my memory all that I'd learned at college," he said.

Enlightenment came one winter during one of Holzer's routine moonlight strolls when he noticed that the only apricot tree faring well in the harsh winter conditions was one he had forgotten to cut back according to ministerial regulations. Unlike the pruned trees whose main lower branches snapped off under the weight of snow, the "neglected" tree's branches were intact. Their unrestricted length had allowed them to droop with the tips touching the ground for support while the snow slid off, Holzer found. Allowing natural vegetation to grow around the trunk provided further support and nourishment for the tree.

"If people would only realize that if one leads a life in cooperation with Nature and not against it, then nobody in the world need die of starvation," he said.

Holzer's philosophy is that Nature knows best and needs negligible interference from Man. "We're born into paradise but are destroying its foundation, the soil. The soil can look after itself; there's no need for Man to tamper with it."

Giant stone slabs pepper the landscape and serve as incubators by absorbing the sunlight and giving off warmth. The trees do their part as well in keeping the ground warm. Fallen foliage helps keep frost from reaching the roots. Tree stumps dot the plantations to regulate irrigation. Like a sponge they soak up water and later distribute it. Animals too have a role in the Holzer ecosystem. Scavenging pigs till the soil in place of a tractor, while grass snakes were reintroduced to keep voracious slugs and mice in check.

Holzer is modest about his achievement which has led to projects in more than 40 countries and lectures on "the elimination of poverty in agriculture". He has rejected suggestions that he should have his method of permaculture patented. "I would consider that as theft from Nature. It's not my possession. I got it from Nature and have an obligation to pass this knowledge on," the bearded 59-year-old said.

Holzer says his method of organic farming produces a much higher quality of crops than conventional farming and at a fraction of the cost and effort. He says his rare strain of grain contains 12 times the goodness of conventionally grown grain and as a result fetches a price 100 times higher.

His success means that he no longer lives directly off the crops in his sprawling garden or the rare fish in his Alpine ponds and lakes. People pay to pick their own fruit from his land, experts visit to study "Holzer Permaculture," and the man himself regularly holds seminars when not in a far-off country such as Colombia solving chronic problems of the soil. And only one thing has so far stumped the man with green fingers. "Bananas," he said with a shrug of his burly frame. "They froze. It's no surprise as they need an average temperature of 30 degrees. But I'm still working on it." [JR: How wonderful to know about someone like Mr. Holzer who gives willingly to others and shares his successes in "Holzer Permaculture" farming. He has a loving respect for Nature and the natural environment he works in. He is a caretaker much like our own Hopi Indians.]

VIENNA PREPARES TO DITCH NEUTRALITY

By Kate Connolly, The Guardian—UK, 11/5/01

The alignment of central Europe could be about to change after broad hints by the Austrian chancellor that his country may relinquish its 56-year-old neutrality.

In a magazine interview published today, Wolfgang Schüssel says that Austrian membership of NATO should not be ruled out.

He suggests that Vienna may be among those NATO invites to join the alliance when it meets in Prague next year.

"At the next enlargement wave, which will be decided on in Prague, it is certain that invitations will be offered to a large circle of countries," he told the magazine Profil.

The chancellor, head of the conservative People's party (OVP), which joined a coalition with the far-right Freedom party 20 months ago, said that because the shape and role of NATO was changing, Austria's interest in joining had heightened.

NATO, he hinted, also regarded Vienna differently.

"What role will NATO have? It is getting a totally new function, not just through enlargement, but due to the current situation.

"It will become a type of collective security union, which is in certain ways comparable to the OSCE [the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe]."

The statement was made after Mr. Schüssel met President George Bush in Washington last week. He indicated that they had discussed the neutrality issue, but did not elaborate.

He said the advantage of Austria's geographical position had been discussed at length with U.S. politicians.

"We're at the gateway to eastern and south-eastern Europe. I was questioned extensively about the situation in the Balkans. We did not have a lack of things to talk about."

He said that joining the EU had unavoidably changed Austria's neutral status.

"Joining... was a decisive step which totally changed our neutrality and overtook it," he said.

"Now an additional dimension is being added, that we need to look at very carefully. We should carefully consider all the options, including entry [to NATO], and not exclude anything beforehand.”

Austria’s membership in the EU came after 20 years of tortuous debate. Mr. Schüssel insisted that joining NATO would happen much quicker.

“Austria was then under a Social Democratic chancellor. This process will be much shorter.”

Austrian neutrality was enshrined in the state treaty of 1955, 10 years after the defeat of Nazi Germany, which had annexed the country in 1938. The treaty led to the withdrawal of allied troops and the restoration of Austria’s full sovereignty.

Because of its position on the edge of the iron curtain, the U.S. gave it considerable aid to build up a military force to act as a shield against Warsaw Pact forces attempting to move towards Germany.

Mr. Schüssel’s centre-right government has said before that the neutrality terms are now outdated. He caused a stir last month by saying that neutrality should be discarded in the wake of September 11.

“The old clichés—Lippizaner [Austria’s famous dressage horses], Mozart, chocolate balls and neutrality—are no longer applicable in the complex reality of the 21st Century,” he said.

Austria would be better off participating internationally, “rather than assuming various abstract roles”.

Opposition politicians were highly critical of his remarks, but Jörg Haider, de facto leader of the Freedom party, the partner in the coalition government, welcomed them.

Visiting Austria in February, President Vladimir Putin said he would consider Austrian membership of NATO a violation of international law. But since the terrorist attacks on the U.S., the world situation has changed considerably, as has Mr. Putin’s view of NATO.

[JR: The tragic event of September 11th has brought so much good fortune for the world’s shape-shifters. They have succeeded in convincing/persuading Austria to relinquish her neutrality and join the New World of dis-order. The surprise is that Jorg Haider who was forced out by the EU censure agrees with this new alliance. Wonder how the Austrians who voted for Haider feel about his capitulation to Brussels’ demands. Nothing is what it appears to be anymore.]

ARE AMERICANS CONVERTING TO ISLAM?

ARAB PRESS REPORTS

WAVE OF INTEREST IN FAITH IN U.S.

WorldNetDaily.com, 111701

Sheikh Raid Sallah, the head of the Islamic movement in Israel, called on President Bush to convert to Islam and thus solve all problems connected with the dramatic terrorist attacks on the United States.

At a rally in the Arab town of Tamra, he reiterated his call Oct. 26: “Oh, peoples of the West, we say to you: We are the masters of the world and we are the repository of all good (in the world), because we are the ‘the best people, delivered for mankind’ (Koran 3:111). We do not hesitate. Oh Bush and (British Prime Minister Tony) Blair: We invite you to Islam; enter Islam, you and your peoples.”

Bush and Blair didn’t bite, but, according to various reports in the Arab press, translated by the Middle East Media Research Institute a wave of Americans have converted to Islam since Sept. 11.

’Alaa Bayumi, director of Arab Affairs at the Council for American-Islamic Relations, wrote in the London daily Al-Hayat that “non-Muslim Americans are now interested in getting to know Islam. There are a number of signs. ... Libraries have run out of books on Islam and the Middle East... English translations of the Koran head the American best-seller list. ... The Americans are showing increasing willingness to convert to Islam since Sept. 11. ... Thousands of non-Muslim Americans have responded to invitations to visit mosques, resembling the waves of the sea (crashing on the shore) one after another. ... All this is happening in a political atmosphere that, at least verbally, encourages non-Muslim Americans’ openness towards Muslims in America and in the Islamic world, as the American president has said many times in his speeches...”

CAIR Chairman Nihad Awad told the Saudi paper ’Ukaz that “34,000 Americans have converted to Islam following the events of Sept. 11, and this is the highest rate reached in the U.S. since Islam arrived there.”

According to Dr. Walid A. Fatihi, instructor of medicine at Harvard Medical School, Boston has recently become a center of Islamic proselytizing aimed at Christians. On Sept. 22, 2001, Al-Fatihi sent a letter to the Egyptian weekly Al-Ahram Al-Arabi, in which he described the unfolding of events since Sept. 11.

“... I sat with my wife and children in the front row, next to the mayor’s wife. In his sermon, the priest defended Islam as a monotheistic religion, telling the audience that I represented the Islamic Society of Boston. After the sermon was over, he stood at my side as I read an official statement issued by the leading Muslim clerics condemning the incident (i.e., the attacks). The statement explained Islam’s stance and principles, and its sublime precepts. Afterwards, I read Koran verses translated into English. ... These were moments that I will never forget, because the entire church burst into tears upon hearing the passages of the words of Allah!!

“Emotion swept over us,” Fatihi continued. “One said to me: ‘I do not understand the Arabic language, but there is no doubt that the things you said are the words of Allah.’ As she left the church weeping, a woman put a piece of paper in my hand; on the paper was written: ‘Forgive us for our past and for our present. Keep proselytizing to us.’ Another man stood at the entrance of the church, his eyes teary, and said, ‘You are just like us; no, you are better than us.’”

Fatihi recounts the next day the Islamic Society of Boston issued an open invitation to the Islamic Center in Cambridge.

“We did not expect more than 100 people, but to our surprise more than 1,000 people came, among them the neighbors, the university lecturers, members of the clergy, and even the leaders of the priests from the nearby churches, who invited us to speak on Islam,” Fatihi wrote. “All expressed solidarity with Muslims. Many questions flowed to us. Everyone wanted to know about Islam and to understand its precepts. Of all the questions, not a single one attacked me; on the contrary, we saw (the people’s) eyes filling with tears when they heard about Islam and its sublime principles. Many of them had never heard about Islam before. Well, they had heard about Islam only through the biased media. That same day, I was invited again to participate in a meeting in the church, and again I saw the same things. On Thursday, a delegation of 300 students and lecturers from Harvard visited the center of the Islamic Society of Boston, accompanied by the American Ambassador to Vienna. They sat on the floor of the mosque, which was filled to capacity. We explained to them the precepts of Islam, and defended it from any suspicions (promulgated in the media). I again read to them from the verses of Allah, and (their) eyes filled with tears. The audience was moved, and many asked to participate in the weekly lessons for non-Muslims held by the Islamic Center. ...”

Fatihi says on Sept. 21, the Muslims participated in a closed meeting with the governor of Massachusetts. They discussed introducing Islam into the school curriculum. He claims Gov. Jane Swift agreed to implement their plans. ... [JR: It is a hopeful sign that Americans are taking the time to understand and learn about other people’s religion and cultures. I don’t know if it is possible to instruct and convert 34,000 Americans to Islam since Sept. 11. It will be people to people that will bring peace and balance to this world and it won’t be through the world governments.]

ADULT CLONED COWS SHOW NO PROBLEMS

L.A. Daily News, 11/24/01

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cloned cows that reach adulthood show no unusual signs of physical problems, according to a study that could have significance for the medical and commercial uses of cloning.

The study published in the journal Science found that 24 cloned Holsteins remained alive and healthy, one to four years after they were born. Their immune systems were normal, they exhibited puberty at the expected age and two of the cloned cows gave birth to calves that appeared normal in all respects.

Dr. Robert Lanza of Advanced Cell Technology, of Worcester, Mass., one of the participants in the study, said it was the first to study the health of cloned animals well into adulthood—and was the best evidence yet showing that cloned animals can produce healthy and functional cells....

[MM: Wow! With all the high-tech advances lately in genetic engineering, maybe a human being will actually be cloned sometime soon—or should we check with the experts at Camp David to find out for sure?]

LOST WALLET WITH $10,000 RETURNED

L.A. Daily News, 11/24/01

LAFAYETTE, CALIFORNIA (Knight Ridder News)—She may never know his name, but a stranger who chose honesty over a pocket full of cash has the unending gratitude of a Walnut Creek woman celebrating her wedding in Germany.

One day last week around 11 a.m., a Lafayette man was driving down Deer Hill Road near First Street when he spotted a wallet lying in the roadway. He pulled over and scooped it up. Inside he found a woman’s identification and more than $10,000—most in $100 bills.

Around the same time—30 miles away at the San Francisco Airport—the 39-year-old woman, set to board a flight to Germany to meet her future husband, realized her wallet was missing.

Back in Lafayette, the man drove straight to the Police Department, walked in the front door and plopped the wallet on the counter. As the man told his story about finding the wallet, the Police Department employees listened in astonishment. The man said he wanted to remain anonymous and left.

“He brought it right in, without hesitation. He didn’t even think about keeping it,” said Detective Dan Nugent. “It was surprising, but there are good, decent people out there and he’s one of them.”

About 20 minutes later, the frantic woman called the Police Department. She had been in Lafayette earlier and was worried she had left the wallet on the hood of her car or that it had fallen out the car door. She was pregnant and—because she was so distraught—was flanked by concerned emergency personnel as she made the call.

Detective Larry Seliga answered the phone. The distressed woman told him about her lost wallet and how it contained her life savings—money she had withdrawn to help with her expenses for her wedding, gifts and her wedding dress.

[MM: It’s heartwarming to read about these noble acts of kindness and giving—especially when one prefers to remain anonymous. Sadly, many would choose the ego-stroking publicity emanating from recognition of the good deed. God knows, so what could possibly take precedence? Isn’t the true joy in giving, the act itself—without expecting something in return? It has been my experience that those giving in Godly intent are the most likely to insist on anonymity—but the ego-based intent of the world’s insecure wannabes will always come back to “Getcha”.]

CHAPTER 10

REC #1 HATONN

TUE., MAR. 27, 1990 8:00 A.M. YEAR 3 DAY 223

Good morning in the Light of the Radiant One. Hatonn present that we might work on the Journal this morning.

The question which comes to me from you ones who have privy to the daily writings is, “Well, what do Nazi Germany and Hitler have to do with the mess of the Conspiracy?” Lots! Great bunches!

It moves beyond the mysterious and becomes entangled with your very currency. As you will recall, in a prior chapter we spoke of encounters with German submarines in recent years and many of the German personnel who fled Europe have since been located living in South America quite comfortably and in great abundance.

Recall also, that in Europe, there exists a registration obligation for each member of a community. Precise and detailed records are kept where a person lives, number of children, sex, age and so forth, as well as place of employment. Also noted are details of closest relatives. In Europe, therefore, it is relatively easy to trace and locate anyone and at short notice. True, there was a temporary breakdown in the last few months of the war due to heavy bomb damage and the refugee problem, but conditions rapidly returned to the usual bureaucratic precision. In fact, these very records allow for the ferreting out of the “Nazi war criminals”.

Taking into account casualties and deaths from all causes (and this includes the million-plus “other losses”) there are still 250,000 missing persons and almost all were young people in their late teens to early twenties. That missing group has been widely referred to as the “last battalion”.

Remember, in addition, that when the “last battalion” departed for places of Antarctica and later to slip quietly into Argentina and integrate into the population, counterfeiting plates were taken with them.

My dear ones, the Falkland Islands War had nothing to do with Argentina—it had everything to do with old war remnants of the “second” variety. Also a major distraction at a most critical time, as we shall note later.

The continuous rumors about German U-boat activity in the region of Tierra del Fuego (Feuerland, in German), between the southernmost tip of Latin America and the continent of Antarctica are based on truth and were written up most critically as truth by France’s Agence France Press on the 25th of Sept. 1946.

One of the more startling facts proving quite definitely that WW II did not end on May 8th, 1945 is an account some one-and-a-half years after cessation of hostilities in Europe, the Islandic Whaler, Juliana, was stopped by a large German U-boat. The Juliana was in the Antarctic region around Malvinas Island when a German submarine surfaced and raised the German official naval Flag of Mourning—red with a black edge. I urge you not to take exception if I repeat a few incidents, for they are indeed most important from several aspects and are often missed the first reading.

The submarine commander sent out a boarding party which approached the Juliana in a rubber dinghy and—having boarded the whaler—demanded of Capt. Hekla part of his fresh food stocks. The request was made in the definite tone of an order to which resistance would have been most unwise. The German officer spoke correct English and paid for his provisions in U.S. dollars, giving the Captain a bonus of $10 for each member of the Juliana crew. While the foodstuffs were being transferred to the submarine, the submarine commander informed Capt. Hekla of the exact location of a large school of whales. Later the Juliana found the whales exactly where designated. This, too, was reported in the French press.

Now comes the hook-up. Huge amounts of money were clandestinely invested by Nazi front men all over the world, but especially in South America. KNOWN are $300 million to Spain, Sweden $250 million, Switzerland $100 million and Portugal $50 million and this represents only about 25% of the known investments which were mostly centralized in South and Central America.

Billions of dollars were invested (and are being currently, 3/27/90) in large tracts of jungle and pampas real estate, factories, transportation, airlines, shipping and other assorted companies including food processing and agriculture. ALL PAID FOR IN AMERICAN DOLLARS—BY THE BILLIONS. It is not drug money being laundered through the South and Central American banks that is the target of the U.S.—it is an effort to stop the flooding of the counterfeit money.

The U.S. tells you the new money will be for the purpose to stop drug dealers and stop counterfeiting among the drug dealers—nay, nay, NAY—it is the only way to stop the German printing presses in your own hemisphere.

How many of you are further aware that the U.S. GAVE currency printing plates to Russia? I thought not. Check it out—it will do wonders for your confirmation of old Hatonn’s input.

“RED HOUSE CONFERENCE”

Let us look at some findings which surfaced in 1944. Yes, Dharma, the history is most important, chela, for you cannot have continuity and find belief in these truths unless you are given confirmation in background. You know me and know my words are truth—most readers are still in shock and are looking for every detail possible to disprove my input. I’m sorry, chela, I know the writing is long and distressing, but it is indeed necessary. Thank you for continuing this dialog. Your legacy shall be great, let us not weaken now, for mankind must know the whole of it. He must be able to locate from whence his attackers shall be coming forth.

I think, for clarification, it would be easier and give more Earth confirmation if I dictate a portion from a book entitled THE AVENGERS, by Michael Bar-Zohar dealing with the Jewish war and postwar tactics against the Germans. You can find a lot of detailed information about the transfer of German money to foreign lands. You do not need to get the book, for I shall honor the author but we are more concerned, at this point, with the counterfeit funds. But you need confirmation regarding the money shift, etc., to give credence to this writing as to background.

[The Red House Conference: let us QUOTE, please:]

A most unusual conference of German officials and industrialists was held at the Maison Rouge Hotel in Strasbourg on August 10, 1944. The proceedings of this ‘Red House’ conference are known from the shorthand report, which fell into the hands of the American OSS at the end of the war. A Lieutenant Revesz showed it to Simon Weisenthal, who took a photostat and published it some years later.

Among those present at this conference were representatives of the Ministry of Munitions and the Foreign Office, delegates from the big industrial combines—Krupps, Messerschmit, Rochling, Goering Werke, Hermannsdorfwerke—and several senior civil servants. The object of the meeting was to decide upon measures for safeguarding the treasury of the Third Reich. They reached two main decisions—some of the riches would be hidden away in the territory of the Reich, and German capital would be sent abroad.

The conference urged that the Nazi Party should go underground in the event of defeat, and should prepare for a return to power with the help of the treasures safely hidden away.

These decisions began to be put into effect in the following months. An ‘experimental station’ was set up near Lake Toplitz and a number of containers packed chiefly with forged pound notes and documents were submerged in the lake, and some other containers were hidden away in old mines in the hills. Most of them were removed again when Allied Forces were approaching the region. Although the Allies did not have full knowledge of these hiding places until the report of the ‘Red House’ conference fell into their hands, some information on the Nazis’ postwar plans had reached the Allied secret services early in 1945. In March of that year a detailed report on the subject was submitted to the State Department in Washington:

“The Nazi regime has made very precise plans for the perpetuation of its doctrine and domination after the war. Some of these plans are already being put into effect.

“Members of the Nazi Party, German industrialists and Army leaders, realizing that there is no hope of victory, are presently preparing commercial plans for the postwar period, endeavoring to renew connections with industrial circles abroad in the hope of reestablishing prewar cartels. After the war, the intention is for ‘front men’ to appeal to the courts of various countries against the ‘illegal’ seizure of German industrial concerns and other German property by the Allies at the outbreak of the war. In the event this method does not succeed, the recovery of the German property would be made through figureheads possessing the requisite citizenship. German attempts to continue to have a share in the control and development of technological progress during the immediate postwar period are reflected in the phenomenal increase in German patents registered in certain foreign countries during the past two years. These registrations reached their peak in 1944....

“German capital and plans for the building of ultramodern technical schools and research laboratories are being offered on very advantageous terms, in view of the fact that the Germans will hereby be able to make and perfect new weapons.

“The German propaganda program is an integral part of this general planning for the postwar period. The immediate aim of this propaganda program will be to bring about a relaxation of Allied controls on the pretext that the Germans should be treated ‘honestly’. Later, this program will be extended and intensified with a view to reviving Nazi doctrine and pursuing German ambitions of world domination. Unless these plans are counteracted, they constitute a constant threat to the peace and security of the postwar world.”

The American specialists had greatly extended their knowledge of this subject by the end of the war. They soon had a list of 750 firms with head offices in neutral countries, founded or bought with German capital. Switzerland headed the list with 274 firms; then came Portugal with 258, Spain with 112, Argentina with 98 and Turkey with 35. A number of firms had also been acquired in South American countries other than Argentina.

Special accounts in Swiss and Liechtenstein banks were placed at the disposal of the Argentine Government, officially to help their industrial development. Some of the accounts were made personally available to Argentine leaders.

As military defeat and final catastrophe had become more certain, the Nazi chiefs stepped up their preparations for the future—a future in which they meant to have a stake. They had deposited large sums with banks in neutral countries and salted away just as much in the portfolios of apparently respectable people in Liechtenstein, Portugal, and Patagonia, and had hidden much wealth in the depths of old salt mines in Austria and below the dark water of the Alpine lakes. All of this hidden treasure might indeed permit a revival of Nazism one day—so long as there were still Nazis around able to draw upon it. [END OF QUOTING]

Ah, the Germans were a busy lot, from whom you ones at this time in history, could well take lessons in preparation. Added to their tucking away of treasures, extensive research was immediately launched into areas of artificial food cultivation, in huge greenhouses, with everything grown only on “chemical soil” and under artificial light. “Butter” was produced from coal and dry milk was one of their very survival inventions. A method was also invented to indefinitely preserve wheat flour. Great strides were also made in Freeze-Drying all types of food and this was carried out particularly in experimental plants located in the area of Helmstedt. Hitler was keenly interested in these projects, visiting them frequently. In a very short while, Germany was more or less self-sufficient and for the first time in centuries. NO GERMAN EVER EXPERIENCED WANT AND HUNGER AGAIN UNTIL THE ALLIES BURNT OR ROBBED ALL THE HUGE WAREHOUSES OF THEIR CONTENTS IN 1945 AND AFTER.

LIES OF THE LIBERATORS

Any German who lived through that dreadful time will tell you what the humanitarian “liberators” of Germany doled out as food rations after their victory. In the French zone of occupation it was officially 850 calories a day, in the American zone it was “officially” a little more, whilst the inmates of Hitler’s concentration camps (whose bony corpses you are still seeing daily on T.V. and in the newspapers), received more than double that amount of calories daily. The resultant famine and death from starvation, particularly among the elderly and infants, is well remembered by the German population. They call it a “peace crime”. The food supply for any secret UFO force (which is what Hitler himself called the “last battalion”) had already been solved.

WHAT ABOUT THAT COUNTERFEIT MONEY?

What about funds? Well, let us examine some facts which should also begin to give you clues as to why the Jewish community insists on keeping the “holocaust” in the forefront of people’s minds some forty-plus years later. IT SIMPLY IS NOT LIKE YOU HAVE BEEN TOLD IT IS, AND WAS!

Let us look into the counterfeit situation. Hitler had again already planned, with great foresight, for this inevitability. In captivity in concentration camps such as Dachau, Buchenwald and Auschwitz, were Europe’s best-known and most skilled forgers—many of them JEWS. They were geniuses at their particular craft.

A secret order was issued from Berlin code-named

“Operation Bernhard”. All the forgery experts were collected and were offered life and freedom if they cooperated in producing for Hitler, perfect forgeries of some of the allied currencies, but in particular, forgeries of the British pound and the American dollar, in various denominations. At first the forgers refused, but one by one they cooperated and in an astonishingly short space of time, they produced what seemed to be perfect forgeries. The German government supplied from its own papermills what is usually the stumbling block to perfect counterfeiting—high quality paper. The plates and paper were perfect but—not satisfied with their own judgement—a secret agent was sent to neutral Switzerland with a suitcase full of “German-made” pounds and dollars as well as other currencies in all denominations. This agent went to one of Switzerland’s largest banks and requested to see the manager and stated: “I am negotiating a business deal with a man I suspect of being a Nazi agent—and he intends to pay me in this currency with these bills. Please test them and see if they are genuine.” The bank manager explained he could not do this right away since it was in foreign currency, so the Nazi agent left the bills with the bank manager arranging to return within a few days. Upon his return, he was told that the money was genuine, and that the bank would be pleased to accept it for exchange. The agent returned to Germany and the printing presses started rolling in Auschwitz and Buchenwald. Untold millions were printed, so much so that Britain, after the war, withdrew from circulation its five-pound note—a first in British history.

“Come now, Hatonn” you say: “This is too much!” Well, let us look at a documented incident and sequel to this story.

Rumors persisted about Operation Bernhard long after the end of the war and one such rumor was checked out quite thoroughly by you human entities. For weeks a group of Austrian government frogmen searched Lake Toplitz in Austria. Eventually they found the wreckage of a German plane, the skeleton of the dead pilot still strapped to his seat. In the hold were large metal trunks which, when pried open, revealed over 300,000 British five-pound notes, in neat bundles, perfectly unspoiled and with them, some of the printing plates. The money was confiscated by the Austrian authorities, although it was at that time useless as the five-pound note had been withdrawn from circulation by the British.

Now remember the U-boat captain had paid for his food in U.S. dollars and obviously had no shortage of money since each crewmember of the whaler had been given a $10 bonus.

It is not yet generally known that the entire Reichsbank Treasure (All of Germany’s reserves) disappeared from the bank vaults in Berlin before the end of the war. Guinness Book of World Records lists this story under “The greatest unsolved robbery!” Dear ones, that money is still viable indeed as a currency—remember that the war was never officially ended?

NOTE: During the U.S. balance-of-payments crisis, Time magazine carried an article about discussions taking place at the Headquarters of the World Monetary Fund in Basel, Switzerland. They found that $15 billion were in circulation, which should not really exist. One wonders where that amount of money might come from, wouldn’t you suspect? And that had naught to do with the American hemisphere. So be it!

Please, let old Hatonn believe that you are beginning to get a better perspective on current events. Why do you suppose the Thatcher government sanctioned Bush’s action in Panama? (The Panama “invasion” was to get control of those banks—remember I told you?) Further, WHO WERE THE ALLIES OF GERMANY IN W.W.II? JAPAN PERHAPS? WHY DO YOU THINK YOU ARE HAVING TROUBLE GETTING THE NEW MONEY INTO CIRCULATION? OH, MY YES—INTRIGUE, INTRIGUE AND JAMES BOND MAGNIFIED!!

Further, pay attention to the effort to keep the holocaust (which we will point out probably did not occur as you are told) alive and well—the Zionists who plan Global 2000 takeover of world control know the enemy is at hand and ready to take on anything that comes along—for THEY also plan Global 2000 takeover and control of the world—the conspirators of the Cartel of bankers is all mixed up within them all! Now isn’t this grand game-playing? Well, it would be if the blind masses of humanity weren’t up for enslavement and gross genocide and annihilation.

How could all these things be kept secret? Easy—no one gives you any news—the media is totally controlled. Let us look for a minute at the operation Antarctica and Admiral Byrd’s expedition, then we can move on into a brief discussion of why the big UFO cover-up.

A break, please. This computer is acting up. Please open a new file to avoid any losses.

Hatonn to standby.

CHAPTER 11

REC #2 HATONN

TUE., MAR. 27, 1990 11:40 A.M. YEAR 3 DAY 223

TOP SECRET NAZI EXPEDITION

Let us again turn our attention to the location of the bases. Even in this area Hitler had planned far ahead and at long range. Obviously guided by the possible occupation and subsequent loss of Germany itself, he had cast around for land still available for colonization and found that Antarctica was, at that time, the only continent still unclaimed. With his usual dispatch, a polar expedition was organized—the preparation of which was kept secret. The force consisted of several large vessels, at least two of which were aircraft carriers, not the present-day type but rather large ships with float-equipped airplanes on board. The planes were rocket-catapulted off special ramps at the end of the ships and retrieved out of the water via a crane. This secret Nazi Expeditionary Force was headed by Kapitan Ritscher and took place in 1937-38. The force landed in the area of Queen Maud Land and established bases there. Large float planes of the Dornier-Wal type, with the unusual pusher-puller propellers were used to explore a huge area of Antarctic terrain. Over 11,000 photographs were taken for mapping purposes. Significantly, a Swastika flag was dropped every 20 kilometers to substantiate the German claim to that land, comprising over 600,000 square kilometers in all. In this way, not only was a terrain claimed by Germany, larger than Germany itself, but more significantly, for the first time, ice-free oases (warm lakes) were found by this secret Nazi expedition. They were photographed along with Alp-like mountain ranges of over 4,000 meters in height. Naturally, the explored areas were given German names and so you have today places like “Ritscher Gipfel”, or, “Ritscher Peak”, named after the leader of the expedition. The hot oasis amongst the eternal ice was called “Schirmacher Seen Platte”—“Schirmacher Lake Group”. These are also often referred to as the “Rainbow Lakes”. The different-colored appearances of these inland lakes are caused by algae found floating in the sweet water and vary in color from lake to lake as the algae color differs. The waters are warm enough to allow swimming and bathing with just bathing suits and swim trunks.

Added credence to the secret bases thesis is found in remarks attributed to Joachin von Ribbentrop at the outbreak of the war: “In accordance with Germany’s long-range political strategy, we have taken into firm possession the Antarctic area, called New Swabia (New Schwabenland) to ensure a safe retreat in case of necessity.”

If you compare the German area to the size of the United States, it is huge in comparison.

Other factors make Antarctica an ideal place for these bases. There is no rust, no germs—and consequently very little illness or decomposition. Food remains edible forever, since the entire region acts rather like a giant freezer. The shed, for instance, where Scott spent some months pre-W.W. I, before he launched his ill-fated Antarctic expedition, was recently discovered. The food which remained in the shed, from almost 70 years ago, was still as fresh and edible as on the day it arrived in Antarctica, and wooden boxes, tin cans, cups, candles and paper (in fact everything), are as well preserved as if by inanimate suspension. Antarctica has no flies, no bugs, and no bacillus can survive the cold temperatures of the surface location.

20TH-CENTURY SECRET?

Could all of this have taken place in the 20th Century without detection? Hardly! What steps were taken to discover the truth? What has been done on your placement to do something about the secret bases now that their existence has been established and established beyond a doubt? Why did the world not hear about these incredible events? Good questions indeed and it is surely past time that you-the-people, open your eyes and look around.

Obviously, Hitler's escape was discovered immediately, otherwise the statements of Stalin and of Eisenhower and all other quoted sources would be an exercise in insanity. It has even been totally recognized that the Nuremberg War Crimes Trials were staged, to a great extent, in the hope that the "Last Battalion" could be drawn from their impregnable, inaccessible hideouts and thus force the Fuehrer's hand. A large armed force of elite troops surrounded the whole of the Nuremberg area during the long agonizing months of the typically-Bolshevik show trials. Perhaps there are readers who will be able to recall from newspaper pictures or newsreels the "tight security" that existed in the whole of Germany during those trials. Some S.S. men were actually caught, tried and convicted for attempting to free their leaders, but when the cry of strangulations and torture was over, the Fuhrer was still nowhere to be found. Some UFO overflights and activities were reported but no actual armed clashes or incidents took place.

Washington, Moscow and London then decided to really "get into the act"; in fact, eight countries in total decided to do some "scientific" work in Antarctica, of all places!!! A large expedition, lavishly financed, was quickly put together. It consisted of over 4,000 specially selected elite U.S. Navy troops along with an eight-month food supply. Thirteen ships under the overall command of Admiral Byrd made up this purely "scientific" expedition, composed mostly of military-types and very few scientists.

The U.S. Antarctic battle fleet left Norfolk, Va, on Dec. 2, 1946—three distinct battle groups, comprised of the Mount Olympus, Admiral Byrd's command ship, the ice-breaker Northwind, the catapult ship Pine Island, the destroyer Brownson, the aircraft-carrier Philippines Sea, the U.S. submarine Sennet and the two support vessels, Yankee and Merrick, as well as the two tankers Canisted and Capacan, an additional floatplane-carrying ship, Currituck and the destroyer Henderson.

At the same time it was announced officially that a similar English-Norwegian force was operating in a support capacity in Antarctic waters around Bahia Marguerite. A Soviet contingent was also participating in the "research".

U.S.A. CONVOYS IN ANTARCTICA

The Soviet participation is an interesting one, since Winston Churchill had already spoken of an "Iron Curtain" and felt that "they"—the crusaders to Europe—had "killed the wrong pig". Obviously Churchill realized that they should have destroyed Bolshevik Russia and not Germany. So be it.

The general public (YOU) was told that the "RESEARCH" mission was interested in locating uranium and studying the weather. Admiral Byrd, who had already undertaken a similar, though much smaller and speedier, investigation of the North Pole was asked why he had recommended the establishment of armed observation camps. His reply, "Because the pole lies between us and our enemies."—El Mercurio, Santiago, Chile, July 7, 1947. Further questioning as to which enemy he meant, since the Axis powers had just been defeated and had "unconditionally surrendered", brought no response from the "great" man.

It was soon learned, however, that as well as the scientific jobs, the mission had the task of "observing the activities of a foreign power in the South Pole Region". Questioned further on this part of the expedition's activities, Adm. Byrd reportedly replied, "To break the last desperate resistance of Adolf Hitler, in case we find him in his Neuberchtesgaden inside 'New Schwabenland' in the Queen Maud Land region, or to destroy him." How interesting indeed.

Also most interesting, the Byrd expedition was equipped with the very latest devices, amongst them were thermo-magnetic detectors.

The U.S. expedition duly arrived and landed in Antarctica. With them the very latest in military gear, gadgets and troops. With them the very latest in military carriers, helicopters, floatplanes and every other conceivable military apparatus. Bases were established and quickly expanded. Observation planes were sent out all over the region. Thousands of photographs were taken and mapping missions flown.

One particular flight stands out amongst all those reported and one with Adm. Byrd, himself, aboard. The instruments went totally haywire and the performance gauges and altimeters behaved in a most erratic manner, causing Adm. Byrd to abort the flight and return to base on "visual" control. All instruments returned to normal as soon as open terrain had been reached.

It was reported—and it is true—that Admiral Byrd located the Secret Nazi Base (among other things we shall speak of later) and was approaching it when the above incident took place causing abandonment of the flight, but not before he dropped an American flag and a bomb or two on the approximate spot of the base. This was done, of course, to warn Hitler he was not entirely safe even in his Shangri-la.

RETALIATION

Whoops—what of an error or two? Vengeance was swift and the Fuhrer was not in a humorous mood. Within 48 hours, four of Byrd's planes had been lost, some without a trace and others without any survivors. Adm. Byrd hastily abandoned all his efforts and disembarked, with all his force, for home.

PRESS INTERVIEW FOLLOWING DEPARTURE

On board his flagship Mount Olympus he gave the following startling interview, translated from the Spanish as it was reported in the paper El Mercurio, Santiago, Chile on March 5, 1947. It appeared on the front page under the headline "On Board the Mount Olympus on the High Seas".

"Adm. Byrd declared today that it was imperative for the United States to initiate immediate defence measures against hostile regions. The Admiral further stated that he didn't want to frighten anyone unduly but that it was a bitter reality that in case of a new war, the continental United States would be attacked by flying objects which would fly from pole to pole at incredible speeds. (Earlier he had recommended defence bases at the North Pole.) Admiral Byrd repeated the above points of view, resulting from his personal knowledge gathered both at the north and south poles, before a news conference held for International News Service."

During the press conference the Admiral also stated that in a quickly shrinking world the United States could no longer derive any sense of security from its isolation or on the geographic distance of the poles or oceans. The Admiral affirmed once again his belief that the entire Antarctic continent should be closely watched and surrounded by a "wall of defense installations, since it represented the last line of defence for AMERICA". (THESE DEFENSE MEASURES HAVE SINCE BEEN TAKEN.) Admiral Byrd further stated that no one could give a more accurate accounting of the true significance of the situation than he could, since he had had occasion to employ the latest scientific developments—and from what he had learned he could make comparisons, for he had encountered the effect of the secret weapons.

When Admiral Byrd had arrived back in the U.S. and the significance of his findings had found their way into the press, he was mysteriously hospitalized. No hard information was ever unearthed but his grand statements to the press in South America and on board the Mount Olympus were not appreciated by the powers in Washington. Less appreciated were the actual facts regarding his expedition which I shall enlighten you about a little bit further on in this writing.

He was among the first victims of a long string of prominent people "removed from circulation" for their honest belief in Unidentified Flying Objects and encounters with higher forces.

You can gain great insight into important conclusions from the foregoing:

1: The final outcome of W.W. II is yet to be decided. This is borne out by the late General and former President Eisenhower's statement—"The Second World War has not yet ended," and corroborated by Admiral Byrd's alarming phrase "in the case of a new war". Hitler's Last Battalion is waiting for its golden opportunity to be "the tip of the scale" in any conflagration yet to come. SO BE IT, BROTHERS, SO BE IT!

2: Hitler has defended his secret lair as successfully against Byrd as he had his numerous headquarters in Europe, during the war against the Allies. Byrd was forced to retreat and to acknowledge the superiority of the UFOs and their secret weapons.

3: The over-fifty small wars since 1945 including Korea and Vietnam, were supposed to provoke a premature "showing of hands" by the Last Battalion.

4: The "New Third Reich" has maintained its crucial time/technology advantage over its W.W. II adversaries—even decidedly increased it.

5: Idealism (spirit) has triumphed already over Materialism (money), since only the German state was destroyed but not the ideology of National Socialism.

6: There has been a 30-year cover-up by brain—and more often by brawn—about the true identity of the UFOs or at least many of them. Their origins have been known, but deliberately suppressed by the rulers of the Unholy Alliance of 1939-45.

7: The real and only reason for the insane UFO cover-up, now falling apart, is to be found in most UFO's German origin. The Allies in East and West have told so many lies about the barbaric, sadistic behavior of the Nazis, that they now fear wide-spread panic amongst their populations, should the truth become known. After all, if the Nazis are still around, would it not be logical and natural for them to take revenge one day? With UFO power? Come now—what does the symbol of a swastika really mean? LIFE ONGOING AND WITHOUT END! No, I did not say that I adore and cherish the Third Reich—I said that the swastika means Life! All the liars are not yet out of the woodwork, my friends.

WHY THE BIG UFO COVER-UP?

For over 40 years some of the world's most imaginative people have wondered about the "strange" behavior of their governments when it comes to the questions of the UFOs. If the UFOs are extra-terrestrial and the humans on your planet have no “defense” against them, then why annoy these beings by orders to “SHOOT TO KILL”? It is interesting that once again you see perfect harmony of approach between the U.S. and the Soviets. In the 70s there was a very detailed report about the Soviet Air Forces having stumbled upon some secret UFO bases in far off Mongolia. The Soviets went in their usual barbaric style, bombed and burned everything to the ground. This was well documented by Dipl. Ing. A. Schneider in the Viennese newspaper, K.Die aktuelle Serie, P.a. of Sat., Sept. 14, 1974 as follows:

“... the following remarkable report reached us today from the Soviet Union: ‘April 24, 1970 was a day that all hell broke loose. A supersonic Soviet jetbomber in a secret mission from Moscow to Vladivostok was lost without a trace over Siberia. The pilot was in voice contact with ground control stations when suddenly the transmission was interrupted. An intensive search by nearly two hundred planes was quickly organized over the area where the pilot was last heard from. Almost simultaneously a number of pilots reported to ground control, “We are not alone up here, above us are flying objects, maybe 25 or even more. They are huge, they are so high we cannot get near them.” That same afternoon in Krasnojarsk, red alert was sounded and troops were deployed around the city because an entire formation of these silvery, silent visitors circled over the scared town. Apparently, entire salvos of ground-to-air missiles were fired at hundreds of flying discs which crowded the airspace of the Sino-Soviet-Mongolian frontier area. There was a concerted action by the strange intruders against the town of Ulan Bator, where all flights seemed to emanate from and end. A spokesman for a group of touring German students said after returning from Mongolia, where they had been at the time of the “UFO invasion”, “That the Soviet Union had destroyed a secret UFO base of immense proportions consisting of many miles of subterranean tunnels and dozens of pyramid-like structures in the northern area of Mongolia.” However no photographic proof or documentary evidence exists. The Soviets are always very secretive.”

After Admiral Byrd’s hasty retreat from Antarctica, he not only suggested bases around both poles and a ring of armed camps, but offered this plan: Turn Antarctica into atomic test ranges where atom and hydrogen bombs could be dropped to be “tested”. Well, this is a quote from an incorrect source—it was not Admiral Byrd who suggested such a thing, he was simply blamed for it.

A strange thing happened, however, as soon as such a plan was put forth. Capitol Hill in Washington, D.C. received an official visit. There is not a UFO fan who has not seen the historic photograph of an entire “swarm” of UFOs flying over the nearby Congressional Buildings and the White House in perfect formation. Interesting to note that the Antarctic test-site idea was never again seriously considered.

Hundreds of sightings took place around the world from Japan to Korea, where you have a particularly good example of a UFO de-materializing in front of the cameras. One must then ask, “Why do these UFOs always show themselves, but why do they not land?” etc., etc., etc. Well, realizing the fear responses and the need to keep the lies hidden—it is indeed unsafe, isn’t it? This is appropriate for terrestrial ships as well as extraterrestrial visitors.

The UFO cover-up is most similar to other actions of the other unholy alliances such as the mass murders of Operation Keelhaul, at Katyn, Dresden and Hiroshima. Let anyone dare to “not conform” with “the establishment’s” version of things and you can see people being hounded, defamed and persecuted on a daily basis—not the least of which are our own scribes—just for receiving this information.

LITTLE MEN WITH AGREEMENTS?

More distractors—and I will investigate herein. Let us look from some other viewpoints, please.

Often, your UFO fans have advanced the theory that the strange flying objects come from distant planets and galaxies to check on your “atomic experimenting”, and some people state “contactees” have been told that the UFOs would prevent an atomic war on the planet Earth. Why should we? Why should we care? We certainly do not demonstrate any great desire to colonize the Earth—at least not in any great numbers. Well, perhaps some of these “aliens” are already scattered about Earth. We have all sorts of reasons why we will not allow atomic devastation to wreck your planet:

These are speculations as presented by some sources who feel an alliance exists with space aliens, etc.:

a) The UFOs are, by now, driven by electromagnetism, consequently all secrets surrounding electric power have been discovered. Since all modern communications and guidance systems are based on electronics, it is an easy task to “listen in”, decode and prevent the start or to re-direct whilst in flight, any vehicle or space craft, now in use by the “allies”.

b) The destructive power of atomic weapons is therefore much more of a threat to the powers who possess them and have them stored in silos, in subs, in planes or on their own soil than to those countries who do not have these weapons at all, since they could quite easily be set off by remote control from the UFOs, before they were even launched.

(Please keep in mind that these are projections put forth from your placement—not mine.)

c) The UFOs will undoubtedly prevent atomic war to prevent the extinction of the White Race. At the moment the White people are outnumbered ten to one on the planet and should there be an atomic exchange the ratio would be a hundred to one in the White’s dis-favor.

Well, a few of your better thinkers have found some interesting conclusions which might be worth pointing out.

No man of the calibre of Adolf Hitler, deeply committed to the survival and resurgence of Western Culture, would ever allow this tragedy to happen to the White Race if he could at all help it.

There is a most interesting aside which I might note for you. Perhaps a few of you readers will already know the following, that in the region of the South Pole (Antarctica), and to a lesser extent the North Pole, it is possible to escape from the Earth’s magnetic pull and death through radiation because the Van Allen Belts open up, funnel-like, at both of these extremities. It is possible to launch a spacecraft, with very little radiation protection from this area avoiding enormous weight, a crew needs no radiation-protective gear.

Now I am going to lay forth some other speculations which might bear contemplation.

You must remember that Hitler had massive feasibility studies of space stations, based on very specific and valid data.

He authorized launching an artificial satellite to be rocketed into space in 1947 with the A9-A10 rocket, in a steep angle away from the axis of the Earth—and counter to the Earth’s rotation. From this point it would have been possible to observe any spot on Earth within any given two-hour time period, and hit any spot on Earth with accurate missiles, bombs, radar-guided or other gadgets such as “mirror beams” or “death rays”.

The Rosenbergs mentioned these platforms in their testimony during their espionage trials. They called them “Warships of space”. Where did they get this information about top-secret plans, not realized by the Allies until some 25 years later? From the same documents that gave them the atomic bomb, of course. Yes, this would definitely seem as if spaceflight was already known to a mysterious group of beings, would it not?

PROF. DR. JAMES GREENACRE

The American astronomer, Prof. Dr. James Greenacre and four of his colleagues made an astounding observation from Flagstaff, Ariz. Observatory and reported it to a Conference on “Moon Problems” in New York City in May of 1964. Because of the UFO cover-up policy still in force in the U.S. government, Prof. Dr. Greenacre was only able to give his report verbally to colleagues who were present at the Conference. Here is roughly what he said: “On the 29th of Oct. 1963 we observed several colorful spots on the Moon, the spots moved in formation across the motionless face of the Moon.” One month later Prof. Dr. Greenacre observed the same phenomena. The May 1966 issue of UFO Nachrichten, Vol. 117 reproduced what Dr. Greenacre had stated he had observed... “Prof. Dr. Greenacre saw on or close to the Moon at least 31 spacecraft of gigantic size. Some were from 300 meter to 4.8 kilometers long. They were in motion while being observed through the telescopes. Also, clearly discernible were numerous smaller craft approximately 150 meters in diameter, which moved past or alongside the huge craft, the “mother craft” occasionally changing color, as in the often-reported, pulsating style.” (The distance from the Earth to the Moon is 384,000 kilometers.) This was the end of the report.

The American Professor thought at first the Russians might have beaten the Americans to the punch. But not so! So, therefore, who is out there in the wild blue yonder? Well, Prof. Dr. Phillips of Berlin, Hitler’s wartime comrade, claimed he knew. He even sent the author of much information on the subject, some charts and timetables of his flights—and they match, my friends.

Before we leave this area of investigation and take a break, we have to look into the repeated reports of “glowing” or “pulsating” lights emanating from UFOs. You can find an interesting reference to these phenomena from a brilliant German metallurgist who had created “a metal harder than diamonds” called appropriately enough “Impervium”. This metal glows alternately in the colors of the rainbow when heated to a high degree. This seems to tie up another loose end and again, the timing is interesting. The metal was used for the first time commercially in 1935-36. The laboratories were located not at Schramberg as Michael X reports but at Starnberg and Starnberger See. However, this could be a simple spelling error by someone not too familiar with the German language. Oh, so much to learn, haven’t we?

Dharma begins to see the handwriting on the wall and is quite unnerved at this time, therefore, I request a break and allow settlement. It is fine, chela, everyone keeps nagging for “new” information and perhaps it is time to begin to scatter it around a bit. You will stay closely in the Light shield, chela; for as we tread on the proper toes the nasties will get more intense. So be it—the God of Light and Truth shall prevail and this Word will go forth. Yes, I know ones are quite dead who have spoken of these things—I do note, however, that you are quite healthy and we intend to keep that status current.

I move now to stand-by, that we might have a break.

In love and total Light of radiance I salute you for your service.

Hatonn to clear, please.
