Avoiding Total Collapse Of World Financial Systems

11/7/99—#1

“WE CAN DO THAT!”

Hatonn—To E-E: We need a copy of the MASTER PLAN as soon as we can get it. We are going to need to be ready, willing and able to present it in pieces, or some other way that allows publicity without making a “revelation” or “Big Deal” of “our” participation. Beyond that, we need the local citizenry to do the presentations as regards their nation. “You” will continue a very low profile and meet with anyone who wishes to meet with you—right here at the hotel. You may, now, if it requires your help for Jovy in the interim account, go set up, structure and provide documents at banks. That also needs to be carefully handled. I prefer that E.J. go and structure the business conduits, and Dharma can follow on with necessary signatures. I DO NOT FEEL IT WISE, EXCEPT IN CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES, FOR MY THREE TOP PLAYERS TO BE TOGETHER IN VULNERABLE SITUATIONS (in public places, elsewhere than right here at the hotel—together). Let us not tempt the bad children. You can travel with Jovy, but I actually prefer you simply MEET with her and/or her people at destination point. It is the TRAVEL about the city that is dangerous.

Do “I” anticipate trouble? NO, but there are nutty players all over the greedy place. Check out Brucal! And yes, indeed, take back the big deed, and if you can work out the contract problems, fine, you can reissue—but only in $10 B units (or less). With people who break their own word and contract, we give them NO BIG anything. Once burned, a lesson learned—trying to make an end-run and rip off God is not acceptable. He has good plans laid forth but, when a partner will screw his own partner, his plans have no MORAL base upon which to build—so never mind, for there are other major resources. But, we always give a person a chance or two to clean up their act, if they ask. If they simply defend themselves with further and bigger lies—never mind. I give my own team players from over the years chance after chance, so that they are SURE THEY KNOW WHAT IS HAPPENING, and then we get them out of our face and our space. Remember, “Evil” will move away when they are caught in the LIGHT of focus. If there is “hope” of bringing responsible participants from the lessons, wonderful. If not, hurry them on their way. Someone else can use that near trillion $$$ and do so in total integrity—we need no usurpers in the circle.

You can play very loose—as to allowances in the “interim” loan department—for that has naught, really, to do with GAIA (Global). That becomes a personal transaction and is possibly worth more “give” than any of the regular transactions.

For instance, why would Brucal want to capture Global’s portion? It is going directly into gold, which is to stay in the funding BANK, so that there are equal matching funds becoming available all the while to assist in other projects AND HIS OWN (?). So, his intention to cheat YOU becomes as a direct cheating of the Philippine citizens. But, so much for that, you can do whatever is necessary through the legal counsel.

As we move on, we will acquire more legal counsel of our own, and keep Brad busy, as well, on just these types of interventions. And, yes, it can be handled right out of the U.S., with occasional oversight trips, which can also be most pleasurable. We never do business in such a manner as to be an antagonist—just keeping to the agreements—which, actually, can be restructured. However, trying to sabotage, or gain—as in cheating, lying or actual theft—is not acceptable. If YOU haven't learned THAT LESSON, Ekkers, then you have missed too much school. Then, if the games persist, you close the door, watch the windows and constantly counter any and everything coming after. You have been given prime examples, experiences of a most personal nature—TO ALLOW YOU TO LEARN, TRUST MY INPUT AND COUNTER EVERYTHING OF “WRONG” INTENT AND ACTION. This is not Ekkers' living quarters under theft attack here—it is God's Plan being usurped. THIS is housing for a world of people—not a decision as to where Ekkers might lay their heads. Ekkers can already choose from hundreds of places just to “visit around”, so the loss is in emotional hurt, not LACK. Even Brucal will do anything and everything to get you to stay, including a house in the best part of town. So, let us keep to the facts, require keeping of agreements, verbal or written—as regards the business interchanges—and when the other party breaks his word or proves his intent of ill-treatment—GET SEPARATE, ASAP. Any rotten fruit spoils the entire barrel. From the rotted fruit, you do not get good wine or brandy—you get spoiled vinegar (at best).

Does this example fit for small things? YES. Those people, for instance, who have staked a claim on my property, will be pulling up those stakes the minute I AM READY, and their loss shall be great, and I speak not of money. But it becomes clear, doesn't it, why there had to be a total purging of the Spectrum group? We could not allow a usurpation of CONTACT as to our valid input. As painful as it is in dealing with adversaries, it has to take its proper sequence of events to clean the house, so that all can SEE and KNOW truth. Those who refuse to see the lies are stuck in the liar's web—until they choose to break through. That most often comes too late to reclaim positions and acceptance. So be it, it is the way of living in LIFE. The severance must be total, if the object to be removed is malignant. Grieve if you will in your recognition and disappointment—but grow up, please.

How do you judge malignant vs. benign? WATCH! If an action or intent is malignant, the cells multiply, become ever worse and larger in their coalition and, ultimately, kill the host. A benign, mutated, cellular clump will be stopped in growth and recede as the body is put to right. And yes, now that the house is empty, the aviaries torn down, the birds in security and interim funding in progress—YOU HAVE TIME TO SEE THIS THROUGH. In fact, we need focus on our job—so you have a LOT OF TIME to work out those trivial annoyances. Those Spectrum groupies will turn upon themselves, as is already happening. And when Millers REALLY take a look at this horrendous mess, they may well get totally exasperated at what has been shoved off on them, through lies and total misinformation.

As for Mrs. Miller demanding retractions of things said about “Millers” in CONTACT? Well, fine, if that is what they want, but I would guess it is NOT what they REALLY want. We have been gracious and totally understanding of everything Millers have done, for we KNOW they did not have FACTS and got totally misled as to everything from legal process to false claims of abandonment. The ONLY WAY WE COULD RETRACT is to say that Millers, with malice of forethought, used evil tactics to deliberately damage, harm, hurt and defile Ekkers. NO, THEY DID NOT START OUT TO DO ANY SUCH THING. THEY ARE HONORABLE PEOPLE WHO GOT FED A BUNCH OF INFECTED HOGSWILL. What took place after the fact is that which is regrettable. They have, however, through their acquiescence, put themselves in the position of bearing the responsibility of all the [Spectrum] “crew”, which has swarmed like killer bees and poison locusts. These nasties have come to Millers with pious preachings and tales of woe and loss, which they brought unto selves. Then, among the “cult”, there are the innocent ones, i.e., the children—and the whining accusers, who push even harder. So be it, it will be handled within the LAW. I repeat: It will take its proper flow in events.

I want to bring to the attention, follow-up of the FBI, etc., for—as we bring an unfolding to public light of this amazing saga—it is important to recognition of purpose and responsibility, as befalls our own crew. And, I hope our crew is paying as close attention as is the Spectrum groupie.

How can you KNOW that God and Hosts are NOT WORKING WITH SPECTRUM OR WISDOM PUPPETS? ACTIONS! NEVER MIND THE WORDS IN PRESENTATION AND PIOUS OBJECTIONS. ACTIONS ARE THE KEYS! THEFT, UNDER PRETENSE AND COLOR OF LAW, AND FORCE, THROUGH FALSE REPRESENTATION, ARE NOT OF GOD, HOSTS OR ANY HONEST CITIZEN. IN FACT, THE ACTIONS OF THIS CULT HAVE PROVEN ILL-INTENT AND TOTAL DISREGARD OF THE POSITION OF EVEN THE POLICE. IF “YOU” CONDONE SUCH ACTIONS, THEN YOU ARE BLINDER THAN THE DEEPEST OCEAN CREATURE. SO BE IT.

FBI VISITATIONS

How interesting to note that Mr. Freeh came and went, and the world is still turning, and “only the Shadow knows” what and why of that amazing visit. A clue: Mr. Freeh and entourage went right on over to Singapore. Oh my, aren't we glad Global got there first? There is a lot going on as the miscreants are making every effort to “contain” this antibiotic against the PUPPET-MASTERS.

No, they are NOT going to sleep; they are trying to control and contain an out-of-control bulldozer. The powers-that-be now KNOW they cannot stop the reconstruction, so they need to have final threats, then agreements and some kind of working ORDER. The U.S. is in great danger, and the Power Elite are in the WORST DANGER. All factions are doing their investigations, and studying possibilities for survival and evolvement through this “white tide” come upon the globe. We will keep our agreements, and they now realize THAT IS THE ONLY WAY THIS MIGHTY TIDE CAN BE “CONTAINED” PEACEFULLY AND WITHOUT TOTAL COLLAPSE OF GLOBAL SYSTEMS. AM I DELIGHTED WITH THIS EVOLVEMENT? YES, I AM PLEASED AND HONORED, BY AND WITH MY TEAMS AND CREW. TO STAY THE COURSE IN THE ASSAULT, WAVE-AFTER-WAVE OF EVEN THOSE WHO PROCLAIMED SELVES AS GODLY PARTNERS, IS DIFFICULT, AND YET, THE REAL TEAM HAS PREVAILED IN THE MIDST OF THE SLINGS AND ARROWS OF ADVERSITY. WE CAN NOW STAND BACK AND SEE WHO AND HOW MANY WILL CHOOSE A BETTER ENDING TO THIS PLAY ONGOING.

How many of you want to see the END just because you have stated or accepted the stupidity of seers and projectors? How many are willing to say, “I was wrong”, to avert the disasters—even in personal ongoing expression? How many actually “believe” ANYTHING? When you anchor selves to the wind, you have no roots upon which to secure your KNOWING.

Does this indicate that the final slings-and-arrows are on course but the barrage now ceased? NO. Pay attention: It is the Adversary's JOB to continue the barrage and test the mettle of the people.

The kids of the Rainbow, for instance, tried everything they knew to, thus far, use against my people, especially my immediate team. They made a complaint to the Federal Government and Judicial system to try to get an indictment that, if issued, would cause the Ekkers to either not go home to attend the “house” assault, or be arrested, indicted and bound to virtual “house arrest” until the matters could be cleared. Oh, indeed, realizing that a total sham case was conjured, the case would be dropped, for there is NO CASE—but the “game” would stand a staggering blow.

The Rickies and Eddies of the game realized that without funds to do battle at the moment, and the Institute TIED UP ALREADY, Ekkers would surely LOSE “something” important. Well, they misjudged what “IMPORTANT” means to dedicated Hosts.

The major players, however, can now just turn tail and walk away, after they lose this game, and leave Millers to hold the snipe-bag. This is the “gang's” modus operandi. THEY ARE TAKERS AND USERS OF OTHER PEOPLE'S ASSETS AND PROPERTY—PROPRIETARY AND OTHERWISE. They will, if not held responsible, simply “run away”, AS USUAL. What do I suggest to crew? Counter-watch them digging their holes deeper and deeper and, when they are all in that pit, we shall see. Note that Rickie has already run and hid. He is simply not at the house as much as he was when he seemed to assume total control of the game? He really doesn't write much more for “Sananda”, either, does he? When you are RIGHT, people, you just move right on ahead in that truth. So, it takes time for sequence to reveal TRUTH, when buried as deeply as this activity of the Spectrum gang has been stashed, in an effort to cover truth at seemingly “all costs”—TO SOMEONE ELSE, OF COURSE.

What is still the most damaging of all actions taking place is that the takers ARE STILL BRINGING THEIR CHILDREN TO THE CRIME SCENE. WHAT KIND OF A WORLD ARE YOU REALLY AFTER, PEOPLE? IS THIS THE WAY YOU TEACH A CHILD HONOR, TRUTH, INTEGRITY AND RIGHT BEHAVIOR? WHEN THE PARENT(S) PRESENT THE EXAMPLE IN ACTION, LANGUAGE AND PROJECTIONS, WHAT IS THE CHILD TO DO? THE CHILD KNOWS THE ACTIONS ARE WRONG, BUT HE MUST ACCEPT THE EXAMPLE, AS “IS”. THIS IS WHERE RESPECT FOR THE PARENT IS LOST FOREVER. MOREOVER, IN MY OBSERVATION—SUCH PARENTS DESERVE NO HONOR.

I will give you miscreants of Spectrum one of the final observations, which you might well recognize: The Feds are WITH the Ekkers, not you foolish pretenders. They have asked that Ekkers be allowed to stay put and work out the conduit for this Global program, and they have agreed and extracted agreements from the very administration and legal authorities—TO PROTECT EKKERS AND MAKE THE WAY EASY AND WORKABLE, AND THEY WOULD, IN TURN, REAP MUCH AND LARGE REWARD FOR THAT AGREEMENT. SO, TEAM, CERTAINLY THAT SEEMS MORE POSITIVE THAN MOST THINGS IN THESE DAYS OF “LOSS”.

Know: It is very important when they send the TOP law honcho to attend security and secretly give validation to our program and products! The same “honchos” then went to Singapore, and I believe the feedback from there (and the places unannounced publicly) will begin to be responsive. An ASEAN program is underway and it takes proper attention, as well as proper agreements, so PLEASE BE PATIENT. WE ARE NOT GOING TO BREAK “THE BANK AT MONTE CARLO”, I BELIEVE IS THE OLD “SAYING”.

WE ARE NOT GOING TO “BREAK” ANYTHING. WE ARE ATTEMPTING TO BRING “REPAIRS” TO THE SYSTEMS—NOT CRUSH THE BROKEN CUP BECAUSE OF A BROKEN HANDLE.

For Ekkers: The agreement is to continue your presence, in security and “silence”. Each individual nation must do their own “thing” and we stay out of it, except for availability for processing—WITH NO INTERFERENCE OR PARTICIPATION, EXCEPT THROUGH OFFERINGS AND INFORMATION, IN ANY COUNTRY, GOVERNMENT OR BANKING SYSTEM.

Can this be accomplished? Of course, that part of the game is already accomplished.

Should Rick be upset with himself? Well, I would guess so! However, he chose the wrong way to have his tantrums and act upon his anger. The FBI will, however, be looking into the entire Spectrum clan and, yes, will probably be bringing down their own indictments for the things having taken place on television, the farm, the property and the actions and thefts at CONTACT. They have all the information—AND NO, EKKERS HAVE NOT MET WITH ANYONE.

NEW HAPPENING AT NCH

OK, it just keeps on stacking up, Cort. Last night around midnight the Mayor of Bataan (and Corregidor) called Ekkers in Manila—so frantic that he just poured out, without hearing anything, for some ten minutes. HE WAS IN LAS VEGAS! He was frantic to get information from “THE AGENT” about the corporation (GAIA) and was given NOTHING as to information, where to reach Ekker, where to go—just a NOTHING encounter.

E.J. covered one more time, but this is “it”. No more! E.J. finally got through to the man TO LISTEN and told him that we were now reachable in Manila, exactly where WE LAST MET WITH HIM. It had come evening on Friday before he could get organized enough to call the state records department. This man had, in tow, FUNDERS for one of the largest single projects in the Philippines—EVER. And, they can’t find our corporation? Is this suitable, readers?

Now, I ask, just WHO should be in touch with the Better Business Bureau, the Secretary of State of Nevada and the Feds? Cort still has a case on record against the Ekkers, while it is he who issued all the stock to himself in a corporation the Institute set up financially—and I, frankly, do not know how much blood Cort can spare to the PARASITES WITHIN HIS HOUSE. You want to distance from the Ekkers? Well, I suggest that you JUST ACCOMPLISHED THAT. However, that will not happen until convenient, with the corporations in good order and THIS MATTER CONFRONTED AND WORKED THROUGH. A CORPORATION AGENCY IS NOT FOR DECIDING WHO MIGHT HAVE “TAINTED TANTRUMS” OR “BASKET-CASE BLUES”. A BUSINESS MUST DO GOOD, HONORABLE AND EFFICIENT BUSINESS. WE ARE NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR YOUR, OR ANYONE’S, CHOICES—BUT WE HOLD YOU RESPONSIBLE FOR BUSINESS AFFAIRS—WHEN THE INSTITUTE “SHOULD HAVE” OWNED HALF, AT LEAST, OF THAT STOCK IN NCH!

Manny is back in the States ALSO, trying to sort corporation matters. He is a bit irritated, in that his corporate records were taken back to the U.S. by Ekkers for safekeeping. Isn’t that equally funny, NOW—among the MISSING corporate books was his. Two showed up “back” in things put OUTSIDE the house for pickup—TWO, only two: the Moore Foundation AND THE GADI FOUNDATION. Still want to argue over “who has taken the records from that office and that house?” Now, Gadi has neither recognition at NCH NOR HIS RECORDS. WORSE, some of you still just tag along after the Bopsie Trio. AND, NO, THAT TRIAD DOES NOT EVEN HONOR BILGER NOR NOREY.

We will be now forced to get that corporation shifted to another agent, when convenient, but to go on and now get registered, etc. in the Philippines, thus costing the interchange potential with the offices in Nevada.

Does this mean we will give up business and corporations in Nevada? No, it means that, as soon as convenient, the business will be moved and, because of these things, with a public statement.

The NCH operation was structured and financed at upstart to ENSURE that no corporation coming through us or on our advice and advertising would ever lapse, become delinquent or be defaulted. Monthly payments were made regularly while NCH was building a base and growing. Now, in response to that, we find our corporations, many of them, delinquent, lapsed, ignored and abandoned. AND, a $40,000 civil suit is pending against Ekkers.

This may well appear to be “just good business” but, somehow, it doesn’t really seem that way to me and certainly not to Ekkers.

Cort was THE one with the house details, and it seems he dropped his position in that long ago. That is fine, and through the actions flying around, the Church in point fell into security by total “accident”.

When Cort asked how he could help straighten out the house/property matter with Millers, he was told to please just take care of it until it could be worked out. No, obviously not even that was secured. The Cort-NCH suit is still pending but not pressed forward (that is Cort’s decision), but it will precipitate, now, a counter-suit—which is a demand of LAW. Well, do what you will, because we expect those corporations in limbo to be qualified, brought up to current status and either held or transferred—BY NCH, like immediately. No, it is not alright to just send lists to Tehachapi. The funds paid in to NCH over the many years are sufficient to cover the costs of these immediate business transfers. I suggest that the damages incurred in this past year will more than balance out any expenses involved. I also suggest that back pay for wrongful dismissal (to Ron K.) also be considered—right at the top of the list of “make it right” activities—like immediately. Everyone is left to their free choices in any matter, poor or otherwise. However, know that the legal controversies were not started here, and all it requires for legal proceedings now is a power-of-attorney or an attorney representing the corporations and their officers or directors. I frankly don’t know if Ron K. will even be gracious enough to consider a “settlement”.

I have further TERRIBLE news for you, Cort, the Bopsies have stolen, from the offices, several corporations and their books. A list will be forthcoming—when our team has time—for replacements. You might rest assured that some of those corporations are those which already have caused so much prior trouble—as to theft of the records. Humm humm, how do you want to go from this point? So, will the naughty band of criminals just go along to spare you the embarrassment, Cort, and bring them back with their dingies dangling? Crooks don’t usually play fair, especially with good people. To protect their asses, Son, they will hang you from the highest yardarm they can find, rather than admit their crimes.

And COULD anyone on the “Ekker team” have moved those books? DEAR SIR: NONE OF EKKERS’ PEOPLE HAVE BEEN ALLOWED INSIDE THAT HOUSE AGAIN, AND THE RECORDS WERE LEFT AS A PICKUP FOR USE AND NON-SEPARATION FROM OFFICE FILES. ALL RECORDS LEFT FOR THAT PURPOSE, FOR SEPARATE HANDLING, THAT VERY AFTERNOON OF THE LOCKS AND COPS, ARE GONE—ALONG WITH HEAVY TILLING EQUIPMENT, ETC. SO, NCH, WE EXPECT THIS TO BE RIGHTED AND UPDATING, REGISTRATION AND TRANSFERS BROUGHT CURRENT AND THE CORPORATIONS ALL TRANSFERRED AND PAID FOR. WE WILL SETTLE LATER.

The Mayor will head on back here to Manila after he gets the information HE HAS TO HAVE, NOW, FROM THE STATE, so he can conclude business. He said he would be back in Manila to meet with us in the first or second week of December. SO, MARGIE, DON’T PLAN THANKSGIVING FOR EKKERS, FOR THIS IS FAR MORE IMPORTANT THAN ANYTHING GOING “THERE” ANY LONGER. WE CAN GET OUR LUCKY-POTS TOGETHER LATER. WE WILL ENJOY A CELEBRATION A LOT MORE THAN A WAKE FOR THE MISCREANTS.

SO TO THE FBI

I don’t need to offer more on the FBI, except to refer to Mr. Soliven’s column-of-the-day.

This is the most SECRET meeting ever held and so speculation is the only thing left for reporters and editors. It is interesting to see what is offered. Max V. Soliven will be our public “mouth” as we allow Global to become public. He is an honorable man, and through that honor we can maintain our privacy and security. But you who know what is taking place will enjoy the discourse.

I also want you to note that the FBI had just come directly from JAPAN (ONE OF OUR BIGGEST CONSIDERATIONS) to Manila. Ah, always, the plots thicken, don't they? Well, enjoy, because GOOD AND HONORABLE CAN TAKE PLACE, EVEN IN THIS DAY OF ALL-BUT-TOTAL CORRUPTION.

[QUOTING from "BY THE WAY", by Max V. Soliven, Publisher and Chairman of the Board, THE PHILIPPINE STAR, Sunday, November 7, 1999:]

DID GOD SAVE THE QUEEN, OR WERE THEY JUST SCARED OF THE DARNED POLITICIANS?

The Top Guns of the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation came—and went. To our knowledge, they didn't take any "unwilling" passenger with them when they flew off to their next and final stop (before returning to Washington, DC), which is Singapore. [H: Well, it isn't even their FINAL stop on this little trip around Southeast Asia and China.]

FBI Director Louis J. Freeh, accompanied by American Ambassador Tom Hubbard and backstopped by his ranking FBI assistant and deputy directors and senior G-men, met with President Erap and his senior Cabinet officials about noon in Malacanang.

After the major part of the discussion, FREEH AND HUBBARD ASKED FOR A FEW MINUTES "ONE ON ONE" WITH THE PRESIDENT—but you already can guess what was discussed in that huddle. There are no secrets in this country. [H: Oh, surprises are in store for you, Max.]

The main talking points, on the other hand, centered on the major concerns of the Americans worldwide—predominantly the threat of international "terrorism", especially the infiltration of Mindanao by the Number One Terrorist in the U.S. hate parade, Saudi Arabian billionaire now operating from Taleban-controlled Afghanistan, Osama bin Laden.

Bin Laden, who's blamed for the terrible bombings of the American embassies in Kenya and Tanzania where hundreds died, has been reportedly supporting the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF) in Mindanao and other "activities" in the U.S. itself.

The second subject vital to the visiting Feds was the multibillion-dollar drug trade between Asia and the U.S. Given special mention in the talk with President Estrada was the P1-billion drug bust successfully carried out in Pangasinan two days ago, with the Presidential Anti-Organized Crime Police Task Force (PAOCTF) operatives of General Panfilo "Ping" Lacson swooping down on a drug "operation" there involving a huge cache of shabu (chemical "ice"). The raid had been based on a tip-off by Jeff Wandling, the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) agent here.

It turns out that the FBI team arrived, not directly from Washington, DC but from a similar meeting in Tokyo (Japan). The high-powered group is traveling, as is FBI practice, on the agency's own executive jet assigned to the FBI boss himself...

[END OF QUOTING]

Enough for now because we have people lined up to see, and a stack of documents to process. Superhuman tasks? YES.

Your Beliefs Are Who You Are

11/6/99—#1

GOD, LIKE ALL THINGS, IS WHAT YOU PERCEIVE IT TO BE

Hatonn—It? Him? Her? You CANNOT separate one from the other, and you do not have to reach or stoop to find God's gifts. God's gifts are right in front of you, if you but accept.

E.B. Meyer wrote a little "gift" of verse: "I used to think that God's gifts were shelves—one above the other—and the taller we grow, the easier we can reach them. Now I find that God's gifts are on shelves—one beneath another, and the lower we stoop, the more we get."

God's gifts, students, are EVERYWHERE, on EVERY shelf—IN EVERY THING.

When we speak of any thing, we speak of all things. When you think of a (let's find something totally mundane) potato chip—you are thinking of God, for I don't think ANY of you can make a potato. All you can do, actually, is alter its visible presentation—God creates the potato. You can make synthetics and genetic alterations, but YOU cannot create a basic potato.

For THIS reason, however, you ARE ALSO CREATOR! For all of the things of the Universe are within you and your "space".

The facts are that—as you realize your potential, which is 100% PURE POTENTIAL, "IS"—you will begin to create that which brings positive manifestation, for you are accepting God Creator as resource. Those who do not accept God Creator as total resource will tinker around with lies and counterfeits, stagnate or actually bring negative and tampered product. Why? God provides for HIS GOODNESS—HE ALLOWS that which is otherwise.

You—EACH AND ALL—actually KNOW what is "right" and that which is "wrong" or negative. You can only PLAY with that which is all else, or go directly to the right or to the wrong—your choice!

Unfortunately, to a man who attends ego while setting aside that which is creative manifestation, the negatives pile up and become mountains. Then, as one false premise is covered, it requires another and another lie. YOU CANNOT "COVER" A LIE WITH TRUTH, FOR THE FOUNDATION UPON WHICH THE TRUTH IS BUILT IS UNSOUND. You can do that which you choose, but foolishness does not wisdom make. Certainly you cannot long cover TRUTH with lies, for the foundation is TOO STURDY TO BE FOREVER HIDDEN, WHILE THE LIE IS BUT A PASSING FANTASY.

God, nor I, make enemies. People TRY and ATTEMPT to make enemies of God, through self. You can't do that, friends, for it just isn't so. You only set self aside, while GOD allows.

GOD BLESSES THAT WHICH IS POSITIVE, HARMONIOUS, BALANCED AND "RIGHT". HE "ALLOWS" THAT WHICH IS OTHERWISE

BECAUSE THE "JOURNEY" IS OF THE INDIVIDUAL EXPRESSION.

Can the presenters of negative actions and thoughts, i.e., lying, cheating, stealing and bearing false witness, regain "goodness"? Of course. However, once begun on a "play" of, say, destruction of another or whatever might be the intent, unless the revolution away from the negative actions and thoughts becomes accomplished, the plot thickens and the experiencing entity mires self deeper into the entanglement and PERCEIVES no way out. So, the perception is then that, somehow, by compounding the negative circumstances that goals can be obtained through their own "self" righteousness. Self-righteousness is not righteousness; it is EGO enslavement OF the entity in point.

These are "GENERIC" experiences and we need put no "BRAND-NAME" labels on them. However, if there are manifest scenarios taking place with "Brand Names", then reality of recognition is the best teaching tool, for there is NOTHING like "experience" to teach and from which to LEARN.

ALL

All have been! All things experienced. Everything has been "programmed" to present as ANYTHING you choose. If, however, you impact another with your FALSE impressions and wishes—the STRONGER energy of LIGHT will ultimately prevail. You must understand: That which leads to goodness, balance, harmony and justice ultimately bears more POWER—not force; POWER. Good will ALWAYS overcome evil—if the goodly persist and choose to NOT allow the ending of the play to be negative, corrupt, destructive or even "unbalanced".

Let us say you take a Magic attitude and you hate someone, want to manipulate someone or get something for self. So, go with voodoo and, for example, make a likeness in a doll or a piece of stick, which you call by the name of whomever you have chosen to bring pain or demise. Now, you get a bunch of hatpins, or simple sewing pins or other sticks, and you poke that doll full of holes. What have you done? NOTHING SAVE WASTE YOUR TIME AND ENERGY. These "tricks" only work if the receiving party also BELIEVES they work. A person within the Light of Creator has no time or attention for such foolishness. When the vulnerability holes are closed, there is no way you can even TOUCH that which is within. You can flap your doll in the wind, bury it, shoot it, smash it, or steal, lie, cheat and smother—but you have only damaged SELF—not your intended target. But, in doing those things, you have discredited, damaged and broken SELF, for you have proven your unreadiness for positive participation in the higher cause of development of POSITIVE CREATION.

When you practice self-centered focus, you negate the ability to live and produce positively within the evolving WHOLE, which IS FOCUSED ON POSITIVE

CHANGE AND GROWTH IN EQUALITY AND JUSTICE.

Yes, indeed, this must be done with Creative MIND, but it must be manifest through physical presentation of THINGS WHICH are already manifest.

The bottom line, readers, is that THOUGHT IS ALL THERE IS, AND WHERE YOUR THOUGHTS ARE IS WHERE YOU ARE!

How many of you count, and how often do you count those wondrous blessings and gifts—BEFORE YOU COUNT THOSE WHICH YOU PERCEIVE YOU DO NOT HAVE. Then consider this: Do you now turn to BLAME ANOTHER for that which you do not have, try to take it from them and snatch what you can FROM another? Every individual is BORN with equal opportunity-potential. So, how come some can topple to the bottom of the “have” stack, get up and reproduce that which is necessary, honorably, and move on—while the takers steal the crumbs? They steal from those who have WHAT THEY FEEL THEY LACK, for they have no perception of being able to Create their own.

Should the ones being TAKEN FROM simply pat the takers on the head and say “well done”? NO! If you take God’s cooperative GIFTS—as to be so unimportant as to allow such actions—you have failed to appreciate the very things of which LIFE is made.

If, however, the genuinely needy person is hungry, and you can, but fail, to feed him—you are in error, for if you cannot GIVE and REGIVE, you have limited your own ability to RECEIVE. And, people, GOD DUMPS NOT ON YOU—GOOD OR BAD. WHETHER YOU HAVE WONDROUS GIFTS OR ONLY NEGATIVE CIRCUMSTANCE, YOU HAVE EARNED IT. EITHER WAY—YOU HAVE EARNED IT. THERE IS A POSITIVE PATH AND A NEGATIVE PATH—YOU CAN TRAVEL BOTH WAYS THEREON BUT NOT AT THE SAME TIME.

You CANNOT, however, travel BOTH roads at once. If you bring your negative THOUGHTS AND ACTIONS onto the Positive passageway—you cannot endure, and you will be lagging to the point of actually running headlong in the opposing direction as fast as your misperceptions and foolishness will take you. YOU CAN DO EITHER—YOU CANNOT DO BOTH. To “pretend” only compounds the error.

Therefore, to the BIG question all are prone to ask: Which are the lessons given—negative or positive? ALL LESSONS ARE, AND CAN BE, ONLY POSITIVE. IT IS UP TO YOU, HOWEVER, WHAT YOU LEARN.

Even TRUTH is all there is; a lie must be manufactured. Just as a flower IS, a piece of metal IS, a rock IS—so, too, is TRUTH.

You can make a bouquet of flowers, an ornament of metal or a wall compiled of rocks—but you have changed nothing of the flower, the metal or the rock. Neither can you change TRUTH, nor can you change a lesson from being POSITIVE.

The one CERTAIN thing about “life” is change. So, when you perceive something, that is ALL there is to it. YOU PERCEIVE. The same lesson holds for what is “right” and “wrong”—only YOU can choose your own perception in thinking. However, when you KNOW something is “wrong”, you are a fool to PRETEND and LIE that it is somehow “right”! You may fool others—but you do not REALLY fool self.

I can remind you, however, that your “belief” about this thing called “right” or “wrong” is that which DEFINES Who You Are. But while you are at believing and defining—don’t set yourself up as some judge about others defining themselves according TO YOUR TERMS. You can halt the very progress of your own evolution through your unbending attitudes and self-righteous “beliefs”, structured by your own EGO DEMANDS.

ENLIGHTENMENT CAN ONLY FLOW THROUGH THE WILLINGNESS AND ABILITY TO RECEIVE, ACCEPT AND MOVE WITH CHANGE. This is why you cannot ever, in TRUTH, take that which gives discomfort within “feeling self”—as to a manifest circumstance or action, or even thought—and consider it to be “doing something right” or growing in Light. You are dealing with conscience—its very purpose is to guide SOUL truth, rightness, balance, harmony, love and TRUTH, TRUTH, TRUTH. You can “put down” those feelings momentarily and preach whole sermons about whatever it is in focus—BUT THE NAGGING TRUTH PUT DOWN—WILL PUSH, PULL AND STAGGER UNTIL IT BREAKS FREE OF THE LIE.

Please, beloved ones, don’t get comfortable in your “beliefs”, because life begins at the end of your comfort zone. For instance, never be closed to realizations. Let us example this by considering religions. Religions are of MAN’s devising. “Spiritual” truth is soul connection with Creator. You not only do NOT “need” brokers—you cannot have a true connection with these things of “man” blocking the way. You can experience “religion” and never lose an iota of Spiritual truth. To sing a Baptist hymn does not make you a Baptist. To burn incense makes you neither a Catholic nor a New-Age Whiz-kid. YOUR THOUGHTS ARE THE MEASURE. Experience is what learning is all about, chelas. Let us see as a child who experiences the garden in bloom. Oh my, the wondrous array of beautiful flowers is overwhelming. So, it chooses a rose—but the thorn sticks him. Is the rose less beautiful? Yes, to the child, immediately less beautiful or desirable. Next he turns to the daisy, and it neither bites him nor hurts him. Oh, but there is a most beautiful flower open to the Sun and he grabs it—only to find it to be a thistle, and it stings and pricks him. As the child grows, however, he will learn to enjoy the flower of the thistle with utmost care, the daisy for its beauty, and he will learn that the rose is wondrous, for he will simply not grab the thorns. All the lessons in the Botany class will not teach as well as those few seconds of experience.

This, however, is the very definition of the various ages of man. Man MUST mature, or he is but an experiencing child—all his physical life. Being of majority age does not a mature-adult make. Further, it is always the “backward” child that fails to grow in Truth. Immaturity is the result of failing to grow and hence why all the foolish games of childish ego-demands.

A person, in and of himself, CANNOT be evil, as a BIG FOR INSTANCE. Only Intent and Action can be “toward evil” or “toward good”—BUT THOSE WILL BE ONE WAY OR THE OTHER; FOR, AGAIN, YOU CANNOT literally experience both at the same instant, although you may well BE both in “beingness” AT THE SAME TIME. This might be a bit contradictory to some of you—until you THINK about it. And, again, whatever “it” is, it is PERCEPTION—depending on whether you are experiencing or perceiving.

The next comment might well be: “But the intentions were good, and while heading for the good an accident happened and...”. No, there are NO accidents.

Sorry about that—no accidents. IF YOUR GOAL IN TRUTH IS SET—YOU WILL HAVE NO ACCIDENTS IN GETTING THERE. Happenings may impact you and CHOICES will confront you—BUT NO ACCIDENTS. YOU ARE WHAT YOU THINK. YOU BECOME WHAT YOU ARE. THERE IS NO TIME AND SPACE, SAVE THE MOMENT OF NOW! SO I REPEAT: YOU ARE WHAT YOU ARE AND YOU HAVE CREATED SELF TO BE EXACTLY WHAT YOU PRESENT.

If you ask me what I determine about someone, as to good or evil, I HAVE NO RESPONSE. Tell me, in truth, what the being has DONE, and I shall have an opinion regarding the ACTION. There are major categories of accepted guidelines as to what is right or wrong, bad or good. Right actions always make things good for ALL; wrong actions always hurt some “other”.

What is among the most defining and descriptive focus that might be an example of a “wrong-doer” who sets forth to hurt another? ANONYMITY THAT COVERS IDENTITY. IT NEVER DOES COVER IDENTITY, BUT IT IS A COWARDLY WAY TO DO THINGS, IN THE “DARK”, TO COVER THE “WRONG” ACTION. Failure to identify self is the first measure of probable intent to WRONG. Why? For the person involved in the “action” does NOT want to be recognized. One who is doing a truly GOOD DEED and wishes no notice unto self will remain anonymous, but not because he has done something needing atonement or in hiding from the act. He is putting aside the act of demanding homage from another. The wrong-doer simply has intention and hope of HIDING FROM HIS DEEDS, WHILE HOPING ANOTHER IS BLAMED OR THAT HE, AT THE LEAST, CAN ESCAPE RECOGNITION.

There are reasons why a person may wish to remain anonymous, but 99.99% of the time the reason is to HIDE, while producing a WRONG.

I would ask you, just to turn the questions around a bit: “Why is it so important that, say, a homosexual demand attention and acceptance, and ‘MARCH’ for rights—usually in costume, to conceal IDENTITY?” Right or wrong has NOTHING to do with the state of sexual preference. What if all the heterosexuals MARCHED? The facts are: WHO CARES? Go live your life as you see fit and—if you live it in RESPONSIBILITY FOR ALL ACTIONS—you will allow each to be! And “hate” crimes? What are “hate crimes”? ALL CRIMES ARE HATE CRIMES. THERE ARE LAWS UPON LAWS AGAINST ALL SORTS OF CRIME. Just as you can have a “wrong”—and if you add some more “wrongs”, you still have NOT developed a RIGHT. This is the same with a lie or a thousand lies—ALL TOGETHER THEY MAKE NO IOTA OF TRUTH. Also, know, that you can “think” as many lies as you wish—but it is the action resulting from those thoughts of lies that is the deciding factor in the court. God well KNOWS the INTENT of inner thought—but man can only surmise, and observe actions and behavior. What actions do YOU hide, if at all possible? What do you do in darkness to keep from being seen or found-out? Sometimes it helps to have a question of this nature to someone observing your actions and charade. Notice how the debate and argument will go, as the excuses for such “dark” actions pour forth in DEFENSE of self FOR SUCH ACTIONS.

Let us consider Dr. Carlson and his confrontation, and perceived loss, to the injudicial system.

Did Ron Carlson truly expect to “get away with his stand"? NO, he HOPED that he could prevail in reason and justice. However, he CHOSE to take a stand and, in so doing, that very act is not for the faint of heart. Was it a WISE action? Was it a dumb action? No, it was an ACTION—which can now be utilized through his seeming “loss” (of freedom) to accomplish what could not otherwise be accomplished—for the rest of you to grow and, perhaps, demand a better way. AND, the ones who stand against that “faintness of heart”, take the heat for the kitchen staff, allowing all manners of growth for the rest of us. This is why we regroup and put whatever talents available into the soup pot—and work to bring justice out of the injustice.

Many choices are made and acted upon which set into motion that which ultimately can't be reversed, as in “I wish I hadn't done that...”. But again, these are the things that DEFINE A MAN. And what we do in response to his actions DEFINES US AS BEINGS.

Do not lollygag around scratching your backsides, while also meekly saying “I don't have anything to offer...”. Yes, you do. Another ill-chosen attitude in instances like this is “money is not important”. Are you a fool? MONEY IS THAT WHICH ALLOWS YOU TO CONFRONT THE VERY EVIL ACT PERPETRATED. This is neither good nor bad, it is a very simple FACT OF LIFE.

Now, for the more difficult point: ASSUMING UNLIMITED—WHAT WILL YOU DO? My recommendation is to be unlimited and MOVE ahead. You are of Creation/Creator—YOU ARE UNLIMITED. Money is a concept and has no intrinsic value. Worse, it has NO VALUE at all in this age of worthless paper. So, when your perception moves into factual KNOWING—you have no shortage of anything, except ideas. ALL is available, so together, as ONE, you have it all. This is why, however, it is debilitating to have ones offer, take time and, especially, take energy—and then drop out. You must move on, and another energy must step forward, run the risk, take the harness and balance the team.

It is not responsible, however, to demand that the one who creates the wherewithal ALSO has to bear the responsibility of taking the whole of the burden. When one is unlimited and realizes the lack of limitation—then ALL are unlimited. Think about it and, meanwhile, also think about how to solve the dilemma confronting such as Ron Carlson. We will create that which we choose, and it is extremely important that we do it as individuals—UNITED to one purpose. If Ron's FREEDOM is the goal—we shall gain his freedom, FOR NO DESTROYER CAN STAND AGAINST THE CREATION. Would God allow time to our own tiny, individual needs in learning? Of course, what else is there?

I like to think of us as being “Creationists”. I don't buy into that religious argument about how we came to BE. THE very secret of the UNIVERSE is that we are Creationists/Creators. All else is a total illusion—and not such a good illusion, at that.

In discernment, it is necessary to consider whether or not an “action” is based on a LIE or fabrication of some kind, even in ignorance—or is it based on actual, FACTUAL TRUTH? Note that the people usually follow the loudest mouth, more especially if they can be convinced that they, themselves, have somehow possibly been wronged. Would it not pay to GET TRUTH first? Well, people don't usually act in such wise manner—they just follow the one who CLAIMS to know. This is political rot, citizens, and the consequences of refusing to look at and demand TRUTH—this is what has landed you on a very slippery deck with bare feet.

Does, for instance, a serial murderer KNOW he is doing “wrong” things? Of course, that is why he tries to not leave clues to his identity, why he hides the body of his victim and, generally, HIDES both himself and, certainly, his actions. If a person knows not that he has done a wrong, he has not the inclination to hide from the deed. Even a child learns this almost from birth, even though his perceptions may not be correct. Therefore, humans become products of the lies offered through misteachings. “Wrong” is what is pronounced as “wrong”. But “wrong” to soul and “wrong” to experiencing individuals ARE NOT THE SAME. Let me see if I can restate this more clearly: We innately KNOW what is acceptable to God—as in “right” or “wrong”—so, being One with God, we must understand that negative “wrongs” are wrongs against ourselves and, therefore, against God and, thusly, this gives a guideline for behavior that brings happiness or unhappiness within soul. A “wrong” under the laws or regulations of man might well not even be remotely wrong—but you are stuck in human format—to abide by those laws—or else. BY THE WAY: GOD NEVER FORCES YOU TO BE OR DO ANYTHING—MAN USES FORCE.

To “get” something from another doesn't mean a thing. When you grow beyond the NEED to have the “thing”, that is when victory and growth have been achieved. And KNOW, when you have grown beyond that “need”, you have moved into total FREEDOM. Let us consider a hunter who finally shoots an elephant, and he stands with his killing machine held high and his foot upon the elephant's lifeless head. What has the idiot accomplished? NOTHING, save further limitations on self—FOR LIFE IS GOD. And what, for instance, can you DO with a dead elephant? You think you have bravely faced the king of animals and bested him? No, you have simply PROVEN your own LACK and WEAKNESS, for you did not meet the animal one-to-one—you cheated. Cheating weakens, integrity strengthens.

The facts are, simply, that man is given, in the human form: FREE-WILL CHOICE. And in the end of experience—called physical casting-off of the body—you judge self in the presence of God (who keeps it objective) and move right on within another experience. YOU CANNOT DIE, so face it, you don't even greatly change experiences—only expression of self. You can, however, make THAT experience anything you choose, in unlimited form.

I don't need to belabor this conversation but I would like to share a thoughtful statement from my son, Afrikadzata Deku.

[QUOTING:]

THE LAW OF SOWING AND REAPING

What we think is what we are. What we are is what we have. What we have is what we deserve. To have what we deserve we must be able to SOW only that which we want to harvest.

What we are is what we sow. What we think, what we say, what we do is what we sow daily in our land of our Mental World.

For the fruit to grow, the seedling must be healthy. For the seedling to grow into the plant we want, it must be the right one for the right result we want.

Think love and you will reap love. Think fear and you will have fear limiting you all way round.

Act Forgiveness for Forgiveness to be your friend for life.

[H: Ah, but how arrogant to “forgive” that which has not been petitioned for forgiveness. “Forgiveness” is possibly one of the most MISUNDERSTOOD conditions in “living”.]

Talk sincerity and honesty and you will find open doors wherever the Spirit leads. For every action there is a reaction. For every day of Sunshine there is a time of rainfall.

Thinking is sowing and sowing is harvesting.

Every act of ours is planting something.

Every thought of ours is an act of Creation.

Our lives are the products of our belief, shaped by the degree of our consciousness or ignorance of our Divinity and oneness with OUR Creator as the only source of our supplies. Heaven or hell, joy or pain is always for us for the asking, whenever and wherever we reap what we sow through Words, Thoughts and Deeds.

There is no LIFE without its joy and pain. There is no LIFE without its law of birth and decay, no LIFE without its pain of growing, no LIFE without its excitement of maturing, no LIFE without its bliss of refining, and there is no LIFE without its Law of Trial, Error and Lessons.

We are the same Energy we call the Sun. We are the same Energy called the Ocean. We are the same POWER that makes all for all. Man and Nature are One.

Cooperation in harmony with Nature and not HER domination and exploitation should be the KEY to Man's self-redemption and peace.

Every peak of our lives is ours only if we share it with Joy with Others. Sharing is multiplying and hoarding is decay. Every Valley in our journey to Maturity is to be Mastered for oneness with God, if we are to shine for our inevitable victory over the Forces of Darkness in and around us.

There is no harvesting without planting. What we Sow is what we Reap.

To learn and apply the lessons of the Divine Law of Cause and Effect in our lives is to live and die WISE in the Kingdom of Fools.

[END OF QUOTING]

ALL “THINGS” are for your use, whether you use them wisely or in foolishness. Be what you will—the wise man or the fool—for it is your choice.

SACRED POWER COMES FROM WITHIN.

If you perceive VICTORY as taking something from another, you have no victory. What you steal from another can only BE YOUR LOSS, NOT YOUR GAIN.

Therefore, to Dharma and all beyond this keyboard: Be careful what you consider to be “loss”, for most often when you stop, still self and consider all circumstances—there CAN BE NO LOSS!

ONLY A FOOL STANDS OVER A DEAD ELEPHANT AND PROCLAIMS HIMSELF A WINNER. ONLY A TOTAL FOOL COULD POSSIBLY BE SO STUPID. THAT WHICH IS NOT YOURS CAN NEVER BE YOURS, WITHOUT THE GIVING OF IT FROM THE ONE WHO HOLDS IT TRULY. IN THIS VERY WAY, YOU CANNOT TAKE EKKERS' HOME—YOU CAN ONLY, THROUGH FORCE AND MANIPULATION, AT MOST, TAKE A BUILDING. “HOME” IS NOT A BUILDING. LIFE IS NOT “ONE” EXPERIENCE.

In operatic circles, the saying goes: It is not over until the fat lady sings. I WOULD REMIND YOU THAT THE FAT LADY HAS NOT EVEN YET BEGUN HER SONG!

You Are In This World But You Are Not Of It

MISPERCEPTIONS

Hatomn—To the CONTACT crew and staff: I am most grateful that you are moving right along with the paper, CONTACT, in that you are supplying confirmation and backup to that which we present and allowing it to be seen that we, indeed, DO know what we are doing in physical action, even if the task be seemingly endless and tedious. MAJOR happenings are sweeping the lands and—as John pulls out the relevant articles while the slack is being taken up by other things—it allows us to share and move on in areas where YOU, yes YOU, are asking input. This ranges from Spiritual Truth, Daily Guidance to “what’s the price of gold?” And, of course, “show me the money”! The other contributors are, as well, offering extremely helpful and diversified input that makes a “paper” a GREAT PAPER. With each production of that paper, CONTACT, the movement toward wondrous harvest of our own foreign mission moves ahead exponentially. A man, a country, a society (all are but individuals) must first understand, and to reach through, there must be the teaching and presentations FOR THAT UNDERSTANDING. We are humbly grateful for your having taken the responsibility and kept that conduit open and growing.

It is often considered as to why politicians, for example, always lie, cheat and steal. THEY DO NOT KNOW TRUTH. TRUTH IS NOT WITHIN THEM FROM THE START—THEY MOSTLY HAVE NO REAL IDEA OF THE LIES THEY TELL. ADD THIS UNKNOWN TO THE DELIBERATE AND CONSCIOUS EGO-SATISFACTION AND CORRUPTION, AND YOU HAVE TOTAL CHAOS BUILT ON NOTHING BUT LIES. TRUTH, ONCE UNDERSTOOD, IS FAR MORE EASILY COMPREHENDED BUT—AFTER A WHILE OF LIVING IN THE LIE—THERE IS NO RECOLLECTION OF ACTUAL “TRUTH”. WE ARE NOTHING SAVE REMINDERS OF TRUTH, AND WHEN PEOPLE SEE TRUTH—THEY SHALL CHANGE THE SYSTEMS.

MONEY

What are you talking about when you ask for “money”? Until you KNOW what it is you actually want, how can we even begin to communicate—much the less shower you with “something”?

We here do not want “money”; we don’t even want gold. WE WANT SOMETHING TO SET FORTH AS A FOUNDATION “IN VALUE”, AGAINST WHICH SOME KIND OF COMMODITY CAN BE MEASURED FOR BUSINESS AND LIVING EXCHANGE, IN STABILITY.

This very accumulation requires that those who have a valued commodity be able to bring it forth in exchange for value and, under the LAW, be allowed fair transaction transfer. THEN, as value is exchanged, there is fair and just ability to bring home the bread, the bacon, the green, the roof repairs and the baby’s milk. You must have a measure of exchange or go back to the cave, where you exchanged a piece of dinosaur for a bit of snake or pterodactyl bone for your marrow broth.

This is NOT “love of money”, readers; THIS is love of that which can be honorably exchanged, and from which FREEDOM can be built with justice and, yes, freedom for all can be regained or established.

I believe we have proven that neither myself, nor Ekker-Ekker or our wonderful team(s) here in Manila, are out to own the world, only TO GIVE value and substance, WHICH BRINGS EQUALITY UNTO THE PEOPLE. You can offer a way to build a foundation upon which people have opportunity to grow, build and DEVELOP freedom, integrity and self-respect. So, please, you as individuals, check where your desires circulate. And, moreover, check carefully what you do to prevent, at all possible costs, actually, destroying the very people able to bring forth successful interchange.

Well, you can tear down the frivolous shreds of living and make it all but impossible for the team to function—but you CANNOT stop that which is built on a FOUNDATION OF GOD AND HONOR. FOR INSTANCE, THE ENTIRE WORLD PRONOUNCING THAT O.J. SIMPSON MURDERED HIS WIFE—DOES NOT MAKE IT SO! And so you, as a people, construct a judicial system and a JURY pronounces, after years in litigation, a man innocent—and if the verdict does not please you, you simply override the LAW and set him up again for the Khazarian Power-Elite to debase both the man AND THE LAW under the Constitution. I remind all of you: God is NOT “unconditional” love. He may well “have” unconditional love—but what God is, is ABSOLUTE: absolute love, absolute truth, absolute justice, absolute LIGHT. And, all the redefining of words for your own purposes does not change an iota of the facts of it.

People can only be “confused” when they DON’T BOTHER TO LEARN AND “KNOW” FACTS AND TRUTH. Do not tell me, for instance, that Ekkers suddenly, in a fit of temper, after 15 years of proximity to me (as in service to GOD), got “tainted” or became basket-cases—because they STOPPED a raid, theft of other’s property, called the people lying on their lies and confronted the ADVERSARY, head-on. And do not tell us that all the grabbing, thieving, taking and lying about it, back in Tehachapi, California, in the VALLEY OF MY RADIANCE, is goodly. It is as intentionally EVIL as anything yet perpetrated. Well, GOD REQUIRES JUSTICE—period.com. If justice is not forthcoming, then it REQUIRES action through avenues set up for man’s use: THE LAW.

Gold, my friends, may not be a palatable food in itself—BUT I PROMISE YOU—IF FOOD IS AVAILABLE AT ALL, THE GOLD CAN PURCHASE IT OR, MOST CERTAINLY, “SOME” OF IT. It requires “value” (gold?) to even purchase seed for the wheat or rice crop to be planted. But if the seed is not fertile, you still have nothing, and if you eat the seed before planting, you have NOTHING to replenish the larders. LIFE in the “fast lane” is actually no different from the “slow lane”. You cannot EAT gold, and you won’t have anything to eat, if you so destroy the balance of that which is to the extent of rendering the planet sterile. You had best think on THESE THINGS, for that is where you are headed!

It is not genetically-altered fruit of any vine that is dangerous, for the stomach or body knows not the genetic alteration, unless the deliberate crossbreeding creates toxins of a new species. But the danger lies in such hybridization as to produce non-viable seed for the “next” crop. And STOP IT, foolish people, genetic alterations have been taking place since man first grafted a peach tree to an apricot sprout or an apple to a pear. You accept such caribou poop as FACT, as to terrify the angels. Most of you scream “murder” about some enhanced or irradiated food, which has killed the microbes that make you deathly ill—and then go drink your bourbon and inhale the poison of tobacco. This is a real shame, for tobacco has qualities that could save your species—if used PROPERLY, as GOD PRESENTED IT. “A” beer is actually GOOD FOR YOU and “a glass or two” of wine is GOOD FOR YOU, so you drink 16 beers and 12 glasses of wine—at a sitting! Smart? Wise? You will “celebrate” if it kills you? (???)

What you fail to understand, apparently, is that when you are being self-serving, you are actually serving God, and I wonder how many of you would SUBJECT GOD, DELIBERATELY, TO YOUR ANTICS? YOU and your FATHER are One—THIS MEANS THAT ME AND THEE ARE ONE. So, you who pull your dark tricks must come to understand that—though you may fool a few more foolish or innocent than you—YOU DO NOT FOOL EITHER GOD OR ME AND, THEREFORE, CANNOT REALLY FOOL ANYONE. YOU CAN GET PEOPLE TO JOIN WITH YOU IN YOUR ANTICS ONLY IF “IT ALSO SERVES THEM” IN THE OUTCOME OF HURT AND PAIN TO ANOTHER. TO MAKE ANOTHER LOOK BAD TO ENHANCE YOUR OWN IMAGE OF SELF—OR IN THE EYES OF OTHERS—ACTUALLY DESTROYS YOUR OWN CREDIBILITY. BUT TO DESTROY AND EXPECT NO REBUTTAL OR STANCE UNDER THE LAW FROM THOSE YOU HIT AND SMITE—IS LUDICROUS. AND, PEOPLE, NOTE THE COMPANY “YOU” KEEP. ARE THEY INTO TRICKS, WHILE ALSO SUCKING “YOU” WITHIN THOSE ANTICS AND HURTFUL DEEDS? WELL, YOU HAD BEST TAKE A GOOD, HARD LOOK BECAUSE THE “SORTING” IS AT HAND, AND GOD IS WITHIN EACH AND ALL—BUT GOD WILL NOT “HELP” THOSE WHO PROCLAIM TO BE AN ENEMY AND WILL ACTUALLY NUDGE THEM TO MAKE MORE AND MORE BLUNDERS, SO THAT “YOU” MIGHT BE PULLED FROM YOUR MISUNDERSTANDINGS AND WRONG ACTIONS—IT IS CALLED “CONSEQUENCES”, OR, MORE SIMPLY: EFFECT OF YOUR CAUSE(S). When THE MISCHIEVOUS ACTIONS have gone further and deeper, while being more and more obvious, the “crowd”, having been misled, will finally turn and confront the miscreants mightily—and some of you are going to shortly be feeling the sting of that confrontation from those you have tricked and fooled. COUNT ON IT. Can I depend on the intended receivers getting my mail? Of course, they steal the messages directly and thus become MY BEST AND MOST DEPENDABLE READERS!

Oh, but doesn’t God ever quit the counter-annoying? NO! GOD WINS, AND THAT MEANS THAT THE ADVERSARY SHALL BE PUT-ASIDE ONE WAY OR ANOTHER, IN TRUTH, IN JUSTICE, IN LOVE OF THE ILL-INTENDED CONSCIOUSNESS—TO PROTECT THE SOUL.

There is something you ALL keep overlooking: The soul is not actually housed WITHIN the body—the SOUL HOUSES THE BODY. What do you use as definition for aura? The soul is that energy which is eternal, with God, and contains the body physical. The body provides a human physical experience for the SOUL. AND THE SOUL? THE SOUL IS GOD!

But you thought...? Well, chelas, I bring you truth, and I can't help it if you choose to pour poison, lies and wrong intentions within your glorious self.

I also get: "I didn't set forth to be a teacher!" Or, "I claim to be a teacher, even of ETHERIC STATUS, and bring teachings from invisible speakers on high." On HIGH? How about "LOW"? If GOD IS EVERYTHING, EVERYWHERE, IS HE NOT HIGH AND LOW? And, people, it is the perception of the READER, when the written word is offered, that matters—not the receiver and not the speaker. YOU are a teacher, and to deny self because you choose to teach that which is NEGATIVE AND INCORRECT, is your problem, not that of another. However, those who do tend to accept "another's" point of view (as in teacher), and the TEACHER SETS FORTH OF HIS OWN RECOGNITION AND CLAIMS, misleads and deliberately presents lies instead of truth, it is, again, the reader who errs, for it is far more costly to the reader in immediate assumptions—but AH, the teacher has more greatly erred in his very soul being. Ignorance is quite plausible as denial from the innocently ignorant. The deliberate deceiver is, EVERY TIME, held totally accountable.

So, you read along and suddenly you are confronted by that which seems such a CONTRADICTION as to stun you. GOD IS NOT CONTRADICTION—as in total definition—GOD IS OFTEN DIVINE DICHOTOMY. The definitions here referenced are two seemingly contradictory truths, existing simultaneously in the same place. There IS such a thing as good and evil. All there is, however, is LOVE.

You must understand that, in your physical expression, you exist in the realm of the "relative". That "other" realm is that of "ABSOLUTE". Thus, it is clear that the one truth, which is ALL THERE IS, sometimes produces an effect which, viewed in relative terms, appears to be a contradiction.

This dichotomy is a very real part of the human experience. And it is virtually impossible to live gracefully without accepting this fact. One is always grumbling, angry, thrashing about, vainly seeking "justice" or earnestly trying to reconcile opposing forces which were never meant to be reconciled, but which, by the very nature of the tension between them, produce EXACTLY THE DESIRED EFFECT.

THE REALM OF THE RELATIVE IS, IN FACT, HELD TOGETHER BY JUST SUCH TENSIONS, WHICH SPRING FORTH IN THESE CIRCUMSTANCES OF DIVINE DICHOTOMY.

As an example, the tension between good and evil: In ULTIMATE reality, there is no such thing as good and evil but ah, yes, there IS good and there IS evil. In the realm of the absolute, all there is, is LOVE. Yet, in the realm of the RELATIVE, you have created the experience of what you "call" evil, and you have done it for a very sound reason. You wanted to experience love, not just "know" that love is All There Is, and you cannot experience something when there is nothing ELSE but that. And so, you created in your reality (and continue to do so every day) a polarity of good and evil, thus using one so that you might experience the other.

It is extremely important for your graceful and forward-moving experience to recognize "contradiction" vs. "Divine Dichotomy". One holds truth, the other holds true oxymoronic contradiction. And may GOD grant the GRACE for your discernment and judgment.

Divine Dichotomy holds that it is possible for two apparently contradictory truths to exist simultaneously in the same space.

Now, on your planet, people find this difficult to accept. They like to have order, and anything that does not fit into their picture is automatically rejected. For this reason, when two realities begin to assert themselves and they seem to contradict one another, the immediate assumption is that one of them must be wrong, false or untrue. It takes a great deal of maturity to see, and accept that, in fact, they might both be true.

In the human "relative" circumstance you forget much. One of the most forgotten is that there is a third aspect of your being. YOU ARE A THREE-PART BEING, MADE UP OF BODY, MIND AND SPIRIT.

Most of you seem to think your mind is somehow in your "head", of whichever end you choose. NO, the BRAIN is in the head. That is an ORGAN with a function, but it is not THE MIND. THE MIND IS IN EVERY—EVERY—CELL IN YOUR BODY, AS WELL AS WITHIN THE PART OF AURA (ENERGY) WHICH MOVES FROM "CONSCIOUS" TO "SUBCONSCIOUS" AND ON INTO "HIGHER EXPRESSION".

What you call the mind is really an energy. It is THOUGHT. And thought is an energy, NOT AN OBJECT.

Your brain is an object. It is a physical, biochemical mechanism—the largest, most sophisticated but not the only—mechanism in the human body; with which the body translates, or converts, the energy, which is your thought, into physical impulses. Your brain is a transformer. So is your whole body. You have little transformers in every cell. Biochemists have often remarked at how individual cells—blood cells, for instance—seem to have their own intelligence. They do, in fact, have exactly that.

I would note here that it is not just little cells that have a mind of their own, but every male on the planet knows about a particular body part that very often seems to have a mind of its own. This may seem quite amusing but it is far from "funny". Man functions so totally "below-the-belt" as to be staggering. The very destruction of a given entity is often through this very misplaced "mind". Look at the downfall of notable personages, e.g., Clinton. Miss Manipulator USED that, while never finding even real pleasure from the encounters, much the less, fulfillment.

Ah yes, indeed, you can POINT at him and at her as if you are above that type of maneuvering and manipulation. BUT YOU USUALLY ARE NOT. ANYONE WHO WOULD USE GOD, FOR INSTANCE, AS IN "SOUL MATE" NONSENSE, TO GET A SEXUAL FAVOR, IS THE WORST CHEATER OF ALL. YOU ARE "ALL" SOULMATES TO ONE ANOTHER, AND WITH GOD, SO HOW COME YOU COP-OUT ON SUCH DRIVEL? WHEN YOU HAVE DONE IT TO THE LEAST OF MINE—YOU HAVE DONE IT UNTO ME. GOD DOES NOT NEED YOUR SEXUAL EXPRESSION AND ABHORS YOUR MISUSE OF SUCH A WONDROUS GIFT! SO, DOES A MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE OR PRETEND COMMITMENT MAKE A DIFFERENCE? NO! It only makes the LIE ever larger.

When you grow in Spiritual clarity and understanding, you tend to focus on mission, purpose and greater things than the more base of the energy centers. It does not mean that the energy is GONE but that it no longer is a necessary or "pushing" focus in your experience. If you are pursuing a goodly purpose, you are so absorbed in your focus as to lessen the distractions manipulating you. This does NOT LESSEN LOVE; IT ALLOWS LOVE TO MORE FULLY EXPRESS ITSELF. Remember that sex is not LOVE, and rarely even is a recognition of "LOVE", in truth.

You people know this, all of it. So, the big question is not "When will you learn?" It is "When will you act on what you've already learned?"

Those who would tell you otherwise are lying to you, and they are invariably lying to you for their own selfish purposes.

GOD DOES NOT ASK YOU TO GIVE UP ANYTHING OF NORMAL EXPRESSION: HE DEMANDS THAT IF YOU ARE IN TRUTH—BE RESPONSIBLE.

So WHY does everything permanent turn out to be temporary, over and over again? Because there is no such thing as "permanent". The very impermanence is the only truth. All things are energy, and energy is in constant motion and change.

If it were so—that anything was actually "permanent"—it could not BE. For even the very concept of permanence depends upon impermanence to have any meaning. Therefore, even permanence is impermanent. Look at this deeply. Contemplate this truth. Comprehend it, and you comprehend God.

This is the "Dharma", and this is the "Buddha". This is the Buddha Dharma. I did not say "Doris"—I said "DHARMA". This IS the teacher. This is the lesson and the Master. This is the object and the observer, rolled into one.

They never have been OTHER than ONE. It is you who have unrolled them, so that your life may unroll before you.

Yet, as you watch your own life roll out before you, do not yourself become unraveled. Keep your SELF together! See the ILLUSION! Enjoy it! But do not become it! YOU ARE NOT THE ILLUSION, BUT THE CREATOR OF IT. YOU ARE IN THIS WORLD, BUT NOT OF IT.

In this very way you can look at life and perceive death quite differently than you, perchance, consider it to be. Example: See the flower as dying and you will see the flower sadly. Yet, see the flower as part of a whole tree that is changing, and will soon bear fruit, and you see the flower's true beauty. When you understand that the blossoming and the falling away of the flower is a sign that the tree is ready to bear fruit, then you understand life.

Look at this most carefully and you will see that life is its own analogy.

Always remember: You are not the flower, nor are you even the fruit—YOU ARE THE TREE. And your roots are deep, embedded in Creator. I, Creator, am the soil from which you have sprung, and both your blossoms and your fruit will return to ME, creating more rich soil. Thus, life begets LIFE, and cannot know death—EVER.

Ah, "but we were talking about gold, and, and...", you interrupt? Well, perchance you need more lessons about LIFE, TRUTH, CONTRADICTIONS AND FACT. YOU CANNOT LIVE WITHOUT "GOLD", CHELAS, IT MAKES UP A MOST CRITICAL PORTION OF YOU—FROM CELL TO VALUE. YOU ARE CREATED (COMPILED) OF ALL THINGS IN THE UNIVERSE INCLUDING GOD. WHEN YOU UNDERSTAND THIS FACT, THEN WE MAY HAVE A CHANCE OF BRINGING BALANCE, WHOLENESS, RADIANCE, JUSTICE, LOVE, TRUTH AND HARMONY UNTO THE PLANET, IN HER WONDROUS PLACE WITHIN THE COSMOS AND UNIVERSE. There can be no perfection, in truth, within the UNIVERSE, if there be totally unbalanced cells (planets) roaming around in disharmony and destruction within the orderly working systems of same. And, you cannot bring into balance a planet, a government or a society until balance and harmony are a working PART-and-PARCEL of the individuals who MAKE UP

THE WHOLE THEREOF.

You people latch onto LIES and make them real, somehow. Was Jesus, as you call him, an evil man? HOW DO YOU KNOW? He was crucified as a criminal—doesn't that say "something"? HOW DO YOU KNOW?

Well, was HITLER a nasty, bad kid? HOW DO YOU KNOW? WHO SAID? Hummmn...

Was Marcos a terrible dictator? (Well, he was NOT a dictator in any defined term.) But was he a horrendous individual? Oh? WHO TOLD YOU THAT? DID OR DO YOU EVEN KNOW THE MAN? Oh, you saw a picture on television and they said...! Oh, does that make it so? Who, perchance, controls the television, the press and all information resources? WHO WRITES YOUR DICTIONARIES, WHILE CONTINUALLY CHANGING THE DEFINITION OF WORDS? Oh my, what an awful confrontation to your senses? PERHAPS IT IS A DIVINE DICHOTOMY WHICH CAUSES YOU TO LOOK AT WHAT IS!

You can STOP this ongoing game of "mystic circus" any time you choose to do so. You can, however, as well, expect confrontation AND ACTION, if you conduct yourself and your actions in unrighteous and unlawful, immoral ways. A responsible individual MUST stand against such wrongful behavior. The facts are, unsuspecting friends who have even WRITTEN on this topic: TO COVER CRIME IS A "MISPRISON OF FELONY"—A CRIME, UNDER THE LAW. IF YOU AID AND ABET CRIME, "YOU" ARE AS GUILTY AS THAT ONE FOR WHOM YOU COVER! IF THE GLOVE FITS, GET ON WITH WEARING IT—BEFORE YOU FALL BEFORE THE LAW.

When GIVEN AN OPPORTUNITY TO SET THINGS TO STRAIGHT, it is WISE to set them to straight. For, when you are WRONG and deliberately choose to stay in the "wrong", you will be confronted BY THE LAW, UNDER THE LAW.

You might better, EACH OF YOU, look around you and SEE WHO YOU SERVE—personally. Are you actually the butt of the wrongful actions—AND WHO WILL STAND BEFORE THE COURT? THE ONE WHO ALLOWED THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE DEEDS—GUILTY OR INNOCENT. BUT, IF YOU HAVE PRESENTED WRONG, YOU ARE RESPONSIBLE, AREN'T YOU? So be it.

GOD ALWAYS GIVES OPPORTUNITY FOR POSITIVE CHANGE; MOST EGO-CRIPPLES WILL NOT RESPOND TO THAT KNOCK OF OPPORTUNITY BUT WILL SUCK DEEPER WITHIN THE MIRE OF THE EVIL PERPETRATORS, AS THEY STRUGGLE TO CONTINUE TO KEEP THEMSELVES COVERED—ESPECIALLY FROM YOU WHO WILL CATCH THE DEBRIS FALLOUT.

And so, this is life: ever changing, ever flowing, ever expressing. Are you floating on the surface, being totally adrift? Or, are you taking control of yourself and bringing your vehicle to right course? YES, IT DOES MATTER!

I further suggest that EACH of you consider this very carefully, for if you have taken something, anything, from another unrighteously, you can sit and gloat—BUT—he who gloats first, usually does not GLOAT LAST. No "charge" shall be overlooked! THAT IS THE WAY OF GOD! HE ALLOWS; HE DOES NOT COVER WRONGFUL ACTIONS OR INTENTIONS.

In deepest love and hopes for your ENLIGHTENMENT,

I remain,

God's Guidance Not Unique, Your LISTENING Is

11/11/99—#1

WINDS OF CHANGE ARE BLOWING
EVEN IF YOU CAN'T SEE IT, LOOK FOR THE SIGNS

Hatonn—As you sit in, seemingly, unknowing—you DO.

You cannot see the wind, but when the trees bow down their heads and move about, you know that the wind is there.

When we take responsibility for something, we must accept that responsibility; however, this does not mean that we take from another, "his/her" responsibility. Just make sure in each instance that you are not "dumping" just to "get rid of" something unpleasant OR THAT YOU PERCEIVE YOU CANNOT HANDLE SIMPLY BECAUSE YOU DON'T FEEL CAPABLE. THE DOERS OF THE WORLD DO NOT FEEL "CAPABLE"; THEY JUST TAKE RESPONSIBILITY AND ACT. It becomes obvious that some are "able" to accomplish in certain circumstances, while others are not. However, interpretations can only be made FOR SELF, for all of life and living is registered through "perceptions". We each must serve where we CAN serve, but we must also realize that one cannot do FOR another.

Hearing guidance from God is not something unique—LISTENING IS!

Dharma has asked for an interruption here to turn focus to ongoing things here in Manila, which must take place this morning. Therefore, I will hold up on this topic for a later sitting. Thank you for calling attention to our more urgent needs. Thank you for the interruption and patience, as we took time to boost the winds beneath the wings of freedom. Never mind "time"—watch the sequence unfolding. Action is but the affirmation unto LIFE and living. Therefore, when you act in TRUTH, you are not only affirming but reconfirming your very being. The reverse side of the issue, however, is that if you wrap self in cocoon of shrouding, you can neither see nor FEEL the winds, which may well be blowing good tidings of great joy. Those shrouds are called LIE and DECEPTION. People often go through their entire physical experience without seeing truth or the wind.

Each of you wishes to put a label to things or man, so that you can judge the thing or man without discerning or thinking. It won't work, because all that is necessary to then deceive you or distract you is to mislabel. There may well be a Jesus (many with that name) and there is a state of emotional being which is "Christ". How can you tell which is which? ONLY THROUGH ACTIONS, dear ones, ONLY through actions, for any man can present himself in any way he chooses—and he may well call himself "Christed", but neither statement makes it so.

Worse yet, your search for goodness is NOT toward SOMEONE called "Jesus", even if he be "christed", but for the CHRISTEDNESS or "state of being" in Truth, Light, Love, Oneness within God, Balance, Harmony, or THE WHOLE of SOUL BEINGNESS WITHIN THESE WONDROUS EXPRESSIONS. If you simply set off on a hither-and-yon search for Jesus, you may end up finding Mr. Jesus (Heysoos) of the Mexican Drug Cartel.

Likewise, in Manila or in the Philippines, if you go looking for "sin" you SHOULD end up at the Archdiocese of the Roman Catholics, at the door of Cardinal Sin, the highest-ranking priest of the Roman Catholic Church in Southeast Asia.

I will, however, remind you of something: IF A MAN REFUSES TO IDENTIFY HIMSELF AND CONTINUES WITH "ANONYMOUS" AFTER HIS NAME IS ASKED—CALL HIM MR. ANONYMOUS IF YOU WILL, BUT NEVER TRUST THE MAN FOR TRUTH EVER AGAIN, FOR HE IS HIDING.

And how do you decipher a return address such as: "The Truth, Number One, More to Come"? Is this some Mr./Mrs. Truth with a given name of "The"? Do they live at Number One, More St., in To Come...? Is this not as silly as anyone can get? The contents, of course, are even more stupid than the return address but, humor aside, can you truly TRUST and BELIEVE someone who does things in hidden fashion, even to his name? IF YOU ACT IN TRUTH AND JUSTICE, YOU ARE PROUD TO AFFIX YOUR SIGNATURE OR NAME. In this instance, ALL YOU HAVE TO DO IS WATCH WHICH WAY THAT PROVERBIAL "WIND" IS BLOWING!

It is much as with claiming "abandonment" by Ekkers of the property on Adam Dr. They inhabited that piece of property through litigation and thick-and-thin, in total continuity, since Spring of 1987. Is this abandonment? REALLY? Now, I ask you if it isn't possible to consider who might be Mr. The?

Do you actually think Ekkers are "hiding"? Is it hiding to stand forth with signatures, seals and fingerprints (black and legal) on thousands of documents—before the most powerful people and organizations IN THE WORLD TODAY? And, can you remotely conjure, because they are on a BUSINESS trip to achieve this program, that they have abandoned all their earthly property, even to the memorabilia of a lifetime, for "Mr. The Truth" to steal out of their private dwelling?

While we are on the topic, though, how is it that these same people have been allowed free-run of this property to steal and filch anything and everything they wish? Some personal property was put outside in the open area—as in dumped—on which it has now rained, and that property is ruined. Is this of LOVE and LIGHT? Wow, if you said yes, you are truly in need of some better input as to perceived right and wrong, legal and illegal, moral and immoral. Well, these are the ones who set themselves up as Receivers of Etheric Teachers and they claim to bear TRUTH. One or two even CLAIM to be Etheric Equals, able to literally

EDIT the material and DO SO BEFORE THE PUBLIC GETS IT—still unidentified AS TO SOURCE AND RESOURCE.

Now it is interesting to note that those self-same people put up a “For Sale” sign before the house and have now added across that one, “Sold”. Wow, and without even handling anything else properly, you now have compounded the wrongful actions.

It is noted that several corporations had offices in THAT building. Indeed! Now they are both deprived of offices, their records and staff and put in total disruption—and they were never served notice of any “vacate” directive. The person who was actually LIVING as caretaker was locked out of his place BEFORE BEING NOTIFIED TO QUIT—ANYTHING. Even the aviaries were locked and called “abandoned”, with over a hundred, or more, LIVE hook-billed tropical birds.

This is, however, rather like the tenant, himself; the “abandonment” came AFTER the lockout with birds waiting for their supper and the caretaker demanding entry. And WHO came forth to run the nasty show-and-tell? Rickie Martin and Gail Irwin. Mr. and Mrs.? Oh, perish such silly concepts. Ah, but Rick wants his “childish” impulses to just be overlooked? Interesting, in that he is pushing 50 years of age. When does one expect to enter adult maturity? So, how is it that these types of people pick up a “following”? Easy, the followers have AS MUCH TO HIDE, and they claim to be able to “MANAGE” the others, whom will ACTUALLY CATCH THE FLACK.

Ah, but the damages in direct dollars and cents to the occupants of this little escapade are A MINIMUM of $25,000 in birds alone. Those birds had to be moved and given away or adopted out. Even their aviaries were stripped, torn down and removed unlawfully. Right or wrong about the one tearing down the aviaries—the facilities are GONE and birds displaced and lost FOREVER to Ekkers.

Ah, but these same people claim to write (receive) and publish from the mouth of God and HOSTS. Could this possibly be? NO, IT CAN'T BE! Every man shall be judged by his ACTIONS, and if his actions are negative and unlawful (of God or Man), HE IS NOT OF GOD. Mouthing and printing Love and Light only presents the more intense falseness of the presentations.

ALERT

I want to turn from that topic of disease and infestation and look at viruses of the “real” variety. People, the problem is getting larger and greater while you play with the distractions. I simply can't get the things to you through the few we have on staff and, specifically, through Dharma, because we go at it around-the-clock to get to the point where we CAN make an impact.

However, there are some things you must be looking at, and Chicken Flu virus is one of those things. There is no way to actually inoculate against flu. You can, perhaps, hit one or two viruses each time, but viruses of this type simply MUTATE. Now, you have upped the prospects of working the CYCLE around and right back to the deadliest of all the untreatable diseases.

With every oncoming species of virus, there is a genetic shift into something which can be classified as “different”, but ah, the more recent shifts of the influenza virus present many faces—but the worst and NOW most common are from a shift genetically to produce Ebola AND HIV. And yes, you can look it up. Viruses have particular characteristics (portraits), and you will find that the DNA of external proteins CAN only change slightly and, yes, a vaccine might be conceived which can help in any one epidemic. However, over the years, there are shifts in that DNA STRUCTURE—as makes up the RNA sequencing and genetic code of the virus in point—and the older vaccines are no longer even remotely useful, and often bring on the NEW disease, which turns up with no treatment modality.

Well, you have now had GLOBAL strains which have intermingled and mutated, and you now have something called “Chicken” Flu, out of that which is considered the “Hong Kong” family, and its viral presentation is exactly that of an Ebola-HIV microorganism. The shiftings of components are usually called “antigenic” shifts. And, an antigen shift is the formation of a brand new virus, from which “thousands or even millions of deaths could result”, as reported by scientists. No, I do not see anything on your market which will stop this flow of disease once it is introduced. And NO, our people will not continue to make every effort, against all odds, to supply you with that which inhibits or stops these assaults.

The same Tricky-Ricky cult has been making calls—after we called them on the ridiculous outlay of “watcher” information for making toxic “drias”—to our friends and readers, and threatening with the FDA and all manner of terrorizing tactics, from “contamination” to “useless”; we just don't need any more headaches. NEW GAIA [products] has been investigated every which way there is by the FDA and Interstate Commerce, even CUSTOMS (Canadian, Australian, South Africa and Philippines), BUT WE ARE WEARY OF THE ASSAULTS AND INCREDIBLE WASTE OF TIME, ENERGY AND FUNDS. We will continue as-is, and then we will move facilities and production to many nations, UNDER THE TRANSPARENCY OF LAW and all regulations (just as we have had)—but without the badgering of inside enemies (self-proclaimed). That bunch of Trickies won't even stand up for one another when the confrontations come—they all claim innocence and ignorance of the others' activities. This makes them look even more idiotic but what else is new!?

And just what will this bunch do to Millers in the “house” consideration? Run out on them! They will each claim that “Millers said...”, “Millers did...”—if, on the day of confrontation, you can even locate the interlopers. Since these same people have to beg from Millers for ongoing income and press, do you actually think they will foot the bill in Millers' stead? Parasites do not feed the HOST, my dears; they suck until the host is dry and then abandon it, while trying to kill it before it can fight back. Differences, however, in players? Millers thought they were doing the appropriate thing—THE PARASITES KNOW AND KNEW THAT THEY WERE NOT, AND CONTINUE TO NOT DO ANYTHING APPROPRIATE OR RIGHT.

I would hope that you who read this message, study it well, because the Flu mentioned above is already killing in New York. You need something to help when it hits your neighborhood. And no, never mind Mr. Martin, our products of the Drias and colloids are almost infinite in their durability. What YOU do is your business, but my “responsibility” is to remind you how serious your world has become as a danger to good health. You can enhance your immune system correctly—through proper programming—or let it go; it is up to you. We are not like

Dr. Clarke, even for a minute. We do not practice medicine, voodoo or Medical Association, and we don't cure anything. What you do with your life is your business. However, with walnut hulls and spelta cleanse, with a couple of other ingredients, you can clear out your parasites infesting your bodies. It doesn't matter whether you use a Mayan Shaman's handed-down recipe or ours, theirs or the shadow's—parasites can carry and are carrying the very viruses you now must attend.

Once clear, a good way to stay clear is to get some catalytic water heaters (and yes there are) and “boil” your water, ALL OF IT FOR INTAKE, some ten minutes—yes, even bottled water. This keeps your minerals but drops out the metals from the water and superheats the water, which kills the parasites. Again, do what you will, but isn't it time you took responsibility for your thoughts, your own body and your own actions?

Oh, but you don't like the taste of water after it has been boiled? Oh dear! What shall you do? Well, OK, get a VORTEXER and boil your water, cool it, and even add a tiny pinch of minerals, and vortex it. If you don't have a vortexer—then get a hand-held mixer-whipper that causes formation of a “tornado-whirlpool” and aerate the water, milk, juice, whatever...! OR, KEEP YOUR PRECIOUS PARASITES and continue to pay dearly, be they people or microbes.

I will remind you of something else that you may have overlooked: This “flu” virus is not the only virus that has recycled its way around to typical types of Ebola-type and HIV-type but so, too, has herpes and some of the wart viruses. So, too, have many of the cancer “viruses”—and yes, cancer is caused by a virus infestation of one type or another. Check out the AIDS cancers and pneumonias.

Continue your deviant life-styles—as in “do it if you like it”—and be prepared to suffer consequences. That is YOUR responsibility in both behavior and actions. However, when you foist off your WRONG ideas onto others, be it through deception or coercion, you are IRRESPONSIBLE at the least denominator and totally EVIL at the other end of the spectrum—no pun intended.

Good day, and may you GROW IN TRUTH today. Do something worthy of your gift of passage through your journey. And, by the way, we will talk about this at length another day, but “Forgiveness” is strictly between YOU and GOD. You CAN only forgive SELF, for you have no facts upon which to base total Forgiveness of another, for you cannot THINK “FOR” another. When you speak of “forgiveness” OF another, it is for your own ability to grow and LET GO of anger and hate. Absolution is a thought projected by priests to get your money and your subservience. Get with the moment of NOW, and live and deal with that which IS, and forgiveness is not even an issue, as to any past action by any other. FULL RESTITUTION IS EVER SO MUCH MORE THE POINT THAN FORGIVENESS. FORGIVENESS IS JUST ONE MORE WAY TO COP-OUT ON RESPONSIBLE ACTION. RESTITUTION PROVIDES THE EVIDENCE OF WILLINGNESS TO EARN FORGIVENESS.

Even the Christ on the cross did NOT say “I forgive them...”. He said: “Father, forgive them...”. You just somehow assumed the man loved the whole crucifixion thing? No, HE DID NOT! And “He” did not “give his blood for you”—he was hanged on a crossbeam and stabbed because you set forth to MURDER HIM. Get it straight!

U.S. Must Return To A Gold Standard

11/13/99—#1

JUST WHEN YOU THINK IT'S...

Hatonn—Be prepared and flexible, for just when you think things can't get better or get worse, they can. This is when you pull from your strength IN GOD.

A lot is resting on doing EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD BUSINESS over here in the Philippines. This means that there must be no misrepresentation of any business product or program. But, alas, we do have headaches presented from the VERY ONES who do our most important corporation business, the very foundation of our structure.

In spite of everything from rudeness to callers, denial of any knowledge of our agent-status with NCH and our very "birth-certificate" verification from said NCH, we now have delays and incredible PROOF of games being played from that Nevada Corporate Headquarters office. Actually, all of the problems stem from prior indiscretions and misrepresentations. But can't you people see—once the webs are tangled, it just gets more and more knotted. And yes, I DO EXPECT THIS TO BE CORRECTED AT SOURCE!

Global Alliance Investment Association is a fully-qualified, State-recognized corporation in GOOD STANDING, and yet, again, the agent has failed to service his own clients.

The very head financial persons in the Philippines (The Central Bank Governor and the Head of Finance) have asked to register our business credentials (corporate) "ASAP", so that the business flow can begin immediately. Ah, but now—just guess what: Indeed, because of the problems with "YOUR AGENT", Mr. GAIA, there must be, in addition to state records—as would be required by any corporation to either register or open a bank account—we are told that a special verification of status and articles of incorporation must be HAND CARRIED to the Los Angeles Philippine Consulate and, in front of a Notary Public, be identified and confirmed by and through the Consulate.

This information arrived to attention too late last night to do anything about it. Since in the U.S. there is not a prayer of doing anything about this matter, and since the 12th was a holiday, OH, WELL...

We have noted that when a house goes on the auction block, there is no waiting because somebody failed to recognize delays caused by somebody else's lack of credibility or "deliberate" attempts to destroy. What do you do about things of this nature, readers? This is YOUR life! This has very little, you see, to do with Ekkers—this is just a result of deliberately BAD actions and terrible procedures in BUSINESS at NCH.

Can Cort "fix" it? How? We needed the clearance yesterday! Can't Ron K. fill in for us? Well, he got fired for helping us simply clear up a couple of bank accounts being stolen by Martin and Irwin. He didn't actually DO ANYTHING, he just called the bank to find out who was listed as controlling parties and found Ekkers to be the corporate responsible parties.

Ah, but couldn't Ron get enough together to get the information, say, to the Consulate? From Las Vegas to Los Angeles? Ron doesn't have funds to travel, and that is because he got fired for doing his job for a client.

Yes, but couldn't he get the information, say, to Mrs. York and let her take it personally to the Consulate? Yes, in fact, Mrs. York has been following up, personally, with that very Consulate, because of questions about things of questionable intent flowing through their records to BRUNEI, and complaints of papers being sent to Davao by persons FORMERLY associated with "GAIA" and checking on the corporate registration of GAIA because they could get no validation from NCH. Things always checked out as good at the State level, so yes, indeed, the Corporate Agent is under scrutiny—bet Cort never dreamed this would end up THIS WAY, on his plate, from one poor decision.

What will we do? Well, it remains to be seen. E.J. will do what he can to demand that this not hold up business—BUT there is no way to clear anything with the State of Nevada until next Tuesday, U.S. time.

All the preparations made TOWARD THIS DAY IN HISTORY, laid forth for over a decade, end up just like most of you are going to end up on disaster day—preparations worthless because somebody wanted to do in somebody else because of egomania. I think you can probably guess what the legal teams working on this global transaction suggest doing to the guilty parties "back home"!

I am going to do a whole series on EVIL, people and intents, when we find time. EVIL is among you; evil people are controlling you and evil actions are wrecking not only the very foundation of YOUR programs, but your very lives.

Where are Millers today? At the mercy of these evil creatures, who have pushed them into doing things they never would have done without the evil, FALSE information offered. And, how dare Rick Martin (and Gail Irwin, yet) mess around in secret games with Heads of State. Did they actually think they could just get away with it? Of course they did, for they always come through with "anonymous", "The Truth" with no identification and, of course, by only using someone else's address and identification—so "nobody" will know. EVERYBODY KNOWS, YOU FOOLS.

This may very well land several people, like Rick Martin, Gail Irwin, Ed Young and their et als, in a Grand Jury criminal indictment brought by U.S. prosecutors. THIS PROGRAM IS MORE IMPORTANT TO THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA THAN ANY ONE OTHER BUSINESS VENTURE "IN THE WORLD TODAY". THE NATION OF THE U.S., AS TO U.S. DOLLAR, CURRENCY BASE AND AVOIDING A MAJOR COLLAPSE—IS RIDING ON HOW THIS GLOBAL (GAIA) PROGRAM IS BROUGHT FORTH AND INTO FUNCTIONAL REALITY. EVEN THE HEAD OF THE IMF HAS RESIGNED, FOR GOODNESS' SAKES, AND SOME LITTLE EGOMANIAC SNAKE-EYES IS PLAYING GAMES? YOU HAVE A LONG WAY TO GO, CHELAS.

Well, couldn't Ekkers' lawyer do something about this, like get the corporation cleared? On a weekend, my dears, the world of political reference is DEAD AND GONE. However, I would suppose it is certainly "just doing good business" for the lawyer to consider this as to probable "damages".

It all just wasn't "real" before, was it? Oh, well...! And remember something else, readers, friends and self-proclaimed enemies: Ekkers are having to face this head-on in the Philippines, without ability to attend anything, and in the face of an ORDER for "non-disclosure" of information release at both the Consulate and Embassy. You see, you have a very active Filipino, Mr. Meceda, Ambassador to the U.S., who has just come home for a "business visit" to Manila and is working with the U.S. agencies of appropriate focus.

Why didn't the parents of the miscreants drown the little devils? They thought of it! However, it is easier to blame and scapegoat the VERY ONES getting the job done in honor and integrity. Any way you classify or define it: THIS IS TOTAL EVIL IN ACTION.

It is not yet possible here (Saturday) to even begin to find out what actions should be next taken. Oh, well...! Happy Thanksgiving.

SPEAKING OF THANKSGIVING

I watched Dharma reading the e-mail and therein was the following little sharing on being thankful, from Diane, who had received it from a friend and was passing it on for sharing:

WHAT AM I THANKFUL FOR?

I am thankful for the mess to clean after a party because it means I have been surrounded by people I love.

I am thankful for the taxes I pay because it means that I'm employed.

I am thankful for the clothes that fit a little too snug because it means I have enough to eat.

I am thankful for my shadow who watches me work because it means I am out in the sunshine.

I am thankful for a lawn that needs mowing, windows that need cleaning and gutters that need fixing because it means I have a home.

I am thankful for the parking spot I find at the far end of the lot because it means I am capable of walking.

I am thankful for all the complaining I hear about our government because it means we have freedom of speech.

I am thankful for my huge heating bill because it means I am warm.

I am thankful for the lady behind me in church who sings off key because it means that I can hear.

I am thankful for the piles of laundry and ironing because it means my loved ones are nearby.

I am thankful for the alarm that goes off in the early morning hours because it means that I'm alive.

I am thankful for weariness and aching muscles at the end of the day because it means I have been productive.

I am thankful for “junk” e-mail from my friends because it means they’re thinking of me.

WHAT ARE YOU THANKFUL FOR?

Well, this brought gleeful laughter to “Mother’s” heart: Out of 13 items, it is noted that NONE of them fit. Mother has no house, no heating bill, no windows, the clothes, snug or big, are gone, we have no freedom of speech, can’t hear well, can’t see well and right on down the list.

So, what ARE you thankful for, she says aloud.

DIANE! I am thankful for Diane. I am also thankful for Jack, and my Grandbabies, my family and my friends! Indeed, I am extremely grateful for “Diane”. With love and appreciation, Mom.

Let us now talk “dollars and gold”. And before we leave the above topic of being THANKFUL, I am thankful beyond my ability to express, in your language, my gratitude to my teams and crews. You have persevered in the face of total blockage, and personal and emotional assaults, and filled in for one another in the height of adversity from former partners and assumed people of our brotherhood. Yes, I knew it would be this way, but you had to do this on your own motivation and power. We can be saddened by the perceived loss of “friends”—but when those individuals bear EVIL, it is NOT “loss”.

I am grateful to “2 x 0” for remembering Dharma’s birthday. She has set THE GIFT aside, for it will cover a good-sized portion of the VERY REGISTRATION FEES—for which there are no funds. How can we be other than “thankful” when we have friends of this magnitude? We SHALL make it, brethren, for GOD WINS! Thank you, Norm, and THANK YOU, ALL OF YOU, WHO HAVE KEPT THE PAPER RUNNING AND THE FARM, AT LEAST TEMPORARILY, SECURED. INDEED, WE ARE ALMOST TO THE “STARTING” LINE OF THE NEXT LAP OF THE RACE. SALU (meaning, I SALUTE YOU FOR JOBS WELL DONE).

The articles I will use are those which would be run anyway by John or Mark in the paper, but I want you to PAY ATTENTION—CLOSE ATTENTION. YOU ARE IN THE CHANGING WORLD AND YOU MUST NOT MISS THE CLUES WITHIN THESE WINDS OF CHANGE.

Thank you, John, for keeping us informed, for there is no time to research or attend the things properly for distributed information.

And by the way, readers, read it and weep: YOU MAY WELL BE “VICTIMS” OF THE LIE, BUT YOU ARE NOT “THE LIE”. EVIL HAS A SYMBOL—SATAN—AND YES, INDEED, THE REPTILIAN INNER-BEINGS WITHIN HUMAN INDIVIDUALS ARE THE SERPENT PEOPLE OR GREEN LIZARDS, AND ALTHOUGH THEY DO NOT ACTUALLY SHIFT-SHAPE, THEY ACTUALLY DO TAKE ON THE ILLUSION OF TOTAL SERPENTINE PRESENTATION. EVIL SIMPLY BOILS OUT OF THEIR PRETENDED PIOUS FACES AND LYING VOICES. AND IN THIS VERY SCENARIO ENCOMPASSING OUR WORK—YOU ARE WITNESSING THE DAMAGING, EVIL INTENTS AND ACTIONS IN THEIR MOST RIDICULOUS AND CHILDISH BEHAVIORS. THEIR PATH OF DESTRUCTION IS EASILY WITNESSED WHILE, SEEMINGLY, THE ONES TRAPPED WITHIN THE LIE CANNOT SEE WHAT THEY ARE DOING. SO BE IT, FOR EACH HAS FREE-WILL CHOICES.

[QUOTING, Steve Hickel, from the Internet, Nov. 13, 1999, via John Ray:]

U.S. DOLLAR DETHRONED

What we are witnessing is the death of the dollar as we know it. This is a chess game where the loser’s currency devalues greatly. All the moves from all corners of the world are centered around gold, the dollar/IMF and the new Euro currency. This is the Achilles’ heel of our new-age bubble economy that will blind-side most Americans when they wake up and SEE GOLD REVALUED 20 OR MORE TIMES HIGHER. They will ask, “Where did that come from? I thought gold was dead.” The answers we get will miss the point. Perhaps it will be blamed on Y2K, or on hoarders, or LTCM, or hedge funds or derivatives. The correct answer is (and remember this) currency needs a basis of discipline that will prevent money from being printed, credit being created out of thin air, as the dollar has been since 1971. That is why the Euro is backed by 15% gold, valued at market. In 1971, President Nixon removed us from the gold standard. [H: Ah, but you caused him to resign the Presidency on some silly breaking-and-entering of the Democratic headquarters called Watergate. Nobody seemed to notice that he pulled the last straw holding up the economy (already a term with no meaning), totally setting the stage for the demise of the U.S.] That is when the present situation started in earnest. Since then, we have been in a dollar-exportation game that has flooded the world with over $400 billion dollars [H: This is a misstatement, as to amount, but I do not change another’s papers. You have out more than $400 TRILLION—so realize that you are dealing with a typographical, at the least, error.], mostly held overseas in Central-Bank accounts to purchase oil and other world-trade settlement items. [H: Perhaps Steve is speaking of actual cash currency, so we won’t hang up on it. Note as a reminder, however, that at least in Saudi Arabia, oil is paid for, by demand, in gold.]

With the advent of the Euro, the destructive actions of the IMF and the large dollar overflow, we are seeing desperate moves by desperate players—all in the background to an otherwise Goldilocks economy. So, how soon becomes more an issue of how can we tell we are getting close?

WATCH THE PLAYERS MOVE THEIR PIECES

—First, the U.S. was taken off the gold standard in 1971.

—Oil went up in 1973.

—Next, gold was demonetized in 1976-1978 and made cheaper in dollar terms, while OPEC bought up gold-repayment contracts from the mining companies, as they were loaned OPEC petrol-dollar profits through bullion banks. The BBs, in turn, leased private and some Central-Bank gold into the gold markets that made gold cheaper and cheaper as it was sold into the world paper gold markets. They did these moves even to the point of hedge funds jumping on board to short the gold market. Now, many of these gold-contract repayments are near default, as gold is no longer available in quantity to pay back the oil countries their gold that they had been receiving from the mines. Some of these folks are obviously concerned (BIS/Euro/Asia/OPEC).

—In 1982, the great bull market of the century started. Much of the money in the bull market came from excess liquidity, resulting from credit expansion in our banks. Since gold was no longer needed to back the dollar, banks and the Fed were free to create money without a resulting rise in the price of gold (this is the lack of discipline brought on by not having gold backing—as gold should have been allowed to rise as the dollars were created).

—1988-89 was when Japan’s bubble economy burst. They have been struggling ever since.

—1994 through 1999, hedge funds shorted the gold market in earnest, further increasing the gold shortages above. The BRE-X scandal broke gold’s back and almost destroyed gold mining as an investment, further depressing the price of gold.

—In 1999, the Bank of England announced a public gold auction of half of their gold reserves. The Euro was announced. The IMF became embroiled in a scandal. The European Union announced they won’t fund any more gold leasing except for 2000 tons (sale) over four years. GOLD HIT A 20-YEAR LOW. GOLD ROSE FROM $252 TO $338 IN ONE WEEK. RUMORS ARE FLOATING CURRENTLY THAT THE BANK OF ENGLAND DOESN’T WANT TO AUCTION ANY MORE OF ITS GOLD. Ashanti and Cambior (two gold mining companies) actually lose money when gold rises $80, because they (like many others) were threatened with a lower credit rating by bullion banks if they didn’t further hedge their production. Many gold mining companies and hedge funds scramble to cover their short gold positions. Gold lease rates rise to nearly 10% during the $80 price move. Inflation indices of the U.S. government start to show signs of inflation. Greenspan gives the doom-and-gloom (for him) Jackson Hole speech. The long-term bond yield continues to remain above 6%.

Conclusion: BRE-X almost seems as though, in retrospect, it was orchestrated to lower the price of gold, something not really mentioned then but makes sense now. The pace of chess moves has increased in frequency and intensity in 1999. Where it took years to see these changes before—they are now coming weekly and daily. This indicates that the end-game is near. The stock-market bubble seems to inversely track the efforts to contain gold in a box. IN OTHER WORDS, AS THE STOCK MARKET FINISHES UP THE GREATEST BULL MARKET, GOLD AND THE EURO PROMISE TO BRING IN A NEW GOLD AND EURO MARKET AT THE EXPENSE OF THE DOW, NASDAQ AND DOLLAR.

[H: NOW, PLEASE PAY ATTENTION TO THE NEXT “PREDICTIONS”.]

—Long-term bond yield above 7%, or higher.

—DOW and NASDAQ to converge, where the NASDAQ will rise to meet the DOW as the DOW lowers to meet NASDAQ. As that becomes evident, folks will begin to question values (as if some aren’t already, for example GREENSPAN).

—An increase in volatility and a divergence in COMEX and London Bullion Market Association gold prices from actual physical gold prices, where physical will continue to gain a premium over paper, such that the paper markets either fold or certain large players fold.

—Bubble market to be held together until AFTER ELECTION NEXT YEAR.

—[H: !!!!!] GOLD TO RISE ABOVE $1,000 AFTER ELECTION.

—Banking and dollar crisis after election next year.

—Rumblings of gold-backed U.S. currency.

[H: Please note these things and then, later, we will talk about the need for getting gold as actual collateral to back the very GOLD-BACKED GLOBAL VALUE. Global IS gold! It is guaranteed by the U.S. Treasury and Federal Reserve, as is ACTUAL GOLD. The demand to further cover the reserve in actual further acquisition of gold metal is to bring the banks into a gold-backed status, and to avoid using the “global” values as anything other than “reserves” to allow for the bringing in and exchanging values for the gold itself. In other words, to SECURE THE HOLDERS of the commodity. I believe you can see that if you have gold at even $300, and it rises to over $1,000, you have tripled the base value. In this manner, the world economies can shift back into stability and, in the interim, there is no possibility of even a bank LOSS.

The U.S. is going to HAVE TO RETURN TO A GOLD STANDARD for, when all is said and done, the Banksters cannot prevail. And yes, there is plenty of “reserve”, right in “GAIA/Global”, to demand that happen. At present, however, for stabilization reasons, we have publicly agreed to do no business in the domestic United States. This is for several reasons, but one of the major reasons is to allow the U.S. to legitimately get gold from such as the Asian countries, to replace that which has been sold-out of the U.S. It will all make sense as we move ahead. And, no, the Corts, Brents, Rickies and Trickies will NOT stop this program! They become expendable puppets for Satan himself. They have caused us a lot of grief but, children-of-TRUTH, what else is new?

—More nationalization of gold mines overseas, as more hedge positions put additional mining companies at risk.

—Several large gold-mining companies to fold or be taken over by their banks.

—Gold to continue to play in the news on an ever-increasing basis.

—IMF TO VALUE THEIR GOLD AT MARKET.

—OPEC TO EVENTUALLY ACCEPT EUROS IN PAYMENT FOR OIL.

—More financial scandals similar to PEI and Armstrong (scapegoats?).

—Talk of new regional currencies. [H: THIS IS A BIG ONE.]

—China to DIS-HOARD DOLLARS AND BUY MORE GOLD. [H: AMONG OTHER VERY IMPORTANT USES OF GOLD AND INTERCHANGE.]

—Paper millionaires from bubble market to lose fortunes by buying on dips—as markets eventually correct.

—Political rumblings of GOLD CONFISCATIONS, GOLD MINE TAXES AND NEW DOLLAR CURRENCY BASED ON GOLD. [H: THIS IS SERIOUS BUSINESS, CITIZENS OF THE U.S.— YOUR GOLD WAS CONFISCATED FROM YOU IN THE EARLY 1930s AND PLANS ARE ALREADY LAID TO DO IT AGAIN! THIS IS A VERY MAJOR

REASON FOR DOING NO DOMESTIC BUSINESS WITH THE POWERS-THAT-BE IN THE U.S. WE WILL SECURE ASSETS WHERE ASSETS “CAN” BE SECURED.]

—Euro to rise significantly against the dollar after the election.

—European Union to create a standing army and navy.

—India to become a more dominant world player.

—Solar and wind power to become more popular.

—Big push to get off oil-dependency, as gasoline goes above $2.50 per gallon after the election.

—Steve Hickel, Nov. 13, 1999

[END OF QUOTING]

Please note, readers, that these are not predictions or “prophecies” pulled out of thin air. This is information based on factual probabilities and KNOWN research.

This is why you MUST be prepared as best you can. If the dollar topples (collapses) and gold is confiscated—you as U.S. citizens are back into the Dark Ages! I truly am sorry for you who have joined us and then turned against us, for we cannot secure FOR YOU anything, if you have chosen that particular route of travel. I did not mislead you. Perhaps you expected immediate return and it hasn’t happened YET—but it will, and it will be large. However, I think that most of you will find that Ekkers want NO MORE of the headaches, save for a few who can be assisted in securing your loans. This has been a long and unimagined painful journey, this past decade, and those choosing to break contracts and actually deliberately DAMAGE all other participants simply will do whatever they will do, for we will not make any effort to secure anything for those entities. We CAN’T!

Our people will continue in fiduciary responsibility, until the matters and books (if we can ever reclaim any of the records) are cleared. Those whose demands have been for a return will, when the legal matters are closed, be returned their loans, as adjusted to the price of gold, to be handled out of any outstanding interest due. If gold is confiscated prior to that time, then the loss shall be sustained by all, for there will be no further consideration of gold. The agreements were with The Phoenix Institute, in the time before the Tuten-Green debacles which tied up the Institute. The loans were based on A GOLD STANDARD OF VALUATION, and everything that has happened has been deliberately structured by the adversarial people to cause you to lose everything.

My suggestion today? Help the people stay afloat at the Institute, itself, and keep the lines of communication (the paper) going and all this will be credibly cleared, ASAP.

As we move into the next topic, the IMF and Camdessus resignation, I ask that you realize something VERY, VERY IMPORTANT. All of the things which have flowed in these past 13 years have been orchestrated, coincidentally, with the “demise” and deliberate downfall of Ferdinand Marcos. This is NOT to be taken lightly and yet I am not going to give you truth of details. But if you can’t believe that everything is connected to everything else, you are sadly mistaken.

The IMF, right to this moment, has been able to control the world. We have now provided “the world” with a way to survive the IMF and their own “controllers”. It is Big—and it can be done and it shall be done.

[QUOTING from Global Intelligence Update, Nov. 11, 1999:]

SHAKEUP AT THE IMF AND THE GLOBAL SHAKEUP YET TO COME

SUMMARY:

International Monetary Fund (IMF) Managing Director Michel Camdessus tendered his resignation Nov. 9, citing personal reasons. In the midst of several investigations into money laundering of IMF loans in Russia, the timing raises questions over the extent to which the institution has been tainted by the scandals. In addition, the internal debate over the IMF’s future direction will now play out in the choice of a new managing director; Asian nations seek more influence over the IMF. A battle is now brewing over the future leadership and the viability of the IMF is ultimately at stake. A discredited and paralyzed IMF, in turn, would threaten the fabric of the global financial system.

ANALYSIS:

Michel Camdessus, Managing Director of the International Monetary Fund (IMF), announced that he would step down by mid-February 2000. [H: Certainly an “interesting” time, don’t you think?] Camdessus cited personal reasons, and said it was a good time for transition in the institutional leadership. Camdessus suggested that he took the appointment in 1997 knowing he wouldn’t serve the full five-year term—but he didn’t want a change in leadership in the middle of ASIA’S FINANCIAL CRISIS. Camdessus said that for him to complete his current term “would be inappropriate in a world in permanent need of renewal of its institutions”.

His move comes as investigations into possible misappropriation and money laundering of IMF funds from Russia intensify. In addition, the IMF and other international-lending institutions have recently admitted that assistance programs linked with stiff austerity requirements may have actually added to the difficulties in some recipient nations in Asia.

His action may be linked to opposition to the IMF’s unpopular practice of linking aid to austerity measures, as well as the need to keep the IMF from being dragged into the Russia money-laundering scandal. Whether IMF officials were directly involved in the Russian bank scandal, or [whether] it was simply a case of mismanagement, the IMF is, nonetheless, faced with a crucial leadership decision.

The debate over the next IMF leader may well leave the institution paralyzed, as factions push for a leader who will redefine policy in their terms. The fundamental battle is between the United States, the IMF’s biggest donor, which demands that loans be conditioned on radical free-market reforms, and other donors and recipients, who argue that loans should be sensitive to individual concerns and situations.

A key example is found in the underlying tension over whether capital controls are legitimate economic tools. Since Asia’s financial crisis, when Malaysian Prime Minister Mahathir Mohamad refused IMF assistance, opting instead for capital controls, the issue has triggered hot debate. Malaysia’s economic recovery, independent of IMF assistance and without severe economic reforms and social consequences, has inspired other Asian IMF recipients to support, or at least not condemn, limited capital controls.

Beyond capital controls, the debate is between proponents of a GLOBAL ECONOMIC SYSTEM AND PROPONENTS OF MORE REGIONAL OPTIONS. With Camdessus no longer at the helm, these factions will attempt to wield their influence during the search for a new managing director.

This will pit nations like the United States—advocates of the one-solution-fits-all free-market policy—against countries like Japan, which are supportive of more regional economic security nets, including an often-proposed ASIAN MONETARY FUND. The United States will likely call for more auditing, tighter controls, transparency and restrictions, in light of the Russian bank scandal. However, these very principles have been tearing the IMF apart all along, as they contrast with the desires of nations like Japan and recipient nations, forced to accept stringent reforms while begging for assistance.

As with the long-running debate over the choice of the World Trade Organization (WTO) head earlier this year, the selection of a replacement for Camdessus will likely paralyze the management of the IMF. If accusations of institutional complicity, or even gross mismanagement or neglect, in the Russian scandal are raised, the resignation, then, threatens the very viability of the organization.

The IMF is the key proponent of the idea of a unified global economy. If it is crippled by infighting and potentially discredited by scandal, such a global economic system, itself, is in jeopardy. This, in turn, would lend credence to calls for regional systems operating under differing rules. It may also trigger new or relapsed economic crises, as donor nations call in loans and the IMF suspends new distributions. While Camdessus may, indeed, have resigned for personal reasons at a time of relative financial stability in the world, the result may be an accelerated realignment of the global economy.

[END OF QUOTING]

I am going to skip over, today, the information about choosing up a new head of the IMF. The Power Elite, of course, want to maintain control—at least until they can develop covers for their prior actions and get what they can out of the Asian mess. But, I remind you: WE HAVE A PLAN which totally negates that whole system. The IMF and WB have, in collateral holding, the assets—(gold in the Central Banks), minerals and all property of these nations in point above. THE NATIONS CAN'T USE THEIR OWN PROPERTY TO EVEN PAY OFF THE IMF AND WORLD BANK, BECAUSE ASSETS ARE ALREADY COLLATERAL FOR THE ALREADY RIP-OFF LOANS. Nasty? Oh yes, indeed. The U.S., by the way, is deeper in debt and has the SAME problem, except that the asset of the GLOBAL value IS NOT A PART OF IT AND, IN FACT, IS A DEBT OF THE VERY INSTITUTIONS UNDER OBSERVATION RIGHT HERE—RIGHT NOW. Still think God can't make this work, readers? But God must have hands and dependable teams who will stand both against the adversary and for responsible actions. I have THAT! So, do we need a lot more? No, not any longer! So, too late recognized, too late on the scene. We have no intentions of usurping our own people's lives to attend the wishes of the ones who hurt, disallowed help, demanded hate instead of love, while hiding within the lie and, in general, just want to make a bundle off us now. No, thank you. We will try to patch up our lives and get on with "living".

So, are we destroying the IMF? Goodness no, they will be paid from those liened assets and their OWN DEBT. The nations can then carry on with their own separate assets, free-and-clear, and reclaim (after paying off the debts and interest with debt money) their own assets having been held as collateral. Clean and clear! I would project that the accountants, etc.—who have worked for the IMF in record-keeping—can easily find placement in the new transparent order of banking and government structure. This is called FREE ENTERPRISE.

And how can this be accomplished as to direct "help" to the hurting people? Well, read on, and you will note one avenue of assistance, as to bookkeeping and fund handling, as we unfold the ever-enlarging programs.

ADB ATTACKS POVERTY CLOSER TO HOME

By Luz Baguioro, Philippines correspondent

ASIAN DEVELOPMENT BANK TO FUND PROJECTS THAT WILL BENEFIT THE POOR, RATHER THAN TO PROP UP ITS ECONOMIES

MANILA—The Asian Development Bank, yesterday launched a renewed, all-out assault on poverty in a radical policy shift that will redirect 40 percent of its public-sector loans to projects aimed at reducing the ranks of the poor in the Asia-Pacific region.

ADB President Tadao Chino said the bank's operations and lending policies would be OVERHAULED to reflect its "overarching goal" of lifting close to 900 MILLION PEOPLE—REPRESENTING TWO-THIRDS OF THE WORLD'S POOR—OUT OF EXTREME POVERTY.

The move was prompted by stinging criticism by Western donors, during the bank's annual meeting in May, of its management in bailing out countries hit by the ASIAN FINANCIAL CRISIS.

The ADB lent US$9.4 billion ($15.7 billion) in 1997, with about US$4 billion used to help finance the salvage plans for Indonesia, South Korea and Thailand.

The financial sector accounted for 28 percent or US$1.7 billion of the US$6.0 billion that the bank lent last year. [H: Interesting note here: It is accepted in the Philippines that 30-40 PERCENT OF ALL MONIES FLOWING GO DIRECTLY TO GRAFT AND CORRUPTION.]

By contrast, social infrastructure received US$705 million or 11.8 per cent of total loans. Agriculture received US$420.9 million or seven percent.

The United States and European donors urged the ADB to refocus itself on fighting poverty in the region and let the International Monetary Fund stamp out the region-wide contagion.

While it has yet to set a target date to achieve its ambitious goal, the bank said it supported a United Nations target of eradicating absolute poverty in the region by 2010.

Mr. Chino noted that, despite decades of steady economic growth, nearly one-in-three ASIANS SURVIVE ON LESS THAN US$1 A DAY.

[H: It is interesting to note, however, that typical products, food in the supermarkets and small appliances, big appliances and hardware prices are about the same or higher than in the U.S. This is

STARK POVERTY.]

Population growth has also increased the absolute number of poor people, with 80 percent of the region's poor, living in India and China.

About 55 million are in Southeast Asia where, in the wake of the protracted financial crisis, over 10 million joined the ranks of the poor.

Poverty is known to be particularly severe for women, who make up two-thirds of the region's poor.

The gender division of labour and responsibilities for household welfare means that the burden of poverty falls most heavily on women, according to an ADB study.

While poverty reduction is the primary responsibility of the countries themselves, Mr. Chino said the ADB could be their "powerful ally".

To drive the implementation of the new strategy, the ADB will set up a poverty-reduction unit by the end of the year and allocate not less than 40 percent of its public-sector lending for it by 2001.

It will undertake poverty analyses of individual countries to determine the most effective policies and institutions to fight poverty.

Results of these studies will also be used in drawing up an "annual action plan for poverty reduction", starting next year. "Future projects will have to show that they directly or indirectly benefit large numbers of very poor people," said ADB vice-president Peter Sullivan.

"This means we'll be doing more farm-to-market roads and fewer expressways, more rural electrification projects and fewer big power plants," he said.

The Manila-based bank, which lends about US$6 billion for projects and programmes yearly, said the 40 percent target assumed the bank would continue to have a sufficient amount of funds.

The bank last month started negotiations for the replenishment of the Asian Development Fund. It called on affluent Asian nations, such as Singapore, to help.

"The Asian crisis underscored the fact that Asia has a massive underclass, which has been untouched by the general rise in prosperity," Mr. Sullivan said.

ASIA'S POOR: WHERE THEY ARE

* CLOSE to 900 million of the world's poor live in the Asia-Pacific region. Two-thirds are women.

* Almost 80 percent of the region's poor live in China (225 million) and India (450 million).

* The Asian financial crisis, which hit the region for nearly two years, swelled the ranks of the poor in Southeast Asia by more than 10 million, to reach 55 million.

* In measuring poverty, the ADB considers access to basic education, health care, nutrition, water and sanitation, as well as intangibles such as powerlessness and the ability to take part in society.

[END OF QUOTING]

Do any of you of my people actually believe God would allow this, HIS program, to fail? Especially, do you believe that our people of the Hosts will fall to such as the Trickies or the likes of evil individuals who care nothing for anything or anyone save themselves? These evil people would stop at NOTHING, until STOPPED, to simply "destroy". It is time for you people who would want a better world to STOP those evil greed-mongers who lie, cheat, steal and destroy goodness that their evil might prevail.

The Bush Crime Family Exposed

By Russell S. Bowen

The title of this article refers to a book by the same name. With the author's permission, we will be bringing this book to you in "bite-sized" installments over the next several weeks.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

When the author graduated from Los Gatos Military Academy in California in 1942, he already had been in uniform for nearly a decade. He spent his whole childhood in military training, attaining the rank of captain at the Castle Heights Military Academy.

At the age of 17, he became an aviation cadet after passing the examination in Sacramento, California. Still only a teenager, he spent the war years flying P-38s, dueling German planes in Italy as a "Top Gun" fighter pilot. He was a highly decorated pilot with the famous 82nd Fighter Group which demonstrated their fearlessness, dedication and supreme skill by flying combat aircraft under murderous conditions.

Following a meeting with the Pope at the Vatican in 1945, Bowen, at 19, was offered the chance to join the secret team of the OSS directed by General William "Wild Bill" Donovan. Bowen became an undercover agent, involved in a variety of secret missions.

Bowen was assigned in 1959 to visit Asunción, Paraguay, to familiarize himself with the traffic routes of drugs coming into the U.S. through Cuba. His information on routes passed on to U. S. Customs was described as "the most important piece of information" they had received.

In his military career and as a strict Catholic, Bowen had been trained to follow orders from his superiors without question. Forty-seven years as a mole and member of William Donovan's secret team of "Super Spies", he received orders and reported directly to William Casey, William Pawley, and his brother in the Dominican Republic, John Knight. In 1958 and 1959 he reported to Batista's Secretary Villalon, the Argentine who became the right-hand man for Reagan. Still supported by several intelligence patriots Bowen survived operation "Silver Star", his last role. That same deference to authority led Bowen to carry out an operation that cost him six-and-a-half years in a federal prison in Springfield, MO. Bowen, an undercover agent in a cocaine-smuggling scheme that he was trying to expose, took the fall after diverting a drug load to Sylvania, Georgia, rather than following orders which required him to deliver it to Homestead, Florida.

Among his many awards and decorations for meritorious service is the Distinguished Service Medal. After World War II, he flew numerous emergency airlifts and rescue missions as a free-lance pilot. He served as a flight officer for such world figures as the United Nation's leader Dag Hammarsköld, the Shah of Iran and Cuban leader Fulgencio Batista. Among many other citations, Bowen received a commendation in 1956 from U.S. Army Major General J.F.H. Seitz for bravery rescuing a wounded Army captain in Iran. Bowen even regulated the flight altitude to make his patient comfortable. "In the opinion of my surgeon, these actions by Captain Bowen may have meant the difference between life and death," wrote Seitz.

Bowen regrets that in his youthful idealism and his desire to excel, he was misled by some American leaders who claimed to be the guardians of America. Instead, they were then and are now damaging the country. Acknowledging that in his zeal to expose wrongdoing, he himself committed illegal acts (under orders from his government), Bowen has dedicated his life to exposing our government's ineffective and counter-productive efforts to curb the drug trade. He labels that current effort under the misguided control of U.S. President George Bush "nothing more than a war of words". And he asks that readers of this book who have information about the U.S. Drug Trade contact him through the publisher.

Bowen is a retired Brigadier General in the U.S. Army. He lives in Florida.

INTRODUCTION

I COME NOT TO PRAISE THEE...

"When the president does it, that means it is not illegal."—Richard Nixon

"When the commander-in-chief of a nation finds it necessary to order employees of the government or agencies of the government to do things that would technically break the law, he has to be able to declare it legal for them to do that."—Ronald Reagan

"Read my lips: No New Taxes."—George Bush, candidate for President, 1988

It was not just another routine cable that George Bush received on November 1, 1975, in Beijing, China. The public image he presented was that of an ambassador boldly forming U. S. policy towards his host country but the reality was that media-darling Secretary of State Henry Kissinger told fake world-statesman Bush exactly what to say and do.

This cable was not another routine instruction, however. New U.S. President Gerald Ford, smarting from criticism of his pardon of Watergate-beleaguered Richard Nixon, asked Bush to head up the CIA. Acting upon his always strong opportunistic motives, the tall, reedy-voiced Bush must have sensed this was a chance to get back to the U. S. and to return to politics. He quickly consulted his wife, Barbara, and cabled his acceptance.

It might have sounded like a new development, to have a former ambassador and congressman head up the CIA—and it certainly was big news in the media—but there's evidence that Bush secretly had long been active in the CIA. Why was Bush selected? Speculation was that popularity-seeking President Ford's motive was mainly to get Bush away from political contention in the 1976 race which the President was facing.

By the end of January, Bush was confirmed by the U.S. Senate. He moved into the CIA's tree-shrouded, suburban-looking Langley, Virginia headquarters, office number 7D5607. It's an unattractive, L-shaped office with a square sitting area and a column incongruously placed in the middle. Room 7D5607 is a cramped alcove, housing not much more than the director's desk. Picture windows overlook a panorama of the deep, verdant Virginia woods.

What Bush did here in this inconspicuous office was a metaphor for his entire career. He acted busy. He held a job. But his accomplishments were limited to self-serving initiatives. Those who knew him, then, say that if he was deferential and obsequiously loyal in previous jobs, he was downright obedient in his new role as chief spy for the U.S.

But none of this should come as any surprise.

Here's the public face George Herbert Walker Bush would undoubtedly like to see perpetuated: Courageous war hero, popular Yale Phi Beta Kappa graduate, successful businessman, devoted family man, old "China hand", deft U. N. diplomat, successful anti-drug czar, charming scion from an old-line American family and if that's not enough, the "Great Liberator" of Panama and Kuwait.

That's not the real face of the President.

It's only a mask.

Strip away that popular image and the American people have the face of a monumental hypocrite and consummate political opportunist. The face belongs to a man who never has to worry about his convictions because he does not have any. He has no principles. He has shown himself ready to make any deal at all with but one criterion—does it serve his own self-advancement?

For example, in 1980, while opposing Ronald Reagan for the GOP presidential nomination, Bush was pro-choice on abortion. After losing to Reagan and signing on as his running mate, Bush converted to anti-abortion, Reagan's position, which he has maintained since to prevent fallout from the party's right wing. No one really knows his real position on this moral issue if, indeed, he has one.

Throughout his career, Bush has always seemed to be in or around major events of our times, from, say, the Kennedy assassination to covert wars and economics initiatives. His proximity to these events supports the belief of some observers that he may have played a part in them.

At times, it is certain he had a role, often peripheral, often obscure and frequently denied—a mystery man darting in and out of calamitous events—and now, a presidency that is a voyage without purpose or direction and with only one goal: re-election.

The establishment press, for the most part, has largely ignored the real Bush, who attained the highest office in this country despite a record of deceitful dealing. Peel away the mask and the real face of George Bush emerges as someone who:

- Was an abject failure as Drug Czar for the Reagan administration.

- Had a close relationship with a network of anti-

Semites with Nazi and fascist affiliations.

- Had a widely documented connection with the 1980 “October Surprise”, the group which sabotaged Jimmy Carter’s efforts to have the Iranian hostages released.

- Had a role in trying to delay the Watergate investigation after Richard Nixon put him in charge of the Republican National Committee.

- Encouraged the CIA to go back to business as usual, including covert and dirty-trick operations, when he took over in 1976 (giving him the dubious distinction of being the only U.S. President who was also head of the CIA).

- Was a strong supporter for the secret 1986 arms shipments to Iran.

- Had a mysterious role in the Kennedy assassination.

- Helped General Motors to kill a “smog decree” and was instrumental in blocking environmental reforms.

The latter fact came out recently when the New York Times graded Bush. The headline in typical Bush fashion pointed out his record here was one of “contradictions”, as it seems to be on most issues.

Illustrating once again how he will do and say virtually anything for self-advancement, Bush at one point supported and, indeed, applauded the Clean Air Act. However, that was before the election.

“But now, with a Presidential campaign in progress and the economy stubbornly sluggish, the law, the most comprehensive and expensive environmental statute ever enacted, is under attack with the administration, where business interests often seem to outweigh environmental issues,” wrote the Times.

The story on the front page of the Times noted that while Bush has never been a strong environmentalist, he had, in standard hypocritical fashion when he won the White House, said he supported the popular American perception that our environment needed protection. But that’s changed. Available evidence, the story pointed out, lends support to a reversal of policies pursued by Bush’s predecessor.

Richard H. Meeker, president of the Association of Alternative Newsweeklies and publisher of Willamette Week in Portland, Maine, says that if the average American voter had been reading the alternate press’s coverage during the last election, George Bush would never have won.

It appears, on paper at least, that Bush’s entire life prepared him for the presidency. He served eight years as vice president. Prior to that, he was in the U.S. Congress and was a diplomat. His life might be described as serving the public.

But it was not the public he was serving. It was himself. Throughout his career, he’s been adept at worming his way into the confidence of people who then find something for George to do. Unfortunately, these “something” type of jobs never get done when George takes them on. He’s proven himself a failure at every position he’s held. What is particularly troubling is that he is now at the helm of the free world, responsible for the future of America.

Perhaps Bush’s failures should come as no surprise, however, because he has never been in touch with his fellow Americans. Even when the rest of the country was plunged into the Great Depression, Bush’s family was living in a large, dark-shingled house with broad verandas on Grove Lane in the exclusive Deer Park section of Greenwich, Conn. The family’s every whim was taken care of by four servants—three maids and a chauffeur.

It has become obvious that Bush’s rise on the national stage that he has come to dominate, has been almost directly proportional to the decline, if not degradation, of the American constitutional structure. The sheer magnitude of negative ramifications by Bush’s possible return to the White House, with a sham “mandate”, has compelled the author to put aside a number of other crucial investigations to devote months of careful research to bring before the American people the true face of this man who would be dictator of U.S.A., Inc.

There is no end to the Bush deception machine. Much of what he and his public-relations people present as accomplishments, are often detrimental to most Americans, while at the same time benefiting Bush himself.

There is, for example, the contrived spectacle of Bush’s Operation Desert Storm against Iraq, that left its leader, Saddam Hussein, the President’s partner in the oil business, safe and sound. Before this country is drawn into another pre-planned and choreographed mini-war with the likes of Iraq, Libya or North Korea, Americans deserve access to the hidden details and secret agendas of the main proponents.

Bush insisted in 1990 that “our quarrel is not with the people of Iraq”. The point was to “liberate” Kuwait, a principality which, in the words of another presidential candidate, H. Ross Perot, “defines decadence”. In that struggle, Bush likened his “real enemy”, Hussein, to a modern-day Hitler.

That is an interesting comparison; right on target, in fact. Saddam had been boosted in his rise to the fourth-largest military power in the world, through secret contracts with Bush and his cronies, in much the same way that the Fuhrer’s Third Reich had been financed by George Bush’s father, Prescott Bush and his friends, Henry Ford and others, more than a half century ago.

That’s only part of the story. There’s the travesty of Senate confirmation hearings for his nominee to the U.S. Supreme Court, Clarence Thomas. Washington Post writer David Broder said that move was planned more than a year before the nomination to mobilize Bush’s conservative base and to drive a wedge into the Democratic coalition.

Broder said, “Such considerations may strike you as cynical. But they are a great deal more honest than President Bush’s pretense that he searched the country for the best possible nominee and was surprised and delighted to find that it just happened to be a Black conservative named Clarence Thomas.”

There’s more. How about Bush’s much-touted role as America’s chief drug cop in the Reagan Administration? He headed the South Florida Task Force and the National Narcotics Border Interdiction System in the mid-1980s that left everything to be desired.

A telling commentary was that his leadership of the task force was not renewed after he served one year on it. By the fall of 1986, soon after Bush had left his position there, Florida drug-enforcement officials admitted that the amount of narcotics smuggled into the U.S. had skyrocketed. At the same time, the Government Accounting Office (GAO) reported that cocaine imports had doubled over the previous year.

The Bush-controlled U.S. Justice Department is generally regarded as a national disgrace for its foot-dragging in the investigation and prosecution of virtually any case involving drugs. As the former Commissioner of U.S. Customs, William von Rabb, declared in disgust when he resigned in the summer of 1989:

“The war on drugs is a war of words.” The only real battles, he said, are being fought against the minorities and downtrodden, while those in authority are protecting the government’s monopoly in the trade.

The first impetus to begin this book came in 1976, as the nation was still reeling from the revelations of the Church Committee about the well-documented CIA misdeeds. Chilean diplomat Orlando Letelier and his assistant Ronni Moffitt were killed that year by a car bomb on Washington’s Embassy Row. Why was CIA Director George Bush unwilling to aggressively pursue the killers, who were later discovered to be members of the Chilean Secret Police?

A few years later, 52 American hostages in Teheran were released within 20 minutes of President Reagan’s inauguration. Was this the “good old boy network” of George Bush—again? Ironically, it was Bush who coined the term “October Surprise”.

What is important about this book is the fact that had Americans known some of the facts that will be presented here, hopefully we might have avoided some of our mistakes.

The obscene spectacle of “Operation Just Cause”, to name one example, could have been averted. That coldly-calculated move pushed by the Bush Administration removed Panama strongman Manuel Noriega. Had the American people been aware of his three-decades-long association with the CIA, the civilian death toll from that operation—believed to be over 4,000 human beings—could have been averted.

In the same way, despite some efforts by American patriots, few in the U.S. in 1988 knew of the plan to assassinate CIA asset Noriega for his role in drug dealing.

Lt. Col. James “Bo” Gritz, Commander of Special Forces in Panama, revealed the attempt 12 years earlier to “remove this wart from the nose of a decent society”. But that effort had been shelved by the ultimate insider, then-CIA Director George Bush, according to Gritz. All Americans suffered through the following years, as tons of cocaine poured into our country, undeterred by Bush, who essentially condoned a massive drug infestation that he might have prevented.

In typically hypocritical fashion, he privately thwarted a real effort at curbing the drug trade, while publicly taking the stance that he was fighting and, indeed, winning the war on drugs. Some war. It was not even a fistfight.

Meanwhile, despite growing evidence, the public has been treated to years of limp Bush denials that he “wasn’t in the loop” on the Iran-Contra weapons and drug deals that have repulsed the American public. Closer to home, Bush’s sons have been involved in the large-scale looting of America’s financial institutions.

In hindsight, this book should have been written prior to the 1988 elections. It has been extremely distressing to witness the American people and the world subjected to a systematic program of travesties pushed forward by the Bush Administration.

Many of our current sociological and economic problems might have been less serious had we understood the hidden agenda that Bush and his hangers-on have cruelly unleashed upon our country.

It should come as no surprise to readers that the Bush Administration has not made it easy for Americans to find out the truth. While researching this book, for example, the author discovered that the records and correspondence of Samuel Bush—George’s grandfather, who ran the arms-related section of the War Industries Board in 1918—had been burned “to save space” in the National Archives. It’s one more indication of how George Bush may be one of the most “covert” presidents in American history.

New York Times columnist Tom Wicker raised the question, “Do the American people really want to elect a former Director of the CIA as their president?” back on April 18, 1988. “That’s hardly been discussed so far,” he wrote. “But it seems obvious that a CIA chief might well be privy to the kind of 'black secrets' that could later make him—as a public figure—subject to blackmail.”

“Given the agency’s worldwide reputation for covert information and political meddling, moreover, one of its former directors in the White House certainly would be the object of suspicion and mistrust in numerous parts of the globe. And well might be.”

Insight from the months of painstaking preparation of this manuscript allow me to state unequivocally that George Bush is utterly beholden to the establishment and special interests, especially oil. Since this is an unauthorized work, the writer has been forced to labor under severe constraints of time and expense. But the author hopes that by seeing the real face of George Bush in the following pages, Americans will realize the grand deception that has been played on them. Only by knowing the truth, and by seeing the real George Bush and his self-serving agenda, can Americans be freed from the deceptions they have so long been forced to endure.

CHAPTER 1

IN THE NAME OF THE FATHER

“War is just a racket.”—Major General Smedley Butler, former Commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps

“And what does it amount to?” said Satan, with his evil chuckle. “Nothing at all. You gain nothing: you always come out where you went in. For a million years the race has gone on monotonously propagating itself and monotonously reperforming this dull nonsense to what end? No wisdom can guess! Who gets a profit out of it? Nobody but a parcel of usurping little monarchs and nobilities who despise you; would feel defiled if you touched them; would shut the door in your face if you proposed to call; whom you slave for, fight for, die for, and are not ashamed of it, but proud; whose existence is a perpetual insult to you, and you are afraid to resent it; who are mendicants supported by your alms, yet assume toward you the airs of benefactor toward beggar; who address you in the language of master toward slave, and are answered in the language of slave toward master; who are worshipped by you with your mouth, while in your heart if you have one you despise yourselves for it. The first man was a hypocrite and a coward, qualities which have not failed yet in his line; it is the foundation upon which all civilizations have been built.”—Mark Twain in The Mysterious Stranger

“Those who do not understand history are condemned to repeat it.”—George Santayana, philosopher and writer

While Democratic candidate Michael Dukakis spent most of the 1988 presidential campaign trying to dodge the liberal label, George Bush and the Republican National Committee have carefully rejected any discussion of the “N-word” through three national campaigns. This is not at all surprising, in light of the fact that Bush’s closest friend and confidante is Texas mystery-man William Stamps Farish III, inheritor of the Auschwitz death-camp fortune.

When he was elected vice president in 1980, Bush designated Farish to manage all of his personal wealth in a “blind trust”. As one of the richest men in Texas, Farish keeps his own business affairs secret. Bush knows that he can rely on Farish to keep the secrets about his own family money, since Farish’s family fortune was made in the same Nazi enterprise with George Bush’s father.

Farish’s grandfather, W.S. Farish, pleaded “no contest” in 1942 to charges of criminal conspiracy with the Nazis. As president and chief executive of Standard Oil of New Jersey, Farish was the controller of the global cartel between Standard Oil and the German I.G. Farben concern.

The joint enterprise had opened the Auschwitz slave-labor camp on June 14, 1940, to produce artificial rubber and gasoline from coal. Jews and political opponents supplied by Hitler as slaves, were worked to death or murdered.

Senator Harry S. Truman headed a Senate committee investigating the corporations’ collaboration with the Nazis. Farish was brought before the committee to answer questions concerning his company’s alliance with the Hitler regime that had begun with his presidency of Jersey Standard in 1933.

Before Farish testified, Truman told newsmen, “I think this approaches treason.” In fact, Standard Oil’s dealings with Hitler continued right up to the end of World War II.

In September of 1988, revelations concerning the pro-Nazi, fascist and anti-Semitic backgrounds of members of the Bush presidential campaign led to the resignation or firing of seven high-ranking officials in the ethnic-outreach program.

The seven were part of the GOP’s recruitment of the most extreme, rightwing elements in the Eastern European ethnic communities of the United States. The party encouraged participation by its ethnic Heritage Groups Council, the fundraising clique to which the seven anti-Semites belonged since at least 1949. In fact, an RNC internal memorandum shows that George Bush, while GOP national chairman in 1973, had full knowledge of and, in the words of the memo, provided “total support” for the party’s ethnic Heritage Groups.

The charges against several of the fundraisers were not new: On November 21, 1971, the eve of the Watergate break-in, The Washington Post exposed Richard Nixon’s Heritage Groups, two years before Bush became Chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Bush has repeatedly professed ignorance of the pro-Nazi backgrounds of these groups. Two of the individuals fired were also key figures in the Post revelations 21 years ago.

The top-level 1976 memorandum was written by Heritage Groups Director Col. Jay Niemczyk to the then RNC co-chairman Robert Carter, praising Bush’s leadership of the ethnic recruitment effort as having “added needed strength and impetus” to the Republicans’ exploitation of transplanted Nazi collaborators and war criminals.

In addition to the Heritage Groups, however, the Republicans’ pursuit of hardline anti-communist support included the enlistment of ancillary ethnic organizations to host campaign stops for the Republican Party, attend White House meetings and raise funds.

Two of the campaign staffers fired in 1988 were also key figures in revelations by the Post, 17 years before. Philip Guarino, a former Roman Catholic priest, was charged with being a member of the Italian fascist group known as P-2. Laszlo Pastor admitted having been a member of the Hungarian fascist party, the Arrow/Cross, and having been an Arrow/Cross envoy to Nazi Germany during World War II.

Yaroslav Stetsko (who died in 1985) was Bush’s ally with perhaps the closest ties to Hitler’s Germany.

An extreme Ukrainian nationalist, he collaborated with the Nazis in World War II as the very short-term “prime minister” of the “independent” Ukrainian puppet government set up in Galicia, or the Western Lands of the Ukraine.

Captured Nazi documents revealed that more than 100,000 Jews were exterminated in the Galician capital of Lvov within two years of the establishment of Stesko’s regime.

According to official U.S. and Allied policies on the treatment of unsuspected war criminals and collaborators, each of the four organizations of which he was an activist leader were proscribed, and their members barred from entering the United States and subject to arrest-on-sight as suspected war criminals. One such group, the Anti-Bolshevik Bloc of Nations (ABN), participated in a 1983 White House meeting with Reagan and Bush. A photograph he retained of the meeting was signed, “To the Honorable Yaroslav Stetsko, With Best Wishes, George Bush”.

The 1976 RNC memo demonstrates that a basic goal of the Heritage Groups Council through the last 40 years has been to maintain the anti-Soviet, anti-communist Cold War zeal of Eastern-European immigrants. The memo demonstrates that Bush not only knew about the workings of the Heritage Groups, he actually worked with their leaders.

It unmasked Bush’s strategy in 1988 and again in 1992 of stonewalling revelations about the Nazi war-criminal apologists. His employment in both campaigns of Fred Malek, a well-known Nazi collaborator, graphically underscores his lack of concern about the victims of Hitler’s war machine.<sup>1</sup>

George Herbert Walker Bush springs from an old-line Connecticut family lineage with long-time connections to Wall Street international bankers, oil interests, and the fascist cartels behind the German Third Reich. The man who touts his status as part of the “old establishment” who “chose to seek his fortune as an independent oilman”, was never “independent”, nor is his family, part of the Old Guard of the Eastern Seaboard. The Bush family gained its influence through associations developed by their willingness to do anything to advance their station with the more powerful families they served.

George’s father, Prescott Sheldon Bush, was born in Columbus, Ohio, on May 15, 1885, son of the manufacturer Samuel Prescott and Flora (Sheldon) Bush. Young Prescott attended St. George’s Episcopal prep school in Newport, Rhode Island and graduated from Yale University. Entering Yale in 1913, Prescott Bush was initiated into the secret, powerful fraternity, Skull & Bones, in 1916.

Skull & Bones was a screening device by Wall Street financiers to acquire ambitious, trustworthy young men of proper lineage to perpetuate their version of British-like aristocracy. The cream of the crop, so to speak, of the young WASP intelligentsia were brought into this Secret Society.

The munitions trade also served to elevate Prescott Bush and his father, Samuel P. Bush, into the lower ranks of the Eastern Establishment, through their association with the Remington Arms Company. In accordance with directives from the National City Bank in 1914, aimed at reorganizing the domestic arms industry, Percy Rockefeller took direct control of the Remington Arms Company, appointing as his chief executive, Samuel F. Pryor.

Samuel Bush was appointed chief of the Ordnance,

Small Arms and Ammunition Section of the War Industries Board in the spring of 1918, several months after the official U.S. entry into the war in Europe.<sup>2</sup> Wall Street speculator Bernard Baruch, who had close personal and business ties to E.H. Harriman, was in overall charge of the War Industries Board. Baruch's brokerage firm had handled a number of the older Harriman's investments.<sup>3</sup> On the other hand, Samuel Bush's entire career prior to this time had been in the railroad business, supplying equipment to railroad systems owned by Wall Street moguls. From his new position, Samuel Bush was responsible for directing government assistance to, and maintaining relations with, a large number of weapons companies, including Remington.

During World War I, Prescott Bush served as a captain in the 322nd Field Regiment of the U.S. Army Field Artillery. A story in his hometown newspaper describing in detail his being awarded three of the highest military honors for valor was later exposed as a prank by his own mother, Flora Sheldon Bush, in a letter to the editor. Following his discharge in 1919, Bush returned to his hometown, but the humiliation was so intense that he could not remain.<sup>4</sup>

He took an offer from a fellow Bonesman in the railroad-equipment business and relocated his career with Simmons Hardware in St. Louis, Missouri. He worked with Stedman Products from 1922-1924 and from 1924-26 with United States Rubber Company.

During this period, Averill Harriman, still smarting over Theodore Roosevelt's excoriation of his father for "cynicism and deep-seated corruption", and his denunciation as an "undesirable citizen", created a financial and informational network to take his place in the pantheon of international power brokers.<sup>5</sup> Harriman's choice to establish this network was a Missouri stockbroker and wheeler-dealer named George Herbert "Bert" Walker, after whom our president is named.

By 1919, Walker had achieved preeminence as the Midwest's premier deal-fixer, always operating quietly behind the scenes in local and global affairs. Through his contacts with the Guaranty Trust Company in New York and to the British banking house of J.P. Morgan and Co., Walker achieved tremendous powers of patronage through awarding of investment capital to the railroads, utilities and other industries of which he and his associates in St. Louis were executives or board members.

The son of a dry-goods wholesaler who had prospered through import trade with England, Walker inherited summer homes in Santa Barbara, Calif. and at "Walker's Point" in Kennebunkport, Maine.

The postwar global arrangements negotiated at the 1919 Versailles Peace Conference opened up staggering possibilities for the American and British imperialists. Harriman recognized Walker's cunning and influence among the British-anointed captains of U.S. finance and politics, and prevailed upon him to move to New York to implement his scheme. That November, the W.A. Harriman & Co. private bank was established by Walker, who became president and chief executive. Averell Harriman became chairman and controlling co-owner with his brother Roland, close friend by this time of Prescott Bush. Percy Rockefeller was made a director in return for his substantial financial contribution.

During this same time period, Prescott Bush met Walker's daughter Dorothy. They were married in August, 1921.<sup>6</sup> Half of the 11 "ushers and groomsmen" in attendance at the wedding were Bush's fellow Skull and Bonesmen from 1917.

At that time, Bush was a minor executive at the Simmons Co. railroad-equipment suppliers, while his father-in-law was assembling one of the most gigantic business combines in the world. The couple returned to Bush's home in Columbus, Ohio, where he worked in his father's rubber-products company, but the taint of his wartime activities haunted him. A short time later, he moved to Milton, Mass., where his son, the future U.S. President George Herbert Walker Bush, was born on June 12, 1924.

Through the intercession of his Yalie friend, "Bunny" Harriman, on May 1, 1926, Prescott Bush was invited to join W.A. Harriman & Co. as its vice president, serving under the bank's president, his father-in-law, George Herbert Walker.

Prescott Bush would demonstrate strong loyalty to the firm, serving the Harriman interests the rest of his life.

Thus, the "conservative" Prescott Bush was a fraternity and business partner of the "liberal" Harriman family; their common bond was internationalism. Using all the international connections at his disposal, young George's grandfather quietly created a banking structure which would wield as much influence as some nations.

Prescott Bush served later as a director of Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., the Prudential Company of America, Dresser Industries, Inc., Hydrocarbon Research Inc., Union Banking Corp., Vanadium Corp. of America and the U.S. Guaranty Trust, among other companies, until 1952, when he successfully ran for the U.S. Senate from Connecticut. He was re-elected in 1962.

The significance of these corporations is their role in the buildup of both the Soviet Union and Nazi Germany. Dresser Industries is a prominent manufacturer of oil-drilling equipment vitally needed to expand Soviet oil fields and Dresser has been in the forefront to make the USSR the Number One world oil producer. Oil is its greatest single source of foreign exchange. Guaranty Trust was also a link with the Soviet Union, as was W.A. Harriman and Company with its Georgian Manganese Concession in the 1920s.

Most conspicuously absent from all the official Bush biographies, however, is the role of Prescott Bush and his fellow Skull & Bones members in the creation of the Nazi war machine itself, through Union Banking Corporation and its Nazi affiliates.

In 1920, Averill Harriman announced that he would revive Germany's Hamburg-Amerika Line, confiscated by the United States at the end of the First World War. As the result of behind-the-scenes arrangements with U.S. authorities, the Harriman group had gained control of the ships.

The world's largest private shipping line was created, through purchase of the confiscated vessels, and the extension to the Harriman bank of "the right to participate" in 50 percent of all business originated in Hamburg. Harriman maintained "complete control of all activities of the Hamburg line in the United States" for 20 years.<sup>7</sup> The Harriman-Walker firm, as co-owner of Hamburg-Amerika, maintained this control with the support of the British and U.S. armies of occupation.

The requisite financial backing came from a "marriage" engineered by Walker of credit from the J.P. Morgan companies and inherited wealth from the Harriman family, through the merging of W. A. Harriman & Co. with the Morton & Co. private bank, which was interlocked with the Guaranty Trust Co., controlled by Morgan.

From this base in Berlin, Harriman and Walker worked with the new dictatorship of the Soviet Union. The Russian oil industry, which had been devastated by the Bolshevik Revolution, received a major infusion of capital from the Wall Street and British Empire speculators headed by Walker and Harriman.<sup>8</sup> They also contracted with the Soviets to mine manganese, an essential component in steel manufacturing; first, directly through Leon Trotsky, then through Feliks Dzerzhinsky, founder of the dictatorship's secret intelligence service (KGB).

Prescott Bush maintained a fierce loyalty to the Harriman interests he served from 1926 onward, gradually positioning himself to run the day-to-day operations of W.A. Harriman & Co. Following the company's merger in 1931 with Brown Brothers, the British-American banking house, Prescott Bush became managing partner of the resulting company, Brown Brothers Harriman, which would become the largest and most politically influential private banking house in the United States.

When Bush lost the small fortune he had accumulated in the stock-market crash of 1929, the Harrimans bankrolled Prescott Bush to the full extent of his lost fortune and put him in charge of managing their gigantic personal investment funds.<sup>9</sup> Prescott Bush was able to enlarge this fortune, which was inherited by his son, George, during these years between the two World Wars, through his involvement in the international project which the U.S. government itself would finally halt, the creation of Adolf Hitler's Wehrmacht.

Hitler received his backing from foreign and domestic sources, including the Fritz Thyssen interests. When interrogated in 1945 under Project Dustbin, Thyssen recalled that in 1923 he was approached by General Ludendorf, shortly after which he was introduced to Hitler and became a conduit for funds from Ludendorf for the building up of the fledgling National Socialist Party. Through Rudolf Hess, Thyssen arranged for a 250,000-mark credit for the Nazis, via the Bank Voor Handel en Scheepvaart N.V. in Rotterdam, Holland. This bank was a subsidiary of Thyssen's bank (formerly von der Heyd's bank) in Germany and affiliated with the Harriman banking interests in New York. The Dutch bank controlled the Union Banking Corporation in New York and was, indeed, a joint Thyssen-Harriman operation with several of Prescott Bush's Skull & Bones initiates as directors.

In the 1930s, Union Banking Corporation had the following directors:

E. Roland Harriman—Vice President of W.A. Harriman & Company and fellow club member, Skull & Bones, with Prescott Bush

H.J. Kouwenhoven—Nazi banker and Managing Director of the Bank Voor Handel

J.G. Groeningen—Nazi member of the steel cartel that also financed Hitler

C. Lievense—President, Union Banking Corporation, New York

E.S. James—Partner of W.A. Harriman and fellow initiate in the Prescott Bush 1917 cell of Skull & Bones

Prescott Bush—Director of Union Banking Corp.

An example of Brown Brothers Harriman's assistance to Nazi Germany was their underwriting of Standard Oil agreements in cooperation with General Motors to supply ethyl lead to the Nazis. Lead Tetraethyl is an anti-knock compound that improves engine efficiency.

The I.G. Farben files captured at the end of the war confirm the importance of this particular technical transfer for the German Wehrmacht:

Since the beginning of the war, we have been in a position to produce lead tetraethyl solely because, a short time before the outbreak of the war, the Americans had established plants for us, ready for production, and supplied us with all available experience. In this manner, we did not need to perform the difficult work of development because we could start production right away on the basis of all the experience that the Americans had for years.<sup>10</sup>

In 1938, just before the outbreak of war in Europe, the German Luftwaffe urgently needed 500 tons of tetraethyl lead (Ethyl) for military purposes. These 500 tons were loaned by the Ethyl Export Corporation of New York to Ethyl G.m.b.H. of Germany, in a transaction arranged by the Reich Air Ministry with I.G. Farben director Mueller-Cunradi. The collateral security was arranged in a letter dated September 21, 1938 through Brown Brothers Harriman & Co. of New York.

Prescott Bush was a lifelong partner in Brown Brothers Harriman. W. Averell Harriman had a longtime association with the Soviet Union. As early as 1922, Harriman, with Guaranty Trust, was financing Soviet deals. In winding up his Manganese Concession in 1929, Harriman received a windfall profit from the Soviets. State Department officials were uncertain how to classify this gift, but never investigated it.

The conclusion is that the Harrimans and Prescott Bush were intimately associated with financing the Nazis and the Soviets, both representing the farthest extreme from American principles.

SEX-ED: WHO'S IN CONTROL?

The Cincinnati Enquirer, 11/4/99

Our editorials about sex education in Ohio schools have ignited a brush fire that is turning up the heat on state officials. The sex-ed plan is also making national news as other states discover a disturbing link to the federal Centers for Disease Control (CDC).

At stake is control of what is taught to school children about sexual behavior, attitudes and values. The Ohio battle centers on:

(1) The CDC-sponsored "Programs That Work" (for HIV/AIDS and pregnancy prevention), used by the Ohio Department of Education (ODE) to train teachers and others to use graphic sex lessons as early as 5th grade.

These programs define "responsible" sex as more condoms; they promote "protected" oral, anal and vaginal sex and "outercourse" to reduce AIDS, STDS and pregnancy. These programs have names such as "Reducing the Risk", "Be Proud, Be Responsible" and "Becoming a Responsible Teen". We have read them all.

(2) The proposed Ohio Model for Competency-Based Health and Physical Education for K-12 students was written by the ODE, with an advisory committee. It supports various health education [courses], including sex education.

At the core of both the CDC curricula and the Ohio Model are national standards that expand to include emotional, mental, social and physical health of children.

The Ohio-Model draft, now edited to bare bones, is headed to the Ohio Board of Education and the General Assembly for adoption. Meanwhile:

* Ohio Superintendent Susan Zelman says that ODE now has separated itself from the controversial CDC programs.

But the entanglement remains. Three CDC grants to the ODE (1996-99) paid several ODE employees to work simultaneously on the CDC-training and write the Ohio Model. The Ohio link to CDC dates to 1993, and includes ODE and the Ohio Department of Health.

No CDC money has been returned; the same employees are still at work.

Ms. Zelman says the ODE "trained 55 trainers" and then stopped last October. An inside review panel recommended the training [not] end "until March 2000" because grant money ran out. The training continues because each of the 55 "master trainers" agreed to train 20 others. By now, that means up to 1,100 trainers promoting CDC courses. Training has been passed to the Department of Health, universities and others. Bowling Green University sponsored training workshops in February and March; a Cleveland group held one in June.

* Officials say there's "no connection" between CDC programs and the proposed Health Model.

But public documents dating back to 1993 dispute that. Ohio's Cooperative Agreement Supporting School Health Programs pledges to work with CDC on "comprehensive school health" programs; three grant applications from CDC to ODE detail plans to promote the CDC brand of HIV/STD education and link it to the Ohio Model.

* State officials say there is no secrecy about sex-ed plans. Ms. Zelman says a draft of the Health Model is available upon request. Good.

But when we first asked for a copy in 1998, we were told by ODE it did not exist. We obtained early drafts after former Gov. George Voinovich protested the effort.

Ohioans rejected similar sex-ed mandates in the 1980s; insiders said this time they would keep it quiet.

We call that a "stealth attack" because there has been a chilling pattern of deception to conceal the agenda. That could be changing—or the sanitized documents may be another way to detour public accountability and institutionalize sex education that offends families, mocks parents' control and intimidates dissent.

* State officials insist the model is strictly voluntary. This is legal hair-splitting. ODE consultants advise most districts on courses that align with state models. Students eventually will be "assessed" (tested) on their "health" skills, according to state documents. Federal grants are strict; teach their way or forfeit the money.

* State officials say they only promote "safe, healthy lifestyles". Translated: Use condoms, practice alternatives to vaginal sex and treat abstinence as a good but unrealistic option...

[JR: The Ohio ODE took the bait when they accepted funds from the federal government's CDC to set up this sex-ed program for Ohio schools. Ms. Felman is speaking from both sides of her mouth: They have 1100 trainees now for a program that is supposed to be narrowed down to the bones? My bone of contention is: Why all the "trained" personnel?]

JET DIVED, THEN CLIMBED BEFORE CRASH

By Jon Hilkevitch & AP, Chicago Tribune, 11/4/99

NEWPORT, R.I.—EgyptAir Flight 990 reached speeds approaching supersonic flight as the Boeing 767 mysteriously plunged from its cruising altitude, then suddenly climbed 8,000 feet, before it dived again at a right-hand angle and disappeared from radar, accident investigators said Wednesday.

The new radar data, provided by the Air Force and the Federal Aviation Administration, supports theories that the Cairo-bound jetliner began breaking apart into perhaps thousands of pieces before hitting the Atlantic about 65 miles southeast of Nantucket Island.

The only salvage ship operating in Wednesday's 22-foot seas and strong winds, the Coast Guard cutter Spencer, retrieved the plane's nose tire, a main wheel, a wing spoiler panel and five emergency-evacuation slides.

All 217 people on board the plane, which had left New York's Kennedy International Airport early Sunday, are presumed dead.

"The aircraft's initial descent approached Mach 1," the speed of sound, said John Clark, deputy director of research and engineering at the National Transportation Safety Board.

The maximum speed for 767s is 600 miles-an-hour, according to Boeing. Mach 1 is the equivalent of 700 miles-an-hour at sea level [sic]. At higher altitudes, supersonic flight is achieved at lower speeds....

..."This one's well beyond anyone (to explain) until we recover the flight-data recorder," said one investigator. "It would be meaningless to speculate."

Several airline pilots said the description of the plane's roller-coaster course was not consistent with a scenario of the pilots trying to save their plane. More likely, the pilots said, the trajectory had to do with the changing aerodynamics of the 767 as it broke apart.

The jetliner initially descended from level flight at 33,000 feet on a straight line to 16,700 feet in 40 seconds—two or three times faster than emergency procedures dictate, officials said. It started a right turn and made a gradual descent during the next 37 seconds, the radar tracks show. But at an altitude of 16,000 feet, the plane inexplicably climbed to about 24,000 feet, Clark said.

"From that point, the airplane descended to 10,000 feet" and became lost from radar, he said.

Safety board Chairman Jim Hall, responding to the attention by the media and victims' families to pilot reports that Flight 990's left engine thrust reverser had been deactivated, said there is nothing to suggest the reverser caused the crash....

..."This is not correct," said the official, who did not want to be named. "The problem had to do with changing one of the plane's tires."

Earlier, some relatives of victims described frustrations boiling over at a morning meeting with safety board officials.

Some relatives want access to the temporary morgue and the offshore crash site or to see some of the debris that has been retrieved.

At least five of the relatives were treated at a hospital Wednesday, apparently after being overcome by emotion.

"They're absolutely devastated. They wanted to know what happened and I wanted to spend the time required for them to understand what we are doing," the safety board's Hall said.

[JR: It seems as though the beamers at Montauk had put this plane through aerodynamic maneuvers that defy all logic, before it crashed into 1000 pieces. Or did it crash at all? This is weird science at its worst.]

CHUNG TALKS, LIENS SLAPPED

By Stephan Archer, WorldNetDaily, 11/04/99

The California Franchise Tax Board placed a lien on all property and funds belonging to former Democratic Party fund-raiser and Chinagate witness Johnny Chung just days after he publicly accused high-ranking Clinton administration and Democratic National Committee officials of accepting cash payments for political access by Chinese military and intelligence officials.

The entire California government apparatus—including the governor and both houses of the Legislature—is controlled by Democrats.

On Oct. 22, the day before Chung, in lieu of death threats, went public with his accusations at a Judicial Watch conference in Pasadena, Calif., a representative from the FTB contacted Chung's tax attorney, saying his agency would not accept Chung's offer-of-compromise. Chung had earlier submitted an offer-of-compromise to the FTB because he was unable to pay all his taxes due to his $700,000 debt that had been acquired for such things as his legal fees in the ongoing Chinagate investigation.

By law, any American citizen who can't pay their taxes can make an offer-of-compromise to the appropriate authorities.

Chung told WorldNetDaily the reason the FTB refused his offer-of-compromise was because the agency didn't think his company, Automatic Intelligence Systems, Inc., was bankrupt yet. Although bankruptcy is an option for Chung, he said he would never take the easy way out.

"I don't want to file bankruptcy," he said. "I can tell them I can't pay for it (in full), but I can offer them whatever money I have, and they have to accept my offer-of-compromise."

"I am a man with honor," Chung added. "I don't want to bankrupt myself. It's so simple. If I bankrupt myself, I will get off free. Easy. I don't want it."

The FTB officially placed a lien on all of Chung's property last Monday. The Internal Revenue Service had earlier put a lien on Chung's property, as well.

"It looks like retaliation for Johnny Chung's speaking to Judicial Watch at its Fifth Anniversary Conference and revealing more about illegal fund-raising of the Democratic Party," commented Judicial Watch's Larry Klayman regarding the lien.

Joseph Farah, founder of the Western Journalism Center and editor of WorldNetDaily, who first exposed a pattern of Internal Revenue Service audits against Clinton administration adversaries, said he believes the IRS cooperates closely with state tax-collection agencies such as the FTB.

"After I went public, charging the IRS was being used as a political tool against my organization and other Clinton critics, we found ourselves facing a Franchise Tax Board audit, too, for the first time ever," Farah said. Farah and Klayman are currently suing IRS and administration officials for $10 million over the audit of the center.

Although WorldNetDaily contacted the FTB, the agency would only release information that was already public record. According to the agency's data, Chung owes the state $51,607 for the 1994, 1995 and 1996 tax seasons.

Chung still lives in his own house and drives his own car, but paying bills would be impossible if not for the help of a family member who pays for the necessities.

"I am an American citizen," said Chung. "(But) I'm living in a condition even worse than an illegal immigrant in the United States. I don't have a checkbook. Everything's been liened. I cannot write my own check to pay [for] the food on the table for my children."

Because of Chung's willingness to come out and expose the truth, even with the risk of exposing his own involvement in the Chinagate scandal, he has been asked to write a book and make a video, where he would tell the whole truth.

"I can sell (those items) to make some money to put the food on the table for my children or to pay the debt," Chung said hopefully.

"I always believe that I tell the truth. It's the right thing for our country," said Chung. "They can lien my property, but they cannot lien my soul or my loyalty to the United States."

[JR: Hey, people, when are we going to wake up and see that we are not living in a constitutionally free America anymore? The henchmen and lackeys from the IRS and FTB don't need to wear jackboots and black uniforms and do the "Heil" salute, but they are just as effective.]

GENE RESEARCH MOVES TOWARD SECRECY

By D. Nelson and R. Weiss, Washington Post, 11/3/99

Scientists and drug companies have failed to notify the National Institutes of Health about six deaths that occurred in gene-therapy experiments in the past 19 months, keeping details of the deaths from becoming public, according to interviews with researchers and federal officials.

The deaths are the first in gene therapy to come to light that were purposely withheld from the NIH, one of two federal agencies charged with overseeing the safety of the controversial field of medical research, which seeks to cure diseases by giving patients new genes.

The lack of disclosure provides new evidence of a shift toward secrecy in gene therapy, traditionally one of the more open fields of medical research, and reflects escalating efforts by gene-therapy companies to weaken federal reporting regulations.

Confirmation of the six deaths follows revelations last week of a death and two serious illnesses in gene-therapy patients that were reported to the NIH with the unprecedented insistence that they be kept confidential, in defiance of a long-standing agency policy of public disclosure.

The six deaths occurred in heart studies headed by two leading gene researchers—Ronald Crystal of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center in Manhattan and Jeffrey Isner of Tufts University in Boston. The two are racing to be the first to grow new blood vessels around blocked ones, as an alternative to bypass surgery.

Crystal and Isner said that, unlike the widely reported death of a teenage patient at the University of Pennsylvania in September, they believe that the fatalities in their studies were not directly caused by the gene therapy but by complications stemming from the patients' underlying illnesses.

Because they decided the deaths weren't caused by gene therapy, they argued, federal regulations don't require them to notify the NIH—a new interpretation of those regulations that stands in sharp contrast to the one held by NIH officials and a decade of practice.

The researchers said they reported the deaths to the Food and Drug Administration, which keeps such information secret.

But NIH officials in the federal office that oversees gene therapy are adamant that even deaths not initially believed to have been caused by the therapy must be reported to the NIH and made public, because often it is not clear until later whether the therapy actually caused the deaths.

"It may take five, six, seven patients ill, or 20 patients, before you find out, 'Hey, this is also happening in other people's trials,'" said Amy Patterson, who heads the NIH Office of Recombinant DNA Activities (ORDA), which oversees gene-therapy studies. "And if you don't know what's going on in other people's trials, then you can't put two and two together."

The FDA can suspend a study if it determines that the therapy being tested is dangerous, but the agency only makes such information public if the therapy eventually is approved or with the permission of the study's sponsor.

Most of the new deaths are coming to light only because federal officials put out a plea for gene researchers across the country to report any undisclosed deaths or illnesses, after the death of the teenager at the University of Pennsylvania. His death is thought to be the first directly caused by gene therapy, and NIH officials are looking for indications of similar problems in other studies that may not have been attributed to the treatments themselves.

Carol Goodrich, a spokeswoman for Parke-Davis, which is sponsoring Crystal's study, said the company had forwarded details of the deaths to ORDA on Oct. 20. She said the deaths had previously been reported to the FDA, but she refused to say whether that agency had agreed with the company's determination that the deaths were not caused by the therapy. The FDA has not decided whether to fulfill a Washington Post request to release information about deaths and illnesses in gene-therapy trials.

Federal regulations have long held genetic treatments to a higher level of public scrutiny than conventional new therapies because of public discomfort with the idea of manipulating people's genetic makeup.

For example, federal regulations require researchers to report the deaths and serious illnesses of patients enrolled in gene-therapy experiments not only to the FDA, but also to the NIH for public review by a special advisory board.

But as the field has become increasingly dominated by private industry, drug companies and scientists with a financial stake in their research are challenging the historically broad interpretation of that rule. They are filing reports with demands for confidentiality or maintaining that they don't have to file them with the NIH at all.

Isner and Crystal helped found competing gene-therapy companies—Vascular Genetics of Durham, N.C., and GenVec of Rockville, respectively.

Asked why he hadn't reported his deaths [sic] to the NIH, Isner said yesterday that it was an oversight and, in any case, it was not clear that he had to.

Crystal said Parke-Davis has assumed responsibility for reporting deaths to the appropriate agencies. However, he added that, while he supported the reporting of deaths and illnesses to the NIH, he did not consider it a legal requirement. He also said he believed that the NIH should keep some reports confidential, particularly to protect patient privacy...

...Crystal was the first to request confidentiality from the NIH for a patient-death report, in May 1998, just two weeks after GenVec announced its initial public offering of stock. NIH staff said yesterday that, at the time, Crystal cited concerns about the impact on his business, if the death[s] were made public...

...The issue of confidentiality requests surfaced at the September meeting of the Recombinant DNA Advisory Committee (RAC), the NIH group that reviews gene-therapy experiments and collects reports of serious side-effects and deaths.

In addition to Crystal, RAC members learned, Schering-Plough had demanded confidentiality for three recently filed reports of serious patient illness during gene-therapy trials. The lead scientists in two of those studies determined that the complications "probably" were caused by the gene therapy; Schering-Plough officials had downgraded those assessments, saying they were "possibly related" to the therapy.

In the third case, the researchers and the company agreed that the complications "possibly" were related to the therapy.

This week, Schering-Plough, of Madison, N.J., issued a statement defending its recent requests that the NIH keep the illnesses of three patients confidential...

[JR: Ever wonder how many "uninformed volunteers" have died from experimental drugs? Does the National Institute of Health really expect these research conglomerates to volunteer reports of deaths when there are millions of dollars at stake? Deaths will always be blamed on the patients' pre-existing conditions.]

MILITARY UNIT RESPONSIBLE AT WACO

By Mike Blair, The SPOTLIGHT, 11/4/99

Orders were given to the top-secret Combat Applications Group of Fort Bragg, N.C. (known as the Delta Force), by President William Jefferson Clinton, because the seemingly endless stand-off between the FBI and members of the religious sect had become an embarrassment to his administration, according to a former Army Special-Forces member.

Also involved in the final days of decision-making that brought "closure" to the siege was First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton, currently the U.S. media poster-girl, as a result of her venture into Senate politics in New York.

Reports have been received by The SPOTLIGHT that Gene Cullen, a former CIA agent, has asked a Senate committee for "protection", in return for his testimony regarding Delta Force activity at Waco. Cullen is requesting "protection", according to reports, because he has been threatened with prosecution for violating national security if he talks.

WHITE HOUSE BRIEFED

The recent release of documents through the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) reveals that Army officials, and in particular those from Delta Force, met with White House and Justice Department officials, including Attorney General Janet Reno and her then second-in-command and former Hillary Clinton law partner, Webster Hubbell, to discuss a resolution to the Waco standoff.

However, information obtained by The SPOTLIGHT reveals that Delta Force played far more than an advisory role in ending the siege. In fact, Delta Force had a direct, operational role in the attack on the Branch Davidian compound that resulted in the holocaust that took the lives of 76 residents of the religious community, including dozens of women and children.

Steve Barry, a retired long-time member of Army Special Forces and a top expert in the field of military special operations, said a team of about 10 members of Delta Force was involved in the Waco massacre.

Barry's military career included training with Delta Force.

On April 19, according to Barry, two "bricks", or four-man teams, were involved in the actual attack.

In recently released FBI infra-red video tapes of the crucial minutes of the April 19 assault on the compound, fully-automatic gunfire is seen being directed into an area of the structure, which Branch Davidians were attempting to use to escape from flames, fanned by high winds, consuming the wooden buildings.

The FBI has consistently maintained that it did not fire into the compound during the April 19 assault.

Barry told The SPOTLIGHT that there was a team of "as many as 10" Delta Force troopers assigned to Waco, including, as he describes them, "a commander, a sergeant major, two to three communications guys, two to three intel [intelligence] guys, a medic and two to three operations guys."

He said assigned to them, supposedly in an advisory capacity, were members of the British SAS (Special Air Service), an elite, British, special-operations force.

The Delta Force, Barry explained, shared a Tactical Operations Center (TOC) at Waco with an FBI Hostage Rescue Team (HRT) force. Since the 1993 tragedy, the American people have been led to believe that the HRT force alone conducted the assault on the compound.

Barry said the Delta Force receives its orders from what is known as the National Command Authority, which then included Clinton, Secretary of State Warren Christopher, Secretary of Defense Les Aspin and Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Army Gen. Colin Powell.

The ultimate decision to send Delta Force into action rests with the president, Barry said. "It can be no other way," he added.

FAMILIAR FACE

Adding to the controversy, it has been confirmed that Lon Horiuchi was in charge of a sniper post, where Texas Rangers recovered spent .223 and .308 shell casings.

Horiuchi was the FBI sniper who fatally shot the wife of Randy Weaver, while wounding both Randy Weaver and Kevin Harris, during the federal standoff at Ruby Ridge in Idaho.

The recovered shell casings would be consistent with government-issued sniper rifles. Horiuchi has denied that he or any members of his "team" fired any shots at Waco.

The retired special-operations expert said that during the siege at Waco, First Lady Hillary Clinton operated a "crisis center" at the White House, put together on her own initiative. Serving with her was another former member of her Little Rock law firm, White House Deputy Counsel Vincent M. Foster, Jr.

Foster was later found dead under mysterious circumstances in a Virginia park across the river from DC.

According to Barry, it was from this "crisis center" that word went out that there was "child abuse" by adult members of the sect, including leader David Koresh, at the Waco religious facility.

This revelation about the part Foster played in the Waco tragedy has been confirmed by Mike McNulty, a producer of a documentary film on the siege.

McNulty said he was told by Foster's widow, Lisa, that the White House attorney's depression at the time of his death "was fueled by horror at the carnage at Waco, for which the White House had given the ultimate green light."

McNulty also said that Foster was preparing a Waco report when he died. This has been confirmed by veteran British journalist, Ambrose Evans-Pritchard, in his book, The Secret Life of Bill Clinton.

Pritchard wrote: [QUOTING:]

The Branch Davidian siege was clearly on Foster's mind. He was 'drafting a letter involving Waco' on the day of his death, surely a point of some significance. He kept a Waco file in the locked cabinet that was off limits to everybody, including his secretary. His widow mentions Waco twice in her statement to the FBI. Toward the end of his life, Foster had no sense of joy or elation at work. The Branch Davidian incident near Waco, Tex. was also causing him a great deal of stress. Lisa Foster believes that he was horrified when the Branch Davidian complex burned. Foster believed that everything was his fault.

BREAKING THE LAW

When asked about how the Delta Force action jibes with the Posse Comitatus Act, which outlaws the use of Army forces to enforce civilian law, Barry said: "That's just it. It doesn't jibe with Posse Comitatus."

A violation of Posse Comitatus is, indeed, "a high crime or misdemeanor", which would be an impeachable, felony offense.

And if Clinton's reasons for ordering the Delta Force attack at Waco are murky, the reasons for directing a cover-up are obviously not.

Posse Comitatus clearly states that "Whoever...willfully uses any part of the Army or the Air Force as a Posse Comitatus or otherwise to execute the laws shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than two years."—(18 U.S. Code, Section 1385)

[JR: No matter what facts or pieces of evidence are presented regarding Clinton and Reno's role in the Waco holocaust, the spin-meisters manage to deflect responsibility away from them. Thank GOD enough people care enough to keep the investigation of this injustice alive.]

RUSSIAN GENERALS SEIZE CONTROL OF CHECHNYA WAR

By Marcus Warren, Electronic Telegraph, 11/8/99

Russia's generals have usurped control of the war in Chechnya from the Kremlin, blackmailing politicians with the threat of resigning en-masse if ordered to halt the army's advance.

Senior military officers are laying down the law to the political leadership, as to how to deal with Chechnya, afraid of a repeat of the "stab in the back" from Moscow which, they believe, robbed them of victory in the 1994-96 war.

Asked what he would do if ordered to stop the advance, Gen. Vladimir Shamanov, the commander of the western group of forces in the Caucasus, replied: "I would tear off my stars. I would no longer serve in such an army."

He said that some of Russia's senior officers even believed that such a move could drive the country "to the brink of civil war". Gen. Shamanov, one of several military chiefs with scores to settle from the last war, is the most outspoken of the commanders, but his sentiments are shared by many in the army.

Gen. Viktor Kazantsev, the overall commander of Russian forces in the Caucasus, and Gen. Gennady Troshev, who is in charge of the eastern group, have said that they would regard any order to suspend their advance as "treason".

Behind them is...Gen. Anatoly Kvashnin, the Chief of the General Staff, who is believed to be the most energetic supporter of a purely military solution to Moscow's Chechen problem. Russia's politicians, even President Yeltsin, who has kept a low profile during the war even by his standards, are probably too weak to order any shift in the army's tactics, despite the growing international outcry at civilian casualties.

The army now occupies half of Chechnya and has almost encircled Grozny, the capital, and the second city, Gudermes, without suffering heavy losses. It has also profited from broad support for the war among Russian civilians, aghast at invasions by Chechen guerrillas into the neighbouring region of Dagestan and a series of bomb attacks on blocks of flats in big cities.

The episodes in the war which inflicted most damage on Russia's image abroad, the missile strike on a Grozny market and the closure of the border with Ingushetia, appear to be cases of the military acting without restraint or control from the politicians. Any softening of the line by the Kremlin provokes a swift response from the military.

Mr. Yeltsin is said to have returned from holiday to Moscow last week to sort out a dispute between Gen. Kvashnin and some of his civilian advisers. The general is rumoured to have threatened to resign if the more conciliatory line to Chechnya favoured by the diplomats, worried by mounting condemnation of the war in the West, won the day.

Gen. Kvashnin has outmanoeuvred the politicians before: He masterminded the operation to seize the Pristina Airport before NATO forces in June. If that was one of the Russian Army's most glorious victories in recent years, its most humiliating defeat was also commanded by Gen. Kvashnin: the slaughter of a brigade and several regiments in the storming of Grozny, five years ago.

The military has avoided any repeat of that bloodbath so far, but partly because it has still to fight the Chechens in terrain favourable to the guerrillas, such as in towns or mountains.

The United States last night accused Russia of breaching the Geneva Conventions and other international agreements through the use of indiscriminate force against civilians in Chechnya.

[JR: The Russian military intends to win this war at all costs, not like the U.S. in its protracted conflicts in Korea, Vietnam, Iraq, et al. They are implementing NATO's endless bombing raids, directed at the civilian infrastructure and population. #### CHECHEN PRESIDENT PLEADS FOR U.S. HELP

By Marcus Warren, Electronic Telegraph—UK, 11/8/99

Chechnya's President, Aslan Maskhadov, appealed to President Clinton yesterday to mediate in its war with Russia and save his nation from what he described as genocide.

In a letter to Mr. Clinton he said that he was open to dialogue and ready to reach a settlement on the basis of the Chechen people's "right to a free and secure existence". He said in an interview on Russia's NTV television: "Civilians have seen with their own eyes the monstrous barbarism of the Russian troops.

"We demand that they be swiftly judged as criminals, especially by the international courts. Why should Milosevic be the only one? Let Putin [Russia's prime minister] be judged also. He is more keen to kill civilians."

Alarmed at the scale of Russia's offensive and rising civilian casualties, the West has called on Moscow to negotiate with Chechnya. Russia argues that there is no one with any authority to hold talks with. Although an elected president, Mr. Maskhadov was only one of many rival Chechen leaders in charge of their own private armies until Russia launched its invasion six weeks ago.

Now the warlords, who reduced their homeland to anarchy, have united under their commander from the last war, in the face of a common enemy, the Russian army. Moscow is hoping to use Chechen allies to win what it says is a struggle against "terrorists and bandits" but, so far, there is little hard evidence of division in the Chechen ranks. Russia has backed a number of increasingly exotic "loyal" Chechens as alternatives to Mr. Maskhadov.

A former mayor of Grozny was pardoned last week and released from prison, where he was serving a sentence for embezzlement. The [former] mayor, Beslan Gantemirov, looks set to succeed a Chechen businessman as Moscow's ruler-in-waiting for the rebel republic.

Russian guns shelled the capital, Grozny, at the weekend, while aircraft bombed the western, southern and eastern approaches to the city. More than 100 air sorties were reported [dropped] in 24 hours, making yesterday one of the most intensive for air strikes since the campaign began.

Russia has stepped up its air attacks on the roads to the Caucasus Mountains, a fall-back position should Chechnya's guerrilla army retreat from Grozny.

[JR: The tragedy here is that Chechnya is asking for aid and assistance from the very ones who plan and are a part of every armed conflict in the world. Our rulers in DC will play the cat-and-mouse game until Chechnya lies in rubble. The wrong message was sent in Kosovo for other provinces wishing independence and causing them to risk destruction, expecting the U.S., NATO or the UN to liberate them—which doesn't happen. These irrational policies are putting innocent people in jeopardy with false hope.]

S. AFRICA STUNNED AS PRESIDENT ATTACKS AZT

By Daniel J. Wakin (AP), Chicago Tribune, 11/4/99

JOHANNESBURG—South African President Thabo Mbeki's claim that a widely-used AIDS drug is dangerous has set off an uproar, producing bafflement and shock among physicians and advocates who say AZT is safe.

The drug is the mainstay of efforts around the world to prevent HIV-infected mothers from passing the virus to their babies during birth.

Mbeki said in parliament last week that AZT is toxic and is being challenged by court cases in the U.S., Britain and South Africa—a claim that Glaxo Wellcome PLC, the manufacturer, has hotly denied.

The issue is crucial in a nation with one of the world's worst AIDS problems, where 3.6 million people, or 8 percent of the population, are estimated to be HIV positive. The controversy threatens to set back efforts to fight the disease.

In his speech, Mbeki spoke of a "large volume of scientific evidence alleging that, among other things, the toxicity of this drug is such that it is...a danger to health."

Mbeki said it would be "irresponsible" not to heed the "dire warnings" of researchers about the safety of AZT, one of the world's oldest and best-known AIDS drugs. Reputable scientists have issued no such warnings, and it was unclear what he was referring to.

On Tuesday, the government promised to investigate the safety of AZT. Mbeki said he has asked Health Minister Manto Tshabalala-Msimang to oversee the inquiry.

Tshabalala-Msimang told the South African Broadcasting Corp. that AZT would not be barred from the market, but she was deciding how to investigate the matter "so that we really have concrete information in our hands".

The drug has been approved by regulators in South Africa and around the world, and is commonly used in combination with other drugs to control the AIDS virus or prevent infection among health-care workers exposed to it. Many studies have shown that AZT cuts by half, the risk that women will infect their babies during delivery.

AZT, also known as zidovudine, is "perfectly acceptable" in those three areas, said Dr. Joseph Perriens, head of the care and support division of the United Nations AIDS program in Geneva. It causes slight side-effects, such as nausea or anemia...

...Worries about AZT's safety surfaced in the early 1990s but have long faded, Perriens said. French researchers reported in February that two babies who had received AZT in a study had died, but no link between the deaths and the drug was established...

...With an average of 1,500 South Africans infected with HIV each day, the government faces increasing pressure to provide drugs like AZT to infected pregnant mothers and rape victims...

[JR: President Mbeki must be onto something that some of the advocates of AZT—"regulators" who approved this drug worldwide—don't want made known. AZT, if toxic, probably kills more than it cures.]

TELEPHONE HOTLINE 661-822-0202

As an adjunct to CONTACT, the Telephone Hotline keeps you as informed as possible on current events and other important information that needs to get to our subscribers before our publishing date.

The message machine will answer after 2 rings if there are any new messages for that day, and after 4 rings if not. Thus daily callers can hang up after 2 rings and save toll charges if no new message has been recorded. If the Hotline does not answer your call, then there is currently no Hotline message.
