Hidden Battle To Control YOUR MIND

An Expert Speaks The Truth

The following information is very well presented and worthy of the widest distribution possible. So many people think the kind of information CONTACT has been presenting on mind control for many years is “crazy” or “impossible” to achieve. In point of fact, what we have offered is hardly the tip of the iceberg. We thank our news guru, Dr. Overholt, for spotting this one.

Here you have a discussion of rudimentary mind-control techniques by a longtime expert in the field. And yet, as you’ll read early on, even he was surprised that he would be blocked from the wide distribution of this information. (Note his sincere desire to share—a very important clue to Lighted intent!) Of course, longtime CONTACT readers would hardly be surprised that such suppression would be exercised. Meanwhile, we (all of us) will help him to get this very-well-presented lecture as widely distributed as possible, won’t we?

After all, we are living in a time when the crooks in high places are pulling out all the stops to bring we-the-useless-eaters under total New World Order control. That cannot be accomplished by physical means any more than there can be enough police to control a large riot population. No, to control we-the-people, such must be accomplished through subtle mental techniques.

However, there is a trump card, and that is knowledge. The more you know about these diabolical mind-control techniques, the less they can affect you. Oops! And, as always, remember to call-in the Light of God for protection.

MALAYSIAN OFFICIALS TAKE U.S. TO TASK OVER GORE'S REMARKS

From THE DAILY NEWS, Los Angeles, 11/18/98: [quoting]

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia—Declaring that it would hold the United States responsible for outbreaks of “lawlessness”, Malaysia on Tuesday excoriated Vice President Al Gore for a speech here in which he praised simmering protests against Prime Minister Mahathir Mohamad.

In a statement, Malaysia’s foreign minister said Gore’s remarks Monday were a “gross interference in the internal affairs of the country and a brazen violation of the basic tenets of relations between sovereign states.

“Malaysians hold dearly the harmony and stability which they have painstakingly built up through the years,” said the foreign minister, Abdullah Ahmad Badawi. “Malaysians would hold the United States accountable for any rupture of harmony arising from this irresponsible incitement.”

In his speech at a regional summit meeting of Pacific Rim countries, Gore accused Malaysia of suppressing freedom.

As Mahathir and other Malaysian officials seethed in the audience, Gore saluted anti-government protesters as brave people. He even invoked the rallying cry “reformasi”, which was coined during Indonesia’s student movement and is now chanted here to protest the jailing of Malaysia’s former deputy prime minister, Anwar Ibrahim, who is being tried on sex-related and corruption charges. He was ousted in September after a power struggle with Mahathir.

Gore’s blunt words, and Malaysia’s enraged reaction, have left this meeting of Pacific Rim nations in a shambles. At the gathering, called the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation forum, discussions of how to lower trade barriers or rein in global capital flows were scarcely heard Tuesday.

Instead, there were sharp divisions over whether the vice president had taken a principled stand in defense of human rights or hijacked a meeting intended to be devoted to the Asian financial crisis.

New Zealand’s prime minister, Jenny Shipley, accused Gore of practicing “megaphone diplomacy”, while officials from Singapore and China offered more subtle criticism of the speech reaffirming that they would stick to economic matters and not wade into the affairs of other countries.

However, the president of the Philippines, Joseph Estrada, said in an interview, “I feel the same way as the vice president.”

“I don’t interfere in Malaysia’s domestic problems, but I’ve said human rights and due process of law transcend all boundaries,” said Estrada. [End quoting]

Al “Bore” and the IMF gangsters must really be mad about not getting complete control of the Southeast Asia and Japanese markets.

Estrada and Gore shouldn’t be talking about any other government after what they’ve done at home. Don’t forget that “Bore” was vice president during the Waco, Ruby Ridge and Oklahoma situations. Estrada isn’t any better when he signs on with the IMF gangsters to rob his people blind.

SOUTH KOREA TAUGHT IMF A FEW LESSONS

From the INTERNET, <sofiem@algonet.se>, 11/12/98: [quoting]

Seoul’s Ambassador to the US, Lee Hong-Koo, reflected on his country’s wardship under the IMF in the past year, as guest speaker at the NPC’s Newsmaker press conference, Nov. 12: “... when I say we aspire to make ourselves a model of success, it also applies to the IMF. The IMF is under a great deal of criticism, and I think IMF would like to see Korea succeed as a model of a new experiment... I think a certain amount of criticism was vital, as the IMF was operating under an assumption that old textbooks could be used in any situation like Korea. But they’re finding out this situation is quite different. We need a new prescription. And that’s why IMF, for example, agreed that we could have a project deficit of up to 5% of GDP, to provide a social safety net and also to help the various sectors which are in a great deal of trouble—for example, our medium and small industries and so on.” [End quoting]

It’s certainly good to see at least some of the world’s leaders have enough guts to stand up to the gangster slavemasters.

OOPS, ANWAR'S SLIP IS SHOWING

From the INTERNET, <sofiem@algonet.se>, 11/12/98: [quoting]

The Hong Kong-based Political and Economic Risk Consultancy has issued a status report on Anwar Ibrahim’s “reformasi” movement. According to PERC, the movement is still “simmering”, but the ranks are dwindling, especially following the ban on demonstrations and some sobering, but non-violent, arrests of UMNO regional youth leaders. Many of these alleged early allies of Anwar have flaked away from their leader, and have sought to patch up ties to UMNO. But as PERC acknowledges, the decline in turnout “is also the result of the fact that most of those who supported the reform movement in its early days were opportunists rather than real reformists”. And, it would seem that it is now even more unlikely that snap polls would be held before next year. [End quoting]

It appears that there is a beginning break in the IMF’s power to control. Much that the “elite” have put in place will crumble eventually.

“NO SUCH THING AS FREE TRADE”

From the INTERNET, <sofiem@algonet.se>, 11/12/98: [quoting]

In an interview with Malaysia’s TV3, International Trade and Industry Minister Dr. Rafidah Aziz stressed that further trade liberalization must be left up to individual nations based on their ability to do so without creating domestic problems. Dr. Rafidah, and Japanese delegates, are stressing that the “V” in APEC’s plan for “early voluntary sectoral liberalization” is most important. But Dr. Rafidah went further, saying, “actually there is no such thing as free trade. If anybody says free trade, I think we can say that they are talking rubbish. What it is all about is more liberal markets. Every country in the world has some form of trade restrictions.... So there is never a free market.” [End quoting]

The people with common sense have always known that there is no such a thing as free trade—in fact the “elite” know it well and that is the reason they want it because it’s nothing but a method to rob the nations and make people into beggars so they can control them.

MARCOS $22 BILLION GOLD JUDGMENT OVERTURNED

From the INTERNET, paraphrased, 11/18/98: [quoting]

The Hawaii Supreme Court has overturned the $22-billion-dollar judgment by stating the evidence was too speculative. [End quoting]

This will probably bring another spate of troubles for all parties. It’s hard for me to see where either side will have any peace—yet!! Besides, the lawyers will want to get some more funds from the combatants in this case.

BANDAGE IN A CAN

From POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, Dec. 1998: [quoting]

The 21st century bandage will not only cover a wound: It’ll actually help healing. The American Red Cross is developing foam containing thrombin and fibrinogen—two of the body’s natural clot-forming proteins. The sealant steps up the body’s own coagulation process, closing a wound in seconds. The organization is awaiting FDA approval to begin clinical trials. [End quoting]

Sounds like something that is way past due. I suspect this is something the “elite” have been holding back.

SOLAR ENERGY

Sunny Delight

From POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, Dec. 1998: [quoting]

Two new thin-film photovoltaic technologies are coming to market, promising to cut the cost of generating power from the Sun. Developed in part with funds from the National Renewable Energy Laboratory (NREL) in Golden, Colorado, copper indium diselenide and cadmium telluride deliver more efficiency at a lower cost than current materials.

Until now, PV materials have been limited to bulky crystalline silicon and amorphous silicon, the first of the so-called thin films. Not only is amorphous silicon cheaper than crystalline, it’s thin-film characteristics make it perfect for use in roofing materials. But it converts only 7 percent of the solar energy it absorbs to electricity—half that of crystalline.

According to NREL’s Ken Zweibel, the two new thin-film materials can achieve efficiencies of 10 percent or more. And while they will initially cost about the same as amorphous silicon, prices should drop quickly.

Cadmium telluride is being manufactured by Solar Cells of Toledo, Ohio, and BP Solar of Fairfield, California; copper indium diselenide is currently being produced by Siemens Solar of Camarillo, California. Arthur Rudin, manager of product marketing at Siemens, says the company is working with roofing manufacturers on a PV roof tile, and adds that it should hit the market within a year or two. —Charles Wardell [End quoting]

Well, the “elite” are still piece-mealing the advanced technology, while they still sit on the free-energy devices that are far ahead of this. They still love the oil pollution and profits and the control that goes with it.

SPACE STORMS COULD DISRUPT SATELLITE COMM. SYSTEMS

From the INTERNET, 11/5/98: [quoting]

Computer crashes (y2k) are not the only threat to military and civilian systems come 2000. Air Force experts and other government scientists have concluded that violent electromagnetic space storms will wreak havoc on systems at about the same time unfixed date codes fail.

“We’re going to have a huge storm (about) Jan. 1, 2000, so people won’t know what to blame it on,” said Ernie Hildner, director of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) Space Environment Center in Boulder, Colorado. The center’s Space Weather Operations, operated by NOAA and the Air Force, issues extraterrestrial event alerts to government and industry scientists hourly, much as the National Hurricane Center issues tropical storm or hurricane alerts.

Solar and geomagnetic events such as ion bombardments and explosions on the surface of the Sun can damage or knock out satellite transmissions, hamper navigation systems, cut electric power and bring down telephone systems.

Unlike the Year 2000 problem, space weather is a natural phenomenon that occurs in 11-year cycles. During the cycles, powerful geomagnetic storms generated by the Sun spew bursts of high-energy particles and clouds of ionized gas that can damage satellites and affect the Earth’s magnetic field.

Sunspots, flares, filaments, coronal holes and mass ejections emanating from the Sun throw off bursts of electromagnetic particles, radiation and solar wind. Geomagnetic storms occur when blasts of solar wind bend and stretch the Earth’s magnetic field.

The latest solar cycle—Cycle 23—is expected to reach its maximum strength around 2000, far surpassing the strength of its predecessor, Hildner said.

Geomagnetically induced current from space weather can be picked up by power lines and disable transformers, Hildner said. Solar Cycle 22 in 1989, for instance, left more than 6 million people in Quebec, Canada, without electric power for twelve hours, he said. [End quoting]

There are many such powerful storms now and many more to come. BE PREPARED!!

Y2K PROBLEMS ALREADY STARTING

From the INTERNET, 10/27/98: [quoting]

With 14 months until the new millennium, a new survey shows that America’s largest corporations are increasingly experiencing Year 2000-related computer errors and missing deadlines in their Year 2000 plans.

The Pentagon has no idea how hard the y2k bug will bite it, but only 29 percent of its mission-critical systems are compliant, says a former Pentagon systems chief.

Many are predicting that the European conversion to a unified currency over the period of 1999 to 2002 will create an even larger software challenge than the y2k problem. [End quoting]

These problems are going to start multiplying fast as the new year progresses.

SCIENCE FICTION

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 11/16/98: [quoting]

More than 15,000 scientists, including a former head of the National Academy of Science, signed a petition urging the U.S. government not to sign the UN global warming treaty in Kyoto, Japan. The petition reads in part: “. . . Research data on climate change do not show that human use of hydrocarbons is harmful . . . The ‘silent majority’ of the scientific community has at last spoken out against the hype emanating from politicians and much of the media about a warming catastrophe.... [End quoting]

Most intelligent people know that the use of hydrocarbons is dangerous to our health—that should not be the issue here!! The real issue is the alternatives that the “elite” have for us which are far worse for our health and everything else!!

IRRADIATED FOOD

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 11/16/98: [quoting]

The U.S. government recently approved a new rule that allows food manufacturers to display less prominent labels showing that food has been irradiated. The process of irradiation consists of bombarding foods with gamma rays or x-rays to kill potential pathogens on food. A spokesperson for the National Food Processors Association said that labeling food as “treated with radiation”, was often viewed by consumers as a warning rather than a description of “processing methods”. [End quoting]

The “elite” certainly don’t want us to be reminded that their processed foods are bad for us.

TIT FOR TAT

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 11/16/98: [quoting]

Chuck Yeager, the famed test pilot, denounced Sen. John Glenn’s return to space as “pure hype”. Yeager said in an interview that the event was arranged by President Clinton, in return for the senator’s political support. The White House denied that Clinton had anything to do with Glenn’s trip into space. [End quoting]

Who are you going to believe in this instance?

JEFFERSON-HATERS DO IT AGAIN

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 11/16/98: [quoting]

For two centuries, haters of the populist teachings of Thomas Jefferson have smeared the great man with the big lie that he fathered children by a female slave. This whopper, which was invented by a political opponent of Jefferson’s, has been dealt with conclusively by Dr. Martin A. Larson, among others. Now, in an effort to whitewash sex pervert Bill Clinton, The Washington Post is at it again, reporting that a DNA test of descendants of an uncle of Jefferson “prove” their case, which it obviously does not. [End quoting]

Do we begin to see how the diabolical crooks in Washington will stop at nothing to excuse their crimes?

FREE SPEECH?

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 11/16/98: [quoting]

Federal officials are looking at the possibility of filing criminal charges against a group in Philadelphia, Penn., for sending e-mail messages denouncing two women who appeared on TV discussing “The State of Hate in Pennsylvania”. In the lawsuit, state Attorney General Mike Fisher has also asked the court to prevent so-called “White supremacists” from publishing information on the Internet. Other defendants named in the suit include several companies affiliated with the group including the designer of the Internet website and the company that provides Internet services to them. [End quoting]

I can’t imagine our government condemning free speech if they were favorably discussing Communism—one of the most dastardly forms of hate-crimes ever conceived!! In fact they have given them our taxpayers’ money and fought many wars to promote it.

“HATE” SELLS

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 11/16/98: [quoting]

In a related story, The Reading Eagle, out of Reading, Penn., denounced a Philadelphia TV station and the program 48 Hours in an editorial for attempting, in their one-sided news report on “The State of Hate in Pennsylvania”, to portray the publication as furthering violence. The editorial stated that simply because the editors at the newspaper wanted nothing to do with the biased program, they were labeled as irresponsible by the show’s producers. [End quoting]

This is a typical mind-control tactic.

TWO STATES DEFINE MARRIAGE

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 11/16/98: [quoting]

Election Day referendum results had good news for families. Voters in Hawaii and Alaska amended their state constitutions to strengthen the union of marriage. In Hawaii, lawmakers can now ban same-sex marriages. Alaska’s Constitution now defines marriage as a union between one man and one woman.

The change in Hawaii was particularly important. Many who believe in traditional values saw homosexual activists making gains in Hawaii. Traditionalists feared that if Hawaii legalized homosexual unions, other states would be forced to recognize the “marriages”.

In South Carolina, voters erased the constitution's ban on interracial marriage. [End quoting]

Sometimes the will of the decent people is strong enough to bring some Light back into a darkened world.

ELECTION DAY REFERENDUM RESULTS

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 11/16/98: [quoting]

Voters in Washington elected to stop government quotas. Initiative 200 (I-200) banned state and local agencies from granting preferences based on race, ethnicity, national origin, and gender in public employment, contracting and higher education. Washington's I-200 was modeled after California's Prop 209 that passed overwhelmingly in 1996.

"People think it's time for unfair quotas to end," said Brett Bader, an I-200 supporter.

Floridians elected to continue executing murderers, in spite of an expected ban on "old Sparky", the Sunshine State's balky electric chair. In the past decade, flames have erupted from prisoners' heads twice during executions. Both murderers died, but state officials are worried about Florida's image. [End quoting]

The anger of the people is steadily increasing, as these results show.

GREAT PYRAMID TO GET CAPSTONE FOR 2000 CELEBRATION

From the INTERNET, 11/13/98: [quoting]

For ages, the Great Pyramid has been without its peak, the pointy stone top that completes its triangular shape.

Now Egypt plans to make the Pharaonic structure whole again by affixing a gold-encased capstone—if only for one night—to celebrate the advent of the third millennium on Dec. 31, 1999, the pyramid's custodian, Zahi Hawass, said Thursday night.

At the same time, he proposed closing entry into the Great Pyramid forever to prevent it from being damaged beyond repair by the salty breath and curious fingers of 4,000 visitors a day.

"Why do you want to visit a tomb?" he asked. "The magic is from the outside. Not from the inside."

Hawass said the millennium ceremony, to be telecast live to a world audience, will mirror the pomp and revelry that must have accompanied the installation of the capstone by the pyramid's builder, Pharaoh Cheops, in a national celebration about 4,600 years ago.

"You know it was built in the third millennium B.C. We are celebrating the third millennium A.D. Therefore, we should have something important to mark the occasion," Hawass said.

The pyramid has lost 30 feet of height, and the missing stones at the top give it a craggy flattened appearance like the opening of a small volcano. This is not evident from the ground because of the pyramid's size—it is 452 feet high, as tall as a 13-story [sic] building.

The stones are believed to have fallen off many centuries ago, and there is no record of how it happened. It could have been due to erosion, vandals or grave robbers.

Hawass said engineers do not intend to fill in the entire missing portion with stone. A steel frame will cover most of the empty area and a small capstone wrapped in thin gold foil will complete the top, he said.

The stone will be lowered by a helicopter and removed after the ceremony, he said without elaborating.

Hawass said he got the idea from a relief carving from another pyramid near Cairo, which showed workers dragging a capstone shining like gold.

Another relief showed people dancing and singing following the setting of the capstone, indicating the king installed the last piece of masonry on the pyramid to mark the end of a national project, he said.

Hawass said the Great Pyramid will be reopened to the public in Feb. 1999, after being closed nearly a year for restoration work.

During this time, a new ventilation and lighting system has been installed inside the sepulchral chambers, deep inside the pyramid. Graffiti has been erased from the tomb's walls, and workers are removing a layer of salt left by the breath of daily visitors, he said.

But Hawass said the best way to preserve the pyramid's interior, which includes Cheops' tomb, would be to close it forever.

If the flood of visitors continues, "in 10 years you will not find the tomb exists," Hawass warned.

However, the decision to close the pyramid can be made only by a 25-member committee, which fears the loss of tourism revenue.

The Great Pyramid and two other pyramids on the Giza Plateau are among the world's most recognizable and most visited monuments. The second pyramid, that of Chephren, will be closed for restoration on Feb. 15, Hawass said.

Cheops' pyramid is estimated to contain 2.3 million stone blocks each weighing an average 2.5 tons. Some weigh as much as 15 tons. [End quoting]

This is intended to be the "elite's" grand and glorious celebration—BUT it remains to be seen what they'll be celebrating. REMEMBER: GOD HAS A PLAN 2000! We are living in the most interesting of times—ever—on planet Earth!!

WHAT'S GOING ON AT THE GREAT PYRAMID EXPLORATIONS??

From the INTERNET, <HEOT@onelist.com>, 11/16/98: [quoting]

OFFICIAL STATEMENT: Dear Fellow Citizens of the World, My name is John Carlo. Me and my wife went to Egypt in August of 1998 to see the pyramids and Sphinx of Giza. During our stay there, we became friends with many of the villagers that live in Nazlet el Samman. (A village near the Giza Plateau.) They have told us that Dr. Zahi Hawass has been covering up many archaeological discoveries. These discoveries include secret chambers in the great pyramid and tunnels and chambers under the causeway. The villagers were very hesitant about talking to us because they were very fearful of Hawass and what they call his secret police that threatens them and their families if they talk to any of the tourists about the secret diggings. But me and my wife were not the average tourists who jumped off a bus, took a few pictures and left. We were there for 3 weeks and spent all of our time at the Giza Plateau. Because of this, we became very close to the villagers and developed many friendships. Back home in the United States we contacted Larry Hunter, a long time researcher who has been studying the Giza Plateau for 18 years. He has also stated that cover-ups are occurring at Giza. Could the Hall of Records have already been found? Is Hawass working with the Secret Government and Masonic societies to steal and plunder artifacts and ancient technologies that lie buried deep under the sands of Giza? I promised the villagers that upon my return home to the U.S., I would try to do something about this situation. This petition is a reflection of my promise to them. Those who are interested in this subject please search your hearts and sign this petition. I have linked to Larry Hunter's web page for more information concerning archaeological discoveries at Giza. If enough people sign this petition, I will deliver it to Dr. Zahi Hawass and the Egyptian antiquities personally when I return to Egypt in June of 1999. I will also submit it to the ambassador from Egypt in Washington, the United Nations and the major media networks. We can make a difference, folks!! We have a right to know the truth, if Edgar Cayce was correct in saying that the Giza complex was built by a long lost civilization that pre-existed our present known world. And considering that there are similar pyramid complexes that lie throughout the globe. That would mean that all mankind and the entire global neighborhood are direct descendents of this lost civilization. And ALL have the right to the secrets of these monuments in stone and not just the indigenous peoples who now happen to be sharing and living within the same borders with these precious architectural wonders that seem to be screaming out to us about our divine heritage and glorious past. If evidence of Atlantis becomes a reality, the Egyptian Authorities must change their policies concerning these monuments and the secrets they possess and come to grips with the world being a global community and that we all share in our divine past equally. We are all connected and all have the right to secret wisdom that lies under the sands of Giza. A better world is just around the corner. We are entering a new age of light that is ready to shine through. Let it be!! The evil ones of this world must be stopped. There are more hands in this play, also. As long as there is power, money, control and greed in this world, anything that will threaten their power will be subdued and silenced. What lies under the sands at giza makes them tremble with fear. It will undermine the socio-economic system of the world. It will make present-day technologies obsolete. It will destroy oil cartels, big business, take away the controlling hand of religions and undermine the people who now control our world. All of our lives, since childhood, we had lies and misconceptions thrown down our throat about religion, history and many of the sciences. Our children continue to be indoctrinated by a system that is corrupt and self serving, and its goals, along with the people who control, are to keep the masses in darkness of our true spiritual identities and to suppress our divine powers which would make us self sufficient in an ever increasing world of external merkaba [light?]. It is my humble opinion that the sons of Beliel from Atlantis still exist, hiding in our Masonic and religious organizations, creating havoc and conspiracy in our world. There is more to science than just computers and material gadgets. What lies under these ancient complexes are things of the spirit. Wisdom that has to do with the heart of man. Things that are often neglected in our world of material reality, our divine connection and relationship with God is the underlying purpose for our existence on this planet. It's time to bring our energies together into one unified voice. And take a stand for truth!! I would like to stress that this petition does not reflect violence, revolution, or taking a stand with negativity in any way. It is simply a way to let the powers that be in Egypt know that the people of the world are watching and taking interest in the red tape and political nonsense that is occurring at Giza. And also to give the average person a way to get involved and express their views and be heard. If the Hall of Records is to be opened, the human race must unify their efforts in love and strength. It is we who shape and create our reality. God works through us to make a difference in this world. Let us not be soldiers of violence, but be soldiers of love and truth!!! Together, we can do great things. Together, we have more power than anything in this world. Through meditation, prayer and unity this planet will change and become a beacon of light for all beings to see throughout the universe. GOD BLESS YOU ALL AND THANK YOU FOR GETTING INVOLVED!!—LOVE AND LIGHT JOHN AND MARIOLA CARLO.

RUSSIA: CALL TO LIMIT NUMBER OF JEWS IN PUBLIC OFFICE

From the INTERNET, courtesy of Calvin Burgin, <wrlldline@texas.net>, 11/16/98: [quoting]

In today's Moscow Radiostantsiya Ekho Moskvyy in Russian 0900 GMT, Russian Duma deputy Albert Makashov has called for legislative measures to be taken to limit the number of Jews in public office positions. He has said this in an interview to the Italian La Stampa newspaper. — [End quoting]

One can but wonder why such a call would be made to limit the power of just this one element of society. CONTACT readers need only go back and read our series from earlier this year reprinting Henry Ford Senior's Dearborn Independant material from the early 1920s to begin to formulate an answer. The facts of the matter are as true here in the United States as in Russia.

TAMPONS CAUSE CANCER??

From the INTERNET, <paradiscuss@tje.net>, 11/13/98: [quoting]

Hi All, this one is going to blow your mind! It's no wonder so many people get cancer. Unbelievable! —Vicki

To all: I don't know about the asbestos, but I do know that the rayon & bleaching info is true. (David: this is for Ivey.) Unfortunately the products from the alternate companies are incredibly expensive.

Something else to worry about!! I received this info from a friend, and I thought it was valuable. Whether or not YOU could use this information is up to you. For sure you know some woman or young girl that could. Truth to any of it? I don't know. But is it worth the risk?

Please feel free to pass it on and let's take a stand on our health.

Many tampon makers include asbestos in the tampon. Why? Because asbestos makes you bleed more...if you bleed more, you use more. Why wasn't this against the law since asbestos is so dangerous? Because the powers that be, in all their wisdom (not), did not consider tampons as being ingested, and therefore wasn't illegal or considered dangerous. This month's Essence magazine has a small article about this and they mention two manufacturers of a cotton tampon alternative.

The companies are Organic Essentials at (800) 765-6491 and the Black-owned Terra Femme at (800) 755-0212.

A woman getting her Ph.D. at the University of Colorado at Boulder sent this:

Read on if you value your health ...

I am writing this because women are not being informed about the dangers of something most of us use—tampons. I'm taking a class this month and I have been learning a lot about biology and the woman, including much about feminine hygiene. Recently we have learned that tampons are actually dangerous (for other reasons than TSS). Read on if you're interested, if not, that's fine too. But I'll tell you this after learning about this in our class, most of the females wound up feeling angry and upset with the tampon industry, and I for one, am going to do something about it. To start, I want to inform everyone I can, and e-mail is the fastest way that I know how.

HERE'S THE SCOOP: Tampons contain two things that are potentially harmful:

Rayon (for absorbency) and dioxin (a chemical used in bleaching the products).

The tampon industry is convinced that we, as women, need bleached white products—they seem to think that we view the product as pure and clean. The problem here is that the dioxin produced in this bleaching process can lead to very harmful problems for a woman. Dioxin is potentially carcinogenic (cancer-associated) and is toxic to the immune and reproductive systems. It has been linked to endometriosis as well as lower sperm counts for men—for both, it breaks down the immune system.

Last September the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) reported that there really is no set "acceptable" level of exposure to dioxin—given that it is cumulative and slow to disintegrate, the real danger comes from repeated contact (Karen Houppert, "Pulling the Plug on the Tampon Industry"). I'd say using about 5 tampons a day, five days a month, for 38 menstruating years is "repeated contact", wouldn't you?

Rayon contributes to the danger of tampons and dioxin because it is a highly absorbent substance and therefore when fibers from the tampons are left behind in the vagina (as usually occurs), it creates a breeding ground for the dioxin, and stays in a lot longer than it would with just cotton tampons. This is also the reason why TSS (toxic shock syndrome) occurs.

WHAT ARE THE ALTERNATIVES? Using feminine hygiene products that aren't bleached (which causes the dioxin) and that are all cotton (the rayon will leave fibers and "breeding grounds" in the vagina). Other feminine hygiene products (pads/napkins) contain dioxin as well, but they are not nearly as dangerous since they are not in direct contact with the vagina. The pads/napkins need to stop being bleached, but obviously tampons are the most dangerous. So, what can you do if you can't give up using tampons? Use tampons that are made from 100% cotton, and that are unbleached. Unfortunately, there are very, very few companies that make these safe tampons. They are usually only found in health food stores.

Countries all over the world (Sweden, Germany, British Columbia, etc.) have demanded a switch to this safer tampon, while the U.S. has decided to keep us in the dark about it. In 1989, activists in England mounted a campaign against chlorine bleaching. Six weeks and 50,000 letters later, the makers of sanitary products switched to oxygen bleaching (one of the green methods available). (Ms. magazine, May/June 1995).

Personally I think it's time that the U.S. switches, and we need to make our voices heard.

WHAT TO DO NOW: Tell people. Everyone. Inform them. We are being manipulated by this industry and the government; let's do something about it! Tell everyone to write to the companies—Tampax (Tambrands), Playtex, O.B., Kotex.

Call the 1-800 numbers on the boxes. LET THEM KNOW THAT WE DEMAND A SAFE

PRODUCT—ALL-COTTON, UNBLEACHED TAMPONS. [End quoting]

Again, the “elite” will use any method to “bleed” us. Isn’t it time we stand up and do something about it?

MY SON IS MISSING

From GUIDEPOSTS, Sep. 1998, P.O. Box 1479, Carmel, NY 10512: [quoting]

Wednesday, August 7, 1996

It was around four in the afternoon when my friend Kappy and I headed back toward Turtle Creek, our buckets full of fresh-picked blueberries. We had left the kids swimming there. I saw my 12-year-old daughter, Jayne, heading up the path toward us.

“Mom, did Taylor come by?” she asked.

“No, he didn’t,” I said. I had assumed her 10-year-old brother, Taylor, would stay close to her. Taylor has autism, a neurological disorder that is characterized by speech and learning impairment and shows itself in unusual responses to people and surroundings. Even though Taylor’s form of autism is moderate, and he’s able to do a lot for himself, he still needs to be looked after.

“Well, we can’t find him,” Jayne said.

I tore down to the creek. The only people there were a woman and infant at the water’s edge. “Did you see a boy swim by here?” I asked.

“Yes,” she answered. “About ten or fifteen minutes ago, I guess.”

My eye followed the creek. Just a bit farther downstream it disappeared into a thick swamp full of ‘gators, rattlesnakes and water moccasins. In February 1995, four Army Rangers died of hypothermia while on a survival-training mission there.

Panicked, I jumped into the creek and waded as fast as I could in the direction of the swamp. “Taylor!” I screamed. “Taylor! Where are you?” The water got deeper and the creek narrowed. Heavy brush and brambles choked the banks. He couldn’t have gotten far, I thought, trying to calm myself. He’s a good swimmer, and he loves the water, but he just floats with the current. I’ll find him soon.

The creek was only about six feet wide at that point. The tangled roots of trees were exposed, and a draping of thick vines hung everywhere. Not much Sunlight got through. I tried to climb the bank a couple of times, so I could walk alongside the creek, but there was no way I could break through the overgrowth. The thought struck hard: Taylor wouldn’t have been able to climb out either. He must be up ahead!

I pressed forward, but the farther I went, the harder it was to move. I have to get help. I turned and fought my way back upstream. When I finally slogged out of the creek I found that Kappy had called nearby Elgin Air Force Base, and a rescue team was on the way.

The woman who had seen Taylor float by was crying. She rushed up to me, exclaiming, “I’m so sorry. He seemed to know what he was doing. I had no idea...” Then she grabbed my arm and said, “Listen, I don’t know if you believe in God, but I do. We have to pray. Right here and right now.” She bowed her head, closed her eyes and started asking for Taylor’s safe return.

Soon, my husband, Ray, showed up. He had been notified by the sheriffs department.

“Everything’s going to be all right,” he told me. “They’ll find him.”

Hours passed, and despite the swamp full of searchers, there was no sign of Taylor. The sky grew dark, then pitch-black. The search was called off until first light. Around 11:00 P.M. Ray took me home.

Thursday, August 8

I didn’t sleep much; maybe an hour or so. Around 5:00 A.M. Ray and I headed back to Turtle Creek. (We sent Jayne to stay with some friends.) There was a makeshift headquarters set up for the search-and-rescue teams, right where Taylor was last seen. Air Force men slipped into the swamp with search dogs, hoping to catch a scent in the early-morning stillness. Searchers arrived by the busload: Army Rangers, Air Force personnel, members of the sheriffs department, volunteers. Our priest, Ed Campbell of Saint Simon’s on the Sound, came. “The congregation is praying for you,” he told us. I felt as if I were watching a movie, as if none of this were really happening.

Sometime that morning there was a report that footprints had been found alongside the creek. My hopes surged, but receded just as quickly. How could he have gotten out? I wondered. I saw the brush there. No way. And Taylor wouldn’t have tried, I thought. He may be autistic, but he is not stupid.

When Taylor was first diagnosed as autistic I didn’t know he had anything going on in his head. He lives in a sort of shell, and often fixes all his attention on one simple thing. He repeats what is said to him or around him, a phenomenon known as echolalia. He also squeals and makes odd noises. Taylor is intelligent; it’s just that it’s difficult for him to communicate. I decided that the only way he could have anything like a normal life was to let him do the things normal kids did: Go swimming, visit neighbors, take risks that any other child was permitted to take.

I remembered once when I got a call from a neighbor. She told me Taylor had walked right into her house, gone to the kitchen, opened the fridge and taken out a carton of milk. He slapped it down on the counter and was standing there looking at her. “What should I do?” she had asked.

“Well,” I had said, “if I were you, I’d give him some milk.”

Taylor often did things like that—brash, almost daring. He loved junk food. Once, he set off on his own, heading to a nearby store to get more chips after he’d run out.

I would never have let him do anything dangerous, but I also didn’t want to be overprotective. What if I was wrong to let him have so much freedom? I thought, staring into the murky swamp. Oh, God, what if I was wrong?

Again that night, I barely slept. A violent thunderstorm rocked the house. Taylor is out there somewhere right now, all alone, I thought as heavy drops of rain pelted the roof. God, please let him be okay.

Friday, August 9

We were back at Turtle Creek at dawn. “Sorry,” one of the searchers told me, “but we were wrong about those footprints yesterday. They weren’t your son’s.” I had doubted the footprints could have been Taylor’s. Still, one of my last shreds of hope was snatched away.

“We’ve all got a little autism in us,” I had said jokingly in the past. The way I felt now, I realized how true my “joke” was. I was numb, isolated. Even though there was so much activity—all those searchers, on foot and in helicopters with heat-seeking infrared tracking systems—it seemed as if nothing were going on. Ray stood by me, and so did our priest, friends and family. But none of them could reach me. It was as if I were seeing the world through someone else’s eyes, and hearing with someone else’s ears.

The day passed with no sign of Taylor. I went home for another sleepless night.

Saturday, August 10

We dragged ourselves back to the creek again. My nerves were shot. I thought about Taylor out there in the swamp. There was nothing more I could do for him. I knew then, at that moment as the Sun came up, that I had to prepare myself for whatever might happen.

Around midday an old friend came walking down the road to Turtle Creek. “What do you need me to do?” he asked.

“Take me home,” I said. “I’m so tired. I just want to go home.”

After he dropped me off at the house, I went into Taylor’s room. My gaze fell on the stuffed leopard he took with him everywhere. I picked it up and held it close, then took it to my room and tucked it under my pillow. I collapsed on the bed. I didn’t know if my boy was afraid, or even if he was alive. God, Taylor is in your hands now, I prayed. Whatever happens, I know he’ll be safe with you.

Sunday, August 11

I got up that morning in a sort of fog. I made some coffee and sat at the kitchen table. Ray had already left for Turtle Creek; I was going to head over later. Around 7:30 A.M. I was just about to get into the car when the phone rang. I ran back to answer.

“They found him!” shouted Ray, on the other end of the line.

His words didn’t register. “What?”

“They found him! He’s on the way to the hospital right now.”

I raced to the hospital, getting there right before the ambulance.

After it pulled up I saw Taylor walk out of it. He was taken into the emergency room, with me at his heels. He was exhausted and covered with cuts, but exams showed he was otherwise fine.

The searchers had covered 36 square miles, but Taylor had somehow moved beyond their range. He had floated and swum 14 miles through impassable swamp, ending up in the East Bay River, where he was found by a fisherman named Jimmie Potts.

Some people have said his survival was a miracle. To me it was no more miraculous than the first time he said “Mommy”. When asked what happened during his trek, all he’ll say is, “I see fish, lots of fish.” Perhaps his autism—the very thing that makes it so difficult for him to communicate—kept him from getting scared and helped him focus on nothing other than swimming. I don’t really know, and I probably never will. I do know that God took care of my son. Then again, God has always protected him.

Taylor is safe in His hands. —Suzanne Touchstone, Fort Walton Beach, Florida [End quoting]

THE BATTLE FOR YOUR MIND

Persuasion & Brainwashing Techniques Being Used On The Public Today

SUMMARY OF CONTENTS

The Birth of Conversion/Brainwashing in Christian Revivalism in 1735. The Pavlovian explanation of the three brain phases. Born-again preachers: Step-by-Step, how they conduct a revival and the expected physiological results. The "voice roll" technique used by preachers, lawyers and hypnotists. New trance-inducing churches. The 6 steps to conversion. The decognition process. Thought-stopping techniques. The "sell it by zealot" technique. True believers and mass movements. Persuasion techniques: "Yes set", "Imbedded Commands", "Shock and Confusion", and the "Interspersal Technique". Subliminals, Vibrato and ELF waves. Inducing trance with vibrational sound. Even professional observers will be "possessed" at charismatic gatherings. The "only hope" technique to attend and not be converted. Non-detectable Neurophone programming through the skin. The medium for mass take-over.

I'm Dick Sutphen and this tape is a studio-recorded, expanded version of a talk I delivered at the World Congress of Professional Hypnotists Convention in Las Vegas, Nevada. Although the tape carries a copyright to protect it from unlawful duplication for sale by other companies, in this case, I invite individuals to make copies and give them to friends or anyone in a position to communicate this information.

Although I've been interviewed about the subject on many local and regional radio and TV talk-shows, large-scale mass communication appears to be blocked, since it could result in suspicion or investigation of the very media presenting it or the sponsors that support the media. Some government agencies do not want this information generally known. Nor do the Born-Again Christian movement, cults, and many human-potential trainings.

Everything I will relate only exposes the surface of the problem. I don't know how the misuse of these techniques can be stopped. I don't think it is possible to legislate against that which often cannot be detected; and if those who legislate are using these techniques, there is little hope of affecting laws to govern usage. I do know that the first step to initiate change is to generate interest. In this case, that will probably only result from an underground effort.

In talking about this subject, I am talking about my own business. I know it, and I know how effective it can be. I produce hypnosis and subliminal tapes and, in some of my seminars, I use conversion tactics to assist participants to become independent and self-sufficient. But, anytime I use these techniques, I point out that I am using them, and those attending have a choice to participate or not. They also know what the desired result of participation will be.

So, to begin, I want to state the most basic of all facts about brainwashing: IN THE ENTIRE HISTORY OF MAN, NO ONE HAS EVER BEEN BRAINWASHED AND REALIZED, OR BELIEVED, THAT HE HAD BEEN BRAINWASHED.

Those who have been brainwashed will usually passionately defend their manipulators, claiming they have simply been "shown the light"—or have been transformed in miraculous ways.

THE BIRTH OF CONVERSION

CONVERSION is a "nice" word for BRAINWASHING—and any study of brainwashing has to begin with a study of Christian revivalism in eighteenth century America. Apparently, Jonathan Edwards accidentally discovered the techniques during a religious crusade in 1735 in Northampton, Massachusetts. By inducing guilt and acute apprehension and by increasing the tension, the "sinners" attending his revival meetings would break down and completely submit. Technically, what Edwards was doing was creating conditions that wipe the brain slate clean so that the mind accepts new programming. The problem was that the new input was negative. He would tell them, "You're a sinner! You're destined for hell!"

As a result, one person committed suicide and another attempted suicide. And the neighbors of the suicidal converts related that they, too, were affected so deeply that, although they had found "eternal salvation", they were obsessed with a diabolical temptation to end their own lives.

Once a preacher, cult leader, manipulator or authority figure creates the brain phase to wipe the brain-slate clean, his subjects are wide open. New input, in the form of suggestion, can be substituted for their previous ideas. Because Edwards didn't turn his message positive until the end of the revival, many accepted the negative suggestions and acted, or desired to act, upon them.

Charles J. Finney was another Christian revivalist who used the same techniques four years later in mass religious conversions in New York. The techniques are still being used today by Christian revivalists, cults, human-potential trainings, some business rallies, and the United States Armed Services—to name just a few.

Let me point out here that I don't think most revivalist preachers realize or know they are using brainwashing techniques. Edwards simply stumbled upon a technique that really worked, and others copied it and have continued to copy it for over two hundred years. And the more sophisticated our knowledge and technology become, the more effective the conversion. I feel strongly that this is one of the major reasons for the increasing rise in Christian fundamentalism, especially the televised variety, while most of the orthodox religions are declining.

THE THREE BRAIN PHASES

The Christians may have been the first to successfully formulate brainwashing, but we have to look to Pavlov, the Russian scientist, for a technical explanation. In the early 1900s, his work with animals opened the door to further investigations with humans. After the revolution in Russia, Lenin was quick to see the potential of applying Pavlov's research to his own ends.

Three distinct and progressive states of transmarginal inhibition were identified by Pavlov. The first is the EQUIVALENT phase, in which the brain gives the same response to both strong and weak stimuli. The second is the PARADOXICAL phase, in which the brain responds more actively to weak stimuli than to strong. And the third is the ULTRA-PARADOXICAL phase, in which conditioned responses and behavior patterns turn from positive to negative or from negative to positive.

With the progression through each phase, the degree of conversion becomes more effective and complete. The ways to achieve conversion are many and varied, but the usual first step in religious or political brainwashing is to work on the emotions of an individual or group until they reach an abnormal level of anger, fear, excitement, or nervous tension.

The progressive result of this mental condition is to impair judgement and increase suggestibility. The more this condition can be maintained or intensified, the more it compounds. Once catharsis, or the first brain phase, is reached, the complete mental takeover becomes easier. Existing mental programming can be replaced with new patterns of thinking and behavior.

Other often-used physiological weapons to modify normal brain functions are fasting, radical or high sugar diets, physical discomforts, regulation of breathing, mantra chanting in meditation, the disclosure of awesome mysteries, special lighting and sound effects, programed response to incense, or intoxicating drugs.

The same results can be obtained in contemporary psychiatric treatment by electric shock treatments and even by purposely lowering a person's blood sugar level with insulin injections.

Before I talk about exactly how some of the techniques are applied, I want to point out that hypnosis and conversion tactics are two distinctly different things—and that conversion techniques are far more powerful. However, the two are often mixed...with powerful results.

HOW REVIVALIST PREACHERS WORK

If you'd like to see a revivalist preacher at work, there are probably several in your city. Go to the church or tent early and sit in the rear, about three-quarters of the way back. Most likely repetitive music will be played while the people come in for the service. A repetitive beat, ideally ranging from 45 to 72 beats per minute (a rhythm close to the beat of the human heart), is very hypnotic and can generate an eyes-open altered state of consciousness in a very high percentage of people. And, once you are in an alpha state, you are at least 25 times as suggestible as you would be in full beta consciousness. The music is probably the same for every service, or incorporates the same beat, and many of the people will go into an altered state almost immediately upon entering the sanctuary. Subconsciously, they recall their state of mind from previous services and respond according to the post-hypnotic programming.

Watch the people waiting for the service to begin. Many will exhibit external signs of trance—body relaxation and slightly dilated eyes. Often, they begin swaying back and forth with their hands in the air while sitting in their chairs. Next, the assistant pastor will probably come out. He usually speaks with a pretty good "voice roll".

VOICE ROLL TECHNIQUE

A "voice roll" is a patterned, paced style used by hypnotists when inducing a trance. It is also used by many lawyers, several of whom are highly trained hypnotists, when they desire to entrench a point firmly in the minds of the jurors. A voice roll can sound as if the speaker were talking to the beat of a metronome or it may sound as though he were emphasizing every word in a monotonous, patterned style. The words will usually be delivered at the rate of 45 to 60 beats per minute, maximizing the hypnotic effect.

Now the assistant pastor begins the "build-up" process. He induces an altered state of consciousness and/or begins to generate the excitement and the expectations of the audience. Next, a group of young women in "sweet and pure" chiffon dresses might come out to sing a song. Gospel songs are great for building excitement and INVOLVEMENT. In the middle of the song, one of the girls might be "smitten by the spirit" and fall down or react as if possessed by the Holy Spirit. This very effectively increases the intensity in the room. At this point, hypnosis and conversion tactics are being mixed. And the result is the audience's attention span is now totally focused upon the communication while the environment becomes more exciting or tense.

Right about this time, when an eyes-open mass-induced alpha mental state has been achieved, they will usually pass the collection plate or basket. In the background, a 45-beat-per-minute voice roll from the assistant preacher might exhort, "Give to God...Give to God...Give to God..." And the audience does give. God may not get the money, but his already wealthy representative will.

Next, the fire-and-brimstone preacher will come out. He induces fear and increases the tension by talking about "the devil", "going to hell", or the forthcoming Armageddon.

In the last such rally I attended, the preacher talked about the blood that would soon be running out of every faucet in the land. He was also obsessed with a "bloody axe of God", which everyone had seen hanging above the pulpit the previous week. I have no doubt that everyone saw it—the power of suggestion given to hundreds of people in hypnosis assures that at least 10 to 25 percent would see whatever he suggested they see.

In most revivalist gatherings, "testifying" or "witnessing" usually follows the fear-based sermon. People from the audience come up on stage and relate their stories. "I was crippled and now I can walk!" "I had arthritis and now it's gone!" It is a psychological manipulation that works. After listening to numerous case histories of miraculous healings, the average guy in the audience with a minor problem is sure he can be healed. The room is charged with fear, guilt, intense excitement, and expectations.

Now those who want to be healed are frequently lined up around the edge of the room, or they are told to come down to the front. The preacher might touch them on the head firmly and scream, "Be healed!" This releases the psychic energy and, for many, catharsis results. Catharsis is a purging of repressed emotions. Individuals might cry, fall down or even go into spasms. And if catharsis is effected, they stand a chance of being healed. In catharsis (one of the three brain phases mentioned earlier), the brain-slate is temporarily wiped clean and the new suggestion is accepted.

For some, the healing may be permanent. For many, it will last four days to a week, which is, incidentally, how long a hypnotic suggestion given to a somnambulistic subject will usually last. Even if the healing doesn't last, if they come back every week, the power of suggestion may continually override the problem—or sometimes, sadly, it can mask a physical problem which could prove to be very detrimental to the individual in the long run.

I'm not saying that legitimate healings do not take place. They do. Maybe the individual was ready to let go of the negativity that caused the problem in the first place; maybe it was the work of God. Yet I contend that it can be explained with existing knowledge of brain/mind function.

The techniques and staging will vary from church to church. Many use "speaking in tongues" to generate catharsis in some while the spectacle creates intense excitement in the observers.

The use of hypnotic techniques by religions is sophisticated, and professionals are assuring that they become even more effective. A man in Los Angeles is designing, building, and reworking a lot of churches around the country. He tells ministers what they need and how to use it. This man's track record indicates that the congregation and the monetary income will double if the minister follows his instructions. He admits that about 80 percent of his efforts are in the sound system and lighting.

Powerful sound and the proper use of lighting are of primary importance in inducing an altered state of consciousness—I've been using them for years in my own seminars. However, my participants are fully aware of the process and what they can expect as a result of their participation.

SIX CONVERSION TECHNIQUES

Cults and human-potential organizations are always looking for new converts. To attain them, they must also create a brain-phase. And they often need to do it within a short space of time—a weekend, or maybe even a day. The following are the six primary techniques used to generate the conversion. The meeting or training takes place in an area where participants are cut off from the outside world. This may be any place: a private home, a remote or rural setting, or even a hotel ballroom where the participants are allowed only limited bathroom usage. In human-potential trainings, the controllers will give a lengthy talk about the importance of "keeping agreements" in life. The participants are told that if they don't keep agreements, their life will never work. It's a good idea to keep agreements, but the controllers are subverting a positive human value for selfish purposes. The participants vow to themselves and their trainer that they will keep their agreements. Anyone who does not will be intimidated into agreement or forced to leave. The next step is to agree to complete training, thus assuring a high percentage of conversions for the organizations. They will USUALLY have to agree not to take drugs, smoke, and sometimes not to eat—or they are given such short meal breaks that it creates tension. The real reason for the agreements is to alter internal chemistry, which generates anxiety and hopefully causes at least a slight malfunction of the nervous system, which in turn increases the conversion potential.

Before the gathering is complete, the agreements will be used to ensure that the new converts go out and find new participants. They are intimidated into agreeing to do so before they leave. Since the importance of keeping agreements is so high on their priority list, the converts will twist the arms of everyone they know, attempting to talk them into attending a free introductory session offered at a future date by the organization. The new converts are zealots. In fact, the inside term for merchandising the largest and most successful human-potential training is, "sell it by zealot!"

At least a million people are graduates and a good percentage have been left with a mental activation button that assures their future loyalty and assistance if the guru figure or organization calls. Think about the potential political implications of hundreds of thousands of zealots programmed to campaign for their guru.

Be wary of an organization of this type that offers follow-up sessions after the seminar. Follow-up sessions might be weekly meetings or inexpensive seminars given on a regular basis which the organization will attempt to talk you into taking—or any regularly scheduled event used to maintain control. As the early Christian revivalists found, long-term control is dependent upon a good follow-up system.

Alright. Now, let's look at the second tip-off that indicates conversion tactics are being used. A schedule is maintained that causes physical and mental fatigue. This is primarily accomplished by long hours in which the participants are given no opportunity for relaxation or reflection.

The third tip-off: techniques used to increase the tension in the room or environment.

Number four: Uncertainty. I could spend hours relating various techniques to increase tension and generate uncertainty. Basically, the participants are concerned about being “put on the spot” or encountered by the trainers, guilt feelings are played upon, participants are tempted to verbally relate their innermost secrets to the other participants or forced to take part in activities that emphasize removing their masks. One of the most successful human-potential seminars forces the participants to stand on a stage in front of the entire audience while being verbally attacked by the trainers. A public opinion poll, conducted a few years ago, showed that the number one most-fearful situation an individual could encounter is to speak to an audience. It ranked above window washing outside the 85th floor of an office building. So you can imagine the fear and tension this situation generates within the participants. Many faint, but most cope with the stress by mentally going away. They literally go into an alpha state, which automatically makes them many times as suggestible as they normally are. And another loop of the downward spiral into conversion is successfully effected.

The fifth clue that conversion tactics are being used is the introduction of jargon—new terms that have meaning only to the “insiders” who participate. Vicious language is also frequently used, purposely, to make participants uncomfortable.

The final tip-off is that there is no humor in the communications—at least until the participants are converted. Then, merry-making and humor are highly desirable as symbols of the new joy the participants have supposedly “found”.

I’m not saying that good does not result from participation in such gatherings. It can and does. But I contend it is important for people to know what has happened and to be aware that continual involvement may not be in their best interest.

Over the years, I’ve conducted professional seminars to teach people to be hypnotists, trainers, and counselors. I’ve had many of those who conduct trainings and rallies come to me and say, “I’m here because I know that what I’m doing works, but I don’t know why.” After showing them how and why, many have gotten out of the business or have decided to approach it differently or in a much more loving and supportive manner.

Many of these trainers have become personal friends, and it scares us all to have experienced the power of one person with a microphone and a room full of people. Add a little charisma and you can count on a high percentage of conversions. The sad truth is that a high percentage of people want to give away their power—they are true “believers”!

Cult gatherings or human-potential trainings are an ideal environment to observe first-hand what is technically called the “Stockholm Syndrome”. This is a situation in which those who are intimidated, controlled, or made to suffer, begin to love, admire, and even sometimes sexually desire their controllers or captors.

But let me inject a word of warning here: If you think you can attend such gatherings and not be affected, you are probably wrong. A perfect example is the case of a woman who went to Haiti on a Guggenheim Fellowship to study Haitian Voodoo. In her report, she related how the music eventually induced uncontrollable bodily movement and an altered state of consciousness. Although she understood the process and thought herself above it, when she began to feel herself become vulnerable to the music, she attempted to fight it and turned away. Anger or resistance almost always assures conversion. A few moments later she was possessed by the music and began dancing in a trance around the Voodoo meeting house. A brain phase had been induced by the music and excitement, and she awoke feeling reborn. The only hope of attending such gatherings without being affected is to be a Buddha and allow no positive or negative emotions to surface. Few people are capable of such detachment.

Before I go on, let’s go back to the six tip-offs to conversion. I want to mention the United States Government and military boot camp.

The Marine Corps talks about breaking men down before “rebuilding” them as new men—as Marines! Well, that is exactly what they do, the same way a cult breaks its people down and rebuilds them as happy flower sellers on your local street corner. Every one of the six conversion techniques are used in boot camp. Considering the needs of the military, I’m not making a judgement as to whether that is good or bad. IT IS A FACT that the men are effectively brainwashed. Those who won’t submit must be discharged or spend much of their time in the brig.

DECOGNITION PROCESS

Once the initial conversion is effected, cults, armed services, and similar groups cannot have cynicism among their members. Members must respond to commands and do as they are told, otherwise they are dangerous to the organizational control. This is normally accomplished in a three-step Decognition Process.

Step One is ALERTNESS REDUCTION: The controllers cause the nervous system to malfunction, making it difficult to distinguish between fantasy and reality. This can be accomplished in several ways. POOR DIET is one; watch out for Brownies and Koolaid. The sugar throws the nervous system off. More subtle is the “SPIRITUAL DIET” used by many cults. They eat only vegetables and fruits; without the grounding of grains, nuts, seeds, dairy products, fish or meat, an individual becomes mentally “spacey”. INADEQUATE SLEEP is another primary way to reduce alertness, especially when combined with long hours of work or intense physical activity. Also, being bombarded with intense and unique experiences achieves the same result.

Step Two is PROGRAMED CONFUSION: You are mentally assaulted while your alertness is being reduced as in Step One. This is accomplished with a deluge of new information, lectures, discussion groups, encounters or one-to-one processing, which usually amounts to the controller bombarding the individual with questions. During this phase of decognition, reality and illusion often merge and perverted logic is likely to be accepted.

Step Three is THOUGHT STOPPING: Techniques are used to cause the mind to go “flat”. These are altered-state-of-consciousness techniques that initially induce calmness by giving the mind something simple to deal with and focusing awareness. The continued use brings on a feeling of elation and eventually hallucination. The result is the reduction of thought and eventually, if used long enough, the cessation of all thought and withdrawal from everyone and everything except that which the controllers direct. The takeover is then complete. It is important to be aware that when members or participants are instructed to use “thought-stopping” techniques, they are told that they will benefit by so doing: they will become “better soldiers” or “find enlightenment”.

There are three primary techniques used for thought stopping. The first is MARCHING: the thump, thump, thump beat literally generates self-hypnosis and thus great susceptibility to suggestion.

The second thought-stopping technique is MEDITATION. If you spend an hour to an hour and a half a day in meditation, after a few weeks, there is a great probability that you will not return to full beta consciousness. You will remain in a fixed state of alpha for as long as you continue to meditate. I’m not saying this is bad—if you do it yourself. It may be very beneficial. But it is a fact that you are causing your mind to go flat. I’ve worked with meditators on an EEG machine and the results are conclusive: the more you meditate, the flatter your mind becomes until, eventually and especially if used to excess or in combination with decognition, all thought ceases. Some spiritual groups see this as nirvana—which is bullshit. It is simply a predictable physiological result. And if heaven on Earth is non-thinking and non-involvement, I really question why we are here.

The third thought-stopping technique is CHANTING, and often chanting in meditation. “Speaking in tongues” could also be included in this category.

All three thought-stopping techniques produce an altered state of consciousness. This may be very good if YOU are controlling the process, for you also control the input. I personally use at least one self-hypnosis programming session every day and I know how beneficial it is for me. But you need to know if you use these techniques to the degree of remaining continually in alpha that, although you’ll be very mellow, you’ll also be more suggestible.

TRUE BELIEVERS & MASS MOVEMENTS

Before ending this section on conversion, I want to talk about the people who are most susceptible to it and about Mass Movements. I am convinced that at least a third of the population is what Eric Hoffer calls “true believers”. They are joiners and followers—people who want to give away their power. They look for answers, meaning, and enlightenment outside themselves.

Hoffer, who wrote The True Believer, a classic on mass movements, says, “true believers are not intent on bolstering and advancing a cherished self, but are those craving to be rid of unwanted self. They are followers, not because of a desire for self-advancement, but because it can satisfy their passion for self-renunciation!” Hoffer also says that true believers “are eternally incomplete and eternally insecure”!

I know this from my own experience. In my years of communicating concepts and conducting trainings, I have run into them again and again. All I can do is attempt to show them that the only thing to seek is the True Self within. Their personal answers are to be found there and there alone. I communicate that the basics of spirituality are self-responsibility and self-actualization. But most of the true believers just tell me that I'm not spiritual and go looking for someone who will give them the dogma and structure they desire. Never underestimate the potential danger of these people. They can easily be molded into fanatics who will gladly work and die for their holy cause. It is a substitute for their lost faith in themselves and offers them as a substitute for individual hope. The Moral Majority is made up of true believers. All cults are composed of true believers. You'll find them in politics, churches, businesses, and social cause groups. They are the fanatics in these organizations.

Mass Movements will usually have a charismatic leader. The followers want to convert others to their way of living or impose a new way of life—if necessary, by legislating laws forcing others to their view, as evidenced by the activities of the Moral Majority. This means enforcement by guns or punishment, for that is the bottomline in law enforcement.

A common hatred, enemy, or devil is essential to the success of a mass movement. The Born-Again Christians have Satan himself, but that isn't enough—they've added the occult, the New Age thinkers and, lately, all those who oppose their integration of church and politics, as evidenced in their political reelection campaigns against those who oppose their views. In revolutions, the devil is usually the ruling power or aristocracy. Some human-potential movements are far too clever to ask their graduates to join anything, thus labeling themselves as a cult—but, if you look closely, you'll find that their devil is anyone and everyone who hasn't taken their training. There are mass movements without devils but they seldom attain major status. The True Believers are mentally unbalanced or insecure people, or those without hope or friends. People don't look for allies when they love, but they do when they hate or become obsessed with a cause. And those who desire a new life and a new order feel the old ways must be eliminated before the new order can be built.

PERSUASION TECHNIQUES

Persuasion isn't technically brainwashing but it is the manipulation of the human mind by another individual, without the manipulated party being aware what caused his opinion shift. I only have time to very basically introduce you to a few of the thousands of techniques in use today, but the basis of persuasion is always to access your RIGHT BRAIN. The left half of your brain is analytical and rational. The right side is creative and imaginative. That is overly simplified but it makes my point. So, the idea is to distract the left brain and keep it busy. Ideally, the persuader generates an eyes-open altered state of consciousness, causing you to shift from beta awareness into alpha; this can be measured on an EEG machine.

First, let me give you an example of distracting the left brain. Politicians use these powerful techniques all the time; lawyers use many variations which, I've been told, they call "tightening the noose".

Assume for a moment that you are watching a politician give a speech. First, he might generate what is called a "YES SET". These are statements that will cause listeners to agree; they might even unknowingly nod their heads in agreement. Next come the TRUISMS. These are usually facts that could be debated but, once the politician has his audience agreeing, the odds are in the politician's favor that the audience won't stop to think for themselves, thus continuing to agree. Last comes the SUGGESTION. This is what the politician wants you to do and, since you have been agreeing all along, you could be persuaded to accept the suggestion. Now, if you'll listen closely to my political speech [following], you'll find that the first three are the "yes set", the next three are truisms and the last is the suggestion.

"Ladies and gentlemen: are you angry about high food prices? Are you tired of astronomical gas prices? Are you sick of out-of-control inflation? Well, you know the Other Party allowed 18 percent inflation last year; you know crime has increased 50 percent nationwide in the last 12 months, and you know your paycheck hardly covers your expenses any more. Well, the answer to resolving these problems is to elect me, John Jones, to the U.S. Senate."

And I think you've heard all that before. But you might also watch for what are called Imbedded Commands. As an example: On key words, the speaker would make a gesture with his left hand, which research has shown is more apt to access your right brain. Today's media-oriented politicians and spellbinders are often carefully trained by a whole new breed of specialist who are using every trick in the book—both old and new—to manipulate you into accepting their candidate.

The concepts and techniques of Neuro-Linguistics are so heavily protected that I found out the hard way that to even talk about them publicly or in print results in threatened legal action. Yet Neuro-Linguistic training is readily available to anyone willing to devote the time and pay the price. It is some of the most subtle and powerful manipulation I have yet been exposed to. A good friend who recently attended a two-week seminar on Neuro-Linguistics found that many of those she talked to during the breaks were government people.

Another technique that I'm just learning about is unbelievably slippery; it is called an INTERSPERSAL TECHNIQUE and the idea is to say one thing with words but plant a subconscious impression of something else in the minds of the listeners and/or watchers.

Let me give you an example: Assume you are watching a television commentator make the following statement: "SENATOR JOHNSON is assisting local authorities to clear up the stupid mistakes of companies contributing to the nuclear waste problems." It sounds like a statement of fact, but, if the speaker emphasizes the right word, and especially if he makes the proper hand gestures on the key words, you could be left with the subconscious impression that Senator Johnson is stupid. That was the subliminal goal of the statement and the speaker cannot be called to account for anything.

Persuasion techniques are also frequently used on a much smaller scale with just as much effectiveness. The insurance salesman knows his pitch is likely to be much more effective if he can get you to visualize something in your mind. This is right-brain communication. For instance, he might pause in his conversation, look slowly around your livingroom and say, "Can you just imagine this beautiful home burning to the ground?" Of course you can! It is one of your unconscious fears and, when he forces you to visualize it, you are more likely to be manipulated into signing for his insurance policy.

The Hare Krishnas, operating in every airport, use what I call SHOCK AND CONFUSION techniques to distract the left brain and communicate directly with the right brain. While waiting for a plane, I once watched one operate for over an hour. He had a technique of almost jumping in front of someone. Initially, his voice was loud then dropped as he made his pitch to take a book and contribute money to the cause. Usually, when people are shocked, they immediately withdraw. In this case they were shocked by the strange appearance, sudden materialization and loud voice of the Hare Krishna devotee. In other words, the people went into an alpha state for security because they didn't want to confront the reality before them. In alpha, they were highly suggestible so they responded to the suggestion of taking the book; the moment they took the book, they felt guilty and responded to the second suggestion: give money. We are all conditioned that if someone gives us something, we have to give them something in return—in that case, it was money. While watching this hustler, I was close enough to notice that many of the people he stopped exhibited an outward sign of alpha—their eyes were actually dilated.

SUBLIMINAL PROGRAMMING

Subliminals are hidden suggestions that only your subconscious perceives. They can be audio, hidden behind music, or visual, airbrushed into a picture, flashed on a screen so fast that you don't consciously see them, or cleverly incorporated into a picture or design.

Most audio subliminal reprogramming tapes offer verbal suggestions recorded at a low volume. I question the efficacy of this technique—if subliminals are not perceptible, they cannot be effective, and subliminals recorded below the audible threshold are therefore useless. The oldest audio subliminal technique uses a voice that follows the volume of the music so subliminals are impossible to detect without a parametric equalizer. But this technique is patented and, when I wanted to develop my own line of subliminal audiocassettes, negotiations with the patent holder proved to be unsatisfactory. My attorney obtained copies of the patents which I gave to some talented Hollywood sound engineers, asking them to create a new technique. They found a way to psycho-acoustically modify and synthesize the suggestions so that they are projected in the same chord and frequency as the music, thus giving them the effect of being part of the music. But we found that in using this technique, there is no way to reduce various frequencies to detect the subliminals. In other words, although the suggestions are being heard by the subconscious mind, they cannot be monitored with even the most sophisticated equipment.

If we were able to come up with this technique as easily as we did, I can only imagine how sophisticated the technology has become, with unlimited government or advertising funding. And I shudder to think about the propaganda and commercial manipulation that we are exposed to on a daily basis. There is simply no way to know what is behind the music you hear. It may even be possible to hide a second voice behind the voice to which you are listening. The series by Wilson Bryan Key, Ph.D., on subliminals in advertising and political campaigns well documents the misuse in many areas, especially printed advertising in newspapers, magazines, and posters.

The big question about subliminals is: do they work? And I guarantee you they do. Not only from the response of those who have used my tapes, but from the results of such programs as the subliminals behind the music in department stores. Supposedly, the only message is instructions to not steal: one East Coast department store chain reported a 37 percent reduction in thefts in the first nine months of testing.

A 1984 article in the technical newsletter Brain-Mind Bulletin states that as much as 99 percent of our cognitive activity may be “non-conscious”, according to the director of the Laboratory for Cognitive Psychophysiology at the University of Illinois. The lengthy report ends with the statement, “these findings support the use of subliminal approaches such as taped suggestions for weight loss and the therapeutic use of hypnosis and Neuro-Linguistic Programming.”

MASS MISUSE

I could relate many stories that support subliminal programming, but I'd rather use my time to make you aware of even more subtle uses of such programming.

I have personally experienced sitting in a Los Angeles auditorium with over ten thousand people who were gathered to listen to a current charismatic figure. Twenty minutes after entering the auditorium, I became aware that I was going in and out of an altered state. Those accompanying me experienced the same thing. Since it is our business, we were aware of what was happening, but those around us were not. By careful observation, what appeared to be spontaneous demonstrations were, in fact, artful manipulations. The only way I could figure that the eyes-open trance had been induced was that a 6- to 7-cycle-per-second vibration was being piped into the room behind the air conditioner sound. That particular vibration generates alpha, which would render the audience highly susceptible. Ten to 25 percent of the population is capable of a somnambulistic level of altered states of consciousness; for these people, the suggestions of the speaker, if non-threatening, could potentially be accepted as “commands”.

VIBRATO

This leads to the mention of VIBRATO. Vibrato is the tremulous effect imparted in some vocal or instrumental music, and the cycle-per-second range causes people to go into an altered state of consciousness. At one period of English history, singers whose voices contained pronounced vibrato were not allowed to perform publicly because listeners would go into an altered state and have fantasies, often sexual in nature.

People who attend opera or enjoy listening to singers like Mario Lanza are familiar with this altered state induced by the performers.

ELFS

Now, let's carry this awareness a little farther. There are also inaudible ELFs (extra-low frequency waves). These are electromagnetic in nature. One of the primary uses of ELFs is to communicate with our submarines. Dr. Andrija Puharich, a highly respected researcher, in an attempt to warn U.S. officials about Russian use of ELFs, set up an experiment. Volunteers were wired so their brain waves could be measured on an EEG. They were sealed in a metal room that could not be penetrated by a normal signal.

Puharich then beamed ELF waves at the volunteers. ELFs go right through the earth and, of course, right through metal walls. Those inside couldn't know if the signal was or was not being sent. And Puharich watched the reactions on the technical equipment: 30 percent of those inside the room were taken over by the ELF signal in six to ten seconds.

When I say “taken over,” I mean that their behavior followed the changes anticipated at very precise frequencies. Waves below 6 cycles per second caused the subjects to become very emotionally upset, and even disrupted bodily functions. At 8.2 cycles, they felt very high—an elevated feeling, as though they had been in masterful meditation, learned over a period of years. Eleven to 11.3 cycles induced waves of depressed agitation leading to riotous behavior.

THE NEUROPHONE

Dr. Patrick Flanagan is a personal friend of mine. In the early 1960s, as a teenager, Pat was listed as one of the top scientists in the world by Life magazine. Among his many inventions was a device he called the Neurophone—an electronic instrument that can successfully program suggestions directly through contact with the skin. When he attempted to patent the device, the government demanded that he prove it worked. When he did, the National Security Agency confiscated the neurophone. It took Pat two years of legal battle to get his invention back.

In using the device, you don't hear or see a thing; it is applied to the skin, which Pat claims is the source of special senses. The skin contains more sensors for heat, touch, pain, vibration, and electrical fields than any other part of the human anatomy.

In one of his recent tests, Pat conducted two identical seminars for a military audience—one seminar one night and one the next night, because the size of the room was not large enough to accommodate all of them at one time. When the first group proved to be very cool and unwilling to respond, Patrick spent the next day making a special tape to play at the second seminar. The tape instructed the audience to be extremely warm and responsive and for their hands to become “tingly”. The tape was played through the neurophone, which was connected to a wire he placed along the ceiling of the room. There were no speakers, so no sound could be heard, yet the message was successfully transmitted from that wire directly into the brains of the audience. They were warm and receptive, their hands tingled and they responded, according to programming, in other ways that I cannot mention here.

The more we find out about how human beings work through today's highly advanced technological research, the more we learn to control human beings. And what probably scares me the most is that the medium for takeover is already in place! The television set in your livingroom and bedroom is doing a lot more than just entertaining you.

Before I continue, let me point out something else about an altered state of consciousness. When you go into an altered state, you transfer into right brain, which results in the internal release of the body's own opiates: enkephalins and Beta-endorphins, chemically almost identical to opium. In other words, it feels good—and you want to come back for more.

Recent tests by researcher Herbert Krugman showed that, while viewers were watching TV, right-brain activity outnumbered left-brain activity by a ratio of two to one. Put more simply, the viewers were in an altered state—in trance more often than not. They were getting their Beta-endorphin “fix.”

To measure attention spans, psychophysicist Thomas Mulholland of the Veterans Hospital in Bedford, Massachusetts, attached young viewers to an EEG machine that was wired to shut the TV set off whenever the children's brains produced a majority of alpha waves. Although the children were told to concentrate, only a few could keep the set on for more than 30 seconds!

Most viewers are already hypnotized. To deepen the trance is easy. One simple way is to place a blank, black frame every 32 frames in the film that is being projected. This creates a 45-beat-per-minute pulsation perceived only by the subconscious mind—the ideal pace to generate deep hypnosis.

The commercials or suggestions presented following this alpha-inducing broadcast are much more likely to be accepted by the viewer. The high percentage of the viewing audience that has somnambulistic-depth ability could very well accept the suggestions as commands—as long as those commands did not ask the viewer to do something contrary to his morals, religion, or self-preservation.

The medium for takeover is here. By the age of 16, children have spent 10,000 to 15,000 hours watching television—that is more time than they spend in school! In the average home, the TV set is on for six hours and 44 minutes per day—an increase of nine minutes from last year and three times the average rate of increase during the 1970s.

It obviously isn't getting better—we are rapidly moving into an alpha-level world—very possibly the Orwellian world of 1984—placid, glassy-eyed, and responding obediently to instructions.

A research project by Jacob Jacoby, a Purdue University psychologist, found that of 2,700 people tested, 90 percent misunderstood even such simple viewing fare as commercials and Barnaby Jones. Only minutes after watching, the typical viewer missed 23 to 36 percent of the questions about what he or she had seen. Of course they did—they were going in and out of trance! If you go into a deep trance, you must be instructed to remember—otherwise you automatically forget.

I have just touched the tip of the iceberg. When you start to combine subliminal messages behind the music, subliminal visuals projected on the screen, hypnotically produced visual effects, sustained musical beats at a trance-inducing pace—you have extremely effective brainwashing. Every hour that you spend watching the TV set you become more conditioned. And, in case you thought there was a law against any of these things, guess again. There isn't! There are a lot of powerful people who obviously prefer things exactly the way they are. Maybe they have plans for...?

Is Ronn Jackson Up To His Old Con Tricks?

11/17/98 #2 HATONN

RONN JACKSON-V.K. DURHAM (GRANDMA) COALITION

It would appear that at least two of the Home Crew were a bit insulted by calls yesterday from Ronn Jackson. He seems to have demanded contact information for the people in Malaysia, but when asked for "call-back" information, refused to give his own location (for security, of course). BS, doubled!

He also said that he was now in charge of a "Trust" or something in Tennessee or somewhere in the Southeast U.S. and that I.D. numbers, etc., had been changed, registered and somehow replaced whatever V.K. had going in the first place.

Hear me!! Fine. There seems to be some great misunderstanding about anything we might be doing and whatever Granny might be doing—with or without Ronn Jackson.

We have, as a unit of people, done nothing save help both Grandma V.K. and Ronn Jackson in every way we could while being called very nasty and hateful names and been receivers of every nasty accusation that could be put forth—including a threat (and carrythrough) of charges through the Attorney General's office and thus and so. Again, fine.

I will repeat what one of Bush's closest partners, other than Russell Herman himself, said the Treasury-Fed had to say about V.K. Durham: "We are gonna' just let 'er die." Did that mean death as in Russell's circumstance or is the indication that somehow they will just let her hang herself or just let the whole affair die out as in "fade away". Again, fine with us on all accounts.

I will repeat information regarding Rick Martin in relationship to both Russell Herman and V.K. Durham.

Rick Martin tried every way possible to help, through us, V.K. Durham to accomplish whatever she had in mind—PER HIS PROMISE TO RUSSELL HERMAN. Things got, finally, too entangled and "hot" by this person called Grandma, and by the appearance of ones who had helped Russell accomplish his transaction with Rick, prior to Russell's death by over a year, that his very life was threatened just by the holding in security certain documents.

In order to protect Mr. Martin, the assignment was re-assigned to Global Alliance in order to have corporate shelter and registration with the State.

Is the contract or assignment valid or properly executed? Well, it appears to be and legal counsel has studied the documents and assignments and validated the material. There has been absolutely no effort made to change anything for or against any other documents. V.K. Durham had already done her cute tricks with issuance and withdrawal (which was unlawful in any instance according to legal counsel) along the way while lying about trust structures and threatening all manners of disaster upon our heads—including my own (Hatonn). Again: FINE.

Now our people are intimidated by Ronn Jackson? Why, for goodness sakes? Our best wishes are that he and Granny do a bang-up job of funding something (anything) as they both owe the Phoenix Institute a whole big bunch of money—and CONTACT at least $40 million dollars. That would easily allow us to "go away" from any annoyance in their arena.

So what are we, the tiny team, doing in foreign places? We are trying, just like always, to work a Phoenix Institute plan of loans with use of gold. Therefore, what does it tell you about the opposition working against us? They have no notion about TRUTH, HONOR, OR LEGAL DISPOSITIONS.

Mr. Jackson, having been incarcerated at the time of original problems with V.K. and her "trust" (both the trust and her trustees), might well need some missing information. V.K. Durham cannot seem to even re-copy, correctly, information from one piece of paper to another. Therefore it would have been to Mr. Jackson's better benefit to simply have checked with us prior to doing the back-stabbing, clandestine operations. There is nothing to hide here, there or elsewhere. We publish Truth and will continue to do so. It is not an insult—unless, of course, the lies are burying the liars. There are no lies here and consequently I suggest that Granny and Ronn do whatever they feel urged to do. However, we are NOT going to foot the bill for more calls, more entanglements, or any such trashing.

I suggest that Ronn be given information as to how to reach Rick, but I suggest HE NOT BE SURPRISED IF RICK IS NOT PRESENT WHEN CALLED. This is not to avoid phone calls, but obviously the team is traveling and the contacted parties are having to be referred to Corporate Headquarters to stop the barrage of this type of insult to the people in Tehachapi.

There have been several attempts from the Big Boys to either set us up, buy us out, pay "hush money" and other types of stupid games, so one more is not going to do much to undo nervous breakdowns OR CAUSE THEM.

We are most happy to have Ronn free again and our realization is that it is far more healthy for us, and for him, certainly, to not even consider proximity or friendships as such other than perhaps from "long-distance". We will be happy to borrow, as we always are, whatever hard money they will lend us from their successful funding operation, to purchase gold and serve the Institute. If this is not exciting enough, then I suppose we can rekindle some more interesting interchanges, but there is no ability to depend on V.K. Durham to keep her contracts—on any account. She doesn't seem to know that a "final" assignment of something is not overridden by her changing attitudes day by day or threats that somehow we got a whole bunch of something and she didn't. Wow—Ronn has perhaps met his match and good luck to both, or either—whichever comes first.

We are told that he "found V.K." and this means, we assume, that it was difficult? Come now!

As for other documents which would have ended the team up in prison as regards other transactions—those are sitting securely off-shore and we would be happy to assign them back to Mr. Jackson, although we will first legally remove our corporate reference from the instrument as to holder thereof.

It might be noted that for a couple of days longer any member of my team in Malaysia can be reached directly through the Concorde Hotel in Kuala Lumpur. I regret that there is no 800 number or collect-call availability. Actually this is not quite true—we can't afford any further expenditures on failed adventures. [Editor's note: The direct dial phone number is: 011-603-244-2200 for the Concorde Hotel; their fax number is: 011-603-244-1628. Keep in mind that the local time in Kuala Lumpur is approximately 15 hours ahead of USA West Coast time.]

My team, however, is embarrassed enough by the turn of idiotic events regarding heads of state. Mr. Gore just about disgorged the U.S. from further consideration of anything other than total disgust by his meddling, lying statements to APEC. And, OH YES HE DID EXACTLY THAT! Doesn't Billy Clinton see the handwriting on HIS WALL? Well, he was smart enough to refuse to come to Malaysia and press the focus on political manipulation and they sent the hit man instead. What a stupid thing to do! Good luck, America!

Now, what do I suggest for readers who might be contacted by V.K. or Ronn Jackson for something or other, especially funding? Do what you want to do, but it would seem to me that enough should be quite enough. And I repeat that I wish them well because perhaps Ronn can pull off some magic or miracle. I don't believe he can travel legally outside the U.S., however, and my doubts about his ability to "cut a deal" without traveling or having someone capable of traveling are substantial. Perhaps Grandma can do the traveling, but if she tells off her host as she has everyone else she has met, including us AND RONN JACKSON, she is not going to be very well received. That, however, is their problem and none of our own.

By the way, to the interested and curious inquirers on this topic, I would suggest that there WERE DELAYED DEPARTURES FOR ALBRIGHT TO MEET WITH FUJIMORO OF PERU. HUMMNNnnnn. And, let me just tell you that the controlling entities in Peru are such as, and to quote: "JP Morgan, ABN-AMRO Rothschild, Citibank, Credit Suisse/First Boston, Merrill Lynch, Salomon Brothers, and Santander Investment." And from what did I quote this? PERU INVESTMENT PERSPECTIVES: A COUNTRY ON THE MOVE. This, further, was only off "one" document. So, what do you think might have continued to happen with #3392-181? If V.K. thinks she can do some conversion alone—more and more power to her, but leaving God out of her program might just prove to be a bit "much". So again, GOOD LUCK. And if the plan is to discredit us somehow—we aren't doing anything that CAN BE DISCREDITED. Do we have some impressive contacts now? Indeed! And moreover, they recognize our total commitment to integrity and honesty.

Honest business works fine or not at all—and everyone is going to lose if bad business continues to be allowed—which it appears will be the case in almost all instances.

Does this mean that any “shared” returns from our own program are off-limits to the user? No, it means that we will NOT use our portion for any trading or hedge purposes. We cannot control what any other participant does with his/hers. We have no intention of even asking and, moreover in this focus—we welcome anyone who can do whatever he/she can do to make his/her own program work well. Our share will be managed in the way laid forth—EVERY TIME.

I personally met with some Russians who are most receptive and gracious. You see, world, you have been lied to for so long that you have no idea what is fact and what is mind-trained (tricked) fabrication.

Russell Herman saw this event of probable misuse and abuse coming and he tried to avoid more damage upon humankind through his former tampering with help and service unto the Elite destroyers. So be it. He did what he could—we have done what we could. He did not leave this treasure to Rick or to V.K.—he asked ME to see to doing what could be done to recover somewhat from the damages. I see no point in helping where there is no intent to change. What of Bibles and certificates? What of them?

Will I assist V.K. to have the kind of power and exert tyranny upon you and the world by total success? It isn't any of my business. She denounced my team and tried to turn them over to the Attorney General (according to her statements in direct communications to everyone on her FAX list). She told me to “get my ass from over the side of the craft and get back to my station”. Good IDEA!

We actually look forward to hearing from anyone concerning this matter so don't hesitate to call for there seems some misunderstanding in that we are somehow difficult to find.

We didn't quit helping provide support for V.K. until there simply were no more funds to do so. There were no funds to assist in placement for her at the time she was appealing for assistance. We do not know where she is but the assumption is that she has relocated since we know that even Mr. Jackson was having to search for her location—and he had been to visit her shortly before his own incarceration this last time.

If part of the objection is that we write and offer public information freely—it is because we have NOTHING TO HIDE FROM ANYONE. And I repeat: we could use some help so we certainly do wish them well—remember, money is neither good nor bad, it “just is”. But we will be beholden to no one ever again except in clearly legal transactions as set forth through laws and regulations in any geographic location in which you might find us. THREATS DO NOT TOUCH US LONGER. HOWEVER, THREATS DO NOW ALERT THE INTERNATIONAL POLICE WHO ARE OBLIGATED, NOW, TO PROTECT US.

I would remind everyone that if people will turn for their own greed and selfishness against former supporters and loyal friends—no one is going to trust them for ANYTHING. Man has not really sunk so low as to not know when the “players” are having a go at him. ☼

PART I: VIEW FROM THE RAZOR'S EDGE

11/16/98 RICK MARTIN

As I begin writing this story in the open-air lobby of The Mines Beach Resort & Hotel in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, I can't help but notice the teakwood walls with carved chairs to match. The slow-moving fans circulate the heavy air on this typically ninety-something-degree day, with humidity to match. The chair I'm seated in looks out over the water as it cascades, amidst palms and ferns, down over the boulders to the shallow turquoise-blue lagoon below. Behind it a water-taxi pulls away on the man-made lake adjoining the hotel pool, which is more like a pond with white sand for the shoreline, just outside the hotel lobby. Funny thing is, this is inland some 40 miles at the recently constructed home of the 1998 APEC summit held at the nearby Palace of the Golden Horses, on the opposite side of the lake, and also at Cyberjaya some distance away, in the heart of the Multimedia Super Corridor (Malaysia's answer to Silicon Valley). The lake covers the scars from Hong Fat's former tin mine, hence the name “The Mines” Resort & Hotel. Always overcast, with patches of blue during the days, monsoon rainfall in the evenings, it takes some getting used to—but compared to the 30 degree (or less) evening temperatures now in Tehachapi, somehow this adjustment seems amusing.

Security at the summit is T I G H T, although there was no difficulty in getting a press-pass for the event. The summit is being held, naturally, in stages. The full length of the event is from November 12-18. APEC, consisting of the heads of state, is from November 16-18. I'll write this story chronologically, thereby maintaining some form of continuity for you, the reader. As it turns out, during the first day of the summit when the senior officials gathered, the media was allowed into the room for 5 minutes, and then asked to leave. After that, all subsequent sessions were behind closed doors with no press allowed. I'm told this is standard for APEC. So what you have then are hordes of camera crews and press people sitting on the floors, crowding the halls and looking like a mini-United Nations forum, everyone searching for a “scoop”. Wearing a press-badge in Malaysia is a lot like wearing a target that says Public Enemy Number One, but the natives are friendly indeed, ever ready with a warm smile and a helping, gracious attitude that warms the heart and softens the frazzled nerves. In a place where all races TRULY live as one people, the ease of social exchange is a welcome change from the often tension-filled atmosphere in the cities of America today.

The senior officials and ministers (the term used for the high-level diplomats) are tight lipped until one of them elects to hold a press-conference to clue everyone in on what is (or is not, as the case may be) taking place. Naturally, this year the topic on, literally, everyone's mind is THE ECONOMIC CRISIS. I find that one can find out more about what is taking place reading the morning paper than by physically being present amidst the swarming hordes of story-seeking media hounds. Sorting through the PAGES of APEC-related stories in the daily newspapers, one can't help but ask the age-old question that has plagued man for years—“Where's the beef?” Malaysia's Prime Minister Mahathir said it well (as usual), “We cannot miss even one international forum and let it go without our bringing to their attention the problem raised by currency speculation.” Later, “We call a spade a spade. They (foreigners) are used to not being criticized, but will criticize others. So when they get a dose of the same medicine, they cannot take it.”

There are so many meetings in so many rooms, and also so many press conferences and informal sessions, one person cannot physically cover it all. If you read ENOUGH, there are clues as to what is taking place behind the closed doors of these plush walls. Interestingly enough, simultaneously to APEC & the APCC is another event, in another location, called the APPA—kind of a Berkeley, People's Park coalition of grass-roots international organizations voicing opposition to globalization. Actually there are so many causes represented it becomes difficult to separate the “Free Anwar” faction from the “Abolish Land Mines in Indonesia” group. That's an exaggeration, but you get my meaning. While that sounds like a put-down, I don't mean it to. This meeting consists of many serious-minded, devoted people who are VERY well informed in their specific topic-areas.

Sitting in the opening press conference at APPA, a beautiful Thai reporter leans over and says to me, “Didn't we meet in Bangkok?” Her smile would melt the ice at Glacier National Park, but I digress.

Irene Fernandez comments that the ravages of the Asian financial crisis have revealed the ugly side of globalization. One effect, she says, is that wealth is now held by 450 billionaires worldwide.

“Not knowing what to do with their money, they created a casino economy for financial speculation and currency trading. We have to return to the real economy, where people’s needs are met,” she says.

Quoting from one opinion column in the November 15th edition of the New Straits Times, we read, “They (APPA) tell people that APEC will remove restrictions on what big business and foreign investors can do; it is secret, unaccountable and undemocratic; costs jobs by opposing tariffs; and favors the rich at the expense of the poor. And that APEC sees no role for rights of indigenous peoples; views inequality as inevitable; claims there is no alternative to free trade; and separates economic issues from their social, cultural, labor and environmental effects. Convincing the public that APEC is not worth it will not be simple, but APPA is sending out the signal that it, too, means business.”

Prior to the major meetings of APEC, the PECC held a press-conference to explain their position. What is PECC? The PECC “is an independent, policy-oriented organization of high level business, academic and government representatives from 23 Asia-Pacific economies. It aims to foster economic development in the region by providing a forum for discussion and cooperation in a wide range of economic areas. These include trade and investment policies, financial and capital market developments, human resource development, minerals, energy, food and agriculture, Pacific economic outlook, science and technology, fisheries, transportation and telecommunications. PECC is also the only non-governmental body among the three official observers in APEC.”

This year, PECC urged strong APEC action on the crisis issues. PECC called on APEC to adopt immediate measures to bolster investor confidence and restore capital flows in the crisis-plagued economies in Asia. Specifically, they made four recommendations:

First, APEC leaders must remain united in their commitment to integration through free and open markets for trade and investment.

Second, APEC leaders must remain united in their commitment to transparency (a word heard A LOT here) and the facilitation of a stable business environment and to their commitment to avoid protectionist business policies.

Third, APEC leaders must remain united in their commitment to embark on a capacity-building program which will not only address the immediate needs of the crisis but will also ensure that all APEC economies have the attributes to meet the challenges of openness and equitably reap the rewards it brings.

Fourth, the region urgently needs greater cooperation on financial matters. APEC leaders need to demonstrate that they are united in a determined commitment to stabilize, reform, strengthen and further develop financial and capital markets.

APPA also stressed “...APEC leaders to recognize the value of a process of peer review of macroeconomic performance and, in particular, the financial sectors of APEC economies.”

At a press conference Roberto R. Romulo, PECC chair, said, “the United States wants concrete deliverables, that’s APEC-speak.”

Tariffs emerge as a major concern at this year’s APEC summit. The senior officials of member economies continued their deliberations on the question of liberalization and tariffs dismantling. They were working hard at formulating a “credible package” with participation by all members in nine sectors for the Early Voluntary Sectoral Liberalization (EVSL). But many non-participants complained loudly that APEC was getting bogged-down in discussions limited to “forestry and fisheries” and EVSL and they were missing the boat entirely with regard to the real issue at hand, namely, the economic crisis. Somewhat defensively, the response from APEC officials was that the AGENDA ISSUE of the economic crisis would only be initially raised on Sunday, November 15.

As the name suggests, Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation, the TONE of the meetings among the member nations is one of cooperation. When some media representatives implied that there may be some friction being created by certain countries (Canada, the United States, and Japan were the countries named), in a briefing by Yb Dato’ Seri Rafidah Aziz, Malaysia’s International Trade and Industry Minister, she clarified the point: “What is this? It’s about cooperation.

“We have to realize that members have their own problems domestically. They have reasons, and most of them have valid reasons, as to why they cannot open up their market for particular products in certain sectors. We have to accept these difficulties.”

Rafidah said APEC was not about two or three countries pushing another country to open up their market. “That is not APEC. Even the World Trade Organization is not pushing people to the wall. We don’t do that and Malaysia does not subscribe to that kind of attitude.”

Moving now to Monday, November 16th, at the opening of the APEC Business Summit at the Putra World Trade Center, Malaysia’s Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr. Mahathir Mohammad said, “We should not reject globalization. It has to come to this shrinking world. But the big and the powerful can be magnanimous and accord the small and the weak time and latitude to prepare and make adjustments.”

Displayed at the World Trade Center were exhibitors from around the globe in this APEC-related trade fair. Many hi-tech items are displayed including the latest in solar technology, high resolution DVD (digital) televisions, to the latest in aerospace aircraft from single seats on up to your basic military plane. All in all, an impressive cross-section of products.

The dispute over the EVSLs (caused by Japan’s unwillingness to cut tariffs in the politically-sensitive sectors of fisheries and forestry) was resolved today by submitting the package to the World Trade Organization. Japan was understandably pleased with the deferment.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Mahathir met with Peruvian President Alberto Fujimori. U.S. Secretary of State Madeleine Albright met in a closed-door session with Datin Seri Dr. Wan Azizah, wife of Anwar (who is currently on trial in Kuala Lumpur). Albright also met with President Fujimori.

In the meantime, at the Twin Towers in Kuala Lumpur, 150 protestors WERE sprayed with water laced with a yellow-colored substance which won’t wash off. It was stated that this will make it easier for the police to identify those involved. Around this same time (perhaps earlier) there was also a protest rally by some representatives of the Asia-Pacific People’s Assembly (APPA). Were they the ones sprayed? Only the shadow knows.

While all the fanfare of dignitaries arriving escorted by throngs of police escorts, sirens blaring, is taking place, the question remains, “What, of substance, is ACTUALLY being accomplished here?” From all EXTERNAL appearances, NOT MUCH. There is much ado about nothing and a lot of rhetoric but little REAL substance. You can read pages and pages in the newspapers about all of the meeting, the private sessions, the bi-lateral talks—and what conclusion will you reach? So far, it is a VERY EXPENSIVE SHOW, nothing more.

PART II: WHEN WORLD LEADERS MEET

11/18/98 RICK MARTIN

Even in the November 20th edition of Asia Week we read, right up front, “Few expect great achievements from the upcoming round of APEC meetings and concluding summit in Kuala Lumpur. But hopes that the traditional sideshow ‘business summit’—this year organized by a handful of organizations led by the APEC Business Advisory Council—might be productive are fading too.”

In the meeting of some of Wall Street’s largest investment firms on the 16th, there was agreement that there should be some form of regulatory environment to discipline the hedge-fund players while ruling out a regulated hedge-fund market. The issue of controlling currency trading was a widely discussed topic among ABAC delegates. There was general agreement that “rogue currency speculators” were the main culprits in the Asia economic crisis. One U.S. delegate said that currency trading could not be transparent because then traders would have to disseminate information, which they obtained, to the market. “This would reduce their competitive advantage. It is unrealistic to make currency trading transparent.”

Malaysia’s Prime Minister, Dr. Mahathir, commented that most leaders whom he’s met with have voiced support for some regulation in currency trading—an issue of particular consequence for Malaysia and the other attending nations of APEC.

Peruvian President Alberto Fujimori expressed concern over the possibility that the Asian economic crisis would spill over to Latin America. “If the crisis comes to Latin America, it will rebound back to Southeast Asia, so this is an international problem that we have to stop,” he said.

In the meantime, U.S. Vice-President Al Gore spoke at the APEC Business Summit dinner attended by 1,000 business leaders. Gore spoke in support of the so-called reformasi movement. Quoting from an 11-17 article appearing in the New Straits Times, “He alluded to how democracies were faring better in the economic crisis than nations ‘suppressing freedom’.

“And so, among nations suffering from economic crises, we continue to hear calls for democracy, calls for reform in many languages—People’s Power, Doi Moi, Reformasi.

“We hear them today—right here, right now—among the brave people of Malaysia.”

Gore continued with, “Citizens who gain democracy also gain the opportunity and the obligation to root out corruption and cronyism, to support fair regulation that protects consumers and business, to press for sustainable development that protects the environment, to gain access to education and healthcare, to uphold impartial justice and the rule of law.

"And the citizens who launch these reforms will help their countries prosper—as investors put their money and their faith in democracy, and pull it out of nations where decisions are rigged, where bloated bureaucracies sustain only themselves, where contracts are not honored and where the government swallows up tax revenues without working for the people."

Malaysian International and Trade and Industry Minister Datuk Seri Rafidah Aziz criticized Gore's keynote address, saying it spoilt the mood of the APEC and ABEC functions.

She said it was the "most disgusting speech" she had ever heard in her life. "It is a pity the whole function was spoilt by that."

She said her American and other APEC friends from the business sector had apologized as they were disgusted as well.

"Well, I suppose you'll expect it as there are narrow-minded people in this world...It certainly reflects unabashed intervention in local affairs and, unfortunately, he did not even understand what is going on in this country.

"And, to talk about people power when demonstrations are taking place in Indonesia, where lives were lost, and condoning that?"

She said she did not expect a foreign leader to run down a country like this and incite matters.

"For heaven's sake try to understand what is happening in the country before you open your mouth and put your big foot in."

On Gore's leaving before the dinner, she said it was also rude of him and "not reflective of the Americans" she knew.

In the 11-18 edition of the Malaysian New Straits Times criticism of Gore's speech was RESOUNDING with headings such as: Blatant Interference In Malaysia's Affairs; Remarks Reflect An Arrogant, Ignorant Person; Ministers and Politicians Slam Support For Movement; Appalling Performance, says Former US Envoy; Chorus Of Outrage Over US Veep's Gross Interference; MPs Hit Out At Gore Over His 'Uncivilized' Remarks; US V-P Gore Needs Urgent Lesson On Malaysia; Demonstrations Do Not Imply Democracy; US Vice-President Rude, and then on the opinion page, An Open Letter To Al Gore: Rude, Immoral and Not Welcome; Speech "Reinforces Image Of US As A Bully"; and finally, Gross Interference By United States. Under one of these headlines we read: Foreign newspapers commenting on US Vice-President Al Gore's speech in Kuala Lumpur on Monday describe it as having breached the rules of courtesy, an unfortunate diplomatic gaffe and one that left the APEC meetings in shambles.

Tan Sri Raman Navaratnam of the Sungei Way Group of Companies said Gore had been guilty of bad manners. "I cannot find a more suitable term in English other than bad breeding, arrogance and insensitivity," he said. This is the tone of most of the above-mentioned articles.

Amidst this controversy, according to the recent reports, Gore's remarks failed to deter APEC leaders from entering into discussions on "substantive economic issues".

In the meantime, half a world away, World Bank president James Wolfensohn said on Tuesday that he believed the global economic crisis is coming close to an end. "I can't tell you whether we have reached the bottom, but my guess is we are pretty close to it," he said.

In other words, "Go back to sleep, children." As a result of the Economic Leaders' Summit comes the following:

The Declaration: The Leaders

- * SUPPORT efforts by multilateral development banks to use innovative financial instruments to help catalyze and leverage private sector capital flows;
- AGREE to strengthen the international financial architecture, to capture the full benefits of international capital flows and global market, while minimizing the risk of destructive disruptions;
- WELCOME the progress of the trade liberalization under the early voluntary sectoral liberalization;
- INSTRUCT Ministers to give further focus to strengthen co-ordination in Ecotec activities and intensify work in the priority areas;
- RECOGNIZE the need to review its activities, structure and mechanisms as APEC enters its 10th year;
- DIRECT Ministers to work with the World Bank, Asian Development Bank and the Inter-American Development Bank to formulate strategies of concrete actions aimed at strengthening social safety nets;
- CALL on Finance Ministers to develop fast measures to implement proposals concerning strengthening the international financial systems;
- ATTACH "special urgency" to examine

- issues concerning capital flows;
- DIRECT Finance Ministers to look for innovative ways to promote the recovery of capital flows into the region;
- ENDORSE the 1998 Kuala Lumpur Action Program on Skills Development in APEC; and
- INSTRUCT Ministers to develop a framework for the integration of women in APEC.

On the final day of APEC, the leaders said that the on-going process to strengthen international financial market systems should be continued in a bigger forum of industrialized and emerging economies.

At the close of the meeting, at a press conference, Dr. Mahathir said it was quiet clear that other APEC countries subscribed to Malaysia's views for these activities (concerning capital flows) to be regulated. Asked to comment on what is seen as the declaration falling short of his calls for currency trading to be regulated, Dr. Mahathir said the leaders had agreed that this issue was urgent.

So now the streets of Kuala Lumpur are markedly QUIET. No more motorcades of officials being escorted, surrounded by police with sirens shrieking. The place, somehow, feels "back to normal". One thing is certain, Malaysia was a gracious host for the APEC Summit, even if SOME visitors were not so polite. As an American I was ASHAMED by the actions of our Vice-President. He set back US/Asian relations 10 years. Although, fortunately for the West, the Malaysians are too polite to say so. ☸

"REFORMASI HEROES"

I ask that the picture on the front page of the NEW STRAITS TIMES be run along with this writing. [Editor's note: The picture Commander asked us to run is not available. The caption that goes with the picture says: "MOB VIOLENCE...A man being beaten to death in the Ambonese-Javanese clash in Jakarta yesterday—AFP picture."]

Here, Mr. Gore, are your young heroes in action—sorry we can't offer a "color" rendition of the picture for it is so much the more impressive with its blood-soaked living (dead??) color. Since the victim has his arm up to protect himself, it was likely his last living act. The man is someone's son, brother, husband, father. THIS IS REFORMASI FOR DEMOCRATIC ASIA IN LIVING REALISM.

THANK YOU, MR. GORE. AND BEING A REFLECTION OF MR. CLINTON'S THOUGHTS AND PRESENTATION WHILE IN MALAYSIA—THANK YOU BILLY ZIPPER.

We have to further assume, since this is what you, Mr. Gore, praised as Democratic change in action for reform, exactly what is being reformed and in which direction? Malaysia, for instance, is one of the most integrated and beautifully cooperative societies we have witnessed ANYWHERE.

When the Zionists treat violence in action as a good thing, then you have Zionists—not Islamic people, Muslims, or Christians. There is nothing Christ-like in beating a fellow citizen to death in the middle of the street, whether it be Jakarta, Washington D.C., or Los Angeles. "But I meant..." stutters Gore, and shudders Clinton, "I meant...". What exactly did you mean? For THIS is what you get and have gotten every day since your wondrous international healing conference for economic cooperation.

AH, BUT YOU PUPPETS DO NOT WRITE YOUR OWN SPEECHES—DO YOU? THEREFORE, EXACTLY WHO GAVE YOU THE SPEECH AND THE GROSS AND STUPID IDEAS TO PARROT ON A STAGE AND MAKE FOOLS OF YOURSELVES?

And YOU demand to get into Saddam's bedroom to check for weapons of "mass destruction". Perhaps you had best look to the Oval Office and around Washington for your weapons of mass destruction—attached to your top leaders (so-called).

I ask also to run a couple of cartoons from "over here" and see if you as a U.S. nation can argue the points expressed. The only interesting thing incorrect about the usual depiction of Clinton is that of wearing a helmet—he would better be expressed as with a "beanie" and perhaps even a "beanie baby".

But does Clinton have anything to do with actual government activities of a major sort? Of course not. Remember the surprise punishment bombing of Iraq the last time? Clinton was asleep at the time (perhaps even in the Oval Office) and KNEW NOTHING OF IT UNTIL AFTER THE FACT. The acts are being orchestrated, ordered and carried out by the new Jewish Israeli Homeland (Alan Dershowitz) teams of REFORMASI.

In addition to the incredible suggestion that street rioters and killers are heroes, it seems that now Salomon Smith Barney and Goldman Sachs are here to "save" the people and protect property so the raiders don't get it. And all this under the nice voluntary assistance of Brookings Institute of the Royal Institute in London. Wow! You know, "just looking out for the interests of the helpless nations". Gore didn't even have guts enough to make his speech and stay to dinner. Well, Gore did one major thing—he united Malaysia as it has never been united before. The pedestrians, the cars, the hotels, and the streets are adorned with so many peace signs and flags of honor as to be a sweeping problem for such as Mr. Anwar and his kind of "peace reform".

America, you would be proud to know, as well, that on the ending day of APEC there was a picture of all heads of state where Mr. Mahathir was thanking everyone for their attendance. All in the lineup were smiling and applauding and turned looking to the host—EXCEPT, OF COURSE, GORE—who was looking the other direction. Body language? Of course, these parasites can thrive only off the blood of trained fools—you. They are trained to perform, act and use body language, facial expressions, tears—any way necessary and any thing possible to fool the people and lie ALL THE TIME.

I would like to share some excerpts from the article accompanying the pictures of the "heroes" in action:

[QUOTING, New Straits Times, Monday, November 23, 1998:]

SIX KILLED IN JAKARTA RIOTS

JAKARTA: At least six people were killed and several buildings torched and looted here today as simmering ethnic and religious tensions exploded into bloody unrest... Four churches, among them Christian... were burnt and seven, including the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, were trashed. A gambling hall was set on fire and a Catholic girls' school near the city's cathedral was ransacked and partly burnt... Dozens of stores, other buildings and cars were damaged or burnt...

US Vice-President Al Gore, in a speech in Kuala Lumpur when attending the Asia Pacific Economic Co-operation summit last week, described demonstrators under the reformasi banner as brave... Gore said: "And so, among nations suffering from economic crisis, we continue to hear calls for democracy, calls for reform in many languages—People's Power, Doi Moi, Reformasi".

A Reuters cameraman saw four bodies where the clash occurred. Witnesses said three of the dead were Ambonese killed by the mob after they were seen beating a Javanese to death. [H: Well, here is your eye for eye, death for death!]

Some of the mob bashed, slashed and jumped on the three Ambonese bodies as they lay lined up on display on the road... they also cut off one victim's ear... witnesses also heard cries of "kill the Chinese"... a mob of several hundred started minor fires in a Chinese school and another church on the outskirts of Chinatown....

[END OF QUOTING]

Perhaps what you might watch for in the happenings around the globe are the overwhelming efforts to "overthrow" established governments, whatever and wherever they might be. This is typical of the attempts at division of people, breakup of families and social structure, and total push for the chaos of Plan 2000.

AND WHAT OF IRAQ?

What of Iraq? You have the same thing happening where you have the same people from the New Israeli Homeland, the U.S., calling for a "new government" in Baghdad. All of the global efforts, readers, are toward the OVERTHROW OF GOVERNMENTS—WHICH IS IMMORAL AND UNLAWFUL—BUT THEN, THE U.S. SEEMS TO BE ABOVE THE LAW.

The plan for Iraq is to "arm the rebels, said the White House".

One writer summed up things pretty well as perceived from this side of the Sea of Peace (Pacific):

[QUOTING, Letter of the Day, New Straits Times, 11/23/98:]

BLOOD OF IRAQI CHILDREN ON HANDS OF CLINTON, BLAIR

Although we are living in difficult times, it is nevertheless interesting.

We just saw the spectacle of the British and the United States raring to launch air attacks yet again against Iraq, just because Iraq stopped co-operating with Unscm when the UN delayed lifting sanctions after eight long years.

However, their evil schemes were aborted at the eleventh hour by the Iraqi Government's decision to resume co-operation on the understanding that the Security Council would act quickly to lift the sanctions which have KILLED 1-1/2 MILLION IRAQI CHILDREN [H: My, my, and isn't this about the same reasoning given for Iraq as was given for the ATF-FBI burning of all the children and innocent people in Waco, Texas: "to protect the children from possible abuse"?]

Their oft-repeated excuse that Iraq still possesses weapons of mass destruction in order to justify prolonging the sanctions is not only unacceptable, but now stands exposed.

The US Congress recently passed a law to fund Iraqi opposition to the tune of US$100 MILLION (RM380 million) to topple the Government of Iraq.

President Bill Clinton, in his statement, agreeing not to attack Iraq openly, spoke of toppling President Saddam Hussein.

What right has the US President, however mighty he might feel the US is, to decide who should lead Iraq?

It is no coincidence that the very week the US planned to attack Iraq, his representatives—Secretary of State Madeleine Albright and Vice-President Al Gore—in Malaysia attending the APEC conference, openly supported the aimless, anarchic, so-called reform movement of sacked Malaysian Deputy Prime Minister Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim to topple Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr. Mahathir Mohamad.

The stamp of imperialism surely discredits the movement, if some people among us failed to see it from the beginning.

We, Malaysians, have slammed these two American officials for being rude and for interfering in our internal affairs. They properly deserve this condemnation.

Apart from that, we must not forget that such is the character of neo-colonialism.

Neo-colonialist forces, particularly British and American, are now acting out their nature to recolonise the world.

They are no friends of ours or of the peaceful people of the Third World. Peaceful people though we are, we should make them understand that we shall fight to defend our freedom and sovereignty.

Also, we should make them understand that their time is over. The modern Pharaoh, like the ancient Egyptian Pharaoh, haughtily playing God, is doomed.

Clinton, Tony Blair and others who have participated in killing millions of Iraqi children have committed crimes against humanity. God's curse is on them. They are destined for punishment by God. [Kassim Ahmad, Penang]

[END OF QUOTING]

Well, the good-meaning people haven't any idea how really BAD are the circumstances. The statement by Goldman Sachs that they are "here to help keep the raiders out of the business buyups" says it all. They are going to buy out the failing, now-pennies-on-the-dollar industries, both big and small, "to save them from the raiders". And how is your day going?

OSAMA BIN LADEN

Guess what, World. Remember that most-wanted man in the world, Osama bin Laden? Well, he didn't bomb anything, including anything belonging to the U.S. (check with the Israeli Mossad)—but anyway, there was this trial against the accused bin Laden—and guess what—nobody came, most notably the U.S. accusers. For Mr. bin Laden a whole international court was convened and no accusers came. My goodness, readers, WHO IS GOING TO PAY ALL THOSE LAWYERS?

BANKS AND Y2K

I would like to share a little notice about Y2K, AND SINCE THIS IS A MAJOR PART OF THE ZIONIST'S PLAN 2000, YOU MIGHT WISH TO CHECK FOR A FEW KEY OPERATIVE WORDS IN THE ARTICLE, LIKE “RISK OF MUGGING”, “SCAMS”, “SAFEST PLACE”, “SPORADIC PROBLEMS” AND “ISOLATED”.

[QUOTING, Washington: Sat. 11/22/98:]

BANKERS SEEK TO CALM CONSUMERS' Y2K FEARS

Should you withdraw all your money from the bank late next year because of the Year 2000 computer problem?

Banking industry representatives told reporters yesterday that massive withdrawals would be “foolish”, citing the risk of theft, fire and the interest earnings foregone.

Banks argue that they will be ready for the date change, citing their consistent rating by experts as among the top industries in preparedness and their existing contingency plans for floods, hurricanes and fires. [H: Wow—barf now and save time later.]

Automatic teller machines, credit card purchases and direct deposits to bank accounts from employers and Social Security will continue to work in nearly all cases, they said.

“No one is suggesting there won't be sporadic problems, but they will be isolated,” said Michael Zucchini, chief technology officer at Fleet Financial Group Inc. [H: Whoever in the world is Michael Zucchini? See, you will believe anyone on any topic if it is an “expert” proclaimed and put to print in a newspaper.]

The Year 2000 computer problem arises from the practice, until recently, of allocating just two digits in computers and software for the year in dates.

When the year changes over to 2000 computers could make errors by interpreting the year as 1900 or become confused and stop working altogether.

“The safest place for your money is in the bank,” said American Bankers Association spokesman John Hall. [H: And what else would you expect him (them) to say?]

“It would be inordinately foolish for anybody to come into the institution and withdraw every penny and walk down the street and take the risk of getting mugged,” added Brian Smith, of the America's Community Bankers trade association. [H: Or, more likely, be in line for NOTHING being in the bank to withdraw.]

Bankers are particularly concerned about scams targeting the elderly [H: You mean like the scam of the banks?] in which confidence tricksters would offer to hold the savings of retirees to protect them from any Year 2000 problems. —Reuters

[H: This would be downright funny if it weren't so sick and set up to strip everyone of everything. Oh well.]

[END OF QUOTING]

I would suggest that all of you pick up a few appropriate journals from “Phoenix” and see again what your chances of getting your money from the banks might be—if ANYTHING happens. Remember that ability to loan 22 to one? And, how about the fact that NOTHING OF VALUE backs any bank of the World Bank-Federal Reserve-International Monetary Fund—anywhere any longer! What is nothing minus nothing? Or, for that matter, nothing plus nothing? The year 2000 HAS TO BRING COVER-UP, YOU FOOLISH, BLIND LAMBS. By the way, it is all done through computer transfers and manipulations, ruin the computer system and wham, bam, thank you ma'am, you won't even be able to LOCATE YOUR NAME in the files. And what of that Deposit Trust Corporation that holds all those alias names and corporation investment records? Two wham, bam, thank you ma'ams and one “Oh well”.

And indeed, some local friends are going to find that even Ms. Tuten has tied up your assets in that neat “getcha” system without any recourse to herself at all. Sometimes I even grow impatient for “blame” will not produce anything. These dealers, you must know by now, have no shame, accept no blame, and YOU END UP WITH NO RECOURSE—JUST THE LAWYER'S BILLS!

I would leave this now for we are swamped in need of presentations today. Thank God for Monday!

In love and best wishes and Happy Thanksgiving (and please, DO GIVE THANKS, FOR YOU CAN'T EVEN PERCEIVE THE GOOD THINGS). Salu.

TELEPHONE HOTLINE
805-822-0202
As an adjunct to CONTACT, the Telephone Hotline keeps you as informed as possible on current events and other important information that needs to get to our subscribers before our publishing date.
The message machine will answer after 2 rings if there are any new messages for that day, and after 4 rings if not. Thus daily callers can hang up after 2 rings and save toll charges if no new message has been recorded. If the Hotline does not answer your call, then there is currently no Hotline message.
