RE: FALTERING "WILL" TO CONTINUE—GCH/d

* * *

BLIND LAMBS OFF TO WONDERLAND

First you want to KNOW THE TRUTH and now you want us to tell you: "it isn't so!"

The world has witnessed the most incredible game played against you since the Nazi Camps and mostly you didn't notice—BECAUSE THE PLAYERS ARE DIFFERENT IN THAT NOW THEY ARE "YOU".

Before we go further into the aftermath realities and expectations of a major hurricane hitting the Gulf Coast of the USA, I suggest you ask yourselves some personal questions.

Do "you" want visitors IN YOUR HOME for at least two years? You will have to pay the bills because there is disorganization rampant in "the system". Do you believe that there will be separation of those "nice" refugees from the "nasty" refugees? Well you can KNOW that there are major differences and it is well-calculated as is the follow-on CONTROL of such "different" personalities in classification of "qualified" "placements". The last to be "dragged out" of New Orleans, for instance, will be the ones most troublesome and that is WHY the clean-up of human persons is now confronting the "Masters" in the game of "gotcha".

Those "holed-up" rebels will run out of food and once dislodged from the broken houses can be easily gathered at gunpoint. It works every time.

Note that the oil will get back "on line" but only the rig workers and depot repairmen will have jobs while temporary housing will be supplied during the "fix-up" stage. There will be NO SERVICES IN THE CITY. Moreover, this will only be in the initial clean-up stage and then the only "workers" will be the maintenance crews. For a long time the barracks will be furnished on outfitted barges or on the actual rigs themselves. Families will be housed OUTSIDE the area as evacuees or collateral families such as are treated in the military services for families in order to negate the necessity of rebuilding schools, etc.

The full intention is to raze New Orleans and if a plague has to be brought upon the citizens to accomplish this task it shall be presented in its proper time. If it is rebuilt you can KNOW that it will be "according to already presented" plans and will have carefully orchestrated citizens.

Nothing is "out of control" as you will find that EVERYTHING IS QUITE FUNCTIONALLY TOTALLY UNDER EXACTED CONTROL.

The government, U.S., is in a PERFECT exercise for its purposes. You can't even count on your Internet "servers" to be on line. Communications, except for those under total control, are off line and you can know they will STAY OFF LINE until the task at hand is accomplished.

You want more from me? Why? It is interesting in itself that you now want us to go to a more demanding schedule for truth publication while we have no facilities or backup sufficient to do such a thing. OUR PEOPLE ARE VOLUNTEERS UNDER ANY AND ALL CIRCUMSTANCES as brickbats fly randomly against them.

We have some who have helped? Yes indeed, and those funds are LOANS that become DEBTS to the very people already so in debt as to stagger any observer. The funds are put into gold to HOLD and, until gold increases enough to have gain, it is HELD.

Those helping the paper to stay in publication are doing so under meticulously kept records to be repaid when our mission is functional—with “interest” return. It is not enough to even cover the cost of a publication of an edition. It is not a nice world, readers—it is a world in shutdown.

Face it as you move into a time of absolute control and you won't even know what hit you. You want to blame FEMA? Go ahead but KNOW at the same time that they are doing, and have been doing, a job to the perfection of the guidelines. LISTEN TO THE NEWSCASTS where, even with little St. Gabriel town, FEMA took over the very town and usurped a 127,000 ft “warehouse” for a morgue. The mayor grinned and said it was OK as the town wanted to “help” and guessed this was a good way but that he REALLY DIDN'T HAVE A CHOICE AS IT WAS POINTED OUT THAT NOW FEMA OWNED THE PLACE. HE COULD GO ALONG WITH THE PLAN OR GO TO JAIL.

Now, you also have noted that at least a THIRD of the local New Orleans police force “cut out” and simply disappeared into the mess. No, they mostly are simply relocated to insure ORDERLY policed operations in the DETENTION centers. This couldn't happen in America? Of course it HAS ALREADY HAPPENED in America.

Moreover, what is witnessed in the current chaos and servicing of the Philippines, IT IS ALREADY UNDER WAY HERE AS WELL. So, blame us or don't blame us, I do suggest you look around you and read your JOURNALS. Then, please, weep a bit for the inability to keep up with the publication thereof for Hell is very similar to where YOU are headed at this very minute.

To help you decide to be cooperative there are TWO “next in line” storms sitting and waiting for another show and tell. Right off the Philippines there is one HOLDING just waiting for redirection if the people don't fall into line and accept their plight at the hands of the Elite corruptors. It is also noted that the major players in the “can you top this” grabbit games, ARE ALREADY NICELY ESTABLISHED IN THE FINEST OF HOUSING—WITH INCOME SECURED—IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA WITH MORE ON THE WAY IF PERCHANCE THE PEOPLE GET A HANDLE ON THEIR CRIMES.

Can we insure anything? No, for it is not our prerogative to do other than restate that GOD WINS! What Hell may come while God is “allowing” is yet to be seen.

Don't be too hard on George W. because he is doing EXACTLY that which needs to be done to insure that emergency-powers can work properly in the worst emergencies to hit.

There had to be a time-delay which would allow for the citizens to WANT TO BE CONTROLLED in the sheer helplessness of circumstances but focused against a group of citizens which would only set back integration a few thousand years as “slavery” is still a very memorable plight in those minds in the colonial backwaters where Welfare has allowed slavery to be called something else.

Now, the Big Guys are sending in the backup troops to really insure CONTROL in the form of Cheney and Rumsfeld but I can promise you—THINGS WILL MOVE and they will move exactly on schedule and on plan.

It is even structured that the local police organizations will have to do all the nasty work with no full staff while the “U.S. troops”, EVEN THOSE NICE “SPECIAL FORCES” OF INCREDIBLY TRAINED FORCES, must wait until THEY ARE ASKED to take control. Then, as if by magic and no matter the mayhem, the problems will be extinguished and magically the fires will even come under control.

Oh goodness, can't you see it? Even that incredibly expensive SuperDome will have to come down. First it is claimed “storm damage” but now it is because the housed refugees destroyed it beyond repair—from within.

Ah indeed, and what about all those people outside the city in point or the Townships noted? Death and destruction are everywhere in the area involved and now you have spread THE AREA INVOLVED over at least ten states already in “emergency” status and now you stretch out for thousands of miles with “displaced” persons needing PERMANENT recovery. How long will the good-tidings of great joy and sharing hold? Do we dare even think Christmas? Moreover, how many people are going to be pleased without weekly FOOTBALL? Picnickers on daily food service and laundry services are going to get unpopular in just about a week—from NOW.

Can a well-intended mayor make a difference? No, he will do exactly what he is expected to do—turn it over to the “boots” and then, finally, give accolades to the very preying-manti COME UPON THE LAND.

Is it true that New Orleans will NEVER be “the same” again? Of course, and in fact THE WORLD WILL NEVER AGAIN BE “AS YOU KNEW IT”. Moreover, to make you understand your circumstances, you are only in the very start of a storm season with expectation of WORSE and greater storms hitting one after another. Japan, TODAY, is in serious trouble while expecting another hit momentarily and no help coming from anywhere.

Now what can I tell my crew here? KEEP YOUR HEADS DOWN AND MOUTHS SHUT AS ANY EXCUSE WILL BE USED TO QUIET THE ISSUES. You are guests here but you MUST BE HERE so do not jeopardize any potential by any actions that can be construed as otherwise. Moreover, we stop giving any assistance to that which does anything except move directly toward our “goal”. Goose chases are not acceptable and Filipinos must come to understand. The point is to drag, snag and frazzle us to the point of “just going home” and to heck with it all. No, we have NO home! Remember? And while we are at it, we have no way to build our support system and yes indeed, we DO HAVE TO CONFRONT REALITY.

I suggest that we run as many of the articles, especially first-hand experiences, presented on the realization of FACTS and TRUTH as is possible for it seems to be the only way you can deal with what we told you so long ago and now many of you choose to BLAME us for your own inactions and misunderstandings. [See article on page 3, “Eyewitness Accounts Show Government's Real Intent”.]

I further suggest that in every possible encounter about “assets” you send the speculators and inquisitors directly to VK DURHAM. [VK Durham contact information: 611 Moorhead St., Ida Grove, IA 51445, 712 364-3830, vkdtght@pionet.net.] We have done NOTHING to negate her as we simply have placed into security OUR HOLDINGS IN AND WITHIN OUR SECURITY, CORPORATIONS AND MANAGEMENT. If her TRUST is real as she claims then she should produce it for your use as she claims, further, that it is FOR YOU-THE-PEOPLE, NESARA and other goody things. CAUSE HER TO PRODUCE IT, PROVE IT AND GIVE LEGALLY DOCUMENTED BACKUP.

Please note from those things we have shared with you from her claims, all were funneled into ROLL-TRADE programs from the “get-go” even though the frauds in play were still quite “classically” and criminally oriented.

I further believe you can also see WHY our own functioning had to be removed from the USA with recognition of our intent to meet our agreements in all ways. That means, readers, from upstart in INTENT to holdings that by LAW should be forthcoming here for the fundamental stability of whatever we issue or present.

The thefts from you people of the U.S. are so great as to disallow this program to work in your country as too much has been stolen FROM YOU and worthless paper poured upon you as to negate any value-balance whatsoever.

The U.S. is NOT in need of “money”. Money can be printed or wired about the wireless systems in the span of a blinked eye. When you succumb to the lies, you become the LIE. Ponder it. Moreover, when it is convenient to do something more drastic, then you will have collapse of systems—right on cue.

Most of you will simply “slide” through and if you are congenial and play “their” game, you may even find it quite interesting and certainly somewhat non-abusive beyond what others are experiencing.

What happens when civilizations collapse? Stick around for you are just ready to witness it. Note how NOTHING works when the electricity, gas, sewage and communications are DOWN AND OUT!

For a while you will feed on the few “miracles” you PERCEIVE but that too shall pass as the bloom fades from the immediate thistles. Remember, also, that if these systems fail, we too are out of service and any one leg, even though in about five separate volunteer-serviced places, can stall out the entire publication until back “on line”. This is the hard reality of what has come to be. The first to be expected, however, is inability to pay the bills which shuts everything down, for “volunteer” doesn't cover anything except a few individuals in offering of “service”. Everything from stamps to trucking is going to go into a funk while the governments shout, “Look how hard we tried”.

During this exceptional time of “distractions” your systems are being tampered to insure you all understand how massive a failure can be—globally.

It does become obvious that to best shut down a world is to simply UNPLUG it! It is certainly worthy of consideration even as you make your threats and blames against God—WHO ALLOWS! Even “hope” is up to YOU.

It is a desperate time in the Philippines and we must WAIT longer to even see what might be coming, stay the course in WISDOM with WISE actions and HOLD! There is no MAGIC afoot this day or any day except to deceive you further. So be it. Stay informed and you can find your “way”. Get lost in the muck and you will lose your “way”. And no, Dharma, it shall NOT be too great as comprehension reminds you of that which you already KNOW. As long as we walk together, our team will not be without light to see the path ahead.

Eyewitness Accounts Show Government's Real Intent

The CNN-sanitized version of events in New Orleans pointed to confusion between various levels of government as the reason why victims of Hurricane Katrina failed to receive outside help. Next time you can bet federal forces will respond more quickly and forcefully to subdue the people—whose needs would have been easily met if FEMA had only allowed them to have adequate food, water and shelter instead of interfering with spontaneous relief efforts.

EYEWITNESS REPORT FROM NEW ORLEANS

By Alicia Jrapko, <Rense.com>, 9/6/05

... The following is an eyewitness report of the crisis in the area written on Sunday, September 4...

Media reports on September 2 describe anarchy and general chaos as the climate in all of New Orleans. The national media reports that hope, supplies and food were now being distributed in the area. However, once we arrived in the Algiers district of New Orleans after seven checkpoints, the reality shows otherwise.

Algiers

While 80 percent of New Orleans was submerged in water, Algiers is one of the few districts that has been spared as it sits higher than most of the city. An historic district established in 1719, Algiers is on the west bank of the Mississippi river, across from the French Quarter. Probably 15% of the residents still remain behind, most of them determined to stay in their homes. The majority of homes are still intact, although many have suffered damage. While their houses survived, the peoples' chance of survival seemed very bleak since there was no electricity or disbursement of food, water or other supplies.

"Imagine being in a city, poor, without any money and all of a sudden you are told to leave and you don't even have a bicycle," stated Malik Rahim, a community activist in the Algiers section of New Orleans. "90% of the people don't even have cars."

One woman told us it was not possible for her to evacuate. She said, "I can't leave. I don't have a car and I have nine children." She and her husband are getting by with the help of several men in the community who are joining resources to provide for their neighbors.

The government claims that people can get water, but residents have to travel at least 17 miles to the nearest water and ice distribution center. Only one case of water is available per family. Countless people have no way to drive.

There is a huge military and police presence but none of it to provide services. All of them, north and south of the river, are stationed in front of private buildings and abandoned stores, protecting private property.

The goods they are driving in are for their own forces. Not one of them has delivered water to Algiers or gone to the houses to see if sick or elderly people need help. There is no door-to-door survey to see who was injured. The overwhelming majority of people who have stayed in Algiers are Black but some are white. One white man in his late 50s in Algiers pointed across the street to a 10-acre grassy lot. It looks like a beautiful park. He said, "I had my daughter call FEMA. I told them I want to donate this land to the people in need. They could set up 100 tractor trailers with aid, they could set up tents. No one has ever called me back." He is clearly angry.

Although some of the residents do express fear of burglaries into houses, acts of heroism, sacrifice and solidarity are evident everywhere.

Steve, a white man in his 40s, knocks on Malik's front door. He tells us, "Malik has kept this neighborhood together. We don't know what we'd do without his help." He has come in because he needs to use the phone. Malik's street is the only one with phones still working.

Malik and three of his friends have been delivering food, water and ice to those in need three times a day, searching everywhere for goods.

There is a strong suspicion among the residents that this is a deliberately forced removal. Algiers is full of quaint, historic French-style houses, with a high real estate value, and signs of gentrification are evident.

Downtown New Orleans

Although entry is prohibited into downtown New Orleans north and east of the Mississippi, because of extensive flooding and the almost total evacuation, we were able to get in on Sunday.

The Superdome is still surrounded by water and all types of military—helicopters, army trucks, etc.—are coming in and out of the area; however, most of the people have already left. On US-90, the only road out of New Orleans, convoys of National Guard troops are pouring into the city, too late for many. According to an emergency issue of The Times-Picayune, 16,000 National Guard troops now occupy the city.

Water is premium and not available. One African American couple approached our car. The woman asked us, "Do you have water you could give us? We have four kids. When they told us to leave before the hurricane we couldn't. We have no car and no money."

Undoubtedly it is similar in the other states that got the direct hit of Katrina, Mississippi and Alabama. On the radio we hear reports of completely demolished towns. What differentiates the rest of the Gulf coast from New Orleans is that the many thousands of deaths in New Orleans were absolutely preventable and occurred after the hurricane. On everyone's lips is the cutting in federal funds to strengthen the levees of Lake Pontchartrain.

Two reporters from New York tell us they just came from the New Orleans airport emergency hospital that was set up.

New Orleans International Airport

The New Orleans International Airport was converted into an emergency hospital center. Thousands of people were evacuated there to get supplies and food, and for transportation that would take them out of the city. Many people arrived with only one or two bags, their entire lives minimized to a few belongings.

Some people did not want to leave their homes, but say they were forced to do so. For example, one white woman and her husband, Pauline Noble and

Jerome Hill, were forced to evacuate. Pauline said, "The military told us that we had one minute to evacuate. We said that we weren't ready and he said they can't force us to leave but if we don't leave anybody left would be arrested. But it was the end of the month. The two of us have been living for a couple of months on $600 a month and rent is $550. At the end of the month, we only had $20 and 1/8 of a tank of gas. There was no way we could leave."

When it became apparent that nobody was coming back to pick them up, the couple walked five miles to the airport to see if they could get help.

Disaster Medical Assistance Teams, doctors, nurses and community organizations came from as far as San Diego, California and Kentucky to provide support during the crisis. None of them were dispersed into the community. When we arrived at the airport on Sunday, September 4, there were approximately 20 medical people for every one patient while people in regions such as Algiers and the 9th ward were left to fend for themselves.

The majority of people in New Orleans blame the local and national government for the catastrophe. One young Black man said, "The government abandoned us. ... [It's] pre-meditated murder." Another said, "Why would you [the government] protect a building—instead of rescuing people that have been without food or water for three or four days? It seems like that was the plan. We couldn't starve them out, the hurricane didn't kill them, it seems planned."

Baton Rouge

As we drive to Baton Rouge tonight to visit evacuated people, we hear on local radio that possibly 10,000 people have died in the flooded areas of New Orleans. Tonight in one announcement, we hear the names of some of the missing people still being searched for, a 90-year-old woman named Lisa, a man 102 years old, two women 82 and 85 years old. The elderly, the most vulnerable, left to their own devices.

Bodies are lying everywhere, and hidden in attics and apartments. The announcer describes how one body, rotting after days in the sun, was surrounded by a wall fashioned from fallen bricks by survivors, and given a provisional burial to give her some dignity. The sign placed next to her body said, "Here lies Vera, God Help Us."

At a Red Cross shelter outside of Baton Rouge, we meet Emmanuel, who can't find his wife and three sons after the floods. His story is shocking. His home is near the 17th Street Canal, where the Pontchartrain levee broke through.

"I stayed behind to rescue my neighbors while I sent my wife and kids to dry land," he says. It is difficult for him to relate what happened. He had a small boat so he went from house to house picking up neighbors. While doing so, he encountered many bodies in the water.

"My best friend's body was floating by in the water. One mother whose baby drowned tied her baby to a fence so she could bury him after she returned." Because troops kept driving by him and others without helping them, he had to walk 30 miles north until he was picked up.

This crisis is a crime of the highest magnitude. The Bush Administration is always able to find money to fund wars that will benefit the rich of this country; however, when it comes to providing aid to respond to a disaster of this magnitude, funds, supplies and resources are lacking. From Bush on down, they should be indicted.

[END QUOTING]

The next eyewitness report is written by a research professor in the Department of Sociology at the University of California, Davis—an educated individual who was nevertheless treated by the authorities as if she was some kind of lawless looter. Note how it is only ever the "authorities" who threaten this survivor, denying her food, water, shelter and transportation at gunpoint.

NEW ORLEANS EYEWITNESS DESCRIBES PEOPLE HELPING PEOPLE

By Lyn H. Lofland, <Rense.com>, 9/9/05

Two days after Hurricane Katrina struck New Orleans, the Walgreen's store at the corner of Royal and Iberville streets remained locked. The dairy display case was clearly visible through the windows. It was now 48 hours without electricity, running water, plumbing. The milk, yogurt, and cheeses were beginning to spoil in the 90-degree heat. The owners and managers had locked up the food, water, pampers, and prescriptions and fled the City. Outside Walgreen's windows, residents and tourists grew increasingly thirsty and hungry.

The much-promised federal, state and local aid never materialized and the windows at Walgreen's gave way to the looters. There was an alternative. The cops could have broken one small window and distributed the nuts, fruit juices, and bottle water in an organized and systematic manner. But they did not. Instead they spent hours playing cat and mouse, temporarily chasing away the looters.

We were finally airlifted out of New Orleans two days ago and arrived home yesterday (Saturday). We have yet to see any of the TV coverage or look at a newspaper. We are willing to guess that there were no video images or front-page pictures of European or affluent white tourists looting the Walgreen's in the French Quarter.

We also suspect the media will have been inundated with "hero" images of the National Guard, the troops and the police struggling to help the "victims" of the Hurricane. What you will not see, but what we witnessed, were the real heroes and sheroes of the hurricane relief effort: the working class of New Orleans. The maintenance workers who used a fork lift to carry the sick and disabled. The engineers, who rigged, nurtured and kept the generators running. The electricians who improvised thick extension cords stretching over blocks to share the little electricity we had in order to free cars stuck on rooftop parking lots. Nurses who took over for mechanical ventilators and spent many hours on end manually forcing air into the lungs of unconscious patients to keep them alive. Doormen who rescued folks stuck in elevators. Refinery workers who broke into boat yards, "stealing" boats to rescue their neighbors clinging to their roofs in flood waters. Mechanics who helped hot-wire any car that could be found to ferry people out of the City. And the food service workers who scoured the commercial kitchens improvising communal meals for hundreds of those stranded. Most of these workers had lost their homes, and had not heard from members of their families, yet they stayed and provided the only infrastructure for the 20% of New Orleans that was not under water.

On Day 2, there were approximately 500 of us left in the hotels in the French Quarter. We were a mix of foreign tourists, conference attendees like ourselves, and locals who had checked into hotels for safety and shelter from Katrina. Some of us had cell phone contact with family and friends outside of New Orleans. We were repeatedly told that all sorts of resources including the National Guard and scores of buses were pouring in to the City. The buses and the other resources must have been invisible because none of us had seen them.

We decided we had to save ourselves. So we pooled our money and came up with $25,000 to have ten buses come and take us out of the City. Those who did not have the requisite $45.00 for a ticket were subsidized by those who did have extra money. We waited for 48 hours for the buses, spending the last 12 hours standing outside, sharing the limited water, food, and clothes we had. We created a priority boarding area for the sick, elderly and new born babies. We waited late into the night for the "imminent" arrival of the buses. The buses never arrived. We later learned that the minute they arrived at the City limits, they were commandeered by the military.

By day 4 our hotels had run out of fuel and water. Sanitation was dangerously abysmal. As the desperation and despair increased, street crime as well as water levels began to rise. The hotels turned us out and locked their doors, telling us that the "officials" told us to report to the convention center to wait for more buses. As we entered the center of the City, we finally encountered the National Guard. The Guards told us we would not be allowed into the Superdome as the City's primary shelter had descended into a humanitarian and health hellhole. The guards further told us that the City's only other shelter, the Convention Center, was also descending into chaos and squalor and that the police were not allowing anyone else in. Quite naturally, we asked, "If we can't go to the only 2 shelters in the City, what was our alternative?" The guards told us that that was our problem, and no they did not have extra water to give to us. This would be the start of our numerous encounters with callous and hostile "law enforcement".

We walked to the police command center at Harrah's on Canal Street and were told the same thing, that we were on our own, and no they did not have water to give us. We now numbered several hundred. We held a mass meeting to decide a course of action. We agreed to camp outside the police command post. We would be plainly visible to the media and would constitute a highly visible embarrassment to the City officials. The police told us that we could not stay.

Regardless, we began to settle in and set up camp. In short order, the police commander came across the street to address our group. He told us he had a solution: we should walk to the Pontchartrain Expressway and cross the greater New Orleans Bridge where the police had buses lined up to take us out of the City. The crowd cheered and began to move. We called everyone back and explained to the commander that there had been lots of misinformation and wrong information and was he sure that there were buses waiting for us. The commander turned to the crowd and stated emphatically, "I swear to you that the buses are there."

We organized ourselves and the 200 of us set off for the bridge with great excitement and hope. As we marched past the convention center, many locals saw our determined and optimistic group and asked where we were headed. We told them about the great news. Families immediately grabbed their few belongings and quickly our numbers doubled and then doubled again. Babies in strollers now joined us, people using crutches, elderly clasping walkers and others people in wheelchairs. We marched the 2-3 miles to the freeway and up the steep incline to the Bridge. It now began to pour down rain, but it did not dampen our enthusiasm.

As we approached the bridge, armed Gretna sheriffs formed a line across the foot of the bridge. Before we were close enough to speak, they began firing their weapons over our heads. This sent the crowd fleeing in various directions. As the crowd scattered and dissipated, a few of us inched forward and managed to engage some of the sheriffs in conversation. We told them of our conversation with the police commander and of the commander's assurances. The sheriffs informed us there were no buses waiting. The commander had lied to us to get us to move.

We questioned why we couldn't cross the bridge anyway, especially as there was little traffic on the 6-lane highway. They responded that the West Bank was not going to become New Orleans and there would be no Superdomes in their City. These were code words for if you are poor and black, you are not crossing the Mississippi River and you were not getting out of New Orleans.

Our small group retreated back down Highway 90 to seek shelter from the rain under an overpass. We debated our options and in the end decided to build an encampment in the middle of the Ponchartrain Expressway on the center divide, between the O'Keefe and Tchoupitoulas exits. We reasoned we would be visible to everyone, we would have some security being on an elevated freeway and we could wait and watch for the arrival of the yet to be seen buses.

All day long, we saw other families, individuals and groups make the same trip up the incline in an attempt to cross the bridge, only to be turned away. Some chased away with gunfire, others simply told no, others to be verbally berated and humiliated. Thousands of New Orleaners were prevented and prohibited from self-evacuating the City on foot.

Meanwhile, the only two City shelters sank further into squalor and disrepair. The only way across the bridge was by vehicle. We saw workers stealing trucks, buses, moving vans, semi-trucks and any car that could be hotwired. All were packed with people trying to escape the misery New Orleans had become.

Our little encampment began to blossom. Someone stole a water delivery truck and brought it up to us. Let's hear it for looting! A mile or so down the freeway, an army truck lost a couple of pallets of C-rations on a tight turn. We ferried the food back to our camp in shopping carts.

Now secure with the two necessities, food and water; cooperation, community, and creativity flowered. We organized a clean up and hung garbage bags from the rebar poles. We made beds from wood pallets and cardboard. We designated a storm drain as the bathroom and the kids built an elaborate enclosure for privacy out of plastic, broken umbrellas, and other scraps. We even organized a food recycling system where individuals could swap out parts of C-rations (applesauce for babies and candies for kids!).

This was a process we saw repeatedly in the aftermath of Katrina. [Emphasis added:] When individuals had to fight to find food or water, it meant looking out for yourself only. You had to do whatever it took to find water for your kids or food for your parents. When these basic needs were met, people began to look out for each other, working together and constructing a community.

If the relief organizations had saturated the City with food and water in the first 2 or 3 days, the desperation, the frustration and the ugliness would not have set in. Flush with the necessities, we offered food and water to passing families and individuals. Many decided to stay and join us. Our encampment grew to 80 or 90 people.

From a woman with a battery powered radio we learned that the media was talking about us. Up in full view on the freeway, every relief and news organizations saw us on their way into the City. Officials were being asked what they were going to do about all those families living up on the freeway? The officials responded they

Dear Reader:

I've been to New Orleans many times, and enjoyed the atmosphere, the people, and the po' boys (and the beer). The pictures coming from there, and the whole Gulf Coast, are awful, in the real meaning of the word—filling us with awe at the destructive power of nature.

The hurricane and flooding in that area may turn out to be the most costly natural disaster ever in America—in both money and lives. Cleanup and rebuilding will take a long time, perhaps a decade.

Even after the water is gone, the need will continue. The Red Cross can use everything you have to offer: your blood, your money, and your time and talents as a volunteer. Religious and civic organizations, along with other reputable groups, also have relief efforts underway.

Separately, you should take this lesson to heart and consider laying in some preparations for yourself and your family. Almost no matter where you live, natural disasters are a concern. Here in Texas, I'm far enough inland that hurricanes aren't a concern, but tornadoes are. Snow, or rain, or wind, or an earthquake can cut you off from power, communication, and supplies for days at a time, with little or no notice.

Ironically, September had already been designated National Preparedness Month. Given the response to Katrina, you'll obviously have to take care of yourself and your family rather than wait for outside help to show up. With that in mind, here are some ideas for preparedness I've presented over the years in Alternatives.

Drinkable water is your number-one requirement. Humans can go for a month without food, but only a couple days without water. The people in New Orleans must have been frustrated to be so thirsty while surrounded by undrinkable water. A number of them undoubtedly did drink it, causing other problems.

The folks at Hydration Tech have a bag, called the X-Pack, that will convert up to a gallon a day of the most contaminated water imaginable into clean water. The pack requires a sugar solution (such as honey) after the first couple days. It's available from Hydration Tech, at www.HydrationTech.com or 541-917-3335. (As you can imagine, they're very busy right now, and you may have to wait a bit for delivery.)

With a water supply that is essentially clear, you can add regular chlorine bleach to disinfect it. One teaspoon will treat five gallons, or 16 drops for one gallon. If the situation gets desperate, one study showed that simply filtering water through folded layers of cloth (preferably cotton) will remove many of the harmful pathogens.

Wounds or injuries turn nasty quickly in a toxic environment. Disinfect them with chlorine bleach. (Be careful, though. The fumes can injure your eyes, and lungs.)

Honey is a reliable healer. Spread a layer on the inside of a bandage or dressing before applying it to the wound or burn.

You can stop bleeding, even from a serious gash, with a product called QR topical powder, available at many mass-market retailers. (This is similar to a product I used to recommend called Bleed-X, but that company sells only to the military now.) Sprinkle the contents of one packet (or more as needed) onto the injury and apply pressure.

Antibiotics can be a literal life-saver. You would think you'd need a prescription to buy them, but farmers and ranchers buy antibiotics over the counter at animal feed and supply stores. You can even buy antibiotics over the Internet under the same circumstances, from Web sites such as www.VetMedDirect.com.

Use a variety of tetracycline called Terramycin-343. Dosage for an ill 100-pound person is half a teaspoon, mixed with a little water, twice a day for ten days. Adjust the dosage upward or downward depending on the person's weight. (It tastes pretty bad, so you might want to add a little honey.)

Sanitation can become a problem in a crowd after a few days. A five-gallon bucket makes a reliable toilet. Line it with a heavy-duty plastic bag to dispose of the waste easily. Yes, it will start to smell pretty bad after a couple days, but you can close up the bag and replace it with a new one.

These recommendations may seem a bit extreme to some people, particularly using raw bleach on open wounds and dosing yourself with antibiotics. But remember, these are for dire situations.

To sum up, here's what you should have in a ready bag (or put it all in the bucket):

- * X-Pack (one for every three people in your group)
- * Honey (two or three pounds in unbreakable containers)
- * Chlorine bleach (a quart in an unbreakable container) [food-grade hydrogen peroxide]
- * QR topical powder (A box or two of their Cuts and Lacerations formula) [colloidal silver]
- * Terramycin-343 (one 4.78-ounce package) [colloidal silver]
- * A week's worth of any essential medications or supplements
- * A stash of non-perishable food such as canned fish or nutrition bars
- * A standard first aid kit, with bandages, scissors, antiseptic wipes, et cetera

All of these except the medications and supplements should last nearly indefinitely if kept in a cool, dry place. You'll want to replace the Terramycin if it has turned dark brown from its natural golden yellow color.

Many believed a disaster like this could never happen to them—but it did. If you have family or friends in the Gulf Coast area, please consider passing this information along to them. It may help them rebuild their lives, or at least make the journey more bearable.

I hope you never have occasion to use this advice, but it's best to be prepared.

Sincerely,

were going to take care of us. Some of us got a sinking feeling. "Taking care of us" had an ominous tone to it.

Unfortunately, our sinking feeling (along with the sinking City) was correct. Just as dusk set in, a Gretna Sheriff showed up, jumped out of his patrol vehicle, aimed his gun at our faces, screaming, "Get off the fucking freeway". A helicopter arrived and used the wind from its blades to blow away our flimsy structures. As we retreated, the sheriff loaded up his truck with our food and water. Once again, at gunpoint, we were forced off the freeway. All the law enforcement agencies appeared threatened when we congregated or congealed into groups of 20 or more. In every congregation of "victims" they saw "mob" or "riot". We felt safety in numbers. Our "we must stay together" was impossible because the agencies would force us into small atomized groups.

In the pandemonium of having our camp raided and destroyed, we scattered once again. Reduced to a small group of 8 people, in the dark, we sought refuge in an abandoned school bus, under the freeway on Cilo Street. We were hiding from possible criminal elements but equally and definitely, we were hiding from the police and sheriffs with their martial law, curfew and shoot-to-kill policies. The next days, our group of 8 walked most of the day, made contact with New Orleans Fire Department and were eventually airlifted out by an urban search and rescue team. We were dropped off near the airport and managed to catch a ride with the National Guard. The two young guardsmen apologized for the limited response of the Louisiana guards. They explained that a large section of their unit was in Iraq and that meant they were shorthanded and were unable to complete all the tasks they were assigned.

We arrived at the airport on the day a massive airlift had begun. The airport had become another Superdome. We 8 were caught in a press of humanity as flights were delayed for several hours while George Bush landed briefly at the airport for a photo op. After being evacuated on a coast guard cargo plane, we arrived in San Antonio, Texas.

There the humiliation and dehumanization of the official relief effort continued. We were placed on buses and driven to a large field where we were forced to sit for hours and hours. Some of the buses did not have air-conditioners. In the dark, hundreds of us were forced to share two filthy overflowing porta-potties. Those who managed to make it out with any possessions (often a few belongings in tattered plastic bags) we were subjected to two different dog-sniffing searches.

Most of us had not eaten all day because our C-rations had been confiscated at the airport because the rations set off the metal detectors. Yet, no food had been provided to the men, women, children, elderly, disabled as they sat for hours waiting to be "medically screened" to make sure we were not carrying any communicable diseases.

This official treatment was in sharp contrast to the warm, heart-felt reception given to us by the ordinary Texans. We saw one airline worker give her shoes to someone who was barefoot. Strangers on the street offered us money and toiletries with words of welcome. Throughout, the official relief effort was callous, inept, and racist. There was more suffering than need be. Lives were lost that did not need to be lost.

Disasters and Trials: Riding out the Storms

9/12/05—#1 (19-27)

Mon., September 12, 2005 9:25 A.M. YR 19, DAY 27

Manila, Philippines

RE: EVERYTHING SEEMS TO BE ALL ABOUT NOTHING! “BUT”, WE WILL OBSERVE POLITICS IN TINY BRAINS (MICRO-CEPHALIC); POWER IN THE HANDS OF IDIOTS AND POWER-BROKERS WHILE PEOPLE DIE; AND UNFATHOMABLE BOGS IN SWAMPLANDS—DJE

DISASTERS AND TRIALS OF ALL KINDS

Certainly there are a bunch of monsters to confront but where to go first? How about an overview of 9-11-01.

It is interesting to note that now Mr. Silverstein (the owner of the towers? I could be wrong about the name and it isn't important) has his brand new empty tower (7, I think) ready to rent offices. [Silverstein, indeed. See “The New Jerusalem, Part 6”, page 12.] He also came out with some $11 billion payout for a $2 B investment. Oh my, he must be using VKD's TRUST arrangements. Oh well. Every year the truth comes out a bit more and more until in just taking the time required to read names on the air becomes too boring to continue much longer while people continue to fight over the funds allotted to families, etc., in “claims”. Now THAT ONE (story on TV) about the harangues and abuses is truly akin to New Orleans as is unfolding.

So, we witness fire (Towers) and water (Hurricanes) and misery from every direction as the Power Forces take the last vestiges of Freedom under the constitution away from citizens, even to the right to have our own shelter or bodily placement.

Already the fires are starting among the relieved and the relievers in the refugee circumstances so do we give it mere days to explode or is it already too late?

We note that thousands of people are relatively undamaged and refuse to leave their places in the damaged areas because they are able to attend themselves, their pets and watch their property quite nicely. Of course they all have spray-paint graffiti all over their houses and their doors are broken in by police but what the heck—after all, it IS America.

Perhaps you at home are getting better news of it all but I doubt it for we get CNN in this place and CNN pictures are simply repeated on local news—over and over again until after awhile we can even recognize the tattoos and rubber-tire “floats”.

We wait for the plagues to hit and they don't. We wait for the over 10,000 bodies to rise from the muck and they don't. What's it all about, Alphy? And then, of course, we remember what it is all about as the destroyers pass through with hugs and tears to fool all of the people for about two minutes.

Spare us for here we have witnessed, in two weeks, two major Typhoons hitting north Taiwan and on to bury the coast of China and that doesn't make the news for interruption of name readings at Ground Zero.

There was a 7.7 Earthquake in Papua New Guinea this week and it was never even mentioned—high water or not.

I wonder what will be the ultimate outcome in the Gulf Coast as things unfold because I think the Bad Boys might not take everything the edict-givers toss out. This exercise was NOT a “failure” for we have never observed anything to rival this “success” at misery and confusion.

And how do we really feel about troops in our streets? How about those Special Forces with the red hats “all the way” as VK described Russell's gear? I LOVE IT! I LOVE IT BECAUSE I TOO WANT TO BE SAFE IN MY PERSON. Never mind that my person is no more attended than my “things”.

We do have some “different” things taking place in our “affairs de business” just uncovered here but certainly among our commitments to the Foundation holdings as to agreements to “reclaim and recover” actual ordered items through the courts. We will share a bit later because we are just as weary as you of getting hopeful and “feeling this is ‘it’” only to be whacked at the ankles by more fraud and lead bars instead of gold. However, with each possibility we are given full instructions as to securing said potential and exactly what to do to legalize, formalize and maximize our position and that of our colleagues. We will share as we can but spare us the need to have a duel with VK, et al., or the ASSUMPTION that somehow we have “something” more than anyone else.

We found JUST THIS WEEK more garbage from VK on no less than the Belgium police contact site that SHE HAD SENT AND RE-SENT AND REPRESENTED AND DUMPED ONTO THEM WHILE CALLING THEM “INTERPOL”.

Good grief, we had seen some of it before and it seems to involve someone named Garry Stroud or perhaps Gary Straud as VK never spells anything the same way twice in a sentence. We are somehow supposed to be responsible for his “murder” yet and we had never heard of the name when she first claimed these absurdities. He seems to be possibly Canadian and he is supposedly “dead” if “murder” by us is a charge of the day. It certainly is all a good reminder of WHY we agreed to stay out of the U.S. with any business exchanges because abuse of anything seems to begin and end with such as VKD and her illusionary TRUST.

Since this paper was first written in 2003 we have to assume it is not getting much attention. My real suggestion is that you all just keep demanding her to give over some of those “we-the-people” assets out of that “Trust” she claims holds everything and on which she offers TRILLIONS of dollars to roll-over programs, debt swaps and you name it. If it is REAL as she claims then it should produce nicely for all involved. The fact that she lies is not my cause to explain.

We have PROOF of all we claim and as yet have nothing in return including $400 Trillion from China or, confound it, even those False Muslims or Chapter Eight so all in all the day looks pretty good, clear and potentially no more negative than did yesterday or, in this place, probably tomorrow.

President GMA is off to the U.S. to address the U.N. meeting where chaos already reigns with Food for Oil problems with Kofi. Things are also totally terrible with Geo. Bush at the moment and he has already denied her even a brief “side-bar” encounter. Oh gee and some really nasty opposition parties think they might just NOT LET HER RETURN. Her husband and son are already in “EXILE” (literally) in high-cost mansions in San Francisco and so we expect her to drop off to visit them—and Big Mike's mistress.

She (GMA) was scheduled to go first to Saudi Arabia to tinker with oil BUT they cancelled her out so things are not good for her here in Pasig River City or for however many trombones she has for her marching band. The band members constantly scatter like the children in a play yard at recess. It is sort of like disaster circumstances in the U.S. as NOBODY knows who is in charge and then you find it is THE PRESIDENT.

We offered an organizational chart a few months back and FEMA, readers, is now only about third down so nobody had responsibility in FEMA to attend much of anything and now we find total chaos, well orchestrated in every instance. We even had Bush calling for a National Emergency and the powers that come with it—BEFORE THE STORM HIT ANYTHING. Facts are that he has those TOTAL powers over every facet of American Society UNDER LAW! It is not missed on him. Just like “Daddy”, Geo. Jr. KNOWS EXACTLY WHAT HE IS DOING ALONG WITH THE PLANNED OUTCOME NO MATTER HOW BAD IT GETS.

It even made the front pages of the paper here just how directed and planned that Hurricane Katrina actually was systematically programmed. We found that interesting to say the very least! It is truly a global community. And, it may well take more than Oprah Winfrey to get beyond the “black” issues coming out of this genocidal hit on the “least of” the gifted. Of course Dr. Phil has the mental stuff under control.

I marveled at the foolish newscasters as they photograph everything, including the “giving” students of a Houston, Tex. High School. The “council” was meeting and right there while talking about the “giving of themselves” there sat Louis Vuitton handbags on the table with the Neiman Marcus adorned girls. Boy, some equality is far more equal than others.

But I already have capitulated to the “idea” of being a good marcher. If a Special Forces Bo Gritz puts a gun in my face and says “jump” I will most certainly respond: “How high, SIR?” The actual “jumping” might be more difficult but even Bo would make allowances, surely, for an old lady who has already been there and done that.

Snug and secure in our persons? I find it interesting that over a third of the New Orleans Police went somewhere ELSE—right off the bat. Doesn't it get harder and harder to find good help these days? They obviously knew more than the guys who got stuck with the bewildering job at hand.

And golly-gee, over $3 a gallon for gas? Wow, now THAT was a purely neat stroke of genius and it worked GLOBALLY.

I also liked the interview with a shrimp fisherman who was trying to get his boat fixed so he could get back to work. He said they tried to haul him off to Tennessee but “you can't catch shrimp from the Tennessee mountain and I don't know nothing else to do”. It would appear to me that Uncle Samuel Easy might have some problems with some of those “fishermen”.

It was also quite interesting that comments were rampant about why would these people hold out with it being so hot and all without air conditioning, etc. How many of those people do

Part 6: Those Who Reign Supreme

In this installment, author Michael Collins Piper expounds upon a list of the wealthiest and most powerful Jewish families in America first published in Avenue magazine. The list is, of course, far from complete: It doesn't include some real biggies in the pornography "industry", for instance, which is perhaps understandable given the source.

With gratitude for permission to reprint, we resume the series following a hiatus for last week's Special Edition.

[QUOTING:]

AMERICA'S WEALTHIEST AND MOST POWERFUL JEWISH FAMILIES: THOSE WHO REIGN SUPREME

The information that follows is based largely on profiles of roughly 180 specifically named (and many of them inter-connected) Jewish families that appeared in a "special tribute issue" (dated 1997-1998, Vol. 21, No. 10) of the New York-based Avenue magazine—a "society" journal with little circulation outside the realm of those who thrive on reading about the fashions and foibles of the power elite. That special issue, titled "Portraits of Family Achievement in the American Jewish Community", highlighted the names and ventures of American Jewish families, focusing on those who have been active in the Jewish community and its multiple philanthropic and political enterprises.

Now, please note that there are literally hundreds, if not thousands, of Jewish community organizations, foundations and other entities, based both locally and nationally. So although there are a handful of Jewish groups such as the American-Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC) and the Anti-Defamation League (ADL) of B'nai B'rith that frequently appear in the mainstream media, largely in the context of "political" news, there are many more such entities that are rarely ever mentioned except in Jewish community newspapers which, of course, are not "everyday" reading for the average American.

And as far as the term "philanthropic"—as used here—is concerned, the term is used quite loosely, for truth be told, many—if not most—of the Jewish families are largely philanthropic only toward specifically Jewish charities, although there are exceptions.

The Avenue list—as rendered here—does not reference many of the multiple charities, both here in the United States (both Jewish and non-Jewish in orientation) and in Israel, that the named families have funded to much applause. Only where one particular family is closely associated with a particular "cause" have we included that information.

Note, too, that most of the named families seem—based on the Avenue report—to have established one closely held family foundation or another, utilizing those foundations to support a variety of causes. Most—but not all—of those causes are Jewish in nature and, quite often, connected to the state of Israel and various agencies and institutions in that country.

Thus, needless to say—with perhaps only a handful of exceptions—the names listed here constitute the "wealthiest of the wealthy" (and therefore most powerful) among the American Jewish elite, but this is not to suggest that the names that appear here do indeed constitute a formal list of "the richest Jews in America". Far from it!

There are many other quite well-to-do enterprisers, so to speak, of Jewish origin who do not make the headlines. There are many wealthy Jewish crime figures, for example, who prefer a low profile and who do not seek to publicize themselves or their donations to Jewish philanthropies. And, in that regard, it's highly unlikely that Avenue magazine would be quite so prepared to laud the "accomplishments" of a Jewish crime figure. So, as a consequence, the list compiled by Avenue is certainly incomplete in that regard.

And in all fairness to the multiple numbers of American Jewish millionaires—and perhaps billionaires—who have not been honored by Avenue's list of "family achievement", and who are not necessarily involved in criminal misdeeds, it should be noted that many of those achievers have accumulated a great deal of wealth but have not sought public acclaim, recognition in society magazines or honors from their own Jewish community.

So, again, there are certainly many, many more American Jewish fortunes that have gone unmentioned in the list compiled by Avenue. But the list that Avenue did compile is extensive and certainly as far as being a record of the major players—finance-wise—in Jewish "high society" the Avenue list is a valuable assembly. (This author, frankly, has never seen anything so complete.)

It is probably safe to say that although Jewish names do make up a considerable portion of the annual Forbes 400 list of the wealthiest families in America, a secondary list of what one might loosely call "the Forbes 800"—that is, a list including the second group of 400 wealthy families following the initial wealthiest 400—would undoubtedly include virtually all of the names that appear on the Avenue magazine list that has been summarized in these pages.

So although there is a great deal of Jewish wealth accumulated at the very top, there is an even greater accumulation in the much wider "middle ground" of wealthy American families.

Now, in regard to the list, note this: you will not find Henry Kissinger, for example, on the list. Certainly wealthy, by any estimation, and certainly Jewish, and certainly powerful, Kissinger's wealth and power has always come as a result of his having moved in the sphere of wealthy and powerful people. Kissinger is a political figure and, as such, is actually nothing more than a well-paid functionary of the American Jewish elite and the other elites with whom they interact for common gain.

Kissinger's fame and "accomplishments" are a creation of the Jewish-controlled media, in many respects, but unlike many of those who do appear on the Avenue list, he is not one of the media's owners, per se. And that may be just enough of a distinction for Kissinger not to be included. Although Kissinger serves on many corporate boards—including media entities, by the way—he you suppose on lower Bourbon Street have "air conditioning"? It has always been hot and miserable in Louisiana and that's what it's all about, Alph. Doesn't anyone remember "pull that barge and tote that bale?" I also noted that one complaint was "boredom" with nothing to do but watch TV. (?????) All the while we were told there was NO POWER! Moreover, one man who refused to "go" showed us that he had water running right out of his faucet and had enough drinking water set out for a month and plenty to flush his toilet so as soon as the mail was running again so he could pick up his "check", he was in really good shape. Moreover, another man said that the minute he left his place he became a problem and homeless while he was no burden to anyone right there taking care of himself while he didn't even get a broken window.

I wonder if anybody else recognizes the damaged areas as appearing to be exactly like tornado damage where one street got demolished while the next block had very little, if any, damage? Something is wrong in all this mess, it appears to me. Not only do we seem to be sheeple but pretty blind sheeple at that. Well, I'm again with the masses—I want my social security check too as we earned our way through years of labor IN THE MARKET and it allows us one more try at getting this last task, of this lifetime, accomplished.

One bit of stunned realization came from another human interest show-and-tell in the "center" for disease assurance was when there were several mothers with children sitting around and they were so embarrassed to take charity—because they lived on Welfare and took care of themselves.

I came out early this morning to check on the U.S. "day's" happening in order to keep up and there were planes plowing into towers. I turned it off and will wait for flood-damage information later in "our" day as all of you are sleeping in your beds now and everyone had to make it through 911.

Life truly is all "illusion" with experiences very much in virtual vicarious relationships. We FEEL involved and our hearts hurt and our brains become totally in overload while actually at any given time we are NOT EXPERIENCING THE CIRCUMSTANCE—AT ALL. THAT is the REALITY of conscious realization. I, for instance, have lived moment by moment in someone else's experience for days now without ability to do ANYTHING about it or the circumstances represented. It truly is all but a puzzlement. It is much like finding that the Wizard of Oz (the greatest man on Earth we are told) is nothing but a little nerd clown playing God. We tremble in fear and confusion and seek our luxuries and comforts in every wrong place and face. This is such a major point to ponder that I think I shall ask to walk across the street before I find out if New Orleans relatives sank or swam. And, God bless us all, please, whether or not we have earned such a place of "deserve it".

Here in the Philippines this has been declared a day of PRAYER holiday. Yes, I mean it! The orders are to go forth and pray for the nation and GMA. We are to light candles and of course, burn down a few shanties as well while also blowing up a few LPG tanks in the process. My goodness don't I wish for a cult of some kind where I don't have to "think" about these serious riddles! It becomes like "ring around the rosy—all fall down".

I think I'll have a hamburger for lunch and dream of home!

Please accept this message as something you do NOT have to seriously give consideration as everything else is far more important. Love, D.

has always been more of a public figure (who happens to be Jewish) who acts as a henchman and facilitator for the real powers behind the scenes rather than being a genuine “mover and shaker” on his own. Without the patronage of powerful sponsors, Kissinger would be nothing more than just another quaint and colorful Jewish academic, of which there are many.

In addition, for the reader’s consideration, there’s another factor that might be considered: Henry Kissinger’s rise to fame came in the sphere of the Rockefeller family which (while perhaps originally of Jewish origin) has always had its own various agendas in a variety of arenas, and not always necessarily in sync with Jewish interests per se.

As far as the Rockefeller family is concerned, it should be noted that there is no solid information in the public arena indicating that they are of Jewish extraction, although there has been much speculation and rumor for over a century. Contrary to widespread perception, the often-touted “proof” that “the Rockefellers are Jewish” is not proof at all. The rumor about the Rockefellers being Jewish stems from the fact that author Stephen Birmingham—in his 1971 Harper & Row book, The Grandees, a profile of the history of America’s Sephardic Jewish elite (descended from Spanish and Portugese Jewish families)—mentioned that the name “Rockefeller” can be found in a rare 1960 genealogical study, Americans of Jewish Descent by Malcolm H. Stern.

Although some sources jumped on that information and began circulating the story that this was “proof” that the Rockefellers are of Jewish descent, a close and careful read of the entire book will demonstrate that the Rockefellers who do have Jewish blood in their veins stem from the line of Godfrey Rockefeller, who married one Helen Gratz, who was Jewish. Their family members and heirs, by the way, were raised in the Episcopal Church and have had little—if anything—to do with Jewish or Israeli affairs.

Godfrey Rockefeller, in fact, was from a separate line of the Rockefeller family, descended from one of the brothers of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and was a second cousin to the famed Rockefeller brothers—Nelson, David, Laurence, and John D. III. Thus, any traces of Jewish blood in Godfrey’s heirs cannot be ascribed to the better-known branch of the Rockefeller family.

It is no great pleasure for this writer to sink the popular myth that “the Rockefellers are Jewish” that has been widely circulated by many well-meaning people, but the facts about the origin of this rumor speak for themselves. This, of course, is not to suggest that there is not any Jewish blood in the veins of the “famous” Rockefeller brothers, but any charges to that effect should be based on facts, not misinterpretation of a passing reference in a book.

As far as the Roosevelt family is concerned, there has been widely published information suggesting that the Roosevelt family did have Jewish forebears, that the original family name was “Rossocampo”, a name borne by Sephardic Jews who were among those expelled from Spain in 1620. The name, it is said, was ultimately changed as various family branches settled elsewhere in Europe. Descendants of the Dutch-based members of the family—evidently named Rosenvelt—emigrated to the United States and ultimately the name evolved into the name “Roosevelt” that we know today. In the meantime, within several generations, there was inter-marriage with non-Jews and by the time Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt—cousins later to become husband and wife—were wealthy young members of the American elite, the family had shed its Jewish religious practices.

During the Roosevelt era, a widely-circulated Roosevelt family genealogical chart, which was circulated both in Europe and the United States, purported to claim that the original family name was “van Rosenvelt” and subsequently changed to “Rosenvelt” and that another Jewish family strain—namely that of the “Samuels” line—was introduced into the ensuing Roosevelt bloodline. However exciting this information may have been at the time to many of FDR’s critics, the provenance of this information is murky at best, however much many may have wanted to believe it.

Yet, for perhaps a more immediate source of data in regard to possible Jewish heritage in the Roosevelt family—according to a Jewish source—we may turn to the February 5, 1982 issue of The London Jewish Chronicle which featured an article entitled “FDR ‘had Jewish great grandmother’”. The article, by Leon Hadar, read as follows:

The late American President Franklin Delano Roosevelt had a Jewish great-grandmother, it was stated last week by Mr. Philip Slomovitz, the editor of The Detroit Jewish News, who released a letter sent to him 45 years ago by the late Rabbi Dr. Steven Wise, a former chairman of the World Jewish Congress.

In his letter, Rabbi Wise described a luncheon his wife had with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, the late president’s wife (and a distant cousin of his) who said: “Often cousin Alice and I say that the brains in the Roosevelt family come from our Jewish great-grandmother,” whose name was Esther Levy.

The letter added that Mrs. Roosevelt had told [MCP: Mrs. Wise] that “whenever mention is made of our Jewish great-grandmother by cousin Alice or myself, Franklin’s mother gets very angry and says, “You know that is not so. Why do you say it?” According to Rabbi Wise, Mrs. Roosevelt also told his wife, “You must make no use of this. I think it is best to let the matter lie down now.”

In a separate letter to Mr. Slomovitz, Franklin Roosevelt, the hundredth anniversary of whose birth is being celebrated this year, wrote that his ancestors “may have been Jews, Catholics or Protestants”. Rabbi Wise, who was very close to President Roosevelt, marked his letter to Mr. Slomovitz “strictly private and confidential”.

The editor observed that confidence until last week, when the letter was published in a book containing a number of his columns. One of the ironies of this discovery is that the Nazis portrayed Roosevelt as Jewish, calling him the “Jew Rosenfeld”.

So ... although the Nazis may have indeed been right—but perhaps not basing their information on information known only to the Roosevelts themselves—at the same time it should be pointed out that both Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt were known to make private anti-Jewish utterances even though they were evidently of Jewish extraction.

Despite this, needless to say, both became icons in the Jewish world-view. However, this phenomenon has seemed to fade during the last years of the 20th century and the opening years of the 21st as aggressive Jewish writers are now contending that FDR—despite his bloody worldwide war against Hitler— “didn’t do enough to stop the Holocaust”.

In any case, it should be noted for the record that this author does recall reading, many years ago, in American Heritage magazine that a researcher had found information suggesting that FDR’s maternal forebears in the Delano family were of Jewish origin, an interesting detail considering that FDR’s mother was herself known to make anti-Jewish remarks. The author would be pleased if some researcher might be able to locate this valuable historical tidbit from the expansive archives of American Heritage—unless it has been relegated to the Orwellian Memory Hole.

There will always be rumors about notable persons and families having “Jewish blood” but the names that appear in the summary that follows are undoubtedly Jewish and proud of it.

They do constitute an American elite all their own and they are certainly among the very richest and most powerful Jewish families in America today.

This list is, of course, by no means complete and comprehensive but hopefully a valuable reference.

And please note that, unless otherwise specifically noted, the descriptive material which appears in quotation marks in the list that follows is a DIRECT quotation from the “special tribute issue—1997/1998” of Avenue magazine, featuring Jewish power elite families.

Here then are America’s most powerful Jewish families—some you’ve heard about and many that you will now meet for the first time. They are truly the “new elite”: Those Who Reign Supreme in America—The New Jerusalem. . . .

FEUERSTEIN. Westport, Connecticut-Newport Beach, California-Los Angeles-New York City. Heirs of Aaron Feurstein of the Malden Mills textile empire which produced Polartec fabric from the recycling of plastic bottles. Aaron's brother, Moses, was a leading figure in U.S. Orthodox Judaism. Moses's son, Morty, leads the Orthodox community in Vancouver, Canada.

FISHER. New York. Founded by Zachary and Lawrence Fisher, this is a major New York real estate development family.

MAX FISHER. Detroit. A major oil

industrialist and top-level player in Republican Party affairs, Max Fisher maintained long-standing business ties to Israel and to Israeli intelligence. Once described by the National Police Gazette (December 1974) as one of the powerful “mystery men” who told Michigan-based Republican politician Gerald Ford (later U.S. president) “what to do and when to do it”. (In Final Judgment, this author’s study of the JFK assassination conspiracy, we outlined the Ford-Fisher connection—and Fisher’s ties to Israeli intelligence—in light of Ford’s role on the Warren Commission which ostensibly “investigated” the JFK assassination, but which effectively functioned as a cover-up of the long-secret Israeli link to the president’s murder.)

FRIEDMAN. Mill Valley, California. Eleanor Friedman—one of several heirs to the Levi Strauss billions—and her husband, Jonathan Cohen, are founders of the New Israel Fund, which is considered one of the “liberal” foundations advancing left-wing causes in Israel, including women’s rights, religious pluralism and better relations with native Palestinian Christians and Muslims.

GERBER. Chicago. Max Gerber established the Gerber Plumbing Fixtures Company which is now controlled by daughter Harriet Gerber Lewis and her children, Alan and Ila.

Alex Grass took the Thrift Discount Center of small Keystone City state big time and established more than 2,700 Rite Aid Pharmacies in 23 states, with subsidiaries including Auto Palace auto parts, Concord Custom Cleaners, Encore Books and Sera-Tec Biologicals. Served as chairman of Israel’s Hebrew University. Children include sons Martin and Roger.

ALAN GREENBERG. New York. Alan

“Ace” Greenberg chaired Bear Stearns and has been active in numerous Jewish causes.

MAURICE GREENBERG. New York. Known as “Hank” Greenberg, this insurance baron took over American International Group (AIG) and has been active in the Far East. Plays a prominent role in the influential Council on Foreign Relations. Children include Jeffrey, Evan, Lawrence “Scott”, and daughter Cathleen.

GRUSS. New York. Joseph Gruss was active in oil and gas exploration in Texas, Oklahoma and Wyoming and founded Gruss & Company, involved in oil and gas mergers and acquisitions. Daughter Evelyn’s husband, Kenneth Lipper, an attorney, is an investment banker and former New York City deputy mayor for finance. His son Martin is involved in horse racing.

GUMENICK. Miami. Nathan Gumenick built and owned 10,000 apartments and 500 houses in Miami, the first high-rise apartment developer in the Jewish retirement mecca. He was among the major supporters of the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum in its developmental period. Son Jerome is active in the Jewish community in Richmond, Virginia.

HAAS. The combined members of this immensely wealthy family are the heirs to the Levi-Strauss garment fortune. Altogether the combined wealth of the various members of the family places them beyond any question in the highest ranks of the nation’s wealthiest families.

HALPERN. Sam Halpern and his brother Arie—Polish-born immigrants who came to America—have been heavily involved in construction of resort hotels in Israel. Evidently the Halperns accumulated their wealth in the black market in the Soviet Union and later in the construction industry in the United States.

HASSENFELD. New York-Rhode Island. Heirs to the Hasbro toy manufacturing empire (producer of Mr. Potato Head and GI Joe), the world’s largest toy company. Family members include Alan and Harold.

HASTEN. Indianapolis, Indiana. Hart and Mark Hasten developed a chain of 1,500 convalescent centers and have been involved in banking and real estate, including the family holding company, Hasten Bancshares, Inc. Hart is close to the Likud bloc in Israel. HECHINGER/ENGLAND. Washington, D.C. Spawned from the Hechinger hardware store chain in the nation’s capital region, founded by John Hechinger and Ross Hechinger. Richard England married into the Hechinger family. His son Richard has served on the executive committee of the American-Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC).

GOTTESFELD HELLER. Fanya Gottesfeld Heller, widow of investor Joseph Heller, claims her fame by virtue of not only her husband’s largess, which she distributes to Jewish causes, but also as a result of having written a widely touted memoir of her years as a Ukraine-born “Holocaust survivor”.

HEYMAN. New York-Connecticut. Sam Heyman and his wife Ronnie (both graduates of Yale and Harvard) won their riches through Sam’s involvement with the GAF Corporation, a major building materials and chemicals manufacturing company. In 1991 Sam spun off the chemicals division which is now a publicly-traded corporation known as International Specialty Products. Mrs. Heyman (nee Feuerstein: See FEUERSTEIN) was a law school classmate of Hillary Rodham Clinton.

HOCHBERG. New York and Chicago. Heirs of Joseph Hochberg who ran Children’s Bargaintown USA. Son Larry is chairman of Sportmart, a sporting goods chain.

HOFFMAN. Dallas, Texas. Edmund Hoffman made his fortune as the leading (Dallas-based) Coca-Cola bottler and distributor in Southwest Texas. Son Richard is a well-known physician in Colorado. Son Robert was one of the founders of the National Lampoon humor magazine. JESSELSON. New York. Michael, Daniel and Benjamin are the heirs of Ludwig Jesselson, who had risen to become CEO of the Philipp Brothers firm, one of the world’s largest markets of more than 150 raw materials including steel, crude oil, chemicals and cement. The firm was later acquired by Salomon Brothers, Inc., the international banking house.

KAPLAN. New York. Stanley Kaplan is the “educational” wizard who spawned the popular SAT-training courses that high school students use to study for the college entrance examinations. Stanley says he is particularly concerned with grooming “leaders” in the Black and Hispanic communities, which means—to grassroots Black and Hispanic leaders—grooming Black and Hispanic figures who will do the bidding of America’s Jewish elite.

KEKST. New York. Gershon Kekst is the head of the corporate and financial communications firm, Kekst and Company. Has son, David, and wife Carol.

KLINGENSTEIN. New York. Heirs of Dr. Percy Klingenstein who was chief of surgery of the Third General Hospital of the United States Army, include Frederick Klingenstein, an investment banker, and John Klingenstein.

KRAFT. Boston. An owner of the New England Patriots, Robert Kraft made his fortune as founder of International Forest Products, one of the largest privately held paper and packaging companies in the country.

KRAVIS. Tulsa. The family fortune was spawned by Raymond Kravis, an oil and gas consultant who included Joseph P. Kennedy and the Rockefeller-controlled Chase Bank among his clients. His sons Henry and George teamed up with their cousin, George Roberts, and brought international fame and fortune to their firm Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Company in the leveraged buyout racket of the 1980s. They acquired some 36 companies including RJR Nabisco. The Kohlberg-Kravis team were closely identified with Republican politics during the era.

KRIPKE. Omaha. Talk about good connections! Myer Kripke was a rabbi in Omaha, Nebraska whose wife, Dorothy, wrote children’s books. The wife of legendary (non-Jewish) Omaha-based billionaire investor Warren Buffet liked Mrs. Kripke’s books, and the two women became friends. As a result, the Kripkes were invited to become “modest investors” in Buffet’s Berkshire Hathaway company and made a bundle. Son Paul is a philosophy professor at Yale.

LAUDER. New York. Leonard and Ronald Lauder are the heirs to the Estee Lauder cosmetics fortune. Ronald also served as U.S. ambassador to Austria and as president of the Jewish National Fund and made a bid for mayor of New York on the Republican ticket in 1989.

THOMAS H. LEE. Boston. A leveraged buyout operator, Thomas H. Lee, made a mint when he sold his Snapple soft drink company to Quaker Oats. Now, like all Jewish boys made good, he’s a philanthropist.

LEHMAN. Skokie, Illinois. Not to be confused with the German-Jewish “Our Crowd” international banking family of New York, this Lehman family—headed by Kenneth Lehman—made their money through a family business, Fel-Pro Incorporated, an automotive supply manufacturer. To his credit, Lehman is no slave driver. His company offers vast benefits to its employees and all manner of financial gifts and scholarships.

LENDER. Connecticut. Marvin and Murray Lender are bagel tycoons. They sold their frozen bagel enterprise to Kraft Foods in 1984 and are now devoting their wealth to Jewish causes.

LEVENTHAL & SIDMAN. Boston. Partners in Beacon Properties, the largest real estate investment trust in the United States, Edwin Sidman and Alan Leventhal took their company public in 1994 and have expanded their interests on a national scale. Leventhal has been closely associated with the political endeavors of Bill Clinton.

LEVIN. New York. Gerald Levin, who rose to become CEO of the Bronfman family-controlled Time Warner empire, started out as a lieutenant of Lewis Strauss, the Jewish chief of the Atomic Energy Commission. Although there's nothing in the public record to suggest it, it's a good bet that Levin and Strauss had a hand in "helping" Israel achieve atomic weapons. Today Levin is a member of the Rockefeller-funded Council on Foreign Relations. A major media figure indeed.

LEVINSON. New York. Morris Levinson's widow, Barbara, has become a leading Jewish community figure through the distribution of the largess of Morris's wealth accumulated as a food and cosmetics conglomerate that merged with Nabisco. Morris was also a founder of the Center for Democratic Studies which has been described as "the first 'think' tank". Son Adam is based in Tallahassee, Florida but active in Jewish affairs nationwide. Son Joshua is a professor at Hebrew University. Daughter Judy is married to one John Oppenheimer.

LEVY. Dallas, Texas. Irving, Milton and Lester Levy—brothers—control the NCH Corp., which produces and distributes maintenance products to hotels, government agencies and industrial corporations. Their four sons are also in the family business.

LEON LEVY. New York. A leader of America's Sephardic Jewish elite (commemorated by Stephen Birmingham in his book, The Grandees, Leon Levy made a fortune as CEO of Urban Substructures, Inc. which was involved in the construction and engineering of many leading properties in New York City. Levy also served as chairman of the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations. Children include Mark, Mimi, Judy and Janet. His wife Elsi is a professional musician.

LIPPERT. New York. Albert and Felice Lippert made their millions helping millions of people lose weight. Teaming up with Jean Nidetch, a stout Jewish homemaker who had set up dieting support groups, they formed Weight Watchers International and sold the thriving enterprise to Heinz foods in 1978. Sons Keith and Randy.

LIST. New York. Albert List made a success in distributing appliances and then branched out and grabbed control of Hudson Coal Company, assembling a conglomerate that included the RKO theater chain.

LOEB. New York. The late Carl Morris Loeb made his millions with American Metal Co. and later went on to found Loeb Rhoades (which is now Shearson Lehman/American Express). Carl's son John married the daughter of Arthur Lehman of the Lehman Brothers banking house. John Loeb has two sons, Arthur and John Jr. (who was a U.S. ambassador to Denmark), and his daughter Ann was married to Edgar Bronfman and produced Edgar Bronfman, Jr. This intermarriage of Jewish family fortunes illustrates the manner in which the Jewish elite have kept their wealth "in the tribe", so to speak. Incidentally, this Loeb family is not to be confused with the Loeb family of the Kuhn Loeb banking empire—another major Jewish fortune altogether.

LOWENBERG. San Francisco. Holocaust survivor William Lowenberg, head of the Lowenberg Corporation, is a major San Francisco real estate developer. Son David carries on the family name and involvement in Jewish affairs.

MACK. New York. H. Bert Mack started out in demolition and was responsible for major operations at the sites where the United Nations, the New York World's Fair and the Triboro Bridge were built. The Mack Company is now a major real estate developer. Sons include Earl, Bill, David and Fred.

MANDEL. Cleveland. Morton, Jack and Joseph Mandel launched Premier Industrial Corporation which is today a major player in the production of rare electronic products. They merged Premier with Farnell Electronics, a British firm, to form Premier Farnell PLC.

MARCUS. Dallas. This is the family of the famed Nieman-Marcus Department Store. Although the company was sold in 1969, Stanley Marcus remained on the board for several years. He also served as chairman of the American Retail Federation.

BERNARD MARCUS. Atlanta. The Home Depot home supply empire—the largest in the country—is the brainchild of Bernard Marcus whose children, Fred, Morris and Suzanne are the heirs to the fortune.

MERKIN. New York. Hermann Merkin set up the Merkin & Co. investment banking firm that includes his son Sol and his son-in-law Andrew Mendes. Daughter Daphne has been a New York Times columnist and a novelist.

MEYERHOFF. Baltimore. Construction and shopping center tycoon Harvey Meyerhoff was first chairman of the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington, D.C. and also chairman of the United Way. His son Joseph Meyerhoff II is a major Baltimore figure as are his daughters Terry Rubenstein and Zoh Hieronimus, a radio talk show host of some repute.

MEYERSON. Dallas. Mort Meyerson's claim to fame is his association with Ross Perot, and is said to be Perot's "right hand man" serving as president of Electronic Data Systems and then as CEO of Perot Systems Corporation.

MILKEN. New York-Los Angeles. The infamous Milken brothers—Michael and Lowell—came to prominence in the financial trading scandals in the 1980s but they nonetheless remain major figures in the worldwide Jewish community and particularly respected among "conservatives" who admire Milken-style piracy and hyper-capitalism.

MILLSTEIN. New York. Ira Millstein is a partner in the influential New York law firm of Weil Gotshal & Menges and has taught at the Yale School of Management and the New York University School of Law. He has served on numerous government commissions and on the National Association of Corporate Directors.

MILSTEIN. New York. The Circle Floor Company, founded by Morris Milstein, laid the floors in Rockefeller Center and the United Nations, but Morris's sons Seymour and Paul developed the family firm, Milstein Properties, into a major real estate enterprise, owning hotels, offices and apartments. They also controlled the international United Brands empire for a period and in 1986 bought the Emigrant Savings Bank. Family members Howard and Edward control Douglas Elliman, a building management and brokerage concern, and the Liberty Cable Television Company.

MUSHER. New York. Sidney Musher was a pharmaceuticals executive who was a major player in opening the American market for Israeli products. His sons David and Daniel are doctors.

NAGEL. Los Angeles. The Nagel Construction Company funds the affairs of Jack and Gitta Nagal—both Holocaust survivors. Their children include Ronnie, David, Carena—based in Los Angeles. Daughter Esther lives in Englewood, New Jersey.

NASH. New York. With his partner, Leon Levy (See LEON LEVY), Jack Nash was a founder of the hotly successful private money fund, Odyssey Partners. His son-in-law is investor George Rohr. Jack's wife, Helen, is the sophisticated author of kosher cookbooks.

NASHER. Dallas. Another of the elite Jewish rulers of Texas, Raymond Nasher was a major mall developer, including the famous North Park, among his success stories.

OFFIT. New York. A former manager at Solomon Brothers, Morris Offit went on to launch his own investment bank, Offitbank, and his own investment advisory firm, Offit Associates.

PEARLE. Dallas. Dr. Stanley Pearle, an optometrist, made his fortune in the famous Pearle Vision Centers, the world's largest eyeglass dealers.

PECK. New York. Stephen and Judith Stern Peck are Jewish socialites of the highest order. Stephen has been chairman of the board of famed Mt. Sinai Hospital and Judith has been chair of the board of the United Jewish Appeal-Federation. Their daughter-in-law, Stephanie Rein, and their son, Emmanuel, are also big names in New York Jewish affairs.

PERELMAN. New York. Born in Philadelphia, the heir to Belmont Industries, a metal fabricating enterprise that became a holding company for several other businesses in the region, Ronald Perelman now controls more than 44 companies through the MacAndrew & Forbes empire. Among his holdings are his best known, Revlon, the cosmetics giant, the Coleman Co. (which makes camping equipment), California Federal Bank, and Consolidated Cigar (which produces multiple cigar brands). His son Steven is involved in the family's business affairs. POLK. Chicago. Sam and Sol Polk created the Polk Brothers department stores which were a major force in the Chicago metropolitan area until they closed up in 1992, but the family remains wealthy. Family members include Howard Polk, a stockbroker, Roberta Lewis and Bruce Bachmann, a real estate executive.

PRITZKER. Chicago. Hyatt hotels, Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines, Continental and Braniff Airlines, McCall's magazine, and the Ticketmaster entertainment octopus have all been part of the Pritzker family's gigantic fortune. The family founder Nicholas was an immigrant from Kiev who established a law firm that he used to launch the climb to wealth and power. His sons Harry, Jack and Abraham and the latter's sons, Jay, Robert and Donald, have been the "big" names in the family. Their Marmon Group "specializes in buying and restructuring troubled companies".

RATNER. Cleveland-New York. The Ratner family's Cleveland-based Buckeye Material Company evolved into Forest City Enterprises (now Forest City Ratner Companies), which is a major real estate developer in their hometown and in New York. They were involved in the 42nd Street redevelopment. Family members include Charles, James, Ronald, Albert, Leonard and Max, who was the founder of the American-Israel Chamber of Commerce. Mark Ratner is a professor of chemistry at Northwestern University.

REDSTONE. New York. Born "Rothstein", Sumner Redstone took over his father's movie theater chain and expanded it to nearly 900 affiliates. In 1987 he orchestrated the leveraged buyout of Viacom, Inc., which is one of the major global media enterprises, controlling Paramount Studios, Blockbuster Video, Simon & Schuster, Nickelodeon and MTV. His daughter Shari Redstone is increasingly involved in her father's empire.

RESNICK. New York. Jack and Pearl Resnick and their son Burton have made a vast fortune in New York real estate, dealing in office property purchase and renovation. Daughter Marilyn is married to Stanley Katz and active in Jewish affairs both in the U.S. and Israel.

RIFKIND. New York. A well-known attorney and a partner in the well-known elite firm of Paul, Weiss, Rifkind Wharton & Garrison, Simon Rifkind was an "advisor" to General Dwight Eisenhower on issues such as the disposition of uprooted Holocaust survivors and was a major player in lobbying on behalf of the formation of Israel. His son Robert, a partner in the equally elite law firm of Cravath, Swaine & Moore, was president of the American Jewish Committee.

ROSE. New York. Born in Jerusalem, David Rose came to New York and set up a wide-ranging and powerful real estate firm, Rose Associates, that has built, owned and/or managed properties in New York as well as Washington, D.C., Boston, Florida and Connecticut. His sons Frederick, Daniel and Elihu and grandchildren Adam and Jonathan are now in charge of the Rose empire's affairs.

ROSENWALD. Chicago-New Orleans. Julius Rosenwald made his fortune by grabbing control of Sears & Roebuck, the catalog giant. His son Lessing, however, upset many in the American Jewish community by being a major supporter of anti-Zionist causes. Daughter Edith, who was a major supporter of "civil rights" causes in the South, operating out of a fabulous mansion in New Orleans modeled after "Tara" in Gone With the Wind, married into the Stern family. Her family ran the WDSU media empire in New Orleans and were close personal friends of Clay Shaw, prosecuted by New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison, for involvement in the assassination of John F. Kennedy. (See Final Judgment by this author, Michael Collins Piper, for further details about the strange role of the Stern family in the affairs surrounding Shaw and accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.) The family is quite large and remains active in real estate and cable television.

RUDIN. New York. Jack and Lewis Rudin and their children, including sons William and Eric, are the rulers of Rudin Management which operates New York-based office and residential buildings.

SAFRA. New York-Monte Carlo. Although Syrian-born Jew Edmond Safra died several years in Monte Carlo in a mysterious fire (with allegations of involvement by Russian Jewish organized crime in his death), there is no mystery about the fact that his global banking empire, based in the Republic

New York Corp. and the Swiss-based Trade Development (which merged with American Express), were quite powerful in the shadowy world of international finance. The family empire is now controlled by his brothers Joseph and Moise and their heirs.

SAUL. New York. Joseph Saul founded the Brooks Fashion chain which he sold to great profit in 1984. He is now churning his profits into many Jewish causes, Israeli interests in particular.

SAUNDERS. Boston. The Saunders Real Estate Corp. of Donald Saunders owns the Park Plaza hotel in Boston, along with a host of other commercial properties in the Bay State. His daughters Lisa and Pamela are seen as heirs to the fortune. Saunders is married to actress Liv Ullman.

SCHEUER. New York. A gas and coal company and New York real estate provided the foundation for this family's wealth. One family member, James, served in Congress. Walter is an investment manager and documentary producer. Steven is a media critic. Amy is a psychotherapist. Richard has chaired the board of governors of Hebrew Union College and finances archeological digs in Palestine.

SCHOTTENSTEIN. Columbus, Ohio. This retail and real estate empire is known for Schottenstein Stores Corporation, Value City Department Stores, Value City Furniture and American Eagle Outfitters. Jay Schottenstein is now head of the family's empire.

SCHUSTERMAN. Tulsa, Oklahoma. Charles Schusterman heads up Samson Investment Company, the largest independent gas producer, headquartered in Oklahoma. Daughter Stacy is involved in the family business. Son Jay lives in Colorado. Son Hal lives in Israel.

SELIG. Atlanta. Heir to Ben Massell, a real estate developer, S. Stephen Selig is a major Atlanta developer in his own right, through Selig Enterprises. His daughter is Mindy Selig Shoulberg, a major player in the city's Jewish community.

SILVERSTEIN. New York. The son of a real estate broker who rose to become a major high-rise office building developer, Larry Silverstein is probably best known today as the Jewish operator who gained control of the leases of the World Trade Center shortly before the 9-11 tragedy, a subject that has been covered in some detail by journalist Christopher Bollyn in American Free Press, the national populist newsweekly based in Washington, D.C. Rumors connecting Silverstein to both the CIA and organized crime activities have circulated for some time.

SIMON. Indianapolis. One of the five biggest shopping mall empires in the country—the second largest, in fact—is the basis of the fortune of brothers Melvin and Howard Simon who developed 62 malls and 55 shopping centers. In 1996 their holdings grew even larger when they merged with the (non-Jewish) DeBartolo Realty Corp. Mel co-owns the Pacers basketball team and has produced "trash" films such as Porky's. His son David, who had been an investment banker at CS First Boston and Wasserstein, Perella, is now assuming a role in the family business which includes the famous Mall of America in Minneapolis, at one time certainly the largest mall in America.

SKIRBALL. Los Angeles. Jack Skirball was a rabbi, a real estate developer and a film producer—three professions of interest to all good Jewish boys, it seems. His wealthy family remains active in Jewish affairs in California.

SLIFKA. New York. The Halcyon/Alan B. Slifka Management Company provides this family the money they need to remain active in Jewish affairs in New York.

CHARLES E. SMITH. Washington, D.C. Don't be fooled by the name. He's Jewish and he was one of the biggest real estate developers in Washington, D.C. Robert Smith and brother-in-law Robert Kogod now run the empire which includes the Crystal City apartment complex in Arlington, Virginia, and Skyline City in Virginia.

RICHARD SMITH. Boston. Based in New England, the General Cinema movie chain expanded to take control of Neiman-Marcus (the Dallas-based department store) along with Harcourt Brace Publishing (now Harcourt General). General Cinema is now known as GC Cos. Robert Smith, son of Richard, has taken over the family's affairs. The family is described as "very low profile".

SONNABEND. Boston. Robert, Paul and Stephanie Sonnabend are the principals in the Sonesta International Hotels Corporation. They have some 19 properties, including in Cairo, Egypt.

SPERTUS. Chicago. Picture-frame manufacturing—through Metalcraft Corporation (later Intercraft Industries Corporation)—made the family fortune.

SPIELBERG. Los Angeles. Everyone knows the name of Stephen Spielberg, the movie legend responsible for a wide array of popular films, not to mention Schindler's List. His primary company is Dreamworks SKG. Amblin Entertainment is another part of the Spielberg empire. MARY ANN STEIN. Indianapolis. Mary Ann Stein, heir to bankers and businessmen, is active in liberal causes to the point that she become president of the New Israel Fund, an organization devoted to promoting "liberalism" in Israeli society, a cause that inflames hard-line Zionists to a certain extent, considering the New Israel Fund's friendly gestures toward native Palestinians. (See also FRIEDMAN.)

SAM STEIN. Jacksonville, Florida. Sam Stein started the Steinmart Store in Mississippi and his son Jay developed a chain of 150 stores specializing in "upscale off-price merchandise" in 21 states. Jay's wife Cynthia is an art teacher active in Jewish affairs in Jacksonville.

STEINBERG. New York. Saul Steinberg made a fortune through Leasco, a computer leasing firm, and then went big time with Reliance Insurance, which he purchased in 1968. His brother Robert and brother-in-law Bruce Sokoloff were heavily involved in family affairs. His daughter Laura is married to Jonathan Tisch of the powerful Tisch media empire (See TISCH.) His son Jonathan is owner of Financial Data which publishes Individual Investor magazine.

STEINHARDT. New York. Hedge-fund manager/tycoon Michael Steinhardt has a "passion", it is said: that being "Jewish continuity". Even though he "an avowed atheist" according to Avenue magazine, Steinhardt is still "yet one of America's biggest supporters of Jewish and Israel causes". He is a financier behind Forward, the influential New York-based Jewish weekly.

STERN & LINDENBAUM. New York. Heir to the Hartz Mountain (pet supplies) fortune, Leonard Stern owns the "liberal" Village Voice newspaper and is engaged in a variety of real estate ventures. His son Emanuel operates the SoHo Grand Hotel and is married into the influential Peck family (See PECK). The wealth of Leonard's stepmother, Ghity Amiel Lindenbaum, also contributes to the family fortune.

Public Notice

In meeting the requirements for sufficient public notice, this is the first of three publications of this notice.

GLOBAL ALLIANCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION PUBLIC NOTICE

This notice will be construed as a continuation of compliance with provisions necessary to establish presumed fact (Rule 301, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and attending State rules). If all interested parties fail to rebut any given allegation or matter of law addressed herein, the position will be construed as adequate to requirements of judicial notice, thus preserving fundamental law. A true and correct copy of this Public Notice is on file with and available for inspection at the newspaper CONTACT (P.O. Box 27800 Las Vegas, NV 89126, USA) which is responsible for publishing the instrument as a legal notice. In the Republic of the Philippines, comments and objections may be filed in writing by addressing Global Alliance Investment Association at 6751 Ayala Avenue, Makati City, Metro Manila, Philippines. Others may be addressed to Global Alliance Investment Association, 3132 West Post Road, Las Vegas, Nevada, 89118 USA.

The purpose of this Public Notice is to clarify an issue that has been used for more than three years to delay the litigation of the Motion for Annulment of Judgment filed April 9, 2002 by the government's Solicitor General and numbered CA G.R. SP. NO. 70014 in the Court of Appeals. It is in the interest of GAIA to bring this matter to the attention of the public since it impedes the use of the 400,000 metric tons of gold leased by the government, which lease has now expired, making the gold available for the GAIA Program worldwide. The value of the gold at current prices is approximately five trillion dollars, an amount that could greatly alleviate poverty in Southeast Asia.

One of the ploys used by the government was to declare the person appearing in court an "imposter" and not the "real" Julian Morden Tallano, the Court Appointed Administrator of the Tallano-Acop estate. It has required more than one year for the National Bureau of Investigation to decide: "Agent-on-case concluded that based on the above-findings, Subject JULIAN MORDEN TALLANO, the intervenor in the case of Republic of the Philippines vs. Regional Trial Court, Pasay City, Branch 111, et al., and Prince JULIAN MORDEN TALLANO, the alleged Real Party-in-interest in the above case, are one and the same person."

In his Clarificatory Order of January 19, 1976, Judge Enrique A. Agana clarified that a false or fictitious person allegedly represented by attorneys but not appearing in person was attempting to usurp the position and property of Acop by using the name Acopiado and bribing someone in the Court to change the name on his Decision dated November 4, 1975. The above report of the NBI contains the following comment: "As to the identity of ANACLETO MADRIGAL ACOPIADO, the only available evidence to establish his alleged existence is the altered Death Certificate issued by the Local Civil Registrar of Taguig, Metro Manila on 28 November 1994."

Subsequent to filing its Motion for Annulment of Judgment April 9, 2002 the Solicitor General obtained a Temporary Restraining Order (TRO) to stop the Estate from doing any further business. The TRO expired on June 6, 2002 and GAIA entered into a Letter of Intent (LOI) with Tallano June 7, 2002. To preserve the ability to conduct business for the Estate/Foundation in a different venue, GAIA formed the FOUNDATION FOR THE TALLANO ESTATE, INC. in Nevada June 17, 2002 and subsequently formed the DON ESTEBAN BENITEZ TALLANO & DON GREGORIO MADRIGAL ACOP FOUNDATION, INC. in Nevada July 29, 2003. With the participation of the Court Appointed Administrator, Prince Julian Morden Tallano and Founding Trustee, Cenon C. Marcos, the DON ESTEBAN BENITEZ TALLANO & DON GREGORIO MADRIGAL ACOP FOUNDATION, INC. was also formed in the Philippines October 14, 2003 to administer that 50% portion of the assets of the Royal Family for the benefit of the Filipino PEOPLE.

Although the Foundation was ordered to be set up by Judge Agana in 1976, the Order was not obeyed by the Administrator until the necessary funds were furnished by GAIA. Since ALL of the funds to support the Foundation were furnished by GAIA, even to hiring and paying the necessary consultants and attorneys, GAIA has insisted upon the exclusive control of the statutory 40% of the assets and has met with no objection. The Court Appointed Administrator has frequently offered and paid "commissions" as much as 70% of the funds received for sale of properties, which establishes a precedent far above the requirement of GAIA.

In the Letter of Intent of June 7, 2002 GAIA committed to assist in the recovery of fines, penalties and Royalties due the Royal Family, real properties, and the gold leased to the government in 1949. On June 25, 2002 the Court of Appeals issued a Writ of Preliminary Injunction, ostensibly to "maintain the status quo" and "enjoining respondents from enforcing the Orders dated July 7, 1997, July 11, 2001, and October 8, 2001 in Civil Case No. 3957-P and from conducting further proceedings in said case." Since those listed cases were land-related and contained no reference to the Royalties, fines, penalties, or gold, it is presumed that there are no impediments to terminating the lease and proceeding with the inventory of the assets of the Estate/Foundation as required by law.

Sworn testimony was recorded in the court of Judge Agana in 1972 of the fact that Fr. Diaz (aka Colonel Santa Romana) and Tallanos had just conducted an inventory of the 617,500 tons of gold leased to the Central Bank and had found only 400,000 metric tons to be there. Other documents have been located that confirm that President Quirino leased the gold for the government in 1949 as the reserve for the Philippine money supply. These are documented facts, not fictitious stories concocted by creative con-men.

In an unconfirmed (yet) related story, the two presidents, Ferdinand Marcos and Ronald Reagan, created a plan to leave as their legacy to the world a gold-based money they named Ang Bagong Lipunan (ABL) and President Marcos shipped thousands of tons of gold to other nations to serve as their reserves or gold base. When the shipments were completed and a signal given, all of those nations would shift to the new currency which they could then use in international trade as well as domestically.

In the case of the backing of the ABL, it is clear that the gold came from that being leased by the Republic of the Philippines from the Estate/Foundation, the ownership of which has now reverted to the Estate/Foundation at the expiration of the lease. Although not sufficiently yet documented, there is evidence that 217,500 metric tons was transported to the U.S., which gold would be subject to the claim of GAIA pursuant to the debt of the US Treasury to GAIA that is expressly payable in gold. Regardless of where it may be located, it is likely that much of the gold in the world is or could be subject to a legal and legitimate lien by the Joint Venture Partnership created by GAIA and the Foundation.

In the case of "natural" or "treasure" gold located in the Philippines or its territorial waters, the Land Title OCT No. T-01-4 gives ownership of most of the land and sea area of the archipelago to the Royal Family since 1764. As a percentage of the total land area, the so-called "public" lands are very small, being restricted to those lands occupied by government buildings and facilities and only during occupation by those facilities, reverting to Estate/Foundation stewardship for "The Royal Family" when no longer so occupied. Thus, mining and treasure hunting will come under the management of the Estate/Foundation at the proper time.

"The Royal Family" (of the Philippines) consists of all of those persons that might trace their ancestry to King Luisong Taguean (who died in 1764) and/or to his ancestors, which should include virtually all Filipinos. It is important that Filipinos understand that the Estate/Foundation does not claim

"ownership" of these assets (the land, gold, minerals and other natural resources); it acts as the Trustee or STEWARD of these assets for the benefit of the Royal Family, i.e., all Filipinos, and deserves their support and participation in the development of the nation. As such, it can, and should, act to accomplish objectives privately that are normally expected of governments.

Among its objectives should be the establishment of a bank to monetize its gold and the retirement of the national debt thru the purchase of the government interest in all of the public utility, transportation, and infrastructure corporations and projects. This alone will initiate so much economic activity that everyone that wants to work and earn can have a good-paying job to quickly eliminate poverty and its companion, hunger.

Pursuant to the rules governing Public Notices under the Uniform Commercial Code this Notice will be published at least three times in a newspaper of wide circulation. For additional copies or information, contact information is given above.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the undersigned have executed and sealed this notice as of the date hereof. For the Corporation, dated at Makati, Manila, the Philippines, this 7th day of August 2005.

STATEMENT OF ALEXANDER LUKASHENKO
AT THE 60TH SESSION OF THE UN
Belarusian Telegraph Agency, 9/15/05

... Today the world is unipolar with all the consequences stemming from this. The once prosperous Yugoslavia was devastated and disappeared from the map of Europe. The long-suffering Afghanistan became a hotbed of conflicts and drugs trafficking. A bloody slaughter in Iraq is continuing to the present day. The country has turned into a source of instability for the vast region. Iran and North Korea are looked at through gun sights.

Belarus is a nation just like the majority represented in this hall. Having emerged from the debris of the Cold War, Belarus became a state of advanced science and technology inhabited by ten million of highly educated and tolerant people. The UN ranked us as a developed country with a high level of human development.

Like you, what we need from the world is peace and stability. Nothing more. The rest we shall create ourselves through our own efforts.

My country is free from conflicts. Different nations and nationalities peacefully coexist in Belarus each practicing religions of their own and having their own way of life.

We do not cause any trouble for our neighbors, neither through territorial claims nor trying to influence their choice of the way of development.

We gave up our nuclear arms and voluntarily relinquished the rights of a nuclear successor to the USSR.

Today we shall sign the Convention for the Suppression of Acts of Nuclear Terrorism. We also declare that we have decided to sign the Additional Protocol to the Agreement between the Republic of Belarus and the International Atomic Energy Agency for the Application of Safeguards in Connection with the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons.

We have established a lasting and successful union with Russia as our very close neighbour.

We build our country using our own wits and on the basis of our own traditions.

But it is obvious that this very choice of my people is not to everyone's pleasure. It doesn't please those who strive to rule the unipolar world.

Wonder how?

If there are no conflicts—they are invented.

If there are no pretexts for intervention—imaginary ones are created.

To this end a very convenient banner was chosen—democracy and human rights.

And not in their original sense of the rule of people and personal dignity, but solely and exclusively in the interpretation of the U.S. leadership.

... Let us give a glance at the world as it is.

Quite recently, in the room next to ours we were shown maps and graphs allegedly depicting weapons of mass destruction in Iraq. Were those weapons found? They do not exist. In the meantime, Iraq was razed with bombs, devastated, people brought to utmost despair.

Terrorists are threatening to use weapons of mass destruction against cities in Europe and America.

Has there been an open and independent trial under UN supervision of the Guantanamo prisoners? How many of them are there and who are they?

Who will defend the rights of the Abu Graib victims and punish all of their torturers without exception?

Afghanistan was ravaged with rockets and bombs under the pretext of finding Bin Laden.

Was the world's "number one terrorist" captured? Where is he now?

He is at large, but Afghanistan and Iraq territories began to generate hundreds and thousands of international terrorists.

COURT RULES U.S. CAN INDEFINITELY DETAIN CITIZENS

By Jerry Markon, Washington Post, 9/9/05

A federal appeals court ruled today that the president can indefinitely detain a U.S. citizen captured on U.S. soil in the absence of criminal charges, holding that such authority is vital to protect the nation from terrorist attacks.

The decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 4th Circuit came in the case of Jose Padilla, a former Chicago gang member who was arrested in Chicago in 2002 and designated an "enemy combatant" by President Bush.

... Attorneys for Padilla and a host of civil liberties organizations blasted the detention as illegal and said it could lead to the military being allowed to hold anyone, from protesters to people who check out what the government considers the wrong books from the library. ...

CHAVEZ CALLS U.S. 'TERRORIST STATE' IN UN SPEECH

Agence France-Presse, 9/16/05

Venezuela's President Hugo Chavez called the United States a "terrorist state" and said the United Nations headquarters should be moved away from New York.

The outspoken Chavez littered his speech to the UN world summit with anti-U.S. comments which were strongly applauded. The ally of Cuba's President Fidel Castro followed this up with a press conference at which he accused the U.S. administration of supporting terrorism.

... Chavez told the UN General Assembly that the United States was "a country that does not respect the resolutions of this assembly".

To loud applause he took up the call of Latin American revolutionary Simon Bolivar for the UN headquarters to be moved to "an international city" in the southern hemisphere.

... At a press conference after his speech, Chavez said that the United States was a "terrorist state" because of its actions in Iraq, Robertson's assassination call and for harboring Luis Posada Carriles, who is wanted for the bombing of a Cuban airliner.

"It is a terrorist state. It is a government that violates all rules and behaves shamelessly," he said.

"The United States is the champion of double standards. The United States government defends terrorism. They talk of the fight against the terrorism, but they commit terrorism, state terrorism," said Chavez.

The Venezuelan president said the United States had used napalm in Iraq and protects Posada Carriles, who is being held in the United States on immigration charges. ...

BLACKWATER MERCENARIES DEPLOY IN NEW ORLEANS

By Jeremy Scahill and Daniela Crespo,
<Truthout.org>, 9/10/05

New Orleans—Heavily armed paramilitary mercenaries from the Blackwater private security firm, infamous for their work in Iraq, are openly patrolling the streets of New Orleans. Some of the mercenaries say they have been "deputized" by the Louisiana governor; indeed some are wearing gold Louisiana state law enforcement badges on their chests and Blackwater photo identification cards on their arms. They say they are on contract with the Department of Homeland Security and have been given the authority to use lethal force. Several mercenaries we spoke with said they had served in Iraq on the personal security details of the former head of the U.S. occupation, L. Paul Bremer and the former U.S. ambassador to Iraq, John Negroponte.

... Blackwater mercenaries are some of the most feared professional killers in the world and they are accustomed to operating without worry of legal consequences. Their presence on the streets of New Orleans should be a cause for serious concern for the remaining residents of the city and raises alarming questions about why the government would allow men trained to kill with impunity in places like Iraq and Afghanistan to operate here.

... What is most disturbing is the claim of several Blackwater mercenaries we spoke with that they are here under contract from the federal and Louisiana state governments.

... As the threat of forced evictions now looms in New Orleans and the city confiscates even legally registered weapons from civilians, the private mercenaries of Blackwater patrol the streets openly wielding M-16s and other assault weapons. This despite Police Commissioner Eddie Compass' claim that "Only law enforcement are allowed to have weapons."

... If Blackwater's reputation and record in Iraq are any indication of the kind of "services" the company offers, the people of New Orleans have much to fear.

[END QUOTING]

Perhaps the following Supreme Court ruling has some significance?

[QUOTING:]

Foreign troops occupied the independent Afghanistan but the drugs production grew ten-fold. Did those troops enter the country for this purpose?

Today, Belarus, Tajikistan, Russia and other former Soviet states are literally flooded with a wave of "traditional" drugs from Afghanistan meeting a wave of previously unknown synthetic drugs from Europe.

The leaders of the sovereign Yugoslavia and Iraq were put behind bars on groundless, absurd and far-fetched accusations. This was a very opportune way to conceal the truth about annihilation of their countries. The trial of Milosevic was made into a caricature since long ago.

Saddam Hussein was abandoned to the winner's mercy, like in barbarian times. There is nobody to defend their rights except the UN, their states no longer around, destroyed.

They should be released to be able to defend freely their rights, honour and human dignity.

AIDS and other diseases are ravaging Africa and Asia. Poverty and deprivation have become a real and not a virtual weapon of mass destruction, moreover—a racially selective one.

Who will be able to stop this? Who will insist that the United States of America put an end to its attempts against Cuba and Venezuela? These countries will independently determine their lives.

Trafficking in persons has become a flourishing business. Sexual slavery of women and children are seen as a common thing, almost a norm of life. Who will protect them and bring to justice consumers of "live commodity"?

... This, in short, is the distressing account of the transition to the unipolar world.

Was it for that purpose that we established the United Nations? Is it not high time for the UN to put an end to internal corruption scandals and get down in deed to address anguish and misery of the world? The answer to this question, in our view, is very clear. ...

And now we come full circle to consider what the next major event might be. Tremendous pressures continue to build on the North American tectonic plate. Please be prepared, readers.

[QUOTING:]

RUSSIAN SCIENTISTS WARN OF IMPENDING NORTH AMERICAN CATASTROPHIC EVENT...

By Sorcha Faal, <WhatDoesItMean.com>, 9/9/05

Russian Scientists are reporting today that their latest computer models are now showing that the continuing building pressures upon the North American Plate are nearing 'Insurmountable Levels' and that 'Little time is left' before the occurrence of a 'Catastrophic Event'.

These reports further question the motives of the American Military Leaders in not warning their people, as they have equally efficient and powerful computer models showing these same probabilities yet have not warned their people, unlike Russian Scientists and Government Leaders who are rushing massive aid to our Far Eastern Regions, and as we had previously reported on in our August 18th report titled "Russian Forces Prepare For Massive Earthquakes as Gulf of Mexico Becomes 'Zone of Death' and New Madrid Fault Zone Heads Towards Cataclysmic Event" and wherein we had stated:

"Russian Emergency Services are preparing for massive earthquakes in Kamchatka after Russian Scientists have determined that the growing instabilities presently occurring in our earth's core regions will likely lead to a series of Global Massive Earthquake and Volcanic events by December of this year. The most troubled regions being reported upon by Russian Scientists are Russia's Far East Regions and the North American Continent. ..."

... To the efficiency of the American's computer models there is no doubt, as they have successfully predicted all of the catastrophic events to have hit them, and as we can read as reported by the Los Angeles Times News Service in their article titled "California Earthquake Could Be the Next Katrina" and which says, "U.S. Geological Survey seismologist Lucy Jones remembers attending an emergency training session in August 2001 with the Federal Emergency Management Agency that discussed the three most likely catastrophes to strike the United States. First on the list was a terrorist attack in New York. Second was a super-strength hurricane hitting New Orleans. Third was a major earthquake on the San Andreas fault. Now that the first two have come to pass, she and other earthquake experts are using the devastating aftermath of Hurricane Katrina as an opportunity to reassess how California would handle a major temblor."

Russian Social Scientists point out though that after many decades of not just ignoring the predictive values of computer models, but also in discouraging their probabilities from being 'taken seriously' by the American public, that the American Military Leaders reluctance to prepare for these events may lie in the very psychological mindsets they have instilled in their civilian population to begin with, and as we have reported on previously these psychological mindsets are for the controlling of their peoples against social unrest and disorder, not to saving their lives.

But the time is soon coming where even the most controlled American citizen will no longer be able to ignore the catastrophic changes being made to their country, not just by nature itself, but also in the reordering of their entire social order towards Fascist rule as more of their freedoms are stripped away and their country becomes totally militarized.

...But of greater concerns to Russian Scientists are the 'unrelenting tectonic forces' building upon the entire North American Plate, and where this weeks New York Region 3.6 Magnitude Earthquake provides yet another warning to these people, and the significance of which we had previously reported on in our March 6th report titled "Arctic Circle Earthquakes Begins North American Continent Instability, Greater Earthquakes Sure to Follow" and wherein we had stated:

"Reports have reached us today that the Franz Josef Land archipelago Region of Russia, and in the Arctic Circle, has been stricken by a series of powerful earthquakes. The Seismic Network of the Russian Academy of Sciences is currently estimating the largest of these events to be over 6.0 magnitude event, and covering an area of the Arctic Regions of tens of thousands of square kilometers.

"Occurring also with these events in a symbiotic relationship, with the depth of 33 kilometers being the common factor, was another earthquake event in the Quebec Region of Canada, and as reported by the Seismic Network of the Russian Academy of Sciences as having over a 5.0 magnitude.

"These shallow focus earthquakes, of depths less than 75 km, are of great concern to Russian scientists because of their great potential for harm, and also as foretellers of larger events to come."

... Dr. G.P. Avetisov, Russian Academy of Sciences, Saint Petersburg, in his report to the United States scientific organization National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), and titled "Seismically active zones of the Arctic", has said, "It is noteworthy that the disturbed mid-oceanic seismic belt is colinear with Eurasian submeridional Franz-Victoria and Saint Anna offshore troughs. These troughs show a few earthquakes magnitude up to 6.5 on their intersection with the continental slope."

The relationship therefore between these two earthquake events in Arctic Russia and Quebec Canada can not be underestimated because, and as stated by the Canadian Government's Natural Resources Ministry, "Canada east of the Cordillera, extending north from the United States border to the Arctic Ocean, comprises about two-thirds of the stable craton of the North American plate."

... The Darwinian mindsets of these Americans do not allow for their being able to understand the clear warnings of these events that would lead them to the protection of their lives by preparing for these events. Even as the entire world continues to suffer grievous blows from unrelenting weather changes, massive storms, unremitting droughts and horrific earthquakes, the American people remain the least prepared to either protect themselves, or to understand the sheer apocalyptic nature of the changes our World is going through.

Today the early contingents of many of the world's armies are marching upon American soil for the first time in the memories of their whole population. Today the refugees in America number in the hundreds of thousands. Today vast areas of America lie in total ruin. Yet today these most strange American people cling to the belief that their tomorrows will always be like their yesterdays, and one can not help but remember that these were also the very thoughts of the German peoples under the Nazi Regime of last century too.

We will underscore the foregoing by noting there has been a recent tremendous surge of magma to the west of Yellowstone.

ORE. SCIENTISTS MONITOR BULGING GROUND

Associated Press, 9/5/05

Bend, Oregon—A recent survey of a bulge that covers about 100 square miles near the South Sister indicates the area is still growing, suggesting it could be another volcano in the making or a major shift of molten rock under the center of the Cascade Range.

Recent eruptions at nearby Mount St. Helens in Washington state have rekindled interest in the annual Sisters survey and its findings.

Oregon has four of the 18 most active volcanoes in the nation—Mount Hood, Crater Lake, Newberry and South Sister.

A recent U.S. Geological Survey report said monitoring is inadequate at all of them, with only basic monitoring at about half of the active volcanoes.

... The results of the late August survey won't be ready for weeks, but scientists have reached some conclusions about the bulge from past monitoring.

They say it probably began growing in 1997 and has been rising ever since at a rate of about 1.4 inches a year. It was first observed from space using a relatively new imaging technology known as radar interferometry that can measure changes in the Earth's surface.

The likely cause of the bulge is a pool of magma that, according to Deschutes National Forest geologist Larry Chitwood, is equal in size to a lake 1 mile across and 65 feet deep.

The magma lake is rising 10 feet each year, under tremendous pressure, and it deforms the Earth's surface as it expands, causing the bulge.

... Additional information from seismographs and chemical monitoring of area springs reveal movement of the magma underground. A swarm of 350 small earthquakes in March 2004 indicated magma was on the move, but the bulge has been quiet ever since.

NEVADA CORPORATIONS:

When Is A Corporation NOT "Doing Business"?

Budget's "Tip of the Week" #15:

Operating in a Foreign Jurisdiction Without Having to Qualify the Corporation

Since most people who form Nevada corporations reside in jurisdictions other than Nevada, one of the first questions that needs to be addressed is how to properly use the corporation while they themselves operate from within their home state (or country). Is it necessary to register or qualify the Nevada corporation to do business within their jurisdiction? Often it is—especially if there is a physical presence involving employees—but there are often many useful exceptions to the rule.

Let's look at the exemptions from qualification in the State of California—which is generally known for both its stringent regulations and its repressive taxation—to see what "loopholes" exist. You should look up the regulations in your own particular jurisdiction but as a general rule they will tend to be quite similar.

Business Exempt from Qualification in the State of California

Without excluding other activities which may constitute transacting business, a foreign corporation shall not be considered to be transacting business solely by reason of carrying on any one or more of the following activities:

- 1) A foreign corporation shall not be considered to be transacting intrastate business merely because its subsidiary transacts intrastate business.
- 2) Maintaining or defending any action or suit or administrative action.
- 3) Holding meetings of its board or shareholders or carrying out other activities concerning its internal affairs.
- 4) Maintaining bank accounts.
- 5) Maintaining offices or agencies for the transfer, exchange or registration of its securities.
- 6) Effecting sales through independent contractors.
- 7) Soliciting or procuring orders either by mail or through employees or agents or otherwise where such orders require acceptance without this state before becoming binding contracts.
- 8) Creating evidences of debt or mortgages on real property.
- 9) Conducting an isolated transaction within a period of 180 days and not in the course of a number of repeated transactions of like nature.

We have highlighted number 6 because this provision is used by an increasing number of businesses in the area of consulting. When the consultant is an independent contractor and the income is earned by a Nevada corporation, the corporation has no presence in the foreign jurisdiction, only the contractor does. So, the contractor must pay home-state tax on his income but the corporation earns its income in Nevada. There can be tremendous tax savings if the contractor lives modestly and draws only what is needed to meet living expenses. Note: It is essential that the corporation exists "at arm's length" from the contractor.

Where the business is more product-related rather than service-related, provision number 7 can come into play. Just ensure that the orders generated require acceptance from Nevada before becoming binding contracts!
