IMF Imperialization Era Drawing To A Close

This issue focuses on the forthcoming demise of IMF Imperialization. "The awful power of money" described in the Protocols has succeeded in dividing the body of humankind into two main groups: the "haves" and the "have nots". The "haves", of course, want to "have more", while the "have nots" have been left to fend pretty much for themselves—or simply die of hunger. No, it's not a very nice world, especially under IMF rule.

The Money Masters have had a pretty easy go of things, stepping into Third World countries to greedily plunder resources. The workings of their plan are revealed (again) in this issue by former Chief Economist of the IMF, Joseph Stiglitz. What is absolutely nauseating is how such pillage and plunder has been so carefully concealed by the lies of "assistance" and "humanitarian relief". As Daily TRIBUNE reporter Alejandro Lichauco shows in the next two articles, however, people are "wising up" to the fraud that has been killing them.

HUNGER TREASON AND THE IMF

The Daily TRIBUNE, 10/7/04

By Alejandro Lichauco

The hunger situation is unquestionably the story of the week, following stories on a finding of the Social Weather Stations (SWS) that 15 percent of the nation's households are hungry.

The finding, to begin with, is an obvious understatement of the problem, because late last year the Food and Nutrition Research Institute of the Department of Science and Technology (FNRI-DoST) released its findings that 80 percent of the nation's households are hungry.

One finds non-credible the finding of the SWS because it is official matter that some 40 percent of Filipinos subsist on an income of P1,500 a month. Since that just covers about one cavan of rice and since it is clear that anyone subsisting on one-cavan-a-month can only go to bed hungry, it is equally clear that we must take the findings of the FNRI-DoST as the far more realistic findings than that of the SWS.

But that's of no moment. The question is: Why the hunger in the first place?

For the answer to that, the reader is advised to read the 15-page memorandum which this writer has submitted to the Senate this week.

The gist of the paper is the hunger that now plagues the nation is essentially due to the collusion between the nation's debt negotiators and the International Monetary Fund (IMF). The debt negotiators—and, of course, the government they represent—have allowed the IMF to supervise and intervene in the management of the economy since 1962, or over a period of 42 years.

That IMF supervision, in turn, has been motivated by the agenda of that institution to abort the industrialization of the country which had a dramatic start in the 1950s, and to make sure no government ever undertakes an industrialization program.

Classic example of this was the objection raised by the IMF, with the assist of the Marcos technocrats,

IMF Hunger Formula: Pushing Toward Civil War

IMF HUNGER FORMULA: PUSHING A NATION TOWARD CIVIL WAR

The Daily TRIBUNE, 10/14/04

By Alejandro Lichauco

Since 1962, or for over a period of 40 years, this country has been under the economic supervision of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and throughout that length of time, the economy has functioned on the basis of “conditionalities” pressed by the Fund on a succession of submissive governments conditioned to believe that the international agency represents the kind of economics which every developing country should adopt if it is to escape from the clutches of poverty bequeathed to it by its colonial past.

Those conditionalities are essentially the following: (1) open the domestic market increasingly to imports until the market becomes completely open to same; (2) devalue the currency on the theory that a cheap currency would attract foreign investments and stimulate exports; and (3) adopt a restrained monetary fiscal policy even if that means sacrificing welfare projects that would relieve the poverty of the masses.

Time has shown that the mix conditionalities have been a sure formula for hunger. For over 40 years that our government has dutifully complied with that deadly mix of policies, we have: (1) wiped out the industries that the country managed to induce during the 1950s through the protectionism that came with import and foreign controls; (2) marginalized a once thriving agricultural sector, such that we have now ceased to be an agriculture-based economy, transforming into a low-tech, low-wage service economy in the process; (3) devastated the purchasing power of the peso which at one time was worth P2:$1 and therefore driven an already impoverished mass to further impoverishment—and hunger; and (4) made it difficult for businesses, particularly small- and medium-scale businesses, to thrive.

Forty years of that deadly mix of policies has transformed the Philippines from the once best-performing economy in the region that it was in the 1950s, before the IMF came to the picture, to an outright humanitarian disaster. As business tycoon John Gokongwei said in 1999, in an Asiaweek interview, describing the economy, “many industries have already died, and nearly all industries will die.”

The deadly mix of those three conditionalities was compounded in recent years by the IMF-sponsored policy of privatization. So, we privatized vital industries, such as Petron, which immobilized government from exercising the countervailing power which all governments normally reserve against the abuses of private economic power, such as the foreign oil cartel.

The IMF formula for hunger—for that is what those conditionalities have proved to be—is what basically explains the chaotic state of the nation, the loss of credibility of virtually every institution of the government, the rising persistence of insurgency and secessionism. Hunger and the oppressive economic times into which the nation has been driven by those conditionalities have made “everyone for himself” the overriding mindset and national culture. That mindset has come with the notion that government simply isn’t in any position to govern any more and to enforce the law—particularly against the rich and politically powerful.

The conditionalities, particularly devaluation, have made the cost of governing and providing for needed social services simply prohibitive aside from having killed businesses that provide government with revenues.

With “everyone for himself” as the rule of conduct, both public and private, and with government virtually immobilized by its own powerlessness, what can one expect but the emergence of organized factions bent on the pursuit of nothing less than their respective self-interests and the elimination of factions that stand on the way.

These are the conditions that breed civil war.

The path toward civil war has been widened by the total discredit into which the Armed Forces have fallen. The military is the only institution in society capable of restoring law and order where civilian government has failed. But to perform that function, the military must be possessed of a minimal amount of respectability and credibility and, of course, integrity. Those attributes, however, are nowhere in sight today.

Whatever hope people entertained, that somehow the military establishment harbors within its corrupt breast idealistic young officers who could, in a period of national anarchy and despair, catapult the military into political power which would be accepted by the general populace, evaporated with the recent capitulation of the Magdalos, to the very government they had indicted for corruption and treason.

So, all is darkness and despair with nothing but the prospect of more hunger to come. This is the type of situation which invites civil war and the terrorism that we are now seeing in Iraq. Except that in the case of the Philippines, the geo-political factor is considerably more complex because here we have the U.S., China and radical Islam in actual contention.

And so, we could simply wind up being carved three-ways. In which case, it is goodbye to Wow Philippines.

And thank you, IMF. Thank you for transforming what was once the best-performing and most promising economy in East Asia into an outright case of humanitarian disaster.

[Sincere thanks to you, Mr. Lichauco, for the concern you show for your fellow man. We have no doubt your efforts in exposing this hideous beast will have some very positive results, although we continue to work for peaceful resolution through God’s Plan.]

against the 11 industrial projects of Marcos, which he launched in 1979.

The IMF anti-industrialization agenda has been implemented through a deadly mix of policies consisting of: (1) continuous opening of the market to imports; (2) continuous devaluation of the currency; and (3) tight monetary-fiscal policies.

The result of this mix has, of course, been fatal and explains the hunger.

Since 1962 (1) the peso has devalued from P3.90 to its present P57:$1, and (2) the foreign debt has ballooned from $150 million to its present $57 billion.

But the lamentable fact about all these is that we have absolutely nothing to show for the devaluation and the rise in the foreign debt—except industry closures, mass unemployment and soaring prices.

Over the last 42 years, we have completely dropped out of the industrialization race we dramatically led in the 1950s and which earned the Philippines a glowing rating from the World Bank of being the most promising and best-performing economy in East Asia.

It is clear that IMF supervision—with the collaboration of the debt negotiators—is what explains the hunger.

It should interest readers to know that as far back as 1988, even an in-house study of the IMF admitted the prescriptions pressed by that agency on the Philippines since 1962—particularly the devaluation and fiscal austerity—have only aggravated the poverty problem.

But that in-house IMF study notwithstanding the agency, has continued to insist on its failed programs and policies.

And the reason obviously is that from the very beginning, the IMF has had its own agenda for the Philippines and that agenda is simply to make sure this country doesn’t industrialize and transform into a newly-industrialized country.

In the process of carrying out its agenda for the Philippines, the IMF has resorted to means that have only too clearly subverted the nation’s sovereignty and democratic processes.

An essential element of the IMF strategy has clearly been to make sure the country gets into debt which it can never repay. And that’s exactly the situation we have today!

The Philippine case is a clear example of what the Meltzer Commission of the U.S. Congress found about the IMF: that it undermines the sovereignty of the very countries it assists.

The conclusion of this piece: There must now be launched a nationwide revolution against the foreign debt. That revolution can begin with a Senate resolution declaring the sense of that body that the debt should be repudiated.

That’s the subject of the paper which this writer submitted to the Senate a few days ago.

Copies of that paper are available upon request.

For more than six years we have been preaching (yea, sadly, that is the correct word) to the peoples of Southeast Asia that they must recognize and know their "enemy" in order to escape its economic tyranny. We do not know Mr. Inciong and probably have not met him so we claim no credit for his insight. He has, however, given us a great boost in credibility in publishing the following article.

We have great difficulty scanning or taking some email or Internet material for our presentations so it is often easier to retype it. ### THE CULPRIT:

NOT THE DEBT, BUT ITS CONDITIONS

The Daily TRIBUNE, 10/8/04

By Amado Gat Inciong.

Current concern about the fiscal crisis is focused mainly on the level of our public debt and the ability of the government to service it. As of the end-2003, the total debt stock of our national government (NG) was P3.35 trillion [$59.8B]; the total public debt stock, however, was P5.39 trillion [$96.3B]. The latter includes the debts of government-owned and -controlled corporations, like National Power Corp's (Napocor), and the NG-guaranteed debts like the P36 billion loan brokered by Code-NGO for a commission of P1.4 billion.

Almost entirely missed in the discussion of the fiscal crisis are the conditions attached to the debt by the World Bank (WB)-International Monetary Fund (IMF). Examined closely, these conditions are the critical problem, not the debt itself. Without the conditions, the debt could serve as a crucial positive factor for development. With the conditions, the debt becomes a strangling trap from which there is no way out.

Without the conditions attached to the debt, it would have been entirely our fault if our loans were not used profitably to generate funds not only for debt service, but also for development; they even acted to decimate already established industries, especially in manufacturing, resulting in the loss of thousands of jobs.

What are these conditions and why are they the critical problem?

There are two types of conditions: (1) general and continuing and (2) ad hoc and specific. The general and continuing conditions today are liberalization, deregulation, privatization, level playing field, a floating rate currency system and automatic debt service. These conditions were preceded by decontrol and devaluation and a labor-intensive export-oriented strategy of development. There are other continuing conditions: the installation of a resident WB-IMF monetary overseer in the Bangko Sentral and the deployment of technocrats beholden to the WB-IMF in key government posts. On the other hand, some examples of the ad hoc/specific conditions are: the Electric Power Industry Reform Act (Epira), the Oil Deregulation Act, the Special Assets Vehicle Act, the special law for the payment of P2 billion arrearages of the Oil Price Stabilization Fund to the oil companies, and many others.

Let us use Epira to illustrate the viciousness of the debt conditions. The enactment of Epira was used by the WB-IMF as a condition for the release of some $500 million worth of already approved loans. Hence, to facilitate the release of the loans, members of Congress [approximately 275] were bribed P500,000 each [$10,000, a total of $2.75M] to enact Epira soonest. Only Sen. Juan Ponce Enrile did not vote for it. The WB-IMF's clients—the transnational power players—are interested in taking over the transmission and generation assets of Napocor. To make the takeover possible, Epira transferred all transmission and generation assets of Napocor to Transco and Psalm for auction to the transnational power players. The proceeds of the sale, estimated at $6 billion, are earmarked for debt service to the WB-IMF. On the other hand, Epira transferred all the debts of Napocor to the taxpayers, including the P0.85 per kwh arrearages resulting from the P0.40 cap placed by President Arroyo on the purchased power adjustment (PPA) during the election campaign. Consequently, Napocor's debt has ballooned to P1.4 trillion [$25B], a major component of the total public debt of P5.39 trillion.

[To show the technique: The debt of $25B will be "assumed by" the national government (taxpayers); the asset will be sold to realize $6B to be paid to the IMF/WB; and rates to electricity users will be increased hugely (as in Argentina) to "repay the debt" (which no longer exists) so the new "transnational power players" get all the benefits of the rate increases. The increased cash flow, without the burden of the old debt, will pay back the new buyers in 2-3 years and it is all profit after that. The bribes of $2.75 million to Congress were not all; they had to bribe the President, certain cabinet members and the Napocor execs, also, but that is peanuts compared to the billions they will reap from the ownership of the basic energy supply to 82 + million people every year.]

The WB-IMF attached the first debt condition to a loan of $300 million to the Macapagal administration in 1962. This condition was the adoption of decontrol and devaluation policies in place of the system of import and exchange controls prevailing at the time. [Decontrol and devaluation have turned that one $300M debt of approximately 600M pesos into a debt of 16,800B pesos while bleeding billions upon billions of pesos sacrificed to purchase "foreign exchange" dollars with which to pay the annual interest. If it required P36M to service that debt in 1962, it now requires P1B every year.] Import and exchange controls were imposed by the Quirino administration in 1950 to stop the senseless hemorrhage of dollars for the importation of non-essential goods and for junkets abroad. But Filipino businessmen led by Dr. Salvador Araneta, then the country's national economic coordinator, transformed import and exchange controls into an import substitution strategy of development. Under the protection of controls, thousands of factories emerged in the country. These factories were engaged in the manufacture of food, wood, pharmaceutical, cement, flour, textile, paint, pulp and paper, glass, chemicals, fertilizer, communication, appliance, electronics, plastic, fuel, machine parts, engineering equipment, among others. Most factories were concentrated in Metro Manila, but factories were also set up in Illigan City to take advantage of cheap power in the vicinity of Maria Cristina Falls. As the import substitution strategy of development matured into a Filipino First policy toward the close of the decade, FilOil and the Illigan Integrated Steel Mill were established. The Philippines, rated at the time the second most developed economy in Asia, was on the road to industrialization.

But the first condition, decontrol and devaluation, pulled the rug from under the feet of the import substitution industries. Decontrol opened the country's market to the competition of imported goods and devaluation effectively doubled the costs of imported machineries, spare parts and raw materials. Deprived of the protection of import and exchange controls, hundreds of Filipino-owned factories were immediately decimated or marginalized. Thousands of jobs perished in the process. Decontrol policies, which continue to this very day in the form of import liberalization, have barred resumption or revival of the industrialization effort.

During martial law, as the Marcos regime became increasingly dependent on foreign loans for its survival, more conditions on the ballooning debt were imposed by the WB-IMF. [The evidence suggests that the ballooning debt and conditions occurred AFTER the Marcos regime.] Technocrats beholden to the WB-IMF were placed in key government posts. These technocrats are now reinforced by the AGILE moles. In place of Filipino-owned import substitution industries, export processing zones were established with more loans for the benefit of transnational corporations in search of cheap and docile workers,

THE GLOBALIZER
WHO CAME IN FROM THE COLD

The Observer, London, 10/10/01

By Greg Palast

JOE STIGLITZ: TODAY'S WINNER OF THE
NOBEL PRIZE IN ECONOMICS

The World Bank's former Chief Economist's accusations are eye-popping—including how the IMF and U.S. Treasury fixed the Russian elections

“It has condemned people to death,” the former apparatchik told me. This was like a scene out of Le Carre. The brilliant old agent comes in from the cold, crosses to our side, and in hours of debriefing, empties his memory of horrors committed in the name of a political ideology he now realizes has gone rotten.

And here before me was a far bigger catch than some used Cold War spy. Joseph Stiglitz was Chief Economist of the World Bank. To a great extent, the new world economic order was his theory come to life.

I “debriefed” Stiglitz over several days, at Cambridge University, in a London hotel and finally in Washington in April 2001 during the big confab of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund. But instead of chairing the meetings of ministers and central bankers, Stiglitz was kept exiled safely behind the blue police cordons, the same as the nuns carrying a large wooden cross, the Bolivian union leaders, the parents of AIDS victims and the other ‘anti-globalization’ protesters. The ultimate insider was now on the outside.

In 1999 the World Bank fired Stiglitz. He was not allowed quiet retirement; U.S. Treasury Secretary Larry Summers, I’m told, demanded a public excommunication for Stiglitz’ having expressed his first mild dissent from globalization World Bank style.

Here in Washington we completed the last of several hours of exclusive interviews for The Observer and BBC TV's Newsnight about the real, often hidden, workings of the IMF, World Bank, and the bank’s 51% owner, the U.S. Treasury.

And here, from sources unnamable (not Stiglitz), we obtained a cache of documents marked, “confidential”, “restricted”, and “not otherwise (to be) disclosed without World Bank authorization”.

Stiglitz helped translate one from bureaucratise, a “Country Assistance Strategy”. There’s an Assistance Strategy for every poorer nation, designed, says the World Bank, after careful in-country investigation. But according to insider Stiglitz, the Bank’s staff ‘investigation’ consists of close inspection of a nation’s 5-star hotels. It concludes with the Bank staff meeting some begging, busted finance minister who is handed a ‘restructuring agreement’ pre-drafted for his ‘voluntary’ signature (I have a selection of these). [We hope Mr. Inciong can obtain the one for the Philippines for publication.]

Each nation’s economy is individually analyzed, then, says Stiglitz, the Bank hands every minister the same exact four-step program.

Step One is Privatization—which Stiglitz said could more accurately be called, ‘Briberization’. Rather than object to the sell-offs of state industries, he said national leaders—using the World Bank’s demands to silence local critics—happily flogged their electricity and water companies. “You could see their eyes widen” at the prospect of 10% commissions paid to Swiss bank accounts for simply shaving a few billion off the sale price of national assets. [It has been reported, many times, that the IMF/WB may “reallow” as much as 20% of the interest collected from a nation to bribe the politicians of the nation to assure the continuance of their interest payments. The interest payments of the Philippines amount to $5-6B annually, meaning that there are some P56B available to “maintain the status quo”.]

And the U.S. government knew it, charges Stiglitz, at least in the case of the biggest ‘briberization’ of all, the 1995 Russian sell-off. “The U.S. Treasury view was this was great as we wanted Yeltsin re-elected. We don’t care if it’s a corrupt election. We want the money to go to Yeltsin,” via kickbacks for his campaign.

Stiglitz is no conspiracy nutter ranting about Black Helicopters. The man was inside the game, a member of Bill Clinton’s cabinet as Chairman of the President’s council of economic advisors.

Most ill-making for Stiglitz is that the U.S.-backed oligarchs stripped Russia’s industrial assets, with the effect that the corruption scheme cut national output nearly in half, causing depression and starvation.

After briberization, Step Two of the IMF/World Bank one-size-fits-all rescue-your-economy plan is ‘Capital Market Liberalization’. In theory, capital market deregulation allows investment capital to flow in and out. Unfortunately, as in Indonesia and Brazil, the money simply flowed out and out. Stiglitz calls this the “Hot Money” cycle. Cash comes in for speculation in real estate and currency [and stocks], then flees at the first whiff of trouble [also instigated by the hedge funds’ hot money managers]. A nation’s reserves can drain in days, hours. And when that happens, to seduce speculators into returning a nation’s own capital funds, the IMF demands these nations raise interest rates to 30%, 50% and 80%.

“The result was predictable,” said Stiglitz of the Hot Money tidal waves in Asia and Latin America. Higher interest rates demolished property values, savaged industrial production and drained national treasuries.

At this point, the IMF drags the gasping nation to Step Three: Market-Based Pricing, a fancy term for raising prices on food, water and cooking gas. This leads, predictably, to Step-Three-and-a-Half: what Stiglitz calls, “The IMF riot”. [Philippines, how far away from these are you?]

The IMF riot is painfully predictable. When a nation is, “down and out, [the IMF] takes advantage and squeezes the last pound of blood out of them. They turn up the heat until, finally, the whole cauldron blows up,” as when the IMF eliminated food and fuel subsidies for the poor in Indonesia in 1998. Indonesia exploded into riots, but there are other examples—the Bolivian riots over water prices last year and this February, the riots in Ecuador over the rise in cooking gas prices imposed by the World Bank. You’d almost get the impression that the riot is written into the plan.

And it is. What Stiglitz did not know is that, while in the States, BBC and The Observer obtained several documents from inside the World Bank, stamped over with those pesky warnings, “confidential”, “restricted”, “not to be disclosed”. Let’s get back to one: the “Interim Country Assistance Strategy” for Ecuador: in it the Bank several times states—with cold accuracy—that they expected their plans to spark, “social unrest”, to use their bureaucratic term for a nation in flames.

That’s not surprising. The secret report notes that the plan to make the U.S. dollar Ecuador’s currency has pushed 51% of the population below the poverty line.

tax holidays, subsidized power and communication facilities, state-of-the-art road system, and a secure environment. A floating rate currency system, which institutionalized devaluation, was decreed; at the cost of the current volatility of the peso in relation to the dollar is this system. Tariff leveling was effected on thousands of imported goods; this was done even at a time when the United States and other developed countries were raising their tariff walls. A resident WB-IMF overseer was installed in the Central Bank (now Bangko Sentral) TO INSURE ADHERENCE TO THE WB-IMF DEBT CONDITIONS.

In 1995, the Ramos administration accessed the country into the Uruguay Round covenants of the World Trade Organization, entering the lions’ den of global trade unprepared for the competition. In effect, the accession had relocated national sovereignty in this country from the Filipino people to the market and, no matter what the Constitution says, transformed liberalization, deregulation, privatization and level playing field into state policies.

In sum, these conditions closed all avenues to industrialization and national economic planning for the Philippines. Under a regime of liberalization, deregulation, privatization and level playing field—in other words, under a free trade system or globalization—industrialization for the Philippines is simply not an option.

The University of the Philippines economists, Rep. Joey Salceda and the Arroyo administration are recommending a roadmap out of the fiscal crisis: new taxes imposed, old taxes increased, reduction of the “pork barrel”, a freeze on the internal revenue allotment of local government units, a major increase in the power rate and the contraction of the bureaucracy. If we follow this roadmap, they say, we will get a credit upgrade from our creditors and become eligible for MORE loans. But that will only plunge the nation deeper into the debt conditions with more tragic consequences.

The critics of the proposed roadmap are not any different. They want the government to renegotiate the debt, perhaps to reduce the debt level and/or to relax the terms of payment. Which means the nation will remain entrapped in the debt conditions.

Therefore, it is not enough the country gets a credit upgrade and becomes eligible for more loans; neither is it enough the debt is renegotiated. The strangling conditions attached to the debt must be removed or drastically revamped to transform the debt from a vicious trap into a positive instrument for development and growth. Short of this, taking the pain package (another name for the roadmap) or renegotiation will merely prolong the agony. Amado Gat Inciong

[END QUOTING]

Now let us add to this a paper provided to many “influential people” here in the Philippines, although Sakiasi Genewa did a much better job of distributing it in Papua New Guinea. Our introduction: “This article is provided as a courtesy of GAIA because it independently confirms the TOOLS being used to bludgeon the peoples of the world into submission to the International Banking Cartel.”

[QUOTING:]

The World Bank “Assistance” plan simply calls for facing down civil strife and suffering with: “political resolve”—and still higher prices. [Look familiar?]

The IMF riots (and by riots I mean peaceful demonstrations dispersed by bullets, tanks and teargas) cause new panicked flights of capital and government bankruptcies. This economic arson has its bright side—for foreign corporations, who can then pick off remaining assets, such as the odd mining concession or port, at fire sale prices. [How about “cash-cow” utilities?]

Stiglitz notes that the IMF and World Bank are not heartless adherents to market economics. At the same time the IMF stopped Indonesia “subsidizing” food purchases, “When the banks need a bail-out, intervention (in the market) is welcome.” The IMF scrounged up tens of billions of dollars to save Indonesia’s financiers and, by extension, the U.S. and European banks from which they had borrowed.

A pattern emerges. There are lots of losers in this system but one clear winner: the Western banks and U.S. Treasury, making the big bucks off this crazy new international capital churn. Stiglitz told me about his unhappy meeting, early in his World Bank tenure, with Ethiopia’s new president in the nation’s first democratic election. The World Bank and IMF had ordered Ethiopia to divert aid money to its reserve account at the U.S. Treasury, which pays a pitiful 4% return, while the nation borrowed U.S. dollars at 12% to feed its population. The new president begged Stiglitz to let him use the aid money to rebuild the nation. But no, the loot went straight off to the U.S. Treasury’s vault in Washington.

Now we arrive at Step Four of what the IMF and World Bank call their “poverty reduction strategy”: Free Trade. This is free trade by the rules of the World Trade Organization and World Bank; Stiglitz the insider likens free trade WTO-style to the Opium Wars. “That too was about opening markets,” he said. As in the 19th Century, Europeans and Americans today are kicking down the barriers to sales in Asia, Latin American and Africa, while barricading our own markets against Third World agriculture.

In the Opium Wars, the West used military blockades to force open markets for their unbalanced trade. Today, the World Bank can order a financial blockade just as effective—and sometimes just as deadly.

Stiglitz is particularly emotional over the WTO’s intellectual property rights treaty (it goes by the acronym TRIPS, more on that in the next chapters). It is here, says the economist, that the new global order has “condemned people to death” by imposing impossible tariffs and tributes to pay to pharmaceutical companies for branded medicines. “They don’t care,” said the professor of the corporations and bank loans he worked with, “if people live or die.”

By the way, don’t be confused by the mix in this discussion of the IMF, World Bank and WTO. They are interchangeable masks of a single governance system. They have locked themselves together by what are unpleasantly called, “triggers”. Taking a World Bank loan for a school “triggers” a requirement to accept every “conditionality”—they average 111 per nation—laid down by both the World Bank and IMF. In fact, said Stiglitz, the IMF requires nations to accept trade policies more punitive than the official WTO rules.

Stiglitz’ greatest concern is that World Bank plans, devised in secrecy and driven by an absolutist ideology, are never open for discourse or dissent. Despite the West’s push for elections throughout the developing world, the so-called Poverty Reduction Programs “undermine democracy”.

And they don’t work. Black Africa’s productivity under the guiding hand of IMF structural “assistance” has gone to hell in a handbag. Did any nation avoid this fate? Yes, said Stiglitz, identifying Botswana. Their trick? “They told the IMF to go packing.”

So then I turned on Stiglitz. OK, Mr. Smart-Guy Professor, how would you help developing nations? Stiglitz proposed radical land reform, an attack at the heart of “landlordism”, on the usurious rents charged by the propertied oligarchies worldwide, typically 50% of a tenant’s crops. So I had to ask the professor: As you were top economist at the World Bank, why didn’t the Bank follow your advice?

“If you challenge [land ownership], that would be a change in the power of the elites. That’s not high on their agenda.” Apparently not.

Ultimately, what drove him to put his job on the line was the failure of the banks and U.S. Treasury to change course when confronted with the crises—failures and suffering perpetrated by their four-step monetarist mambo. Every time their free market solutions failed, the IMF simply demanded more free market policies.

“It’s a little like the Middle Ages,” the insider told me, “When the patient died they would say, ‘Well, we stopped the bloodletting too soon; he still had a little blood in him.’”

I took away from my talks with the professor that the solution to world poverty and crisis is simple: remove the bloodsuckers.

A version of this was first published as “The IMF’s Four Steps to Damnation” in The Observer (London) in April and another version in The Big Issue—that’s the magazine that the homeless flog on platforms in the London Underground. Big Issue offered equal space to the IMF, whose “deputy chief media officer” wrote:

“... I find it impossible to respond given the depth and breadth of hearsay and misinformation in [Palast’s] report.”

Of course it was difficult for the Deputy Chief to respond. The information (and documents) came from the unhappy lot inside his agency and the World Bank.

[END QUOTING]

Every writer that we read has the ability to parrot the problems. A few, such as Messrs Erick San Juan, Amado Gat Inciong, Alejandro Lichauco, and Herman Tiu Laurel, have even reached the conclusion that it is the IMF/WB plus WTO tools that are doing the damage; they just can’t seem to recognize who wields the tools, and what to do about it.

Lichauco has come the closest when he writes in his column of October 7, 2004, “The conclusion of this piece: There must now be launched a nationwide revolution against the foreign debt. That revolution can begin with a Senate resolution declaring the sense of that body that the debt should be repudiated.”

Even though the simplest of legal minds should be able to see that those debts are fraudulent, no one dares speak of it. Without the conviction that there is a reasonable, logical way of succeeding as a nation without foreign money, no nation dares be the first to repudiate IMF/WB debt. Had the Argentineans had the support of even a few other debtor nations three years ago, they could have led a world-wide repudiation. They actually had part of the solution when they issued an internal currency to pay their public servants—maybe next time they, or another nation, will succeed. When the repudiation is worldwide, there is little the IMF/WB can do about it.

Repudiation, or even having the IMF/WB “forgive” the debt, is only a partial solution, however, for the same factors that caused the problems in the first place are still in the system. There is only one true solution to the dilemma: Base the currencies on gold so the International Banking Cartel (IBC) cannot manipulate the value of currencies, stocks, and real estate to re-create the need for international debt.

With a gold-based currency all of a nation’s currency is “foreign exchange”. There is no need to vie for and pay high prices for foreign loans, investments, visitors, or to send the nation’s most valuable people overseas to earn and send money home. There is no need to tax the people’s income to get the money to run the government. There IS a need to protect local industries with tariffs and customs duties until they have had time and opportunity to mechanize, modernize and specialize so that when, if ever, they wish to compete in the world market they can do so successfully.

There IS a need to issue the money needed to purchase the gold to serve as the RESERVES for the nation’s currency and internal banking system so that the nation can complete its infrastructure, including the repair of its out-of-date or worn-out facilities. None of the so-called Third World Countries will have to look beyond their own borders for 20 or more years for something to keep their citizens busy and prosperous. Revolutions are difficult to start among a people that are busy and prosperous; peace, real, not coerced, peace is a costless, joyful byproduct.

Is there enough gold so that all of the world’s currencies could be based upon gold? We believe there is, even at $400 per ounce. There are serious investigators that say gold should be $25,000 per ounce. There are also rumors that the internationalists have managed to garner more than two million metric tons of gold in their 100-year effort to gain control of all of it. There are more than 100 unrecovered “buried treasure” sites in the Philippines that could yield one thousand or more tons in each site but there must be a stable and citizen-friendly Administration before those who know the location of those sites will disclose them. And there are millions of ounces of gold not yet mined and refined. Perhaps the most difficult concept to express, and to accept, is the fact that it does not matter what is the quantity or price of gold once all currencies are gold based.

The asset of Global Alliance Investment Association (GAIA), a debt of the U.S. Treasury guaranteed by the Federal Reserve System and payable in gold, can serve as the initial RESERVE FOUNDATION upon which any, and every, nation can begin to purchase the gold that it needs to underpin its currency. That is our mission and we will succeed. The only question left unanswered is: Which nations will join and succeed with us—and when? As anyone can see, as nations join this Association the price of gold will undoubtedly go up, benefiting most those nations who join earliest. # Quakes And Other Disruptions

What Can't You Understand?

10/9/04—#1 (18-54)

SAT., OCT. 9, 2004 11:13 A.M. YR 18, DAY 54

Manila, Philippines

RE: WATCH IT: QUAKES, PLANES DOWN, RALLIES, U.S. INVESTIGATIONS. WHAT CAN'T YOU UNDERSTAND?—GCH/D

PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT NECESSARY?

One more chance to my little Manila TEAM: Dharma, DO NOT GO OUT—PERIOD, END OF ARGUMENT.

VERY LOW-PROFILE FOR EJ AND STAY IN HEAVILY POPULATED AREAS AT ALL TIMES WHEN OUT FOR ANY REASON.

The Mall does not open for whatever you need other than in the Grocery Mart so do not go EARLY to anywhere for your needs are mostly where there are no groceries.

EJ, take Mark with you, also to lunch or to be visibly seen but with the added protection of having an accompanying person.

Dharma, keep all doors locked and secured and no casual "accidental" reception of ANYONE to the apartment. It makes it difficult for the security teams to monitor when ANYONE is an "exception" while so much is taking place in the building construction-wise giving access to stairs and fire exits to a variety of UNKNOWN persons.

If that is all CLEAR, please allow us to continue on troubles in Pasig River City and why you will be most cautious with our persons.

If nothing else could get your attention seriously enough to gain notice, let us consider the C130 down at the INTERNATIONAL airport. The incident, however, was planned to have the plane not get back on the ground at the airport but to ditch in the ocean. All aboard the plane were GMA (Presidential Security Group) parties headed to Cebu.

Never mind the near seven-point earthquake striking last evening at bedtime. It is listed as a tectonic shift to allay panic and terror. It was too close to active volcanoes to fail to note such proximity. STOP the nonsense. With Mt. St. Helens erupting and blowing ash—the obvious is that the Ring of Fire is under every kind of attack from volcanoes to quakes to more storms engulfing, at the least, Japan. It might well be a reminder that Japan just experienced, ALSO, two very frightening quakes, both over 7 points. PAY ATTENTION! I am ever so slightly annoyed that you take such "coincidences" so casually when we are ready to breach the crest of this mountain we are climbing.

There are "other" events planned for your entertainment regarding that official trip to Hanoi so don't go back to sleep.

It is serious enough that I came very near to simply requesting that Mark remain in place for another few days—at least through the meeting on Thursday. That is not necessary but there are other dangerous things afoot, and now that they have pulled off the first aircraft incident the next either will run closely behind this one or be delayed until the next required "off-shore" meeting of International note—OR, one of the treks to Mindanao on ridiculous "Peace" talks now simmering.

ATTENTION FROM U.S. AGENTS

Are YOU in "danger" or consideration by U.S. treasury-intelligence agents combing the "clean it up" corridors of big players? NO! It has been over six years that we have stood clean, clear and under constant surveillance and acted in every way as lawful visitors, business venture potential partners AND we now focus on the TA FDN to make VERY CAREFUL STEPS TO INSURE CLEAN-CLEAR REGISTRATION, PUBLIC NOTICE, AND BUILD OUR FOUNDATION STRUCTURE IN A TOTALLY COMPETENT WAY WITH INTEGRITY.

Everything has NOT been without ability to seek and destroy the very organization and it must not be allowed to further blossom. We will have to make sure we get "members" who will act in total integrity on BEHALF of the FDN and NOT for self-interests. I do not wish to publicly pursue this line of discussion in this writing.

If the U.S., especially Treasury, wanted to shut down Global Alliance, they have had, certainly, since 1996 TO DO SO. We will "never mind" the assignment of August 5, 1993. All the interim debris had to be cleared away.

The IMF-WB are the only obstacles to this program and they are losing stature by their own dealings with no "help" from us.

The Philippines is bankrupt, starving and hungry people are NOT "reasonable". I, however, NEED YOU so don't play in any even questionable games.

Consider some of the "information" as "warnings" to stay clear of the minefields and act accordingly. It is, however, an opportunity to clean up the FDN in time to remain clean and RWA (Ready, Willing and Able) to function on instant notice. We have to get these people fed and that must be immediately accomplished. Dead citizens are NOT "good" citizens for they are simply "dead" people. Handing out coupons or even a cup or so of rice is NOT a solution for there needs to be TONS AND TONS of food distributed. Moreover, there is enough food in seized (by customs) items in warehouses RIGHT NOW to feed everyone in point for a few days or weeks. Those commodities simply are taken and to be sold by the crooks and government or publicly destroyed to make a show-and-tell.

Please note the government doesn't destroy the storable items, just perishable fruits. Those fruits alone, however, could give nourishment to thousands and thousands for several weeks.

I suggest that with the travel of the "morning" that you get some Lysine in GNC, some Silica if they have it and some CoQ—. Then in the other store get gluten if they have it, four or five packages, and a bit more SPELT flour and replace the flakes—one or two packages if they still have any. Then we will put it through a freeze cycle. I am NOT interested in your "food plans" of the "drown in entropy" style of "ideas". I want Spelt into you, cinnamon and honey INTO you, some butter-fat INTO YOU on that toast and as high a ratio of spelt with a bit of bread flour to make a useable loaf and GO FOR IT as simply as is possible.

I would rather have you grind your own peanuts for "butter" than use that with the sugar added, please. We are not managing anyone "else's" diet or program, especially not Mark's for he must adhere to that which allows for his "health" attentions. I HAVE TO HAVE YOU TWO ON MEAT PROTEIN—and no, veggies will NOT "cut it"! There is no way for you to eat enough to further harm you or any individual unless there are obvious allergies. This includes some bit of MSG and Aspartame if you miss it in your investigative microscopes. I CANNOT HAVE YOU TWO EKKERS DISTRACTED INTO SUCH AVENUES WHEN YOUR PLATES ARE OVERFLOWING WITH OTHER FOCUSES OF OUR PROGRAM/PROJECT.

This in NO WAY causes ANYONE else to do anything or even be confused. Good health is imperative but can also take ALL OF YOUR TIME and more. It is not useful to our needs AT HAND. I have asked you to hit the acupuncture trigger points hard to keep EJ walking as the Post-Zoster nerve damage becomes more and more apt to fail and result in injury otherwise. It is fine; do not make a big "cause" of this, please.

This is, in addition, WHY I ask that Mark go right on with his planned work in the technical aspects of his training for everything "else" in this place is too premature and obviously is a distraction and something open, it appears, for grab-off.

Since the focus is obviously on the travelers, i.e., GMA's entourage to Cebu, etc., let us assume that the airport will be clear in Manila for a few days. The entourage in the ill-fated plane mentioned above was headed South in preparation for her trip upon her return from Hanoi.

Let us get Mark on track "safely" and it would appear he is OK if he can get OUT before an airport closure as may well be planned. There are other IMPORTANT persons needing to use that airport in the next couple of days so "windows" of opportunity are important of which to take note—I cannot individually instruct because of the further UNDUE focus on everything "we" do. Moreover, with investigators here looking perchance for some of the Tallano-associates including himself, it is probably far safer and less noted if schedules are kept with Mark. Or, if a choice remains to stay until after Thursday next, we can check the new "windows" but it actually does get more complicated to get in and/or out and security must be our primary concern.

Now, if there is still something not understood, please study the paper as there are at least five things to note which are as critical and confrontational as would be possible outside direct confrontation.

Dharma stays "in" for there is actually no need for otherwise—just isolate her as appropriate—I CANNOT BE WITHOUT MY HANDS! Otherwise, be casual and EJ will have "regular activities" which DO NOT give undue attention in a regular mode of movement. Here is where "age" is good reason for "mum" not being out and about too much.

Monday activities? Good grief, we cover Monday on Monday, please.

Global Community Moving Into Cosmic Community

The following brief articles relate to the preceding writing by GCH and are well worthy of your attention. Recent activity all around the "Ring of Fire" has tremendous portent, especially with renewed volcanic activity at Mount St. Helens and elsewhere in the Cascades, along with rumblings from the other side of the Pacific Plate. [QUOTING:]

MAJOR QUAKE ROCKS MANILA

Associated Press, 10/8/04

Manila—An earthquake with a magnitude of 6.4 shook Manila on Friday night, swaying high rises, knocking out power over a wide area and sending frightened residents into the streets. There were no immediate reports of injuries or damage.

The shaking began at 10:35 p.m. and lasted for more than a minute. The epicenter of the quake was on Mindoro island, 55 miles south-southwest of Manila.

The temblor was felt over a wide area, including nearly 90 miles north of the sprawling capital on the main Philippine island of Luzon.

The U.S. Geological Survey in Colorado said on its Web site the magnitude was 6.4 at a depth of about 73 miles. A magnitude 6 quake can cause severe damage.

Panicked residents and hotel guests poured into the capital's streets. Police were easing traffic away from a condemned building that was cracking and dropping debris. Utility company Meralco reported widespread power outages, possibly due to damaged power lines.

The Philippines is along the so-called Pacific "Ring of Fire", where earthquakes and volcanic activity are common. A magnitude 6.2 quake shook Manila and surrounding areas of Luzon three weeks ago.

The Philippine Institute of Vulcanology and Seismology said Friday's quake was believed to be in the same fault line, along the Manila Trench.

A magnitude 7.7 earthquake in 1990 killed nearly 2,000 people on Luzon.

[END QUOTING]

News articles relating to the C130 incident in Manila seemed to disappear from public view rather quickly but we managed to find the following report on an aviation-oriented website. [QUOTING:]

C130 MAKES A SCREECHING HALT, 2 ENGINES OUT, 2 TYRES BLOWN OUT

By "SN26567", 10/11/04

<<http://www.luchtzak.be/article6065.html>>

A Philippine Air Force pilot saved the lives of more than 100 guards Friday when he made an emergency landing after the plane they were traveling in lost power in two of four engines.

Capt. Manuel Zambrano, pilot of the C-130, shut down the inner right-wing engine when it showed an uncontrollable rise in oil temperature just minutes after taking off from the capital, Manila.

Zambrano then disabled the outer right engine after it manifested a "discrepancy" and immediately turned the plane around for an emergency landing at the airport.

Fearing the aircraft could overshoot the runway and plow into vehicles and homes on a nearby road, the pilot stepped on the brakes, causing two tires to blow out but finally bringing the plane to a screeching halt.

The C130 was ferrying 129 members of the Presidential Security Group and several search dogs to central Bohol province.

The presidential guards were transferred to another C-130.

[END QUOTING]

At this point we are going to digress, at the request of management, to reprint an article from the inimitable Soltec, written in 1999, but every bit as timely today with recent activity around the "Ring of Fire". Be prepared and you can mitigate the damages. Better yet, "Change your thinking and you can change your world."

THREE-DIMENSIONAL WORLDS

Professor Soltec present within the wondrous expression of physical mysteries. And, students, if I see farther, it is because I stand high on the shoulders of those who came before me—with a given expression of higher vision and recognition.

You of physical plane are limited by inabilities of higher sensing to reach beyond the limitation of your third-dimensional realizations, but are GIFTED with the capability of reaching beyond that limitation through MIND. However, the MIND must be filled with KNOWLEDGE, not mystical fantasies and mystic myths.

I note that you have grown and some are now truly capable of understanding the statements as to meaning but are patient to allow the learning to take place properly, through a proper sequence of input, so that comprehension of a subject can properly lay foundations upon which TRUE KNOWLEDGE can GROW.

My own experiences allow me to show you that which is limited within your own physical-sensing devices. These things are the things you MUST have to make progressive movement into and within higher realizations. The "topography" does not have to change, but the concepts, realizations, attitudes and mind dynamics MUST CHANGE and flow forward, lest you be swallowed up, as most are entrapped, within the limitations of silliness and foolishness of would-be kings and gods of every sort. THIS IS REASON AND LOGIC INTEGRATED WITHIN THE EMOTIONAL HEART—GIVING, REGIVING AND LOVE OF BROTHERHOOD. IN THIS "CHARACTER" OF EXPRESSION, WE "CREATE" AND, IN CREATING (AS IN CREATION), THERE MUST BE THAT FROM WHICH WE CHOOSE PIECES OUT OF THE UNREASONABLE, ILLOGICAL AND FALSE EXPRESSIONS OF LOVE (WHICH ARE ACTUALLY HATE OR INDIFFERENCE) OF WHAT IS PRESENTED FOR OUR SELECTION.

As an example: If you take "Shaman Oracle" who comes up with a gift from wherever and says, "This clears parasites," wonderful! Share it. BUT, when you read contents of the product and find it is the SAME concoction, basically, as your own product—already proven—WHY CHANGE? If psyllium is the prime cleaning agent in the concoction, then you have an INFERIOR product to our own, in that the cleansing "sweep" is not as effective, has more allergen potential and does not have the ability to "scrape" the clinging (dead or alive) parasites attached to the intestinal wall—just hanging on for dear life, literally. I use this as an example because it is in current consideration from separated-out publishers trying to usurp more product and viewers.

By the way, for the concerted efforts of such as Rick Martin, et al., to be calling customers and clients disclaiming values of New Gaia Products, a new "low" has been achieved. For one wishing to make available, for mankind, drias for instance, to those in Appalachia and Ethiopia, this is a very strange way to accomplish that end; by working diligently to get the very product REMOVED from use by anyone! And yes, keep those records and hold them CLOSELY, for we will not be at disadvantage very much longer—even in "your" counting acceptance.

Drias, for instance, will HOLD FOREVER, for they are crystalline and, when not being fed or lighted, will simply hibernate (go dormant). They feed off light and other atmospheric particles which can actually pass right through glass as if it were not present, and that's all you need to revive the activity. So, drias can actually be stored in open sunlight, if you want.

Colloids hold FOREVER, as well, unless there is some "outside" impact to cause the particulate held in suspension within the solution to be "dropped out". The product is still good, even in that instance, if shaken before use. In small quantities, as in colloidal suspension, there is not enough metal, unless in massive overdose, to give harm. It is not the "best" use of product but, with metals and some minerals, too much can cause problems.

As to the natural products, they too, if stored properly, can have VALUE bordering on "infinity" but will lose some of their quality through time, as energy escapes and returns to its original and natural form. It is this energy radiation that WE USE by setting the silver colloid to "finish" in the energy field of the DRIAS. ENERGY PASSES THROUGH ANY CONTAINER AND DOES ITS OWN ALCHEMIZATION WITH WHATEVER IS NEARBY. EVEN THE VERY AIR SURROUNDING THE DRIAS IS PURELY WONDERFUL AND COULD, IN FACT, "HEAL" SICK AIR. AND NO, NO MAYAN SHAMAN CAN OFFER YOU THIS, MY FRIENDS.

But let us speak of my topic, as a reminder, for the day. I need to again focus on earthquakes because YOU ARE GOING TO EXPERIENCE SOME MIGHTY QUAKES. INDIA CAN, THIS DAY, FROM THE MASSIVE STORM BEING EXPERIENCED, "SHOW" YOU THAT ONE MASSIVE IMPACT OF THAT WHICH IS CALLED "NATURE" CAN AND DOES AFFECT ALL SYSTEMS.

In a relatively closed ecosystem, as is presented by a PLANET, the balance is maintained through the system itself. Get it out of balance and pressures build exponentially, and recovery is difficult as one system after another takes leave of its senses. You are then the pawns, which will be toppled, twitched and shifted as the BIGGER things take no note of you as individuals. The dog, for instance, in shaking off its fleas, is not taking note of a favorite flea, tick or mite.

We of God Creator will have to attend OUR PEOPLE, and Satan will not bother to attend any of his—and we certainly WILL NOT attend them FOR him. No, we do not mean as in "goody two-shoes". We MEAN those in service and coalition with Creator, vs. those who are in direct conflict with our movement in a forward, creative circumstance, toward GOD (goodness and balance in harmony). Separate from God those of God's true messengers and Hosts and you have denied self a ticket OFF THE CLEANSING ORB. Evil is not coming aboard to continue its dirty tricks. Yet, no, it does not mean that myriads of experiencing PEOPLE will be destined to doom, for placement at levels of experience will be cause for placement into proper settings for protection of soul.

We do not need judge, for that will take care of itself. And yes, many of the evil-intended will be left to the chaos, destruction and devastation of that which they have created. The better and positive “world” will move forward as we create her to evolve, while the remaining unbalanced “HELL” remains also intact but most uncomfortable as to living facilities. It is time we suggest you pay more attention to John’s revelation.

The FACTS are—and are those which are ignored and used against you—that there is a major SEPARATION already evolved. We have the basic “ingredients” already in place, and all that is necessary is the coalition of the parts thereof to simply have a major separation, as the goodly-intended move away and forward and the evil-intended remain or slide backward within their entrapment. We have no TIME, as you express it, however, to dwell on these topics, for the time of presentation is passed and we must move on. The information, as in these writings, will be established and mankind can grow of his own volition—IF HE SO CHOOSES. Those who serve in goodness will, of choice, be on the Lighted “side” of the mid-line. Those who are serving the evil side will simply, by stance, be pulled onto that side of the proverbial “line”. WE DO NOT MAKE THOSE DISTINCTIONS—YOU MAKE YOUR OWN DISTINCTIONS, AND IGNORANCE MAY WELL SERVE SOME, BUT IF AVAILABLE TO TRUTH—IT WILL SERVE YOU NEGATIVELY. You KNOW when what you are doing is WRONG, and all the conjuring and preaching or voting will NOT MAKE IT RIGHT.

FOLLOW WITH OR WITHIN THE LIE AND YOU ARE STUCK WITHIN IT. YOU MAY WELL FOOL SOME PEOPLE, YEA, EVEN ALL THE TIME, BECAUSE THEY ARE BASICALLY ALREADY SHARING THE LIE AND INTENT THEREOF. BUT YOU CANNOT FOOL GOD ANY OF THE TIME! SO, THOSE FOLLOWING THE LIE HAD BEST START TAKING A GOOD, HARD AND NOW, HURRIED LOOK AT SELVES AND INNER TRUTH. “THAT” IS WHAT IS MEANT BY “GOING WITHIN” TO ESTABLISH TRUTH FOR SELF. AND YES, INDEED, SOME HAVE “BLOWN IT” BIGTIME!

Let us look briefly at that to which you can pretty well relate, as to circumstances and individuals in your life: Have you ever done EVERYTHING right, only to see it all turn out wrong, in your perception? Does that mean you’re a bad person? Does it mean God has rejected you? Of course not. THIS IS “LIVING” AND IT IS CALLED “EXPERIENCE/EXPERIENCING”. Certainly, Ron Carlson did NOTHING remotely wrong—but he ended up in prison! So, what can you do when these things of injustice are done unto you? You keep right on doing and going with that which is RIGHT. Listen to Truth, respect and follow GOD’S directions and STAY CLOSE TO HIM. Then, beloved ones, stand back and watch HIM work HIS PERFECT PLAN. Within Truth, Love and Light—IS GOD—and that is THAT WHICH IS YOU!

ADVERSITIES ARE ONLY BLESSINGS IN DISGUISE!

WHEN ALL GOES WRONG, REMEMBER—“NOTHING” HAS GONE WRONG.

REVAMPING OF CREW

“Revamping” is only “my” chosen term for allowing easier flow of information, filling in where we need help (i.e. pictures, etc., which cannot inexpensively be provided from off-shore) and also allowing for more topics of timely interest to be presented in CONTACT. Our issues received in Manila are awaited like a new supply of candy in the candy store. YOU ARE A

GLOBAL—AND WE ARE ALL NOW MOVING INTO A COSMIC—COMMUNITY. Accept that fact, for there is no running back to “before” Kentucky Fried Chicken and McDonalds. The people of the Philippines have as much right to ruin their health as anyone else in an affluent society. YOU CANNOT GO BACK AND CHANGE THAT WHICH IS PAST. We now move forward with opportunity to CHANGE the infrastructure, improve the ecology—and perhaps the impact, even as Nature can recover, will bring a start toward balance. You DO NOT take away the things of wondrous technology and societal gifts—you improve the quality of the people’s perception, desires and capabilities to have the things of thriving lifestyles. You will not have pornography and dissipation when an individual has his dream and actually experiences possibilities turned about into growth, rather than oblivion in alternative distractions. And yes, WE CAN DO THAT!

We are, therefore, depending on such as John Ray to continue to keep up with the wonderful information flow on banking, gold and other such topics, so that they are not missed while we attend other focused attention.

And yes, Ron, thank you for the quake information. And do, please, provide the pictures that make information understood. MOST of the people of today CANNOT READ WITH COMPREHENSION.

I ask, for myself, that anything of importance coming across the lines to your attention be run, if space is available—and we can discuss it later, if necessary. Advance opportunity is good but this scribe is swamped. The variety of contributions is extremely well-advised, and we realize that it is easier to begin structuring a paper and getting part of it to layout EARLY in the week, prior to press day.

For instance, and to not overgo my own boss, the Marcos material can be “bumped” in favor of a variety of urgent topics. We give and take to allow us to make it through a tight economic time. This limitation is just about finished and, therefore, yes indeed, we will need workers, contributors and free-lance writers. WE WILL NOT, HOWEVER, EVER GO INTO THE “RECEIVING” LINES. NO MORE. THAT WAS NECESSARY, AND WE HAD TO TAKE DRASTIC SURGICAL MEASURES TO SEPARATE OUT THE PRETENDERS, SO THAT “NO REFERENCE OR FUTURE CONNECTION WOULD LUMP US WITHIN THOSE SPECTRUM PROJECTIONS”.

CONTACT was being totally destroyed as a truth-flow paper. The cult group had to be put aside. They chose to keep the Spectrum paper as nearly like CONTACT as possible to grab publicity and subscribers. It WILL fail, but not until we are ready to bring that final curtain down. We want the public to realize the absurd and evil activities of the people involved, so as to NOT EVER AGAIN CONSIDER ANY CONNECTION. I MEAN, NEVER AGAIN.

What of those who got “sucked in” by them? What of them? Choices are two-way avenues—OF THOUGHT. Every individual has THE SAME AND EQUAL appropriation of THOUGHT-processing and decision-making. If they don’t immediately have all data—then they should certainly acquire it—but that, also, is a choice.

It is much as with earthquakes, readers: Most people do NOT wish to be informed. They want the magical knowing of WHEN, and HOW BIG and where “THEY” should be to avoid negative impact. They do not wish to be bored with information, insight or facts.

Ah but, when you know FACTS, you don’t find mind-games or mystics flourishing OR fortunetellers thriving.

I would like to leave the “general” discussions here and move on to a couple of articles coming into focus. One is EXTREMELY important for the West Coast of California, and the other is a general discussion of a newly discovered “type” of fault construction. Actually, both that I use today will deal with two of these categories. THE PROJECTIONS REGARDING THE NORTHWEST U.S. FAULT CENTERS SHOULD BE UNDER CONSTANT ATTENTION. WHEN YOU HAVE MULTIPLE DISRUPTIONS AROUND THE WHOLE OF ANY GIVEN PLATE HUB, YOU ARE GOING TO ATTRACT METEORITES BECAUSE OF THE MAGNETIC WAVE PULLING-POWER UNLEASHED. WITH THIS “CORRUPTION” UNDER THE SEAS AND IMPACTING OBJECTS FROM THE COSMOS, YOU HAVE A SETUP FOR DEVASTATION TO MATCH SCALLION’S MAPPING. Frankly, anything SHORT OF THAT is wondrous to contemplate. And yes, to you back home, it is good to be in an area that may well shake, rattle and roll, but the desirable place to ride it out—is in an area that will undergo upthrust. Indeed, there are ancient signs available for the looking, on the ocean side of, say, the Los Angeles area. A lot of that “ocean front” will take a wondrous ride UPWARD as that Pacific Plate subducts—and before it “rolls under itself”—there will be surface shaking of incredible size and major damage, but most will easily SURVIVE. Strangely enough, you will find that much of the city, itself, as in L.A., will stand—damaged, but mostly intact.

The present projection from our viewpoint is to get those cross-fault gas lines shut down and the infrastructure lines closed off to prevent the devastation by the fires that will be started. If you can maintain a way to get those “temporary” fires extinguished, most human life will be spared. So our intent is to, hopefully, get the gas turned OFF before it reaches the ruptures AT QUAKE SITE, keep all water flow intact as long as possible—but it will be brief—and handle the cross-fault electric chaos as orderly as is possible; and that means a cutting of flow where those lines coalesce, at production sites. Can we do that? YES. It will not seem very “perfect” to the experiencing multitudes, but yes, we can assist in much of that operation. It is better to be WITHOUT electricity than to have sparking lines igniting gas pockets.

In the San Bernardino area, for instance, there will be a massive slippage, which will snap those fault-crossing gas mains; and that will dump the heavier-than-air gases into Earth proximity, while presenting a devastating ball of fuel to feed incredible fires. We won’t even talk about devastation to oxygen supplies, but the oxygen will be taken up by and with the gases and, actually, turn the fires into infernos.

I would like to simply copy a couple of things which we can take up at length later, if desirable, but of which you need be aware in the U.S., right now. THIS IS “SERIOUS” TIME.

[QUOTING from the Philippine Star, Nov. 2, 1999:]

RESEARCHERS SAY FAULT MORE LETHAL THAN PREVIOUSLY BELIEVED

IRVINE, California (AP)—A newly discovered fault beneath the coastal section of Orange County could generate a bigger earthquake than previously believed, according to a recent study.

The 24-mile (40-kilometer) BLIND THRUST fault, which runs near Los Angeles, from Huntington Beach to Dana Point, was discovered in March (1999). At that time, researchers estimated that it could generate a magnitude 7.0 earthquake every 2,500 years.

But researchers now believe the fault could cause a magnitude 7.3 earthquake, according to a study published in November’s Geology magazine, which hit the newsstands last week [November 1999]. [S: How many of you take regularly, Geology? Do you begin to see what an uphill go of it we actually have going in order to get information, of even the most limited items, to you?]

The fault appears to be similar to the blind thrust fault system that caused a 1994 California quake in Northridge, which struck with a magnitude of 6.7, killing 72 people and causing an estimated $40 billion in damage. [S: They fail to make our point about preparation, right here; the people died because of the devastating lack of proper considerations. When freeways and apartment buildings collapse on themselves, while one next-door stands, at least enough to protect life, you have MANMADE PROBLEMS—SO STOP BLAMING GOD. HOW DO YOU KNOW OR HOW DO YOU CHECK OUT THESE THINGS? MY GOODNESS, IT IS YOUR LIFE—FIND OUT HOW, FOR I AM NOT IN THE APARTMENT-BUILDING DEPARTMENT. But, people, 72 dead people out of some near 20-million population is, indeed, very limited and quite relatively minute. However, never underestimate that, to the dead party, it is 100% fatal.]

Blind thrust faults produce quakes when one side pushes UPWARD but does NOT break the surface. Others, like the San Andreas Fault, are STRIKE-SLIP systems that generate quakes when one side moves horizontally against the other. [END OF QUOTING]

Next, we will consider a writing from the Internet, sent by Ron K. for my comments. I have already made enough comments, but we will offer the article (with any comments blaring at us for same) and ask him to integrate the diagrams he has gathered.

STUDY INDICATES UNEXPECTED EARTHQUAKE DANGERS LIE BENEATH THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST

When it comes to damaging earthquakes in the Pacific Northwest [USA], everyone worries about “The Big One”, a great THRUST EARTHQUAKE caused by the rupture of a huge offshore fault beneath the ocean, but there are other kinds of earthquakes that may be just as dangerous.

In fact, the most damaging earthquake in the U.S. Pacific Northwest in this century was a different type of shock called an “INTRASLAB” earthquake. That magnitude 7.1 event occurred in 1949 beneath Olympia, Washington and caused over $100 million in damage.

A new study by Arizona State University geologist Simon M. Peacock and Kelin Wang, a geoscientist at the Geological Survey of Canada’s Pacific Geoscience Centre, provides firm support for a recent theory that explains how intraslab earthquakes work and confirms the hazard posed to certain geographic areas. The study appears in the October 29 issue of Science. [S: How many of you readers regularly take SCIENCE?]

Both great thrust earthquakes and intraslab earthquakes occur in “subduction zones”, where oceanic crust dives beneath the edge of a continent. [S: Yes, this is inclusive of “blind thrust faults”.] Great thrust earthquakes occur at SHALLOW DEPTHS of 0 to 50 kilometers, along the sloping boundary between the descending plate and the continental margin. In contrast, intraslab earthquakes occur within the descending oceanic crust at depths of 50 to 300 kilometers beneath the surface and are caused by different processes.

“The risks posed by intraslab earthquakes have not been fully incorporated into seismic hazard analysis,” said Peacock. “In many cases, such as the Pacific Northwest, these less-easily-understood earthquakes occur closer to major population centers than the larger, offshore earthquakes. The historic record bears this out.”

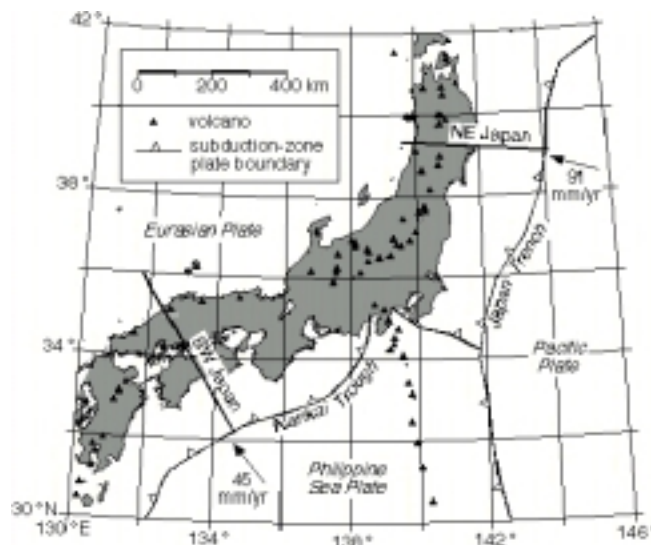

In 1996, Stephen H. Kirby and colleagues at the U.S. Geological Survey proposed a mechanism for intraslab earthquakes which is supported by the current study. Basically, Kirby’s theory proposes intraslab earthquakes occur because the intense heat and pressure in subduction zones metamorphose (or change) the descending oceanic crust into denser rocks. These mineralogical changes cause the subducting oceanic crust to liberate water stored in the original minerals and to reactivate pre-existing faults.

“In the absence of water, these faults would not move because of the weight of the overlying rocks,” said Peacock. “The liberated water essentially lubricates the fault—pumping up the water pressure causes the fault to slip.” [S: Realize, also, that in times of what you are calling “warming”, by whatever title you give it, you have two factors—heat and pressure—causing a remarkable lubrication and cushion of expansion allowing, or actually demanding, a major slippage, with all the concurrent occurrences set into motion from friction, motion, displacement and shifting. The El Ninos and La Ninas are incredibly important but not for the reasons usually presented to you. Perhaps I should say, in addition to these things presented to you here.]

Peacock and Wang tested Kirby’s theory by comparing two subduction zones in Japan, carefully calculating the temperature of the subducting oceanic crust and comparing their seismic and volcanic records. Confirming Kirby’s theory, the results showed that the oceanic crust subducting beneath southwest Japan—a “warm” subduction zone—should liberate water at shallower depths and thus trigger only shallow intraslab earthquakes and less volcanic activity, as compared to activity in the cold subduction zone beneath northeast Japan.

“Things happen much deeper beneath northeast Japan because the subducting crust is much colder, and water is released at much greater depth,” said Peacock. “It’s the water being released at depth that generates these intraslab earthquakes and subduction-zone volcanoes. Intraslab earthquakes occur at relatively shallow depths beneath southwest Japan because the subducting oceanic crust is warmer.”

Like southwest Japan, the Pacific Northwest (northern California, Oregon, Washington and southern British Columbia) and southern Mexico are underlain by warm subduction zones.

“The Vancouver-Seattle-Tacoma area may be more at risk from an intraslab earthquake than from a larger earthquake along the offshore trench,” Peacock said. “This risk has only recently been recognized. We’re starting to realize that we have to worry about a magnitude 7-7.5 intraslab earthquake located 50 km beneath Seattle or Vancouver, as well as a magnitude 8 or 9 out on the coast.” [S: RIGHT! DEFINITELY RIGHT! BECAUSE WHAT YOU WILL HAVE—AS THAT SHALLOW FAULT BREAKS OR SLIPS AT LARGE MAGNITUDE—IS THAT IT WILL TRIGGER THE DEEPER TRENCH FAULT AND YOU HAVE MASSIVE DOUBLE-TROUBLE. THIS HOLDS TRUE FOR ALL COASTAL LINES WHERE THERE IS SUBDUCTION. AND, MOREOVER, THAT INCLUDES ALMOST ALL COASTAL LANDS, BECAUSE THAT IS WHY THE LAND-MASSSES BECAME IN THE FIRST PLACE.]

“Large intraslab earthquakes occur quite frequently. Just last month, on September 30, a magnitude 7.4 intraslab earthquake shook Oaxaca, Mexico, killing at least 27 people.”

Peacock, whose main field of expertise is metamorphic petrology, points out that this study is an example of how specialized scientific research can sometimes yield information with real significance to everyday life. “For years I have studied metamorphism, a largely academic subject. Now we’ve learned that there is a solid connection between metamorphic processes and earthquakes that have killed tens of thousands of people,” he said.

Peacock and Wang tested Kirby’s theory by comparing “warm” and “cold” subduction zones—zones that differ by as much as 300 degrees centigrade, at depths greater than 50 km. Because heat is an important factor in causing minerals to metamorphose, they predicted that changes in the rock would occur at shallower depth in the warm zone than in the cold zone and that, consequently, intermediate-depth earthquakes would be shallower in the warm zone. They also predicted that there would be more volcanic activity in the cold zone, because the deeper metamorphic changes would release water at greater depth, causing the melting of the overlying mantle.

The study looked at two subduction zones in Japan, carefully calculating their temperature differences and comparing their seismic and volcanic records. Confirming Kirby's theory, the results showed that the subduction zone for southwest Japan—a "warm" zone—recorded shallower earthquakes and less volcanic activity than the northeast Japan's cold subduction zone.

I have so much to credit and so many to whom credit is due—and such a short space allotted for so doing. Please accept our appreciation. I would remind all of you, and specifically Pete Q. (C), who does drawings in cartoon fashion for CONTACT: A PICTURE IS WORTH A THOUSAND WORDS—AND EXPERIENCE IS BEYOND ALL. Thank you, dharmā. Be prepared for overwork but, while we have a bit of a lull in document preparation on an urgent scale, we have to take advantage of opportunity while the topics are "hot".

As we can afford, financially, more and larger papers, we will simply include more human hands and minds to accumulate data. Man better believes that which is presented from a source he can see and accept. This allows for unlimited resources and, yes, we can eventually get it onto Internet web-site(s), and we won't be bound to the keyboard. Things are taking shape, even if they are UNSEEN. Hold strong, and KNOW—all things are working in perfection—we happen to have THE leader.

I am here, therefore, asked to give recognition to some who have gone to Tehachapi and asked to assist, from hands-on service, as in paper mailing, to outright offer of buying the house to end the strife. Accept the help and now, even yes, Millers—for there is no damage to the Spectrum kids getting improper information "before its time". These things are strictly up to the ones working as the team back there. I don't think, however, Millers will enjoy working among the displaced fragments of Ekkers' lives. But I'm sure that those such as Lucy would dearly enjoy being included. We each learn from experiences, and we each learn a very important lesson—TO WAIT UNTIL THE TIME/SEQUENCE IS RIGHT, AND DO NOT TRY TO CHANGE A SYSTEM UNTIL YOU UNDERSTAND THE OLD—AND APPRECIATE THE PERSONS IN CHARGE. Lucy, for instance, could really help but, at this time, not with the dwelling. There is a purpose for the mess of the dwelling—and we have only just begun with that circumstance.

So, think carefully about Millers, for the Spectrum group is going to USE Millers, unmercifully—and so it has to move in its own volition. We must act within and under shelter of LAW. That means that the criminal parasites who have attached to Millers have to be cleansed away—and, unfortunately, Millers are now caught in the middle, or worse, in the clutches of the parasites themselves, who struggle for existence off the host and, in this house/property matter, they are surviving by sucking on Millers.

GOD IS MERCIFUL AND GOD IS JUST. GOD IS ALWAYS AT READY TO OFFER GRACE TO ANY AND ALL WHO COME IN HUMBLE INTENT AND RIGHTEOUS SERVICE. WHEN THIS HAPPENS, THE PARASITES HAVE NO HOST! SIMPLE!

Salu, Soltec to clear.

RE: A TIME OF "NEED" FOR GIVING, RECEIVING AND SOME RECEIVING OF INPUT BEYOND PRICE—DJE

WALKING A VERY NARROW AND HARROWING PATH

We walk, or drag, our way (running when we can) through the "daze" we call "days" and at the end of the little blips called weeks we end up, certainly, recognizing the outrageous presentations but still able to laugh at the incredible experiences.

I am totally amazed at what presents and how little works its way through except as to the myriad of "receivers" who are extremely selective in their own perceptions.

WE DO A PAPER! WE ARE UNDERWAY IN A COMMITTED "JOB"! THIS IS NOT SOME "RELIGIOUS" "CHANGE ALL MINDS" ENDEAVOR; IT IS A PHYSICAL EXPRESSION IN A VERY MANIFEST WORLD OF PHYSICAL EXPRESSIONS WITH OVER 7-BILLION INDIVIDUAL RECEPTION VIEW-POINTS.

We just received an email from a very great distance wanting some great debate on, as we gather in assumption, Sai Baba, some -krishnas and -anandas since I personally don't recall the names offered to present the topic focus of such debate.

In the past many years, piles of "stuff" have flown through the wireless networks calling Sai Baba everything from a child abuser to a molesting scam artist.

WE, EJ AND I, KNOW ALL BUT "NOTHING" ABOUT BABA, JUDE, EDITH OR WHO IN THE WORLD SPEAKS TO NIDLE FROM A SO-CALLED "GALACTIC FEDERATION".

Do "I", Doris, recognize one called "Lord Michael"? Yes, but is he THE one who teaches through "X", "Y" OR "Z"? I have absolutely NO notion or opinion—EXCEPT FOR THE SPECIFIC INFORMATION GIVEN FORTH. Those opinions are mine and are according to our (my) own learning or realization or EXPERIENCE. Truth is truth; lies are simply statements or presentations to be determined as in "not the truth" through discernment and realization based on KNOWN FACTS. Some lies take longer to uncover, as with total frauds and deceivers, than others who attach to our beings and often act as sucking parasites.

So, where does a Sai Baba fit in the definition of "a person"? Well, I have witnessed many who experienced personally with Baba and they are, by golly, incredibly decent people who certainly have done nothing to harm us or, to our knowledge, our mission at hand. That could be in "error" as expressed for what another presents is none of my business except as it might impact MY JOURNEY and "life-stream". "Individual" is exactly THAT, "individual" and "unique" where sometimes we can COLLECTIVELY have a "common goal" and strive to, TOGETHER, achieve a "given" end. That means that I have no right, reason or position for opinions regarding any entity of which I personally have no expression or insight.

If people have invested funds to go to India to meet Baba and are disappointed in some way, who is to be responsible? Baba demands NOTHING nor that anyone "come unto me". He (I assume he is a "he") expresses in a human individual format walking on two legs and feet (when they are not broken) and openly shares HIS opinions and teachings as HE sees it. If he is NOT whom he represents then the visiting individual must be discerning enough to determine that for "SELF". We have found the best teachers are actually the ones most commonly referred to as imposters, frauds and certainly have damaged us the very most in the physical expression.

Do "we" somehow cling to some "Clingon" from space cadet school or the university of higher Cohans? Yes and no—we discern TRUTH where found and pay no attention to the dogmas or doctrines which are set forth by some "MAN/MEN" along their own individual pathways to what has worked out to be disaster upon disaster—in lies, graft, corruption and false teachings.

JEWISH ACCUSATIONS

Are we concerned that we are accused by such as VK Durham as being anti-Semitic, as a good example, and "hate filled"? Not really, for we are not either. "Semitic" is simply descriptive of people in the "Holy Land" version of "people" and is a "designation" which certainly includes those Muslims, Islamics, Jewish, Palestinians, and oh gosh, hypocrites or righteous of the area as a whole. It is later choices of "defining" (INCORRECTLY) the "Jewish" (Jews) as being THE "Semites" that bogs the ability of uneducated and "ignorant" (by choice or lack of opportunity) to somehow learn about themselves or the world—CORRECTLY PRESENTED. And "hate"? When there are laws against a given "crime" how does one then determine how "hate" might be involved—murder and war are prime examples of HATE-CAUSED INCIDENTS and facts are: in every CRIME, hate of the one intentionally damaged or injured stems from hate or, at the least, self-greed of the perpetrator.

UNTIL WE CAN "LOVE ONE ANOTHER" it is totally OBVIOUS that we will NOT be without wars, crimes and those things of human NON-righteous spirit that will prevail upon our persons in this arena of limitation and ego-centered illusion, delusion and allusion.

I, personally, have quoted more rabbis than considered Gurus and "Masters", ascended or otherwise. Forgotten? THAT "Jesus" (Christos) was presented AS AN ISRAELITE (not "Israeli") and not, frankly a "Jew". That term did not become definitive until our thirteenth century when it was CHOSEN as a designation by the Khazarian empire citizens and established by the hierarchy of same. YOU CANNOT EVEN DEFINE "JEW" FOR THE CONFUSION IS OVERWHELMING. IS "IT" A RELIGIOUS DESIGNATION? IS "IT" A RACE

OF SOME KIND? IS “IT” A CHOSEN OF GOD ESTABLISHED “ONLY” ACCEPTABLE TRAVELER? WELL, WHERE THEN, DO THE CALVINISTS, BAPTISTS AND METHODISTS “FIT”? Apparently all of us designated and non-designated persons are “Goyim” and THAT means all beings other than “Jewish”. Well, that makes me a Goyim even would I be a Jew. And, of course, I cannot be a Jew because VK Durham says with factual and emphatic license that I am a “False Muslim” which means, I have no idea what, in her, or possibly, “your” definition dictionary.

Am I an “Atononian”? Good grief, does recognizing God have to bear brokers and nitpickers? We do not set ourselves up as anything but we KNOW from whence comes our guidance and to whom we give respect and service. This means: “no more—no less”. Others can “receive” anything they “receive” and it is certainly NONE OF OUR BUSINESS, OR YOURS, quite frankly stated “in my opinion”.

We are coming upon two holidays of celebration and we find that Satan’s celebration of both Halloween AND THAT WONDROUS “CHRISTMAS” overshadows all recognition of pure truth, goodness and love in understanding. We might as well go buy a pumpkin and express our thoughts as in make faces of our preferred dragons.

If my “God of goodness” is not stronger and more powerful than the “god of trite trickery” then I certainly would not spend my limited days playing in the pumpkin patch, for I would at least try to make some “pie” out of the squash presented. And “gifts” (Presents from Santa)? Why would I expect SOMETHING FOR NOTHING? I KNOW that when I offer NOTHING I shall receive nothing of value in a long-term value-system.

So, I serve where I receive the most value in return—peace, love, treasures beyond physical measure, brotherhood and frankly: POWER BEYOND THE ORDINARY.

We sit in a physical world where there are accounted over 7-billion persons and growing off the planetary map. We are entrusted with two of the most brilliantly orchestrated plans for change and THE WAY to achievement—and we bitch, moan and complain that it seems “so slow” (TOO SLOW FOR US) in our ability to get it whacked out and working for this handful of people who would rather bicker over Baba than make a worthy contribution to REALITY. To each his/her own “thing” for certainly we twist no arms, coerce no-one nor do we “have to” place any above or before another—except our brothers who equally serve and share this outrageous and one in a hundred thousand billion opportunities for service to our brothers called mankind. That recognition is certainly sufficient for my own little needs of any day.

“Ah, but you KNOW, and we do not,” comes the next statement from the kibitzers. ALL IN THE WORLD(S) OF EXPRESSION THAT “I KNOW” CANNOT BE WHAT “YOU” KNOW. The rather cryptic notation of “for me to KNOW, and you to find out” seems suitable but somewhat ignorant of some type of modesty. You are most certainly welcome to KNOW anything and, obviously, everything that I know—AND AS THE GREAT TEACHER SAID, “DO, AND MORE”. However, to take over and push and shove to DO MY JOB is not only UN-acceptable but I cannot even “share” that personal “belief IN KNOWING”.

GOD HAS PROVEN “HIS” CONFIRMATION

AND CAPABILITIES AT EVERY TURN IN OUR EXPERIENCE AND YET WE CANNOT SIMPLY TRANSFER SOME “KNOWING” OR EVEN “RECOGNITION” AS TO YOUR RELATIONSHIP WITH ANYONE OR ANYTHING.

If anyone feels it appropriate to make every effort available to tear us down, destroy us or whatever, it is not in our ability to change that intention—as is proven by that which our “partners”, who exclaimed full brotherhood and intent for accomplishment of this same mission, presented along the way in negative, THEY ASSUMED, actions. What happened was the most remarkable relief of burdens we could ever possibly imagine and lessons far beyond the “classroom” memory work. EXPERIENCE HAS TAUGHT US WELL AND WE SHALL PREVAIL IN THIS OUR APPOINTED TASK.

Even dear VK has only pointed out how totally absurd the tricksters can be, and in the end of the way, prove OUR claims and negate their own while causing a proof beyond question as to our holdings, capabilities and the reality of the ventures themselves. If You believe that this program is not orchestrated by some “higher-authority” and MIND than two little old folks from “share-cropper-cowboy” days, then I concern for YOUR discernment ability.

Ah but—it has to be all accomplished, that which we do, in a human, physical, reasonable (even if it seems unreasonable) and even “logical” way. So be it—God has “time” upon which he places NO importance while “time” remains our only guideline to recognized success or failure—even in our own expression manifestation as “person”.

The next abstract comment is now often, “Who cares what you think?”

Oh, well, ok, then all I can suggest is that you not read this or anything else we present for I can only offer “what is” and if this mission has no interest for “you” then I can only offer that you not be informed about the program or project for it will matter little. However, to those who consider themselves A PART of this amazing odyssey, we will continue to express, share and, at the least, make an effort to give mile-posts along the hiway to “somewhere out there” as we “ETs phone home!”

My own attention has to be turned mostly to IMF-WB-IBC and other rather manipulative organizations and individuals along the way (Bushes and Thistles included). I do NOT need to criticize a “teacher” of any ilk nor do I need to offend or defend Sai Baba. HE IS NOT AN IMPOSTER—HE IS EXACTLY WHO HE PRESENTS “HIMSELF” TO BE—REAL OR FANTASY.

I have more personal input or observations about those who give rats, monkeys and elephants a place of DEITY. I would suggest that those people rather bow to giant bugs—only to find that some already are there and do that! If you, however, can’t decide on your own GOD OF CREATION then certainly I cannot argue the point suitably.

I am continually entertained by the current attitude that somehow “litigation” solves ANYTHING. Even criminal trials are made the “choose a side” for or against the accused and the legal TV know-it-alls—condemn and rarely defend the accused party ON TV LONG BEFORE THE COURT CAN EVEN BEGIN A TRIAL. Wow, really “constitutional”? This is a time when a “Nancy Grace” of Court TV decides the guilt, innocence or lack of court truth to evolve. These, mostly women (pay attention), are the most bloodthirsty “off with the heads” ever presented to make “reality TV” bring horror and terror to your very beings. We have met a few along the way, haven’t we? The guilty go free and the innocent go to prison! Check it out.

I certainly didn’t sit to expound on this to great extent but one of the last emails from Brazil, yet, caused me to ponder greatly on this matter of “who shall lead” and who has to follow. I certainly asked NO ONE to “come follow me” and surely NEVER to “give up everything and come follow me”. I can’t even follow myself across the street so why would I consider even dragging you into the path of Ayala Ave. traffic “maze of death” reality experience? If your intent is to simply hold your “things” on the safe side of the street—then so be it and certainly, do not go with me—for I cherish no “things” and certainly do not play on the “safe side” of anything “just because”. IF WE DO NOT “RISK” LIVING AND LIVING IN TRUTH—WHAT IS WORTHY OF THE EXPERIENCE IN THE FIRST, MIDDLE OR LAST INSTANCE?

To Ellen, my dearest friend, “about those kittens” of which you speak: I think you might well “plant” some cat food among your Iris so that your neighbor can think you are only “nuts” instead of turning you in for being “kind” to an abandoned “cat mother”. Then you might point out the lack of mice and rats in your garden

Commander even pointed out to us that millions of people would love to have the food-resource of those hand-raised, clean animals because they are reduced today, even in the Philippines, of eating rats, insects, even cats and dogs—JUST TO STAY ALIVE.

I recall the rather abrupt and pointed lessons to our “farmer” of great repute when he was allowing his children, yea encouraging them, to beat the ground squirrels into bloody pulps, poisoning, and creating poisoned “food” for the eagles and happenstance wildlife predators. Commander suggested the following: Dump a load of those “free” carrots unused from the massive carrot fields into a pile in an unused area of the fields and FEED THE LITTLE CRITTERS. Just as promised, the squirrels (protected by law, in fact) gathered, ate, drank colloid/OxySol-treated water provided outside the irrigation system and withdrew from damaging the crops in almost total measure.

We therefore tried it at our home and we had a LIVING area instead of a dead-poisoned space. The little creatures will move right to the “greenbelt” if that is where you share with them; even to the coons, foxes and deer. WHY DO WE HAVE TO KILL EVERYTHING TO SATISFY OUR BLOOD LUST?

And how about this concept for intelligence: Incarcerated President Erap Estrada has come forth, from prison yet, with a plan now being established at his expense and through contributions to HELP THESE PEOPLE WHO ARE IN TOTAL POVERTY AND ARE STARVING BEFORE OUR EYES. He is giving a bit of sustaining rice, etc., but is distributing GARDEN SEEDS, FIELD CROP SEEDS AND FINGERLING FRY (FISH) FOR THE PONDS AND FISH-TANKS. Here fish are “farmed” as we might “farm” those nice ground squirrels—if we had any sense at all.

Ah but, guess what: The government is trying its darndest to STOP HIM! And there we have it in a nutshell of Elite vs. starving masses. Can we really wonder at uprisings and revolutions against the perpetrators of such injustice?

DO WE MAKE HEADWAY IN THIS TIDAL WAVE OF WALL-BUILDING?

Yes indeed—ONE STEP AT A TIME.

We are now in a position of PROVING our position with the now recognized “TA FDN” (FDN). We have already established through the very underground networks of international sharing, the standing of even the Global Alliance Investment Association (GAIA). The very title presents its “fact” in that it is an “alliance” to serve ultimately, “globally” for “investment” INTO (not commercial stock market shams) production of “assistance” through “association” giving all people a chance at funding, growing, honest participation and “clean up the mess”.

The FDN is “supposed” to have enough gold, recognized FOR years through the courts themselves, to give foundation to anything and everything we can present—without burdensome taxes or usury! Is it, therefore, any wonder that we would have enemies in the form of bankers, Elite power brokers, stock market icons and the general run-of-the-mill criminal gangs who live OFF OF EVERYONE “ELSE”?

Is it difficult to get it working? How about getting those “camels through the needle’s eye” which seemed to be impressive enough for the accepted “teacher’s” parable regarding rich-men attaining heaven.

So, is “it” really real?

Of course, but it is difficult and tedious in almost every aspect of “in-the-face” of all odds against us.

BUT, we are moving smartly along if facts be considered. The “opposition” has now tried every “known to them” way to dissolve our position along with the FDN, harass and pressure anyone involved (basically, EXCEPT us as individuals) as they try for getting original documents, leave us holding the economic hot-potato and thus and so. Hasn’t worked so far and now we have acquired as “our” attorney (not the FDN’s) in the person of the last JUDGE ordering up the final res judicata executory orders, which are irreversible UNTIL ALL ORDERS ARE ANSWERED AND FUNDS PAID.

Now, I consider that a step in the RIGHT direction that gives protection to all of us, INCLUDING the Judge, who by the way, we only have present in meetings for his own observations regarding his intent in those long-standing and re-stated ORDERS.

The Judge is on “leave” from being a Judge because he stepped down from the bench to run for a mayoral position. He lost the election but is free to practice law and consult as he sees fit without cause for reflection on his position for prior legal standing. We will certainly protect our relationship AND HIS. However, he can honorably tell us what we do wrong and what we might do correctly according to the RULE OF LAW.

He is attending our meetings of the FDN as a guest of “ours” and we can anticipate some better insight to standing “orders” right from “the horse’s mouth”, so to speak. We reached the point of having to have legal assistance and now, doesn’t this work out well?

Amongst the interesting things of recent findings is our friend, Alan Pagua’s new and interesting consulting situation. He has been retained as some kind of “consultant” on the LAW to the Marcoses. I mention this only because the FDN is ordered by the court to also reclaim those Marcos funds presumed to be unlawfully acquired. Well, funny thing: Marcos was PAID by the very FDN parties to handle gold and got some 180+ thousand metric tons for the service to be split between himself and his partner. Right or wrong? No comment but our “orders” are to “reclaim” it. In the long run it will mean that what belongs rightfully to the Marcos family can be accounted properly and get the filthy hands of the grafters off the asset MEANT FOR THE PEOPLE.

Fifty percent of the so-called “Tallano” “estate” is, by order of the court—FOR THE PEOPLE OF THE PHILIPPINES. Other “land” was deeded and transferred to the Muslim Sultans with full recognition and annotation of William Howard Taft, governor at the time in the Philippines and later President of the U.S. No errors, it is all right there in court records.

This means that the current debates over who might be KING SULTAN is not worthy of much our attention for we have no input to Sultanates or grabbers of the “other” kind. Certainly Ekkers have no advantage except that our GAIA position is recognized and established and waiting for USE.

Now, today, we enter Holy month of Ramadan for the Muslims with fasting and praying until the next “new moon”. This pretty much shuts down most of the ongoing meetings, peace or otherwise, until it is over.

What it really does is give the U.S. and allies a chance to get as much loot shipped out of that area as is possible while the spiritually-oriented citizens are putting their heads to Mecca and cannot “see”. This, while the Outback “ostriches” have yanked their heads out of the sand and are “full-steam” ahead as Australia moves to salvage her place in such locations as Papua New Guinea, etc. Boy, that “Coalition of the Willing” might have no merit in Iraq but it sure does have impact in the Queen’s lands called “Commonwealth”.

U.S. INVESTIGATORS

Just when we thought someone might come and “investigate us openly” we are disappointed as the U.S. agents are here in great force—but not for “us”. Worse yet, the position of Gloria Arroyo, el Presidente, is being hit hard by the very entities who have built her position, ie., IMF, WB, Brokerage houses such as Goldman Sachs and by golly, hitting on the very graft of the Armed Forces top personnel as they stole from the U.S. as in equipment, money and you name it—“bribery”, kickbacks and outright theft. There is no way to even keep up with the daily revelations here. It makes the Bush-Kerry debates look quite quaint and silly in the face of this slapstick movie taking place right here in Paradise of the Pacific.

Just wait until Kerry hits that old “SUPERFUND” of Bush’s (elder) days. Oops! Where is VK when we all need her? I guess it is “out in left field” as is usual. The bankers have NOT “FORGOTTEN” but the same thing that could have saved them “then” will eat them alive now that you have such interesting “interest” accrual through those same banks. We take out the interest element and, good grief, a lot of banking cartelers are upset even if we offer no actual “competition”. The point is to delay as long as is possible in bringing about positive solutions until AFTER the global foreclosure and capture of all industries and nations to keep their teeth and nails dug-in into our hides and assets if any single cent is remaining.

Can “we” wait? Well, someone give us a CHOICE, please, that we might consider otherwise. Obviously no one has solved this mess prior to now and we have to work on that reality and not switch and hit in ignorance of any OTHER would-be guide or “ruler”. We hinder NO ONE in finding a “better way” but we have no obvious revelation of anything other than “hang around” and wait for God to solve the “mess” FOR US. HE WILL SOLVE THE “WAY”—NOT THE PROBLEM.

This place is swarming with “U.S. investigators and agents” and frankly it makes me feel ever so much more secure. We are clean, clear, abiding in all laws and regulations while being treated with great respect it appears. Even the most revered INTERPOL held no “pick” with us, it seems. I don’t know exactly where stands one VK Durham, fraud personified.

We recognize, as we always have, the fact that all reference to Russell Herman and our relationships are with that one spelled “Herman” and known to all parties involved—not a bunch of alias Herrman, Herrmann, Hermann or Durhams.

Russell Herman is/was quite REAL as is/was Cosmos Seafood Energy Marketing Ltd. which HOLDS the valid contract-program assets. Fact is fact and facts are documented for YOUR PERUSAL. I am “personally” in a bit of quandary as to why Bush doesn’t actually try to clear up his own position honorably and, as a matter of fact, quite easily with full co-operation. The “past” always catches up, doesn’t it? I certainly don’t wish to take on the forest of “Bushes” and cohorts because I doubt Cheney or Rumsfeld like us very much. However, since we placed 50% of “the asset”, growing every year, into safety FOR use in the U.S., I would guess that one of these days some attention might well be given to usage when this ship is sinking too fast for the bailout pumps to keep it afloat. VK’s attempts to hit her own jackpot obviously backfired miserably in these past couple of years. THAT POSITION, READERS, IS NOT OUR FAULT OR DOING. Moreover, calling “us” names is meaningless. Ultimately the LAW will decide and TRUTH, therefore, will have a chance to prevail.

STATUS OF MARK ROWSELL

Mark left on Monday on a day when the longer the day lasted the more saddened I became. So, we said goodbye and he did leave on the wings of Kuwait airlines. He writes that he is with his friend/teacher in Bali, Indonesia for some intensive work (acupuncture technique and other health potentials). His schedule is rather loose and we would not be disposed to offer it if we actually knew.

He helped us a great deal as a third-party observer and holder of documents for security reasons against snatchers and snitchers. We also realize that on such short schedule there was no way to develop and then fabricate any apparatus in the face of the “grabbers” and “fabricators” already using such grabbing and fabricating as are cottage industries akin to “kidnapping for ransom”. So, off the drawing board until better days arrive. We gathered some real interest however and it was worth every effort involved. The first question asked at Thursday’s important meeting was “Where is Mark?” Well, friends, there will have to be those younger than we to fill in some day and that requires dedication, intelligence and DESIRE. Third-party observations have been so welcome to our position as to leave us most grateful for his presence. Mark was always appropriate, professional, presentable and “made us proud” as we worked off his rear right until he left—probably with a sigh of relief. This was surely NO VACATION.

THURSDAY’S TRUSTEE MEETING

This was THE first important milestone of measuring the establishment of the FDN legally registered and entered with the SEC and within the LAW on October 14, 2003. This was our anniversary meeting to establish a full year of legal action and full cycle of elections and membership qualification. It was more than interesting, if not a confusing shift and eye-opening experience for some who came and others who did not come.

We find that we can gain as many “members” as will be necessary to keep the organization tidy and clean/clear. There seems to be an outstanding game of “this side”-“their side” when there aren’t any “sides”. So what else is new? It is interesting that those now on “our side” are the ones integrally involved with the COURT ORDERS from the court itself and it is confirmed and reaffirmed that there is no way to lawfully “dissolve” the FDN as now established. Moreover, with good attention to “guidance” we can shore up deficient loopholes that might present, register them and give PUBLIC NOTICE (so keep an eye to the paper, please) as needed to give personality to our FDN as well as legal registration. What the adversary does with his/her position is, again, not our business. We will most certainly properly defend our position at all times—LAWFULLY AS REQUIRED UNDER THE LAW.

WILL THIS “REPUBLIC” SURVIVE?

We assume that “Philippine Republic” is the question in point? No, not as IS. It is bankrupt, corrupt and in poverty-starvation status. What will happen is not our prerogative to more than give comment. We see that not much can be done without change of major proportion but actually, following that change, the people and the nation CAN, if they choose to do so, become even more of a “Republic” and certainly “sovereign” as individuals and as a nation. Cleaning out a thousand years of infected closet debris is certainly an “interesting” task and we note that every fallen “rat” bearing infection runs FIRST CHANCE to the shelter of the United States. This, however, is getting even more non-functional in actual practice as the U.S. has started demanding recall, or mandated taking of “green cards” filched or misrepresented. Holding property in the U.S. gives claim to “green card” status if the holdings are large enough. That, incidentally, means that billions of illicit dollars, laundered in addition, have dumped into accounts in the U.S. as qualifiers for “citizenship” status of less than admirable individuals. Good luck, America!

Mark, by the way, is Canadian, so it was really a good opportunity to have input as to “foreign” observations.

We enjoyed seeing Fahrenheit 911 with Mark. Wow, I guess I was impressed with such a lot of REAL stuff presented although a lot biased unnecessarily, for there is so much to work with that “bias” is not necessary and it didn’t even touch on the REAL causes and effects of those global perpetrators. We enjoyed the references of such as the Carlyle Group but noted that Philippine former President Ramos was neglected to be mentioned among operators of that coalition of usurpers. It is “bad enough” in its final disclosures, however, to make those more notable players run for cover or, as the case is, under-cover. The tip of the iceberg is not yet to be disclosed so the extent of the massive ice cube is yet to float to the surface.

I am told that I “should write a book”. Say what? It seems we have some 300 or more of those “things” and another one or more has become irrelevant it appears. We have shared all of this “stuff” for many years and it waits for the reading. I cannot take credit but I will not accept blame for information in TRUTH that we present. TRUTH IS and is for ALL PERSONS—not a select or elect few who self-appoint themselves to that position. We do not have to sort, for that is not our prerogative in most instances other than in our own realm or space of activities or recognition. WE ARE STILL VISITORS IN THIS PLACE AND IT IS TIME ALL REMEMBER THAT POSITION, FOR IT IS EASILY FORGOTTEN AS THE WEEKS BECOME MONTHS AND MONTHS MEASURE INTO YEARS.

It is a true misperception on the parts of these people to even contemplate that WE should solve their problems FOR them. And yes, EJ just got off the phone with one who wishes to convince him to do things “this other way” because he knows someone who knows someone and the understanding is that for “a few dollars more” he can hook us into the proven non-capable circles of the borderline, or outright, criminals in play and power.

We are always stuck with having to constantly act properly, correctly and openly even when others around us prefer total secrecy and non-identification. Fine, but we will, must, always identify ourselves and our position.

I would, in fact, share a little story put forth first by a Jewish Rabbi on the topic of what appears to be to our eyes, i.e. “what color is an apple”.

A friend speaks of “his son” who was in the first grade. One day his teacher asked the class “What is the color of apples?” Most of the children answered red. A few said green. But Kevin raised his hand and said: “White.”

The teacher tried to explain that apples can be red, and apples can be green and apples can sometimes even be golden, but never white.

Kevin, however, was quite insistent that apples were white. So, after a rather exasperating “discussion” with the teacher, Kevin finally shrugged and simply said, “LOOK INSIDE”.

Perhaps we all need to do more looking INSIDE to find the color of the apples that are presented unto us and within ourselves. Visible presentation is not always what is Truth. It is much, in my opinion, more like “religion” vs. “spirituality”—they present as the same and here is where the “same but different” observation comes into play: LOOK INSIDE and be shocked at what is REALLY there.

God will NOT give us that which is beyond our ability to function or carry—or HE will send us helpers where and when needed while even carrying us HIMSELF over some of the more impossible places. It is sufficient—EVERY TIME.

I need to go now as other attentions press.

We are doing well even if impatience impacts our preferences of any given day—but that is what it is all about, Alphy: THE JOURNEY AND THE GOAL—AND IN REACHING IT IN TRUTH, LOVE, POSITIVE OUTCOME AND ALWAYS DEMANDING WE “LOOK INSIDE”.

God keep us all that we might serve well and without selfish purpose—except to ask that we be kept well enough to, indeed, serve at all.

Love and our best blessings and wishes.

World News Insights

Things are definitely "heating up" all around the world and we don't just mean geophysically, although that too is important. President Arroyo's security people are fortunate indeed that their pilot overcame severe problems and landed their C130 safely. Something "all fired" important certainly seems to be in progress, so let's start with the significance of a "little" Asia-Europe summit meeting in Hanoi.

[QUOTING:]

ARROYO IN HANOI AS ASIA-EUROPE SUMMIT STARTS

Philippine Daily Inquirer, 10/8/04

By Michael Lim Ubac

HANOI, Vietnam—President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo joined leaders of 38 countries from Asia and Europe here yesterday for the fifth Asia-Europe Meeting (Asem 5) amid a backdrop of international terrorism which continues to plague both rich and poor nations.

The Asem, an informal process of dialogue and cooperation among the leaders of 25 Asian nations, 15 European countries and the president of the European Commission, represents roughly half of the world's population and half of world output.

The President, who arrived here at noon yesterday accompanied by a small party of senior government officials, said the Asem meeting was crucial "at a time like this when we are at a crossroads in the new century" ["God's New Millennium"].

Participating leaders ... include German Chancellor Gerhard Schroeder, French President Jacques Chirac, Chinese Premier Wen Jiabao, Japanese Prime Minister Junichiro Koizumi, South Korean President Roh Moo-hyun and European Commission President Romano Prodi.

At a meeting earlier yesterday with Asian heads of state at the Hanoi International Convention Center, Ms Arroyo said "the role of Asem in this new world of the 21st Century is to bring together the world's most dynamic and coherent regional groups."

...She told the leaders they had a pivotal role to play in the war against terror.

She also proposed that the association formalize itself by forming a permanent secretariat [executive function]. She said the Philippines would be willing to host such a secretariat "as we move from dialogue to consolidation, from partnership to collective enterprise, which is how I see the new role of Asem in the years to come".

An informal forum working on the basis of consensus, the Asem has no secretariat. The summit of heads of state and government, which meets every second year alternately in Asia and Europe, is the highest decision-making body of the Asem process. Foreign, economic and finance ministers' meetings are held annually.

Fifteen new members from the Asean and the EU were adopted during an Asem "enlargement ceremony" last night.

Cambodia, Laos and Myanmar brought the number of Asian countries in Asem to 13. The new members of the European Union—Cyprus, Czech Republic, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Malta, Poland, Hungary, Slovakia and Slovenia—were also admitted to the club, bringing to 25 the EU contingent in the forum. The EC brings the membership to 39....

Meanwhile, back in the Philippines, the IMF seems somewhat concerned about protecting Filipino bankers from potential litigation. Daxim L. Lucas, reporting for abs-cbnnews.com, in an article entitled "Your Money at Risk" on 10/18/04, states:

"The IMF believes that the problem boils down to the vulnerability of bank examiners of the BSP and the Philippine Deposit Insurance Corp. (PDIC) to legal harassment.

"The lack of legal protection for supervisors has been a long-standing problem in the Philippines,' the IMF said. 'At present, BSP and PDIC supervisors, rather than their institutions, are primarily liable for regulatory actions that are contested in court.'"

The IMF did not have words of praise for President Arroyo's failure to swiftly enact IMF "conditionalities", as expressed in an AFP report dated 10/4/04:

"The report said 'relatively robust economic growth provided a conducive environment to undertaking reforms', and called for 'early evidence of implementation' of Arroyo's comprehensive economic package.

"It noted that in the past, critical bills 'had repeatedly been delayed by political resistance, perhaps reflecting a lack of a sense of urgency about the country's economic problems.'

"The fund urged Manila to 'front-load' Arroyo's deficit-reduction plan to reduce the non-financial public sector deficit, which is estimated to be about 5.75 percent of GDP this year, by 2.5 percentage points in 2005.

"It said reducing the gap 'in linear fashion' or by 0.75 percentage points every year, would be 'insufficiently ambitious'.

"It noted, however, that Arroyo officials have advised the IMF that this proposal would not be 'politically feasible'."

The not-so-veiled threat, of course, is that failure to implement IMF "conditionalities" will result in massive outflows of investment capital—so, starve your people or else.

Russia seems to be setting some kind of example for other nations to follow, while leaving the IMF quite mystified in the process. According to RIA Novosti, in an article of 10/4/04 entitled, "IMF Unveils Report on Russia":

"IMF experts are ... trying to understand how the money supply in Russia almost doubled (32% in 2002 and 61% in 2003), while inflation dropped from 15% to 12%. The solution, in their view, lies in the 'de-dollarization' of the Russian economy ... because ordinary people swapped their hard currency for rubles."

China (an attendee at the ASEM Summit mentioned above) also just concluded some major deals with Russia recently.

[QUOTING:]

BEIJING BREAKTHROUGH

RIA Novosti, 10/15/04

It will be no exaggeration to say that even many privy to the preparations for a Beijing meeting between the leaders of Russia and China, Vladimir Putin and Hu Jintao, were surprised at the number of agreements reached as a result of the laborious and long homework done by various departments. Mr. Putin has described the Beijing talks as a summit of "breakthrough decisions". And this is no exaggeration.

...Putin mentioned an unexpected figure in Beijing: $20 billion. This is what bilateral trade could reach by the end of the year. An earlier cited figure was $17.6 billion. As for the president's intentions "to reach the $60 billion dollar mark in the next five to six years" and then even $100 million, these are only the final figures for projections announced at the end of the negotiations.

They are all contained in a document entitled the Plan of Action for 2005-2008. It is a remarkable document. It speaks of cooperation in strategically important fields for the two countries, which are tipped as economic leaders of the future. It concerns coordinating efforts in such areas as space, nuclear power, bioengineering, chemicals, computer technologies, information technologies and new materials. This is not a general description; it is a list of detailed projects that have names and addresses.

...As regards politics, and especially trust, one of the persistent intrigues in international relations over the last fifty years has been that too many people have sought to antagonize the two neighbors, Moscow and Beijing....

[END QUOTING]

The article goes on to discuss resolution of a vast array of issues that had formerly plagued Sino-Russian relations, now resolved by breakthrough agreements: deliveries of oil to Chinese industry; friendly resolution of the Kurill Islands claims; cooperation in the oil and gas industry including a new oil pipeline; Russian participation in building power stations, including nuclear and floating nuclear plants; resolution of border-demarcation issues involving the longest border in the world; "and at the same time, they can finish their bilateral talks on Russia's WTO entry".

"No detailed discussions are needed, for example, to recognize the obvious—terrorists and separatists in Chechnya and Eastern Turkestan are part of international terrorism and 'must be the target of a joint anti-terrorist struggle of the international community'."

Wow. If only the rest of the world could get along so well.

While President Bush, hungry for the vote of Christian Zionists, signed the new Global Anti-Semitism Review Act on October 16, requiring the United States to observe and respond to acts of "anti-Semitism" anywhere in the world, anti-Goyism seems to be alive and well in Jerusalem.

CHRISTIANS IN JERUSALEM WANT JEWS TO STOP SPITTING ON THEM

Haaretz.com, 10/12/04

By Amiram Barkat

A few weeks ago, a senior Greek Orthodox clergyman in Israel attended a meeting at a government office in Jerusalem's Givat Shaul quarter. When he returned to his car, an elderly man wearing a skullcap came and knocked on the window. When the clergyman let the window down, the passerby spat in his face.

The clergyman preferred not to lodge a complaint with the police and told an acquaintance that he was used to being spat at by Jews. Many Jerusalem clergy have been subjected to abuse of this kind. For the most part, they ignore it but sometimes they cannot.

On Sunday, a fracas developed when a yeshiva student spat at the cross being carried by the Armenian Archbishop during a procession near the Holy Sepulchre in the Old City. The archbishop's 17th-Century cross was broken during the brawl and he slapped the yeshiva student.

...Archbishop Nourhan Manougian says he expects the education minister to say something.

"When there is an attack against Jews anywhere in the world, the Israeli government is incensed, so why when our religion and pride are hurt, don't they take harsher measures?" he asks....

[END QUOTING]

The Canadian CBC has run back-to-back programs investigating the Bush Administration: "The Unauthorized Biography of Dick Cheney" and "The World According to Bush", both well worth watching. As a final note, readers' attention is drawn to an AFP report of 10/14/04:

"Western Mexico's Volcano of Fire spewed hot lava and rock Thursday, the latest in a series of spectacular but non-threatening eruptions in the past few weeks.

"The volcano near the city of Colima, 430 miles northwest of Mexico City, unleashed a column of smoke and ash along with a flow of burning orange lava on Sept. 29. Since then, scientists have reported nearly daily eruptions from its 12,533-foot peak.

"The eruptions have been caused by seismic activity, and scientists can't predict how long they will last.

"...A major eruption in 1999 sent glowing rock down the volcano's slopes and fired a plume of ash more than five miles high.

"In 1913, an explosion created a crater 1,650 feet deep, blasted fast-moving flows of hot ash down the volcano's slopes and rained ash on Guadalajara, 75 miles to the north."

A parting "Via con Dios" seems appropriate.

NEVADA CORPORATIONS:

Manifold Benefits Of Keeping A Low Profile

Budget's "Tip of the Week" #9:

Keep A Low Profile

It has been estimated that over 90% of all lawsuits in the entire world are filed in the United States. A medium-sized business is typically involved in a lawsuit per year here and larger corporations are compelled to maintain teams of full-time attorneys to defend themselves. At the other end of the scale, an individual proprietor risks everything to engage in business without a corporate structure and even individuals who are not involved in business are at risk if they have any assets attached to their names. Meanwhile, the law schools keep churning out more attorneys at an increasing rate.

What's the solution? KEEP A LOW PROFILE. In business and in our personal lives, too, ideally it would be best to never show up at all on the enemy's "radar". In the game of "getcha" it is always better to present a minimal target profile for the "getcha gang" and the best way to accomplish this feat is very often through the use of Nevada corporate shelters.

In some cases it may be possible to shelter assets and income in a single corporation but when success is achieved and that first corporation starts to take on a higher and more vulnerable profile, it's time for some creative thinking. The first step should always be to separate assets from potential liability, so if you have an operating business it is good to ensure that it holds no assets of its own. Often the best solution is to have the operating entity lease its equipment from another, unrelated (by ownership) corporation. The next step could be to consider spinning off the existing business' departments into separate corporations: the marketing department could become a separate marketing company, as an example. Almost all businesses must purchase some goods from outside sources, so why not deal with a friendly supply company, one over which you may exert some control from behind the scenes?

Not only will this approach severely limit the prospects for damage by prospective litigants, it will also, by and large, keep the IRS out of your affairs. Audit rates continue to show (not surprisingly) that the smallest corporations have by far the lowest audit profiles. A corporation with less than $250,000 in assets had an audit rate of just .25% in the year 2003, while the rate for a corporation with $1 million in assets was more than TEN TIMES as high at 2.5% and the rate for the largest corporations skyrockets to more than ten times that figure at over 30%.

The key to making this work is to treat each corporation as its own separate interest and to ensure that each entity always acts out of its own self-interest. In so doing you ensure that each corporation has minimal exposure to lawsuits and IRS audits and the aggregate exposure is far, far less than it would be with a single, high-profile corporation.
