Criminally Immoral Activity Is Collapsing Entire World

8/8/02—#1 (15-357)

RE: U.S. TREASURER INVOLVED IN SOUTH AMERICA AND ELSEWHERE. INTER-AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT BANK AND OTHER POINTS WHICH ARE DIRECTLY RELATED TO THE BONUS 3392-181 PHENOMENON AND "WHY" GLOBAL ALLIANCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION AND OTHER RECOGNIZED ENTITIES HOLD "VALID" RECOGNITION. IT ALL GOES BACK A LONG WAY AND IS NOW A "CURRENT" DEBACLE AND HEADACHE TO ALL INVOLVED PRIOR TO NOW

SOUTH AMERICA?

Hatonn—SAY WHAT? THE U.S. SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY IS ALL ABOUT IMF/WB/FED ALL OVER SOUTH AMERICA AND PASSING OUT MONEY? LET'S TAKE A LOOK AT PAUL O'NEILL, U.S. SEC. OF THE TREASURY.

First, let us remind everyone that no matter how you would like to cut the cloth differently, you are stuck with WHAT IS!

Paul O'Neill, AND your Judicial Head of State, John Ashcroft (Attorney General), are PAID EMPLOYEES of the International Monetary Fund and that means, also, the Federal Reserve but better hidden, usually, than what has now happened Internationally on the "send money" front.

Mr. O'Neill is making tracks all over South America and promising money to cover MISSING money and trying desperately to shore up and keep silent the facts of what has happened in ongoing and rather long-term games by a bunch of people you will all recognize by name.

I am going to ask that a rather short article be presented here with no particularly big focus on anything other than general comment in the media about Mr. O'Neill.

I ask you to read it carefully and see what you get out of it and then we will dissect it a bit which can be called: "Filling in some missing pieces to the interesting puzzle".

INNOCUOUS ARTICLE ON RESCUE PACKAGE FOR URUGUAY

[QUOTING U.S., IMF Confirm Rescue Package for Uruguay. Internet, Mon., 5 Aug. 2002 from AP for general distribution:]

U.S., IMF CONFIRM RESCUE PACKAGE FOR URUGUAY

MONTEVIDEO—The United States agreed Sunday to provide Uruguay with a $1.5 billion bridge loan to enable its banks to reopen, while top officials from the IMF, World Bank and IDB said they would announce an increase in support later in the week.

Washington has agreed to "up to $1.5 billion in short-term bridge financing... to Uruguay's Central Bank during the brief period until international financial institution loans are disbursed," U.S. Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neill said in a statement from Brasilia. O'Neill arrived in Brazil Sunday on the first leg of a trip that will also take him to Argentina and Uruguay, the countries hardest-hit by South America's growing economic crisis.

"We are confident that this enhanced program will help Uruguay address the intense external pressures it has faced in recent months. This confidence stems from the extraordinary actions and commitments by the Uruguayan authorities to address these pressures," he said.

The U.S. announcement came after a joint statement from International Monetary Fund, World Bank and Inter-American Development Bank officials stating they will increase aid to Uruguay from the three institutions by $800 million, taking their overall support from three to $3.8 billion, AP reported.

They would also accelerate existing disbursements worth $700 million to Uruguay in order to make $1.5 billion available next week, once authorized by their respective boards.

The flurry of activity came after the Uruguayan Congress scrambled to approve the banking system stability act, aimed at averting a default on the country's international debt payments and allowing the government to block the withdrawal by account holders of hard currency held in state banks for up to three years.

[END QUOTING]

Does this look good so far?

Why would the U.S. Treasurer be involved in any way whatsoever? Well, he is the hotshot recognized mouth, in this instance, of the IMF. HOWEVER, and far more important in this particular instance is his PROBABLE relationship with the Inter-American Development Bank. Wow, thought they would never uncover themselves!

You have to realize something very important here and that is that at the time we were working on Herman's "assignment" with, no less, V.K. Durham, following Russell's death, I asked that some checking take place in the corporate structure of a few things, for John Ray had discovered that there was NO registration of several companies run by Bush as to actual incorporation—anywhere.

We found this to be a fact in all instances—HOWEVER, I asked that several be brought into incorporation status and immediately we incorporated Inter-American Investment Corporation (which later V.K. demanded be turned over to her, unencumbered no less).

The other entities were a "trust" company which required whole sets of incorporation rules particular to trusts and banks. If it had been differently established for "banks", WE WOULD HAVE INCORPORATED THE INTER-AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT BANK IMMEDIATELY.

The Inter-American Development Bank was shown as an ASSET to the Inter-American Investment Corporation as the BANKING entity whose Governor was none other than Robert Rubin (then U.S. Treasury Secretary).

Therefore, it might well be obvious who might NOW be the Governor of that particular bank.

Inter-American Investment Corporation (IAIC) was established with bunches of nations contributing funds for various projects and other purposes. The bank would, of course, handle those intended massive funds. The fun part, however, is that they were established specifically to facilitate USE OF THE BONUS CONTRACT 3392-181 (UNLAWFULLY NO LESS). MOREOVER, (IAIC) DID, AND STILL DOES, USE IT—UNLAWFULLY TO THIS PRESENT DAY.

THIS IS WHY: The people in the know will not deny our holdings but will, of course, stonewall approval, for the amounts of the value are outrageous. WE ARE, HOWEVER, THE ONLY ONES BACKING THE ASSETS WITH GOLD (INSTEAD OF STEALING THE GOLD TOO) AND LIMITING THE FUNDS FLOW.

If the controllers are unlawfully using the asset, then it is very difficult to bash anyone for LAWFUL use of the asset. We are not picking a war—but we are standing firm on the ground we hold.

DEVELOPMENT BANKS

Now, you might wish to suggest that probably the Inter-American Development Bank would be the only one of its "kind" around or about? No, there are DOZENS of them, including the ASIAN DEVELOPMENT BANK!

Is the ENRON mess looking somewhat smaller to you now, readers? Moreover, are you who still pick at our slow progress reconsidering the major problems we face daily?

By the way, a BIG bunch of "BANKOS" are also in that same loop and were also set up to launder money from very, very dirty funds. You will also remember that some banks were joint nasty-ventures with even Mr. Bush as in BCCI and some even in Italy of massive size. Of course the "Bonus" was used with MANY, MANY banks who are/were in the International Banking Cartel (IBC) loop of bandits.

By the way, it is time to warn everyone, especially our friends dealing with the Philippine National Bank and clearing up ownership and managing negotiations, that J.P. MORGAN CHASE is in HOT WATER because of derivatives (gold) and other antics. In addition, for "COOKING THEIR BOOKS" while not reporting "at least" $45 BILLION in those gold dealings alone.

THESE ARE THE FOXES BROUGHT IN TO GUARD THE HENS? OH INDEED, AND HOPEFULLY KEEP THE BAD-GUYS HIDDEN.

STOCK MARKET MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

What exactly makes the problems on the public as to crashes, lies, debacles and losses for the masses? Well, the minute a corporation goes public and is listed on the stock exchange—it is up for raiding, stealing and manipulation. That has been fully recognized and utilized since the opening of the very first exchange.

Therefore, NEVER expect us to touch anything which deals in "shares" or on the "market"—period and end of tale.

Any of "our" entities will operate on Lines of Credit as backed by collateral called GOLD and through that resource can ask for other letters/lines of credit which will be fully backed likewise as in a "joint venture". If people do not wish to handle their part of any joint venture in this manner—fine, they may do whatever they choose—AFTER they have met the agreements (MOA) of our joint-venture relationship.

THAT, BY THE WAY, INCLUDES ANY NATION AND EVEN THE INTER-AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT BANK—OR—CENTRAL BANK, ANYWHERE. All they have to have is GOLD, my friends. They have stolen plenty of that commodity so "no problem"—surely.

We only need, actually, clear and clean Warehouse Receipts which represent GUARANTEED holdings, for there is no need to spend extra funds shipping the shiny stuff around or longer hide it. For instance, all that nice gold leased out or traded for credits by such as the Philippine Central Bank—can get it back and in the meanwhile the documents are sufficient TO GUARANTEE holdings.

And YES indeed, they DO NEED "Global" to keep that bookkeeping totally open and transparent and ON THE BOOKS.

We experience right in Manila at the "Land Bank" where an ex-President walked off with BILLIONS of Dollars (Trillions of Pesos), through simply playing with the books and cashing in illegal bonds and using fraudulent land titles. This particular President then did a real manipulation job in conjunction with major U.S. corporations, like ENRON, as a very good example.

Citizens, this kind of criminally immoral activity is collapsing your world, for there is no FOUNDATION to hold anything.

There is a recently produced film which airs on National Geographic channel and/or Discovery channel which shows the inner-workings of the Federal Reserve Bank and system. It is fabrication from start to end. However, it is recognized that the mind will accept anything presented if done in an authoritarian or documentary style of "misinformation". YOU-THE-PEOPLE WILL NOT GET THE TRUTH AT ANY COST TO THE DECEIVERS AND MANIPULATORS. UNTIL YOU KNOW THAT FACT, YOU ARE IN INCREDIBLE DANGER.

The presenters will give you the information they desire you to receive and destroy truth or bury it so that you CAN'T know truth.

The interesting tale about the fabulous Yamashita Gold in the Philippines is one of the most "sorry" presentations ever given forth and yet it comes from such an honorable source as National Geographic—but serves as a perfect example.

There is more in the Philippines which confronts the locals every day and seems to be missed by almost all of the commentators and journalists.

There was a claim that the remaining HEAD of the Abu Sayyaf, Sabaya, and two of his top men were killed dead in a confrontation in the night—with the Army as witnessed and directed by the U.S. troops. Wow, there is even a videotape of the event—which is so "badly done" as to SHOW nothing except shadows—BUT, from that and nothing else, it was "decided" that Sabaya was dead along with two others. No bodies have ever been presented and the only "things" for evidence had already been presented to the public from the "Burnham" "rescue".

No, it is well recognized that, just as bin Laden, the Abu Sayyaf ARE ASSETS AND TRAINED OPERATIVES OF THE CIA-Mossad. This is NOT in question. In fact, there are Special Forces trainers working with those groups they were supposed to have been here to wipe out and who were left behind for that very purpose.

The "terrorists" (working cooperatives) served their purpose and now will regroup to serve yet another day. Already, there are 400 U.S. troops appointed and ready to be shipped to the Philippines this Fall. It is no secret and who needs FORMAL bases? Certainly NOT the United States of America.

I want to report something that I am also quite confident that almost none of you know concerning the recent visit of Secretary of State Colin Powell to Manila. You might find it interesting that Mr. Powell stayed less than a block from Ekkers in Makati. Just one building distant. So, do you actually think the Ekkers are in bad-stead with the home country?

Mr. Powell promised a bit more help beyond the gift prior to now of $100 million in surplus military goods. He added to that military resource some $55 million. This would/will be dished out over, if memory serves, a 10-year period.

Note this is for “military” assistance—while the whole country and Southeast Asia is going down the drain. But no help otherwise than piddling surplus military “goods”?

Guess what, Global Alliance WILL NOT offer assistance for war purposes, including military buildup. We will offer police refurbishing and military “standard” needs but those would also be appropriated to “only peaceful/humanitarian” programs, personnel assistance as to pay, living quarters, family assistance programs, etc.

Mr. Powell knows better than anyone in Southeast Asia that the area can stand on its own in stability when Global is established. THAT will be the most remarkably positive reflection on the U.S. of anything since sliced bread and protected sex.

It will get the “Development” Banks back into good standing while bailing out the “Bush”-related corporations which had cost the world an arm and, surely, a leg. All that without even having one cent lodged against the U.S. Treasury, or for that matter, the Federal Reserve.

As an example, you can look at the topic above about helping in South America. You don’t actually put anything into the system—except the electronic funds which will give RESERVES against which the local government can then count it as assets and print money against the deposit. But, it is still totally EMPTY—for it remains simply empty paper. However, the claim of “gold backing” gives it credibility if NOT reality. It is a band-aid and nothing more to keep ability to hide a bit longer until everything collapses under its own weight or the world wakes up, which is not likely.

Could Global bail out such a large thing as Enron? Yes, instantly—BUT, THE OTHER SIDE HAS TO RETURN THE GOLD THEY STOLE—TO THE COFFERS FOR BACKING OF THE PACKAGE.

WHY DON'T WE “PUSH” IT?

Why, we have been threatened, turned in to INTERPOL and every other dastardly torture with ability to apply. NO THANK YOU. Meanwhile, you citizens of the U.S. are promised unlimited wealth to flow in incredible abundance just through NESARA of some kind as explained by Dove of Oneness and Four Winds, which we already know are BOTH fraudulent groups.

Why in the world would Ekkers be willing to even come set foot on the U.S. soil when they have been told by miscreants, inclusive of V.K. Durham, that there are Federal Warrants out for their arrest?

They even added an addendum to the charges papers of Diane about the Ekkers NOT being indicted. Would YOU trust this particular “Big Brother”?

Mr. Bush said in 1996 that he was “not yet willing to deal”. That was relayed to us and we assume that when and if they ever get ready to “deal”, they will call us, for we have no intention of calling them.

If nothing else came out of the dastardly experience of Diane, the truth and information of necessity was presented, for otherwise the Feds had NO BACKUP whatsoever for what they did and/or the case itself.

They had to get Diane to plead guilty to such a minor thing as sending in the mail a brochure (created by others) regarding something distributed by a tiny little operation distributorship of which they claimed she was somehow “manager”. To Diane, at this moment, she cannot see much value for “later” even though her “catch-22” today is her open door for action TOMORROW. The rest of the players and the truth will of demand be brought forward on HER TERMS, not “theirs”.

And Ekkers? Oh, they will get their questions resolved by INTERNATIONAL lawyers in diplomatic circles. We will not give away either strategy or further information but every step will be timely and totally lawful in all ramifications.

For you inquiring minds as regards such as the Inter-American Development Bank, please feel free to contact Rick Martin-Cortright, for I’m sure the above is not lost on his recognition—nor would it be lost on Charles Neil. Certainly NONE of it would be lost on Ret. Lt. Col. Al Martin!

If I were these immediately named people would I be restive and insecure? Yes indeed, but NOT because of us. A lot of people got copped out of a major participation coming forth and are getting more and more unhappy with each passing week. Moreover, the Federal agents involved in the “Diane” case are compromised and embarrassed and the reflection is now showing up in unethical activities of the local sheriff’s department in Tehachapi and Bakersfield, California as officers ACTED on requests from miscreant enemies of Diane. Looks ugly because it IS ugly AND AT THE COUNTY-STATE LEVEL IS TRULY A DIRTY LINEN-CLOSET “DEAL”.

Does Diane need to distribute vitamins? NO! Does Diane need to be a volunteer sheriff? No. However, she graduated from all their classes and was applying for full time employment as a deputy sheriff (Kern County, Calif.) when she was FIRED for being somehow related to a “Phoenix” something or other with Ekkers as relatives. It was stated and is in writing! The people at the sheriff’s office even identified the person calling in as being female but had to withhold full identification. In COURT that identification will be demanded and the person brought forth for testimony/interrogation.

So readers, just how is your day in the lands of the free and the homes of the brave where you can be raided and anything seized, even from your person, without warrant or warning? All there has to be is a claim of “suspicious appearance” or whatever the enforcers wish to present. It is now called “Homeland Security”. But then, you want security don’t you? Certainly Ekkers do!

GOLD IN THE VAULTS

I remind you that when the economic bubble goes bust you have a problem and the fire is going to be turned up exponentially with one solution, AGAIN, being to get all the available gold—away from YOU.

The powers-that-be already have the plan just as they also have printed nice colored paper to fill a need when the Titanic goes down. It will truly be a cross between “gotcha” and “getcha”; be damned if you do and damned if you don’t.

Will that impact our programs? Yes of course, but not to overwhelm because we base everything ON GOLD and what gold we hold will be as collateral against credit lines and loans—REMEMBER THE POSSIBILITIES, READERS, FROM OUR EARLY DAYS BACK AT THE RANCH! THE LAST THING CONFISCATED WILL BE THE COLLATERAL AGAINST WHICH LOANS ARE SECURED! Even the big bankers won’t sit still for THAT. And NO, we ARE NOT limited to something called a “dollar”. So be it! God does NOT give out sloppy advice. Moreover, why do you think Ekkers are in the Philippines? We meet every agreement and expect those working with us in any capacity to meet their agreements. It takes longer, perhaps, but in the end it protects everyone and every nation involved. We can deal in ANY currency—and any “partner” is fully sheltered and secured as to anything done with us.

I am also asked why we speak of these various topics in a given focussed writing? Because I WANT IT TOGETHER, for nothing is separate—ALL IS CONNECTED and anyone presenting tricks on or against us are going to get truth splashed upon the scene over and over again into infinity!

We have worked against every barrier and tool, even to persons, working for the Adversary in every ill-conceived and mean trick imagined. We now reveal it all at every opportunity and publish it in the paper openly for YOUR information, regardless of who you are.

We fight with no man, woman or child. Neither do we enter into contracts with Satan so, if you wish to share with us on this wondrous journey, welcome aboard and bring your own seat belt. But we no longer will accept responsibility for those who are just along for a “free” ride to the goodies. And to the parasites: your days are numbered.

You who help us will be abundantly repaid and you who deliberately have brought damage and lies upon your brothers—shall be rewarded appropriately.

My goodness, readers, you KNOW that finally you can rest comfortably in the knowledge that you are in good hands with All-State in that just today it is announced that Britain is to bestow knighthood on Alan Greenspan for his having kept the world economy stable. And brothers, that is especially important in this New World of Ozzie Osborne being the new British IDOL and standard of excellence. Where is Sodom after all?

In closing I am going to ask you readers to go back to the CONTACT News Desk of July 31, 2002 and start right at the beginning with “Mossad Chief”. The presentation is on NUCLEAR capability with full intent to use everything they have—while YOU IN THE U.S. HAVE SUPPLIED ALL THE MONEY AND TECHNOLOGY FOR THE INCREDIBLE PREDICAMENT FACING YOU NOW.

Hatonn—Some things come forth and are too good to fail to take time and space to share with all the readers we can possibly reach. This document upcoming is one of them.

The authors (publishers) have printed on their cover sheet to “Please tell ten others to tell ten more.” We will reach at least ten times ten and that will help a bit perhaps.

These people believe that exposure is the death knell of the New World Order and certainly “exposure” is the ONLY means of bringing TRUTH out of the chaos. Sharing is the only WAY, for you must have what is, in fact, not in psychic revelation of some mysterious/mystical kind.

We will do as usual and ask Dharma to retype this and in that you can know that every word is acknowledged and every letter attended in respect for authors.

Where there are segments of “advice” given which would be “proprietary” as to the type of newsletter from which we extract excerpts, please understand that we will omit those portions. If you wish to consider that information, please go to the resource directly. In this instance: bif4653@comcast.net. Otherwise we will present as is.

As we move along and talk about such as (example) J.P. Morgan Chase, Citibank, etc., please relate at every opportunity to that which we have offered, yea even today. Please remember that if “Chase” fails, it will destroy, further, the Saudi Arabian investments as were supposed to be safe and secure in Chase Manhattan Bank but are obviously GONE WITH THE WIND.

NOTICE: TO YOU WHO HAVE TO MASSAGE THESE WRITINGS PLEASE UNDERSTAND OUR NEED TO INTERRUPT AND THEREFORE OUR “FILE” LABELS AND DATES WILL FAIL TO REFLECT PROPER CALENDAR SEQUENCE. TOO MANY INTERRUPTIONS ARE TAKING PLACE EVERY DAY THAT REQUIRE ATTENTION. WE MUST, HOWEVER, HAVE SOME ITEMS TO DISK TO MAKE SURE BACKUP IS AVAILABLE FOR ONGOING EVENTS AND WRITINGS.

U.S. MARKETS

There was a secret emergency meeting on Wednesday night (24 July) to discuss the deteriorating situation of Citibank and JP Morgan Chase and Morgan's $24 trillion derivative position.

Our spies tell us Citigroup and JP Morgan Chase are going to stay separate and have a significant merger of operations. The merger will also involve canceling out mutual obligations.

Chase is to get an off-the-books line of credit from the U.S. Treasury. [H: I suggest you consider the “Superfund” resource.] The real problem is the derivatives position. Treasury did not offer the money to unwrap it at current levels. If the price of gold can be kept down, the whole contraption can hobble along for a while. Ultimately, we think Chase is toast and Citigroup will not fare much better.

They are plotting a big announcement from George W. Bush to seize public attention, but we haven't yet found out what it is. Probably they don't yet know. All they want is a means of driving the market collapse out of the headlines. Every thinking person must be worried about what Dubya might do.

We surmise that U.S. plans regarding the Middle East will be expanded. White House staffers are talking about Saudi Arabia.

Unsurprisingly, the net effect of this meeting is to convey a taxpayer-funded loan to the banks and to move risk for the derivatives position to the U.S. Treasury.

Ever wonder how the U.S. Government, which is “required” by the U.S. Constitution to guarantee to citizens of the U.S. trial by jury, no arrest without a grand jury indictment, the right to a speedy trial, the right to confront one's accusers, the right to habeas corpus and the right of appeal, can strip those citizens of ALL of those rights by simply giving the International Criminal Court (ICC) jurisdiction over all U.S. citizens? (The ICC has no jury, recognizes no right of defendants before the court to face their accusers, no right of legal representation, no right to a speedy trial, no right to reasonable bail, and no need for search and/or arrest warrants. They take you into custody upon allegation of a ‘hate crime’, which can be simply ‘causing mental harm to another’. They can hold you indefinitely before trial.) [H: Anyone thinking Diane, for instance, made a wrong choice had better re-read this paragraph. “They” can do anything they wish and make it “legal” and it can be based on non-truth from beginning to incarceration.]

In allowing ICC to assert jurisdiction over U.S. citizens, all three Branches of the Federal Government are committing treason against American Citizens on a mammoth scale. But Americans have long since proven they don't care what rights they lose so long as they can incapacitate their mental faculties by watching TV.

Four years ago we said the Greenspan productivity gains were a myth and so they were. Yet he continues to tell us of every new outsized gain, which he believes is the elixir for whatever ails the economy. The recent gains in productivity as we have said over and over are anything but miraculous; they are simply normal, ordinary and cyclical. Productivity is certainly very important, but unfortunately Mr. Greenspan has used it as a diversion. Mr. Greenspan allowed the bubble to take place. He is the elitist front man so he'll take the heat, that's what he is paid for. When he uttered his irrational exuberance comment the Dow was 5874 and as you know he allowed the market to double from there. He could have raised interest rates and margin requirements, but he was covering himself. He would warn the world of the bubble to come and then do absolutely nothing to stop it, which is his job. This was a deliberate policy of public deceit. He said, “The raising of margins was an anachronism in January 2000,” and declared “The level of stock prices has nothing to do with margin requirements.” If that comment doesn't smack of arrogance, we don't know what does, but that attitude has become commonplace among elitists over the last several years. We believe Mr. Greenspan had the wisdom to stop the bubble, but not the courage to do so. At this juncture investors could be out close to $10 TRILLION. Evidently the media coverage of the blatant 400-point Dow reversal recently has kept the Plunge Protection Team (PPT), in which the FED is a participant, at bay. The world finally realizes what we have known for years, the markets are rigged. Mr. Greenspan also knows full well that housing prices are finally about to descend. Even if monthly payments are lower due to lower interest rates, if you have no work you can't make your payments.

As the real estate prices descend the home equity surge will end. The new economy, the Goldilocks economy, the new paradigm, is history. We are now in stage 2 of 4 or 5 stages of economic and financial collapse. The worst is yet to come.

U.S. stock fund managers have achieved a 21.34% loss as of 7/19/02. Bond funds are up a miserable 1.94%. Health and biotech are off 33.27%. Funds, that are supposedly professionally managed, are getting crushed and the worst is yet to come.

Sub-prime lenders' stocks got banged around this week as Capital One Financial Corp. was asked by regulators to increase its loan loss reserves. Metris Company, a sub-prime credit card issuer reported a quarterly loss that was far beyond expectations. Providian Finance went through the same thing last year. Other lender stocks that were hit were MBNA and Household Finance. This could be the beginning of a credit bust that could take the housing market with it.

Last August we detected an abrupt slowing of funds coming into the U.S.; the market was headed down and irrespective of 9/11 we were about to have a correction anyway. As we had said nine months prior to 9/11 that we expected a terrorist attack or an event that would occur to be used as a cover for the markets' descent. Capital flows suggested then as they do now that the allure of U.S. securities is waning. This flight has, of course, accelerated over the past four months. This flight in part has been responsible for the failure of what was a very powerful bear market rally. We are sure you'll recall we recommended selling into and shorting into the rally. Both have proved to be very profitable decisions. It fulfilled our adage, “when in doubt, don't”. Market fundamentals were and are still dreadful. Over the next year foreigners will almost totally desert the U.S. equities market. It is not necessary for investors to sell U.S. assets for the dollar to go down. The ballooning U.S. current account deficit, which could be $450-$500 billion this year, means that the U.S. needs to attract $1.2 to $1.4 billion A DAY. Presently we are attracting declining net funds, which as we predicted in April 2000, when we said to exit the market, means we have a long way to go on the downside. We get 84% of our manufactured goods via imports, the result of a disastrous free-trade policy. That means in order to reduce the current account deficit we have to reduce spending on imports. That spending makes up 63% of our economy, so you can see that much financial pain still lies ahead. We haven't even felt pain as yet. Skepticism over accounting standards and worries over equity valuations are driving investors out of the market, and rightly so. We have cited these reasons for over 27 months. If we really want to understand how bad credibility is, and few take notice, of the fact that after Mr. Greenspan and Mr. Bush spoke in Congress and on live TV, the market tanked all three times. Now if he can't make the market go up what propagandist can? The talking heads at CNBC & 99% of their “guests” have long ago lost all credibility and rightly so. In April the net flow into U.S. equities and bonds from abroad was $35.3 billion and who knows how reliable these figures are? This is the same Treasury that is riding herd on the Plunge Protection Team and is the control behind the rigging of the gold market through the ESF, the Exchange Stabilization Fund. The average net in-flow last year was $42 billion a month. You can rest assured that May, June and July figures are much lower due to the 10% plunge in the dollar. There is no panic yet but the flow has to be outward. As we mentioned in our last article the German two-year bonds offer 125 basis points more than their U.S. counterparts, so naturally fixed-income investors have been increasingly drawn to euro-zone bonds. Especially since the dollar has fallen and if we and George Soros are to be believed it will fall 30% plus. The lion's share of the current account deficit has been funded through the bond market and for the above reasons that is drying up. By example only $5.7 billion worth of corporate bond issuance has come forth in July, down from $42 billion in June. The spigot is about to be turned off just as we begin phase two of the bear market. Equally as bad, U.S. investors are increasing their exposure in Japan, Norway and especially Switzerland. ... The only thing we can see that U.S. stock and bond markets have going for them is all the other markets are doing just as bad, except for some Asian markets. In a recent earlier issue we said that would happen, as the U.S. is the economic engine and when it stops for rest so does every other economy. Asia has been a recent buyer of U.S. assets, but as the U.S. economy goes deeper into recession, consumption will slow and so will their exports to the U.S.

The non-stop growth of Health Care companies hasn't materialized. Few of the big pharmaceutical firms have blockbuster drugs in the pipeline. Biotech companies cannot meet inflated expectations of delivery times. Drug regulators are insisting on more rigorous tests before allowing new drugs on the market. Generic drug firms are cutting into profits. Most of the money that escaped the tech debacle went into drugs and biotech only to get axed again. As you can see the sector is fraught with risk and prices have already fallen. Unless you have a situation when shares have fallen from $2.00 to 30 cents and the future is promising, we'd pass for the moment. We do generally like the sector, but many stocks have got to go along with the overall market.

General Ralph E. Eberhart, who is in charge of defending America against attack says, "We should always be reviewing things like Posse Comitatus' and other laws if we think it ties our hands in protecting the American people." The general wants the military to be involved in domestic law enforcement, which is against the law. We believe the general is being used as a sounding board, a trial balloon, for the elitists to convince Congress to change the law. Immediately thereafter they'll collect your weapons. The President in his quest to institute a police state is letting others speak for him. His new Northern Command sounds like something straight out of the Roman Empire. George Bush and his fellow elitists want full command so they'll be able to herd the American people around like cattle. He also intends to have joint support with Canada and Mexico. Canada has thousands of foreign troops already as a permanent fixture. In the process, amalgamation of the three countries can begin. We see no sign of the enemy but the Pentagon is already talking of combat operations in and around all major cities. The military unfortunately has taken the bait, now they'll run with it. America is in deep trouble if this Northern Command goes into operation on October 1st.

Our contacts tell us that the USAF base near Alamogordo is a German airbase and has been so for some time. We've also been told that UN forces regularly train near Helena, Montana and that there are large warehouses full of UN armor outside Billings, Montana under guard. A blind man can add up the indications. Equipment is being pre-positioned in this nation for some reason and we can only think of one. THEY PLAN TO USE IT.

Changes the elitists envision: FOREIGNERS SEE A NEW AMERICA EMERGING, ONE OF PRE-EMPTIVE MILITARY STRIKES, A FAILING FINANCIAL SYSTEM AND THE NEW HUB OF CRONY CAPITALISM. FREE TRADE IS FALLING BY THE WAYSIDE AND AMERICA IS HEADED TOWARD A CLOSED ECONOMY. THE FOREIGNERS FORGET THAT THE GLOBALIZATION THAT MADE THEM PROSPEROUS WAS THE CAUSE OF THE COLLAPSE OF THE WESTERN SYSTEM. AMERICA WAS THE SOCIAL, POLITICAL AND FINANCIAL GOLD STANDARD; NOW THAT STANDARD WILL REVERT BACK TO GOLD AND AWAY FROM THE FIAT DOLLARS. THIS IS WHY FOREIGNERS ARE ABANDONING SHIP AND IGNORING THE PLEAS OF MR. GREENSPAN AND MR. BUSH; THEY DON'T THINK AMERICA'S LONG-TERM PROSPECTS ARE GOOD. THEY ARE PULLING THEIR MONEY OUT, BUT UNLESS THEY GO TO GOLD THEY'LL FIND THE EURO AND OTHER CURRENCIES WILL END UP NO BETTER THAN THE DOLLAR. WHAT HIGH MORAL GROUND THAT WAS NOT LOST BY PERVERT CLINTON IS BEING LOST BY NAPOLEON BUSH. WE HAVEN'T SEEN A TERRORIST ATTACK IN A YEAR. WE CAN'T INVOKE THE TERRORIST LABEL ON EVERYONE WHO DISAGREES WITH THE PRESIDENT INCLUDING AMERICAN CITIZENS. BRUTE POWER WILL COST MILLIONS OF LIVES, BUT IN THE END IT SOLVES NOTHING. YOU CAN'T KILL THE IDEA OF FREEDOM. THE SYSTEM AND AMERICA NEED CHANGES, BUT NOT THE CHANGES THE ELITISTS ENVISION.

The Peoples Republic of California has finally gotten around to issuing $11 billion in bonds, which is the largest ever by a government agency. They will pay for the electricity used in early 2001. The bonds will replace the $6.5 billion the state had to divert from the Treasury to stave off rolling blackouts.

If anything, the recent scandals bear out what we have been reporting since 1967 and that is the on-going reality of institutionalized white-collar crime in our stock markets, corporations, government, banking and in the media, which they control, which covers up for them. It is a widespread and systemic culture of sociopathic crime. The exposure they have brought over the last few years has brought about bankruptcies, fines, and civil and criminal actions. The result has been the loss of consumer confidence, which has brought about a fall in consumption. This has and will continue to bring corporate losses and personal and corporate bankruptcies. This criminal culture and its greed will bring on depression in America and throughout the world. THE KEY TO THE LONGEVITY OF THIS CRIME SPREE WAS THE FEDERAL RESERVE, WHICH SUPPLIED THE CREDIT AND CASH.

Congress simply wore blinders as they put everything they could off-budget or in emergency appropriations. Major Wall Street brokerage firms, mutual funds, consultants and CNBC performed a massive pump-and-dump operation while Arthur Levitt and the SEC pursued small brokers, small brokerage firms and small corporations. Isn't America wonderful? If you are a crook at the top, you simply buy your way out. All the subterfuge of the late 1990s is coming home to haunt everyone. All they did was put off the funeral. The average mindless American investor is still going to lose more money before this is over. The glaring question is where was the SEC, NASD, CFTC and the FBI while all this has been going on? They were complicitly not looking or not pursuing any of the Elite. Why aren't they pursuing the gold-manipulation cartel? We'll tell you why, BECAUSE THEY ARE IN ON IT. Everyone in NYC and Washington knows what's going on but don't dare to talk about it. Congress is terrified because they are paid off by these very same criminals. All these parties are part of the group who gang raped the American investor and stole almost all his money. Again no one goes to jail. They get to keep their ill-gotten gains because they are part of the brotherhood.

SCHEMES AND THINGS

A DEVIOS COMPLEX SCHEME BY Citigroup helped Enron borrow money over the past three years that was booked as coming from trades instead of loans. The sham deals, involving bond offerings and trades with a secret offshore entity, helped boost the Company's weak cash flow to match its growth in paper profits, at a time when the gap between the two had grown to as much as $1 billion a year. This makes Citigroup an operating accomplice in Enron's criminal fraud. Citigroup said it did nothing wrong as has JP Morgan Chase. Other fraudsters were Fleet Boston Financial and Credit Suisse who can't recover $1 billion, JP Morgan Chase $3.7 billion and Citigroup $4.8 billion and the insurers refuse to cover their losses for good reasons. Guess what, after all the exposure not one of these many hundreds of crooks will go to jail.

All those genius economists, strategists, analysts and newsletter writers are discovering what we have been saying for 27 months, that we are in a deflationary mode. Consumer prices were only up 0.1% in June. Yet, the trade deficit hit a new record of $37.6 billion in May from $36.1 billion in April. Exports grew 0.7% but imports jumped 1.8%. This is the lowest annual year-to-year inflation increase of 1.1% since 1964 and we vividly remember the year as a recession year as car sales and real estate plunged. There is substantial unused business capacity and real unemployment is rising. Consumer purchasing power is falling so retailers are dropping prices to attract buyers. This denotes lack of pricing power for sellers and that means less or no profits as we explained over two years ago. There is no question we are going to follow the example of Japan. The Nikkei Dow went down 75%. If the Dow emulated that it would end up at 3,000. Alan Greenspan has expressed little concern regarding deflation. In fact he doesn't talk about it, because he can't do anything about it. He serves up pabulum, "The economy is improving in line with our expectations". What a fraud. We are anxious to see when all the above experts will see the light and recognize deflation.

We have to laugh when we see comments regarding more manufacturing exports due to a weaker dollar. Manufacturing is a minor part of our economy now that free trade has wiped out 85% of our manufacturing capability. What will the government do when we are in a war, which our President promises us, and we can't manufacture the weapons to defend ourselves? Do you believe China or Europe will supply us? Not on your life. We warned of this 15 years ago, yet no one wanted to listen.

The U.S. is moving closer in its normalization of relations with Indonesia by mending ties with the military and allowing Indonesian soldiers to be trained in the U.S. This after the carnage the military executed in East Timor in 1999. The U.S. figures after three years who cares how many people these thugs murdered. Thus goes the global game of power. The basis for the deal is threefold; the military will kill any al-Qaida threat in the Muslim country, the U.S. needs Indonesia for strategic purposes in Asia, and to gain conduit business.

[H: This is NOTHING compared to what is taking place in the Philippines as we write. The big brother U.S., in a blatant attempt to capture the Philippines and protect the puppet GMA, has really done it now. After Sec. of State Powell's visit and now, just yesterday, the big U.S. has declared GMA's current antagonists (the Communist-NPA group) as being INTERNATIONAL TERRORISTS! My goodness, readers, since when does the U.S. have rights to enter a SOVEREIGN REPUBLIC and announce edicts—which, obviously, bring troops and wipes out the rest of the RP Constitution?

Well, right now! There is little protection left for the failing Administration and the troops (military) ended up a long way down south from the Palace on the Pasig. There are groups, this new terrorist-labeled among them, who plan to get rid of this oppressive corrupted puppet regime.

Moreover, what was the U.S. to do since all the recognized "terrorists" in the Philippines had gone quiet? The games just never end!]

[A LOOK AT SOME SELECTED ITEMS IN THE REMAINDER OF THIS PAPER, PLEASE.]

HOME FRONT

... many homeowners are selling, taking profits and renting in a soft rental market. More and more in the 55-65 age bracket find, since they've lost 50% of their investments in the stock market, that they can't or don't want to retire and can't really afford that retirement home they've wanted. People are starting to wake up to the fact that things have changed and they could well get worse.

Federal regulators have issued draft rules that would restrict how much sub-prime credit can be extended, how companies should go about getting customers to pay off soured loans, and how companies should reserve against bad loans. Evidently the government sees a tidal wave of bad loans on the way. Recent examinations of institutions engaging in credit-card lending have disclosed a wide variety of account and risk management and loss allowance practices, many of which were inappropriate. Overall the lenders are way over the edge.

Where is all that congressional action at the behest of Wall Street lobbyists for Social Security to buy stocks? It's down the memory hole. President Bush wanted to allow citizens to invest a portion of their payroll taxes in stocks. That was a scant eight months ago. A WSJ/NBC poll showed 55% of Americans opposed partial privatization of Social Security versus 41% who supported the idea. Workers would have suffered losses of $31 billion if as little as 2% of social Security's finances had been carved out for IRAs in 1998. SOCIAL SECURITY IS BROKE. All those non-negotiable bonds are worthless and if the government wants to alter or stop the program, they can do so at any time they please. All we can say is no Social Security funds will go into the market. They now need the money to offset large, mounting deficits again.

This is not a double-dip recession. This is a recession. There has been a recovery only in the distorted minds of Wall Street, Washington and CNBC. The market supposedly telegraphs what will happen in the economy six months down the road. Well, the S&P 500 has declined 30% over the last year. If history is correct, the U.S. economy is nowhere near a bottom as the wealth effect and consumer demand falls asunder. Everyone is in denial and that won't make the recession go away. As Americans continue to look for the silver lining, federal red ink is posing risks to both taxpayers and consumers. The problem of federal debt has to lead to new taxes soon, coming at the worst possible time.

George W. Bush is pushing as hard as he can to get Congress to ratify his new Army of the North in violation of Posse Comitatus, with the related creation of the Fatherland Security Department, in an attempt to implement a police state similar to that of ancient Rome. The amalgamation of various government agencies against terrorist threats is not only a disaster but an effort to centralize all policing powers under one fascistic leadership, Napoleon Bush. Thus far House Judiciary and Transportation and Infrastructure Committees have failed to go along with the Bush program. Judiciary voted to keep FEMA independent and to move the Secret Service to the Department of Justice. They recommended keeping the INS under the Justice Department. Transportation essentially agreed. Then the House GOP Caucus wants to keep FEMA, the Coast Guard, the INS, and the Secret Service in the new Fatherland Security Department. We can promise you that Republicans will get destroyed in the next Congressional election. Their stand is the antithesis of freedom and democracy.

Alabama activated a 300-soldier Army National Guard tank battalion as part of the Fatherland Defense Force. In addition 200 guardsmen from Special Forces Units based in Auburn and Huntsville were activated and will conduct post-mobilization training and they will deploy to undisclosed locations in support of the war on terrorism. Deployment will last 1-2 years. Iraq, here we come.

THE ALIEN FACTOR

Barney Frank (D-MA) is behind the legislation that would allow aliens who have been deported because they are convicted felons to apply for readmission to the U.S. Present law has allowed the INS to deport 71,000 criminal aliens. Mr. Frank is assisted in this endeavor by Sheila Jackson-Lee (D-TX) and numerous Republicans. What is incredible and shows where George W. Bush really stands, is that all immigration hasn't been halted because of terrorism and 11-million-plus illegal aliens rounded up and deported. How do these politicians think? They have to be depraved by sponsoring the wretched criminal refuse of foreign countries to remain here.

True to form CFR member Joe Lieberman has refused to call Robert Rubin, a fellow CFR member, to testify regarding the Enron debacle.

[H: He dares not. This is the SAME Robert Rubin who was governor of that infamous Inter-American Development Bank now so in the news. Can you just imagine the Pandora's demons loosed?]

Wall Street is rethinking its coverage of NASDAQ since its collapse. Now that it's back to 1997 levels it's being abandoned. Its stocks are off 37% for the year thus far. CSFB has already dropped 100 NASDAQ names while Solomon Smith Barney has put several hundred under review. They are expected to drop 300. They also cut 300 traders. Merrill fired 45 traders in June and Goldman Sachs laid off 10 traders recently. It is obvious the firms are experiencing a loss of business and capital limitations.

CHECK THIS ONE CLOSELY, FOR IT IS IMPORTANT.

We predicted when the insurance companies wouldn't cover JP Morgan Chase and Citicorp's Enron losses that it would bring them down. The Senate Committee investigation of Enron's failure has opened a can of worms no one in Washington wanted to touch. They are in the CFR together. In the gold cabal on Tuesday, July 23rd. AIG at $51.10 was off $5.05, JP Morgan Chase $20.08 down $4.44, Citigroup $27 down $5.05 and Goldman Sachs $67.73 down $4.27... The best is yet to come. No one believed us. Well they do now. Wait until the $30 TRILLION in derivatives collapses. They have been writing derivatives for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. Watch out below! AT&T had a record $12.7 BILLION loss, SBC Communications, Inc. reduced its annual forecast, and equipment maker Lucent Technologies will fire 7,000 MORE workers by January.

NOW TRY FOR A BIT OF "NEW DRUG" USE

Doctors are giving infants and babies the anti-impotence drug Viagra to save them from a life-threatening lung condition even though it has not been tested on children. How can they do this with no clinical trials?

[H: In just the opposite way of declaring colloidal silver a "new drug" and removing it from the public. They can do anything they want, my friends, and if you haven't noticed, then you are in for some really hard times.]

WHAT ABOUT THOSE AIRPLANES NOT UFOs?

Boeing Company says that the aviation industry was suffering the worst collapse of all time. The world's airlines lost $12 billion last year and have no profits in sight. Government spending should keep Boeing going.

TRY A LITTLE INCEST

Wall Street is a cozy place. Both Citigroup and Morgan's stocks are being battered. Thus Citibank has recommended JP Morgan Chase's stock as a buy. Next we expect JP Morgan Chase to recommend Citibank as a buy. It's called incest. [H: And it happened JUST THIS WEEK since this writing.]

ALL AROUND AND BACK AGAIN

In a complete turnaround Republicans capitulated and passed legislation to pursue corporate crooks. Now all they have to do is pass legislation to pursue political crooks. [H: What ever happened to the laws which already are in place?] Let's have legislation for jail time for politicians who lie about every statistic that comes out of Washington and then is revised. If given the truth, it would paint a dire picture. Elitist dummies appear on CNBC all day every day to pump up confidence, as they know more and more scandals are yet to come. It has even become so bad that the elitists now have an agenda of controlling the rate and pace of discovery of the ongoing frauds. Wait until they go after under-funded and pension fund fraud. All the write-offs and losses will have a very deflationary effect. All the government machinations in the market are calculated to keep the investor bamboozled as long as possible. They parade all their "experts" across CNBC and everything will be all right. Unfortunately 80% of Americans are deceived by their lies. Remember these elitists are the same people who want to impose a police-state bureaucracy and once in place it will never be dismantled.

[END OF EXCERPT QUOTING]

Neither Dharma's fingers NOR HER STOMACH can stand another five minutes of this copy. It is all being played out right before our/your eyes, readers, and the confronting task is overwhelming even on a "good" day.

I wish I could come along and sweep the nightmares away, but I can't. They ARE and must be recognized before you can EVER consider change.

I have worse news for your realization system: If you hadn't wanted to gain a bit of free lunch off these nonsensical games, you certainly would not have lost or would be losing anything. Nothing on the markets are longer "industrial" based. It is all manipulation with shares, theft and lies. Capitalism as once established is NO MORE. And yes: What do we do when the dollar collapses along with the nonsense?

Good question, and anyone in our program is going to be in Fat Cat City! That is if we can get the deadwood thieves and grabbers off our backs.

I am going to again suggest that if you really want a good read and to learn exactly what has hit you—get Col. Al Martin's book on the Conspiracy. One of the Bushes himself described the exact game used back when and repeated now—without even changing the names or players. Just occasionally reshuffle the cards and bury the informers and go right on. The fraud continues right under your noses right now! It is called the New World Order built on fraud and Superfunds. However, so too are the tools useful to the recovery processing.

We have now offered all of the writing, as we stated up top. However, we certainly do suggest you note the connection instructions and if interested—get aboard that Internet. I fear that no one basing their own careers and Truth on "the market" is long for employment, for it is the SYSTEM that is corrupted, oh blind ones.

Is there a "better way"? Well I guess so—there certainly couldn't be a "worse way".

Salu, and may a breath of insight and wisdom be allowed to enter.—GCH

RE: SPEAKING OF "BUSH", SUPERFUNDS, AND LT. COL. AL MARTIN (RET.), FOLLOW-ON RE YESTERDAY'S TOPIC

INTER-AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT BANK AND PAUL O'NEILL, U.S. TREASURER.

Hatonn—Even though this may seem disconnected at upstart please stay with us long enough to see that the topics above are matches for ongoing information.

I don't need to go into lots of blather about Lt. Col. Martin. He served as a financial person WITH President Geo. Bush in the Iran-Contra mess and knows all about the Superfund of Mr. Bush as well as all the background (in general) of what is now known as the Global Alliance Asset (GAA), or, should that be GAA-GAA as in "nanu-nanu"?

REMEMBER: THAT BY LEGALLY VALIDATING THE BONUS CERTIFICATE (PERUVIAN) 3392-181 IT BECAME IMPOSSIBLE TO EVER TAKE IT AWAY, FOR IT WAS TURNED INTO A "CONTRACT" WITH CORPORATION RECOGNITION—AND "THAT" WAS SANS BUSH!

That is, however, NOT my topic here today.

It is always fun when we write and before the hour passes there are connective writings forwarded for our attention. This one we offer now is coincidental enough to interrupt the other topic we had begun yesterday and postpone it for later attention. This one, Mark, fits directly next in line to yesterday's writing. Thank you.

Col. Martin knows the Bush Bunch just about better than anyone around and therefore is worthy of sharing his Truth buried in a bit of humor. YOU ARE ALL PEOPLE OF THE LIE AND HERE IS HOW IT WORKS—FROM THE TOP DOWN.

I am asking Dharma to type this rather than just suggest a scan into the paper back stateside. We want these items to be available for inclusion into a journal and which would likely be overlooked if not put to working disk.

If you haven't gotten yourself a copy of Martin's book, it is time you do if you truly like intrigue and a whistle-blower who can actually carry a tune. [THE CONSPIRATORS, Secrets of an Iran-Contra Insider, by Al Martin. National Liberty Press, LLC, P.O. Box 43, Pray, Montana 59065. E-mail: virtualagency@yahoo.com.]

High level "ignoring" will not make us go away!

The following, however, is from the Internet as forwarded on to us from Col. Martin's site: <http://www.almartinraw.com>. [QUOTING:]

THINK LIKE A BUSH:
LIE COORDINATION BUREAU NEEDED
BY AL MARTIN

As of July 31, the markets have been down for four consecutive months—the first time that's happened in twenty years. The release of this week's economic statistics, particularly the Gross Domestic Product numbers, indicate that the economy was weaker last year and that economic growth in the first half of this year was also weaker than first believed. This points out a growing problem: the increasing unreliability of government economic statistics. These numbers would always be revised from the month before, but now we're seeing revisions of economic data released 18 months ago. The question then is—why can't the government get it right in the compilation of statistics? Of course, the reason why is because of the way the Reagan-Bush Regime rejiggered all the economic statistics.

You'd think it would be a simple matter of gathering statistical data. The problem is that until the Reagan-Bush Regime, government monthly statistics (eleven primary statistics, including everything from unemployment to housing to manufacturing to industrial capacity) would almost never be revised.

Then in 1983, as Reagan-Bush economic shenanigans began to weigh on the economy and federal deficits began to grow substantially, the Reagan-Bush people decided that all federal agencies involved in statistical compilation and the release of the monthly economic statistics would have to rejigger these statistics, under the guise of "bringing them up to date" and to "reflect a modern economy".

The way these statistics were compiled hadn't been changed in decades. It sounds nice, but what they did in effect is they added more and more complicated sub-categories to existing statistics.

Now you find that, for instance, the monthly labor reports have as many as twelve subsets of statistics in them, which makes it difficult to extrapolate information and put it in all these statistics, some of which were made purposely contradictory.

It has nothing to do with improving these statistics. It was done to politicize the economic statistics. In other words, no matter how bad the situation was, there would be one or more subsets of statistics they could point to and say this number here points to a bright future—when the overall number might be disastrous.

Jimmy Rogers, the famous history professor and market trader, has consistently pointed this out over the years—the politicization of economic statistics. Now polls of investors show that this is becoming a major concern because nobody can trust the monthly numbers, and these are the numbers that people base their investment decisions on.

If the numbers are useless, then people, in essence, become paralyzed by inertia. The government likes to say that there's more economic information available to the American people than ever before. While it's true that there's more volume of information available, if that information isn't considered to be reliable, then what good is it? People are beginning to complain—how these numbers can be revised as much as eighteen months in arrears.

The only thing the current Bush Administration does is what his father did in 1991-92, when there were calls by brokerage firms to reform these statistics. The Bush I Administration simply dragged its feet, and the Bush II Administration does the same thing. They'll form a blue-ribbon commission to study the issue and nothing ever gets changed.

Unreliable government statistics point out the larger problem of Bushonian Government—when you try to run government on the Big Lie Principle, you not only have to have offices in every government agency that generates the lies, you also have to have an oversight pan-government agency function (and this is what's most difficult) to coordinate the lies.

Considering the resources that the Bush Administration spends on lie generation and coordination as divided among all the different agencies and bureaus, it would be much cheaper to have one central bureau—a whole new government agency as large as the FBI. We could call it the LCB—the Lie Coordination Bureau. [H: My goodness, I bet we could come up with hundreds from whom to choose to run that office.] That would be the sole function of this bureau and it would be cheaper for the American taxpayers to do it this way. And the lies would work better.

It should be remembered that during the Second World War in the civilian administration of the Third Reich, it was the Ministry of Propaganda that not only generated the lies for all the other civilian agencies of the Third Reich but also was in charge of coordinating those lies. Joseph Goebbels was in charge of it as the Reich minister. He did such a superb job in the generation and coordination of lies that it made the German civilian government, as many history texts will point out, one of the most efficient governments ever formed. Part of it came from what Goebbels said—that a government, which operates on the principle of the Big Lie, can become very efficient. You only need very efficient people in charge of generating and coordinating the Big Lie.

And that is the problem that the Bushes have always had. They don't have good Lie Coordination Capability (LCC). You see that even in such things as these economic statistics. The LCB or Lie Coordination Bureau should not however be confused with the Office of Information Awareness at DARPA, the Defense Advanced Research Project Agency.

According to their so-called mission statement, “the DARPA Information Awareness Office (IAO) will imagine, develop, apply, integrate, demonstrate and transition information technologies, components and prototype, closed-loop, information systems that will counter asymmetric threats by achieving total information awareness useful for preemption...”. Maybe the Bush Administration is already aware of the need for Lie Coordination. Watch out when Bushes talk about “transitioning” information. This is simply Bush Speak for stringing a bunch of small lies together to come up with one new Big Lie.

Ironically, Vice Admiral John Poindexter, the former Iran-Contra figure, is in charge of the IAO. Poindexter was the head of the National Security Council (NSC) and Oliver North's superior, who essentially took the fall to cover George Bush Sr. And now he's been elevated to this new position where his chief function is to string together small lies to come up with a new Big Lie.

Remember—only in Hollywood and Washington can people fall upward.

The so-called vision statement of the IAO reads, “The most serious asymmetric threat facing the United States is terrorism, a threat characterized by collections of people loosely organized in shadowy networks that are difficult to identify and define.” They could be describing the Bush Cabal itself. Isn't this an apt description?

But the logo of the IAO will really get the New World Order crowd in an uproar. The logo has a globe of the world in the foreground with a pyramid in the background and the pyramid has an all-seeing eye shining onto the Earth. Their motto is “Scientia est potentia”, or “Knowledge is Power”.

And speaking of lies, on July 30, George Bush signed the much-anticipated corporate anti-fraud bill and, of course, the market immediately sold off afterwards. It's full of loopholes, which even the Democrats don't want to lose. I've never seen Bush make a speech like this, and you could tell he was lying. He was sweating. Just as I've said before, when Jeb Bush lies, he starts sweating and he gets that little red line between his forehead and his hairline.

When George Bush Jr. lies, he sweats too, but he gets those blotchy red marks just under the high points of his cheekbones. That's how you can tell he's lying.

All of the Bushes have certain facial peculiarities, wherein one can tell they are lying. He said that from now on, those who commit securities frauds and shred documents are going to jail. After that he took out his handkerchief and wiped his forehead.

And then off camera they caught him. He walked away from the podium, and he wouldn't take any questions, which was surprising because there were supposed to be open questions. They had Paul O'Neill and John Ashcroft there, and Sarbanes and a couple of the Democrats who helped him. All these guys were supposed to say something after the president and they had their little microphones on. But when he walked past all of them, I don't think he realized they had mikes on. And the last thing he said in his speech was that those who commit securities fraud and shred documents to cover it up are going to go to jail. Then he wiped his brow, and when he walked past Sarbanes, he rolled his eyes, and when he turned his head, you could hear him say, “I can't believe I just said that.”

He's rubbing the palms of his hands in his handkerchief. I think he was actually frightened by what he was saying.

By the way, the so-called False Anthrax Scare in Washington will cost the American taxpayers $132 million. This includes the buildings that had to be cleaned up, the work hours lost and government medications that were given out. In the Bush Administration, that's a bargain. It was a Bush-favored company that sold them the faulty anthrax testing equipment (See previous column “Bush Cabal Strategy...”). And it will be a Bush-favored company that will get the contract to clean up the mess from the false anthrax kits.

At one time, there were about 7,000 federal employees out of work because of this Anthrax Scare that has now been traced to faulty anthrax-testing kits. Of course, then they said we're cleaning it all up and look how good our emergency response teams are. Now they're finding out that they have to reclean the buildings because the people who did it originally didn't do it properly. It's a little thing really, but it so typifies the Bush Administration to take credit for something and then we find out six months later that their statements were a lie and it will cost the Americans another hundred million dollars to fix it.

But six months go, they got the political brownie points. For some reason, in the American psyche, they never lose those brownie points, even when its discovered later on that the whole thing was a lie and it didn't get done right and it cost five times what the Bush Administration said it did.

The reason brownie points never get reversed is that the American people expect government to screw things up. Therefore when there is a revelation that people were lied to, it's just a Big Yawn because people's expectations are fulfilled. Then when the Bush Administration announces that something went right, they get a surge of political brownie points because the people never expect anything to be done right.

One of the things we're not hearing about is how the individual state treasuries all the way to the county level are suffering under this Bushonian Economic Meltdown. I have yet to hear anywhere on ProGovNet Media (Pro-Government Network Media, i.e., Mainstream Media) that 17 of the 50 states have declared an economic state of emergency. This is all directly traceable to the Bush Regime because of the Economic Meltdown and higher unemployment benefits, which are costing the states a fortune.

State treasuries are much more sensitive than the Federal Treasury to unemployment and the loss of tax revenue because the state treasuries do not have a wide structure of federal fees, which come in on a regular basis.

Another problem is that the states are so addicted to federal grants and federal matching money that state governments never really act to become efficient. It's a never ending cycle of waste and inefficiency, and nobody has any vested interest to become efficient, to broaden the tax base or to increase industry. The states always take a negative point of view of what's going to happen during the next slowdown. They never think of trying to capitalize on the next upturn.

It's the same mindset that individuals on welfare have. The states have the same addiction in relying on federal funding. Every time there's a downturn in the economy, the states cry for more federal money. In turn the counties cry for more state money. And in turn the municipalities cry for more county money.

The problem is that the “Trickle Down Theory” doesn't work. You have a whole chain, which starts with the federal government and everything has to trickle down. The problem is that during economic slowdowns the federal government decreases the amount of aid it gives to the states in all different forms. (You look at states like Utah, California and Minnesota and you see horrendous budget deficits.) The federal flow gets cut back and this has a magnifying effect to the state treasury because the state treasury is so dependent on that money.

By the way, this dependency cycle on federal money deepened the problem of the Depression enormously. Federal money might be only 10% of the state treasury income, but it's what's called the Golden 10%. If you take it away, it creams the budget for about 30% because the states don't have as many alternative sources of revenue as does the federal government. But it's really unemployment benefits that eat up a state's treasury in a big hurry.

Recently I was reminded of a statement made by my attorney, Marc David Sarnoff, Esq., who represented numerous Iran-Contra notables including Eugene Hasenfus. As an attorney intimately involved in the post-Iran-Contra cover-up environment, he said that the chapter in The Conspirators is “the most accurate description of Iran-Contra he's ever seen in print.” He said I could quote him on it, and I just remembered this because I'm actually starting to organize the writing of another book to be called One Nation Under Fraud.

It wasn't my original intent, but the subtext of the book will be a history of Bushonian Fraud. These would be the thirty top frauds (out of the hundreds and hundreds of frauds), which I find most interesting and most egregious—the thirty top frauds committed by the Bushes—Prescott Sr., Prescott Jr., J. Walter (Prescott's son), George Sr., George Sr.'s sons—George Jr., Jeb, and Neil and the whole crowd. These will run the gamut from the Destin Country Club Development Fraud, to Silverado, to the Lone Star Trucking Fraud.

Over the last twelve years or so, I have catalogued Bushonian Frauds and the number stands at 536 frauds committed in the last sixty years. However, I will use only the top thirty frauds, which include bank firms, security firms, insurance firms, and gas and oil firms. After you are through reading this new book, One Nation Under Fraud detailing Bushonian Fraud, you will understand why every member of the Bush Family has a long-standing affinity to Jack Daniels and Prozac.

You will also understand why a 78-year-old man (George Bush Sr.) jumps out of airplanes—and every time he lands safely on the ground, he has a momentary look of disappointment on his face.

Larry Kudlow, the notorious Reagan-Bush apologist on CNBC, may have finally gone over the edge. In a column published on July 28th, he wrote that war in Iraq is necessary to save the stock market. In the article entitled, “Taking Back the Market—By Force”, Kudlow wrote, “The shock therapy of decisive war will elevate the stock market by a couple thousand points. We will know that our businesses will stay open; that our families will be safe and that our future will be unlimited. The world will be righted in this life-and-death struggle to preserve our values and our civilization.”

He's trying to hang the whole thing on some tinhorn dictator that no one cares about anymore. If that ain't banging the drum for the Bush Administration? Imagine—saying that we need Iraq as the final diversion from our economic ills, and then if we defeat Iraq, we'll all beat our chests and buy a hundred shares of IBM.

Kudlow is the arch-Bushonian apologist, but this is beyond the pale. They ought to put up Larry Kudlow as the poster boy for Operation Drumbeat. Larry Kudlow is the Republican Psy-ops' Best Friend.

As of Friday, August 2, the economic situation of the nation is so deleterious and declining at such a pace that even I nearly threw in the towel and rang up my doctor to get a prescription for Prozac. It should be noted that when I went to the store at the pharmacy, there were six people all lined up for Prozac.

In my case, it was a cumulative effect. The corporate bond market is in a state of panic because there has been a massive liquidation. Brazil, Argentina, Paraguay and Uruguay have all warned the IMF that their economies are perilously close to a state of collapse. If that happens of course that will unleash onto the market billions in so-called U.S. Treasury Brady Bonds that have been previously used by the U.S. Government to collateralize loans to these countries.

If billions of fresh treasury instruments suddenly come onto the marketplace at a time when the market is already loaded with treasury securities (and it is frankly starting to be a little less liquid particularly in the longer end of the maturities spectrum), who knows what the impact will be?

The U.S. Treasury also announced that the Bank of America would make an emergency $5 billion loan to the Government of Uruguay—guaranteed by the U.S. Government. This will be the first time that the United States Government has put the arm on an American bank to lend that nation money directly, based on a U.S. Treasury guarantee, instead of the normal procedure of having the IMF loan money or a having a direct loan by the U.S. Treasury. This is very sinister, since the Undersecretary of the Treasury said we don't have the money.

The Treasury Undersecretary also stated that if the United States could not work with the bondholders in terms of letting these bonds come on the market gradually, the United States, for the first time since 1793, might have to seek to borrow money from European banks.

The debacle of state-issued bonds is also growing. These bonds keep falling day after day because people are so frightened about the multiple billions that state pension systems have lost in the marketplaces. The State of California declared a force majeure on paying state employees salaries. That hasn't happened since Ronald Reagan was governor and destroyed the state's economy the first time.

The commentary from Carr and Company, commodity brokers in Chicago, said what I have been saying—that one of the problems is the enormous amount of money the nations' banks are going to have to write off due to these huge corporate failures and how much more of it is to come—at a time the banks are writing off massive amounts of consumer debt.

There are also new accusations about the statistics regarding the revisions of Gross Domestic Product, going back eighteen months, which show that economic growth through 2001 was substantially weaker than first thought and that growth in the first half of 2002 was only half of what was first thought.

New accusations are coming out that the Bush Administration purposely withheld this data—which, of course, wouldn't be the first time Bush Administrations withheld economic data.

It's just one big mess. Like I said, even I almost threw in the towel this morning and called my doctor to get a prescription for Prozac. The Wall Street Journal reported that Prozac use has jumped by one third since the “election” of George Bush.

[END QUOTING]

Ah, but before you go away or back to sleep you should try this next on for size and see if your tummy-tum-tum can make it without an intake of Prozac or at the least TUMS.

[QUOTING from FLORIDA TODAY, 8/8/02:]

Washington (AP)—The International Monetary Fund, seeking to contain a deepening economic crisis in South America announced Wednesday it had agreed to provide an additional $30 BILLION in LOANS to Brazil. [END QUOTING]

[H: Of course more loans will help because without any way to pay off the interest and much less the loans, you have a captive nightmare. Now do not forget, Mr. Paul O'Neill is down South doing all this liaison work where he SHOULD have no input whatsoever. BUT, please reconsider for all around the hapless world, yea, even in the Philippines, the Central Banks who “make” the money, sell the nations and control the governments—are owned privately as we have spoken of prior to now. It is a major FED operation everywhere you go—and KNOW that manipulation is the name of the game. What, therefore can a nation do about its own sovereignty when it is gone, gone, gone? And where, perchance, does that leave us?]

Well, $30 BILLION is a lot of money and that on top of the $1.5 BILLION “emergency loan” to Uruguay yesterday it would seem Mr. O'Neill had a busy trip and these are only two little examples.

Guess what caused a near disaster: “The Brazilian currency fell to record lows last week after O'Neill said the administration wanted assurances that any new support to Latin America would not end up in ‘Swiss bank accounts’.

“O'Neill and the White House quickly backtracked from that statement and the treasury secretary struck a much more conciliatory tone during his four-day trip to the region, which included meetings with the presidents of Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina.”]

BACK TO THE PHILIPPINES

The Philippine Vice President, Guingona, said in a major article yesterday that of the new money $30 to $55 million PROMISED to the Philippines, nobody should or can expect a cent. Why? Because the Philippines already signed up for a World Criminal Court and THAT is a no-no of the worst kind and the U.S., being against the World Court, now blackmails the nations who signed on for such a court. Good luck, United Nations.

So what can such as the Philippines do?

Well, without getting personal and possibly overstepping observer status, what can be done?

The only way out of the Central Banking dilemma is to Nationalize the bank and repudiate all debt outstanding, demand ALL of the gold BACK and kick out the blokes from these shores.

What will be done?

If it continues as business as usual—NOTHING!

BUT TIMES ARE HARD ALL OVER

Indeed, and one of the regular writers had a tale to break your heart about Brazil in today's paper. It seems that in one of the more depressed parts of a city a truck overturned. It was hauling some cows. Within minutes the truck was swamped with people with butcher knives and machetes who promptly cut the cows into pieces and before anything could be done—there was nothing but blood left. They didn't even bother to kill some of the cows first before cutting them into pieces. People, God watches without much JOY in his being. WHAT ARE YOU DOING?

This has all been accomplished as to bringing down the world economies by such dastardly dealings without basis for one centavo. Yes indeed, our team is tired, discouraged and they too cannot see the end of the road. I can repeat, however, that we do make it and God DOES prevail.

And on a closing note, the very next article received by FAX today says that Famine looms for Angola. I certainly would concur that you have wars and rumors of wars, you have famine, pestilence, disease and “trouble in River City”. You are also are having outbreaks of West Nile virus down South in the U.S. and there is also one more warning: Sturgeon (fish) are literally attacking fishermen where at least four have ended up in hospital. The most recent attack was by a 5-foot Sturgeon who leaped out and hit the fisherman in the chest which caused him to crash his boat. These are in your great State of Florida but the stories are that this is supposed to happen “at the end of the world”. Certainly could be!

What we really find interesting from the collection of notables is that Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon is planning to attend a Miami rally next month to GAIN American SUPPORT FOR HIS EMBATTLED COUNTRY. And what does that tell you about Florida voters? It is also to gain funds and support for replacing the Mosque on Temple Mount with the new Jewish Temple. All the Evangelical preachers are in favor of that move in order to claim their “Rapture”. Has everybody gone nuts?

Signing off, please, before it gets any worse—for, yes indeed, it can and does.—GCH

RE: "BUSH", SUPERFUNDS, BANAUE RICE TERRACES, TINY UPDATE ON "DIANE" STATUS

CONFIRMATION ABOUND EVERYWHERE YOU LOOK

SOUTH AMERICA SPECIFICS AS TO SUPERFUND CONFIRMATION

Hatonn—There are so many changes in the world economic powers as to stun your senses if you knew about them. Information must be released in segments and then only if you have kept up with the background can you decipher the game plan.

Years ago when the Federal Reserve valued the Bonus 3392-181 in California (with Russell Herman in tow) it was agreed that the Fed would honor increments of $2.4 BILLION per "tranche" (transaction).

Therefore, the Bush Boys went forth and divided and multiplied. HOWEVER, they were using unlawful and illegal documents while, in fact, shifting corporations, books, and you name the typical games of which we are confident Col. Martin will get around to revealing.

MR. BUSH REFERRED OPENLY TO HIS ASSETS AS "SUPERFUND" AND YES INDEED, IT WAS BASED ON PERUVIAN GOLD CERTIFICATE 3392-181 OF WHICH WE SO OFTEN SPEAK.

HOWEVER, the "Certificate" itself ended up with Russell Herman for holding. Next came a need to protect the document because it was a "BEARER" certificate which had just jumped from a minimal value at any calculation to being valuable beyond any other asset on the globe.

So, the Certificate was listed as lost or stolen but having proper identification with included pictures of the certificate itself, for the protection of Mr. Herman himself, the Certificate was REPLACED by jurat (CONTRACT) which would also be recognized as "BONUS 3392-181".

THE CONTRACT WAS THEN ASSIGNED BY LAW TO COSMOS SEAFOOD ENERGY MARKETING LTD. The only parties in THAT established corporation were Russell Herman and Cecelia Xalis. Stock was HELD so that CSEML would have control for itself of the Contract. "We" now hold that corporation—100% clear and clean. We do not hide it nor do we even begin to recognize the full value of the continuing compounding of interest. Our agreement with the "Powers that Be" is to limit the funds utilized. HOWEVER, ALL AGREEMENTS TO DATE HAVE BEEN BROKEN BY THE IMF, WB, AND THE FED. That, however, is not the topic of the moment.

Since the Certificate, and thus the CONTRACT, is based on GOLD, the basic value is established on GOLD.

Again, HOWEVER, the unlawful utilization by the above named entities was and is based on NOTHING except the established increments of interest and principle (always forgiven) in any transaction by the "Superfund" bunch.

Years and years have passed and banks have imploded, books cooked and more funds transferred without value collateral and now you have the debacle of the world economy as you find it today.

$2.4 billion loans were established around the globe, for you must understand that multiples of $2.4 Billion, or numbers thereabouts, were a sort of standard. A $30 BILLION transaction would be broken down into "around" about 13 separate tranches. But, once concluded as to paperwork—Katy bar the door, for no further "regulations" were necessary—just the cooked books.

When you see the ACTUAL breakdown of agreements JUST MADE IN SOUTH AMERICA IN SEPARATE AGREEMENTS AS REPRESENTED BY PAUL O'NEIL, THE TREASURER OF THE U.S., these statements will make very valid sense even to the math-challenged observers.

There comes, for instance, an announcement that there will be a loan FROM THE U.S. yet of around but just over $1 BILLION. Then today it is represented that there is another "INCREASE" of this amount to $3.8 BILLION to Uruguay and this will flow in $150-million increments. But, in addition, $200 million is being dispersed immediately to relieve the "immediate emergency".

In addition, IMF-World Bank AND THE INTER-AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT BANK would release $500 million and increase support from $3 BILLION to $3.8 BILLION "backed (guaranteed)" by the U.S. you-the-people!

Now, readers, there is NOTHING left upon which to ever expect REPAYMENT—it CAN'T be paid back because the country is now "dumped"—literally. This is simply a final takeover THROUGH FRAUD of these nations—IN INCREMENTS OF "ABOUT" $2 BILLION EACH. It costs NOTHING to the New World Order OR the Superfund—and there is NOTHING on which the transfers are based except finger work on a computer transfer ticket and that basically is from nowhere to nowhere. THE LOANS THEMSELVES ARE ONLY LARGE ENOUGH TO PAY THE INTEREST PAYMENTS ALREADY DUE-AND-OWING THIS SAME BUNCH OF HOODLUMS. THE ELITE MANIPULATORS ARE ALREADY PAID OFF HANDSOMELY.

Readers, among the frauds Col. Martin might well assign to the Bush Family, this should be at the top but it was so blatant that it is probably missed in the assumption it was too dangerous to continue utilization. Col. Martin has already acknowledged its establishment and use BUT ALSO RECOGNIZED, IN PUBLIC PRINT, THE CURRENT HOLDINGS—HE JUST DIDN'T GET THE RIGHT PARTIES—FOR HE WAS INFORMED BY V.K. DURHAM THAT SHE HELD RUSSELL HERMAN'S PROPERTY AS HIS WIFE. NO, SHE DID NOT AND DOES NOT! IT WAS, HOWEVER, FURTHER ACKNOWLEDGED THAT "...THESE CERTIFICATES ARE NOW CONTROLLED BY THE DURHAM FAMILY AND THE HELLENIC CORPORATION AND COSMOS CORPORATION IN NEVADA".

WHY THE TREASURER INVOLVEMENT?

Because the original letters of validation of the Bonus itself are stashed in the TREASURY DEPARTMENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA—carefully hidden under security of the very highest possible category.

SO, WHAT'S THE PROBLEM?

The problem is, readers, that we will only work with use which requires backing by HARD METAL GOLD—so that any bank is also covered 100% and thus back any transaction with GOLD "with" the documents which in turn INSURES total accounting in all instances.

THE GOLD HOLDINGS OF CENTRAL BANKS NOW OWNED BY THE BANKING CARTEL/IMF WORLD ORDER (INCLUDING IN THE PHILIPPINES) HAVE BEEN WIPED OUT BY THE GOLD MANIPULATORS AND TRADERS.

We can, however, work with warehouse receipts when a bank, for instance, produces the documents which INSURE return capability of the gold itself to its proper "home" and/or "holder".

The only thing the Deeds of Assignment are FOR is to secure the very transactions cleanly and clearly. We don't even insist a nation work on a gold standard but our program WILL have a gold base—period. IN THAT WAY "NOBODY" LOSES ANYTHING—EVER.

Mr. Bush announces he finds us "only a minor annoyance". OK, fine. Things just take a little longer—for eventually the people will rise against the whipmaster. Unfortunately, in this day and age, the WRONG CULPRITS WILL LOSE THEIR HEADS.

We do nothing which does not actually ENHANCE the image of said dirty-dealers—BUT, they struggle to keep the dark secrets and gang members from being uncovered. Without any input from us, however, the culprits are in such a mess as to be in the uncovering process all on their own accounting (or lack thereof).

In the Philippines it is openly visible as the Administration has to now break the law and the Constitution law to simply "declare" by Administrative Order (Presidential) that such as former president Ramos "will not be investigated".

Well, good for Mr. Ramos—he is walking away with BILLIONS of payoff dollars and more in Development Funds and fraudulent Land Deals. There are multi-billions of dollars missing and proven to have gone directly to him. That equates to TRILLIONS of pesos. WE OFFERED OUR PROGRAM TO MR. RAMOS ON AT LEAST THREE "KNOWN" OCCASIONS, WHILE THE CURRENT "ACTING" PRESIDENT SITS ON AT LEAST 14 OF OUR "INFO PACKAGES". EVERY MAJOR BANK HAS AT LEAST ONE PACKAGE AND THE CENTRAL BANK IS IN THE MIDDLE OF ANSWERING COMPLAINTS ABOUT THEIR "FICTITIOUS" CHARACTERIZATION OF OUR HOLDINGS. WHAT MIGHT THAT TELL YOU?

Are we somehow "hiding" our position or holdings? No, we have the entire program in every nook and cranny available.

We invite ANYONE AND EVERYONE to look, listen and INVESTIGATE—and they have done so. The only feedback is that "we aren't allowed to...". But let us now see what will be done over the court-ordered funds to our PARTNER, the Royal Family of the Philippines. The bank has been ORDERED and again updated as to the order as of THIS WEEK but they “have no funds” and will have to get it from the Central Bank. Ah so—! Wouldn’t you think the Central Bank would like to cover its own ass-etts?

Indeed, they can do so without so much as a mumble to the public media or press to give away their games, for we certainly DO NOT want any attention whatsoever in this nest of vipers.

Even the U.S. through Sec. of State Powell last week refused to withdraw the warning against U.S. citizens traveling to the Philippines. The removal of that warning was pointedly sought by President Arroyo of Mr. Powell—to assist supporting tourism. Tourism? Say what?

Would Ekkers entertain any of the representatives involved? Of course, and do, every day. We do not, however, budge an inch from the Agreement plan. In fact these people entertain me constantly—for I am the one in the middle and the “other side” has the added advantage of those meetings being very physically presented. You can take the statement regarding “entertainment” any way you choose.

One question which is very, very frequently asked of me is: “What do you guys do for entertainment?” My standard answer is “Watch you!”

Speaking of tourism, I want to address an unbelievable tourist attraction (one of the eight wonders of the world) going down, down, down into destruction and decay.

The best rice on the globe, without limits to the potential “gourmet” market globally, is grown in the WORLD-RECOGNIZED RICE TERRACES OF THE Philippines. That quality of grain could be enhanced by “wild” varieties and newly nutrient-added, perfected varieties which could better handle the deteriorated state of the terraces themselves until they can be repaired, and better irrigation systems installed.

Those Terraces date back to the antiquities that include the Pyramids of Egypt, Pharos of Alexandria, Hanging Gardens of Babylon, Temple of Diana at Ephesus, Statue of Jupiter by Phidias, Artemisia’s Mausoleum at Halicarnassus, and Colossus of Rhodes—and are on the very brink of disintegration.

If Diane is able to distract herself from her current problems, she might well notice a couple of very large CLUES in the above paragraph. Moreover, some of the most incredibly recognized medicinal plants could literally be cultivated in those terraces.

Records show that the first foundation for the terraced rice fields was laid 5,000 years ago. At its biggest, the terraced fields stretched to Cagayan on the northeastern flank of the Cordilleras and to as far south as Quezon Province. Now the remaining 4,000 square miles are found only in the six Cordillera provinces and some parts of Nueva Vizcaya.

More than a thousand farming families from the northern Luzon highlands are tilling the rice terraces. These comprise about a million tribesmen collectively known as Igorot (the ethnolinguistic groups include the Ifugao, Kalinga, Bontok, Kankanoi, Tingguian, Tapayao and Isneg).

The Banaue Rice Terraces was inscribed in the List of World Heritage IN DANGER.

The idea is to draw whatever necessary human and financial resources, international technical assistance and rally fervent political will and public support for the conservation of the terraces.

Not only were the terraces attacked by giant earthworms (LIKE VERY LARGE) but much damage was sustained in the July 16, 1990 earthquake which now allows massive erosion.

Dharma asks if it is “too much” to ask for this to be tended before it is lost forever?” NO, it is not and teams are working to get our program introduced and working in such projects as this very one.

Even the younger generation doesn’t want to struggle with it any longer even though the traditional care and use of those terraces go back eons.

I just point out that if you can’t see the modern use of such treasures, then perhaps we are losing this battle of recovery after all.

Those terraces could grow like crazy with small tractors, strains of rice which can be planted DIRECTLY without flooding the fields and jobs would be created while industrial enterprises would thrive exponentially as modern systems are introduced.

Right here is where some compressed-earth equipment at every site could be utilized to hold those hillsides. A good polymer “dip” for the “bricks” could be applied to waterproof somewhat the terrace walls until reestablished and that without pollution of any kind. Then you also provide smaller tractors for tilling and smaller harvesters for harvesting while retiring the Caribou (plough buffaloes) to the pastures and “tourist” centers where you can also have baskets and other native craft available.

Some of the first things which would flourish are helicopter facilities and small tour planes, for very definitely the best vantage point is from ABOVE. However, the plea is lost on the grabbers and corrupted manipulators in high places.

THIS is what we want as to use of our assets—not political advantage or religious enterprise. I also ask YOU: “Is it too much to ask?”

How much would it cost? NOTHING! Think about it. Our programs cost NOTHING and offer EVERYTHING—just as GOD always presents in HIS perfection.

NOW, WHAT ABOUT DIANE? (having mentioned her above).

What is the status of her pending “do something to her”? Nobody seems to know what to do with her and you may as well share the humor, or if you prefer, frustration.

In the rush to get her to sign the documents and set her up for huge fines which were set to go to the top of the scale if she refused to accept the “plea”, nobody really thought out the consequences of the “offer” in the plea itself.

In it was a “halfway”-house arrangement. The arrangement started out with NO “TIME” and lengthened (also when they were pressing for the plea) to four months and guaranteed “to go to at least 8 to 18 months and a ‘felony’ conviction” if she continued to say she was not guilty of even one item—which of course had diminished to ONLY ONE ITEM and a third-class misdemeanor.

The Judge was left without recourse but to meet the demands of the FDA agents and court prosecutors. Now they have a dandy going. Of course by the sentencing time the agents were OUT of the picture and the dealings were with the youngsters in the Prosecutor’s chambers in conjunction with their “probation investigators” established in “the field”. This was to make very sure that a high fine would be invoked. This to the extent that food and clothing for the children was “somehow left out” of the financial calculations along with school expenses, travel, repairs to house or vehicles or ANYTHING, inclusive of health care, dental care or insurance.

Diane was ordered to submit herself within 30 days to the LAW MASTERS. However, although she SUBMITTED and keeps in touch with her “officers in charge” THEY HAVE NO ORDERS OF ANY KIND, KNOW NOTHING AND CLAIM SHE HAS TO WAIT FOR “TURNING POINT” (halfway rehab facility) PERSONS TO EVEN DECIDE ON “WORK RELEASE” OR “HOURS” AND COST OF THE “HALFWAY” HOUSING PROGRAM—CALLED “REHAB”.

Ah but, rehab from WHAT?

Ah indeed, the use of the word “drugs” in the absurd charges precipitated a whole farce of a new kind. Diane has NO ADDICTIONS—to anything save possibly vitamins and trying to make a living to stay off welfare. What do you do in an addiction rehab program with no addictions? Perhaps the point is to pick up some addiction or other?

Oh it will certainly be as nasty as the justice system can make stick because they already look so stupid as to be the up-and-coming new cartoon craze.

We have suggested that she petition for “house arrest” but with the hustle and bustle and inability to leave the dwelling to deliver and retrieve children, that sentence would be classified as “cruel and unusual punishment”.

She could also demand incarceration and then she wouldn’t have to pay a cent! Good idea if you have no “work release” program, anyway. Or, she can present the facts of having lost most of her “job” income and demand to stay in the “hotel” for four months which again presents as being unable to pay the fees. The FINE of $10,000 is totally separate and apart and is NOW due and owing.

THIS IS YOUR JUSTICE SYSTEM AT WORK.

Perhaps, after all, we can call those Rice Terraces the Diana-Artemis wonders of the world. Of course anything that might develop into an FDA-considered plant would be excluded from the growing fields. Diane had to even give up her consulting position with Artemis to cut all associations with anything called a supplement of any kind.

Since Diane only MAILED the brochures for which she is convicted (and for which ONLY “she” personally was named), I would suggest she not utilize any of the former New Gaia creators or participants in any association—which takes in all of the SPECTRUM miscreant team and their contacts from years and years back while they garnered the income from the company itself, then accused her of distributing DRUGS while they jumped ship. They were, however, after Ekkers to STOP THIS PROGRAM. It didn’t work and no indictment was handed down of any kind claiming too much expense to the U.S. for “extradition”. Oh my—no one even asked about such a thing.

So, the intent is to keep right on trying to salvage the Rice Terraces and hopefully, some day, salvage some of the Native American sovereign lands.

This can happen just as soon as somebody makes the culprits RETURN THE GOLD BELONGING TO YOU-THE-PEOPLE! Actually, there only needs to be an accounting for ultimate return. THAT is going to require digging up the Negev facilities in Israel while getting PAST the nuclear installations of “weapons of mass destruction”.

CURRENT AFFAIRS

AS TO "INFECTIONS" HERE AND THERE

No, I have no interest in making any effort to aid or assist in anything MEDICALLY ORIENTED.

I note, however, that in areas where standing water was "treated" with a very small amount of silver colloid, the mosquitos reproducing in said puddles and containers were disinfected when they laid eggs and the larvae was without infectious bacteria.

People who were given silver colloid were back on their feet from symptoms of disease in less than two days.

Ah but, Diane must be incarcerated for ignorantly distributing, indeed, "silver colloid" without labeling it "supplement". YOU HAVE COME A LONG WAY, AMERICA .

Will we do anything more about silver colloid? NO! And anthrax? Please spare me!

You walk so demandingly for restraints against your persons—all the way to the slave quarters. Please, indeed, spare us.

I had asked that New Gaia find another outlet for some of the regular products such as Gaiandriana and which were not ever referenced in any category whatsoever. I believe that Artemis might have been available or at least could suggest where you might find the Product which is also known as a mitochondrial "water" and/or a Chondriana solution or a "Dria"-enhanced product—WITH NO CLAIMS OF ANY KIND. It is YOUR immune system, after all, individual.

At one time you could get "Crystal Life" without living drias from Texas for around $100-plus per [quart] bottle. It sufficed as to chondriana content although Dr. Merkle (the developer) recognized the lack of "living" cells in his end product and asked OUR input.

The product has no relationship to "drugs" nor makes any claims of healing or cures. It won't even make you feel better, actually. It only serves to enhance cellular structure and that only to the immune system and "energy" transfer system (mitochondria).

I do suggest that you NEVER use the recipe offered globally by "the Watchers" and the Martin-Young-Bellringer "gang" for "establishing" "Gaiandriana" in order to save the poor people in "Afghanistan and Appalachia" where you start with "Gaiandriana that you might have left 'around'" and go forth with contamination per their instructions. May God have mercy on the quack-quacks. These things will, however, be confronted IN COURT. And yes indeed, that WOULD be "Federal Court". [MM: Have a nice day—Spectrum Cult!]

I will continue to suggest to anyone who wishes to get the most from any colloidal solution—use Gaiandriana, for it is the DNA "carrier" cells which allow cellular interchange. Miscreant cells and invaders, along with mutant facilitators, get INSIDE host cells and hide the bacteria or viruses and most treatment substances CAN'T get past the cell walls.

This is not complicated in concept nor even sophisticated—IT IS PURELY ELEMENTARY, DR. WATSON! And yes, in the same type of verbal reference: "That's what it's all about, Alfie." Now, how do you think this is going to read for understanding even two years from now? Most of your offspring will have no notion of meaning NOW.

Salu and best wishes for a life, never mind good or bad.—GCH

PHOENIX JOURNAL #13 (1990)

CHAPTER 15

REC #1 HATONN

SUN., APR. 1, 1990 7:30 A.M. YEAR 3 DAY 228

Hatonn present in the Light of the Radiant One. May we please continue on our work. I would request that this book be finished and ready for printing by mid-month. It is better to update the material in additional Journals than to either overload by quantity or allow to lag in current information. These Journals, at this time, are mostly for integration and insight into that which is known. We are setting the record straight regarding Space Command and participation within your atmosphere and disqualifying those stories which are in error regarding Space Brothers. It is necessary that the Journals get out rapidly, for efforts are strengthening to stop Dharma. After the facts are integrated to great extent, then we can give her a bit of rest. We must, however, show you ones that your dangers are not from Space Aliens but most surely from two or three major elements on your own planet.

No, it is not pretty and it is all but impossible for you to believe that such mammoth secrets could be kept from you; however, just as with the death camps of the Allies (specifically the U.S) after WW II, we believe it will begin to soak through to you ones that the truth is far stranger than any of your surface lies. It is indeed easy to cover up any action if your media is totally controlled as is yours.

We will honor all the brave and daring ones who have brought forth information and have been "taken out" because of it. At this time, however, we honor them but protect them, for these are indeed recent events and families are at risk. May you the public respect and honor those ones, for they gave their very lives for your freedom. Thank you.

Let us continue with the wrap-up of the Falkland Islands War and discuss the ensuing Rockefeller fear campaign against nuclear war.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST NUCLEAR WAR

BY THE ROCKEFELLER CARTEL

At the point of June 1982 it would appear that war of a major size was about to break out in the Southern Hemisphere, but the real war in the Southern Hemisphere was already over. What you witnessed was the beginning of its bloody aftermath. That aftermath was the battle for the Falkland Islands. They had been promised to Argentina as a reward for her role in the secret war.

As things were happening in the Antarctic area the Bolsheviks were in Washington D.C. pressing for a public announcement that the U.S. would side with Britain. As soon as that would take place, military action would heat up quickly around the Falkland Islands. Britain had no choice but to fight. She had already suffered casualties which could not be explained without a public battle; but by fighting, the Bolsheviks in Britain were running the risk of a humiliating and tragic defeat for the Royal Navy.

Meanwhile "back at the ranch", the Rockefeller strategists in the U.S. were concentrating on a fast-building, anti-nuclear-war campaign. On all sides you were hearing about the so-called "nuclear freeze movement". There were documentaries, articles, publicity of all kinds to sensitize you to the terrors of nuclear war. There were even referenda popping up on election ballots dealing with the nuclear war issue. Medical doctors were banding together to warn the public about what would happen if there would be a nuclear war.

You were being told that all this was just popping up spontaneously. You were then into 37 years of the nuclear age and nothing like that had ever gained so much momentum before, yet you were supposed to believe that millions of Americans had spontaneously gotten the same ideas at the same time. If you believe that, my friends, I give up! Movements like that never, NEVER, develop without leadership, organization, and money—PLENTY OF MONEY! But can you see a bit further now? If you can pick up the momentum now, you can make great changes to care for your population. Truth and knowledge can most surely preserve what freedom is left to you and bring you into a safety survival mode. Ponder it as we continue.

What you were watching at that time was the Rockefeller public-relations machine at work. The Rockefeller cartel could not afford to let a nuclear war take place. If it did, they would lose everything because they were not in a position to control it. Instead, the deadly enemies of the Rockefeller cartel, the Bolsheviks in the U.S., would win out if there was a war; and so the Rockefeller faction was then doing everything in its power to prevent a nuclear war.

Therefore, the then-present anti-nuclear-war orientation of the Rockefeller cartel created certain temporary common interests between them and Russia; but as Russia's new rulers knew very well, this did not spring from any great moral perspective on the part of the Rockefeller group. It was a purely practical necessity.

The Russians regarded the United States as a house divided, and they were exploiting that division by working in a careful way with the Rockefellers. Their first priority was to rid the world of the deadly Bolshevik menace of all-out, even suicidal, nuclear war; but once that was done, they knew that there would be a day of reckoning with the Rockefeller cartel some day. And, brothers, you are seeing it coming down in Europe this very day!

The Rockefeller group was working toward a definite objective with their new anti-nuclear-war propaganda. That objective was renewed power—and power that moves them closer to their old dream of World Government. The Bolsheviks in the U.S. had unwittingly provided fertile ground for the powerful new Rockefeller anti-war campaign. Under Bolshevik control, the so-called Reagan Administration had become so hawkish that it was scaring people. The Rockefeller anti-war campaign was designed to capitalize on that latent fear as a tool of power.

The smell of war was in the air. The Falklands crisis was helping to make that more intense. The Rockefeller propaganda machine was paving the way for the argument that surrender of sovereignty was the only way to avoid war. A new super-United Nations of sorts was put into the works to fill the bill. It would have teeth! As then envisioned, the new organization would be based in Geneva, Switzerland. The working name would be “World Nonproliferation Council”. The plan was to bring it into being as the outgrowth of nuclear nonproliferation treaties, but its true purpose would be to use fear—the fear of war—to control you all.

SUMMARY

The Falkland Islands crisis erupted because of secret Bolshevik-controlled naval installations in the Southern Hemisphere. Those were attacked by joint action of the Rockefeller cartel and the Russians in an attempt to slow down the nuclear-war timetable. The attacks were successful, but the results are still not totally conclusive. It did not go as expected because General Haig was fired and the planned nuclear war was averted by simply bringing the truth to public attention—and the perpetrators feared mass rioting from you the people. PUBLIC KNOWLEDGE, TRUTH AND REFUSAL TO ACCEPT THESE KINDS OF ACTION CARRY A MAGNIFICENT IMPACT—FOR THE ELITE ARE NOT READY TO DEFEND AGAINST “YOU THE PEOPLE” IN THEIR OWN DOORYARDS. YET! WHEN THEY CONFISCATE ALL YOUR DEFENSE WEAPONS, LE.—GUNS—THEN THEY WILL DO AS THEY PLEASE AND YOU CAN DO NOTHING ABOUT IT! OPEN YOUR EYES AND SEE THE WRITING ON THE WALL. SO BE IT.

Britain’s Royal Navy took a tremendous bombardment in that “little” war. No reports were given as to that fact, but the return to England was delayed just to patch and repair sufficiently to keep the secret closeted.

Two major factions were struggling for control over your United States—the Rockefeller cartel and the Bolsheviks. They differ in style but both seek to control you through fear. If you are ever to rise above their trickery, it must be through the power of our Lord Jesus Christ, your only hope. As the recognized scriptures pronounce unto you, your Lord “... has not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.” You must learn to wage peace. For your Lord declared long, long ago, “Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the sons of God.” Peace can only be found through the knowledge of TRUTH THROUGH THE WORD! THE FIRST IDENTIFICATION OF GOD WAS GIVEN RIGHT OFF

THE BAT—“I AM THE WORD”! FURTHER, IN REVELATION: “THEN I SAW HEAVEN OPENED AND A WHITE HORSE STANDING THERE; AND THE ONE SITTING ON THE HORSE WAS NAMED ‘FAITHFUL AND TRUE’—THE ONE WHO JUSTLY PUNISHES AND MAKES WAR. HIS EYES WERE LIKE FLAMES, AND ON HIS HEAD WERE MANY CROWNS. A NAME WAS WRITTEN ON HIS FOREHEAD AND ONLY HE KNEW ITS MEANING. HE WAS CLOTHED IN GARMENTS DIPPED IN BLOOD, AND HIS TITLE WAS ‘THE WORD OF GOD’. THE ARMIES OF HEAVEN, DRESSED IN FINEST LINEN, WHITE AND CLEAN, FOLLOWED HIM ON WHITE HORSES—(AND SILVER CLOUDS)!!!!!!!

Dharma, let us close this portion, for I believe we have begun the cycle of curiosity whereby ones will seek and see. The details of THE PLAN will be forthcoming but man must first be ready to hear.

I will add a postscript to this Journal, for I wish ones to realize that since our projection of the war crimes by the U.S., OTHER LOSSES and prior books such as UFOs, NAZI SECRET WEAPON? there has been a tremendous flood of eyewitnesses coming from the hiding places to confirm as eyewitnesses to the truth of our writings. Bless them, for they are precious unto God for their stand for truth and their fellow-man!

The postscript will only detail the last item sent unto your attention: from THE SPOTLIGHT. Thank you for this document and we reprint it here in honor of their daring stand. That “paper” dared to comment on the book OTHER LOSSES and now dares to print other stories. The headlines of the issue to which we refer reads: “CIA & MOB TIED TO THRIFT MESS, Immense Scandal Unfolding!” Yes, we will comment on that and further, we will honor and back the truth-bringers immediately and all the way! So be it and Selah!

Let us close of this document, for we have reached a breaking point in the prior story but we shall now continue with one volume upon another as we lay out the current connections supported by the historical. Thank you for your attention and God be with you as you become PEOPLE OF THE TRUTH instead of PEOPLE OF THE LIE! AMEN.

WAR CRIMES BY U.S. CONFIRMED

EYEWITNESS REPORT ON IKE’S DEATH CAMPS: Honor to THE SPOTLIGHT writer, Mike Blair. [QUOTING:]

Since Canadian author James Bacque’s blockbuster book OTHER LOSSES has been published in Canada and West Germany (after being turned down by at least 30 U.S. publishers), both German and American eyewitnesses have come forward confirming the book’s grisly details.

OTHER LOSSES is a highly authoritative and well-documented account of the deliberate murder by starvation, disease and exposure of some 1 million German POWs at the close of World War II at the direction of the supreme Allied commander in Europe, Gen. Dwight David Eisenhower.

The title of the book was taken from a file, “Headquarters/U.S. Forces/European Theater/G-1 Division”, culled from the U.S. National Archives in Washington by Bacque. German POWs, including old men and boys in their early teens, who had died in American POW camps, were listed as “other losses”.

Bacque, whose book is creating a sensation in the United States despite the author’s failure to find a publisher in this country to print it, recently stated that “over 1,000 survivors of those death camps” have written to him confirming the book’s revelations about the heinous Eisenhower-directed death camps.

[Hatonn: Our publisher is in touch with the author, etc. of this daring book and it will be brought forth also through this source. It can also be gotten presently from THE SPOTLIGHT [MM: Now it’s been resurrected as American Free Press: Call 1-888-699-6397 toll free to subscribe or 202-544-5977 for other information.] who dares to offer it in the face of the direct threats—and you thought Salmon Rushdie had problems from the Iranians! Yes, dear ones, right here in your U.S.A. Threats and active attempts to stop Dharma are constant. PLEASE open of thine eyes and ears—you dear ones are in tremendous trouble.]

In addition, following the Spotlight’s reports concerning Bacque’s findings (SPOTLIGHT, Feb. 12 and others) and an interview with the author on Tom Valentine’s Radio Free America nightly talk show on January 11, more witnesses to the atrocities have come forward.

[Hatonn: I sincerely hope that all you readers remember that an entire Radio Talk Show out of Las Vegas was devoted to attempting to wipe out The Phoenix Journals as the “biggest hoax of all times”. Would it not appear that such attack must indicate a very large secret cover-up which we are greatly hurting? Pray constantly, please, for the daring humans who walk in constant danger to bring this information unto you-the-people who are about to lose your very lives through the most heinous plans on your planet.]

HORRIBLE ODOR: “I smelled the place two or three miles before I got there,” is how Ben H. Jackson of St. Clair, Missouri, described one of the camps he visited along the Rhine River near Koblenz.

“We were not supposed to keep diaries,” Jackson, who was a member of a U.S. P-47 fighter-bomber group, told THE SPOTLIGHT, “so I am uncertain about the date... early in 1945... but I was told that I could go to see some executions. I didn’t care for that, but I went to the barbed wire enclosure with the prisoners standing around some bonfires, in the mud.

“It was cold and misty, and I saw nothing in the way of shelter but assumed that this was a very temporary arrangement. Hearsay was that there were 80,000 POWs, also that 30 to 40 were dying each day, which didn’t seem unreasonable considering their numbers.”

Former U.S. Army 2nd Lt. Arthur W. Von Fange, now of Syracuse, Indiana, related to THE SPOTLIGHT a terrible account of encountering about a dozen locked railroad cars, each built for eight horses or 40 men, that were parked at a siding near the city of Remagen, site of the famous bridge over the Rhine River that was captured by U.S. forces in early March 1945.

FILLED WITH POWS: From shouts and cries coming from the cars, which were sealed off by barbed wire and guarded by U.S. troops, Von Fange is certain that the railroad cars were filled with German POWs being transported to some camp.

Meanwhile they were kept locked in the cars at the siding, the sun beating down on the roofs. They were given neither food nor water. They were at the siding, Von Fange explained, for “several days”.

U.S. officials in the area claimed that the cars contained riotous Black Senegalese troops, who had been fighting the Germans while allied with French troops. However, Von Fange stated that this was “just a cover story”.

GERMAN SURVIVORS: Some of the reports now surfacing from German survivors of the death camps add further evidence to support Bacque’s gruesome findings.

Here are some examples: “I, too, was in one of those massive camps on the Rhine, in Ludwigshafen Rheingoenheim, from late April to early June, 1945,” Heinz Merkel, now of Gaggenau, Baden Wuerttemberg, explained. “I can confirm everything that was told about the camp. I wondered at the time why food was not being provided at all. But I never dreamed that there was a deliberate effort being made to that end at the top.

“I am sadly disillusioned. For me, who was 18 years of age at the time, my world collapsed since I had been brought up in an anti-Nazi spirit, and for that reason had completely different expectations from the other side.”

Albrecht Henke of Lueneburg, Niedersachsen, stated: “I was also one of the countless thousands of German prisoners in the Kreuznach camp. It was the most horrible time of my life. One day a kind, small girl came up to the fence of the camp with a basket of potatoes for the prisoners. The guard came down from his tower and took the basket.

“Grinning widely, he threw the potatoes into a large latrine and reveled to see how the prisoners, who were half-crazed from lack of food, fished the potatoes out of the ____.

“Many found a hideous death losing their balance and falling into the trench out of weakness while defecating. They suffocated in the ____.”

A DEATH CAMP: Rudolf Binder of Freiburg explained: “I arrived in ‘Bad Kreuznach’, which can be characterized without further ado as a death camp, on May 1, 1945.

“Gradually over 100,000 men were gathered there,” Binder continued. “During the first four days there was absolutely nothing to eat. On the fifth day, we received raw potatoes that the German populace had collected. We ate them raw and got diarrhea. After that, once or twice a day, we got a watery soup with some turnip scraps. We also ate the green leaves that grew on the barbwire fence.

“The guards in the towers fired on everyone who lingered in the vicinity of the fence, regardless. On Pentecost, we got bread, which had to be divided into 25 parts, for the first time. I was 24 years old at the time and relatively healthy, although completely undernourished. All day long orderlies fetched the dead out of the camp in stretchers—about 200 a day.”

Bernhard Gildemann of Wolfsberg explained: “From late April, 1945, I was in the notorious U.S. death camp in Rheinberg and was an eyewitness to the daily mass deaths. We would have perished had not the camp been taken over by the English in June 1945. I shall be thankful to the Brits to the end of my life for the fair treatment they gave us.”

Nor was the policy of starvation that the defeated German people suffered confined to just the military.

“Well into 1946,” Bacque recently wrote, “the Red Cross was prevented from helping any Germans. Over 13 million food parcels taken by the Army from the Red Cross were still unused in U.S. Army warehouses in November, 1945, according to the Adjutant Section of UFSET in November 1945.”

Bacque continues that “millions of German civilians had fled West to escape the Russians.” He explains further that “it was agreed policy of the Allies to expel from their homes over 15 million Germans, chiefly women and children. Wandering the roads of Eastern Europe, they died in droves. More than 2 million died, while the U.S. Army was both sending food out of Germany and preventing others from sending it in.”

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor of U.S.-occupied Germany, said: “In July, 1945, the ration for the normal consumers was set at levels varying from 950 to 1,150 calories per day. This allowance was only about half the caloric content deemed essential by nutritional experts to support a working population....

“Actually only about 950 calories per day were distributed,” Clay admitted. [END QUOTING]

Yes, I will get around to giving you a book report on OTHER LOSSES; it lays here beside the scribe. But she, too, is a patriotic American person and finds these revelations almost too much to bear—especially in the penning thereof, so we must be gentle. Yes, you are in for some more horrendous revelations as we move on. The traitors have slipped into your very national joints. Your free body is warped and diseased with it as they have put you into a coma of all but helpless extent.

Will you awaken your masses unto the truth in time? I cannot say! “They” have rewritten your Constitution and are placing portions of rewritten confusion within each new printing thereof. Your entire income tax system is 100% unlawful and unconstitutional—you have all but achieved a total police state. I am sorry to bring this information unto you, and for those who shout at me that we spread fear and panic—ISN’T IT ABOUT TIME YOU SPENT A BIT OF TIME IN FEAR AND PANIC ABOUT THE TRUTH OF IT INSTEAD OF THE DRIVEL YOU ARE DAILY FED?

PLEASE DO NOT ASK THAT OUR SCRIBES AND DARING AUTHORS WHO BRING TRUTH CONTINUE TO FALL BY THE BEAM-BLASTS OF THE CONSPIRACY IN YOUR BEHALF. PLEASE STAND FORTH WITH THEM—FOR IF YOU SO DO, YOU CAN CHANGE OF IT SIMPLY BY KNOWING TRUTH AND STANDING FIRM. YOUR CONSTITUTION IS NOT YET DEAD BUT THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM NO LONGER CARRIES JUSTICE BUT IT IS NOT TOO LATE TO SALVAGE THE GOODNESS REMAINING IF YOU ACT NOW! GOD WILL NOT LEAVE YOU IN YOUR JOURNEY IN LIGHT AND TRUTH—NEVER! SO BE IT, I BEG THAT YE HEAR OF MY PETITION UNTO YOU.

GOD BLESS AND KEEP YOU THROUGH THIS JOURNEY.

AFTERGLOW!

REC #1 HATONN

MON., APR. 2, 1990 7:30 A.M. YEAR 3 DAY 229

As this Journal closes there are several things which you must seriously consider. Are you daring enough to “find out truth” or are you to ever remain the recliner quarterback? You were given, by Creator, a thinking, reasoning mind which sets you aside from all other creatures. You have bad news coming—your scientists tell you that you use less than 10 percent of that mind. BAD NEWS! YOU USE LESS THAN 2 PERCENT OF THAT WONDROUS MIND!

As a closing thought for you to ponder and research, let me give you something upon which to chew and see if you are ready for the truths you claim to seek and desire.

U.S.-JAPANESE INVESTMENTS AND OTHER THINGS WONDROUS

I have given you all the facts you need to KNOW what has happened. You ones continually badger me with “when” will the new currency come forth, when must I be in Gold and T-Bills, “when” must I have my shelter system and on and on!—YESTERDAY OR YEAR BEFORE LAST! It is getting hot in the kitchen, chelas.

Months ago we outlined the problem of economic collapse and depression. We pointed out to you that only a few countries had to default in debt payments to the U.S. and the World Banks and they would fold up the world economy.

Let me point out a couple of things you might have overlooked. 1) Mexico is a tremendous problem to your economy—nicely planned and orchestrated. All Mexico’s resources are collateral against the loans. Last year Mexico had to be coerced into ACCEPTING a three-billion-dollar loan from your Feds and the World Bank to carry it another 12 months. Well, the secret was that the new President of Mexico, Carlos Salinas de Gortari, had figured out a way to meet Mexico’s debt obligations, met with ones we know very well to proceed with such, and was stopped by pressures. Well, he was newly elected and couldn’t fight the system on such short notice and keep his head (literally) so he accepted the Bank loans.

This year the World Bank is trying to “force” him to accept a two-billion-dollar loan to be shored up by other banks, to again go deeper into the pit through coercion. You see, he knows that he can go to Japan, which is already very, very active in Mexico, and get the money with certificates of deposit at very good rates of interest, start a good business foundation in addition and thus and so. Now what clue might you be getting?

BRAZIL

Now here is another goodly country to your South that also has a massive debt of over $115 billion. They have put up their collateral of Amazon Gold, oil and other precious resources to the U.S. and World Bank and sit and watch their Rain Forest be devastated by the Conspiracy. Ah—but...

Headline (very small indeed): “COUNTRY FOR SALE: A group of Japanese businessmen (Bishimetal Corp. Ltd., a subsidiary of Japanese conglomerate Mitsubishi Metal Corp.) is working out arrangements to buy Brazil’s entire $115 billion foreign debt in exchange for mining rights over gold deposits in the Amazon, reportedly worth about $260 billion.”

Oh my goodness, what might that do to the Conspirators’ plans for having Brazil?

The Japanese are also negotiating with Saudi Arabia and they are putting up massive joint-venture installations with Russia—what could it mean? Is there no end to the wealth of this wondrous little oriental country of only 145,856 sq. miles (slightly smaller than your state of California). Further, they do massive amounts of shipping etc., out of Greece and other points in Europe, Asia and Africa. They only have about 123,231,000 population and they worship God and honor a Master Christos, Buddha. Nice, hardworking people who are industrious and who only have a per-capita income, according to last known figures, of somewhere around $10,000 or slightly above. That would amount to about 1,420,500 yen (the exchange runs usually about 142 to $1 U.S.). It is of no consequence if our figures are somewhat maladjusted.

The Japanese have also poured tons of money into Australia and New Zealand and simply all over your globe.

The published figures show that Japan owns over 40 percent of the debt of the United States of America. The facts are that they own more than 60 percent. They all but own Hawaii; and buildings, orchards, farms, wind-electric farms, banks, auto manufacturing facilities—all right in the good old U.S.A.

BACK ON THE U.S.A. MONEY-FARM

The “big boys” have been trying to get a currency change in for a decade. The printing is all done and the presses are fully operational (even the big secret ones). They have proffered unto you dear ones that you need to stop the criminal counterfeiting operations of the underworld when everyone knows (by their own statements) that there is no value in counterfeiting, for the money is in drug dealing. Your government has tried to phase out $100s and $50s—they did phase out $1000 bills—all to stop that nasty drug traffic which they set up in the first place.

Do you begin to see that you MUST HAVE A WAR OF SOME SORT? You must have a distraction just like a Falklands crisis to allow regulatory control and thus and so. But—what about the rock and hard-place? Japan doesn't want you to change any of that pretty green stuff—why would that be? Wouldn't the government just give them equal value in pretty rainbow-colored updated notes? WAKE UP!

REMINDERS FOR MIND AND THOUGHT FOOD

Remember those German bases in the Antarctic? Remember all that lovely green money which purchased Argentina? Remember those U-boats offloading “weapons” at the end of the war in Japan? Remember the alliance of Germany and Japan? Remember all those set-ups you are just now learning about? Do you remember I told you about the British having to take off the 5-pound note because of the perfection of German counterfeiting? Do you also remember the lake recovery of the trunks full of those notes? Do you remember that the most beautifully done counterfeit plates that Germany had made were lovely dollars in all denominations? Oh, I see, the light beginning to flicker—come on, let us brighten it a bit.

The coup-de-grace has been landed. YOU HAVE BEEN BOUGHT OUT, SOLD OUT AND DRIED OUT WITH YOUR OWN MONEY AND THERE IS NOT ONE THING THAT THE BIG BOYS CAN DO ABOUT IT SHORT OF TOTAL NUCLEAR WORLD WAR! THAT, TOO, SHALL COME. SO BE IT. THE COUNTERFEITED DOLLARS IN ALL DENOMINATIONS ARE COMPLETELY NEGOTIABLE IN PERFECTION AND BECAUSE CONTRACTS WERE MADE AND IT ALL BEGAN IN TOTAL AGREEMENT WITH YOUR CONSPIRATORS—IT IS A PROBLEM INDEED! TO STOP THE FLOW MEANS TO ALSO STOP THE FLOW OF FOREIGN AID, REVEAL THE SECRET WEAPONS, THE SECRET UNDERGROUND SURVIVAL BUNKERS FOR THE ELITE, THE BASES IN SPACE, THE SUPERIOR RUSSIAN WEAPONS WHICH TOTALLY CONTROL THE HEAVENS AS YOU SEE THEM AND WHAT ELSE MIGHT BE LURKING THERE? THE HOUSE OF CARDS WOULD TUMBLE LIKE CHAFF IN THE WINDS. FURTHER, THE JAPANESE KNOW THAT THEIR LITTLE ISLAND IS DESTINED TO SHAKE, RATTLE AND ROLL RIGHT BACK INTO THE SEA WHEN MT. FUGI “REALLY” BLOWS—WHERE BETTER TO LIVE AND GROW THAN IN WONDROUS CALIFORNIA OR NEW YORK, BRAZIL OR NEBRASKA?

WHO SHALL HAVE THE LAST LAUGH, CHELAS? FURTHER, IF YOU OF THE MASSES HANDLE YOURSELVES MOST CAREFULLY AND GRACIOUSLY, YOU WILL HAVE THE FUNDS YOU NEED TO STAND AGAINST THE CONSPIRACY AND RECLAIM YOUR NATION UNDER GOD. [MM: Yes indeed, Global Alliance Investment Association—“Global”—is right on schedule and here to stay!]

SO BE IT AND SELAH!

Now, I'll just leave you to ponder and meditate in your state of shock (you have been testing of old Hatonn to give you something new and wondrous to chew, haven't you? You have been pronouncing mine scribe a phoney and filled with evil fear mongering, haven't you?) So be it, I suggest you allow the above to fully digest and then, read on, for I want to give you another factual item. I shall preserve the identity of the author of the next (for the above has not been written—anywhere), for the “grey men” have already given him a heart attack and are efforting to kill him to shut him up. I publish this reprint herein to give him support—the beam-system cannot penetrate the balanced counter shield of Light force about this scribe—and believe me, they have tried every frequency they can conjure. She is vulnerable but not from the systems which would appear “natural causes”. Be so advised—if she dies, it is pure and simple “murder”.

HOW ABOUT YOUR POLICE-STATE IRS AND THE CONSTITUTION OF THE U.S. AND INCOME TAX?

[QUOTING:]

Because of the protection accorded all Americans by the U.S. Constitution, it is impossible to establish an effective and legal individual income tax affecting citizens in this country. However, the sections of the U.S. internal revenue code dealing with income taxes are written so cleverly and deceitfully that the great majority of the American people believe these taxes are at least potentially required under law to be paid by everyone in the private sector, as well as in the public sector, and that everyone must file an income tax return.

It occurs to me that all judges, bureaucrats, prosecuting attorneys and members of Congress should be asked the following:

How is it that the government apparatus can levy and collect an income tax from almost all U.S. citizens when there is no authority to do so under the very law which governs it? How is it that the statute technically observes the Constitution while those given the chore of enforcing it violate it by their procedures?

If anyone can obtain a definite answer to these questions, he is more persuasive than anyone I know.

The code lists those employees who are subject to withholding in Section 3401C “an officer, employee, and elected official of the United States, a state, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, or any agency or instrumentality of the foregoing. The term ‘employee’ also includes an officer of a corporation.” (How many of those categories do YOU fit?)

Notice that the wording here—as throughout the IR code—makes it obvious that the term ‘United States’ has reference only to the general government and never to the union of the states. Sec. 6331(a) lists those whose property or income may be seized if income taxes are NOT paid. For the most part, those mentioned are the same as in 3401(c) (above). This makes it clear that the pay of the employees of a government unit is the only category of income subject to withholding or seizure.

Interestingly enough, this involves only funds still in the hands of government. IN SHORT, MONEY THAT HAS PASSED TO AN EMPLOYEE IS IMMUNE TO SEIZURE!

The Constitution itself definitely limits the jurisdiction of the United States. Article II, Sec. 8, clause 16 states that “CONGRESS SHALL EXERCISE EXCLUSIVE LEGISLATION IN ALL CASES WHATSOEVER OVER SUCH DISTRICT [OF COLUMBIA] (NOT EXCEEDING TEN MILES SQUARE) AS MAY, BY CESSION OF PARTICULAR STATES, AND THE ACCEPTANCE OF CONGRESS, BECOME THE SEAT OF THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES AND TO EXERCISE AUTHORITY OVER ALL PLACES PURCHASED BY THE CONSENT OF THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE IN WHICH THE SAME SHALL BE FOR THE ERECTION OF FORTS, MAGAZINES, ARSENALS, DOCK-YARDS, AND OTHER NEEDED BUILDINGS.” (Do you find yourself here?)

Jurisdiction is NOT GRANTED to the general government over any other territory, but is accorded to the states in which it is located.

Sec. 61(a) lists 15 categories of income subject to taxation; however, neither wages nor salaries are mentioned, which seems to imply that even the pay received by government employees or those living in the District of Columbia is not subject to withholding or seizure.

NO POWER TO ENFORCE COLLECTIONS:

The code does not definitely say that incomes of ordinary citizens are immune to taxation; BUT SINCE THESE ARE NOT SUBJECT TO WITHHOLDING OR SEIZURE, IT IS OBVIOUS THAT THE GOVERNMENT, ACCORDING TO ITS OWN STATUTE, HAS NO POWER TO ENFORCE INCOME TAX COLLECTIONS AGAINST THEM.

THUS, BY TRICKERY AND DECEIT, AN

ELABORATE TAX CODE HAS BEEN PREPARED WHICH TECHNICALLY OBSERVES CONSTITUTIONAL PROHIBITIONS AND PROTECTIONS, BUT THE ENFORCEMENT OF WHICH VIOLATES THE CONSTITUTION IN VARIOUS WAYS. WE HAVE, THEREFORE, A PECULIAR, SELF-CONTRADICTIONARY DOCUMENT, BEYOND HUMAN UNDERSTANDING.

Since no personal (meaning individual) income tax can effectively be in harmony with the Constitution, we find, among others, the following violations:

1) IT REQUIRES TAXPAYERS, IN FILING THEIR RETURNS, TO BE WITNESSES AGAINST THEMSELVES, IN VIOLATION OF THE FIFTH AMENDMENT;

2) IN ANY DISPUTE, IT REQUIRES TAXPAYERS TO PROVE THEIR INNOCENCE, ON PAIN OF SEVERE PUNISHMENT, IN VIOLATION OF THE FIFTH AMENDMENT;

3) IT SEIZES PROPERTY WITHOUT DUE PROCESS OF LAW, IN VIOLATION OF THE SAME AMENDMENT (FIFTH);

4) IT ARROGATES TO ITSELF LEGISLATIVE, JUDICIAL AND EXECUTIVE POWERS, WHICH IS IN VIOLATION OF THE ENTIRE CONSTITUTION;

5) BY REFUSING A JURY TRIAL EVEN WHEN SUMS FAR IN EXCESS OF $20 ARE IN DISPUTE, IT VIOLATES THE SEVENTH AMENDMENT;

6) BY IMPOSING EXCESSIVE FINES, IT VIOLATES THE EIGHTH AMENDMENT.

Perhaps the only way out of this Constitutional quandary is to realize that these seeming violations apply only to the "taxpayer". And there is nothing in the code that makes the citizen liable for the tax. One who is not a taxpayer not only does NOT pay the income tax but need not even file a Form 1040. The ONLY WAY FOR A CITIZEN TO BECOME A TAXPAYER IS BY VOLUNTEERING INTO THAT STATUS, THEREBY WAIVING HIS RIGHTS. HOWEVER, THIS FACT IS CAREFULLY HIDDEN BY THE INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE AND ITS ALLIES!

We have, therefore, an extraordinary anomaly; a system of law which is technically in conformity with the Constitution BUT WHICH IS WORDED IN SUCH A WAY THAT THE GOVERNMENT CAN VIOLATE IT IN MANY WAYS WITH THE TACIT CONSENT OF THE LEGAL PROFESSION, THE MEDIA, OUR WHOLE SYSTEM OF EDUCATION AND THE GENERAL SOCIAL SUPERSTRUCTURE.

[END QUOTING]

(Hatonn has added the emphasis.)

BRIEFING DEPICTED SAUDIS AS ENEMIES

By Thomas E. Ricks, Washington Post, 08/06/02

A briefing given last month to a top Pentagon advisory board described Saudi Arabia as an enemy of the United States, and recommended that U.S. officials give it an ultimatum to stop backing terrorism or face seizure of its oil fields and its financial assets invested in the United States.

"The Saudis are active at every level of the terror chain, from planners to financiers, from cadre to foot-soldier, from ideologist to cheerleader," stated the explosive briefing. It was presented on July 10 to the Defense Policy Board, a group of prominent intellectuals and former senior officials that advises the Pentagon on defense policy.

"Saudi Arabia supports our enemies and attacks our allies," said the briefing prepared by Laurent Murawiec, a Rand Corp. analyst. A talking point attached to the last of 24 briefing slides went even further, describing Saudi Arabia as "the kernel of evil, the prime mover, the most dangerous opponent" in the Middle East.

The briefing did not represent the views of the board or official government policy, and in fact runs counter to the present stance of the U.S. government that Saudi Arabia is a major ally in the region. Yet it also represents a point of view that has growing currency within the Bush administration—especially on the staff of Vice President Cheney and in the Pentagon's civilian leadership—and among neoconservative writers and thinkers closely allied with administration policymakers.

One administration official said opinion about Saudi Arabia is changing rapidly within the U.S. government. "People used to rationalize Saudi behavior," he said. "You don't hear that anymore. There's no doubt that people are recognizing reality and recognizing that Saudi Arabia is a problem."

The decision to bring the anti-Saudi analysis before the Defense Policy Board also appears tied to the growing debate over whether to launch a U.S. military attack to remove Saddam Hussein from power in Iraq. The chairman of the board is former Pentagon official Richard N. Perle, one of the most prominent advocates in Washington of just such an invasion. The briefing argued that removing Hussein would spur change in Saudi Arabia—which, it maintained, is the larger problem because of its role in financing and supporting radical Islamic movements. ...

"Neither the presentations nor the Defense Policy Board members' comments reflect the official views of the Department of Defense," Pentagon spokeswoman Victoria Clarke said in a written statement issued last night. "Saudi Arabia is a long-standing friend and ally of the United States. The Saudis cooperate fully in the global war on terrorism and have the Department's and the Administration's deep appreciation. ..."

The report concludes by linking regime change in Iraq to altering Saudi behavior. This view, popular among some neoconservative thinkers, is that once a U.S. invasion has removed Hussein from power, a friendly successor regime would become a major exporter of oil to the West. That oil would diminish U.S. dependence on Saudi energy exports, and so—in this view—permit the U.S. government finally to confront the House of Saud for supporting terrorism.

"The road to the entire Middle East goes through Baghdad," said the administration official, who is hawkish on Iraq. "Once you have a democratic regime in Iraq, like the ones we helped establish in Germany and Japan after World War II, there are a lot of possibilities."

Of the two dozen people who attended the Defense Policy Board meeting, only one, former secretary of state Henry A. Kissinger, spoke up to object to the anti-Saudi conclusions of the briefing, according to sources who were there. Some members of the board clearly agreed with Kissinger's dismissal of the briefing and others did not. ...

One source summarized Kissinger's remarks as, "The Saudis are pro-American, they have to operate in a difficult region, and ultimately we can manage them."

"I don't consider Saudi Arabia to be a strategic adversary of the United States," Kissinger said. "They are doing some things I don't approve of, but I don't consider them a strategic adversary."

Other members of the board include former vice president Dan Quayle; former defense secretaries James Schlesinger and Harold Brown; former House speakers Newt Gingrich and Thomas Foley; and several retired senior military officers, including two former vice chairmen of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, retired admirals David Jeremiah and William Owens.

Asked for reaction, Prince Bandar bin Sultan, the Saudi ambassador to the United States, said he did not take the briefing seriously. "I think that it is a misguided effort that is shallow, and not honest about the facts," he said. "Repeating lies will never make them facts."

"I think this view defies reality," added Adel al-Jubeir, a foreign policy adviser to Saudi leader Crown Prince Abdullah ibn Abdulaziz. "The two countries have been friends and allies for over 60 years. Their relationship has seen the coming and breaking of many storms in the region, and if anything it goes from strength to strength..."

The anti-Saudi views expressed in the briefing appear especially popular among neoconservative foreign policy thinkers, which is a relatively small but influential group within the Bush administration.

"I think it is a mistake to consider Saudi Arabia a friendly country," said Kenneth Adelman, a former aide to Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld, who is a member of the Defense Policy Board but didn't attend the July 10 meeting. He said the view that Saudi Arabia is an adversary of the United States "is certainly a more prevalent view that it was a year ago".

In recent weeks, two neoconservative magazines have run articles similar in tone to the Pentagon briefing. The July 15 issue of the Weekly Standard, which is edited by William Kristol, a former chief of staff to Quayle, predicted "The Coming Saudi Showdown." The current issue of Commentary, which is published by the American Jewish Committee, contains an article titled, "Our Enemies, the Saudis."

"More and more people are making parts of this argument, and a few all of it," said Eliot Cohen, a Johns Hopkins University expert on military strategy. "Saudi Arabia used to have lots of apologists in this country. ... Now there are very few, and most of those with substantial economic interests or long-standing ties there."...

But that view is far from dominant in the U.S. government, others said. "The drums are beginning to beat on Saudi Arabia," said Robert Oakley, a former U.S. ambassador to Pakistan who consults frequently with the U.S. military.

He said the best approach isn't to confront Saudi Arabia but to support its reform efforts. "Our best hope is change through reform, and that can only come from within," he said.

The intellectuals who frequent these discussions have formed a mindset that sees the world and us through a glass darkly. The Rand Corp. is an elitist's think tank that formulates government policies which the government then uses against us to influence and to form our opinions regarding vital issues. This is a form of mind control that is usually accompanied with mottoes, slogans and symbols. These shape-shifters of public opinion have used their great influence to set into motion the events that pit one nation against another, which fuels the endless cycle of ongoing wars. One prominent individual in this group is Richard Perle who is a "deputy" in Rumsfeld's Defense Dept. and is also an ardent supporter and promoter of Israel's interests. Perle's vociferous opinion will in time succeed in making Saudi Arabia public enemy #2 along with Iraq. Biased and also with an agenda for the advancement of Israel is Wolfowitz, Kristol, Adelman, Cohen and Kissinger as well as the attendees mentioned from past administrations. All play a big role in that small but very powerful neo-conservative group which surrounds Bush and formulates his Zionist-tinged foreign policy. This makes Bush as dangerous an influence in the Middle East as Saddam and the Middle East is for the U.S. It is should be now crystal clear why Israel is always left off of our list of targeted states in that volatile region.]

WEAPONS INSPECTIONS WERE 'MANIPULATED'

By Carola Hoyos, Nick George & Roula Khalaf,
Financial Times, 07/29/02

Rolf Ekeus, head of United Nations weapons inspections in Iraq from 1991-97, has accused the U.S. and other Security Council members of manipulating the United Nations inspections teams for their own political ends.

The revelation by one of the most respected Swedish diplomats is certain to strengthen Iraq's argument against allowing UN inspectors back into the country.

Kofi Annan, UN secretary-general, and Hans Blix, the UN's new chief weapons inspector, have for the past several months tried to negotiate a return of the inspectors with Naji Sabri, Iraq's foreign minister. Nearly every member of the UN is counting on a diplomatic breakthrough to avoid a U.S. military attack against Iraq.

Speaking to Swedish radio, Mr. Ekeus said there was no doubt that countries, especially the U.S., attempted to increase their influence over the inspections to favour their own interests. "As time went on, some countries, especially the U.S., wanted to learn more about other parts of Iraq's capacity."

Mr. Ekeus said the U.S. tried to find information about the whereabouts of Saddam Hussein, Iraq's president. He said he was able to rebuff such moves but that the pressure mounted after he left in 1997.

Most damning, he said that the U.S. and other members of the Security Council pressed the teams to inspect sensitive areas, such as Iraq's ministry of defence when it was politically favourable for them to create a crisis situation. "They [Security Council members] pressed the inspection leadership to carry out inspections which were controversial from the Iraqis' view, and thereby created a blockage that could be used as a justification for a direct military action," he said.

In a separate interview with Svenska Dagbladet, the Swedish newspaper, Mr. Ekeus said that he had learnt after he left his position that the U.S. had placed two of its own agents in the group of inspectors.

With the U.S. determined to topple the Iraqi regime, officials in Baghdad argue that the return of inspectors at this time is certain to lead to intelligence gathering and to deliberate provocation on their part, thus giving legitimacy to a U.S. attack.

Mr. Sabri, Iraqi foreign minister, insists that Mr. Blix has come under U.S. pressure not to agree to any compromise with Baghdad.

Iraqi officials have been greatly frustrated—most recently at the talks with the UN in Vienna last month—by the Security Council's decision not to allow Mr. Blix to discuss with Baghdad the key remaining disarmament tasks before inspectors return to the country.

Inspections based on a U.S. agenda, says Mr. Sabri, are simply impractical. "They proved a complete failure. The inspectors were procrastinating, prolonging the sanctions and providing a pretext for action against Iraq."

[JR: The U.S. cannot provide one good reason for an attack on Iraq so it has to resort to fabricating provocations without evidence and along with that its usual mega dose of noxious rhetoric. We are continuing our daily fly-overs with Britain and are again bombing fabricated "targets". The UN delegates are going to have to do a lot better than just counting on a diplomatic solution. They have to back up these negotiations with unrelenting demands that the U.S. cease and desist in its manipulations of UN inspectors and to diffuse its hostile intentions, actions and plans towards the invasion of Iraq. The U.S. without any just cause is instigating WWII. The news as of 7/30/02 is that Iraq is willing to allow UN inspectors into Iraq though the U.S. remains sullen to the idea.]

UN CHIEF, SECURITY PANEL UNITE FOR TOUGH STAND ON IRAQ INSPECTIONS

By Barbara Crossette and Alison Mitchell,
New York Times, 08/05/02

NEW YORK—The UN Security Council and Secretary General Kofi Annan agreed Monday that weapons inspectors would not go to Iraq to reopen talks after a break of almost four years unless Saddam Hussein's government agreed to abide by the organization's rules on how inspections must be conducted.

The emergence of a largely solid front against talking to Iraq unless the agenda is set at the United Nations was one of two setbacks on Monday for the Iraqi leadership, which is under threat of military attack by the United States.

In Washington, leading members of Congress refused an Iraqi invitation to come and inspect suspected weapons sites for themselves. Democrats and Republicans were equally dismissive.

Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld called the invitation "a joke".

"You see the size of the country? They'd have to be there for the next 50 years," he said to reporters.

The invitation to lawmakers came in a letter from Sadoun Hammadi, speaker of the National Assembly, who was apparently trying to pit legislators against the Bush administration because Congress must be consulted to declare war. ...

"This is the first time we have had this sort of invitation from the Iraqis," Annan said Monday, after a discussion with the council over lunch, "and we will need to get them to understand the requirements of the council."

He also said that his reply would not be an outright rejection, but more of a challenge to Hussein.

"All the members of the council agree that we should do everything to get the inspectors back," Annan said, describing any disagreements that arose as "shades of emphasis".

A diplomat at the lunch said the Russians, Syrians and Chinese supported a positive reply to Iraq. The United States was the most opposed.

Also Monday, President Bush convened a session of the National Security Council to discuss current political and military thinking about an operation to topple Hussein.

U.S. military officials said the briefing was not held to present a war plan for approval or rejection. Instead, Gen. Tommy Franks, head of the U.S. Central Command, updated the president and his national security team about "recent refinements" to the "broad outlines of plans" for possible military action.

[JR: The White House and certain congressional leaders are pushing hard for a "regime change" in Iraq and are vehemently opposed to engaging in any discussions with Iraqi officials. The hawks in Washington are like spiders spinning a web waiting patiently before they make their moves to attack and catch us all by surprise. They probably won't even bother creating manufactured evidence linking Iraq with 911 as requested by other world leaders. The U.S. like Israel has the arrogance to forge ahead and will not melt in the heat of the firestorm it will create at home and abroad. We may not wait until next year as so broadly hinted by the Pentagon since the twisted minds in control of D.C. could deviously use the one-year anniversary of 911 to launch their long heralded attack. Who, with the exception of the Arab/Muslim countries would dare protest or voice their opposition? Our 911, like the Holocaust, is going to be the event that will shape the world as we see it.]

PROFOUND EFFECT ON U.S. ECONOMY SEEN IN A WAR ON IRAQ

By Patrick E. Tyler and Richard W. Stevenson,
New York Times, 07/30/02

WASHINGTON—An American attack on Iraq could profoundly affect the American economy, because the United States would have to pay most of the cost and bear the brunt of any oil price shock or other market disruptions, government officials, diplomats and economists say.

Eleven years ago, the Persian Gulf War, fought to roll back Iraq's invasion of Kuwait, cost the United States and its allies $60 billion and helped set off an economic recession caused in part by a spike in oil prices.

For that war, the allies picked up almost 80 percent of the bill. Today, however, as the Bush administration works on plans to overthrow Saddam Hussein, the United States is confronting the likelihood that this time around it would have to pick up the tab largely by itself, diplomats said.

Unless the economic outlook brightens, the government could well find itself spending heavily on the military even as the economy recovers falteringly from last year's recession.

Senior administration officials said Mr. Bush and his top advisers had not begun to consider the cost of a war because they had yet to decide what kind of military operation might be necessary. Whatever choice is made, experts say, the costs are likely to be significant and therefore may ultimately influence the size, scale and tactics of any military operation.

Already, the federal budget deficit is expanding, meaning that the bill for a war would lead either to more red ink or to cutbacks in domestic programs.

If consumer and investor confidence remains fragile, military action could have substantial psychological effects on the financial markets, retail spending, business investment, travel and other key elements of the economy, officials and experts said.

If oil supplies are disrupted, as they were during the 1991 Gulf War, and prices rise sharply, the economic effects would be felt in the United States and around the world.

All of that could present a complicated political problem for President Bush, both in the Congressional mid-term elections in November and as he manages a war and looks ahead to his re-election campaign in 2004. ...

Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Japan divided the cost of the 1991 war with the United States, but today none has offered to assist with financing a new military campaign. In fact, each has signaled that it is not eager to be asked, diplomats say.

"Just open a map," said a member of the Kuwaiti royal family in close consultation with Washington. "Afghanistan is in turmoil, the Middle East is in flames, and you want to open a third front in the region?"

"That would truly turn into a war of civilizations," he added.

If Mr. Bush decides on a large-scale invasion plan for Iraq involving as many as 250,000 troops, as some commanders advocate, the country would face a significant military mobilization and call-up of reserves as early as this fall to be ready for a military campaign early next year.

James R. Schlesinger, a member of the Defense Policy Board that advises the Pentagon who held senior cabinet posts in Republican and Democratic administrations, said he believed that the president would opt for a significant ground presence in Iraq. He said he did not think that fear of economic instability by itself would cause the United States to refrain from trying to unseat the Iraqi leader. ...

Representative John M. Spratt Jr. of South Carolina, the senior Democrat on the House Budget Committee and a member of the Armed Services Committee, said the United States would come up with whatever money was necessary.

"While it's not beyond our means, we can't have it all," Mr. Spratt said. "Since there is no surplus in the budget from which the cost could be paid, there will be trade-offs, making initiatives like Medicare drug coverage harder to do, and there almost certainly will be deeper deficits and more debt."

James A. Placke, a former senior diplomat specializing in the Persian Gulf and now a senior associate of Cambridge Energy Research Associates, said the market reaction to any invasion of Iraq was at best uncertain. "Given the marked lack of enthusiasm for this venture, I wouldn't think the market reaction would be very good," he said.

"When weapons start going off in the Middle East, markets generally go down, gold prices go up, and oil prices shoot to the moon," he added, "and I expect that this is the short-run pattern that we can reasonably anticipate."

The United States is best prepared among the Western powers to withstand fluctuations in oil markets through drawdowns from its Strategic Petroleum Reserve, which today holds about 580 million barrels of oil. But Richard N. Cooper, a Harvard economist who headed the Central Intelligence Agency's top analytical body during the 1990's, cautioned that "psychological factors come into play" even in the face of prudent preparation.

Since Jan. 1, oil shipments into the reserve have reached record levels, about 150,000 barrels a day. One oil strategist in London noted that United States government acquisitions for the reserve were accounting for more than half of the growth in demand for oil this year....

Still, the fear is that Mr. Hussein, who set afire oil fields in Kuwait a decade ago, might strike out with chemical, biological or radiological weapons at Kuwait or Saudi Arabia, the world's largest oil producer with the largest capacity to expand its oil production to stabilize oil supplies.

"Everybody's nightmare is Saudi Arabia," said an Energy Department oil analyst. "People are deathly afraid of any military campaign spreading to Saudi Arabia." That country contains one half of the spare production capacity in the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

[JR: The U.S. war against Iraq could inflame the Middle East and truly be the "war of civilizations".

The world is overrun with wars but this is the war that has to be because it is written in the Bible, or so the seers say. The Zionists want this war and the U.S. is ready to bring Armageddon to us all. Sec. of Defense Rumsfeld is feverishly engaged in gathering "evidence" to prove that Saddam is concealing weapons that are being manufactured and stored in deep underground facilities which would be inaccessible to UN weapons inspectors. Washington is totally against going the diplomatic route to diffuse the tensions between Iraq and us. It's not the Zionist way of doing things so it's not the U.S.'s way of doing things. Wars are always costly because they are a drain on resources and produce large deficits. They are also unproductive, they stifle growth and slow economic progress. The U.S. is financially imploding because of its gargantuan deficit that has been growing for decades and is now beyond our ability to pay. Our treasury is empty, our economy is ready to deflate and inflation is creeping up on consumer goods like food. Consumer confidence went down 5% in July and spending curbs are now in place. The prospect for war is definitely turning bullish and the indicators look very positive as to its future growth. It is definitely a must buy for investors who lean toward the misery factor.]

ODD ALLIES FOR U.S. IN ASIA VISIT

By Howard Witt, Tribune, 07/31/02

BANDAR SERI BEGAWAN, Brunei—Secretary of State Colin Powell sought Tuesday to bolster anti-terrorism cooperation with the nations of Southeast Asia, a region where Washington's intensified alarm about the spread of Islamic terrorists is running up against its longstanding concerns about respect for human rights.

Powell is expected to sign an accord with the Association of South East Asian Nations, meeting in Brunei this week, in which the 10 member nations will pledge to work with the United States to combat international terrorism and the infiltration of suspected al-Qaida cells across their borders.

But among those signatories will be several countries, including Malaysia, Indonesia and Myanmar, that long have been the subjects of American criticism over their repressive domestic policies and troubling human-rights records.

Malaysia, where Powell began his day Tuesday, particularly illustrates the awkward dilemma for Washington, which finds itself endorsing some types of security crackdowns while criticizing others. ...

Despite Mahathir's condemnation of what he has called Israel's "terror" against Palestinians and his criticism of the U.S.-led war in Afghanistan, the Malaysian leader's crackdown on Islamic militants won him a White House visit in May.

The United States previously had shunned Mahathir for human-rights abuses, including what Powell termed the "flawed" prosecution of a former deputy prime minister, Anwar Ibrahim. Anwar was convicted in 1999 and sentenced to 15 years in prison on charges of corruption and sodomy that his supporters and Western diplomats contend were politically motivated. ...

Moreover, the State Department, in its annual human-rights report, sharply criticized Malaysia's use of its Internal Security Act "to arrest and detain many persons, including members of the political opposition, without charge or trial."

"I made the point to all my interlocutors that we still believe strongly in human rights, and that everything we do has to be consistent with universal standards of human rights," Powell said at a press conference in Kuala Lumpur.

Foreign Minister Syed Hamid, at an adjacent lectern, bristled at Powell's criticism.

"We have never used the [Internal Security Act] for purposes of frustrating our political opponents," Hamid said. "But it is used for purposes of ensuring that the peace and the stability of the country is protected."

Other Malaysian officials grumbled at what they perceived to be a glaring double standard: The United States is detaining hundreds of suspected Taliban and al-Qaida fighters without charges even as it criticizes Malaysia for similar behavior. U.S. officials say the prisoners at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba are being held for security reasons, not political ones.

Indonesia presents a different conundrum. Washington is concerned that al-Qaida terrorists are penetrating the poorly policed archipelago of 17,000 islands, some of them torn apart by armed insurgencies.

Yet the Indonesian security forces stand accused of numerous human-rights violations, and U.S. congressional restrictions stemming from Indonesia's violent suppression of East Timor's independence movement in the 1990s bar direct U.S. aid to Jakarta's military.

Some in Congress and the Bush administration favor removing those restrictions to bolster Indonesia's efforts to hunt Islamic extremists...

"There is not an inconsistency between military-to-military cooperation and abuse of human rights," the former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said later Tuesday at a stop in Singapore. ...

[JR: Before signing the agreement Sir Powell made the point that the U.S. is not looking to open additional bases in Southeast Asia beyond the 100,000 troops already present. Powell also hinted that the U.S. is looking for opportunities to train other nations' military upon request. I guess we have enough infiltrators there now to do the job for us. I would take that statement to also mean that all this is voluntary now but should conditions change U.S. intervention might be warranted. The U.S. because of its status can make any revision in agreements when it comes to promoting or expanding our own political agenda. The question is what is the difference between our own Homeland Security Act and Malaysia's Internal Security Act? Aren't both meant to secure our countries and their people from their undeclared enemies? Powell's media-made image is that he takes a less aggressive approach in advancing U.S. foreign policies than say a Rumsfeld or a Wolfowitz. The fact is that Powell is reviving Al Gore's past efforts to make a political issue of Malaysia's lawful prosecution of politician Anwar Ibrahim. This should make Malaysians wary of a future U.S. intervention. My spin on all of this is, watch the actions of the U.S. when Mahathir moves out and we make moves to get our man Anwar in.]

U.S. REBOUND LOST STEAM LAST QUARTER

By William Neikirk, Tribune, 08/01/02

WASHINGTON—The government issued a sobering report Wednesday showing the economy suffered a sudden weak spell in the second quarter, raising concerns that the recovery will poke along for the foreseeable future, or perhaps even stall.

At the same time, the Commerce Department made some dramatic subtractions from recent economic growth reports. Most notably, the government said the economy actually declined in three of the four quarters in 2001, rather than falling in only the third quarter, as had been previously reported.

Rarely do government reports convert a single quarter from positive to negative, much less three. And the changes aren't just academic.

To many economists, the revisions signaled that the economy entered 2002 with much less momentum than experts had thought. And productivity, or efficiency, gains do not appear to be as high as those trumpeted by Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan, said economist Michael Drury of Memphis-based McVean Trading Co.

In its preliminary report for gross domestic product, the broadest measure of the nation's output of goods and services, the government said second-quarter growth was a puny 1.1 percent after a sharp first-quarter rise of 5 percent.

The government revised the first-quarter growth figure from an originally reported 6.1 percent. The January-to-March GDP increase was so high because companies were beginning to restock their inventories, and not because of a sharp rise in consumer spending.

Most analysts said that the 1.1 percent April-to-June growth rate was weaker than the 2.5 percent to 3 percent that they had expected, causing them to be less optimistic for the rest of the year. Given the small number, many said they expected little or no progress in reducing unemployment in 2002. ...

Revisions of last year's economic growth figures stunned analysts. The first quarter of 2001 showed a 0.6 percent decrease rather than a previously reported 1.3 percent increase. The second quarter brought a negative 1.6 percent instead of a 0.3 percent rise. And third-quarter GDP fell by 0.3 percent, compared with a previously reported 1.3 percent decline.

This took the wind out of the Bush administration's frequent claim that there was no recession last year, just a one-quarter blip influenced by the Sept. 11 attacks. Only last Saturday, Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neill said he doubted whether the country had experienced a recession in 2001. ...

Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle (D-S.D.) called the slow second-quarter growth "very alarming," adding, "We need new economic leadership."

With the report, analysts said the odds of a second, or "double-dip", recession had increased. But most said they believed that the recovery would continue, although at a moderate pace of about 3 percent for the year.

To many economists, the country appears to be experiencing another "jobless" recovery like the one in 1990-1991, when it took several years to significantly dent unemployment. That downturn was a contributing factor in the 1992 defeat of President Bush's father. ...

[JR: The magic number crunchers have now owned up to the fact that our economy was on the downward spiral three out of four quarters in 2001. We definitely were in a recession that was much denied while cleverly hidden. If the revisions of last year's doctored indicators shell shocked the jaded Wall Street analysts you can just imagine how all these miscalculations impacted the average investor who got snared in Wall Street's web of larceny. The American workers who lost their jobs are the real victims and yet they seem to be of little concern and are not made mention of by the politicians in Washington. Case in point, if Treas. Sec. O'Neill doubts that we had or are having a recession it is only because he can't see over the mountain of debt he sits atop of at the Treasury Dept. He is well paid and has secure position that affords him many privileges and opportunities so why should he or any of the other self-serving plutocrats in D.C. care about our survival? We are the dummies because we believe in their lies.]

U.S. WORKING GROUP HAS NOT MET TO DISCUSS MARKETS

By Arshad Mohammed, Yahoo News, 07/16/02

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—The U.S. government has not convened its top-level working group on the financial markets to discuss the slide in U.S. stocks and does not try to manage the market's daily moves, the White House said on Tuesday.

"They have not met with particular reference to stock market activity because we don't try to manage stock markets' daily movements," White House spokesman Ari Fleischer said of the President's Working Group on Financial Markets.

The group, which includes representatives from the U.S. Treasury, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Federal Reserve Board and the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, was created after the 1987 stock market crash to promote close cooperation among key agencies at times of market volatility.

There were rumors in European markets on Tuesday that the group might have met to discuss the U.S. stocks slide.

Fleischer told Reuters there had been staff-level contacts among the group to discuss ways to improve corporate governance and protect employee pensions, something U.S. President George W. Bush had asked them to study in January, but that the heads of the agencies making up the group had not met recently.

The group typically meets when the markets are disorderly and there are concerns they may cease to function properly, but it can also meet in calmer times to address complex issues facing the financial markets.

The group issued a statement after the Sept. 11 attacks and it was particularly active during the Asian financial crisis.

The Bush administration's decision not to convene the group, unofficially nicknamed the Plunge Protection Committee, may reflect a view that the recent declines in the stock market to its lowest levels since 1997 are not of that order.

The stock market has fallen steadily over the last week because of a crisis of confidence in corporate America after accounting scandals at companies like Enron Corp, which has caused investors to doubt earnings reported by many companies.

However, the market has not suffered any dramatic one-day plunges like its 508-point loss in the “Black Monday” crash on Oct. 19, 1987 or its 554.26-point nosedive on Oct. 27, 1997, sparked by the Asian financial crisis.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which has fallen roughly 7 percent over the last week, was down about 165 points, or nearly 1.9 percent, at 8,474 at 4 p.m. EDT on Tuesday.

There was market talk in Europe on Tuesday—dismissed by many players—that the U.S. government may have tried to orchestrate Monday’s stunning recovery on Wall Street by urging institutions to buy or by buying itself.

Stocks on Monday made their steepest plunge of the year and then rallied nearly 400 points for the Dow industrials to close down only 45.34 points at 8639.19.

A stock trader for a major investment bank on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange said the sharp rebound from deep declines on Monday was driven by institutional buying after stocks hit critical technical levels—not by any market manipulation.

When the Dow Jones industrials breached its Sept. 21 lows and touched 8,244.87 with stock futures pointing to a 7,900 level, orders from investment banks Merrill Lynch, Goldman Sachs and Lehman Bros. and others flooded in, traders said.

“We were absolutely dead quiet going into the September bottom. It was kind of eerie on the floor. This was not suspicious, only savvy,” one futures trader said.

Buyers knew that traders who had sold contracts “short” betting on further stock declines would have to start buying to cover their positions. Sure enough, the impact was explosive.

“It almost was like a gun that went off. When that Dow level was touched and held, buyers came racing in,” he said.

The New York Fed called key market players in recent days to gauge what the market needed to hear from Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan in his testimony to the Senate Banking Committee on Tuesday to soothe investors, market sources said. One hedge fund adviser suggested this might have sparked the rumors of government intervention.

The New York Fed declined comment but said that as part of its role monitoring markets it speaks to participants daily on market conditions.

GULF CITIZENS LOSE $97 BILLION
IN U.S. MARKET
BECAUSE OF DOLLAR DECLINE

Arabic News, Gulf-USA, Economics, 7/18/2002

The dramatic devaluation of the U.S. dollar before major currencies especially the EURO, the Yen in the few past weeks resulted in inflicting heavy losses in the revenues of the Arab Gulf states, members in the OPEC of its oil exports priced by the U.S. dollar.

Analysts say that losses of the Arab Gulf states, members in OPEC: Saudi Arabia, UAE, Kuwait and Qatar might reach $ 13 billion by the end of the current year as a result of the U.S. dollar decrease by 14% so far against the EURO. Financial analysts and bankers from the United Arab Emirates expected the U.S. dollar to continue its devaluation against the EURO during the next half of the current year to reach 22% under the increasing number of news of company scandals in the American markets and the loss of confidence entrusted by investors.

Bankers estimated the Gulf states losses in the market as a result of the dollar devaluation at $ 97 billion. Assets of the Gulf citizens abroad are estimated at $ 1.3 trillion half of which is in the American market.

WHITE HOUSE OPENS OFFICE
TO BURNISH U.S. IMAGE

Daily News, 07/31/02

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House on Tuesday set up an office devoted to polishing the United States’ reputation in a world irked by President Bush’s policies and what many believe is a cavalier American attitude toward global suffering.

The White House revealed the existence of its Office on Global Communications just as a Council on Foreign Relations task force urged Bush to fix “America’s shaky image abroad” before negative sentiment undercuts U.S. interests.

“Around the world, from Western Europe to the Far East, many see the United States as arrogant, hypocritical, self-absorbed, self-indulgent and contemptuous of others,” the task force said. “We must come to understand and accept that ‘image problems’ and ‘foreign policy’ are not things apart: They are both part of an integrated whole.”

The panel emphasized, however, that Bush should not change his policies simply to make America more popular.

“We should communicate them, even formulate them in such a way as to get as much support as we can,” said task force member Henry Grunwald, former editor-in-chief of Time magazine and later U.S. ambassador to Austria. “Even the largest empires in history have needed support from other people.”

The new office sprang from an earlier information campaign to build support for the military campaign in Afghanistan and the fight against terrorism.

Bush aides said the office would make sure the president’s message gets out and, as a result, fosters smoother relations with allies.

“We hear messages from other nations that they don’t see what the American people see in our country,” White House spokesman Ari Fleischer said.

But it was clear that Bush’s policies, before and after the Sept. 11 attacks, have done much to stir hard feelings overseas.

His administration disavowed international pacts on global warming, missile defense systems, germ warfare and an international criminal court. ...

In February, the Pentagon shut down a new office meant to counter the views of opponents such as the Taliban and al-Qaida. The office proposed internally to use the Internet and other media to spread false information.

Asked for an assurance that the White House office will not spread “disinformation”, Fleischer said, “Absolutely.”

[JR: Our arrogant, hypocritical, self-absorbed, self-indulgent and contemptuous attitude could use a makeover. We need to polish our rust ridden image and work on presenting a more hopeful and positive foreign policy that the rest of the world can support. We will continue losing our prestige because we are perceived as being uncaring to the suffering we create worldwide. It is imperative that the U.S. recognizes and acknowledges its faults and failures that other nations find detrimental. America is a superpower but she is failing in her responsibilities as a superpower. We are failing to build the loyalties that are necessary to help bring about the balance that the world is in need of.]

MANY STATES REJECT BIOTERRORISM LAW

By Mimi Hall, USA TODAY, 07/22/02

Nearly 10 months after anthrax attacks caused chaos among health officials from Florida to New York, fewer than a third of the states have adopted laws to give governors and state health officials powers to respond to a bioterrorism attack or other public-health emergencies.

A model law developed for the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and provided to state legislatures last year would give authorities the right to enforce quarantines, vaccinate people, seize and destroy property without compensation, and ration medical supplies, food and fuel in a public-health emergency.

Such laws are needed, federal officials say, because they give authorities the guidance and legal ability to make quick decisions in an emergency involving contagious or deadly pathogens.

Most state health emergency laws haven’t been updated since polio tore through the population a half-century ago.

“We have not used emergency powers in probably 50 years,” says Gene Matthews, a lawyer for the Department of Health and Human Services. “This is something we need to attend to.”

But a broad coalition of opponents, ranging from civil libertarians to conservative physicians, says the proposed law would violate individual rights and give government too much power. Their objections have caused lawmakers in some states to scuttle the bill.

The Model State Emergency Health Powers Act “gives governors and state health officials a blank check to impose the most draconian sorts of measures,” Barry Steinhardt of the American Civil Liberties Union says. It’s “designed to bring quarantine and other laws into the 21st Century, but in many ways it is a throwback.”

So far, 16 states and the District of Columbia have passed all or parts of the model law. It has been rejected or stalled in 22 states. ...

The act “goes far beyond bioterrorism,” says Andrew Schlafly of the conservative Association of American Physicians and Surgeons. “Unelected state officials can force treatment or vaccination of citizens against the advice of their doctors.”

But James Hodge of the Center for Law and the Public’s Health at Georgetown and Johns Hopkins universities, which drafted the law, says it would be used only in extreme cases. He says he is encouraged that so many states have adopted all or parts of the law.

[JR: Whether the states pass this bio-terrorism law or any other disguised non-positive law it won't make a difference because of the Patriot Act and Homeland Security laws passed by our U.S. /Israeli Knesset. Pres. Bush can now suspend, rescind and override any law that hampers or obstructs Washington's right to impose its power and its will on all the states in the U.S. We are no longer made up of a body of independent states who elected to share their powers with Washington. It has been mandated that we are now citizens of the super-state of Washington D.C. and therefore subject to its authority. The Federal laws in place symbolize that control. These laws will do little to provide aid or assistance to us citizens in times of national crisis. The only ones who will be assured of any rights and protection are the politicians in D.C.]

TOP INTERIOR OFFICIAL OUSTED;
EFFORTS TO REFORM INDIAN ACCOUNTS
STYMIED

By Robert Gehrke, Boston Globe, 7/30/02

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top Interior Department official said he was forced to quit Tuesday because he challenged the department's claims that it is repairing a historically mismanaged trust fund for American Indians.

Special Trustee Thomas Slonaker, whose position was created by Congress to provide independent oversight for the overhaul of the fund and to report back to lawmakers, submitted his resignation Tuesday to Interior Secretary Gale Norton.

"I was given the choice of resigning or being fired," Slonaker said in an interview. "Things have not been going well in terms of trust reform, but it's not always the message they want to hear."

Slonaker has clashed with Norton and department officials, offering testimony in court and before Congress that contradicted assertions of progress toward fixing the century-old trust fund designed to manage oil, gas, mining and timber royalties from Indian land.

A history of mismanagement has resulted in the loss of an unknown amount of money. Attorneys for Indians who sued the government say at least $10 billion is owed to more than 300,000 Indian landowners.

Last week, White House counsel and Justice Department attorneys urged Slonaker not to submit prepared testimony to a Senate Indian Affairs Committee hearing in which he challenged the department's plans to account for lost Indian money.

The department has told Congress it will take $2.5 billion and 10 years to conduct a full accounting, but Slonaker said a complete accounting is impossible because records are missing or have been destroyed. ...

Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., said he was disappointed by Slonaker's resignation and the administration's refusal to give him real authority.

"Mr. Slonaker's resignation is just one more signal that legislation is clearly necessary to cause reform to the Interior Department's management of Indian trust funds," McCain said in a statement.

During a hearing Tuesday before the Senate Indian Affairs Committee, American Indian leaders said they won't back down on demands that an independent commission supervise the Interior Department's management of $1 billion a year in royalties from Indian land.

Tribal leaders want the commission to have the power to subpoena documents, audit the department's accounting of the royalties and impose fines against the interior secretary to repair a history of mismanagement that has squandered an unknown amount of money.

An independent commission is essential to fixing management problems and is not negotiable, said Tex Hall, co-chairman of the task force and president of the National Congress of American Indians. ...

The Indian leaders and the Department have agreed to creating a new undersecretary for Indian affairs and an official in charge of trust fund accountability above the deputy secretary now in charge of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

The government has managed proceeds from Indian tribal land since 1820 and for individual Indians since 1887. Today it controls 45 million acres of land belonging to 315 tribes and 11 million acres for more than 300,000 individual Indians. The lands generate more than $1 billion annually.

[JR: Gale Norton, the present head of the Interior Dept. has for all appearances put the brakes on reforms to secure the trust funds of Native Americans and in so doing is protecting the self-serving bureaucrats in D.C. She has her orders from the Greedy White Fathers to hold the fort against the charging Indians. It will take more than just p.c. rhetoric from a grandstander like Sen. McCain who once held the position of chairman for Indian Affairs, or the Indian Affairs Com. to clean up the fraud that has run rampant in all the departments of the BIA. The blue jackets in Washington still think that Native Americans are uneducated and incapable of handling their own affairs. The battle to prove them wrong lies in the courts just as it did at the battle of Little Big Horn.]

INS ADMITS IT'S FAR BEHIND IN PAPERWORK

Tribune, 08/04/02

WASHINGTON, D.C.—More than 2 million documents filed by foreigners, from change of address forms to requests for benefits, have been piling up for years and only now are being reviewed by the government, senior U.S. officials said Friday.

Immigrant advocates said that raises the possibility some foreigners deported after Sept. 11 were in compliance with laws they were expelled for breaking. Immigration and Naturalization Service officials say that has not occurred.

The government has not revealed previously the extent to which it has fallen behind in processing such records. Congressional investigators began an inquiry into the question after the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks.

The documents have been collected by the INS from field offices across the nation and sent to a warehouse complex outside Kansas City, Mo. They include 200,000 change-of-address notices, INS spokesman Bill Strassberger said.

Failure to file a change of address form is a deportable offense, and the Justice Department recently said it would step up enforcement.

Another official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said that the 2 million documents also include applications for benefits and that more than 300,000 were citizenship applications.

Strassberger said the agency is working to improve its record keeping.

The INS expects to have processed most of the documents by December.

[JR: When you have a government that becomes so huge and unwieldy and is barely able to function you have the makings of a giant implosion caused by ineptness. The INS is a perfect example of a department with such failings. Our immigration dept. is supposed to be an important part of national security so why has this backlog been allowed since the Clinton Administration? Why hasn't the INS been made a top priority for reorganization and improvement since 911 by Bush and Co.? You have to wonder if all this is deliberate and intentional on Washington's part.]

U.S. BANKS, CITIES
ACCEPT MEXICAN ILLEGALS' ID

By Carter Dougherty,
THE WASHINGTON TIMES, 07/18/02

A Mexican identification card used chiefly by illegal immigrants is being accepted by a growing number of U.S. banks and cities.

Bill Strassberger, a spokesman for the Immigration and Naturalization Service, stressed that holders of the card, known as the "matricula consular", should not confuse it for a residency permit. But he said no law or regulation prevents banks or cities from using it. "It's strictly an identification document," he said. "If banks choose to accept it, that does not make it an immigration matter."

For more than a century, Mexican consulates around the world have offered the card to Mexican citizens. But its use in the United States has picked up steam during the past year as U.S. banks such as Wells Fargo, Bank of America and Citibank, eager to manage the $60 billion earned by undocumented workers each year, have begun accepting it for checking accounts.

Elected officials in major U.S. cities, including Los Angeles, Chicago and San Francisco, have followed by accepting the ID for use in city business such as borrowing books from libraries, entering municipal buildings and minor scrapes with the police.

"This program has gone completely beyond my expectations," said Martha Lara, the Mexican consul general in Los Angeles who has lobbied U.S. officials for its acceptance.

Every month in Los Angeles alone, the consulate churns out 15,000 cards. The 47 other Mexican consulates in the United States, especially those close to the border, hand out thousands more.

The Mexican Consulate in Washington, where most Hispanics hail from Central and South America, issues about 450 cards each month, said spokesman Miguel Monterrubio.

The card is a straightforward ID that includes a person's photograph and address in the United States. During the past year, Mexican authorities have phased in additional security features, such as a hologram, to thwart forgeries.

Cardholders are widely recognized to be in the United States illegally, as official residence would give them access to American-issued identification, such as a driver's license.

A broad coalition supports the use of the cards. Police forces are happy to have a reliable ID for noncitizens. Hispanic civil rights groups seeking better treatment for Mexicans have cheered it. The Mexican government, mindful of the close attention being paid to immigrants since the September 11 terrorist attacks, has pushed the card as a way to protect its citizens.

A few groups who favor tighter immigration laws have criticized it.

"It makes life easier for illegal immigrants, and that compromises law enforcement and security," said Mark Krikorian, executive director of the Center for Immigration Studies in Washington. "It's a creeping amnesty that incorporates illegal aliens into our institutions."

The roughly 3 million illegal immigrants in the United States earn about $60 billion each year, making them a rich potential market for American banks, according to the Manuel Orozco of the Inter-America Dialogue, a Washington think tank.

"One of our key target markets is Hispanics," said Ken Preston, a spokesman for Charlotte, N.C.-based Bank of America, which has honored the card since December. "They have traditionally been underserved."

In addition to accepting the matricula, Bank of America has invested $40 million in a Spanish-language advertising campaign. It also offers a service that allows customers to send money to Mexico.

San Francisco-based Wells Fargo, which in November became the first bank in the nation to accept the ID, has used the card to open 35,000 checking accounts that now hold about $50 million in deposits.

The card, with a taxpayer identification number—an Internal Revenue Service number available to noncitizens—is enough to open an account. The fact that most of the applicants are in the United States illegally does not matter.

"We do not question the legal status of any of our customers," said Mary Trigg, a Wells Fargo spokeswoman.

The impetus for using the card came from law enforcement, especially the police department in Austin, Texas. Nearly half of all robberies in Austin in 2000 were committed against undocumented Mexican workers, including four robbery-homicides.

"This population was getting robbed [because] they cannot put their money in a bank," Assistant Police Chief Rudy Landeros said.

In 2001, after discussions that included Wells Fargo, Austin city officials and Mexican consular authorities, the bank agreed to accept the card at area branches. Convinced that the card helped reduce crime, Austin began training police officers to recognize and accept the ID.

Chief Landeros conceded that most of the Mexicans who carry the card are in the United States illegally but said the reduction in robberies made the card an invaluable tool.

"We are focused on public safety, not immigration," he said. "Our job is to protect and serve, regardless of immigration status."

Following the Austin program, Mexican officials, including Mrs. Lara, went to work in Southern California to win acceptance for the card.

Wells Fargo also took a closer look at how the Mexican government issues the ID and what it does to prevent forgery.

"We had extensive talks with the Mexican consulate on the security issues," Ms. Trigg said. "The card has all the things it needs to be a primary identification."

On Nov. 7, Wells Fargo announced that the card would be valid ID at all bank locations in 23 states, triggering a wave of interest by other financial services companies.

"Three hours later, faxes were rolling into my office [from banks] saying they would accept it too," Mrs. Lara said.

[JR: First of all, it is my understanding that an "illegal" alien is in violation of U.S. law and therefore becomes a criminal at large. Not only are these law enforcement officers not enforcing the law on these known illegal aliens, but also banks are accepting checking and savings accounts from known criminals (illegals) which makes them a co-conspirator. Going one step further, when these banks reports bank accounts with "noncitizen numbers" to the IRS and still nothing is done about the illegal aliens then the IRS becomes an accomplice in this conspiracy to aid and abet criminals. If a person in a responsible position is aware a crime is being committed or has been committed and does not report it to the proper authorities then technically they too can be charged.]

FED. TREASURY STATEMENTS
ONLY EVADE QUESTIONS
ABOUT U.S. GOLD POLICY

By James Turk, Editor, The Freemarket Gold & Money Report, 08/04/02

There has been a flurry of letters from the Federal Reserve and the Treasury Department responding to various inquiries about the federal government's activity in the gold market. Not surprisingly, these letters make the same contention as other letters I have seen in the past—specifically, they contend that the federal government has not been intervening in the gold market.

The Fed and Treasury letters were written in response to inquiries by various supporters of the Gold Anti-Trust Action Committee Inc. (www.GATA.org) who had asked their congressional representatives to investigate the evidence presented by GATA that the gold price is being managed by the federal government, working in concert with a few large bullion banks. Because these Fed and Treasury letters mention me and some of my work, I am compelled to respond.

The letter from the Federal Reserve to U.S. Sen. Christopher J. Dodd is the easiest to deal with. Written by Donald Winn, assistant to the board, it states: "Contrary to Mr. Turk's assertions, the Federal Reserve has not engaged in a gold swap with the Bundesbank."

Interestingly, I have never asserted that the Fed has been engaged in gold swaps. I have always contended that the gold swaps are being made by the U.S. Exchange Stabilization Fund (ESF). So this statement by Winn is curious. It makes clear that Winn has not read my work, or alternatively, he is attempting to disinform those who read his letter.

Please keep an open mind about this last point. Before you conclude that the Fed would not deliberately attempt to disinform members of Congress or the public, consider the word game being played by Winn with the following statement:

"As Chairman Greenspan has previously stated, the Federal Reserve owns no gold and therefore could not sell or lease gold to influence its price."

This statement is accurate. The Fed owns gold certificates that give it a claim to the U.S. gold reserve; the Fed does not own bullion itself. But what's important about this statement is what is left unsaid. We all know that the Fed does not own gold, but does it OWE gold?

If the Fed borrowed gold, it would not own that gold. But that physical bullion it borrowed could be sold or leased to influence the gold price. Is the Fed doing that? Winn isn't saying.

The Treasury Department letters are written by Assistant Secretary John Duncan. The ones I've seen are identical, and I'll use his letter to Sen. Mitch McConnell for reference.

The letter starts well enough: "The article ['Accounting for the ESF's Gold Swaps'] makes several assertions. I will respond to each of them in turn."

Unfortunately, as we'll soon see, Duncan doesn't. But there is a bigger problem with his letter.

Duncan implies that he has authority to speak on behalf of the Exchange Stabilization Fund. But he doesn't. Only the treasury secretary and the president have that authority. And neither of them will respond in writing to the evidence that the ESF is indeed engaging in gold swaps.

So this letter from the hapless Duncan is pure disinformation because he does not have any authority to speak for the ESF. But let's take a look at it anyway because we'll see from it that the disinformation campaign continues.

Here is what Duncan says I am asserting: "The Consolidated Financial Statement (CFS) indicates that the Exchange Stabilization Fund (ESF) has liabilities in the form of Special Drawing Rights (SDR) Certificates and of SDR allocations from the International Monetary Fund. Information on this has not previously been published."

I have never said that this information had not been previously published. In fact, if it hadn't been published, how would I have been able to analyze it in the first place? This is absolute twaddle by Duncan.

Duncan more accurately states the next assertion he says I make. "The ESF exchanges SDR Certificates with the German Bundesbank in return for gold to put on the market through off-balance sheet loans. This exchange is why the SDR Certificates disappeared from the ESF's books."

That is my point precisely, and here is Duncan's response.

"By law, the secretary of the treasury is authorized to issue SDR Certificates only to the Federal Reserve System. The SDR certificates went off the ESF's books because they were redeemed by the Treasury Department with the secretary's authorization. The visible result in the ESF's balance sheet was a decline in the liability item for SDR certificates and a corresponding decline in the asset item for the ESF's holdings of U.S. government securities at the Bureau of Public Debt. The ESF redeemed the U.S. government securities in return for dollars to use in redeeming the SDR certificates from the Federal Reserve System."

Perplexed? So was I when I first read this response by Duncan. It took me a couple of readings, but then I realized why I was perplexed. It is clear that there is no answer here to my assertion. All Duncan explains is the mechanics of how the SDR certificates were redeemed. He does not explain why they were redeemed, nor does he explain what happened to the actual physical SDR certificate after it was redeemed.

It has been my contention that the SDR certificate was given to the Bundesbank as collateral after it was redeemed, and further, that this transaction would occur as an off-balance-sheet item on the ESF's financial statement. Duncan's so-called answer to my assertion is in reality a non-answer. But non-answers are useful too.

I always assume that a non-answer is a "yes." Duncan is being evasive. Because of Duncan's long-winded technical explanation, the casual reader may think that Duncan answered the question, and will then read on to the next point. But by not denying my assertion, Duncan leaves my assertion unchallenged. So I take his reply as a "yes"—that the ESF is exchanging redeemed SDR certificates with the German Bundesbank in return for gold.

The third and final statement by Duncan to explain my assertions is: "The CFS [Consolidated Financial Statement of the U.S. government] and the Treasury Bulletin report different amounts of foreign exchange reserves because the CFS presentation nets out foreign exchange liabilities."

Mr. Duncan's response here is interesting. "The difference reflects the fact that the Treasury Bulletin reports total U.S. reserve assets and that this total includes the foreign currency assets of the Federal Reserve System, which is not a U.S. Government agency and therefore is not covered in the CFS. The CFS covers only the reserve assets held by the Treasury Department."

Some readers may not be aware that the Federal Reserve is not part of the U.S. government. The Fed is privately owned, so Duncan is saying that it is not consolidated into the financial statements of the federal government.

But that leaves unanswered the question as to why the Fed's assets are reported as U.S. reserve assets in the Treasury Bulletin. Is it to make the U.S. reserve assets look bigger than they would otherwise be if the Fed's assets were excluded from the report appearing in the monthly Treasury Bulletin?

So again, we are left with more questions than answers.

It need not be that way. All we need is for the treasury secretary or the president—who are the only two people with authority to speak for the ESF—to simply explain the evidence presented, compelling evidence that the ESF is engaging in gold transactions.

Explain the evidence. If it is not related to gold transactions, then explain what it is.

Just by explaining the evidence, the treasury secretary or the president could put an end to this so-called speculation that the ESF is engaging in gold transactions. It would be so simple for them. All they need to do is respond with a short letter to the member of Congress enquiring on behalf of his concerned constituents about the U.S. gold reserve. A short statement to the press would do as well, explaining why the accumulated evidence is wrong and that the ESF is not engaging in gold transactions.

But there is nary a word from either the treasury secretary or the president denying that the ESF is engaging in gold transactions. I wonder why.

NEVADA CORPORATIONS:

What They Don't Say Can Really Help You

Budget's "Tip of the Week" #6:

The Value of an Aged Corporate Shell or "Shelf" Corporation

While many stock-market investors have recently discovered the meaning of the word "risk", it's too bad they never learned to invest in Nevada shell corporations, which continue to appreciate in value.

An aged corporate shell—commonly referred to as a "shelf" corporation, an indication that it has not been used, only put "on the shelf"—will generally increase substantially in value over time. This is because there are those who can benefit greatly by the ability to instantly get into business and yet have the ability to say that the corporation has been in business for some time.

Generally, the value of an aged "shell" corporation is more than the amounts paid to keep it current, although there may be a significant difference between "bid" and "ask" due to the small size of the market. If you are the holder of such an aged corporation with no real activity in its history, you just might find that it has been a fair investment. The best way to sell such an entity is often by consignment, whereby the seller consents to pay a percentage of the sale price realized to a middleman (typically, a resident agent such as BCR) with good contacts in the market place. Unfortunately, many who have held such a gem of an investment have been taken advantage of by predatory middlemen, who typically offer only a few hundred dollars for a corporation that they turn around and sell for many thousands of dollars.

Some people acquire a number of newborn corporations specifically as an investment. If this sounds like something you would like to do, here are several steps you can take to maximize the value:

- Obtain an Employer Identification Number;
- Use nominee service so that there is no link to you personally;
- Open a no-interest bank account for the corporation;
- File "zero income" (non-activity) tax returns every year;
- DO NOT TRANSACT ANY BUSINESS WITH THE CORPORATION.

A shelf corporation maintained in this manner typically carries a premium of $1,000 to $1,500 PER YEAR OF AGE, in addition to the initial costs of setting it up. Even after annual maintenance costs (at least, through Budget Corporate Renewals) it is possible to have an annual gain of $500 to $1,000, making the incubation of shelf corporations a very rewarding enterprise!

WORDS OF WISDOM

FROM HATONN

CONTACT OR SPECTRUM?

I want to briefly respond to a most unusual question from a totally "out of the blue" person: "It appears Spectrum will fail, possibly close, so will you go back to writing for CONTACT or what?"

I have never stopped writing for CONTACT—but I have NOT written, nor have my compatriots written for Spectrum. Tails wag a lot of dogs, my friends. Therefore, "or what" has no meaning.
