It's Always Darkest Before the Dawn

More and more people are waking up every day to face the terrifying reality that the World is being run, quite literally, by Lucifer's minions. This increase in awareness is resulting in two things: from the adversary's perspective, the only solution is WAR; but from our perspective, it is just before daybreak! The eagles are gathering in anticipation of the new day dawning. Have you looked at the sky lately? Rejoice!

ERRATA: Our printer has changed certain production procedures and it appears that due to the transition some gremlins got into the works. As a consequence, the January 10 issue has unintended italics throughout. Hopefully, the problem will be straightened out in time for production of the current issue. (Yes, this is supposed to be in italics!)

There was another glitch in the January 10 issue: The "ALSO IN THIS ISSUE" box erroneously references a story on page 8 which actually appeared in the December 27 issue. It looks like we can easily continue to provide evidence that alas, even we are not perfect! <Grin>

As imperfect and human as we are, we are pleased by the very positive feedback for our efforts as we continue to document the RISING OF THE PHOENIX.

THE GAIA UTOPIA

GLOBAL ALLIANCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION (GAIA) defines Utopia to be the same as it defines "abundance", i.e., a society wherein everyone has what he needs (we include women and children in the term "he" and use the term for brevity). GAIA further takes care to distinguish "rich" from "wealthy" since rich requires an opposite, poor, and wealthy does not. A person may have a wealth of friends or relatives without being rich in money and things. We emphasize that these are GAIA's definitions for the purpose of making this paper clearly understandable.

GAIA, as an "association-in-formation", provides this description of a "GAIA Nation" to describe the benefits of participation in the Association. Other details are contained in other GAIA documents under the "information" heading on its Internet website: www.GlobalAllianceAssn.com.

While others might think of Utopia as "the land of milk and honey" where one's living is provided with no risk or effort on one's part, that is not the meaning employed by GAIA. Rather, GAIA employs a more comprehensive meaning that includes growth of knowledge and skill and enhancing the individual's self esteem and productivity, all for the purpose of reinforcing his self sovereignty and the acceptance of responsibility for himself. Quite obviously these are objectives in direct conflict with those in current political practice wherein the objectives are clearly control and subservience of the individual, a form of economic slavery at the individual level that spreads to and infects the relationships of nations: The newer, less informed nations losing much of their substance to the older, smarter ones that successfully hide the truth of economic sovereignty.

A nation that joins GAIA and participates in the GAIA Program is given the wherewithal to base its currency on gold, changing it from debt-based fiat money to value-based money. The benefits of doing this are many, a few of which we will enumerate. The most important benefit is that the nation takes complete control of its money supply, determining not only the number of units of its currency but also their value, and because its currency is freely redeemable in gold it is acceptable everywhere without the expensive and time-consuming conversion to “foreign exchange”.

A nation that does not need foreign exchange does not need any Foreign Money from Foreign Investors or as Loans (including IMF/WB). Neither does it need to export anything, including its workers and natural resources. With its money freely acceptable it can purchase anything that it needs from offshore, and with the assistance of Global Alliance it can create all of the gold based currency that it can use for productive projects, including infrastructure, and so, if it chooses to do so, it can have as many infrastructure projects as needed to achieve full employment for every citizen that wants to work.

A GAIA Nation does not need to collect taxes because it can create all of the money it needs to operate its government. Currently, the majority of all taxes collected are obligated by the terms of foreign loans to pay the interest on foreign debt, and when gold based money can be created to pay that interest, it is no longer necessary to collect income, sales, or vat-type taxes from its people.

Let us pause a moment to let that statement “sink in”. The economic impact of just this one factor is astonishing. The so-called middle-class wage earner will have twice as much money to spend, instantly. Even the poorest of the poor who pay no income taxes will benefit. Furthermore, good-paying jobs will be opened to them as soon as projects, many of which are already planned and permitted, can be implemented—the funds can be made instantly available via a line-of-credit from a government or cooperating commercial bank—there will be no further delays waiting for funding.

Another productive way to get money to the poor quickly is to “hire” them to participate in an organized system of talent evaluation so that the value of their subsequent education and training can be maximized—that is a tangible benefit to the nation and is entirely justifiable as an appropriate investment of national money. The end objective of such a national program should be to develop each individual to his highest self-determined productivity and individuality, i.e., sovereignty. Non-corruptibility and quality of life-style will flow automatically from the self-esteem created in the person.

When such a program is implemented wholeheartedly and without reservation by a national government, what incentive is there left to the individual to “rebel”? Self-serving “Generals and Commanders” are not very dangerous without “soldiers” and if the soldiers are busy making a life for themselves and their families, rebellion will soon lose its popularity. “Political stability” becomes practically automatic.

The above mentioned benefits of membership in GAIA, as important as they are, hardly scratch the surface of the total benefits available. When a nation removes its dependency upon foreign exchange and elects to create its own money based upon gold that it owns, it never has to borrow money from anyone, foreign or domestic. That means that the financial hemorrhage created by foreign loans is stemmed and all of the money created and/or earned in the nation is retained in the nation to add to the value of the nation. The nation thus reverses the current trend of growing ever-poorer to growing ever-richer. Not needing to “qualify” for foreign loans, the nation will have no further need of a “credit rating”, or to monitor its “balance of payments”, or to be concerned about a “budget deficit” (since there can be no such thing).

Because the nation can pay for what it wants to purchase from offshore in gold-based money, which everyone will accept, there is no longer any NEED to export anything, including its most productive and talented people. It does not need to sell its timber and denude its forests; it can control its mining so that it is not harmful to its people and environment; it can control the fishing in its waters so that its food supply is secure; and to further secure its people, it can afford all it wants of the most modern military, fire fighting, police, and rescue equipment available. It can also afford the most modern schools, universities, medical facilities, communications, water supply, waste management, electricity and irrigation systems to assure its self-contained power, food, and water supply.

One of the most incapacitating concepts promulgated by the International Banking Cartel is the concept of “competition”: Competition for foreign loans and investors, foreign tourists, and foreign markets. Political and business leaders are thus led into a chaotic blur of nonsense causing them to believe that a plethora of standards established by the IBC, such as the national credit rating, the currency exchange rate, the balance of payments, the foreign debt, and the amount of the foreign exchange have meaning. They do not! They have no meaning at all to a nation, or a group of nations, using the GAIA Program. Dr. Mahathir, former Prime Minister of Malaysia, had the absolutely correct idea; he said, “Prosper your neighbor and he will become a better trading partner.”

Enlightened GAIA Nations will no doubt take great delight in assisting each other while avoiding the harmful and self-defeating mistake of attempting to gain monopolies. This is God’s Millennium; Lucifer has had his turn and his practices will be recognized and avoided in this millennium and that is why it is time for the GAIA Program.

Having touched upon a few of the several benefits of the GAIA Program, it may be appropriate to address some of the more technical questions that are frequently asked such as: Where does the money come from and will there be enough gold?

In the mid-to-late 1700s “Central Banks” were invented by the Rothschilds to supplant the “public” National Treasuries with private corporations to issue and control the supply of money in most nations, beginning with the Bank of England and later with the U.S. Federal Reserve System (FED). The representations made today are to the effect that only Central Banks can issue “new” currency. No, virtually all National Treasuries can issue new currency if they have legitimate “reserves” upon which to base the new money. Each nation has the innate authority to determine precisely what are “legitimate” reserves for its own currency (even sticks or seashells)—as long as that currency is used within its own borders. If it wishes to transact business with other nations, then its currency must be based upon mutually acceptable reserves among which are currently U.S. dollars, Euros and Gold.

Global Alliance Investment Association is the assignee of many trillions of dollars worth of U.S. Treasury debt created when the UST assumed the debt of Peru in 1906 pursuant to the Monroe Doctrine of December 2, 1823. The basis of the debt was a bearer bond issued and sold in New York City on behalf of Peru May 1, 1875 that had not been redeemed and the interest continued to accrue. The bond was a gold certificate (meaning the principal and interest were payable in gold), thus creating a huge debt of the UST payable only in gold. When the Federal Reserve System (FED), a private company authorized to act as the Central Bank of the USA, was authorized by the Federal Reserve Act of 1913, the FED had to become the guarantor of the debt. That means that the owners of the FED, commonly known as the International Banking Cartel (IBC), would have to either pay the debt or bankrupt the FED if the creditor (in this case, GAIA) were to demand payment.

When GAIA assigns a portion of this UST debt to another entity that debt acts as legitimate banking reserves when recognized as such by a nation’s banking system. This means that a nation receiving a GAIA DEED OF ASSIGNMENT FOR CONSIDERATION possesses the reserves upon which it can issue its own new money with which to purchase gold. When a sufficient amount of that gold is in its possession the nation can declare its currency to be gold based—meaning that it stands ready to redeem its currency in pure gold.

The benefit to the Association is that by issuing twice as much DEED as is required by the nation, one-half of the gold purchased becomes the property of the Association and thus becomes part of the Gold Price Stabilization Fund needed by the Association to serve as a reservoir for members needing to buy or sell gold. This reservoir can also serve as a deep reserve to assist member nations in the event of disasters too large for them to handle by themselves, in contrast with the United Nations that must go begging for funds when its members encounter an emergency.

Access to the Program will not be restricted to nations, although other organizations within a nation cannot avail of the DEEDs if the nation is not a participant in the Association because the DEEDs must be acceptable in the nation’s system. Conversely, the DEEDs may be used within a nation where authorized even if its currency is not yet gold based.

As an illustration of how the GAIA Program should operate: Let us suppose that a nation needs to replace and modernize its transnational railway at a cost of some $10 billion. GAIA would issue a DEED for $20 billion as a joint venture with the National Treasury of the nation. The National Treasury would purchase $20 billion worth of gold, 50% for the project and 50% to be held in the Treasury for the benefit of and under the control of the Association. To one of its government banks, or a cooperating domestic bank, the Treasury would issue its authorization to extend non-interest-bearing lines of credit to the successful bidders on the project and the bank would supervise the loan draws in the usual way, making sure that milestones were reached timely and that quality was maintained. When the railroad is finished and operating the contractors receive their final payment and any undrawn funds are returned to the Treasury.

To appreciate the benefits of using this Program we must examine the economics in some detail as compared with the typical procedure which, due to “lack of funds” is most often the Build, Operate, and Transfer (BOT) technique. This means that the nation contracts with a third party, usually from offshore, to furnish the money and expertise to do the project, operate it for several years to “earn its profit”, and then transfer it to the government. This technique is made to look quite convenient for the nation since all the nation must do is guarantee repayment of the loans to the banks plus a minimum “rate of return” to the Builder. What is implicit (and virtually hidden) in this arrangement is the fact that the price of the project is likely to be inflated, the interest rate paid to the banks for the building loan is likely to be high, and as maintenance costs increase, fares will have to be increased to maintain the rate of return (profit) paid to the builder. Ultimately all of these costs must be paid by the passengers; there is increasing incentive for corruption at every level of the entire transaction and, because of the government guarantee, all of the risk is transferred to the passengers and taxpayers even if the equipment, building materials, and construction are substandard.

To summarize and compare the costs of the BOT

PHILIPPINES/FOUNDATION DEVELOPMENTS

After brooding for weeks and bogging down in our efforts to find someone, anyone, running in the May congressional elections who might run with the banner of the Tallano Foundation's legitimate claim as the administrator of the Taguean-Tallano Royal Family estate, we discovered just yesterday that one of our best friends here has obtained some financial backing and is at the threshold of announcing his candidacy. You would recognize the name instantly but it would be premature for us to make the announcement.

This individual knows about as much as anyone about the "Marcos" (-administered) Gold, which is the legacy of all Filipinos. He knows the Presidential Commission on Good Government (PCGG) put in place immediately after Marcos was deposed is a sham devised to keep the whole story under wraps while the wily politicians seek to convert it for their own benefit. He is a NATIONALIST, who is well aware of the Globalist agenda. In an environment where the people know they need to bring in fresh, new faces as opposed to more of the "business (corruption) as usual" crowd of "trapos" (traditional politicians), and with God on our side, we see a very good chance of having a friend in the Philippines Congress soon, one who will not be afraid to put real issues on the table for the people to consider.

Herman Tiu Laurel writes that he "has been receiving endless texts in support of the candidacy of Capt. Trillanes and insisting that detained President Estrada and the UNO [United Opposition] should give the courageous and committed young officer a slot in the opposition ticket. I certainly support that call, and I believe Trillanes is an extremely powerful draw for the young voters."

For the benefit of our U.S. readers, Captain Trillanes was the Young Officer who confronted Gloria Macapagal Arroyo in her office following the notorious Oakwood Mutiny. People recognize him with great pride for his honor and commitment to truth. We are informed he is sorely lacking in political acumen but we have to wonder if that is really such a bad thing. With a little maturity, this young man might make an excellent political leader—and we're sure he will if he takes a stand with God for Goodness.

GMA (sorry, we can't bring ourselves to call her "president"), for her part, will no doubt continue to stand with her spiritual leader, who is surely NOT the God of Goodness. As the Daily TRIBUNE's Herman Tiu Laurel writes:

"Election hype may be kicking in but there's no change in the GMA regime's cheating gimmicks: Last-minute dismissals of local officials identified with the political opposition being among the worst of the tactics. Lesser known but no less important is the plunder of government agencies to raise GMA's obscene election war chest ...

"Abalos and the Garci men are still running free in Comelec to wreak havoc, and this early it is obvious that the elections cannot be valid with an estimated eight million over-registration; that is, padding in the voters' list."

Still, according to Mr. Tiu Laurel: "[Opposition] ... victory is assured by the overwhelming anti-GMA popular sentiment."

Indeed, under the GMA regime one word stands out above all others: CORRUPTION. The Daily TRIBUNE reported on the findings of the Heritage Foundation in this regard:

"... [C]orruption is perceived as widespread in the country quoting the Transparency International's Corruption Perceptions Index where the Philippines ranked 117th out of 158 countries.

"The judicial system, which has lost great credibility under Supreme Court Chief Justice Hilario Davide, Jr., also contributed greatly to the poor ranking of the economy.

"Property rights was given a 30 percent ranking under the economic freedom index. The Heritage Foundation noted that the judicial system enforces the law weakly. 'Judges are supposed to be independent, but several are corrupt, having been appointed strictly for political reasons. Organized crime is a strong deterrent to the administration of justice,' it said."

Well, Hilario Davide, Jr.—the man who flipped the Bible pages to make his decision to install GMA as "acting president" (and what an actor she has proven to be)—is now the Philippines Ambassador to the United Nations.

As for "property rights", we're almost apoplectic: ALL of the wealthiest property owners are THIEVES, having STOLEN the land by simply inventing false titles. This wealthy elite now pretty much controls the political process to the point where a legitimate president can no longer be elected—as proven in the case of the very popular FPJ, who WON the last election handily enough but couldn't beat the "weighers of the votes" at the Commission on Elections (Comelec).

In a recent example of how GMA gets her way, the Philippines National Police (PNP) used maximum force to "take down" Neil Tupas, the Governor of Iloilo, DESPITE THE FACT THAT A TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER WAS IN EFFECT. The campaign against local executives opposed to the Arroyo administration was also highlighted by an armed (and UNLAWFUL) standoff with the Mayor of Makati. Is this the "Rule of Law"?

As noted by the Daily TRIBUNE's editor, Ninez Cacho-Olivarez: "That image of her police goons smashing the capitol building's glass door, pushing and kicking the Iloilo governor's supporters and employees and even pointing their assault rifles at their faces is not going to be forgotten by both the Ilongos as well as the rest of the Filipinos when they troop to the polls this May. Recall that the police were booed and heckled by the people throughout."

The simple truth is that Gloria and her goons are NOT going to be in office forever and now that the people have witnessed evil ripened to its fullest, they are much WISER and READY FOR THE SOLUTION GOD HAS PROVIDED.

The Tallano Foundation (The Don Esteban Benitez Tallano and Don Gregorio Madrigal Acop

method with the GAIA Program: With BOT the capital must be paid back to the lending banks; with GAIA there is no capital to be repaid to anyone because the capital was supplied by creating new money based upon the gold purchased with the reserves provided by GAIA. Further, when the project is completed it is an asset of the nation and not a continuing liability. As an asset it balances the creation of the money, even in addition to the addition of the gold to the national reserves, and so cannot be considered "inflationary".

The typical interest cost to a 2-year BOT project will amount to 20-30% and will increase the price by that amount. There is no interest cost with GAIA.

The typical BOT project must assure the builder, who must also furnish the funding, a guaranteed rate of return for a specified number of years, the cost of which must be added on to the fares charged the passengers. That rate is usually 12% (or greater) based upon the finished cost of the project, including the loan costs. Not only that, there is a built-in motivation to increase the cost of operating the railroad to increase the amount of the profit guarantee. All of the motivation is clearly in favor of corruption of local officials and increasing costs, all of which fall upon the citizens (i.e., passengers/taxpayers).

At the bottom line of the GAIA Project, there is no debt left outstanding and there is no interest payable to anyone so the fares charged need be only some one-third of those of a BOT project, just enough to cover operations and reserves for maintenance. There is not even any need for accumulating funds for an extension or another line—those can be funded in the same GAIA way.

To summarize this paper we can say that the GAIA Program has terminated any need of the nation for "foreign exchange" by placing its currency on a gold base wherein it becomes directly acceptable virtually anywhere for any purchase and, by so doing, has reestablished the sovereignty of the nation as well as having put its citizens on the path of individual sovereignty because the nation now has virtually unlimited funds for its own infrastructure and to fund the projects of non-government entities, all of which furnish good-paying jobs and the positive self-esteem that comes with a good income.

In the GAIA "Utopia" the largest benefit comes to the citizens who own the railroad (or any other infrastructure-type project). The National Treasury paid for the railroad and the Treasury is owned by the citizens so the benefit (another word for profit) is going to the users/owners where it belongs. This same result of a near 60% reduction in user cost can be achieved in almost all other similar ventures.

As a final and vital point to this illustration: The cost to the nation was zero and it now owns an additional $10 billion worth of gold which it can use for other worthwhile projects.

No other program on planet earth can deliver such benefits at great cost, let alone for no cost at all.

GAIA stands ready, willing, and able to discuss the mechanics of this proposed program with responsible parties that wish to do so. GAIA can be contacted as follows:

Foundation) continues to advance the cause of the Filipino PEOPLE, whose interests it is to represent.

This week some MAJOR legal action is getting underway and the Foundation will be going straight up to the Supreme Court to obtain a Mandamus over a very straightforward issue. The Foundation's attorney could not suppress a giggle because the Motion for Mandamus merely asks, "What does 'Final and Executory' mean?" In the lower court a major struggle has been taking place with major memoranda exchanged totaling almost 200 pages of "bafflegab"—under the apparent presumption (until the Mandamus is in place) that somehow Final and Executory means "NOT Final and NOT Executory".

By the time this issue is in circulation, Julian Morden Tallano should have been served with a fresh legal action seeking to replace him as the court-appointed administrator of the Tagean-Tallano estate. This might only be "in our opinion"—but—it is certainly hard to imagine any court deciding in favor of JMT, given his complete malfeasance of administration for over thirty years; especially since the Foundation was formed pursuant to the court's order specifically for the purpose of administering the estate and has in all ways acted RESPONSIBLY.

In other Foundation news, it looks like a compromise, joint-venture agreement regarding a certain property could finally be put in place within the next few days and this should result in some immediate "up-front" money, which can then be used to pursue the legal matters even more aggressively. We might even be able to acquire a few thousand more of those Powerpoint presentation disks. THAT'S REAL, MEASURABLE PROGRESS. Hooray!

GLOBAL ALLIANCE (BONUS 3392-181)

It's hard to talk about the situation in the Philippines without including Bonus 3392 in the discussion because the two are intimately related. Mrs. Arroyo, who named herself to the top Defense slot in her cabinet, has just met with U.S. Ambassador Kristie Kenney along with a sizable contingent of U.S. military to discuss Philippine Defense Reform. (Ambassador Kenney is one of TWO "former" NSA personnel working out of the U.S. Embassy here. This is noteworthy because the "former" head of the NSA, "Mike" McConnell is now the Director Central Intelligence.) As reported in the Philippine Star, Ambassador Kenney summed things up like this:

"We our [sic: are] very pleased and proud to continue to be a partner of the Philippine military. Our Balikatan exercises will go on. It's gonna have a very special focus and that is on the humanitarian side," Kenney said.

The Balikatan exercises probably have more to do with the shipment of GOLD than anything else but U.S.-RP cooperation in the "War on Terra" also allows Mrs. Arroyo the contrived excuse to "legally" clamp down on freedoms. It's not hard to imagine a scenario where the military and police would have to oversee the elections, for instance, to make sure none of those poor "terrorists" influence the outcome.

Almost a week ago, however, Mrs. Arroyo was busy dealing with CHINA's Premier Wen Jiabao, as twelve separate agreements were put in place by ranking officials of both countries.

It should be mentioned at this point that the PRESIDENTIAL SEAL of the Philippines consists of a RED triangle overlaid on the face of the SUN. Inside the red triangle (which is very reminiscent of the seal of British MI-5) is what appears to be a SEA SERPENT. Three stars inside the triangle add to the three stars outside of it to make SIX stars in total. It certainly appears the little lady has a Chinese tiger by the tail. By the way, readers, much of the wealth of the Philippines is held and managed by the Chinese Taipans, such as Lucio Tan.

At this point we should note that President Hu Jintao is reported to be planning a tour of Africa, including SUDAN and SOUTH AFRICA.

No, we are not adversely predisposed against the Chinese, who still may, after all, hold the "mandate of Heaven". They are certainly well positioned in the Philippines, wherein sits the gold necessary to rebalance the World's financial system through the use of, you guessed it, BONUS 3392-181. As of the end of 2006, China now holds over $1 TRILLION in U.S. "reserves". These are mostly in the form of DOLLARS, every one of which is backed by the enslavement of the U.S. "citizens" created by the Fourteenth Amendment and brought about by the totally absurd BANKRUPTCY of the United States in 1933.

WE STRUNG THE THIRTEENTH AMENDMENT UP ON THE FLAGPOLE but it looks like NOBODY WANTS GOD'S SOLUTION. OH, WELL?

By now pretty much everyone knows that Bonus 3392 is REAL—but it looks like we still have to wait through the sorting of players trying to gain control of it for THEMSELVES instead of acknowledging that it is part of GOD'S PLAN FOR THE NEW MILLENNIUM.

Having failed to entice Leo Wanta to "come in from the cold", "VK Durham" (almost certainly NOT Big Red's real name and yes, she certainly appears to be aligned with the RED SHIELDS) is in a complete tizzy. It looks like the Red Shields want to VOID Global Alliance's AGREEMENTS (CONTRACTS) on the basis of "Un-American Activities". The CERTIFICATE OF DEBT SHALL, HOWEVER, STAND.

While describing Saddam Hussein in glowingly chivalrous terms, Big Red goes on with the following inane commentary: "The Shah of Iran's 'son' is very much alive..and very well.. He has many followers.. It is very possible one of his followers is RAFANJANI..and COMMANDER HATONN aka GAIA-EKKER'S.. [Did I say "inane"? Must have been a typo because this is INSANE idiocy.]

"The IRANIAN Banks have accessed the Banking Track's..and left the Greek RoundHouse when certain U.S. Treasury Secretary Robert Rubin and Lawrence Summers back in 1997-98 (Clinton Administration) entered into the agreement with the Council on Foreign Relations to do a '50%-50% Split on all monies taken down Off-Shore.'"

That didn't make any sense to you? Try this one:

"All things being equally considered, the attempts to bankrupt the United States with 'bogus' U.S. Debt Instruments by this 'Shah of Iran' group playing MONEY GAMES down in the Philippines with the AbuSayeff, Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF), Al Qaeda, and even the Taliban.. encouraging HATE the United States of Israel.. to keep the pitched fever going 'Bankrupt the Evil United States of Israel'..games of GAIA-EKKER'S.. deeply involved in MONEY LAUNDERING which reaches the inner-sanctum of the White House ..."

If you still don't get it, don't worry—you're not alone. She says Saddam Hussein referred to her as 'Lady Durham'? Do you suppose this insanity can be traced back to simple in-breeding? Our FIRST reaction to the reference to 'Lady Durham' was more along the lines of: "That was no lady ..." and that was never Russell Herman's wife, either.

Meanwhile, the Wanta Group claims to have Henry Paulson and Dick Cheney "on the run" and "beans" (or were those cans of worms?) are being spilled ALL OVER THE PLACE. All the Spy vs. Spy stuff is really quite ENTERTAINING but will have to be brought to a close very soon now for the sake of the PEOPLE of the World.

Let's give Karl Schwarz credit for the following: "If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem. And when it comes down to just you and me, if you are not part of the solution you are the problem."

Final notes on this subject and plenty for you to think about:

The Financial Times reports that "The euro has displaced the U.S. dollar as the world's pre-eminent currency in international bond markets, having outstripped the dollar-denominated market for the second year in a row."

The nations of Venezuela and Ecuador are moving to end the independence of their respective central banks.

You're going to find a whole BUNCH of "money" hidden in the Comprehensive Annual Financial Reports (CAFRs) of the various government agencies in the United States—virtually everything ever hidden by the dark brotherhoods which conspired to bring about the current, sorry state of affairs. Go ahead and check your state statutes regarding special treatment of "fraternal organizations". We give great honors to Walter J. Burien for continuing to "shine the light".

In summary, the Federal Reserve System is now being recognized as BANKRUPT. Global Alliance continues to offer THE solution to this very great problem and the sharper players are preparing to work with the Global Alliance Program. Sorry about that, "Big Red".

SPACE WARS

In the January 10 issue we showed the apparent take-down of what was said to be a Russian booster rocket on January 4. It was NOT as portrayed: the Russian booster rocket came down on December 27, the same day it was launched, as usual, and over an uninhabited part of the Earth, as planned. The three frames showed two lights moving in the OPPOSITE direction from the debris field—so perhaps the Russians were involved, in another way.

Just one week after the January 4 brilliant display that lit up the skies over at least five west-central states, reports from numerous sources say the Chinese demonstrated anti-SAT capability by taking down, it was reported, one of their own aging satellites on January 11. The Chinese satellite, it was said, had a CIRCUM-POLAR orbit. Once again, however, things do not add up.

Russian Defense Minister Sergei Ivanov denied the largely Western-media reports. As RIA Novosti reported on January 19, Mr. Ivanov said: "I have heard such rather unsubstantiated reports, and I am afraid they are unfounded ... the rumors are largely exaggerated." In another report, from MosNews, the Defense Minister called such reports "abstract", which is interesting.

On January 12, Reuters reported: "U.S. officials are unable to communicate with an expensive ['hundreds of millions of dollars'] experimental U.S. spy satellite launched last year by the U.S. National Reconnaissance Office (NRO)", according to "a defense official and another source familiar with the matter". The satellite, according to Reuters, was in an unusually low orbit of just 220 miles and had not made any move to change its orbital position.

Let's just note right here that SIR Edmund Hillary of Mt. Everest fame, who also helped to establish the Scott Base in Antarctica two years after conquering Everest—“just happens” to be in Antarctica for a “visit” right now. There always seems to be a connection to Antarctica every time we get into the subject of Space Wars, and that probably has a lot to do with the Nazi base at the South Pole.

Putting it all together as well as we can from a terrestrial perspective: There is no doubt that some kind of very special NRO satellite stopped working on January 11, the very day of China’s alleged anti-sat test to take out its own circum-polar satellite—but according to Mr. Lavrov, the story of China taking out one of its own satellites on that day are “unsubstantiated”, “unfounded”, “highly exaggerated” and “abstract”. The bottom line: Russia probably had some involvement in BOTH the spectacular January 4 “fire in the sky” incident over the United States and the January 11 NRO satellite’s demise. The ‘hundreds of millions of dollars’ cost of the NRO satellite suggests that it was, in fact, some kind of WEAPONS system which was destroyed.

Mr. Lavrov speaks of the Cold War era as “paradise” compared to the current distribution of threats. Certainly, in those days the threats were more easily defined. RIA Novosti reports Russian General Gareyev describing a new military doctrine for Russia, which “... will be based on the concept of active defense”. From our perspective, the Russians have done a masterful job of preventing the Armageddon script from being run as intended by the Zionists, and for that we are very thankful.

SIGHTINGS

The ever-increasing waves of Cosmic energy which have been washing over our local region of Space have been “thinning the veil” substantially in recent years and the number of sightings of extraterrestrial (and extra-“dimensional”) craft have definitely been on the rise. Sightings in Canada have been reported up by over 40% in the last year alone.

In the night sky, the “twinklers” are strobing their colors ever more brilliantly and they appear to be drawing quite close now. Even in the daytime it is not unusual to see small, elliptical clouds which “come and go” to hint at the presence of the higher-dimensional craft. PLEASE TAKE TIME TO EXPRESS YOUR GRATITUDE TO OUR LONG-WAITING BROTHERS FROM THE COSMOS.

Looking back through sightings reports, CHINA has been the focus of numerous sightings over the last seven years. Thanks to CliffR.com, we are pleased to present the amazing frames of video shown on this page.

NOTE THE DATE: AUGUST 17, 2006—the first day of YEAR 20! And you only “hoped” it would be a Happy New Year!? Indeed, it certainly should be!

Take note that these three frames are all taken within the SAME SECOND, as was a fourth frame (with the craft GONE) which we are not showing here. The whole “disappearing act”—from no lights to lights on, to vanishing—occurred in under one second!

For those with Internet access, the entire video can be downloaded from Google Video using “docid” of “2458967493428649738”—or just search for “China UFO”. The entire clip is only 18 seconds in duration.

WRAPPING UP

In an article written for the New York Times today, Jim Rutenberg uses the phrase “pragmatism at gunpoint” and we have to wonder from that and many other indications if the fed-up military and intelligence personnel are actually starting to make a difference. The United States ceased to be a Constitutional Republic way back in 1933, though many people are just becoming aware of that fact now, having lived their entire lives in the Lie. Can people handle a little bit of Truth for a change?

The single greatest objection we get to God’s Plan, it seems, is that “it’s too good to be true.” REALLY? GET READY FOR THE SHOCK OF YOUR LIFETIMES, FOR THE EAGLES ARE GATHERING!

GCH COMMENT

RE: GOLD AND OTHER INTERESTING THINGS

Hatonn—We, myself included, have met with the author of the book from which we offer this series of writings. We are totally comfortable with one another and this author has only one primary interest in his work: TO GET BACK THE FUNDS IN POINT FOR THE PHILIPPINE PEOPLE.

I suggest we start running the series in CONTACT, with a nice editorial by Ron or Mark or both. We will try to coincide our large mailing with the most explosive parts of the series (in timing). The author has not placed restrictions on our use of the material or on protection if put to press in the U.S.—however, his more recent work is uncovering players right up through the Ramos Presidency and this is terribly dangerous for him, so there really needs to be protection. That means putting to press in the U.S. AND probably sheltering his identity.

We have not pried nor discussed it but this author did, in fact, meet Dr. Coleman in Los Angeles in about 1991, so he is quite ready, willing and able to work with or through or however it might be best to get the information published. I AM THE ONE INSISTING ON PRIVACY THROUGH LIMITED PRESENTATION AND PROTECTION OF WRITERS AND INVESTIGATORS.

I will give you some realization so that you can again become cautious, rather than just thinking we are hyping or sensationalizing. Lives of people and NATIONS are at stake here.

Example as to “hitting home”: Our people were in meetings yesterday with some very successful parties who now have gotten full funding lined up OFF-SHORE. The funds have been blocked and are ready to use and transfer. But when the transfer got under way, the action was STOPPED! IT WAS STOPPED BY DIRECT INTERVENTION OF THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND, WHICH SET NEW REGULATIONS ON MONEY FOR PROJECTS COMING INTO THE PHILIPPINES. THEY NOW HAVE ESTABLISHED A CEILING PREVENTING THE BRINGING “IN” OF MORE THAN $10 MILLION “PER QUARTER” INTO THE PHILIPPINES.

IN ADDITION, HERE IS SOMETHING TO NOTE: THE HEAD OF THE WORLD BANK, WOLFENSON, IS IN THE PHILIPPINES “JUST TO HELP MR. ESTRADA COME TO TERMS WITH CORRUPTION, ETC., ETC., ETC.”

Now we are told from very reliable sources that Mr. Fujimoro, the top person in PERU, is in trouble with his homeland, JAPAN, with an effort to oust him “because of the handling of the Certificate/Contract 3392-181”. Anyone still want to argue over the authenticity? The word is no longer “it’s not real”, it is “containment” under consideration.

Well, we will just work through it and if they insist on a scattering of funds, fine, a scattering is ever so much more useful because a portion to get started on projects is sufficient to the people involved. The “interrupted” funds are coming out of HONG KONG—you know, that place called CHINA! Ah, but it is going to be some ones of “WE-THE-PEOPLE” in the Philippines who intend ONLY to build as in their project proposed.

This is really a tight squeeze on poor Mr. Estrada—who, by the way, will be getting a full “fill-in” from our new acquaintance, who has already delivered, personally, the information. It would appear that if Mr. Estrada fails to take full action and clean up this mess over here, he likely will not be President past mid-summer, if that long.

What do you have here? The full-out effort of the Elite Zionist Bolsheviks to have their Plan 2000 operational by or before the end of year 2000.

GOD HAS PROVIDED YOU WITH A BIGGER PLAN 2000—BUT YOU HAVE TO DO IT, CHELAS. NO LONGER WILL GOD OR HIS MESSENGERS DO IT “FOR” YOU.

So, where do people like Granny fit into this picture? Guess!! You have to remember that Granny’s claim is to have been in the Secret Service, and it is claimed this is how she came to know Russell Herman, among others, i.e. Jackson, et al.

Now for the harder part to be accepted by my team: There never was a problem with Granny “owning” the whole of the certificate/contract value (or, for that matter, even control of it temporarily), and you can KNOW that because there was no effort to TAKE IT FROM HER OR RELIEVE HER OF IT. THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT DID NOT OFFER TO BUY THE CONTRACT FROM GRANNY—THEY TRIED TO GET IT FROM THE ONES HERMAN LEFT IN CHARGE OF IT, MY PEOPLE. The Bush boys did not offer, through their representatives, the hush money to turn over the contract and just “go away”. The Big Boys DID offer to get buyers for the “artifacts” and “art collectibles” but Granny would never even let the “buyers” see the collection. And, people, we are not talking a pittance—we are talking MILLIONS of those green things.

Moreover, we have no reason to “not deal” with anyone, for our portion simply protects the whole of the sums for projects, so that the transaction is not based on “hot air” but on value established through the market of gold holdings. Even that stays in the control of the nation or funding bank. We are not getting “payoffs”; we are acting fully within the good and transparent business system and will BORROW our own funds from the collateral assets being held. We insist it be done this way, so that whatever project is under way, should it get into financial trouble, it will not be forfeited but, rather, only the gold collateral—the project is protected. Every transaction is based totally on the price “fix”, probably the London Afternoon Fix of the daily accounting. We are only interested in the gold as the collateral asset it IS. When that value doubles, then we will renew and everyone will be paid totally on an equitable/honest value base—AND the holdings can be held as reserves IN THE COUNTRY AND WITHIN THE BANK. Our own portion of any transaction will go directly to securing our own position—transparently—in a holding bank where we, too, can borrow against the value for projects, with major emphasis directly to the Native Population of ANYWHERE, PLANET EARTH and THE PEOPLE, PLANET EARTH. This represents only a tiny portion of the asset and, frankly, can only enhance all concerned, even the political “gangs” who have thieved the very lives from OUR people.

Now, Dharma, please let us get the rest of this manuscript to disk, for I do have other things pending, i.e., such as why Rick Martin-Cortright got into such hot water with some very, very powerful players and remains so today, along with Charles Neil, who CHOSE TO JOIN RICKY! Rick first stumbled when he wouldn’t keep his mouth shut and spilled everything to Gail who, in turn, spilled everything to anyone around. Rick was so impressed that he told of players—over the tapped lines—and as we reveal the ongoing events of that very nation in point, he will be able to see his predicament, for—through botching of the ongoing negotiations—it is costing Brunei its independence and will probably end up causing the brother of the Sultan to end up in prison. This AFTER full ability and for acceptable recovery of the “wasted” funds which turned out, fully enough, to BE OIL FUNDS, thus totally irritating the international oil cartel out of Great Britain and the U.S. teams of thieves.

First, however, we need to finish the computer work, please.

CHAPTER 35

THE MISUNDERSTOOD GOCO

To head the Office of the Solicitor General (OSG), the legal defender of the Philippine Government, is not an easy task. Whoever does so always becomes a very much misunderstood person. Consider it part of the hazards of the trade. And Raul Ilustre Goco was no exception to this general rule. “Endowed with a broad perspective that spans the legal interest of virtually the entire Government officialdom, the OSG may be expected to transcend the parochial concerns of a particular client agency and, instead, promote and protect the public weal,” said Goco, in a speech delivered to the officers and members of the Rotary Club of Manila on September 14, 1995. “Given such objectivity, it can discern, metaphorically speaking, the panoply that is the forest and not just the individual trees. Not merely will it strive for a legal victory circumscribed by the narrow interest of the client or official, but the vast concerns of the sovereign which it is committed to serve,” Goco added.

After the February 1986 Revolt, there was talk that the Marcoses and their cronies had deposited millions of dollars in Swiss banks. There was nothing the Cory Government could do about the matter, however, since there was no evidence to support the claim that money had, indeed, been deposited. Then Solicitor General Sedfrey Ordonez decided to seek assistance from the Swiss authorities by way of a Petition for Legal Assistance dated 7 April, 1986, filed by the Philippine Embassy in Berne.

In Switzerland, there exists a governing law dealing with International Criminal Assistance and its implementing decrees. It refers to the assistance and cooperation given by the Swiss authorities to countries seeking help on criminal matters, including the recovery of plundered wealth deposited in their banks. Despite the absence of a formal agreement with the Swiss Confederation for Judicial Assistance on Criminal matters, the Swiss Government graciously extended the Philippines a helping hand. “They were obviously impressed with our sensational bloodless revolution,” Goco explained.

The Swiss authorities allowed the Filipinos to identify the accounts and get hold of pertinent bank documents—an unusual move, considering the secrecy and confidentiality of Swiss bank records. After identifying some bank accounts belonging to the Marcoses, the Swiss authorities, at the request of the Solicitor General, then issued a freeze order on the accounts. One of these would be the REFAL 196 account of former President Ferdinand Marcos, which he used to secretly negotiate the release and departure of General Fabian C. Ver, and Imee and Bongbong Marcos from the United States.

The REFAL 196 Ltd. consisted of several promissory notes duly executed by the late strongman and coinciding with the snap elections in 1986. According to Mrs. Imelda Marcos, the actual guarantee for these notes originated from the trust investments of the late President, supposedly intended for the war veterans. When the Marcos family was relocated to Hawaii, the late strongman was endlessly haunted by heightened fears that all his wealth and earthly possessions would not be passed on to the Filipino people, as he had earlier desired, particularly since several of his trustees and nominees had all slowly shied away from him, with several more later cooperating with the Cory Administration by sharing the wealth "in trust".

Greggy Araneta, the strategist son-in-law of the Marcos couple, soon sent his friend, JS333, to Makiki in Hawaii. JS333 practically turned night into day with the late strongman being briefed accordingly and constantly entangled in brainstorming with Mr. Marcos on particularly pressing matters pertaining to effective ways to substitute and rename all his trustees and nominees.

The REFAL 196 was part of the bargain that allowed and facilitated the covert departure of General Fabian C. Ver, Congresswoman Imee Marcos and Ilocos Norte Governor Bongbong Marcos from the U.S.A. General Ver flew to Brunei, making it his sanctuary, while Bongbong sought respite in London.

Naturally, the nominees of these accounts questioned such an imposition. The controversy eventually reached the Swiss Federal Court, which in turn required the Philippine Government to file the corresponding legal action in our courts "to prove that the money is ill-gotten wealth and to justify the freeze order", within a period of one year from December 1990, when the Swiss ruling came out.

The Swiss Federal Court further ordained that "the money shall remain frozen and can only be remitted upon final judgment of conviction of the Marcoses." To quote the exact words: "The transmission to the requesting State of the assets is in principle granted. It is, however, deferred until an executory decision of the Sandiganbayan or another Philippine court legally competent in criminal matters concerning restitution to those entitled."

Francisco Chavez, then head of the OSG, assisted by Cesario del Rosario, complied with the filing of the case within the prescribed period. Mrs. Imelda R. Marcos was convicted but has appealed her case to the Supreme Court.

"When we assumed office in 1992 and knowing the condition imposed by the Swiss Court on the transfer or remittance of the money, we tried to negotiate with Mrs. Marcos and the heirs on the feasibility of transferring the money to the Philippines to be placed in the custody of the proper Philippine Court, to await the final outcome of the proceedings," Goco explained, "but the said negotiation failed because of certain unacceptable conditions imposed by the Marcoses."

According to Goco, the negotiation was purely to transfer custody—not to distribute, partition or divide the money. This having failed, Goco then worked on a plan to transfer the sites of the deposits, without the consent of the Marcoses, and to convince the Swiss authorities of the reasonableness and propriety of such transfer. In other words, the plan was to effect the immediate transfer of the money to the Philippines without having to await the final judgment against the Marcoses as required by the Swiss tribunal.

Later, the Ramos Administration, through PCGG Chairman Magtanggol Gunigundo, succeeded in transferring the $540 million in escrow to the Philippine National Bank, while awaiting final judgment. In the meantime, there is also the Probate Case on the will of the late President. Should the Sandiganbayan declare that the assets were legally acquired by the Marcoses, they will become part of the estate and claims can be filed against the same. On the other hand, should said assets be established as ill-gotten, then the law will earmark the beneficiary of said money, which will be the Comprehensive Agrarian Reform Program (CARP).

What about the claim of the alleged human-rights victims against the Marcoses?

"The Philippine Government was never a party to this suit. The ruling, therefore, does not bind us," explained Goco. "Neither is the Swiss Government bound by this ruling because a U.S. court has no jurisdiction outside the territorial boundaries of the United States. But we have opined that if such claim is supported by a final judgment, then it may be enforced in the Philippines in the same manner as any foreign judgment may be enforced under our laws," said Goco.

On the REFAL case, "the same is based on promissory notes allegedly issued or drawn by the President totaling $650 million," stated Goco. "REFAL became an endorsee, the payee being one, De Paula Freers. Upon failure of the maker, President Marcos, to honor the instruments, a suit was filed in a London Court. Marcos was declared in default and judgment was rendered which became final. There was an attempt to execute the judgment in Switzerland to satisfy the same against the Marcos Swiss accounts. We succeeded in blocking its enforcement despite a Lugano Convention which allows enforcement of a judgment in the court of another country. The District Attorney's Office in Zurich did not allow the execution of said judgment because the Philippine claim is based on a criminal action and, therefore, has preference," declared Goco.

Contrary to statements issued by Goco's detractors, the former Solicitor General (who was subsequently appointed as Philippine Envoy to Canada) won many cases for the Philippine Government, the toughest of which was against De Paula Freers, who reportedly fronts for the powerful Trilateral Commission.

CHAPTER 36

THE NEED FOR A GOLD COMMISSION

Former Manila Standard columnist Corito Fiel once told a very interesting story which, in my opinion, every Filipino interested in the recovery of the Marcos fortune should know:

"Wars make men out of boys, also heroes and mad men. And dandies too like Gen. George Armstrong Custer, who made his tragic last stand against Sitting Bull. The Indian-fighter was also known for his flair, cutting a dashing figure in the battlefield in blue velvet and, I believe, a leather plumed hat.

"And gold, too, does count in war.

"With the Japanese getting hold of all available gravel in the Philippines, the crew of the U.S. submarine Trout was in a fix. What to get for ballast? Then some suggested: GOLD.

"The Philippine Government and private mining companies were anxious to move their assets for safekeeping, and after some hasty negotiations, the crew of the Trout began loading the hold with 583 gold bars, valued at $9 million. For additional weight, 18 tons of silver pesos worth over $300,000 were brought on board, as well as crates and trunks filled with negotiable securities.

"With its precious weight in gold and silver, the Trout fought its way through the Pacific and safely delivered every glittering brick to authorities in San Francisco. It's now some 40 odd years after WW II, but what happened to all that gold?"

Judging from this past experience, will we ever recover the Marcos Gold Hoard?

In August 1991, David Castro, then already exasperated Chairman of the Presidential Commission on Good Government (PCGG), admitted that the Philippine Government could never recover the 320 tons of gold which the late President Marcos shipped to Switzerland through legal processes, and should negotiate a settlement for a share with the Marcos family. The controversial $25 billion fortune is currently held by the Union Bank of Switzerland in Zurich, under account number 72570367-D.

But Alvin Capino, then of the Daily Globe, criticized Castro's surprisingly defeatist attitude, branding it a mere preparation for more "commission deals". The fiery writer earlier stated: "The PCGG is once again living up to that cynical observation that the term 'commission' is the main operative word in the Presidential Commission on Good Government... PCGG Chairman disclosed over the weekend that an agreement has been entered into with a European 'intelligence group' which will provide 10 percent commission to the group for whatever Marcos gold, believed to be hidden in Switzerland, is recovered by the Philippine Government."

However, the late Dean Antonio Coronel, then lawyer of former First Lady Imelda R. Marcos, told a press conference in New York that Castro's mention of intelligence groups was "pure baloney", since all the information supposedly provided by them had already been made public during the New York RICO criminal trial of Madame Marcos (where she was acquitted). Thus, Capino wrote that "the implication of Coronel's statement is that the PCGG is giving away $2.5 billion in commission to the unnamed intelligence group unnecessarily." Capino then added, "Are there Filipino 'commissioners' in that group? Who are the PCGG officials coordinating this operation? Is this another operation of Kamag-anak Inc.?"

"There's more to Swiss than cheese," assured Hilarion "Larry" Henares of the Inquirer, who now writes for Isyu, once referring to the Swiss as "black pirates whose flag should be the skull and bones". And this was where all the trouble lay—the international bankers. Henares, once the chief economic adviser of President Macapagal, has long known exactly how the Swiss bankers operate. "The Swiss bankers are gnomes forever counting their dirty lucre in the nether regions, the most constipated assholes in the world, worse than American carpetbaggers [Khazar Jews], Japanese zaibatsu and German junkers, and their banks are black holes into which stolen wealth is drawn and disappears forever," wrote Henares.

There are, of course, numbered accounts in the Alpine State. But not all of the Marcos fortune is stored in numbered accounts. "There is in Switzerland what is known as Kloten, a bonded warehouse with vaults leased to banks," Henares explained. "Often, shipments of gold are stored there, outside of the customs zone, like a free port or free-trade zone, so that it can be moved in and out of the country without difficulty. This gold is not reflected in the bank's statements, but in a special account called 'managed assets', which is sometimes higher in value than the bank's entire net worth." Henares believes that the Marcos fortune has been camouflaged in these "warehouses".

Henares also confirms the existence of two groups of Marcos trustees in so-called "warehouses", code-named CIA (composed of American trustees), and Mafia (made up of Swiss trustees). So, Henares asked, "How do we keep the gold out of the grasping hands and cotton-picking fingers of crooked technocrats?" Good question.

There are lots of unverified stories about the Marcos Gold Haul. But what has been very strange is, "With all the publicity about the accomplishments of the Presidential Commission on good Government, no actual accounting has been made with regard to the amount of recovered gold or gold certificates up to now," observed Julie Amargo. So far, only President Ramos' appointee, Magtanggol Gunigundo, has done a yeoman's job of recording each and every transaction known to him.

Sometime in 1990, the Philippine Daily Inquirer ecstatically announced that an arrangement had been struck between the Aquino Administration and Madame Marcos, and that the two parties had agreed to share, on a 60-40 basis, the late President's deposits in five Hong Kong banks. To "put the icing on the cake", PCGG's David Castro went as far as telling reporters that a representative had, in fact, been appointed by the Commission to withdraw the deposits.

Castro refused to reveal how much money was deposited by the strongman in Hong Kong. But an Inquirer source disclosed that the deposits amounted to $687 million.

Nothing concrete ever came of the supposed deal, prodding Emil Jurado to reiterate that "A compromise is the only way in which the Government can get hold of a portion of the Marcos wealth. The past Administration never even explored this alternative, since it never came close to reconciling with the Marcoses." I strongly agree.

When Jurado asked Imelda what she intended to do with the "warehoused" gold in London and Zurich, she readily replied that she would share it with the Filipino people.

The response has been most encouraging. Perhaps it is time for government to consider setting up a Gold Commission to be chaired by no less than Mrs. Imelda Marcos assisted by the likes of legal counsels, Ex-Assemblyman Antonio Tupaz, Attorney Oliver Lozano and Justice Manuel Lazaro. We can then allow General Fabian Ver to come home—since he is the only person who can possibly declassify the members of Marcos' "Umbrella Foundation". Only then can we ascertain if there is an iota of truth to this fabulous fortune, or if it is merely a sting operation.

Our leaders should know how to deal with the other country claimants and the banking mafia (big bankers who keep the fabled war loot). We don't have to fight them; we just need to get what's due us and rightfully ours. This will be the big challenge to the Estrada Administration. Former President Fidel Ramos started it and it has led us to our exit from the International Monetary Fund in March 1998. If President Joseph Estrada does it right, coupled with his undoubtedly close relationship with the Marcoses, the Estrada Government is bound to achieve more. Let's just get our act together.

And may the good Lord guide our leaders toward this end.

[END OF QUOTING, END OF TEXT]

I do not wish to preview that which WILL come, so I choose to end this writing where the author ended his manuscript/book. We will attend getting the proper Exhibit copies as might be interesting to run in the paper, but our intent is not to give you the entire contents of the book itself because the book will be made available for public acquisition.

I do suggest that B.T. begin to compile this appropriately into order, with my comments, and get it prepared for publication with indexing, etc. The original has no index, so this should be handled as in any other publication through our assistance. There is no "rush" about this but as soon as funds are available we will expedite the process.

E.J., we must attend the fact that with the MAJOR interference with our business transactions THEY HAVE NEGATED THE CONTRACT AS PRESENTED IN THE PUBLIC NOTICE. WITH ACTUAL STOPPAGE OF FUNDS TRANSFER TO THE RIGHTFUL NATION WHERE THE

CITIZENS ARE STOPPED FROM CONTINUATION WITH THEIR PROJECTS, IT IS AN INTENTIONAL BREAKING OF OUR CONTRACT. EITHER THE BLOCKAGE WILL BE REMOVED IMMEDIATELY OR THE CONSEQUENCES OF VIOLATION OF CONTRACT WILL BE ESTABLISHED. We will probably need to run a PUBLIC NOTICE to cover the incident as that is "THEIR" (CIA, FEDS, RED, WB, IMF) demanded mode of public communication to protect their own backsides, for WE HAVE NOTHING TO HIDE AND WOULD ACTUALLY WELCOME FULL DISCLOSURE.

Thank you,

Greatest Secret of the Universe: When Ego Becomes One with God

1/21/00—#2

IT'S TIME FOR A BIT ON "GOD"

Hatonn—"God" is a term, a name, a recognition, an identification, an energy, and there are as many terms for "God" as there are different races, creeds, colors and people.

We need, however, to use A TERM which, when WE USE IT, has specific and EXPLICIT "reference as to meaning". In this we have to establish a "concept" that we might well call the "REALNESS" of God.

To accomplish this, I can pull from the many things written and hopefully choose something that needs no debate or argument but expresses OUR MEANING WHEN WE USE THE TERM, and then others reading our material can adjust their perceptions and concepts to what we express, as to focus on "their similarity of meaning and reference".

PERCEPTION (AND REALNESS) OF GOD

GOD IS!

God is the Presence, the One Power, the One Force and Source of all. There are no competitors to God, no reality existent outside of God. God is omnipotent (all-powerful), omniscient (all knowing) and omnipresent (present everywhere). There is no place where God is not, simply because nothing exists without God.

God is neither a man nor a woman nor a thing.

God is no one's father or mother or benefactor. These terms are used only to help us understand relationships—ours to God—not to establish a more human type of parentage. We use such terms as a matter of convenience or because it is comforting to do so. We call ourselves Children of God because we do not know what else to call ourselves and it seems as good a term as any to use. We are made in the image of God, not in the sense of physical appearance but with respect to the power of our souls and the potential of our minds. God is CREATOR; we are CO-CREATORS. It would be more appropriate, and more in line with Truth, if we called ourselves Extensions of God or, perhaps, Thoughts in The Mind of God. It would even be appropriate to use another name for God, like The Force, The One, The All, The Isness, The One Mind, The Source—or WHATEVER conveys that sense of deity that is without limitation or boundary, beyond what can be comprehended.

While God is more than any name, protocol, hierarchy, concept or grandiosity could describe or define, God truly is as near as our next breath—as close as our next thought. In this perception you CANNOT separate dimensional energy forms from whatever experiencing soul might perceive. We are each and all a part of God and existent WITHIN God.

A belief in separation—that we could possibly exist and have our being apart from God—IS THE ONLY REAL SIN (error). THIS BELIEF IS OF OUR OWN MAKING. GOD HAS NOT DECREED SEPARATION; THIS WE DID OURSELVES BY OUR OWN PERCEPTION THAT SOMEHOW, SOME WAY, WE COULD TRANSCEND THAT WHICH CANNOT BE TRANSCENDED.

God is not a member of ANY CHURCH OR RELIGION. It is the churches and the religions that are members within the vastness and the glory that is God. There is no ONE religion, just as there is no "chosen" people or person, nor any single way of regarding what cannot be fully comprehended. We are all "Sons" of God in the sense that we are all souls of God's creation, without gender, without form, without nationality, complete and whole and perfect as we explore the never-endingness of God's wonderment. A spark from the essence of connection, that thread or cord that ensures we remain a part of that which we could NEVER leave.

The wondrous splendor and joy of recognizing and acknowledging our specialness, uniqueness and greatness—as creations of God and as co-creators WITH God—is akin to being engulfed by overwhelming floodtides of God's GLORIOUS LOVE.

A BIGGER PICTURE

There is no sense of "crime and punishment" in God's LIGHT, only the clear, complete and total KNOWING that you are loved absolutely, fully and without measuring up to "conditions". This is TRUE in the NOW and FOREVER.

In and within this REALIZATION you can KNOW that there is no wisdom, no insight, no plan that can succeed AGAINST GOD, even if there appears to be.

Truth in this Light, God's Light, is so powerful and so piercing that there is no way you could lie, exaggerate, avoid or deny what you have done with God's gift to you, the gift of an embodied life in the earthplane replete with abundant opportunities to learn, develop and grow—to be the best that you can be. This gift, the earthlife God gives, comes with a catch (a "condition"): We are to give the gift BACK unto God.

We cannot keep the life we have on the earthplane, not our possessions or attachments or relationships. What we CAN keep are our memories and our feelings of what we have integrated into our heart of hearts from the experience of being here, plus the love we shared with others. This that we can keep enriches God's experience of us as well as enriching our experience of ourselves and one another. How joyful this is depends on what we did about WHO WE ARE.

Each gain or loss anyone makes affects everyone else to some degree. That's because we are connected, somehow, as sparks from THE MIND OF GOD. Everything created either has a soul (independent power mass) or is capable of being ensouled (from out of the group power mass). Because human forms contain larger portions of soul mass than many other types of forms, they represent opportunities of greater diversity, challenge and involvement. Yet, even animals, minerals, plants and planets enfold degrees of ensoulment replete with intelligence, feeling and volition. Density of structure or shape may seem to deny this, but the creative fire is ever-present, nonetheless.

ALL souls are holy in God's Light, and ALL souls are loved.

And ALL SOULS HAVE A PURPOSE FOR THEIR INDIVIDUAL EXISTENCE AND A REASON FOR BEING WHO OR WHAT THEY ARE. Whatever form a soul empowers "fits" in Creation's story, for each soul has a job to do, a position to fill in the greater scheme of things.

All souls evolve. Nothing stays as it is because nothing is static, regardless of how "otherwise" conditions may appear to be.

EVOLUTION IS NOT RESTRICTED TO LINEAR PROGRESSION. It only seems so. In FACT, it cannot, in REALITY, be in linear progression.

Thus, the drama of Creation's story is unbounded—neither limited by your perception of it, nor by your ability or lack of ability to comprehend it. This drama is as stupendous as it is terrifying to some who come into realization of this truth, as awesome as it is wonderful, as miraculous as it is mysterious and as beautiful as it is the ultimate act of all-consuming love. To witness even a glimpse of such glory, to know THE REAL TRUTH of it, leaves a mark so deep and so profound that you are forever uplifted and TRANSFORMED. Moreover, once experienced in this "knowing", you CAN'T ever again "be without knowing".

You return from this realization experience KNOWING that you affect every other being because you can then understand that you are ALL part of one another, and you affect ALL parts of Creation because all parts of Creation interweave and interrelate with all other parts. Any sense of aloneness or separation dissolves in THE LIGHT OF SUCH KNOWING. If someone on a human level of limited perception demands of the insightful experiencer a backtracking or movement back into the limitation, even in attachments, it simply can't work out—for once in KNOWING and "IN PURPOSE", there is no ability to move backward. And no, mixed relationships (in that one spouse, etc., is within the realization and one is still demanding ego-gratification in the "human" expression) cannot continue in the limitation or demand, and will, understandably, cease to be. In this circumstance, there must be a "release", so that expression can grow or remain limited as demanded by the individual soul in progression. A person, for instance, who insists that a spouse go "honky tonkin" or revert to a need of loud noise with programming beats built into the very racket itself, or demand human interchange for the physical expression of it, will surely lose the battle—for flesh is "ego" and recognition of spiritual soul being is quite another thing. In the growing process you CAN have exceptionally close and productive relationships, but the unique soul will always CHOOSE the higher position of realization. A physical encounter no longer has the ego-necessity of accepted "norms" in the societal structure of gender, culture or "simply acting out" in a physical demand.

In the realization of REALITY, it is early on noted that the physical "promises" of those things of total physical sensing are but detriments to soul growth, for they are PART AND PARCEL OF THE CONTROLLING LIES.

Each individual MATTERS. You are each challenged to "wake up" and realize that you matter and to simply "give in" to the demands of "another"—no matter what position is imposed—is not acceptable in the long run and usually will simply breed contempt in the short run. Right here is where the separation in LOVE and LUST is best defined. Ah, but you would rather not have it that way? Well, that is the way it IS. And NO, it is NOT enough to simply KNOW. You must EXPRESS THAT KNOWING but how each does that is up to the individual.

Although you are each connected to the other and to all others, you are individual in your choices, in the power of your will and in the product or result or consequence of your ever having breathed a breath in the earthplane. The responsibility you have for this totality of your beingness is as freeing and exciting as it is humbling. It represents high adventure rather than a dalliance in ego-structured sensing expressions, which are "here now and gone in a minute".

My suggestion is always to partners or socially connected parties to watch what causes you to revert to basic human physical desires and lusts and avoid those things like the plague in pandemic form. This is why drugs of mind-altering substances, including alcohol, are so detrimental to relationships—for these are DEPRESSANTS to the nervous system and are blocks to intelligent actions and good discipline. The next is the constant demand of "Well, you owe me..." or "Well, if you loved me you would...". The demands are from immature egos seeking to use SOUL for its own purposes of sensual expression. Any "excuse" is simply a copout for continuing such demands and THAT is what usually happens with GURUS and POWERFUL CULT LEADERS.

There is no "argument" due or expected in this discussion, for I am telling you WHAT IS and you can do with it exactly what you choose. Agree or disagree, this IS and when you are talking about evolving into higher beings, you have to be prepared to change your attitudes about a lot of physical THINGS or remain mired in the bog of what is—that, by the way, is NOT WORKING.

FEAR, FEAR AND MORE FEAR

The greatest FEAR you have in living out your Earth life is not what might happen to you—but what might BE EXPECTED FROM YOU if you recognize who you are.

And yes, indeed, THIS IS EXACTLY WHAT YOU CONTINUALLY ASK FOR IN OUR REVELATIONS AND WRITINGS but, by golly, you just can't fully participate, for it means you might have to "give up" something on which you are "hooked". That is YOUR problem, for to soothe your perceptions is NOT MY MISSION. TRUTH OF HOW IT IS IS MY MISSION, AND WHEN ASKED—I WILL GIVE YOU TRUTH AND NOT A LULLABY TO PUT YOU BACK TO SLEEP. And when you ask for music I will not only give you a wondrous lullaby at times but it SHALL BE MUSIC, not noise that programs the baser habits and addictions of human in its lowest frequency range. YOUR DISCIPLINE OF SELF IS MORE TELLING ABOUT YOU THAN ALL THE BOOKS YOU MIGHT EVER WRITE. THIS IS WHY "FAMILIARITY" BREEDS SUCH CONTEMPT, FOR WHEN YOU BECOME FAMILIAR WITH ANOTHER, YOU COME TO

SEE THE FLAWS AND THEREFROM MAKE JUDGMENTS. I, FOR EXAMPLE, WANT NO ONE TO JUDGE MY OUTPUT OR INFORMATION BY THAT OF ANY SCRIBE I MIGHT CHOOSE. "THAT" IS EXACTLY WHY ANYONE WHO WOULD "EDIT" CONTENT OF MY PRESENTATION IS OFF MY LIST AS A USEFUL PRESENTER OF MY INFORMATION—I DO NOT WANT EDITORS OR INTERPRETERS—"JUST THE FACTS, MA'AM"! PEOPLE MUST HAVE ABILITY TO PERCEIVE WHAT THEY WILL—AND NOT A SCRIBE'S OR EDITOR'S OPINION OR PERCEPTION OF "WHAT I MIGHT HAVE MEANT". If you want your opinion published—do so, but do not call it mine!

THE ALIEN EXPRESSION

Never mind the focus on aliens—foreigners or citizens. People, IF you are living in an "illusion" (and you are), your illusion includes all things in your consciousness. Again, there is no argument or debate regarding the matter, but I will remind you that in consciousness these things and signs have been present always and, remarkably, some things have endured as presented, e.g.: "By day the LORD went ahead of them in a pillar of cloud to guide them on their way and by night in a pillar of fire to give them light (and bearings for direction)."

Furthermore, if you are somehow off having euphoria through some mind-enhancing or -altering substance, YOU WILL MISS THE VERY CLUES AND SIGNS SENT FOR YOUR USE. This, too, is just the way it IS. You can and will do whatever you choose to do with the facts offered here, so please realize that what I offer will be handled exactly as you choose to handle it and I (NOR GOD) will love you the lesser for your choices. However, also realize that you need to KNOW that it is then my choice as to WHO fills the roles in the positions which are presented to the world as a whole. If we have people "breaking the law" knowingly, I must consider that in my own selection processing. And yes, of course there are varying degrees of importance in breaking laws, but as even with "speeding"—I care not what YOUR PREFERENCE MIGHT BE—drive within the legal limits and the confrontation over same will be avoided. If you must drive faster than the limits to make an appointment, then START THE JOURNEY SOONER. This, however, is not in point. When you are dealing, however, with intake, purchase or sale of any restricted or prohibited substances, you are moving into CRIME of INTENTIONAL RECOGNITION. There can be instances where breaking a speed regulation is quite excusable—dabbling in criminal activities finds no "reason" and "excuses" SHOULD NOT BE HONORED.

Remember something of great and grave importance: If nobody abused the laws, there would be no need for other than orderly legal regulations—but laws must be for everyone equally applied and not just whether or not you choose up some for self and demand restrictions on others.

Yes, I CAN associate this quite easily even as to "pot" smoking, which was discussed within the past couple of days. If you "have it", it is unlawful. It is unlawful if you use it, grow it, smoke it, sell or buy it. The only POSSIBLE "reason" or "excuse" to have it in your possession is if you have found it or confiscated it from a minor and are taking it to turn in to the police—and if you do THAT, you might well better ask THEM to come pick it up instead of you hauling it around. And guess what, this is only a weed of which we here speak. Get into more controlled drugs and you do not ever "accidentally" have any in your presence. Even more importantly, if you travel intercontinentally, you had best be very careful to whom you lend your pieces of luggage—for you will be arrested and incarcerated if your luggage causes a “drug-sniffing canine” to take notice and if residue is found, you will be prosecuted. If you are caught, for instance, taking unlawful drugs into Malaysia, it can be a death-penalty crime, and you are warned far in advance—so “excuses” are not acceptable, nor is “ignorance” of the law.

As to alcohol use? Well, there is “use” and there is “abuse”. Use of alcohol, where legal and acceptable, is fine but public intoxication or driving, flying or operating a vehicle of any kind UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF SAME—IS A CRIME. My purpose in reminding you of these things is so that YOU CAN MAKE YOUR DECISIONS PRIOR TO BEING OFFENDED BY MY FAILURE TO CHOOSE YOU FIRST IN MY FRONT-LINE RESPONSIBLE POSITIONS. I KNOW that tobacco as processed today is FAR WORSE than any type of marijuana as to health consequences of the bad variety—BUT THE LAW GOVERNS ONE AND NOT THE OTHER! If you, however, are selling tobacco to minors—you are breaking the law and so be it. I did not make your laws, you did.

If you complain in debate that “pot” is not against God’s laws, fine, take it up with God—but I will not honor your decision to break the laws of the land when what we must accomplish must be accomplished within ALL LAWS AS CONSTRUCTED BY MAN. “But that is, at least, inconvenient...”, you might debate. Fine, if inconvenience in service to God’s cause is utmost in the decisions of participation, then so be it.

Can’t you see and hear what I am telling you here? YOU are the one who must choose and take responsibility for self and your own actions—and also that which you ALLOW in your children. And, by the way, when you start trying to categorize things as for children and juveniles and adults—you err. The biggest problem with “adult” programming is the very act of adultery. Why do you think you do these things in secret and in the dark places? Until you grow up, chelas, you can’t have responsibility enough to RUN A WORLD.

The greatest secret of the universe, in case you are wondering, is WHEN THE EGO BECOMES ONE WITH GOD AND NEEDS NO FURTHER ATTENTION OR GRATIFICATION OF SELF.

Now, to leave you I would offer a thought in how you support self to achieve: “If your brother sins, rebuke him, and if he repents, forgive him.”—Luke 17:3

So here, you might say: “Well, what of forgiveness to those who committed wrongs against you and you offer not forgiveness?” Oh my, chelas—the key word here is REPENT. If the wrongdoer will not admit to error, there can be no forgiveness—for there is no petition for same nor is there repentance or even apology. You can’t FORGIVE in advance nor can you “forgive” that which has not been requested. You are told not to “judge” and yet you MUST judge, and to offer forgiveness “in advance” or unpetitioned—IS TOTAL JUDGMENT.

A HEAVY TRIP

I lay a heavy trip onto you? How so? What is so heavy in having UNLIMITED POSSIBILITIES? IF THERE BE “HEAVY” TRIPS—THOSE ARE YOURS AND NOT OF GOD. SO BE IT.

May your trip not be heavy, but balanced in JOY.

Illuminati-Controlled Conflict

“MATRIX” CREATED BY CONTROLLED CONFLICT

By Henry Makow, Ph.D., <SaveTheMales.ca>, 1/19/07

Recently a feud between Donald Trump and Rosie O’Donnell gave their ratings a boost. Mel Gibson and Michael Richards also made gratuitous attacks that helped their bottom line.

What if the world’s great conflicts were just as phony? What if Bush and Chavez; Blair and Putin; Olmert and Ahmadinejad were all part of a giant Punch and Judy Show?

What if we were riding the roller coaster, cheering and groaning, and biting our finger nails for nothing? What if it were all staged like professional wrestling (only thousands of innocent people were dying)?

Many of us consider Ahmadinejad, Putin and Chavez the “good guys” in the fight against the New World Order. It’s possible they are controlled by the Illuminati as well. Our hidden masters control everything else. Would they leave war to chance?

I can’t prove this grand hypothesis today. However, there is some anecdotal evidence.

First, take past wars. None of them were anything like inevitable. I have shown how World War One was made possible by British food subsidies to the Germans, and ended when this trade stopped. World War Two, which Churchill called the most “unnecessary war in history” was also engineered through loans to the Nazis and the policy of “Appeasement”. The Masonic bankers also engineered U.S. entry into WW II.

The war supposedly was fought for the independence of Poland yet at the end, Eastern Europe was under the heel of the [Bolshevik] Russians, the 1939-1941 allies of the Nazis. Instead of Nazis, Polish nationalists were massacred by Soviets. An improvement? Sounds to me like war for its own sake, or for Communism.

Our War on Terror is the natural successor of the “Cold War”; both as phony as three-dollar bills. The war on Iraq? Lebanon? Afghanistan? Iran? Do any of them make any sense? These wars are unwinnable. How do you win a guerilla war without annihilating everyone? They are not meant to be won.

As Dick Cheney intimated, the Iraq War will last 40 years i.e. as long as the Cold War. Both sides are subsidized and controlled by the world’s central bankers and their secret societies/intelligence agencies.

War is an end in itself. It concentrates money and power in the hands of our Satan-loving elites. It provides human sacrifices to their bloodthirsty god and brutalizes and demoralizes humanity.

It is a waste of energy to discuss the “political reasons” for these conflicts. They are a ruse.

OUR “MISLEADERS”

(term coined by Jordan Maxwell)

After debating for months whether the U.S. was winning or losing in Iraq, someone decided it was losing. As the “decider”, Bush stoutly accepted responsibility and even shed a tear at a soldier’s funeral.

That didn’t prevent the demonizing of poor George. His opponents assailed his sanity, intelligence, virility and honor. What do they expect of an admitted satanist?

George is not to blame. Every President in the Twentieth Century has been a hand puppet of the Rothschild-Rockefeller cartel of cartels. They wouldn’t let George manage a gas station let alone the “Free World”. Luckily, Bush just reads the teleprompter.

Derision only gives him credibility heightening the illusion that the U.S. has a functioning democracy, mass media and justice system. Remember, the U.S. government is ultimately responsible for the slaughter of 3000 Americans in broad daylight Sept. 11. The U.S. ruling class and punditry are complicit in the ongoing cover-up. The most obvious “controlled conflict” is the two party system.

CREATING CONFLICT

Let’s look at the “opponents” of globalization and the New World Order. Chavez, Putin and Ahmadinejad were all obscure figures handed power by a hidden hand. Like Bush, they certainly lack the stature of real “deciders”.

Chavez and Ahmadinejad vilify Bush and the USA, but, like Chavez’s mentor Noam Chomsky, cannot pronounce the words “Rothschild” or “central banker”.

Chavez’s Bolivarian Revolution is Freemasonic in origin, as is his Communism. Someone claims he met Chavez at a meeting of the Grand Lodge of Texas in the 1990s. Chavez led a failed coup but got out of jail after only 2 years. Wikipedia reports that he later received campaign funds from large banks.

Now Chavez and Ahmadinejad are busy establishing an Anti-American coalition in South America: More controlled conflict.

CONTROLLING DEBATE

I suspect that the bankers set up Nationalist and anti-Globalist spokesmen and groups in order to control both sides. The tip-off is if these people are getting corporate/government support and coverage in the mass media. Canadian examples are Naomi Klein, Maude Barlow and Mel Hurtig.

On the other hand, you know Connie Fogal, leader of the Canadian Action Party is legit because she talks about the bankers and consequently gets no media. In the U.S., Aaron Russo is legit for the same reason.

It’s apparent that political action requires money. The bankers mint it. The rest of us are too busy making a living to be anything but bystanders and victims.

CONCLUSION

These days you can’t turn on the media without someone (usually Zionists like Charles Adler or Glenn Beck) stirring up hostility against Iran and Muslims in general. They keep talking about how war-like Islam is when we are invading them! Any future conflict may destroy Israel, but these highly paid shills don’t care. War for its own sake is the goal.

War is considered “revolutionary” because it advances the Masonic bankers’ goal of the New World Order. It “overturns” the natural and divinely intended development of mankind.

To have a war, the bankers need to create and provision two sides. Thus all wars are waged against humanity by a small satanic criminal network that owns 50% of the world’s wealth. The mainspring is the world’s private central bankers.

The Hindus have a term for the “Matrix”. They say our lives are governed by “Maya” or “illusion”.

We didn’t guess anyone would go to so much trouble to create it. Perhaps liberation lies in recognizing that conflicts are artificially created and controlled.

Exopolitics or Xenopolitics?

Back in 2001 a courageous group of credible scientists, military and government people stood up to the Press Club podium and announced FIRSTHAND knowledge of the existence of extraterrestrials.

That "little" event was drowned out in the planned confusion following 9/11 and the urgency of the World situation since then has kept even our focus on other events. In keeping with the copyright notice, the following article is presented in its entirety, without modification (except one necessary comment).
[QUOTING:]

EXOPOLITICS OR XENOPOLITICS?

By Steven M. Greer M.D., Director
The Disclosure Project, <DisclosureProject.org>
Copyright 2006

Note: This article may be freely distributed as long as it is reproduced in its entirety.

We have watched with some concern as the emerging area of exo-politics has taken a dangerous and potentially ruinous turn towards rumor, urban-myth speculation and inflammatory xenophobia.

While there are certainly diverse opinions regarding why any given extraterrestrial civilization may wish to visit Earth at this time in our history, recent public comments by Michael Salla have added a virulent strain of fear-based xenophobia, based on the flimsiest of documentation. While I am usually reticent to engage in commentary regarding the opinions espoused by certain personalities, I feel a point has been reached where silence only redounds to the further empowerment of a message of fear, hatred, prejudice – and the unwitting buttressing of the argument for weapons and war in space.

Clearly, more is unknown than known in the vast field of extraterrestrial studies. And at this embryonic stage of human-extraterrestrial relations, there is yet much to learn, explore and discover. But in the past year, Salla, who purports to support peaceful initiatives in this regard, has put forth prejudicial and dangerous characterizations of ET actions – up to and including the ludicrous accusation that a certain tall, white ET race caused the Boxing Day Tsunami of 2004! He has maintained that a nefarious and injurious group of ETs have made a secret pact with covert humans – and have a harmful agenda towards the human race. This, and more.

The Disclosure Project has over 450 military, government and corporate insiders who have first-hand knowledge of actual UFO/ET events and projects. We find it odd that not a single one of these insiders can confirm the xenophobic rumors proffered by Salla.

The conflation of urban myth and rumor as fact is a dangerous precedent given what is at stake: The early stages of ET/Human interaction and relations. We cannot afford to recklessly take every rumor and tale – often originating from counter-intelligence operatives who are tasked with either defaming the UFO subject or sowing fear and prejudice – as a point of fact upon which to reach a conclusion.

The facile acceptance of every story as true – no matter how dangerously xenophobic – is irresponsible and can only serve the agenda of those who wish to see the populace dis-informed, panicked and cowed into eventually accepting a military, space-based solution to the ET problem.

Consider: The Disclosure Project, as well as other researchers, have found a multi-decade pattern of hoaxed UFO/ET related events that are clustered around pseudo-contact experiences (also known as abductions) mutilations, vivisections and the like. Numerous, corroborative military and shadowy para-governmental witnesses have testified to actually conducting abductions and mutilations for their psychological warfare value. One such witness, an Army Ranger involved with special ops stated to me: "You have no idea how many people – including prominent military and political figures – we have abducted and terrified so that they will learn to hate the ET presence and support conflict with them ..."

Martin Cannon in the 1980s, and later the book MILAB (Military Abductions) documented the sophisticated use of electronics, ARVs (man-made UFO look-alike craft called alien reproduction vehicles) and 'stage-craft' to hoax ET contact events for their psychological warfare value.

Indeed, CIA documents released to us under FOIA, and which appear in Extraterrestrial Contact: The Evidence and Implications, and Disclosure, both by this author, discuss using the UFO matter for psychological warfare purposes.

The Canadian top-secret document by Wilbert Smith from the early 1950s explains that the UFO matter is the most secret subject in the U.S. government, exceeding even the secrecy surrounding the development of the hydrogen bomb. Given these facts, is it reasonable to accept as true every scary account circulating in the public, and based on such tales, make sweeping, prejudicial statements regarding this ET race or that?

We must use restraint and caution if we are to avoid being manipulated into the acceptance of another false enemy to unite around and fight. Numerous senior shadow government insiders have independently described to me a concerted effort to dis-inform the public and create the false impression of a threat from space, so that eventually a multi-trillion dollar build-up of weapons in space will be accepted by the masses.

Such propaganda is nothing new. Every military power that has wished to further engage in warfare has first demonized the enemy. Hitler and his minions expertly demonized Jews, gay people and others so that people would passively accept the 'final solution'. [Ed: OK, so not everybody knows the truth of the matter.] The virulent, negative portrayal of such groups was essential to the creation of a supposed enemy to be dealt with violently.

Today, we see racist appellations applied to certain alleged ET groups – The Grays! The Reptilians! The Tall White Ones! Must we go down this tired, dirty path again? Must we replay the sordid history of human racism, prejudice, and xenophobia as we begin our first steps towards the stars?

No. We must not. We must restrain our lower fears and tame our own demons – and look with the eye of truth at the cosmos around us, and ask ourselves this: Who would benefit from such fearsome portrayals of ET life? Where might such a shadowy group wish to lead us? How much information – bandied about so cavalierly as fact – may actually be sophisticated counter-intelligence disinformation designed to sow the seeds of hate and fear – thus justifying weapons in space.

The usual suspects – those who thrive on enormous concentrated wealth and power – would like to unite the world – but not in peace. They wish to unite and control us not for that good future that assuredly awaits humanity. Rather, they wish to control through fear and war – a war between worlds – the final master-play of power consolidation where all of humanity may be stampeded into a unified opposition to some – maybe only one – ET race. And by so doing, amass the ultimate global control, through fear spreading like wildfire amongst the people.

Dr. Von Braun on his death-bed warned of such a plan. He warned us that after the Cold War, there would be 'rogue nations and nations of concern'; and that this would be followed by global terrorism; and that this would be followed by a threat from space – the ultimate trump-card of fear, whereby the entirety of humanity could be united to, as the movie Independence Day put it, "kick alien butt!"

There is no way to assess an ET agenda without first grasping the covert human agenda. We cannot discern what is real and what is Memorex – what is ET and what is pseudo-ET disinformation, unless we penetrate the halls of smoke and mirrors that is the vast shadow government's propaganda machine.

It is not easy. It takes enormous patience, perseverance, diligence and care.

But it is worth it – for to do otherwise is to wittingly or unwittingly make exo-politics an arm of the propaganda war machine.

We must do better than this. We must restrain our fears and prejudices and avoid the dissemination of negative and fear-inducing stereotypes, based on anecdotal tales and counter-intelligence programs. We must investigate fully the technological and psychological capabilities of those who are behind human UFO secrecy – and learn to discern the false from the real.

CSETI (The Center for the Study of Extraterrestrial Intelligence – <cseti.org>) which is the parent organization for The Disclosure Project <disclosureproject.org> has been sending expeditions around the world for 16 years to make contact with ET peoples. We have never been harmed. We have never been threatened. We have never been afraid. Thousands of people over the course of hundreds of expeditions, have interacted with these UFOs – and with the beings on-board them.

Through all of this, we have only found ET people who want to understand and help us. They are waiting for us to join them in space – as a people at peace. Then and only then will we find the arms of the Cosmos wide open, ready to embrace a peaceful and enlightened humanity, which will then travel freely among the stars.

We are proposing that those concerned with a constructive, mature approach to the emerging ET/Human relationship form a new Council on Inter-Planetary Relations. As a council of concerned citizens, let us explore how to best further a peaceful relationship with these cosmic visitors. Will you join us?

Steven M. Greer, MD

[END QUOTING]

Soon, very soon now, we will be able to enjoy much fuller relations with our Cosmic brothers.

Final Warning: Part 12b

In this installment of David Allen Rivera's Final Warning: A History of the New World Order we are presented with a thorough background of the forces behind the establishment of the European Union along with a look at the now-infamous Bilderberg Group. Finally, we get the author's take on Ayn Rand's book, Atlas Shrugged, which makes the case for PURE capitalism, something which this World has not yet experienced (but just may, soon, as the Global Alliance Program gets underway).

[QUOTING, emphasis added:]

EUROPEAN UNION

The European Union, formerly known as the European Communities (EC), or European Economic Community (Common Market), is a movement to unite Western Europe. For hundreds of years, there has been an ongoing effort to unify Europe. Prior to World War II, because of intermarriage between Royal families, all crowned heads were closely related.

French philosopher Montesquieu said in the 18th century: "Whenever in the past Europe has been united by force, the unity lasted no longer than the space of a single reign." He went on to predict the peaceful unification of Europe. In 1871, Victor Hugo, the French novelist, said: "Let us have the United States of Europe; let us have continental federation; let us have European freedom."

In 1922, Count Richard Coudenhove-Kalergi founded the Pan European Union. He fled Austria in 1940 and came to the United States, where he continued to work towards European unity. In 1941, Andre Malraux called for a "European New Deal, a federal Europe excluding the USSR". In an October 1942 letter to the British War Cabinet, Winston Churchill wrote: "Hard as it is to say now, I trust that the European family may act unitedly as one under a Council of Europe. I look forward to a United States of Europe." He also said in a September 19, 1946 speech at the University of Zurich: "We must build a kind of United States of Europe." Churchill made the United Europe Movement a cohesive group by merging the Union of European Federalists, the Economic League for European Cooperation and the French Council for a United Europe into an organization known as the International Committee of Movements for European Unity.

Late in 1947, various people and groups formed a committee to coordinate their efforts and by May 1948 organized the Congress of Europe, which convened at the Hague in the Netherlands. Nearly 1000 prominent Europeans from 16 countries called for the establishment of a United Europe. Dr. Joseph Retinger, who had helped organized the meeting at the Hague, came to the United States in July 1948, along with Winston Churchill, Duncan Sandys, and former Belgian Prime Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, to raise money for the movement. This led to the establishment of the American Committee on a United Europe (ACUE) on March 29, 1949. Their first Chairman was William Donovan, the first Director of the Office of Strategic Services (OSS, the forerunner of the CIA); the Vice-Chairman was Allen Dulles, who later became the Director of the CIA; and the Secretary was George S. Franklin, who was a Director in the Council on Foreign Relations and later a coordinator with the Trilateral Commission.

Lord James Edward Salisbury, the conservative British statesman, said: "Federation is the only hope of the world." The historic address on June 5, 1947 by

Gen. George C. Marshall, the Secretary of State, which made proposals for European aid known as the Marshall Plan, also called for the unification of Europe.

On March 17, 1948, a 50 year treaty was signed for "collaboration in economic, social, and cultural matters and for collective self defense" in Brussels by England, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg. In 1950, its functions were transferred to NATO and in May 1955, a military alliance known as the Council of Western European Union was established, made up of the foreign ministers from Belgium, France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and England, who met every three months. There was also a Western European Union Assembly made up of delegates to the Consultive Assembly of the Council of Europe in Paris.

The Western European Coalition began on June 8, 1948 with the signing of the Benelux Agreement by Luxembourg, Belgium and the Netherlands to unite their economic and domestic policies.

On May 5, 1949, Foreign Ministers from ten European countries signed a Treaty in London for the purpose of working for "greater European unity, to improve the conditions of life and principle human value in Europe and to uphold the principles of parliamentary democracy, the rule of law and human rights". The Treaty sought to promote unity, both socially and economically, among its first members [which] were: Belgium (1949), Denmark (1949), France (1949), Ireland (1949), Italy (1949), Luxembourg (1949), Netherlands (1949), Norway (1949), Sweden (1949), England (1949), Greece (1949), Turkey (1949) and Iceland (1949). It now has 45 member states. The Council of Europe, led by a Secretary-General, is open to all European States which accepted the "principles of the rule of law and of the enjoyment by all persons within (their) jurisdiction of human rights and fundamental freedoms". They are headquartered in Strasbourg, France (Avenue de l'Europe).

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), the father of the Common Market, was a defense alliance developed to implement the North Atlantic Treaty in 1949 and to apply counter pressure against the growing Soviet military presence in Europe. Article V states: "The Parties agree that an armed attack against one or more of them in Europe shall be considered an attack against them all and consequently they agree that, if such an attack occurs, each of them ... will assist the Party or Parties so attacked ... to restore and maintain the security of the North Atlantic Area." Belgium, France, the Netherlands, Italy, West Germany, Spain, Luxembourg, United Kingdom, Canada, Denmark, Greece, Iceland, Norway, Portugal, Turkey and the United States all joined to oppose the growing threat of communism. Soon afterwards, the Russians, recognizing NATO as a stumbling block to their plans, emulated the group by uniting their communist satellites in 1955 with the Warsaw Treaty Organization. The Warsaw Pact alliance included the countries of Albania, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Romania and Russia.

In 1950, Robert Schuman, the French Foreign Minister, came up with an idea to integrate all the coal and steel industries of the western European nations; and in 1951, the European Coal and Steel Community (ECSC) was set up with six member countries: Belgium, West Germany, Luxembourg, France, Italy and the Netherlands. An independent body known as the 'High Authority' was able to make decisions in regard to the industries in those countries. Their first President was the French economist and diplomat, Jean Monnet, called the 'Father of Europe'.

On May 27, 1952, the European Defense Community Treaty was signed in Paris and provided for the armies of West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg to become closely aligned with England's. On October 23, 1954, it was replaced with the Western European Union, who merged their armies into a multi-national armed force.

Jean Monnet said: "As long as Europe remains divided, it is no match for the Soviet Union. Europe must unite." He established a pressure group in 1955 called the Action Committee for the United States of Europe. He also said: "Once a Common Market interest has been created, then political union will come naturally."

On March 25, 1957, the European Atomic Energy Community (EURATOM) and the European Economic Community (EEC) was established with a 378-page Declaration of Intent, called the Treaty of Rome, to facilitate the removal of barriers, so trade could be accomplished among member nations; eventual coordination of transportation systems, agricultural and economic policies; the removal of all measures restricting free competition; and the assurance of the mobility of labor, capital, and entrepreneurship. The partnership began with six countries: France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg. George McGhee, the former U.S. ambassador to West Germany, said that "the Treaty of Rome, which brought the Common Market into being, was nurtured at the Bilderberg meetings." In 1967, the ECSC, EURATOM and EEC were brought together into a single group that was known as the European Community.

In 1973, Henry Kissinger, Nixon's Secretary of State (known to favor one-world government) urged the Common Market to include four more nations: Norway, United Kingdom, Denmark and Ireland. Norway eventually backed out, but on May 28, 1979, in Athens, Greece became the tenth nation to join the Common Market. When they officially became a member in January, 1981, Europe was as unified as it was in 814, when Charlemagne, founder of the Roman Empire, died.

A French foreign minister said: "The Europe of the future, when it finally unites politically as well as economically, will be the mightiest force on earth." Walter Hallstein said: "Make no mistake about it, we are not in business, we are in politics. We are building the United States of Europe." Time magazine wrote: "If the Europe of tomorrow could muster the political will, it could become a co-equal of the other two superpowers, the United States and Russia ..." Another publication said: "The European Common Market is emerging to shake the world economically and politically." England's former Prime Minister, Edward Heath, said: "Europe must unite or perish."

Another huge step was taken toward a united Europe when a direct-election was held June 7-9, 1979 that elected a 410 member European Parliament, the first in over 1,000 years. It was made up of members from the countries of Great Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium, Denmark, Ireland and Luxembourg. With the Maastricht Treaty in 1992 and the Amsterdam Treaty in 1997, they now possess actual legislative authority. Now with 626 [Sic] members, the body includes the United Kingdom and Germany, as well as Greece, Spain, Portugal, Finland, Sweden and Austria. They are headquartered in Strasbourg, France, but are also known to work in Brussels, Belgium and Luxembourg. They are the parliamentary body of the European Union.

On March 17, 1979, the Common Market initiated a new monetary system to encourage trade and investment by stabilizing their currency values in relation to each other. The main feature of this link-up was a $33 billion fund made up of each other's gold and currency reserves. Members could borrow against this fund to support their own currencies. The value of each of the participating currencies was set against "European Currency Units" established by the fund.

On January 1, 1986, Spain and Portugal became the 11th and 12th members of the European Community. On November 11, 1991, Jeane Kirkpatrick [deceased as of December 2006], former U.S. Ambassador to the UN, wrote: "If the Bush Administration has a vision of the New World Order, it is time to share it with the Europeans and Americans, because a New World Order is precisely what is emerging on the continent of Europe today." On December 9-11, 1991, at a meeting in Maastricht, in the Netherlands, a serious effort was made to establish a common currency, and discussions were held concerning a common foreign policy and a common defense policy. After the 1992 Treaty of Maastricht [which, by the way, controls the movement of GOLD among its members], the Common Market became known as the European Union.

On December 31, 1992, the "Single Europe Act" went into effect, uniting the 12 nations into a federation and lifting the restrictions on the movement of goods, services, capital, workers and tourists within the Community. They also adopted common agricultural, fisheries and nuclear research policies. Jacques Delors, in the Delors Report, a blueprint for EC unification, called for a "transfer of decision-making power from member states to the community". On January 1, 1995, Austria became the 13th nation.

The European Union (located at Rue de la Loi, Brussels, Belgium) is now made up of Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Irish Republic, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Portugal, Spain, Sweden and the United Kingdom. It had been reported that the EU was looking to have a total of 20 member nations, yet in 2004 they are adding Cyprus, the Czech Republic, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Malta, Poland, Slovakia and Slovenia.

After deciding in 1992 to move towards a single European currency controlled by a European Central Bank; that currency, known as the 'euro', emerged in 2002, when euro notes and coins replaced the national currencies of 12 of the 15 countries of the European Union.

The industrial capability of the European Union is nearly equal to that of the United States. Western Europe also accounts for about 25% of the world's production and 35% of its trade. When the time comes, and it surely will, that the people of the European Union finally allow themselves to become a single political entity, they will be a world power, and a force to be reckoned with.

THE BILDERBERGER GROUP

Dr. Joseph H. Retinger (who died in 1960), economist, political philosopher, communist Poland's Charge d'Affaires, and a major proponent of a united Europe; along with Prince Bernhard (of Lippe-Biesterfeld) of the Netherlands, Colin Gubbins (former director of the British SOE, Special Operations Executive) and Gen. Walter Bedell Smith (former American Ambassador to Moscow and director of the CIA, who said when he took over the CIA: "We can't lick world communism—no counterinsurgency plans will work. We must compromise and co-exist with communism." He later became an Under Secretary of State in the Eisenhower Administration); joined together in 1954 to organize this secret group. Created under the direction of Alastair Buchan, son of Lord Tweedsmuir and Chairman of the Royal Institute of International Affairs; its governing council was made up of Robert Ellsworth (Lazard Freres), John Loudon (N. M. Rothschild), Paul Nitze (Shroeder Bank), C. L. Sulzberger (New York Times), Stansfield Turner (who later became CIA Director), Peter Calvocoressi (Penguin Books), Andrew Schoenberg (RIIA), Daniel Ellsberg and Henry Kissinger.

Bernhard said: "It is difficult to reeducate the people who have been brought up on nationalism to the idea of relinquishing part of their sovereignty to a supranational body ..."

Lord Rothschild and Laurance Rockefeller handpicked 100 of the world's elite, and they have a heavy cross membership with the Council on Foreign Relations (which they control), the English Speaking Union, the Pilgrims Society, the Round Table and the Trilateral Commission. Their purpose was to regionalize Europe, according to Giovanni Agnelli, the head of Fiat, who said: "European integration is our goal and where the politicians have failed, we industrialists hope to succeed." In Alden Hatch's biography of Bernhard, he stated that the Bilderberg Group gave birth to the European Community (now the European Union). Their ultimate goal is to have a one-world government [Ed: under Lucifer].

Their first meeting was held at the Hotel de Bilderberg (hence the name of the group, even though they have referred to themselves as 'The Alliance') in Oosterbeek, Holland, from May 29-31, in 1954. Charles Douglas Jackson (Vice President of Time magazine, delegate to the United Nations, Special Assistant to the President and later, publisher of Life magazine), spokesman for the American delegation, led by David Rockefeller, promised those present: "Whether he (Sen. Joseph McCarthy) dies by an assassin's bullet or is eliminated in the normal American way of getting rid of boils on the body politic, I prophecy that by the time we hold our next meeting, he will be gone from the American scene." McCarthy was the crusading Senator who revealed that communists had infiltrated high level posts within the U.S. Government. He didn't die until 1957.

The Bilderbergers hold annual meetings in locations all over the world. In Europe, the Rothschilds have hosted some of the meetings, while the meetings in 1962 and 1973 in Saltsjobaden, Sweden were hosted by the Wallenbergs (who had an estimated fortune of $10 billion). The meetings were chaired by the German-born Prince Bernhard, the husband of Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, said to be the richest woman in the world (because of her partnership with Baron Victor Rothschild in the Royal Dutch Shell Oil Co., owning 5% of the stock, which in 1978 was worth $425 million; and also holds stock in Exxon), until he was forced to resign in August, 1976, because of his involvement in the Lockheed Aircraft bribery scandal, and his extramarital affairs. Bernhard wrote: "Here comes our greatest difficulty. For the governments of the free nations are elected by the people and if they do something the people don't like, they are thrown out. It is difficult to reeducate the people who have been brought up on nationalism to the idea of relinquishing part of their sovereignty to a supranational body ..." Walter Scheel of Germany took over as Chairman, and then it was Britain's Lord Carrington, who is on the Board of the Hambros Bank.

There are about 120 participants that are invited to the Bilderberg meetings, of whom about two-thirds come from Europe and the rest are from North America; and about one-third are from government and politics, and the other two-thirds are from the fields of finance, industry, labor, education, communications. The meetings are closed to the public and the press, although a brief press conference is usually held at the conclusion of each meeting to reveal, in general terms, some of the topics which were discussed. The resort areas and hotels where they meet are cleared of residents and visitors, and surrounded by soldiers, armed guards, the Secret Service, State and local police. All conference and meeting rooms are scanned for bugging devices before every single meeting.

Among those who have attended their meetings: Owen Lattimore (CFR, former Director of Planning and Coordination for the State Department), Winston Lord (CFR, Clinton's Assistant Secretary of State), Allen Dulles (CIA), Sen. J. William Fulbright (from Arkansas, a Rhodes Scholar), Dean Acheson (Secretary of State under Truman), Gabriel Hauge (Assistant to President Eisenhower, who according to the Wall Street Journal, "helped teach Ike what to think"; and later became Chairman of Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co.), George Ball (CFR, Johnson's Under Secretary of State from 1961-66, and foreign policy consultant to Nixon), Philip Jessup (representative to the International Court), Henry A. Douglas Dillon (Secretary of Treasury in the Kennedy and Johnson Administrations, from Dillon, Read and Co.), Baron Edmond de Rothschild, Pierce Paul Schweitzer (Managing Director of the UN's International Monetary Fund), Paul B. Lloyd Bentsen (TX, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, candidate for Vice President in 1988 with Michael Dukakis, and now the Secretary of Treasury under Bill Clinton).

Although this list is a bit tedious to go through, you have probably started to see how the same names keep showing up over and over.

Bilderberg policy is carried out by a 35-member Bilderberg Steering Committee, including an inner circle known as an Advisory Committee, which is said to be made up of Giovanni Agnelli (Italy), David Rockefeller (U.S.), Eric Roll (Great Britain) and Otto Wolff von Amerongen (Germany). Some of the Steering Committee members are: Henry Kissinger, Jessica T. Mathews (President, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace), James D. Wolfensohn (President, World Bank), Marie-Josée Kravis (Senior Fellow, Hudson Institute), and Jorma Ollila (Chairman of the Board and CEO of Nokia Corp.). All American members of the Steering Committee are members of the CFR.

A few of the Bilderberg permanent U.S. members are: George W. Ball, Gabriel Hauge, Richard C. Holbrooke, Winston Lord, Bill Moyers and Paul Wolfowitz.

The permanent Bilderberg Secretariat is located at: 1 Smidswater, the Hague, the Netherlands (though another address is sometimes reported at 2301 Da Leiden, in the Netherlands). Their address in America was at 345 E. 46th Street, in New York City (which was also the location of the Trilateral Commission, and the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace). The American Friends of Bilderbergs, with offices at 477 Madison Avenue (6th floor) in New York City, is an IRS-approved charitable organization that received regular contributions from the likes of Exxon, Arco, and IBM; while their meetings are funded by the Ford Foundation, Rockefeller Foundation and the Carnegie Endowment Fund.

The Goals 2000 program, developed during the presidency of George Bush to revamp the nation's public school system, was born at the April 1970 Bilderberger meeting in Bad Ragaz, Switzerland. The purpose of the new educational philosophy was the "subordination of national ambitions to the idea of the international community". Because our schools are "too nationalistic", children, in the future, will be indoctrinated to consider themselves "world citizens".

Prior to the 1971 meeting in Woodstock, Virginia, Prince Bernhard said that the subject of the meeting was the "change in the world role of the United States". After the weekend conference, Kissinger was sent to Red China to open up trade relations and an international monetary crisis developed, which prompted the devaluing of the dollar by 8.57% (which made a tremendous profit for those who converted to the European Currency).

In 1976, fifteen representatives from the Soviet Union attended the meeting which was held in the Arizona desert, and it was believed that at that time the plans were formulated for the "break-up of communism in the Soviet Union". At the 1978 meeting, they predicted that a depression would hit the world in 1979 and that the dollar would die. Their solution was to replace the dollar with an international 'bancor' system (international bank note) of currency that would be universally acceptable as a medium of exchange. The 'bancor' system would have the international gold reserve deposited in a neutral country. It is an offshoot of the same Keynesian system developed at Bretton Woods in 1944 from the idea by German economist Julius Wolf in 1892. This system would protect the Illuminati when they [would] spring their trap and the world economy would crumble.

At their 1990 meeting at Glen Cove, Long Island in New York, they decided that taxes had to be raised to pay more towards the debt owed to the International Bankers. And George Bush, who pledged during the campaign, "Read my lips—no new taxes!" found himself signing one of the biggest tax increases in history on November 15, 1990, a move which was a contributing factor to his defeat when he ran for re-election.

At their 1991 meeting at the Black Forest resort in Baden Baden, Germany, they discussed plans for a common European currency and European central banking; and reviewed Middle Eastern events and developments in the Soviet Union. David Rockefeller said during the meeting:

"We are grateful to the Washington Post, the New York Times, Time magazine, and other great publications whose directors have attended our meetings and respected their promises of discretion for almost forty years ... It would have been impossible for us to develop our plan for the world if we had been subject to the bright lights of publicity during these years. But, the world is now more sophisticated and prepared to march towards a world government. The supernational sovereignty of an intellectual elite and world bankers is surely preferable to the national auto-determination practiced in past centuries."

Then Governor of Arkansas, Bill Clinton (a Rhodes Scholar, who attended Oxford University in England), was invited to speak and a decision was made to endorse his candidacy (according to Jim Tucker, a Spotlight reporter, who had a source within the group, code-named 'Pipeline'). No wonder Clinton was able to survive all the media attacks regarding his personal life and lack of experience. One of his top money men was investor and international banker Jackson Stephens, who also donated $100,000 to the Bush campaign. His wife was the Co-Chairwoman of the national "Bush for President" organization in 1988. Also in attendance were Michael Boskin, Chairman of Bush's Council of Economic Advisors, who was a speaker; Nicholas Brady, U.S. Treasury Secretary; and Vice President Dan Quayle, who impressed the group enough, that there was talk of supporting him for the Republican nomination in 1996. In fact, after the meeting, Bilderberger member Katherine Graham, head of the Washington Post, published a series of positive articles on Quayle.

At their 1992 meeting, the group discussed the possibility of "conditioning the public to accept the idea of a UN army that could, by force, impose its will on the internal affairs of any nation". Henry Kissinger, who attended the meeting, said: "Today, Americans would be outraged if UN forces entered Los Angeles to restore order. Tomorrow, they will be grateful."

The official press release for their 2002 Conference said: "Bilderberg's only activity is its annual Conference. At the meetings, no resolutions are proposed, no votes taken and no policy statements issued." They are just "a small flexible, informal and off-the-record international forum in which different viewpoints can be expressed and mutual understanding enhanced". However, Phyllis Schlafly wrote in A Choice Not an Echo, that the Bilderbergers are a "little clique of powerful men who meet secretly and plan events that appear to 'just happen'".

ATLAS SHRUGGED

In 1957, a 1,168 page book by Ayn Rand, called Atlas Shrugged, was published. According to one source, Rand was alleged to be a mistress to Philippe Rothschild, who instructed her to write the book in order to show that through the raising of oil prices, then destroying the oil fields and shutting down the coal mines, the Illuminati would take over the world. It also related how they would blow up grain mills, derail trains, bankrupt and destroy their own companies, till they had destroyed the economy of the entire world; and yet, they would be so wealthy that it would not substantially affect their vast holdings. The novel is about a man who stops the motor of the world, of what happens when "the men of the mind, the intellectuals of the world, the originators and innovators in every line of industry go on strike; when the men of creative ability in every profession, in protest against regulation, quit and disappear."

If we are to believe that the book represents the Illuminati's plans for the future, then the following excerpts may provide some insight to the mentality of the elitists who are preparing us for one-world government.

One of the characters, Francisco d'Anconia, a copper industrialist and heir to a great fortune, the first to join the strike, says:

"I am destroying d'Anconia Copper, consciously, deliberately, by plan and by my own hand. I have to plan it carefully and work as hard as if I were producing a fortune—in order not to let them notice it and stop me, in order not to let them seize the mines until it is too late ... I shall destroy every last bit of it and every last penny of my fortune and every ounce of copper that could feed the looters. I shall not leave it as I found it—I shall leave it as Sebastian d'Anconia found it—then let them try to exist without him or me!"

A bit later, d'Anconia says: "We produced the wealth of the world—but we let our enemies write its moral code." Still later, he says: "We'll survive without it. They won't."

Dagney Taggart, the main character of the book, is the head of the Taggart Transcontinental Railroad. Her goal was to find out who John Galt was. She discovered that he was a young inventor with the Twentieth Century Motor Company, who said he would put an end to the regulations which bound a man to his job indefinitely. Before disappearing, he said: "I will stop the motor of the world.” He told her:

“Dagney, we who’ve been called ‘materialists’ ... we’re the only ones who know how little value or meaning there is in material objects ... we’re the ones who create their value and meaning. We can afford to give them up ... We are the soul, of which railroads, copper mines, steel mines and oil wells are the body—and they are living entities that beat day and night, like our hearts, in the sacred function of supporting human life, but only so long as they remain our body, only so long as they remain the expression, the reward and the property of achievement. Without us, they are corpses and their sole product is poison, not wealth or food, the poison of disintegration that turns men into hordes of scavengers ... You do not have to depend on any material possessions, they depend on you, you create them, you own the one and only tool of production ... leave them the carcass of that railroad, leave them all the rusted nails and rotted ties and gutted engines—but don’t leave them your mind.”

Later in the book, Galt says:

“And the same will be happening in every other industry, wherever machines are used—the machines which they thought could replace our minds. Plane crashes, oil tank explosions, blast furnace breakouts, high tension wire electrocutions, subway cave-ins, and trestle collapses—they’ll see them all. The very machines that made their life so safe—will now make it a continuous peril ... You know that the cities will be hit worst of all. The cities were made by the railroads and will go with them ... When the rails are cut, the city of New York will starve in two days. That’s all the supply of food it’s got. It’s fed by a continent three thousand miles long. How will they carry food to New York? By directive and ox-cart? But first, before it happens, they’ll go through the whole of the agony—through the shrinking, the shortages, the hunger riots, the stampeding violence in the midst of the growing stillness ... They’ll lose the airplanes first, then their automobiles, then their trucks, then their horsecars ... Their factories will stop, then their furnaces and their radios. Then their electric light system will go.”

Francisco d’Anconia, who blew up all the copper mines in the world, said of Galt:

“He had quit the Twentieth Century. He was living in a garret in a slum neighborhood. He stepped to the window and pointed at the skyscrapers of the city. He said that we had to extinguish the lights of the world, and when we would see the lights of New York go out, we would know that our job was done.”

Galt led the men of the mind on strike and they retired to a self-supporting valley, where a character, Midas Mulligan, says that “the world is falling apart so fast that it will soon be starving. But we will be able to support ourselves in this valley.” Galt said: “There is only one kind of men who have never been on strike in human history ... the men who have carried the world on their shoulders, have kept it alive, have endured torture as sole payment ... Well, their turn has come. Let the world discover who they are, what they do and what happens when they refuse to function. This is the strike of the men of the mind.”

The book describes what resulted from the strike: “But years later, when we saw the lights going out, one after another, in the great factories that had stood like mountains for generations, when we saw the gates closing and the conveyer belts turning still, when we saw the roads growing empty and the streams of cars draining off, when it began to look as if some silent power were stopping the generators of the world and the world was crumbling quietly ...” And the culmination of their efforts: “The plane was above the peaks of the skyscrapers when suddenly, with the abruptness of a shudder, as if the ground had parted to engulf it, the city had disappeared from the face of the earth. It took them a moment to realize that the panic had reached the power stations—and the lights of New York had gone out.” The men of the mind had taken over the world.

... Rand based her novel on her philosophy which she calls Objectivism. As she puts it: “We are the radicals for capitalism ... because it is the only system geared to the life of a rational being ... The method of capitalism’s destruction rests on never letting the world discover what it is that is being destroyed.” She also said about the book: “I trust that no one will tell me that men such as I write about don’t exist. That this book has been written—and published—is proof that they do.”

Invocation to Lord, God For Spiritual Renaissance

SPIRITUAL RENAISSANCE:
INVOCATION TO LORD GOD
HAWAII HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
By Dr. Ronald Carlson, 1/20/07

May we please bow our heads.

Lord God, on this first day of the 24th legislative assembly of the House of Representatives, State of Hawaii, may we be permitted to call upon You at this time. We humbly pray for Your Presence in this great hall, in our individual souls, making this Call to You so we may begin our missions for this year in harmony and unity with Your Divine Will. That we may be granted Your wisdom Lord God to understand and fulfill Your direction for us, and that we may be able to successfully accomplish Your Will in the coming months and year, this is our prayer.

In the beginning of this 8th year of the 21st Century we humans upon this beautiful Earth are beset with many challenges for which we have no clear answers. We languish in almost all forums without solutions, applying conventional human wisdom that keeps us going in circles, a ship without a rudder. As with the 14th Century Renaissance and its brilliant results based upon human thought and wisdom that have led us this far, we need a new renaissance, a Spiritual Renaissance, which will unify all religions, all peoples of the world, working for true peace and harmony, fostering true happiness for every one.

At the global level we see the number one challenge emerging as “what will we do, how will we react” to the facts of climate changes that portend the extinction of Life, as we know it.

At the national level we experience a dead lock with an ongoing war that could escalate, including other countries in the Middle East and around the planet, causing more death and destruction. Our national purpose, goals and aspirations are unclear and adrift. Our human leadership is in transition and without clear direction.

At our state and local levels we have equally great challenges since we are part of the global condition. Health care, employment, education, environmental degradation, transportation, housing and other concerns weigh heavy upon our souls. Our efforts seem to make things worse at times, as we are inclined to only focus on the mental and material solutions. Our solutions are devoid of a perspective that embraces a larger vision of “who we are and where are we going on Spaceship Earth”. They are devoid of the spirit of Aloha.

We therefore offer our humble apology to You, Lord God, for our shortcomings, our inability as mortals to see and resolve the problems we have created for ourselves. We apologize to you, Lord

God, for our selfish interests that cause conflict and generate more complicated problems. We apologize for our egotistical arrogant thoughts and actions that create dissension, thinking that without Your Presence and assistance, Your guidance, Your protection, Your wisdom and Your Divine Light, we can truly solve issues before us in a wise way. We apologize for our stubbornness, keeping Your Presence out of our considerations, deliberations and decisions that impact our community and our world. We apologize for our lack of creativity in our work, not nurturing our relationship with You, the gods of Nature and our fellow man. Please accept our heartfelt apology!

With this in mind, we humbly request Your Presence now and throughout this year, that we may perceive Your Will and fulfill It in harmony with our friends and family. May we unify with You, Lord God, and our co-workers, offering gratitude for all Your divine arrangements of Nature: the Sun, the air, the clouds, our blue oceans and green forests, the rain, the birds, fish and animals that grace your beautiful Earth.

And may we resolve today in Your Presence, in the presence of all in this great chamber, in unity and harmony with each other to accomplish what is before us, calling upon Your Wisdom and Power in our decision-making and actions. May we initiate the dawn of the Spiritual Renaissance, which means the dawn of a God-centered civilization, the beginning of a True Civilization that will reestablish divine government and fulfill Lord God's divine plan. May we unmask old systems, the corrupted systems, and call forth boldly an era of cooperation and collaboration for the benefit of our people, our children, our planet, Mother Nature and the Righteous God of Heaven.

Without You, Lord God, we do not exist. Without Your Nature we do not exist. Without our relationship with You we are lost and withered. And with this resolve and intention we pray, we call upon Your continued Presence in our Lives, Your protection, guidance, purifying Light and Arrangements so that in our work we may accomplish Your Will in creating True health, harmony and prosperity for all in the great state of Hawaii.

May we, with Your permission, as did our forefathers, in the Declaration of Independence, declare a Spiritual Renaissance today, a True Renaissance of the Spirit! “We hold these truths to be self evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, among which are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.”

Thank you very much, Lord God, for hearing our Call. May our work be worthy of Your Grace. Amen.

NEVADA CORPORATIONS:

Respect Your Corporation And Others Will Have To

Budget's "Tip of the Week" #14:

Maintaining Separation between the Corporation and Yourself

When properly handled, a corporation is a legal "person", separate, distinct and totally apart from you. The key to keeping things that way is to ensure that the corporation is indeed properly treated. The quickest way to lose the protection afforded by your corporate shelter is for you to treat it with disrespect.

One simple thing that many people fail to do on a regular basis—and which can tear down the walls of separation between themselves and a corporation—occurs when they sign documents in behalf of their "brainless child" (corporation). All it takes to do things right is to follow the signature with an indication that you are acting as an agent or officer of the corporation rather than in a personal capacity. If you are acting as a particular officer, as the vice president, for example—follow your signature with, "Vice President" or "VP". In cases where you would rather not disclose any particular position held within the corporation you may sign as "John Doe, Agent", which simply means that you are acting as an agent for the corporation and NOT in a personal capacity.

The above advice applies to ALL situations where you might sign for the corporation, including checks, of course, but also when signing such mundane things as invoices for goods received or services performed. And it certainly applies to any kind of agreement—a lease, purchase or rental agreement, for instance—as well as corporate resolutions. After a while you will find that you do this automatically and thus automatically uphold the fundamental protective insulation of your separateness from the corporate entity.

Failure to adhere to this basic corporate formality "could" allow a prospective litigant to assert that the corporation is nothing more than a "straw man" and that it actually functions only as your "alter ego". We have put the word "could" in parentheses because in Nevada there actually exists only one case in the last quarter-century where a prospective litigant managed to "pierce the corporate veil" and cause liability to be assessed against the corporation's owner/manager—and that was a case of outright and unabashed fraud. It's great to have that measure of protection but you can easily bolster it by developing the good habit of following your signature with a title.

The next essential step in maintaining separation between the corporation and yourself is to always document key decisions made for the corporation in the form of corporate resolutions. If you do not know how to construct a resolution, give us a call and we will be pleased to help out. Meanwhile, if all you do is put a simple memo into the "resolutions" section of your corporate records, you will have taken a MAJOR step toward maintaining your Nevada corporation's unequalled liability protection.
