Africa Fertile For G.A.I.A. Plan 2000

10/4/99—#1

AFRICA

Hatonn—Yes, indeed, it is now timely to turn some personal attention to AFRICA, for much is underway which begs use of a Global Alliance such as G.A.I.A. We are, ALL of “US”, within the cell called “planet”, and we must bring peace and prosperity unto the people thereof—or the planet shall be devoured by the wasters, with their corruption and political aspirations to control and manipulate everything. Further, we must enjoin all who see the potential as through such an “alliance” of movement forward and a positive “golden age” ahead.

The past is gone, and you can only “learn” by that which was, experience and act within the possibilities of “now”, and always with an intent to create the future which would utilize all the positive intent and potential of perfection. The scattered “fragmentations” of human portions, which are experiencing parts of the ONE SOUL OF CREATOR, must reunite in common intent to bring about that which is OF God Creator. You now have been presented with that which can allow for this unification, even among the most poverty-stricken areas of the globe, to have dignity with the having for use those things of human needs to move into productive life in freedom. We must represent, in FREEDOM, those things which have been listed on the adversarial manifestos and protocols to take from the people to ensure Satan’s own control over the souls of mankind. We want no “control”, only freedom, as granted by Creator as “unalienable rights” unto HIS people.

Because it is time to now begin to introduce those persons who CAN AND WILL pull together these fragments scattered around the globe, we must look to building a foundation upon which an orderly outreach can be structured.

It has become obvious that the United States of America cannot be “the” conduit through which freedom can be established, for the U.S., as a part of North America, is TOTALLY CONTROLLED by the Power Elite. We pick no fight with same in any arena. We do not destroy anything or even work toward “destruction”; we build, grow and present in positive CREATION.

Is this just some exercise in “positive thought”? Mostly, for when the MIND of the human infrastructure understands “freedom” and growth, the reality of manifestation becomes that connected “thought” of mankind WITHIN the thought projection and manifestation of God Creator. YOU WILL BECOME THAT WHICH YOU ARE IN MIND. It is only a mere pitiful handful of men/women who are of the Power Elite—set upon owning, possessing and controlling the whole of the world.

However, you must “start” somewhere, at some point WITHIN the already-structured structures. These structures are based on “evil”, and remember my definition of evil. The politicians, for instance, work within whatever they inherited and, to make their marks, always move in the flow of corruption. Why? Because there is nothing else upon which to build in a limited societal structure based on control and force. You must move out from UNDER the oppression and oppressors to give them an alternative with which to redirect the energy flow. In other words, LEADERS must change their perspective and see into that which is beyond that which exists at the moment, and move forward within that which IS, while changing focus and goal intentions to match a forward and positive intent of FREEDOM and value for and of EVERYONE within their realm of potential—OUTSIDE OF SELF. “Self” always flourishes in the midst and as outcome of that which is offered and given/received in peace, fairness and goodness of the brotherhood of MAN.

We only offer the KEY to open the doors of the imprisoned and a base upon which there can be movement ahead, IN THE MANNER MAN HAS BEEN TRAINED TO THINK IN HIS LIMITATION—WITH THAT WHICH OFFERS MAN ABILITY TO BE SELF-SUSTAINING—AND THAT, READERS, IS THROUGH WHATEVER COMMODITY IS ACCEPTED AS EXCHANGE VALUE, BY WHATEVER YOU MIGHT CALL IT.

And, to my team, remember: Always, when the next step is before you so, too, come that and those with and through whom you move further. You must walk WITH THOSE who come, while reaching within and hearing instructions which move you forward, and you can judge intent and discern possibilities for interaction. Those people will not HAVE “YOUR” KEYS, AND FOR THEM TO BE ABLE TO FULFILL THEIR OWN, NEXT, RESPONSIBLE SEGMENT—YOU MUST SEE, HEAR, RECOGNIZE AND, IN RESPONSIBILITY, HAND OVER THE CUDGEL. I use the term “cudgel” because it represents power, which is neither good nor bad—but only defined properly by the use thereof.

No, we do not just turn over bunches of funds, funding apparatus and that which benefits that which further isolates ordinary “man” from those who would continue to just pile up wealth to suit whatever needs they humanly desire. We will be able, as we move along, to better manage—through inclusion and exclusion—that which is detrimental and only focuses on individual members of the “club” of whatever new “Rome” surfaces.

A rule-of-thumb: If a man simply wants to dally around in massive trading-programs, which fool around with the very substance of man himself, it is unworthy, and we will not participate. If we need to, however, some of those people who can bring funds forth in that manner—will not be turned away, except for use of OUR PORTION. We offer a WIN-WIN circumstance and experience. Those “traders”, who simply make a game and business of “money”, in whatever form—are ONLY INTERESTED IN WEALTH, AND IT IS UNACCEPTABLE, EVEN IF LEGAL. IT IS IMMORAL IN INTENT, AND YOU WILL FIND THOSE WHO SEEK “ONLY” THAT AVENUE ARE NOT WORTHY KEEPERS OF GOD’S SUGGESTED LAWS. I.e.: IF A MAN WILL CHEAT ON HIS WIFE, OR FAMILY OR PARTNER—HE IS NOT OF GOD; HE IS FOOLING HIMSELF AND TRYING TO FOOL OTHERS, TO CONTINUE IN HIS OWN CORRUPTION.

And if you wish to consider this as “sexual expression only”, YOU ERR GREATLY. Most “cheating” has nothing to do with sex—just self-interest.

No, it is NOT difficult to tell self-greed and narcissism from true self-esteem through self-responsibility within the growth processes of individual leadership. And no, this does not mean that you become totally altruistic and divest of everything—it means that you care for the plight of ALL CREATIONS more than you covet anything, or anyone, and their status or possessions. The facts are, in this instance, as well, that one who serves to raise another to his best capabilities will have that which is wondrous and abundant—for THAT is UNIVERSAL LAW OF GIVING AND RECEIVING, OF WHICH “HALF”, OR MORE, IS THE SIMPLE NECESSITY OF ALSO “RECEIVING”, AND YOU SHALL RECEIVE “THAT WHICH YOU GIVE”.

I repeat something of a few days back, when we discussed “Watchers” and that adage about teaching a man to fish. No, you show a man how he can grow the fish and he can become self-sustaining. Too much has been done foolishly in handing out instructions on fishing, where man just continues to fish dry his very life-source. Stop the fishing and the taking and BUILD (CONSTRUCT) THAT WHICH PROVIDES LIVELIHOOD, AND STOP THE STRUGGLE FOR SELF-OVER-INDULGENCE.

A great African leader has come to ME for assistance, as word has spread that we, together, shall bring great change and offer great potential for growth and achievement. We shall at this writing just refer to this person as “AFRICALION”, for I do not want this person badgered or impacted by any negative impulsive attacks, attitudes or interferences. He knows what he is doing, for he asks for input and instructions. We CAN help, yes, through building another link in our alliance structure.

The whole of the necessary infrastructure can be constructed, through a coalition of certain parties in the Philippines, to reach out by and between others in the “coalition” alliance, for each individual will NOT be given the keys “to the Kingdom”, as a slang term of your own making. If you are to succeed, you will work TOGETHER. And yes, there needs to be organization and management in a most magnificent size and manner. We MUST utilize the “Global Plan”, however, as structured—so that there is a base upon which people, nations, and the Global “community” can build foundations which bring forth a FREE society, which is, after all, simply a coalition of individuals. This must be in such a way that each INDIVIDUAL has sovereignty over self. I did not say “great wealth” for self—I said “FREEDOM IN SOVEREIGNTY OVER SELF”.

Can such a major concept and change be accomplished? YES! Moreover, it can be shifted out and over into glorious strides toward equality and freedom, as MAN, HIMSELF, CAN READJUST ATTITUDES AND CONCEPTS AND MOVE FORWARD. You can do this within the structure of that which exists, and those of the Adversary will actually HELP YOU, for they, too, are simply individuals doing a job for which they are hired and paid. GIVE A MAN A BETTER WAY AND HE WILL TAKE IT.

With this in mind, E.J., I ask that these writings, with a bit more backup, if necessary, be provided to Fatima, for consideration and input by her team. The people within the loop of her Team “Leadership” had/have an exceptional working relationship with those in leadership positions of, say, in this instance, Africa. This is via association with these leaders many years ago, when ongoing plans of the day were structured.

In this particular focus, I deal with Africa in the way of the more recent efforts to unify the African states through the leadership of, in this instance, Muammar al-Qaddafi. We also, in this way, are allowed to work within the nation of Ghana, the home of the United Nations Secretary, Kofi Annan—to build a community united in Greater Africa, upon which individual nations can be productive and regain DIGNITY in DIVINE SOURCE.

For this potential connection, I need to present some of the communications as to status of parties involved. I will not utilize the structuring information already come before and will refrain from giving any private or contact information in this writing which can be made public.

We have found that to make connections with those in the United States who serve Allah, as exemplified by Mr. Farrakhan of the Nation of Islam, is blocked, hidden and certainly CONTROLLED. I, therefore, of necessity, will allow that all to take its own routing, through others than of my team in Manila, please. We will go directly to the top leadership of this proposed coalition of Greater Africa.

We will refer, as in the first document, to AFRIKAMAWU and MIRACLE MISSION.

[QUOTING from Afrikalion:]

Thu, 30 Sep 1999

Dear His Excellency the Libyan Ambassador,

Re: REQUEST TO MEET PRESIDENT KADDAFFI [H: Please note that I use the World Almanac spelling of this addressed party: Qaddafi. All ways recognized are sufficient but I must make an effort for consistency.]

In view of the recent spectacular Historic Decision of leaders in Afrika, led by our Untiring Progressive and Courageous Continental Afrikan Brother, President Kaddafi, to work for a United States of Afrika or a Continental Afrikan Government for which we the Afrikan-Centric Forces of the Continental/Diaspora Afrikan World are proud and congratulate our Progressive leaders, I wish to invite you to consider arranging for me to meet as soon as possible, our Brother Kaddafi to:

1) congratulate him personally for his continuous love for and the devotion to the Empowerment of all Continental Afrikans/Islanders,

2) find, with him, concrete ways and means of setting up, right away, a Continental Afrikan Government Implementation Authority to begin educating/awakening/mobilizing the Continental/Diaspora establishment, administration, protection and promotion of one Mighty Afrikan-Centric Continental Afrikan-land-and-People-People-based and oriented Democracy, Leadership, Empowerment, Liberation, Development, Prosperity, Security, Happiness, Pride and Dignity for all our today’s One Billion Citizens and Nationals of our Soon-to-be proclaimed Continental Afrikan Republic with all the Continental Afrikan means, will, vision, power and agenda to save, once and for all, our Continent from the Hell of Neocolonialism, self-ignorance, fragmentation, dependency, powerlessness, hopelessness, helplessness, despair, suffering and lack on the richest continent on Earth but which none of our today’s colonially created and neo-colonially/artificially kept alive states without nations can solve for the bulk of their people no matter how long or hard they try,

3) bring together the best of the world’s top and best Afrikan-centric Continental Afrikan Political, Economic and Social world order, systems, institutions, policies, leadership, values and a Master Blueprint Vision, agenda, strategy and Plan of Action that will give all Continental Afrikans/Islanders, the inner or self-reliant means they need to Fish for themselves rather than be kept on the political, economic and social crumbs, leftovers and surpluses of others as photocopies of others.

The achievement of the above goals, with our Brother Kaddafi, will result into the following concrete Reality,

1) Afrika's One-Hundred-Year-old Continental Afrika-based Empowerment and Prosperity Dream for the benefit of all Continental Afrikans,

2) the golden opportunity to complement the works of our leaders in Afrika by providing them with all the progressive continental/diaspora intellectual think tank, capital, means, power, and direction they need to translate their United States of Afrika Agenda Dream into the Reality we all expect and deserve by Divine Right,

3) the avoidance of their recent Historic Decision becoming another paper tiger on the forgotten shelves of OAU.

The uniqueness of my ability and experience to meet with and be received by our Brother President Kaddafi for his indispensable support in the implementation of the above Historic Goals are based and supported by the fact that I am the:

1) Holder of the Highest French PhD, called DOCTORAT d'Etat, in Afrikan/Pan-Afrikan Studies, from Sorbonne, Paris 11 in 1985;

2) Author of forty (40) Afrikan-centric pro-Continental Afrikan Government Books, including my DOCTORAT d'Etat's Thesis on the What, Why, How and When of the Continental Afrikan Government Agenda that was awarded "Mention Tres Honorable A la Majorite", (First class Upper) by a Jury of distinguished Sorbonne professors before whom I defended My Thesis with flying colors and my University of Ife's MSC Thesis on Nkrumah as the Champion of the United States of Afrika, and as the

3) Founder and Chairman of the AFRIKAMAWU MIRACLE MISSION (AMI) which is made of: a) Continental Afrikan Development Authority, CADA, b) Continental Afrikan Government Organization, CAGO, and Continental Afrikan Foundation, CAFO, through which AMI has been working for the past Thirteen Years to win support for the success of the Historic Decision Leaders of Afrika who have just agreed to implement for the benefit of all Continental Afrikan.

Enclosed is my One-page Profile to give you a better idea of who and what I am for your info and transmission to our Brother for his positive reply, invitation and support which we badly need to transform Afrika from the world's most impoverished and needy place on Earth into the world's First paradise where self-knowledge and not self-ignorance, Love not hatred, sharing and not accumulation, Spirituality and not materialism, cooperation and not competition, WE-ISM and not I-ME-MYSELF, prosperity and not poverty, happiness and not sadness shall reign supreme in the Hearts, Minds and Spirits of all Continental Afrikans and Humanity.

I look forward to your prompt action and result for us to turn all the above impossible into possible for the Benefit of all, Sincerely Yours In the Service of AFRIKAYEYE FOR ALL MISSION which means a Better Afrika for all Continental Afrikans/Islanders and Humanity.

Professor Afrikadzata Deku, PhD.

[H: For privacy of this party, E.J., please have copied for use the personal information. I do not wish to run this publicly, for all protection, security and privacy must be maintained at this point of interaction. Thank you.

I want to be kept informed as up to now but we only need this type of input at this time. Let us see what others can do to make their own connections and explain that which will be offered to support this program in formation.]

My Dearest AFRIKALION

SUBJECT: DEAR COMMANDANT, HERE'S THE DIVINE HAND STAMPING OUR VISION TO IMPLEMENT? [H: YES INDEED! GOD WALKS THIS PATHWAY AND THIS IS TO COME TO PASS IN YOUR TIME, IF YOU BUT SEE THE WAY AND TAKE UP THE STAFF!]

I thought this would be of interest to you. Please read. USAfrika in sight in the new millennium.

SIRTE, Libya—In the face of mounting competition from global economic blocs and the threat of neo-colonialism, African leaders meeting here for the 4th Extraordinary Summit of the Organization of African Unity (OAU) determined that Africa would become the world's largest economic and political bloc, and perhaps the leader of the next millennium.

A record 43 heads-of-state answered the call of Libyan leader Muammar Gadhafi for the urgent Sept. 8-9 sessions to discuss the pace of which Africa is moving in the face of such global challenges. Col. Gadhafi, following the example set by the great revolutionary and Ghanaian President Kwame Nkrumah, and others, specifically called for the establishment of a United States of Africa, with its own central bank, military and parliament.

The extraordinary meeting culminated a 10-day celebration of the September 1st Revolution (The Great Al-Fatah Revolution). The colors of each African nation's flag decorated cities throughout Libya, African dance troupes performed nightly on the central square in Tripoli and revolutionary slogans and photographs of African presidents draped walls and billboards.

A massive parade, Sept. 7, in Tripoli, witnessed by nearly two dozen heads of state, Palestinian leader Yassar Arafat, Algerian revolutionary Ahmed Ben Bella, a Nation of Islam delegation led by Chief of Staff Leonard F. Muhammad, and others marked the official observation of the Revolution. The parade was delayed until Sept. 7 for the presidents' arrival.

Announced near midnight on their target date of 9-9-99, OAU Secretary General Salim Ahmed Salim told more than 100 journalists that the leaders had agreed to quicken the pace of unity.

"As we prepare to enter the 21st century and cognizant of the challenges...we emphasize the imperative need and high sense of urgency to rekindle the aspirations of our peoples for stronger unity, solidarity and cohesion in a larger community of peoples transcending cultural, ideological, ethnic and national differences.

"It is our conviction that our Continental Organization needs to be revitalized, in order to be able to play a more active role and continue to be relevant to the needs of our peoples and responsive to the demands of the prevailing circumstances," he said.

The OAU determined it would:

a. Quicken the pace of implementing the 1991 Abuja Treaty, which established an African Economic Community;

b. Speed up the process of establishing all of the institutions provided in the Treaty, an African Central Bank, an African Monetary Union, an African Court of Justice and a Pan-African Parliament;

c. Strengthen and consolidate existing, regional, economic communities;

d. Mandate its Council of Ministers to ensure implementation of those decisions, particularly to prepare the legal text necessary in light of the existing charter and the Abuja Treaty;

e. Mandate OAU Chairman and Algerian President Abdelaziz Bouteflika and South African president Thabo Mbeki to engage African creditors with the goal of securing the total cancellation of Africa's debt.

Mr. Salim said the OAU would establish the Pan-African Parliament by the year 2000, in order to provide a common platform for African peoples and grass roots organizations to be more involved in discussions and decision-making on problems and challenges facing Africa.

A RETURN TO SIRTE

The Council of Ministers should submit its report on implementation at the next meeting of the OAU, scheduled for Lome, Togo, next year, he said, adding that December 2000 is the target date for ratification of the agreements. Then the OAU would return to Sirte in the year 2001 to adopt the document, he said.

"This is a very, very serious milestone. Africa for a long time has been underestimated because we have not been united," Liberian President Charles Taylor told the FINAL CALL shortly after the meeting as the heads of state hurried to their cars after long hours of debate and discussions. "The time for unity is now, the unity will be organized. We are moving toward a parliamentary situation, and then the problems of Africa...can come into focus because we have decided that we are going to unite as a union."

Ghana's Deputy Foreign Minister Mohamed Ibn Chambass called the deliberations "very profound and very radical. We needed to be taking these steps (toward consolidating Africa) decades ago. We are happy that Africa has now realized we need to take our destiny into our own hands and catch up with the rest of the world."

[H: Well, Africa has pretty much caught up with, and is ahead of, "today's world", so that one didn't work—so PLEASE, may we now work to catch up with that which GOD INTENDED IN HIS PLAN FOR A WORLD IN FREEDOM AND GLORY.]

Throughout the summit meetings, Col. Gadhafi worked with determination to reemphasize the need for unity. He dressed in his traditional Arab garments for the official meetings and dinners, but journalists and delegates alike were well aware of his focus on aligning himself closer to his African neighbors, particularly following their decision at an OAU summit in Ouagadougou, Burkina Faso, to defy the UN ban against flights into Libya. That move, in 1998, observers feel, was a major dent in the wall of U.S.-led sanctions on Libya, whom the U.S. holds responsible for the 1988 bombing of Pan Am flight 103 over Lockerbie, Scotland. Col. Gadhafi had accused Arab leaders of the Middle East of not standing with him in the face of sanctions.

[H: Well, he has a good point, doesn't he? I would state right here and now that these are the very things which cause me to work around my team who happen to come from the U.S. of A. We put no brethren in jeopardy, nor do we jeopardize the “potential Program” because of political entanglements. We will not break any law nor shall any citizen break any restrictive regulations, no matter how absurd or limiting. There is a world at stake here, friends, and we do the JOB at hand, properly and safely for all involved. We do not negatively cross any nation as to the restrictions placed ON ITS CITIZENS, or with interactions by and between other nations. These are not technical games we play; we will do this mission within the laws of GOD, and we will respect and follow the laws of any nation with which we interchange. Those sanctions to which reference is made here against Libya have been removed, at least in part—but this does not preclude the forces of the U.S. from having repercussions against citizens who might blunder into some kind of a trap, sting, or bring focus upon our beings or personages. We simply will do nothing which reflects on such restrictions.]

“We’ve been waiting for this day with a particular eagerness,” Col. Gadhafi said to foreign ministers Sept. 7, at a preliminary meeting in Tripoli prior to the official opening of the summit. He said any union Africa determines must be comprehensive: economics, politics and culture.

Mr. Gadhafi invoked the name of Mr. Nkrumah as the catalyst for the meeting. He also said that everything needed for a new charter already exists in the Abuja Treaty.

The institutions were there, he said, but they were bodies without souls. “We want something considerable...a new soul to bring life to these institutions and bodies,” he said.

[H: How handy, for I excel in the “SOUL” department.]

THE WAY FORWARD

While Africa is still a continent in crisis, all agreed that the mandate of the original OAU Charter—fighting colonialism—has been achieved. The focus now is to bring internal stability to member states, some of whom are involved in civil wars and rebel attacks against their governments, so that the countries can gain control of their mineral and human resources to strengthen their economies. The way forward must be deliberate, yet careful, most observed.

In debating his point at the inception of the OAU Charter, Mr. Nkrumah argued that an African “continental union government” would have a two-house legislature: an upper house of two members from each state; and a lower house based on the population of each state, with power to formulate a common foreign policy, common continental planning for economic and industrial development, a common currency, monetary zone and a central bank of issue and a common defense system with one military High Command, according to Inside the OAU: Pan-Africanism in Practice (1986) by C.O.C. Amate.

“Since the conception of OAU in 1963, we have been advocating unity and solidarity,” said spokesman Ibrahim Daggash. “We used it in the liberation struggle and we succeeded. Why don’t we use it in our economic struggle as well?”

“We have to refuse marginalization. In the new millennium there’s no place for small entities. It should be viable political and economic groupings,” he said.

“If we succeed in an integrational process (in other areas), we’d succeed also in a common monetary unit. But we still have a long way to go,” said Liberian Foreign Minister Monie Captan, referring to what has happened with the European Union.

Among the special guests at the summit were Gamel Nkrumah, son of the late Kwame Nkrumah, and Roland Lumumba, son of the late Congo freedom fighter Patrice Lumumba. At the close of the Summit, after giving Revolution Awards to heads of state present, Col. Gadhafi, in a symbolic uniting of the past, present and future, awarded both sons the Revolution Award. With a horde of photographers chasing them, Col. Gadhafi walked out of the hall hand-in-hand with Nkrumah and Lumumba.

“My father would have been proud of Gadhafi today,” the young Nkrumah told the FINAL CALL in an interview. “I wish he could be around to see that somebody else has taken up his dream very seriously. It would have been a great day for him.”

[H: I would like to simply leave that for later comment. I ask that the third document, Dharma, be put to this disk. I will also be asking you, dear, to put the personal information of “Afrikalion” to disk, so that we have it available for “Habib” and his contacts, as well as for “Fatima” and hers. I believe that our Greek connection and also our African contact will already have same. That information can follow later, if not already in their possession. It is only for backup at this time, and I refuse to allow a general barraging of this man, for he has too much to accomplish and very little time. We want this PLAN 2000 to get up and understood before your calendar turns over a new year. Never mind when year-2000 starts or ends, for this is the Divine Plan moving into gear.]

[END OF QUOTING]

For the last attachment to this writing, Dharma, just copy, as delivered, the message as presented.

[QUOTING, AFRIKAMAWU, MIRACLE MISSION:]

Sept. 30, 1999

[H: We are intentionally offering no other identification.]

Your invitation to be part of Afrikan-centric Continental Afrika History in the making:

Dear Concerned Continental/Diaspora Afrikan Leader,

You are cordially invited to contribute your Precious Cornerstone to the Success of the above newly established Afrikan-centric Continental Afrikan Empowerment Organization meant to provide all today’s one billion continental Afrikans/Islanders, with all the Self-reliant inner tools they need to fish for themselves rather than be kept dependent on the political, economic and social crumbs, leftovers and surpluses of others which we are conditioned to beg for, hail, die and live for as “our progress, change, development, growth or success in life”.

Your AFRIKAMAWU MIRACLE MISSION (AMI), shall therefore be a Private, Nonprofit, Independent and Non-governmental Continental Afrika-based and oriented organization sponsored by the 501 (C) 3 Tax-exempt AFRIKAN CULTURE INSTITUTE,

ACI, with Three Major Departments or Areas of Focus and to our New Afrikan Magic of Total Afrikan-centric Continental Afrikan Rebirth, Awakening, Empowerment, Development, Prosperity, Happiness, Security, Pride and Dignity for all our today’s Continental Afrikans/Islanders as REBORN AND AWAKENED CONTINENTAL AFRIKANS as follows:

A) CADA or Continental Afrikan Development Authority to oversee the raising and managing of all the FUNDS needed to finance the designing and implementation of the following 13 Continental Afrikan Infrastructure-based Economic Rebirth and Empowerment Projects:

1) Conti-Afrikan Satellite System and Services, 2) Conti-Afrikan Bank Services, 3) Conti-Afrikan Transport System and Services, 4) Conti-Afrikan Solar System and Services, 4)(sic) Conti-Afrikan Drinking Water System and Services 5) Conti-Afrikan Food for All Services, 6) Conti-Afrikan University and Services, 7) Conti-Afrikan Residential, Commercial and Industrial Estates and Services, 8) Conti-Afrikan Kente-based Clothing and Services, 9) Conti-Afrikan Leadership Development and Services, 10) Conti-Afrikan Entrepreneurship Development and Services, 11) Conti-Afrikan Motivational Services, 12) Conti-Afrikan Medicine and Healing Services, 13) Conti-Afrikan Gold Production and Services for the Profit of All Continental Afrikans/Islanders and Humanity.

B. CAGO or Continental Afrikan Government Organization to oversee the raising and the management of all the Funds needed to finance the Designing and Implementation of the following 13 Afrikan-centric Continental Afrikan Political Rebirth and Empowerment Projects:

One Cont. Afrikan: 1. Nation-State, 2. Government, 3. Democracy, 4. Leadership/Governance, 5. Constitution, 6. Language/Lingua Franca, 7. Parliament, 8. Executive Palace, 9. Capital/Infrastructure/Modern Amenities, 10. Supreme Court Mansion, 11. Electoral Authority, 12. Security System and, 13. Employment for ALL Services for the benefit of all Continental Africans/Islanders and Humanity.

[H: Right here, I urge you to stop and consider what is just written. If you simply continue with a typical, “controlled” and, actually, non-democracy, you err. Further, you must not set up, as “MANSIONS”, any governmental structures. We know what is intended here, but a government to act as a government in honor, integrity and JUSTICE must not set aside “mansions, palaces, or temples” unto the government or its officials. When you speak of “language”, you err if you use other than English and let me tell you WHY: The majority of all people on the globe who speak a second language—ALREADY USE ENGLISH. This may well not be the preferred language—but the point is to allow ALL people TO UNDERSTAND THAT WHICH IS OFFERED, AND IT MUST NOT BE HIDDEN BEHIND ADDITIONAL AGENDAS AND INABILITY TO COMMUNICATE “EXPLICITLY” WITH ALL CITIZENS.]

C. CAFO or Continental Afrikan Foundation to oversee the raising and management of all the Fund needed to finance the Designing and Implementation of the following 13 Afrikan-centric Continental Afrikan Social Rebirth and Empowerment Projects:

One Cont. Afrikan: 1. Culture Awareness Authority and Services, 2. Education/Training Authority and Services, 3. Science and Technology Authority and Services, 4. Religion Authority and Services, 5. Investment Authority and Services, 6. Ideology/Production Authority and Services, 7. Currency Authority and Services, 8. Trade/Business Authority and Services, 9. Spiritual Power Authority and Services, 10. Ceremonies/Festivals Authority and Services, 11. Competitions and Awards Authority and Services, 12. Press Authority and Services and, 13. Human Rights Authority and Services for the security, pride and dignity of all Continental Afrikans.

[H: I ask you to NOT restrict or demand that these things be structured as they are today. You will need to have constitutional foundations upon which to build. Leave selves open totally for a better GLOBAL approach to overall "community" as in "Global (World) Constitution" agreements by, between and among all nations, but wherein each nation is SOVEREIGN. Just do NOT bury anything in cement until there is opportunity to work in such establishment within the GLOBAL COMMUNITY. We will not demand anything, nor that you as nations set aside your sovereignty, but we do know that which works within the DIVINE PLAN and that which has been set up by MEN to enslave their brethren. I think a fair and well-understood term from the Native Hawaiian people, "Hang Loose", is appropriate, so that you can choose the BEST of guidelines and actions which ensure FREEDOM and don't allow blundering back into the old puppet-master traditions.]

Right now, our Brokers have achieved the impossible of getting Seven Billion U.S. Dollars approved for AMI, and they are working on getting a AAA Bank Guarantee to secure the Fund to us. After which, we shall all go home to Afrika to acquire 100,000 acres of Land on a Mountain overlooking the Sea in Ghana, which we shall develop into the Continental Afrikan World City for all our Top of the world Top Best Afrikan-centric Continental/Diaspora Afrikan Minds to be brought into, to work together in Love and Peace for the Success of all the Above Goals for the Benefit of us all in Unity, Pride, Dignity, Security, Freedom and Justice for all.

[H: OK, right here you must take great care. This could be a START and a sub-division of a larger alliance. But $7 billion cannot and will not be sufficient for the whole of the process nor should it be. Neither is it sufficient for "ALL" to have other than ALL participate in the founding and deciding of place and program. That which is attainable at this time is a change within mankind into and within that which is represented by the LAWS OF GOD, BY WHATEVER NAME IS ACCEPTABLE FOR "HIGHEST CREATOR DEITY". THAT LABEL WILL BE DIFFERENT IN EVERY KNOWN SOCIETY OR LANGUAGE.]

And as soon as you let us know which of the above Three Areas of AMI's Focus you see yourself the most qualified to provide a Positive Leadership for the Good of all, you will formally be assigned your Continental Afrikan Role, Duties and Responsibilities as Honorable AMI, CADA, CAFO or CAGO Board of Director, Elder, Executive, Patron, Think Tank, Investor, Philanthropist, Scholar, Promoter, Activist, Thinker or Member depending on your Qualification, experience and level of your talent, interest and commitment to AMI.

Sincerely yours with Thanks for your prompt reply and support.

[END OF QUOTING]

In leaving this writing, I want to remind all of you who might read this that nothing with God is closed or singularly designed for the one individual, but rather, for THE ONE of which we are all—ALL. However, the leadership in this beginning foundation, upon which the rest can be structured, will necessarily fall to the ones who have been guided to recognize their portion and purpose and have thus already structured potentially workable plans for formation of that infrastructure within the LAWS of GOD—not MAN.

I, Aton, remind all of you that the TIME OF GOD IS AT HAND! You will have the means to accomplish this mission, if you recognize your call and THE potential. You who continue to fool around with every monetary scheme around, please continue whatever it is you are doing, because we have no time to re-instruct you in the proper ways of global change. And do not come running to us when you have damaged us, intentionally or otherwise, and demand a place of honor or power, for you certainly can participate but will not be among the decisive leadership, for you have gone through the sorting period and have sorted, in most respects, away from my nucleus team in this transition. We cannot even take the time to administer or personally serve your individual needs or wishes. If you do not understand this statement, then you already prove you are not yet ready for more authority or participation at a higher level of integrating our programs and projects.

This in no way means that you can't participate, offer projects and proposals, but we are moving on beyond those tasks, and those things will be left to objective business parties on the basis of merit and intent—not just on money acquisition. This SHOULD be THE WAY you wish it to come to be and, if this is not so, think carefully about your stature and status.

You who have inadvertently or intentionally slowed or tried to STOP our work in this mission, are recognized and have had opportunity to set beliefs, attitudes and demands forth and before the public as well as ourselves.

You who continue to push, attack, shove, damage or pull down our people or this program of GOODNESS within the DIVINE PLAN OF GOD shall be set aside and left to your own choices.

Thank you, and I ask that Dharma remain right here as we take this off and begin some further instructions.

And yes, I AM that which is Aton—and I am also that one which you call Father or "Dad", according to your choice of Allah, God, Great Spirit or hATONn. Also, please note that I respond to that which is ATOM(N).

We have a wondrous and glorious journey ahead in the Creation of THAT WHICH IS. Some will call this adventure as being of the Children of the Sun and will recognize very HUMAN aspects as present to get this job brought to finish.

LIGHT and LOVE are your gifts. LIFE IS THAT WHICH IS GOD'S GIFT TO YOU—WHAT YOU DO WITH IT IS YOUR GIFT TO GOD! MAKE YOUR GIFT WORTHY! SALU

Free-Will Choices Compose Your "Ticket"

10/5/99—#1

WAITING ON GOD?

Hatonn—I have terrible news for you who just "Wait upon the Lord..." to do everything, tell you everything and, somehow, make everything "happen": It doesn't work that way!

Patience is one thing, doing nothing is quite another.

Most of you just sit back, without even deciding what it is you want, and "wait". On what do you wait? Is there NOTHING to do whilst you fiddle your lives away? And do you realize that even you who are busy, busy, busy making things happen are waiting—not on God—but on somebody in fully physical format to do "something"?

"But," you say, "you are the one who tells us to be patient and wait...". Indeed, I do, because some of you reading this message are my nucleus team, and you are into it all the time, so you are so involved as to cause me to have to ask you to hold up—always because of everyone else's "waiting". People don't even keep appointments set days in advance—and then just "show up"! Well, today, we start being less acceptable of that kind of behavior.

Stop blaming God for your lack of fulfillment, lack of reaching goals (especially if you, indeed, have any) and, above all, really look and see what you might do to speed that desired result along its way.

If you are working on joint projects, then you have to see what you can do in the absence of a teammate to take responsibility for assisting in a timely manner. And no, this is not to fill in for any particular person in any given circumstance. This is for everybody. Sometimes you can't do anything at all in another's stead, so size up everything you see before you and see what can be done which can help, and always according to correct priorities. HOW CAN YOU BEST HELP WITH THE ACCOMPLISHMENT OF THE WHOLE?

Think about these things, for most think that, if you just have funds, it will be wonderful, roses and lollipops. No, it won't, for that only brings whole new sets of consequences and problems to be challenged and solved. But ah, in most instances in what we are doing, it solves more than it brings in additional confrontations, for you would, with "plenty", be able to simply make choices and direct others to accomplish most transitioning changes. ALWAYS DO THAT AT WHICH YOU ARE BEST AND GIVE ANOTHER A JOB WHENEVER YOU CAN DO SO. If you always attend this focus, you will waste less time. And yes, you have to, in these instances, see what it is you do that allows you to afford getting other help, instead of spending your time foolishly. But do not simply sit back as a king or queen on a throne while others "serve" you, just because you are LAZY! Check it out, so that you are not just making work for another while you "wait" on things to happen.

I bring these things to your attention for, quite frankly, I have taken a bad rap lately, in that so many are waiting for me to accomplish YOUR job that I get blamed for your own personal and intentional actions.

I have changed not one iota since we met, and yet you accuse, blame, whine, cry, become helpless and confused and protest to God that you "just don't know...". Why don't you know? We have kept nothing from you, and yet you take that which is gossip and destroy the very TRUTH itself. When you destroy TRUTH, you are making an effort to destroy GOD. Why? Because GOD "IS" TRUTH. You reach out, then, and hurt whomever is near; or you feel, as a result of gossip and claimed "confusion", that someone ELSE is responsible for YOUR actions. In destroying another, you are TRYING to destroy that which is GOD, even if in no wise the person who is the target is Godly. You should not deliberately hurt ones you LOVE and, in doing so, you are trying to hurt God for your own indiscretions, for GOD IS LOVE.

When you present the falsehoods of living, you are trying to hurt God, for GOD IS LOVE. YOU "want" to think that God is also total forgiveness—but why? God does not Judge, so "forgiveness" is not among the things of God's perception. Things and acts are evil in intent, actually, or they are good. This means that you and your acts are anywhere along that line of travel, from extreme evil to extreme good. However, that is your problem and not God's. Where do YOU fit within this perception of point?

It is never the challenge which is of importance, friends, IT IS HOW YOU PERCEIVE AND MEET THE CHALLENGES OF LIFE AND LIVING. And no, "life" and "living" really are NOT the same thing. GOD IS "LIFE"; "LIVING IS WHAT YOU DO WITH THE EXPRESSION."

Now that a tiny few have accomplished the most impressive one focus in the world today, how do YOU feel about it? And, moreover, where are YOU in the new receiving lineup? Are you even in the receiving line? I can tell you now that obligations established will be met—if you have not broken your contract with God's team! If YOU have deliberately chosen to damage or prevent fulfillment of glory, your consequences might not be as wondrous as you somehow would have wished them to be. Do you even KNOW? No, you continue to confer with the dropouts and opponents of forward movement within righteousness. They are, worse, ONLY struggling to protect their EGOS. These people of the lie struggle to simply cover their misdeeds, and shelter their ego demands FOR SELF, and will let YOU go to Hell, or the dump, whichever comes first.

But what is the most obvious cause of pain or poverty? YOU, YOURSELF! You make a choice and ultimately consider it a bad move when things seem—or you are told by another—that there is trouble afoot. You do not even trust your own FIRST judgment of circumstances. Those who move toward positive expectations MAKE IT WORK, readers—every time! So, if you are dangling in the wind like a wind chime, expect your life to simply have the results of a tinkling wind chime. Is your chime harmonious, or raspy with discord? Well, it is YOUR wind chime! Or do you blame God for sending ill wind to strike your untuned apparatus? And how do you know "wind"? Do you see wind? DO YOU SEE LIGHT? No, neither. You can only see the reflection of that which is in both or either. GOD IS WIND! GOD IS LIGHT! GOD IS ALL. So, do you rail against the wind that blows too hard? Ah, but, if you attended your own needs, you would not rail against the wind or the light—for those are things you are quite capable of adjusting to suitable capacities. If you have electricity-producing windmills—you WANT wind! If you hang a wind chime, you obviously wanted wind when you decided to hang it outdoors in the open areas without breaks against the wind. If the LIGHT is too bright and burns the skin—get a shade! STOP the nonsense.

We have no time for blame, revenge or judgment, readers. You do that which you will—but WE HAVE A JOB TO DO AND WE ARE GETTING IT DONE!

IMF (???)

Do you actually think that somehow Mr. Clinton "just decided" to forgive the debts of some "poor" nations? Do you actually think that "he" just up and forgave some $40 million in Phillipine debts? Oh chelas, chelas!

Our mission here was not to get you some spending money for your druthers or to be king of a hill somewhere in La-La-Land. Those things are and were simply to make your way easier and our goals achievable. Abundance IS GOD. Yes, that's what I said: GOD IS ABUNDANCE and, if you are of God, you should expect abundance. If you have none, then check your attitude. If you have "nothing", then I still recognize "abundance", even if you consider it abundance of poverty. You actually only consider "money" to be your "abundance". Well, if you have lack of money or anything else—you actually only have lack of ideas and follow-through, for all who stayed the course with "us" will find "abundance", according to your own definitions.

If you have stood against God's mission, you will also find an abundance—usually called "want" or "negative" impact upon SELVES. How will you KNOW? "WAIT UPON THE LORD!"

This concept was stressed through one of your more "positive" preachers: "Keep the faith, keep the truth, keep the dream and keep the vision—AND WORK LIKE CRAZY!" Those on the front lines in truth, however, do NOT call their task "work", except in that it is somehow an expected definition of whatever they do. If you are working in a positive way, you don't have to worry or concern over boredom, lack, or any negative perception, for you will be creating and re-creating, giving and re-giving, receiving JOY and giving JOY—and guess what: GOD IS CREATING AND RE-CREATING, GIVING AND RE-GIVING AND, ABOVE ALL, THE VERY EXPRESSION OF JOY!

If there is doubt or pain in that you are perhaps doing something "wrong"—you ARE. And today is a good day to look at that which you do and see where your anger, hurt, assault and intent to control or damage is directed—AND WHY! Does your intent and action serve God or gossips? Do you open Pandora's proverbial box or contain a bit longer the problems besetting another? Oh, indeed, the FIFTH OF OCTOBER, 1999 is a wondrous day, a truly notable day! YOU have the ability to hurt or help another, so which will it be? Oh, you are waiting on the Lord? Ah, indeed! Are you rubbing your hands over some perceived prize captured, damage done to your proclaimed enemies? What do "they" feel? Ah, watch out, for they may very well, indeed, be joyously experiencing true JOY in accomplishment. It's all in the living and all in the perception of living, intent and that which you wish to be, in Truth—not physical impact of accomplishment of that which you do AGAINST another. These are but the lessons of living that you might have all of God's attributes in LIFE. Or, is this concept also "too confusing"? How can you do GOD'S work in "confusion"? You can't. CONFUSION IS THE OPPOSITE OF GOD.

Now to lessen the "confusion" of such as the sudden, generous turn of, say, the IMF, World Bank and even Billy Zipper—check it out. Check out even the turn in gold. Is this too "human" for you? What ARE you? I could grant that you ARE human? You think you are giving to the mission of a million lifetimes, and yet, YOU MISS YOUR VERY SUCCESS, while you fiddle and burn down your own foundations. YOU HAVE EXPERIENCED A WORLD ITSELF MOVING INTO POSITIVE CHANGE, AND YOU FOCUS ON YOUR EGO AND PERSONAL "GETCHAS". YOU MISS THE GLORY OF GOD AND ACCOMPLISHMENT, AND ARE BLIND TO THE LIGHT SHONE UPON YOU.

I hearken back to a little meeting in which GOD APPEARED in Glory all about the speaker and all in the room, and yet THE ONE to whom the gift was offered—NEVER EVEN SAW IT. But everyone else in that room DID SEE IT. And now, within short months, they turn away and accuse the very bringer of THAT Glorious Light and pronounce her "tinged" by "dark" something-or-other. You see, you do not even BELIEVE IT WHEN YOU SEE IT, so much the less can you SEE IT IF YOU DON'T BELIEVE IT, FOR WHEN YOU BELIEVE IT—YOU "WILL" SEE IT! And moreover, YOU choose to have God be what you perceive you want HIM to be—unless, of course, you change your mind along the way—like the wind chime kept out of the wind, lest it make a racket which disturbs your attention focus. Are you a wind chime or a windmill? Do you simply make noise or do you produce something? Are you Don Quixote or Don Juan? Do you chase windmills or do you BUILD THEM? Ah, these are the choices of every individual. Do you, further, want to reap the reward of windmill production—as in electricity, or water for the fields or your own thirst—or do you wait to reap the rewards from someone else's building of the apparatus, while you tinkle away on your wind chime, while complaining about the electric supply or water production? No, please, CHECK IT OUT—it DOES make a difference and, in fact, it makes ALL THE DIFFERENCE.

You are a soul having a human experience; not a human needing a soul experience. You must experience the human, if you are human, and those other dimensions are FOR the experience of those other dimensions. The only thing that ever can change dimensions at any rate is MIND—SOUL. Otherwise, you are in the here-and-now, so why not make the very most of it?

BY THE WAY

When you get to heaven, what are you going to do? I can offer several things for your consideration. Those souls in heaven with God are not FOCUSED ON THEIR MONEY ABUNDANCE, or lack. When they have made it to SIT WITH GOD, they are concerned on CREATING and will thus make journey after journey back into the limitation of the human form—to show the way and experience, for one reason or another. It is only in the human aspect that THOUGHT controls everything, and only through THOUGHT can action be accomplished. First, you must "think" a thing, in order to even act upon it. If you find someone "acting" out something, without thought—YOU CALL IT INSANITY and, most certainly, "acting out" is the only form of "action", be it good action or bad. There isn't even a right or a wrong action, but there is intent of good or evil. But "action" IS "acting out", good or evil.

So, YOU are in an experience of being a sensing body, which is neither good nor evil, right nor wrong, and that is guided, and actions of CONSCIOUSNESS "ARE" the "you" in point. So, if your body goes down and turns in your neighbor for whatever offence YOU dream up—you have a body responding directly to its master's thoughts. How many of YOU act without any real thought to the reality or consequences of your actions? By the way: THE EGO IS THAT PART OF MIND WHICH IS ONLY HUMAN!

Let's put it simplistically for observation: If your neighbor is outside waving around a loaded machine-gun and threatens you—what will you do? The obvious is to get the heck out of the way! The next is to decide action on the matter in point and respond, WITH REASON AND SAFETY. Not the least of your considerations might be to consider what you might have done to cause such a reaction. If it is "nothing", then you have to consider consequences of what you immediately DO.

This is an extreme example? No, this is a simple example, for these are the things you do daily to some degree or another without, usually, consideration of CONSEQUENCES of YOUR OWN actions, as relative to the other's actions. And what do you PERCEIVE is taking place? Be careful with this one, because most of you people simply can't believe anyone, including a neighbor, would come at you with a machine-gun. Ah, but you would come at your neighbor with things which bring more pain to a human body AND SOUL than any machine-gun bullet dead-on target! So, it is always "intent" followed by action. The THOUGHTS offer time to choose actions, consider potential consequences and generally offer opportunity to serve, respond and REASON.

How many of you expect to stand off the side of the road and continually hurl rocks from the edge or from, better yet, that middle line? You are the wind chime, claiming confusion! You cannot hide, for there is no place to hide and no place to run. Throw that rock and EXPECT consequences. If you hurl rocks—you can expect a whole big bunch of rocks tossed back at you, for it is a stupid wind chime who just gets banged around by every hot-air blast that comes along.

If you are hot, do you simply keep piling more wood on the fire? If you are cold, do you get a coat, build a fire—or simply freeze to death? GOD HAS GIVEN MAN "LIFE" AND "THOUGHT", and how many of you deliberately damage both? Do you do things, take things and manage to screw up your very life and creative thought capability? Do you then take actions that will surely come back upon you, but you had not control over self and ego enough to act in REASON? Then do you simply turn upon the one YOU DAMAGED to expect goodly reward? Do you stand forth and actually accuse those you deliberately damaged in the name of truth—while you lied, cheated and took from that other? These are the considerations of evolvment of soul, chelas. THESE ARE THE LESSONS OF LIFE IN A FREE-WILL ENVIRONMENT OF CHOICES—WHERE YOU HAVE AVAILABLE "REASON", "LOGIC" AND CHOICES.

Do you pound unto death's door someone you CHOOSE to harass because you feel slighted—through your own actions and ill intent? Then do you fail to "understand" that they do not like you any longer, while you just want whatever you now decide you want from them? I suggest you forget it because, once pounded by the stones you toss and the poison you loose, you are going to not find good company among those you damaged. HURT is a two-way street, and "forgiveness" has nothing whatsoever to do with it. If you want "forgiveness", practice forgiveness—and then use your brain for thinking, instead of childish demands.

Most often, the abrupt and severe pain of amputation—cutting loose the parasite sucking you dry—is far easier, in the long run, than dying slowly as they suck away at you, and drain your very being, and you lose your life AND SOUL balance. And always remember: The true parasites do not just go away—they seek, search and usually find another host and destroy it as well. And, above all, remember: GOD IS AN EQUAL-OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER!

How many of you spew forth such things as "she is lost to the dark energies", for "I have perceived and..."? Then, when those actions result in recognition of your errors—you scream "persecution" and "crucifixion"? Don't you realize, people, if you "crucify" someone, you are GOING TO END UP WITH THE NAIL IN YOUR HAND, ONE WAY OR ANOTHER? This is a simple realization of nail hammering. Some of you ding-a-lings aren't even wind chimes, or even a bell worthy of note—for you have no clapper and thus bang upon others to make your racket. Music is from within and expresses soul. Is your "music" but noise and racket? Is your smile a smirk or a joy in light? I see NO JOY in those proclaiming to use ME and confuse YOU. There is NO JOY among the bunch of self-proclaimed "enemies" of my troops—NONE. How many chickens do you have to drown to bring joy unto self? How many people do you have to bring to LOSS to find some miserable, artificial "joy" unto self?

How many people do you "frame" or "set-up" with the lies to bring some response of gladness to your heart? Oh, indeed, it DOES make a difference, and when you do these things in the NAME OF GOODNESS AND GOD—whom do you think you damage? YOU CANNOT HIDE FROM GOD—PERIOD! AND, READERS, YOU CAN'T HIDE FROM SELF. You can lie and deceive self with all your excuses—BUT NO, YOU CAN'T HIDE FROM INTENT OF SELF. You simply bury your own gift of LIFE in the need to justify, rationalize—and excuse bad choices and negative actions. BUT THE THOUGHT REMAINS! ACTION IS ONLY A RESULT OF THAT WHICH IS AS A MAN “THINKS”.

Further along that “thought”: Justice is not a “judicial” thing. Justice is that balance of truth as a thought of an individual. You can have injustice or justice, but it remains within an individual, gathered with other individuals, which make up a judicial system. Men make laws, and men judge, and both are prone to dastardly errors in right vs. wrong.

What is this message? Ah, indeed, I am getting you ready for success and others for failure. It is up to you to decide which is your plight or status. There are no such things as “failures”—there is only EXPERIENCE. Perception is the telling of a person and expressly—TO HIMSELF! If you succeed at failure and have nothing—WHY? Why have two walked together, and one holds the prize and another does not? WHY? And, how many have you walked with and stayed the course? How many have you pulled down into failure with your wretched self? Oh well...! You are right, but don't expect your brother to like you for your dirty deeds when the wash is on the line and the skeletons on the front stoop. I will remind you of something else: Those you have bashed and trashed and who go on to “succeed” will spend no time looking back at you amongst your piles of dirty rocks, except perhaps to wave bon voyage.

I will also remind you: WHEN YOU “KISS-OFF” GOD, YOU HAVE MADE A VERY NEGATIVE BLUNDER! Especially when you then claim your opinion IN THE NAME OF GOD.

I would close this writing today with a reminder that YOU ARE WHAT MAKES YOU—GOD CAN ONLY ASSIST! Do you stand tall and strong in truth-values and, yes, wait upon the Lord when appropriate—for response—not reaction? And, during your “waiting”, do you sit and move into negative roadblocks, or do you keep right on keeping on toward the direction of God and Light? Here is where lying to self is a luxury you might well not be able to afford.

Do you shoot off or chop off your own feet and then accuse, blame and blast another, while doubling your own idiocy? And how many others do you cause to blow off their feet as well? Consequences of actions are interesting experiences. And, worse—how many children do you demand grow up in your own warped perceptions? Ah yes, indeed, we are getting serious now, aren't we? DO YOU REALLY WANT YOUR CHILDREN TO GROW UP IN YOUR IMAGE?

WELL, READERS, I DO!

Salu, and now—go CREATE A GOOD DAY, PLEASE.

ATON

P.S. Please check your attitude.

Rejoice In Celebration As We Prepare For Harvest

10/6/99—#1

PLAY(S) OF THE DAY

PLEASE GIVE IT A COUPLE OF DAYS!

Hatonn—What of another day in Tropical Paradise? What of another day in California, Greece, London, South Africa, Timbuktu? LOTS.

Let's see now, Dharma, whatever was to happen in Bakersfield about the house and your personal things “simply happened”. Is anything different?

Yes, lots of things could have been done to stop the nonsense, from sending someone to the sale to represent “you”—to having our lawyer file for a “cease and desist” order. But NOW, you can simply file a suit against the Title Company, if that would be your choice—because they did not even contact other deed holders to the property. But that can wait, and you won't have to bring nasty confrontation to Millers for their stance. We have it said that Millers simply want to be paid, in full, and they have stated they wish to pay off the other deed holders. Fine, perhaps they can pay off IESC as well?

As quickly as is possible, you can bring the debt current through proper channels and then leave the participants to their own arrangements.

Close and heavy pressures? Yes, but now we know where we stand with everyone involved—or do we? There are some other holders who did NOT agree to any such arrangement as presented by Millers or Chicago Title Co. And yes, everybody here in Manila did everything they could do to get the funds shifted “in time”. Did they get any shifted? We are NOT going to talk about that but KNOW, all of you, that the arrangements being made around the globe and here in Manila are tremendously large, important, and to take days at efforts for “personal comfort” has been a colossal distraction and time-consuming effort. It will be fine and we are humbly grateful. Many people have literally been on duty around-the-clock to accomplish just this little “side” purpose. Unfortunately: What a difference a day makes! What price, deadlines. Well, you do what you can and the rest takes its own pathway.

But, what is happening? LOTS AND BUNCHES! And, team, THIS is what it's all about. Don't, either, be fooled by the charades played. There has to be public information surfacing, and things are being handled in such a way as to not push any thing or one over the edge, into foolish actions.

I will point out some major and important bits of information, right out of the local major paper today, and KNOW that these are ALL DIRECTLY RELEVANT, CONNECTED AND QUITE OBVIOUS STATEMENTS REGARDING WHAT IS TAKING PLACE. Certainly, we can offer what is public press, and our own teams can recognize, from private information, the picture taking form. Remember that the IMF, WB, and basically the FED are international entities who are responsible for the collapse in global sectors around the globe, but our focus today will basically remain in the local area of the Philippines, in Southeast Asia.

We simply have to rely on the CONTACT staff to struggle through with other information, i.e., whatever they deem important.

What is taking place is most certainly the outcome of top financial parties, and the very top of the economic ladders and Heads of State(s). And, you don't really have to read between the printed lines to recognize what is taking place—but you might enjoy the exercise into the “unseen”. Remember, a “mystery” is no longer mysterious when you KNOW the solution and/or cause of the mystery. Mysticism always remains mystic, no matter what you find, for that is its PURPOSE. “Mysterious” and “Mystic” are NOT the same thing.

GOLD

It says right here, on the Business Section, first page: “$313.50/oz. $10 increase?”. Yes, indeed, gold is flowing around the globe like some out-of-control tidal-wave action, as there are desperate measures being taken to try and contain the miserable and intentional scams having taken place.

The Nits in power have dinked around with silver, as well, and that is a big-biggly also but not in our attention for this morning.

When you bring hard commodity into the picture—instead of wire and paper transfers with false receipts, etc.—the picture begins to change shape, doesn't it?

There are at least three articles I wish to share with our readers this morning, and they don't actually need explanation. [QUOTING, The Philippine Star, Wed., Oct. 6, 1999:]

RP LAUNCHES $500-M
25-YEAR GLOBAL BONDS

The country [Philippines] has launched a 25-year global bond offering worth $500 million, aimed at holders of the country's dollar-denominated Brady Bonds, the Department of Finance (DOF) announced yesterday.

Holders of the Brady Bonds, issued in the 1980s and early-1990s, are invited to exchange them for the new global bonds, the DOF said.

Half of the total issuance of global bonds will go to the Brady Bond swap, while the rest will be for new subscribers, it added.

Finance Secretary Edgardo B. Espiritu, who was in New York, said the Brady Bond swap is “part of a broad, proactive strategy by the country to manage its external debt in a manner that strengthens our relationship with international and domestic investors, while achieving several, significant, debt-management objectives. [H: Ah, indeed.]

Holders of the new bonds will have the option of selling them back to the government after seven years, with seven-year US Treasury Bonds, set to mature in 2006, serving as the benchmark price. [H: This is all fine and the “time” consumed is to stagger these offerings, to cover both large amounts and quantities of assets. This is, however, a very good way to handle this, for it ensures that the U.S. will have to do something to make it at least into 2006 and shows that the intention is to work “with” the program, rather than collapse the economy.]

Brady Bonds are financial instruments issued by developing countries to restructure their debt, and are issued at a discount to the debt's full value. They are at least partially backed by the U.S. Treasury.

Espiritu said the proceeds of the new cash offering will go to “general purposes” this year and to fund government spending next year.

The swap will allow the government to retire Brady Bonds “which are inefficient, as it trades wider than the existing Philippine sovereign bonds” and will also free up the Brady Bond collateral, the DOF said. [H: Note how much they don’t say, i.e., what IS the collateral?] Morgan Stanley, Dean Witter and Chase Securities will handle the offering. [H: Ah, indeed, I bet they will. It is nervous time in River City, trombone players.]

The Brady Bonds eligible for exchange are the Principal Collateralized Interest-Reduction Bond (or Par Bonds), Interest Reduction, Floating-Rate Bond and the Central Bank of the Philippines Floating-Rate Guaranteed Bonds (NMB Bonds). The Philippines originally issued $3.5-billion worth of Brady Bonds in December 1992, in connection with the implementation of the country’s financing plan for that year.

The NMB Bonds were originally issued by the old CB in May 1990, in connection with the refinancing of advances under a $925-million credit facility and financing foreign exchange requirements.

[END OF QUOTING]

You should now be able to see the new dance routine, with a higher confusion factor of, say, 199.9%. How can the Philippine people, with no education, struggling to survive, ever figure it out? They can’t, and neither can you, but when you note the involved players, the story picture evolves quite clearly.

[QUOTING, same source:]

U.S., IMF CRITICIZED FOR “WRONG DIAGNOSIS” OF ASIAN FINANCIAL CRISIS

By Jay Albert M. Ilagan

The United States and the International Monetary Fund (IMF) have a wrong analysis on the cause of the Asian financial crisis.

[H: What to look for here is a reshuffling of accusations, blame and all those nifty things that were done in manipulation. The agreement is to get the information made public, and then there are going to follow-on some “apologies” and political garbage taking place, but an overall change will be forthcoming. These are the beginning focus to lay a media foundation to get the reporters off the backs of the ones having to actually structure the programs. There is constant communication open with the U.S. (with Philippine “officers” in the U.S. right now, working around the clock). These releases are intentional and are nothing but cover—but what else is new in this old deceptive world? We are caught in the trap of having to wait for the games to be played. It is, yes indeed, hard to win if you don’t even know the game, but we must start SOMEWHERE! The facts are that it is intentional that “nobody” know the game, BUT we know the game, the rules and how to win, and they are confronted with the facts squarely confronting them in their deceptions. GOD WINS!]

Ajit Singh, and Bruce Weisse, a professor of economics and doctor of philosophy student at the University of Cambridge, respectively, made this assessment in a paper titled “The Asian Crisis: A Crisis Foretold”.

[H: NOTE: Check the names, the places and the information offered. I will give you a bit of advance insight, however: E.J. has already been approached by a professor in economics here, to take our writings and compile them into a textbook for use in the University. Our presentations are factual and easily understood, and it is obviously blatant that economists are poured out by the zillions, without any sane notion of true “economics”.]

Singh and Weisse noted that the influential thesis of the U.S. government and the IMF is that the fundamental cause of the Asian financial crisis lies in the dirigiste model of guided Capitalism [H: GUIDED Capitalism(??)] and that the crisis has arisen in large measure by precipitate financial liberalization that involved the abandonment of the essential tents (sic) of the model.

[H: OK, let’s look at that paragraph. Everybody with us, so far? How much do you understand of the statements made therein? Do you think the little paper reporter understood it clearly? How about a shorter statement, translating the information contained therein? OK: “%#!(%#+_@#!&^,<>.com.)

They said this wrong analysis has led the IMF to the wrong direction. “Unfortunately, in the case of the IMF, the mistaken diagnosis has inevitably led to wrong policy prescriptions that have exacerbated rather than alleviated the crisis,” Singh and Weisse said. [H: Please keep in mind that this is written in a public, MAJOR paper for the Filipino citizens, whose first language is not even English, and this is not a translation, readers. So, how much do you think John Doe Bong Bong Ericita understands this full explanation of “what went wrong”?]

“Apart from ascribing the crisis ‘fundamentally’ to the Asian model, at the beginning of the crisis, the IMF evidently [H: “evidently”?] interpreted it as a traditional balance-of-payments crisis brought about by government fiscal excesses,” they added. [H: Oh, well, that explains it!]

Singh and Weisse [H: good old Filipino names] stressed that this has produced negative results, and this misdiagnosis of the policies that followed from it have been catastrophic. [H: Now, we DO understand “catastrophic”, don’t we?] The policy prescriptions involved fiscal monetary contraction and high interest rates. [H: Oh, indeed yes, this really fleshes out the entire explanation.]

To cope with the fundamental structural causes of the crisis (that is, the dirigiste model), the IMF recommended further financial liberalization together with far-reaching changes in basic social institutions,” they said. [H: Wow, they said that? Quite a mouthful, wouldn’t you agree?]

Singh and Weisse criticized this policy as inappropriate under the circumstances. [H: Well, I guess so.] “If (the IMF) failed fully to appreciate that the Asian crisis was not of the traditional type, but it was a crisis caused by private rather than public profligacy, and that it was a crisis of the capital account,” Singh and Weisse said. [H: Do you suppose Singh and Weisse are Bobsy twins, Siamese twins, a one-celled organism or what?]

“In these circumstances, the IMF’s policy of high interest rates and fiscal austerity has managed to effectively bankrupt the corporate and banking sectors and thereby generate a deep depression in the stricken economies,” they said.

Singh and Weisse blamed financial liberalization for weakening the corporate system, saying that high debt or equity ratios, without the government’s active involvement in risk taking, made the corporate system fragile.

They stressed that no policy was put in place to regulate corporate borrowings. It was accentuated by the fact that not only was the overt government control over corporate borrowings (particularly abroad) and investment abandoned, but it was not even replaced by adequate prudential regulation,” Singh and Weisse said.

They cited the case of China, which, they said, maintained extensive controls on capital movements. “This is particularly notable in view of the fact that in the most recent period, China has suffered reduced economic growth and considerable slowing down of the rate of growth of its exports,” Singh and Weisse said.

“It is also interesting that despite capital controls, the country, during the last decade, has been the largest recipient of foreign, direct-investment inflows in the developing world,” they said.

Singh and Weisse pushed for a change in the IMF’s analyses and policy prescriptions. “At the level of political economy, one important policy implication (of this article) is that the deep crisis makes it all the more necessary for the affected countries not only to maintain the close government-business relationships of the Asian model, but indeed to extend them to involve trade unions and groups in civil society,” they said. [H: No Guano! By golly, do you suppose this also has to do with “public profligacy” “(particularly abroad)” and/or wrong prescriptions, as in “practicing medicine or law without a license”?]

Singh and Weisse also urged cooperation between countries in providing solutions to the crisis. “The resolution of the crisis requires credible policies that must necessarily be based on cooperation and equitable sharing of the burden,” they said.—Manila Newsfeatures and Commentaries [END OF QUOTING]

Thank you Mr. Singhweisse!

And so it goes, readers. Do you still wonder at HOW things got into such a total mess? And to you who continue to bash and trash my team over here in Manila—I suggest you sort it out for your Spectrum readers.

It is also said that the house Ekkers used to live in would have been secured, if Ekkers had just written, personally, to the program of auction holders. “They write to others, they could have written to us.”

Well, Ekkers spent over $100 in one night trying to contact those people, and THEY DON’T HAVE $100 TO SPEND IN BEGGING FURTHER. What is there to say? Is begging the intent of elicitation? Ekkers have used all the energy they will to focus on that which takes from them, in an effort to get this job done here.

As a for-instance, people concluding the first MAJOR (as in BIG AND HUMONGOUS) transfer of assets, commodity and funds, have worked with one half-hour break since YESTERDAY MORNING—non-stop. Part of the side-task was to get some funds sent to Tehachapi before that auction sale. Ekkers have no idea as to whether or not it got done and, frankly, at this moment, don’t care a whit. The top seven banks here, including the Central Bank, are getting this job done. Amazing and miraculous things have taken place around the globe, just since we took the reins in March. Old partners and pretended friends are not longer allowed to distract my team from our appointed responsibilities. The hurt, rebuttals or focus are no longer acceptable distractions. A kick in the belly or the heart is of no consequence in the overall picture unfolding. This all just allows everyone to stop PRETENDING friendship, when the outcome is vindictiveness.

Ekkers write to everybody, and that has included Millers and actually the ENTIRE SPECTRUM GROUP, AS WELL.

Millers have stated, according to the attorney, that they will take care of all other parties prior to their claim—in the property. Ekkers have no notion as to who those parties might be, for they did not have anything to do with the original structure of the business arrangements and couldn’t have any way of getting all that information from 9,000 miles distant. There will be other houses, other trinkets, other aviaries if necessary. We do not junk God’s Plan 2000 for a “handful of silver”.

We shall shortly even the books, and then Ekkers’ obligations can be relieved to these people who claimed friendship, trust, assistance and LOVE. LOVE DOES NOT SERVE IN THIS MANNER. It does, however, make it far more easily seen and acknowledged as to responsibilities. And, this does NOT LESSEN in any way the appreciation of those, like the Millers, who have helped endlessly through these hard years. The point, however, of lessons is that LEARNING takes place, which allows for better CHOICES with each challenge. We do not bend the soul work to save one iota of material trinkets, and this is simply the way it IS. There is now a WORLD in hurt, which depends on WHAT WE DO HERE to make or break it. We conclude—to MAKE IT!

It is also said that Millers don't actually want the house or the problems with all this legal hassle. This is, I'm sure, quite true. So, when we are able, we will simply purchase the property from them and clear the obligations. And, Dharma, it was simply a necessary thing to play out the act under way. RESPONSIBLE ACTIONS ARE RARELY EASY and, when I see that with you and E.J. it is the inconvenience, time distraction and disruption that is uppermost in these confronting scenarios, I realize our way is secured—you will serve without focus on self, for our purpose is far greater than any other possible distraction. So be it. We will attend the fragments as soon as possible.

If they do not wish to sell the property, then so be it. You will be quite able, very soon, to have professional movers pack and store everything properly. Yes, the added china cupboards and central units Gene built for you CAN AND WILL, IF NECESSARY, be dismantled and stored as well.

My suggestion is to wait a couple of weeks and let us take stock of circumstances. I want the "location", and that is extensive in itself, so do not spend time on the problem.

We can now begin to wrap up all those outstanding harassments and legal entanglements, so that we can move ahead in some modicum of peace. Let it be.

We need our attorney to attend the more POSITIVE tasks looming immediately ahead, so let us REJOICE, for this is a CELEBRATION as we prepare for the harvest.

And to the team "back home", you should also begin to prepare your celebration, for the JOB IS DONE—WE HAVE BUT TO WORK OUT THE DOCUMENTS AND PAPERWORK AGREEMENTS.

Can something go wrong? Yes, of course—for that is LIFE! It will NOT do so, however, if you ACCEPT THE SUCCESS AND NOW LET IT FLOW.

Remember that we had to STOP the steamroller overrunning the world AND build a track upon which to turn it about—and we have done it, in less than six months! Now THAT is some kind of a record for Earthman, I would suppose. Go in Love and Peace, and let not the "things" of living lessen the JOY OF ACCOMPLISHMENT. The spillways, flow conduits and flow itself had to be carefully worked out to allow that which is stored behind the "dam", so to speak, to begin its distribution. There truly is "unlimited" to flow forth. God blesses and keeps you, precious compatriots. And, indeed, we shall turn assets and attention upon Dr. Ron, and at least the pressures of maintaining life and limb can be somewhat relieved.

How soon? Well, more quickly now than "imminent". And yes, you will have the energy to get it finished.

I will tell on Dharma as to a dream she had. In this dream it was noted by a couple of doctors that she wasn't well and was totally fatigued, so they sent E.J. to get her to be treated. She simply said, "I'm too damned tired to get well." And so it goes, chelas. Sometimes we are just too tired to struggle longer, and in those times, let go and let God, please—and thank you.

I Salute my team for a unified JOB WELL DONE.

Good morning, Dad (hee hee)

God Is THE Master At Seeing To Consequences

10/7/99—#1

UNDERSTANDING

Hatonn—I am met with a continual flow of petitions to fix everything from your son's drinking problems to misinformation correction and always: NEW REVELATIONS, PLEASE, along with how, what, when, why, where and WHO.

What mean you when you ask? Are there not psychics coming out your ears? Does it really change the day, if I tell you that, say, Imelda Marcos is off on a world jaunt? Why? She used to travel ALL THE TIME to everywhere. She needs her eyes checked, and she just "happens" to be visiting—from North Africa, Morocco, to Europe and lots of places in the U.S. What difference does it make? To whom do YOU refer? I use this as an example because it seems to be today's FRONT-PAGE news. So, with that in mind, let it be recognized that there are several, ongoing cases against Mrs. Marcos, as the world destroys every shred of dignity (well, they haven't succeeded in that arena), know even her bathroom habits, and denounce her for celebrating her birthday and wearing HER OWN JEWELRY. It is NOT Imelda Marcos that I denounce for such behavior—I note the world is filled with NASTY people and especially greedy politicians, who even STEAL sardines from the Customs Department.

Whether or not the world likes it, Ferdinand and Imelda Marcos did more for the Philippines than ANY OTHER PEOPLE ON THE GLOBE. They THOUGHT they were working with partners, friends and people who would put the world back on a gold standard. They worked incredibly hard at collecting gold, AGAINST THAT DAY WHEN THE NEW WORLD ORDER WOULD BE ESTABLISHED ON A FOUNDATION OF GOLD-BACKED CURRENCIES AND REGAIN STABILITY. Far fetched? No, it is that the public simply never sees anything other than what the MEDIA CONTROLLERS want you to see and hear.

Am I some kind of "buddy" of the Marcos clan? As a matter of fact, YES. Does that surprise you? WHY? WHO, again, AM I? I am exactly who I have said for a dozen years that I am. And THAT puts the Marcos people right up there alongside YOU in my attention and acceptance.

I would like to note that even yesterday, used in the local paper headline, came editorials about people thinking themselves, and others treating them, like Athenians. In other words, "little gods". Could YOU continue your work for God and Brother after being shot, relatives murdered, stolen from, thieved from, and continually harassed and debased by those who have made gain from what you accomplished? If you happen to be a lady of "society", or interested in your presentation, how many shoes would you have? And, what the heck difference does it make? If YOU found a gold cave overflowing with gold bars—what would you do with it? Especially, what would you do with it if you were visited BY GOD, and HE said, and proved to you, that it was, indeed, set forth against the day of Millennium change? Would you protect it? WHAT WOULD "YOU" DO WITH IT? Now, this is just a hypothetical question to point out that YOU DON'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT THE REAL STORY OF WHAT IS FACT AND WHAT IS MYTH.

If, further, you were told to make yourself known among leaders and privately form coalitions, for the protection of the wealth to have substance later, what would YOU do?

Moreover, what would you do when WORLD KINGS DECIDE TO BETRAY YOU, KILL YOU, AND TAKE EVERYTHING THAT YOU HAVE SECURED AND THEY HAVE HELPED YOU SECURE—FOR THEIR OWN PERSONAL GAIN AND POWER? And if you are going to play with KINGS, would you not make an effort to present as best you could? If you have to make an appearance in court or any public circumstance, do you not dress as well as you can?

Do you think you talk to GOD, ANGELS, MESSENGERS—ATON? Wow, does that then make the Marcos couple CRAZY NUTS, BECAUSE THEY NOT ONLY TALK WITH THESE ENERGIES BUT MEET WITH THEM IN PHYSICAL EXPRESSION? Oh my, and how goodie-two-shoes might YOU remain in the face of tremendous wealth and possibilities?

I have news for you who pronounce HELL upon people you don't even know—they react and respond in the ONLY WAY THEY CAN, just like you.

So, you pull down the "do-ers" and jump upon them and kick them, some even unto death, and then wonder what went wrong with your world. Well, THIS is what has gone wrong with your world. People sit on the couch with their can of beer, staring at a BOX, and proclaiming themselves as NUMBER ONE, simply because they may have chosen a team that wins—and screw the brother that loses. What have you done, REALLY, other than support the Controlling Elite? THESE ARE YOUR DISTRACTIONS, SET FORTH TO DISTRACT YOU FROM ANYTHING WORTHY OF EXPRESSION OTHERWISE.

What do you KNOW about one, Imelda Marcos? Have you even MET THE LADY (and it has never been argued that she is a lady)? Ask ten people and ten out of ten—if they are under 20, and she is not on the reporter's lips or pen—will NOT have any notion of who she is. Although, she will be better recognized than your Secretary of the Treasury right in the U.S.A. How many of YOU can name the Cabinet members of one, Billy Clinton? Do you know their nationality? Do you know who or what they are and from where they came? Test yourself. YOU MADE IT POSSIBLE FOR THESE TRAITORS AND FOOLS TO BE IN THE GOVERNMENT, RUNNING YOUR BUSINESS AND NATION—AND THUS, WHO MIGHT BE "THE FOOL"?

How many of you simply see everything as ridiculous, and "it can't be done", or "it won't work", when all you have done is read someone else's opinion?

Do you think that to work for Brother and God you must be a wimp in pious clothes? Oh, you err—it takes more to hold the line for GOD than any other one task in the Universe and, ultimately, those who are not of God will do everything in their united power to destroy you and everything you have and then kick your corpse. Think about it—what have you done today to assist someone in trouble or loss, who has done nothing except try to do positive work in YOUR BEHALF? I can only hope the self-gratification of your slick and cute maneuvers brings great pleasure in your moments of assumed "gain", because what you have GAINED is an exclusion from the ongoing participation in the actual workings of GOD'S PLAN. There are a lot of distractions and charade experts along the way, chelas.

No, I have no interest in “selling” Mrs. Marcos to any of you, nor judging her or you—I just want to remind you—that you DO NOT KNOW VERY MUCH ABOUT ANYTHING, IN ACTUAL “REALITY”.

TO MAKE MY POINT: WHAT DO YOU “ACTUALLY” KNOW ABOUT GADHAFI? And, oh yes, by the way, where is he from? No, where is he REALLY from? Where IS that place? Is it in southern Canada, northern Mexico or, tell me, WHERE IS IT and what surrounds it?

HOW DARE YOU PRONOUNCE YOUR JUDGMENTS ABOUT ANOTHER, WHEN YOU KNOW, ACTUALLY, NOTHING?

What has happened in your world, chelas, is that you have been fed such a diet of piggy-poop that you don’t know what to eat, and it has destroyed your good health, good living and good-ness. And, is the game plan to stay your own, non-productive, middle-of-the-line stance until you can hook a ride with someone who seems to know where they are going? Ah, but did that one simply steal from the “other” that you somehow cast out, because you are told “excuses” and fabrications by the thieves and robbers? Oh, it IS important, readers—from the very top of the seats of governments and religions—it IS very, very important.

Is there really “hope” for this old tired world? No, not particularly, “just a matter of hope”—THERE IS PROMISE OF BETTER FOR THIS PLANET AND LIFE UPON IT. That is, IF you do not kill off those willing to make the personal effort to MAKE IT SO.

I also get from some people: “I just don’t want to go against my husband/wife/family/business associates”, and/or “I just don’t know”, so I better go with snatch and run—you know, “Just business”, and I have the equipment in my care, supposedly renting it, but I think I can claim it as my own, on my own presentation of repairs, or as with Green and missing books—just keep it. It usually goes along with, “I can remove evidence from their files.”

Ah, but what about such as Green and “THE BOOKS”? Green and his lawyer, Horton, SWORE UNDER OATH THAT THE “BOOKS” HAD BEEN DUMPED, BECAUSE OF FLOOD DAMAGE, AND WERE ALL GONE. NOW, TODAY, SOMEHOW THE BOOKS ARE BACK, STORED IN A WAREHOUSE WITH A BIG STORAGE BILL AGAINST THEM, AND HE WOULD LIKE TO “SETTLE” OUT OF COURT. I BET! AH, BUT WHAT AGREEMENTS? WE DROPPED CHARGES AGAINST SPECTRUM KIDS, AND THEY HAVE NOT KEPT EVEN ONE OF THEIR AGREEMENTS! NOT ONE. DO WE EVEN WANT OLD BOOKS? WE HAVE A HUNDRED BOOKS WE COULDN’T EVEN AFFORD TO PRINT! WHY WOULD WE WANT THE OLD ONES HELD HOSTAGE? ANY OF VALUE OF A PARTICULAR FOCUS—HAD TO BE REPRINTED, AT OUR EXPENSE, ALREADY.

If this is the basis upon which the “speakers for God” behave—what HOPE HAVE YOU? Sometimes, as Dharma claims, the “lonely” way is the most friendly way! If THE self-proclaimed speaker for the RETURNING CHRIST “plunks” visitors under the guise of “soul mate”, what hope have you, chelas? Well, lots, for you must stop functioning through the shadow of ANOTHER! You know what is RIGHT, and you know what is WRONG—it is birthed with you, in that soul experiencing this new (or very old) expression of manifestation. The FACTS are that you base your actions and EXCUSE FOR ACTIONS on “well, everybody...”. No, “everybody” does NOT—just the ones you want to rationalize YOUR ATTITUDE AND ACTIONS.

I would remind you about a few things: 1) When you have done it (good or bad) unto the least of mine, ye have done it unto ME. 2) If you have DELIBERATELY failed to help, while making “excuses”—and members of your own family, friends, and partners are hurting—you have committed a great burden for your soul, and 3) If, for a moment of perceived GAIN for SELF, you have betrayed, lied, cheated or stolen (primary property or actual material thing), you have served evil and are not of God. To do any of these things to those who work constantly and in total fatigue FOR GOD AND GOODNESS, you have truly hurt SELF and those attachments to you. And, guess what: The ones you damage will not and have not turned YOU who transgress away from themselves—YOU, IN YOUR SHAME, TAKE YOURSELF AWAY—ALONG WITH ALL YOU CAN TRAP AND CONFUSE WHO WILL GO WITH YOU.

MAY THE BEST WIN AND, BRETHREN, THAT IS GOD OF LIGHT, CREATOR. THE VERY WORD “CREATOR” ENSURES THE WIN.

So, to you who would TAKE that which you can heist or grab—take it, for you can only manipulate and/or destroy, take or hold that which is material stuff. We can CREATE that which is necessary to replace it, with better! But, we do not abandon the property to the thieves—we make every available effort to regain that which is OURS. For you might recognize that the NEXT thing you see going away FROM YOU is what you considered to be YOUR property. It is called REPUTATION. Once you have, through your actions, destroyed your reputation—there is little else of value, for no one will dare place trust and faith in anything, especially your contract; your word. And, if you have something you have unrightfully “taken” and then call it your own—just because you now have it in your possession—think again. If you possess stolen property, all the “excuses” are not worth much.

TO THE CONTACT STAFF

Thank you for taking responsibility and paying attention. You help us greatly as you share worthy information. I ask the following: Please get in touch with, or check on copyrights for Lawrence Parks, who has written “What the President Should Know about our Monetary System”, and ask permission to run it in the paper. ASAP, we will begin to assist those writers with funding but, at the moment, we need to know who will help in bringing truth and who will hold everything hostage.

The information is simply confirmation of those papers done by E.J. and me, so no, there is nothing new—only from another source, which takes one more step forward in education of the people.

Please run the article, and we will simply run copies for use here with some of our own contacts. It is too much to ask Dharma to copy so much, just to get it to our disk for my comments. It stands alone. It could use a bit of up-front comment by Editorial input, recognition and honors to the writer and appreciation; always credit and appreciation, please.

How are we going to assist those who have not even recognized us? Easy. When we have funds, for instance with SPOTLIGHT, to keep focus from us and them—we simply ask who among our own readers would like a FREE subscription to SPOTLIGHT, and we subscribe for them, and if only 200 people wish a subscription, that is 200 more for their mailing list, and our payment will be silent and quite acceptable. That is the way we begin and then, later, we can directly participate and ask use of already utilized writings, which brings the journalist and the focus to a further audience. It is a time of beginning to work TOGETHER, even if we do not agree on the publication itself. If they, or we, for instance, can pick up a thousand new subscribers—it helps, as well as being able to offer some silent donations along the way. If you lose Spotlight and Liberty Lobby, you have really lost a major key to information in truth and value.

Since, today, we can do nothing along these lines—we do that which we can, try to settle our own legal battles and make sure we have LEARNED through the experiences presented. And, oh yes, we ARE going to succeed; we have already succeeded, but simply moving the hands of a clock around to 12:00 noon, if it be actually 6:00 a.m., DOES NOT MAKE IT NOON. Things must work in proper SEQUENCE, and pushing it out of good timing simply jams the gears. If you do the jam-job on the workings of a clock, for instance—you no longer have a “time” piece but, rather, a worthless piece of junk. No matter how ornate, a clock which keeps no time—is just that—worthless and ornate junk. By our manipulations and pushing, we often stop the very thing we want as outcome from coming to proper and fruitful conclusion. There are simply some things we must allow to run their course. If you build a motor from new concepts—don’t you have to allow it to run to see, in FACT, if you have a worthy invention? STOP KILLING THE INVENTORS, LEST YOU BE LEFT WITH NOTHING BUT DEAD-END DEATH TRAPS, FOR BODY AS WELL AS SOUL.

Do I, Hatonn, lack for people to bring this task to fruition? NO. But I am first going to make a place for those who have stayed the course WITH ME. And no, those are not just hanging around a little California location, or hooked by their own pronouncement to something or other of our CREATION. And those of you who WENT YOUR WAY, please stay your way if you are just tinkering with “possibilities”, for THAT IS THE VERY REASON FOR GIVING ALL A SECOND AND THIRD OPPORTUNITY TO GAIN KNOWLEDGE AND STOP THE “CONFUSION”. AND IF YOU TELL ME YOU “JUST CAN’T DECIDE...”, THIS IS NOT A GAME OF EENY-MEENY-MINEE-MO—THIS IS CONCLUSION ABOUT THAT WHICH IS “YOUR SOUL”—NOT MINE, AND NOT ANY OF THOSE WHO SERVE THIS CAUSE.

We must now turn our attention, this morning, to the focus in Africa. And, frankly, other than recognition of the overall gift of God, it means re-educating all parties involved, for the world is filled to overflow with WRONG information.

So, please, I want to turn to Afrikalion and see what we can do to begin to get him informed. BUT REALIZE, ALL OF YOU WHO WOULD HELP: BE CAUTIOUS, AND DO NOT GO AGAINST ANYTHING THAT WE HAVE AGREED TO DO OR NOT DO. IF THINGS CHANGE, IT WILL BE OPENLY IDENTIFIED. AT THIS TIME, WE DO NO DOMESTIC U.S. TRANSACTIONS—PERIOD. THAT IS OUR AGREEMENT! THIS WILL NOT HOLD FOR LONG, BUT IT MUST BE HONORED, AS ALL PARTIES INVOLVED ARE WORKING AROUND-THE-CLOCK TO EVOLVE A WORKING PLAN AND MODEL TO TEST OPERATIONS. WE WILL NOT CONTRIBUTE TO EITHER COLLAPSE OF GOVERNMENTS OR ECONOMIES—THAT IS ANARCHY—AND IF WE CAN’T EVEN TRUST ONES TO NOT DROWN OUR CHICKENS OR TAKE OUR FORKLIFT, HOW CAN WE EXPECT THE VERY ADVERSARY, HIMSELF, TO SERVE OUR CAUSE AGAINST HIMSELF.

CORPORATIONS, NON-PROFIT, ETC.

But even as to Afrikalion, he is working under MISINFORMATION—even as regards laws, corporations, churches and the such. I want to offer a rather short bit of information regarding 501(C)3 and 170(C)2 entities, as relate to the IRC (Internal Revenue Code). I believe this is important enough to present the information in this forum. However, to avoid the feeling of “revelation”, let us just refer to something already presented RECENTLY, AND THUS IS CURRENT INFORMATION, on this topic.

There is a very good piece done by a Christian missionary on this matter, and it is simple as well as exceptionally and succinctly presented. I ask, E.J., that this portion of the writing be separated out, to be included in the “package” of available information. It should be noted that people wishing to have U.S./Nevada corporations and/or do business on the basis of Corporation structures of international law, understand your assets and your limitations.

The entire Internal Revenue Service and CODE are unlawful under the Constitution of the United States of America—but people sit in prison this day because they followed the Constitution and crossed the POWERS IN CONTROL. The Power Brokers have ways of punishing you if you cross them, or demand your RIGHTS under the law—they simply ignore the law. BUT, WE WORK WITHIN ALL LAWS OF GOD AND MAN, FOR IT IS OF LITTLE SERVICE A MAN CAN BE WHILE LOCKED IN A FEDERAL PRISON. THE CONTROLLERS MAKE EVERYTHING “LEGAL”, EVEN IF TOTALLY UNLAWFUL. KNOW IT AND DON’T TAMPER WITH THOSE WHO HOLD YOUR LIFE IN THEIR HANDS.

There are, however, carefully-set-forth codes which can and do protect you if you have specific needs, and that is what I will ask be attended here. [QUOTING:]

RENDER UNTO CAESAR
ONLY WHAT IS CAESAR’S

By Dale Crowley, Jr.

A Christian missionary attempts to make sense of federal tax regulations as they apply to charity.

Internal Revenue sections 501(C)3 and 170(C)2 are two entirely different provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC), and must be kept separate in our thinking in order to understand and resist government tyranny.

Section 501(C)3 deals with taxes exempt from profitable business activity by charitable and religious organizations. How many charitable and religious organizations make money from business activity? In other words, who needs tax exemption?

Section 170(C)2 deals with deductibility from the gross income of a contributor, so that tax liability can be reduced.

These are two entirely different things. Here are four fundamental facts that must be kept in mind.

· “Church” or “churches” are mentioned NEITHER in 501(C)3 NOR in 170(C)2. It is therefore clear that Congress did not intend for these tax laws to impinge on church independence and autonomy. Yet churches are guaranteed tax exemption when engaged in profitable business (book selling, property rental, etc.) and church members are guaranteed deductions from their gross income in the amount of their contributions, with reporting to government, only when tax returns are filed.

· Congress has declared implicitly and explicitly, “501(C)3 and 170(C)2 have no bearing on churches and church members.”

· How can the government take away (“revoke”) from a church what it, the government, has no authority to give the church in the first place? [H: Ah, but back to the same thing as the IRC and unconstitutional “other” things the government does. However, in THIS instance, you have recourse and argument IN THE COURT, because the members of government also have a vested interest in these laws, for they can deduct that which they don’t even give and call it a legitimate “deduction”. KNOW who is playing the game, and you have a far better chance of having a bit more freedom in your own space. It is much as with incorporation laws—KNOW THE LAWS IN THE STATE IN WHICH YOU INCORPORATE, AND KNOW WHAT IS ACCEPTABLE AS CORPORATE LAW NATIONALLY AND INTERNATIONALLY, AND ABIDE BY THOSE LAWS AS ARE CURRENT FOR YOUR CIRCUMSTANCES.]

· The Internal Revenue Service (merely the government’s tax collector) does not mind—in fact, probably desires—that churches, charitable and Christian ministries [H: or any ministry], their contributors and taxpayers, do not understand and remain confused about the provisions of 501(C)3 and 170(C)2, as well as their lack of connection with each other.

In other words, the government is pleased when churches THINK they need 501(C)3 recognition, and when contributors think THEY MUST CONTRIBUTE only TO 501(C)3 organizations in order for their contributions to be deductible for income tax purposes.

Neither is the case. NEVER FORGET IT.

Tax lawyers and accountants know the differences between these two provisions of the tax code and the meaning and effect of both. But they will not explain it to you.

The lawyers may know that your ministry will never earn one dollar of profit in any kind of business activity, but they want to set up a 501(C)3 corporation anyway.

The accountants are fearful that they will get into trouble if ALL your donations do not go to 501(C)3 organizations.

Both are perpetrating and working under a deception, and they know it.

The Sec. 170 reference to Sec. 501 says that charitable and religious donations to an organization whose 501(C)3 exempt status has been revoked are not deductible from a taxpayer’s gross income.

This provision is a sham, and if tried in court will be found to be illegal, especially in the case of a church which did not request the 501(C)3 privilege in the first place, and which is continuing the work of the Lord.

This short reference to 501(C)3 in Sec. 170 is nothing more nor less than a tyrannical threat targeted at influential Christians and their organizations to keep hands off the pervading liberal agenda of this government. [H: Now, readers, just strike the term “Christian”, for this is written by a “Christian”, but the rules apply to all such organizations, all religions, etc. The government does not, either, have a right to intrude on YOUR RELIGION OR SPIRITUAL BELIEF OR ON THAT WHICH IS CHARITY, AS LONG AS IT GIVES TO THE NEEDY.]

The definitions of charitable, religious and deductible activity in Sec. 170 stand alone, on their own, and cannot logically or legally be affected by 501(C)3 revocation.

The IRS was ready, willing and eager to deceive an organization of which I was president in 1982—National Heritage Foundation—on this very point. We had received approximately $3 million in donations over a period of several years. The IRS revoked our tax-exempt status (we won that dispute) and then demanded payment of business income tax on the $3 million in donations! (We never made a dollar profit on anything!)

But an honest lawyer and an honest CPA, who worked for us, both of whom had worked for the IRS in the 1960s and 1970s, said to the IRS: “Wait a minute. No way. These donations are not taxable as earned income.” We won that dispute, too.

Churches and other Christian ministries, your contributions received are not taxable income under any circumstances.

“Tax-exempt”—501(C)3—applies to organizations.

“Tax deductible” (better, “gross income deductible”)—170(C)2—applies to individual contributors.

501(C)3 tax-exempt status does not apply to churches BY LAW. Any attempt by state or federal government to force churches to accept the 501(C)3 “privilege” is unbiblical, and un-American, meddling by Caesar in the work of God. [H: Now, of course, there are all sorts of reasonable debates to be had—BUT, THE FACTS ARE THE ENTIRE IRC IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL, SO THE POINT, ITSELF, IS MOOT. THIS FACT, however, won’t keep you from getting into trouble—so KNOW WHAT YOU ARE DOING, know your corporate laws, and know what you are attempting to accomplish. Possibly you are trying to do something under these guidelines that can actually be better accomplished through an open corporation structure, while being always in debt, which these churches and organizations always are, anyway. Then get a dependable corporation agent, learn the laws and “use them”. A reputable agent will offer privacy and security—it is his mandated, ethical and legal responsibility. Do we have problems? Yes, but that is because of dissension and power plays of greed and total avarice. The party in charge (THE AGENT) was, and remains, unaware and totally blighted by what came down the freeway on some of his clients, such as Phoenix Institute and CONTACT. If, however, you have kept clean actions and abided within all laws, the problems will be ultimately cleared in a court of law. Damages can be assessed after steps are taken to stop whatever wrongful actions are taking place and by whom they have occurred. It is called “RESPONSIBILITY”. I offer this only as an example, without desire or wish to discuss individual cases or circumstances.]

501(C)3 status is unnecessary on the part of churches and Spiritual ministries, since very few of them realize even a dime of profitable business income. (To those that are engaged in profitable business activity, of course, the tax-exempt privilege is desirable.)

Whether or not a church of Spiritual ministry is conducting profitable business activity, the government has no authority to dictate what the church or ministry preaches, teaches, advocates, condemns, prints or broadcasts. To impose such restrictions is a violation of constitutional rights and tyrannical repression of religious freedom. Government must not be permitted to hold out a bogus privilege—501(C)3 status—and then use that bogus privilege as a tool to coerce and control doctrinal, moral, ethical and political expression.

Regarding you, as a contributor, Section 170 of the Internal Revenue Code does not say that your contribution must be to your church or 501(C)3 organization in order to be “gross income deductible”. There is no mention of 501(C)3 in Section 170 in this regard. The focus in Section 170 is on kinds of charitable and religious activity, not kinds of organizations.

The annual reporting Form 990, submitted to government annually by all 501(C)3 organizations, purports to inform government of profitable business activity and income earned, so that the tax-exempt privilege can be claimed. But in 99 [cases] out of 100, the business income earned is ZERO. Therefore, it is clear that Form 990 is not for the purpose of income tax exemption, but for the purpose of government monitoring of the activities of charitable organizations and Christian [Spiritual] ministries.

Churches do not by law submit annual Form 990 reports. Congress has said, “Hands off, from the work of God.”

If your church is filing annual 990 reports, stop immediately.

Take advantage of the government’s “hands off” policy toward churches to contribute to the ministers and ministries of your choice. Your church must cooperate, of course. Simply make your contribution to your church, and ask the treasurer or pastor to send your contribution on. Such giving is none of Caesar’s business.

[END OF QUOTING]

Where there ARE opportunities for shelter and protection, why do you not use them? You rail against that which you perceive to be terrible in perpetration and perpetuation against you, when you could do so much better if you are simply INFORMED and utilize what is available for your use.

And, chelas, those who slam you with “fraud” and insults are those who are guilty of both ignorance and fraud upon your person and reputation. Fraud must be INTENTIONAL ACTIONS TO DECEIVE OR DELIBERATE ACTIONS TAKEN IN DECEIT. Just as TRUTH is not SLANDER, neither is the accusation of “fraud”, FRAUD, unless and until PROVEN IN A COURT OF LAW WITH A JURY OF PEERS THAT THE ACTS WERE INTENTIONAL ACTS TO DEPRIVE A PERSON OF PROPERTY UNLAWFULLY AND WRONGFULLY, THROUGH DECEPTION OR DECEPTIVE ACTIONS.

You who are regular readers of this paper have been DEFRAUDED and DECEIVED—but NOT BY MY TEAM. THOSE WHO DECEITFULLY AND FRAUDULENTLY USED THAT WHICH THEY TOOK UNLAWFULLY, AND CONTINUE TO USE AND ABUSE, ARE THE CULPRITS, AND IT IS TIME “YOU” SORT IT OUT—THROUGH THEIR ACTIONS, NEVER MIND THEIR LYING LIPS OR PENS.

WE DO NOT EVEN CONSIDER ACTIONS OUTSIDE THE LAW OF MAN OR GOD—PERIOD. AND, TRUTH WILL OUT, IF YOU JUST KEEP AT IT, AND IF ONE CRIMINAL WRONGFUL DEED WAS “DELIBERATELY” ACCOMPLISHED BY THE CLAIMANTS OF RIGHT TO SOMETHING PRESENTED OTHERWISE—YOU HAD BEST CHECK IT OUT CAREFULLY, LEST YOU BE INVOLVED IN THE CRIME THROUGH SIMPLE “ASSOCIATION”. IT IS, UNDER THE LAW, CALLED “ACCOMPLICE” TO THE ACTION—AND, ULTIMATELY, “CONSPIRATOR OR CO-CONSPIRATOR” AS A CONTRIBUTOR TO THE CRIME ITSELF. INTENT AND ACTION IN THESE INSTANCES ARE CONSIDERED, EVEN IF ONLY CIRCUMSTANTIAL, AS EVIDENCE OF COALITION OR AIDING AND ABETTING.

If then, however, you JOIN, literally as a co-worker of these ill-intentioned persons—YOU ARE IMMEDIATELY CONSIDERED A CO-CONSPIRATOR TO INTENT OF CRIME. All the weeping and wailing of “I just didn’t know...” will not save you from the court’s pronouncement—because, WHY DIDN’T YOU KNOW? MOST OFTEN YOU WERE WELL-INFORMED AND SIMPLY CHOSE UP SIDES TO SUIT YOUR EGO DEMANDS.

And, by the way, POSSESSION IS NOT REALLY 9/10THS OF THE LAW—IF YOU DIDN’T HAVE RIGHT TO POSSESSION IN THE FIRST PLACE! TO HOLD SOMETHING OR DECEITFULLY ACQUIRE SOMETHING OF PROPERTY NOT FULLY IN YOUR REALM OF TOTAL OWNERSHIP OF SAID PROPERTY—POSSESSION IS CONSIDERED THEFT AND, MOST OFTEN, “FELONY THEFT WITH INTENT TO DEFRAUD”.

AND YES, GOD WOULD! GOD IS “THE” MASTER AT SEEING TO “CONSEQUENCES” OF ACTIONS, FOR ACTIONS ARE THE ACTIVE, CONSCIOUS RESULT OF THOUGHT, WHICH IS SOUL INTENT.

If you wish to serve as a Steward for good, then it is far past time you got INFORMED, for God will never actually place his PLAN into the hands of the deliberately uninformed or the ignorant. So be it. Salu dharma

What The President Should Know About Our Monetary System

Daring truth-bringers, as we have found, are few-and-far-between. With all the confusion regarding the concept of “money”, we welcome these insights, and we honor and appreciate Mr. Parks for bringing clarity to this subject.

By Lawrence Parks, 10/3/99

“Of all the contrivances for cheating the laboring classes of mankind, none has been more effective than that which deludes them with paper money.”—Daniel Webster

DEFINITION OF TERMS

Fiat (arbitrary, paper) money is money that is created, out of nothing, by banks or central banks and without any work. Because of material misrepresentations and nondisclosure regarding our fiat “dollar”, it is, prima facie, fraudulent.

Commodity money is a physical thing, such as gold or silver. It takes work to create it. There are compelling reasons why gold has been the preferred commodity money since antiquity.

INTRODUCTION

The monetary system of the United States is inherently a fraud upon people, both at home and abroad. Essentials of our money are being misrepresented, and crucial information is not being disclosed. The beneficiaries of the fraud are mostly those in the financial sector of the economy—very large corporations and the politicians they finance. The victims are everybody else but, especially, ordinary people, who are dependent upon the integrity of our monetary system for their savings, their pensions and their jobs. Already, fraudulent monetary systems modeled after our own, have wiped out the savings, pensions and jobs of hundreds of millions [of people] all over the world, including in Russia, the Philippines, Mexico, Brazil, South Korea, Malaysia and many other countries.

HOW THE FIAT-MONEY FRAUD WORKS

Recently, there has been news about a massive insurance fraud by a Mr. Martin Frankel. Through an intermediary with whom he was associated, he acquired control of some small insurance companies and improperly transferred their assets to a company he ran, that supposedly invested and managed those assets. However, rather than manage those assets, he stole them and used the proceeds for his own benefit.

The policyholders had no idea what had happened. They, along with the regulators, received statements from Mr. Frankel showing that the assets were intact. Because no money was due the policyholders until years to come, there was the illusion that everything was fine. Of course, had the fraud continued, the policyholders would have come to realize, at some point, that there was nothing of substance backing up their statements.

The fiat-money fraud operates in a similar fashion. In a prosperous society, people save considerable amounts for future needs, believing that they are providing for their retirement. They don’t realize until years later, when they attempt to exchange their “savings” for real wealth (shelter, automobiles, food, clothing, etc.), that it takes many more “dollars” to pay for these things than the savers could possibly have anticipated at the start. They find that their money, as the saying goes, has “melted”. A mysterious villain, called “inflation”, is cited as the cause of the loss of purchasing power.

In fact, while people are saving potential claims on wealth, those who receive the interest and transaction fees for creating fiat “dollars” are spending them and consuming the real wealth those claims represent.

It takes work to create wealth. “Dollars” are created without any work—how much more work is involved in printing a $100 bill as compared to a $1 bill? Not only are ordinary people at home being deceived, but foreigners who accept and save our “dollars”, in exchange for their goods and services, are also being cheated.

“I’M ONLY PLAYING BY THE RULES”

A few years ago, Mr. Joe Jett, an alleged “rogue” trader for Kidder Peabody, then a major brokerage firm owned by General Electric, somehow produced a profit for Kidder of approximately $350 million, trading U.S. Government securities. Normally, this kind of trading produces much smaller profits for those who engage in it. At the time, Kidder and General Electric proclaimed Mr. Jett a hero. He received a multimillion [-dollar] bonus, his boss received a multimillion-dollar bonus, as did his boss’ boss. All were ecstatic! Then, it turned out that Mr. Jett had exploited a glitch in Kidder’s accounting system, and there was no $350 million profit. In fact, there was a loss!

What did Kidder do? Kidder came down on Mr. Jett like a ton of bricks. The firm fired him, defamed him in the press as a cheat, froze his assets and did all it could to brand him a criminal—short of having him arrested. And what was Mr. Jett’s reaction? He said that he was just playing by the rules. Further, he pointed out that his bosses knew, or should have known, exactly what he was doing. Besides, they got multimillion-dollar bonuses too—and they didn’t have to give them back.

Mr. Martin Mayer, a Resident Scholar at the Brookings Institute, has a very clever metaphor to explain Mr. Jett’s alleged fraud: One day, your eight-year-old kid comes home and says, “Mommy, daddy, I just made $1 million at the lemonade stand this afternoon.” And what do you say? Well, if you’re Joe Jett’s boss you say: “Well, that’s great, sweetheart. Let’s go spend the money.” But, if you’re any normal parent, you say: “How did you do that?” Some may recall a few years back when George Soros beat the Bank of England for more than $1 billion. In his latest book, he wrote: “I was taking money out of the pockets of British taxpayers.” The obvious question is: “What did British taxpayers get in return?”

Did Mr. Soros invent anything, like a cure to some dreaded disease? Did he produce a product or service that improved the lives of anyone? No. And when challenged about this massive wealth transfer from ordinary working people to himself, what did Mr. Soros say? He said the same thing Joe Jett said. He said: "I'm just playing by the rules." Well, there's something wrong with rules that enable such a massive transfer of unearned wealth.

THE ROLE OF MISREPRESENTATION AND NONDISCLOSURE, A.K.A. FRAUD

In order to achieve more certainty in personal relationships, people enter into agreements, i.e., contracts, which are governed by an area of law called "contract law". The concept is that the courts will uphold legal contracts not fraudulently entered into by consenting adults. This is commonly referred to as the "Rule of Law". A vital subset of contract law deals with promises to pay. In their most elemental form, contracts to pay are called "promissory notes".

For a promissory note to be legally valid, it must have these four elements:

- A "maker", i.e., a person or entity that will make payment;
- A payee, i.e., a person or entity that will receive payment;
- An amount to be paid; and,
- A date certain when payment is due.

If any of these four elements is missing, then the promissory note is deemed to be defective under the law and cannot be enforced.^[1] When the Federal Reserve legislation was passed in 1913, the Federal Reserve was empowered to issue Federal Reserve Notes that were, in fact, promissory notes.^[2] The maker was the Federal Reserve. The payee was the "Bearer." The amount of the note was the face amount. And the due date was "On Demand". See Figure 1, below, for an example of what the Federal Reserve Notes used to look like.

In 1963, Federal Reserve notes, as shown in Figure 2, below, began omitting the due date and the payee. Yet, these pieces of paper continued to be called "Federal Reserve Notes".

The omission of a payee and a due date, while continuing to call these pieces of paper "notes", is a material misrepresentation and constitutes fraud.

Fraud: (1) DECEIT, TRICKERY: a) intentional perversion of truth in order to induce another to part with something of value or to surrender a legal right; b) an act of deceiving or misrepresenting. (2) TRICK: a) one who is not what he pretends to be; CHEAT: b) one that is not what it seems or is represented to be—Webster's Ninth New Collegiate Dictionary, P490

The new Federal Reserve "Notes" are not valid notes. Just as if one takes a sign that says "dog" and hangs it on a cat, the cat does not become a dog. Similarly, if one identifies a piece of paper as a "note" which lacks the legal requirements for being a note, it does not become a note. So, if "Federal Reserve Notes" are not notes, what are they? In truth, they are just pieces of paper with ink on them. They are paper tickets or, better, they are tokens. One might argue, "What does it matter? People accept these tokens as payment for their goods and services and exchange them for the things they need: food, shelter, clothing, etc. What is the difference whether these pieces of

to their customers in two ways: First, they told people that they could get "their" gold back "on demand". This was a false statement. What they should have said was that customers could get their gold back on demand, provided not too many of them sought to do so at the same time. Further, banks failed to disclose to depositors that the banks might lose the gold, or have it tied up in "investments" that could not be liquidated in a timely manner, without risk of great loss. In other words, the "on demand" assurance was really conditional, and this was misrepresented. In addition, banks never disclosed either the nature of the risks they took or the amounts of leverage they employed.

Second, banks used inadequate terminology to describe the transaction when people put gold in a bank. Banks called it a "deposit", which misled people into thinking that the gold remained "theirs". It did not remain theirs. The Courts had held for almost 200 years that gold deposited into a bank, became the bank's gold, to do with as the bank wished. Banks could lend that gold to someone else—generally they lent bank notes, which bore the legend "payable to the bearer on demand in gold"—they could gamble with the gold, purchase stocks or real estate, or whatever.

In fact, when one "deposited" gold in a bank, or when banks created money by extending a loan,^[3] the gold—or the newly created loan—went onto the bank's balance sheet as a liability. The customer, rather than remaining the "owner" of "his" gold, became an unsecured creditor of the bank. Historically, ordinary people did not understand this. Were it not for these two misrepresentations and the undisclosed risks, people would have been much more wary of banks, and there would have been much greater oversight of bank activities by those who entrusted them with "their" gold.

The harmful effects of these misrepresentations, and the absence of risk disclosure, resulted in people not knowing enough to exert market discipline on banks. As a result, banks were able to engage in more leverage and more risky behavior than they would have been able to had there been full disclosure and no misrepresentation.

As Mr. Patrick Parkinson recently testified before the Congress: "If market discipline is to be effective, counterparties of a firm must obtain sufficient information to make reliable assessments of its risk profile, both at the inception

"Will Pay To The Bearer On Demand"

No longer does it say: "Will Pay To The Bearer On Demand"

paper are called 'notes' or 'tokens'?" The answer is: Who in their right mind would knowingly save tokens for their retirement or accept the promise of tokens for their pensions? Not many, in my view. In this way, ordinary people are being deceived about the nature of their money. This deception is especially relevant for foreigners who save our fiat money.

Perhaps more important are other misrepresentations having to do with the basic banking relationship, which is at the root of why the world is swimming in fraudulent, fiat money. In the last century, when money was gold (or silver), banks misrepresented the basic banking relationship of the credit relationship and throughout its duration. Furthermore, they must have in place, mechanisms that place limits on the credit risk exposures that become more stringent as the firm's riskiness increases and its creditworthiness declines."^[4]

The increased leverage and risky behavior of banks, which would not have been possible without the misrepresentations and nondisclosure, resulted in innumerable "bank panics", and booms and busts throughout the Nineteenth Century, and culminated in a huge banking panic in 1907. None other than J.P. Morgan ameliorated the 1907 banking panic by lending gold to banks that had mismatched their assets and their liabilities (i.e., they borrowed short-term and lent long-term) and which, in the short run, could not meet their obligations to depositors. To paraphrase a concern at the time, "What if he (Morgan) dies?" Thus, the panic of 1907 became the rationale for the creation of the Federal Reserve and its lender-of-last-resort bailout facility. With a "lender-of-last-resort" facility in place, banks were able to engage in even more leverage and take even greater risks than when their own capital was on the line. This is known as "moral hazard", the idea that the party taking the risks gets the rewards if things work out, but someone else pays if they do not. But, as George Soros has brilliantly pointed out, gold-as-money and a lender of last resort are incompatible.^[5] This is why governments abandoned honest monetary weights and measures—so that their banking systems can be bailed out when their over-leveraging and risky bets go against the banks. It is the increased leverage and risky "investments"—again, made possible by misrepresentation and nondisclosure—that make financial markets, as opposed to every other kind of market, "inherently unstable", as Soros put it. This artificial instability has caused governments all over the world to pass special laws that act to transfer wealth from ordinary people to their banking systems. For example, there are laws in the U.S. that subsidize/guarantee the banking system's entire balance sheet. The lender-of-last-resort bailout facility at the Federal Reserve guarantees the banks' assets, and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation guarantees their liabilities. No other segment of society enjoys these special privileges or guarantees. Special legislation has, for 85 years, empowered the top management from some of the largest banks that are putatively regulated by the Federal Reserve to meet in secret with the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve to air their concerns and give advice to the Board. No other regulated industry gets to meet—in secret and without any oversight—with those charged with regulating them. Banks, alone, have been empowered to value a significant portion of their "investments" at what they originally paid for them, rather than at market value. This, again, leads to nondisclosure, the underassessment of risk, and monetary instability.

In the private sector, when one sells securities—and in some states, such as California, when one sells real property—one must do what is known as "full and honest disclosure of all material facts". In the case of securities, it is a criminal offense to violate this rule. If there were full disclosure about our fiat "dollars", what elements would need to be included? At a minimum, the disclosure statement on each bill would have to state:

- "Dollars" are not redeemable into anything;
- "Dollars" have value because people believe that other people, both at home and abroad, will continue to accept them for their goods and services;
- In the U.S., people are forced by law to accept "dollars" for all debts, public and private;

- "Dollars" are created out of nothing by the U.S. banking system—mostly by commercial banks;
- If, in the judgment of the Federal Reserve, there needs to be additional "liquidity" in the system, then the Federal Reserve may create additional "dollars" in unlimited quantities. Generation of additional "dollars" will dilute the purchasing power of "dollars" that have been saved or promised for future payment, such as pensions;
- Creation of new "dollars", out of thin air, has depreciated "dollar" purchasing power by more than 90% since 1950;
- "Dollars" are in no way obligations of the U.S. Government (the signatures of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Treasurer are gratuitous);
- "Dollars" are tokens, i.e., paper tickets;
- In 1950, there were about $150 billion in the U.S. At the end of 1998, the banking system had created an additional $6 trillion. Of that amount, about $450 billion was created by the Federal Reserve, and the balance, about $5.5 trillion, was created by a small group of privately-owned companies called commercial banks; and,
- The U.S. Government has extended about $7 trillion in guarantees, mostly to Government-Sponsored Entities. Should those guarantees be called, then there is risk that a significant amount of additional "dollars" will have to be created, thereby diluting the purchasing power of "dollars" that have been saved or promised for future payment, such as pensions.

Without the misrepresentation just described, and with full disclosure about the nature of our money, it may very well be that some U.S. citizens might continue to use and save fiat "dollars," although it is doubtful to me. But, surely, foreigners, who cannot be compelled by U.S. legal tender laws to accept our fiat "dollar", would not save it, nor securities denominated in it, as they have been doing—to the tune of approximately $2 trillion. This non-disclosure of material facts contributes to the fiat-money fraud.

THE ROLE OF COERCION

All over the world, fiat money has been legislated [to be] legal tender. In the last century, legal tender laws were called "forced tender" laws. Our Constitution does not empower the government to issue legal-tender fiat currency. Somehow, the Congress has delegated to the banking system a power that the Congress itself does not have. So far, the courts have declined to entertain a challenge to this clear usurping of our Constitution. For ordinary people, the obvious question is:

If our fiat "dollar" is good money, and people really prefer it, then why are Legal Tender Laws necessary?

The result, according to the well-known Gresham's Law,^[6] is that gold-as-money has stopped circulating and has been forced into hiding, thereby enabling fiat money to circulate—to the jeopardy of those who save it or who depend on it for future payment. Most do not realize that Gresham's Law operates only when the bad money has been designated legal tender. In the absence of this coercion, especially for long-term transactions, people would be more inclined to contract in terms of gold, as they did a century ago.

The public policy issue is: Why should people be forced to accept what would otherwise be perceived as bogus money for their goods and services?

As a corollary: Why should they be forced to have their savings and pensions denominated in money that would, in the absence of coercion, be perceived as bogus?

THE ROLE OF INTELLECTUALS AND ACADEMICS

Intellectuals legitimize ideas. Another factor in the success of the fiat "dollar" and the demise of honest monetary weights and measures is that the Federal Reserve has compromised the academic community. For example, in 1994, Mr. Stephen Davies wrote an article citing evidence collected by then Chairman of the House Banking Committee, Henry Gonzalez, showing that the Fed has spent millions [of dollars] hiring economic faculty members as "consultants". The article quotes Mr. Gonzalez:

"The Federal Reserve employs hundreds of researchers in their [sic] research departments, but inexplicably also spends millions to pay hundreds of outside economic consultants...The Fed is simply buying off potential critics by holding out contracts that offer academics extra money and use of the Fed's facilities. No agency that has to justify its spending would dream of this kind of extravagance and waste." [Emphasis added.]

More tellingly, the article continues:

"Moreover, the Bond Buyer has learned that in the case of the Federal Reserve Board, all contractors are required to sign a non-disclosure statement...broadly worded to prohibit the release of any information relating to past, present or future activities that can be considered damaging to the Board."^[7] [Emphasis added]

Banks have been buying off intellectuals for more than 90 years. As Professor Murray Rothbard wrote about some of the steps leading to the formation of central banking in the U.S. at the beginning of this century:

"The big bankers realized that one of the first steps in the march to a central bank was to win support of the nation's economists, academics, and financial experts. Fortunately for the reformers, two useful organizations for the mobilization of academics were near at hand: the American Academy of Political and Social Science of Philadelphia, and the Academy of Political Science of Columbia University, both of which comprised leading corporate liberal businessmen, financiers and corporate attorneys, as well as academics...

... "During the same spring of 1910, the National Monetary Commission's numerous research volumes on various aspects of banking poured forth onto the market. The object was to swamp public opinion with a parade of impressive analytic and historical scholarship, all allegedly 'scientific' and 'value-free', but all designed to further the agenda of a central bank...The then [circa 1910] impressive sum of $50,000 was raised throughout the nation's banking and corporate community to finance the work of the Indianapolis Monetary Commission. New York City's large quota was raised by Morgan bankers, Peabody and Orr, and a large contribution came from none other than J.P. Morgan himself."^[8]

This campaign has been ongoing. The result is that more than three generations of Americans have been "dumbed down" on the money issue.

WHY WE ARE IN DANGER FROM OUR FRAUDULENT FIAT MONETARY SYSTEM

The problem with fiat money, the kind we have now, is that the temptation for its creators—bankers, central bankers and/or politicians—to manipulate it for their own benefit, fraudulently transferring the wealth of society to themselves by employing coercion, misrepresentation and nondisclosure—has been so overwhelming that they have never been able to resist that temptation. The essence of any fiat monetary system is that it enables fraudulent wealth-transfer from those who produce wealth—mostly working people—to those who churn out and have easy access to fiat money—mostly bankers, who get “interest” and fees for generating it: Wall Street firms who garner transaction fees for moving it around and large, credit-worthy borrowers. In all cases, the wealth transfer becomes so great that the purchasing power of the fiat money is driven to its cost of production, which is near zero. Fiat money is not wealth; it is merely a potential claim on wealth. As people realize that the real wealth on which the fiat money has a potential claim does not exist, the fiat money is said to “melt”. When fiat money melts, interest rates increase, the purchasing power of savings, pensions, and all forms of future payments denominated in the fiat money are greatly reduced, and people lose their jobs—all through no fault of their own. The suffering of ordinary people becomes palpable.

As a result, government, upon which people rely to “regulate” the generation of the fiat money, is discredited, and most times people change their form of government. That is, politicians are generally relied upon to look over the shoulders of the bankers and the central bank, so that they don’t generate fiat money “in excess”. Not only is our current form of government at risk, but the economic/social system is at risk, as well. For example, as a consequence of the Great Depression, which resulted from the same kinds of misrepresentations and nondisclosure as are present today, laissez-faire was permanently discredited.

“Classical economics taught that free markets would always seek and find a natural equilibrium, a self-correcting capacity that revived production and employment, once prices and wages fell low enough. In the Great Depression, the American economy did not revive. Neither did the rest of the world’s economy revive. Year after year, as the social misery deepened and massive unemployment stretched on for more than a decade, the popular faith in free markets was shattered...The New Deal advanced a new creed: an activist national government must intervene to overcome the shortcomings and weaknesses of private enterprise. This new idea—government’s obligation to manage the economy—was legitimized by the national trauma of Depression, embraced both in public opinion and in scholarly theory.”^[9]

Mass suffering and hardship do not generally result in freer societies. Society becomes vulnerable to social unrest and tyranny. All over the world, fiat currencies are evaporating—in South Korea, Russia, Brazil, Mexico, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines and elsewhere. Loss of jobs, loss of savings and rioting are symptomatic of the consequences. In every case, however, the role of fiat money has been camouflaged and scapegoats have been blamed, e.g., “crony capitalism” in East Asia, currency speculators in Indonesia and “the Jews” in Malaysia.^[10]

Before a discontinuity occurs, however, other symptoms of fiat-money fraud appear. In most cases: governments grow large, real wages decrease, debt levels grow, the standard of living of working people stagnates or degrades, and the financial sector and large corporations prosper inordinately. People get the feeling that the rich are getting richer and that the middle class is working harder than ever. As people begin to realize that the fiat money is melting, interest rates—as noted above—begin to increase. This has the effect of shortening the investment time-horizon and causing a shift from manufacturing—which by its nature generally requires a longer investment-time-horizon—to services that do not require as much long-term investment. As a result, higher-paying manufacturing jobs are lost to lower paying service jobs.

Also, fiat currencies do not always lose purchasing power slowly. When it becomes apparent that fiat money is in trouble, the decline in purchasing power can be very swift. This causes interest rates to rise quickly. Commercial relationships that were predicated upon lower interest rates—collapse. Promises of future payment, such as pensions, are broken, and the economy implodes. This is what recently occurred in Indonesia and in Russia. In the U.S., the massive creation of nearly $6 trillion in new “dollars” has already depreciated the purchasing power of our fiat “dollar” by more than ninety-percent since 1950. Why does anyone think that the last ten-percent is sacrosanct? Do those who understand the perils and the inherent fraud of fiat money have a moral obligation to do something about it?

COLLUSION WITH POLITICIANS AND CORRUPTION OF THE POLITICAL PROCESS

A key factor in the ascendancy of our fiat “dollar” and the demise of honest monetary weights and measures has been the collusion between banks and politicians—called “campaign financing.” It is no coincidence that banks engage in extensive lobbying.

“Since last year, when the latest reform bill started moving through the House, the coffers of Democratic and Republican lawmakers and their national committees have been enriched by $7.4 million from securities firms, $6.8 million from insurers and $5.5 million from banks.”^[11]

This example of nearly $20 million in “donations” associated with just one particular piece of legislation is small change compared to what is “contributed” to political campaigns overall. In the last general election, at the national level only, politicians collected $2.4 billion. This figure comes from the Center for Responsive Politics (web-site www.crp.org), which tabulated it from data submitted to the Federal Election Commission. As Senator Russell Long is reported to have observed, “When it comes to large campaign contributions, the difference between them and bribes is as thin as a hair.” The bulk of campaign-finance money comes from large contributors, which mostly comprise the financial sector, large companies and persons for whom banks create most of the new “dollars”. It is instructive to note that, in 1998 alone, banks in the U.S. created roughly $600 billion in new “dollars”. Most of those “dollars” were generated as a result of credit creation on behalf of large, credit-worthy borrowers, such as multinational corporations. Since the banking system (which creates “dollars” without work), Wall Street firms (which garner transaction fees for moving these new “dollars” around) and large corporations have easy access to “dollars” created out of nothing, while ordinary people have to work for their “dollars”, those first in line have a decided advantage when it comes to buying off politicians. As for the politicians, they are in a tight spot. As a practical matter, they must have the campaign contributions to purchase television time to air their reelection commercials. If they don’t do that, they will not be reelected. In this way, the fiat “dollar” has contributed to the corruption of our entire political process, to the point where, today, it is doubtful that we have a representative government.

HONEST MONETARY WEIGHTS-AND-MEASURES (GOLD-AS-MONEY) HAS ALWAYS BEEN THE CHOICE OF ORDINARY PEOPLE

Honest monetary weights-and-measures—gold-as-money—has competition: fiat money. The creators of fiat money—banks and central banks—despite their vastly inferior product, have succeeded because of coercion, misrepresentation, and nondisclosure—and also, in part, because proponents of honest monetary weights-and-measures have left the playing field. For example, Labor, which for most of the Nineteenth Century was a strong proponent of hard money (silver-or-gold-as-money), was so decimated in the 1930s by the Great Depression that it failed to grasp the import of the shift away from honest monetary weights-and-measures. It is significant that, historically, gold did not become money because some potentate or government designated it so. Gold and silver have been the choice of the people in open markets from antiquity.^[12] Furthermore, every time Americans have had the opportunity, they have always chosen gold- and/or silver-as-money.^[13]

At the time of the American Revolution, Americans were repulsed by their experience with the fiat money of the day: continentals. There was even a derogatory saying—“not worth a continental”. As a result, the Constitution provided for gold- and/or silver-as-money.^[14]

When Andrew Jackson ran for President in 1832, he opposed paper money and the Bank of the United States. His rallying cry was “Gold is the friend of the farmer” [and the worker]—and Jackson won!

When President Grant signed the Resumption Legislation in 1874, doing away with the Civil War Greenbacks and resuming gold-as-money, he said he did it because it was “the right thing to do”.^[15]

When McKinley (pro-gold) ran against Bryan (pro-silver) in 1896, gold won again!

And, when President Roosevelt seized the nation’s (and the citizens’) gold in 1933, he reassured the country that our money would not be fiat money.

“Remember that the essential accomplishment of the new legislation is that it makes it possible for banks more readily to convert their assets into cash than was the case before. More liberal provision has been made for banks to borrow on these assets at the Reserve Banks and more liberal provision has also been made for issuing currency on the security of those good assets. This currency is not fiat currency. It is issued only on adequate security—and every good bank has an abundance of such security.” [Emphasis added.]^[16]

I think it is fair to conclude that the monetary system we have now was not the choice of the people. With today’s monetary coercion, misrepresentation and nondisclosure sufficiently exposed, Americans will again choose honest monetary weights-and-measures as the only genuine protector of their savings and a more efficient medium of exchange.

PART FOUR—THE MONTAUK PROJECT TODAY: TWO PROJECTS FROM ONE— On Site At Montauk—Summer 1998

EAST HAMPTON TOWN’S MONTAUK PT. SENIOR CENTER—NOT!!

On June 24, 1998, I visited the Camp Hero location. As has so often been the case, strangeness and peculiarities awaited me literally the instant I arrived in the area.

My first order of business was to check out the so-called “senior center”, directly adjacent to the restricted portion of the old Air Force Station, which was completed about two years ago and is ostensibly operated by the Town of East Hampton. My knowledge of the demographics of the region leads me to seriously question the necessity of constructing this facility at the furthest eastern extremity of East Hampton Township. The number of seniors who are full-time residents of the Town and who live in reasonable proximity to the location would have to number very few. What would be the point of incurring the excessive transportation costs of bussing folks from other areas of the Township to this remote location, when a facility could very easily have been constructed in a much more central location? No one I’ve had contact with has ever seen this facility being used for its intended purpose, nor any purpose whatsoever.

Not surprisingly, it was dead as could be in mid-afternoon on a weekday. I spent about ten minutes “casing out” the place. After two years of even intermittent use, one would expect to see some indications of wear-and-tear regarding things like paint, carpets, windows, doorknobs, doorsills (especially) and so on. Such is not the case with this “senior center”. The building is literally spotless and appears virtually untouched since the completion of construction. These must be the neatest seniors on the face of the Earth, and they are apparently invisible, to boot.

Earlier this year, Preston Nichols visited the Camp Hero location with a British film crew that was filming a documentary on the Montauk Project. As Nichols has previously been specifically warned by a judge that if found on the restricted portion of Camp Hero, he will be jailed, Nichols waited for the film crew off to the side of the main-entrance road in visual proximity to the new senior center, while the crew went to the then-demolished/main-entrance gate and beyond, into the restricted portion. (The senior center is just east of this entrance road, in a field at the western border of the neighborhood which used to be base housing, immediately north of the inner perimeter [restricted portion] of Camp Hero/Montauk Air Force Station. This housing was later deeded over to the town of East Hampton in 1984 and the properties sold via lottery to supposedly lower-income families).

Nichols noted that, as usual, there was no indication of any activity whatsoever at the senior center and no vehicles parked there. Imagine his surprise, then, when the exterior cellar door of the building opened up and a man came out, walked over to the entrance road, and looked down the road towards the main gate where the film crew was, clearly attempting to figure out who they were and what they were doing. One would have to wonder how this fellow could have been at all aware that anyone was at the base’s main entrance—as he was in the basement of the senior center, which is several hundred feet from the entrance road and several hundred yards from the entrance gate; also questionable is why this person would even be the least bit interested in the presence of people at the base entrance, as he would supposedly have been an East Hampton Town employee.

Things became even stranger when this fellow realized Nichols was sitting at the side of the road, watching the entire proceedings—he did a noticeable double-take and retreated back into the basement of the “senior center”! Okay...

During my brief visit to the facility, after having been there for about six or seven minutes, I observed a red pickup cruise rapidly past the senior center in the direction of the small neighborhood, just east. It’s undeniable that some of the residents of this neighborhood are base employees, as was elaborated on in my first report on the Montauk Project. Less than a minute later, the pickup scooted back in the opposite direction. The driver was going at a noticeably fast speed both times. Such maneuvers could possibly be explained as someone having left somewhere (such as home), realizing they had forgotten something and quickly returning. The problem with that explanation is that the vehicle was going the wrong way—that is, first towards the residences and then away. There was no chance the driver had time to go to any of the houses in the area—also, there were few places of employment nearby which the driver could have been coming from, suddenly realizing he had forgotten something, and turning around. Even if that were the case, why suddenly turn around and leave, if you were nearly home? This just seemed really odd and I believe I was under surveillance. Incidentally, I noticed a video cassette of “Men In Black” on a table right in front of the window inside the building.

I checked out this senior center on two other occasions over the next two weeks: never any sign of activity, other than some things were moved around on a desk in a small “office” and the “Men In Black” video was gone. On one of these other occasions, as I was just leaving, I distinctly heard a vehicle zipping along the entrance road leading to the base’s main-entrance gate. There is only one turnoff, which is the road to the senior center and the small neighborhood; the vehicle had already passed this intersection, and no one could have gotten up to and then through that locked gate very quickly, yet within about a minute there was no sign of this vehicle anywhere around the area as I drove out! Bizarre, as usual. Also, though the main-entrance gate was demolished in late 1997, along with nearly all other entrances, it has since been fully repaired and the high-security electronic touchpad and key-entry system completely replaced.

SOMETHING FISHY AT “FISHERMAN’S LOT”

Back to the events of my first visit: After apparently being under surveillance by the [occupant of the] red pickup while at the “senior center”, I then drove up towards the lighthouse, turning right (south & west) off the paved road onto the dirt road which enters the “fisherman’s gate” and the unrestricted portion of Camp Hero. Although this area is open to visitors on foot, only vehicles with a special Camp Hero fishing permit may drive into this area. These permits number about 200 and are given out by lottery, along with a key to the gate. New York State and Town of East Hampton fishing or parking permits, though also required, are NOT sufficient to gain access to this location.

No sooner did I leave the paved road than a late-model white Blazer, or similar vehicle, with tinted windows and a conspicuously large antenna jutting up from its rear, pulled off directly behind me. To my surprise, the gate was unlocked and wide open, and I briefly considered driving in, but the close proximity of the other vehicle deterred me, so I backed up and parked along the dirt access road and walked in. There were absolutely no indications the white Blazer was being driven by a “fisherman” as it entered Camp Hero.

I was there to check out the reports, mentioned above, concerning a forcible entry into the old bunker by the cliffs; and also the report of an underground entrance covered by a boulder, along the southeast entry road to the base. I did find evidence that the bunker had been broken into—according to reports, in the later fall of 1997. As I had parked in a questionable location (the opposite side of the dirt road had a “No Parking” sign), I started to return to the car and was intercepted by the white Blazer just as I was exiting through the gate. The vehicle popped up from a side road south of the gate and inside the perimeter at the exact moment I was going off the property, and the driver scrutinized me, thoroughly and blatantly. I repeat: No fishing gear of any kind whatsoever was noticeable on or in this vehicle, and the driver was obviously not going fishing.

I drove my car around the loop at the lighthouse, while deciding whether or not to drive in the fisherman’s gate to look for the underground entrance, which I then decided to do. As soon as I entered the still-open gate, I was approached, head-on, by a late-model, dark-green Blazer, also with a large antenna and tinted windows, coming from the direction of the “fisherman’s parking lot”. This vehicle, again, had no fishing gear of any kind visible on or in it, and the driver did not appear to be involved in fishing at all.

He slowed and scrutinized me closely, as well, and appeared to be about to hail me down, but I kept going, checked my rearview mirror to ascertain that we were not in sight of each other and turned right onto the southeast entrance road to the base. The entrance gate to the inner perimeter on this road was in very ruined condition and was held together by locked chains. (I noticed on a subsequent visit that the heavy steel of the gate had been cut in numerous places with a welding torch—hardly the kind of equipment teenage vandals would haul around on foot!)

On the west side of this road I did, indeed, find the manhole-type underground entrance, almost completely covered by a large boulder and some smaller rocks. If one did not know what to look for, one would most likely never find the opening, despite it being right next to the road. I stress, again, that I was not under visual surveillance at this point. I then drove out of the area, and—what a surprise!—when I reached the gate, I was literally boxed in by the dark-green Blazer, which somehow had gotten behind me (coming from the same direction as when I had first seen it about two minutes earlier), and the white Blazer, as well, which again suddenly appeared from the side road, just in time to sandwich me between the two vehicles! The driver of the white Blazer, which was more or less facing my car, stared at me long and hard and, in fact, appeared to be smirking—almost laughing. This time I got a good look at the fully “Aryan” racial characteristics of the thin, youngish driver. (If I had to guess which branch of the military he might be in, I would say, probably, Navy). I can’t imagine how the dark-green Blazer could have retraced its path and gotten back in a position to be coming from the west again in such a short time as it took me to find the underground entrance and then head out—maybe two minutes at most.

I slipped out through the fisherman’s gate and was immediately tailed by the white Blazer, so I decided to pull into the lighthouse parking lot (I figured the Blazer would not pull in there, so as to preclude any possible confrontation initiated by me, and this proved correct; also, I wanted to give the impression that I was hanging around the area to give these security guys something to worry about). I waited till the white Blazer disappeared around the loop, and then I left.

I next went to the baseball field under East Hampton Town jurisdiction, which is directly north of the restricted portion of Camp Hero and east of the small neighborhood, from which there are two locked, gated entrances to the inner base (although there is no fencing of any kind along the entire remainder of the perimeter in this area!!). One of these gates had been substantially dismantled with a welding torch and was held together by locked chains.

Several days later, on Saturday, June 27, Michelle Guerin, who originally gave me the information about the bunker break-in and the manhole-type underground entrance, revisited this area of Camp Hero with some colleagues. Keep in mind that since she and others observed this underground entrance in February 1998, until my visit on June 24, 1998, the condition of this underground entrance remained more-or-less exactly the same. Yet, within three days of my thoroughly surveilled visit, and it would seem in response to it, Ms. Guerin noted that the boulder was moved, and the entrance had been buried under a pile of dirt. I corroborated this information and found out some other things as well on July 2, as I will relay below.

I was informed by Nichols, who got the information from someone with connections to Brookhaven Labs, that BNL uses white and dark-green Blazers for security, and that’s who was surveilling me at Camp Hero on June 24.

It must be pointed out that the entire state of affairs regarding the “fisherman’s gate”, the “fisherman’s parking lot” and the special access permits for this location is—like nearly everything about Camp Hero and its administration—peculiar, contradictory, confusing and suspicious. There is no way to do any “fishing” from the cliffs—50 feet above and 60 or more feet inland from the surf—and there are no direct-access roads or paths from this “fisherman’s parking lot” to the surf. Although often completely empty, the lot is sometimes occupied by trucks with camper shells and RV-type vehicles, with people sitting around in lawn chairs. None of the vehicles I have ever observed there give any indication of being owned by fishermen; none of the people I have ever observed hanging around there seem to be doing any fishing; and I have never observed anyone fishing (surfcasting or otherwise) along the beach below this area. These points are corroborated by everyone I’ve ever spoken with who has been there. What’s more, there is standard beach access for vehicles with East Hampton Town and NY State permits, on the north side of the lighthouse. The entire business with this “fisherman’s lot” and access to same, is clearly a total shuck-and-jive operation. These must be agents of some kind, reporting in and/or awaiting directions, programming, etc.

THE POWER POINT

I visited the area again, with my 5-year-old son, on June 28 but did not go near any of the restricted or weird areas. In fact, we spent nearly the whole time, roughly an hour, at the shoreline. My main focus was Turtle Cove, itself, where I found the feeling to be quite energizing and definitely powerful, almost psychoactive. It’s a very dramatic and visually attractive spot, as well, with a look and feeling more reminiscent of some of the West Coast than much of the nearby Long Island shoreline. Overall, I liked Turtle Cove, as did my son, and I found the energy there to be positive and strong.

COVERING UP A COVERUP

My next significant foray to the vicinity of Camp Hero came on the evening of July 2. A quick walk to the fisherman’s lot showed that several pickup trucks with camper shells were now there, along with a late-model, very large and luxurious motor home with Pennsylvania license plates and a very unusual-looking antenna on its roof. This nonresident having been allowed one of the relatively few Camp Hero fishing permits (and other Town & State permits required as well), while so many residents of the area fish for a living, seems unlikely, and/or incongruous, to say the least. As well, a couple of the other somewhat scruffy-looking trucks had out-of-state plates, also.

I next went to the manhole-type underground entrance, which Michelle Guerin noted had been buried right after my June 24 visit. Indeed, the entrance was buried under a large pile of dirt, but what I found after digging away some of the pile was that the entrance had, in fact, been sealed with a solid, 5-inch-thick cement cap, in which was embedded an iron rebar “handle”; in addition to which the entire entrance and cap were then buried beneath a large mound of hauled-in topsoil.

Obviously, this entrance is active to some degree, and it was sealed in such a way as to permit removal of the cement cap via the rebar handle with appropriate equipment. However, it was apparently not desirable to have this entrance easily located or identified, so the entire setup was then further obscured with the pile of dirt! Doubly weird, in the true Camp Hero tradition. It is a fact that many of the other unusable, defunct or non-operational underground accesses on the base have been permanently sealed; that is not the case with this one.

PARTICLE ACCELERATORS, DELTA-T ANTENNA “HAARPING”

I returned to the lighthouse parking lot, where I teamed up with Preston Nichols and a fellow I will call “Mr. Coffee”, whose e-mails to me, concerning his involvement in a recent phase of the Montauk Project, follow later in this report.

Mr. Coffee penetrated the restricted portion of Camp Hero, while Nichols and I remained outside. Coffee wanted to see if he would get any unusual feelings or pick up anything about the area (a strong yes on both counts). While we were exiting the area to the west of the base (the opposite side from the lighthouse/fisherman’s gate approach to Camp Hero), along a dilapidated remnant of the old shore highway, I was struck by the sight of fresh and very clear tire tracks entering a large puddle or small pond (which never seems to dry up), from the direction of the base—tracks which neither exited the other side of the puddle nor backed up! Nichols had just finished observing that the puddle always seemed to be there, whether or not there had been recent rains, and [he] felt that there could be some kind of entrance beneath the puddle.

Later that evening, Nichols powered-up some banks of signal-receiving equipment he had installed in a bus and gleaned the following information from the data generated by the equipment. The signals received indicated to Nichols that particle accelerators were in full operation, at very high output, both offshore from Montauk Point (the subterranean facility extends out under the ocean) and at Camp Hero. Nichols then ascertained that the Delta-T antenna in the Camp Hero underground was emitting EM fields, indicative of inter-dimensional/time-travel operations.

This data would tend to reinforce the scenario that particle accelerators are being used in highly advanced, relativistic, inter-dimensional operations, linked to certain aspects of the Montauk Project now merged with HAARP, under the control of the U.S. Navy and in conjunction with Brookhaven Labs. These are, of course, ultra-classified, above-top-secret agendas being pursued.

This also tends to reinforce a gradually strengthening impression that what is, to me, the most unarguably negative aspect of the Montauk Project—the mind-control/(child) psychosexual-abuse aspect—has been split off from the inter-dimensional/time operations, which are now under the larger umbrella of the Navy’s HAARP operations, into a separate project which, however, is under the Navy’s control as well. It’s important to keep in mind, however, that HAARP, as is irrefutably proven by internal government/military documentation on the project, most assuredly already had its own covert agenda running with regard to utilizing the HAARP (Tesla) technology as a means of mind manipulation/control—perhaps somewhat more in the sense of a “weapon”. According to the same documentation, these EM/RF weapons should be accessible for use against domestic “enemies” (U.S. citizens!): such as, people who disagree with the government (their own words)!!

THE (NAVY’S) BOYS ARE BACK IN TOWN

Due to information relayed to me from several sources, I did some investigation in the area of the old, WW II, Navy submarine-base on Fort Pond Bay, north of Montauk village. Word is that this is the current site of the Montauk Project mind-control operations. As this is an old military facility, and as the Montauk tunnel network definitely connects to this area, it would seem inevitable that the subterranean portions of this base, probably newly-enlarged and refurbished, are being utilized for clandestine activities.

In fact, I became curious about this area in 1991, before I ever knew (consciously, at least) about the Montauk Project, when I realized that a fairly large area of land here was totally undeveloped, in a region where wholesale dismemberment of larger tracts of woodland and farmland for very expensive, lucrative real estate speculation and development is completely rampant. I wondered to myself what forces could have deterred all development of this area, in such a heated real estate market, while so many acres of less-accessible prime woodland and farmland has been devastated by the developers on eastern Long Island. (Some of the old Navy base property is within Koppleman County Park.)

The reasons for the total lack of development in this area became clear, when I found out this is an “old” military facility. Furthermore, this is in close proximity to Fort Pond, where my family used to come for late-summer vacations in the late 1950s, and may have some connection to what appears to be an involvement to some degree in Montauk Project activities on my part—an involvement which, according to my consistent intuition, dates from a rather early age. As does Camp Hero, this area has lots of “roller-coaster” hills, most not more than 75 feet in elevation. It is indisputable that many of the hills at Camp Hero are manmade and conceal underground facilities—I feel strongly that the same is true at the Navy base.

According to information relayed to me, the old Navy base is currently an active site for the “New World Order”-related Navy contingent running the present-day “Montauk Boys” mind-control operations; and, subjectively speaking, I would have to say the “vibes” and the energies in general in this neck of the woods are palpably weird, negative and downright disturbing, as I will soon elaborate on.

On July 7, I decided first to take the Long Island Railroad from East Hampton to Montauk, as the line runs smack through the middle of the Fort Pond Bay area in question—the trip serving a double purpose, as my son wanted to take a train ride. I had not taken the train along this stretch in probably thirty-five or more years. For some strange reason, although the train’s speed was quite rapid while going through the woods of Hither Hills State Park (directly to the west of both Koppelman County Park—which “covers” some of the old Navy base property—and of the remainder of the Navy base itself), the train slowed to a literal crawl while traversing the Navy base area, both on the trip into Montauk and on the westbound trip, later.

What was also very strange is that, on the westbound trip through the Navy base—no more than a mile from the train station, I became aware of a strong melancholy, withdrawn and depressive state of mind which not only came over me, and even more so over my five-year-old son, but seemed very definitely to affect everyone else in our car, to some extent—this while the train crawled slowly along. As the train left the area and picked up speed going into the Hither Hills, the mood seemed to noticeably lift and lighten all around, though I must say my son seemed affected by this negative energy the rest of the day. (I think it’s likely the trains have to slow down here to decrease interference of some kind from the diesel locomotives with certain—electromagnetic—activities going on underground).

I can also recount an episode from Summer 1986, when I went with my parents for a hike in the creeping dunes area of Hither Hills. As I recall, there was an access road somewhere north of Montauk Highway at the eastern end of Napeague (possibly through the Lazy Point vicinity), from which one could enter this section of the park on foot.

Although it was a rather typically hot and muggy day, no one seemed to be feeling any discomfort at the outset. Yet, within about 15 minutes, my mother—then in her early 60s and in quite good health—suddenly and without any apparent outward cause (such as spoiled food, heat, or whatever), became nearly totally incapacitated, though very vague as to what exactly was bothering her. She just appeared totally sapped of energy, physically and mentally, and felt very faint; she indicated that all she wanted to do was get out of the area. To me there was, even at the time, something really weird about this, as there didn’t seem to be any specific ailment or symptom which my mom could put into words—just felt terrible—really ill, all over. The condition did not persist or show itself to be any kind of medical or other problem. She recovered rather quickly—within a half-hour or so after leaving. This has always stuck in my mind as a very bizarre occurrence.

While waiting for the return train, my son and I took a short walk to the so-called “bottomless” pond, immediately north across Industrial Road from Fort Pond. Peter Moon has noted that this small (perhaps 300 feet in diameter) body of water is completely separate from Fort Pond and is reported to be exceptionally deep. Montauk, being the remnants of an undersea volcanic mountain, perhaps this is an extinct lava tube filled with water. To the best of my ability, I attempted to visually ascertain whether this body of water was notably and unusually deep, and it certainly seemed to be so: the water right at the edges of the pond was very dark. The bottom of the pond was not visible anywhere that I could see; it dropped off immediately at the sides, except for some boulders, and I was unable to touch the bottom, right next to the banks, with a stick roughly 10 feet long. This is in direct contrast to Fort Pond, itself, no more than twenty-five feet away, where the sandy, gravelly bottom is clearly visible and gently slopes away in rather normal, pond-like fashion. Subsequently, I drove to the old Navy base area on Fort Pond Bay—first to Navy Road, which runs (roughly) east-to-west along the shore of Fort Pond Bay, and was again struck by the rather inexplicably depressive atmosphere here. Considering the general milieu and economic base of East Hampton Township and, indeed, of most of the Montauk area, and the generally agreeable way this area is geographically situated above Fort Pond Bay, one would rather expect the “look and feel” of the area to be much more pleasant and appealing. Yet the feeling around there is strongly grim, unfriendly, unappealing, somewhat dilapidated and oppressive overall.

Right after turning off Second House Road towards Navy Road, I noticed a small landscaping/topsoil operation with no clearly observable sign or business name, which gave off a strange vibe and seemed to be an especially run-down business, though two young men were working—in robotic slow-motion—digging in one of the piles of material. I spotted a sign on a post, which read—“Smile. You’re under observation by our new 24-hour surveillance camera.” (!?!?) It seemed impossible for this run-down/dirt-fill operation to have been the object of such severe and continuous intrusions as to warrant 24-hour surveillance!

Continuing west on Navy Road, directly north of the railroad tracks, one comes to the end of this small neighborhood and approaches a locked gate, beyond which the road continues into the heart of the old Navy base itself. The roller-coaster-style hills abound in this area. A definitely unfriendly man, exiting through the gate on foot at this time, responded monosyllabically to my queries as to whether [or not] this was an access to the County park and about which direction, exactly, one would go. Peter Moon had just informed me that, when he visited this area, he crossed over the railroad tracks to the south and soon came across large quantities of trash and waste materials strewn throughout the woods of what is, apparently, Koppelman County Park. This would, without doubt, be illegal dumping of a decidedly nasty variety, as these woods are supposed to be for nature preservation and recreation; as well, there are a number of residences in relatively close proximity.

ILLEGAL DUMPING AND INTIMATIONS OF SUBTERRANEA

After leaving the Navy Road area, I turned up a road which roughly parallels the railroad tracks and Navy Road to the south (I think an extension of Industrial Road) and found myself behind a large trash-hauling truck from Mickey’s of Montauk, which continued west on this road past the small neighborhood of a dozen or so homes, whence the truck turned right into a large clearing—apparently a workyard for Mickey’s trash-hauling operation. As it turns out, this would be directly south of the area where Peter Moon had seen all the garbage illegally dumped! A couple of workers at this location, as with the workers at the landscaping/topsoil facility back a ways, seemed to be moving in a dazed, almost robotic fashion. (Mind-controlled slave workers?) East Hampton Town, of course, has authorized, designated landfill and recycling areas, and the woods [area] west of the village of Montauk is not one of these. Without doubt, something peculiar, unpleasant and illegal is going on with this secretive dumping of trash, and there is very often a Mafia connection to such illegal dumping in the northeastern U.S.—particularly in New York and New Jersey. The Mafia has already been shown to be connected to covert, clandestine government operations in the Long Island area.

Could there be a connection between this dumping activity and secret projects? I believe there could be. Underground facilities generate waste, just like any others—in fact, they would likely generate a fair amount of fairly toxic waste, due to the nature of much of the clandestine activities. As for the more typical types of garbage generated by the large numbers of people who work and even live in these underground installations, where is this sizable quantity of trash supposed to go? These thousands of people are not considered residents of the Town of East Hampton and cannot be a factor in any demographic data for the town in terms of waste management operations and planning; so, where does all the garbage from the underground go? Could it be it's hauled out by Mafia-connected/trash-hauling outfits who bring it to the woods near the old Navy base—among other places—for illegal disposal?! Also, consider what the subliminal effect would be upon someone hiking in the area and coming upon lots of rotting trash. Yech! Let's go elsewhere!—a result surely quite desirable to those operating the subterranean facilities.

CORRELATIONS BETWEEN UNDERGROUND FACILITIES AND (UNDEVELOPED) SURFACE AREAS

Preston Nichols had made a comment to me that, while he had been working with the Air Force at Camp Hero on the Hale-Bopp operation, most of the moving around between different locations underground was done with golf carts. He further noted that there were extremely long corridors or tunnels going as far as Block Island, offshore from Montauk Point to the east, and extending, underground, westward to East Hampton.

In agreement with this statement by Nichols—and also in agreement with information noted earlier in this report about the presence of unusual hydrants or standpipes and a triple-phase power line in the Stony Hill area of East Hampton (known to have had bunkers and undergrounds dating to WW II)—there is yet another area of the Town of East Hampton where there is a notable, and rather illogical, lack of real-estate development. This is a surprisingly large area, right between the Stony Hill and Fireplace neighborhoods, on the north, and East Hampton Village, on the south. As this has never even been productive farmland, the pressures for real-estate development of these scrub woods would logically be extreme, and yet there is virtually no such development in an area several miles square. There is extensive development further out from the village in all directions, yet not here. This is sort of an island of rather thoroughly preserved woods here, surrounded by very high-priced, sub-rural home sites. It just seems inexplicable to me, considering the general thrust of real-estate development in this region. Also, in this general area there is a small antenna farm, with some decidedly unusual looking receivers and other equipment.

I think this is probably the location of the East Hampton underground and that—as with the Shadmoor region of Montauk (a Camp Hero military annex in the Ditch Plains area discussed in Part 4 of my first report), the Montauk Navy base and Camp Hero itself—extensive development is not allowed, so as to prevent any kind of interference or conflict with the underground facilities that such development might precipitate. END PART FOUR

Winds Of Change Filling The Sails Of Freedom

10/8/99—#1

HEY, WHAT'S HAPPENING?

Hatonn—THIS is the question of every day—to me—from you! Some of you are praying we get “it” done and others praying harder that we fail to get “it” done. We don't know about “IT”, but we are getting our job done. Right now it rests with the BUSY employees (to overload, around-the-clock) to accomplish systems changes and flow routes to accommodate our new programs.

I have teams that you never heard of at work. Ah, sweet mysteries of life—you haven't found them, forgotten them, or generally haven't given a damn about them, beyond the gossip of the controllers' trooper-thieves (of a world). Moreover, you will never know the ones WHO REALLY ARE GETTING THE JOB DONE, for they ask only for accomplishment of mission and privacy, that they might finish their job once the “starting gun” sounds.

Do I still think great change will happen through the Philippines? No, I KNOW that it will and already HAS. Setting a sunken ship to surface and overcoming the problems of making it sea-worthy, along with repairs, engine overhauling, and getting the Captain back aboard, is both time-consuming and a massive, global effort—when the course of that ship is global. And NO, I won't divulge anything nor anyone.

For a change, however, the powers-that-be, the powers who assumed through massive corruption and the powers that can bring change—as quietly as possible—are working, without rest, to get the foundation firmed up. For those in the all-connected network, it means day-and-night service because when a bank, for instance, is in business hours in, say, Hong Kong or Manila—it is beddy-bye time in any part of the U.S. And chelas, electronics are not fully functional to overcome the things which must be decided BY INDIVIDUAL MAN. And besides, what about electronic destruction of “Y2K” where, for goodness' sakes, the doomsayers say the world will end? Security of people, institutions, products, records/accounting, ability to globally transfer—even information—is still quite difficult in your world of trial-and-error, computer bugs, hackers and outright thieves and liars, cheats and criminals. But no, we are not complaining—we are getting about the most cooperation from all parties as to have graced the globe in the past two millennia.

To you who assumed selves to be on my team and could not so much as stay the course, I can only say that your decisions lacked full, insightful wisdom, for, as surely as I serve GOD, “YOU” were and are not the only TEAM of same. YOU can actually only hurt selves, deny selves and cut your ties for self to Higher Cause—AS YOU CHOOSE.

In instances where you deliberately APPEAR to be damaging us, our people or our cause—you not only do NOT, but you cannot.

Back home, in Tehachapi, I wonder how many of you have any notion that Ekkers had that Capital Hills property that we call “Tehachapi North” in escrow? That was years ago and, when it sold, I personally had a meeting with the new holders and thanked them graciously for holding the property without much development—until we could accomplish our more important job.

The same with the dwelling: It has been an albatross for the teaching-and-learning process for a dozen years. We thank Millers, publicly, for holding that property in security. But is that their intent? Well, probably NOT, but they are GOOD and HONORABLE people and, whatever evolves, IT WILL BE FOR POSITIVE BENEFIT—IF ONLY FOR THE LESSONS OFFERED AND LEARNED.

Our hearts are filled to overflow that some of you who have stood by our way and supported us, continue to support us and have made it possible to jump this last hurdle where the game changes and grows larger—but if we unite, we will not have to beg for alms—but offer return for those gifts allowing us to continue our construction. You may never actually HEAR anything, for that is the promise of privacy—but you will KNOW that great winds of change have begun to blow into the sails of freedom, and YOU HAVE MADE IT POSSIBLE! Now you make it possible to accomplish the final thrust to the mountaintop.

I must ask you who have given gifts, even if you want no mention, and have outstanding anything from the Institute, or assistance you have given to CONTACT, to please just send a note to anyone in Tehachapi on our current team, so that we can make arrangements for GOD to be able to start HIS REWARD PROGRAM.

I am not going to give details, for it is FOR ME to stay out of the interventions or detail-offering. This is a tedious and dangerous task, for the teams at work, to make it through these days. Just know that the “plans” are at present to be able to have accomplished a MAJOR MOVEMENT INTO GOD'S PLAN 2000 by the calendar turnover of Jan. 1. The projection was for the “Big One of the Plan” to be in place for upstart in a global way within 90 days (so you calculate 90 days BACKWARD from Jan. 1, 2000).

I was very abruptly hard on people in this area when the first typhoon of last year hit, and my babies were drowning in the floods and infested viral pits. I said that it was not alright to longer linger in selfish concerns, while my people suffered in their innocence. It has taken this “time” to recognize our connections but, once established, it has been a miracle to behold. EACH OF YOU ARE A PART OF THAT MIRACLE—EVEN THOSE WHO HAVE BROUGHT PAIN AND ANGUISH IN THE SORTING.

This is why I have given opportunity upon opportunity, for each of you to reconsider your course. I KNOW intent, so words do not serve you well—but you will publicly make amends or you will GO YOUR WAY without our friendship or assistance—FOR “YOU”

HAVE MADE THE CHOICE, NOT WE.

For some of you who have deliberately damaged others—through your efforts to damage us through products, legal threats, etc.—I would guess that the human teams will not appreciate your efforts to reclaim status of honor within the circles of business or social interchange. Once betrayal is within the loop of recognition, there can never again be total trust or faith in the consciousness. I repeat: “Forgiveness” has NOTHING to do with it. But you who have continued to “revenge” and deliberately hurt—no, thank you.

Do I put such as Millers into that loop because of the actions they have taken with the dwelling? NO. They do not want that house as a worse problem—and they shall not be left with it to be a gross burden. We will work it out. I will note, however, that in every legal action there MUST BE a “reaction” and, therefore, it is proper to respond, so that all parties are responsible for the outcome of any circumstance. Millers are not taking something that is not theirs—they have the largest interest, it turns out, in the property in point. Can’t you understand the difference in taking that which is NOT YOURS—as in property, including the corporation, CONTACT, the mailing lists—and actually using that AGAINST GOD AND OWNERS? DO NOT EVEN CONSIDER THE DWELLING PROPERTY TO BE THE SAME THING—FOR IT IS NOT. Millers have stated that if the property can be purchased for what they have in it—they will be quite happy. That is all that is asked, and that is to prevent having to relocate records (those that have not been also snatched), so that the business of sorting the Institute, etc., is not hampered, and the wildlife and pet life of the area are tended. You see, once you take the responsibility of the immediate wildlife in their nurturing, feeding and watering—you have NO RIGHT to walk away from them, for they are “innocent”.

Once the paperwork is finished, we will certainly begin to “lease” or “rent” the property, if that is suitable, rather than an eviction, until business can flow properly to conclusion or closeout.

The same with the Apple Center. We leave no one damaged and we, and they, need consideration in every way possible. If the ultimate awful happens and the Plan is collapsed—there is a whole new set of consequences, OUT OF OUR CONTROL. We would handle that as it arises. Let me say here, however, that to collapse the entire Plan being established here—WILL COLLAPSE THE WORLD ECONOMY AS YOU KNOW IT! Not even the POWER ELITE can deal with such a big collapse—for THEY WOULD BE NAKED BEFORE THE ENTIRE WORLD, AND THEY ARE “FEW”, WHILE THE POPULATION OF THIS GLOBE IS NOW OVER 7-8 BILLION. Even the “fooled” will not forever remain the “fools”.

KHAZARS

Does this mean I am again going to hit on any given group of people? No. But I am going to continue right on GIVING YOU FACTS AND SETTING THE RECORD TO STRAIGHT WITH EVERY BIT OF CONFIRMATION THAT EVOLVES THAT YOU CAN LOOK AT AND SORT.

I AND MY PEOPLE ARE “NON-RELIGIOUS”. To have Spiritual—you need no brokers accepting or denying you YOUR CONNECTION DIRECTLY TO GOD CREATOR (and YOU can choose your name for that ONE). In the ultimate end, it is just YOU AND GOD, WHICH IS, ACTUALLY, “YOU”.

Since the beginning of “MAN”, he has been presented in every form and possibility of expression and involvement into his perfection of form and, yes, Lighted Image of CREATOR. Is that a Him/Her/It? It IS!—PERIOD!!

Ah, but YOU are left to sort the recognized and conscious presentation of that which is presented for your viewing. And, indeed, YOU DO HAVE ADVERSARIAL “ENEMIES”, FOR YOU DON’T HAVE OTHER WORDS TO SUIT THE DEFINITION.

What I offer here is ongoing information, upon which you can possibly stop your “ignorant” (non-informed) spewing forth of claimed bigotry, lies, false information, etc. There certainly WERE KHAZARS, and that term was also spelled in a dozen or more different languages, and even more presentations in symbols and doctrines. You have called us LIARS, BIGOTS and FALSE PRESENTERS, DARK AND TAINTED—BECAUSE WE HAVE OFFERED TRUTH FOR YOUR REFERENCING. AND YES, I WILL CONTINUE, WITH MY COMPATRIOTS, TO OFFER REBUTTAL TO LIES, EXPLANATIONS OF FACT, AND TO POINT OUT THE DECEIVERS—WHO ARE ALSO AMONG THE HIGHEST “ACHIEVERS”, AS YOU WOULD RECOGNIZE HUMAN WEALTH AND GARNERING OF POWER. IN THE END IT IS, READERS, TRULY A CONFRONTATION OF “GOOD” VS. “EVIL”, AS REGARDS THE SOULS OF MAN.

I am so appreciative when our people bring to attention various referencing material that we might use, for my people are occupied, and all the pleading for recognition that we might offer means so little against the factual reports being made public. Mostly, these things become uncovered BECAUSE WE CAUSED RESEARCHERS TO GO DO THEIR JOBS.

I thank you for forwarding things to our attention, although it is not necessary for your presentation in the paper. But my people need the information, as do all, so it is appreciated. Where we have to be very, very careful is in the business of business, for I have made agreements, and we have published them, as to our actions, so we ask that no one take it upon themselves to do business IN OUR NAME, or on your own—for we will deny that we have given you permission to use anything we have in agreement with, well, Powers-that-Be. I.e., don’t be giving away documents or promises to anyone in the domestic limits of the U.S., don’t offer anything at all, even off-shore, when geared to such as leasing programs, derivatives, rollovers, or outright trading programs for either currency or metals. WE KNOW WHAT WE ARE DOING AND, IF YOU DELIBERATELY USE OUR MATERIALS, YOU WILL BE CALLED AND CONFRONTED. THIS IS TOO IMPORTANT TO A RECOVERING WORLD TO ALLOW FOOLISH INDIVIDUALS TO MISUSE OR ABUSE THE GREATEST GIFTS EVER BROUGHT FORTH FOR MANKIND.

When we begin a full program with the Native Americans, for instance, we will do it with agreements that will not, this time, be broken—or we won’t participate. There is no more to be using of US to accomplish greedy or selfish goals with our gifts.

Anyone, anywhere, can go right on doing whatever you feel like doing—BUT DO NOT INVOLVE US IN YOUR SCHEMES AND THAT WHICH HURTS EVEN ONE CITIZEN OF THE GLOBE THROUGH YOUR SELFISH ACTS. THIS IS THE TIME OF GOD, AND YOU HAD BETTER GET THAT SIMPLE FACT WELL IN MIND. THERE WILL BE ALL THOSE THINGS WHICH THE ADVERSARY TO GOD WILL DO TO TRY TO HOLD ON, REGAIN POSITION, ETC., AND YOU MAY PERCEIVE NO CHANGE—BUT THIS UNBASED-CURRENCY NIGHTMARE IS GOING TO COME TO CHANGE—OR AT THE LEAST, OPPORTUNITY FOR CHANGE. If you choose to continue to pour funds down rat-holes—be prepared to lose. But, either way—LEAVE US OUT OF IT.

Here is a very good example we would share of factual history of the Khazars.

[QUOTING, THE JERUSALEM REPORT MAGAZINE, Wednesday, August 25, 1999:] [H: This has been laying around waiting its turn for use.]

ARCHAEOLOGICAL FINDS ADD WEIGHT TO CLAIM THAT KHAZARS CONVERTED TO JUDAISM

By Ehud Ya’ari

(June 21, 1999)—Russian archeologists, reexamining finds excavated from Khazar sites in the area of the Don River in southern Russia, recently discovered an ancient vessel inscribed with the word “Israel” in Hebrew lettering. The broken fragments of the vessel, originally unearthed in the 1960s, were only recently put together. The result is the firmest verification yet of historical sources that point to the mass conversion to Judaism of the Khazar empire in 740 AD. At their height, the Khazars’ territory extended from the Caspian Sea to the Danube River, before they were routed by the Russians two centuries later. News of the discovery was revealed by professor Gennadi Afanasev of Moscow, one of 50 experts who participated in the first International Colloquium on the Khazars, held in late May at the Ben-Zvi Enstitute in Jerusalem. The week-long conference was organized in the wake of a 1998 Israel Television series on the Khazars. In the works is a large, international exhibition on the Khazar legacy that will appear in major museums around the world.

Debate at the colloquium was dominated by the argument between the “conservatives”, who view the Khazars’ conversion story as myth, and the self-proclaimed “poisoned ones”, who feel that the subject warrants more serious research.

One of the conference’s more dramatic moments came with a dispute about the roots and origins of Yiddish. Prof. Paul Wexler, a Philadelphia-born linguistics expert at Tel Aviv University, argued that Yiddish was a Slavic language that underwent “relexification” to Hebrew and German, with a lot of Turkic (KHAZAR) words. He was taken on by Prof. Wolf Moskovich, a Russian-born linguist from the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, who countered that there is no basis for the assumption that Yiddish grew up among Khazar converts of Turco-Slavic origin. Conference participants decided on a fundraising drive for excavations at neglected Khazar sites in Russia and Ukraine; publication in new, critical volumes of the historical documentation that touches on the Khazar conversion story; and more in-depth research of archaic Chinese sources on the Khazars’ origins.

On one issue there was no dispute that the conversion legend continues to add fuel to the new wave of Russian anti-Semitism, which views the Khazar empire of a thousand years ago as an early version of today’s assault on Mother Russia.

[END OF QUOTING]

I am asking that YOU follow along with the evolution of this, as you pay very, very close attention to the topics and geographic locations, source of the Khazars, "Yiddish", etc. You are going to find that what we have offered you in information IS RIGHT ON TARGET. Therefore, please explain to me how myself, Dharma and our team are somehow "dark tainted", and offer false information, and preposterous presentations in our paper and Journals, as claimed by the Editor-in-Chief of one paper, SPECTRUM—in all the non-wisdom of the universe.

I repeat something I have said over and over again—and again: I am not anti-anything—except evil—and I can actually appreciate the lessons presented through the evil cutie-kids in their games-playing and outright deceitful presentations and actions.

The Khazars are a good example of what happens when history is buried or REVISED to suit a given group of grabbers and human "elders" of a "get-it-all" cult. Even when the Khazars took the choice of Judaism, it was to conveniently avoid having to follow "Christ"ian reality of views. I do not refer to the Christian pretenders. One segment is even worse than the other but not by a pittance difference.

The term "JEW" was CREATED much, much later in the passage of historical time. So, those who actually consider themselves to be JEWISH are not, for the POWER ELITISTS SIMPLY DECIDED TO CALL THEMSELVES "JEWS" TO PRESENT A "FALSE" FRONT TO THE WORLD. So, the self-styled, self-claimed "Jews" are exactly THAT: anything they want to be, while foisting convenient "traditions" for commercial, warring enterprises off onto the innocent trained "seals" of the geographic location; Jewish is NEITHER RELIGIOUS NOR RACIAL.

The Khazars came NOT from the Tribes of (even) Israel. Nor, actually, are they even Israelites, Judean or anything else. They are from alien races and are brought forth as Khazars out of the Nordic, Russ, and Mongolian lineage.

Now for your confirmation or shocker of the day, I suppose, for this is NOT new nor even new news: They most certainly are NOT from the Tribe of Shem (Semites) in any way, shape or form. They are directly from the ALIEN SERPENT RACE and even CALLED THEMSELVES SERPENT PEOPLE, prior to their choosing a new name to make themselves look a bit better. They chose "Judaism" because the "laws" allowed for them to continue in their corruption, wars, commercial thieving and thus and so—while Christianity claimed those things were naughty-kid stuff and couldn't openly bless such activities as were taking place. The more interesting point, however, is that you will note that, even TODAY, these people in great control and who have taken seats of POWER—do not practice ANY traditional Religious or SPIRITUAL traditions. They will call themselves "modern", or "reformed" or whatever. But they are NOT JEWISH IN CULTURE OR TRADITION, EXCEPT IN THOSE WAYS THAT REFLECT BADLY ON THE PEOPLE AS A WHOLE. Indeed, they are no different at all from their Christian counterpart. So, what are we saying? Religions stink and are a man-fabricated lie. Spiritual TRUTH is that DIRECT CONNECTION WITH CREATOR, WHO GAVE YOU GOOD RULES TO FOLLOW, CALLED THE LAWS OF GOD—AND THOSE DO NOT MATCH THE INTERNAL AND INFERNAL INTENT OR ACTION OF THE POWER ELITE.

If the coming into TRUTH makes you singularly uncomfortable with your prior conceptions, attitudes and "side-taking"—GOOD. It is time, for goodness' sakes, that if you are going to tout insight, love and light—that you GET SOME. So, is my intention to be hard and difficult? Neither has anything to do with it—I intend to tell you how it is, what we can do to help repair and reclaim justice and honor in Truth, and that is simply the way it IS. If I offend those who sell you hog-swill, I cannot help it, for it is NOT my problem but seems to be one of YOUR very, very large and looming problems.

Do you need to get on your knees and bow to me or my messengers? Good gracious, NO! Get off your faces and backsides, and let us stand as MAN was intended to be and get this mess cleaned up—and that requires we march ON OUR FEET, STRONG AND TALL, IN THE NAME OF TRUTH (GOD) AND STOP THE STUPIDITY AND THE ACCEPTING OF WORSE STUPIDITY FROM THOSE WHO SET THEMSELVES APART AND UPON PEDESTALS OF CLAIMED ETHERIC EQUALITY. YOU WHO ARE HUMAN ARE NOT OF EQUALITY WITH ANYTHING ETHERIC, FOR IT SIMPLY IS NOT POSSIBLE. IT IS LIKE SAYING THERE IS NO DIFFERENCE IN MALE AND FEMALE—IT SIMPLY IS NOT POSSIBLE, FOR YOU MUST CHANGE FORM AND MIND TO ACCOMPLISH "EQUALITY", AND THEN YOU HAVE CHANGED CIRCUMSTANCES AND STILL ARE NOT "EQUAL". God doesn't need interpreters, and an open and honorable receiver will NOT TOLERATE ANOTHER'S INTERPRETATION OF THEIR WORK—PERIOD. If God or His Hosts can't say what is intended—then I doubt a totally confused and ego-controlled human personage can adjust it PROPERLY. I.e., Dr. Young's interpretation is nothing more or less than Dr. Young's opinion, and those opinions are based on information fed TO HIM by those who pulled some pretty stupid and ridiculous activities, which have now discredited him. Each individual's choice is their own, however, and so be it.

I would suggest, in closing this writing, that you simply withhold your opinions and conclusions of outstanding personages of the last millennium or millennia, for you don't know anything yet. And, KNOW, that the upcoming millennium can be the most "golden era" of all time thus far. No, you don't need Armageddon! You will have Earth changes, for you have brought such unbalance and such major technologies that there will certainly be energy and mass changes but that, too, is the very way that planets are formed, change, give and re-give. You are experiencing, not a few millennia—you are experiencing the results of billions of years, just in your own consideration and accounting—like, all the time since you became Man manifest (ON ANY PHYSICAL EXPERIENCE). YOU ARE A SOUL HAVING A HUMAN EXPERIENCE, NOT A HUMAN HAVING A SOUL EXPERIENCE. I would suggest, therefore, that you get with confronting that fact and get with your HUMAN responsibility, so that your SOUL can move on toward perfection with that which is PERFECT.

Salu. It is a good day; appreciate it and stop your complaining. God has given you life as the gift of gifts—WHAT YOU DO WITH IT IS YOUR GIFT BACK TO GOD! MAKE IT A WORTHY GIFT, PLEASE—FOR KNOW THAT GOD NEEDS NOTHING OF YOUR MATERIAL JUNK!

The News Desk

By John Ray

A PLANET BEYOND PLUTO

BBC News Online, 10/7/99

A British astronomer may have discovered a new and bizarre planet orbiting the Sun, 1,000 times further away than the most distant known planet.

Currently, Pluto is the furthestmost planet that circles our Sun.

But the new planet would be 30,000 times more distant from the Sun than the Earth, putting it a significant fraction of the distance to the nearest star.

What is more, it seems that the new planet cannot be a true member of our Sun's family of planets. It may be a planet that was born elsewhere and roamed throughout the galaxy, only to be captured on the outskirts of our own planetary system.

The controversial suggestion that there is another planet in deep space comes from Dr. John Murray, of the UK's Open University. For several years, he has been studying the peculiar motions of so-called long-period comets.

Comets deflected

Comets—flying mountains of rock and ice—are thought to come from the cold and dark outer reaches of the Solar System, far beyond the planets, in a region called the Oort cloud.

They spend millions of years in the Oort cloud, until they are deflected into an orbit that takes them into the inner Solar System where we can see them.

By analyzing the orbits of 13 of these comets, Dr. Murray has detected the tell-tale signs of a single, massive object that deflected all of them into their current orbits.

"Although I have only analyzed 13 comets in detail," he told BBC News Online, "the effect is pretty conclusive. I have calculated that there is only about a one-in-1,700 chance that it is due to chance."

In a research paper to be published next week in the Monthly Notices of the Royal Astronomical Society, he suggests that the so-far unseen planet is several times bigger than the largest known planet in our Solar System, Jupiter.

Being so far from the Sun—three-thousand-billion miles—it would take almost six million years to orbit it...

Opposite direction

...He has calculated that it lies in the constellation of Delphinus (the Dolphin).

But the planet orbits our Sun in the "wrong" direction, counter to the direction taken by all the other known planets.

It is this which has led to the remarkable suggestion that it did not form in this region of space along with the Sun's other planets, and could be a planet that "escaped" from another star...

...Further evidence to support Dr. Murray's claims will be presented at a conference in Italy next week.

Professor John Matese, of the University of Louisiana at Lafayette, has carried out a similar study and reached broadly similar conclusions. His research is to be published in Icarus, the journal of Solar System studies.

FROM MOTHER SHIPTON'S (1468-1561) PROPHECIES:

And now a word in uncouth rhyme
Of what shall be in future time;
For in those wondrous, far-off days,
The women shall adopt a craze

To dress like men and trousers wear, and cut off all their locks and hair.
They'll ride astride with brazen brow,
As witches do on broomsticks now.

The love shall die and marriage cease,
And nations wane as babes decrease.
Then wives shall fondle cats and dogs,
and men live much the same as hogs.

A carriage without horse shall go,
Disaster fill the world with woe;
In London, Primrose Hill shall be,
Its center hold a Bishop's see.

Around the world men's thoughts shall fly
Quick as the twinkling of an eye.

And waters shall great wonders do—
How strange, and yet it shall come true.

Then upside down the world shall be,
And gold be found at root of tree.
Through tow'ring hills proud man shall ride,
No horse or mule by his side.

Beneath the waters men shall walk,
Shall ride, shall sleep, and even talk;
And in the air men shall be seen,
In white, in black, as well as green.

A great man shall then come and go,
For prophecy declares it so.
In water iron then shall float
As easy as a wooden boat.

Gold shall be found in streams, and stone
In land that is yet unknown.
Water and fire shall wonders do,
And England shall admit a Jew.

The Jew that once was held in scorn
Shall of a Christian then be born.
A house of glass shall come to pass
In England—but, alas! Alas!

A war will follow with the work
Where dwelt the pagan and the Turk.
The states will lock—in fiercest strife,
And seek to take each other's life.

When North shall thus divide the South,
The eagle build in lion's mouth,
Then tax and blood and cruel war
Shall come to every humble door.

Three times shall sunny, lovely France
Be led to play a bloody dance;
Before the people shall be free,
Three tyrant rulers shall she see:
Three rulers, in succession be—
Each sprung from different dynasty.
Then when the fiercest fight is done,
England and France shall be one.

The British olive next shall twin
In marriage with the German vine.
Men shall walk beneath and over streams—
Fulfilled shall be our strangest dreams.

In nineteen hundred twenty-six,
Build houses light of straw and sticks,
For then shall mighty wars be planned,
And blood shall flow in every land.

When pictures seem alive with movement free,
When boats like fishes swim beneath the sea,
When men like birds shall scour the sky,
Then half this world, deep drenched in blood
Shall die.

But those who live to see all this through,
In fear and trembling this will do:
Flee to the mountains and the dens,
To bog and forest and wild fens—

For storms will rage and oceans roar,
When Gabriel stands on sea and shore:
And as he blows his wondrous horn,
Old worlds shall die and new be born.

WHO WAS MOTHER SHIPTON?

The name Mother Shipton has become legendary throughout the English-speaking world. Authorities generally agree she was born in 1488.

The Encyclopaedia Britannica says: "tradition has it that her maiden name was Ursula Southill, and her parents were peasants, living near Dropping Well, Yorkshire, and that she was born about 1468-1488. She was phenomenally ugly, and was regarded as 'the devil's child'. When about 24, she married at Clinton., Yorkshire, in 1561."

William Lilly, who predicted the London plague and fire long before they occurred, declared in 1645, "Mother Shipton's prophecy was never questioned, either for verity or the antiquity."

Harrison says, "She was baptised by the Abbot of Beverley, by the name of Ursula Southill. Her stature was larger than common, her body crooked, her face frightful; her understanding extraordinary."

S. Baker, who published a book about her in 1797, says she foretold the very hour of her own death and departed this life with much serenity, AD 1561, when upwards of 70 years of age. He said a monument marked the place of her burial, between the villages of Clifton and Shipton, which read:

Here ly's she who never ly'd,
Whose skill often has been try'd.
Her prophecies shall still survive,
And ever keep her name alive.

LOST DEAD SEA SCROLL FOUND?

BBC News, 9/29/99

A religious text, which is being billed by some as one of the “lost” Dead Sea Scrolls, has mysteriously surfaced in Israel. Stephen Pfann, a scholar and President of the University of the Holy Land, is currently studying the document.

He says the text uses some of the same phrases and imagery as the famous 2000-year-old scrolls. However, he warns that further study will be required before experts can confirm whether the so-called “Angel Scroll” is genuine or an elaborate hoax.

If it is real, it could shed new light on Jewish mysticism and the origins of Christianity, Dr. Pfann says. “If it’s a forgery, it was done by an expert who has studied the Dead Sea Scrolls at length.”

The whole story surrounding the Angel Scroll is bizarre, to say the least. Rumors have circulated among scholars for many years that one of the Dead Sea Scrolls—the religious writings of the Essenes found in caves near the Dead Sea between 1947 and 1954—made its way to an antiquities dealer in one of the nearby Arab capitals.

The Jerusalem Report magazine this week reported that Benedictine monks had bought the parchment, filled with 1,000 lines of Hebrew text, in 1974...

...The monks were sworn to secrecy, but one—identified only by the pseudonym Mateus—broke the vow, bequeathing a transcript and his commentary to a German friend after his death in 1996.

The transcript was then given to an Israeli college administrator and a physician with an interest in Kabbala, a form of Jewish mysticism, the magazine reported...The publication said its limited access meant it was unable to draw any firm conclusions about the scroll’s authenticity.

The college administrator handed Dr. Pfann—one of several Christian scholars deciphering the Dead Sea Scrolls—one-fourth of the transcript for a review.

In the document, one, “Yeshua ben Padiah” describes a religious vision he says he had while at Ein Eglatain, a desert settlement on the eastern shore of the Dead Sea. The author is taken by an angel, Panameia, on a trip of the heavens, entering through the gates of a heavenly palace.

A second, unidentified source in the document provides embalming recipes for the resurrection of the dead and the use of herbs and stones for healing, practices attributed to the Essenes by the Jewish historian Josephus, a contemporary.

Phrases associated with the Essenes recur in the new text, such as “children of light” and “children of darkness” as well as the word “el” for God. Grammar and spellings are similar to those of the Dead Sea Scrolls.

Dr. Pfann says he also found a complete phrase in Yeshua’s story that he had been trying to reconstruct in one of the scrolls he was working on.

Father Bargil Pixner, the Benedictine authority on the Dead Sea Scrolls, is reported to be skeptical about the text. If the Benedictines were in possession of a scroll, “I would know about it,” Pixner said.

Excerpts From The Angel Scroll

...“And the Angel Pnimea said to me: ‘And son of man, lift up your eyes and see all the secrets...that are in the fourth gate which is the gate of birth. And I saw, and it was like the womb and the chambers of the stomach, and its waters gush and roar like the breakers of the sea on the wall of the cave, which cannot withstand its fury. And here is a seed of life in the water emanating from the seed of man and from the seed of the woman for male and female that He created. And the seed that is joined from the two seeds is not like a clean slate. It is written inside and outside and it has within knowledge and understanding before its creation and before its creation in the womb. And the beginning of the child is not in the birth or in conception nor is its end in death’...

... “According to the plan of that day, the Voice went forth to me and directed me and he drove me by the Spirit. And a vision was revealed to me from the Most High, and Pancimeia, Prince of Angels, lifted me up in the Spirit and I ascended heavenward above the high places of the clouds, and he showed me the great world and the image of the gods. And I pondered the appearance round about and there was no time and no place and their appearance from the dwelling places of light was like a rainbow in the clouds. And they had no bodies and no bodily structure, and the dominion of darkness was over all of the Earth round about...”

THE RUSSIAN ART OF WAR

By Jeffrey Nyquist, WorldNetDaily, 9/30/99

For years, we have heard that the Russian Army is a backward, ill-equipped, rag-tag force. But Col. General Anatoly Sitnov paints a different picture. At a Tuesday press conference, Sitnov revealed that the Russian military now has “a rich new arsenal” to test. In this context, because of the civil war in Russia’s south, Dagestan and Chechnya have become giant test ranges.

Already, the Russians have used the upgraded SU-25 attack aircraft against Chechen targets. “If there is ground combat,” announced Sitnov, “we will test the Shark [helicopter gunship] as well as other weapons. We will also use advanced gear, such as night-vision goggles and new firearms, including the new sniper rifles with increased range...and also [we have] tanks which provide better protection from the enemy in close combat.”

How can this be?

In the early days of the Yeltsin presidency, a curious announcement went largely unnoticed in the West: The Russian government admitted to an increase in armaments spending. While the Kremlin cut back its troop numbers to save money, and while it held back pay to hundreds of thousands of soldiers, it, nonetheless, decided to modernize its military equipment. Russian soldiers might live in desperate conditions for a few years, and the army might fall to a quarter of its Cold War strength, but in the next war they would have the most advanced weapons.

One of the costs of maintaining a large army is the cost of paying the soldiers. The other great cost is that of purchasing new weapons. The solution to Russia’s military backwardness was, therefore, simple: Neglect the soldiers while you upgrade the weapons. Once the weapons are upgraded, go back to paying the soldiers—and fill up the armed forces with recruits.

Col. Stanislav Lunev, a defector from the Main Intelligence Directorate of the Russian General Staff, noted over a year ago that Russia had as many generals as it did at the height of the Cold War. “It takes eight weeks to make a soldier,” said Lunev, “but it takes two years to make a division commander.” In other words, Russia’s military build-down was equivocal from the start. Russia created a mechanism for rapidly mobilizing millions of men in a short time and putting them into ready-made combat divisions. Today, we see that a mobilization is taking place, masked at first by the Yugoslav crisis, then by the current civil war in Russia’s south.

The details of Russia’s mobilization are fuzzy, the extent of the buildup has been blurred, but it is nonetheless taking place. Hundreds-of-thousands of additional men have been put under arms since March. Russia’s Black Sea Fleet has been manned. The Kremlin’s armed forces have engaged in many war exercises, and now there are unprecedented joint naval maneuvers planned with the Chinese Navy. It should be noted that China has been mobilizing troops and ships as well.

But new conventional weapons and conventional mobilizations are nothing compared with Russia’s new weapons of mass destruction. Earlier this month, the Russians launched a state-of-the-art ballistic missile. It lifted off from Russia’s west Arctic cosmodrome and traveled 6,000 miles before slamming into a target range in Siberia. The missile scored a direct hit.

Russia’s new Topol M is the world’s finest strategic rocket. It was designed to leave the Earth’s atmosphere, to glide through space and return to Earth with deadly precision. It was even built to evade interception. But the most important fact about the Topol M has yet to be mentioned. The Topol M was built for one purpose—to attack America.

Russia’s military is organized differently than the U.S. military. In America, we have five services: the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard. In Russia, they also have five services: the Army, Air Force, Navy, Strategic Rocket Forces and Air Defense Forces. This organizational arrangement tells us a great deal. Russia’s nuclear missiles have their own dedicated service branch. Even more interesting, Russia has a special anti-air and anti-ballistic missile service that is dedicated to shooting down American bombers and missiles (the Air Defense Forces). In other words, two of Russia’s five service branches are entirely oriented towards nuclear world war...

...“Military strategy under conditions of modern war,” says the Soviet text, “becomes the strategy of deep nuclear rocket strikes in conjunction with the operations of all services of the armed forces in order to effect simultaneous defeat and destruction of the economic potential and armed forces throughout the enemy territory.”

For the Russian theorists, nuclear war is not merely an exchange of nuclear strikes. It is a war involving infantry, artillery, tanks, ships and aircraft. Therefore, troop mobilizations must take place before the first rockets are launched. In this context, it also should be noted that Russia is currently engaged in country-wide civil-defense drills. The terrorist bombings against Russian apartment buildings now serve as the pretext for these “civilian exercises”.

Russian theorists believe that nuclear weapons dictate new strategies for the battlefield. Under modern circumstances, it is dangerous to concentrate ground forces. The proper strategy is to conceal and disperse one’s armies. Continuous defensive lines are now obsolete, and there is no possibility of maintaining a steady supply line. Something like “Sherman’s March” is no longer done, because Atlanta is burnt by rocket attack in the first few minutes of the war.

Conventional wisdom about the Russian military says that Russia neglected its conventional forces in order to build up its nuclear forces. It is more accurate to say that Russia neglected its soldiers in order to modernize its hardware—both conventional and nuclear. As Yeltsin seals off the Russian border, as dissidents are silenced and tens of thousands are arrested throughout the former Soviet Union, our sources of information grow narrower and narrower. With each passing day, we know less and less about the ongoing crisis in Russia.

It would be comforting if our own leaders were aware of the danger that all of this presents, but no such awareness exists. The Russian art of war is something our own leaders apparently know nothing about.

IOWA LANDLORD TO GET RENT IN GOLD

Bloomberg News, 10/5/99

WASHINGTON—A unit of Consec, Inc. failed to overturn a court order that increased its rent on a Des Moines, Iowa, office building by about 1,500 percent—and required payment in gold coins.

Siding with a family of modern-day prospectors, the U.S. Supreme Court on Monday rejected an appeal by Consec Annuity Assurance Co. The decision leaves intact a lower court order to pay $1.8 million in back rent, plus about $370,000 a year until 2016, on the Des Moines building.

The action ends an unusual legal battle that saw the building owners, descendants of businessman John Trostel, invoke a World War I-era lease provision letting them demand lease payments in gold. Consec, an insurer and consumer lender based in Carmel, Ind., argued unsuccessfully that the provision long ago had ceased to have any legal significance.

Consec predicted in court papers that the lower-court ruling will “ignite a modern-day gold rush” that could benefit landlords with similar leases.

When the 99-year lease was signed in 1917, gold clauses were common contractual provisions that protected property owners against fluctuations in the value of the dollar. Congress and President Franklin D. Roosevelt banned gold clauses in 1933 as part of their efforts to devalue the dollar and inflate prices.

In 1977, Congress changed the law so that new leases could include gold clauses. Although that law, by itself, didn't affect the Des Moines building gold clause, the Trostel family said the transfer of the contract to Consec Annuity's corporate predecessor, American Life & Casualty Insurance Co., created a new lease and revived the gold provision.

The St. Louis-based 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals agreed, saying Consec had to pay its rent in gold. A federal trial judge then concluded that the company owed almost 6,000 troy ounces in back rent and almost 100 [troy] ounces per month until the lease expires.

[JR: Even the big boys forget to read the fine print. What we all need are allodial land contract titles, paid for in gold. (Look it up in Black's Law Dictionary.)]

AIDS EPIDEMIC SLOWS POPULATION GROWTH

CNEWS, 9/29/99

OTTAWA (CP)—The global AIDS epidemic is taking such a large toll in Africa that it will measurably slow world population growth, says a report by the Worldwatch Institute.

The report reflects a change in thinking by demographers. Previous studies concluded that AIDS would not significantly affect global population.

It was expected that world population growth would slow due to an international effort to provide better health care and family planning. But the spectacular rise in African mortality rates has been a surprise.

“This is new in terms of its effect on world demographic trends,” Lester Brown, president of the Washington-based research organization, said in an interview. “People are now talking about child-headed households becoming common (in sub-Saharan Africa).”

The report says some countries, such as Botswana, South Africa and Zimbabwe, will lose one-fifth or more of their adult population within the next decade, unless a low-cost cure for AIDS is found.

When UN demographers updated their population projections last October, they reduced the projected global population for 2050 to 8.9 billion from 9.4 billion—a drop of 500 million.

Of this drop, two-thirds was due to falling fertility and improved family planning. One-third was due to rising mortality from AIDS.

The epidemic is especially devastating because it does not normally claim the weak and the old, but people in the prime of life...

...In South Africa, 70 percent of the beds in some hospitals are occupied by AIDS victims, says the report. At the University of Durban-Westville, 25 percent of the student body is HIV-positive. “In Africa, it is often the better educated, more socially mobile populations that have the highest infection rate. Africa is losing the agronomists, the engineers and the teachers it needs to sustain its economic development.”

Brown said there are few programs to combat the epidemic, and most African governments are overwhelmed. Infection rates are still rising. Part of the inability to confront the trends stems from faltering international support for family planning. The same reproductive health services and the same condoms that help lower birth rates also check the spread of the virus. “Unless governments can mobilize quickly to contain the virus, the epidemic could claim more lives in the early part of the new century than World War II did in this one.”

[JR: It is estimated that 500 people die of AIDS each day in Africa. AIDS has been a major success for the UN/WHO for depopulation. Why are they pretending surprise as to the rise in AIDS cases?]

EXPOSED: THE DEADLY LEGACY OF NATO STRIKES IN KOSOVO

The Independent—UK, 10/3/99

AFTER INSISTING—throughout its air bombardment of Yugoslavia—that its use of depleted-uranium munitions against Serb forces posed no hazard to human health, NATO officers in Kosovo now admit that particles from their shells may have contaminated soil near targets in Yugoslavia and could cause “inhalation” problems, especially for children.

There has been a growing outcry against munitions containing depleted uranium (DU)—a waste product of the nuclear industry—since it was used in armour-piercing projectiles in the 1991 Gulf War. In the eight years since, hundreds of Iraqis living near the battlefields have died from mysterious cancers, and grossly deformed children have been born to Iraqi soldiers who fought in the war.

British and American veterans suffering from Gulf War Syndrome suspect that the use of DU weapons caused their own sickness and cancers.

In briefings to international aid workers in Pristina, one K-For officer has warned his audience of “contaminated dust” at the scene of DU munitions explosions and urged aid officials to stay 150 feet away from targets hit in NATO air strikes...

...Officially, K-For warns aid workers to beware of all Kosovo battle sites—especially the danger posed by unexploded cluster bombs...and “the danger of the spread of contaminated dust”.

The Pentagon says that in the 1991 Gulf War, more than 860,000 DU rounds were fired by United States [forces] and—to a much lesser extent—British forces. In following years, doctors in southern Iraq were stunned to find an exponential increase in child cancers and deformities among families living near the old battlefields or close to targets hit by U.S. forces.

One Iraqi doctor's report in Basra last year recorded three babies born without heads in August, along with four with abnormally large heads, six babies born with no heads in September and two with short limbs. In October 1998, another baby was born without a head and four with oversize heads. Nor were DU munitions used in Kosovo only against armour, as NATO claimed.

One aid worker found exploded DU rounds at a defence installation near Djakovica. “There were no vehicles there, but I found the tops of the rounds,” he told me.

[JR: It would appear that the chances of civilians dying are greater after a war than during it. War and chaos are very profitable “commodities” today.]

DEA DRUG HAWKS SWOOP DOWN ON BIRDSEED

Environment News Service, 9/30/99

DETROIT, Michigan (ENS)—The U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) has seized a tractor-trailer of sterilized Canadian hemp seed on its way to a large U.S. company that has been selling hemp birdseed blends legally for years.

Following the August 9 seizure, U.S. Customs and the DEA demanded that Kenex, Canada's largest producer and processor of industrial hemp products, recall previous shipments of other hemp products such as oil, granola bars, horse bedding and animal feed. Kenex is based in Paincourt, Ontario, 60 miles from Detroit.

U.S. Customs is threatening nearly $500,000 in fines against Kenex if the recalled products are not redelivered to Detroit Customs in the next few days...

...The agencies have taken these actions even though all of the products are exempt under the U.S. Controlled Substances Act, and many have been sold in the United States for 60 years. There has never been a time when sterilized hemp seed or oil or meal was illegal.

The DEA, after repeated requests, refuses to provide Kenex with any legal basis for the confiscation.

Kenex's president, Jean Laprise says, “Kenex, along with many other U.S. companies, is suffering irreparable damage due to the illegal actions taken by the DEA and U.S. Customs. It seems the DEA could be spending the U.S. taxpayer's drug-war money in better ways than chasing after bird seed and horse bedding.”

Laprise says, “All the proper documentation has been supplied to Customs in the past in accordance with our custom broker's instructions. Kenex has always acted in good faith and has never violated any U.S. laws. Our legal counsel has advised us that the DEA and U.S. Customs are acting in clear violation of U.S. laws as well as NAFTA.”

Industrial hemp has no drug qualities and is grown in 32 countries including Canada, France, Germany and England. The North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) mentions hemp as a strategic commodity. Currently, French and German hempseed products are still entering the United States under the same tariff code without problems.

Kenex is in the process of preparing the paperwork to file a complaint under the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA).

Hemp foods are typically made from sterilized seed like that seized from Kenex. It is impossible for the seed to ever contain any tetra hydro cannabinol (THC), the psychoactive component in marijuana, which is produced in the flowering tops of the female Cannabis Sativa L. plant. The THC content in the fiber, leaf or flower of the industrial hemp plant is less than one percent. By contrast, the THC content of the Cannabis Sativa bred for marijuana production is around 10 percent.

Kenex’s western U.S. broker and importer of hempseed products is Nutiva, a Sebastopol, California-based company. Nutiva has over 700 natural-food stores, manufacturers and restaurants utilizing hempseed.

Nutiva’s hempseed bar, made with sunflower, hemp, flax and pumpkin seeds and honey, has just surpassed 100,000 units sold, making it the top-selling hemp food in the U.S....

...The current seizures, recalls and summons are in effect shutting off the supply of hempseed for this growing market. If the markets are shut down in the U.S., American farmers’ future markets for hemp products will be curtailed by their own federal government, Roulac says.

Roulac, a board member of the North American Industrial Hemp Council and who has also written three books on industrial hemp, finds it ironic that the federal government is serving him a summons for “marijuana related products”...

...The DEA is required by law to report to Congress each year a list of drug-producing nations and Canada is not on the list. “The DEA is either lying to Congress or admitting industrial hemp is not a drug crop,” Roulac says.

One of Nutiva’s customers is Coup Restaurant in New York City. Coup’s executive chef, Kevin Roth, said, “Our hempseed-crusting tuna is our best-selling dish on the menu. To say we are serving a controlled substance is outlandish...”

...Kenex initiated its research program on industrial hemp in 1995 in cooperation with Ridgetown College of University of Guelph in Ontario. A research license was granted by Health Canada to proceed with the program. The scope of the project was expanded in 1996, making it the largest hemp research project in Canada.

1997 marked the beginning of the legalization of commercial hemp production in Canada with the passing of Bill C-8. This encouraged Kenex to expand their acreage of hemp as well as purchase land, buildings and some equipment to start a processing facility. 1998 was the first year for commercial production and processing of industrial hemp in Canada.

The states of Minnesota, North Dakota and Hawaii have all approved the cultivation of industrial hemp, and the legislators in Illinois, Montana, Virginia and California have approved resolutions endorsing the re-commercialization and growing of industrial hemp.

[JR: It is curious that Kenex in Canada is being targeted despite NAFTA. Could hemp be the next big money-maker for the three seed companies that control the markets here, there and everywhere?]

PUBLIC SCHOOLS TEACHING OCCULT RELIGION?

By Stephan Archer, WorldNetDaily, 10/1/99

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—The implementation of the Waldorf curriculum—an educational philosophy related to the New Age religion “Anthroposophy”—in some California public schools has stirred up controversy, as opponents say its use violates the U.S. Constitution.

People for Legal and Nonsectarian Schools (PLANS), an unlikely coalition of liberals and evangelical Christians, has filed suit against both the Sacramento City Unified School District and Twin Ridges Elementary School District for allowing public funds to be used to set up schools which teach the Waldorf curriculum. In the lawsuit, PLANS contends that public Waldorf schools are “intrinsicly and inseparably” based upon Anthroposophy, a religion that PLANS further contends is occultic in nature.

What is Anthroposophy? “The Waldorf Teacher’s Survival Guide” is designated by the Sacramento City Unified School District as one of its resource materials for “training or instruction in Waldorf teaching methods or Waldorf curriculum”. WorldNetDaily obtained a copy of the 67-page pamphlet, published in 1992 and written by Eugene Schwartz, head of the Waldorf teacher-training program at Sunbridge College in Spring Valley, N.Y. The “Guide” says, on page 54: “Most of that which contributes to our work as teachers—preparation work, artistic work, even meditative work—is under the guardianship of Lucifer. We can become great teachers under his supervision, for he is responsible for much that has blossomed in the unfolding of civilization and culture in the past.”

Lucifer? [!!!!]

In Anthroposophical doctrine, Lucifer is the god of light. His antagonist is Ahriman, the god of darkness. To balance these two opposing forces, Christ comes to Earth as a Sun god.

Ilna Jue is principal of the John Morse Waldorf Methods Magnet School, one of the schools named in the suit. She defended her school, saying, “Our curriculum is the curriculum of the State of California. With that, we bring the methodologies of Waldorf education.”

Jue described Waldorf methodologies as including arts such as painting, drama and music. Illustrating the importance of color in the use of painting in Waldorf education, the book, Sleep: An unobserved element in education, by Audrey E. McAllen, notes: “The color sequence works as a cleansing re-orientation of soul, helping the individuality to accept the present incarnation in a physical body. This is clearly shown in the pictures which pupils make.”

Is the Waldorf curriculum intended to indoctrinate children in an occult religion? “I think that it’s a curriculum that attempts to be palatable for public consumption,” says Danny Aguirre, access-line director at the Spiritual Counterfeits Project in Berkeley, Calif., “but there’s a strategy to subtly influence the children toward Anthroposophy.”

The Spiritual Counterfeits Project is a Christian think-tank that monitors current trends affecting society, particularly spiritual movements.

Ironically, Debra Snell, who is now the president of PLANS, was once involved in Mariposa Waldorf School, a private school in Cedar Ridge just outside Grass Valley, Calif. When the school closed down, she and other Waldorf parents investigated the possibility of founding a charter school that would use Waldorf methods. In August 1994, Twin Ridges Elementary School District agreed to sponsor the school. The Twin Ridges Alternative Charter School, which opened in September 1994, became the Yuba River Charter School.

Snell told WorldNetDaily that when she first got involved in Waldorf schools and pushed for the Yuba River charter, she had no idea that Waldorf was connected to a religious philosophy.

“I suppose that you can say that I feel a tremendous responsibility,” Snell said. “I was one of the founders of the school. I was very naive. I believed it was nonsectarian. When I heard of Waldorf education, I had never even heard of Anthroposophy.”

Although Snell and other parents like her wanted the new charter school to utilize credentialed public-school teachers who would loosely use the methodologies of the private Waldorf schools, Snell said Anthroposophical teachers quickly took over the school. Curious as to what Anthroposophy was, Snell obtained a copy of the course-study book list from the Rudolf Steiner College, an institution in Fair Oaks, Calif., that trains Anthroposophical teachers.

“When I read what the course study was for Waldorf teachers, I realized right away that it was a religious seminary. There are no core academic classes in the entire teacher training program,” Snell said.

“The required text for the first year includes occult science, and the spiritual hierarchies, spiritual guidance of man,” added Snell. “I mean, where’s the phonics?”

PLANS had also learned that public-school teachers at the Waldorf methods schools were taught by the Anthroposophists at Rudolf Steiner College to categorize school children by their Zodiac signs. The children would be divided into one of “four temperaments”.

WorldNetDaily contacted Scott M. Kendall, the attorney for PLANS in the case and an affiliate attorney of the Pacific Justice Institute. “This case is about whether or not Waldorf Schools can be publicly funded,” said Kendall, “because Waldorf schools historically have been private religious schools, and just recently, over the last ten years, they’ve been able to manage to get school boards to publicly fund them either as magnet schools or as charter schools.”

“What we’re trying to prove is that the Sacramento City Unified School District (and Twin Ridges), by having a Waldorf-type school and identifying it as such, and by having the teacher training being provided by Anthroposophists, are endorsing the religion called Anthroposophy, which is a New Age, occultic religion,” Kendall further explained.

Jue, trying to draw a contrast with the Waldorf curriculum in private schools, said that the Waldorf program at her school is not at all religious.

“We have been most careful,” Jue said. “Our training has been very secular, if you want to consider Anthroposophy as a religion. Our training has not even involved Anthroposophy at all.”

Jue added that all of her teachers are credentialed by the State of California, and that it was only after having received state credentials that they obtained further certification in Waldorf education at Rudolf Steiner College.

“It made sense, since Rudolf Steiner College is in town, that the training be through them,” said Jue. “But again, it was geared for the public-school teacher. It was not geared for the private-school teacher.”

Nevertheless, both Snell and Kendall believe the school districts’ implementation of the Waldorf curriculum violates the First Amendment’s Establishment Clause. According to the Supreme Court, “the Establishment Clause (has come) to mean that government may not promote or affiliate itself with any religious doctrine or organization, may not discriminate among persons on the basis of their religious beliefs and practices, may not delegate a governmental power to a religious institution, and may not involve itself too deeply in such an institution’s affairs”.

“The basic premise of this case is if a Christian school or Catholic school tried to receive charter-school status or get public funding, it would be crushed immediately. That would never happen,” said Kendall. “So basically, the premise of the lawsuit is that New Age religion should be treated the same way.”

“PLANS does not believe that the school districts are intentionally promoting religion,” Snell said of both the Sacramento City and Twin Ridges school districts. “What we believe is that unsuspecting board members have been fraudulently sold religious pedagogy by the Anthroposophical Rudolf Steiner College.”

Indeed, “The Waldorf Teacher’s Survival Guide” suggests that Anthroposophists are trying to sell their religion through the Waldorf curriculum...

...If Waldorf education is truly going to be a “movement for cultural renewal”, it is our responsibility to share with the parents those elements of Anthroposophy which will help them understand their children and fathom the mysterious ways in which we work.”

District Court Judge Frank C. Damrell, Jr., in reviewing the arguments of both the school districts and PLANS, has so far come to the conclusion there is substantial evidence that public funding of Waldorf schools may violate the Constitution. The trial date is currently set for Feb. 28 of next year.

Pacific Justice Institute, the non-profit organization funding the case for Snell, is confident the judge will rule in favor of their client.

Speaking for his organization, Brad Dacus said, “In general, the Court has concluded that this is not a bogus lawsuit, and it has merit. We’re convinced that when the facts are fully addressed before the court, that we will prevail.”

[JR: It seems they are also attempting to discredit all Charter Schools by injecting this New Age religion into the curriculum. Most Charter Schools are viewed as an alternative to the failed present educational system. If the focus is on excellence and performance, as with Marva Collins (Chicago)—the first to break away from the establishment system—her success is proof it can be done.]

FIRES, FLOODS AND QUAKES

By Linda Feldmann, The Christian Science Monitor, 9/29/99

W A S H I N G T O N—...As the world cleans up after a series of devastating earthquakes, hurricanes and floods, one increasingly persistent question recurs: Are these events really as rare as we think they should be?

Donald Turcotte, a geophysicist at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y., doesn’t think so. He is getting fresh attention for what he believes is a more valid way of predicting the frequency of certain dramatic natural phenomena—such as forest fires, landslides and floods...

...Recently, it has come out that this analysis of rare phenomena seems to apply to a much wider array of inquiries than previously thought, from species distribution in the forest to magnetism to aircraft turbulence...

...If his thesis on floods is correct—and he acknowledges this is still under debate—it poses fresh questions about federal flood policy, home and business owners with properties in or near flood plains, and the strength of dams and levees. Because big floods are so expensive, virtually no private companies will insure against them. Since 1968, the federal government has been the main insurer for floods.

Mr. Turcotte’s system uses the relatively new field of chaos theory—in particular, focusing on fractals, or “self-similar” objects...

...Look in any flood-gauge station in the U.S., he says, and it will describe the strength of a so-called 100-year flood.

“We are seeing 100-year floods much too often, so either the statistical theory is wrong, or global warming has created a lot more floods,” says Turcotte. “Those are two competing ideas. The insurance companies in some ways prefer global warming, because it doesn’t mean they’re doing their statistics wrong. We think the latter.”

So far, says a senior official with the U.S. Geological Survey, U.S. flood policy is not about to be revised. But he agrees that the current system is less than perfect. “I’ve seen figures from North Carolina, Delaware and New Jersey on the flooding from this past week, and we’ve got a lot of places where we’re saying it’s maybe a 500-year flood,” says Bob Hirsh, chief hydrologist for the US Geological Survey. “Well, maybe it really isn’t a 500-year flood. Maybe it’s a more frequent event, but our theories didn’t point us in that direction.” He says the current system for predicting the frequency of large floods, based on a curve called “log-Pearson type 3”, was adopted many years ago because of a need for both accuracy and consistency. Over the years, the consistency has remained, but the accuracy has come into increasing question.

If the US government were to consider changing its system, a variety of competing theories would battle for supremacy.

Bob Hartwig, an economist for the Insurance Information Institute in New York, agrees that the growing frequency of certain rare weather phenomena has forced insurers to recalculate their risk. After Hurricane Andrew in August 1992, which caused $16 billion in insured losses, the industry learned it was much more exposed than previously thought—and has invested heavily in catastrophe modeling that predicts the track and intensity of hurricanes. But he points out that many factors can affect the frequency of rare weather events, such as the Earth’s wobble and tilt, which vary over the years. He also notes that during the 1980s and 1990s, the U.S. has been in a period of heightened hurricane activity, which follows a few decades of relative calm.

[JR: The theories and predictions of the experts fail to consider weather-related technological weapons. They do, however, have names for these unusual weather phenomena no one else has experienced. Question: How can insurance companies PROVE policy-covered claims are void due to an "ACT OF GOD"? Act of NATURE—maybe, Act of HAARP—possible, but an "Act of GOD"—never!]

DR. M. SLAMS DEVELOPED NATIONS FOR LORDING IT OVER THE WEAK

By Ng Poh Tip, The STAR—Malaysia, 9/30/99

NEW YORK—The 21st century does not look very promising for the poor and the weak and for the aspiring tigers and dragons of Asia, says Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr. Mahathir Mohamad.

Everything will continue to be “cooked” in the West, he said yesterday in his address to the 54th session of the United Nations General Assembly, the last this century.

Just as communism and socialism came from the West, he said, liberal democracy, globalization, a borderless world, deregulation, unfettered free flow of capital, the disciplining of governments by the market and by currency traders and a host of other ideas all came from the West...Other values and cultures are superfluous and unnecessary. If they remain, there will be a clash of civilisations.

“To avoid this, there should be only one civilization in the world. Everything should be standardized according to Western practices. They may change only if the West changes. Thus, the globalized world will be totally uniform. Variety is equal to being intransigent and must, therefore, be eliminated,” he said.

Dr. Mahathir gave the case of Malaysia’s capital controls which, he said, had done the country a lot of good.

“It has done no harm to anybody except a few thousand rich currency manipulators. Foreigners doing real business in our country have profited much from the so-called controls.

“But we are still urged to conform to an international financial system which has enabled the unscrupulous to destroy the wealth of many nations,” he said.

Malaysia, he added, only wished to be allowed to manage things in its own way in the interests of its own people.

In his speech, Dr. Mahathir touched on the United Nations, describing it as a “helpless” body, often bypassed by the big and the powerful, which seemed to decide by themselves when to step in and when to step out.

He also had sharp words for “some” in the UN who he said had “rather unusual” principles.

“Normally, in order to study, report and pass an opinion or judgment on something, a neutral or unbiased person would be chosen.

“But the UN chose a person well-known for his virulent attack against the Malaysian judiciary to report on that institution,” he said.

The UN then conferred on him, total immunity against the laws of his country without the consent of the country, he added.

“This immunity apparently extends beyond his task of reporting his findings to the UN. He may publish his opinions, defame people and the subject of his study anywhere and everywhere.

“Is there no limit to a UN commissioner’s immunity?” he asked.

The Prime Minister said governments were told that they must not interfere with the judiciary, “yet in this case, the government is expected to instruct the judiciary not to act against this UN commissioner for breaking the laws of the country.”

Dr. Mahathir said he found the systems and principles, which guided the choice of the UN commissioner, unacceptable.

“Nor do I think it proper to hint at dire consequences for the Malaysian nation if this man is not freed from court action for open contempt and defamation.

“There is something not right here which the United Nations needs to look into,” he continued.

But, he said, small countries lacked a public forum to air their views freely. The Western media distorted everything they said or did.

“Again we are expected to give immunity to Western journalists. They may break our laws but no legal action may be taken against them.

“I would like to point out that in Malaysia, even the King and the hereditary sultans are not above the law,” he said.

Recounting the economic turmoil Malaysia went through, he said the country wished to be left alone in managing things her own way in the interest of her own people.

But Malaysia would continue to co-operate with the rest of the world.

[JR: Wouldn't it be refreshing—nay, a miracle—if just one leader in the West spoke as candidly as Dr. Mahathir. The critical mass could change the planet.]

SPOTLIGHT DODGES A BULLET

By SPOTLIGHT STAFF

The First Amendment won an important victory in Deming, N.M. recently, when library officials decided to keep a newspaper in circulation in spite of a complaint by a local man.

The newspaper is THE SPOTLIGHT. The local man, Marty Holtzman, claimed the newspaper as “a soft-core anti-Semitic publication” and described it as “Holocaust denial”.

The Marshall Memorial Library board of trustees said removing THE SPOTLIGHT would set a precedent for removing other material some considered objectionable.

“The library is a learning center,” trustee Kathleen Cook said, “I may be totally against something but removing it would be censorship.”

The Marshall Memorial Library is a member of the American Library Association (ALA). The ALA's Bill of Rights states:

"In no case should any book be excluded because of the race or nationality or the political or religious views of the writer..."

"... there should be the fullest practicable provision of material presenting all points of view concerning the problems and issues of our times."

When reporters in New Mexico contacted THE SPOTLIGHT, Editor Andrew Arnold asked them exactly what was supposed to be anti-Semitic. They could not answer.

The newspaper has never denied the Holocaust.

When Holtzman contacted Library Director Margaret Becker, she asked him to fill out a form stating why he objects to the newspaper. He refused. “Why should I fill out a form when it's about Holocaust denial?” Holtzman said in The Las Cruces Sun-News.

A spokesman for the New Mexico region of the Anti-Defamation League (ADL) told The Deming Headlight that THE SPOTLIGHT shouldn't be displayed with other newspapers.

Arnold asked a Headlight writer what the ADL found objectionable. “They didn't say,” she answered.

“We're not against Jewish people in any shape or form,” Arnold said. “Our publisher, Liberty Lobby, is against foreign aid, because Israel receives most of the U.S. foreign aid, some articles could possibly be interpreted as anti-Israel. I would call it pro-American.”

Ms. Becker told the trustees, prior to Holtzman, no one had ever protested THE SPOTLIGHT. “We have people who wait for it to come out,” she added.

Arnold had some advice for Holtzman: “If he finds it offensive, he doesn't have to read it.”

[JR: Librarians and others should use their library facilities to look up the true meaning of the word SEMITE. It would surely put an end to all this paranoia.]

G.A.I.A. Works Only Within The Guidelines, As Established

10/11/99—#1

Hatonn—I remind you that our mode of communications with the “Powers That Be” is through PUBLIC statements put forward in CONTACT, the recognized paper for said communications as a fully authorized “newspaper” publication. It would appear that those who object, NOW, to that standard of excellence and recognition should simply not continue to focus on same. Is it never enough, people, that you totally ruin your own nests, try to ruin your neighbor's and then complain about what is already established? No, apparently not.

I am again in negotiations with these “Powers That Be” that I can refer to, I suppose, as the PTBs. This time we are bogged in the muck because of ongoing demands from parties abroad, yea, even back in the U.S. These parties pushing us, however, are from Africa and would like to bypass all red tape and structural foundations—just, you know, “GIVE ME DA MONEY—AND GIF IT TO ME NOW!” NO!

If you or anyone you know want money to build “mansions” on hill-tops with intent to build up your offices to suit your opinions of yourself and build a mass of money unto self, so that you might participate in the control and running of a, or many, nations—you are not working WITH anyone save your buddies, and you most certainly are not working with me. We send all the instructions and we receive back, DEMANDS, which indicate that there is no recognition of the messages AT ALL.

We have formed working cooperation with the organizations, institutions and PEOPLE who hold the obligation of the Global (GAIA) debt. We have made agreements and publicly announced them. WE DO NOT BREAK OUR WORD—NOR DO WE EVEN BEND IT. WITH PATIENCE AND COOPERATION WE WILL BE ABLE TO FUNCTION SMOOTHLY AND OFFER INPUT AND FUNDING FOR OTHER NATIONS AND PROJECTS, EVEN THAT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. UNTIL THAT TIME AND THOSE AGREEMENTS ARE POLICY, WE WILL NOT OVERSTEP ANY BOUNDARY OR AGREEMENTS.

IF PARTIES WISH TO CONTINUE ON THEIR OWN BLIND PATHWAY, SO BE IT, FOR YEARS OF COMPLIANCE AND AUTHENTICITY—ALONG WITH STRUCTURING A PROGRAM WHICH WORKS AND WHICH IS TOTALLY AUTHENTIC—HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED. IT “SECURES” RATHER THAN DESTROYS AND COLLAPSES. IT IS NOT FOR SELFISH GAIN BY ANYONE AND THOSE WHO PUSH FOR PERSONAL EXCUSE OR GAIN, SHALL SIMPLY NOT FIND RECEPTIVE COOPERATION.

With this in mind, I need to again present guidelines against which we will NOT work. And, as my crew or team is approached for assistance or joint efforts (ventures), this must be the first-offered information in response. And those who claim to be WORKING

WITH OR FOR GAIA, BUT HAVE NO AUTHORITY—BEWARE! As you are identified, you are moved right into the light and under the microscope of the Government of the United States, Treasury Dept., FED, IMF, WB—and every one of the international intelligence agencies. Every 501©(3) corporation listed is immediately categorized for total surveillance and any large sums negotiated will be monitored and if coming from any FED resource or coalition bank or institution—WILL BE BLOCKED AS TO TRANSFER TO OR THROUGH THE HUBS OF BANKING-CARTEL HOLDINGS.

I.e.: If we would offer large funds for African use, for instance, and funnel it through a U.S. corporation, it would be blocked (frozen) for total inspection and if it is to be “traded”—as in trading programs—it will NEVER be allowed transfer! Do NOT try to fool “them”—you are novice—they are professionals at that which they do and Murder Inc. cuts down greatly on their need to further inspect transactions.

There are very GOOD reasons why agreements which disallow use of GAIA documents as open-market exchange in the U.S. and if you—as a reader or would-be USER of same—can't see the massive impact on your own HOME NATION, then I shudder to think what you REALLY have in mind for your Mother Country.

We are in the business of BUILDING and not destroying—ANYTHING, even EVIL PRETENDERS TO THE THRONE OF GOD OF LIGHT. They will arrange that nicely for themselves and hold some modicum of stability along the way. They are foolish—NOT FOOLS!

You who can, please understand this parable: If you take a river which, when cleared of debris and weirs (no, YOU go look it up and if you don't already know what the word means, you are certainly not well enough educated to run international business), is then pushed without flood controls in place FIRST, you will have untold damage downriver. If you would also take that free-flowing water and set up your own major side reservoirs to claim the water supply for self—to dole out as you get paid for it—you are simply restricting and controlling in much more NASTY manner than the ones who have had to forfeit upriver.

NO, we are NOT going to offer funding to ANYONE to whom our people KNOW will simply dump funds into those programs which have brought the world to the brink of destruction. We use ONE method of transaction: THAT WHICH BACKS ITSELF WITH COLLATERAL CALLED “VALUE” IN HARD SUBSTANCE. WE DO NOT GO FORTH AND GET FUNDS FOR 3% INTEREST IN THIS TRANSACTION INSANITY AND TURN AROUND FOR 2,000% INTEREST. HOW LONG CAN AN ECONOMY SURVIVE WITH NO BACKING OF REAL VALUE AND DEALS ONLY WITH MASSIVE INTEREST RATES, WHILE BEING UNABLE TO EVEN PRODUCE HARD COLLATERAL ON WHICH THEY HAVE BASED

THEIR EXCHANGE? THIS IS WHY WE HAVE SPENT UNTOLD HOURS GIVING YOU FACTS ABOUT ECONOMICS.

Will there be cases of use in such as 501©(3) and 170-type programs? YES, but it will not be structured in this GAIA program as is under establishment at present. And, when those loans and gifts are acceptable, they can be monitored by any institution or government on the globe—OR, WE WILL NOT PARTICIPATE.

Most people who serve the “Destroyers”, do not understand their position—the programs that enslave—and they certainly have no wish to destroy. It is that they are trained and have employment in what are considered honorable programs and they follow orders. They would rather follow GOODLY INSTRUCTIONS, for they are the ones in the field experiencing the pain and hurt of those trapped in the all-consuming dragon’s breath. And, no, I certainly do not mean “China’s dragon”. The “Death Dragon” for mankind is NOT “China”, chelas.

But you need help NOW? Yes, just about everyone on the globe needs help NOW! This is WHY even my team-players are having to get INTERIM HELP—based on their OWN personal arrangements—to solve the most pressing things, such as the “Institute”, bill-paying capability, home payments and these unrelated to GAIA entities and persons. MISUSED, even in intent, is not and will not be acceptable.

It is THAT interim funding that has now gone through two MAJOR banking institutions, is based on other value than GAIA and today should make it through to some conclusion with, of all things, possibly, China Bank. We only need enough to solve the immediate operation problems of keeping this PUBLIC PAPER, CONTACT, in regular publication to keep it qualified, insure that my people have rights to their personal things from the dwelling just sold at public auction, and get our people secure in their own positions. It will also be personally accepted by Ekkers into a Corporation— with flow directly to legal counsel—to negate all attempts of adversaries to claim or thieve it. It is an open “LOAN” as qualified by “BORROWING”, just to make sure you ALL understand and it will be minimal to ensure use for it’s intended purpose.

This will allow us to continue to DO THE BIGGER JOB CORRECTLY AND RIGHT!

I need to keep you informed on happenings, especially where things in Southeast Asia are concerned because, for instance, take Timor. Why do you actually think there is UN presence? Why do you think a fully-fledged military presence will be placed there indefinitely? Well, try this one: Timor has more gold in the ground than any other place ON EARTH. It also has oil reserves still untapped and the harangue is not for the Timorese, East or West. I will write on this later because it is important and quite interesting.

PUBLIC NOTICE

GLOBAL ALLIANCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION

This is to notify all parties who are interested or would become interested in any type of cooperative venture with Global Alliance Investment Association (GAIA) of ABSOLUTE guidelines and agreements.

GAIA will NOT under ANY circumstances do any domestic U.S.A. business, nor do business with any Corporations within the States of the United States of America, including Hawaii and Alaska.

The only “BUSINESS” we will co-venture within that territory SHALL BE with the Sovereign States of Native Peoples, i.e., Native Americans, erroneously recognized as American “Indians”, and Tribal organizations in any other Nation which have Sovereign-State RIGHTS to establish intra-governmental governance and have TREATY rights of “absolute” ESTABLISHMENT.

Once established and with banking facilities available, we can and shall have protected access to assist those “nations” in a manner considered to be “International” in recognition.

We can also do an interchange of business with ANY OTHER nation than the United States of America on an open basis but only with those organizations which establish themselves in a proper, recognized, incorporation-type of business acceptance, Governments, Organizations, etc. We shall not deal directly with specific individuals not backed by acceptable, to their nation’s satisfaction, laws of regulation.

We do NOT interfere in any way with that which becomes the portion of any funding considered as the Joint Venture Partner’s “share”, once the Joint Venture is terminated upon funding and a reserve of GOLD or HARD ASSET is in place and properly accounted.

We will NOT participate in any KNOWN intentional program which directs the flow of funds— uncollateralized by GOLD assets in recognized banks or facilities—into any Trading, Leasing, Rollover, Derivatives, or “Floating Dollar” based program.

We do not, however, have any input as for what the former Joint Venture Partner utilizes its funds. We have agreements in the Memorandum of Agreement to cover these things, specifically, the use for humanitarian and non-warring purposes. However, it is recognized that we have no FORCE for control of same. A representative’s signature and word must be the bond and we cannot control another’s intent or honor. Only our own will be enforced—IN THIS MANNER—as is also acceptable to the “Debtors” of this GAIA asset.

It is, further, our agreement that we will not give further information as to how to contact other parties to said original contracts, for they have severed working relationships with our team and those parties will have to make new arrangements if there is to be any further cooperation.

If you, as example, have a program which enhances the position or coalition of other geographic locations, i.e., Africa— then it must be KNOWN that GAIA’s participation must be through that nation or coalition of nations.

Our own assets resulting from Joint Venture funding, will be utilized as desired but only through protection and cooperation with the established systems already operative. We only wish to create better systems for those who choose participation, allow for growth and building, and who wish to participate in again creating a strong industrial foundation and stable economic environment based on value and not on empty, worthless paper currencies. As it now exists—without base for currencies—the entire world functions in POVERTY.

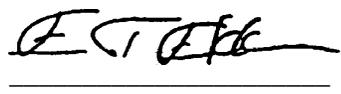

WE WILL MAKE NO EXCEPTIONS—NO MATTER HOW GREAT THE PETITION OFFERED IS IN “THE NAME OF GOD”. WE KNOW GOD; WE ARE GOD’S PLAN IN ACTION—AS IS RECOGNIZED AS THE “DIVINE PLAN”— AND UPON OUR WORD IS BASED THE ENTIRETY OF THE PROGRAM UNFOLDING. PLEASE DO NOT ASK FOR EXCEPTIONS FOR INDIVIDUALS OR COALITIONS WHICH DO NOT MEET THESE GUIDELINES. WE CAN FUNCTION OFF SHORE AMONG PARTIES AND BETWEEN BANKING INSTITUTIONS. THE U.S.A., FOR DOMESTIC PURPOSES, IS OFF LIMITS TO OUR PROGRAM.

This is a typical “Khazarian-type” demand but since the Khazarian-type government is in established POWER AND CONTROL of the United States of America, we are bound to honor these demands. Thank you for understanding our position in this matter at the beginning of this PROGRAM.

Most people claim to serve GOD and then offer us proposals that only bring benefit FIRST unto themselves. MANY WILL COME—FEW WILL MAKE IT THROUGH THE SORTING.

This document is signed “under penalty of perjury” as true and accurate to the best of our knowledge. We have been asked that we insert this statement to meet the demands of legal counsel for the FED and that of the U.S. Treasury Dept.

Signed this day, October 11, 1999, Makati, Manila, Philippines.

TELEPHONE HOTLINE 661-822-0202

As an adjunct to CONTACT, the Telephone Hotline keeps you as informed as possible on current events and other important information that needs to get to our subscribers before our publishing date.

The message machine will answer after 2 rings if there are any new messages for that day, and after 4 rings if not. Thus daily callers can hang up after 2 rings and save toll charges if no new message has been recorded. If the Hotline does not answer your call, then there is currently no Hotline message.
