Scientific Observations Verify PHOTON BELT

RE: ZIONISM NOT JUDAISM; NEW YORK
RABBIS SPEAK OUT "AGAINST" ZIONISM;
SOLAR SYSTEM PHENOMENA

ANTI-ZIONISM IS "NOT" ANTI-SEMITISM
ANY WAY YOU CUT IT.

Hatonn—The question seems to fly back at the drop of an argument as to our attitudes about Judaism, Jewish, Zionism, Hebrews or Semites and related topics.

Can readers never seem to find out facts for themselves so that they KNOW about what they speak and form unbending opinions? You are supposed to believe they are none of the above and all of the above—a typical confuse-and-misdirect YOU.

When we present any article on any of the above, we are instantly called "Anti-Semitic". How can that be so? We offer what is public knowledge and to further recognize the errors of such accusations we will AGAIN give a dictionary definition of "Semitic" right out of Webster's Dictionary:

"SEMITE" ("Semitic" is simply an adjective): a member of any of a group of peoples (as the Hebrews or Arabs) of southwestern Asia.

THEREFORE, if you are "Anti" to those Jews in point, then you must equally be "Anti" to those Arabs in point. Just isn't so is it? So, just keep blathering ignorant misinformation and you shall surely be revealed as "STUPID", for "ignorance" is no excuse UNDER THE LAW! And no, we did not make these rules OR expressions.

I would ask that a meeting notification from AMERICAN FREE PRESS of May 6, 2002 be shared for any who might wish to investigate. It is called: TBR CONFERENCE:

ZIONISM VS. JUDAISM:
THERE'S A BIG DIFFERENCE

The world is beginning to recognize the fact that there is a difference between political Zionism and Judaism.

There has been a sea change in the editorial policies of the controlled media. Although still very much under the advertising lash of Israel through its political Zionist influence peddlers, more and more of them recognize a fact that this newspaper and the once thriving but court-killed SPOTLIGHT have always recognized: There is a difference between the movement of political Zionism and the religion of Judaism.

At this time, many orthodox Jewish leaders are among the strongest opponents of Israel and its genocidal and murderous policies. In fact, Rabbi Yisrael D. Weiss, a top leader of the anti-Zionist Neturei Karta International, will lecture at the

We would then appreciate that report as soon as it is available, for it most certainly is time we continue repeating until it is understood that condemning the WRONG people for a political PARTY is certainly a most illogical thing to do.

Now to a second short article in the same paper:

[QUOTING AMERICAN FREE PRESS, May 6, 2002, pg. 4:]

RABBIS SPEAK OUT AGAINST ZIONISM

The following is the slightly edited text of a statement issued by 11 New York rabbis during a pro-Palestinian rally attended by 70,000 in Washington April 20.

The world stands aghast, as the atrocities committed on the West Bank become known in ever greater and horrifying detail. Mere words are insufficient to express the pain all mankind feels at the plight of the Palestinian people. For over 100 years they have been subject to a carefully conceived plan to drive them from their homes and their land. At one time this was done by aggressive immigration. Later by war. And, finally by insane destruction and dispossessions. This is, has been and continues to be the criminal agenda of Zionism. But among this movement's greatest crimes is that it claims to have done this in the name of Judaism and the Jewish people. This is a wicked lie.

The Zionists claim the Bible gives them the right to banish the Palestinian people and to subjugate them. What a pathetic joke. It is we, the Orthodox Jews, who believe in the Bible. Zionism rejects the Bible as it rejects the rest of our faith.

To the Honorable George W. Bush, the U.S. Government and its good citizens: We are extremely thankful for the pity and compassion you have shown the Jewish people in their plight in exile. And we are indebted to you for all the countless good deeds and hospitality you have bestowed upon us.

But please do not think by supporting the Zionist state you are in some way protecting or helping the Jewish people. On the contrary, by helping Israel stay in existence you are helping the build up of anti-Semitism universally. We plead with you, stop all support to Israel. Stop all assistance. Stop all aid.

To our Islamic brethren, please do not judge our faith or people by this passing lunacy of Zionism. The Jews have ever been and ever will be your friends. Do not let your understandable anger settle upon those who are innocent of wrongdoing regardless of whether they reside in occupied Palestine, Europe or anywhere around the globe.

And may we yet merit to see in the very near future the revelation of the One God over the entire world with all mankind in His servitude in joyous brotherhood. Amen. [MM: To subscribe to AFP call 1-888-699-NEWS (6397) toll free]

[END OF QUOTING]

I wanted to bring these two prior items to your attention and simply ran out of time for getting them attached to the writings of the 14th and 15th where they would have been far more topically placed; however they need to be brought to your attention more importantly than in perfect placement.

I ask MM for a large attention-getting headline, however, for the next topic—it is, indeed, THAT important.

In addition, I suggest that all of you begin to pay a bit of attention to that old “attention getter” mapping of Mr. Scallion for his visionary possibilities for the good old Earth switcharoos now being talked about more and more frequently as the astronomers are now SEEING and TRACKING some pretty interesting objects in space and recognizing some incredible phenomena taking place.

Is this just another “dump on in fear” load?

I hope not, students, because we offer these things for the educational value which you have no other way to gain. Pay attention and you don't have “fear” with which to contend but possibilities to consider.

Just yesterday the question came up about “this Nibiru” headed for Earth as a pass-by of amazing destructive potential. Well, it is also known as Wormwood and Herculobus among other less colorful labels right down to simply numerical identification.

A lot of attention is, right now, being given to the year 2003 and has in fact been brought down by the more daring speculators to Sept. 17th. No, I won't confirm such narrow windows for there certainly doesn't have to be anything even nearly as sensational take place at all.

However, you who ignore the FACTS of changes and deny that there even CAN BE changes are hiding from TRUTH. Every mountain range you note on your map, every sea, every river—are THERE because of great Earth changes—it is part of evolutionary expression and experience of the PLANET itself. Man is simply a parasite on the body of your wondrous life-source and resource. But, you become arrogant and greedy, steeped in blame-another-for-everything, and finally, just lose all ability to recognize truth while trying to escape to some mental state of avoiding all reality.

MIND-BOGGLING PHENOMENA REPORTED BY RUSSIAN SCIENTISTS

BY DRUNVALO

4/27/02 @7:41 PM Pacific Daylight Time

Strange things are happening in both outer and inner space. Scientists in Russia, most prominently a man named Dmitriev, are discovering that the Solar System, the Sun, and life itself are mutating in totally unprecedented ways.

THE SUN

Let's begin with the Sun. The Sun is the center of our Solar System, and all life that is on this Earth came from the Sun. If there were no Sun, we would not be alive. This is simply scientific fact. And so any changes that occur in or on the Sun will eventually affect every person alive.

The solar activity during this last sunspot cycle was greater than anything ever seen before. Yet every astronomer that I talked to about this except one insisted that everything was “normal”. That one person, who worked at NASA, claimed that what was going on within the Sun was absolutely incredible. She also said that she was not “allowed” to talk about it. But she talked anyway, because she felt that the world needed to know, but at the same time she asked that I not publicly discuss what she had said. Sort of a catch-22. [H: In the original Internet posting there are obviously some pictures but we have no access to those here at this writing.] So the photo at left is just a hint (click on it for a larger view). It's a recent picture of the Sun from, I believe, the year 2000, showing multiple sunspots ringing the Sun on the two latitudes of 19.48 north and south. Some of you will see the significance of this much energy being emitted at this particular location.

So let's look at the obvious question: What is normal?

For scientists, the idea of “normal” is based on making a long-term study, then averaging the results. But in the case of the Sun, we have been studying it for only about 100 years and it was not until the last half of the 20th Century that the study was done with instruments that could be considered especially accurate. And so, since the Sun is at least 4.5 billion years old, our 100- or 50-year study of it is equivalent to writing about the final one or two seconds in the life of a man or woman who lived for 100 years. Would you consider that biography reliable?

We actually know nothing about the Sun that would enable us to say what is “normal”.

We do know, however, that the Sun's magnetic field has changed in the last 100 years. There's a study of Dr. Mike Lockwood from Rutherford Appleton National Laboratories in California. Dr. Lockwood has been investigating the Sun, and reports that since 1901 the overall magnetic field of the Sun has become stronger by 230 percent. No one knows what that truly means; it's only an observation.

And we do know that some of the sunspot activity in this last cycle was greater than anything ever recorded before in history. But we don't know what that means, either.

THE SOLAR SYSTEM

Then comes the information out of Russia last month, from the Russian National Academy of Science in Siberia, where scientists have come to the conclusion that we have moved into an area of space that is different and has a much higher energy level.

The Russians are reporting changes that are being recorded in space that have never been seen before. We cannot verify this information “for certain”, but we do know that the scientific body reporting it is real, and that a Dr. Dmitriev does head this body. Also, I have personally been before the Russian National Academy of Science, in Moscow.

Speaking for the Academy in Siberia, Dr. Dmitriev says that the effects reported below have been observed (these are not quotes from Dr. Dmitriev, but extracts from his report).

CHANGES TO THE LEADING EDGE OF THE HELIOSPHERE

The Sun itself has a magnetic field, and that magnetic field creates an “egg” around the Solar System that is known as the “heliosphere”. The heliosphere is shaped like a teardrop, with the long, thin end of the drop pointing away from the direction in which we’re traveling.

The Russians have looked at the leading edge of this heliosphere, and they have observed glowing, excited plasma energy there. The Sun’s heliosphere used to be 10 astronomical units deep (an astronomical unit is the distance from the Earth to the Sun, approximately 93 million miles). Ten astronomical units was the “normal” thickness of this glowing energy that we used to see at the front end of the Solar System.

Today, Dr. Dmitriev says that this glowing energy is now 100 astronomical units deep. [H: Anyone want to bash us again for our past suggestions regarding a PHOTON BELT? [MM: PHOENIX LIBERATOR: 5/5/92; CONTACT: 11/15/00, page 5] Moreover, where did YOU put your dark goggles?]

The Russian National Academy of Sciences doesn’t give us a time-line, but the change from what was known and accepted to the way it is now represents a 1000 percent increase.

And the Russians say that this change in the Sun is changing how the planets function and what kind of life they could support. They even report, but don’t explain, that the DNA spiral itself is altering. They feel that the continued expansion of the heliosphere will eventually take us into a new level of energy, that there will probably be a sudden expansion of the basic harmonic wavelengths that the Sun emits as it radiates energy out of itself, and that this increase in energy emission will change the basic nature of all matter in the Solar System.

That’s a pretty bold statement, but it’s followed by data to back it up:

The atmospheres of five of the planets and the Earth’s Moon are changing.

When the United States landed on the Moon in 1969, it found no atmosphere. Since then, the Earth’s Moon is growing an atmosphere that wasn’t there before, made up of a compound that Dr. Dmitriev refers to as “Natrium”. This new atmosphere is now 6,000 kilometers deep.

The Earth’s atmosphere in the upper levels is forming HO gas that was not there before. It simply did not exist in the quantity that it does now. The Russians say it’s not related to global warming and it’s not related to CFCs or fluorocarbon emissions or anything like that. It’s just showing up.

The Martian atmosphere is getting sizably thicker than it was before. The Mars Observer probe in 1997 lost one of its mirrors, which caused it to crash. This happened because the atmosphere was about twice as dense as NASA had calculated. Basically, the wind on that little mirror was so high that it blew it right off.

The atmospheres of Jupiter, Uranus and Neptune also are changing, according to the Russians, but they didn’t explain.

The brightness of the planets is changing.

Venus is showing marked increases in its overall brightness.

Jupiter’s energetic charge has risen so high that there is actually a visible tube of ionizing radiation that’s formed between the surface of Jupiter and its moon Io. You can actually see the luminous energy tube in photographs that have been taken recently.

Uranus and Neptune also are becoming brighter.

The magnetic fields are changing.

Jupiter’s magnetic field has more than doubled.

Uranus’s magnetic field is “changing”—no explanation.

Neptune’s magnetic field is increasing.

All three of these planets are becoming brighter, and their atmospheric qualities, say the Russians, are “changing”, but they do not explain what is meant by this.

What’s truly amazing, since some people here on Earth have been expecting and predicting a pole shift for some time now, is that the Russians report that Uranus and Neptune appear to have had recent pole shifts. When the Voyager II space probe flew past Uranus and Neptune, the apparent north and south magnetic poles were sizably offset from where the rotational pole was in earlier recordings.

In one case, it was 50 degrees off, and in the other case the difference was around 40 degrees.

EARTH CHANGES

Let’s talk about Earth now.

The Russians report two more facts:

On Earth, the overall volcanic activity increased 500 percent from 1875 to 1975, while the earthquake activity has increased by 400 percent since 1973.

Dr. Dmitriev says that comparing the years 1963 to 1993, the overall number of natural disasters (hurricanes, typhoons, mud slides, tidal waves, etc.) has increased by 410 percent.

The Earth’s magnetic field has been decreasing. This decrease actually began 2000 years ago, but the rate of decrease suddenly became much more rapid 500 years ago. Now, in the last 20 years or so, the magnetic field has become erratic. Aeronautical maps of the world, which are used to allow airplanes to land using automatic pilot systems, have had to be revised worldwide in order for the automatic pilot systems to work. (This is very easy to check. Simply look at an aeronautical map prior to 1990 for any particular city airport, and then compare it to a present-day map.) [H: That should be impressive enough for you who have to TOUCH something to believe it.]

Late last year, the Arctic ice cap on the exact spot of the North Pole completely melted for the first time in known history. Greenpeace reported that, relative to the winter ice pattern, the cap had previously melted over 300 miles toward the pole, and that late last year both military and civilian ships were able to actually pass directly over the North Pole. It was water. Until now, as far as we know, there has never been a time where the ice was less than ten feet thick.

In contrast, the South Pole has an ice cap that is about three miles deep, and yet huge pieces of ice continue to break off and melt.

WHAT IS GOING ON?

Since 1900 we have gone from riding horses to landing on the Moon. From sending letters by horseback to firing them off with instantaneous e-mail, videophone, and satellites.

On the negative side, we have gone from warring with primitive weapons to atomic bombs and bioterrorism.

And perhaps even more significantly, in 1900 the Earth had 30 million species which took billions of years to create. Now, we have less than half that number—fewer than 15 million species. And this all happened in 100 years: a geological blink of an eye.

If someone from another planet were watching the Earth, they would say it was dying.

But now it seems something is going on that is beyond “business as usual”. In their report the Russians say that these same kinds of phenomena were occurring when the dinosaurs became extinct—a time that marked a gigantic shift in the Earth’s climate and weather patterns, and perhaps a pole shift, as well.—<http://www.cyberspaceorbit.com/sunbogg1.htm>

[END OF QUOTING]

Now readers, when you think about these things I ask that you recognize the tendencies of humankind—to ignore warnings and/or “fiddle while Rome burns”. NONE OF THIS IS NEW.

So, where to run and how to hide? Don’t be foolish, for what CAN you do as an individual in order to protect yourself from possible changes—beginning with probable happenings already making tracks?

Look at the temperatures as in TODAY in India with people dropping dead in the streets. Then, look around at changing tides, temperatures, rain patterns and never mind man manipulations. YOU are as guilty as any criminal, for if you had no market for the things from the rain forests, there would remain a rain forest. If you allowed for the changing life-needs of your peoples, you could share without need to DESTROY.

But what of the COSMIC changes? Well, you can’t really do much about that except see what possibilities there are and yes, I am quite happy to speak on these matters but we will not do so while being ridiculed, bashed and trashed. People, in addition, want and expect, if we are truthful about ourselves, US TO DO IT FOR YOU AND PAY FOR IT AS WELL. No thank you. It is none of our business what you think about our presentations nor is it our responsibility to attend those who set themselves forth as our enemies or adversaries or

RE: IN THE SHELTER OF HIS WINGS

LET GO AND LET GOD!

From the shelter of HIS wings we can find a way to experience, even in trepidation and apprehension sprinkled with a bit of, yes, “terror” (not the same as “fear”), keep the credence based on hope and ALLOW God to do HIS perfect work.

For we who have taken quite a responsibility to accomplish something BIG in God’s Plan, we come to recognize the “fear” (this time I mean exactly that) of falling short somehow and causing others who await our “success” not to be able to move on with their own various “next steps”, or at the very least, get through the LESSONS of the moment in preparation for service in a more profound way, the miracles to achieve and accept.

When we look at the magnitude of that which is in our trust and recognize the amazing path with all its brambles and thistles to accomplish that which now becomes an inevitable achievement, we are humbled in a moment of musing about that which has come before and the Light which has offered illumination on the dark days of doubts and hurt by the adversary slinging rocks and mud upon our beings and that of those who GUIDE OUR WAY.

DEFEND THE HOSTS AND ANGELS?

No, there is no need to DEFEND anything or anyone save for our own realization and set something dark to light in justice—when we can do so. BUT, THERE IS NO NEED TO DEFEND THAT WHICH IS GREATER THAN OURSELVES EXCEPT TO STAND IN TRUTH WHILE THE MISSILES BEAR LIES AND ATTEMPT TO DESTROY OUR VERY BEINGS.

God does NOT defend as with swords or zappers. HE gives us Truth through which we can walk the walk and present the talk of THE WAY—in spite of the myriads of hurdles placed in our way.

If we can only dwell on the tiny personal things of ego-limitations, we overlook the magnificence of the WHOLE of wonderment at exactly that of which we become capable when we reach out beyond the “comfortable”.

I was given cause yesterday to really study some writings from SIPAPU ODYSSEY and in the so-doing I was humbled to my very basic being and I could REMEMBER what happened back then in 1985, 6 and 7.

Eric and Audrey were there just after the story was written as somehow the manuscript was passed around through unknown hands and surely, hearts. We were still in LaCrescenta (Los Angeles) when Eric appeared at our door—with greetings in behalf of an incredible teacher, Sathya Sai Baba.

We were getting calls and messages from “everywhere” and to me this was some little motion picture “treatment” story which I had been asked to “assemble”. We were getting ready to move from our home of nearly 20 years to go to Tehachapi (in the wind generation business yet) with immediate family raised and a need to decide on “retirement” (Wow, what a dud that turned out to be!)

Little Crow walked every step of the journey with us as the Odyssey GOT UNDERWAY.

Some days my heart wouldn’t hold more “hurt” (for lack of a better term) and yet the Redtail flit past my balcony and we could take a few more steps—for it had become clear that “if it is to be, it is up to me”, a good Robert Schuller speaking which serves here. It is NOT for someone else to do that which we (I) have been given to do, nor for me to do FOR another that which “THEY” have been given to do. However, it is my DUTY to support and serve where necessary to get the JOB done.

It becomes, therefore, impossible to blame, shame or trample on anyone who came our way and caused us to learn, accept and STILL MOVE ONWARD. Everything was a gift for our needs to reach on and keep moving.

Sister Thedra sat in counsel one day on the phone when my heart was bleeding pretty badly and said: “Some mountains must be climbed ALONE, and you will come to realize the value of that journey.” Well, THAT was not what I wanted to hear.

But you know what, friends, Little Crow has been the foundation upon which my heart has built my need to most surely succeed. Our Native Brothers ALSO depend on our success in this mission to be able to bring change to their own sovereign selves and nations. WE KNEW THAT WHEN WE REALIZED THAT WHICH OUR MISSION PRESENTED. We don’t have to talk to L.C. all the time—or anytime for that matter—for we know the foundation is as sound and solid as the brick-by-brick laying of it.

When we have succeeded in this incredible task—then others can understand and build and the “teachers” will be there when the students are ready.

That does not mean that the way is now easy or soft. The closer we get the nastier the adversary gets, along with the more difficult become the hurdles. This is so bashing it becomes difficult to fully comprehend the magnitude of the gift itself. I just want “off” for a bit of R&R without the slings and arrows that keep the bleeding going and the insults pouring in so that we are stripped of desire to press on. There is always the nagging “want” to quit.

Ah but, GOD in infinite wisdom (whoever and wherever HE is) pours on the “responsibility” in that “if not YOU—WHO?” Then, “Do we just start over from nothing because you are tired of the parasites nibbling at your toes?”

THIS is so much bigger than Ekkers as to bring on hysterical laughter. I should be honored that some want to get rid of me so bad as to absorb their very beings. What a silly concept! I have spent a MAJOR part of my last 15 years in a basement room or now on top of a hotel in Manila as virtually a prisoner under house arrest. If I have been able to pull off all the things, including bombing the World Trade Center—then I am truly SUPER-human and therefore, so to is Mr. E.J., for all the hands-on interactions and building of the perfect program has fallen onto his back—well, brain. Moreover, that is with hardly going, ever, more than one block from the door of this building—yea for near four years.

try to damage us in even the most casual way by remaining assistants to the active debauchers. We have put up with that kind of definitive lying about our selves, our individual selves, our material and even to having been called a “cult” of dark and evil intent and activities. V.K. Durham has expressed it for her groupie as in calling me “Idiot Hatonn”—Doris, etc., etc. Well, surely you do not expect Idiot Hatonn to give much care and attention to these antagonists—DO YOU?

“But we thought that forgiveness flows and everybody is saved...”. Why do you think such things, readers? Fine, we “forgive” everyone for anything they choose. Now, what else is it you actually want after denouncing us as false teachers, evil cultists and hateful criminals? GO WITH THE ONES WHO MAKE THESE CLAIMS FOR THAT WOULD SEEM THE “LOGICAL” THING TO DO, LITTLE SKEPTICS. What you always want is your “cake and eat it too”.

It is EXACTLY as with Norey Latona and Ed Young claiming to receive from me—NO, YOU CAN HAVE OLD HATONN—BUT YOU CANNOT JUST USURP OLD GYEORGOS CERES HATONN! So be it, go DO YOUR THING is, I believe, the flippant and arrogant term appropriately used here.

I do, however, suggest you who have fallen for the old TV specials of Ray Bilger, et al., along with the “watcher” Internet bellringing and “hey, it’s ok to lie, cheat and steal” start considering your options because “hey, you” is not the same thing as a “heyday”. And I ask ALL of you: “What could Doris Ekker ever have done to hurt any one of you?” Think about that as you come down with your condemnation while taking into consideration the FACTS of everything and consider WHO TOLD YOU.

Now as to Ray Bilger and his antics here, there and everywhere. He certainly discredited his own wife and for that their child must suffer greatly. Ah but, his games ongoing are the most contemptible of any thrust against any of us.

Most of all, readers, you must understand WHY we cannot share all our ventures because of the vultures who parasitize everything they touch.

Facts are, in addition, that until you can let go of hate, envy and ego trappings, you will have problems with your forward-upward insight. And no, we do NOT “have to” do anything about “you”. God provides the way but YOU HAVE TO WALK THE WALK.

Now, as to possibilities, i.e., clues: To where would be considered moving the “Crystal”?

Part of it will be shifted to Greenland and the larger part to New Zealand; both with the anticipation of a final shift to Atlantis and Lemuria where it came from in the first place. Don’t believe it? Fine, but who told you otherwise? Go right ahead and laugh but remember that it is the last laugh that has the most meaning.

Lastly in this particular writing, I would want to refer some of my own closest friends who are quite interested in possible “inner” Earth possibilities, be cautious and open in your perceptions BECAUSE what is already happening with the magnetic shifts and that which will increase exponentially is the massive changes and surges in the magnetic core of the planet itself causing a shift of that heat-electromagnetic energy to surge upward and a lot of those perceived places of habitation will not be available for safety. We are talking volcanic activity of some major magnificence. These are the very reasons we evacuated the brotherhood “visitors” from those types of areas quite a few years ago but easily within your memory span of about a decade.

God bless us all—GCH

People come out of the blue because they claim “I was told to come...”. Some are the most proficient “con-men” we could ever imagine. And yet, they too, have caused us to only DO THE RIGHT THING AND ESTABLISH REALITY UPON WHICH ALL ELSE COULD BE BUILT.

By the way, I, Doris, certainly have nothing against such as that NESARA “Bill”, whatever it is. It simply has no backing. Perhaps it SHOULD mean something—but in this world of politics and New World Order wealth-shifting bankers, it MEANS NOTHING. In other words: “Where’s the beef?”

Moreover, I am reminded that anyone who thinks this is some instant drink to which you add water and live happily ever after—sorry. And yes, I guess I probably started out thinking exactly THAT. After all, GOD can do anything and in an instant. But, now the rub—WE HAVE TO DO IT. GOD PROVIDES THE MAP, THE WAY TO ACHIEVE, AND WALKS WITH US—AND GOLLY, THE JOB IS UP TO US MORTAL AND YET WEAK HUMAN INDIVIDUALS.

We have had to rely on one another and in that way, WE keep going, for I can feel the void impact if we “just quit”. There was a time when we were offered that “out” and many sat with us in that moment of decision and that is specifically targeted at me, Doris.

It was a bit shallow in that at that moment I, along with anyone making this commitment with me—could stop, get off the train and others could even easily drop away later—but I was told that the feeling of responsibility I would feel to later quit would be very devastating to me emotionally. I would not be able to just get huffed-up and take my ego and run hide.

I am ONLY ONE, readers. Others in this very “game” are just as dedicated to the overall “plan” as are we and are getting ready to begin to serve in some of the ways in which we got interrupted to move on to the sorting and the actual gleaning already begun and can now, with assets of even small amounts, spring to life and do so basically overnight.

Ones who ask about programs and projects—GO FOR IT. But the suggestion is to look into established Native “Nations” with which to form co-ops or partnerships so that we can grow in a place of “freedom” and within which we can rebuild OUR NATION UNDER GOD—whichever nation that might be.

We, by the way, were not ordered out of the U.S. (as someone presents), we AGREED to handle our affairs out of the U.S. “proper”, although we didn’t have to even leave the U.S. to accomplish what we are doing outside the U.S.—it just wasn’t getting handled properly and therefore we do not even need “doing business” documents here. But, I will commit this much, since the “rumors” of some “warrants”, etc., circulated from the same mouths and mills of our “enemies”: We will do NOTHING to jeopardize the program—even to staying out of the U.S. if necessary. There is NOTHING to be used against us and the more the little lizards try to conjure, through lies, a case of some kind—the better it now serves our purpose, for legally, businesswise, spiritual-wise, and otherwise—we have been totally meticulous in our interchanges, claims, and basic program.

WE HAVE NOT HAD TO PROVE UP ON ANYTHING—THIS HAS BEEN INVESTIGATED EVERY WAY FROM LAST SUNDAY, AS THE SAYING MIGHT GO.

If there ever was a misunderstanding about some kind of a “group” as related to us—it was not because of us. People believe what they wish and when they find some Truth in their seeking from whatever we were doing—they were welcome as people come together to share and check out possibilities in potential friendship.

We cannot be responsible for OTHERS’ intentions or actions, even though we might pay dearly for those intentions and actions. However, where there is fiduciary RESPONSIBILITY on our backs—we accept it and most certainly SHALL take a stand against the “takers”, for it is our JOB TO DO SO. We must stand against the LIES and the Evil activities—and we do not need judge anyone—just the actions and allow events and TRUTH to judge the persons.

We can’t even sort the “con-gamesmen” here from the valid—BUT, our program is structured in such a way that it is covered with security and therefore we can just move right along. Outrageous example: If people come with assets in commodity, they claim, to back a project—so be it. We can work with that because if the game is a lie—it never goes ANYWHERE. And right there is what has established our credibility and so far nothing has happened because, used properly, even by a bank, the backing must be in proper focus and place.

A short “aside”: Madeleine Albright has now diagnosed Bush and his people as having this terrible “untreated bipolar dysfunction”. Isn’t that the same diagnoses (Bi Polar dysfunction) V.K. pronounced upon me a few weeks back? It looks as if Madeleine is stealing V.K.’s stuff.

I note that on Scallion’s map that both Washington D.C. and New York are missing. I also note, however, that the area of Rosebud native Lakota nation is totally intact. That is just ONE example of possibility thinking.

GOLD NOTICE

Yes, we too notice the increase creeping in the gold prices and the obvious weakening of the U.S. “Dollar”. I have no further comment on the matter except to remind everyone that our program is not based ON THE DOLLAR as such—it is based on GOLD and therefore, when backed by gold, the currency of whatever paper is valued on same. And if anyone can conjure that as ripping-off anyone anywhere, it is quite beyond my comprehension.

So, can Ekkers take credit for such a “miracle”? Not really. We have “brains” and we “think” but MIND IS OF GOD. We should qualify as “bright” but we haven’t “invented” the plan provided us on which to build this program. Moreover, those who already “knew” the “plan” begin to show up now—right out of the corners—for fewer alternatives offering survival are showing themselves

Will there be trials at misuse? Surely so in all probability—BUT, it simply doesn’t fly in the end and those who misuse or abuse—will stand out like red-flags in a sea of white. We become impatient—GOD DOES NOT.

If someone can offer a project, say, for a billion dollars, AND HAS THE COMMODITY TO ALSO BACK THE RESERVE—fine, we will, joint venture. They also have to have a FULLY QUALIFIED and registered corporate structure so that everything involved is open. IF, HOWEVER, THEY HAVE LIED IN ANY WAY AND, SAY, DON’T HAVE THE BACKING OR IT IS NOT AVAILABLE FOR THE BANKERS TO CONSIDER—NOTHING HAPPENS! NOW HOW IS THAT FOR SIMPLICITY? WE DO NOT BEND EVEN THE MOST TINY RULE, REGULATION NOR CONJURED LAW. MOREOVER, IT DOES NOT PAY FOR ANYONE ELSE TO DO SO EITHER.

It is noted, however, that our program doesn’t interfere with anything come before, even the sellout of wealth of nations, for the facts are the nations signed away their wealth under the assumption they could never pay their debts. So—miracles do happen even in this old and weary world of hate and avarice. And NO, we push NOTHING. If we can never do more than help a handful of little farmers trying to build rice mills—we will have served well, for people are starving under the plague of this evil serpent eating or strangling everything in its path. That, of course, along with repaying those who shared this task along side us.

Here in this place where we find ourselves it is ever so much easier to see the day-to-day and rather primitive activities taking place. It is too big to even conceive in such as the U.S.

Everyone, for instance, knew you were being dinked around in California by the Power Controllers. But, you couldn’t do a thing about it!

Well, it is far worse over here in the Philippines and perhaps I can take the time to just speak about it at another setting because it is so tied up in corruption, graft, deals and political king-pins as to astound the mystery writers. However, wouldn’t you know it is likewise bound up with such as ENRON and other subsidiaries of same, even California Power Co., that it shows like broken thumbs here.

The struggle is on, name-calling is on, legal filings are on and everything else is ON, except of course, the electricity which through blackmail tactics and organized “terror”, the power was off, shut down, for the whole of yesterday.

Everyone KNOWS, because it is simply a fact, that President Ramos had these deals going and contracts were fabricated and drawn, along with signing in the “midnight” hours—BUT, now there is demand for response. BUT, number two: Ramos is recognized as the MOST DANGEROUS MAN IN ASIA. How is that for control and blissful living—while the whole of the nation is being lined up for him to again take control and finish-off (for the high-rollers in the U.S.) the Philippines in 2004—if he can keep his puppet, Gloria, in place long enough?

The next episode in the dramanova is that now charges have been filed against the Military officers in charge of that “coup” which took place and which displaced Erap in favor of Gloria (orchestrated totally by Cardinal Sin and guess who: Ramos!). The Military Chief simply caused a withdrawal of support of the sitting president and it is called TREASON along with “Mutiny” of the worst kind.

This place is now ACCEPTED as a “Banana Republic” and for which that stands. And my goodness, I can’t imagine being brave enough to take the stand a few journalists have taken to do this confrontation of the “ultimate” power in said Banana Republic. (They have filed a suit for Mutiny against those who “abandoned” then President Estrada.)

Let us just say that we can certainly understand the “too busy” aspect of anything of “ours” in such circles as the Supreme Court faced with these incredible problems. The Supreme Court was a party to the whole manipulation (including the mutiny), so my goodness, what a mess the citizens must endure.

[E.J. comment: We have proposed a class-action lawsuit by the DEEDholders from all over the country against the BSP which has alleged our DEEDs to be “fictitious”. As that gathers steam (and support), it begins to appear that the Supreme Court will be involved. Looks like that is “30” for today.]

RE: TAKE A LOOK AT OURSELVES AND CHECK OUR OWN PRIORITIES, CHECK YOUR FLUKES AND OTHER PARASITES AND GET RID OF THEM IF YOU CAN

ATTENTION GETTERS AND "ARE YOU THINKING" CAREFULLY, E-MAIL RECIPIENTS?

Hatonn—There was NEVER an intent from this place to other than get our writings to our paper and those who have to attend same.

Gradually the circle widened and people began just passing on everything and enjoyed the early, before the paper even received the information in some instances, and immediate arrival of our writings, containing the errors not yet typo-corrected from the original keyboard. And no, our team at the keyboards do NOT have time nor even wish to perfect those writings unless it would be to save time for the Layout-Press people at the paper.

I will also show you in this writing what you do with such as Patrick Bellringer and his band of merry thieves as to Journals and information as directed even to parasite-treatment regimes while pushing Journals that are "out of stock" as to press.

And why would those old Journals be out of press if they were published prior to the split between CONTACT and SPECTRUM? Because funds for putting to press those Journals were diverted into printing and publishing Dr. Young's "Wisdom Rays" books and some of the funds simply diverted to the then CONTACT office staff and then as "bonuses" for the departing staff after being dismissed for said thefts. So be it, for would you expect Mr. Bellringer to know of inside problems? Oh indeed, he is the one responsible and in partnership WITH the culprits of the crimes themselves. He still offers "archived" Journals, INCLUDING THOSE BANNED BY THE COURTS.

Yes, I know, "Just trying to get THE word out"! Ah BUT, these SAME people, including Bellringer, do call us evil and dirty bounders and somehow justify their own tricks and dealings under a guise of "back when Hatonn and Dharma were still a bit clear and less polluted". Dharma was just "too tired", they advertised and she must have a rest they inserted into their writings according to myself, Hatonn. So, they said, I, Hatonn DUMPED the typist and turned to an UNIDENTIFIED presenter who then STOLE THE PAPER, FUNDS, SUBSCRIBERS, MAILING LISTS, AND TURNED IN OUR TEAM TO THE FEDS TO HAVE THEM, IF POSSIBLE, ARRESTED ON FEDERAL CHARGES OF FRAUD AND CRIMINAL THEFT OF FUNDS THEY CLAIMED WERE FOR

"THEIR" INSTANTLY ACQUIRED PAPER—WHICH BECAME SPECTRUM.

And Mr. Bellringer succumbed hook, line and sinker, only to more recently be made the total fool by one, V.K. Durham over the Russell Herman asset of which he can't have it all ways—loyal to such as Rick Martin (Ed Young's hired hand) who now somehow is overlooked as having his signatures all over documents originally presented WITH V.K. Durham into international recognition. Does that mean we should somehow sue Martin for then believing V.K. Durham as she fed us fraudulent information?

No, Rick was simply believing documents put in his face directly from V.K.'s hands to his. But Bellringer? Well, who knows about those who assume themselves to be "Pleiades Command Headquarters"?

Some day, frankly, I would think Mr. Bellringer might enjoy, again, a good relationship with us. And we are going to share in this very writing some of Mr. Bellringer's more enlightened information from our Journal #48 (out of stock) as relates to Dr. Hulda Clark. However, we will simply prefer to give credit to Mr. Bellringer so that we are not answerable to his "buddies" who sign affidavits about us somehow offering illegal drugs onto any market.

In the products nailed by the FDA "for inspection" (this does not mean anything MORE so don't read incorrect information) were kits called Gaia Cleanse. That contained as requested to be put into a "kit" with all components by, indeed, Dr. Pierre Cloutier, the various parts of a parasite cleansing program. This included ready-to-use products supplied by at least three valid and qualified producers such as fiber which is fiber from a mixture of ground Psyllium husk and SPELTA husk (THE best fiber, with nutrients as well, on the market anywhere), Black Walnut product, Clove product and Wormwood product.

You will find that Mr. Bellringer lists these products and gives a price for each product as to tinctures. New Gaia provided the assembled products at a far more reasonable cost.

Can you still get those products? I don't actually know nor will I take the responsibility to check it out, for YOU need to check it out and not just say "Hatonn said..." or "Well, Dharma wrote..."

I suggest, since New Gaia is dead and gone, thanks to people like Mr. Bellringer, that you check with, say, Artemis (please give a phone [1-888-895-1696] contact here, please, Editor) and see what can be assembled or instructions given for obtaining the "parts", for they are all available.

AT THIS POINT I WILL REMIND ALL OF YOU THAT DIANE WAS CONVICTED OF "NOTHING". SHE HAD MAILED OUT A LITTLE BROCHURE CATALOG WHICH WAS NOT EVEN DONE BY HER AND IN IT SUCH THINGS WERE CLAIMED AS WITH THIS "KIT" THAT IT GETS RID OF BODY PARASITES

SUCH AS FLUKES, ETC.

THE PEOPLE AT THE FDA DID, IN FACT, REDUCE ALL CHARGES TO SUCH AN EXTENT AS TO MAKE IT EASIER TO SIGN THE BARGAIN THAN DRAIN ALL RESOURCES AND EMOTIONAL IMPACT OF STRUGGLING AGAINST THEM.

YOU HAVE TO UNDERSTAND THAT PEOPLE FROM "WITHIN" THE "THEN" STAFF OF CONTACT AND LATER SPECTRUM, DID, ALONG WITH SUCH AS RAY BILGER PRESENT FRAUDULENT AFFIDAVITS TO THE FEDS STATING ILLEGAL DRUG DISTRIBUTION. THOSE DOCUMENTS ARE KEPT CONFIDENTIAL AND ACTUALLY PAY OFF IF A CONVICTION IS GOTTEN. SO, SOMEBODY, SINCE DIANE SIGNED THE PLEA BARGAIN, GOT A PAY-OFF FOR THE LIES FILED. HOW DOES THAT MAKE YOU FEEL, READER, ABOUT YOUR PARTNER OR NEIGHBOR? FOR THIRTY PIECES OF SILVER MORE THEY WOULD GET YOU ARRESTED AS A TERRORIST—CHECK IT OUT, FOR WE HAVE BEEN THERE AND EXPERIENCED THAT FULL-BORE EFFORT RIGHT THROUGH MR. BELLRINGER'S ACCEPTANCE OF THE PURE HOGWASH PUT OUT BY SUCH AS DOVE OF ONENESS AND V.K. DURHAM—WITH INTERVIEWS BACK TO MARTIN, IRWIN, BILGER, YOUNG AND YOU NAME IT.

Those writings which are e-mailed from Manila for the purpose of getting to the paper or communication with the "home base" and to simply TRY and give our friends a bit of update, are not yet edited, friends, and I don't think any of you in the loop even consider the consequences of such careless forwarding on with scatter-bombing of those writings.

Now we have some even asking their own mailing receivers if they wish to be "removed" from that scatter list. There should never have been anyone on the list who did not commit to NOT passing on anything. These things should not even be available except for the PAPER and those come out in press as quickly as possible. Therefore all other writings are personal and private. We have learned to never write anything we wouldn't want the entire world to know but it is not right nor even appropriate where a paper is involved.

Yes, I know what most of you want to learn and that is about Earth changes and possibilities and that which might fit with other presentations or even those we gave forth in years long past.

At present, however, that is NOT our focus nor does the scattering help in more subscriptions, for the information is scattered and debated while we are bombarded back in Manila in a most PERSONAL way.

I already have back in our laps those wanting MORE information and should they be packing and getting ready to move, etc. Most comes from the U.S. and without any attention whatsoever to even the referenced layout of expected dry land after the worst of Earth shifts. Everybody wants to now go to New Zealand. Why? GET A MAP IF NECESSARY. There is so much land that will be available through the Native American Sovereign "rights" "nations" as to astound anyone with a thinking mind. But few help us in the avenues of possibilities—but rather wait to get the scoop to then plan to “serve” in friendship and great wealth and comfort wherever we might choose to settle—just like what happened on a minor scale in Tehachapi, California. That very shifting and stated, incorrectly, assumption of some group gathering place is WRONG, readers. We have no cult, no church, no groupie, no commune and nothing but hard work trying to scratch out a living under the worst of circumstances.

Even our most confidential inner-partners gave our work away on disks, in fact, ready to print or download or take off the Internet at the push of a button—years of work and that remains a fact. And who did that? Well, the little groupie now an Ed Young cult of followers of whatever he is presenting today set up the Internet site with Four Winds Bellringer—and Dr. Overholt forwarded the disks of EVERY WRITING we did to that party along with full copy of each and all CONTACT newspapers.

And then what? Well, immediately when the funds dried up it was claimed that the very scribe from which the information was literally stolen, somehow mismanaged and took for herself abundance and wealth. This is not sitting well today, as this same person does NOT want to sit to this computer and repaint the targets across her back.

That site is now referred to as an “Archiving” site. BS, that is to cover backsides and it doesn’t “fly”.

Now our next bunch of friends and partners do their unrealized sharing which goes INSTANTLY to the camp of our “self-declared” ENEMIES.

The response of ones who just are not “thinking” is exactly that: “I wasn’t thinking....” Is not the world in such a state today because people “just weren’t thinking” and trusted everyone who gets on the mailing list?

IT IS NOW MONDAY MORNING, THE 20TH OF MAY, 2002.

I have to excuse Dharma, for the last paragraph above was the “straw” and the camel fell and the fingers stopped.

The world is pending our task success HERE IN MANILA and we can’t seem to get beyond this directly impacting thrust and parry.

She knew where we were headed in this writing and finally just refused to retype that which is simply stolen, thieved and rerun while we actually have none of even our own references.

Therefore, I ask that E.J. pull up, if possible—or give Mark proper references for same and simply put to press “PEOPLE OF THE LIE: FLUKE DISEASE” as presented under the “byline” of Patrick H. Bellringer—while thanking him for the work saved. [www.fourwinds10.com]

I again urge you to call ARTEMIS, readers, and see how you can get your products. SPECTRUM came forth, as well, immediately after the split with their own source of the products through a “Mayan Shaman” long since departed their ranks after coming all the way “north” to “get the Ekkers”.

I will remind you that you are only half-treating self for possible parasites if you fail to mend cells with Drias in the form of Gaiandriana, for the parasites do two things: Damage DNA strands and cause cellular mutation AND, the parasites themselves carry, each and every one, bacteria within themselves and within the bacteria are carried viruses. So be it, this is not a medical treatment program of some kind nor a medical lecture—it is scientific FACT—WATCH YOUR TELEVISION PROGRAMS ON THE TOPIC.

I also wish to give Dr. Clark full appreciation and I want ALL OF YOU READERS to remember something: DR. CLARK WAS ARRESTED AND JAILED BECAUSE OF HER WORK AND BOOKS. SHE HAD THE ARROGANCE TO ACTUALLY USE “CURE” IN THE TITLES OF HER BOOKS.

OUR FULL DISCLAIMER IS THAT “WE CURE NOTHING”. WE RECOMMEND AND ENDORSE BUNCHES OF WATER A DAY—BUT CERTAINLY WE DO NOT EVEN DECLARE IT WILL “CURE” EVEN DEHYDRATION.

SO WHY DID DIANE TAKE A PLEA IN HER CIRCUMSTANCE WHEN THERE WAS NO CASE AND NO CHARGES?

BECAUSE HER (OUR) ATTORNEY SAID HE WOULDN’T REPRESENT HER PAST THE BARGAIN SIGNING AND ADVISED HER TO SIGN BECAUSE HE HAD GOTTEN IT REDUCED TO A MISDEMEANOR FROM A FELONY (STILL WITHOUT CHARGES OR INDICTMENT). AND, FRANKLY, A COUPLE OF OUR FRIENDS WHO HAD OR HAVE ONGOING BRUSHES WITH THE LEGAL INJUSTICE SYSTEM ADVISED THAT THEY WOULD HAVE TAKEN SUCH AN OFFER IN THEIR OWN CASES JUST TO AVOID THE YANK INTO THE CELLBLOCK AS THE ALTERNATIVE.

RODNEY STICH, a well known author has just experienced a nightmare (ongoing) where he not only has a $4 million default judgment against him from an Eastern State but is REFUSED ability to even file an appeal under the law to object—and that judgment is slopped over into California (across the nation) and into the California COURT where he is also refused, under the LAW, to likewise file an appeal or have hearing of any kind. YOU HAVE COME A LONG WAY, PEOPLE, AND NO, MY PEOPLE ARE NO LONGER WILLING TO DO IT FOR ANYONE! And yes, we will take up the Stich terror-tale if and when we secure our program. Everyone needs HELP, readers, and we CAN’T until we get this program WORKING.

Please, you back home, keep the program “there” (paper, farm—so that we don’t lose our reserves, etc.) and allow us to continue to function here another few weeks and we can start turning our attention over to these incidents and individuals—at least into some kind of assistance for survival (literally) benefit.

No, it will not be some “welfare” program; it will be a basic “loan” offer for immediate “relief” for living expenses and necessary care—and yes, indeed, we will expect input to our PAPER and where they can donate (contribute) their work for publication outside the “shut-down” loop of those “stoppers” of everything good and worthy.

V.K. taunts that somehow Ekkers are too afraid to come home from the Philippines for fear of the awaiting arrests pending. Come now, readers, who would possibly turn in a brother doing his best to serve YOU and brethren?

Dr. Young has touted the same tale in his own press and also in the Mindanao, Philippines press about this pending Grand Jury indictment and arrest potential. Well, there IS NO CASE so what have we, readers? And, moreover, why should Ekkers come sort it out for anyone? Everything they had was STOLEN, including CONTACT, in which they did not even have banking rights. BUT, glory-be, they had the controlling positions in THAT corporation.

Is it important? Not very because we can change anything we find appropriate BUT, we intend to see to Russell Herman’s bequeath in exchange for these services with his program and assignment—the bequeath he had acknowledged to CONTACT, the paper. And FROM THOSE RESOURCES, we can support a lot of very precious writers and other truth-bringing publications. If the bequeath is insufficient, then we will simply have to find other resources to assist as we move along.

After fourteen years of writing and recording, Doris Ekker has yet to receive one cent of remuneration for ANY of her work—now or before. Perhaps we could put her on some kind of retirement program to allow Ekkers to go to the dentist, get a checkup, get glasses and possibly get a Christmas gift for a grandchild?

E.J. will want to remove that paragraph. NO! These are PEOPLE, readers, and the cup runs over with appreciation and gratitude—but also with bilge from a very nasty world and NO, I DO NOT CLEAN IT UP FOR THEM OR MAKE IT ONE IOTA EASIER. WE HAVE TO ACHIEVE EXACTLY AS IS, OR, WE DON’T—IT IS A PHYSICALLY-HUMAN NECESSITY. And people: GOD OWES YOU NOTHING! CREATOR ALLOWS!

Please insert the parasite article here and close this writing.

PEOPLE OF THE LIE: FLUKE DISEASE

By Patrick H. Bellringer, 5/2/02

There is a cure and a prevention for every disease present today on Planet Earth Shan. The darkside has kept this Truth well hidden for centuries, but today, a few brave Truthbringers are revealing the medical lies and presenting the cures and preventative means for many common diseases. One such Truthbringer is Dr. Hulda Regehr Clark, who holds the Bachelor and Master of Arts degrees in biology from the University of Saskatchewan, Canada, and a Doctorate degree in physiology from the University of Minnesota. Her research has resulted in the writing of four books as follows:

- 1) The Cure For All Cancers
- 2) The Cure For All Diseases
- 3) The Cure For HIV And AIDS
- 4) The Cure For All Advanced Cancers

I present only a brief introduction to Dr. Clark’s work, and her two treatments for fluke disease.

The flatworm or fluke (Fasciolopsis buskii) has a natural life cycle of six stages. The adult stage is the only stage that “normally” lives in the human, and then only in the intestine. This fluke usually depends on a snail as a secondary host for part of its life cycle.

In the last 100 years the human diet and lifestyle has changed substantially, so that the solvents now present in the human diet or absorbed through the skin or lungs, etc. allow the fluke to develop the other five stages within the human body. It is now rare for a human not to provide the complete environment for all six stages of the life cycle of the fluke. The adult stage exists in the human intestine, and depending upon the solvents present in the human body, the secondary (snail) host is provided by any one of several human organs. The resultant breakdown by flukes of various human organs is the primary cause of various diseases prevalent in humans today. Such diseases include cancers, HIV, Hodgkin's disease, M.S., Alzheimer's, and diabetes. When any of the first five stages of the fluke life cycle (the adult fluke is stage six) are able to develop in a human, Dr. Clark refers to this problem as Fluke disease.

If the solvent propyl alcohol is present in the human body, the intestinal fluke is invited to use another organ as a secondary host. This organ then becomes cancerous. If the solvent benzene is present, the intestinal fluke uses the thymus gland as a secondary host, setting the stage for AIDS. If the solvent wood alcohol is present, the intestinal fluke uses the pancreas as a secondary host. This leads to the pancreatic dysfunction known as diabetes. If the solvents xylene/toluene are present, the human brain becomes the secondary host. The result of fluke disease in the brain produces deterioration of the nervous system and disorders such as Alzheimer's disease and multiple sclerosis (M.S.).

Fluke disease in the kidneys produces lupus or Hodgkin's disease. If methylethyl ketone (MEK) or methyl butylketone (MBK) are the solvents present, the uterus becomes a secondary host and the likely result will be endometriosis. Fluke disease of the muscles causes dystrophies (muscular dystrophy). Other health problems such as HIV infection, Crohn's disease and Kaposi's are also caused by Fluke disease.

To rid the body of the fluke parasite is the first step in curing Fluke disease and all its life-threatening side-effects. Dr. Clark presents two methods of fluke removal from the human body.

The first method uses electrical current from a five to ten volt frequency generator. Simple instructions for the building and use of an inexpensive ($25-$50.) frequency generator are found in both of Dr. Clark's books, The Cure for All Cancers and The Cure For All Diseases. One may also purchase a frequency generator (zapper) through the Internet at <http://www.drhuldaclark.com> or <http://www.raydionics.com>. Using this device for three-seven minute sessions separated by 20 minute intervals will kill nearly all parasites, bacteria, viruses, and mites, etc. found within the human body. Zapping three times a day for a week can often deplete these populations within the body to zero. Dr. Clark's intent is to enable one to diagnose and treat oneself for any disease.

The second method of fluke removal from the body is also discussed in both books noted above. This method uses four herbs in a 7-14 day parasitic cleanse. The herbs are black walnut, cloves and wormwood, and psyllium for an intestinal sweep. These can be purchased at any herb or health food store. The following chart is included as a simple guide in using this parasite cleanse.

PARASITE CLEANSE CHART FOR ADULTS:

Using tincture rather than capsules.

By Patrick H. Bellringer

Take cleanse on an empty stomach: Mix in ½ to ¾ cup of water, apple juice, cider or other juice as desired. Take cleanse daily for two weeks and follow exactly according to the following chart.

liquid after cooling and settling for 24 hours.

The removal of body parasites, harmful bacteria, viruses, mites, etc. from the body is not the total answer to good health. One must make a change in life-style by changing eating habits and other behaviors to reduce or even prevent re-infestation of these organisms. One must also take steps to assist the body to repair the organ damage already caused by these organisms.

Cancer victims today face a formidable foe, the American Medical Association (AMA) and their trained

The following information maybe helpful in obtaining and preparing the four products needed for this parasite cleanse, if you prefer not to purchase these products in capsule form.

Black walnut tincture—2-ounce bottle with dropper can be purchased and used with no alteration ($20.00)

Psyllium (ground psyllium seed husk or hull)—1 pound. Can be purchased and used without alteration ($10.00)

Cloves tincture—2 cups. Purchase 2 ounces of ground cloves ($2.00) and make the tincture (water solution) by boiling/steeping the 2 ounces of cloves in four cups of water for fifteen minutes. Drain off the liquid after cooling and settling for 24 hours.

Wormwood tincture—one cup. Purchase two-ounce bottle of wormwood tincture ($20.00). Dilute with one and one-half cups of water. Wormwood tincture can be made cheaply by steeping one ounce of ground wormwood in 4 cups of water for 20 minutes. Drain off “professionals”. The cancer patient is subjected to “the knife” to remove the problem, to radiation and chemotherapy to zap and/or chemicalize the problem with the end result in most cases of poorer health, poverty, and often death. When people choose to allow doctors to treat the effects of cancer, diabetes, AIDS, etc. rather than the cause, there can be no return to good health. In Phoenix Journal #42 entitled Unholy Alliance, Hatonn refers to our modern day hospitals as “Temples of doom”. We are dying from bacterial, viral and parasitic infestation, intentional malnutrition and a host of harmful medical practices.

May you awaken to your own potential of healing yourself. Learn to treat the sources of your problems rather than searching for a “cure” for their side effects. Using those things in creation that our Creator provided for you, combined with proven holistic health practices, may you create your own good health!

I do ask, Dharma, that you tarry with me here because I want to repeat a writing of 1986-87 regarding some Earth changes as relative mostly to the U.S.A. but gaining in attention RIGHT NOW as we share some of the other speculations and maps of expected changes. These are not spiritual mysticisms, readers; THEY ARE EXPECTED EARTH CHANGES WHICH, ONCE UNDER WAY, WILL MOVE RAPIDLY. AND YES, WE DO KNOW THAT YOU CRY OUT FOR THESE WARNINGS—BUT WE CANNOT STOP OUR OWN MISSION TO DWELL ON REPEATING OF THESE EXPECTATIONS. AND NO, I WILL NOT GIVE YOU OTHER GUIDES AS TO IDENTIFICATION FOR AUTHENTICITY—FOR “THAT” IS YOUR OWN RESPONSIBILITY.

I also must remind all of you enthusiastic followers of that NESARA program (law) that no matter what you are told by Dove of Oneness, Bellringer or anyone else involved in the program and who have gathered supporters unto themselves as a membership group—THERE IS NOT YET EVEN A “SPONSOR” IN CONGRESS FOR SUCH A “BILL” AND, THEREFORE, YOU CAN PERHAPS BE YOUR OWN GUIDE AS TO WHERE THAT PROGRAM MIGHT BE AS TO STATUS.

I have no involvement whatsoever but people keep asking us as to what is taking place. V.K. claims, without even being asked by us, that she has no affiliation with said program. Our people did not and frankly, do not, know what the program actually offers nor are they familiar with the bill which seeks sponsorship—BUT, A FREE-FOR-NOTHING RIDE IS NOT APT TO HAPPEN, FOR THERE IS NO BACKING EXCEPT FEDERAL RESERVE NOTES AND DEBT FOR EVEN THE MOST IDEALISTIC PROGRAM. THAT WILL FOLD WITH THE FRNs, FOR THERE IS NOTHING BACKING THE FEDERAL RESERVE CURRENCY.

By the way, do not be misled by the show of umpteen thousand tonnes of gold in the Federal Reserve Bank in New York to the point that there is no room to store more and it is simply now dumped off carts into piles—etc., etc. THAT is a lie, readers, and moreover, whatever is THERE has liens up the gazoo.

I suggest you keep your heads even if everyone around is losing theirs! Soon you will find that you are NOT alone.

SIPAPU ODYSSEY

Hatonn—This little story was written by, indeed, Doris Ekker under the pen-name Dorushka Maerd in January of 1987. Later in about 1993 George Green tried to copyright the story for himself and made a public mailing stating that very fact. No, it was the only copyrighted “Journal” and had been immediately registered as a “screenplay” for protection under the laws of proprietary interest. It was then, after efforts at stealing the property, copyrighted as a Journal.

There are so many stories of interest about this very story and book as to stun most of you who came lately to our game in motion.

It would be fun to serialize the story and perhaps Mark might wish to do so [MM: CONTACT: 1/3/00, page 8; 1/10/00, page 5] but I want you people to understand, NOW, that there are such things as proprietary interests and unfortunately there are valid reasons for security of information and identification causes to register names, property, etc.

Doris and those around her or those receiving early copies of the story itself KNEW it was a gifted work which pulled together motion picture producers, actors, academy-award-winning special effects masters, spiritual TRUTH, and astounding realizations from even the most gifted “receivers” of the day and within the Native American councils.

It is because of the immediate desire for more input as to what might be expected that we will share that “revelation” for your interest now, again, in this writing. Where ARE you going to go and what ARE you going to do and just what is expected for you when you realize that RAPTURES are not a valid physical part of your realization as presented by the manipulators?

Well, GOD “does” have a plan even for you weary travelers and so be it, friends, for the day quickens to that probable need.

You can get a copy of this book listed as Journal #1 for $3.00 and it is a good read as it is the basic story of that which would have been and shall be a motion picture as we recover from the untimely death of several of the developers of same.

People can pull away from us and claim us to be dark and evil-tainted—it DOES NOT MAKE IT SO. And you who move with the distractors who literally steal the very claim to energy forms as if God would dump his servants, are certainly ill-advised. But that is not our topic for today.

Doris (Dharma) claims no psychic ability and yet we have caused her to see flooding, famine and total devastation wherein she is totally devastated in the actual repeating of the visions.

The visions have matched word for word that given to others and perhaps that is the most convincing confirmation of all things—in the company of those gifted in the “ancient” brotherhood called “oral tradition” keepers of the Truth.

I give no background or identification of the named parties herein, for that is not my focus—but you will have no need to have more for this purpose today.

FUTURE REVELATIONS

John, too, was accompanied by projected visual holograms which made an individual have the feeling of actual participation within the scene itself. As he spoke, appropriate visualizations moved with his verbal illusions.

He said he would simply be giving a description of things as directly handed down to him, without personal comment. He then launched into his teachings:

“And it is said there shall be winds, and there shall be, in the time when it is winter; and the trees shall bow down their boughs, and the winds shall sting with the cold; and there shall be great suffering among the people and they shall fall down and cry for mercy.

“And there shall be a mighty earthquake and it shall split in twain the country of North America, and it shall be as nothing the world has known before, for it shall be that there shall be a great part of the great land of the north continent to down and a great sea shall form within her center part from the Dominion of Canada into the Gulf of Mexico.”

[H: Here I interrupt because I wish to remind you that this writing of this book was as a “treatment” which should have been less than ten pages but nobody working with it could get it shortened. Therefore, we did not take up other topics or locations. Dharma had no input to ANY OF IT from others or otherwise. I encourage you to get maps as presented by Mr. Scallion [MM: <http://www.matrixinstitute.com>] to open your eyes more fully (Possibly?). There was NO CONNECTION NOR RECOGNITION OF ONE, SCALLION, QUITE FRANKLY, FOR YEARS AFTER THIS WRITING. THIS IS FOR YOU WHO NEED YOUR CONFIRMATION THE SOLID WAY.]

“And there shall be ocean liners, liners which shall travel within its waters which will be propelled by solar energy of the next age. But with this, they shall be unable to travel east to west or from west to east, through what is now the Atlantic Ocean, for it shall have a mountain range which has been thrown up from the bottom of the Atlantic; and it shall be extended into the air to the altitude of ten thousand feet and it shall be the City of old, for it was the Light of the world. She went down amid a great shock and a great wave; and it shall be that she shall come up the same way as she went down.

“And the west side shall be as the sheer side of granite, and it shall be without foothold; and the way shall be as the eagle flies from the place which is Upper Virginia three hundred miles due east; and at this point it shall be one thousand and eight hundred feet from the waters; and not an entrance through the land shall there be to the east, for it is not for them which are to be the remnants, to communicate by water; for it shall be with a new science, and a new method shall be given unto them. For there is not a place which is that shall remain the same in its present state.

“And not a person shall be left which is not prepared for that which shall be. And there are many called but few are chosen: For there are none which have been chosen which have not been carefully prepared; and they have been unto themselves true, and they have given credit where credit is due. And now it is given unto them to be the seed of the new Civilization which shall come upon the Earth.

“And within the time which is left before this shall come upon the Earth, it shall be that many will be called: And they shall doubt; and they shall fear; and they shall faint; and they shall fall by the way; and they shall be in no wise wise, for it is given unto man to fear that which he does not understand—and for that does he wait.

“And it is said there shall be winds, and there shall be the winds, and they shall be as none the Earth has known; and they shall be as the winds from the sea and from the land all rolled into one great tempest. And they shall be as the winds of the North and the South and East and the West, and they shall tear that which is in their path and they shall be as the reaper who mows down that which is in his path. And they shall sing with the bitterness of the cold. And they shall be as the elements of the Earth, for they shall contain both rain and wind; and the hail shall be as big as bird eggs, and it shall split that which it hits.

“And it shall be that the suffering shall be great upon the Earth, for it is given unto many to know suffering. And he has not known such suffering before, and when it is come upon him, he shall fall down and shall cry for mercy.

“And it shall be that the winds too shall be great upon the Earth—they shall blow east, west, north and south and not a place shall there be upon the Earth which shall escape the winds which bloweth; and when this tribulation has come upon the Earth, it shall be that there shall be many who have kept within the law.

“And with the coming of the winds and belching of fire from within the Earth there shall be—MORE!”

John continued by telling of how things would be. He said that no one would be responsible for the words of another nor would any man take upon himself that which would be done by another. Each entity would be responsible for his own. He said man had lost his identity with the Father God which had sent him and that if he would not awaken and return to the Father he would surely perish.

John spoke on for a very long time giving illustration after illustration. He concluded by saying it was time to talk more about the present.

PRESENT REVELATIONS

John explained that there were many Space Brothers here to assist us through the transition and time of tribulation; they could help us, but they could do no more. They would be allowed to help only as requested by Earthlings with one exception and this was stressed emphatically: “YOU MAY NOT TAKE YOUR WEAPONS OF DESTRUCTION INTO SPACE. BEYOND TWO-HUNDRED-FIFTY MILES BEYOND YOUR SURFACE, YOU WILL BE STOPPED! NEITHER WILL YOU BE ALLOWED TO CREATE THE ULTIMATE NUCLEAR DESTRUCTION OF THE TOTALITY OF THE PLANET ITSELF; THE IMPACT TO THE UNIVERSE WOULD BE TOO DEVASTATING AND THE BROTHERS WOULD BE GIVEN PERMISSION TO PREVENT SUCH AN OCCURRENCE.” He then turned and invited Yeorgos [H: Yes indeedy, old Gyeorgos Ceres Hatonn—before Doris ever even heard of a “Hatonn” or for that matter, an “Aton”.] to take the platform. He said Yeorgos would present the teachings from the aspect of Space Brothers and the Interplanetary Councils.

Yeorgos was also accompanied by the picture projections as were appropriate to emphasize points.

He said the brothers were prepared to work closely with Earthlings at such time as they were accepted and asked to participate. He said their technology is of such magnitude that Earth man would be unable to comprehend the power. He was assuring Earthlings, however, that even though they could destroy us or make slaves of us, etc., they came in love and co-existence within the Cosmos. They would not presume to do anything other than as requested with the one exception as told by John.

He emphasized that during the upcoming period, until Earth moves into her new cycle, she would be belching forth increased disturbances upon her surface. As plates shift beneath the oceans’ floor there would be increased tidal wave activity. The resulting shifts would bring about disturbances of those thought of as “sleeping” volcanoes. Those would begin to rumble and spew forth molten lava and would come quickly and with minimal warning. This would increase as the climactic conditions were altered. There would be increased swelling of streams. Riverbeds would enlarge and they would not recede to their preexistent condition. There would be peninsulas and small isthmuses that were going to vanish most abruptly and quickly.

The geophysical face of the Earth would begin its alteration during this period. Those areas where oceans’ waters have crept in most gradually and quietly would be accelerated, and indeed, sleeping valleys would be filled overnight. And man on Earth would look about and wonder what is happening.

Yeorgos continued: “Because of the decrease in the ozone layer about Earth there is an increased heat that is coming from the Central Sun. This is bringing about resultant melting of your polar caps, again with resultant climactic changes.

“Man of Earth shall quickly come to recognize that Earth is revolting against the treatment that she has received. This shall be a warning, a preview of what is in store for man if he does not immediately alter his ways.

“At this time the vibratory pattern of Earth itself is such that no alteration of her course is anticipated; she has been released from her role as a buffer, and she now BEGINS HER OWN CLEANSING! Man will now be accountable for his own cleansing.

“Earth is entering a phase of two seasons: summer and winter, with extreme temperatures in each. Fall and Spring will cease to be recognized. Man should lay up stores and provisions, for seasons shall not be as kind to Earth as man has known in the past. Man’s time of great bounty and food abundance will greatly be altered. Space brothers stand ready, however, to render help and instructions in that area. Food substances which will suffice for survival will be given to appropriate ones on the planet, and properly prepared, will be quite palatable.

“Man must learn to share freely in order to survive. There will be great shortages in food supplies and also proclaimed shortages in your fossil fuels as they are hoarded and usurped for reasons of greed. You will find yourselves without transportation because there will be no fuel to run your machinery. You will need the substitute foods to feed yourselves.

“There will be great energy shortages, electricity will become unavailable for many reasons, therefore, you must learn to minimize your needs. You must begin to rely on those elemental winds and patterns that will bring you those energies that you need. You must make your dwelling places strong, sturdy and well insulated so that they will serve you well. We will show you methods of using compressed earth which will replace wood and other things as primary structural material.

“We are prepared to teach you methods of health care which will allow you to remain active and energized during this period of time. There will be widespread death from diseases which are currently incurable by your present medical methods.

“You must expect gigantic changes within your government structures as your present monetary systems become chaotic. There will be no money for taxes and without taxes there will be a rapid withdrawal of politicians and the chain of events will cause the governmental structure, as it now operates, to fail. There must be those available to fill the void and rebuild with a new and different type of system which brings harmony to the peoples of all Earth nations.”

Yeorgos continued for a long period of time along the same lines of subject matter and then began to make his concluding remarks. He said he wanted to frighten no one and certainly all panic must be avoided. He said he would, however, speak of the ultimate evacuation process, should that become a necessity. He spoke: “We have come to fulfill the destiny of this planet, which is to experience a short period of ‘cleansing’ and then to usher in a new and golden age of Light. I will henceforth refer to that period as the time of Radiance.

“As mentioned before, the souls of Light are you people of Earth who have lived according to the universal truths and who recognize GOD as the SOURCE OF ALL THAT IS GOOD; THE SOURCE OF ‘ALL THINGS’. The short period of cleansing is IMMINENT—EVEN THE MIDNIGHT HOUR! But, we have been informed of this and have made preparations for that event. I will explain how it will be so that it will relieve any anxieties amongst those present.

“We of space have millions of space ships stationed in the skies above your planet ready to instantly lift you off at the first warning of your planet’s beginning to tilt on its axis. When this happens, we have only a VERY SHORT PERIOD OF TIME in which to lift you from the surface before great tidal waves will lash your coastline—possibly five miles or more high! They will cover much of your land masses!

“These tidal waves will unleash great earthquakes and volcanic eruptions and cause your continents to split and sink in places and cause others to rise.

“We are VERY EXPERIENCED in the evacuation of populations of planets! This is nothing new for the galactic fleet! We expect to complete the evacuation on Earth of the Souls of Light in fifteen minutes—even though they are of a tremendous number.

“We shall rescue the Souls of Light first. On our great galactic computers we have stored every thought, every act you have done in this and previous lifetimes. At the first indication of need to evacuate, our computers will lock onto the location of the Souls of Light where they are at that instant!

“After the Souls of Light have been evacuated, then the CHILDREN will be lifted off. The children are not old enough to be accountable, so they will be evacuated to special ships to be cared for until they can be reunited with their parents. There will be people specially trained to handle their trauma. Many may be put to sleep temporarily to help them overcome their fear and anxiety. Our computers are so sophisticated—far beyond anything on Earth in this age—and can locate mothers and fathers of children wherever they are and notify them of their safety. MAKE NO MISTAKE—YOUR CHILDREN SHALL BE LIFTED TO SAFETY DURING THE EVACUATION!

“After the evacuation of the children, the invitation will be extended to all remaining souls on the planet to join us. However, this will be for only a very short time—perhaps only fifteen minutes. There is no question of having enough space on board the ships for you, but because the atmosphere by this time will be full of fire, flying debris, poisonous smoke, and because the magnetic field of your planet will be disturbed, we will have to leave your atmosphere very quickly or we, also, with our spacecraft, would perish.

“Therefore, he who steps into our levitation beams first will be lifted first. Any hesitation on your part would mean the end of your third-dimensional existence you call the physical body.

“Which brings us to the most serious and difficult part of the evacuation: As mentioned earlier, Souls of Light have a higher vibration frequency than those who are more closely ‘tied’ to the Earth and its ways.

“Since our levitation beams which will be lifting you off the surface of this planet are very close to the same thing as your electrical charges, those of low vibrational frequency may not be able to withstand the high frequency of the levitation beams without departing their third-dimensional bodies. If this happens, then your soul will be released to join our God, the Father. ‘In His house are many mansions.’

“If you do not decide to step into the levitational beams to be lifted up, you might be one of the few who survive the ‘cleansing’ of the planet for the NEW GOLDEN AGE. However, during this period of cleansing, there will be great changes in climate, changes in land masses, as the poles of the planet may have a new orientation. This alone will create untold hardship for the survivors who may still not make it to the time of Radiance.

“The most important point for you to member is this: Any show of fear lowers your frequency of vibration, thus making you less compatible with our levitation beams!! Therefore: Above all else, REMAIN CALM. DO NOT PANIC. Know that you are in expert hands, hands which have extensive experience in evacuation of entire planets! WE CANNOT OVEREMPHASIZE THIS: REMAIN CALM! RELAX! DO NOT PANIC WHEN YOU STEP INTO OUR LEVITATION BEAMS. ABOVE ALL ELSE, MAINTAIN YOUR FAITH!

“What is to happen to you if you survive the lift off? First you will be taxied to our ‘mother ships’ anchored high above the planet where you will be taken care of during your great trauma. Some of you may need medical attention. Our expert medical staff will be there to treat you with our highly advanced medical equipment. You will be fed and housed until such time as transfer elsewhere is advisable.

“Some of you will be taken to cities on other planets to be trained in our advanced technology before being returned to the planet Earth to start the time of Radiance.

“Your beautiful planet Earth is destined to be the most beautiful star in the universe. A planet of Light! Here, you will rejoin the remainder of the Universe in brotherly love and fellowship with God the Father.

“People of Earth: We love you!! Do not scoff at these words. As surely as the Sun shines from the east to the west, so shall these things shortly come to pass!

“The cataclysms will begin WITHOUT WARNING! Everything will happen so fast, you will not have time to think! Think on these things NOW!

“Think; picture yourself standing with all the havoc around you, people screaming and running; others on their knees praying; automobiles crashing; glass breaking; buildings falling; ground shaking and gaping with huge cracks; debris falling all around you! THINK NOW!! WHAT SHALL I DO?? ANSWER: REMAIN CALM AND WITHOUT FEAR. MAINTAIN AN INNER PEACE OF MIND AND STEP INTO THE LEVITATION BEAMS WHICH WILL FLOW FROM THE UNDERNEATH CENTER OF OUR SPACE CRAFT.

“As you are informed now as to what to do, spread the word to everyone you know. Be faithful to God! The time is very short! Perhaps we shall no longer be able to restrain the tilt of the Earth’s axis, as we have been able to do with our energy beams and transmitters for the past several years.

“There is still a chance—a SLIGHT chance, that this great upheaval can be avoided. However, it will take extreme cooperation from you people of Earth—cooperation unlike you have never exhibited before in this age.

“1. Avoid giving off negative energy through your distrust, greed, hatred and begin to help each other. By helping each other, you give off positive vibrations (energy). LOVE GOD! The positive energy in large mass will neutralize the weight of negative energy which has built up around the pole of your planet—this could keep it from tilting if enough positive energy is received in time. Your planet is a living organism. Send mental positive energy by thanking the Earth for all its bountifulness you have received.

“2. By whatever peaceful means at your disposal put sufficient pressure on your governments to permit us to land our spaceships on your planet and meet with your leaders and offer them our assistance and technology. WE WILL NOT DO THIS UNTIL WE ARE ASSURED WE WILL NOT BE TREATED WITH HOSTILITY OR BE INCARCERATED. With the cooperation of your world governments, we can greatly help you in more orderly evacuation of your planet, if indeed it still becomes necessary—which it may! If it does not, then we can work together in the sharing of technology and live in brotherhood.

“WE HOPE YOU WILL TAKE THESE WORDS ON FAITH, BUT IF NOT, DO RESEARCH AND PROVE THEM TO BE TRUE FOR YOURSELVES. MEDITATE DAILY AND YOU WILL FIND AND KNOW THE TRUTH. PEACE BE WITH YOU.”

At the conclusion of Yeorgos’ program segment, Spotted Eagle again took center stage to make closing remarks and leave his special blessings with the group...

[Now to page 84, please, continue QUOTING:]

MOTHER EARTH AND THE ANCIENTS

Spotted Eagle [H: This is the infamous Little Crow aka as The White Eagle and sometimes even the Red Eagle—in Lakota language of course.] rose and greeted GOD after which he turned to the crowd and began to unfold his message:

“Standing atop Bear Butte my eyes gazed out over the lands far below my vantage point. The wind blew in from the North and all about me everything was in movement, along with my spirit. It was a very special time for me—for this was the time of my seventh vision quest. It had been a long and lonely journey this time for my spirit and me, for the pathway lay hidden, covered over by the tailings of all those who came this way in more recent times. But so few are aware of the proper reasons. The grandfathers sang on this night and the thunder of their drums rumbled across the darkened skies eventually fading away far off into the distant universe. Suddenly I was lifted—”

THE BEGINNING: “It sounds like the start of a wonderful story. A story about America’s favorite pastime—American Indians. And in particular, it sets the scene for what so many feel to be the ultimate experience—a vision quest—which somehow will bring knowledge.

“A vision quest, a magnet for those digging into the Indian world. The unexplained need of these searchers to experience this mystic act or at best, know all that there is to know about this ancient ritual. As if knowing about this ‘thing’ will somehow change their lives and bring magical powers and much needed knowledge to their beings.

“But as you know, the vision quest is only one of the seven sacred rites of the Lakota People. There are other rites that go to make us a whole and complete People, but that is for another time. What we are to talk about now is what came in the vision quest for one human being, and how that vision can now be shared with all people.

“I am Little Crow, a Dakota/Lakota, born in the year 1933, making this birth the 198,000th incarnation of my spirit. Returning to this Earth plane only to share an infinite message with all life forms at the proper time. Permission to do so came during the early morning hours of January 5, 1987. To set the stage for this event there were twenty-two strikes of lightning ending at exactly 2:22 a.m. In this life my spiritual number is a twenty-two (22). And away we go!”

THE SHARING: “I share with you now the following information as it has been given to me to ‘only remember’ over these many lifetimes. I do not feel the need to support any of this information with any other written data or readings. For the source of this information is the same for everyone. This source as we shall refer to it has ALWAYS BEEN AND WILL ALWAYS BE. WITH NO BEGINNING AND NO END. IT EXTENDS OUT BEYOND ITSELF AND COMES BACK TO FORM THE SACRED CIRCLE. INFINITY—!”

THE MESSAGE: “We are travelers from unimagined regions of the universe with homelands in many places. This planet and the surrounding ones are the most recent stopping-off places in this current vibrational form. Once more to act out the responsibilities of our selective realities, those being to accept who we are. No more! No less!

“Our ability to travel is determined by our faith and nothing more. For all of the progress we’ve made on this place, we are still only able to move the physical properties of our being. It is sometimes hard to imagine our first journey to this place, this Mother Earth. I have come from the seven-star system to this place, from Pleiades.”

GOD: “To the many peoples of this planet there has been offered hundreds of explanations of the who’s, what’s, where’s and the why’s of God. Different religions have fought countless battles over who’s truths should be accepted. Millions of souls have been forced into unnecessary vibrational changes in the name of God and conversions. Countries and lands have been stolen and destroyed in the name of God.

“Leaders (as they call themselves) have ranted and raved throughout our brief history on this planet, forcing into our human mindset a system of fear and guilt. This guilt being so strong that humans had to devise various ways of escape, all self-destructive and utterly confusing.

“Separation from the concept of God became the reality of the human being. Removal from center of the source of all things left mankind struggling and blinded by age-old analogies concerning God. Many came among the people pulling them in separate groups, turning them one against the other, using the written word to convince them of their superiority of one over the other. Darkness reigned and reigns yet!

“There are examples upon examples and we could go on forever, seeing, on the passing screen, all that has occurred and the effect that these things have had upon the entire and related universe. The answer has always been simple and within our grasp, if only we were willing to take responsibilities of our creative spirits.

“You are of God and God is of you! The existence of God is only possible by our own existence. The maximum power of God at any one time is only in direct ratio to the numbers who have accepted their responsibilities of living within this concept. There was no beginning and there is no end; WE (GOD) have been and will be forever. We as human kind will exist in this vibrational form only as long as it takes for us to realize our responsibilities and our ultimate powers.”

DIMENSIONS: “There are no dimensions where any one object, thing, act, person, religion, is better than any other. By this we mean that no one is more spiritual, more religious, more saved, less saved, more sinful, less sinful, than anyone else. No one thing is more or less inclined to receive any greater reward than any other thing.

“Dimensions have only been a creation of mankind, and a pretty screwed-up one at that. What it has done is to serve as a fuel for the fires of ignorance, hatred, greed, destruction, and all of those wonderful things which we as human beings continued to hold up for our children to emulate. This has forced them to run faster and faster, all in pursuit of golden idols, running from God instead of towards God.

“We are all from the same source; we are that source; we are the God we seek. How can we not see the simplicity of this fact? We seek outside of ourselves what is within.

“No one is better or worse—we are the same, only in other forms. The time has now come to remove all of the stupid man-made barriers to the pathways of acceptance and balance. There were no dimensions created by God—only those we have created against ourselves. WAKE UP, DUMMIES!”

RELATIONSHIPS: “We are related to each other and everything that ever has been or that will ever be. It is not only in the spiritual connection of which we speak, but it also refers to our physical connections as well.

“This is to say that each and everything that we do effects and affects our current vibrational forms. This, in simplest terms, means that we are RESPONSIBLE to everything else for each and everything that we think or do. This is surely similar to the overall responsibility that we mistakenly attempt to put upon the shoulders of the mythical man-made God that we have necessity in creating.

“Everything is your relative and your responsibility. That is all and nothing more! (By the way, there are no greater rewards for anyone who comes to these conclusions, only discomfort and fitful nights of restless sleep.) So put aside all of the self-indulging misconception that God created man to rule over anything or anyone. This has been one of the main stumbling blocks to our being able to remember just who and what we are. SO STOP PREACHING ‘DIVISION’ NONSENSE and let’s get on with the business at hand—our responsibilities as God—to the rest of our relatives.”

RESPONSIBILITIES: “We have brought the world and its relative, the entire universe, to the point of destruction: self-destruction! When the big bang goes down it won’t be because of the Russians, the Arabs, or anyone else. It will be because of our own selves. Nothing more and nothing less!!

“There are no outs and no scape-goats! There are no fall guys and no more ‘saviors’ to die for us. (Boy, how long have we kicked that one around?!) Now it is down to just us—you and me, folks. We did it and we have to clean it up, stop it, change it, or let it go as is. No one, and let me put this in Earth terms: ‘No one but no one is going to come down from anywhere and save our assets.’

“Our brothers and sisters from the far reaches of the universe have been watching us for some time now, and they are attempting to assist us in reaching some kind of balanced position from whence we can, at last, launch into some constructive and realistic efforts at resolvment. That is, if we let them do so. By now, we are so afraid of anything on our sophisticated but childish radar screens, that we’re ready to blow anything and everything out of the unfriendly skies. How dumb can we be? And, how long do we intend to stay that way?

“Their advancements have been totally a result of their acceptance of the God Self and its relationship to their own individual being. They are attempting to come among us and remind us of our responsibilities to the make-up of our total selves. We are the universe and we are about to self-destruct.

“They are not coming to preach to us in the manner or sense that we have been in the most recent past or present. This present “dimension” junk has done nothing but keep us blinded and confused as to our real purpose. It has served to turn us outward against all things that don’t act, think, look, or worship like we do. We have wasted so much time buried in all this nonsense that we have totally lost sight of our spiritual reality. Is it any wonder that our prayers are not heard—we are too busy praying for ourselves to even be able to respond. We become selfish, rude, and worst of all, doubtful of very beings. Is it any wonder that we haven’t been able to remember anything of importance?”

THE NOW: “It is time for all of us to come together in the reality of our beings and return the Earth to the condition in which we found it. I give no consideration as to just when you got here; it remains your responsibility just as much as it is mine.

“What were the plans we had for handling all of the toxics and other things that we have created in the name of progress? We are clogging the roads and skies so badly that we’re bumping into each other. Soon there will be no more room to fit even one more car, and yet, we continue to turn them out. Please don’t waste conversation on the economics of ‘everything’ argument—it doesn’t matter anymore. What does make a difference is our ability to get ourselves together and correct what we have done; we can if we want to! But, it will call for all of us to come together and work out this dilemma.

“All colors of beings must accomplish this—it is the responsibility of all colors of beings. All mindsets of beings must come together and work together and all of us must come together NOW!”

THE FUTURE: “It will be just what we make it, not what we allow someone else to make it for us. No one can do it for you or for me. We are the ones that have to make the future a reality—not just an empty statement.”

THE CONCLUSION: “There are no separations of beings; no one is going anywhere without the other. There are no better or worse beings, one to be shipped here and the other to go there; get it out of your head and get down to the task at hand.

“We come from the same place and to that place we shall, in time, return, but only after we have met our commitments and responsibilities—and not before; certainly not before anyone else because we’ve been a better Jew, Catholic, Christian, Pagan or anyone else that we care to utilize in an attempt to try and slide by.

“For the total time of our creation, we have always looked for the easy out—for someone to come and do it for us. This time it won’t work. It’s up to us—it is our problem and we have to resolve it. It doesn’t have a thing to do with how good you’ve been or how bad, but rather if you are capable of seeing the reality of God.

“We started together and together we will end—no one will finish before the other—so let’s get to work and re-educate, ourselves and our relatives.

“As the vision said, God will only exist when mankind accepts the fact that the spark within them is indeed the God-Self! I wish you well; maybe this time we can get it done. FOR ALL MY RELATIONS!”

OPEC CHIEF WARNED CHAVEZ ABOUT COUP

By Greg Palast, The Guardian—UK, 05/13/02

The Venezuelan president, Hugo Chavez, had advance warning of last month's coup attempt against him from the Secretary General of OPEC, Ali Rodriguez, allowing him to prepare an extraordinary plan which saved both his government and his life, an investigation has revealed.

Mr. Rodriguez, who is Venezuelan and a former leftwing guerrilla, telephoned Mr. Chavez from the Vienna headquarters of the Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries, of which Venezuela is an important member, several days before the attempted overthrow in April.

He said OPEC had learned that some Arab countries, later revealed to be Libya and Iraq, planned to call for a new oil embargo against the United States because of its support for Israel.

The OPEC chief warned Mr. Chavez that the U.S. would prod a long-simmering coup into action to break any embargo threat. It was likely to act on April 11, the day a general strike was due to start.

It was Venezuela which shattered the oil embargo of 1973 by replacing Arab oil with its own huge reserves.

The warning—revealed by a Newsnight investigation to be shown on BBC2 tonight—explains the swift and safe return of Mr. Chavez to power within two days of his April 12 capture by military officers under the direction of the coup leader, Pedro Carmona.

Until now, it was unclear why Mr. Carmona—who had declared himself president—and the military chiefs who backed the coup surrendered without firing a shot.

The answer to the mystery, Newsnight was told by a Chavez insider, is that several hundred pro-Chavez troops were hidden in secret corridors under Miraflores, the presidential palace.

Juan Barreto, a leader of Mr. Chavez's party in the national assembly, was with Mr. Chavez when he was under siege.

Mr. Barreto said that Jose Baduel, chief of the paratroop division loyal to Mr. Chavez, had waited until Mr. Carmona was inside Miraflores.

Mr. Baduel then phoned Mr. Carmona to tell him that, with troops virtually under his chair, he was as much a hostage as Mr. Chavez. He gave Mr. Carmona 24 hours to return Mr. Chavez alive.

Escape from Miraflores was impossible for Mr. Carmona. The building was surrounded by hundreds of thousands of pro-Chavez demonstrators who, alerted by a sympathetic foreign affairs minister, had marched on it from the Ranchos, the poorest barrios.

Mr. Chavez told Newsnight that, after receiving the warning from OPEC, he had hoped to stave off the coup entirely by issuing a statement to mollify the Bush administration. He pledged that Venezuela would neither join nor tolerate a renewed oil embargo.

But Mr. Chavez had already incurred America's wrath by slashing Venezuelan oil output and rebuilding OPEC, causing oil prices to nearly double to over $20 a barrel.

His opponents had made it clear that they would not abide by OPEC production limits and would reverse his plan to double the royalties charged to foreign oil companies in Venezuela, principally the U.S. petroleum giant Exxon-Mobil. The U.S. government's panic over the calls for an oil embargo, made public by Iraq and Libya on April 8 and 9, also explains what Venezuelans see as the state department's ill-concealed and clumsy support for the coup attempt.

Mr. Chavez told Newsnight: "I have written proof of the time of the entries and exits of two U.S. military officers into the headquarters of the coup plotters—their names, whom they met with, what they said—proof on video and on still photographs."

Last month the Guardian reported a former U.S. intelligence officer's claims that the U.S. had been considering a coup to overthrow the Venezuelan president for nearly a year.

[JR: The failed coup in Venezuela leads to the door of the White House, up the stairs and into the Oval Office where Bush and his oil buddies presumably made plans to expand the Bush dynasty's oil empire into Venezuela. It appears that Pres. Chavez has the proof and evidence and it looks like the U.S. was caught red handed in the plot to overthrow an elected President and his government. If we acquired evidence of such a plot made against the United States, (e.g. by Iraq) you can be sure we would go to war and ask questions later. Might this be one of the reasons why the U.S. refuses to become a member of the International Criminal Court? The ICC court presumes that democracies rarely commit genocide or crimes against humanity (HA!) and that troops may occasionally commit isolated war crimes but they would not be brought before the ICC. Since the U.S. is the world's super power and the law of Zionist Israel prevails, who is there left to judge us... certainly not the world or the ICC.]

U.S. PAYS PR GURU TO MAKE ITS POINTS

By Stephen J. Hedges, Washington Bureau, 05/12/02

WASHINGTON—When U.S. troops go into a war zone, John Rendon is rarely far behind.

He was in Panama in 1989 for the brief invasion that toppled strongman Manuel Noriega. He was in Kuwait when allied forces took it back from Saddam Hussein in 1991, making sure that citizens had little American flags to wave for the conquering troops and television cameras. He has worked in Haiti and in the Balkans, and is now fully engaged in the war against terrorism.

But John Rendon is not a military officer, government adviser, diplomat, spy or journalist. He is, to use his own words, "an information warrior and a perception manager".

Rendon makes images, manipulates scenes and manages news. He advises politicians and spreads propaganda.

Rendon and his public-relations firm, The Rendon Group, have many clients, but none bigger—or more loyal—than the U.S. government.

Shortly after the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks, the Pentagon gave Rendon a $100,000-a-month contract to track foreign news reports and offer advice on media strategy. Rendon also worked for the Defense Department in the Balkans, according to a Pentagon spokesman.

The State Department, Central Intelligence Agency and foreign governments also have turned to Rendon in recent years for help in relaying and shaping messages for the mainstream, according to government officials and federal records. Rendon has beamed radio broadcasts into hostile countries, helped design leaflets for distribution in war-torn areas, and designed Web sites and run PR campaigns to give the U.S. spin on world events.

We have changed not one iota although many have come and gone. We will continue to work without rest to make good every intended return envisioned in spite of the magnificent odds placed against us.

God has provided THE WAY—we must make it work.

However, I will add this question as we leave the keyboard: WHAT EXACTLY DO OTHERS WHO HAVE DUMPED AND BASHED US HAVE TO OFFER YOU—YEA, EVEN IN MY USURPED NAME? Yes, I thought not—NOTHING! They do not even have "the word" they claim to be spreading at all costs. Anyone with a computer hookup could do better, my friends.

You want golden eggs from the goose? Well, my good friends, YOU are going to have to stop hatcheting the bird to pieces.

It seems that there is never an end to the amount of responsibility everyone expects of us (Ekkers, that is) from what happens when the water does not flow at the farm in Tehachapi to how to sustain costs and keep the grain which will need dispatching to pay the rent and/or abandon it. Mr. Ridzon, where we got the grain as the best seed around, died a couple of weeks ago and we are going to suffer greatly from such a loss of stored seed and yes, food. NOTHING HAS CHANGED IN EXPECTATION but at least the GREEDY GATHERERS have exhausted their own ability to snatch and run. NOBODY knows about Spelta like Leonard Ridzon knew and experienced and whose son will now have to gear up to attend the whole of the Ridzon Farms interests.

I wish to remind all of you who assist us that every coverage we had prior to now is covered and will be honored—right to the first transactions here being totally placed in secure coverage of all stolen or lost assets because of the people turned against us trying to make loss for everyone even remotely involved.

THIS IS GOING TO COME TOGETHER, FRIENDS, FOR IT IS PART OF THE PLAN THAT IT DO SO AND ENOUGH NOW WANT TO SEE IT HAPPEN TO OPEN THE WAY TO DO IT PROPERLY. PERHAPS YOU HAVE FORGOTTEN, EVEN YOU WHO PERSONALLY EXPERIENCED WITH US, WHAT ACTUALLY TOOK PLACE IN FRONT OF YOUR EYES. DO YOU REALLY THINK ALL OF THIS IS SOME KIND OF ACCIDENTAL BLUNDERING? THIS IS "LARGE" MY FRIENDS, VERY LARGE INDEED AND EQUALLY AS "IMPORTANT".

SIPAPU ODYSSEY WAS NO ACCIDENTAL WRITING—IT WAS THE MOST GUIDED ONE DOCUMENT EVER PRESENTED AND YES INDEED, THE BROTHERS WAIT FOR YOU TO STOP PLAYING WITH MUD IN THE SANDBOX.

Dharma, we have a way to go before "we rest" and lay down the tools. We knew it would be difficult and devastating from time to time in the emotional game of "get through". But, chela, we have done it—it only needs the working through in the human networks. Life may not be fair but God is GOOD! And yes, the beasts of burden are tired and still try to carry all the load asked—but it is not longer acceptable to allow your messengers to be so assaulted over and over again.

To you who have stayed this course and given above and beyond any expected input—we are humbly grateful and so look forward to sharing both abundance and our hearts in successful joy at accomplishment of the IMPOSSIBLE.

Salu (I salute you and bless you), Hatonn

When the Pentagon earlier this year wanted to create an Office of Strategic Influence to spread its own version of the news in foreign lands, it asked Rendon for advice.

President Bush ultimately nixed the office after a storm of protest over reports that it planned to spread false information through foreign news outlets. But the controversy raised even more questions about the government's need to pay someone to manage its image, and about the man hired to do the job.

Over two decades of navigating Washington's inner circles, Rendon has built a unique business. While maintaining his political and public-relations credentials, he also has channeled his energies and staff into the murky bog of intelligence and defense work.

In the course of that career, Rendon has garnered contracts worth millions of dollars, a good bit of it, government sources say, from classified work. "I have a feeling that The Agency helped make him, filled his coffers," said one former senior CIA official.

The Rendon Group's current Pentagon work is just one part of a multifront, multimedia assault the Bush administration is waging against terrorism. While propaganda, war and presidents have always gone together, the Bush White House is especially attuned to the public-relations side of military conflict.

Last fall, the White House named advertising executive Charlotte Beers undersecretary of state for public diplomacy and public affairs, and she is developing a full-fledged campaign to sway minds abroad. And the administration has been quick to send top officials to appear on Al Jazeera, the Arabic television station.

"Our own government propagandizing its position—it's not like it didn't happen before," said John R. MacArthur, publisher of Harper's Magazine and author of Second Front: Censorship and Propaganda in the Gulf War. "But this is a sophisticated, mass-market approach to it..."

"They're very closemouthed about what they do," said Kevin McCauley, an editor at O'Dwyer's PR Daily. "They do media monitoring, getting an image of how the U.S. is perceived in the Muslim world. And they're big into video news releases. It's all cloak-and-dagger stuff..."

"I am an information warrior and a perception manager," he told a group at the U.S. Air Force Academy in February 1996....

By 1989, TRG was wading into the civil strife in Panama, where Guillermo Endara, a soft-spoken attorney, had emerged as the opposition candidate challenging the sword-waving, tough-talking Noriega. Endara, who eventually became Panama's president, said Rendon advised him on how to act with crowds and on television....

According to The Rendon Group's promotional materials, Rendon's company would offer similar services five years later to Jean-Bertrand Aristide, the embattled Haitian president who in 1994 returned to reclaim the post he lost in a 1991 military coup. Ira Kurzban, Haiti's general counsel, said Aristide's government paid Rendon directly from an account in Washington.

In May 1991, then-President George Bush signed a "finding" that gave the CIA authority to conduct covert operations to undermine Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein. But many in the administration were lukewarm about the order, and the CIA faced the challenge of carrying out an edict that did not seem to have real support inside the Bush White House, or in the administration of his successor, Bill Clinton.

"The feeling was, 'The White House isn't behind it, there's a lot of money, what do I do with this money?'" a former CIA officer said. "There was a lot of money to spend."

A good bit of that money went to The Rendon Group, which was hired by the CIA in 1991, according to former CIA officials and Iraqi opposition groups.

One of Rendon's chief contacts at the CIA then was Linda Flohr, then a CIA covert operations veteran and now a top anti-terrorism official at the White House's National Security Council. At one point, Flohr actually left the CIA and took a contract job with Rendon before returning to the government.

TRG quickly ramped up its covert effort to vilify Hussein. The company found office space on a street called Catherine Place in London, near Buckingham Palace. Its propaganda included a regular anti-Hussein radio program beamed into Iraq, an exhibit of photos displayed throughout Europe that depicted victims of Iraq's military regime, and video feeds for newscasts that included burning oil wells. Several front organizations were formed, including one called the Coalition for Justice in Iraq....

While The Rendon Group's contract remains classified, a former employee confirmed that the terms were generous. TRG was paid an annual management fee and 10 percent of the entire contract price, which remains classified. CIA officials involved in the work said it was between $20 million and $40 million. The government, the employee said, also covered all overhead costs....

When the Sept. 11 attacks occurred, the Pentagon's office of Command, Control, Communications and Intelligence offered TRG a four-month, $400,000 contract that has since been extended indefinitely....

Though Rendon's assignment at the Office of Strategic Influence was short-lived, his work with the Pentagon, a Defense Department source said, will continue for the foreseeable future.

[JR: The Bush Administration is selling the war on terrorism like he was promoting an ad campaign selling oil. His chief ad man is John Rendon who, through The Rendon Group, fabricates the facts and hides the truth about the issues. Rendon's TRG organization operates and is a perfect setup right out of the pages of Tavistock or Stanford's mind-control manual. Rendon has a long history with our government and has been involved in all the wars the U.S. has been engaged in since Panama and continuing with Haiti, Balkans, Gulf War and the upcoming war with Iraq. Mr. Rendon, a man without conscience, is paid extremely well by our government in order to gather support and change the opinions of Americans and the rest of the world. It is dirty money, running a dirty business in a world overrun by evil. The U.S. government is manipulated and run by men who are duplicitous and use deception to control and suppress the truth. Our tax dollars are being used to advertise to the rest of the world how gullible and stupid most Americans seemingly are. Most Americans have lived so long in the lie they no longer see the truth. The truth is coming and it's going to shock them awake.]

U.S. CONTROL—THAT IS THE GOAL

By Robert Jensen and Rahul Mahajan,
Palestine Chronicle, 05/14/02

For all the talk of a "special relationship" between the United States and Israel, it's clear that for American policymakers there's nothing particularly special about their support for Israel or rejection of Palestinian rights.

For all the talk in Washington about peace in the Middle East, it's clear that American policymakers are not much concerned about peace.

Instead, the primary aim of U.S. policy in the Middle East is U.S. dominance over the region and its oil resources, through support for regimes that play our game and through our ever-increasing military presence.

To the degree that U.S. policymakers believe backing Israeli conquest and aggression in Palestine advances U.S. long-term business interests, support for Israel continues. To the degree that peace helps solidify U.S. control, peace is acceptable.

But U.S. policy is driven neither by unquestioned support for Israel nor concern for people's suffering in conflicts. Any hope for real peace requires getting past this rhetoric to the reality of U.S. policy.

That reality is clear: The central principle of every U.S. administration since the end of World War II has been that the resources of the region do not truly belong to the people of the region, but instead exist for the benefit of Americans.

It is not simply a question of who owns the oil, but who controls the flow of oil and oil profits. Even if the United States were energy self-sufficient, U.S. Elite would seek to dominate the Middle East for the leverage it brings in world affairs, especially over the economies of our primary competitors (Europe and Japan), which are more heavily dependent on Middle Eastern oil.

One component of this policy is support for the oil-rich countries, such as Saudi Arabia. Saudi rulers take their cut of the profits, channeling what remains into investments in the West and the purchase of U.S. weapons. In exchange, Saudi Arabia—a monarchy that could not exist independently—gets U.S. protection.

In this system, Israel is a key pillar of U.S. strategy. Especially after its impressive military victory over the Arab states in 1967, Israel was a hammer that was used to smash Arab nationalism, which could have upset the system of weak, fragmented client regimes that the United States favors.

Israel serves as a local cop on the beat, in the terminology of the Nixon Doctrine, and an integral part of the U.S. military-intelligence complex in that part of the world. These roles became especially important after the Iranian revolution in 1979, when the U.S. lost its other main base in the region.

Israel also serves as a convenient foil for the United States. Even though the United States has exercised tremendous, repressive control over the region, until recently the brunt of Arab anger was always borne by Israel, with the United States representing itself to the Arabs as a friend. The U.S.-backed Arab regimes use this foil as well, diverting the anger of the so-called "Arab street" away from those states' corruption and despotism, to Israel.

This analysis is often rebuffed by pointing to the frequent tensions between the United States and countries in the region, including allies. How is it that these nations are our clients when they seem so unruly?

This simply reflects the complexity of maintaining control in such a volatile region. It is common practice for empires to set up client regimes in a region and then play them off each other, which not surprisingly produces tension, especially when the governments are not representative of their people. That's what U.S. diplomatic and military officials are paid to do—manage the tensions, always keeping an eye on the ultimate goal.

U.S. control—not peace—is that goal. That is why policymakers were happy to see Iraq and Iran at war throughout the 1980s and gave various kinds of covert support to both sides. Never mind the millions killed—it kept the two regional powers at each other's throats, and hence weakened.

In Palestine, if the United States were serious about promoting peace it would have long ago joined the international consensus for a political settlement built on a viable state for the Palestinians and security for Israel. Instead, it has long blocked that consensus, such as when it vetoed a 1976 UN Security Council resolution that offered something much like the Saudi plan being touted today as a solution.

U.S. leaders don't mind peace, so long as it is within a system that doesn't threaten U.S. control. Yes, a Middle East in a constant state of tension—either engaged in war or on the verge of war—has been dangerous. But that's a price the United States has been willing to pay.

These points are crucial to answering the claim that U.S. leaders simply do Israel's bidding. Of course there are well-organized and well-funded groups in the United States lobbying very effectively for Israel. And of course U.S. politicians feel pressure from vocal constituents who support Israel. But those domestic political realities alone do not drive U.S. financial and diplomatic support that allows Israel to continue to defy international law in its 35-year military occupation of the West Bank and Gaza. Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon has skillfully used the "war on terrorism" banner to expand further the level of violence against Palestinians that the United States will accept, and the expressions of reflexive support for Israel in Congress have never been stronger.

But in the end, the U.S. policymakers shape foreign policy to benefit U.S. Elite economic interests, not those of another country.

The inevitable conclusion to draw from this is that United States cannot be a positive force in the Middle East without a fundamental shift in goals: The United States must replace its quest for control with a commitment to peace AND justice, under international law.

Never has it been more crucial that Americans understand this. While Israel steps up the violence in Palestine, the Bush administration plots a war on Iraq. U.S. officials tell us Iraq presents a grave threat to the world, though other nations (including Kuwait) don't feel threatened and all the world (save Israel and the always-loyal Tony Blair) rejects the U.S. plans.

It's not that other countries support Saddam Hussein's brutal regime, but that they see that a war on Iraq will deepen U.S. control over the region at the expense of the Iraqi people. As U.S. officials talk about bringing democracy and freedom to Iraq, they search for an Iraqi general who can be trusted to follow U.S. orders if put in charge. All this after more than a decade of economic sanctions—demanded by the United States, largely to break Iraqi control of its own oil—that have killed a half-million Iraqi children (according to a comprehensive UNICEF study).

The more the United States overplays its hand in the Middle East, the more the rest of the world sees clearly U.S. intentions. The question is, can we the American people see the same, and demand of our government a policy geared toward justice not domination.

[JR: With all the previous articles on the Middle East, these two authors have brilliantly stated and have painted a very clear picture of what the U.S. Middle East policy is truly about. Divide and conquer was the British way of keeping its empire and its riches under British control. America has adapted this policy as a means to control the supply of oil vital to other countries by escalating tensions and wars. Its time Americans see the wrongs and work to set things right or we will get back what we give out. It goes with the universal law of cause and effect.]

SHARON LOSES KEY VOTE TO RIGHTWING

By Suzanne Goldenberg (Jerusalem) and Patrick Wintour, The Guardian—UK, 05/13/02

Ariel Sharon's worst nightmare came to life in a Tel Aviv auditorium last night when the Israeli prime minister was outflanked by the rightwing of his Likud Party, losing a crucial vote to a powerful challenger, Binyamin Netanyahu.

After hours of rancorous debate, the central committee of the Likud party voted overwhelmingly to reject forever a Palestinian state "west of the Jordan river", despite Mr. Sharon's arguments that it would set it at loggerheads with Washington, which has made Palestinian statehood one of the main planks of its Middle East peace initiative.

The Palestinian cabinet minister Saeb Erekat said the vote was a "slap in the face" for President George Bush and showed that Likud was more interested in maintaining its control over Palestinian territory than fighting terrorism.

Israeli television commentators said the Likud meeting would be remembered in coming months as the launchpad for Mr. Netanyahu's challenge for the Likud Party leadership, giving the former prime minister an issue with which to hammer away at Mr. Sharon.

Mr. Sharon had feared precisely such an outcome and warned the crowds in a Tel Aviv auditorium that a vote against a Palestinian state would backfire, deepening Israel's isolation in the international community. "Any decision taken today on a permanent agreement is dangerous to the state of Israel and will intensify the pressures on us," he said.

He was booed down and won only 41% support for an alternative motion asking support for his government's efforts to bolster Israel's security.

Mr. Sharon's defeat last night will not have immediate repercussions for his position as prime minister. He enjoys a 64% approval rating among Israeli voters, and there are no major rifts in his national unity coalition.

But it was definitely a personal humiliation at the hands of the far more charismatic Mr. Netanyahu, who also put Mr. Sharon on the defensive for his decision not to exile the Palestinian leader, Yasser Arafat. "We have no choice but to exile Arafat," Mr. Netanyahu said, referring to the Palestinian leader as the "maker of one million martyrs". Mr. Sharon was reduced to saying: "I did not shake Arafat's hand." The vote also sets Mr. Sharon on a collision course with Washington, which has been trying to restart some sort of diplomatic process in the Middle East. Those efforts gathered momentum at the weekend following the resolution of the 39-day Israeli siege of the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem.

The Israeli army withdrew from Bethlehem on Friday under a deal which saw 13 Palestinian fighters sent into exile. Their fate will be decided at a European Union meeting in Brussels today.

The men spent much of the weekend confined to a single floor of a seaside hotel in Cyprus, after being flown to the island on an RAF plane. But the final destination of the men has yet to be decided—a matter that gained urgency yesterday when a government spokesman, Michalis Papapetrou, said Cyprus wanted them out by Wednesday. Housing the 13 is a complicated affair. Although Greece, Portugal, Spain and Italy have grudgingly agreed to take them in, their status in the EU is uncertain. The Foreign Office maintained yesterday that none of the men would come to Britain.

Although the original terms of the deal promised them freedom, there was debate yesterday about limiting the movement of some of the men, who are accused by Israel of serious offences.

Yesterday, Israel injected an additional complication, when the foreign minister, Shimon Peres, told reporters that Israel might seek their extradition.

Even so, the involvement of British diplomats in brokering an end to the siege of Bethlehem has given an impetus to greater EU involvement in Middle East diplomacy. Yesterday, the foreign secretary, Jack Straw, said the EU should support American plans for a conference on the Middle East, and lauded British efforts in ending Israel's sieges in Bethlehem and at Yasser Arafat's headquarters in Ramallah.

Mr. Straw said: "Progress on these two fronts has cleared the ground for serious work now to take place on the establishment of an international conference."...

[JR: The vote by the Likud to reject forever a Palestinian state west of the Jordan means that Israel will take the rest of what is left of the Palestinian lands on the West Bank. The vote against Sharon by the right wing of his Likud

Party headed by Netanyahu is not a censure but an affirmation by the Zionists that Israel intends to own all the lands. Their next move will be to push out the Palestinians. Sharon, through his acts of aggression, ignited world criticism so now the Likud is reaffirming its position that no matter what the world says, Israel will continue to build a greater Israel. The Zionists will not hesitate to vilify or sacrifice their own as long as it advances their long-term goals. Britain, the U.S. and the Arabs can present all the peace plans they want but they will be rejected. The Zionists' plan is for world domination and that includes the U.S. and Britain. In case you haven't noticed, we are already under their rule and that is why we all go through the motions of a peace that will never come. People... keep praying and demand peace!]

GROUP ASSAULTS PATTERN OF JEWISH SETTLEMENTS

By Davan Maharaj, Los Angeles Times, 05/14/02

JERUSALEM—The pattern of Jewish settlements in the West Bank was designed to make a Palestinian state impossible, an Israeli human-rights group charged in a report issued Monday.

The group, B'Tselem, said the Jewish state had "stolen" tens of thousands of acres of Palestinian land to establish the settlements for Israelis.

"It's the intentional plan of the development and location of the settlements... precisely to prevent any sort of viable Palestinian state," said Jessica Montell, the group's director.

B'Tselem released what it described as the most detailed maps yet showing how Arab towns and villages were hemmed in by Jewish settlements and a network of roads leading to them. The carved-up territories present a major roadblock in the search for a lasting Israeli-Palestinian peace, the group said.

B'Tselem called on the Israeli government to vacate all settlements and compensate settlers who move to communities within Israel's borders.

Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon, who as housing minister in former governments was an architect of the country's settlement policy, recently dismissed such suggestions.

Settlers, who live on less than 2 percent of built-up areas, control 42 percent of West Bank land, according to B'Tselem. Palestinians, on the other hand, are systematically denied building permits and prevented from expanding their communities, the group said.

"Israel has created in the occupied territories a regime of separation," B'Tselem said. "This regime is the only one of its kind in the world, and is reminiscent of distasteful [ones] from the past, such as the apartheid regime in South Africa."

A spokesman for the Yesha Council, the main settlers group, poured scorn on B'Tselem's findings.

"It's regrettable that the settlement movement has not managed to implement the Zionist vision to settle between the sea and the Jordan at a much [faster] pace," the spokesman said.

According to B'Tselem, about 247,000 settlers lived in the West Bank in 1993, the year that Palestinian and Israeli leaders signed an interim peace accord. Their numbers grew to 380,000 by the end of 2001, according to the group.

[JR: The findings and the charges of the B'Tselem group confirms the fact that Sharon and his Zionist supporters do not ever intend that the Palestinians have a state in what is now the land of Israel. The next step in Sharon's plan will be for the relocation of Palestinians to any Arab countries that will accept them. If not, it will be up to the rest of the world to create a homeland for them and I don't expect that the U.S. will make it their number-one priority.]

AN ANTI-AMERICAN BOYCOTT IS GROWING IN THE ARAB WORLD

By Neil MacFarquhar, The New York Times, 05/10/02

CAIRO—Doughnuts may not be quite as American as, say, apple pie, but they come close enough to make Samir Nasier, a Saudi fast-food king, nervous.

So nervous, in fact, that Mr. Nasier and his brothers are offering roughly $300,000 to anyone who can prove that their House of Donuts chain has any connection to the United States. ...

American support for Israel, especially during its recent military offensive in the occupied territories, is driving a grass-roots effort to boycott American products throughout the Arab world. With word spread via the Internet, mosque sermons, fliers and even mobile phone messages, the boycott seems to be slowly gathering force, especially against consumer products.

Purchases of American goods generated by 300 million Arabs form such a small part of American exports that even a widespread boycott would not cause much of a blip. Most trade consists of big ticket items like airplanes, with total American exports to the Middle East amounting to $20 billion in 2000, just 2.5 percent of America's total exports.

But a long boycott could retard the spread of franchises and other products, experts say. Sales at most American fast-food outlets in the Arab world are already off somewhere between 20 and 30 percent on average, American diplomats and industry analysts say, and consumer products face a similar decline. ...

"They are beginning to feel that shouting slogans in reaction to what the U.S. is doing is not enough," said Kamal Hamdan, a Lebanese economist. A Marlboro smoker, he said that whenever he pulls out a packet, somebody invariably now reproaches him with, "What, still smoking American cigarettes?"

He went on: "They want to design detailed programs against specific goods and services that might involve the banking system, insurance, financial markets. They want to find some pressure points that can have an economic impact."...

Al Montazah, a supermarket chain in Bahrain, enforced the boycott on all its roughly 10,000 daily customers by replacing some 1,000 American products with alternatives. A few parents lacking Pampers diapers grumbled, but Abdulmonem al-Meer, the general manager, said the move had boosted sales at some stores. ...

Even places like Syria, where American products have long been barred, are trying to get into the act. Billboards around Damascus show horrific scenes of Israeli troops razing Jenin refugee camp, with the slogan, "Boycott American products—Don't be an accomplice," in Arabic and English. ...

The Arabs established a boycott office in Damascus in 1951 against companies that did business with Israel, and that kept products like Coca-Cola and Ford vehicles out of the Middle East for decades. But it gradually faded as major markets like Egypt signed a peace treaty with Israel.

Boycott support in the region's government-run newspapers has been almost universal, although outright endorsements by senior officials have been rare, given that it could hurt foreign investment. The Syrian government is among the few encouraging the boycott....

Sheik Yusuf al-Qaradawi, the influential Muslim cleric on Al Jazeera satellite network, displays a blinking banner on his Web site that reads, "Boycott America from Pepsi cans to Boeing."

Indeed, the flood of e-mail and Web sites sets this effort apart from all previous ones. Calls for boycotting three American corporations—McDonald's, Starbucks and Microsoft—gained rapid momentum through the Internet.

In the case of McDonald's, the rumor erupted that it donated a part of every meal's cost to Israel. Local franchises from Morocco to the Persian Gulf issued statements denying it, stressing that they were locally owned and operated. The Lebanese McDonald's even paid for an instant message to be flashed on 60,000 cell-phones, but in some cases the damage had been done. ...

In the case of Microsoft and Starbucks, word bombarded across the Internet after the Israeli Microsoft branch sponsored a billboard supporting the Israeli Army, as did remarks reportedly made by Howard Schultz, chairman of Starbucks, at his Seattle synagogue.

A local news article forwarded endlessly quoted him as saying that Jews needed to confront rising anti-Semitism worldwide and that the Palestinians needed to do more to fight terrorism. The remarks about the Palestinians prompted the boycott call, even though the company issued two statements saying Mr. Schultz did not believe terrorism was representative of the Palestinian people and that he thought Israeli and Palestinian states should live together peacefully. ...

Others with American products like Kellogg's breakfast cereal or Hershey's chocolate are hoping that the United States will change its Middle East policy fast enough for old consumer habits to return.

"Our sales are suffering, but I am not concerned about the loss of sales," said Sheik Wahib S. Binzagr, the patriarch of a Jidda merchant family that has imported a wide variety of American goods for decades. He was nonplussed to find the clan's own name on the boycott list. ...

[JR: A call for the boycott of U.S. products is an effective way to get people involved in a cause and to make a statement. Nothing gets businesses' attention more than the loss of revenue and lower profits. For a boycott to be successful it has to be sustained and alternate products be made available for consumers. This will give it permanence and opportunities to create new industries and businesses. On a people level it would work, but unless and until those who rule and have the will to change the present working relationship with the U.S. and establish new rules, the cycle of disunity will continue and the U.S./Israel will always have the final say.]

VANDERBILT AGGRESSIVELY SEEKING JEWISH STUDENTS

By John Gerome, Daily News, 05/14/02

NASHVILLE (AP)—Vanderbilt University, an elite institution in the middle of the Bible Belt, is aggressively recruiting Jewish students in a campaign that is making some Jews uncomfortable.

The university has portrayed the move as part of a broad effort to increase diversity. But the administrator in charge of the effort acknowledged that Vanderbilt is also trying to tap into a group of students who tend to score highly on the SAT.

That kind of talk is making some worry that the university is promoting the inflammatory idea of Jewish intellectual superiority.

"It dredges up stereotypes and issues we really don't want on the table," said Jessica Keimowitz, director of college counseling at the New Jewish High School of Greater Boston.

Vanderbilt, a private university ranked 21st on U.S. News and World Report list of top colleges, has long had a reputation as a Southern, White, wealthy and Protestant school. Jews account for about 4 percent of its enrollment of 10,500, compared with more than 20 percent at Ivy League schools. About 2 percent of the U.S. population is Jewish.

The only Top 25 university with fewer Jewish students than Vanderbilt is the University of Notre Dame, a Roman Catholic school.

It is a statistic Vanderbilt's chancellor, Gordon Gee, wants to change and a reason he hired Rabbi David Davis as an assistant to the provost a year and a half ago.

Central to Vanderbilt's recruiting effort is the new $2.2 million Schulman Center for Jewish Life, a two-story building with a copper dome and stained-glass windows. It is named for 1939 graduate Ben Schulman, who contributed $1 million to build it. A kosher cafe will open there this summer.

University officials are also expanding the Jewish studies program and attending conferences to promote the school as a comfortable place for Jews. [JR: Vanderbilt Univ. has spent $2.2 M for a center just to accommodate its Jewish students, which is only 4% of those attending the university. Wonder how the rest of the student body feels about their own accommodations and considerations? American inventors and entrepreneurs created the U.S. industries and businesses that dominated the world's markets for almost a century. Americans set the standard of living that the world envied and followed. How many of them were Jews that scored high on SAT tests or attended elite universities like Harvard or Yale? Some Jews are clever enough to excel on the accomplishment of others. That doesn't make them any more intelligent or accomplished than any other race.]

U.S. EYES TOUGHER SANCTIONS ON CUBA

By Jeff Zeleny, Tribune, 05/16/02

WASHINGTON—Despite former President Jimmy Carter's plea to ease U.S. trade restrictions on Cuba, the Bush administration is crafting plans to further squeeze the regime of Fidel Castro, which the White House deemed Wednesday "one of the last great tyrants left on Earth".

The embargo debate, simmering for years in Washington, Miami and Havana, is boiling anew amid Carter's visit to the island nation. Some members of Congress are pushing President Bush to reconsider the 40-year-old policy of restricting trade with and travel to Cuba.

But the embargo is politically sensitive for Bush, who earned 80 percent of the Cuban-American vote in Florida in the 2000 presidential race. Cuban-Americans, mostly Republican and almost unanimously anti-Castro, also make up a critical voting bloc for Florida Gov. Jeb Bush, the president's younger brother.

"The trade embargo is a vital part of America's foreign policy and human-rights policy toward Cuba," said White House spokesman Ari Fleischer. "Trade with Cuba does not benefit the people of Cuba; it's used to prop up a repressive regime."...

The White House did not welcome Carter's visit to Cuba this week. As he toured the island alongside Castro, the former president called on his own government to lift its embargo. Carter said the time had come for the United States to end a "state of belligerence".

Meanwhile, the White House flatly rejected pleas from 40 Republican and Democratic lawmakers who asked the president to reconsider the embargo. The House's Cuba Working Group, a bipartisan coalition of legislators who support opening the trading door to agricultural and other products, urged the Bush administration to set politics aside and consider the economic potential for the United States.

"For over 40 years, our policy toward Cuba has yielded no results," said Rep. Jeff Flake (R-Ariz.), who sits on the House International Relations Committee. "Castro hasn't held free and fair elections, he hasn't improved human rights and he hasn't stopped preaching his hate for democracy and the U.S."

The legislative group proposed a nine-point program, including lifting the travel ban and allowing unsubsidized exports of agricultural and medical products. The group also called for new communication with Cubans through scholarships instead of TV and Radio Marti, as well as cooperation on hemispheric security and environmental protection....

"My message to the Cuban people is: Demand freedom, and you've got a president who stands with you," Bush told reporters at the White House, previewing his remarks for next week.

While White House officials caution that the policy address is still being crafted, proposals likely will include strengthening the enforcement of restrictions on Americans' travel to Cuba. Currently, Americans in the tens of thousands skirt the ban by flying through Canada or Mexico, a practice Bush hopes to crack down on, which officials acknowledge will be difficult to accomplish....

"President Carter speaks his mind, and he spoke his mind with respect to our policy, which he would like to see change but which is not going to change," Secretary of State Colin Powell said....

With Carter's trip to Cuba, the U.S. policy with the country has been placed in the brightest spotlight since the embargo was imposed.

The issue is complicated by the U.S. government's assertion earlier this month that Cuba is developing biological weapons—claims that the White House has yet to provide evidence to support.

[JR: It takes a tyrant to know another tyrant and Washington is full of tyrants. The 40-plus year embargo against Cuba has proven ineffective and a failure and has not improved the political climate between the U.S. and Cuba. The charge of bio-weapons is pure war rhetoric conjured up by the warlords in the Bush Administration. It all adds up to more lies and the manufacture of false issues by the master deceivers in D.C.]

DUTCH VOTERS OUST LEFTIST GOVERNMENT IN SWING TO RIGHT

Yahoo (AFP) News, 05/16/02

The combined right-wing forces of murdered populist Pim Fortuyn's party and the Christian Democrats ousted the centre-left coalition in the Dutch general election, according to television projections.

The projections, based on the 80 percent of official results already in, showed Pim Fortuyn's List had made a sensational showing on its electoral debut, coming from nowhere to take 26 seats.

That would make them the second-largest party after a relatively high turnout in the region of 78 percent.

List spokesman Mat Herben heralded the success by saying: "Pim may be dead, but his ideas are alive and kicking."

But the Christian Democrats (CDA) were preparing for power as they will be the largest party in the 150-seat parliament with 44 seats, the projections showed. CDA leader Jan-Peter Balkenende was likely to be asked to form the next government.

The Labour Party, which headed the outgoing centre-left coalition, were the day's big losers with only 22 seats, compared to the 45 they held in the last parliament. In a reaction to the dramatic loss, Labour leader Ad Melkert announced he would step down as party chief.

Outgoing Labour Prime Minister Wim Kok said his party "took an enormous beating" at the polls.

"These are difficult times for social democracy, also in Europe," he added. It was the latest in a series of defeats for the European Left, following electoral setbacks in Italy, France, Denmark and Portugal.

The CDA had campaigned on a platform of a return to traditional values and called for a constitutional amendment to add a "right-to-safety" clause amid a perceived rise in crime.

The Christian Democrats have not ruled out a coalition with Fortuyn's party, much to the dismay of some traditional CDA voters, but the two parties will almost surely need a third to get a majority, and will likely turn to the rightist-liberal VVD.

The VVD also picked up 23 seats. In a reaction to the early poll, VVD figurehead Frits Bolkenstein, European commissioner for the internal market, said he thought there would be "another election within the year because this government is unstable" because the LPF does not have a clear political leader.

The election campaign had been overshadowed by the murder of maverick anti-immigrant politician Fortuyn by a suspected animal-rights activist nine days ago.

His death seems to have fuelled support for the LPF, which has risen from nowhere in just three months to take a projected 26 seats, which would be the biggest electoral debut score in the country since World War II.

"Since Fortuyn's murder people suddenly seem interested in politics again," said Bert Visser, a polling clerk in the politician's hometown of Rotterdam.

The openly gay Fortuyn, who called for to end immigration and said the influx of Muslim immigrants threatened the nation's traditional liberal tolerance, was a political novice himself.

But after he led his party to a third of the local council seats in Rotterdam in municipal elections in March, he became a key player on the national political stage overnight.

His status as a political outsider found strong appeal with voters dissatisfied with public services despite two four-year terms of prosperity under Kok.

Fortuyn rejected comparisons with other right-wing leaders such as France's Jean-Marie Le Pen and Austria's Joerg Haider, and the mourners after his death drew people from across the political spectrum.

[JR: The pendulum is swinging back to the right in world politics. The Leftists, Socialists, Liberals and Jews are beginning to get very nervous over this trend to the Conservative Right now gaining strength again in the world arena. First there was Austria's Haider, then there came France's Le Pen and now the Dutch have moved to the right after the assassination of Pim Fortuyn. Pretty soon the charge of anti-Semitism brought against Right-Wing governments concerned about immigration and their sovereignty will be mute as the Right again becomes the majority. People are beginning to see through all the politically correct rhetoric espoused by the liberal socialists. In other words... the worm has turned and no more guilt complexes for patriots who really love their country.]

NATO FORMS ALLIANCE WITH RUSSIA

By Nicholas Krlev, THE WASHINGTON TIMES, 05/15/02

REYKJAVIK, Iceland—NATO accepted Russia as a de facto ally yesterday in the battle against post-Cold War ills such as terrorism, and it extended its sphere of operations beyond Europe and the Atlantic.

"These are the final rites of the funeral of the Cold War, with Russia as a friend and ally and no longer as an enemy. What we can now say for certain is that Russia is coming out of the cold as a partner, ally and friend," said British Foreign Secretary Jack Straw.

The foreign ministers also established a NATO-Russia Joint Council after five months of negotiations.

The joint council brings Russia into NATO's decision-making structure. But NATO officials said Moscow will not have a veto over any decision by the alliance.

Secretary of State Colin L. Powell and foreign ministers from 18 other NATO members, opening a two-day meeting with their counterpart from Russia, also emphasized that NATO remained relevant in a world plagued by terrorism, weapons of mass destruction and other threats.

NATO officials stopped short of specifying where alliance forces might be sent in the future. But they said in a communiqué that "to carry out the full range of its missions, NATO must be able to field forces that can move quickly to wherever they are needed, sustain operations over distance and time and achieve their objectives."

Asked whether the alliance would become involved in conflicts outside its original—and current—European-Atlantic area, a senior U.S. official said September 11 had "ended the out-of-area debate".

If the United States and its allies want to "defuse the threat" of terrorism and weapons of mass destruction, there should be "no front line anymore," he said.

Mr. Powell told reporters that "the challenges NATO may be facing in the future won't always be located in Central Europe." The alliance "has to have the ability to move to other places," he said.

NATO invoked the common-defense Article 5 of the 1949 Washington Treaty, which established the pact, for the first time a day after last year's terrorist attacks in New York and Washington. That clause, which states that an attack on one member is considered an attack on all, would have permitted NATO action in Afghanistan.

However, the United States, with help from Britain, waged the Afghan campaign without NATO involvement.

In recent weeks, a discussion about NATO's potential involvement in a resolution of the Middle East crisis has begun in both Western and Arab capitals.

NATO troops are envisioned as monitors of a future cease-fire agreement between the Israelis and the Palestinians.

The new joint council is to meet for the first time May 28 at an Italian air force base outside Rome, during a NATO summit.

Before that meeting, President Bush and Russian President Vladimir Putin will sign in Moscow a treaty reducing the two countries' nuclear arsenals to a level of between 1,700 and 2,200 warheads each.

The United States and Russia currently have between 6,000 and 7,000 warheads each. Under yesterday's agreement between NATO and Russia, the new council will set joint policy on a fixed range of issues, including counter-terrorism; controlling the spread of nuclear, chemical and biological weapons; theater missile defense; peacekeeping; and management of regional crises, civil defense, military cooperation and arms control.

"Countries that spent four decades glowering at each across the wall of hatred and fear now have the opportunity to transform the future of Euro-Atlantic security for the better," said NATO Secretary-General George Robertson.

Mr. Powell said the United States believes the "foundation for increased cooperation between NATO and Moscow" can be laid "while fully protecting the alliance's ability to act independently."

Russian Foreign Minister Igor Ivanov, while hailing the new relationship, said Moscow had not dropped its opposition to NATO enlargement.

In Prague, the alliance is considering applications from 10 nations from Central and Eastern Europe.

"Mechanical expansion is a relic of the old epoch," Mr. Ivanov told reporters. "It doesn't contribute to world security."

Although Mr. Ivanov has made similar remarks in the past, Mr. Putin has been much more cautious in voicing objection to NATO's expansion.

A senior U.S. official said all allies were "on the same page" with Washington in its determination for a "robust" expansion from the Baltic to the Black Sea. But the communiqué avoided the word "robust".

Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Bulgaria, Romania, Slovenia and perhaps Slovakia are believed to have good chances of receiving invitations to join.

Mr. Powell also urged Washington's European allies in frank terms to avoid the creation of a two-speed NATO where the United States would take care of immediate crises with its overwhelming high-tech military power while others largely would be reduced to being bystanders.

"The United States, which has the largest defense budget of all, is continuing to add more money to our budget in order to deal with the threats we know are out there," he said. "We think all of our colleagues in NATO should be doing likewise."

[JR: Another meeting attended by Powell, after which he stated that mutual agreements were reached in the spirit of cooperation between the U.S. and Europe. If there is so much cooperation between Europe, the U.S. and NATO, then why is the EU forming its own army and military command (EUMS)? Is this going to be Europe's own National Guard and Homeland Defense? When the Baltic States are included into NATO this will make Europe a principal power and may be a challenge to the U.S. The question is, why is Europe included in our own Homeland Defense operation? The Bush Administration is asking Congress to increase our defense spending to an unheard of $383B for the coming year. Will any of these preparations prevent a war or make any of us feel safer? With all the nations arming and implementing plans for their defenses how can there be a peace when there is an absence of trust or honor among nations. Let's all believe the lies from those talking heads who wear the suits and uniforms in Washington, as they will all be safe and secure in their well-stocked shelters.]

INDIA SWELTERS IN DEADLY HEAT WAVE

By Omer Farooq, The Waco Tribune-Herald, 05/17/02

HYDERABAD, India (AP)—India baked in a heat wave Friday so intense that mud huts became as hot as ovens and birds in trees dropped dead, villagers said. This month's heat has killed 638 people nationwide.

Officials described the temperatures exceeding 115 degrees as "a natural calamity". In Andhra Pradesh state, 622 people died. Temperatures there reached a record 124 degrees, said D.C. Roshaiyah, an official in charge of relief work in the state.

Most of the dead were old people unable to bear the extreme heat, said Rajshekhar Murthy, a health worker in the state's Guntur district, where 102 people died.

P. Vijaylakshmi, a farmer in Kovvuru village in a remote corner of Andhra Pradesh, described the height of the heat wave last Friday as "the worst day of my life".

"How can I forget it? There was no place to hide. Even the dirt floor of my hut felt like an oven," he said.

Villagers said the heat was so intense that birds fell from the trees.

Similar heat waves struck Andhra Pradesh in 1996 and 1998, but this year has been the worst, state weather officials said. Andhra Pradesh is the fifth-largest state in India, with 76 million people.

Murthy, the health worker, said the number of dead would have been higher had local officials not issued warnings and supplied extra drinking water to the poor.

"The administration sounded a warning a week in advance," said Poonam Malkondaiah, an official in West Godavari district, where at least 50 people perished.

"People were told not to venture out of their homes, especially around noon when the heat wave reaches its peak. If there were compelling reasons to go out, they were asked to cover themselves," she said.

It has been an abnormally hot May in southern India. Temperatures have been 7 percent above the monthly average.

The national capital New Delhi and other parts of northern India have also been sweltering. Sixteen people died in the desert state of Rajasthan as temperatures climbed to 117 on Friday.

Andhra Pradesh's Chief Minister Chandra Babu Naidu set up a scientific committee to establish whether global warming was causing the heat wave.

However, meteorologists quickly blamed scorching desert winds from the northwest, not the greenhouse effect or deforestation.

"Heat waves always precede the monsoon rains. They induce the moisture to come in," said R. Rajamani, an environmental expert based in Hyderabad. Monsoons normally arrive in southern India in early June, and in the rest of the country over subsequent weeks.

[JR: Officials in India described this heat wave in India as "a natural calamity?" I would say that it is most "Unnatural" unless they were inferring that it was part of nature. Even two-thirds of the United States is in a drought condition. With all the various weather modification technologies, such as HAARP and military satellite technologies, who knows what is natural anymore? Also you must realize, India now has nuclear capabilities and may be on the verge of a war with their neighbor Pakistan, another country with nuclear weapons. Several of the established nuclear-capable countries, such as the U.S., Russia and especially China were not very pleased when both India and Pakistan developed their nuclear programs contrary to advice of the Nuclear Proliferation Treaty signatories. Strange that Israel has never signed that treaty. The big boys with the big bombs don't like Third World countries in a position to trigger a nuclear war. Contingency plans have already been drawn up for the U.S. and Israel to step in and remove any nuclear weapons from both India and Pakistan should it become necessary. Why else are they both providing arms to India. Then again, this unusual heat wave in India could just be the result of those Earth changes predicted in the prophecies.]

U.S. DISMISSES THREAT ON NUCLEAR PLANTS

Tribune news services, 05/14/02

WASHINGTON, D.C.—White House and Justice Department officials on Monday dismissed a recent intelligence tip about possible attacks against U.S. nuclear facilities on or around July 4, saying it is uncorroborated and came from an unreliable source.

"Our guys just aren't taking it seriously," said a Justice Department official.

The threat, first reported Monday by the Washington Times, was received by U.S. officials sometime last week. It suggested that an unidentified Islamic terrorist group was planning to attack a nuclear facility.

The Justice official said that the tip came from intelligence officials in Europe and that it did not generate any escalated threat warnings or communications among U.S. counter-terrorism officials.

The official also specifically said the tip did not come from Abu Zubaydah, the high-ranking al-Qaida official who has told authorities about planned attacks at U.S. financial institutions and shopping malls.

[JR: A warning of an attack against a nuclear power plant doesn't move the Justice Dept. to call for an alert because it came from European intelligence and not phoned in from some al-Qaida official. Does this make any sense? Why does the U.S. demand the world cooperate with us in our fight against terrorism and then dismiss their warnings and alerts as irrelevant? Americans love to celebrate the 4th of July with noise and firework displays so an attack on a nuclear plant is a distinct possibility and should not be taken lightly. I suppose we should have faith and trust in the decisions made by the "intelligence"(?) agencies in D.C. Get ready to run to a shelter... that is if you can find one.]

HOUSE BACKS BUSH ON YUCCA NUCLEAR STORAGE PLAN

By Thomas Ferraro, Wired News, 05/09/02

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—The U.S. House of Representatives rejected Nevada's safety concerns on Wednesday and endorsed President Bush's decision to bury deadly nuclear waste from across the country in the state's Yucca Mountain.

On a vote of 306-117, the Republican-led House approved a bipartisan resolution to override Nevada's veto of the project to build the nation's first permanent nuclear waste storage facility 90 miles northwest of Las Vegas. The House sent the measure for needed concurrence to the Democratic-led Senate.

"This (Yucca Mountain) is our best option," said Rep. Rick Boucher, a Virginia Democrat and a member of the Energy Committee. "We have no realistic alternatives."

Senate Republican leaders predict their chamber will also approve the $58 billion project with the help of Democrats from states with nuclear reactors and mounting radioactive waste.

But Senate Democratic leaders said they have a chance of stopping the plan. "We're cautiously optimistic," said Senate Majority Whip Harry Reid, a Nevada Democrat.

The battle pits Bush, his allies in the nuclear power industry and others who want greater energy independence against Nevada, hundreds of environmental groups and Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle, a South Dakota Democrat who has vowed to do what he can to stop the project.

Despite federal claims to the contrary, the state of Nevada contends it would be unsafe to store nuclear waste at Yucca Mountain as well as to transport it there from more than 100 nuclear power plants across the country.

Opponents say the project would be ripe for accidents and become a target for attacks. Supporters argue it would be safer to bring all the nuclear waste to a single secured site in a low-population area.

More than a decade ago, federal authorities began focusing efforts to build a waste depository in Nevada after lawmakers from other areas fended off attempts to target their states.

The Senate is expected to vote around July 1 on whether to override or sustain Nevada's veto, Reid said.

Between now and then, both sides intend to increase their lobbying efforts on Capitol Hill with opponents also airing television ads against it in selected states.

Noting $4 billion in studies, U.S. Energy Secretary Spencer Abraham told reporters shortly before the House vote that the project would be safe. "We have been able to demonstrate the safety of the site," he said. "It is time to move forward."

But in the House debate, opponents repeatedly cited a recent congressional General Accounting Office report listing 293 unanswered safety and technical questions about the plan.

"These questions should be answered before we proceed," said Rep. Shelley Berkley, a Nevada Democrat. "We wouldn't get on a plane if the FAA (Federal Aviation Administration) said it had 293 unanswered questions about it."

Abraham said all questions would be answered before the Nuclear Regulatory Commission decides on issuing a license.

He said the House vote showed the chamber "overwhelmingly agrees that the final determination... should be made by the independent experts" at the commission. "I believe that it does and I believe the NRC will ultimately approve Yucca Mountain."

Last month, Republican Nevada Gov. Kenny Guinn vetoed Bush's decision earlier in the year to accept an Energy Department recommendation to build the depository in the Nevada desert. He has also challenged the project in federal court.

Under 1982 federal law on nuclear waste disposal, a governor may veto the president's plans to put a depository in his or her state. But the veto can be overridden by Congress....

The proposed site would permanently hold 77,000 tons of radioactive material and would open in 2010.

[JR: The issue of Congress' authority to vote and override state laws needs to be challenged all the way up to the Supreme Court. Just when did the states lose their powers granted to them by the Constitution over to D.C.? Not one state that has nuclear plants has bothered to find a permanent solution for the disposal of nuclear waste. Congress, as always, took the easy way out by mandating that Nevada becomes the dumpsite for nuclear waste. We would have done better to spend the $58 billion in research to find ways to recycle spent nuclear fuel rods instead of burying it in Yucca Mountain. If the NRC hasn't bothered to address the issue of research or recycling, how can they answer the 293 questions and give their assurances regarding safety? Illinois is fighting the expansion of O'Hare Airport because two members of Congress were inconvenienced by the usual delays and are holding hearings to order the expansion of the airport. The dictates of Congress are not a Nevada problem or Illinois problem—they are every state's problem.]

VETERANS AFFAIRS IDENTIFY $20 MILLION IN FALSE HEALTH CLAIMS FROM THE PHILIPPINES

By Christopher Newton, TBO.com, 5/17/02

WASHINGTON (AP)—A crackdown on fraudulent veterans' benefits claims in the Philippines has halted nearly $20 million in illegal payouts and brought down a large-scale crime syndicate, U.S. officials said Friday.

The alleged leader of the crime ring, Eugenio Carlos, was arrested this week at his home in Laguna, said Veterans Affairs Department Inspector General Richard Griffin.

The syndicate had operated for almost 10 years in the Philippines, illegally charging veterans for the service of filing for their health benefits and then exaggerating their ailments, Griffin said. The syndicate also created veteran identities to file for benefits and filed using the names of dead veterans.

"The group used a lot of names that at one time were in the system," said Griffin. "That is how they avoided getting caught for so long. This group also victimized veterans by coercing them into applying for benefits through the crime syndicate. This was a total scam."

U.S. officials became suspicious after health benefit auditors sent applicants a request for their fingerprints and received few replies. The officials created a task force and conducted a seven-week investigation with the Secret Service in an attempt to identify false claims. So far, the task force has identified $20 million in false claims, but has yet to determine how much money the crime ring brought in. Investigators said they seized 3,000 documents including false affidavits and false medical certificates from Carlos' home.

"It could take months to go through all the documents and really get an idea of how much money the ring made," Griffin said. Carlos' group also allegedly paid doctors to help create medical certificates, the Veterans Affairs Department said.

[As proper little Pleiadians, Doris and I have been gulled by the clever Filipinos more than once. Here is a little story that made us feel better about ourselves, even if it did not bring back any money that we have "lent" to the "neediest" and closest of friends. Our thanks to John and Jean for sending it to us. If they can fool the world's most skeptical outfit for ten years and promote millions, they really are clever.—E.J.]

THE FINAL ILLUSION

By Doug McIntosh,
gold-eagle.com (Gold Digest), 5/20/02

Memorial Day Meltdown is bubbling along quite nicely, thank you. No, the Stock Market hasn't crashed yet, but the system is failing. If you are not careful, you will soon have a dent in your head from the falling economic debris. Even Maria, Maria of CNBC fame is now being exposed, besides her bosom I mean, for the fraud she always was. Enron memos are showing up that imply the California energy crisis was rigged. Gee, what a surprise! The New York Attorney General is investigating Wall Street because, GASP, the stock research was slanted. President Pretzel is trying to explain how he didn't really ignore warnings of the September 11th attack—he just didn't take them seriously. And the Democrats have turned on the scandal-detecting device they conveniently left off the whole 8 years Clinton was in office. Why it's enough to make a person cynical—it is. I mean, we all know our leaders are incompetent traitors—we just didn't realize they would be THAT incompetent and traitorous.

Ah, the twilight of the United States is unfolding before my very eyes. Just watch the evening news for a month, followed by the "Don't Worry be Happy—and be sure and buy something, television shows" and you will realize America is through. Just wait till whoever—and for whatever reason—hits us again. The entire system will collapse like the farce it is. The great flock of my fellow-country people knows what is going on in their pigeon minds. They know they are being lied to by corrupt, incompetent and amoral asses. They just have made the decision they cannot deal with it mentally. So the vast majority of Americans simply act like all is normal. Even as the terrorist alerts pile up—and even as terrorist plots are foiled right and left—people maintain the final illusion of normalcy in America. I find the denial mechanism simply fascinating. I'm dosed with chemtrails nearly every day, but the local weather broadcast doesn't mention a word about it. Now that, is information control worthy of anything the Third Reich practiced.

As for economics, does it really matter anymore? My thoughts are leaning towards domestic terrorist strikes with weapons of mass destruction, civil war inside the United States between the various racial and economic groups and overseas military disaster leading to the invasion of the United States. The context of our times is a civilization in collapse. The context is global chaos on a scale not seen since Rome fell. The context is the [Khazarian] scum that rule this planet are going to take it down with them. And here am I just drifting along with the current, waiting for the dam to break and the roaring flood to overwhelm me. Will my gold protect me when they shut the banks like they did in Argentina? Will my guns protect me when civil war breaks out? Will my health protect me when biological weapons are used? Will anything protect me from the lunacy about to explode on this planet over the next decade? Hell, I have no idea. I'm just a singer in a rock-and-roll band as the Moody Blues used to sing. It's true I don't know anything. The important thing is I realize I don't know anything. This, in my opinion, is the beginning of wisdom.

The GATA lawsuit was crushed. The stock market and economic manipulations continue unabated by Mr. Magoo and his clowns. The system desperately continues to try and maintain the final illusion that all is well. Unfortunately, reality is intruding into the little garden party in the form of the Mask of the Red Death. Sure, the illusion can be maintained for a while longer.

My timing may be off—but the system is coming down, politically, militarily, economically, ecologically and psychologically. Whatever American television tells us—and no matter how much Prozac people take—Americans are suffering from mass lunacy. All except me, who always having been crazy am doing just fine. Actually, I'm in my element now. I intend to enjoy myself in what little time we have left before TSHTF. In fact, assuming either the Red Chinese or North Koreans use the missile technology Bill Clinton gave them to vaporize Portland, I shouldn't have to worry about anything. I've calculated that, if home, I will be on the outer edge of the impact crater and, if at work, at the outer edge of the primary blast and heat wave. Works for me. None of this running around eating Alpo garbage. They go nuke and I want out cleanly. Biologicals: I'll take my chance with my immune system and healthy lifestyle. Urban chaos, civil war and foreign invasion: I'll take my chances with my 12 gauge. Economic collapse: I'll take my chance with my 12 gauge also. Take my word for it: You do not want to meet me when I'm in survival mode and have a loaded [MM: with 3-inch Magnum 00Buck?!] 12-gauge shotgun in my hands. If all that happens is civilization collapses, I'll do just fine.

Considering what is likely to happen economically in the United States over the next few months and years, I'm amazed the illusion is holding up. Japan is about to have its entire banking system declared insolvent by the rating agencies. Half of Argentina's population lives below the poverty line and they shut the banking system down last week. Just went on TV and shut the banks down. Amazing. By all means, keep some gold, silver and cash on hand physically, in a safe place, at your home. I believe soon the same thing will happen in the United States. Gold is starting to move up, although it's unclear to me how much it will be allowed to move up. There is a very real possibility any capital gains will be taxed away as "windfall profits". Or a national economic emergency will be declared and gold seized. If you think they won't do it, you are naive. The same crowd who has rigged the economic system for years will do whatever they have to do to stay in power. They don't mind some gold increase, Buffet wants to make some money on his 100-million ounces of silver, but they won't allow things to get out of hand. Gold will never be allowed to go to $1000 an ounce in my opinion. The damage to the derivative market will require a savage response from the FED. You will be faced with the choice of selling it and paying a huge special tax—or burying it in your backyard [MM: Sounds like George Green(berg)!] for another fifty years. That's the way I see it, so save your e-mail. Send it to Mr. Magoo as if he cares. Unless you think they won't be able to do this, since the entire system has collapsed. If they can, they will and if they can't, you will need guns and not gold. So long as the current corrupt group is in charge of the planet, fiat money and the fiat bubbles thus created will be protected at all costs. Take a hard look at the people-control systems being introduced on a global basis, the microchips, cloning, cameras, identification systems, economic verification systems, and tell me they aren't moving to crush gold once and for all. Like Star Trek's Borq say, "You will be assimilated, Resistance is Futile." Precious metals will make it an interesting fight, but Mr. Magoo is quite willing to impose dictatorship to keep things under the control of the globalists. On the other hand, the Borq lost didn't they, Mr. Magoo? The fight for economic freedom will reach its climax soon. Things are going to get very interesting in the United States over the next five years. Very interesting indeed.

PHOENIX JOURNAL #12 (1990)

CHAPTER 29

REC #1 HATONN

THU., FEB. 8, 1990 8:30 A.M. YEAR 3, DAY 176

Hatonn present in the Light of the Radiant One. Might we continue on our Journal this morning and then later this day I shall have comment on the legal depositions of yesterday and a brief response to John S. Please make sure a phone call is made to him because of the delay of the mailing of the message written for him.

Ones must come into their own balance and comfort regarding these things coming through. Much will be alien and new in presentation BUT NAUGHT new in concept if the content be truth, for TRUTH IS and the WORD IS, FOR GOD IS AND CREATION IS AND MAN IS—NO MORE AND NO LESS. I can only remind you ones that you must remain in the light of protection and “allow” truth to “settle in”. Further, as the spiritual aspects come into focus there will be more attitudes about a given point than there are persons who receive of the writings, for man does not truly know of that which he actually believes. The entire thrust is to pull ones of differing “doctrinal” ideas to come into unity with a “concept” of Godness. For instance you must realize, as in the Case of J.S.—the majority of ALL religions do not believe in the “I AM” or Germain. Please understand that doctrines and man-established perceptions might very well be incorrect ideas—but the concept is identical in that ones believe first, in the highest cause—God. All other bits and pieces must fall into proper priority. It is your relationship between soul and God—THROUGH the Christed way that is the focus—not the life journeys of a given HUMAN.

This, because the energy of the Christed one has experienced in many ways in many places. If you become stopped at a given “ripple” in the human’s journey, you will be separated from the point in truth.

As in the case of “I AM” doctrine—pull away from the isolated thought of words in front of you and go within and call upon Germain or the Christ and ask them. In your own projections—“THE CALL COMPELS THE ANSWER”—and make sure the beloved Masters come in the clearance of the Light. Ye ones need of no “middle persons”—call specifically and the Masters will respond.

We shall speak of these things later this day but presently allow us to return to the Journal where we are discussing the Prison of the Mind and the releasing of “Fear”.

* * * * *

All creatures are responsive in some manner to harmful stimuli. Human beings are no exception. Possessing the ability to be aware of injurious agents, you translate that awareness into hurt. Whenever you feel hurt, something is causing or threatening damage to you. Your awareness of hurt is so sensitive that it enables you to discern the danger even before it happens. That detection of danger can produce the response of fear, which is the feeling we get when the body is preparing itself to evade a destructive force.

Sometimes it is not possible for the individual to escape the danger, so the body has developed a further protective mechanism—anger. This state of body and mind occurs when danger must be faced and somehow repulsed. All the aggressive fighting instincts are mobilized at that point. The objective of the anger is to either frighten the danger away or to somehow destroy it.

Thus three major principal emotions protect you from danger and enable survival. (1) Hurt is the awareness of pain and the presence of danger. It has its human counterpart in sadness—the continued awareness of hurt. (2) Fear, deriving its strength from the memory of pain, prompts the individual to avoid further pain by fleeing its source as quickly as possible. (3) Anger protects the individual from danger either by scaring it away or annihilating it.

These three emotions—hurt, fear and anger—are interchangeable in the split-second blinking of an eye. It is, however, that hurt always precedes the other two emotions on a most personal level. The fear and anger are then stimulated in direct proportion to the hurt that antedates them and the personal relationship to the point of focus. The causative precipitator of the emotional response may be deeply hidden from the consciousness, you must remember, and never present in conscious awareness. These emotions are present at birth and well before the birthing.

These emotions belong to the Child ego state, and you have witnessed how his expression of normal human emotion can be considered quite criminal.

The newborn babe is able to express its pain by wailing. This usually results in the early arrival of help from a caretaker parent, who is able to locate the source of discomfort and deal with it. For the newborn the expression of pain is a cry for help. Sadness and the expression of hurt is equally a serious cry for help.

As the child grows older, at times help is not immediately forthcoming, and thus the pain or the threat of pain remains. At that moment the reaction of fear will occur, often by a more shrill and piercing outburst. If he is old enough, he will run to mother, who for him represents security. When he reaches mother, he will feel safe and secure—unless she rejects him. She will most often take care of whatever is frightening him, and removing the source of any pain or hurt. Persistent fear in the child or the adult is due to this effort to find security.

The response of fear may not be adequate to obtain the security that the individual seeks. It may then be necessary for him to deal with the danger himself, transmuting his fear into anger. This may happen very, very quickly indeed—and many angry people are never aware of the fear that preceded their anger. They are certainly not aware of the hurt which preceded the fear. If the individual is successful in dealing with the danger by the use of anger, he will once again feel secure. It now becomes evident that the emotions are the devices by which the individual endeavors to obtain the security essential for his continued survival.

The basic emotion, that of hurt, has as its opposite the feeling of pleasure and comfort. The individual experiences this feeling when he no longer senses any discomfort and everything seems to be at peace. For the young child or infant, mother is associated with these feelings.

The second emotion, that of fear, also seeks to achieve security and safety—and once again the infant or child associates these with the mother. Feelings of security are the antithesis of fear.

The third emotion, anger, has as its antithesis love. While dealing with danger by the use of anger, the individual, whether child or adult, is unable to feel love. Once he has resolved the danger, he can once again experience security and thus regain the emotion of love. Remember, problems occasioned by fear and hurt must be resolved before love can be established.

Now is where and when it becomes very serious indeed. Having considered the three primary emotions as necessary for the proper detection of defense against danger—the question now arises, what happens when the danger, the source of hurt, is mother herself, who normally guarantees security and repose? The answer provides the key to the basic conflict central to all emotional disorders.

When mother is the source of hurt, the Child cannot express that hurt to her, for she will only increase it. He cannot run from her and utilize his emotion of fear to escape, since he no longer has a refuge. He cannot use anger to intimidate or destroy her because he needs her for his very survival. Therefore, there is only one course of action open to him: He must block the emotions. He simply must arrange to not feel them.

The Parent ego state serves to repress feelings whose expression will involve the risk of parental abandonment. You must be aware of how the display of emotion can then be regarded as a “crime”. You can well understand how the repression of emotion that meets with parental disapproval is the only possible recourse. The Parent ego state not only punishes the Child ego state for the crime of distressing his real parent but also protects him by preventing him from being exposed to further disapproval.

We will certainly take this subject further but at this point I only want you ones to realize that the “crucifixion” of that little “phoenix” “child” has already basically begun at or before birthing.

The marvelous potential from any “Child abuse” can only be altered by the “child” releasing the feelings perpetrated by the “prosecutor parent”. When he can grow into the balance of acceptance, allowance and releasing of the fear—he must come relatively back into balance with self as love replaces the other emotions, for fear vanishes in the presence of love. He must learn to accept the prosecutor’s accusations without giving up the defense, thereby allowing the crime to be fairly tried, which will in turn cause the judge to make a valid discernment regarding the circumstance.

THE TWELVE STEPS

The next question of course, will be—“But how?”. Regardless of all the psychiatric growth and projected knowledge, therapies, etc., you are left with only one course of action in truth—you must go within to the courtroom wherein the trial is taking place—at the level where the subconscious is making these demands upon the consciousness. Then you must begin to retrain, reaccept self and seek assistance from a higher source of focus than that of the parent—for the parent is flawed. The only one thing in the universe which is completely without flaw is God, by whatever name you wish to address him—further, he is even closer within than is the “child”, “parent” or “judge”. God is the perfection within self that can heal, protect and surround you with the total light of love in never-ending constant and unjudging love.

First you must recognize the problem, desire to change, move toward the change one step at a time and release these emotional responses unto God and not unto the destructive, crucifying methods used by humankind.

This is why the “Anonymous” programs work—you stop judging the child for each and every crime and release the problem unto the perfection of Creator and he will walk you through one step at a time—or carry you if the way is too hard. When you “backslide” he simply picks you up and you resume your journey without guilt or shame—for his perfection is quite adequate for the both of you.

I would like to list the twelve steps. They have been so widely published and now the groups who work through these twelve steps are multiplying by the thousands. The soul must be cured at this level of understanding and communion with Creator—for no medicines or drugs available to mankind can do a thing until the soul demands freedom.

STEP ONE: Recognize that the addiction to whatever object, be it alcohol, food, pain, worry, guilt, et cetera, renders you powerless to control it alone. You must recognize that your conscious experiencing life has become unmanageable in its present state.

STEP TWO: Come into knowledge that there is a Power greater than self and CAN restore you to sanity and stability.

STEP THREE: Make a decision to turn your will and your lives over to the care of that Higher Source, God—as you understand Him.

STEP FOUR: Make a searching and fearless moral inventory of yourself—list it all, even if only “perception”.

STEP FIVE: Admit to God, to yourselves, and to another human being the exact nature of your wrongs as you perceive them.

STEP SIX: You must be ready to have God remove all these defects of character as you perceive them to be.

STEP SEVEN: Humbly and sincerely request that God remove the shortcomings—demand that they be removed.

STEP EIGHT: Make a list of all persons you have harmed, and become willing to make amends to them all.

STEP NINE: Make direct amends to such people wherever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others. You have no right to bring pain upon the being of another, knowingly. You may not remove your own burden by “dumping” it upon another.

STEP TEN: Continue to take personal inventory and when you are wrong—promptly admit it and confront it immediately.

STEP ELEVEN: Seek through prayer and meditation to improve your conscious contact with God as you understand Him to be, praying only for knowledge of His will for you and the power to carry out that will.

STEP TWELVE: Come into spiritual awakening as the result of these steps, carry the message openly and honor and practice these principles in all affairs.

IN FINAL ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Addictions are rarely annihilated until a being is “at the very bottom” because until a being is rendered helpless and naked in his addiction can he perceive the only remaining recourse is growth up and into truth and communion with his Higher beingness. He must come as the child unto the mother and ask for assistance—he must extend his hand, for God will never use force—all must become reality through self free-will.

Your world has gone through the same changes and is addicted to evil. Mankind must walk through the same twelve steps and into the newness of the dawn. You are in the addiction stages presently—the crucifying. Man shows no probability of changing in time to prevent the “fire into the ashes”—then, dear ones, the Phoenix shall rise again by taking the hand of God and coming again into aliveness in glory instead of debasement of evil contempt for thy beingness. God shall greatly bless your path if you but ask, for He awaits thy call. He will respond with all the Hosts of Heaven to walk with thee. He will shelter you with His golden wings that you can be sustained as He teaches you again to fly; he will be the wind currents beneath your wings that you shall not fall but rather fly freely unto the very heavens, for none who fly with their own wings in the winds of God can soar too high, for thy way shall be infinite. So be it.

You must come naked unto God without labels that you stop of thy condemning. It is thy soul that bears recognition of Creator, not thy Earth labels, titles and namings.

COME UNTO HIM WITHIN THY BEING AND HE WILL GRANT YOU THE SERENITY TO ACCEPT THE THINGS YOU CANNOT CHANGE, WILL GIVE YOU THE COURAGE TO CHANGE THAT WHICH YOU CAN AND IN HIS COUNSEL GIVE YOU THE WISDOM TO KNOW AND UNDERSTAND THE DIFFERENCE! AHO!

HATONN IN ONENESS WITH THE LIGHT—TO BEGIN

CHAPTER 30

REC #1 HATONN

MON., FEB. 12, 1990 7:30 A.M. YEAR 3, DAY 180

In July as AND THEY CALLED HIS NAME IMMANUEL, and SPACE-GATE, THE VEIL REMOVED was being written, Sister Thedra wrote a letter to Dharma and Oberli; we reprint it here, for I wish to speak of “Reality”.

“Dear Ones: July 6 - '89

“Do you realize what blessings are bestowed upon you?

“What glorious work! I rejoice that it is Now Come—I’ve waited to hear the Good News -

“I’m standing with you - ! Let no thing deter you - for you are dealing WITH REALITY—

“I Love you ALL—T.”

REALITY! WHAT EXACTLY IS REALITY?

Hatonn here to discuss it a bit. Let us begin with discussing Hatonn. God/Christ—Mother/Father Creator/Creation and the Cohans of the Archangelic Realms along with the Cosmic Councils spend their “time” as you would count it—IN CONSTANT COUNCIL DEVOTED TO THE PROBLEMS AND GROWTH LESSONS OF THE UNIVERSES. IN TROUBLED TIMES OF A SPECIFIC PLANET (THOUGHT PROJECTION OF GOD) MUCH ATTENTION IS FOCUSED UNTO THE PARTICULAR ORB AND ITS SPECIFIC POINT OF EVOLVEMENT. DECISIONS ARE MADE AS TO HOW BEST TO BRING THE FOCUS UNTO THE POINT OF “TRAVEL” UNTO THE BEINGS WHO ARE EXPERIENCING UPON THE MANIFESTED STAGE. DEPENDING UPON THE LEVEL OF GROWTH AND UNDERSTANDING, DIFFERENT APPROACHES ARE CONSIDERED AND GOD, ATON, ULTIMATELY DECIDES HIS ROLE IN COMING INTO AND AMONG THE CREATIONS. THE CHRISTOS, AT THIS POINT OF EVOLVEMENT, HAS MATURED IN BECOMING GOD (THE SANANDA) AS PERFECTION HAS BEEN ACHIEVED IN ALL FACETS OF HIS/HER BEING—HE IS ACTUALLY ONE WITH AND WITHIN GOD—NEVER AGAIN WILL HE BE A FRAGMENT—SENT; HE WILL HENCEFORTH BE—GOD!

HE HAS NOT ACHIEVED HIS “CROWN”, SO TO SPEAK, UNTIL HE SEES THE PLANET THROUGH AND INTO ITS HIGHER TRANSITION AND ALL BEINGS PLACED IN THE PREPARED PLACES ESTABLISHED FOR THEM. IN ORDER TO ALLOW FOR THIS WONDROUS REVOLUTION/EVOLUTION OF PERFECTION “YOU ONES” BECOME THE BEINGS IN EXPERIENCE UPON A MANIFESTED PHYSICAL PLANE. WE OF THE ETHERIC BEINGS BECOME THE “HOSTS OF HEAVEN” OR THE “EVIL PROJECTIONS OF SATAN” DEPENDING UPON YOUR LEVEL OF GROWTH OF SOUL ESSENCE.

THAT IS THE REALITY, BELOVED CO-PLAYERS IN THE SCENARIO OF PHYSICAL LIFE SCREEN-PLAY. THE PLAY IS WELL WRITTEN BUT THE STAGE IS IN NEED OF TOTAL REPAIR, FOR THE PLAYERS KEEP FALLING THROUGH THE PLATFORMS, ETC. IT IS TIME FOR THE CAST TO DO THE FINAL ACT—INCLUSIVE OF THE GOD/SANANDA/TOTAL CHRIST AND HAVE A GRADUATION INTO THE HIGHER DIMENSIONS. THAT IS THE REALITY.

ALL OF THE HEAVENLY HOSTS SELECTED FOR THIS PARTICULAR EARTH (PLANET) EVOLVEMENT ARE IN PLACE—YOU NEED NOT WORRY ABOUT WHERE ALL THE OTHER HOSTS OF HEAVEN ARE LOCATED—PERHAPS MARS OR OBICRON—THAT IS NOT YOUR BUSINESS. YOU HAVE ONLY TO TEND OF YOUR PURPOSE AND COMMITMENT—WE WILL TEND OF OURS. YOU WILL, HOWEVER, PLAY YOUR ROLE MUCH BETTER IF YOU HAVE READ AND UNDERSTAND THE SCRIPT. FOR THIS ENTIRE SCENARIO YOU HAVE HAD, AND WILL CONTINUE TO HAVE THE SAME RETINUE OF HOSTS, FOR THEY MAKE UP A MAJOR PORTION OF YOUR ISOLATED “ONENESS” AND FLOW BACK INTO GOD.

NOW, HOW WILL GOD PRESENT HIMSELF THAT MAN WILL ACCEPT HIS PRESENCE? HOW WILL THE CHRISTOS COME THAT MAN CAN KNOW HE IS AGAIN PRESENT? ANY WAY HE PLEASES! AND I SUGGEST YOU EFFORT AT REMEMBERING THAT TID-BIT. FOR IN THIS EVOLVEMENT, I COME FIRST AS A FIELD/FLEET COMMANDER SO THAT I MIGHT SURVEY THE PLAY IN AN UNDERSTANDING MORE NEARLY THAT OF YOUR MANIFESTED THOUGHT PATTERNS! SO BE IT!

HOW MANY WILL SEE?

Like in any changes, at first—few. Then many and finally, brothers—all. They may make all the wrong choices and some end up in most heinous circumstance—BUT IN THE ENDING,

ALL WILL HAVE BEEN GIVEN TO “SEE”!

How long it requires is always the cloudy issue—for first you ones must finish your destruction through free-will foolishness. YOU WILL CRUCIFY THE WONDROUS PHOENIX! Let us look at a letter from one of TBN (Trinity Broadcasting Network, Inc.), the President, Paul F. Crouch. This is one who proclaims God and Christ throughout your planet in one broadcasting system following another and let us look at his letter, for ones have been sending him various of the JOURNALS. Now, you who have been reading the JOURNALS know who WE are and let me first give you the scripture that is the guideline of these ones and placed boldly on their stationery: “AND I, IF I BE LIFTED UP FROM THE EARTH, WILL DRAW ALL MEN UNTO ME.” John 12:32. The Christos was saying that “if I be lifted up” then all men shall be lifted up for he never set himself either separate nor above man. Further: I will draw ALL men unto me.

Does that mean “some” men? Well, let us see how Mr. Crouch responded to Patricia Young, in Sedona, Arizona.

“Dear Miss Young:

“We have received the book you sent to us titled, Cry of the Phoenix.

In just a casual glance (sic, sic) through this book, we recognize it to be a compendium of revelational thought drawn not from Holy Scripture alone, but from various Indian cults. [Oh my!]

“We of course are completely devoted to God’s Holy Book [which ones?]. Both the Old and the New Testament. We do not accept Indian mythological ideas as being truth. [Does your heart not yet weep?] Therefore, Cry of the Phoenix is in our opinion unreliable truth. [Does anyone remember what CRY OF THE PHOENIX is about? THE DEATH RATTLE OF FREEDOM—that is man’s freedom!]

“We would encourage you to turn to the Holy Bible, read it and understand it apart from Indian mythological concepts. Do accept Jesus Christ as the one and only Savior of this world.

Yours sincerely, (signature), Paul F. Crouch, Founder/President. PFC:cjs” [What “Bible” do you suppose these bigoted ones read?]

Bracketed words are my input—Hatonn! Letter is available for you research teams who work day and night to discredit my scribe here. If this scribe’s work is worthless—why do you bother to discredit it? Her errors could only make your light shine more brightly—YOU CERTAINLY MAKE OURS SHINE MORE BRIGHTLY AND WE THANK YOU!

Does this not say it all? This is what is being preached unto the world! They will be shocked to find that they are total bigots and have placed judgment as being God upon a whole traditional civilization of man. They actually did not have enough interest in the subject to more than glance at the book and toss it aside. They further think that Hatonn, Sananda etc., etc., are Native American Indians—I am honored indeed, for there is none higher than the Ancient of Ancients. That, however, is beside the point.

The ones in the “UFO-Cattle Mutilation business” are the same. “Sue that scribe” is the motto, “we work from research documents and on and on and on”—WELL, WE WORK FROM THE RECORDS AND THE ALL-KNOWLEDGE OF THE UNIVERSE WHERE NAUGHT IS HIDDEN. So be it.

I suppose the above letter indicates that at that “rapture” the TBN people expect any moment now—only they will be there! Well, it might be so—up to those fluffy white clouds to get radiated and singed toes. So be it—free-will choice is honored at all events.

Pat, thank you, precious chela, for sending this along, for I must have these things in my scribe’s possession before commenting—for We shall protect her and when the documents are safely in the hands of ones in this placement, then we shall respond in kind. I would hope that some of you again write to Mr. Crouch and point out that ATON IS GOD AND SANANDA IS “JESUS” CHRIST—and he claims to have been awaiting this contact for a very long time; and he missed it just as he proclaims the masses will miss the return! Don’t bother to send them the books—he has denied—let him now get his own books! So be it. “We do not accept Indian mythological ideas as being truth.” INDEED! I AS GOD DO NOT ACCEPT MR. CROUCH’S MYTHOLOGICAL IDEAS AS BEING TRUTH! AHO AND SELAH! FOR THE BENEFIT OF ALL OF YOU PRE-JUDGERS: THE INDIANS BELIEVE IN THE GREAT SPIRIT AS BEING THE “ONE” CREATOR; THEY BELIEVE IN THE TOTAL BALANCE AND HARMONY OF THE CREATION/MOTHER-FATHER CREATOR/CREATION AND THE SACRED CIRCLE OF INFINITY IS THE CHRIST! NOW, WHAT EXACTLY IS IT THAT YOU “CHRISTIANS” BELIEVE THAT THESE PAGANS DON’T BELIEVE? OH, RITUALS? AH SO—IT SEEMS TO ME THAT ALL OF YOUR CHURCHES PRACTICE THE “COMMUNION” AND PRETEND TO DRINK BLOOD AND EAT FLESH! AND YOU USE SYMBOLS OF CROSSES, CANDLES, STATUES AND MYRIADS OF OTHER RITUALS! THINK YE NOT THAT GOD DOES NOT SEE ALL OF THE BIGOTRY AND CONTRADICTIONS?

YES, MR. CROUCH, YOU WERE SET UP FOR THIS; HOWEVER, YOU ARE THE ONE WHO PROCLAIMS AND WARNS DAILY—YOU MUST BE PREPARED! THE LORD MASTER SHALL COME AS A THIEF IN THE NIGHT—UNEXPECTED, UNANNOUNCED AND IN THE TWINKLING OF AN EYE! WELL, YOU HAD YOUR EYES SHUT—YOUR WISDOM SHUT—YOUR EARS CLOSED—YOUR EGO AND JUDGMENT WIDE OPEN AND BROTHER—YOU MISSED THE LIFE-BOAT AND HID THE BOAT FROM MILLIONS OF YOUR BRETHREN—COMFORTING THOUGHT? SO BE IT AND SELAH! I SHALL BE HOPING TO HEAR FROM YOU, BELOVED SON, FOR YOUR CONTRIBUTION IS GREAT INDEED IF YOU BUT HEAR OF YOUR CALL! I AM ATON OF THE ALLNESS—THE ONE LIGHT—I AM GOD, SON, SENDING YOU YOUR FINAL INSTRUCTIONS AND MESSAGES. I DO NOT FORCE—HEAR ME IF YOU WILL, DENY ME IF YOU WILL—FOR THERE ARE OTHERS AWAITING THE WORK. SO BE IT.

* * * * *

Oberli, this portion should be considered as an Express portion but must also go into CRUCIFIXION OF THE PHOENIX. Thank you. The time of the playing of bigoted games is all but finished. You ones have too many little Gods down there tinkering with the fragments of God/Man.

Either you of mankind shall join again into community of oneness and work in Light toward your goal of return to God—or ye shall reap the whirlwinds which will come at Armageddon as the true judgment is brought forth. YE AS INDIVIDUAL FRAGMENTS WILL DO YOUR OWN CHOOSING BUT I CAN PROMISE YOU THAT ONE BIGOTED PERSON WHO SETS HIMSELF ABOVE HIS BROTHER WILL NOT BE CHOSEN BEFORE THE ONE BIGOTED AGAINST! THERE ARE GOING TO BE SOME SURPRISED ENTITIES WITH THE HOT-FOOT AS WE MOVE ALONG THROUGH THIS TRANSITION. YOU THINK YOU ARE GOING TO THE HOLY, GOLDEN CITY AND WATCH THY “EVIL”

BROTHERS GET CREAMED? I DON’T THINK SO—AND I PULL THE ULTIMATE STRINGS!

“ATON, but the lessons are so hard!!” Well, where have you chelas been for the eons of time, much less since 2000 years in which truth has been splattered all over you? You have moved into the houses of Satan to satisfy your gluttony, lusts and addictions while moving entirely away from responsibility and self-discipline. Now, you must learn all your lessons in one lump or fail the graduation! No more and no less—for they WILL be learned—by each, by all!

You ones had better be looking unto the stars but not for your fortune-telling. You are in a most precarious predicament, little ones—most precarious indeed. Who did you expect to tell you about these ending times? From where did you expect to get the instructions? From Mr. Crouch? From President [G.H.W.] Bush? (He has massive other plans for you slaves.) Oh, from Mr. Bakker? How about Billy Graham? Robert Schuller? Henry Kissinger? Oh, yes—Mother Theresa (except no one listens to her). HOW EMBARRASSING; SINCE IT ALL DEALS WITH SATAN AND CHRIST/GOD, WOULDN’T YOU SOMEHOW EXPECT TO GET IT FROM THEM? WELL, YOU CERTAINLY LISTEN TO SATAN—IT MIGHT SERVE YOU WELL TO START LISTENING TO GOD! SELAH!

How is it you expect the Hosts of Heaven to reach you? On filmy, transparent wings? You are mostly claiming to bring along your entire physical selves—pretty heavy to sit on a cloud—and there are no clouds in space void, my children. Oh, I see—Jesus died for YOUR sins so you don’t have to worry about cleaning up your act—WRONG! You can drink all of his blood and eat all of his flesh—and you will sit right squarely in your pit of vipers. Jesus went to a cross because you in evilness sent him there—and all He can do is intercede and petition in your behalf. You call him the Son of God? He is also the Son of Man! I, GOD, SHALL ULTIMATELY DECIDE YOUR PLACEMENT—JUST YOU AND ME—ONE TO ONE. Beloved Son Christos tried to tell you how it is—he went to a cross to show you LIFE not DEATH. HE FORGAVE YOU—NOTHING MORE AND NOTHING LESS, FOR YOU WERE IGNORANT AND HE PITIED YOU, FOR HE KNEW I WOULD NOT BE SO ALLOWING OF YOUR SLOVENLY WAYS. NO, LITTLE CHELAS, YOU WILL ANSWER FOR YOUR OWN PATH AND BEHAVIOR—CHRIST IS THE WAY—NOTHING MORE AND NOTHING LESS—YOU SHALL ANSWER FOR YOUR OWN! WITHOUT THE TRUTH AND LIGHT OF HIS TEACHINGS (FOR HE WAS SENT AS THE WAYSHOWER), YE SHALL NOT SET FOOT INTO MY KINGDOM! IT IS TOTALLY UP TO YOU—FOR NO EVIL SHALL PASS INTO MY KINGDOM!

LISTEN UP: I CARE NOT FOR DHARMA’S TRUTH, SISTER THEDRA’S TRUTH, PAUL CROUCH’S TRUTH OR ARCHIE BUNKER’S TRUTH—YOU WILL COME INTO MY TRUTH IF YOU INTEND TO ENTER INTO MY PLACES. THERE ARE NO SEPARATE TRUTHS TO BE SPRINKLED ABOUT AT RANDOM WITHIN THE RAINBOW DANCES OR HOP-SKOTCH—THERE IS ONE TRUTH AND YE HAD BEST BE GETTING ON WITH LOCATING IT! THROW THIS OUT INTO THE GARBAGE—THROW OUT ALL OF THE JOURNALS, BUT YE WILL THROW AWAY THY INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE TRIP TO MY HOLY PLACES—SO BE IT, FOR I WEARY OF YOUR FOOLISH GAMES AS YOU ACT IN NO-WISE, WISELY. THE TRUE “EVIL PAGANS” TEACH IN YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOLS AND PREACH FROM YOUR PULPITS, FOR YOU LIVE IN IGNORANCE! NONE

OF YOU SHALL BE IN SETTING UP THE GUIDELINES FOR MY KINGDOMS!

JESUS CHRIST IS NOT THE ONE AND ONLY SAVIOR OF YOUR WORLD. EACH OF YOU IS THE ONE AND ONLY SAVIOR! CHRIST WAS SENT TO SHOW YOU THE WAY AND YOU HAVE REPLACED HIS WORDS OF TRUTH WITH YOUR TAMPERING AND IF YE OPEN NOT THINE EYES, EARS AND HEARTS—YE SHALL REAP THE HARVEST LAID FORTH. JUDGE NOT LEST YE BE JUDGED—BY A MUCH HIGHER AUTHORITY, BELOVED ONES.

Reality! You ones had better get with reality! Reality is not your moment-to-moment physical existence—it is naught. Reality is that which is within your soul that is eternal. Well, someone had to put to words the books—so be it if you have the intelligence to see and hear—for thus far, you act as children at your choose-up games of pre-school! YOU ARE IN THE ENDING TIMES OF THE GREATEST CYCLE OF ALL—THE FULFILLMENT OF THE PROPHECIES OF THE EONS OF TIMELESSNESS. THE ONE YOU CALL “JESUS” (EMMANUEL) CAME TO FULFILL THE PROPHECIES OF THE PRIOR PROMISES (THE OLD TESTAMENT, IF YOU WILL)—DO YOU NOW PROCLAIM FROM YOUR GRAND, IVORY PEDESTALS OF PRONOUNCED MAN-TRUTH THAT THERE IS NONE OTHER? WOULD THERE NOT LOGICALLY BE BOOKS OF INSTRUCTIONS AND A SCENARIO TO FULFILL THE NEW TESTAMENT—THE GROWTH INTO FULLNESS OF GOD OF THE CHRISTOS—OR DO YOU HONOR THAT WHICH GIVES YOU COMFORT AND NO EFFORT? JUST LET JESUS DO IT ALL—HARDLY! YOU ARE THE JESUSES, THE CHRISTOS—“FOR ALL THESE THINGS I DO, YOU CAN DO—AND MORE!” ANYONE EVER HEAR THAT BEFORE? SO BE IT.

I suggest that those of you who come into this writing, send it on to Mr. Crouch: TBN, P.O. Box A, Santa Ana, CA 92711 or 2442 Michelle Dr., Tustin, CA 92680; and to all the ones individually that you attend to on that circuit.

Lift up thine eyes unto the Heavens from whence comes thy help—ask me within and I shall commune with you. Most of you have closed me away from mine own temples—my rightful and Holy place within thy very selves—I AM COME TO REGAIN MY KINGDOM! SO BE IT AND SELAH.—I AM ATON

Chela, let us leave this for a rest. Man must give thought unto these things of which our Father speaks. No burning bushes or emerald tablets could bear the power. Yes, chela, it will get stronger but ye are strong enough—ye will not be given that beyond which ye can bear. I wrap you in my wings of Light that you will be sustained. I know that you didn't remember thy task but surely it must now be clear in thy soul? Ye shall be sustained, for we are the Hosts of God and none shall prevail against us and we stand between thee and thy placement within the world. Hold my hand, precious, for I know the way! Salu, Salu, Salu. Hatonn to stand-by. We must write more this day, please.

NEVADA CORPORATIONS:

Respect Your Corporation And Others Will Have To

Budget's "Tip of the Week" #14:

Maintaining Separation Between the Corporation and Yourself

When properly handled, a corporation is a legal "person", separate, distinct and totally apart from you. The key to keeping things that way is to ensure that the corporation is indeed properly treated. The quickest way to lose the protection afforded by your corporate shelter is for you to treat it with disrespect.

One simple thing that many people fail to do on a regular basis—and which can tear down the walls of separation between themselves and a corporation—occurs when they sign documents in behalf of their "brainless child" (corporation). All it takes to do things right is to follow the signature with an indication that you are acting as an agent or officer of the corporation rather than in a personal capacity. If you are acting as a particular officer, as the vice president, for example—follow your signature with, "Vice President" or "VP". In cases where you would rather not disclose any particular position held within the corporation you may sign as "John Doe, Agent", which simply means that you are acting as an agent for the corporation and NOT in a personal capacity.

The above advice applies to ALL situations where you might sign for the corporation, including checks, of course, but also when signing such mundane things as invoices for goods received or services performed. And it certainly applies to any kind of agreement—a lease, purchase or rental agreement, for instance—as well as corporate resolutions. After a while you will find that you do this automatically and thus automatically uphold the fundamental protective insulation of your separateness from the corporate entity.

Failure to adhere to this basic corporate formality "could" allow a prospective litigant to assert that the corporation is nothing more than a "straw man" and that it actually functions only as your "alter ego". We have put the word "could" in parentheses because in Nevada there actually exists only one case in the last quarter-century where a prospective litigant managed to "pierce the corporate veil" and cause liability to be assessed against the corporation's owner/manager—and that was a case of outright and unabashed fraud. It's great to have that measure of protection but you can easily bolster it by developing the good habit of following your signature with a title.

The next essential step in maintaining separation between the corporation and yourself is to always document key decisions made for the corporation in the form of corporate resolutions. If you do not know how to construct a resolution, give us a call and we will be pleased to help out. Meanwhile, if all you do is put a simple memo into the "resolutions" section of your corporate records, you will have taken a MAJOR step toward maintaining your Nevada corporation's unequalled liability protection.

WORDS OF WISDOM FROM HATONN

CONTACT OR SPECTRUM?

I want to briefly respond to a most unusual question from a totally "out of the blue" person: "It appears Spectrum will fail, possibly close, so will you go back to writing for CONTACT or what?"

I have never stopped writing for CONTACT—but I have NOT written, nor have my compatriots written for Spectrum. Tails wag a lot of dogs, my friends. Therefore, "or what" has no meaning.
