TO WATCH TODAY

We are going to make an effort to get started on John Coleman's book, The Conspirator's Hierarchy: the Committee of 300 but first, since many of you have the book and can do your homework, I will comment on the events happening as we write that must be watched closely. I also hope that you will be able to get copies of the book directly from Phoenix Source [800-800-5565] because it is the "Bible" of the New World Order/One World Government. This heads you directly to one government, one religion and one controlled economy under a ruling HIERARCHY.

The G-8 "countries" have just met and that is the planning Board of the G-7 plus Russia (Economic and Business Decision Makers). This at the same basic TIME SLOT as the IMF and WB meetings in the U.S. as well.

This means that if you are paying attention you will find that the Carlyle Group and other amazingly powerful Elite are also meeting here and there. "They" are truly all on the same "side" but simply are vying for control of the ultimate prize. This is WHY John Paul II had to die at this particular time, so that all facets could be polished in the same general time frame. THESE ARE ALL "SECRET" SOCIETIES AND DON'T FORGET IT FOR EVEN A BRIEF MOMENT.

Will "they" try to kill our program? Probably not for they will just want control of it in a working condition. If "they" can present as bringing order out of this global experience of chaos and "terror" then they know they "HAVEYA". And remember something, worker-bees, "they" have to have workers or there is no wealth worthy of holding; it is called taxable slaves.

We will be utilizing Dr. Coleman's Fourth Edition but I would remind all of you that Dharma typed every word for John, from his manuscripts in the original publication and we both ran it in series and provided the first publication runs through then America West and which we will not further reference here.

This is probably THE most copied book on the globe today and I mean "copied" directly and in all topical referencing. We constantly run into xerox copies scattered EVERYWHERE.

Now other exceptional writers have come along and extend the information to current players so that the Elite "hiding" gets more and more difficult to achieve.

As these books are available I would request a notice in every CONTACT giving information on ordering. I would hope that even if you have, for instance, the original of the publication such as "300" that you get caught up with the most recently available press run for updates in this kind of material are mandatory while also supporting the authors who dare to state truth. I thank you in advance and would certainly ask that you get your books, or try first, at Phoenix Source for I always ask that if we use something or recommend something that we make every effort to make resources available.

We will again start running LOTS from our prior Journals and ASAP we will again start publishing them.

We will try to get through the "Foreword" and "Introduction" today but I must ask all of you to be patient for available "human" time continues to get very, very limited as we bring this program into functional order.

I will ask John to mark the sections we send so that there can be proper continuity of press sections. This will become more important as we may very well take portions out of order to better timely present information.

At this point we will refer to this writing upcoming as Part One for file reference.

THE CONSPIRATORS' HIERARCHY:

THE COMMITTEE OF 300

(FOURTH EDITION, 1997)

By Dr. John Coleman

[ISBN: 0-9634019-4-7; WIR, Joseph Holding Corporation; 2533 North Carson Street, Suite J-118, Carson city, Nevada 89706, USA]

FOREWORD

Dr. John Coleman, 1994

In my career I had many occasions to access highly classified documents, but during service as a political science officer in the field in Angola, West Africa, I had the opportunity to view a series of top secret classified documents which were unusually explicit. What I saw filled me with anger and resentment and launched me on a course from which I have not deviated, namely to uncover what power it is that controls and manages the British and United States governments.

I was thoroughly familiar with all of the well known secret societies such as the Royal Institute for International Affairs (RIIA), the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR), the Bilderbergers, Trilaterals, the Zionists, Freemasonry, Bolshevism, Rosicrucianism and all of the spinoffs of these societies. Even before that, as a young student in the course of my studies at the British Museum in London, I had cut my eye teeth on all of them, plus a good number of others with whom I imagined Americans were familiar.

But when I came to the United States in 1969, I found that names like the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, Club of Rome, the German Marshall Fund, the Cini Foundation, the Round Table, the Fabianists, the Venetian Black Nobility, the Mont Pelerin Society, Hellsfire Clubs, the Knights of Malta and many others, were in a number of instances, either totally unknown here or else their true functions were at best but poorly understood, if at all.

In 1969-1970 I set about remedying the situation in a series of monographs and cassette tapes. I pursued my investigations, pressing on in the face of severe risks, attacks on myself and my wife, financial losses, continual harassment, threats and calumny, all part of a carefully-crafted and orchestrated program to discredit me, run by government agents and informers, embedded in the so-called Christian right-wing, the "Identity Movement" and right-wing

"patriotic" groups. These agents operated, and still operate, under cover of strong and fearless outspoken opposition to Judaism, their main enemy, they would have us believe.

Their program of calumny, lies and hatred, disinformation about my work, even lately attributing it to other writers, continues unabated but it has not had the desired effect. I shall carry on with my task until I have finally ripped off the mask of the entire secret upper-level parallel government that runs Britain and the United States. This book is a part of that ongoing effort.

INTRODUCTION

In recent years there has been an upsurge in the number of books and monographs seeking to expose what is broadly termed "the conspiracy." It is generally agreed that in spite of its many detractors, a hard core of Americans believe that something has gone drastically wrong with the country, and these writers on "the conspiracy" have tended to focus the cause of the trouble more narrowly on a variety of organizations at a "local" level, such as the Council on Foreign Relations, the Trilateral Commission and the Bilderbergers.

The exposure of a terrible problem is all to the good, but these writers did not go far enough. Without exception, they wrote only about the major "conspiracy" organization mentioned above, which we can safely describe as being on a local level. This is one of the reasons why the Committee of 300 has been so successful in concealing its existence from the broad mass of the American people. Apparently, few thought that there must be some kind of a coordinating, controlling body, that oversees and coordinates the activities of the "local level" agencies.

The studies I did at the British Museum in London began, slowly at first, to lead me to a conclusion that there had to be a major player somewhere; one with the reach and power to direct the many secret societies that plague our world. This feeling was strengthened by my studies of the French and Bolshevik Revolutions, the two revolutions that drastically altered the course of history in Europe, and indeed, the world.

When I uncovered the fact that the French Revolution was organized and run out of England by Jeremy Bentham and William Petty, the Earl of Shelburne, it became clearer that there had to be a "master-mind" controlling body that could organize and carry out such shattering events. The more I studied the role played in the French Revolution by the secret Quator Coronati Lodge in London, and the Nine Sister Lodge in Paris, the more I realized that there had to be a super controller of these events; the Nine Unknown Men, Petty and Bentham would not have carried off the French Revolution on their own.

The thing that excited me was the common thread between the French and Bolshevik Revolutions: a hatred of Christianity, the major religion of the world. I studied what the Illuminati had to say on the subject, and came across this statement by Adam Weishaupt, nominal founder of the Order:

"Behold our secret: If in order to destroy Christianity, all religion, we have pretended to have the sole true religion, remember that the end justifies the means, and the wise ought to take all the means to do good which the wicked take to do evil. This can be done in no other way but by secret associations, which will by degrees, and in silence, possess themselves of the government of the States, and make use of these means for this purpose which the wicked use for attaining base ends. The express aim of this order was to abolish Christianity, and overthrow all civil governments." (Adam Weishaupt, May 1, 1776)

Once the conclusion was reached that Christianity was the major target in both revolutions, it did not take long for me to realize that behind the Lodges, behind Bentham and Petty; behind Lenin and Trotsky; behind Kerensky and Helfornt, must have stood an all-powerful organization, one that had the ability and the resources to control every aspect of these shattering events.

Only the existence of such a super colossal secret society could have brought the French and Bolshevik revolutions to a successful conclusion. Men like Weishaupt could periodically make statements of this nature, but they were largely ignored, because in the minds of the people, it would take a super colossal secret society to carry out what such men proposed, and, of course, in the collective minds of the people, such a colossal organization did not, could not, exist.

Yet, we had plenty of warnings. No better warning could have been delivered than the one given in 1962 by David Ben Gurion, Prime Minister of Israel:

"The image of the world in 1987 as traced in my imagination: the Cold war will be a thing of the past. Internal pressure of the constantly growing intelligentsia in Russia for more freedom and the pressure of the masses for raising their living standards may lead to a gradual democratization of the Soviet Union.

"On the other hand, increasing influence of the workers and the farmers, and the rising political importance of men of science, may transform the United States into a welfare state with a planned economy. Western and Eastern Europe will become a federation of autonomous states, having a socialist and democratic regime. With the exception of the USSR, as a federated Eurasian state, all other countries will become united in a world alliance, at whose disposal will be an international police force. All armies will be abolished, and there will be no more wars. In Jerusalem, the United Nations will build a shrine to the prophets to serve the federated union on all continents, as prophesied by Isaiah. Higher education will be the right of every person in the world. A pill to prevent pregnancy will slow down the explosive natural increase in China and India."

Ben Gurion was obviously referring to Russia's hold-out against the One World Government, which Stalin had resolutely opposed. His reference to Russia as being the exception to a united Europe, tends to show that Ben Gurion knew the resistance begun by Stalin would continue. Anyone reading Ben Gurion's statement, would have concluded that it would take a super colossal secret society to make it all happen.

I gave the cooperation of the governments of the United States, Great Britain and Germany in bringing the Bolsheviks to power in Russia a good deal of attention. It was not long before it became perfectly clear that without the utmost help from these allegedly Christian countries that revolutionaries, Lenin and Trotsky, could not have succeeded. Why, for instance, I asked myself, would the president of the United States intervene in the arrest of Trotsky by the Canadian authorities, and why would he order the Canadian police to release Trotsky? How could, how did, President Wilson come to be involved with an out-and-out anti-Christian revolutionary, whose openly avowed intention was to go to Russia and overthrow its legitimate government? [H: What of this

President Wilson and the FEDERAL RESERVE establishment which was also slipped in through the back door at Christmastime where nobody noticed?]

By what power and authority did Wilson demand, and get, the release of Trotsky from police custody in Canada? Surely Wilson's presidential powers did not extend to Canada, so WHO, or WHAT person or major institution, arranged this extraordinary event? How could a non-American citizen get a United States passport? Such things are usually impossible to arrange, even for large sums of money, yet, here was this firebrand revolutionary, setting sail for Russia with abundant money and a United States passport to which he was not entitled. When arrested, he is miraculously released! To me, this one incident was proof-positive of the existence of a most powerful agency, one that could transcend national boundaries and give orders to governments as if it were their immediate controller.

By what power and authority did Helfont (Parvus) become an advisor to the German government at the most crucial stage in its history? Where did Helfont get an introduction to the highest circles in Berlin; how was it that the German government agreed to his proposal to allow Lenin to travel across Germany in a sealed train, en route to start the Bolshevik Revolution? One does not just "come from nowhere" and pull off such a stunning triumph. This incident, at least to me, bore the imprint of a vastly powerful super secret society, for only a force far superior to anything that hitherto we knew about, could have arranged the epic journeys of Trotsky and Lenin.

Most people believe in happenstance, and we appear to be wedded to the notion that things just happen, or that they evolve from a series of events, seemingly unrelated. But a careful student of world events, learns otherwise. It becomes apparent that nothing happens by chance, and that seemingly unrelated events are connected, although the connecting links are always well hidden from public view.

Perhaps the most important confirmation of the existence of a super-controlling body, came from President Wilson. With his health rapidly failing, and with the unwillingness of the Democrat hierarchy to allow him to run for a further term.

Wilson began to have second thoughts. The death of his wife, Ellen, caused him intense grief. When Dr. Grayson who attended her told Wilson his wife had just died, Wilson is reported to have stood at a window in the White House and cried out, "Oh God, what am I to do?"

That might have had a bearing on Wilson's near-revelation of the existence of a super secret society:

"Some of the biggest men in the United States, in the field of commerce and manufacture, are afraid of somebody, are afraid of something. They know that there is a power somewhere, so organized, so subtle, so watchful, so interlocked, so pervasive, that they had better not speak above their breath when they speak in condemnation of it."

I found the same thing in intelligence circles; no one would speak openly about the "Olympians," and when they perchance did so it was with great awe. Yet we have had plenty of indications of its existence, if we had but stopped to look and listen to one of the Committee's SENIOR SPOKESMEN, H.G. Wells, who frequently laid out the plans of the Committee for a One World Government-New World Order. In "The Open Conspiracy," Wells stated:

"The political world of the Open Conspiracy must weaken, efface, incorporate and supersede existing governments. The Open Conspiracy is the natural inheritor of socialist and communist euphemisms, it may be in the control of Moscow before it is in the control of New York. The character of the Open Conspiracy will now be plainly displayed. It will be a world religion. This large loose assimilatory mass of groups and societies will definitely and obviously attempt to swallow up the entire population of the world and become a new human community."

Then again:

"The organization of this that I call the Open Conspiracy which will ultimately supply teaching coercive and direct public services to the whole world, is the immediate task before all people, a planned World State is appearing at a thousand points. When accident (or crisis) finally precipitates it, its coming is likely to happen very quickly. Sometimes I feel that generations of propaganda and education may have to precede it. There must be a common faith and law for mankind...."

[H: Please re-read that prior paragraph and note the reference to a World State and as well, "...a thousand points..." and recall the Bush New World Order as well as his "thousand points" of light!]

I feel that I have made a sufficiently strong case for the existence of a super-colossal secret society, which I came to learn was called the Committee of 300. What follows in my account of the Committee, should be read with care and attention, as I believe it is the key to understanding a great deal that has, hitherto, been very puzzling, if not downright contradictory. I believe it will help us to understand why it is that on so many occasions, the United States came down on the side of governments, and allied itself with world leaders that in reality, should have been our mortal enemies.

The endless hours of research put into "the Committee of 300" becomes obvious as we progress in the reading of this book. What I believe it does, is fit the pieces of the Puzzle together, as it goes far beyond "local" events and "local" secret societies and organizations which we know are committed to implementing policies that simply do not fit in with what the United States is supposed to stand for.

From this point on I will ask you to associate some current happenings, i.e., most especially that which is taking place at the Vatican. This is a SECRET SOCIETY in full coalition with all of the Secret Societies aiming at ONE WORLD CONTROL.

From the onset Dr. Coleman will refer to the "Club of Rome" and you can both "read" that to be interchanged at upstart to the Black Nobility.

This is extremely important for your CLUES, readers, as you observe the things taking place in the choosing of a new Pope for the Roman Catholic Church. One upstart clue to be observed was that the body of Pope John Paul II was put on "view" and there would be processions of church hierarchy and then the various other viewers. The whole "viewing" however was stalled for a period of time UNTIL THOSE OF THE "BLACK NOBILITY" were in place and able in order of IMPORTANCE, FIRST view the body with whatever rituals were necessary indicating the "controlling" authority of those passing the body. It had little to do with that body on the table, readers, so don't further confuse the moment at hand.

Moreover, if you actually think a democratic voting program will elect a random "new" Pope, perish your silly thoughts. It is well known and recognized exactly WHO will be put in such a titled place for the puppetmasters' manipulation.

You think you have a bunch of Islamic Muslims running about doing suicide bombings, etc.? Think again, the laws of Islam DO NOT ALLOW FOR SUICIDE "OR" KILLING OF ANY KIND BUT SUICIDE IS THE MOST UNACCEPTABLE UNDER THE LAW.

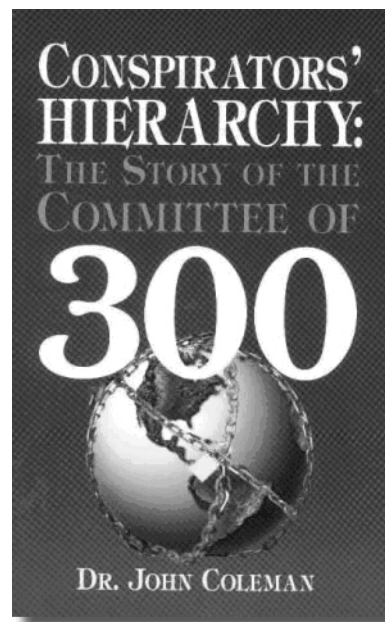

You people just pick up on anything and the more absurd the presentation and the more bloody the show-and-tell, the more you grab it and run with it like a child snatching the candy sack.

Do "I" somehow think you will survive and thrive? Not the way you are going but, brothers and sisters, you might, if you learn to face the TRUTH, be able to live and even flourish in WHAT IS. The first person with which to begin is SELF.

You will find this interesting at the least, informative at most. You must recognize the players in any PLAY so please make an effort to know about what the PLAY presents.

We "fight" nothing and I do not fear these self-proclaimed "enemies" for I have no enemies be it as strange to your interpretation as any other offering we bring. To even be in the game you have to KNOW THE GAME. So, now you know that the game rules are SECRET for you can't "win" if the rules are only known and played by your opponent. Think carefully about this point.

Thank you,

TODAY'S WATCH NEW POPE

This is quite important so must be noted for historical reference in today's accounting on April 19th as accounted by calendar but on April 20th in some parts of the globe. It doesn't matter other than that you can see HOW things of seeming innocence can misrepresent history itself in both timing and translation. Keep it ever in mind as you read anything, most especially your Bibles, for within those Sacred halls of doctrine and dogma will be the rewriting of things that are then presented to YOU as truth but are not.

VATICAN CITY (AP)—“Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger of Germany, a longtime guardian of doctrinal orthodoxy, was elected the new pope Tuesday evening in the first Roman Catholic conclave of the new millennium. He chose the name Pope Benedict XVI and called himself “a simple, humble worker”.

Is the man German or Jewish? What interesting people are humans.

Mr. Ratzinger has been out of step with, most especially, the Germans since at least as far back as the 1960s. Therefore, depend on more controversy and chaos in the Church AND which is exactly what is fully intended.

YES INDEED, IT WAS VERY IMPORTANT TO ACCOMPLISH THIS “ELECTION” ON APRIL 19TH. It is an important day to note activities happening on “that” date in the more current times of terrorism. It is an amazingly important “Satanic” date as sheltered under the cloak of “Christianity”. Moreover, you will be saturated with bombing re-runs, holocaust demands as you move more deeply into the ignorance of Dark Ages.

Would someone else have been “better”? Oh, it doesn't matter, students. What IS—IS!

I ask that you pay attention to the unfolding of “300” because it is all part and parcel of the SAME thing.

POINT 2: What is Pakistani President Pervez Musharraf REALLY doing on a state visit to Manila? Why would an Amboy puppet be in the Philippines if things aren't just about as bad as they can get with local Muslims? Keep at least ONE eye on this bouncing ball.

Well, things are certainly getting HOT, aren't they? Even the temperature, pollution and drought are UP these days and for Ms. Arroyo to get out all that red carpeting is interesting on such short notice. Ah indeed, there is trouble in Pasig River City.

I would also note that Erap Estrada, still president of the Philippines, had his 68th birthday yesterday, is in fine fettle and is healthier than ever before. He certainly got more attention than the visiting Pakistani dignitary. Things are definitely “looking up” for the “good” side of this “people vs. power”.

Thank you for being patient while we insert these memorable notes as we turn so much attention to needs of “time” for re-presenting FACT into your consciousness as to who, how, why, when, where and certainly, informed data.

People armed with TRUTH can then ACT in wisdom, if they choose to do so, and the “impossible” becomes POSSIBLE. With GOD, all things ARE and are quite possible.

PART 2, CHAPTER 1(A), THE CONSPIRATORS' HIERARCHY, THE COMMITTEE OF 300; Dr. John Coleman [This section of the book is too long to do in one sitting so we will divide it into sections as in 1a, 1b, etc. This is for your easier reference and file reference.]

THE COMMITTEE OF 300

[Fourth Edition]

[QUOTING (Beginning Page 1, Chapter 1):]

Certainly a fair number of us are aware that the people running our government are not the people who are really in control of political and economic matters, domestic and foreign. This has led many to seek the truth in the alternative press, those newsletter writers who like me, have sought, but not always found, what it is that is making the United States terminally ill. “Seek and ye shall find” has not always been the case with this group. What we did find was that the people walk in great darkness, mostly not caring or bothering to find out where their country is headed, firm in the belief that it will always be there for them. This is the way the largest population group has been manipulated to react, and their attitude plays right into the hands of the secret government.

We frequently hear about “they” doing this, that or the other. “They” seem literally to be able to get away with murder. “They” increase taxes, and send out sons and daughters to die in wars that do not benefit our country. “They” seem above our reach, out of sight, frustratingly nebulous when it comes to taking action against “them”. No one seems able to clearly identify who “they” are. It is a situation that has pertained for decades. During the course of this book, we shall identify the mysterious “they” and then, after that, it is up to the people to remedy their situation. I hold no aspirations of becoming a political leader.

On 30 of April, 1981, I wrote a monograph disclosing the existence of the Club of Rome identifying it as a Committee of 300 subversive body. This was the first mention of both of these organizations in the United States. I warned readers not to be fooled by the feeling that the article was far-fetched and I drew a parallel between my article and the warning issued by the Bavarian government when the secret plans of the Illuminati fell into its hands. We shall return to the Club of Rome and the role of the Committee of 300 in United States affairs later.

Many of the predictions made in that 1981 article have since come to pass, such as the unknown Felipe Gonzalez becoming Prime Minister of Spain, and Mitterand being returned to power in France; the downfall of Giscard D' Estang and Helmut Schmidt, the return of power of Swedish nobleman and Committee of 300 member Olaf Palme, the nullifying of Reagan's presidency and the destruction of our steel, auto and housing industries in terms of the post-industrial zero-growth orders handed down by the Committee of 300.

[H: Please allow me to insert at this early point a few very important realizations: There was no accident in forming a European UNION and there is no accident in the forming of the Euro currency as it is all part of the plan to finally reach a fully recognized one world order and currency. Please, always look carefully at “WHAT IS” and not spend so much time “BUT WHAT IF?”. You are required to live in the “WHAT IS” and change the “what if”.]

The importance of Palme lay in the use made of him by the Club of Rome to deliver technology on the forbidden list of the U.S. Customs, to the Soviet Union. Palme's world-wide communications network was employed to train the spotlight on the phony Iran hostage crisis, while he shuttled back and forth between Washington and Teheran in an effort to undermine the sovereign integrity of the United States and place the phony crisis in the realm of a Committee of 300 institution, viz, the World Court at the Hague, Holland.

In what is in fact an open conspiracy against God and man, (to use the words of H.G. Wells), which includes enslaving the majority of humans left on this earth after wars, plagues and mass murder have done with them, is indeed becoming more open. In the intelligence community, it is taught that the best way to HIDE SOMETHING IS TO PLACE IT IN OPEN

VIEW. As an example of the foregoing, when Germany wanted to hide its prize new Messerschmidt fighter plane in 1938, the aircraft was put on display at the Paris Air Show. While secret agents and spies were collecting information from hollow tree trunks and from behind loose bricks in a wall, the information they sought was staring them right in the face.

[H: I ask that you go back and reference the article in the current (April 20, 2005) CONTACT in the news section on PRISON LABOR. This is truly becoming the most amazing and dastardly trick pushed off on you people and is the circumstance globally. It is NOW and it is going to become worse as more and more people are simply incarcerated and enslaved via the “lock-up” route where labor will be a part of the penalty of “conviction” where you aren’t literally “convicted” other than through judicial and law enforcement mandates.]

The upper-level parallel secret government does not operate from dank basements and secret underground chambers. It places itself in full view in the White House, Congress, in Number 10 Downing Street and the house of Parliament. It is akin to those weird and supposedly terrifying “monster” films, where the monster appears with distorted features, long hair and even longer teeth, growling and slavering all over the place. This is a distraction; the real monsters wear business suits and drive to work on Capitol Hill in limousines.

These men are IN OPEN VIEW. These men are the servants of the One World Government-New World Order. Like the rapist who stops to offer his victim a friendly ride, he does not LOOK like the monster he is. If he did, his intended victim would run off screaming in fright. The same applies to government at all levels. Former President George Bush does not LOOK like a dutiful servant of the upper-level parallel government, but make no mistake about it, he is as much a MONSTER as are those horrors found in horror-movies. [H: Moreover, it RUNS IN THE FAMILY as you can NOW witness. Worse, they now do it in the guise of “born again” CHRISTians. Be careful, citizens, as the wolf costumes himself as the sheep!]

Stop for a moment and consider how President Bush ordered the brutal slaying of 150,000 Iraqi troops, in a convoy of military vehicles carrying white flags, on their way back to Iraq under Geneva Convention rules of agreed disengagement and withdrawal. Imagine the horror of the Iraqi troops when, in spite of waving their white flags, they were mowed down by American aircraft. In another part of the front, 12,000 Iraqi soldiers were buried alive in trenches they occupied. Is that not MONSTROUS in the truest sense of the word? From where did President Bush get his orders to act in this MONSTROUS fashion? He got them from the Royal Institute for International Affairs (RIIA) who received its mandate from the Committee of 300, also known as the “Olympians”.

As we shall see, even the “Olympians” do not hide their faces. Often times they put on a show which could be likened to the Paris Air Show, even as conspiracy buffs spend their time in a fruitless search of the wrong places and in the wrong direction. Have you ever noticed how Queen Elizabeth II performs the ceremonial opening of the British Parliament? There, in full view is the head of the Committee of 300. Have you ever witnessed a swearing-in ceremony of a United States President? There, in full view is another member of the Committee of 300. The problem is only one of perception.

Who are the planners and plotters who serve the mighty all-powerful Committee of 300? The better-informed of our citizens are aware that there is a conspiracy and that the conspiracy goes under various names such as the Illuminati, Freemasonry, the Round Table and the Milner Group. To them the Council on Foreign Relations and the Trilaterals represent most of what they do not like in regard to domestic and foreign policy. Some even know that the Round Table has a big input into United States affairs through the British ambassador in Washington. The problem is that real hard information on the treasonous activities of members of the invisible government is very hard to come by.

I quote the profound statement made by the prophet Hosea, which is found in the Christian Bible: “My people perish for lack of knowledge.” Some may already have heard my expose of the foreign aid scandal, in which work I named several conspiratorial organizations, whose numbers are legion. Their final objective is the overthrow of the U.S. Constitution and the merging of this country, chosen by God as HIS country, with a godless One World-New World Order Government which will return the world to conditions far worse than those which existed in the Dark Ages.

Let us talk about actual case histories, the attempt to communize and de-industrialize Italy. The Committee of 300 long ago decreed that there shall be a smaller—much smaller—and better world, that is, their idea of what constitutes a better world. The myriads of useless eaters consuming scarce natural resources were to be culled. Industrial progress supports population growth. Therefore, the command to multiply and subdue the earth found in Genesis had to be subverted.

This called for an attack upon Christianity; the slow but sure disintegration of industrial nations states; the destruction of hundreds of millions of people, referred to by the Committee of 300 as “surplus population” and the removal of any leader who dared to stand in the way of the Committee’s global planning to reach the foregoing objectives.

Two of the Committee’s earliest targets were Italy and Pakistan. The late Aldo Moro, Prime Minister of Italy, was one leader who opposed the “zero growth” and population reductions planned for his country, thereby incurring the wrath of the Club of Rome commissioned by the “Olympians” to carry out its policies in this regard. In a Rome courtroom on Nov. 10, 1982, a close friend of Moro’s testified that the former prime minister was threatened by an agent of the Royal Institute for International Affairs (RIIA), who was also a Committee of 300 member, while he was still the U.S. Secretary of State. The meteoric rise of the man, the witness named as Kissinger, will be dealt with later.

It will be recalled that Prime Minister Moro was kidnapped by the Red Brigades in 1978 and subsequently brutally shot to death. It was at the trial of members of the Red Brigades that several of them testified to the fact that they knew of high-level U.S. involvement in the plot to kill Moro. When threatening Moro, Kissinger was obviously not carrying out U.S. foreign policy, but rather, acting according to instructions received from the Club of Rome, the foreign policy arm of the Committee of 300.

The witness who delivered the bombshell in open court was a close associate of Moro’s, Gorrado Guerzoni. His explosive testimony was broadcast over Italian television and radio on Nov. 10, 1982 and printed in several Italian newspapers. Yet, this vital information was suppressed in the United States. Those famous bastions of freedom with a compelling right to know, the Washington Post and the New York Times, did not think it important to even print a single line of Guerzoni’s testimony.

Nor was the news carried by any of the wire services or television stations. The fact that Italy’s Aldo Moro had been a leading politician for decades, was kidnapped in broad daylight in the spring of 1978, with all of his bodyguards butchered in cold blood, was not deemed newsworthy, even though Kissinger stood accused as an accomplice to these crimes. Or was the silence BECAUSE of Kissinger’s involvement?

In my 1982 expose of this heinous crime, I demonstrated that Aldo Moro, a loyal member of the Christian Democrat Party, was murdered by assassins controlled by P2 Masonry with the object of bringing Italy into line with Club of Rome orders to de-industrialize the country and considerably reduce its population. Moro’s plans to stabilize Italy through full employment and industrial and political peace would have strengthened Catholic opposition to Communism and made the destabilization of the Middle East, a prime goal, that much harder for the Committee to achieve.

From the foregoing, it becomes clear just how far ahead the conspirators plan. They do not think in terms of a Five Year Plan. One needs to go back to Weishaupt’s statements about the early Catholic Church to understand what was involved in the murder of Aldo Moro. Moro’s death removed the roadblocks to the plans to destabilize Italy, and as we now know, enabled conspiracy plans for the Middle East to be carried out in the Gulf War, 14 years later.

Italy was chosen as a test-target by the Committee of 300. Italy is important to the conspirators’ plans because it is the closest European country to the Middle East linked to Middle East economics and politics. It is also the home of the Catholic Church, which Weishaupt ordered destroyed, and home for some of Europe’s most powerful top oligarchic families of the ancient Black Nobility. Should Italy have been weakened by Moro’s death, it would have had repercussions in the Middle East which would have weakened U.S. influence in the region. Italy is important for another reason; it is a gateway for drugs entering Europe from Iran and Lebanon, and we shall return to that subject in due course.

Various groups had combined under the name of Socialism to bring about the downfall of several Italian governments since the Club of Rome was established in 1968. Among these are the Black Nobility of Venice and Genoa, P2 Masonry and the Red Brigades, all working for the same goals. Police investigators in Rome working on the Red Brigades/Aldo Moro case, came across the names of several very prominent Italian families working closely with this terrorist group. The police also discovered evidence that, in at least a dozen cases, these powerful and prominent families had allowed their homes and or property to be used as safe houses for the Red Brigades cells.

America's "nobility" were doing their share to destroy the Republic of Italy, a notable contribution having come from Richard Gardner, even while in his official capacity as President Carter's ambassador to Rome. At that time, Gardner was operating under the direct control of Bettino Craxi, an important member of the Club of Rome and a key man in NATO. Craxi was the leading edge of the conspirators' attempts to destroy the Italian republic. As we shall see, Craxi was almost successful in ruining Italy, and as the conspirators hierarchy's leading player, was able to get divorce and abortion pushed through the Italian Parliament, resulting in the most far-reaching and destructive religious and social changes ever to strike at the Catholic Church, and consequently, the morals of the Italian nation.

After President Ronald Reagan was elected, an important meeting was held in Washington, D.C. in December 1980, under the auspices of the Club of Rome and the Socialist International. Both of these organizations are directly responsible to the Committee of 300. The main agenda was to formulate ways and means of how to neutralize the Reagan presidency. A group plan was adopted and, as we look back, it is perfectly clear that the plan the plotters agreed to follow has been very successful.

In order to get an idea of how vast and how all-pervasive is this conspiracy, it would be appropriate at this point to name the goals set by the Committee of 300 for the pending conquest and control OF THE WORLD. There are at least 40 known "branch offices" of the Committee of 300, and we shall be listing them all, together with a description of their functions. Once this is studied, it becomes easy to understand how one central conspiratorial body is able to operate so successfully and why it is that no power on Earth can withstand their onslaught against the very foundations of a civilized, progressive world, based on freedom of the individual, especially as it is declared in the United States Constitution. [H: The key phrase here is "no power ON EARTH". Wow, and how is your day going?]

Thanks to the sworn testimony of Guerzoni, Italy and Europe—but not the United States—learned that Kissinger was behind the death of Aldo Moro. This tragic affair demonstrates the ability of the Committee of 300 to impose its will upon any government without exception. Secure in his position as a member of the most powerful secret society in the world, and I am not talking about Freemasonry, Kissinger not only terrified Moro, but carried through on his threats to "eliminate" Moro if he did not give up on his plan to bring economic and industrial progress to Italy.

In June and July of 1982, the wife of Aldo Moro testified in open court that her husband's murder came about as a result of serious threats against his life, made by what she called "a high-ranking United States political figure". Mrs. Eleonora Moro repeated the precise phrase reportedly used by Kissinger in the sworn testimony of Guerzoni: "Either you stop your political line or you will pay dearly for it." Recalled by the judges, Guerzoni was asked if he could identify the person Mrs. Moro was talking about. Guerzoni replied that it was indeed Henry Kissinger, as he had previously intimated.

Guerzoni went on to explain to the court that Kissinger had made the threats in Moro's hotel room during the Italian leader's official visit to the United States. Moro was Prime Minister and Foreign Minister of Italy, a NATO member country. He was a man of high rank, one who should never have been subjected to Mafia-like pressures and threats. Moro was accompanied on his American visit by the President of Italy in his official capacity. Kissinger was, and still is, an important agent in the service of the Royal Institute for International Affairs, a member of the Club of Rome and the Council on Foreign Relations. [H: This man remains one of the most powerful and dangerous men on the globe today. And, because of his lack of credentials in the regular political scheme of pecking order, why was he a main feature at the funeral of the Pope? Dharma has remained at the top of Mr. Kissinger's "hit list" but for your better realization, "I" am more difficult of which to dispose. I still don't find anyone REALLY wishing to change seats in this arena with my hands in Manila.]

Kissinger's role in destabilizing the United States by means of three wars, the Middle East, Korea and Vietnam, is well known, as is his role in the Gulf War, in which the U.S. Army acted as mercenaries for the Committee of 300 in bringing Kuwait back under its control and at the same time making an example out of Iraq so that other small nations would not be tempted to work out their own destiny. [H: Of course it goes without even stating the involvement in Gulf War Current!]

Kissinger also threatened the late Ali Bhutto, President of the sovereign nation of Pakistan. Bhutto's "crime" was that he favored nuclear weapons for his country. As a Moslem state, Bhutto felt that Pakistan was threatened by what he called "continued Israeli aggression in the Middle East". Bhutto was judicially executed in 1979 by a Council on Foreign Relations representative in the country, General Zia ul Haq.

[H: Considering this ball of wax I would suggest you in Southeast Asia pay very close attention to Pakistan's visitation as we write here. Is this all a major warning to Lady Gloria unconstitutional president or what? Keep eyes open.]

In his planned ascent to power, ul Haq encouraged a frenzied mob to set fire to the U.S. embassy in Islamabad, in an apparent attempt to show the CFR that he was his own man and to secure more foreign aid and, it was later learned, to murder Richard Helms. Several years later, ul Haq paid with his life for intervening in the war raging in Afghanistan. His C-130 Hercules aircraft was hit by an extremely low frequency (ELF) electromagnetic energy shot shortly after it took off, causing the aircraft to loop into the ground.

The Club of Rome, acting on Committee of 300 orders to eliminate General ul Haq, had no compunction in sacrificing the lives of a number of U.S. servicemen on board the flight, including a U.S. Army Defense Intelligence Agency group headed by Brig. Gen. Herbert Wassom. Ul Haq had been warned by the Turkish Secret Service not to travel by plane, as he was targeted for a mid-air bombing. With this in mind, ul Haq took the United States team with him as "an insurance policy", as he commented to his inner circle advisors.

In my 1989 work "Terror in the Skies", I gave the following account of what happened:

"Shortly before ul Haq's C-130 took off from a Pakistan military base, a suspicious looking truck was seen close to the hanger that had housed the C-130. The control tower warned base security, but by the time action was taken, the C-130 was already airborne and the truck had gone. A few minutes later the plane began looping the loop until it hit the ground and exploded in a ball of fire. There is no explanation for such behavior by the C-130, an aircraft with a marvelously reliable safety record, and a joint Pakistani-United States board of enquiry found no pilot error or mechanical or structural failure. Looping the loop is a recognized trade mark of an aircraft hit by ELF fire."

That the Soviet Union has been able to develop high-peak radio frequency devices is known to the West through the work of Soviet scientists who work in the Kurchatov Atomic Energy Institute's Intensive Relativistic Electron Beam Division. Two of its specialists were Y.A. Vinograov and A.A. Rukhadze. Both scientists worked in the Lededev Physics Institute, which specializes in electronic and X-ray lasers.

After receiving this information, I searched for confirmation from other sources and found that, in England, the "International Journal of Electronics" had published some material which appeared to confirm the information given to me about the method chosen to shoot down General ul Haq's C-130. In addition, this information was confirmed by two of my intelligence sources. I received some useful information from a Soviet scientific paper on these subjects, published in England under the title, "Soviet Radio Electronics and Communications Systems". There was no doubt in my mind that General ul Haq had been murdered. The truck seen near the C-130 hanger undoubtedly carried a mobile ELF device of the type that the Soviet Armed Forces is known to possess.

I ask that the writing be interrupted at this point so that we do not have such unwieldy documents to convert to publication print in CONTACT and/or for distribution. Smaller segments are far more easily digested in "servings" of reasonable size rather than eating the whole cow at one sitting.

I further ask that YOU be responsible for any "catch-up" as we are not going to do catch-up segments of prior writings but rather, take up immediately where we leave off typing the copy, i.e., we will next take up on page 9 of the Fourth Edition but making some effort to end and begin at a topic or focus change.

We are extremely busy otherwise and therefore are attempting to move this information as quickly as is possible while putting it to working disc at the same time.

I apologize for the increased burden to the publishers and certainly the Editorial-typing teams. I consider this the best way to keep from overwhelming the readers.

I have to turn some of the responsibility of actually putting to press the information in order that we can press on as time allows but holding as is appropriate from one issue of the paper to the next. We have lots of things being offered of equal importance and we appreciate the "backup" which might actually give a break for other things. Thank you.

The Committee of 300

Part Three

RE: COMMITTEE OF 300 (PART 3):
CONTINUATION CHAPTER 1 (b), DR. JOHN
COLEMAN—GCH/d

DESTINED TO REPEAT

All the debates conjured on the face of the globe, students, are immaterial and are of no merit when you consider that: “If you correct no errors you are destined to repeat them.” I paraphrase because you don’t seem to understand the MAGNITUDE of your insistence on continuation and repetition of the most heinous of errors, commitments, and LIES.

Not only do you NOT correct past errors but you INSIST on repeating them ad nauseam until you are hopelessly entangled in the webs of the manipulators who are also but puppets of the Elite masters.

TRUTH WILL NOT SET YOU FREE!

You can learn all the “Truth” on the globe and it still will merit you nothing except OPPORTUNITY to “change” circumstances through action. There is no “secret mysticism” in this “revelation”.

If you really wanted change in, say, the Vatican and the new “false rulers” you would have buried the incredibly terrible symbol the Pope carries about to insure that nice “Jesus” stays securely nailed to his DEATH POST. Remember: GOD HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH YOUR GAMES OF TRICKERY AND PECKING ORDERS. Moreover, why should one of you take the load for the others? Why must we, for instance, stay in the target’s eye to make anything better for YOU?

So, why do we continue to pound on TRUTH and continue to present that which COULD save you in your own circumstances? Because we made the commitment to do so and perchance ONE set of eyes will be opened, a set of ears will hear and just perchance, one in a position to make change and take responsibility for Truth, will ACTUALLY ACT!

While you are distracted, however, by “feeding tubes” and “acceptable” death sentences also executed, the world turns ever in its downward spiral to Perdition.

I do NOT wish to longer pound on a poor little girl in Florida or her “feeding tube” but I certainly have a parting thought to the topic. THINK! No, YOU think!

In a body there is, unless malformed, a plan for “normal” function which is also called “natural”. We point this out because the clue to the LIES is always as in, “Keep alive through unnatural means”, as an excuse to kill someone “different” from the norm.

EVERY “NORMAL” BODY has as its method of obtaining fuel for life, A TUBE that is called a “FEEDING TUBE”, simply put. It opens at the back of the mouth where food is then processed and swallowed DOWN THAT TUBE and into the stomach. Therefore, there is nothing UNNATURAL about a “feeding tube” of any type, form or color.

THE PROBLEM COMES BY BRINGING DEATH TO THE BODY BY NOT HAVING ANYTHING ALLOWED THROUGH THAT TUBE. Furthermore, there is a second “tube” even more quickly noticed if out of order and that is to the lungs allowing AIR to flow in and out. There are tubes running everywhere throughout the body and nobody thinks anything at all about replacement tubes here and there and actually brag about your multiple experiences as might come your way.

After 15 years of being nicely ALIVE while food was supplied to the body of Terri Schindler-Schiavo, the lack of anything being allowed through ANY tube and into her body was the lethal WEAPON of choice in her murder—no more or less. You KNOW Terri wanted to be alive BECAUSE SHE, IN SPITE OF EVERYTHING, WAS ALIVE UNTIL MURDERED! All the arguments, don’t you see, change NOTHING of the Truth or Facts of the matter. In any sense of the actions taken it was UNLAWFUL, CRIMINAL and yes, indeed, caused over desire for MONEY. This is simply one more step toward Perdition, travelers. GOD ALLOWS! It is YOUR experience and GOD IS WITNESS. You follow Satan of the “Evil Empire” (YOURS) and get slowly desensitized to the most heinous things abounding on your place of offered LIFE. Moreover, you DEMAND your rights to be killed, maimed and enslaved.

God gives/creates LIFE and goodness and you immediately set forth to DESTROY in the name of that which is physical lust and egotistical position grasping.

You have just killed the innocent while giving more and more “living authority” to the most Evil Empire and you did it by the hundreds of thousands celebrating your next round of shackles.

These are the points and concepts upon which to ponder as we offer, again, the game plan along with the players as they took stage and then as they move on in your current experience. It is no different today than yesterday and it appears little will be DONE to change tomorrow.

It is much like the Fundamentalist Evangelical mouths who present a wondrous God in Jesus and then turn about and say that nobody, but nobody, will get to Heaven but rather destined to Hell UNLESS YOU BELIEVE ON JESUS (THEN THEY CALL HIM “CHRIST”). How much more insulting can you be to God? In one breath you claim this Christ to be God and all things are “possible”—then you immediately limit God to disallow any, except through this Jesus, to pass the Pearly Gates. WHO SAYS? Oh, I see, the “Bible” says? NO, NOT EVEN THE BIBLE SAYS SUCH A STUPID THING. Ah but, you waggle and debate and treat it like something worthy of your time and attention? THE MAN’S NAME WAS NOT “JESUS”, GOOD BUDDIES—EVER! The man claimed in point was NEVER “Jesus” as pronounced by some religious bigot in the United States of anywhere.

Try, “Except through CHRIST (goodness) shall you enter the house of your CREATOR”! This while guidelines are offered over and over again for the meaning of “GOODNESS”.

Bunches of gods before you, thieving, lying, cheating, killing, bringing hurt upon others and disrespect for that which is good and orderly are the guidelines of, NOT GOD, but HIS adversary which you label Satan. “I” cannot change that circumstance for only YOU can change your circumstance.

You will find that most of your most deadly adversaries are still very much alive in your ongoing segment of “time” and “space”. A good example is Henry Kissinger of whom we were offering copy at last sitting and shall, without further blather, take up the topic again in this portion. We have no time for “catch-up” so please get your prior copies of this reprinting and do your homework.

PART 3: CHAPTER 1(b). The Conspirators’ Hierarchy, THE COMMITTEE OF 300, Dr. John Coleman, first published 1992. This means there is a decade of potential changes.

[Continuation:]

According to written testimony by Bhutto, smuggled out of the country while he was in prison, Kissinger severely threatened him: “I will make a horrible example if you continue with your nation-building policies.” Bhutto had fallen foul of Kissinger and the Club of Rome by calling for a nuclear energy program to bring Pakistan into a modern industrialized state which, in the eyes of the Committee of 300, was a direct contravention of its orders delivered by Kissinger to the Pakistani government. What Kissinger was doing when he threatened Bhutto was not official U.S. policy, but the policy of the modern-day Illuminati.

One needs to have a clear understanding of just why it is that nuclear power is so hated all over the world, and why the fake “environmentalist” movement, established and financially supported by the Club of Rome, was called upon to wage war on nuclear energy. With nuclear energy generating electricity in cheap and abundant supplies, Third World countries would gradually become independent of U.S. foreign aid and begin to assert their sovereignty. Nuclear generated electricity is THE key to bringing Third World countries out of their backward state, a state which the Committee of 300 has ordered to remain in position. [H: I suggest you now look more closely at some countries under fire for just wanting electricity while being accused of making nuclear warheads and other dastardly trinkets. Where, exactly, are those WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION while still nothing is done to stop the total idiocy?]

Less foreign aid means less control of a country’s natural resources by the IMF. It was this idea of developing nations taking charge of their destiny that was an anathema to the Club of Rome and its ruling Committee of 300. We have seen opposition to nuclear power in the United States successfully used to block industrial development in conformity with the Club’s “Post-Industrial Zero-Growth” plans.

[H: I suggest you Filipino readers pay very close attention for THIS is the reason for all the political terror and why the U.S. was and is committed to keep control of the Philippines. Ms. Arroyo has been handsomely PAID-OFF to do exactly what she has done and is continuing to do. You in the Philippines will end up, if continued, in the dumpster disposal—after all your assets, wealth and life have been stolen from you. Moreover, you will die of poverty, disease and starvation for it is PLANNED FOR/AS YOUR DEMISE. YOU CAN TAKE BACK YOUR LIVES AND YOUR COUNTRY—BUT IT MUST BE BEFORE IT GETS WORSE AND DAILY IT DOES GET WORSE. A point of no return is not a distant threat—it is upon you.]

Dependence upon U.S. foreign aid actually keeps foreign countries in servitude to the Council on Foreign Relations. The people of the recipient countries receive very little of the money as it usually ends up in the pockets of government leaders who allow the natural raw material assets of the country to be savagely stripped by the IMF. Robert Mugabe of Zimbabwe, formerly Rhodesia, is a good example of how raw material assets, in this case, high grade chrome ore, is controlled through foreign aid. LONRHO, the giant conglomerate run by Angus Ogilvie, an important member of the Committee of 300, on behalf of his cousin Queen Elizabeth II, now has total control of this valuable resource, while the people of Rhodesia sink ever deeper into poverty and misery, notwithstanding a handout in excess of $300 million from the United States.

LONRHO now has the monopoly on Rhodesian chrome and charges any price it likes, whereas, under the Smith government, this was not allowed. A reasonable price level was maintained for 25 years prior to the Mugabe regime taking power. While there were problems during the 14-year rule of Ian Smith, since his departure, unemployment has quadrupled and Zimbabwe is in a state of chaos and de facto bankruptcy.

Mugabe received enough foreign aid from the United States (in the region of $300 million per annum) to enable him to build three hotels on the French Cote d'Azur Cap Ferat and Monte Carlo, while his citizens grapple with disease, unemployment and malnutrition, not to mention an iron-fisted dictatorship that allows no complaints. Contrast this with the Smith government which never asked for, nor received one red cent in aid from the United States. Thus it is clear that foreign aid is a powerful means of exercising control over countries such as Zimbabwe, and indeed, all African countries.

It also keeps U.S. citizens in a state of involuntary servitude and therefore, less able to mount meaningful opposition to government. David Rockefeller knew what he was doing when his foreign aid bill became law in 1946. It has, since then, become one of the most hated laws on the statute books following public exposure of what exactly it is, a racket run by the United States government, and paid for by We, the People.

How can the Committee maintain its grip upon the world, and more especially, their chokehold on the United States and Britain? One of the most asked questions is "How can any single entity know at all times what is going on and how is control exercised?" This book will attempt to answer these and other questions. The only way we can come to grips with the reality of the success of the Committee is by mentioning and discussing details. We need to know about the secret societies, front organizations, government agencies, banks, insurance companies, international businesses, the petroleum industry and the hundreds of thousands of entities and foundations, whose leading lights make up the membership of the Committee of 300, the ULTIMATE controlling body that runs the world and has done so for at least a 100 years.

[H: STOP right here for GOD has provided the way to overcome these dastardly programs under way and masterful evil political manipulators. This means, however, that YOU must act both "timely" and without being timid. You have resources in abundance and the way is clear—but you have to use it within the gathered strength offered. My people do NOT do it "FOR" you and they will not be allowed to forfeit themselves on your demand alter. Your demands are NOT our command. GOD has provided the way, the life and the TRUTH for your use and taking. Ah, but, laggards will "do-you-in" for you seize NOT the moment of your own salvation. And yes, indeed, I write most specifically to those of the Philippines who cannot seem to see the forest for the trees or the cutting thereof that destroys all hope of recovery.

Now, please readers, if you cannot see the magnitude of our offer and programs all nicely worked out and defined with sufficient backup in hard physical presentation to prove beyond a shadow of doubt that this is a valid GIFT from somewhere higher than your network of repeated bad works, then Pity is too great a gift to waste on you. GOD PROVIDES A WAY AND THOSE TO SHOW THE WAY: YOU MUST WALK THE WALK AND ACCOMPLISH THE TASKS AT HAND. GOD WILL BE WITH YOU, NOT WALK IT FOR YOU.]

Since there already are scores of books on the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) and the Trilateral Commission, we shall go directly to the Club of Rome and the German Marshall Fund. When I introduced these organizations to the United States in 1970 few, if any, had heard of them. My first work, "The Club of Rome", published in 1983, attracted almost no attention. Many uninitiated people thought the Club of Rome had something to do with the Catholic Church, and that the German Marshall Fund referred to the Marshal Plan.

This is precisely why the Committee chose these names; to confuse and to deflect attention away from what was happening. Not that the U.S. government didn't know, but, as it is part of the conspiracy, it helped to keep the lid on information rather than let the truth be known. A few years after I published my work, a few writers saw in it a wealth of hitherto untapped information and began writing and talking about it as though they had always had full knowledge of it.

It came as a revelation to them that the Club of Rome and its financiers under the title of the German Marshall Fund were two highly-organized conspiratorial bodies operating under cover of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), and that the majority of Club of Rome executives were drawn from NATO. The Club of Rome formulated all of what NATO claimed as its policies, and through the activities of Committee of 300 member Lord Peter Carrington, was able to split NATO into two factions, a political (left) wing power group and its former military alliance.

The Club of Rome is still one of the most important foreign policy arms of the Committee of 300, the other being the Bilderbergers. The Club was put together in 1968 from hard core members of the original Morgenthau group, on the basis of a telephone call made by the late Aurello Peccei for a new and urgent drive to speed up the plans of the One World Government, now called the New World Order, although I prefer the former name. It is certainly a better job-description than the New World Order, which is somewhat confusing as there have been several "New World Orders" before, but no One World Government.

Peccei's call was answered by the most subversive

"future planners", drawn from the United States, France, Sweden, Britain, Switzerland and Japan that could be mustered. During the period 1968-1972, the Club of Rome became a cohesive entity of new-science scientists, globalists, future planners and internationalists of every stripe. As one delegate put it, "We became Joseph's Coat of Many Colors." Peccei's book, Human Quality, formed the basis of the doctrine adopted by NATO's political wing.

The following is extracted from Dr. Peccei's book, Human Quality:

"For the first time since the first millennium was approached in Christendom, large masses of people are really in suspense about the impending advent of something unknown which could change their collective fate entirely... Man does not know how to be a truly modern man... Man invented the story of the Bad Dragon, but if ever there was a bad dragon, IT IS MAN HIMSELF... Here we have the human paradox man trapped by his extraordinary capacity and achievements, as in a quicksand. The more he uses his power, the more he needs it.

"We must never tire of repeating how foolish it is to equate the present profound pathological state and maladjustment of the entire human system to any cyclic crisis or passing circumstances. Since man has opened Pandora's Box of new technologies, he has suffered uncontrolled human proliferation, the mania for growth, energy crises, actual or potential resource scarcities, degradation of environment, nuclear folly and a host of related afflictions."

This is identical to the program adopted by the much later fake "environmentalist" movement, spawned by the same Club of Rome, to blunt and turn back industrial development.

Broadly, the anticipated counter program of the Club of Rome would cover inventing and disseminating "post industrialization" ideas in the United States, coupled with the spread of counterculture movements such as drugs, rock, sex, hedonism, Satanism, witchcraft and "environmentalism". Tavistock Institute, Stanford Research Institute and the Institute for Social Relations, in fact, the entire wide spectrum of research organizations in applied social psychiatry either had delegates on the board of the Club of Rome, or advisors, and played a guiding role in NATO's plan to adopt the "Aquarian Conspiracy".

I ask that we stop the copy at this point for the topic of New World Order and/or One World Government and needs more attention than will be gained by the uninterrupted overload of information. Attention span, even for the attentive, is difficult to maintain in the face of such imperatively important information while at the same time making an effort to equate the information to useful 'ACTION'. The information becomes both to inform you but more especially HOW TO USE IT TO GAIN FREEDOM AND REVERSALS OF OUTRAGEOUSLY ORCHESTRATED DEVASTATION.

Again, we can offer but stuffing it down throats is for the adversary, NOT GOD.

We stand ever ready, willing and able with our programs in final presentation as to fully documented and COURT ORDERED recovery BUT YOU WILL DO IT—NOT ME OR MY TEAM.

If you fail in this place called Philippines with all that you have in your arsenal then it is deserved and our people will simply be recalled. From here you can recover OR YOU WILL GO IRRETRIVABLY INTO DISASTER, the choices are YOURS.

RE: ROMAN CATHOLIC 265TH POPE.
CARDINAL JOSEPH RATZINGER (GERMAN),
"BENEDICT XVI"—GCH/d

RECYCLED POPES AND BLIND LAMBS

No, I don't "want" to speak on this subject. "Religions" are "creations" of MAN, not any true relationship to GOD but, rather, just the opposite. What now can a man, Mr. Ratzinger, have to offer you, especially if you are not of the "faith" of Roman Catholic? Moreover, what can he possibly broker FOR YOU if we suppose he IS your shepherd? GOD NEEDS NO BROKERS TWIXT HIM AND THEE!

You can, however, know that it IS important to a world in confusion that a new "POPE" is deaded, buried, recycled and now given some kind of a name to further confuse you as to just WHO is this actual person now somehow secretly voted into service as KING.

Well, Mr. Ratzinger is NOT a "King" of anything and he was chosen so he could be easily replaced as the "wars" heat and boil.

Are there actually multitudes of faithful gathering under the flag of Vatican? Oh yes indeed; I prefer to call them lemmings as marching blindly into the sea. (See?)

Not more than a third of the "gathered" will so much as follow Friday fast so what are you doing? We call it "modernization" to better "suit a changed world".

Mr. Ratzinger may very well even believe he is "chosen by God" but only fools wear such funny hats while the puppet-masters manipulate the puppet-strings. There is no way to play better into the hands of the likewise "human" so-called "Jews" (but are not) and note the interesting things coming out of Israel!

The world looks on and claims "God chose...." NO, I repeat: MAN IN SECRET SOCIETY CHOSE AND BESTOWED BLESSINGS—NOT GOD.

Does GOD bless this man in point? Of course, GOD BLESSES ALL MEN FOR ALL ARE "SACRED" EVEN IF NOT "HOLY". Moreover, you will all be quite shocked at just WHO is in Heaven and who might be in Hell. Also, just what is Heaven? What is Hell—and what or WHO is GOD?

It is interesting to note that since the PLAY is truly a manifest, to you, expression of physical presentation, the play itself can be erased, re-written, given new "actors", repeated or dissolved. So, what does this have to do with Catholicism? Everything and NO-THING.

I REMIND YOU OF THE VERY DEFINITION OF "EVIL": EVIL IS THE DELIBERATE DISTRACTION FROM TRUTH IN EXPERIENCE [OUR JOURNEY TO GOD] OR FALL "FROM" TRUTH. In this realization all things "Man" are a whole bunch "evil", most surely including your churches and religions in an attempt to FOOL YOU ALL THE TIME.

What, however, are the "faithful" Roman Catholics mostly saying today? I can best just offer that which is presented by a rather dictatorial columnist who espouses it best as "the only good Muslim is a dead Muslim", Mr. Maximo Soliven of the Administration press in Manila in this "Catholic Republic". Please, however, recognize that this is an expression of opposites and total oxymoronic. It CANNOT be "Roman Catholic" as described and "Republic" as espoused, now can it?

Do I come across as biased or unimpressed with recent ritualistic pomp and circumstance? I certainly hope so, and that that pleases those who agree and displeases those who disagree and THAT, friend, is what manifest human experience is all about—choices YOU make. I am only an information resource that you can know a modicum of "TRUTH" according to how much you WANT to know, and to show the "way" toward opportunity for CHANGE out of the "EVIL" (DEFINED ABOVE) that you might flourish and find your way to wherever you think you are going.

Earth experience and expression is, at the very best, TEMPORARY. Moreover, all it takes to understand the meaning of "temporary" is to get past the 50-year line which is ACTUALLY beyond "mid-life" span. AND, what you have done if you are past 50-years is TRAIN THOSE WHO COME AFTER YOU—IN YOUR WAYS WHICH ARE INCREASINGLY DECREASING IN TRUTH OR RIGHTEOUSNESS. You express constantly in the emphasis of that illusion of "living" while feeding total hog-swill to disinform those little minds following on.

How do you know? Well, here you CAN look to the Roman Catholic Church and see that the hype is that more and more young people are attending the fold. Oh? Yes of course, they are SEEKING "something" proclaimed to be decent and good. What they find will be the typical lie to match only the stupidity of claiming that a helpless murdered man literally took on YOUR SINS on a cross on a hill-top where murderers were CRUCIFIED. You then dumped all your responsibilities and it is claimed that "if you believe in the name of 'Jesus' you shall be allowed into Heaven". More murder and absolution from responsibility will NOT get you into Heaven. Never mind walking on water—try walking on AIR.

I certainly do, again, suggest you pay VERY CLOSE ATTENTION to what we offer and part of that is this information along with Committee of 300 for ongoing reality in data input.

But to return to the focus I ask that we just type-in Mr. Soliven's column today and YOU think about it through whatever eyes and ears you use personally.

I do not PUT-DOWN Mr. Soliven nor do I put-down any individual, religion or experience. Those are things FOR YOU to consider and not mine to thrust upon you.

COPY: The Philippine STAR, Manila, Philippines, Thursday, April 21, 2005, "BY THE WAY", Max V. Soliven, Publisher, Editor, Columnist and "controller" of this paper and contents thereof; servant and tool of the current "administration" in controlled media. [Mr. Soliven is further "controlled" by Mrs. Precioso S.

Soliven (Mrs. Max) who got appointed to UNICEF of the UN and extensively travels on State trips, i.e., the funeral of afore-mentioned Pope JP II. Not hard to detect games afoot. By the way, the trip itself, in point, was paid for by the Social Security account and which depleted said account—but it allowed the head of SS to get a free trip with wife and "diplomats" (200 of them) to ROME, ITALY for a nice Roman Holiday with all expenses paid. It appears to be something like, "they don't have bread; LET THEM EAT CAKE!"

A FORMER 'HITLER YOUTH' AS HOLY FATHER? GOD MOVES IN MYSTERIOUS WAYS...

Many others, I'm sure, will dredge up the fact that our [note "our"] new Holy Father, who took the name of Benedict XVI—His Holiness Joseph Alois Ratzinger—had joined the "Hitler Jugend" (Hitler Youth) at age 14, then fought as a soldier in the German Army during World War II. So I'm not telling tales out of school.

This does not mean, of course, that our newly-elected Supreme Pontiff had been a Nazi sympathizer. His biodata maintains that young people had to enroll in the Hitler Youth in accordance with a 1936 German law. It's difficult to picture the very intellectual and theologically brilliant former Cardinal Ratzinger (who speaks 10 languages, and has penned over 40 books) swinging down the street in the massed ranks of budding brownshirts, belting out "Die Fahne hoch ..." (raise high the flag), the opening lines of the Horst Wessel Lied. What banner? The Swastika, what else?

Much is being made of our new Pope Benedict XVI being "a German Pope", close on the heels of a beloved and extremely popular Polish Pope, John Paul II. He's more than German—he is Bavarian from the Heimat. Bavaria, which nestles next-door to Austria, is not just the birthplace of the Nazi Party (remember, Hitler staged his first failed Putsch in Munich, and the first martyr of the Nazi cause was killed by the flying beer mug in the Hofbrauhaus) but is the fortress of devout, die-hard Catholicism.

Germany's Catholicos cerrados come from Munich—where beer was invented by the Monks, hence the city's name—and Bavaria, where even the Oktoberfest drinking songs speak of churches like the Alte Pieter, et cetera.

That having been said, we kiss the ring and bow our heads to hopefully receive the Urbi et Orbi blessing of our vicar of Christ, trusting in God to set him straight. Ab initio he starts out with a severe image problem, since nobody can be as saintly-looking, charismatic, and photogenic (even in his last two-year debility) as the late Papa Karol Wojtyla.

As head of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, moreover, Cardinal Ratzinger—who was brought to Rome by John Paul II himself in 1981—had to crack the whip as the tough enforcer of conservative doctrine for 24 years. His post has been equated to that of Torquemada during the Spanish Inquisition.

However, his friends and his Cardinal electors testify that the new Pope is, in reality, pious, sincere, charming and true. Oh well. Who are we to judge from superficial reports?

Surely, Jesus Himself did not pick a man of proven qualities to be His first Pope. The fisherman Simon-Peter, only a short time earlier, had denied knowing Christ "The Nazarene" three times when confronted by people just after Christ's arrest and before His crucifixion. Peter had lied and declared, "I know Him not," thrice before the cock crowed, then fled in terror along with the rest of the Apostles, save one. [H: Who said?]

Again, if you believe Christian tradition, there is a spot on the old Via Appia (sic) where a chapel stands, called "Quo Vadis" enshrining an imprint of Jesus' foot. [H: Who told you this one? Is this something like Bigfoot? Where do you get all this absurd nonsense?] The story goes that Peter, fearful once again of his own life, was fleeing Rome where the government was rounding up Christians, crucifying them, turning them into human torches, or casting them into the amphitheatre or Colosseum (sic) to be devoured by wild beasts. On the road, to his shock, Peter saw Our Lord Jesus walking towards Rome.

"Quo vadis, Domine? (Where are You going, Lord?) he querulously queried.

"To Rome," Jesus was said to have replied, "to be crucified again." Stung by the gentle reproach, Peter turned around and went back to Rome. When seized by the Roman soldiery, he asked to be crucified upside down, because he said he was not worthy to die as His Master did. [H: Ouch, and just WHO told you this one? It certainly would appear Mr. Soliven likes to impress readers with his intelligence and command of some language or another. And, unfortunately for YOU, here are some more evidences of the fact that the Bible has been totally "tampered" and "it is said..." is only something to get the speaker or writer off the hook.]

These are the legends of imperfect men being converted into heroes and saints by GOD'S GRACE (even that of Saul being struck by God's lightning, to be transformed in St. Paul on the Road to Damascus). [H: Certainly gets worse and worse, doesn't it?]

Thus it must be with Pope Benedict XVI, newly-anointed by the Conclave and the Holy Spirit, Habemus Papam! But the question remains for all of us: Quo vadimus? Where are we going?

[H: Now get this next!]

THE BOOKMAKERS, who placed odds on who would "win" the 70 percent vote in the Conclave to secure the papacy, called it right when they announced Ratzinger, 78, as the runaway frontrunner to clinch the Papal throne.

"TIME" Magazine even gave him odds of 7 to one, unless I'm mistaken. [H: Trust me, Mr. Soliven NEVER considers himself to be "mistaken".]

Perhaps the Cardinals chose an "oldie", to risk sounding irreverent, so the next Pope wouldn't reign too long—thus safely getting the Church a kind of transitional Pope who wouldn't pull any surprises, or create shock waves, until the Church had time to eyeball the younger set for a more long-lasting candidate. Indeed, Ratzinger was always at the elbow of Pope John Paul II, met with him regularly every Friday, but even more frequently during the week, and shared many of his conservative values. Yet, Papa Angelo Roncalli was 76 when he was elected Pope John XXIII, and expected to simply coast along, but in the five years he reigned Papa Roncalli upset the conservative apple cart, flung open the casements of the Church to change and ecumenism, and convened Vatican II.

Ratzinger is expected to be less impetuous. But who can tell?

In retrospect, the Jesuit scholar from Georgetown University, Thomas J. Reese, may have called it closest in his book, INSIDE THE VATICAN, subtitled "the Politics and Organization of the Catholic Church". (Harvard University Press, 1996)—can you beat that, nine years ago!—when he wrote of the choosing of the next Pope after John Paul II.

Reese had written: "Being elderly or sickly is an advantage for a compromise candidate since the older he is the sooner he will die and allow the cardinals to return to elect a serious candidate. Cardinals elected as interim popes, like Sixtus V (1585-1590), have sometimes surprised their electors with their initiatives, John being the most recent and dramatic example."

Age, he asserted, is a strong factor. "[O]f the nine popes who have lived in this century (beginning with Leo XIII), their average age at the time of election was 65 years. The youngest was John Paul II at 58 (followed by Benedict XV at 59), while the oldest was John XXIII at 76. All the rest were in their sixties."

In this light, our new Pope at 78 is the oldest this century.

When he was born in Martkl [A]m Inn, in Bavaria, the son of Joseph Ratzinger Sr. and his wife Mary, did anyone dream he would become Supreme Pontiff and Bishop of Rome?

His father was a cop, a police officer who served in both the Bavarian Landespolizei and the German Ordnungspolizei. Just goes to show that sanctity can find root in the least likely places, and in the most unlikely families. Yet, wasn't the first Pope a fisherman, and another of the leading apostles and evangelists a tax collector? God draws a straight with crooked lines, G.K. Chesterton once said. And God moves in mysterious ways, His wonders to perform.

[END COPY]

Oh, I would say it is more likely that "MAN MOVES IN MYSTERIOUS WAYS, HIS WONDERS TO PRECIPITATE." You just can't get away, can you?, from blaming GOD for every last little disagreement that "you" might have with WHAT IS. DO YOU REALLY THINK GOD CHOSE MR. RATZINGER? And, in addition, do YOU really believe that this man in position is somehow the LAST WORD OF GOD? They don't even fool themselves, these idiots, so why do YOU allow them to make idiots of YOU?

New World Order-One World Government with one world religion, currency, control and enslavement are now one more step to conclusion. So, put on your costume and get ready to dance for the show is under way.

Do YOU really think that CNN, for instance, owned and run by controlling media JEWS, actually gave weeks of non-stop focus on Vatican events for NO REASON? Come on, sleepy-heads, wake up and smell the toast burning! And NO, we are not talking about "Jewish" this or that—this IS the New World Order and frankly, most of them are NOT "Jewish".

God blesses you so it is with great wonder what you will do with that Grace and gift! To put things more currently and poetically, as the joke goes: "Mr. Ratzinger doesn't give a Ratsasset about your belief or disbelief!" So, where were you on 9/11? How about when the Titanic went down? Where were you when "they" bombed Dresden? Where were you when the Tsunami hit Indonesia on "Boxing" Day and what in the world does "Boxing Day" mean? Please get my point. Better yet: WHERE WERE YOU ON CRUCIFIXION DAY AND HOW LONG WILL YOU KEEP AN INNOCENT PERSON ON A CROSS? OH, HE IS DYING, OF COURSE, FOR ALL OF YOU ARE QUITE EFFICIENTLY "KILLING" THAT NICE GUY YOU LABEL AS THE SON OF GOD. DOESN'T THAT MAKE YOU THE LEAST BIT CONCERNED—ABOUT HOW GOD MIGHT FEEL ABOUT THESE THINGS? I CERTAINLY THINK IT IS WORTHY OF THOUGHT FOR THERE ARE "NOT" GOING TO BE A BUNCH OF SPACE CADETS OR A MAN ON A CROSS TO MEET YOU IN THE CLOUDS AND WHISK YOU TO RAPTURE. SO BE IT.

GEOPOLITICS OF OIL

By Erick San Juan, 4/24/05

In the Philippines, every time that there's an oil price increase, it's not only the government who's acting jittery but all sectors of life; the worst, the increase is being done weekly which makes the most affected (the critical mass) to get angry and blame the GMA Administration for not preparing for the worst case scenarios. Everybody knows that oil price increase creates domino effect to the consumers. All price increases follow.

But we cannot blame everything to the government.

What was not told to us by the oil companies was that it's not only the oil supply that is being deliberately reduced in production by the oil producing countries and OPEC, but by the oil cartels and its cohorts in the commodity futures' trading and stock market who dictates as to the ceiling of the price to be figured daily.

What adds to the global confusion is the big nations' race for oil security.

I was given data by my good friend, Ka Maning Almario, an intellectual patriotic writer, which came from the Atlantic Monthly dated April 2005 issue. In those figures that I've got, it's clear that the race for control of oil is being contested by China and the U.S.A.

According to Matthew Yeomans, the author of Oil: Anatomy of an Industry and who edits the "Oil Blog" < petropulse.com.>, China has been busy cutting deals in America's backyard. In return for cooperation on oil projects China has lent support to Brazil's bid for a UN Security Council seat. Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez has signed contracts with China President Hu Jin Tao that they will jointly explore Venezuela's oil fields and build refineries and has proposed new pipelines to the Pacific that would make delivery to Asia cheaper.

The U.S. perceived this deal of Chavez as "getting even". Chavez believes that the destabilization plot against him was maneuvered by the U.S. cloak and dagger operators.

China is also aggressively eyeing the oil reserves of Canada, using their Chinese migrants in Canada as their lobby. Canada is reportedly second only to Saudi Arabia in recoverable oil with production costs more than ten times as high.

China is also making new oil import agreements with Gabon, Chad and the Republic of Congo.

China is reportedly making secret deals with the Philippine Government and Vietnam in developing the natural gas and oil in their territorial boundaries in the Spratley Islands. China's naval expansion program and erection of territorial markers got the ire of other country claimants and made Taiwan suspicious.

China is perceived as flexing its muscles. A dispute with Japan over ownership of natural gas fields and oil reserves in the East China Sea could explain why a Chinese nuclear submarine entered Japanese waters last year, Yeomans said.

China has several investments in oil infrastructure in Algeria, in Libya (although U.S. Occidental Petroleum is newly investing in some of its oil fields), in Nigeria, Russia, Kazakhstan, Uzbekistan, Azerbaijan, Turkmenistan, Egypt, Sudan, Indonesia & Iran.

This need for more oil by China alarmed corporate America. The United States believes that China is the new threat to its oil security. According to Yeomans, in 2003, China overtook Japan as the world's second largest oil consumer. The increase in demand allegedly sent global oil prices skyrocketing. He added that China and the U.S.A. consumed 33% of the oil produced last year and both are engaged in a contest for preferred access to the world's remaining reserves.

According to Oil Intelligence Outlook the world's remaining reserve is only good until 2040. China may possibly outstrip the U.S. for their thirst for oil as early as 2020.

According to Yeomans' report, the U.S. strategy is based on physically controlling oil fields and maintaining a stable price for crude oil on the global market.

What was not openly told: the U.S. has been putting strategic portable bases and "visiting" rights agreements in/with nation states where they get their crude oil like Tunisia, Algeria, Nigeria, Cameroon, Gabon, Republic of Congo, Angola, Russia, Egypt, India, Thailand, Brunei, Malaysia, Indonesia, Kuwait, Syria, Iraq, Qatar, Oman, Saudi Arabia and Yemen.

Yeomans confirmed that the tiny island nation of Sao Tome, off the coast of West Africa, symbolizes the importance that the U.S. places on the oil-rich Gulf of Guinea. Western oil companies, while tapping the newly discovered oil reserves in Sao Tome, report the U.S. military is considering installing a naval base on the island from which it could patrol the strategic waters off West Africa's major oil producers.

While in the process of making partnerships with oil producing nations both U.S. and China protect their investments by selling arms to these nation-states, of which some are known as "rogue" states.

Even Russia got irritated by the wheeling and dealing by oil carpetbaggers who wanted to balkanize Russia and have full control of the Caspian oil reserves by building a pipeline from Baku-Tbilisi to Ceyhan in Turkey on the Mediterranean. The pipeline would carry oil from the Caspian Sea to the west without going through Russia....

The High Priests of War

Part Six: Opposition

With great appreciation to the author, Michael Collins Piper, for permission to reprint, we continue our ongoing serialization of The High Priests of War.

Please note that this book is not divided into chapters so we are presenting it under our own headings at what we perceive to be logical break-points.

[QUOTING:]

KRISTOL'S WAR?

It was not so extraordinary then, that, on March 17, 2003—the day before the United States launched the war against Iraq, Kristol was able to brag in a signed editorial in The Weekly Standard that "obviously, we are gratified that the Iraq strategy we have long advocated ... has become the policy of the U.S. government."

Just one day later, on March 18, as the war began, The Washington Post reminded its readers how influential Kristol was, noting that the Post's columnist, Richard Cohen, had once declared the looming conflict to be "Kristol's War". The Post wrote of Kristol that with U.S. forces on the verge of bombing Baghdad, "this would seem to be Kristol's moment."

For the beleaguered people of Iraq and for the American and British soldiers who died in pursuit of the neo-conservative war aims—and for the American taxpayers, who must pay the bills—it was not their moment, however much Kristol and company may have rejoiced.

ABANDONING TRADITIONAL AMERICAN POLICY

We have seen how this new form of "conservative imperialism" with roots in the ranks of an elite group of "former" Trotskyite leftists—who have transformed into Republican "neo-conservatives"—has taken hold of the reins of power at the highest ranks of the administration of President George W. Bush. This conservative imperialism is the foundation upon which the current war against Iraq is based and upon which future imperial American wars in the Middle East and elsewhere are likewise hinged.

It is these neo-conservatives who support a modern-day brand of imperialism—the concept of U.S. interventionism and meddling abroad. The ongoing war against Iraq is the culmination of a long-standing drive by the neo-conservatives who view the war as the first step in a long-ranging plan to not only "remake the Arab world" but also to establish the United States as the sole world power, unquestioned in military and economic might.

This political philosophy—"neo-conservatism"—has virtually re-written, even supplanted, the traditional "conservative" point of view exemplified by Republican nationalists such as the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, a leading figure in American political affairs during the mid-20th century. Taft and others who shared his views did not believe it was the duty of America to play "world policeman". Taft and his like-minded colleagues believed that America's first duty was to attend to the needs of its own people and not meddle in the affairs of other nations.

The very "liberal" Democratic Party-oriented Washington Post—perhaps America's most powerful daily newspaper—was never fond of the conservative "America First" viewpoint of Taft and his political heirs. However, in the past decade, as the so-called "neo-conservative" element began to infiltrate and, ultimately, take control of the American conservative movement and the upper ranks of the Republican Party, increasingly advocating an aggressive internationalist worldview, the Post began to trumpet the so-called "neo-conservatives".

On Aug. 21, 2001 the Post featured an article entitled, "Empire or Not? A quiet debate over U.S. role" which it billed as one in a series of occasional articles focusing on "Ideas from the Right". The article—which was evidently a good publicity boost for the "neo-cons"—opened by commenting:

People who label the United States "imperialist" usually mean it as an insult. But in recent years a handful of conservative defense intellectuals have begun to argue that the United States is indeed acting in an imperialist fashion—and that it should embrace the role.

The Post said that this idea of enforcing a new "Pax Americana" was part of a "vigorous, expansionistic Reaganite foreign policy" that makes the United States, in the Post's words, "an empire of democracy or liberty". Under this new form of imperialism, the United States is not conquering land or establishing colonies in the style of the old British and Roman empires, but instead "has a dominating global presence military, economically and culturally".

The Post noted, as an example, that one of the foremost advocates of this new imperialism was Thomas Donnelly, deputy executive director of the Project for the New American Century, the Washington think tank founded by William Kristol.

THE FIRST IMPERIAL OFFENSIVE FAILED

Ironically, during the earlier administration of George H. W. Bush—father of the current American president—the hard-line neo-conservative forces tried, but failed, to enunciate the very policies of imperial power now being pursued by the younger Bush.

After the first President Bush decided to withdraw from Iraq during the first war in the Arabian Gulf, then-Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney (now vice president) circulated the draft of a document, prepared under the direction of neo-conservative Paul Wolfowitz, which advocated American global unilateralism, abandoning traditional American alliances.

Notably, the proposal suggested the United States should consider pre-emptive force of the very type ultimately used against Iraq in 2003. However, when the document was leaked to the press, the senior President Bush, in the words of American author Michael Lind, "quickly distanced [himself and his administration] from the radicalism of the Cheney-Wolfowitz report".

That Cheney should have been so enamored with the neo-conservative position surprised no one. For some years Cheney had been associated with the Richard Perle-connected lobby for Israel known as the Jewish Institute for National Security Affairs (JINSA), founded by Perle's long-time friend Stephen Bryen who had been investigated for espionage on behalf of Israel. (That JINSA link is ubiquitous. It won't go away!)

It was not until the advent of the second Bush administration—under George W. Bush—that the neo-conservatives finally won the day and their drive for an imperial policy, centered on the proposed assault on Iraq, finally achieved success.

In fact, by the time that the American war against Iraq finally erupted in March of 2003, the "quiet" debate over imperialism described by the Washington Post was no longer quiet.

Leading the side of the debate favoring American imperialism was William Kristol, along with allies inside the Bush administration such as Paul Wolfowitz, now the number two man in the Defense Department, his deputy, Douglas Feith, and others, all of whom were actively supported by Richard Perle, by this point ensconced as chairman of the Bush administration's Defense Policy Board.

So it was that once the long-promoted war against Iraq was already under way the concept of "American Empire" was very much the subject of public discussion in the American elite media and in many intellectual journals. As Jeet Heer pointed out in The Boston Globe on March 23, 2003, just days after the first American assault on Iraq:

Since the Sept. 11 attacks ... many foreign policy pundits, mostly from the Republican right but also including some liberal internationalists, have revisited the idea of empire.

"America is the most magnanimous imperial power ever,” declared Dinesh D’Souza in The Christian Science Monitor in 2002. “Afghanistan and other troubled lands today cry out for the sort of enlightened foreign administration once provided by self-confident Englishmen in jodhpurs and pith helmets,” argued Max Boot in a 2001 article for The Weekly Standard titled “The Case for American Empire”.

In The Wall Street Journal, historian Paul Johnson asserted that the “answer to terrorism” is “colonialism”. Columnist Mark Steyn, writing in The Chicago Sun-Times, has contended that “imperialism is the answer”.

“People are now coming out of the closet on the word ‘empire,’” noted Washington Post columnist Charles Krauthammer. “The fact is no country has been as dominant culturally, economically, technologically and militarily in the history of world since the Roman Empire.”

In fact, of all of the above-mentioned writers—D’Souza, Boot, Johnson, Steyn and Krauthammer—are among the energetic clique of media analysts promoting the neo-conservative worldview.

U.S. OPPOSITION TO NEO-CONSERVATIVE IMPERIALISM

However, there does remain opposition to the imperial philosophy of the “neo-conservative” network.

Perhaps the foremost nationally-known critic of the neo-conservatives is columnist Pat Buchanan who raised the banner of American nationalism (as opposed to internationalism and imperialism) in his presidential campaign on the Reform Party ticket in 2000. Buchanan, a life-long Republican, went to the Reform Party after realizing that his effort to restore traditional nationalism to the Republican Party was going nowhere. Buchanan’s book, A Republic, Not an Empire, was a clarion call for grass-roots opposition to the drive for a “Pax Americana”.

As such, after the drive for war against Iraq took hold in official policy making circles in the Bush administration, Buchanan offered the pages of his newly-established American Conservative magazine to enunciate the dangers in the new imperialism being propounded by the “neo-conservative” network.

One particular exposition appearing in Buchanan’s magazine, written by Andrew Bacevich, a retired American army colonel who is a professor of international relations at Boston University, is probably among the best and most succinct specific analyses of what the new American imperialism constitutes:

All but lost amidst the heated talk of regime change in Baghdad, the White House in late September [2002] issued the Bush administration’s U.S. National Security Strategy.

The Bush USNSS offers the most comprehensive statement to date of America’s globe-straddling post-Cold War ambitions. In it, the administration makes plain both its intention to perpetuate American military supremacy and its willingness—almost approaching eagerness—to use force to reshape the international order.

This new strategy places the approaching showdown with Saddam Hussein in a far wider context, showing that overthrowing the Iraqi dictator is only the next step in a massive project, pursued under the guise of the “war on terror”, but aimed ultimately at remaking the world in our image.

Hence, the second major theme of the new U.S. National Security Strategy—a candid acknowledgment and endorsement of the progressively greater militarization of U.S. foreign policy.

To state the point bluntly, the Bush administration no longer views force as the last resort; rather, it considers military power to be America’s most effective instrument of statecraft—the area in which the United States owns the greatest advantage.

Beginning with the premise that “our best defense is a good offense,” the USNSS describes how President Bush intends to exploit that advantage to the fullest.

He will do so in two ways. First, he will expand U.S. global power projection capabilities. Already spending roughly as much on defense as the entire rest of the world combined, the United States will spend still more—much, much more.

The purpose of this increase is not to respond to any proximate threat. Rather, the Bush administration is boosting the Pentagon’s budget with an eye toward achieving a margin of such unprecedented and unsurpassed superiority that no would-be adversary will even consider mounting a future challenge. The United States will thereby secure in perpetuity its status as sole superpower. Old concerns about the “clashing wills of powerful states” will disappear; henceforth, a single power will call the tune.

Second, with the USNSS codifying the concept of “anticipatory self-defense”, President Bush claims for the United States the prerogative of using force preemptively and unilaterally, however its interests may dictate. (That prerogative belongs exclusively to the United States: the Bush strategy pointedly warns other nations not to “use preemption as a pretext for aggression”.) In contrast to his predecessor’s reactive, half-hearted military adventures, Bush will employ America’s armed might proactively and on a scale sufficient to achieve rapid, decisive results. The prospect of ever greater U.S. military activism—against terrorists, against rogue states, against evildoers of whatever stripe—beckons.

Nowhere does the Bush administration’s national security strategy pause to consider whether the nation’s means are adequate to the “great mission” to which destiny has ostensibly summoned the United States. Asserting that American global hegemony is necessarily benign and that Washington can be counted on to use the Bush Doctrine of preemption judiciously, nowhere does it contemplate the possibility that others might take a contrary view.

In truth, whatever their party affiliation or ideological disposition, members of the so-called foreign policy elite cannot conceive of an alternative to “global leadership”—the preferred euphemism for global empire.

Although coming from a traditional “conservative”—as opposed to the “neo-conservative” viewpoint—Bacevich does not stand alone in these concerns. In fact, even liberal American writers have expressed similar fears of the new drive for an American empire.

Writing in the progressive journal, Mother Jones, author Todd Gitlin echoed much of what Bacevich expressed. Gitlin referred likewise to the new Bush administration policy document and declared:

The document is meant not so much to be read as to be brandished. This is internationalism imperial-style—as in Rome, when Rome ruled. Its scope is breathtaking. There were large parts of the world that Rome couldn’t reach, but the Bush doctrine recognizes no limits.

It will know when threats are emerging, partly formed, and it will not have to say how it knows, or be convincing about what it knows. The doctrine affirms all of the comforts and recognizes none of the dangers of empire.

It ignores the costs of unbounded deployment and war. It acknowledges no danger that reckless swashbuckling helps recruit terrorists. It forgets that all empires fall—they cost too much, incite too many enemies, they inspire contrary empires. The new imperialists think they are different. All empires do.

Gitlin concluded (correctly) that the American government is “hell-bent on empire and has said so in black and white”.

AMERICAN ZIONIST SUPPORT FOR IMPERIALISM

Despite these criticisms, very powerful interests in the American political arena were very much pleased by the new imperialism being pursued by the Bush administration. Exemplifying this support was a notable essay by Norman Podhoretz appearing in the Sept. 2002 issue of Commentary magazine, the influential neo-conservative journal published by the influential New York chapter of the American Jewish Committee, one of the leading Zionist organizations on American soil. Podhoretz, as we have seen, was one of the “founding fathers” in the establishment of the neo-conservative network that ultimately assumed supreme power in the ruling councils inside the Bush administration. An early protégé of William Kristol’s father, Irving Kristol, “godfather” of the neo-conservatives, Podhoretz remains today a highly regarded senior figure in the neo-conservative movement.

As such, Podhoretz’ assessment of the new policies is of special interest, particularly since Podhoretz freely acknowledges that the ultimate aim of the Bush policy, if carried to its utmost, would be the subjugation of the Arab Middle East as we know it today.

In his essay, Podhoretz asserted, in a somewhat mystical fashion, that following the Sept. 11 terrorist tragedy that rocked America, “a kind of revelation, blazing with a very different fire of its own, lit up the recesses of Bush’s mind and heart and soul.”

“Which is to say,” added Podhoretz, “that having previously been unsure as to why he should have been chosen to become President of the United States, George W. Bush now knew that the God to whom, as a born-again Christian, he had earlier committed himself had put him in the Oval Office for a purpose. He had put him there to lead a war against the evil of terrorism.”

Thus, Podhoretz seemed to suggest that Bush was driven toward his course of imperialism and war against the Arab world by his Christian fundamentalist point of view. (And Podhoretz is probably right!)

Podhoretz then commented that Bush’s first major address on Sept. 20, following the terrorist attacks, “may well have been the greatest presidential speech of our age”, adding pointedly that Bush was actually abandoning even his own father’s point of view.

“It was here,” said Podhoretz, “that Bush’s conversion from a conventional ‘realist’ in the mold of his father to a democratic ‘idealist’ of the Reaganite stamp was announced to the world.”

Declaring his support for the new Bush agenda, Podhoretz hailed the ultimate consequences of this policy as Podhoretz and his fellow neo-conservatives see it:

The regimes that richly deserve to be overthrown and replaced are not confined to the three singled-out members of the axis of evil [that is, Iraq, Iran and North Korea].

At a minimum, the axis should extend to Syria and Lebanon and Libya, as well as “friends” of America like the Saudi royal family and Egypt’s Hosni Mubarak, along with the Palestinian Authority, whether headed by Arafat or one of his henchmen.

There is no denying that the alternative to these regimes could easily turn out to be worse, even (or especially) if it comes into power through democratic elections. After all, by every measure we possess, very large numbers of people in the Muslim world sympathize with Osama bin Laden and would vote for radical Islamic candidates of his stripe if they were given the chance.

To dismiss this possibility would be the height of naiveté. Nevertheless, there is a policy that can head it off, provided that the United States has the will to fight World War IV—the war against militant Islam—to a successful conclusion, and provided, too, that we then have the stomach to impose a new political culture on the defeated parties.

This is what we did directly and unapologetically in Germany and Japan after winning World War II ... There was a song that became popular in America during World War II: “We did it before, and we can do it again.” What I am trying to say to the skeptics and the defeatists of today is that yes indeed we did it before; and yes indeed we can do it again.

That these are aggressive and war-like words and presumptions is obvious. But the fact is that these words represent a point of view that has reached supreme influence at the highest levels of the administration that governs the most powerful nation on the face of the planet.

THE MILITARY CLASHES WITH THE NEO-CONSERVATIVES

However, the American military leadership did not agree with the neo-conservatives that an invasion of Iraq would either result in a mass uprising by the Iraqi people against Saddam (in alliance with U.S. forces) or that the rest of the Arab world would sit back with satisfaction. Nor did the American military even want to fight the war in the first place. The military leaders saw no need for the United States to enter into conflict with Iraq, viewing such a war as contrary to American national interests. The idea that the American military leadership somehow favored the war with Iraq was a myth that was widely being propagated by the neo-conservative pro-Israel propaganda network in official Washington with the active support of the pro-Israel elements in the American media. Following the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001, major media headlines and talking-heads on the broadcast networks in the United States repeatedly and relentlessly reported that “the Pentagon” was gearing up for a U.S.-led invasion of Iraq—this despite the fact there was no genuine evidence of any Iraqi instigation or involvement in the attacks whatsoever. (And no such evidence has emerged to this day.)

In any event, in the average American’s perception, the idea that the war was being promoted by “the Pentagon” conjured up popular images of much-admired, heroic, battle-tested medal-laden generals and admirals chomping at the bit to “get Saddam”.

There was just one big problem with the reports in the American media. The truth was that the career military men inside the Pentagon didn’t think an invasion of Iraq was feasible or necessary. They saw it as a potential disaster for the United States that could ultimately align the United States (standing alone with Israel) against the entire Arab and Muslim world. In fact, precisely because of the military’s opposition to the war against Iraq, the neo-conservative pro-Israel network at the highest levels of the Bush administration began laying the insidious groundwork to oust American military leaders who opposed U.S. involvement in a war against Iraq. That little-noticed fact was buried in a lengthy report published in The Washington Post on August 1, 2002. According to Post writer Thomas E. Ricks:

At a July 10 meeting of the Defense Policy Board, a Pentagon advisory group, one of the subjects discussed was how to overcome the military reluctance to plan innovatively for an attack on Iraq.

“What was discussed was the problem with the services,” said one defense expert who participated in the meeting. His conclusion: “You have to have a few heads roll, especially in the Army.”

It is no coincidence that the Defense Policy Board (DPB) would be the point of origin of a plan to make “heads roll” inside the military. Although ostensibly “independent”, the DPB was dominated at the time (and basically remains so) by Richard Perle who—although he never served in the U.S. military—made a fortune in armaments profiteering on behalf of Israel’s military-industrial complex and has spent years promoting U.S. military engagements to defend the interests of Israel.

Regarding the ongoing conflict between the civilian pro-Israel neo-conservatives and the military leadership, the Post stated flatly on July 28, 2002 that:

Despite President Bush’s repeated bellicose statements about Iraq, many senior U.S. military officials contend that President Saddam Hussein poses no immediate threat and that the United States should continue its policy of containment rather than invade Iraq to force a change of leadership in Baghdad.

The military’s support of containment, and its concern about the possible negative consequences of attacking Iraq, are shared by senior officials at the State Department and the CIA, according to people familiar with interagency discussions.

However, the Post pointed out: “High level civilians in the White House and Pentagon vehemently disagree.” Those unnamed “high-level” civilians were the neo-conservative warhawks such as Perle and his longtime associate and closest ally inside the Bush administration, Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul Wolfowitz and his lieutenant, Douglas Feith. The Washington Post also reported that while “active duty members of the military have not publicly questioned the direction of Bush’s Iraq policy [in] private some are very doubtful about it.” The Post added:

Retired officers and experts who stay in touch with the top brass, and are free to say what those on active duty cannot, are more outspoken in supporting the containment policy and questioning the administration’s apparent determination to abandon it.

Secretary of State Colin Powell—who served two tours of combat duty in Vietnam—was, in fact, initially aligned with the military brass in opposition to the Iraq war. Quite notably, General Tommy Franks—who ultimately led the American war against Iraq—also opposed the war.

Even the June 2002 issue of The Washington Monthly—an eminently “mainstream” liberal journal—featured a cover story about the “get Iraq” group and acknowledged frankly who they are: most of those in question, the magazine admitted, are “Jewish, passionately pro-Israel, and pro-Likud.” The magazine noted that the neo-conservative “hawks” are “united by a shared idea: that America should be unafraid to use its military power early and often to advance its interests and values.”

However, as Washington Monthly affirmed, this sabre-rattling philosophy “is an idea that infuriates most members of the national security establishment at the Pentagon, State, and the CIA, who believe that America’s military force should be used rarely and only as a last resort, preferably in concert with allies.”

Yet, this war-driven and aggressive minority of sabre-rattlers has risen to supreme heights of power within official Washington and they are now making their influence felt.

In fact, as the drive for war intensified, the pro-Israel “palace guard” led by Paul Wolfowitz and surrounding Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld was trying to remake the Pentagon, moving against America’s top military officials who objected to fighting unnecessary imperial wars around the globe that have nothing to do with defending America. Although many grassroots Americans believed that the Bush administration and Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld were strongly supported by America’s military leadership, the truth was quite the opposite. While Bush came into office with quite enthusiastic support from American military families, the truth is that the active duty military leaders in the Pentagon were very much dissatisfied with Rumsfeld and his neo-conservative associates such as Wolfowitz.

An eye-opening profile of Rumsfeld, published in The Washington Post on Oct. 16, 2002 laid bare at least some of the little-known details surrounding the efforts by Rumsfeld and his pro-Israel “palace guard” to grab control of the Pentagon. Describing the Pentagon as “thick with tension,” the Post stated flat out that:

Many senior officers on the Joint Staff and in all branches of the military describe Rumsfeld as frequently abusive and indecisive, trusting only a tiny circle of close advisers, seemingly eager to slap down officers with decades of distinguished service.

The unhappiness is so pervasive that all three service secretaries [Army, Navy and Air Force] are said to be deeply frustrated by a lack of autonomy and contemplating leaving by the end of the year.

All three find their actions constrained by Rumsfeld and what is referred to as his small “palace guard”, according to Pentagon insiders.

While the Post named no names, the identity of the “palace guard” is no mystery. One defense consultant told the Post that “The depth of disaffection is really quite striking,” adding that, in his view, “Rumsfeld is courting a rebellion.” The Post asserted that Rumsfeld and his associates had the military’s governing Joint Chiefs of Staff and its 1,200-member staff “in the cross hairs”.

Rumsfeld and Wolfowitz were trying to limit the ability of America’s top military leaders from reaching out to Congress, government agencies and the media, by stripping the Joint Staff of its legislative liaison, legal counsel and public affairs offices, which, in the past, according to the Post, “have given the military leadership a degree of autonomy by providing it direct pipelines to Congress, to other parts of the government and to the media.”

In fact, what Rumsfeld’s neo-conservative clique was trying to do was to isolate the American military leadership from the American public, knowing that if more of the public knew that the military opposed war against Iraq, the public—likewise—would most likely share that view, conventionally trusting in the military’s judgment.

In the end, as we now know, the “neo-conservatives” prevailed and the military’s warnings were shut out and sidelined, much to the military’s disgust. Events in Iraq have since confirmed the military’s fears.

RUSSIA, JAPAN ENDORSE PIPELINE FROM EAST SIBERIA TO PACIFIC

RIA Novosti, 4/22/05

TOKYO—The Russian-Japanese inter-government trade and economic commission has endorsed construction of a pipeline from East Siberia to the Pacific, reads a memorandum signed by Russian Industry and Energy Minister Viktor Khristenko and Japanese Foreign Minister Nobutaka Machimura.

...The ministers believe that the project will contribute to economic development of Russia’s Far East and Siberia and to stabilization of the Asian-Pacific energy markets.

...The ministers welcomed the successful development of the Sakhalin 1 and Sakhalin 2 oil and gas projects, involving Japanese companies.

Gazprom also intends to join Sakhalin projects, including Sakhalin 2, the Russian minister announced.

In another article of the same date, RIA Novosti reports increased cooperation between Russia and Japan in the areas of transportation and fisheries as well. As we see on an ongoing basis, the Alliance of nations opposed to U.S. (British-Israel) hegemony grows ever stronger.

Next we take a look at the widely predicted pandemic which scientists project will develop soon and wipe out tens of millions of people (up to a billion people globally, according to a particular Russian scientist). The Malthusian eugenics program is quite in evidence in the following articles on this subject. Again we remind readers to ensure there is plenty of colloidal silver on hand, enough for your neighbors’ pets, too.

BIRD FLU MUTATES AND NOW MORE INFECTIOUS

By Geoffrey Lean, The Independent—UK, 5/1/05

Deadly bird flu is mutating to spread from person to person, bringing a disastrous global pandemic closer, experts fear.

...Six weeks ago, The Independent on Sunday revealed that the Government had told mortuaries and emergency services to prepare for up to 750,000 deaths from the disease in Britain. Flu pandemics occur when three developments take place: a virus emerges to which humans have little or no immunity; it is able to infect people; and it mutates to spread efficiently among them.

The bird flu virus—codenamed H5NI—has crossed the first two barriers, and experts fear it is now about to breach the third.

“It’s a very different virus that might suddenly become extremely transmissible,” said Peter Horby, of the WHO office in Hanoi. [WHO gotcha?]

He said that it was impossible to predict when that might happen, but there were “a number of indications” that the virus was already becoming more dangerous.

Ironically, one of the main ones is that the virus is becoming a less ruthless killer. By allowing more of its victims to survive, it enables them to live to infect other people.

Up to now about 70 per cent of those infected have died. But the WHO reports that the death rate in northern Vietnam has fallen to 20 per cent, though it has remained the same in the south of the country.

Even the reduced level would make it by far the worst flu pandemic ever to hit the world. “Spanish flu”, which killed 40 million people in 1918, had a mortality rate of just 5 per cent.

A second ominous indication is that the flu has been widening its targets in northern Vietnam. Previously it mainly attacked children and young adults, but now it is affecting all age groups.

Third, while almost all previous victims have been infected directly by chickens or ducks, there is a steadily increasing number of clusters of disease, where it appears to have spread between people. There are now at least seven of these, almost all in the northern province of Haiphong. WHO officials say this is unprecedented.

Finally, the virus itself seems to have changed physically. Vietnamese health experts say that it has evolved in the north of the country by dropping an amino acid. [All by itself? Amazing.]

The U.S. government’s Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, which has analysed many of specimens of the virus from Vietnam, adds that new strains of it “are becoming more capable of causing disease for mammals”....

“Control”, by definition, involves the ability to start, change and stop a process, so the CDC is aptly named. Has the pandemic already begun? At least one source states it is already underway.

TO WORLD’S HORROR FLU PANDEMIC BEGINS AND SPREADS AROUND THE GLOBE BY MIGRATING BIRDS: WESTERN NATIONS UNPREPARED AS HUMAN TO HUMAN TRANSMISSION BEGINS

By Sorcha Faal, <WhatDoesItMean.com>, 4/24/05

Russian scientists have confirmed today what many in the world have long suspected, a massive Pandemic has begun that within the coming year is expected to result in the deaths of tens of millions of the earth’s human beings, and in the hundreds of millions of earth’s animals.

Confirmation of this was made this week of the spreading of this bird flu to the European Continent and Russia’s immediate banning of all poultry imports from Italy, and as we can read as reported by the Interfax News Service in their article titled “Russia bans poultry imports from Italy” and which says, “Russia bans poultry imports from Italy on April 20 due to a breakout of bird flu in that country, Sergei Dankvert, head of the Federal Veterinary and Plant Sanitary Control Oversight Service, or Rosselkhoz nadzor, told Interfax.”

Long has it been known that as this year’s seasons begin to change hundreds of millions of the earth’s birds have begun their migratory flights, and to the unprecedented nature of this current we can read as reported by the World Health Organization:

“Most of these countries are experiencing outbreaks of this disease for the first time in their histories. In several, outbreaks have been detected in virtually every part of the country. Over the past two months, more than 100 million birds have either died of the disease or been culled in Asia. This figure is greater than the total number of poultry affected, over years, in the world’s previous five largest outbreaks combined.”

...Dr. Henry Niman of Harvard Medical School, and one of the worlds leading virologists, and founder of the privately funded research institute Recombinomics, has further stated:

“Media reports are now providing more detail on specific human-to-human cases that signaled the more efficient H5N1 transmission, particularly in northern Vietnam. The case described above provides detail about the first reported transmission from patient to health care worker, a very big red flag for human-to-human transmission.

“The transmission at the time was the longest transmission chain, and symptoms in a second nurse would have extended the chain further. Although that nurse tested negative, the virus is changing genetically. This can affect the screening tests. Moreover, prior false negatives increase the likelihood that the second nurse was also H5N1 infected, consistent with the clinical presentation and contact with confirmed H5N1 cases.”

But Dr. Niman’s most important statement about the mutation is, “Thus, there are several clues that H5N1 infections in humans may dwarf official numbers, yet these results go unreported and media reports continue to talk about possible human-to-human transmission.”

To the Western peoples this Pandemic will not only destroy their human lives but also their way of life, and yet even knowing of these dangers they even now continually fail to heed any warning, or to begin those things needed to prepare for their defense. It is as if they themselves, or their governments, are deliberately planning for this massive reduction in human population.

Even to one of the world’s greatest scientists, the Americans’ own Nobel Prize winning scientists, Dr. George Wald of Harvard University, who has repeatedly tried to warn his fellow countrymen, and as we can read his own words:

“Recombinant DNA technology faces our society with problems unprecedented not only in the history of science, but of life on Earth....

...To the doors of mass deaths these Western peoples walk ... left to determine however is if they are walking of their own accord, or if they are being led by those who care not for their lives.

“Not to worry” because the Pentagon (???) is on the job participating in an international plague vaccine effort. Just one thing, however: The previous articles described MUTATIONS and recombinant retroviruses, which can be different in each new host! NO vaccine is capable of fighting off such viruses. Thus, if the Pentagon is involved, one might suspect Americans will soon be faced with compulsory “vaccinations” which serve another purpose entirely.

PENTAGON TO PARTICIPATE IN INTERNATIONAL PLAGUE VACCINE EFFORT

By David McGlinchey, <GovExec.com>, 4/18/05

The Defense Department has unveiled an international effort to develop a vaccine that would protect against the plague.

Defense officials announced the project Friday and said Pentagon scientists will collaborate with military biologists from Canada, Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

Federal health officials classify plague among the deadliest biological pathogens, along with smallpox, botulism, tularemia, hemorrhagic fever and anthrax.

...According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, a terrorist attack with plague in an aerosol gas could cause an outbreak of the pneumonic form of the disease, which affects the lungs and can be transmitted by the breath of infected victims. Plague infections can be fatal if victims are not treated promptly.

...Defense officials plan to test the two plague vaccines currently in development and select one to receive additional attention and resources. The vaccine that is being researched in the United States was developed by the Army Medical Research Institute of Infectious Diseases. Researchers began testing the vaccine early this year at the University of Kentucky.

The British plague vaccine candidate is expected to begin testing in the United States in late 2005 under guidelines set out by the Food and Drug Administration...

Indonesian scientists have placed 11 volcanoes under close watch after a series of powerful quakes awoke intense subterranean forces and increased the chances of a major eruption.

As tens of thousands spent a third night in temporary camps after fleeing the slopes of Mount Talang on Sumatra island, where hot ash has been raining down since Monday, more volcanoes began rumbling into life.

Late Wednesday, Anak Krakatau—the “child” of the legendary Krakatoa that blew itself apart in 1883 in one of the worst-ever natural disasters—was put on alert status amid warnings of poisonous gas emissions.

...Indonesia has 130 active volcanoes, forming part of the Pacific Ring of Fire—an arc of intense seismic activity that stretches from quake-prone Japan through Southeast Asia and across the Pacific basin.

...A massive 9.3 magnitude earthquake on December 26 triggered the Indian Ocean tsunami that killed more than 220,000 people. A second quake of 8.7 on the Richter scale from the same faultline killed at least 670 people last month.

Scientists have warned of a possible third disaster, either a quake or an eruption from a so-called super volcano, such as the giant crater in which Lake Toba in Sumatra is located, where increased activity has also been recorded...

BUSH AND THE POPE—BURIED TREASURE

By Chris Floyd, Moscow Times, 4/30/05

It seemed, at first, like nothing more than a novelty item in the news briefs, the kind of odd, meaningless side-fact thrown off by most major stories: “New Pope, President’s Brother Had Link in Swiss Group”. But a look beneath the surface of this innocuous connection reveals a vast web of sinister alliances—and moral corruption on a world-shaking scale.

The network links a bewildering line-up of players—the Bushes, the Vatican, bin Laden, Saddam Hussein and China’s Communist overlords, among others—in a staggering array of crime and turpitude: prostitution, pedophilia, mass death and war profiteering...

At the center of this particular nexus is the unlikely figure of Neil Bush, the feckless, fraudulent brother of the current president. Neilsy, as he’s known in the family, is most famous for costing American taxpayers $1 billion to bail out a savings-and-loan he had ruined with secret insider loans to his own business partners. For this massive fraud, he was fined—by his father’s administration—the princely sum of $50,000, which was actually paid by one of his dad’s political bagmen, of course.

You see, the Bushes are robber barons, not capitalists: They never risk any of their own money in the competition of the marketplace. Nor do they ever pay the price when their deals go belly-up. Just ask George W., whose first business was jump-started with secret cash from the bin Ladens, laundered through their U.S. frontman, James Bath—who was also hired by W.’s dad, then-CIA director George Bush Sr., to set up offshore companies for shifting CIA money and aircraft between Texas and Saudi Arabia, the Texas Observer reported.

Neilsy’s latest business ventures include a partnership with one of China’s own influence-peddling oligarchs: Jiang Mianheng, son of former President Jiang Zemin. He’s paying Bush $2 million for “advice” in a field—the semiconductor industry—which Neilsy cheerfully confesses he knows nothing about. Bush also trousered $1 million for “introductions and advice” from the CP Group, a Bangkok conglomerate spreading bipartisan gravy around Washington. In return for supplying his paymasters with a golden conduit to the White House, Neilsy received a special perk: free prostitutes, served up fresh to his hotel room during business trips to Asia.

But between his sessions of bouncy-bouncy with trafficked women, Neilsy was also sitting down with hard-line cleric Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger, the former soldier for Nazi Germany now translated to glory as Pope Benedict XVI. The two men were board members of an obscure Swiss institute ostensibly devoted to “interfaith dialogue”. Although the organization did have some prominent ecumenical figures on the board, none of them could say exactly why pimp-daddy Neilsy was invited to join, Newsday reported.

...Meanwhile, Ratzinger spent his time on the Swiss board trying to bury the Vatican’s massive pedophilia scandal, the London Observer reported this week. In a secret 2001 letter, he ordered Church officials to prevent police from learning about abuse allegations—a theological innovation more commonly known in the United States as “obstructing justice”. Given this criminal high-wire act, perhaps the good cardinal thought it prudent to cultivate some personal ties with a presidential sibling.

Whatever Neilsy and Der Panzerkardinal were up to in Switzerland, Ratzinger repaid their camaraderie with a decisive intervention in brother George’s 2004 election, issuing a fatwa that essentially condemned any Catholic voting for John Kerry to eternal hellfire. With the Vatican’s iron hand on the scales, Bush reaped an extra six percent of the Catholic vote—a huge boost in a tight race.

But it’s Neilsy’s long-time partnership with Syrian-born businessman Jamal Daniel that has provided the true mother lode: war profiteering. Daniel, also a board-mate in the Swiss adventure with Ratzinger, is a principal in New Bridge Strategies, a firm set up by top Bush insiders to steer corporate clients to the fountains of blood money flowing from George W.’s conquest of Iraq. The company makes frequent use of Neilsy’s “introductions” and Middle East connections, The Financial Times reported. It also operates a profitable sideline in mercenaries.

Daniel brings his own unique connections to the regional porkfest: His family was instrumental in the creation of the Baath Party in Syria and Iraq, The Financial Times noted. And of course, the Bush Family’s covert arm, the CIA—whose headquarters bears the name of George Sr.—assisted not one, but two, Baathist coups in Iraq, including the bloody upheaval that brought Saddam Hussein’s family faction to power, historian Roger Morris reported.

Still later, the CIA would supply Osama bin Laden and his fellow extremists with weapons, money and terrorist training: a shrewd investment whose long-term consequences—the current “war on terror”—are still paying fat dividends for Bush coffers.

Sure, thousands die and millions suffer from these dirty deals—but it’s not a “conspiracy”.

It’s just business—the Bush way.

[END QUOTING]

President Bush might be pretty cozy with Joe Ratzinger, now Pope Benedict XVI, but he seems to have quite an unnatural fear of dense clouds for some peculiar reason. As a good Xtian, you’d think he’d be looking forward to a rapture-ride on a cloud dense enough to hold him.

INCOMING CLOUD FORCES BUSH INTO SAFE BUNKER

Julian Borger, The Guardian, 4/29/05

President George Bush was bundled into an underground bunker, Dick Cheney was evacuated to an “undisclosed location” and heavily armed secret servicemen took up defensive positions when a fast-moving cloud scudded towards the White House, it was reported yesterday.

The cloud that materialised 30 miles south of Washington on Wednesday morning was so dense it triggered radar monitors on the Domestic Events Network, intended to prevent a repeat of the September 11 attacks.

As an anti-aircraft missile battery on the roof of a nearby building was raised to the fire position, a Black Hawk helicopter was scrambled to take a look, but saw nothing except some clouds, one of which turned out to be the suspected aggressor.

The customs and border protection agency did not return calls seeking comment yesterday, but a spokesman, Gary Bracken, told the Washington Post that a cloud was to blame. “It does happen,” he said. “We have to deal with weather anomalies showing up on the radar screen.”

...It was not clear yesterday what it was about Wednesday morning’s cloud that created such havoc. It was moving at about the speed of a helicopter, disappearing and then appearing again on the radar screen, but the same could be said of many clouds...

NEVADA CORPORATIONS:

Built-In War Chest For NV Corporations

Budget's "Tip of the Week" #4:

NRS 78.752—Insurance and other financial arrangements against liability of directors, officers, employees and agents

In this very litigious society, anyone can sue anyone for almost any reason at any time. Corporations are not exempt from being sued but anyone suing a Nevada corporation could be surprised at just how resistant to attack Nevada corporate structures can be. (Important side note: To avail your Nevada corporation of the protection inherent in Nevada's statutes, you should always ensure that the other party to any contract agrees that the contract is made in Nevada and any disputes are to be resolved according to the laws of Nevada.)

Let's look at a provision of Nevada law that affords a Nevada-based C corporation amazing defensive capabilities: NRS 78.752, which was added in 1987. Here's how it begins (emphasis added):

1. A corporation may purchase and maintain insurance or make other financial arrangements on behalf of any person who is or was a director, officer, employee or agent of the corporation, or is or was serving at the request of the corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise for any liability asserted against him and liability and expenses incurred by him... or arising out of his status as such, whether or not the corporation has the authority to indemnify him against such liability and expenses.....

Paragraph 2 states that "other financial arrangements" may include the creation of a trust fund; the establishment of a program of self-insurance; the securing of its obligation of indemnification by granting a security interest or other lien on any assets of the corporation; and/or the establishment of a letter of credit, guaranty or surety. Specifically excluded from this protection are "...intentional misconduct, fraud or a knowing violation of law...". In paragraph 4, we find that "In the absence of fraud... the decision of the board of directors... is conclusive...".

Thus, when a Nevada corporation is sued and the litigant names as co-defendants any of the officers, directors, employees or agents of the corporation, the corporation is entitled by NRS 78.752 to set aside funds for the liability asserted. Since many suits "go for broke", quite literally, a Nevada corporation can often set aside ALL of its assets so that they may be used to defend itself. At best, the attacker is likely to end up with a "mouthful of dirt", as the Nevada corporation defends itself to its utmost.

Sometimes it is just as important what the statutes do NOT say. Next week, we'll examine some key provisions NOT included in Nevada's corporate statutes, which greatly enhance PRIVACY aspects.
