RE: FREEDOM MANIFESTO IN THE PHILIPPINES, PART 2, ROLANDO N. QUINTOS & PNI FOUNDATION (JUNE 2002) [QUOTING:]

PART 2

CHAPTER II

THE FREEDOM MANIFESTO
IN THE PHILIPPINES

The Freedom Manifesto began with the inspired words of the Declaration of Independence in 1776: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

More than 200 years have passed since those fire-filled words first announced that Freedom was indeed an Idea whose time had finally come. And today we are witnessing the abundant fruits of Freedom in free and enlightened societies such as Switzerland, England, France, Germany, the Benelux countries and the other nations of the European community, and in our part of the world, Japan, Singapore, Hong Kong, Taiwan, South Korea, Malaysia, Thailand among many others which are slowly but surely being influenced by the Spirit of Freedom.

We, in the Philippines, declare that we also believe in Freedom. We say that the individual's destiny is to realize the highest possible freedom within his consciousness.

much poverty in our Land of Plenty? Why, when we are located in the Pacific Rim characterized by the fastest rate of economic development in the world, is there so much misery in our country?

Because what we, as a nation, say with our lips, we violate with our actions! We have not only allowed, in our unconsciousness, we have actually encouraged and promoted the actual exploitation of the whole Filipino people by the Tradpol government of the Patronage Politicians. We have passively allowed the erection of a massively big governmental machinery that actually drains the creative energies of the people and ends up impoverishing the very people government was meant to serve!

The Freedom Manifesto in the Philippines is a declaration that all power resides in the whole Filipino people, and that government derives "its just powers from the consent of the governed".

Why, then, is there so

UNLIMITED GOVERNMENT:
THE SINGLE GREATEST THREAT TO THE PEOPLE'S FREEDOM

The Principle—that governments are instituted among men for the purpose of securing the rights of the individual among which inalienable rights are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness and that government derives its just powers from the “consent of the governed”—was a revolutionary principle when it was declared in 1776 and remains so today. It remains a revolutionary principle because the whole momentum of past history seemed to affirm the complete opposite—that individuals derive their rights from the largesse and magnanimity of government. Unlimited government has been the theme of human history from the time of the ancient pharaohs and emperors up to the very eve of our modern age. Throughout most of recorded history, government has meant the accumulation of power in the hands of a few personalities who could control the affairs of the great majority of individuals. “Power tends to corrupt,” Lord Acton wisely reminds us, “and absolute power corrupts absolutely.” Throughout history, unlimited government has always been the single most powerful threat to the freedoms of the individual.

In principle, the government need not prove to be the enemy of Freedom. But unlimited government has always led to the restriction of the freedoms of the individual.

In 1776, the conscience of mankind was finally pricked and awakened to the truth that Freedom was the birthright of every individual. Freedom was finally recognized as an idea whose time had finally come.

A hundred years later, in the Philippines the flame of freedom had been ignited in the hearts of our very own Founding Fathers—Jose Rizal, Emilio Jacinto, Apolinario Mabini and the rest of our heroes. It took another half century before Filipino leaders took over the reins of government in 1946. Unfortunately, freedom has been enshrined on paper in our constitutions, but the translation of the principles of freedom into actual practices that truly serve the freedoms of the whole Filipino people has been sadly wanting from 1946 up to the present moment.

THE NEED FOR A
FREEDOM CONSTITUTION
THAT EFFECTIVELY LIMITS
GOVERNMENTAL POWERS

Whenever government has served as the limited instrument of the human community and performed its legitimate function for that community, it has actually served society in a way that is conducive to the exercise of individual freedom.

What are the legitimate functions of limited government? Its legitimate functions are to serve as an effective focus of national unity and reconciliation, administering justice, deterring foreign foes from committing aggression, removing obstacles to the free exchange of goods and services. Whenever government is able to effectively exercise these powers for the sake of the freedoms of the people, it has made it possible for individuals in a given community to pursue their chosen interests with the greatest possible freedom and thereby achieve great progress. But here precisely is our dilemma: The very instrument by which these desirable purposes are achieved can be the very same instruments for achieving the opposite ends. In other words, government can, instead of promoting and enhancing freedom, undermine and destroy the very freedoms of the individual it was instituted to protect. This always tends to take place whenever the holders of government power are able to exercise unlimited power over the people.

All true lovers of freedom are aware of the dangers of unlimited government. That is why every true disciple of liberty knows that freedom depends on establishing effective limits against the accumulation of unlimited power in a single governmental authority.

That is why every Freedom Nation needs a Freedom Constitution. Such a Freedom Constitution may be written in black and white on paper or, much better, written on the minds, hearts and souls of the whole people. I believe that more than our present constitution written by a few individuals, there is truly a Freedom Constitution engraved on the hearts, minds and souls of the whole Filipino people. I am writing this little book to corroborate this truth. I am asking every reader to communicate with us in the Freedom Movement to confirm or to deny our faith in the whole Filipino people's commitment to freedom.

OUR FREEDOM CONSTITUTION

What is at the heart of our freedom way of life?

The heart of our Freedom Constitution is the protection and promotion of the sacred freedoms of the individual.

Freedom of Thought
Freedom of Speech
Freedom of Religion
Freedom of Peaceable Assembly
Freedom of Enterprise
Freedom of Livelihood
Freedom of Recreation
Freedom to make and terminate just and honorable social contracts

Freedom to Succeed and Freedom to Fail
Freedom to be Rich and Freedom to go Bankrupt
Freedom to Teach and to share the lessons of one's successes and failures
Freedom to be left alone

It is the responsibility of every individual to protect and to promote the fullest possible practice of these sacred, inviolable freedoms—his or her own and those of others that he or she is in a position to protect, uphold or promote.

The only clear restriction to one's exercise of individual freedom is when its exercise does harm or injury to the exercise of the freedoms of other individuals.

Just as the individual and the collective community shall protect, uphold and promote the sacred freedoms of every individual citizen, so shall the individual and the community do all in its power to stop any external activity that directly or indirectly hurts or harms one's person, family, one's honor and property—all of which undermine the full, rightful exercise of one's sacred freedoms and one's sacred responsibilities.

THE FULL EXERCISE OF INDIVIDUAL FREEDOM
MUST BE BALANCED
BY THE FULL EXERCISE
OF INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY

Everyone has the right to exercise one's individual freedoms in any way that he wants, provided his activities shall cause no direct or indirect hurt or harm to the full exercise of the freedom of the other individuals in society.

Every individual has the right to make contracts or agreements with other individuals or parties. These agreements are two-way relationships where mutual benefits to both parties are derived at the price of incurring mutual costs to both.

Every individual exercises his sacred freedom by giving his prior express consent to these agreements which entail for him both benefits and costs. The principle of freedom with justice is clear: You enjoy the freedom of receiving the benefits of the agreement because you bind yourself to pay the price agreed upon to enjoy the benefit.

The principle is simple: Most benefits are available at a price—if you want the benefit, you must pay the price.

The exercise of freedom with responsibility requires that you must comply with your commitment to pay the price for which you have given your prior express consent.

Every individual is free to give or not to give his consent. Once he gives his prior, expressed consent, he must now strictly comply with the terms and conditions to which he has freely consented. Without the exercise of responsibility, there can be no real freedom.

Freedom and responsibility must always go hand in hand. There can be no freedom without the exercise of responsibility, and there can be no responsibility without the exercise of freedom.

THE HALLMARKS OF A FREEDOM GOVERNMENT

We believe, and every co-founding member of our Freedom Movement believes that the whole Filipino people constitute what we may truly call a FREEDOM NATION.

We believe that the whole FREEDOM NATION believes in and endorses a Freedom Constitution and a Freedom Government.

1. A Freedom Government is, first of all, a Limited Government.

What is a Limited Government?

It is a government that is limited by whatever the people impose upon it.

It is a government that derives all its authority and power from the consent of the governed.

It is a government that has no right over the person or the prosperity of the individual except those expressly conceded to it.

This means, first, that the national government's authority is limited to specific powers delegated to it by the whole people

This means, second, that all powers not expressly delegated to the national government are reserved to the provinces, municipalities, barangays and the Filipino people.

THE BEST GOVERNMENT FOR A FREEDOM NATION

That government is best which governs least.

That government is best which governs least and does nothing else except effectively govern the people who have given their consent to be so governed only in those matters that need governance.

To paraphrase the profound insights of that enlightened thinker, Henry David Thoreau: "To be strictly just, government must have the sanction and the consent of the governed. Government can have no pure right over the person and property of individuals except those conceded to government.

"The progress from an absolute to limited monarchy, from a limited monarchy to a democracy, is a progress toward a true respect for the individual. Even the Chinese philosopher was wise enough to regard the individual as the basis of the empire."

A truly free and enlightened government will come only when it recognizes and treats the individual as a higher and independent power from which all its authority and power are derived.

THE TWO FUNDAMENTAL GUARANTEES AGAINST GOVERNMENT MALPRACTICES

To ensure that all these safeguards against possible governmental abuses shall take place, we submit for the people's approval two fundamental guarantees against government malpractices:

1. All Government banking activities must now be transferred to the private sector. One of the reasons for Hong Kong's economic success is that its government cannot cause inflation because it cannot print any paper moneys. The issuance of currency is performed by its two biggest, most responsible and competent private banking institutions—the Hong Kong Shanghai Bank and the Standard Chartered Bank of Hong Kong. We should do the same in this country.

[H: We do not concur with this conclusion and until there is value to back any paper currency the entire system is flawed too greatly to survive. This does not predispose that we have any right to correct this author, for we are simply presenting his own perceptions. By the way, until NOW there have been no alternative possibilities or potential to correct this abuse of a nation's economic limitations. Therefore, please realize that people work with what they see as "IS" and seek better alternatives than that which is failing in their own dooryard.]

2. All government activities must be supported by the people, not on the basis of compulsory taxation but on the basis of VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS.

[H: Certainly we will offer this presentation AS GIVEN but I fear that this is a very "idealistic" perspective which is proven to NOT work. More especially in a current realization of total corruption and mismanagement, it is highly unlikely that anyone, including myself, would ever "volunteer" input to such a government.]

Every other institution's support is based on voluntary contributions, why not all government services as well?

If I were a servant-government-leader and I sincerely believe that my servant government contributions of new ideas, new information and new inspirations would really help the people, I should have no fears that the financial basis of my servant government services shall be adequately supported by the voluntary contributions from the people I am serving.

Ultimately, this idea of preferring voluntary contribution over that of compulsory taxation is the ultimate safeguard against government's abuse of its powers of governance. "By its fruits, you shall know them." By its ability to receive the needed level of voluntary contributions to adequately support its cost-effective governance activities, we shall know the real ability of our servant-government leaders to serve the people. This is the ultimate acid test of the real ability of our government servant leaders.

CHAPTER III

HOW GOVERNMENT (Philippine) HAS BECOME THE SINGLE BIGGEST BURDEN ON THE PEOPLE.

What is the role of government in the distortion of the Philippine economy into its terribly lopsided and unproductive condition?

The greatest failure of government is its failure to govern the whole society to realize its great potentials to become the strong and achieving economy it can become in this part of the world which is now characterized by the fastest developing economies in the world.

Thirty years ago, practically everyone looked to government as the new messiah that would deliver the great masses of the poor from their centuries-old bondage into the Promised Land of progress and prosperity. This new savior of the masses has now become the accursed deadweight around the necks of the suffering poor.

How did this come about?

We are not pointing accusing fingers at anyone.

We are not talking about the sins of personalities here. Whether it is Macapagal or Marcos, Cory or Ramos, Estrada or Macapagal-Arroyo is not the central issue. We are here dissecting the tragic system flaws in the way we govern or rather, misgovern and mismanage, our own political and economic affairs.

HOW DID GOVERNMENT BECOME THE SINGLE BIGGEST BURDEN ON THE WHOLE FILIPINO PEOPLE?

After the reins of political power were transferred from American to Philippine hands, there was tremendous expectation that government would be able to do so much for the whole Filipino peoples. After more than 350 years of colonial rule by the foreigners, finally we had our very own Philippine government led by our very own Philippine leaders! Unfortunately for the great majority of our people, these great expectations have not yet been fulfilled.

Instead of government becoming the servant of the people, the people have become the servant and the tool of government. There emerged the Philippine phenomenon called "patronage politics". This practice had its origins in the pernicious practice during the Spanish colonial days of public offices being offered for sale. The buyer of the public office expected to recoup more than the price expended for the office's purchase. Today's patronage politician invests in the enterprise of being voted into public office with the expectation that the returns on his investment would more than justify his decision to run for office.

Patronage politics is today the nation's single biggest business. Because of it, government in the Philippines has become the single biggest collector and user of money. In 1994, the government budget had already mushroomed into P362 Billion, with the government spending almost one billion pesos each day. The government foreign debt has ballooned into some P900 Billion, closely followed by the government local debt of some P600 Billion. The government has the power to legitimately do what the private person cannot do: spend more than it earns! How can it support its deficit spending? By printing more money! This will have the effect of the people's hard earned money losing its precious purchasing power. Those among us who were teenagers during the 1950s still remember that P.10 could then buy a bottle of Coke. Today you need P5.00 for that same bottle! This means that your P5.00 then is now worth only P.10!

Only government has the power to make our money lose its purchasing power. Only government has such tremendous power to make the poor even poorer!

HOW DOES THE PATRONAGE POLITICIAN MANIPULATE THE PEOPLE?

The Patronage Politicians look down on the poor people. They believe that, left to themselves, the people cannot take care of themselves. So they pose as the leaders who have nothing but compassion in their hearts for the suffering masses. So they promise the people all kinds of things for "free"—roads, bridges, schoolhouses, hospitals, etc.—leaving the distinct impression that all those generous gifts come from the bounty of their own generosity. Of course, during election time, the compassion of the patronage politicians translates into "free monies flowing freely" into the pockets of the poor people.

What return does the patronage politician expect for all his "generosity" and "compassion"? Nothing much really! Only their votes which ensures that the "free gifts" keep flowing into the community!

The greatest tragedy of all is that the great majority of the poor people really believe the patronage politicians and do vote them into power.

What the great majority of the people fail to realize is that the so-called "free gifts" of the patronage politicians do not come from their own pockets but from the whole Filipino people—from all the direct and indirect taxes, all the sales taxes, and most cruel and pernicious of all, from the inflation which means losses of the people's purchasing power.

The worst effect of all is that the recipients of the patronage politicians' "free gifts" lose their self-respect and the power of their self-reliance. They learn the bad habits of mendicancy and beggary. And they suffer all the more from the destruction of the spirit of enterprise. They begin to believe that they cannot do anything without money from the government. They forget the truth is that the government needs them more than they need government. Enterprise and productivity fall, and the poor become even poorer than before.

It is the cruel system of patronage politics that creates the conditions of massive poverty in the country.

PATRONAGE POLITICS PRODUCES A BLOATED BUREAUCRACY DESTRUCTIVE OF A DEMOCRACY

A large part of the patronage politicians' "free gifts" are the "free jobs" in the government bureaucracy awarded to their constituents and supporters. This practice has been going on from the beginning, growing from bad to worse with the passage of time. As of the latest count, the people who receive salaries from the government budget now number some 1,500,000—whether they deliver the right services to the people or not. When the managers in the government bureaucracy cannot get any performance from their regular employees, they hire "contractual" workers who produce more work than the "regular" workers. Why? Because of their contractual status, they can be removed from their jobs if they do not perform. It appears that the Civil Service rules in this country actually protect non-performing people from ever being removed from the positions given them by their political patrons.

Go to any government office, especially those that belong to the largest departments, and report to us any of the offices that exemplify the spirit of Customer Service Excellence. You may discover one or two noteworthy examples—but they would definitely be exceptions to the general rule of the lazy, the indifferent, or the arrogant government employee. The worst type is, of course, the arrogant and corrupt government employee. We are not saying that there are not honest and dedicated people in the government service. Assuredly, there are. I know some of them and they deserve the highest esteem and support. Unfortunately, they are the few exceptions that prove the general rule.

Why is this general condition of inefficiency and dishonesty so destructive of a democratic society? Because government is supposed to represent the highest kind of servant leadership in a society, and if instead of exemplifying the best kinds of leadership, it demonstrates the worst forms of inefficiency and corruption, then government becomes no longer an instrument of service but the most destructive weapon against all that is moral and decent in a society.

Patronage Politics not only frustrates the tremendous capability of a good government to serve the people, it actually destroys the moral fiber of the nation.

I must again remind you that this is taken directly from a compiled grouping of presentations and is in no wise yet in a publishable form or format.

What I wish to get across and share with our readers is that there most certainly ARE those who would put their very lives on the line to change the circumstances in this nation.

So, WHY are we here? One more time through: The assets are actually here waiting to put a foundation under an economy which can change this nation almost instantly.

The observations we are forced to witness on such as this very day are the massive involvement in corruption while one points and insults those of other "parties" and personages. Just yesterday came headlines looping in President Arroyo's husband into the loop of smugglers, specifically the "Godfather" of RICE smuggling to the tune of multi-billions of pesos in just lost revenue from customs.

Today the headlines shout that the President's son (who is a vice-governor of a major province here) is guilty of smuggling massive numbers of luxury vehicles while listing the "containers" as holding "used trucks".

Even the U.S. Ambassador went on the air before the Foreign Press and stated that the Philippines is sinking fast because of the corruption, especially in the Judiciary.

Response? Kick out that Ambassador!

Oh, and by the way, as there is no decision yet as to how many U.S. troops will be pulled out of here on July 31st, the Navy has landed for further "joint exercises" with the U.S.

My goodness, even the Justice system will not qualify the "terror" games won or lost—nobody could find the BODIES. So, it is no longer a topic of conversation. It appears that even the manipulators in Washington are about to throw up their hands and call it hopeless. Moreover, we have to admit that Dharma gets to the point where she too says "LIKEWISE"!

So, can the Quintoses of the world come up through this muck and actually make impact? YES. No one has a corner on goodness nor on GOD. No, I do not take into consideration "religions".

Over here the Roman Catholic Church has taken a stand in favor of attending the "evil empire" as the lesser of evils. Now doesn't that speak highly of the level of teachings and don't you still wonder why there can be as many honorable citizens as there actually are?

I am torn as to whether or not to continue with this topic or beg Dr. Coleman's permission to utilize his last topic on the Constitution in World in Review. It is by far the most applicable to both the U.S. AND the Philippines—for the Philippines copies everything presented by the U.S.

We shall give it thought, for the facts are, readers, YOU ARE AT A MAJOR CROSSROADS IN YOUR EXPERIENCE.

Thank you for your attention as we give appreciation to a brother who is doing what he can to make a difference.—GCH

Zionists Have Competition For World Takeover/Control

(PART 6)

SKELETONS IN THE CLOSET

BY GYEORGOS CERES HATONN

PHOENIX JOURNAL #13 (1990)

CHAPTER 9

REC #3 HATONN

THU., MAR. 15, 1990 6:30 P.M. YEAR 3 DAY 211

SECRET SOCIETY

When we speak of Hitler, we must remember that he was trained through his individual experiences just as are all. He was deeply involved in a most secret society called Thule. This society stood for racial segregation with the Arian White race as masters of all. It included the Nordic culture and the society was interested in areas such as Greenland, the Arctic and Antarctic. The Thule Society emblem consisted of the swastika, a downward pointing sword and a wreath of oak leaves—all symbols later used in Nazi Germany—remember that the swastika is a symbol of “life” in the native Indian culture.

Nazi Germany was years ahead of the rest of the world in many technological areas. It is internationally recognized that if Germany had had a greater supply of natural resources and manpower, then the war would have undoubtedly had a much different ending.

Germany produced many super weapons including the first jet fighter aircraft, the first missile system and various others which were almost in the realm of science fiction.

THE WIND CANNON

The wind cannon was produced by Germany late into the war. This fired compressed air. There was also the Sun cannon which reflected the Sun and burned its target. They also had rocket packs worn by individuals that were jet powered. This rocket enabled persons to make jumps of up to a distance of some fifty to sixty yards. They also produced B1 and B2 rockets. Germany introduced the forerunner to the intercontinental ballistic missile. This was produced in 1942 and was capable of striking the United States. No reason was found for its never having been used. In 1940 a vertical takeoff aircraft was invented and only in recent years have the Western countries managed to produce such aircraft.

Let us speak of the “sound cannon”. This was first produced for use in about 1943. It consisted basically of a combustion chamber with a barrel and worked by methane and oxygen. It was the resulting explosion which created the damage. Animals could be killed instantly within a hundred yards and troops could be paralyzed for hours at a range of 200 yards. By April 1945 Germany had in production 150 different types of missiles and rockets on the drawing board with diagrams and even models along with aircraft of all sizes.

Among these diagrams was one which eventually became the Boeing Corporation’s 747 Jumbo Jet. Incredibly enough—among the technology was the Flying Disc. As early as 1940 these were being produced. There is photographic proof of such craft but no material proof was ever captured by wartime allies.

According to your own records there were as many as five major scientists working on the “UFO” projects. They developed a disc shaped machine with a 65-foot diameter. Involved were Bellonzo, Schriever, Miethe and, of course, Victor Schauburger. His disc or “Flying Hat” was electro-magnetically powered and if you look at photographs of the Schauburger disc, you will note that it looks exactly like discs photographed over the United States. These discs attained great speed with silent take-off. There were also designs called flying wheels and craft with inflatable airbags for landing cushions. They had some quite fine prototypes but no, they were not Pleiadian design. They were more on the technology of Saturnians and some Reticulum craft.

The final model was referred to as the Bellonzo-Schriever-Miethe Diskus. This version was produced in various sizes, some as large as 135 feet and even 225 feet in diameter. Actual speeds recorded were over 2000 km/hour. Conventional rocket motor speeds of up to 4000 km/hour were anticipated. Interestingly enough, no German technicians who worked on those advanced machines have volunteered their knowledge.

More interesting is the fact that many scientists were taken by the allies and yet no UFO scientists were located. As a matter of fact, installations for work on the craft were often underground or in hillside cave dugouts. All facilities were dismantled and vanished without leaving so much as a detail. Now where do you think everyone went?

LOOK AT THE EVIDENCE

Now, dear ones, we are not speaking of sloppy workmanship. In 1945 a disc could attain an altitude of 40,000 feet in less than three minutes, reaching a speed of 1,300 mph. You need to also remember that Germany was the first to fly what you now call Delta Wing craft. As a matter of fact, the advanced technology was comparable to much of your public-attentioned aircraft of the current day—i.e., the Stealth, etc. This, of course, is a cover for what is actually going on but I need not spoil the story.

These discs were manufactured in many various areas and all were well hidden even from the local population. As the craft would be finished, they were immediately dismantled and shipped in pieces out of the country—usually along with the pilots. Orders for dismantling always came directly from Adolf Hitler himself. The major scientists involved simply vanished.

Many German scientists went to America after the war and they were all interrogated about the UFO works; however, it has never been made public to you ones as to whether or not the major technology was ever revealed. And yet you got the nuclear bomb—in fact, it was said that the bomb itself was built in Germany!

Many reports were made by pilots over Germany, about UFOs. The strange thing is that no one was ever injured by them, although they certainly unnerved many air crews. Then following the surrender of Germany, the same type objects were observed over the Japanese areas.

NEW METAL

Probably the most unique thing that came out of that period of technological spurt was a new type of metal. This metal is harder than diamonds. This metal glows alternatively in colors of the rainbow when heated to a high degree. It was first used commercially in 1936. Strangely enough no record was made of this metal in the indexes of metals.

THE A-BOMB

Hitler issued an order on September 26, 1936. A Dr. Esau was put in control of the project. With the capture of Norway there was available to Germany a source of heavy water which had previously been lacking. One tanker full of heavy water has not been accounted for to this day.

Thus it can be seen that Germany was a very advanced country—the mystery is, what happened to all the technology?

To start with, let us examine one of the biggest mysteries of your 20th Century. Did Adolf Hitler commit suicide or did he not? Popular accounts are that on the 30th of April 1945, Hitler shot himself. His body was said to have then been cremated. The most important witnesses and the men closest to Hitler have never been found, e.g. Bormann, Stumpfegger, Gunsche, et al.

Here you will find a most interesting situation, only two eyewitnesses were found who claimed Hitler committed suicide—all other witnesses were never found or could not answer. Hitler’s body was never found. Also, the bloodstains found on the furniture where Hitler supposedly committed suicide was not of Hitler’s blood type. There is absolutely no concrete evidence, therefore, that Hitler died.

Further, Hitler was not a coward nor did he believe in “giving-in”. Suicide is completely out of character—for after he had heard of the suicide of the Mayor of Leipzig and his family, he had condemned suicide as cowardly and unbecoming to a National Socialist.

Hitler’s personal pilot stated that on the first of May 1945 he flew Hitler and Bormann to an airfield in Norway. I truly doubt that this would represent a resurrection. There they transferred to another aircraft and flew on to another place along the Norwegian coast. Later the pilot retracted the statement and backed the suicide statement after having been made aware of the incident.

Now, very strange things happened when the allies got to Greenland. Norway had held out longer than all other defense positions for the Germans but when the allies reached Greenland they found two direct opposites—sites which were totally abandoned and dismantled and other places where the defense was so total that in the end even the defenders could not be found and were never found—they just vanished.

AH HA! THE ANTARCTIC

At the beginning of the war, long-range plans were put into operation to prepare bases in the Antarctic should relocation be necessary. Strange perhaps, but most effective indeed. Stranger yet, in February 1945 in Hitler's last speech he said, "Germany will still win the war and the last bastion will be ours!"

Officially, the Second World War was never officially ended. The German army surrendered on the 7th of May 1945 and Japan followed on the 2nd of September 1945—no formal peace treaty was ever signed. Your own General Eisenhower stated, just before he became President, "The Second World War has not yet ended."

Stranger yet—during the war Germany had 1,162 U-boats (submarines). Of these, 783 were lost in action. Of the remaining 379, 215 were supposedly scuttled by the German navy itself and about 154 were captured by the allies—the rest were never found. Statistics are rough, however, and several U-boats of the latest design arrived in Japan with war materials some three weeks after the defeat in Europe. These submarines subsequently sailed and were never again seen.

Later, some two months after Germany's surrender, a German submarine gave itself up to Argentine authorities after all scientific instruments and weapons on board had been destroyed. The U-boat had calmly slipped into the harbor of Rio de la Plata. The Commander's name was Otto Wermoutt. The world was stunned and electrified! What was a German submarine doing all the way down there in South America? And, why had they not surrendered earlier?

The crew was turned over to the U.S. military after long demand but no results were ever publicized. Funny thing—the crew was 54 men. The usual German crew size was only 18 men. There were also large food stocks on board. However, the real surprise was 540 large tin cans or barrels, all hermetically sealed and upon opening were found to contain nothing but cigarettes. Now what would a submarine be doing cruising around South America almost three months after the war with a triple strength crew; carrying a cargo of nothing but cigarettes? The average age of those 54 men turned out to be less than 25 years, with the exception of the machinist who was 32 years old. The commander himself was only 25, and the second officer an incredible 22 years young.

Later, in checking, it was never found that there was a Captain by the name of Otto Wermoutt, the one given as that of the commander of the U-boat. All the crew had similar mysterious surroundings—no relatives, all alone, etc.

Five weeks later, another sensational submarine surrender took place and again at Rio de la Plata. A German U-boat, U-977 under Commander H. Schaffer gave itself up to the Argentinian authorities, and this, three months after the end of the war. There was a crew of 32 men—still fourteen above the regular crew. It was soon learned, however, that there had been another 16 men, all of them married and with families in Germany, and had been dropped off "on orders", on the Norwegian coast. It is obvious that the operation was completely in control and the men were dropped off at the exact same spot where earlier reports stated the Fuhrer had been taken after his departure from Berlin. This U-boat was inspected thoroughly in search of Hitler—it was obvious that all on the "inside" knew that Hitler was still alive.

Still more U-boats appeared off the coast of South America. Well, we will look at possibilities at the next sitting. I don't want to belabor this subject because it is well known that there is a German base in the Antarctic and the story gets most boring indeed. It is necessary for those of you who come newly into this knowledge not be left completely outside the story but it can get most lengthy and has little bearing on UFOs as far as the transfer to the base.

Dharma, it is late and it has been a very long day. Let us close for this portion. Thank you for your long hours. I will move to stand-by and allow you to close. Good-evening.

Hatonn to clear, please. Thank you.

CHAPTER 10

REC #1 HATONN

TUE., MAR. 27, 1990 8:00 A.M. YEAR 3 DAY 223

Good morning in the Light of the Radiant One. Hatonn present that we might work on the Journal this morning.

The question which comes to me from you ones who have privy to the daily writings is, "Well, what does Nazi Germany and Hitler have to do with the mess of the Conspiracy?" Lots! Great bunches!

It moves beyond the mysterious and becomes entangled with your very currency. As you will recall, in a prior chapter we spoke of encounters with German submarines in recent years and many of the German personnel who fled Europe have since been located living in South America quite comfortably and in great abundance.

Recall also, that in Europe, there exists a registration obligation for each member of a community. Precise and detailed records are kept where a person lives, number of children, sex, age and so forth, as well as place of employment. Also noted, are details of closest relatives. In Europe, therefore, it is relatively easy to trace and locate anyone and at short notice. True, there was a temporary breakdown in the last few months of the war due to heavy bomb damage and the refugee problem, but conditions rapidly returned to the usual bureaucratic precision. In fact, these very records allow for the ferreting out of the "Nazi war criminals".

Taking into account casualties and deaths from all causes (and this includes the million-plus "other losses") there are still 250,000 missing persons—and almost all were young people in their late teens to early twenties. That missing group has been widely referred to as the "last battalion".

Remember, in addition, that when the "last battalion" departed for places of Antarctica and later to slip quietly into Argentina and integrate into the population, counterfeiting plates were taken with them.

My dear ones, the Falkland Island War had nothing to do with Argentina—it had everything to do with old war remnants of the "second" variety. Also a major distraction at a most critical time, as we shall note later.

The continuous rumors about German U-boat activity in the region of Tierra del Fuego (Feuerland, in German), between the southernmost tip of Latin America and the continent of Antarctica are based on truth and were written up most critically as truth by France's Agence France Press on the 25th of Sept. 1946.

One of the more startling facts proving quite definitely that W.W. II did not end on May 8th, 1945 is an account some one-and-a-half years after cessation of hostilities in Europe; the Islandic Whaler, Juliana, was stopped by a large German U-boat. The Juliana was in the Antarctic region around Malvinas Island when a German submarine surfaced and raised the German official naval Flag of Mourning—red with a black edge. I urge you not to take exception if I repeat a few incidents, for they are indeed most important from several aspects and are often missed the first reading.

The submarine commander sent out a boarding party which approached the Juliana in a rubber dinghy, and having boarded the whaler demanded of Capt. Hekla part of his fresh food stocks. The request was made in the definite tone of an order to which resistance would have been most unwise. The German officer spoke correct English and paid for his provisions in U.S. dollars, giving the Captain a bonus of $10 for each member of the Juliana crew. While the foodstuffs were being transferred to the submarine, the submarine commander informed Capt. Hekla of the exact location of a large school of whales. Later the Juliana found the whales exactly where designated. This, too, was reported in the French press.

Now comes the hook-up. Huge amounts of money were clandestinely invested by Nazi Front men all over the world, but especially in South America. KNOWN are 300 million dollars to Spain, Sweden 250 million, Switzerland 100 million and Portugal 50 million and this represents only about 25% of the known investments which were mostly centralized in South and Central America.

Billions of dollars were invested (and are being currently, 3/27/90) in large tracts of jungle and pampas real estate, factories, transportation, airlines, shipping and other assorted companies including food processing and agriculture. ALL PAID FOR IN AMERICAN DOLLARS—BY THE BILLIONS. It is not drug money being laundered through the South and Central American banks that is the target of the U.S.—it is an effort to stop the flooding of the counterfeit money.

The U.S. tells you the new money will be for the purpose to stop drug dealers and stop counterfeiting among the drug dealers—nay, nay, NAY—it is the only way to stop the German printing presses in your own hemisphere.

How many of you are further aware that the U.S. GAVE currency printing plates to Russia? I thought not. Check it out—it will do wonders for your confirmation of old Hatonn's input.

"RED HOUSE CONFERENCE"

Let us look at some findings which surfaced in 1944. Yes, Dharma, the history is most important, chela, for you cannot have continuity and find belief in these truths unless you are given confirmation in background. You know me and know my words are truth—most readers are still in shock and are looking for every detail possible to disprove my input. I'm sorry, chela, I know the writing is long and distressing, but it is indeed necessary. Thank you for continuing this dialog. Your legacy shall be great, let us not weaken now for mankind must know the whole of it. He must be able to locate from whence his attackers shall be coming forth.

I think, for clarification, it would be easier and give more Earth confirmation if I dictate a portion from a book entitled THE AVENGERS, by Michael Bar-Zohar dealing with Jewish war and post-war tactics against the Germans. You can find a lot of detailed information about the transfer of German money to foreign lands. You do not need to get the book, for I shall honor the author but we are more concerned, at this point, with the counterfeit funds. But you need confirmation regarding the money shift, etc., to give credence to this writing as to background.

The Red House Conference:

A most unusual conference of German officials and industrialists was held at the Maison Rouge Hotel in Strasbourg on August 10, 1944. The proceedings of this "Red House" conference are known from the shorthand report, which fell into the hands of the American OSS at the end of the war. A Lieutenant Revesz showed it to Simon Wiesenthal, who took a photostat and published it some years later.

Among those present at this conference were representatives of the Ministry of Munitions and the Foreign Office, delegates from the big industrial combines—Krupps, Messerschmitt, Rochling, Goering Werke, Hermannsdorfwerke—and several senior civil servants. The object of the meeting was to decide upon measures for safeguarding the treasury of the Third Reich. They reached two main decisions—some of the riches would be hidden away in the territory of the Reich, and German capital would be sent abroad.

The conference urged that the Nazi Party should go underground in the event of defeat, and should prepare for a return to power with the help of the treasures safely hidden away.

These decisions began to be put into effect in the following months. An "experimental station" was set up near Lake Toplitz and a number of containers packed chiefly with forged pound notes and documents were submerged in the lake, and some other containers were hidden away in old mines in the hills. Most of them were removed again when Allied forces were approaching the region. Although the Allies did not have full knowledge of these hiding places until the report of the "Red House" conference fell into their hands, some information on the Nazis' postwar plans had reached the Allied secret services early in 1945. In March of that year a detailed report on the subject was submitted to the State Department in Washington:

"The Nazi regime has made very precise plans for the perpetuation of its doctrine and domination after the war. Some of these plans are already being put into effect.

"Members of the Nazi Party, German industrialists and Army leaders, realizing that there is no hope of victory, are presently preparing commercial plans for the postwar period, endeavoring to renew connections with industrial circles abroad in the hope of reestablishing prewar cartels. After the war, the intention is for 'front men' to appeal to the courts of various countries against the 'illegal' seizure of German industrial concerns and other German property by the Allies at the outbreak of the war. In the event this method does not succeed, the recovery of the German property would be made through figureheads possessing the requisite citizenship. German attempts to continue to have a share in the control and development of technological progress during the immediate postwar period are reflected in the phenomenal increase in German patents registered in certain foreign countries during the past two years. These registrations reached their peak in 1944....

"German capital and plans for the building of ultramodern technical schools and research laboratories are being offered on very advantageous terms, in view of the fact that the Germans will hereby be able to make and perfect new weapons.

"The German propaganda program is an integral part of this general planning for the postwar period. The immediate aim of this propaganda program will be to bring about a relaxation of Allied controls on the pretext that the Germans should be treated 'honestly'. Later, this program will be extended and intensified with a view to reviving Nazi doctrine and pursuing German ambitions of world domination. Unless these plans are counteracted, they constitute a constant threat to the peace and security of the postwar world."

The American specialists had greatly extended their knowledge of this subject by the end of the war. They soon had a list of 750 firms with head offices in neutral countries, founded or bought with German capital. Switzerland headed the list with 274 firms; then came Portugal with 258, Spain with 112, Argentina with 98 and Turkey with 35. A number of firms had also been acquired in South American countries other than Argentina.

Special accounts in Swiss and Liechtenstein banks were placed at the disposal of the Argentine Government, officially to help their industrial development. Some of the accounts were made personally available to Argentine leaders.

As military defeat and final catastrophe had become more certain, the Nazi chiefs stepped up their preparations for the future—a future in which they meant to have a stake. They had deposited large sums with banks in neutral countries and salted away just as much in the portfolios of apparently respectable people in Liechtenstein, Portugal and Patagonia—and had hidden much wealth in the depths of old salt mines in Austria and below the dark water of the Alpine lakes. All of this hidden treasure might indeed permit a revival of Nazism one day—so long as there were still Nazis around able to draw upon it.

Ah, the Germans were a busy lot, from whom you ones at this time in history, could well take lessons in preparation. Added to their tucking away of treasures, extensive research was immediately launched into areas of artificial food cultivation, in huge greenhouses, with everything grown only on "chemical soil" and under artificial light. "Butter" was produced from coal and dry milk was one of their very survival inventions. A method was also invented to indefinitely preserve wheat flour. Great strides were also made in Freeze-Drying all types of food and this was carried out particularly in experimental plants located in the area of Helmstedt. Hitler was keenly interested in these projects, visiting them frequently. In a very short while, Germany was more or less self-sufficient and for the first time in centuries. NO GERMAN EVER EXPERIENCED WANT AND HUNGER AGAIN UNTIL THE ALLIES BURNT OR ROBBED ALL THE HUGE WAREHOUSES OF THEIR CONTENTS IN 1945 AND AFTER.

LIES OF THE LIBERATORS

Any German who lived through that dreadful time will tell you what the humanitarian "liberators" of Germany doled out as food rations after their victory. In the French zone of occupation it was officially 850 calories a day, in the American zone it was "officially" a little more, whilst the inmates of Hitler's concentration camps (whose bony corpses you are still seeing daily on TV and in the newspapers) received more than double that amount of calories daily. The resultant famine and death from starvation, particularly among the elderly and infants, is well remembered by the German population. They call it a "peace crime". The food supply for any secret UFO force (which is what Hitler himself called the "last battalion") had already been solved.

WHAT ABOUT THAT COUNTERFEIT MONEY?

What about funds? Well, let us examine some facts which should also begin to give you clues as to why the Jewish community insists on keeping the "holocaust" in the forefront of people's minds some forty-plus years later. IT SIMPLY IS NOT LIKE YOU HAVE BEEN TOLD IT IS, AND WAS!

Let us look into the counterfeit situation. Hitler had again already planned, with great foresight, for this inevitability. In captivity in concentration camps such as Dachau, Buchenwald and Auschwitz, were Europe's best-known and most skilled forgers—many of them JEWS. They were geniuses at their particular craft.

A secret order was issued from Berlin code-named "Operation Bernhard". All the forgery experts were collected and were offered life and freedom if they cooperated in producing for Hitler, perfect forgeries of some of the allied currencies, but in particular, forgeries of the British pound and the American dollar, in various denominations. At first the forgers refused, but one by one they cooperated and in an astonishingly short space of time, they produced what seemed to be perfect forgeries. The German government supplied from its own papermills what is usually the stumbling block to perfect counterfeiting—high quality paper. The plates and paper were perfect, but not satisfied with their own judgement, a secret agent was sent to neutral Switzerland with a suitcase full of "German-made" pounds and dollars as well as other currencies in all denominations. This agent went to one of Switzerland's largest banks and requested to see the manager and stated: "I am negotiating a business deal with a man I suspect of being a Nazi agent, and he intends to pay me in this currency with these bills. Please test them and see if they are genuine." The bank manager explained he could not do this right away since it was in foreign currency, so the Nazi agent left the bills with the bank manager arranging to return within a few days. Upon his return, he was told that the money was genuine, and that the bank would be pleased to accept it for exchange. The agent returned to Germany and the printing presses started rolling in Auschwitz and Buchenwald. Untold millions were printed, so much so that Britain, after the war, withdrew from circulation its five-pound note—a first in British history.

"Come now, Hatonn" you say: "This is too much!" Well, let us look at a documented incident and sequel to this story.

Rumors persisted about Operation Bernhard long after the end of the war and one such rumor was checked out quite thoroughly by you human entities. For weeks a group of Austrian government frogmen searched Lake Toplitz in Austria. Eventually they found the wreckage of a German plane, the skeleton of the dead pilot still strapped to his seat. In the hold were large metal trunks which, when pried open, revealed over 300,000 British five-pound notes, in neat bundles, perfectly unspoiled and with them, some of the printing plates. The money was confiscated by the Austrian authorities, although it was at that time useless as the five-pound note had been withdrawn from circulation by the British.

Now remember the U-boat captain had paid for his food in U.S. dollars and obviously had no shortage of money since each crewmember of the whaler had been given a $10 bonus.

It is not yet generally known that the entire Reichsbank Treasure (All of Germany's reserves) disappeared from the bank vaults in Berlin before the end of the war. Guinness Book Of World Records lists this story under "The greatest unsolved robbery!" Dear ones, that money is still viable indeed as a currency—remember that the war was never officially ended?

NOTE: During the U.S. balance-of-payments crisis, Time magazine carried an article about discussions taking place at the Headquarters of the World Monetary Fund in Basel, Switzerland. They found that 15 billion dollars were in circulation, which should not really exist. One wonders where that amount of money might come from, wouldn't you suspect? And that had naught to do with the American hemisphere. So be it!

Please, let old Hatonn believe that you are beginning to get a better perspective on current events. Why do you suppose the Thatcher government sanctioned Bush's action in Panama? (The Panama "invasion" was to get control of those banks—remember I told you?). Further, WHO WERE THE ALLIES OF GERMANY IN WWII? JAPAN PERHAPS? WHY DO YOU THINK YOU ARE HAVING TROUBLE GETTING THE NEW MONEY INTO CIRCULATION? OH, MY YES—INTRIGUE, INTRIGUE AND JAMES BOND MAGNIFIED!!

Further, pay attention to the effort to keep the "holocaust" (which we will point out probably did not occur as you are told) alive and well: The Zionists who initiated their Global Plan 2000 takeover of world control know the enemy is at hand and are ready to take on anything that comes along—for THEY also have a Global Plan 2000 to takeover and control the world—and the conspirators of the Cartel of bankers are all mixed up within them all! Now isn't this grand game playing? Well, it would be if the blind masses of humanity weren't up for enslavement and gross genocide and annihilation.

How could all these things be kept secret? Easy—no one gives you any news—the media is totally controlled. Let us look for a minute at the operation Antarctica and Admiral Byrd's expedition, then we can move on into a brief discussion of why the big UFO cover-up.

A break, please. This computer is acting up. Please open a new file to avoid any losses.

Hatonn to standby.

By John & Jean Ray

MOSSAD CHIEF: WWII STARTED SEPT. 11

WorldNetDaily.com, 07/05/02

The head of Israel's intelligence agency has stated in a speech to NATO that he believes World War III began on Sept. 11 when terrorists attacked the United States.

Efraim Halevy, chief of the Mossad, spoke at a meeting of the NATO Alliance Council in Brussels, Belgium, according to a translation of his speech posted on Gamla: News and Views from Israel. The preface of the speech indicates it was originally published in the Israeli daily Yidiot Aharonot on June 28. Present at the meeting were ambassadors from the 19 member nations of NATO.

Halevy began his talk by highlighting the continuing terrorist attacks in Israel.

"Since the beginning of the Palestinian intifada against Israel, more than 60 suicide attacks have been executed against us. It is no longer a marginal phenomenon, which characterizes a small and extremist sector of the society. It is a phenomenon that is developing at a quick pace into a half-legitimate form of warfare. ..." Halevy said.

He then presented his characterization of Sept. 11. "The 11th of September was, if you will, an official and biting declaration of World War III. Also in the '90s there were terror attacks—the explosions that were executed simultaneously at the U.S. embassies in Nairobi and Dar Es Salaam, the attack on the American naval vessel Cole in Yemen. There were terror acts in New York that brought about arrests and convictions, but only on Sept. 11, was the die cast, and the true character of the new war was revealed to the eyes of all."

Continued Halevy, "This is a war in which the sides are not only countries but also terrorist groups that operate almost with impunity. It is a war which does not have clear fighting lines; it is a war that is being waged against free societies, with weapons and strategies we have not known until now. It is a war which does not adhere to the rules of war, or the international legal norms."

Halevy criticized Syria's acceptance by the world community, as evidenced by its presence on the United Nations Security Council, even as it plays host to Palestinian terror groups.

"It is possible for Syria, which gives protection to these groups, to receive a seat as a respected member of the Security Council, and its representative even serves this month as chairman of the Council," Halevy told the ambassadors, "and this at the very time when the Palestinian Islamic Jihad sent a suicide attacker to blow up a bus in the north of Israel, and caused the killing of around 20 people. The leader of this organization, Ramadan Shalakh, publicly took responsibility for this attack from where he sits in his Damascus headquarters, when he was interviewed by the Al Jazeera television network, which millions watch all over the Arab and Muslim world."

While Halevy pointed out that some Muslims seek peace, he highlighted the growing acceptance and influence of those bent on violence and destruction.

"Violent Radical Islam has been until now a minority stream in the Islamic religion, and most Muslims were—and one hopes they will continue to be in the future—aspiring to peace and moderate in their approach to life. But if the violent minority groups are not restrained, and in many cases, completely eliminated—then the statement 'nothing succeeds like success' is liable to symbolize the terrible threat to the basic fabric of the member countries of NATO in which Muslim communities are growing and developing, in numbers and in influence, while they preserve their unique identity and culture."...

Finishing his address with comments about weapons of mass destruction, Halevy singled out Iran, Syria, Iraq and Libya as serious threats.

"To sum up," Halevy said, "preservation of the free societies and the lives of their citizens must be recognized as a basic right of every man and woman on the Earth. We must shorten the days of criminal countries and entities, that act not only as lords of their destinies, but as lords of your destinies and ours."

[JR: Mr. Halevy's speech to the NATO ambassadors is more of a sales pitch to gain support for future U.S. and Israeli actions in the Middle East. I guess that in the eyes of the Mossad our 911 tragedy was definitely the start of the Zionist's plan for WWII. It certainly got the U.S. mobilized to defend and protect Israel against her deadliest enemy... her Arab and Muslim neighbors. The Mossad chief hints that Israel is left vulnerable by the deadly guerrilla tactics used by the Muslim suicide bombers and that the mighty Israeli military is not effective against them. He left out how effective the Israeli military is in terrorizing Palestinian civilians and in destroying their towns and cities. The Zionists have another concern to vent about and that is that the Muslims are adopting similar strategies that the false Jews have used to gain influence and support in the countries they migrate to. If the false Jews have designated that all Muslims are a threat to the world then they are expressing the same feelings and concerns that many non-Jews have about Israel. Mr. Halevy summed it up perfectly when he said "we must shorten the days of criminal countries and entities, that act not only as the lords of their destinies, but as lords of yours and ours." Mr. Halevy, you couldn't have stated it any better for all of us goyim... thank you and Shalom!]

U.S. AIR FORCE: ISRAEL HAS 400 NUKES, BUILDING NAVAL FORCE

WORLD TRIBUNE.COM, 07/04/02

A United States Air Force report asserts that Israel is building a nuclear naval force meant to respond to any nuclear strike by such countries as Iran or Iraq.

It is the first time a U.S. military institution has stated that Israel has produced a hydrogen bomb. The number of purported Israeli nuclear weapons cited in the report is double that of previous assessments.

The report, sponsored by the air force's Counterproliferation Center, asserts that the navy can deploy any of what it asserts is Israel's 400 atomic and hydrogen weapons, Middle East Newslines reported. The center is located in the Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama.

In a report entitled "The Third Temple's Holy of Holies: Israel's Nuclear Weapons," U.S. Army Col. Warner Farr said Israel's nuclear arsenal has grown from an estimated 13 nuclear bombs in 1967 to 400 nuclear and thermonuclear weapons. Farr said Israel's navy could deploy nuclear weapons on the fleet of three German-built Dolphin-class diesel submarines.

"Israel will then have a second strike capability with nuclear cruise missiles, and this capability could well change the nuclear arms race in the Middle East," the report, which Farr said is based on unclassified sources, read. "Israeli rhetoric on the new submarines labels them 'national deterrent' assets."

The report said these nuclear missiles could have a range of 350 kilometers. Israel would try to base its nuclear naval force near Oman, with which Israel has informal relations, the September 1999 report, which was recently published by the center, said.

"The first basing options for the new second-strike force of nuclear missile capable submarines include Oman, an Arab nation with unofficial Israeli relations, located strategically near Iran," the report said.

The U.S. Air Force Counterproliferation Center was established in 1998. The center is meant to help prepare air force commanders counter the threat from weapons of mass destruction. The report did not deem Israel's purported nuclear arsenal as a direct threat to the United States.

The report said Israel's Defense Ministry has requested from the government of Prime Minister Ariel Sharon authorization for a retaliatory nuclear strike. Israel could also use Jordanian air space for a nuclear strike on Iran, which the report said could produce a nuclear warhead as early as 2004. [JR: Our U.S. military and intelligence is busy seeking Taliban and al-Qaida terrorists everywhere in the world yet they fail to recognize the terrorist capabilities that the state of Israel represents in the Middle East and to the U.S. Just because the Zionists run this country it does not mean that we have been excluded from Israel's list of perceived enemies. Israel has denied for 40 years that she was developing nuclear weapons at Dimona and now she feels emboldened enough to announce to the world the nuclear arsenal she has built while lying to us all. If this doesn't send shivers throughout the world and not just through the Middle East then we are all a bunch a sheep ready to march over the cliff at Israel's command. Israel is a terrorist state and unless we non-Jew (Shemites) wake up to that fact we will become the victims of our Zionist rulers who intend to control every nation. They fanatically believe that this is their heritage because their G-d has decreed that it be so.]

ISRAEL ACHIEVES ICBM CAPABILITY

WorldNetDaily.com, 07/03/02

Israel has achieved the ability to produce intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Israeli officials and experts said the nation's ICBM capability was demonstrated by its launch in May of the Ofeq-5 satellite into space orbit. The satellite was carried by a Shavit-class booster. The Shavit booster was launched westward against the Earth's orbit, officials said. The direction was decided to prevent the Ofeq from falling into enemy hands if it failed in an eastward launch.

"The minute Israel can launch a satellite into orbit around the earth to an altitude of hundreds of kilometers, it established the capability to launch, by means of a missile, a payload to any location on earth," Moshe Gelman, a leading Israeli space expert at the Technion-Israel Institute of Technology, said on Wednesday. "We are talking about the laws of physics."

Gelman said the path of a satellite booster is the same as that of a ballistic missile. The difference is the target—with a booster requiring greater energy to ensure that it does not fall to earth with the satellite. ...

The Shavit is said to be a derivative of the Jericho surface-to-surface missile. The Jericho is believed to have been last tested in the Mediterranean two years ago.

U.S. officials have determined that the Shavit has a range of 7,200 kilometers (4,464 miles), the Israeli Ha'aretz daily said. The newspaper quoted Professor Steve Fetter, a physicist at the University of Maryland, that the Shavit could deliver a 775-kilogram warhead a distance of 4,000 kilometers (2,480 miles).

Israel's Jericho missile silo is said to be located outside Bet Shemesh, about 25 kilometers (16 miles) southwest of Jerusalem. The London-based Foreign Report asserted that a six-man Palestinian insurgency cell captured on Monday had attempted to blow up the missile facility.

[JR: There must be a short list as to what Israel does not have, didn't procure or maneuver for us tax payers to pay for her arsenal. Israel is letting us all know (weekly now) just what weapons she has in her really big war chest. Her public relations campaign through the media must not be doing the job in selling her hostile actions to the rest of the world. Israel's message now is that she has the arms and the means to use force against anyone who thinks to challenge her... including the U.S. Remember her deliberate attack on the USS Liberty? She buried any investigations or inquiries with intimidation and threats.]

'JEWS-ONLY' LAW IGNITES FIRESTORM

By Bradley Burston, Ha'aretz, 07/08/02

A proposed law that would allow Jews to bar Arabs from buying homes in their communities could expose Israel to a fresh wave of condemnation recalling the now-rescinded UN resolution equating Zionism and racism, critics of the bill said Wednesday.

In a decision that set off a storm of debate, Prime Minister Ariel Sharon's cabinet Sunday voted to endorse a bill that would allow areas within Israel which have been designated as state land to be devoted to residential use by Jews alone. The bill still faces considerable legislative hurdles before it can be passed into law.

Although worded in the gray phraseology of legislative practice, the measure goes to the heart of a crucial dichotomy of modern Israel: how to maintain a pluralistic state that is at once formally Jewish in character and genuinely democratic in practice.

"If we are not already totally an apartheid state, we are getting much, much closer to it," said former cabinet minister and leftist Meretz party founder Shulamit Aloni.

"We are also moving farther and farther away from the founding document of the state of Israel," she said, in a reference to the nation's 1948 Declaration of Independence, which pledged "development of the country for the benefit of all its residents" and "complete social and political equality to all its citizens, regardless of religion, race, or gender".

The bill was prompted by a landmark Supreme Court ruling over the efforts of the northern Israel Jewish village of Katzir to bar an Israel Arab from buying a house there. Although defined as a "community settlement", without the complex communal interrelationships of kibbutzim and moshavim, Katzir residents voted to keep Israeli Arab Adel Ka'adan from buying a plot and building a house there.

After years of legal wrangling, the court in March, 2000, accepted Ka'adan's argument that the policy of the Jewish Agency, the quasi-governmental body which administers state lands for many Jewish villages, discriminated against Arab citizens and was therefore illegal.

Sponsored by National Religious Party MK Haim Druckman, critics said the proposed law was designed to bypass the court decision, formalizing dissemination on Israel's lawbooks.

Education Minister Limon Livnat, who spearheaded the cabinet decision to ratify the bill, said the purpose of the measure was to clarify de facto policies in founding specifically Jewish communities within the nation."...

Livnat dismissed suggestions that the bill was anti-democratic, saying that each sector in Israel should be allowed to live among its own. Moreover, she said, "All of us were raised on the same Zionist values, according to which, the state of Israel may, from the standpoint of national security—the wider view of security, not necessarily of concrete security... foster the value of a Galilee with a Jewish majority."

But cabinet minister Dan Meridor, a conspicuous dissenter as the cabinet endorsed the bill by a wide margin, denounced the proposed law as "a grave error" and "flagrantly discriminatory".

"It is not permissible to allow an Israeli law to state that a non-Jew may be prevented from living in a particular place for security reasons," Meridor said. "This is not a security matter at all. There is no need for flagrant discrimination." Indeed, he said, by contrast to discrimination that Jews have experienced in the Diaspora, the Jewish state legally does not discriminate against non-Jews.

"As to the charges that Zionism is racism—what are we ourselves saying here?"...

Aloni, an attorney, said Israel had already put segregation into effect in a number of ways, among them in appropriating Arab-owned land, designating it as "state land", and earmarking it for use by specifically Jewish towns and villages. She angrily dismissed suggestions that the law was an outgrowth of Israeli-Arab rioting at the outset of the current Palestinian uprising. "If you see this as a life-and-death matter, that means that the state of Israel views its Arab citizens as the enemy.”

“Perhaps we should turn every Israeli Arab village into a detention camp, like we do in the occupied territories, so that Druckman and the rest of the messianics could take away their land as well,” Aloni said. “By the right of our might, we are acting as a racist nation. South Africa, as well, was White and democratic. But that was not the intention here.”...

As the debate over the proposed law intensified, Livnat said she viewed the decision as “a very great victory for those who view Israel as a democratic Jewish state as opposed as those who see it as the nation of all its citizens. There is no racism in this.”

Livnat bristled when an interviewer on state-owned Israel Radio went further, drawing a parallel to anti-Semitic laws in Nazi Germany. “When the Jews came here after the World War Two Nazi Holocaust, perhaps it would not have been expected that Jews would do something like this to Arabs,” the interviewer said. ...

[JR: Since the Zionists have long maintained the practice of discrimination against Arabs and Palestinians in the occupied territories, why make it a law? If exclusion is part of “Zionist values” and beliefs then why deny that it is anything but and try to pass it off as vital to Israeli security. The pending law that would allow Jews to bar Palestinians from buying homes in Jewish communities is anti-Shemitism (Semitism) in its purest form. Why aren’t all the non-Jews (goyim) besides the Muslims making loud protests regarding this issue? The false Jews exalt themselves above everyone else as well as the law that we are made to or are forced to abide by in order to protect them from their unlawful acts. Neither the God of Creation that made all races nor any other God so named has decreed that the Jews are a special race who should rule over us all. If the White Christian coalition thinks that by supporting Zionist causes they are being goodly and godly, they had better ponder how little love there is in the Zionist world we now live in. The G_d of Zion is evil in concept and rules only through fear and hate. Only the deceived have yet to notice.]

U.S. ENVOY CREATES STORM IN BOLIVIA

By Hector Tobar and Andrew Enever,
Los Angeles Times, 07/07/02

LA PAZ, Bolivia—The election to pick this Andean nation’s next president has devolved into a morass of accusations and conspiracy theories, with an American diplomat and a former coca farmer at the center of the controversy.

Did U.S. Ambassador Manuel Rocha shape the outcome of the election by publicly attacking a leftist candidate who is critical of U.S. foreign policy? Three of the top four vote-getters in Sunday’s election seem to think so.

After six days of vote counting, nearly complete official returns Friday left the race a virtual three-way tie. The Bolivian Congress will meet Aug. 6 to choose the next president from the top two vote-getters.

Gonzalo Sanchez de Lozada, the center-right candidate who served as president from 1993 to 1997, appeared likely to win, despite garnering just 22.5 percent of the vote as of Friday evening.

But Evo Morales, the Aymara Indian and former coca farmer who founded the Movement Toward Socialism, may also be a big winner. Long an opponent of U.S.-backed efforts to eliminate the farming of coca leaves—used, among other things, to make cocaine—Morales is now poised to become the leader of the largest opposition party in Congress.

All 157 seats in both houses of Congress were also at stake in the election. Morales’ party won seven seats in the 27-member Senate and 26 seats in the 131-member Chamber of Deputies, making the Movement Toward Socialism the second-largest party in both houses of Congress, behind the Nationalist Revolutionary Movement of Sanchez de Lozada.

“I am happy, there is enormous satisfaction, above all for the people, the people who are discriminated against,” said Morales, best-known for organizing coca farmers in the region around Cochabamba in central Bolivia. “The people have voted against any further eradication of coca, not only in Cochabamba but in all Bolivia.”

Morales and his followers say that coca is a traditional crop used for home remedies and that the farmers who grow it would go broke if forced to grow something else. Most analysts here say support for Morales grew—from 4 percent in polls earlier this year to 20.8 percent in last weekend’s election—largely due to Rocha’s repeated attacks on the coca growers.

Just days before the vote, Rocha suggested a Morales victory would mean the end of American aid. “The Bolivian electorate must consider the consequences of choosing leaders somehow connected with drug trafficking and terrorism,” Rocha said June 26.

To many, Morales became a symbol of Bolivian national honor in the face of “Yankee imperialism”.

Now, Morales’ strong showing has thrown the political process into turmoil. The leaders of all of Bolivia’s major parties have said they would not join a coalition government with Morales. But leaders of the same parties do not seem keen to make a deal with Sanchez de Lozada and his party either.

On Thursday, spokesmen for two major parties said that the American ambassador’s statements were part of a plan to help Sanchez de Lozada win the election. The ambassador, the argument went, attacked Morales to divert votes from other, more centrist candidates, including the second-place finisher, Manfred Reyes Villa, the mayor of Cochabamba, who had 20.9 percent of the vote.

Morales has said his party will not ally itself with any of the major party candidates.

[JR: What kind of Socialism in Bolivia are we talking about here? Is the populist power to the people movement setting off the alarm bells and not Socialism? Our U.S. brand of democracy could be considered as socialistic as all power is concentrated in the hands of the few sitting at the top of the pyramid in D.C. The Bolivian voters will be pressured with warnings from the establishment who just hate to lose that nice U.S. aid and all the bribes that come with it. The populist people movement is gaining momentum and it makes the ones in control very uncomfortable. Should Morales win, compromises will have to be made unless U.S. Ambassador Rocha has given assurances that such is not in our plans that he should win. The U.S. did not learn anything from the Venezuelan debacle when we backed a failed coup to oust President Chavez? The people in Latin America are catching on to our dirty tricks even if the ones in power care not to.]

WHY IS THE U.S. GOVERNMENT PROTECTING THE ANTHRAX TERRORIST?

Pravda,Ru—nyc.indymedia.org—wsws.org, 07/03/02

An extraordinary commentary published in Tuesday’s New York Times declares that the FBI is refusing to arrest or seriously investigate the most obvious suspect in the anthrax attacks last fall which killed five people.

The allegations made by Times columnist Nicholas Kristof are so serious that they deserve immediate and thorough public investigation. But so far, both the Bush administration and the media have remained silent on what is, without exaggeration, one of the most astounding articles ever to appear in a major American newspaper.

Kristof indicts the FBI’s “lackadaisical ineptitude in pursuing the anthrax killer”, writing: “Almost everyone who has encountered the FBI anthrax investigation is aghast at the bureau’s lethargy. Some in the biodefense community think they know a likely culprit, whom I’ll call Mr. Z. Although the bureau has polygraphed Mr. Z., searched his home twice and interviewed him four times, it has not placed him under surveillance or asked its outside handwriting expert to compare his writing to that on the anthrax letters.”

Kristof confirms that the identity of the prime suspect is well known in media and government circles, although he chooses not to name the name. “If Mr. Z. were an Arab national,” Kristof comments, “he would have been imprisoned long ago. But he is a true-blue American with close ties to the U.S. Defense Department, the CIA and the American biodefense program.”

The columnist places this negligence in the context of a larger pattern, including a decision to allow anthrax stocks held by Iowa State University—in Ames, Iowa, namesake of the toxic strain used in the letters—to be incinerated rather than tested. The FBI delayed testing the anthrax in the unopened letter to Senator Leahy until December, and has still not finished testing anthrax strains obtained from private, U.S. government and overseas labs for comparison. Lie detector tests were not administered to biowarfare scientists at Ft. Detrick, Maryland and Dugway Proving Ground in Utah until last month.

Kristof concludes his column with a series of pointed questions to the FBI. He writes:

“Do you know how many identities and passports Mr. Z. has and are you monitoring his international travel? I have found at least one alias for him, and he has continued to travel abroad on government assignments, even to Central Asia.

“Why was his top security clearance suspended in August, less than a month before the anthrax attacks began? This move left him infuriated. Are the CIA and military intelligence agencies cooperating fully with the investigation?

“Have you searched the isolated residence that he had access to last fall? The FBI has known about this building, and knows that Mr. Z. gave Cipro to people who visited it. This property and many others are legally registered in the name of a friend of Mr. Z., but may be safe houses operated by American intelligence.

“Have you examined whether Mr. Z. has connections to the biggest anthrax outbreak among humans ever recorded, the one that sickened more than 10,000 Black farmers in Zimbabwe in 1978-80? There is evidence that the anthrax was released by the White Rhodesian Army fighting against Black guerrillas, and Mr. Z. has claimed that he participated in the White army's much-feared Selous Scouts. Could rogue elements of the American military have backed the Rhodesian Army in anthrax and cholera attacks against Blacks? Mr. Z's resumé also claims involvement in the former South African Defense Force; all else aside, who knew that the U.S. Defense Department would pick an American who had served in the armed forces of two White-racist regimes to work in the American biodefense program with some of the world's deadliest germs?"

This extraordinarily detailed description reveals that the identity of the anthrax mailer is well known in official Washington circles. Hundreds of people in the Bush administration, Congress and the media must have access to this information, but it has been deliberately withheld from the American people. The FBI has issued statement after statement suggesting that there has been little progress in the investigation, declaring that no definite suspects have been identified, or appealing to the public for "tips" which might lead them to a terrorist whose name they were apparently given last October.

Kristof's central accusation is that the anthrax investigation has reached a dead end, not because of the lack of evidence, but because the prime suspect has powerful friends in high places and enjoys official protection. "Mr. Z." can't be arrested because he knows too much, and because his backers in the U.S. military-intelligence apparatus won't permit it. To arrest him would entail the exposure of the U.S. government in horrific international and domestic crimes, including the deliberate killing of American citizens.

Moreover, as one of Kristof's questions indicates, "Mr. Z." is still on active service for the Bush administration, traveling to Central Asia "on government assignments", despite being suspected of murdering five people in the United States. He is truly an untouchable.

The anthrax terrorist targeted the Democratic leadership in the U.S. Senate, sending the two letters with the deadliest doses of anthrax to Senate Majority Leader Thomas Daschle and Judiciary Committee Chairman Patrick Leahy. Kristof's column points inexorably to the conclusion that the Bush administration is an accessory after the fact—if not before it—in the attempted assassination of the official political opposition.

The very fact that such a charge is suggested on the editorial pages of the leading U.S. newspaper is an indication of the extent to which "normal" democratic processes and procedures have disintegrated in America. The Times is a major institution of the American ruling Elite, and a longtime conduit for sections of the U.S. national security apparatus. It could only publish such a column under circumstances of a raging subterranean battle within the state—one in which the American people have no say.

Kristof's column gives a rare glimpse of a sort of parallel universe, one which normally goes unreported and unacknowledged in the "mainstream" media. Top officials of the U.S. government—President Bush, Vice President Cheney, Attorney General Ashcroft, CIA Director Tenet, FBI Director Mueller—are linked to a criminal conspiracy to protect a government-trained military assassin. And their Democratic opponents, the apparent targets of the killer, are too cowed to say anything publicly, although one can imagine the private discussions on Capitol Hill Tuesday morning as congressmen and senators read the Times column. This is not a Costa-Gavras film, but the real state of affairs in the America of 2002.

[JR: Isn't it great to have such connections in the "Beltway"? Even to know too much (about whom?) that makes those in high places in Washington not want to publicly point the finger at or imply that a certain person might be suspect in the anthrax attacks last fall which killed five people. Do you suppose this person might reveal in court what the U.S. government is really involved in? I shudder just thinking about it. According to Slate.msm.com, "Kristof identified the man only as 'Mr. Z.' ...As one TP reader pointed out, 'Mr. Z.' is almost assuredly Stephen Hatfill. ...Among the media outlets that have in the past week reported on the FBI's interest in Hatfill, and actually named him, are: CBS, ABC, NPR, AP, the Hartford Courant, the Baltimore Sun, and the NYT itself." For those wanting to know all the rather interesting details about this Stephen Hatfill, check out the article by Laura Rozen in The American Prospect at <http://www.prospect.org/webfeatures/2002/06/rozen-l-06-27.html>. #### DOCUMENTING THE MASSACRE IN MAZAR

By Genevieve Roja, AlterNet, 07/08/02

A documentary film by Scottish filmmaker Jamie Doran titled "Massacre at Mazar" offers eyewitness testimony and film footage of human remains and mass graves of what may be damning evidence of mass killings at Sherberghan and Mazar-I-Sharif in Northern Afghanistan.

The massacre allegedly took place in November 2001, when Gen. Abdul Rashid Dostum of the Northern Alliance took control of Kunduz, and accepted the surrender of about 8,000 Taliban fighters that included al-Qaida, Chechens, Uzbeks and Pakistanis. Almost 500 suspected al-Qaida members were taken to the Qala Jangi prison fortress (where a revolt would eventually leave one CIA agent dead and make John Walker Lindh a household name), while the remainder of the prisoners—about 7,500—were loaded in containers and transported to the Qala-I-Zeini fortress, almost halfway between Mazar-I-Sharif and Sherberghan Prison. Human rights advocates say that close to 5,000 of the original 8,000 are missing.

Eyewitnesses in Doran's film claim that many of the prisoners may have suffocated in the nearly airless shipping containers en route to their destinations. Others were shot when Northern Alliance soldiers fired into the containers to create air holes. And their bodies may have been buried in mass graves.

Doran—who has not released his film to the public in order to protect the identities of eyewitnesses—recently showed 20 minutes of his film to members of the German parliament June 12 and to the members of the European parliament and press on June 13. The screening drew a prompt response from human rights activists, including Andrew McEntee, former Amnesty International UK chair, who demanded an independent investigation. French Euro MP Francis Wurtz said he would address the massacre at a parliament meeting this month, while his other colleagues said they would enlist the help of the International Committee of the Red Cross to conduct an investigation.

Doran, a veteran BBC filmmaker, says "Massacre at Mazar" includes key testimony from various eyewitnesses who offer compelling evidence of a human rights tragedy, including:

—an Afghan general who explains how he helped unload and load "around 200, maybe up to 300 [prisoners] in each" container.

—an anonymous Afghan soldier who says he "hit the containers with bullets to make holes for ventilation. Some of them were killed inside the containers and then we sent them on to Sherberghan." When asked who gave the order, he said "the commanders ordered me to hit the containers to make holes for ventilation and because of that some of the prisoners were killed."

—a local taxi driver who says he "smelled something strange" when he stopped for gas. "I asked the petrol attendant where the smell was coming from. He said 'Look behind you,' and there were trucks with containers fixed on them ... Blood was leaking from the containers—they were full of dead bodies."

—two civilian drivers who say they drove trucks of men to Dasht Leili, "where [the prisoners] were shot." A driver tells Doran that there were American soldiers present at Dasht Leili. "How many Americans were with you?" Doran asks. The driver replies, "30 or 40."

—an Afghan soldier who claims to have been present "when an American soldier broke one prisoner's neck and poured acid on others. The Americans did whatever they wanted. We had no power to stop them."

Doran's film—and the allegations of mass killings—has received extensive media coverage in Europe, but is getting little attention in the U.S. The lack of reaction, says Doran, puts the safety of the graves in jeopardy with each passing day.

The U.S. military is denying any knowledge of or involvement in a massacre.

A Pentagon official was quoted by the Guardian (U.K.) as saying that "the U.S. Central Command looked into it a few months ago, when allegations first surfaced when there were graves discovered in the area of Sherberghan prison. They looked into it and did not substantiate any knowledge, presence or participation of U.S. service members." Pentagon spokesman Marine Corps Lt. Col. Dave Lapan told reporters that he considered the allegations of torture to be "highly suspect".

"Our service members don't participate in torture of any type," said Lapan.

Doran is skeptical about the Pentagon's position.

"Military is about chain of command," he says, "and the question is who was running the show? Was it the Afghans or the Americans? If you've ever seen Western forces alongside foreign forces, there's never a question about who's in charge." Doran says even if there is no conclusive evidence of direct American participation, the U.S. troops are still responsible for tragedies that occur under their watch. "If they're going to be involved, they need to answer for this. By law," he says.

While the extent of U.S. participation is still debatable, the evidence pointing to mass-scale executions is piling up.

Boston-based Physicians for Human Rights sent an investigative team in January and a forensics team to Afghanistan the following month. "We spoke to an NGO staff person who was an eyewitness to three large container trucks being backed into Sherberghan, which was being bulldozed," PHR consultant John Heffernan says. "There he saw a number of Northern Alliance soldiers, holding their arms up to their noses, indicating a bad smell.”

“There was certainly evidence of skeletal remains and clothing and bulldozer tracks,” he says. PHR’s forensics experts were later “able to conduct a thorough assessment—without exhuming the bodies—that these were fresh remains.” The organization compiled a report on their findings from two alleged mass graves and submitted it to the U.S. State Department, the Department of Defense and British government officials. ...

In May, the UN exhumed 15 bodies and performed autopsies on three from a test trench. They concluded that the three had died from suffocation and that the victims were ethnically Pashtun, indicating that they were more than likely Taliban. But the UN has not released any statement or announced a course of action.

However, the human rights groups who are committed to taking action may be getting in the way of justice, as well.

“I’ve noticed in the last week, a rivalry kicking in,” says Doran, who has been contacted by several government officials, human rights groups and NGOs. They’re each claiming, “‘We want to do the grave,’ ‘No, we want to do the grave.’ Yet none of them are ensuring the safety (of the graves),” says an angry and frustrated Doran.

Heffernan agrees there is an urgent need for immediate action, be it exhuming the graves or ensuring their protection.

“PHR thinks it’s essential that an accountability mechanism be a truth commission or a tribunal,” he says. “Whatever will facilitate reconciliation and recovery so that this stuff doesn’t happen again.”

[JR: In every war there are substantial reports of massacres, atrocities and abuses lodged against all sides and often fabricated for propaganda purposes, but each case should be investigated by legitimate and unbiased investigators. If the bully on the block is claimed to be abusive, you don’t just ask the bully what happened, you make a special attempt to talk to all victims and any witnesses. Since the U.S. and its NATO allies have recruited, backed, supplied and financed the Northern Alliance, the accountability also rests with all of NATO for the actions of “their” Northern Alliance fighters. This might be another case that could be referred to the International War Crimes Court. Everyone seems to want power over others but without accountability. To me, power and accountability are the two sides of the same coin.]

BALKANS TRIBUNAL TURNS TO CLINTON

By Jeffrey T. Kuhner, Washington Times, 07/08/02

ZAGREB, Croatia—The Balkans war crimes tribunal is examining whether charges are warranted against former President Clinton and his aides for supporting a 1995 military offensive by Croatia that recaptured territory then held by rebel Serbian forces.

The Croatian World Congress sent a letter last week demanding that Carla Del Ponte, the chief prosecutor of the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY), open a criminal investigation into Mr. Clinton and other top officials of his administration for “aiding and abetting indicted Croatian Gen. Ante Gotovina in a 1995 Croatian military operation known as ‘Operation Storm’”.

When asked if the prosecutor’s office plans to indict Mr. Clinton and U.S. officials, Florence Hartmann, spokeswoman for Mrs. Del Ponte, said: “We are working on the basis of an ongoing investigation.”

Besides Mr. Clinton, others named in the complaint are former National Security Adviser Anthony Lake, former Deputy National Security Adviser Samuel Berger, Ambassador Richard Holbrooke and former U.S. Ambassador to Croatia Peter Galbraith.

Fears that American officials and soldiers will be prosecuted for participating in UN-backed peacekeeping efforts lie behind the Bush administration’s threat to scuttle the present UN peacekeeping mission in Bosnia.

The threat is part of a dispute involving a separate but similar UN tribunal, the International Criminal Court, which was modeled after the ICTY and opened its doors last week. Both courts are based in The Hague.

The Balkans court angered U.S. officials two years ago when it acknowledged it was looking into a similar complaint against NATO commanders for their role in the 1999 U.S.-led bombing campaign in Yugoslavia.

Court officials said at the time they felt obliged to look into all complaints placed before them, but they dropped the matter after a preliminary investigation.

Gen. Gotovina was indicted by the ICTY in June 2001 on charges that he exercised “command responsibility” over a military campaign in which 150 Serbian civilians were killed.

Secretly supported by the Clinton administration, Croatian forces launched a massive three-day military offensive—known as “Operation Storm”—on Aug. 4, 1995, in which Croatia recovered territories occupied by rebel Serbs following Zagreb’s drive for independence from Yugoslavia in 1991.

The Croatian World Congress, a nongovernmental organization (NGO) that advises the United Nations, said it believes neither Gen. Gotovina nor Clinton administration officials are guilty of war crimes.

However, it said that if Mrs. Del Ponte insists on prosecuting Gen. Gotovina, then American officials should be prosecuted in the interests of “evenhanded justice” because they played a pivotal role in aiding the general’s campaign in Operation Storm.

The Croatian World Congress said the U.S. administration gave the green light for the operation and provided diplomatic and political support for it.

But the NGO stressed that “the most just outcome would be to withdraw the indictment against Gen. Gotovina.”...

Rep. Henry J. Hyde, Illinois Republican and chairman of the House Committee on International Relations, said in a May 29 letter to Secretary of State Colin L. Powell that at committee hearings on the ICTY, “Testimony was presented at our hearing questioning the factual basis for this indictment.”...

Mr. Hyde said the ongoing investigation in the Gotovina case poses “risks” that U.S. officials would be prosecuted by the “UN tribunal for formulating or carrying out U.S. government policy.”...

[JR: These charges will go the way like those against Sharon of Israel... nowhere. All of those mentioned with Clinton are closely connected ethnically as well as politically to Israel. It would be difficult to get all in one courtroom unless someone decides to make Clinton the fall guy. Clinton could well get off with his “define IS” defense which he so successfully used in his impeachment hearing.

Most world leaders are above the law and protected from facing judgement for their deeds while in office. There is always the hope that one day their victims will see true justice. If not in this world certainly in the next.]

CHENEY LAUDED ANDERSEN’S ADVICE AT HALLIBURTON

Daily News, 07/11/02

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 1996 promotional videotape has surfaced that features Dick Cheney praising the now-disgraced Andersen accounting firm for going above and beyond routine audits for the company he ran for five years.

The oil services firm the vice president once headed, Halliburton Co., is being investigated by the Securities and Exchange Commission for the way it accounted for cost overruns on construction jobs during Cheney’s tenure. Cheney and the company were sued Wednesday by a watchdog group alleging fraudulent accounting practices, a suit the White House dismissed as lacking merit.

The Wall Street Journal obtained a copy of the video, on which Cheney and six other executives are shown applauding the accounting firm.

“One of the things I like that they do for us is that, in effect, I get good advice, if you will, from their people based upon how we’re doing business and how we’re operating, over and above the, just sort of the normal by-the-books audit arrangement,” said Cheney, who was chief executive of Halliburton from 1995 to 2000.

The four-minute video was produced by Andersen in 1996.

The suit against Cheney and Halliburton was filed by Judicial Watch. It accuses Halliburton of exaggerating revenues by $445 million from 1999 through the end of 2001.

“Halliburton overstated profits that many American citizens relied upon. That’s fraudulent security practices and it resulted in those Americans suffering huge losses,” said Larry Klayman, chairman and general counsel of Judicial Watch.

The lawsuit was filed in federal court in Dallas.

White House spokesman Ari Fleischer said Cheney’s staff members “believe the suit is without merit.” Halliburton also denied wrongdoing.

[JR: Pres. Bush Jr. picked Cheney to be his V.P. running mate when Cheney was CEO of the Halliburton Co. that is the major equipment/services supplier to most oil companies. Cheney has enjoyed being a close ally of Bush Sr. and his family and served as Pres. Bush the First’s Defense Sec. The connection between business and government is just too obvious here. Halliburton is just one of several (and counting) major corporations which have cooked the books that turned debts into profits. There seems to be a lot of Harry Potters sitting in high places failing their lessons in magic numbers these days. Cheney and others of his ilk are mini-gods with narrow minds who have very large egos who rule over their micro world built on fraud and greed. Remember the motto of the have it all ’90s was... “It’s the economy stupid.” Well today it’s still about the economy, people... so where is all the money?]

“MARK OF THE BEAST”Las Vegas Tribune, 6/26/02

Despite statements by George W. Bush against the imposition of an internal passport system on American citizens, powerful bureaucratic forces are moving ahead with a Soviet-style system anyhow.

The rat in the woodpile is the Virginia-based American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators (AAMVA), a special-interest lobby for state-level department of motor vehicle (DMV) bureaucrats. Instead of braving an open debate about building a national internal passport system, these unelected state employees are pressing Congress to force their elected overseers (state legislators) to issue multi-purpose federal I.D.s.

Specifically, AAMVA wants $100 million in federal funding and mandates to require state DMVs to phase in driver's licenses that are actually nationally-standardized, one-size-fits-all, high-tech identity cards. This post-September 11 bureaucratic power-play culminated in an AAMVA-national I.D. planning conference in Virginia last month. Fortunately, several participants at the AAMVA meeting have come forward and supplied critical information about it to The American Sentinel.

AAMVA lays the foundation for an internal U.S. passport system: In the wake of September 11, the hard-left Progressive Policy Institute (PPI) has circulated a 12-page working blueprint for the coming U.S. internal passport system, titled Modernizing the State Identification System:

An Action Agenda: PPI's scheme calls for AAMVA to phase out standard state-issued drivers licenses in favor of technologically-advanced smart cards—specifically designed to become the core of a federal monitoring/approval system for travel, employment, financial activity, hunting/fishing licenses and health care.

In 1993, leftists learned a hard lesson when Congress rejected Hillary Clinton's in-your-face directive for a federally-issued national health I.D. card.

To avoid a repeat of that debacle (in which the backlash cost Democrats the Congress in 1994), the PPI's February blueprint for an internal U.S. passport system emphasizes the need for a lower-profile approach, by which state DMVs are tasked to do the political dirty-work of fingerprinting law-abiding Americans.

This back-door path to an internal U.S. passport system creates the false appearance that the phasing in of high-tech I.D. cards (including fingerprints or other biometric identifier) are isolated state-level decisions, and not part of a universal directive from Washington.

Leftists fear a public debate on a national I.D.: Here's why:

Revealingly, Progressive Policy Institute's otherwise scholarly blueprint for a U.S. internal passport system actually scolds defenders of the Constitution as an impediment to their plans (especially as it relates to PPI's call for the entire U.S. population to submit to fingerprinting and retina scans—criminals and law-abiding citizens alike). ...

Since September 11, the AAMVA's Task Force on Identification Security has been repackaging its long-standing wish-list of citizen surveillance schemes to track the movements of Americans. This includes: Checklist for Security in Large-Scale Authentication Programs, Establishing a National System for State-Issued Secure Personal Identification, and many other initiatives, including the Defense Department Facial Recognition Test Evaluation Report.

Planning deliberations from the AAMVA's Task Force on Identification Security are closely-guarded secrets. (The details remain out of public view on a heavily encrypted part of the AAMVA web site.) Another revealing aspect of the AAMVA Task Force is its heavy reliance on U.S. military and intelligence community expertise, which is apparently being harnessed to create a national identity system to be aimed at law-abiding U.S. citizens.

The Progressive Policy Institute's blueprint for a national identity system with AAMVA reads like George Orwell's 1984. At its core is a call for all individuals in our society to be under the perpetual observance of the central authorities.

Consider that according to the PPI paper, the federal government should finance the technology to give each state-issued card sufficient micro-chip data storage capacity necessary to: gain instant access on a subject's fingerprints and retina characteristics with the swipe of a card; act as a universal credit card—i.e. paperless cash; store a complete medical, criminal, financial, and tax dossier; create a permanent record of travel patterns; serve as a mandatory travel pass for airports, car rentals, bus tickets, and substitute as an international travel visa, serve as a voter registration card, and hunting/fishing license. It is to be linked directly to all federal agencies, so that card can be used to verify that its holder is not delinquent on taxes or child support, and have a capability to be disabled from a central location at the discretion of any government agency, instantly rendering its holder unable to travel or function in society.

It's noteworthy that the PPI paper's recitation of uses for a national I.D. system conspicuously avoids mention of its obvious utility as a mechanism for national gun registration. To do so, of course, would draw unwelcome attention and opposition from the NRA and other powerful gun rights organizations—and their millions of members against the AAMVA/PPI plan for a national identity system. Meanwhile, on November 19, President George W. Bush authorized the Transportation Security Administration to begin planning for a trusted traveler card system.

According to the Washington Post, the high-tech card will be presented as an option to travelers who want to escape long security lines at airports. In turn, each participant will voluntarily submit to detailed personal background checks by federal bureaucrats, including fingerprint and retina scans. In short, the authorities now have an avowed policy of herding Americans into a national system of internal passports.

Editors Note: Tell Congress you oppose funding for a national I.D. card system! Make a copy of this lead story and send it to your representatives and Senators. Make it plain in no uncertain terms that you oppose Congressional funding for the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrator's (AAMVA) plan to standardize all state-issued drivers licenses as a defacto federal I.D. ( write c/o U.S. House of Representatives, Wash., D.C. 20515; U.S. Senate, Wash., DC 20510).

[JR: Washington D.C. continues to convince the American citizen to give up their right to privacy for the sake of false security. The elitists have created or allowed dangerous situations to develop to generate fear, insecurity and panic among Americans so they will willingly give up their rights of freedom. For decades, the pursuit of a “national I.D.” has been pushed forward with subtlety through various movements, such as one connecting almost everything to your Social Security Number (SSN). They require your SSN for driver license, fishing license, gun permits, et al. to the point that everyone asks you for your Social Security Number, even though by law your SSN is not to be used as an I.D. Even to get a library card they wanted my SSN. I asked them, “Are you going to pay me interest that will be reported to the Social Security Administration? If not, then you don't need my SSN.” With everyone requesting your SSN, no wonder there has been a drastic rise in stolen identities. And what do you suppose the government will do for you? They will convince you to accept their “SUPER SECURE” technologically-advanced smart cards with your finger print or retina characteristics that will act as a universal credit card and National I.D. And guess what... you will thank them for making you feel safe, while every local, state and federal agency has access to all your personal and private information that can be sold to all the marketing agencies [and worse]. You have freely given up all your rights to privacy, but at least you now “feel” safe and secure in the fact that Big Brother is now watching over you!]

“ONE NATION UNDER GOD” VS.
ZIONIST PROTOCOL XIV
(ASSAULT ON RELIGION)

By Ernesto Cienfuegos, La Voz de Aztlan, 06/27/02

Los Angeles, Alta California (ACN)—The decision by the Federal Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals to declare the Pledge of Allegiance unconstitutional because of its inclusion of the phrase “One nation under God” has created much heated debate here in Los Angeles. The decision was made by a 3-judge panel in San Francisco by a vote of 2 to 1. The two judges that voted in favor are Judge Alfred T. Goodwin and Judge Stephen Reinhardt. The dissenting vote was cast by Judge Ferdinand F. Fernandez, a native Alta Californian.

What political forces are behind “taking God” totally out of the public schools? An analysis of the backgrounds of the two judges behind the vote and of Michael A. Newdow who filed as plaintiff, originally in Florida, will provide some clues.

Firstly, lets analyze the background of Judge Stephen Reinhardt, one of the two judges voting in favor. Well its just happens that Judge Reinhardt is married to Jewess Ramona Ripston who is the Executive Director of the ACLU of Southern California. Now, all well informed Americans should know what the ACLU stands for. The ACLU National Board of Directors are pretty much all Jews and their headquarters are in New York City. This is the principal group in America that has spent millions in filing court cases to eliminate “prayer” in our schools but at the same time have filed case after case to defend the homosexual and lesbian lifestyles. This is the principal group that will terrorize any public school teacher that dares to utter the words “Jesus Christ” in the classroom. Starting to get the picture?

Secondly, let us analyze the background of Judge Alfred T. Goodwin. This man is known here in the Californian Mexican-American community as “El Juez Judas” because of his anti-Jesus sentiments he has demonstrated throughout his legal career. He is 78 years old. The newspaper Sacramento Bee quoted Judge Goodwin as saying, “Leading schoolchildren in a pledge that says the United States is “one nation under God” is as objectionable as making them say “we are a nation ‘under Jesus.’”! This is a vehemently anti-Christian statement and it says that he voted for declaring the “Pledge” unconstitutional because he does not like Jesus Christ. La Voz de Aztlan believes that the whole issue is one of Jews against Christians.

As further proof, let us analyze the background of the plaintiff Michael A. Newdow. This is not the first time that Mr. Newdow has brought a suit in federal court to “eliminate Jesus Christ” in government affairs. In May of this year U.S. District Judge Lawrence K. Karlton tossed out of court a suit to make President Bush stop mixing politics and his Christian faith. The federal court declared that the courts have no authority to restrain a president from acting in a particular fashion. Newdow built his lawsuit against Bush around a prayer delivered at the 2000 inauguration by the Rev. Franklin Graham that was based on Christian beliefs and referenced “the Lord Jesus Christ”. Again, the whole issue is not about God but about Jesus Christ. The initial suit against the “One nation under God” clause was actually first brought before a federal district court in Florida. There it was struck down and Newdow decided to appeal. It looks like Newdow got some help from the Jewish ACLU because he was guided to move the case to San Francisco where the husband of Ramona Ripston of the ACLU was a judge. The results are now history.

Why was the elaborate conspiracy undertaken? Is it part and parcel of a bigger plan to weaken America morally and take it over? Regardless of the great controversy behind the authenticity of the Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion, the pattern of this case certainly follows Protocol XIV—Assault on Religion.

Protocol XIV says:

1. When we come into our kingdom it will be undesirable for us that there should exist any other religion than ours of the One God with whom our destiny is bound up by our position as the Chosen People and through whom our same destiny is united with the destinies of the world. We must therefore sweep away all other forms of belief. If this gives birth to the atheists whom we see to-day, it will not, being only a transitional stage, interfere with our views, but will serve as a warning for those generations which will hearken to our preaching of the religion of Moses, that, by its stable and thoroughly elaborated system has brought all the peoples of the world into subjection to us. Therein we shall emphasize its mystical right, on which, as we shall say, all its educative power is based.... Then at every possible opportunity we shall publish articles in which we shall make comparisons between our beneficent rule and those of past ages. The blessing of tranquility, though it be a tranquility forcibly brought about by centuries of agitation, will throw into higher relief the benefits to which we shall point. The errors of the GOYIM governments will be depicted by us in the most vivid hues. We shall implant such an abhorrence of them that the peoples will prefer tranquility in a state of serfdom to those rights of vaunted freedom which have tortured humanity and exhausted the very sources of human existence, sources which have been exploited by a mob of rascally adventurers who know not what they do.... USELESS CHANGES OF FORMS OF GOVERNMENT TO WHICH WE INSTIGATED THE “GOYIM” WHEN WE WERE UNDERMINING THEIR STATE STRUCTURES, WILL HAVE SO WEARIED THE PEOPLES BY THAT TIME THAT THEY WILL PREFER TO SUFFER ANYTHING UNDER US RATHER THAN RUN THE RISK OF ENDURING AGAIN ALL THE AGITATIONS AND MISERIES THEY HAVE GONE THROUGH.

WE SHALL FORBID CHRIST...

For many of us Mexican-Americans, it is very scary to know that what is happening in America certainly follows a pattern. The pattern seems to follow the Protocols. Thank God that we have judges like Ferdinand F. Fernandez who courageously stood up against the other two. Americans as a whole, however, seem to be asleep.

[JR: All things being connected, the Zionists definitely have an agenda to demonize all Christian beliefs while hiding behind their god of evil deeds... S_T_n. The Protocols—though hotly denied by the false Jews—are their plan and their actions prove it. We have not been nor ever can be Judeo-Christians because the title itself is a contradiction in meaning. The World Council of Churches perpetrated this fraud and has turned us willing sheeple into goyim for the anti-Christ to rule over and control.]

SELF-INTEREST MAKES THE WORLD GO ROUND

By Walter Williams,
CAPITALISM MAGAZINE.COM, 07/05/02

If someone does something wonderful, but didn't intend to, does it count? Should we see ourselves as blessed?

You say, “Williams, what are you talking about?”

Try this. In 1846, there were 735 U.S. whaling ships, 80 percent of the world's whaling fleet. American whalers killed an average of 15,000 whales per year, mostly to produce oil for lamps. By the time whaling dropped off, toward the end of the century, there were only 50,000 whales alive. Had whaling continued, there would be no whales today.

So, who was responsible for saving the whale from extinction? Was it Greenpeace? No, it was multimillionaire David Rockefeller, who successfully marketed kerosene, which took over the illumination market. Later, Thomas Edison's incandescent light bulb ran both whale oil and kerosene out of the illumination market. Some might say that Rockefeller's and Edison's saving the whale doesn't count because they didn't intend to do it. They were just greedy capitalists who cared more about profits than saving whales. I say three cheers for Rockefeller and Edison.

There's another wonderful thing that we never think about, and that's our supermarkets. The average well-stocked supermarket carries over 50,000 different items. For visitors from other countries, a trip to one of our supermarkets must be like a trip to Disneyland. But what's the driving force behind this miracle? There's a bunch of people, literally millions, who don't give a hoot about you and me personally, but they serve us well. But as far as motivation, they're in it for themselves—they want more profits, wages, interest and rent.

The list of wonderful things that people do for us is unending. But the most wonderful thing about it is they do it without loving us—they might even hate us. They do it voluntarily; and while we sleep, they're awake trying to discover other ways to please. That has got to be as close to Paradise here on Earth.

I'm not the first to think about this. In 1776, Adam Smith—the acknowledged father of economics—published An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations. In it, he eloquently captures the essence of this wonderfulness, saying: “He (the businessman) generally, indeed, neither intends to promote the public interest, nor knows how much he is promoting it. ... He intends only his own security; and by directing that industry in such a manner as its produce may be of the greatest value, he intends only his own gain.”

Smith continues: “He is in this, as in many other cases, led by an invisible hand to promote an end which was no part of his intention. ... By pursuing his own interest he frequently promotes that of the society more effectually than when he really intends to promote it. I have never known much good done by those who affected to trade for the public good. ... It is not from the benevolence of the butcher, the brewer or the baker that we expect our dinner, but from their regard to their own interest.”

Self-interest is the human motivation that is most trustworthy and predictable, and gets the most wonderful things done.

I love it when people, in effect, offer, “Williams, I really don't give a hoot about you, but if you do this wonderful thing for me, I'll do this wonderful thing for you.” What worries me is when someone tells me, particularly a politician, “There's nothing in it for me, but I really care about the health and education of your daughter.” Even more disturbing is when I ask that politician whether he even knows my daughter's name and he can't answer.

HOUSE FINANCIAL SERVICES COMMITTEE

J. Taylor's Gold & Technology Stocks newsletter, 07/17/02

Wednesday's hearing of the House Financial Services Committee wherein U.S. Rep. Ron Paul questioned Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan about gold. Unfortunately, the committee allows little time for questions, and Paul was not allowed to follow up. But we are going to keep working on this until we get a sustained interrogation of Fed and U.S. Treasury Department officials on the gold issue.

PAUL: Welcome, Chairman Greenspan. I've listened carefully to your testimony but I get the sense I may be listening to the Chairman of the Board of Central Economic planning rather than the chairman of a board that has been entrusted with protecting the value of the dollar.

I have for quite a few years now expressed concern about the value of the dollar, which I think we neglect here in the Congress, here in the committee, and I do not think that the Federal Reserve has done a good job in protecting the value of the dollar. And it seems that maybe others are coming around to this viewpoint because I see that the head of the IMF this week, Mr. Koehler, has expressed a concern and made a suggestion that all the central bankers of the world need to lay plans in the near future to possibly prop up the dollar. So others have this same concern.

You have in your testimony expressed concern about the greed factor, which obviously is there. And you implied that this has come out from the excessive capitalization/excessive valuations, which may be true. But I believe where you have come up short is in failing to explain why we have financial bubbles. I think when you have fiat money and excessive credit you create financial bubbles and you also undermine the value of the dollar and now we are facing that consequence.

We see the disintegration of some of these markets. At the same time we have potential real depreciation of the value of our dollar. And we have pursued rampant inflation of the money supply. Since you have been Chairman of the Federal Reserve we have literally created $4.7 trillion of new money in M-3. Even in this last year with this tremendous burst of inflation, the money supply has gone up since last January over $1 trillion. You can't have anything but lower value of that unit of account if you keep creating new money.

Now I would like to bring us back to sound money. And I would like to quote an eminent economist by the name of Alan Greenspan who gives me some credibility on what I am interested in. A time ago you said, "In the absence of the gold standard there is no way to protect savings from the confiscation through inflation. There is no safe store of value without gold. This is the shabby secret of the welfare statist's tirades against gold. Deficit spending is simply a scheme for the hidden confiscation of wealth. Gold stands in the way of this insidious process that stands as a protector of property rights."

[Representative Paul then added that he strongly believed this statement by Greenspan, taken from a 1966 article that was included in an article he had written, titled "Gold and Economic Freedom", was true. Paul continued:]

But gold has always had to be undermined if fiat money is to work and there has to be an illusion of trust for paper to work. And I think this has been happening for thousands of years. At one time the kings clipped coins. Then they debased the metals. Then we learned how to print money. Even as recently as the 1960s, for us to perpetuate a myth about our monetary system, we dumped two-thirds of our gold, or 500 million ounces of gold at $35 per ounce, in order to try to convince people to trust the money. And even today there is a fair amount of trading by central banks, the dumping of hundreds of tonnes of gold, loaning of gold for the sole purpose that this indicator of gold does not discredit the paper money and I think there is a definite concerted effort to do that.

My questions are two-fold relating to gold. One, I have been trying desperately to find out the total amount of gold either dumped or sold on to the markets by all the central banks of the world or loaned by the central banks of the world. And this is in hundreds of hundreds of tons. But those figures are not available to me. Maybe you can help me find this. I think it would be important to know, since all central banks still deal with and hold gold whether they are dumping, or loaning, or buying, for that matter.

But along this line, I have a bill that would say that our government, our Treasury could not deal in gold and could not be involved in the gold market unless the Congress knows about it. Now that to me seems like such a reasonable approach and reasonable request. But they say they don't use it (gold) so they don't need the bill. But if they are not trading in gold, what would be the harm in the Congress knowing about handling and dealing about this asset, gold?

GREENSPAN: Well, first of all, neither we nor the Treasury trade gold. And my impression is that were we to do so, we would announce it. It is certain the case that others do. There are data published monthly or quarterly which shows the reported gold holdings of central banks throughout the world, so you do know who holds what. The actual trading data I don't think is available, though the London gold exchange does show what its volume numbers are. And periodically, individual central banks do indicate when they are planning to sell gold. But they all report what they own. So it may well be the case that you can't find specific transactions. I think what you can find is the net result of those transactions and they are published. But so far as the United States is concerned, we don't do it.

GREENSPAN'S DECEPTIVE RESPONSE

By Jay Taylor

Before Mr. Greenspan could answer the second of Representative Paul's questions, the one having to do with his proposed legislation forcing accountability on the U.S. Treasury, the committee chairman cut off the exchange by saying, "The gentlemen's time has expired."

But Greenspan was wrong even in the one question he did answer.

It is not true that you can tell how much gold has been sold by the balance sheets of central banks.

For starters, the central banks lie about their assets. They report gold that is lent out as if it was still on their balance sheets. So there is no way of knowing how much gold has hit the market. And so there is no way of knowing how much gold must ultimately be purchased off the market by borrowers like Goldman Sachs, J.P. Morgan Chase, et al., so that it can be returned to the central bank balance sheets, where the central banks say it still exists.

The whole Federal Reserve and accounting schemes of most central banks are fraudulent and misleading. So while the politicians are so concerned about accounting at Enron and WorldCom, they seem not to notice how misleading their own accounting policies are.

This kind of Enron-like behavior from our ruling Elite is exactly what I meant in my June issue when I said, "The fish rots from the head down."

Also, we think Mr. Greenspan was parsing out words in a most Clintonesque fashion when he talked about the Fed or the Treasury not trading in gold. It was exactly the Exchange Stabilization Fund that is in question in Representative Paul's bill.

So technically, Greenspan may have been correct in saying the Fed and the Treasury don't sell or trade in gold. But what about the Exchange Stabilization Fund?

Yes, it is true that the fish rots from the head down, and the most visible view of the head we have is Alan Greenspan.

But I guess it all depends on what the meaning of the word "is" is. There are no absolute truths. Truth is what ever you wish it to be. Or at least that's what Wall Street wants us to think. And then we wonder why there is a loss of confidence on Wall Street.

BIDEN BACKS LETTING SOLDIERS ARREST CIVILIANS

By Joyce Howard Price, Washington Times, 7/22/02

Sen. Joseph R. Biden Jr., Delaware Democrat, yesterday strongly endorsed giving soldiers the power to arrest American civilians.

Interviewed yesterday on Fox News Sunday, Mr. Biden, a member of the Judiciary Committee, said the Posse Comitatus Act of 1878, which prevents the military from exercising police powers in this country, should be re-examined and "has to be amended".

Such a change will happen soon, he said.

However, Tom Ridge, director of the Office of Homeland Security, said in several appearances on political talk shows yesterday that the Biden proposal should be considered but that he thinks it's "very unlikely" such a change will be made.

The Biden proposal and the Ridge "knockdown", not necessarily a "knockout", may have been coordinated and calculated to measure public reaction. Mr. Ridge grew more emphatic later in the day in his view that military authorities should not have such powers of arrest over civilians.

Mr. Biden said that "we're not talking about general police power, changing the idea that you would have your local National Guard with arrest power like your local policeman."

But "it's not very realistic" that, under the current law, soldiers with knowledge of weapons of mass destruction, who might be checking out the discovery of a terrorist weapon in the United States, would "not be able to exercise the same power a police officer would in dealing with that situation."

"Right now, when you call in the military, the military would not be able to shoot to kill, if they were approaching the weapon," nor could they arrest any suspects. Mr. Biden is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Air Force Gen. Ralph E. Eberhardt, President Bush's choice to lead the military's new Northern Command, told the New York Times that he favors changes in existing law to give increased domestic powers to the military to protect the nation against terrorist attacks.

"We should always be reviewing things like Posse Comitatus and other laws if we think it ties our hands in protecting the American people," said Gen. Eberhardt, whose command's primary goal is domestic security, in a dispatch published yesterday in the newspaper.

The New York Times reported that the general's opinion is shared by other senior military officials and represents a "shift in thinking" at the Pentagon, which historically has resisted involvement in domestic law enforcement.

The White House has instructed lawyers at the departments of Defense and Justice to analyze federal laws on the books that restrict the military's role in law enforcement on U.S. shores, the paper reported.

Congress assigned to federal troops a large role in law enforcement in the 11 Confederate states after the Civil War, tasks such as guarding election polling places, arresting members of the Ku Klux Klan, and halting the production of illegal moonshine and the fomenting of labor strife. The Posse Comitatus Act was enacted in 1878 to eliminate military enforcement of the civil law, effectively ending Reconstruction.

Mr. Biden recalled that in 1995 he and Sen. Sam Nunn, Georgia Democrat, after the bombing of the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City, introduced legislation that would have “moderately altered” the Posse Comitatus Act, enabling the military to intervene in incidents involving weapons of mass destruction.

Mr. Biden said some lawmakers are likely to be more receptive to repealing the 1878 act now than they were before September 11.

On Fox, Mr. Ridge called Gen. Eberhardt’s remarks about the need for such a review “very appropriate”.

“We need to be talking about military assets in anticipation of a crisis event. And, clearly, if you’re talking about using the military, then you should have a discussion about Posse Comitatus. It’s not out of the question [that there could someday be a situation] when, in support of civilian authorities, we would give the National Guard or troops arrest ability” in a crisis situation where there may be “severe consequences to a community or region”.

However, he said such a scenario is “very unlikely”. In a separate interview on CNN’s Late Edition With Wolf Blitzer, Mr. Ridge was even more emphatic that the discussion is an academic one. “There’s been absolutely no discussion with regard to giving military authorities the ability to arrest in their support of civilian authorities.” Asked whether he believes the military should have the power to arrest U.S. citizens, he replied: “No.”

Mr. Ridge said he could imagine, hypothetically, the secretaries of defense and homeland security broaching the possibility of changing the 1878 act at some future meeting.

“That does not mean that it will ever be used or the discussion will conclude that it even should be used,” he said. “I think that generally goes against our instincts as a country to empower the military with the ability to arrest.”

On Late Edition, Sen. Fred Thompson of Tennessee, ranking Republican on the Governmental Affairs Committee, said he believes military troops could be useful for tasks such as “surveillance along the borders thousands of miles that are very difficult for law enforcement to deal with.”

“It would be against our traditional Posse Comitatus principles. But it might be an idea whose time has come.”

But Sen. Carl Levin, Michigan Democrat and chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said the Posse Comitatus Act is a “solid law” that “has served us well”. He said: “We should not assume that we’re going to have to change it. On the other hand, I don’t fear looking at it to see whether or not our military can be more helpful than they’ve been up to now” in providing training, equipment and other assistance in disaster situations. But the military should not be arresting people.

BOMBING THE MIND: THE PENTAGON’S PROGRAM FOR PSYCHOPHARMALOGICAL WARFARE

By Edward Hammond, Counterpunch, 07/02/02

In The Futurological Congress (1971), Polish writer Stanislaw Lem portrayed a future in which disobedience is controlled with hypothetical mind-altering chemicals dubbed “benignimizers”. Lem’s fictional work opens with the frightening story of a police and military biochemical attack on protesters outside of an international scientific convention. As the environment becomes saturated with hallucinogenic agents, in Lem’s tale the protesters (and bystanders) descend into chaos, overcome by delusions and feelings of complacency, self-doubt, and even love.

If the Pentagon’s Joint Non-Lethal Weapons Directorate (JNLWD) has its way, Lem may be remembered as a prophet.

The Advantages and Limitations of Calmatives for Use as a Non-Lethal Technique, a 49-page report obtained last week by the Sunshine Project under U.S. information freedom law, has revealed a shocking Pentagon program that is researching psychopharmacological weapons. Based on “extensive review conducted on the medical literature and new developments in the pharmaceutical industry”, the report concludes that “the development and use of [psychopharmacological weapons] is achievable and desirable.” These mind-altering weapons violate international agreements on chemical and biological warfare as well as human rights. Some of the techniques discussed in the report have already been used by the U.S. in the “War on Terrorism”.

The team, which is based at the Applied Research Laboratory of Pennsylvania State University, is assessing weaponization of a number of psychiatric and anesthetic pharmaceuticals as well as “club drugs” (such as the “date rape drug” GHB). According to the report, “the choice administration route, whether application to drinking water, topical administration to the skin, an aerosol spray inhalation route, or a drug filled rubber bullet, among others, will depend on the environment.” The environments identified are specific military and civil situations, including “hungry refugees that are excited over the distribution of food”, “a prison setting”, an “agitated population” and “hostage situations”. At times, the JNLWD team’s report veers very close to defining dissent as a psychological disorder.

The drugs that Lem called “benignimizers” are called “calmatives” by the military. Some calmatives were weaponized by the Cold War adversaries, including BZ, described by those who have used it as “the ultimate bad trip”. Calmatives were supposed to have been deleted from military stockpiles following the adoption of the Chemical Weapons Convention in 1993, which bans any chemical weapon that can cause death, temporary incapacitation, or permanent harm to humans or animals.

Calmatives is military, not medical, terminology. In more familiar medical language, most of the drugs under consideration are central nervous system depressants. Most are synthetic, some are natural. They include opiates (morphine-type drugs) and benzodiazepines, such as Valium (diazepam). Antidepressants are also of great interest to the research team, which is looking for drugs like Prozac (fluoxetine) and Zoloft (sertraline) that are faster acting.

Biochemicals and Treaties: Many of the proposed drugs can be considered both chemical and biological weapons banned by the Biological and Toxin Weapons Convention (BTWC), and the Chemical Weapons Convention (CWC). As a practical matter, biological and chemical “calmatives” must be addressed together. As the agents are explicitly intended for military use, and are intended to incapacitate their victims, they do not fall under the CWC’s domestic riot control agent exemption. Toxic products of living agents - such as the neurotoxin botulinum - are considered both chemical and biological agents. Any weapons use of neurotransmitters or substances mimicking their action is similarly covered by both arms control treaties. The researchers have developed a massive calmatives database and are following biomedical research on mechanisms of drug addiction, pain relief, and other areas of research on cognition-altering biochemicals. For example, the JNLWD team is tracking research on cholecystokinin, a neurotransmitter that causes panic attacks in healthy people and is linked to psychiatric disorders.

Powerful Drugs: The drugs have hallucinogenic and other effects, including apnea (stopped breathing), coma, and death. One class of drugs under consideration are fentanyl. The report’s cover features a diagram of fentanyl. According to the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA), the biological effects of fentanyl “are indistinguishable from those of heroin, with the exception that the fentanyl may be hundreds of times more potent.” The report says that the drugs’ profound effects may make it necessary to “check for the occasional person who may stop breathing (many medical reasons) in the unhealthy, the elderly, and very young...”, as well as victims who “‘go to sleep’ in positions that obstruct their airway”.

Failed Drugs: The report points out that pharmaceutical candidates that fail because of excessive side-effects might be desirable for use as weapons: “Often, an unwanted side-effect... will terminate the development of a promising new pharmaceutical compound. However, in the variety of situations in which non-lethal techniques are used, there may be less need to be concerned with unattractive side-effects... Perhaps, the ideal calmatives has already been synthesized and is awaiting renewed interest from its manufacturer.”

Chemical Cocktails: As of March 2002, the team was researching a mix of pepper spray (“OC”) and an unidentified calmatives agent. Pepper spray is the most powerful chemical crowd control agent in use, and has been associated with numerous deaths. Adding a pharmacological “calmatives” to OC would create a hideous concoction. The report prioritizes Valium and Precedex (dexmedetomidine) for weaponization, and it is possible that these are the agents that could be mixed with OC. The researchers also suggest mixing ketamine with other drugs (see below). The chemical cocktail proposals bear a resemblance to South Africa’s apartheid-era weapons research, whose director claimed under oath to have attempted to develop a BZ and cocaine mixture for use on government enemies.

Torture: Precedex is sedative approved for use in the U.S. on patients hospitalized in intensive care units. The report draws attention to an “interesting phenomenon” related to Precedex use - the drug increases patients’ reaction to electrical shock. The researchers suggest sensitizing people by using Precedex on them, followed by use of electromagnetic weapons to “address effects on the few individuals where an average dose of the pharmacological agent did not have the desired effect.” Obviously, such a technique might be considered torture, and certainly could be used to torture. To add to hypnotic and delusional properties, the researchers suggest that psychopharmaceutical agents could be designed to have physical effects including headache and nausea, adding to their torture potential.

The researchers suggest that transdermal patches and transmucosal (through mucous membranes) formulations of Buspar (buspirone) under development by Bristol-Myers Squibb and TheraTech, Inc. “may be effective in a prison setting where there may have been a recent anxiety-provoking incident or confrontation.”

Use in the War on Terrorism: Of course, uncooperative or rioting prisoners would be extraordinarily unlikely to accept being drugged with a transdermal patch or most conventional means. Any such application of a “calmative” would likely be on individuals in shackles or a straightjacket. The U.S. has admitted that it forcibly sedates Al-Qaida “detainees” held at the U.S. base in Guantanamo, Cuba. Former JNLWD commander and retired Col. Andy Mazzara, who directs the Penn State team, says he sent a “Science Advisor” to the U.S. Navy to assist the War on Terrorism.

Modes of Delivery: A number of weaponization modes are discussed in the report. These include aerosol sprays, microencapsulation, and insidious methods such as introduction into potable water supplies and psychoactive chewing gum. JNLWD is investing in the development of microencapsulation technology, which involves creating granules of a minute quantity of agent coated with a hardened shell. Distributed on the ground, the shell breaks under foot and the agent is released. A new mortar round being developed could deliver thousands of the minute granules per round. The team concludes that new delivery methods under development by the pharmaceutical industry will be of great weapons value. These include new transdermal, transmucosal, and aerosol delivery methods. The report cites the relevance of a lollipop containing fentanyl used to treat children in severe pain, and notes that “the development of new pain-relieving opiate drugs capable of being administered via several routes is at the forefront of drug discovery”, concluding that new weapons could be developed from this pharmaceutical research.

Dart Guns: The researchers express specific interest shooting humans with guns loaded with carfentanil darts. Carfentanil is a veterinary narcotic used to tranquilize large, dangerous animals such as bears and tigers. Anyone who has watched wildlife shows on television is familiar with the procedure. In the U.S., carfentanil is not approved for any use on human beings. It is an abused drug and a controlled substance. Under U.S. law, first time offenders convicted of unlicensed possession of carfentanil can be punished by up to 20 years in prison and a $1 million fine.

Club Drugs: Most of the JNLWD team’s weapon candidates are controlled substances in most countries. Some are widely used legitimate pharmaceuticals that are also drugs of abuse, such as Valium and opiates. The Pentagon team advocates more research into the weapons potential of convulsants (which provoke seizures) and “club drugs”, the generally illegal substances used by some at “rave” and dance clubs. Among those in the military spotlight are ketamine (“Special K”), GHB (Gamma-hydroxybutrate, “liquid ecstasy”), and rohypnol (“Roofies”). The latter two in particular are called “date rape drugs” because of incidences of their use on victims of sexual and other crimes. Most are DEA Schedule I or II narcotics that provoke hallucinations and can carry a sentence of life imprisonment. For example, according to the DEA, “Use of ketamine as a general anesthetic for humans has been limited due to adverse effects including delirium and hallucinations... Low doses produce vertigo, ataxia, slurred speech, slow reaction time, and euphoria. Intermediate doses produce disorganized thinking, altered body image, and a feeling of unreality with vivid visual hallucinations. High doses produce analgesia, amnesia, and coma.”

NEVADA CORPORATIONS:

When Is An Owner NOT A Stockholder?

Budget’s “Tip of the Week” #3:

NRS 78.197—Rights of persons holding obligations of corporation

If you own part (or all) of a corporation, you’re a stockholder, right? In Nevada, the answer to that question is, “Not necessarily.” Let’s look at another unique provision of Nevada corporate law:

NRS 78.197 Rights of persons holding obligations of corporation.

A corporation may provide in its articles of incorporation that the holder of a bond, debenture or other obligation of the corporation may have any of the rights of a stockholder in the corporation.

With this provision written into your Articles of Incorporation, you “may have any of the rights of a stockholder”—without owning stock! Thus, the holder of a note COULD own the corporation and could even be afforded the same VOTING RIGHTS as a stockholder—without being a stockholder. And in the absence of stockholders—in cases where no stock has been issued—presumably, the holder of a promissory note of the corporation could have 100% of the voting rights at any meeting.

If such a provision related to NRS 78.197 is NOT in your current Articles of Incorporation, check and see if the following standard clause exists under an Article relating to Amendments:

Except with respect to amending the non-assessability of shares per Article IV, this corporation reserves the right to amend, alter, change or repeal any provision contained in these Articles of Incorporation or its Bylaws in the manner now or hereafter prescribed by statute or by these Articles of Incorporation or by the corporation’s Bylaws, and all rights conferred upon the stockholders are granted subject to this reservation.

If so, the corporation may “amend... these Articles of Incorporation... in the manner prescribed by... the corporation’s Bylaws”. In other words, the Articles of Incorporation are modified by the Bylaws. If such a provision exists in your Articles of Incorporation, we suggest that you amend the Bylaws to reflect wording such as NRS 78.197 suggests for the Articles of Incorporation.

If neither of these provisions exists in your corporation’s Articles, you might want to file an Amendment of the Articles of Incorporation. We can handle such a filing with the Secretary of State for you, just ask.

Next week, we’ll look at what might be called a “turnip” or “prickly pear” clause in the Nevada Revised Statutes: NRS 78.7502.

More Equitable Financial System Is Beginning To Be Manifested

Master manipulators nearing the end of their long period of control.

Update by Sheldan Nidle for the Spiritual Hierarchy and the Galactic Federation
July 16, 2002 (1 Eb, 15 Kumku, 10 Caban)

Greetings! We return, dear Hearts! Your reality is in the midst of a process that is changing it forever. To understand this operation more clearly, you need to consider that it takes place in a living, conscious Creation containing a major illusory subset called physicality. Physicality consists of an infinite number of realities that, in turn, form its many dimensions. It is all connected together, much like the parts that make up your physical body. This connection is a major tool in the understanding of how physicality operates. As your mind regulates your body, so, too, does consciousness order physicality. The nervous system for this exchange is the Divine Plan. Your collective and individualized essence ('Soul Body') acts through the structure that the Divine Plan imposes on physicality. These intentions produce realities that possess a set nature. That nature is reflected in the way the reality's environment evolves. Since physicality is set up as a heuristic aspect of Heaven, Heaven attaches a number of complex scenarios to each reality. These scenarios constantly interact with one another to form a basic time sequencing for consciousness-expanding events.

In your dimension, most realities are a smorgasbord of varying degrees of consciousness. They range from extremely limited, dark realms to those bathed in the full, divine Light of consciousness. A prime example of this is our own Milky Way Galaxy, where you find fully conscious worlds that extend far into other dimensions and worlds so limited that their prime sentient species lack a Light Body. This conglomeration has led to countless untold wars, massacres, destructions of planets and other forms of mayhem. Despite these events, that first thin band of conscious Light in your galaxy has continued to grow and to be reflected on your world. You have moved from a state of great Light to a more limiting condition. During this latter period, the dark was able to impose much of its savage barbarity upon you. Now, you are moving through a transitional period of great chaos. Once it has ended, you will return to the Light and fulfill your destiny. As you do so, you will connect with the other realities in your galaxy and reshape them, much as you recreate your reality.

You will remember, dear Ones, that in some past messages we described reality as an illusion that is built upon the intentions of its inhabitants and the Divine Plan. Each reality is no more than an archetype of a certain master form, which then is applied in a particular way, through frequency and divine order. Out of this order emerges a reality's grid. Once the grid is set in place, a specific environment is produced. It is important for your science to understand this thoroughly, and to comprehend that there are no 'Laws' in physicality except those created for each reality. These can be altered when appropriate and upon the joint decision of its residents. This order can be carried out remarkably simply. The major requirement is that the group comprise between one and one-half and three percent of the overall population. The group must increase its vibrations (Light frequency) to the highest possible level, repeatedly and in a particular way, by moving its energy globally. In doing so, it is important for that group to connect with its prime source—the Creator.

To assist this process, Heaven permits other realities to join the operation. These realities contain mainly Beings of a higher degree of consciousness who can influence this concentrated effort by lending their energies to your own. As the process builds, it develops a wave that connects to the reality's main grid, causing the grid to expand and propel its environmental frequency ever upwards. This movement affects the reality's events schedule by forcing a new schedule to take form. As the new timetable manifests, extreme chaos ensues. This is the final state of confusion through which the reality passes on its way to its transformation. As your reality mutates, it affects many similar realities that cluster around it. This process precipitates similar changes in these realities as well. Thus, your adjustments affect many other dark realities in this galaxy by increasing the probability that the Light will also vastly alter them.

Right now, all of these events are unfolding around you. For this reason, your cosmologists have devised the concept of 'multi-verses' and adopted most of the tenets of quantum physics. Despite this, vast anomalies remain to be explained that are unknowable, even by the concepts they have recently adopted. These unaccountable anomalies are the result of the immense changes that are occurring in your solar system and, especially, upon your world—Mother Earth. Even your measurement of sequential time has reached a point where the very symbol of its current precise measurement—the atomic clock—has demonstrated peculiar inaccuracies. All of this points simply to the fact that you and your reality are undergoing an enormous and lightning-like shift in your levels of consciousness. In mere decades, you are progressing from being an element unaware of the workings of this reality to becoming its grand master.

The most important part of this operation began in the latter half of the last decade of your Twentieth Century.

At that time, you reached a special point of 'critical mass' at which Heaven could orchestrate a chain reaction of consciousness expansion on a global scale. The process was emphasized by a special series of procedures initiated by your local Spiritual Hierarchy. These procedures were further expanded by a series of extraordinary decrees issued by Lord Sureau and carried out by all of A-E-O-N. This process resulted in the formation of a new local heavenly Administration. By the turn of your new millennium, this Administration had reordered the planetary Logoi of each world in your solar system and readily prepared them for their return to a fully consciousness reality. This has also affected your Sun by contributing to her prolonged hyperactive state. Again, all of this is the rising chaos field that acts as the catalytic environment for your transformation.

Change in physicality is often characterized by extended periods of rapid general extinction in the flora and fauna on a world, or by traumatic expiration of planets or even the 'nova-ing' of stars. Many of these events occurred long ago to your solar system. Your Sun understands that its living environment is in transition. Your ecosystem on Mother Earth, also, is quickly changing. This process is a sign that you have reached a critical point in your history that contains many wondrous outcomes. That which is chosen for your reality, however, will be influenced most profoundly by the Divine Plan. This timetable will result in your acceptance of your role as physical Angels and in the prevention of any probable Armageddon. This divine grace is the reason we have come and why your mighty victory over the dark is inevitable.

As you move through this period of catastrophic change, be ever aware of who you are becoming. You are taking back your great God-given powers and permitting the creation of a new reality. That reality will allow you to directly renew your connection with your many space and spiritual families. The time for this new reality draws ever closer. It is important that you remain focused and committed to doing your part to ensure the victory that Heaven and the Divine Plan have bestowed upon you. In this, dear Hearts, always bear in mind that victory comes with many new responsibilities and perceptions of your true abilities. By Heaven's calculations, this present chaos will last only a short time. Despite your present conditions, know in your heart that this soon will pass and that a newer, more glorious time is swiftly approaching.

Today, we have reviewed the elements that are bringing you closer to your new reality. As you consider them, remember that an extraordinary process initiated by Heaven and proclaimed by the Divine Plan is under way. Soon, this operation will bring you all that you truly desire. We now take our leave. Blessings, dear Hearts! Know, in your Heart of Hearts, that Heaven's unbounded Prosperity and Abundance is yours! Amen. Selamat Gajun! Selamat Ja! (Sirian for Be One! Be in Joy!)

Update by Sheldon Nidle for the Spiritual Hierarchy and the Galactic Federation
July 23, 2002 (8 Cauac, 2 Vayeb, 10 Caban)

Greetings! We come, dear Hearts, with more information concerning first contact. First contact is a unique and truly complex process. The large-scale unclinking of our ships in your skies is only the final step in this operation. Until that time, we need to work in concert with your local Spiritual Hierarchy and our earthly allies to prepare you for our appearance. Our purpose remains to forge ahead with this project as swiftly as divine right time permits. Until then, we will continue to insist that those who hold power on your world understand the urgency of this situation and act accordingly. As you are aware, many events are unfolding in your solar system that are precursors of your new reality. They include the entry of a large, artificial planet into your solar system. This object is not a dwarf star, nor will it lay waste to your world. It is simply a warning to your rulers that their present way of governing has reached its limits. Your Sun does not possess an evil twin, but is merely a single 'G' class star. In this galaxy, such stars are known to possess solar systems that can easily support sentient life.

Sentient life in this galaxy is immensely diverse, and possesses many forms. To you, some may appear grotesque, while others will seem more pleasant. Some have Light Bodies and are endowed with highly evolved Souls, whereas others lack Light Bodies and are not nearly so evolved. Such discrepancies result from the great darkness that produced entire species, limited in their spiritual abilities, but very much masters of this physical plane. They, under the rule of Anchara, encased this galaxy in a seemingly endless galactic war that lasted for millions of your years. You will begin to understand this process of life's variation and its natural cycles in ways that you previously thought hardly possible. Each day, as you grow in awareness, those who govern you by fraud and deception realize that your knowledge, alone, will be their eventual ruin. Our mission is to accelerate this inevitable condition and to champion what you are becoming. To do so, we need to give you a broader perspective of the events that lie ahead. Realize that this process has many stages and that you are enmeshed in their final phases.

In earlier messages, we have mentioned that you have achieved a 'critical mass'. By this, we mean that you have attained a special position where your transformation is now inevitable. This means that no effort by the dark forces on your world can keep this procedure from its completion. The next consideration becomes the length of time before the final step can be activated. The timeline is very short. Those who control you realize it. Their delays are merely a well thought-out attempt to delay the inevitable—and despite their levels of sophistication, are doomed to fail. You, dear Hearts, are foreordained by the divine to become physical Angels. In this role, you will achieve your destiny and prepare this physical Creation's next stages to unfold. Always keep the 'bigger picture' in view. Frequently, the near future will seem bleak—but, if you consider these short-term developments from a broader perspective, you will be able to discover what actually is taking place. The same goes for the events that now are swirling around you. They are the final, great moments of those who have ruled you for many millennia.

Any period of transition is distinguished by its strong and chaotic undercurrent. During these times, there is greater potential for conflict, extreme change and the rise of new paradigms of government. You are living in such a time. But, unlike previous eras, the actual degree of possible conflict has been limited, because the divine has set in motion a sequence of events that makes your destruction impossible. That does not mean, however, that the various subdivisions of your secret governments will not attempt to create the opportunity for another global disaster. Their former masters—the Anunnaki—taught them that war was always a major way to achieve their objectives. This concept was the reason for the events of last September. They were not committed simply to gain control of the oil production of Central and South Asia, but to maximize the chaos and create a mechanism to enhance and prolong their dark agendas. This agenda has failed. It has only flushed them out and further isolated them from their former allies.

Such change operates on many levels simultaneously. It is altering your physical bodies and preparing them to integrate with your emotional, mental and spiritual selves. It is thereby shifting your consciousness, making it impossible for you to be controlled as you were. In addition, it is reshaping the logical paradigm that governs your sciences. These transformations, in turn, create the need to establish a more open and imaginative form of governance. They are forcing a change in the distribution of your wealth and the way your financial systems work. A fairer and more equitable system, therefore, is beginning to be manifested. They will result in a greater acceptance of personal sovereignty and freedom on a scale previously unrealized in your existing reality. These events are occurring, now, only by virtue of your own transformations. They will result, too, in a formal acknowledgment of our existence and the unveiling of a prodigious array of long-hidden technologies.

Undeniably, your world is changing for the better. Those who have manipulated you for so long are approaching the end of a long period in which they strictly controlled your existence. This new world is divine. Your connection to the divine Will of the Creator has been restored. The first momentous break in this vile manipulation occurred when the grand overlords themselves—the Anunnaki—switched sides, resulting in the signing of a treaty between the Galactic Federation of Light and the followers of Anchara. These acts changed everything! The forces of the dark on this world had lost their allies. This erosion continued with a tumultuous reshuffling of the Anunnaki's earthly minions. The overwhelmingly positive results of this struggle resulted in the events of last September. Those who were firmly committed to the dark revealed their plans and now, the retraction of their monstrous power is almost complete.

As a bright, new day begins to dawn on your world, we anticipate a formal series of announcements that will affirm our existence and acknowledge our benevolence. Once they are in place, we will forge ahead quickly and begin the last stages of our first contact mission. Our plan is to remain in place around, and above, your world. We have also extensively enlarged our bases on your Moon, throughout your solar system and on your world. They will serve as our forward operations center and confirm that our commitment to first contact remains as strong as ever. Our fleet supports a network of special liaison teams that are working closely with our earthly allies to provide the force that will ensure their ultimate success. As a result of these positions, we know that we remain on the verge of first contact and that our meeting with you draws nearer with every day.

Consider the present from this larger perspective. You are transforming your reality from a restricted, dark existence to one that is unlimited and filled with Light. In this approaching world, you once again will assume your role as physical Angels—Heaven's wondrous councils in physicality. As such, you will help to ensure that the Divine Plan is revealed as the Creator has intended. Remember, dear Ones, that you are reaching the end of a long road that has taught you a great deal about the dark, as well as about the operation of the various dualities of physicality. This knowledge gave you wisdom that you will find most valuable as you carry out the Creator's mission. You have begun to clear your mind of the cobwebs produced by your plunge into limited consciousness. Now, prepare to enjoy the glorious gifts that the Creator has bestowed upon you. A new path in your journey has only just begun.

Today, we have looked at recent events on your world. Remember, dear Hearts, to focus upon the 'bigger picture' and not let the events of the day get you down. In your own way, remain positively focused and fully committed to your ongoing transformation. We now take our leave. Blessings! Know in your heart of hearts that the countless Abundance and Prosperity of Heaven is yours! Amen. Selamat Gajun! Selamat Ja! (Sirian for Be One! Be in Joy!)

WORDS OF WISDOM FROM HATONN

CONTACT OR SPECTRUM?

I want to briefly respond to a most unusual question from a totally "out of the blue" person: "It appears Spectrum will fail, possibly close, so will you go back to writing for CONTACT or what?"

I have never stopped writing for CONTACT—but I have NOT written, nor have my compatriots written for Spectrum. Tails wag a lot of dogs, my friends. Therefore, "or what" has no meaning.
