RE: U.S.-IRAQI ABUSE MADE PUBLIC;

WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION AND AFTERMATH

”THE U.S. IS THE HOPE OF THE WORLD”
(Ancient Mythology)

The “light” of the so-called world has been snuffed out, Readers, by your own children who go to war.

Whose fault? Yours! YOU have allowed your very offspring to be warped with disrespect and violence within the LIE, fully coming to blossom.

You can pick up any paper today and “read all about it”, citizens. The story of the atrocities committed by the U.S. soldiers upon the Iraqi prisoners has made it to 60 Minutes and thus can be at the least made a consideration. What do you NOW think takes place in the Cuba prison camp (Guantanamo)?

NOW CONSIDER THIS: WHEN THE
INNOCENT PLEAD TO GOD FOR SHELTER
WHILE THE ENEMY OVERRUNS THEM IN BOTH INDECENT AND EVIL ACTIONS—TO WHOM WILL GOD RESPOND IN MERCY?

I don't need to take space or time to do more than reference the world-breaking publicity regarding the abuse in the Iraqi prisons at the hands of your “savior of freedom” troops for it is now before THE WORLD to see. Moreover, since we have no “News Desk” and we MUST focus on our program and project in this place, we have to ask you to get the information and we will make an effort to better cover it when we have more space and “time”. This is partly because THERE WILL BE MORE.

UFOs

Now, “try” again to understand the visual sightings of those infamous UFOs in the area of Iran and yes indeed, over Iraq. We are not there to play nip and tuck with you—you are going TOO FAR, humans!

“Venus”, indeed. Where are you in the moving lights of strobing colors and outright visible silver disks?
Don't embarrass yourselves with the “world is flat” and “Men are from Mars; Women are from Venus” as used for idiocy and then example for the difference in men and women. IF YOU CAN'T TELL THE DIFFERENCE THEN YOU ARE SERIOUSLY IMPAIRED.

In the very name of GOD CREATOR, when will YOU realize that you have gone too far? You focus on the mundane and silly interchanges and arguments over who has what and the most of it—while the world BURNS.

You as humans have become a totally evil lot,
students!

Now comes your Mr. Bush who loudly, with tears in his eyes and piety on his lying lips, denounces the ill-treatment depicted in YOUR VERY OWN PICTURES. These are not conjured pictures to annoy your politicians. They are pictures where all measures were taken in an effort TO KEEP THEM OUT OF YOUR VIEW! ALL MEASURES!

Moreover, the worst of the lot ARE KEPT FROM YOUR EYES while censored as “too obscene” for the media regulators. Satan always ends up eating himself while he has you for lunch-break to do his really dirty work.

I think in all this give-and-take and debate as to whether or not there are “UFOs” (which is silly in the very concept), you stock up on books of information given BY US in about 1988-89. What you do now is solely up to you.

Today's headline:

“RP READY TO EXPLODE AS DEBT EXPANDS”

The Republic of the Philippines has already exploded. There is no containment in sight, only deeper debts and larger poverty. There is no way to pay debts as the very borrowers cannot even consider paying back anything borrowed while everything is sold off and thus cannot contribute to the local economy, while there is NOTHING with which to pay next year's debts which grow exponentially, literally.

Let me give you an “off-the-wall” example of idiotic statements that have nothing really to do with this topic but picture the insanity, quite easily, of what takes place. One of the Presidential candidates, a male of your species, Raul Roco, was diagnosed with cancer of the prostate a couple of years back. Recently, two weeks ago, he was having “chronic” back pains so he whisked himself off to the U.S. for show, tell and exam.

Now, back he comes and pronounces he is in excellent health, can easily last another ten years and certainly does NOT, as the papers printed, have “bone cancer”.

If you are with me so far, wait for the punch-line, please. Explanation of the circumstances? The physician spokesman says “RR does not have ‘bone cancer’ because that is a separate form of ‘cancer’”. Separate of exactly WHAT is left to speculation. Now the release bulletin: “RR ONLY has metastasis of prior/now active prostate cancer.” The metastasized cells, however, have invaded enough to give constant pain from the bones and, specifically, “the pelvis”.

The next comes with: “Well, even Roosevelt served from a wheelchair.” Say what? Now, next, the question of the ten years of good health and unhampered service? “Oh well, that is based on RC's father living to the age of 72 years and RC is only 62.” Then with scientific authority it is noted that Roosevelt and “Roco” start with “R”. The fact that Roosevelt had polio and Roco has active and possible terminal cancer seems to elude everyone.

We now have great glee and shouting that “Ah, in less than a week, Roco is free of pain...” Well, how much morphine and opiates are required to get freedom from pain for brief periods of time? Boy, those opiates and other nice drugs heal up all the anguish of body and brain—FOR A FEW MINUTES!

Next comes the incredible statement that RR would only have to make regular trips TO THE U.S. for the “silver bullet” treatment, which means that there are specific cellular knock-out therapies for the naughty cells. The outcome of the BS is that the city has been all but closed down with the accolades to this person who had no hope of winning the election anyway and there were motorcades and accolades shouted from every media orifice. “Every” means “every”.

It is “interesting” to note that RR is simply claiming his “15 minutes of fame” AT THE EXPENSE OF THE WHOLE OF THE PHILIPPINES. Perhaps the “opposition's” joke about the matter may well bear a bit of fruit: “Some people will go to any lengths to have excuse for losing an election.” Sick? Well good grief, people, sick IS.

Back to the present illness sweeping this place: Iglesia ne Cristo (INC) is touted today as throwing its full membership and support to Gloria Arroyo (GMA). Now perhaps it will go as “GMA, Inc.”—“The Corporation”. This is the largest “break-away” RELIGIOUS GROUP in this area and it now supports the LARGEST LIAR AND CORRUPT INDIVIDUAL TO SIT THE SEAT OF POWER. Indeed, Satan NEVER SLEEPS—he never “needs” to do so. The logical question is: “Can't the members vote anyone they wish?” Not if you don't want to be excommunicated!

One candidate, Bro. Eddy of the JESUS IS LORD group is now trying to block “bloc-voting” by these “sects”, “cults” and evangelical “groups”. He even wants a cease-and-desist from the SUPREME COURT, which is FULLY MANIPULATED, MANAGED AND IS PUPPET TO THE VERY GMA, Inc. HERSELF. How would YOU think it might go from here?

WE WORK WITH WHAT IS
AND STAY OUT OF THE SKIRMISH

We must work with WHAT IS and that which evolves. Preference is not ours to hold.

MEDICINE WHEEL

I suggest that, as you consider our position, your position and “their” position (the adversaries), you recognize MUCH is taking place that pours copious amounts of healing energy into the positive potential of the energy grids themselves. Therefore, pay attention to the “Medicine Wheel” that is as powerful, or moreso, than was any Harmonic Convergence of 1987.

Local “Native” BS in the mountains? No, but a lot of very intense and focused energy GLOBALLY.

When Professor Ramirez came to the meeting of the T-A Fdn. (TAF) on Thursday he was waving the paper, CONTACT, last issue, folded to page 14. Go check it out for you who wonder what YOU can do.

Ah but, Professor Ramirez was not JUST impressed to find it in our paper—BUT THE FACT THAT BLOWS THE MINDS OF THE MOST TIMID IS THAT THE TRIBAL PEOPLE OF THE PHILIPPINES TO THE VERY LAST NATIVE INDIVIDUAL ARE ALSO HAVING A MASS FOCUS ON THIS—ON MAY 8, “WHEN THE SUN IS ‘UP ABOVE’”.

Much as the Native Americans with “Grandfather” who say, “...if we do it this way, Grandfather will hear us...”, these people also say, “it is time” and, “If we do it this way, THE GREATEST SPIRIT OF ALL will hear us....and help us!” Moreover, that beautiful “ship” flashing those incredible beautiful colors in your evening sky WILL BE LOCATED DIRECTLY ABOVE every location as the “clock” marks your turning world. And furthermore, YES WE CAN! Oh indeed, I look forward to a very positive experience on May 8th. NO, we will not look like giant insects or grasshoppers in specific. There are no green men, no green blood but so much LIGHT as to suggest you wear your sunshields OR GET SOME HEAVY CLOUD-COVER.

How many Filipinos will even notice? Two days from election and you ask such a “spiritual” question? I happen to be very biased and partial to THAT RAINBOW RADIATING “THING”. Therefore, please, “reach out and touch someone”. Can't the astronomers tell what is what? NO! Moreover, if they do they will report what is mandated by the “scientist AUTHORITIES”. So be it, ignorance is YOUR bliss, not mine. I always like being reminded about someone you called Albert Einstein who stated most candidly: “I want to know GOD's thoughts... the rest are details.”

RESPONSE? YOU “ARE” GOD'S THOUGHTS, DIDN'T YOU KNOW?

You experiencers come directly into confrontation with the very laws of the Universe and miss the point even unto choices you personally make without FULL thought to consequences. This is often called “karma” in that what you send out, you will get back in kind.

How can YOU better guide your own choices and actions?

Witness the choices you make in each moment. This is also considered “conscious consideration” of the ultimate possibilities and potential OUTCOME of any actions committed. You must be fully conscious of the present to prepare for that which will be moment in the “future”.

In making choices consider each one carefully: What are the consequences of this choice that you make? And, will this choice bring fulfillment and happiness to you AND ALSO TO THOSE WHO ARE AFFECTED BY THE CHOICE?

Then, as a reminder: Ask your heart for guidance and be guided by its message of comfort or DIS-comfort. If the choice “feels” comfortable, you move ahead with some measure of abandon—if it HURTS no one. If the choice is uncomfortable, you had best pause and actually “see” the consequences of your actions with that over-claimed but under-used “inner vision”.

Practice a bit and you will find that more and more you will make spontaneously “correct” choices for yourself and for all those around you.

How could this be?

Like two golden birds perched on the selfsame tree, intimate friends, the ego and the Self dwell in the same body. The former eats the sweet and sour fruits of the tree of life, WHILE THE LATTER LOOKS ON IN DETACHMENT.

I suggest you learn the difference ASAP.

Each day, ask: “How can I serve?” and then “How can I help?”

The answer to these questions will allow you to help and serve your fellow human beings with love and appreciation of SELF.

You claim to want spiritual messages from me. Well, fellow traveler, I want spiritual messages FROM YOU, please. I do not know how to more bluntly put the facts of the “picture” before you. Never mind flying objects—THEY ARE, so what is the debate? If you do not “identify” an object in the sky—then you have a “UFO”. When you stop the silly games in full denial or “wishful” fantasy, we can go forward in making this a BETTER EXPERIENCE in which YOU ARE STUCK, my friends.

Turn the lights on, please, and stop dabbling in candle-wax and fantasy. You cannot get out of the DARK until you turn on the LIGHTS. In addition, may the mind you save be yours.

Spiritual Truths Of Mind & Matter

4/21/04—#2 (17-249)

WED., APR. 21, 2004 9:21 A.M. YR 17, DAY 249
Manila, Philippines

RE: SPIRITUAL TRUTHS OF MIND AND MATTER

MIND, MATTER AND MATERIAL

I ask that you, as you read through these “spiritually focused” writings, take time to refer to prior messages in that we cannot repeat over and over again the same lessons or information. You will have to refer back to realize what is an observer and what is an experiencer. I ask to handle it this way because the topics themselves are large enough to GIVE MEANING to these subsequent writings.

We are going to address the above topics and hopefully that will be from an objective standpoint readers can experience and not just observe. Please understand that to observe without being an experiencer is no more effective than being an experiencer without any notion of participation, as would be to observe and never experience. To have expression in your material world as expressed through, as well, your MIND, you must express both conscious experience and consciousness of MIND as an “observer” observing.

Perhaps there are better expressions in “terms” suitable but you do not have them available in the English language and we are restricted by limitation to English expression. There are far better “terms” of expression in almost all of the original languages. However, if you must learn a new (old) language then the lesson has no merit in any form. We will struggle through together and if the point is made and accepted we will have made great strides in perception, perspective and, certainly, in understanding.

“MIND” was, is and forever more SHALL BE. In the largest consideration IT IS. Moreover, it INFINITELY “IS”. Experience in physical form is a transient expression manifest by MIND. In that manifest form there is EXPERIENCE. In any given lifespan you are given expressive creation capabilities to participate in the EXPERIENCE presented. It is, however, the mind that creates and offers the potential for expression and the physical “experience” is the coalition of that which is created.

Am I a good Cohan (professor/teacher)? Yes indeed, for I am both an observer and experiencer—therefore a creator and the expression of the created.

MIND is always and infinitely a creator and contains 100% pure potential in all aspects of both creating and that which is created in which you call “experience”, recognized as an aspect passing through as “matter”.

Mind is extraterrestrial as it is NOT rooted in any “terra” but is a cosmic-universal aspect expressed as energy in readiness for expression AS IS CREATED. Therefore your concept of “GOD”—by whatever label you affix—is extraterrestrial even though offering “YOU” the umbilical cord of LIFE EXPRESSION ITSELF. You can use this, draw from it, experience it or sever it—but the MIND will not be changed by your choice even if is to sever the connection for you will have only disconnected your physical brain connection to the WHOLE or the “collective” “mind”.

In the process of severing the big connection you must automatically become an observer for there is no power to your “experiencing” being. Mostly the ones who deliberately sever that cord end up with “Oh drat....shouldn’t have done that.”

Could you clone that aspect called “body” and “brain” you might very well download the functional part of MIND but you will have deterioration of the very expression you would wish to have continue. Finally it would simply wear out the potential expressed in a new manifestation. If you had a true “perpetual motion” apparatus you would still have NO MIND and thus you would have only a piece of apparatus basically without “potential” unless given purpose or operation in your mechanical expression. MIND already IS perpetual and NEVER exhausts its POTENTIAL.

Now, if you are more confused than when we began, I find you quite normal and quite human—and a bit lax in doing your HOMEWORK as you so often claim to SEEK, search and forever hope for insight and Truth IN YOUR EXPERIENCE.

RELIGION will NOT give you answers to TRUTH, good friends. Religions are manufactured to KEEP YOU FROM KNOWING TRUTH. Fact is easily expressed, as in: Change your Mind and all other things change—including Religion.

You CANNOT dump your experience onto another no matter what you call that “other”. There are no “other” saviors for YOU, individual traveler, for that “dumping onto” causes the other to be the experience and NOT YOU. If I, for example, take your experience, it becomes MINE and you lose yours. If you, however, choose to somehow express partially in “mine”, then often times we share and our potential is maintained and accomplishment of PURPOSE is exponentially better expressed.

There is a negative backside to this “togetherness”, however, as most people accept the meaning of such a presentation is to each DO THE SAME THING, which helps nothing but confuses into stagnation.

I like to use the example of rice or grain. You need someone to prepare the fields, get the seed, plant, water, transplant, weed, irrigate, nurture, harvest, package, separate the reserve seed grain, process, package, present and then there are others to get, prepare, cook, and on and on. If everyone only ate the rice or cooked the rice—you would HAVE NO RICE pretty quickly. On the reverse of that coin in expectation of ONE doing all of it—you are remiss in that “all of it” was, is and never shall be that ONE’s purpose and we break the very physical back and potential desire for service of that ONE you choose up for the dumpee. It IS a matter of separation of JOBS, not purpose. If your purpose, however, diverges from that of those with whom you “serve” then expect to be diverted for I, as example, will NOT relinquish MY RESPONSIBILITY OF TASK to anyone who comes thinking himself/herself egotistically in charge. This means that you can STEAL MY NAME BUT YOU CANNOT STEAL “ME” AND FURTHERMORE, USING THE “NAME” DOES NOT MAKE A

WHIT OF DIFFERENCE, FOR ANY LABEL YOU PUT ONTO ME DOES NOT CHANGE A WHIT OF THAT WHICH I AM. I AM ME—YOU ARE YOU AND TOGETHER WE “ARE”.

We can be a “team” and move mountains but vying for the SAME position merits only certain failure!

If you send someone to plant a rice field and give him thistle seed and he doesn’t know the difference, just guess what will grow in your field.

In addition to that parable example just consider “go within and know”. Know what? Unless you have information “in there” you won’t KNOW a confounded thing except that you are the epitome example of idiotic ignorance. Ah but, lighting a candle under a statue of the crucifixion of an icon will not do anything more—or less.

GIVE A LITTLE AND GET A LOT

Universal fact makes it clear that “you” must “give” to “GET”. It is that energy out must require energy “in”. It can be recognized as “the law of giving” because the universe operates through DYNAMIC EXCHANGE. This means “giving and receiving” are different aspects of the flow of energy throughout the universe—including YOU.

To receive that which you seek, you must be willing to give if you want to keep the “abundance” of the universe circulating within and in your own individual life. And no, you can’t just use another’s “giving” for the gift must be “yours”. Or, expect the “other” to get the return while you watch.

Your body is in dynamic and constant ongoing exchange with the “body” of the universe; your mind interacting with the MIND of the cosmos; your energy is an expression of cosmic (universal) energy. This “energy” is often called “life”, “chi” or “prana” energy, etc.

This is simply the harmonious interaction of all the combined elements and forces that structure what is called “existence”. This can be equated to the flow of blood: To maintain circulation there must be flow in giving and receiving in a continuous cycle.

Most of you seek that which always seems to be lacking: money, as in “affluence”. Well, the word comes from “affluere” which means, “to flow to...”. Therefore the word “affluence” means “to flow in abundance”.

Now for a bit of a “shocker” (pun intended) as you consider money as “currency”, which also reflects the flowing nature of ENERGY. The word currency comes from “currere” which means “to run or to flow”.

If, therefore, we stop the circulation or flow of money then we stagnate the very thing we claim to wish to keep alive and vital. We clot the blood so to speak.

Money is but an example that all beings must consider in your world of accepted survival but the universal law is the same for all things. Every relationship, for example, must be and IS one of give and take. Giving engenders receiving, and receiving engenders giving. What goes up must come down and what goes out must come back. In reality, therefore, receiving is the SAME THING as giving, because giving and receiving are different aspects of the flow of energy in the universe. If you stop the flow of either, you interfere with nature’s intelligence—not to even mention your own.

In a rice seed there is the potential of thousands of hectares of rice. But the seed must be planted and not hoarded. It has to be put into a growing medium we call, for practical example, fertile ground. Do you see, then, the seed GIVES and its unseen energy flows into MATERIAL manifestation. The ultimate realization is that the more you give, the more you will receive, because you will keep the abundance in the universe circulating in your life. Anything and everything within your life that is of value only multiplies when it is given. That which fails to multiply through giving is neither worth giving nor worth receiving. The bottom line, however, is surely hard to accept sometimes as you wait or grudgingly “give” for the following reason: If, through the act of giving, you feel you have instead lost something, then the gift is not truly “given” and will not cause increase. If you “give” grudgingly, there is no energy behind that giving. In fact it is not “giving” at all and can be called either extortion or demand contribution depending on the receiver.

I have deliberately presented material example to get your attention. Ah BUT, the practice of Giving and yes, Receiving is in all things. If you want love, my friend, you must GIVE LOVE. If you want joy—give joy. If you want material affluence then you must help others to become materially affluent—not just wait for them to “attain” and then share.

Let us face reality in conscious fact realization: If you want to get what you want then you must help others get what they want. This principle works equally well for individuals, societies, nations, corporations or groups. If you want to be blessed with all the good things in life, learn to silently bless everyone with all the good things in life. Sometimes a simple and quiet prayer bears more strength than all the “matter” you can shift around. The very “prayer” indicates a consciousness and consciousness implies more than JUST energy and/or information. It implies energy AND information which is alive in “THOUGHT”. Remember, we are but bundles of “thought” in a thinking universe.

This giving and receiving is the eternal circulation of consciousness that expresses itself as the greatest exchange of impulses of intelligence between the most tiny and most massive in all things, i.e., the microcosm and macrocosm. And THIS is between the human “body” and the universal “body” expressed as an exchange between the human MIND and the cosmic MIND.

Is this hard to grasp? Then here is a place where “going within” you can KNOW GOD and realize Truth. We lack nothing, you or me. We are total potentiality in a universe of infinite possibilities.

If it is affluence you desire then you must realize that you are already inherently affluent and that is no matter how much or how little “money” you have.

It is the consciousness that knows how to fulfill every need to achieve and use that potentiality to acquire what is sought. You can acquire love, joy, peace and so on—but, you must SEEK and “give” those things first, so that you might receive, and not only for yourself but for others as well. In so doing all comes quite spontaneously back to you in circulation (flow).

It is as with “cause and effect” or in what you often refer to as “karma”, in that what you sow so shall you reap—in kind.

In closing this chapter I might remind you to look back at the fact that human physical is MANIFEST MATTER but that which runs the universe is MIND—yours and mine.

Think on these things and seek clarity, for in understanding comes the ultimate realization you call success, regardless of that success sought.

I prefer to keep these topics a bit more brief than regular on-and-on-and-on writings for I ask that you actually THINK on these things. Thank you and may understanding flow like the light is always available to you if you but turn on the switch.

You Are The Artist Life Is But The Clay

4/23/04—#1 (17-251)

FRI., APR. 23, 2004 6:34 A.M. YR 17, DAY 251
Manila, Philippines

RE: YOU ARE THE ARTIST, LIFE IS BUT THE CLAY

BURSTING BUBBLES (DID GOD REALLY.....?)

Some will read this, hopefully, and therefore I might well be advised to speak gently without minding a “big stick” in the order of “Walk softly but carry a big stick”. I carry no stick at all!

You ARE what you are! Ah, now the “but”:
You can be anything you conceive and CREATE.

Let us first consider “perception” as we seemingly launch off without fanfare into some “another” dissertation on individual “who are you?” in the middle of you wanting financial gain in order to move forward with your dreams. That is good, “ah but”, what is your resource—your source of that gain in solution to your dreams? AND JUST HOW DO YOU GET “IT”?

PERFORMANCE TESTING

Many of you who are regular friends will say, “Well, you said” and moreover you will further your “blame for lack” on the proposition that “You didn’t perform...!”

I DIDN’T? In what manner did I “not” perform and according to whose perspective and perception?

First of all, to set that debate aside for the moment let us consider that I have performed and indeed I have performed MIRACLES of outrageous proportion. “Ah but...” there is no goodly claim to “I performed...!” for I, just like you, AM STILL PERFORMING. That can be in positive performance or negative performance IN YOUR PERCEPTION AND FROM YOUR PERSPECTIVE. Mine MUST BE “different” as to both perception and perspective. Moreover, does this observation have merit in presentation?

Well, considering that you have, supposedly, goals and expectations and if they involve my performance then it is surely so that YOU LIMIT MY PERFORMANCE—IN YOUR EYES AND RECOGNITION BUT SPECIFICALLY IN YOUR ACTIONS AND IN YOUR INDIVIDUAL EXPECTATION OF ME AND ANY ONE OR THING ASSOCIATED WITH ME.

Just a little bottom line to the actual circumstance of spiritual reality: You limit me in my very allowance of GIVING by your attitude regarding yourself (YOUR SELF).

ONE WILL BE TAKEN AND ONE WILL BE LEFT CONCEPT

Much of that Holy Bible you quote constantly, if you are Christian or Jew, is obviously erroneous in both concept and actual possibility of events ever having happened. Blasphemy? Why is this blasphemy or heresy? I am neither Christian (as you define it by labels and demands of doctrine) nor Jew (by heritage or doctrine). Both Christian and Jew are identical in doctrine, dogma and misinformation. Calling yourself anything you choose does not make it so or even nearly righteous according to whomever might have offered bad data. The only DIFFERENCE is in costume—both, as are all religions, set forth to CONTROL AND MANIPULATE “YOU”.

I am often witness to Doris (for “Dharma” does not respond this way) who lays her head upon the table and, especially at Easter time, cries out: “If Christ couldn’t do it—how do you expect me to do it?”

“It”??? What, love, is “it”?

Then in the same period of time over 500 pages of the worst hate, avarice and outright lies are piled on and even in the KNOWING that the speakings are lies, the overwhelm is great. Then comes some spiritual teacher who asks to write because our family is hurting, filled with doubts and totally out of patience. Next comes the “I don’t want to hear it, Sir!” Moreover, “I don’t want to DO IT, Sir!”

Even to rebuttals it is grossly irritating if not debilitating in the worst form possible—negative impact on the MIND.

Why do I continue to speak on these things? BECAUSE THE ADVERSARY SURELY WISHES WE WOULD NOT! SO, WE WILL.

From here is the only way we can share our “experience” and gather examples from our ONGOING experiences and attain successful fulfillment of our purpose(s). It is simple in concept and presentation.

Why would we, for instance, rebut nonsense from a VK Durham? Because the lies have been scattered about and are grasped by all other adversaries to warp the truth and excuse the actions of those who wish to bury us and our program FOREVER. So, to a tale of YESTERDAY (literally).

Two of our fellow “Trustees” of the Foundation (T-A) arrived to report a visit they had just experienced at Atty. Natividad’s home. They had an appointment and behold, when they arrived the missing PRINCE was there—with his former wife.

Ekkers stay OUT of those encounters for after 30 years of ongoing harangue, it is time-wasting; and other than to make the “Foundation” work IN HONOR AND LAWFULLY, we have no other interest in the meetings. We made our commitments and we honor them just as quickly as we can swim through the quicksand and seaweed.

In the face of everything being presented, the most amusing and yet “interesting” was a frantic shouting of the VK Durham information—but without even good repetition of it. Two of the more interesting points made by the now irrational Prince was that he couldn’t meet with Ekker because Ekker “now owns 70% of everything” and furthermore, there is a “warrant for his arrest by the OSI”. (Ekker, that is. Tallano is wanted by everybody and their puppies.) What, exactly is the OSI? Only VK would know for sure. Ah but, the first time I used the sarcastic term of “Only VK would know...” she sent that around the globe as “only VK knowing the dark, dank and evil secrets of one Doris Ekker”.

Warrant for arrest? Everybody in the world who wants to know where are Ekkers—can do so—EASILY. In addition, the “Prince” (Tallano and not Bandar) knows exactly where they are all the time because he just returned a refused notice of the Foundation TO THIS ADDRESS.

Silliness? Well, yes of course, but what is YOUR solution to silliness? This particular prince wants to become President and then KING. And no, this is not jest; this is fact. So, do you continue to really wonder what is wrong with your world? IF so, shame on you!

The point here is that as long as there is need to rebut such outright lies and misunderstandings, we will do so. There remains need to do so and there you have it. I cannot demand anything from YOU and therefore YOU must decide that which you will do or not do or THINK about it. And further, if YOU decide you will not prosper in this, or any program or project, surely YOU will see to it that you don't.

These are tough times? Are they? Are they truly "tougher" than, say, the day of Jesus' crucifixion? He wouldn't think so. Why do you believe it to be so?

TOUGH TIMES DON'T LAST—
TOUGH PEOPLE DO

Moreover, tough people, IN TRUTH, change the tough times to BETTER TIMES. But they CAN'T change it FOR YOU. Indeed, if you will use our program and our returns/rewards you have right to abundance unlimited—but YOUR JOB IS TO PRESENT YOUR PROJECT OR PROPOSAL—OR YOUR BILL FOR SERVICES PERCEIVED. Make sure the bill you send is correct and correctly stated as to intent, purpose and actual contractual agreements. We do NOT serve evil intent or action. Why would WE honor a LIE?

Is your perception that we have not performed resulting from YOUR opinion, another's input and opinion, OR FACT? What facts might you have? Well, we publish the facts, ma'am and sir. Over and over, we publish the FACTS and they stand—every time and in every encounter.

In a more blunt statement of fact: Prince Tallano will find only goodness, light and HELP in this arena. We are protecting both his ass and his assets (to be crudely put).

As to that Prince Bandar I suggest you realize that he is NOT from Brunei as first globally stated by one VK—but is truly the ambassador to the U.S. from Saudi Arabia AND IS IN THE NEWS CONSTANTLY THESE DAYS OF BLOOD AND THORNS.

Go directly to Prince Bandar of whom VK states personal friendship and on up through the Royal Sultanate, for dinners and conferences and how well he knows this Russell Herrmann and/or that infamous "Dirham" Durham. Then, ask him how well he knows Ekkers. You will get the same response of "Are you a total idiot?" Our POINT is to NOT have been "heard of..."!

If you can't understand this then YOU must not want, very much, to make positive changes toward a better way in our world of woe. And, HOW FAST does a world reverse its direction? How fast does a globe reverse its magnetic poles? More importantly, how quickly can a world reverse its poles while never minding the magnetic push-pull? When that reversal comes EVERYTHING AND EVERYONE ON THE GLOBE WILL BE FLUNG INTO SHATTERED MATTER INTO SPACE WITH SUCH FORCE AS TO PUSH OUTSIDE THE ATMOSPHERE OF ANY RESIDUAL ORB. Therefore, why not go with FACTS and UNIVERSAL LAW and then move more clearly into the understanding of MIND and you will stop WAITING for "snatch-off" of some Galactic Federation who also announces, somehow, NESARA and live happily and in great wealth forever more.

What is going to happen in that scenario is that you will live happily ever after in another dimension—whether or not you planned it that way, and you won't need that NESARA—or anything else you THINK would be nifty.

By now every one of YOU READERS know that what we hold is REAL. Is that reality a figment of illusion, actual reality or what?

By now you must realize that there is SOMETHING "real" about the holdings and it is obvious that you, if you pay attention, KNOW WHO HAS IT. Lies of things which have no basis CAN prove the facts—but will never become "truth".

Am I somehow pleading for your further participation? No, I am pleading for your "learning" and your ability to make worthy "choices".

We are going to make this program WORK and it will work in abundance and glory BY THE GRACE OF GOD CREATOR. Those are the facts, "ma'am". How much TIME it takes, in your accounting modes, is purely up to you—it matters NOT to me. And now, if you disagree, then I suggest you turn away and run like heck—BUT IT WILL NOT CHANGE AN IOTA OF MY POSITION, STANDING OR REALITY.

What do you lose to stay the course? What might you lose to TURN AWAY AND SEVER YOUR CONNECTIONS? Perhaps this should be your meditation point of the week. We hear from our "enemies" that we just don't give you "news" and therefore we are frauds?

You can find out what is going on according to newspapers in hundreds of thousands of publications around the globe. I ASK WHERE ELSE YOU HAVE ACCESS TO THE MOST WONDROUS PROGRAM ON THE GLOBE AND WITH IT, FULL PARTICIPATION? WHICH IS "THE" "NEWS"?

This is "gospel", which WORD means: "GOOD NEWS". Gee whiz, don't you wish you had thought of this BEFORE?

More interesting is why would VK bash and trash, when working with us honorably and in truth would have given her EVERYTHING she claims to have wanted? Well, we needed it so seize the opportunity as unfolding has proven our position BEFORE THE WORLD. GOD ALREADY KNEW THE POSITION!

Ah, the ultimate question as you come into your individual space and limitation: "Do we have 'time'? ...in my lifetime... give me a sign?" What kind of a "sign" do you want? What is "your" lifetime? YOU HAVE NOTHING MORE OPEN THAN "TIME"!

Another consideration: Can you make it through this minute? How about making it through this hour? How about this week? This month? Year?

Perhaps life is, after all, in the experience and journey? Is it ultimately the "conclusion"? How can you know you have reached your goal? How about your purpose? How many of you QUIT at the goal-line? DO YOU WANT ME TO QUIT? HOW ABOUT MY TEAM? HOW ABOUT YOU?

I do not make your choices nor do I have a right to do so. Of all the true realities in your existence in human form you KNOW that free-will and "choices" are THE GIFT OF CREATOR—TO HIGHER UNIVERSAL MAN—CALLED HUMAN.

If you quit something, anything, through what you perceive is the "wrong choice", you make another WRONG CHOICE by it making it a right choice. THIS IS THE SECRET OF "FORIVENESS". Forgiveness makes no difference while only restitution and right choices MAKE ALL THE IMPORTANT DIFFERENCE IN ANY CIRCUMSTANCES.

If you have a battle going: Is one side right and the other wrong? Most often both are wrong and by making untenable choices magnify the "wrong" but most individual persons would far rather live "in the illusion" than correct an error—especially of "choice".

If you have been ill unto death, what do you and your loved ones do? Oh indeed, PRAY! So, you pray to God and surely enough in his Grace you or yours, recovers. Then you become disenchanted as to the perception of God through the opinion or "revelations" of OTHERS who are quite blind and ignorant in their own perceptions but you now change and choose against that same God to whom you prayed—and HE PERFORMED, EVEN TO YOUR SATISFACTION. Wow, good attitude, former friend. God believes in you; how interesting that you flip about like wind chimes in your "belief" of God.

EITHER CHOICE IS YOURS, DON'T YOU SEE?

You will measure yourself by the impact you place on others in your opinions and conclusions—righteous or otherwise. If you have no backbone other than to "follow the leader" without KNOWING "the leader" then don't you see—you will answer ultimately TO SELF. GOD ALLOWS! Moreover, GOD ALLOWS "YOU" YOUR CHOICES AND LESSONS.

What are your dreams? Don't you see that all positive dreams begin with GOD? Doubts creep into your ultimate goodly dreams and you falter. It is the balancing REALITY as you choose your path—TO YOUR DREAMS. Often your "dreams" become the "nightmares" of your perceived "reality" while you continue your journey through EXCUSE VALLEY. Well, know that the dream exploded leaves the reality of the nightmare until YOU CHANGE IT.

Why have I concluded to simply use initials for identification, as in GCH?

Because every loose cannon "channeler" misused me, stole my identity and presented as truth that which was and is the LIE. I can call myself, just as you can yourself, anything I wish—my IDENTITY remains unchanged, unwavering and my purpose unbended.

You can steal from my friends in your human experience—but you CAN TAKE NOTHING, IN REALITY. Calling yourself Jesus Christ only causes the one to whom you identify self or are introduced to call you Mr. Christ or HEYSOOSE, depending on WHERE you are in your experiencing physical form. The YOU of YOU is not impacted one iota by your label.

You can, as the cuteness goes, call me Ray or Bob or, or.... It doesn't matter what you call me or even if you call me. I KNOW when I am being summoned and it is beyond the mundane vocal screech of cords in the throat. Moreover, when you call on me falsely I am but amused, just as YOU SHOULD BE IF YOU ARE CALLED FALSELY. Rebuttal is only necessary if your call or shout is WRONG and DAMAGES.

I can rebut all and each religion on the globe and poof, it means nothing. YOU would rather light a candle in the wind than deviate from the lie YOU HAVE ACCEPTED the whole of your physical recognition. So be it. You cannot teach a turnip to be other than a turnip—why would I try? You can tamper with turnips and cause them to alter their flavor—but in "reality" the turnip remains a turnip in its most glorious and perfect REALITY in purpose. Turn it into a goat and you have a goat.

Understand that you can call me Shanghai Fred and it means NOTHING to ME! It only means something to ones who foolishly accept the lie—but still, nothing, to me.

What do you do with the blarney that was offered by SPECTRUM, as verifiable reality, that Hatonn and compatriots left Dharma and CONTACT per Dr. Young, Mr. Martin, et al.—through outright THEFT? It changed NOTHING except suckered a whole bunch into their lair.

Now where are you? The receiver, Mr. Latona, got totally fed up with the delusion and MOVED ON. A LIE CANNOT SUSTAIN—ONLY TRUTH STANDS FOREVER. And yes "it" is truly "that simple".

By the way, in your limited perceptions and instant demands: SUCCESS IS NEVER ENDING.

FAILURE IS NEVER FINAL. A good teacher gave you that good advice. So, if you perceive “failure” perhaps you should consider alternatives and possibilities, for there are ALWAYS plenty of both.

Your attitude about anything is ultimately what causes you to make your choices. Therefore, you must have all facts, good data and desire for righteous action and thought in TRUTH, not assumption. Can you therefore see and understand that if you accuse another of some wrongful act, then the excuse of you have erred is NOT: “I was just trying to do the RIGHT thing.” This is questionable in “true intent” because if you really WANT TO DO THE RIGHT THING—you first make very, very sure your accusations are REAL.

Be sure the “RIGHT THING” is really the REAL REASON for your actions, for if they (your accusations and actions) damage another, it is very curious indeed as to REAL intent.

Now, just for another thought which I feel is extremely important and worthy of retention in thought and consideration:

NEUTRALIZE YOUR OPPOSITION!

When conflict “cannot” be prevented or already has presented, then resolution must be a priority consideration. The most wise first move is to find out what is the trouble and if it is personal, you need to make an effort to turn an enemy into a friend. Treat the opposition with dignity. People who belittle people will be little people—and accomplish little.

All I present here is that you must always give your opposition credit—right or wrong. They may be wrong, but even so, they’re partly right—at the least in their own opinions and perceptions. Listen and learn but DO NOT bite on bitter bait and especially do not bite on POISON bait.

Opposition must first be “neutralized” in understanding. If you have acted in good faith and in TRUTH then you cannot cause the “opposing party” to do anything—so, leave it be whatever it is.

If a conflict is simply a “personal” one-on-one circumstance then you can handle it without further inclusions. However, if the assault or conflict impacts greatly, others, or the program of many, you HAVE RESPONSIBILITY to respond and correct errors. However, a second time in this focus, to give untold amounts of time and energy into ARGUMENTS unending, is foolish and irresponsible. People who have nothing else to DO other than present and argue have NO right to impose on that which others are doing. And do NOT ask me to support YOUR ERRORS in either judgment or accusing attitudes for I SHALL NOT.

Moreover, when you act in behalf of “another” you had best work out consequences with that OTHER for he/she might well resent your acting in “their” behalf. That is especially true if you personalize the circumstances to suit YOUR personal ends.

If you truly wish to serve goodness and LIGHT, then you will create the way—“in” light and goodness. Otherwise, you will conjure and manufacture negative causes and assaults, which was most often the goal and intention of the original thrust of the sword.

Childish attitudes, childish actions and childish conclusions remain “childish”. Be careful of your own attitudes, actions and conclusions. Make very sure you have facts, good data, truth to full extent of gathering, and have mature conclusions that STAND TESTING. Errors can be corrected—but must first be admitted. Please think about this for actions are “allowed” by God. Wisdom is offered by GOD as well—the choice remains YOURS as to how you use EITHER.

Thank you,

GCH

“Manila Madness”— Or Is It GLOBAL?

4/27/04—#1 (17-255)

TUE., APR. 27, 2004 7:40 A.M. YR 17, DAY 255
Manila, Philippines

RE: FOCUS ON STATUS IN PHILIPPINES
AND POLITICAL INSANITY

POLITICAL CORRUPTION

We are faced each day with having to sort the best move (or stay out of the line of fire). We attempt to successfully do both. Moreover, the election is set for the 10th of May without even vote boxes in place and with no expectation of a good election—only more chaos and blood-bathing.

The system here in the Philippines limits a President to ONE six year term without ability to run a second time. Already people forget WHY they did that: in order to stop the incumbent ruler from doing exactly what this FALSE non-elected president is doing.

Corruption is beyond all accounting and because the Philippines is a reflection of the U.S., it is far more important than anyone can casually calculate.

We are restricted as “visiting journalists” to observe and comment in our own publications, but must stay out of any election-related activities and now there is nothing to do save wait for the outcome, peaceful or forced takeover.

Every possible attempt at precipitating terrorist activities and public disobedience in order to have martial law is being attempted. Still we have to just go on about our business and stay out of it. Could “I” do something? What would you have me do? We can and shall prevail if we mind our manners. We have established position, proved our product, formed our backup needs and claim to gold to back our program—right in the CENTRAL BANK. We would do no “more” for we want to function and not lose both the crop and the farmer.

The second and final, for the year, meeting of the T-A members and Trustees is set for Thursday afternoon. This will finish the establishment of the Board and we have already fully established and published our participation, recognition and corporate standing(s) and following that THE LAW must be served. Of course it WON’T be served but neither can the standing BE DENIED!

Threats come and go and friends tremble in their “boots” because there is no background here for doing anything within the law or, more specifically, “according” to the law with enforced “right” actions. It is fine, for change comes quietly and surely if all procedures are carefully followed and corners are left uncut.

Things do look interesting and, yes, quite potentially good in several realizations. One is that at the same time of the ongoing shifting WITH Marcos AND U.S. PLAYERS, there were equal amounts of uncut currency (U.S.-dollar based) also passed around and stashed against THIS DAY.

Of course “this day” may well have arrived but the attempt is to get that viable commodity back into safe storage—globally. It is as with the “gold” as stories come, go and sometimes are quite true—until all the cons and scammers get playing in the printing game. But, the banks are certainly playing frantic games with desperation especially in the foreign exchange departments.

The Governor of the Bangko Sentral is off to get his thyroid checked in the U.S. Makes you feel good about potential medical care here in the Philippines, doesn’t it? Ah BUT, he went BECAUSE OF THE MAJOR MEETING OF THE IMF AND WORLD BANK IN THE U.S. IT IS SERIOUS TIME ON EVERY FRONT!

There is also a major rumble about separation of the U.S. Treasury from the Federal Reserve—as we write. What would that do? Well, it is claimed (and who can depend on planted rumors?) that the Treasury is going to demand a return to the gold standard. What would that mean to the FED, the IMF and the WB? Not much except return “our” program to the Treasury, for the IMF-WB-FED can’t produce the gold or the backing. It wouldn’t read out that the U.S. defaulted, only the Federal Reserve.

Can “they” do this? Of course, for remember that anything “they” do is quite “legal” if not at all “lawful” or “constitutional”.

You may as well face the facts, people, in that one important person made the news this week and his name is Mordechai Vanunu. Important? Extremely!

Vanunu some 18 years ago exposed Israel’s nuclear program and incredibly deadly potential. He spent the next 18 years in almost total isolation in an Israeli PRISON run by the Mossad. He was released on Thursday, April 22nd, 2004.

The facts are that he probably has no additional “secrets” to reveal but the clampdown on the man is almost worse than the incarceration and torture. That be as it may, KNOW that the Negev Desert where the Dimona nuclear facility is located also houses untold amounts of weapons of massively destructive potential AND hoards of GOLD. All of this is within a radius protected by nuclear security.

I can only suggest that you begin paying very close attention to information pouring all over you as one writer after another begins to tell you how it is and the political ride gets more and more chaotic and hazardous to YOUR HEALTH.

You have to have some major, major terrorist act IN THE U.S., citizens, before that election—so you can secure your heads in power. It requires that Bush look a whole lot better than at present and/or be large enough to simply bring to emergency takeover. This is the same pattern laid forth for the Philippines.

I simply want to bring this to your attention as well as remind you that your “war deaths” mount daily to greater than any numbers killed in your actual assault in Iraq. I also remind you that there are no weapons of mass destruction—BUT, there is the major weapon of mass destruction killing and maiming even the Iraqi unborn as well as experiencing people from everywhere, globe. That is in the form of thousands of tons of “spent uranium”, which produces death by “slow burn”. Terrorists? Yes indeed, and the U.S. is the greatest since time began to be counted. Is ignorance truly bliss? Yes, until you all die of this “slow burn”. Actually the term is “depleted” uranium for none of it is actually “spent”.

Can I share that information with you? Yes, and perhaps right here is a good place to offer it so we can move on to more mundane things of daily “possible” interest.

Before I do that, however, I would reference the new best-seller revelation from Bob Woodward on the matter of "Bush", war and other hazards to health. This will have far more impact AS YOU READ the real revelation to come below as to those Weapons of Mass (MAD?) Destruction AND JUST "WHO" USES THEM.

This will just be a very brief quote from Woodward's book as he concludes it. You can expect shivers down your spine and up again so be prepared.

"That day, after two hours, we stood in the Oval Office and started to walk out. Darkness was beginning to settle outside. The upcoming presidential election would perhaps be the most immediate judgment on the war, but certainly not the last. How would history judge his Iraq war? I asked.

"It would be impossible to get the meaning right in the short run," the president said, adding he thought it would take about ten years to understand the impact and the significance of the war."

"Woodward quoted Bush's adviser Karl Rove as believing that "all history gets measured by outcomes".

"Bush smiled. 'History,' he said, shrugging, taking his hands out of his pockets, extending his arms out and suggesting with his body language that it was far off. 'We won't know. We'll all be dead.'"

Dead? Your own PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES: "WE'LL ALL BE DEAD"! Yes, I certainly do suggest it truly is a very definite possibility.

Thank you Lester, for sharing the next paper we will offer. When you want to question our "widespread" audience I suggest you recognize that Lester is from New Zealand and whose whole life is dedicated to an effort to help humanity simply survive these atrocities.

[QUOTING: HEALTH AND HEALING, Vol. 23, No. 2, October-December, 2003. pg. 40. Yes we have held it for quite a while as we get our own problems somewhat under control. We couldn't cover it all if we published every day and twice on Sunday but we certainly remain extremely limited in the present circumstances. Off the beaten circuits is the only REAL news and information and yet efforts to shut down our (these) resources are constant.]

"DEATH BY SLOW BURN"

From: Steve Tvedten

On March 30, an AP photo featured an American pro-war activist holding a sign: "Nuke the evil scum, it worked in 1945!" That's exactly what George Bush has done. America's mega-billion dollar war in Iraq has been indeed a NUCLEAR WAR.

Bush-Cheney have delivered upon 17 million Iraqis tons of depleted uranium (DU) weapons, a "liberation" gift that will keep on giving. Depleted uranium is a component of toxic nuclear waste, usually stored at secure sites. Handlers need radiation protection gear.

Over a decade ago, war-makers decided to incorporate this lethal waste into much of the Pentagon's weaponry. Navy ships carrying Phalanx rapid-fire guns are capable of firing thousands of DU rounds per minute. Tomahawk missiles launched from U.S. ships and subs are DU-tipped. The M1 Abrams tanks are armored with DU. These and British Challenger II tanks are highly packed with DU shells, which continually irradiate troops in or near them. The A-10 "tank buster" aircraft fires DU shells at machines and people on the battlefield.

DU munitions are classified by a United Nations resolution as illegal weapons of mass destruction.

Their use breaches all international laws, treaties and conventions forbidding poisoned weapons calculated to cause unnecessary suffering.

Ironically, support for our troops will extend well beyond the war in Iraq. Americans will be supporting Gulf War II veterans for years as they slowly and painfully succumb to radiation poisoning. U.S. and British troops deployed to the area are the walking dead. Humans and animals, friends and foes in the fallout zone are destined to a long downhill spiral of chronic illness and disability. Kidney dysfunction, lung damage, bloody stools, extreme fatigue, joint pain, unsteady gait, memory loss and rashes and, ultimately, cancer and premature death await those exposed to DU.

Award-winning journalist Will Thomas wrote "As the last Gulf conflict so savagely demonstrated, GI immune systems reeling from multiple doses of experimental vaccines offer little defense against further exposure to chemical weapons, industrial toxins, stress, caffeine, insect repellent and radiation leftover from the last war. This is a war even the victors will lose."

When a DU shell is fired, it ignites upon impact. Uranium, plus traces of plutonium and americium, vaporize into tiny, ceramic particles of radioactive dust. Once inhaled, uranium oxides lodge in the body and emit radiation indefinitely. A single particle of DU lodged in a lymph node can devastate the entire immune system according to British radiation expert Roger Coghill.

The Royal Society of England published data showing that battlefield soldiers who inhale or swallow high levels of DU can suffer kidney failure within days. Any soldier now in Iraq who has not inhaled lethal radioactive dust is not breathing. In the first two weeks of combat, 700 Tomahawks, at a cost of $1.3 million each, blasted Iraqi real estate into radioactive mushroom clouds. Millions of DU tank rounds litter the terrain. Cleanup is impossible because there is no place on the planet to put so much contaminated debris.

Bush Sr.'s Gulf War I was also a nuclear war. 320 tons of depleted uranium were used against Iraq in 1991. A 1998 report by the U.S. Agency for Toxic substances confirms that inhaling DU causes symptoms identical to those claimed by many sick vets with Gulf War Syndrome.

The Gulf War Veterans Association reports that at least 300,000 Gulf War I vets have now developed incapacitating illnesses. To date, 209,000 vets have filed claims for disability benefits based on service-connected injuries and illnesses from combat in that war.

Dr. Asaf Durakovic, a professor of nuclear medicine at Georgetown University, is a former army medical expert. He told nuclear scientists in Paris last year that tens of thousands of sick British and American soldiers are now dying from radiation they encountered during Gulf War I. He found that 62 percent of sick vets tested have uranium isotopes in their organs, bones, brains and urine. Laboratories in Switzerland and Finland corroborated his findings.

In other studies, some sick vets were found to be expressing uranium in even their semen. Their sexual partners often complained of a burning sensation during intercourse, followed by their own debilitating illnesses.

Nothing compares to the astronomical cancer rates and birth defects suffered by the Iraqi people who have endured vicious nuclear chastisement for years. U.S. air attacks against Iraq since 1993 have undoubtedly employed nuclear munitions. Pictures of grotesquely deformed Iraqi infants born since 1991 are overwhelming. Like those born to Gulf War I vets, many babies born to troops now in Iraq will also be afflicted with hideous deformities, neurological damage and/or blood and respiratory disorders.

As an Army health physicist, Dr. Doug Rokke was dispatched to the Middle East to salvage DU-contaminated tanks after Gulf War I. His Geiger counters revealed that the war zones of Iraq and Kuwait were contaminated with up to 300 millirems an hour in beta and gamma radiation plus thousands to millions of counts per minute in alpha radiation. Rokke recently told the media, "The whole area is still trashed. It is hotter than heck over there still. This stuff doesn't go away."

Caldcott confirms that the dust-laden winds of DU-contaminated war zones "will remain effectively radioactive for the rest of time". The murderous dust storms which ensnared coalition troops during the first few days of the current invasion are sure to have significant health consequences.

Rokke and his cleanup team were issued only flimsy dust masks for their dangerous work. Of the 100 people on Rokke's decontamination team, 30 have already "dropped dead". Rokke himself is ill with radiation damage to lungs and kidneys. He has brain lesions, skin pustules, chronic fatigue, continual wheezing and painful fibromyalgia. Rokke warns that anyone exposed to DU should have adequate respiratory protection and special coveralls to protect their clothing because, he says, you can't get uranium particles off your clothing.

The U.S. military insists that DU on the battlefield is not a problem. Colonel James Naughton of the U.S. Army Material command recently told the BBC that complaints about DU "had no medical basis". The military's own documents belie this. A 1993 Pentagon document warned that "when soldiers inhale or ingest DU dust they incur a potential increase in cancer risk." A U.S. Army training manual requires anyone who comes within 25 meters of DU-contaminated equipment to wear respiratory and skin protection. The U.S. Army Environmental Policy Institute admitted: "If DU enters the body, it has the potential to generate significant medical consequences." The Institute also stated that, if the troops were to realize what they had been exposed to, "the financial implications of long-term disability payments and healthcare costs would be excessive." For pragmatic reasons, DOD chooses to lie and deny.

[H: Are we not reminded about the touted lies regarding AIDS and how such things as "kissing" was totally harmless and no way could the virus singled out as the cause would cross parties? NOW, readers, the TEST for checking out for HIV and AIDS producing cells IS A MOUTH SWAB! How many of you check out the kissing modes these days as they certainly are not your old grandmother's peck on the cheek or lips. Somehow it appears that unless you can swallow one another you have no "sexual" encounter. Well, there are many ways to commit suicide and living in the LIES is certainly among the several.]

Dr. Rokke confirms that the Pentagon lies about DU dangers and is criminally negligent for neglecting medical attention needed by DU-contaminated vets. He predicts that the numbers of American troops to be sickened by DU from Gulf War II will be staggering. As they gradually sicken and suffer a slow burn to their graves, the Pentagon will, as it did after Gulf War I, deny that their misery and death is a result of their tour in Iraq. [H: I am a bit appalled that this author does not stress sufficiently the numbers of vulnerable "troops" or workers NOW in the area and growing every day. Some nations are pulling out their troops? Too late smart! This may well be a "U.S." Bush war but it is hitting the world like the invisible plague of the generations we might well call onset of

apocalypse. YOU CANNOT REVERSE THESE INCREDIBLE ERRORS!]

Dr. Rokke's candor has cost him his career. Likewise, Dr. Durakovic's radiation studies on Gulf War I vets were not popular with U.S. officials. Dr. Durakovic was reportedly told his life was in danger if he continued his research. He left the U.S. to continue his research abroad.

Naïve young coalition soldiers now in Iraq are likely unaware of how deadly their battlefield environment is. Gulf War I troops were kept in ignorance. Soldiers handled DU fragments and some wore these lethal nuggets around their necks. A DU projectile emits more radiation in five hours than allowed in an entire year under civilian radiation exposure standards. "We didn't know any better," Kris Kornkven told NATION magazine. "We didn't find out until long after we were home that there even was such a thing as DU."

George Bush's ongoing war in Afghanistan is also a nuclear war. Shortly after 9-11, the U.S. announced it would stockpile tactical nuclear weapons including small neutron bombs, nuclear mines and shells suited to commando warfare in Afghanistan. In late September, 2001, Bush and Russian president Vladimir Putin agreed that the U.S. would use tactical nuclear weapons in Afghanistan while Putin would employ nuclear weapons against the Chechnyans.

Describing the pentagon's B-61-11 burrowing nuke bomb, George Smith writes in the Village Voice: "Built ram tough with a heavy metal casing for smashing through the earth and concrete, the B-61 explodes with the force of an estimated 340,000 tons of TNT. It is lots of bang for the buck, literally two apocalypse bombs in one, a boosted plutonium firecracker called the primary and a heavy hydrogen secondary for that good old-fashioned H-bomb fireball." [H: And yet, NOBODY seems to so much as take notice.]

Drought-stricken Afghanistan's underground water supply is NOW CONTAMINATED by these nuclear weapons. Experts with the Uranium Medical Research Center report that urine samples of Afghani show the highest level of uranium ever recorded in a civilian population. Afghani soldiers and civilians are reported to have died after suffering intractable vomiting, severe respiratory problems, internal bleeding and other symptoms consistent with radiation poisoning. Dead birds still perched in trees are found partially melted with blood oozing from their mouths. [H: How many of these WMDs are being lobbed over onto Palestine's side of those hideous lines? Come on children, get with the program. It makes a few suicide bombs to be NOTHING to even write home about in comparison. But, the bombers can't live there either and isn't there something even more sinister and evil about the game in play?]

Afghanistan's new president, Hamid Karzai, is a puppet installed by Washington. Under the protection of American soldiers, Karzai's regime is setting a new record for opium production. Both UN and U.S. reports confirm that the huge Afghani opium harvest of 2002 makes Afghanistan the world's leading opium producer. Thanks to nuclear weapons, Afghanistan is now safe for the Bush-Cheney narcotics industry. ABC News asserts that keeping the "peace" in Afghanistan will require decades of allied occupation. For years to come, "peacekeepers" will be eating, drinking and breathing the "hot" carcinogenic pollution they have helped the Pentagon inflict upon that nation for organized crime.

As governor of Arkansas during the Iran-Contra era, Bill Clinton laundered $multi-millions in cocaine profits for then vice-president George Bush Sr. As a partner in the Bush family's notorious crime machine, President Clinton committed U.S. troops to NATO's campaign in the Balkans, a prime heroin production and trans-shipment area. DOD's campaign to control and reorganize the drug trade there for the Bush mafia was yet another nuclear project.

For years, the U.S. and NATO fired DU missiles, bullets and shells across the Balkans, nuking the people of Serbia, Bosnia and Kosovo. As DU munitions were slammed into chemical plants, the environment became hideously toxic, also endangering the peoples of Albania, Macedonia, Greece, Italy, Austria and Hungary. By 1999, UN investigators reported that an estimated 12 tons of DU had caused irreparable damage to the Yugoslavian environment, with agriculture, livestock and air, water, and public health all profoundly damaged.

Scientists confirm that citizens of the Balkans are excreting uranium in their urine. In 2001, a Yugoslavian pathologist reported that hundreds of Bosnians have died of cancer from NATO's DU bombardment. Many NATO peacekeepers in the Balkans now suffer ill health. Their leukemias, cancers and other maladies are dubbed the "Balkans syndrome". Richard Coghill predicts that DU weapons used in Balkans campaign will result in at least 10,000 cases of fatal cancer.

U.S. citizens at home are also paying a heavy price for criminal militarism gone mad. DOD is a pollution monster. The General Accounting Office (GAO) found 9,181 dangerous military sites in USA that will require $billions to rehabilitate. The GAO reports that DOD has been both slothful and deceitful in its clean-up obligations. The Pentagon is now pressing Congress to exempt it from all environmental laws so that it may pollute and poison free from liability. [H: Does anyone have heartburn yet?]

The Navy uses prime fishing grounds off the coast of Washington state to test the DU ammunition. In January, Washington State Rep. Jim McDermott chastised the navy: "On one hand you have required soldiers to have DU safety training and to wear protective gear when handling DU... and submarines must stay clear of DU-contaminated waters. These policies indicate there is cause for concern... On the other hand the Department of Defense has repeatedly denied that DU poses any danger whatsoever. There has been no remorse about leaving tons of DU equipment in the soil in foreign countries, and there appears to be no remorse about leaving it in the waters of your own country."

DU has been used in military practice maneuvers in Indiana, Florida, New Mexico, Massachusetts, Maryland and Puerto Rico. After the Navy tested DU weaponry on the Puerto Rican island of Vieques, one third of the island's population developed serious illness. Many people show high levels of uranium in their bodies. Hundreds have filed a class action suit against the Navy for $100 million, claiming DU contamination has caused widespread cancers.

The navy's Fallon Naval Air Station near Fallon, Nevada, is a quagmire of 26 toxic waste sites. It is also a target practice zone for DU bombs and missiles. Area residents report bizarre illnesses, including 17 children who have contracted leukemia within five years. A survey of groundwater in the Fallon area showed nearly half of area wells are contaminated with radioactive materials.

The materials for DU weaponry have been processed mainly at three nuclear plants in Kentucky, Ohio and Tennessee, where workers handling uranium contaminated with plutonium have suffered for decades with cancers and debilitating maladies similar to Gulf War Syndrome.

Emboldened by power-grabbing successes made possible by his administration's devious 9-11 project, President Bush asserts that the U.S. has the right to attack any nation it deems a potential threat. He told

West Point in 2002, "If we wait for threats to fully materialize, we will have waited too long." Thus, it is certain that Bush-Cheney future pre-emptive nuclear wars are lined up like idling jets on a runway. Both Cheney's Halliburton Corp. and the Bush family's Carlyle Group are profiteers in U.S. defense contracts, so endless war is just good business. [H: Please, you nice Filipino people: Fidel Ramos is on the same Board of Carlyle right along side Mr. Bush, Sr. You are going to pay dearly as a planet for these insane practices.]

The Washington Post reported that the Pentagon will create special nuclear weapons for use on North Korea's underground nuclear facilities. Next August, U.S. war makers will meet to consolidate plans for a new generation of "mini", "micro" and "tiny" nuclear bombs and bunker busters. These will be added to the U.S. arsenal perhaps for use against non-nuclear third-world nations such as Iran, Syria, Lebanon.

[H: SO, BOB WOODWARD, WHERE IS YOUR INVESTIGATIVE RESEARCH LEADING IN THIS ARENA?]

The solution? Americans must stop electing ruthless criminals to rule this nation. We must convince fellow citizens that villains like Saddam Hussein are made in the U.S. as rationale for endless corporate war profits. Saddam was placed in power by the CIA. For years U.S. government agencies, under auspices of George Bush Sr., supplied him with chemical and biological weapons. Our national nuclear laboratories, along with Unisys, Dupont and Hewlett-Packard, sold Saddam materials for his nuclear program. Dick Cheney was CEO of Halliburton in the late 90s when its subsidiaries signed $73 million in new contracts to further supply Saddam. The wicked villain of Iraq was nurtured for decades as a cash-cow by U.S. military-industrial piranhas.

If America truly supports its troops, it must stop sending them into nuclear holocaust for the enrichment of thugs. Time is running out. If the DU-maniacs at the Pentagon and their coven of nuclear arms peddlers are not harnessed, America will have no able-bodied fighting forces left. All people of the earth will become grossly ill, hideously deformed and short-lived. We must succeed in the critical imperative to face reality and act decisively. Should we fail, there will be no place to hide from Bush-Cheney's merciless nuclear orgies yet to come or from the inevitable nuclear retaliation these orgies will surely breed.

[END QUOTING]

OK, readers, there you are with about as much bad news as we are up to sharing today, please. We have references and Endnotes of about 50 separate references most of which have email or website reference. We, however, do not have time nor do we have space to offer the list.

What do we suggest? Better yet: WHAT DO YOU SUGGEST?

VK, last week, published a nasty of nasties and bashed "Doris" while claiming in only her style that Doris is about finished as "she is getting low on uranium". What are you people doing? Perhaps this uranium program is where VK's $13 TRILLION went instead of "into the markets"?

How many of YOU want to do this work? This is far beyond the range of "funny antics". Satan is alive and well beyond your wildest nightmares, citizens, and planet Earth is in really deep "yogurt".

Hopeless? Yes indeed, until a few who HOPE enough make it otherwise. This is exactly what has destroyed planet after planet right in your own solar system. Is there nothing under Heaven sacred enough to say, "ENOUGH"? Remember: GOD BOTH WINS—"AND" ALLOWS.

Tough People Last But Tough Times Pass

4/29/04—#1 (17-257)

THU., APR. 29, 2004 6:35 A.M. YR 17, DAY 257

Manila, Philippines

By Doris Ekker

RE: TOUGH PEOPLE LAST BUT TOUGH TIMES PASS LIKE EVERYTHING ELSE—INTO MEMORY. REMAINING IS HOPE OR HOPELESSNESS. CHOOSE ONE.

EVERY TIME YOU THINK IT CAN'T GET MORE, IT DOES!

My intention this morning is to make sure that our qualifications as journalists, foreign or editorial, are kept in full compliance. Being a foreign correspondent serves well and keeps us out of the incredible push-pull of political and/or religious harangue. Spiritual truth has meaning, “political truth” is one of those infamous oxy-morons. It fits in the category of impossible such as does “political science”, “science of religion” (?), along with other “sciences” which cannot equate to MEANING.

Here in the Philippines we now have “election science” and surely enough it is far more humorous than the other absurdities come before. There is actually planning to have “no-election” and then overthrow the incumbent who was never elected anyway, through “displacement”. Now, if you are not with me on this, please just join the kali (chaos) crowd.

We have noted that in India each year they take lady Kali and bash her icon to bits and wash her down the river—IN TOTAL CHAOTIC FRENZY (to get rid of confusion and chaos). I don't have any problems after considering what takes place here and there around everywhere.

All we know is that with qualifications as journalists (a category unto itself while never minding purpose) and the fees required for visa extensions and annual encounter with SARS at the airports in Manila and Hong Kong—we are welcome, the U.S. Embassy adds pages to our now “books” called passports and we REMAIN WHERE WE WANT TO BE, IN THE EYE OF OUR PROTECTORS INCLUDING THE U.S. HIGHEST PLACEMENT IN THE NATION.

The rest of you may well want to shun the CIA and even MI-5 and -6, or possibly even the Mossad, but we welcome with books and actions OPEN. We are not enemies of any state, nation or people. We are not even, and proven so, anti-semitic. It is still not forbidden to be anti-evil. That is, of course, until you tread on toes of the evil-kid. We post our activities and openly display our program and so far this has proven to be the way to go. God said, the saying goes: “Let there be light and.....”! Good show, we put it right out there in the LIGHT, whatever “it” might be. And no, it has and is not “comfortable” but it surely remains INTERESTING as in, “May you live in interesting times.”

My goodness, the U.S. leadership sets forth to produce “democracy” if it kills everyone on the globe. Seems a bit drastic to me but obviously I am biased. It seems that to murder everyone is a bit drastic in order to get all that “freedom” proclaimed as goal purpose.

I am quick to latch on to the regular addition of a note to John Ray's emails in that it goes to the topic of only being “one” but if I as one do something positive—! I always realize, even as I read it and agree, that I don't do all I can. No matter what I do, it is fact that I could do more and help a brother, say a nice word and, at the least, say a prayer, even if it be for my proclaimed enemy.

Facts are that we keep hoping our enemies continue their journey into “getcha” for with each hit these days, it MAKES OUR DAY! THE “INVESTIGATORS” OF THE ACCUSATIONS HAVE TURNED THEIR FOCUS UPON THE “SENDER”.

Being a bit patient does, in fact, bring dividends in realization of growth in perception even to such mundane things as yesterday's paper and 2X's news Faxes. The expected NEWLY ISSUED FED. RES. NOTE OF 50$$.

This release now changes out pretty dramatically all the currencies from a few years back set forth to cover and shelter antics by said FED. We wonder just WHY there is now gossip and possibly even opportunity in the old Marcos program that was called ABL. There were packages of mammoth size scattered around and which contained “Pisos”, gold, and guess what—U.S. currency which was uncut from the press. It is being gathered and “buried”. Ah indeed, “interesting” times!

It is not that we have little to write about of even more interest but sorting is difficult and the limitations of human aspect are pressing at times—like most of the time. All these years of which we complain of non-wealth acquisition are added unto our counting the same as YOURS—every one of them. Spirit may well be immortal but we have to question that manifest apparition called human.

God has certainly provided us with THE VERY THING that has enough whop to change things—so, please God, don't let us waste it.

We crawl that thin line which better allows balance than tippy-toeing on the “loose”-wire and having boobs I can better regain balance if I slip onto a belly landing on the wire itself. EJ has to be more careful.

I'm sorry, friends, I can't resist the latest gift from W.M. who sent some $$$ and said it was from the savings he has gained from not having to buy Viagra. I can only remind all of you practicing VK's method of invigoration through near suffocation that lack of oxygen can be hard on your brain—even in Canada. When you get to the NDE (Near Death Experience) stop whatever you are doing and BREATHE!

FOUNDATION NOTES

This refers to the T-A Foundation and of course, our interests, “their” interests and surely enough Global's (well, GAIA's for short) interests. GAIA is an acronym and sometimes it slips by with us because we deal in an ALLIANCE of GLOBAL, etc., in ASSOCIATION with whomever we are joining forces for accomplishment of goals.

“Gaia” means “living” and surely enough we pray to live long enough to get this job accomplished in its glory as promised through the very unique availability in a time when there would appear to be nothing left from which to glean that which is necessary to make the way possible. Please remember that WE must play to GOD'S PATIENCE and not any individual's or group's IMPATIENCE. We do that which we can and hopefully in the BEST WAY we can offer and then “let go and let God”!

We had to extend time, for procedural reasons, with the SEC here, our final recognition as a fully-fledged “foundation”.

This was to allow that which needed “re-filing” to cover all time required for notifications to all previous participants—who refuse their mail, their notices or to come to meetings. So be it, for we would be more outraged over antics were it not for mandatory holding until after May 10th elections and to have a Judge appointed to the bench to replace Judge Reyes of the “Regional Trial Court” (RTC) who is the latest in the long line of ruling judges in the A-T cases, both “estate” and “foundation”. Reyes resigned the bench to run for Mayor of a local township.

We have NOT made manifest the standing of the FDN to the court until all the filings are absolutely current for the rush is not pressing—having waited years already so another couple of days won't matter much.

This afternoon we clean up the frazzles and establish other working necessities such as banking availability. We cannot do business unless there is recognized availability for the entity to DO BUSINESS and a “bank” is the bottom line.

Early next week, (two weeks ago it should have been), the manifestation should be done and instructions given from the Sheriff in charge of enforcement of court orders should be available—and we can demand inventory of property belonging to the FDN stashed in the vault of the Central Bank (Bangko Sentral).

Do we expect it to happen soon? Well, no. It always takes several months in Filipino “time” so add some time, please. It is as is with the election of May 10th where results are not expected for several weeks of confusion and change doesn't really happen anyway until the end of June. I do believe we will have “our” “mandatories” done by then. At least we WILL BE READY TO ROLL when the rocks settle.

Will we suffocate before the air is pumped into this isolation chamber? We certainly hope not. We need the “time” and we simply work “as if”, for the alternatives of non-accomplishment are not acceptable. The program will move on anyway but oh my, what a mess if we can't insure the guidelines instead of the mass simply falling apart as uncooked rice vs. overcooked rice in the sticky wad.

Back to the meeting of the Foundation Members this afternoon: We will finish filling the Board of Trustees from five to eight (leaving the ninth chair open for later). We will finalize shortening time for notification of members and Trustees to meetings called for special cause and hopefully, stop the “crap”. There has been enough horse-poop to bury SEVERAL ponies. The Trustees will finalize the banking procedures (bank personnel will come here to do the structuring), and generally FINALIZE any loose ends.

WHAT OF THE U.S. DANGERS TO US?

The only dangers we see in speculation are the idiotic accusations set loose by such as VK Durham and other parties who have wanted to destroy all possible success with this program. Perhaps it is purely Pollyanna, but we don't see how we are doing other than HELP stabilize whatever is running amuck in this insane global structure. We certainly are not in "competition" and, further, if VK can do a deal with the Government with her absurd trash, so be it. We use such a pittance of the value at any level and then cause its backing with gold collateral that it is quite a laugh to consider our superhuman accolades as offered. If you think that this old lady could be leading the charge in Iraq, Spain and the whole of China and at the same time be Princess Rani of Saudi Arabia hooked up with some Prince Bandar of Brunei—AT THE SAME TIME—"YOU" have problems far surpassing any I might have.

However, I find that if I hang tough on the positive side of attitude and use the "Laws" of success and Spiritual achievement, the way becomes quite achievable in perception. One of those laws is the law of least effort. We often, while TRYING up the gazoo, lose our way in this one. We just parry and thrust, frustrate and finagle, manipulate and "manage" until we are worn and frazzled by every new "input" that arrives.

Nature's intelligence functions with EFFORTLESS EASE . . . carefree and harmonious. Therefore, when we harness the forces of harmony, joy and yes indeed, love, we create success and indeed, good fortune—in effortless ease.

When we stop the "worry" and petition for "SOLUTION" to that which concerns and worries, we step ahead of the tidal wave, which usually doesn't happen anyway. This in NO WAY means we do not consider carefully the whole picture but rather, let solutions unfold instead of pushing the river in every direction we can conjure.

Do I always do this? No, and see how old and tired the lack of such management has heaped upon me from time to time.

When we have exhausted all possibilities—remember: we haven't. There are always alternatives, choices and yes, solutions. Among the solutions may well be a backing off, waiting and considering the multitude of potential possibilities until we find one we consider feasible and go for IT. We keep correcting course until we make it, though the obstacle in our path be mountain or molehill.

We had a good laugh right here in skyscraperville. To get to the other side of the massive building (monument) across the street we have to walk a mile AROUND it—even to get to the business entrance. Ah but, we found that there were UPTOWN shops if you cut THROUGH the structure. Not only are there shops but AIR CONDITIONED comfort while you also can window shop. Now the guards know us and we have added protection, safety and "wish" a lot along the way.

We have now found that some of the shops moved to a more "uptown" location thus vacating a sizable area of space. We can't afford a square inch of it NOW—ah but, we could house all of our programs from THAT SPACE if we later choose to do that—at street level, across the street CONVENIENCE.

With the enlargement and upgrading of areas around the "mall" it is not likely that the shops in this location would do very well so it is just one more option for consideration without GOING ANYWHERE except to the window and looking out and down. To consider success we must also consider that success is so big we have to consider ability to function with all the professional backup to make sure graft, greed and corruption are kept at minimum. Moreover, we have to have the location CONVENIENT and secure for "us" as everyone else involved is secure to move about at will.

We are located at the East end of the business district. A mall is directly across the street, which is nice for many reasons, but one is that we can SEE over the other buildings and the prison setting isn't so oppressing. There is the major EDSA thoroughfare and expressway (ha ha to "express"!) to our left and two to three grocery marts are within just a few blocks and everything we really "need" is right there in "hobble" distance. God has been good in HIS considerations for location and those who think we live "too high on hogs" are out of luck for we are grateful for the considerations given. We also join with the people at Gilarmi next door with every EXTENSION they get to remain open. It is all the backup we have needed for meetings and privacy. Even the coffee shop is almost vacant when we meet in the afternoon. We can meet there for the cost of "service" and any food used. We have a meeting room available for bigger needs but it costs a bit, like $20 a day. Closeout position has been quite good for us as we saved so much by moving here next door that appreciation is beyond words. Even on our treks (which is our only transportation) the hotel guards and security personnel along with street police, know us. Even the sniffer dogs know us so to assume us to be somehow in hiding exile as ex-patriots as VK espouses is quite entertaining in its very concept.

We don't have ANYONE into our apartment and that was an agreement that we keep. It was among our instructions and agreements to keep security happy. We can live with that and visitors have to understand, no more or less. We can meet easily across the drive in air-conditioned comfort with ice water when meetings are mandated.

Our bigger concern about visitors, especially from the U.S. or foreign places, is for their safety from kidnapping for ransom. We can't ransom and kidnapping is the cottage industry here so risk-takers are on their own. Just today came a NEW and bigger warning for Canadians to stay out of this place. This was added to, AGAIN, the major warnings against/in behalf of Australians and Americans.

I find it rather interesting, however, to note that it certainly is not too comforting to be in New York these days of warnings, or anywhere else, Globe, Planet Earth.

Here it is that out in the hinterlands if a politician is listed as corrupt and is running for office, his competition takes care of the circumstance by simply shooting him dead. Yesterday, the "chief" of an island tribe was reported corrupt and the tribal "warriors" dragged him out and beat him to death. There is not a tourist place grand enough to grab my attention these days. Chaos reigns!

By the way, by "least effort", I certainly did not refer to tasks at hand other than to select one which is not too complicated for the delicate mind of man to handle. I meant that grass doesn't "try" to grow—it grows or it doesn't—without effort on its part. Fish don't try desperately to swim—they swim. "Trying" to do anything is complication multiplied. EFFORT is the key word, not "try", as in the big show-and-tell of "look how hard I tried". Try is simply another abused word we beat to death.

We just got a call from our afternoon banker-friend who asked to come to the meeting early because of a MASSIVE RALLY planned for here in Makati this afternoon. Oh well, we have to wonder which party is "trying" to show off now while bringing the nation to a standstill. There was a 15-minute car parade for one candidate on our street yesterday with no sidewalk viewers but from the buildings there were tons of shredded trash dumped which took another six hours to clean up the mess.

Typical here is exemplified by Ely Pamatong—who has now become Rev. from Atty. Pamatong—who wears his silly hat and waves his U.S. flag and got promptly disqualified as a presidential candidate. The battle continues and yesterday the whole thing was again being haggled. Less than two weeks to E-day and he wants to start all over—without his name even on the ballot sheet.

Is it different in the U.S. or anywhere, Globe? I haven't noticed it if so. Seems to me Bush is having a bit of a problem, or two. Will Kerry be better? Somebody tell me "how", please. Perhaps in the "attachments" there might be relief? I have grown too cynical in my elder years. Whatever happens we are STUCK with whomever graces or disgraces the seats of power through force.

Here, it seems the better part of wisdom is to go get enough food to last until through the 10th and hunker in the bunker. We have threatened coups, counter-coups, count-coups and chicken coups advertised. We have no-election (no-el [literally]), police action, armed forces action, electrical failure, phone shut-down (except cells are the biggie here so the cell relay towers are under attack constantly while whole systems are brought down), water shut off and "people power" rumbles are off-limits, the transit system is threatened along with a strike to stop the buses and jeepneys and you name it.

This is not frightening to these people—it is their form of entertainment.

It appears to me that the least effort expended comes with some ability to take things as they ARE and quit wishing they were somehow different without a way to change the facts presented. If we can accept what Is, we are left with ability to impact what we "prefer". The MOMENT IS.

The next component to the circumstances presented is "responsibility". This simply, in turn, means not blaming anyone or anything for our own situation. We can, in accepting the circumstance, then move on to a creative response. If we have already decided that all things have a seed of opportunity then we had best start our research program or mire ourselves in the "quag". I personally seem to have a need to bog around in the quagmire for a while in order to get my share of suffering out of the way in order to move on. Everybody "with" me, please grin and raise your hand.

We also have to recognize that most of our time is spent "defending" our view—this does not mean "truth", just "view". Then we have to "excuse" our attitude when it is fully realized that a simple statement of truth and fact is sufficient for any defense. When, however, it concerns the "many", there is mandate for response WITH TRUTH while leaving the adversary to swim through their own lies and disinformation. However, good data must be available, presented and offered.

Ah, indeed it is that we are humans in a human experience where Spirit remains present, ever in observation, nudging in whichever direction our lessons need to be learned. We complain like crazy about these old human forms and then fight like mad to hold onto them. GOD MUST FROM TIME TO TIME GET AMUSED.

The old teacher warned and soothed in that "He who follows the right path does so for himself; he who goes astray harms only himself in the ultimate conclusion. All can help to carry a burden but none can carry that which is truly that of another and punishment is never meted from Heaven without full warning!" There will always be a messenger and, as well, one who will wish to destroy that same messenger. I do not, for instance, see myself our "ourselves" as particular "messengers". We are that which is experiencing, hopefully to the best of our

SYNOPSIS OF GEORGE MERCIER'S INVISIBLE CONTRACTS PART SEVEN OF A TWELVE-PART SERIES (Pages 386-434)

By Ron Kirzinger

WARNING: WHAT YOU ARE ABOUT TO READ IS HAZARDOUS MATERIAL. PLEASE DO NOT ACT ON THIS INFORMATION WITHOUT ACCEPTING FULL RESPONSIBILITY FOR YOUR OWN ACTIONS.

GLOBAL CITIZENSHIP

In this section Mercier focuses on “a layer of invisible contract that is rarely addressed, thought of or treated as the pure contract that it... really is: National Citizenship”.

Question: Are you a citizen of your particular community, your state/province/area, your country—or of the world? As the world becomes more and more unified by both technology and “legal” devices such as the Uniform Commercial Code, the issue of global citizenship is rapidly becoming highly pertinent. Is there any reason to believe that a global government would be any more “just” than whatever jurisdictional authority under which one now finds oneself?

In the preceding section (part Six of this synopsis) we have seen how the evolution of Admiralty Jurisdiction has suborned the inherent rights of the individual, literally subjecting every individual to the caprice of the ruling class. Through clever rule-making the King has bound everyone by adhesive contracts and judicial minions ensure that no one may escape the bindings of presumed benefits (with consequent presumed contracts) simply by expanding the list of benefits to include “rights” that most of us take for granted. Such presumed benefits now appear to include, for instance, the right to a passport or the right to travel upon “the King’s” highways—along with, of course, “creditworthiness” and even the right to engage freely in commercial transactions (all “money” belongs to the King). Another juristic benefit, one that is often overlooked, is “the right to sue and to be sued”!

The solution SHOULD BE to waive the right to benefits but when benefits are now classified so broadly, it creates an IMPOSSIBLE situation. Mercier’s response to the King’s intractability on this issue is absolutely NOT RECOMMENDED:

“Just as pig Sovereigns in the Dark Ages demanded that Citizens could not walk away from allegiance to his kingdom for any reason, so too by corollary, should Federal Judges start to deem the acceptance of Federal benefits as being mandatory and non-waivable, then our reciprocation will be on terms our Founding Fathers taught us so well: the kind of terms that leave a lingering scent of nitrates in the air downwind from the Federal Buildings where they all went to work synchronously.”

If a JUST international system could be founded on the absolute sovereignty of the individual in a truly transparent environment, perhaps global citizenship could provide a better answer.

Just as national citizenship has displaced the significance of state citizenship, some day it, too, stands to be displaced by international (global) citizenship. This does not bode well for we global citizens, at least not as long as the King of this world retains the awful power of “money” and remains the “holder in due course” of all commerce. That, it seems to me, is precisely where God’s Plan, the GAIA Program, fits into the picture. Today’s amoral legal system must be replaced by a truly moral system of law based on respect for the sovereignty of each individual. Otherwise, whatever New World Order develops will only serve to propagate Admiralty Jurisdiction (and its coincident though far from accidental two-class, rulers/slaves society) “to the next level”. The following excerpts are taken from a footnote relating to the subject of global citizenship.

[QUOTING:]

...Citizenship is known up and down the corridors of Gremlin power world wide as being a very interesting adhesive source of Object Jurisdiction to loot. For example, even if the atrophied remnants of the Rockefeller Cartel are unsuccessful in convincing Americans to hand over their national Sovereignty to some world Juristic Institution like the United Nations, then one of the ways that the One Worlders could largely accomplish their Grand Objectives of global conquest through global Government is to stop trying to get the various national Sovereignties throughout the world to forfeit over their Sovereignty (which isn’t very likely anyway) and just create an invisible attachment of Equity Jurisdiction by creating World Citizenship. In bypassing individual regional political jurisdictions this way (American Citizens are free to enter into contracts with the United Nations, or any other political jurisdiction in the world), income taxes and the like can be collected from its Citizens in reciprocating exchange for some benefits that will be created; and with World Citizenship in place, handy regulatory jurisdictions, licensing and other favorite Bolshevik enscrewment tools can be erected.

...The Gremlin drive for World Citizenship has been in gestation for some time; see Education for World Citizenship by William George Can (Stanford University Press, Stanford, California (1928)). Under the classical contours of International Law, only political jurisdictions were subjects accountable to it, and individuals were simply not included; while the Nuremberg Trials changed all this on an ad hoc basis, the status of people as being strangers to International Law continues on down to the present day—but when the adhesive Equity tentacles of World Citizenship are nestled in place someday, the world’s Gremlins will be ecstatic on that grand impending day when an operation of the World capabilities in as goodly a manner as we can realize in conscious awareness.

Please realize that I take these writings which seem to be a “teacher’s lessons” as personal for me, long before it gets to YOU (from this keyboard) so if you take personal offense, please know I got it first so don’t take more than your share.

I must go now as the clock ticks on (well, forget it, even the clocks don’t “tick” any more) and I need to be ready for the next show-and-tell in today’s events ongoing.

We will leave a space for comment AFTER the meeting in case there are news, other views, and/or important reviews. We must remember that God presents us in perfection so if we prefer to be “wretched” we have had to do it ourselves. Then we expect, as the song goes, God to then “save” us from our own wretchedness. Is there something wrong with this picture?

I treasure every meeting we ever had, now that there are not those times to share with Cmdr. having equal fun with us. However, we are thankful you are there, we are here, and every expectation of dissolving that distance ASAP. Every day that passes brings more and greater potential for this magnificent program to work IF we don’t break or toss towels just because we don’t want any more “wet towel wars” with the opposition.

May we make sure we leave green pastures and still waters upon which to walk and wait for those who come after us. We will if you will. Well, not quite so, for we intend to keep right on hopping and hoping whether or not all bunnies jump along with us. We are not insane, even if at times disappointed, because documentation and facts support us and that is an advantage we have no way to actually share sufficiently in the telling. The “fruit” is obviously “there on the trees” and it only remains to see to the harvest which may be great or small as we can only see the presentations, not the quantity of harvest. We, however, intend to be ready for the greater and not the lesser. D & E

[EJ’s short summary of today’s Special Meeting of the Foundation Members: It did not go as scripted! Prince Julian Morden Tallano, his wife Irma, his “bodyguard”, “Colonel” (?) and his wife, and a supporter, Romeo Bravo, came to the meeting. He came to tell us the Foundation was illegal because it was, by court order, supposed to be for only Tallanos. I said, “Where does it say that, please?” He shuffled through papers for 15 minutes while Cenon read the previous meeting’s minutes and finally huffed, “Well, I can’t find now—but it is there.” I said, “We have read the Orders of the Courts very carefully and the references are to the farmers and the poor, Christian and Muslim. You cannot find it because it is not there.” My, my, that lit his wick. After he blustered awhile and berated Cenon, Doris broke in with, “Are you really an Imposter?” That did not seem to calm him much. He blustered some more and Doris asked, “You say the Foundation was to be for your family and you have done nothing about it for 28 years; why is that?” About that time the girls from the bank that came to set up the account showed up so I took them into the Coffee Shop to put all of the papers in order so that I could run them in for signatures. Just as we were ready, the Prince and his following left so the girls went with me to the meeting room and we set up the account. After they left, we added six more Trustee slots and filled three of them with Atty Natividad, Doris and Professor Jaime Ramirez and took care of all of the other business on the agenda. All, in all, a very successful day. We are on track, even if it seems very slow to us.]

Court reaches through to individuals world wide, transparent to any prospectively beneficent intervention on your behalf from any other jurisdiction (just like today when your State will not intervene in any manner whatsoever on your behalf when Federal Marshals come knocking on your door)....

[END QUOTING]

How far has the global-citizenship agenda progressed since 1985? A partial answer can be found in "Global Taxation Rears Its Ugly Head", an article written by Joan Veon and posted publicly on the Internet on April 28, 2004.

Veon mentions that the UN's 1993 budget was $10.5B and that the March 1995 UN Social Summit proposed various taxation methods that would provide the UN with over $1.646T per year. Where would the extra $1.635T go? "At the Millennium Summit in 2000, the UN presented the world's 189 kings, princes, prime ministers and presidents a list of global needs. They include by 2015: reducing poverty and hunger by 50%, ensuring that children everywhere are able to complete a full course of primary schooling, reducing by 66% child mortality, halting and reversing HIV/AIDS, malaria and other major diseases and improving the lives of 100 million slum dwellers, among others."

As we should recognize by now, such "benefits" are merely the bait on the hook of the Gremlins' "enscrewment objectives". Once benefits offered conditionally are accepted, the people even tacitly accepting such benefits become SUBJECT TO the offeror (the UN or WB or IMF—the "King" and his "Gremlins" by any name), contractually.

[QUOTING from the Veon article:]

...[T]he primary focus of the Spring Meeting of the IMF/World Bank that just concluded [2004] was how to meet and finance the UN Millennium Development Goals. The UN estimates another $50B per year is needed. The Development Committee which is comprised of key officials from both the IMF and World Bank, including U.S. Treasury Secretary John Snow, issued a report on how to increase funding which includes: (1) increase Overseas Development Aid-ODA, (2) set up a proposed International Financing Facility, (3) global taxation and (4) increase in aid.

It should be noted that all of these suggestions have been around for a while. In 1994, the United Nations Development Programme issued the Human Development Report, which basically outlined the same ideas that are now being discussed. The difference is instead of them being conceptual, as they may have been then, today they are being seriously discussed by country governments and are now showing up at the IMF/World Bank level and the G7 Finance Ministers and G8 heads of government levels.

Let us take a look at each of these:

(1) Increase Overseas Development Aid-ODA: To prepare for the Financing for Development Meeting in Monterrey, Mexico in 2002, George Bush doubled [sic] the amount of ODA from $10B to $15B beginning this year. The UN target is .07% of Gross National Income. The U.S. as well as most of the developed countries, are giving an average of 0.23%. [So based on these figures the U.S. is currently overpaying and the money should come from the poorest of all nations? Sick, sick.] ODA is used for debt relief, technical cooperation, and emergency and disaster relief along with food aid and totals $6B a year.

(2) The proposed International Financing Facility: The 1994 Human Development Report recommended that an International Investment Trust be set up. The proposed International Financing Facility would be a temporary financing mechanism that would hold the annual payments from donor countries as well as use issue AAA-rated bonds based on the future donor pledges of countries. In other words, it would securitize (issue bonds) future pledges in ODA through the bond market. The bond proceeds would be channeled through existing aid programs. This proposal has already been widely discussed within the G8, EU, UN, the IMF and World Bank as a result of being presented at the September 2003 annual IMF/World Bank meeting in Dubai. The specific mechanics as to how to set up the Facility is still under discussion.

(3) Global Taxation: In the 1994 Human Development Report, it recommended five different sources of taxation: possible tax on arms trade, a global tax of $1 per barrel on oil consumption, assessing a tax of 0.05% on the value of each international currency transaction, Special Drawing Rights, and a world income tax of 0.1% on the richest nations. The current Global Taxation Proposals include: environmental taxes of various kinds—most prominently a carbon tax or a system of tradable permits (the U.S. has established the first carbon permit trading exchange with other European countries now following suit), a tax on foreign exchange at the rate of 0.02% (many experts say that there are many barriers), increase taxes on aviation fuel and/or air transport, on shipping or arms exports, taxing resources held in the global commons such as the mining rights in international waters (Law of the Sea—the U.S. is to hold hearings on ratifying the Law of the Sea Treaty), create and voluntarily redistribute additional Special Drawing Rights (SDRs), and other ideas such as a global lottery.

In the final IMF/World Bank press briefing, I asked key officials that included World Bank President Jim Wolfensohn if they could tell me which global tax mechanism was preferred and what kind of timing did they foresee. I was told that "this was a very complex issue"....

It should be noted that you always need the poor to justify a transfer of wealth. Interestingly enough many of the very poor and highly indebted poor countries are rich in minerals such as gold. However, most of the income from mining minerals goes to pay the World Bank back for loans made to many of these third world countries. Back in the 1970s and 80s, the World Bank made specific project loans to these countries to develop ways in which they could make money by selling electricity from hydro-electric dams, and other high capital investment projects which never panned out but became a financial noose around the necks of many third world countries. Some of these countries are the same that the UN wants us to fund the goals listed above.

[END QUOTING from Veon article]

And so, fellow Global Citizen-to-be, let's continue with developing our understanding of what citizenship really is—a contract based on presumed benefits purportedly afforded us by "the government" of whatever jurisdiction in which we find ourselves.

[QUOTING from Mercier:]

THE CITIZENSHIP CONTRACT

...Earlier, I mentioned that the 14th Amendment offers invisible benefits that Citizens have been deemed by Federal Judges to have accepted by their silence (since anything but silence is very consistent with a person's wanting Citizenship), and so the 14th Amendment then and there creates a Citizenship Contract. Yes, there are special benefits to be had from the 14th Amendment. So although the 14th Amendment creates benefits proprietary to Citizenship, those are not the only Citizenship benefits that you need to concern yourself with. Many Tax Protestors and Patriots are aware of the 14th Amendment story, and accordingly counsel their students to file Notices of Breach of Contract and the like, and other hybrid unilateral declarations of recession, in an attempt to remove themselves as persons attached to the 14th Amendment. Those students are then taught, quite erroneously, that since the United States derives its taxing power from the 14th Amendment, therefore, once an Individual has severed his relationship from the 14th Amendment, the student no longer need concern himself with any federal Income Tax liability, or any state tax liability. These folks preach the theory that Miller Brothers vs. Maryland stands for the proposition that States derive their taxing and regulatory jurisdiction from the 14th Amendment—a particularly stupid conclusion to arrive at since such a statement means that prior to the 14th Amendment there were no State taxes or regulatory jurisdictions; and that is a factually defective point of beginning to commence any legal analysis.

This view of legal liability propagated by Protestors is baneful, and replicates the modus operandi of Lucifer when he propagates to his students many things which are technically accurate of and by themselves, but then he teaches expansive conclusions which are defective. Lucifer counsels his followers to get ready to justify their actions at the Last Day, an alluring preventative move that intellectuals find brilliant and intriguing background advice; so now Lucifer has their attention.

Then Lucifer continues on (also quite technically correct), that all of their behavior down here should be so organized as to be "justifiable" before Father at the Last Day; this too is correct, as Father will be soliciting our feelings at the Last Day. But just one tiny problem surfaces for the world's Gremlins to consider as they dance the jig in ecstasy over the prospects of being able to get away with murder, mischief and mayhem down here: an invisible Contract that Father extracted out of us all before we came down here. So yes, although you can "justify" your acts to Father if you want to, that justification is not relevant to Father in his judgment decision making. Only the terms of the Contract will be of interest to Father; and back in the First Estate, everyone was once on their knees before Father, uttering from their own tongues, in a Heavenly angelic language we all spoke then, the terms of the Contract we all would later be judged by. So, yes, you will be given the opportunity to justify your abominations before Father if you want to, but your justifications sounding in Tort are not going to be taken into consideration by Father and you Gremlins out there are damaging and deceiving yourselves. And in a very similar way, many Tax Protestors are coaching their followers to concern themselves with the 14th Amendment—a very accurate and correct statement, of and by itself. But the conclusions those Tax Protestors draw, that termination of the adhesive King's Equity Jurisdiction that the 14th Amendment attaches is the only thing they need concern themselves with, is incorrect. 14th Amendment pleading, standing alone by itself, doesn't vitiate anyone's state or federal Income Tax liability—it never has, and it never will. The legal argument I hear many folks throw at Federal Judges, that they are a Common Law Citizen, or a Preamble Citizen, and not a 14th Amendment Citizen, is patently stupid, and carries no weight, merit or attractiveness before Federal Judges; and for very good reasons: because all Citizens of the United States are acceptants of that profile of juristic benefits that the King is offering, and these benefits are offered by the King regardless of the claimed Common Law or Preamble classification status. And so correlatively, since those juristic benefits are accepted by all United States Citizens regardless of the claimed Common Law or so-called Preamble jurisdictional origin of the classification of Citizenship (distinctions that Citizenship Contract Protestors like to make and argue), these distinctions mean absolutely nothing in important areas involving Tax and Military Conscription reciprocity expectations the King maintains on his Citizens.

FEDERAL BENEFITS

There is no single place I can point folks to and say, "Here, Citizens, are your benefits." Even listings of benefits in the dicta of Supreme Court rulings are fractured and incomplete. And the Congress is largely the same. Some of the juristic benefits that the King is offering to his Citizens originate in the Constitution, where these benefits are inferred by Federal Judges from certain wording and phrases in that Majestic Document; other benefits the King is offering find their home nestled in his pile of lex, other benefits are located in still another layer of administrative lex called the Code of Federal Regulations; and still other benefits do not explicitly appear anywhere in the King's statutes but are defined in a wide ranging multiplicity of court rulings.

When we possess that factual knowledge contained in those court rulings, then the cryptic phrases appearing in some offbeat slice of lex come alive and make a great deal of sense. Some benefits of Citizenship are proprietary and the distribution of those benefits are limited to identifiable groups, for example, such as the elective franchise. Some other benefits inuring to Citizens of the United States are, in general, the protection of United States Marshals.

Yes, all Citizens accept the protectorate benefits offered by the United States Marshal Service. And unlike your local Police Department, when you call up the U.S. Marshals and request their security assistance, generally they will not bark, snap or snort at you for doing so. The United States Marshals today will make inquiries and ask probing questions to uncover the reasons why you believe your security is being impaired, as they do want to get to the bottom of the threatening situation, in order to terminate whatever it is that is giving you grounds for concern. On any serious inquiry they will normally send out a Marshal immediately to see you, and they will even put you up in a hotel if deemed provident under the circumstances; so yes, the security benefits offered by the U.S. Marshals are more than legitimate. But no one knows anything about the protectorate benefits being offered by the U.S. Marshals. Due to the Hollywoodization of cops-and-robbers television shows, people have been conditioned to think in terms of calling up their local police department for security assistance, and have also been conditioned to expect a tough rebuffment when asking for bodyguard services—when all along it was the dormant and ignored U.S. Marshals that have been schooled, trained and are expecting your pleas for limited assistance.

As for the 14th Amendment, the reason why the 14th Amendment as a stand-alone line of Status defense is patently frivolous is because all Citizens accept benefits that the King is offering, and the classification by Tax Protestors of Citizens into different categories, when benefits are being accepted by all Citizens regardless of classification, is baneful. Claiming that you are a Common Law Citizen, or a Preamble Citizen with a special reciprocity exempt status to avoid that irritating quid pro quo (“something for something”) payment of an unreasonable enscrewment oriented Income Tax, is foolishness, and you are not entitled to prevail under any circumstances before a Federal Judge.

The reason why self-proclaimed Preamble Citizens and Common Law Citizens, so called, are properly burdened with the heavy quid pro quo reciprocity of the Income Tax is that all Citizens accept and enjoy the protectorate benefits previously discussed that the King is offering, so all Citizens accept Federal benefits. Yes, Citizens under the 14th Amendment have additional contracts in effect (stemming from the additional benefits that the 14th Amendment offers), that they need to concern themselves with—but all Citizens accept those other Federal benefits as well, and so all Citizens are operating under the King’s Equity Jurisdiction of the United States and are appropriate objects for the assertion of a regulatory and taxation environment over, through contract terms.

I would advise you to terminate your reliance on information originating from people who lace excessive priority attention on the 14th Amendment Citizenship question, as their stand-alone arguments are without any merit whatsoever for purposes of detaching yourself away from Federal Taxation liability.

CODE OF FEDERAL REGULATIONS

Above, I listed some of the benefits that all Citizens of the United States enjoy; and this is important since the Federal Judges always view things from a “What benefit has this fellow accepted?” attitude. But just where do the King and the Federal Judges get off with the idea that Citizenship, all by itself, attaches liability to Title 26? Nowhere in Title 26 is there any concise discussion about how Citizens are those Persons identified in Section 7203 (“Willful Failure to File”) as being one of “all persons who are required to file...”.

So just where do Federal Judges get the idea that Citizens are Persons under contract, suitable for a smooth Federal taxation shake down? The answer lies by probing a level deeper into the King’s statutes, into an area Patriots and Tax Protestors do not seem to be pursuing that much: into the Code of Federal Regulations, which operate as junior statutes.

The Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) is a codification of the general and permanent rules published in the Federal Register by the Executive Department and by agencies of the United States. The Code is very powerful indeed (remember to always think like a Federal Judge momentarily for analytical purposes, so you don’t react like a surprised clown when dragged into their courtroom on a grievance with someone), and the contents of the Code of Federal Regulations (like its father, the Federal Register) are required to be judicially noticed. And the Code of Federal Regulations is also Prima Facie Evidence of the text of the original documents.

This CFR is republished once each year, so the following quotations, extracted from the 1985 edition, may have been altered in future editions. With that in mind, consider the following words from the CFR:

“In general, all Citizens of the United States, wherever resident, and all resident alien individuals are liable to the income taxes imposed by the Code whether the income is received from sources within or without the United States...”

“Every person born or naturalized in the United States and subject to its jurisdiction is a Citizen.”

So you see for Citizens in general, Federal Judges have already quietly taken Judicial Notice of the fact that your Citizenship is an invisible contract to pay Income Taxes—but what if you are not a Citizen generally speaking (meaning, like everyone else, by their silence they have accepted Citizenship benefits). By having vacated the factual record of any benefits having been accepted, by stripping the factual record of any quid pro quo of equivalence exchanged, that factual setting is no longer general and ordinary, now it is special and extraordinary, where if the King makes any revenue collection attempt, you have him worked into an immoral position. Yes, Citizenship is a contract in the classical sense, since benefits offered conditionally were accepted, and where expectations of reciprocity were retained by the benefit contributor—it’s all there.

The Code of Federal Regulations is also another source of identifying handouts and benefits offered to Citizens. And the Judicial Notice, taken quietly in camera, that the Citizenship Contract is the contract being operated on, is never pronounced publicly in an open courtroom forum. Does that last sentence I quoted from the CFR about “every person born or naturalized in the United States” seem familiar to you? It should, because it comes straight out of the 14th Amendment, with only one word being changed. And read it carefully, as there is admitted a class of individuals, here residing in the United States as a matter of birthright, who might not be subject to the total jurisdiction of the United States Government.

Who are those individuals? For starters, they are those Individuals who don’t accept any benefits or handouts from the King.

Despite the fact that I say a few isolated nice things about Federal Judges (with the applicability of my favorable comments being restricted to just a few limited grievance factual settings Federal Judges preside over), I am unable to recall any Federal Case that correctly talks about Citizenship as the pure, raw contract that it very much is; yet it’s all there in Citizenship, all of the indicia that composes a contract: benefits offered, as well as their acceptance, reciprocity expected back in return, and all this all written out in advance in specific and blunt terms in Federal Statutes.

Why then does the Supreme Court not correctly address Citizenship as the contract that it really is? I don’t know why, precisely; I could conjecture that they do not want to publish an exemplary Case, explaining in the context of a specific factual setting how an Individual can get himself out of the contract containing taxation reciprocity covenants. But I don’t really care, either; whatever information the Federal Judiciary is deficient in elucidating regarding identifying Citizenship as the invisible contract that it is, I can get from other sources, even ecclesiastical sources, and then retrofit it interstitially to uncover the real meaning of obscure Judicial reasoning:

“An old principle, laid down from the earliest ages of British jurisprudence, from which we receive our national institutions, is that allegiance is that ligament or thread which bonds the subject to the sovereign, [who,] by an implied contract, owes, in turn, protection to the subject; and the very moment that the Government withholds its protection, that very moment allegiance ceases.”

INCOME TAX

Yes, Citizenship is very much a contract, and Federal Judges generally think in contract terms when dealing with a Tax or Draft Protestor. Citizenship is probably the single most important contract that you need to come to grips with, as Citizens are suitable objects to assert both a taxation and regulation jurisdiction over, and properly so as a matter of Law; however, we all have philosophical disagreements on some of the bitter terms this particular Regulatory Jurisdiction contract calls for. With your severance of the reciprocity liability that is associated with Citizenship, a large amount of the friction relating to your confrontations with Government will evaporate overnight—but your Citizenship contract is not the only exclusive contract you need to concern yourself with; and be mindful that Citizenship, or any other type of political status, is not relevant or necessary in those types of criminal prosecutions that are predicated on either Tort or special contract (like Highways). So just where is the bottom line here to detach yourself away from those adhesive statutes in Title 26?

If that is your objective, then you have to effectuate a pure severance of yourself away from the King’s Equity Jurisdiction, and not just a partial severance. No, you don’t get to selectively pick and choose just what Federal benefits you want and don’t want. This Citizenship is one of the larger slices that constitutes the Title 26 liability pie, and once Federal Judges have quietly taken Judicial Notice of your Citizenship, they generally then and there stop looking for other contracts to nail on you, when ruling over civil Income Tax grievances.

...Well, George, that dicta was interesting, but could we see a Case where an Individual rejects all benefits timely, and then a Federal Court vitiated his taxing liability? No, sorry you cannot; such a published ruling so favorable to us folks out here in the countryside does not exist, and will never exist—as I have been saying all along. Cases presented to Federal Judges that come even close to pure Equity severance are being sandbagged at low levels, and you will not even be getting a hearing before the Supreme Court....

What happens to Citizens who reject the King’s benefits? They become Denizens.

[[Quoting from footnote:]]

In old English Common Law, Denizens had no political rights, i.e., they could not vote or hold office. So by mutuality they also owed no Citizen-like capitation tax to the Crown. Although Denizens had occupancy jurisdiction to stay within a Kingdom, the only taxes the Crown was able to get out of them was limited to the extent that the Denizen participated in Commerce. See generally, James Kettner, The Development of American Citizenship 1608-1870 (University of North Carolina Press, Chapel Hill, North Carolina (1976)).

[[End quoting from footnote]]

Why are Citizens of the United States now burdened down with such an incredible Bolshevik Income Tax Machine, so smoothly eating away at our substance the way it does? The answer lies by the acceptance of protectorate benefits the King is offering.

[[Quoting from a footnote:]]

The reason why I have had such headaches getting to the very bottom of Citizenship is because the King's boys clam up tight and refuse to talk about this subject matter. A Deputy United States Attorney in the Department of Justice in Washington once turned me off but quick when I asked for a simple answer to a simple question: What are the benefits you give to American Citizens? When I once had a conversation with a Federal Judge, he went through muscular distortions in his face when I asked him the same simple question. They know exactly what we are up to, and they are not about to assist or facilitate our depriving them of revenue; a good snortation representing how Federal Judges think in this area was once penned by the Supreme Court:

"The Citizen who fails to pay his taxes or to abide by the law safeguarding the integrity of elections deals a dangerous blow to his country."—Perez vs. Brownell, 356 U.S. 44, at 92 (1958).

Moments earlier in that conversation I had with the Judge, the Judge was friendly and spoke very knowledgeably about the location of Citizenship benefits (as well they should know the location of benefits because Federal Judges are steeped in benefit justification in those seminars of theirs), but now the atmosphere quickly chilled when I presented him with an explicit inquiry on the specific identification of Citizenship benefits, and the Judge very quickly terminated the conversation. Those benefits of Citizenship are all listed and neatly presented to Federal Judges in that Bench Book of theirs; this is important material for Federal Judges to know since the King deems it extremely important that Judges feel justified and comfortable cracking Protestors under the Citizenship Contract; and this is also the real meaning behind an occasional blurb emanating down from the bench that "you've accepted a benefit (snort!)." What few words the Judge is saying is a fractured piece of the total contract pie, as contracts are properly in effect whenever benefits offered conditionally (offered with a hook in them) were accepted by you; so the Judge's short blurb about accepting benefits is a reference to the fact that you are patently black and white wrong—caught in the very act of contract defilement. But just because the Judge remains silent on the existence of the retained expectations of reciprocity that the King holds, and that a contract is in effect, does not annul the existence of the contract. Very rarely in life in any setting such as science, business, the law or commerce, does anyone ever go into prolixitous elucidations when explaining error or justifying something. But the juristic contract is there, the explanation (or here in a Courtroom, the snortation) is optional, and the fact that the contract is invisible to you does not vitiate your liability when the contract comes up for review (a feature of Nature every single person who ever lived on the face of the Earth will become very well acquainted with at the Last Day).

[[End quoting from footnote]]

The correct origin of the Citizenship problem (if problem is the word) lies back in the 1700s, not with Lucifer and his filthy little Gremlin Karl Marx, but with our own Fathers, back when our Founding Fathers created the Constitution, a document that warrants your objective evaluation, because our Founding Fathers gave the King just too much jurisdiction: No explicit and blunt restraints were made against the circulation of paper currency media; no provision for the Bill of Rights restraints to operate irrespective of impending technology that otherwise alters factual settings not originally contemplated when the Bill of Rights was drafted; and then the Framers gave the King the blank check to nail Citizens to the wall as taxable objects, a situation that did not exist with the Articles of Confederation:

"Both the States and the United States existed before the Constitution. The people, through that instrument, established a more perfect union by substituting a national Government, acting, with ample power, directly on the Citizens, instead of the confederate Government, which acted with powers, greatly restricted, only upon the States."

Notice how the Federal Government now operates with ample power directly on the Citizens, which National Citizenship did not exist under the Articles of Confederation. Our Founding Fathers wanted a National Government, and so now we have got their largesse.

Question: How does someone get rid of his Citizenship Contract without packing their bags and leaving the United States physically, as the King would like his little subjects to do?

Answer: The same way one gets rid of any other contract.

But lawyers throwing technical arguments at Federal Judges in Tax and Draft Protesting cases have never bothered to see Citizenship from the judicial trajectory of benefits and retained reciprocity expectations, so lawyers have never correctly handled Tax and Draft Protestors in counsel, and lawyers will continue to throw technical arguments at Judges (just like Tax Protestors) trying to explain why the King is wrong, until such time as the latent high powered juristic velocity instrument of Citizenship is identified for what it really is: a contract.

As a point of beginning, contracts are entered into by the acceptance of benefits and they are terminated by the explicit disavowal rejecting benefits (as I will explain later in the next section on Federal Reserve Notes). And Citizenship is one of the most important contracts the Judiciary takes Notice of for purposes of perfecting taxation enstripment. And so it is the explicit rejection of juristic benefits that will sever the adhesive reciprocal liability of King's Equity Jurisdiction that attaches itself invisibly to everyone else. So getting rid of your National Citizenship, while very important, is only a first step, and there are numerous other invisible contracts that you need to concern yourselves with, if you are to leave the Bolshevik Income Tax grab without leaving any lingering illicit Equity trail behind you.

INDIVIDUAL OR CORPORATION? IRRELEVANT ONCE BENEFITS ACCEPTED

In a footnote, Mercier expounds a widely quoted case, which is often used by people arguing "lack of jurisdiction" of the corporate government over the living, breathing individual. As he explains, it doesn't matter once benefits can be presumed to prove the existence of a contract.

[QUOTING:]

Many Patriots will be quite familiar with the following widely published words from a Supreme Court ruling called Hale vs. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43 (1915), which discusses the difference in rights and duties between Corporations and Individuals:

"The individual... owes no duty to the State, since he receives nothing therefrom..."—Hale vs. Henkel, id., at 74.

Not once to this day have I ever seen a correct discussion of what Hale vs. Henkel really means: because it does not purport at all to say that Individuals (human beings) are somehow exempt from Government taxes that Corporations are required to pay because Individuals are made of flesh and bones, and therefore, somehow exempt from duties. Notice how the Supreme Court did not try to distinguish between Person clothed with multiple layers of juristic accoutrements leading to their very appearance a special and suggestive flavoring to it—and individuals without such juristic accoutrements (or "liberated"); the Supreme Court was contrasting Corporate entities and Individuals due to the Juristic Personality that benefit acceptants clothe themselves with.

Knowing what you know now about the invisible contracts that are in effect whenever there has been an acceptance of benefits, go back and read that line over again. Both Artificial and Natural Persons either owe the money, or don't owe the money, based upon their acceptance or nonacceptance of juristic benefits, and not based upon their biological Status as human individuals (or Natural Persons, as lawyers would call them). If you do accept those juristic benefits, then you very much owe the money, regardless of whether or not you are a human Individual (Natural Persons) or a Corporation (an Artificial Person). I once saw a 7203 Willful Failure to File prosecution conviction appeal in California where the criminal defendant argued that he was exempt from Income Tax Liability because he was an "absolute individual", and not a Corporation. When I saw this argument in this appeal brief, I felt sorry for him, as I knew he would eventually be incarcerated; as that biological Status argument of being a human "individual" means nothing—in fact, actually means less than nothing, as it operates negatively against your credibility if there is a disputed element of law or fact in a grey area that could have otherwise favored you. Many other folks pushing law materials also propagate this fraudulent line (that Title 26 does not apply to human individuals, somehow), and they should know better: because your natural biological Status as an "Individual" means absolutely nothing when juristic benefits were accepted by you.

[END QUOTING]

REQUIEM: "SAVED ON THE BLOOD OF JESUS"?

Soon now, people will come to realize that there is simply no escaping personal responsibility and no way to hang their sins upon another man's sacrifice.

"Agnus Dei, qui tollis peccata mundi"—translated from Latin this means, "Lamb of God, who takes away the sins of the world," and goes on to say, "...grant them eternal peace." All the Brown Sugar in the world couldn't sweeten this poison bait, ESPECIALLY for those recently passed over to "the other side", for whom such a requiem is ostensibly provided. We'll wrap up this section with a footnote on the subject of "ignorance is bliss" from Mr. Mercier.

[QUOTING:]

Mark my words this day in 1985: The more that glowing statements are made about missile treaties and arms reduction agreements between Russia and the United States, the closer the two are to outright war. When the news media tries to emphasize the importance of some new "breakthrough" missile agreement, the more imminent are the open hostilities. Remember, Gremlins never change a successful modus operandi—and they deem lulling you to sleep to be very important.

...This Second Estate is very much adversarial in nature, and all of the rules applicable to deception used by Gremlins in war will be found incorporated by Lucifer in his sub rosa attacks on your impending embryo Celestial Status. And whatever is necessary to get folks to bypass their own good judgment and sense of positive responsibility, however momentarily uncomfortable, and rely instead upon the more comforting passive inactivity and nonchalant judgment of others that all is well in ignorance, will be done—it is being done politically by Americans generally ignoring numerous visible signs of an impending domestic military invasion and correlative secondary internal damages that will occur in its wake; and it is being done Spiritually by getting folks to ignore and toss aside any concern for a known impending Judgment and replacing that concern with the more comforting sugar-coated assurance that, yes, since they have accepted Jesus Christ, they will be Saved, and they don't need concern themselves with anything else—some hokey religion out there—baah.

[END QUOTING]

In the next installment we'll see what Mercier has to say on the subject of "Federal Reserve Notes".

PUBLIC NOTICE

This notice will be construed as a continuation of compliance with provisions necessary to establish presumed fact (Rule 301, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and attending State rules). If all interested parties fail to rebut any given allegation or matter of law addressed herein, the position will be construed as adequate to requirements of judicial notice, thus preserving fundamental law. A true and correct copy of this Public Notice is on file with and available for inspection at the newspaper CONTACT (P.O. Box 27800 Las Vegas, NV 89126, USA) which is responsible for publishing the instrument as a legal notice. In the Republic of the Philippines, comments and objections may be filed in writing by addressing Global Alliance Investment Association at 6751 Ayala Avenue, Makati City, Metro Manila, Philippines. Others may be addressed to Global Alliance Investment Association, 5344 Images Court, Las Vegas, Nevada, 89107 USA.

This Public Notice is published by the Directors of GLOBAL ALLIANCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION (GAIA) as part of its effort to inform its members and prospective members of its progress and potential. Earlier Public Notices, published beginning in December, have explained the strengths and synergisms afforded by this particular Joint Venture Partnership.

The Annual Meeting of the members of the DON ESTEBAN BENITEZ TALLANO & DON GREGORIO MADRIGAL ACOP FOUNDATION, INC. (FDN) was held April 7, 2004 and the General Information Sheet (GIS) was filed with and accepted by the Securities and Exchange Commission April 16, 2004.

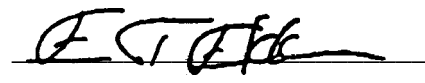

The membership elected five Trustees: Prince Julian M. Tallano, Fidel P. Lajom, Eddy Jo Ekker, Rolando M. Ocampo and Cenon C. Marcos. The Trustees immediately convened a meeting wherein they elected Prince Julian M. Tallano Chairman of the Board; Fidel P. Lajom, President; Eddy Jo Ekker, Vice President; Rolando M. Ocampo, Treasurer; and Cenon C. Marcos, Secretary. (Please see Exhibits)

President Lajom then thanked the members for their confidence and opened the meeting for membership participation during which it was suggested that a Special Membership meeting be called for the purpose of amending the Articles of Incorporation and the By Laws to expand the Board of Trustees to nine (9) members, and any other matters that might properly be brought before the members.

Pursuant to the rules governing Public Notices under the Uniform Commercial Code this notice will be published in a newspaper of wide circulation. Copies of this Notice will be available at any of the three addresses provided above.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the undersigned have executed and sealed this authorization as of the date hereof.

For the Corporation, dated at Makati, Manila, the Philippines, this 16th day of April 2004.

NEVADA CORPORATIONS:

Nevada Vs. Delaware: Private Vs. Public

Budget's "Tip of the Week" #16:

Response to the Often-Asked Question: What About Delaware?

"My friend said that her attorney said that the best place to incorporate is Delaware because that's where all the big corporations are based." Once again, there is SOME truth in this statement but there is much knowledge to be derived in understanding the differences between Nevada and Delaware corporations.

The fundamental distinction is that while Nevada's statutes create benefits for private corporations, Delaware's corporate statutes have principally been designed to benefit shareholders of public corporations. Many large, public companies that trade on various exchanges across the country incorporated in Delaware because Delaware's statutes provide the best protection of the rights of shareholders. In recognition of the foregoing, Delaware's corporate law with regard to corporate takeovers is the strongest anywhere in the country. And if you want to "go public" with your corporation some day, Delaware's onerous disclosure requirements probably won't bother you.

On the other hand, Nevada's provisions for establishing and maintaining privacy of ownership and control is unparalleled. In Nevada, ownership of a corporation is not a matter of public record: There is no prohibition against the use of bearer shares, there is no requirement for stock to be issued, nor is there any requirement for an annual meeting of stockholders. In terms of privacy of control, the use of nominee officers and directors has been a common practice for over 75 years. In addition, NRS 78.257 makes it a gross misdemeanor for anyone to even attempt to use a Nevada corporation's records for purposes contrary to the interests of the owners.

Delaware is NOT "tax-free". A Delaware corporation's taxable income is taxed at the rate of 8.7%. In addition, its franchise tax has a graduated rate depending on capitalization, amounting to a minimum of $30 and a maximum of $130,000.

Nevada's corporate law easily surpasses Delaware's in terms of protection of corporate officers and agents. Delaware has recently adopted a statute that allows a corporation to limit the liability of a director for monetary damages—but officers of Delaware corporations are still not covered. The following acts of officers and directors would be protected under Nevada law, but are exposed to liability under Delaware statutes:

1. Acts or omissions not in good faith;
2. Monetary damages occasioned by acts of officers (directors are now exempt);
3. Breach of a director's duty of loyalty;
4. Transactions involving undisclosed personal benefit to the officer or director;
5. Acts or omissions that occurred prior to the date that the statute which provides for indemnification of directors was passed and approved.

As a final point on the subject of Nevada versus Delaware, it is noteworthy that Nevada has NO RECIPROCITY WITH THE IRS; Delaware, like all other states, freely shares its data with the IRS.
